Big Spring cable will lose WFAA

Television station WFAA from Dallas will be unavailable to Big Spring residents by Nov. 15 because of technical problems, said Paul Thoman, Big Spring

WFAA is picked up by microwave through a series of towers between Big Spring and Dallas, said Thoman. Times Mirror Microwave, the company that brings WFAA and KERA to West Texas, told local cable television companies it will no longer broadcast the station to this area. The company has lost its lease on one link in the microwave tower chain. the tower at Sweetwater, Times Mirror officials said in a letter to Thoman.

Thoman said he doesn't know how Times Mirror can still bring KERA if the microwave tower chain is broken. "At first they said they'd drop the public television station too, Thoman said. But. "they've promised me in writing they'd continue it (KERA)." Marie Watson, contract ad-ministrator for Times Mirror in Austin, said local cable stations could carry WFAA via satellite "if they wanted to."

"I resent them (Big Spring Cable) giving my name out," she said. "If that's what they continue to do, we may have to do some more dropping."

But Thoman said WFAA can't be deliver by satellite because it is an ABC affiliate, and the law prohibits affiliates from broadcasting by satellite. He said he doesn't know of any other way to continue the station unless some other microwave company decides to open here.

Because Times Mirror is the only West Texas source for WFAA, the change also will affect Sweetwater. Snyder, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Monahans and Colorado City, Thoman said.

talked the carnival manager into letting him stay with the company at the age of 12 or 13, "Crispy" says he wouldn't work anywhere else.

He started working at the Vernon fair every summer. "It was so much fun. I didn't want it to stop," he said. "Have you ever been to Vernon? It was the most fun there.'

The carnival is "a small town on wheels," said Jim Whitman, now part of the management of the Pride of Texas Shows, whose home base is in Beeville. His wife, Peggy Lee Whitman, and their 18-year-old son travel with the carnival, drive trucks and operate game booths.

Whitman also joined the carnival when he was young. "I was from Seattle, and my mother took me to North Dakota. A carnival came to town, and I got a job there (when he was in his early teens). At the end of the summer, everyone else went back to school, and I went south with the carnival.

Bids on Stacy Dam project will be accepted Oct. 15

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will receive bids Oct. 15 on the $53.5 million Stacy Dam project.

The district's board also will adopt an annual operating budget at a morning meet at the water district offices, according to a CRMWD release.

Cost of the reservoir project is estimated at $68.14 million. Bonds being sold for the project will earn an estimated $17.81 million prior to and during construction, making $71.4 million available to the district, according to the release. Out of those proceeds, the district will have to supply $2.95 million in bond reserves and an estimated $302,000 as the cost of issuing the bonds, the release said.

The district has more than $10 million in reserve for the project. which will be used to pay principal and interest during construction, thus "saving millions of dollars," the release said.

Nearly half of the annual debt service on the bond issue for the Stacy Dam will be carried by Abilene, Midland and San Angelo, who will have claim to a corresponding percentage of water in the reservoir.

Tax agencies in Howard County may unite to form one consolidated tax collection office for all taxing units in the county. Officials from the agencies will meet noon Monday at Howard College Student Union Building to discuss the plan. Chamber of Commerce president. Granville Hahn said the plan could save $125,000 a year in tax money by streamlining tax collection. It would reduce interest payments and errors and stop the duplication of work, he said.

"It's the only way we can main-tain our quality of life without taxing everyone to death," he said. "Time changes things; and you have to constantly look at what you are doing to see if efficiency is be-ing realised."

Executive director LeRoy Tillery said the Chamber has gotten a positive response from the agencies involved regarding the meeting Monday.

Chaos in commune

Rajneesh promises help in investigation

RAJNEESHPURAM, Ore. (AP) — Indian guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh has offered to welcome his wayward personal secretary, Ma Anand Sheela, back into his flock, but says he won't hesitate to turn her over to authorities.

Sheela and about a dozen other top Rajneesh lieutenants left the guru's central Oregon commune over the weekend. Rajneesh accused them of an array of crimes, ranging from a conspiracy to bomb the Wasco County courthouse from the air to electronic eavesdropping.

As Rajneesh held out the olive branch Wednesday to Sheela during his morning discourse and an afternoon news conference, law enforcement officials met with disciples in The Dalles to begin sorting out the accusations.

Bernard Smith, the Wasco County district attorney, said the seven law enforcement officials who met in The Dalles planned to begin by coordinating their investigations.

"We will help the law in every possible way," Rajneesh said Wednesday. "We will be all for the state and the government and the law."

But while Rajneesh promised to cooperate with the impending investigations, he admonished the thousands of disciples remaining at Rajneeshpuram, and others around the world, to be forgiving.

"We hate your lying act," Rajneesh, addressing Sheela, said, "but we don't hate you.

"It is human to err. The person has always the possibility to change."

Rajneesh, 53, also appointed Ma Prem Hasya, 48, to replace Sheela and told disciples he was going to rotate aides' assignments "so you cannot corrupt the commune and you know in six months someone else will take your place."

He said Sheela fled in fear of a federal grand jury investigation. At his third news conference in as many days, he urged her to return.

Sheela, 35, spoke for the guru as his personal secretary during a three-year self-imposed public silence that ended last fall. After word spread this week that she and the others had fled, Rajneesh began making allegations.

Among other things, he accused the group of plotting to have an Air Rajneesh pilot bomb the Wasco County courthouse; to poison local officials and three disciples; to cause a salmonella outbreak that sickened 700 people last year in The Dalles; and to torch the county planning office last year.

Electronic equipment Rajneesh says has been used in a bugging operation that included his bedroom was displayed Wednesday in a room at the dormitory-type dwelling Sheela shared with about 20 others.

rooms in the wing of the building where Sheela lived. A tunnel led from one of the rooms to an opening along a creek about 200 feet away. The entrance to the tunnel was concealed behind a bookshelf in one room.

Both rooms smelled of fresh paint and newly-laid carpet and neither appeared to have been used. Ma Dhyan Rosalie, of the press relations bureau, said the rooms had been built within the past five months.

Reports placed those who left the commune in Europe. Federal immigration officials said Sheela flew to Zurich Saturday. The group that fled included the mayor of Rajneeshpuram, three City Council members, and the presidents of various Rajneeshee corporations.

Some reports placed Sheela in Freiberg, West Germany, but Ma Deva Nutan, a Rajneeshee spokeswoman in Berlin said she believed Sheela remained in Switzerland because she had married a Swiss disciple.

Nutan said Sheela earlier was in Nepal. A spokeswoman at the commune said Wednesday that Sheela obtained a divorce there from her husband, an American.

Arms talks resume

GENEVA, Switzerland — U.S. and Soviet negotiators resumed arms reduction talks today after a two-month break, and the chief Soviet delegate said all chances of progress depend on the United States.

Chief U.S. delegate Max M. Kampelman told a reporter that the goal during the latest round of talks "is agreement and stability." Kampelman had said the negotiations would also prepare for the summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev in Geneva Nov. 19-20.

Labor leaders arrested

LA PAZ, Bolivia — The Bolivian government decreed a state of siege today and arrested top labor leaders after talks failed to end a 16-day-old general strike over the nations' huge inflation rate.

After meeting through the night to negotiate an end to the dispute over how to attack a 14,000 percent inflation rate, union leaders balked at the government's proposal to end the strike.

Thatcher judged loser

LONDON — The British press today judged Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher the loser in a contest of wills with the Soviet Union in which each country expelled 31 of the other's citizens.

However, Thatcher claimed her Conservative government had gotten the best of the Soviets because the ousters made by Britain had broken the back of a London-based Soviet spy ring.

Duarte rejects demands

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — The government has rejected rebel demands that military operations be halted before talks begin on the release of the kidnapped daughter of President Jose Napoleon Duarte, a government spokesman said.

The spokesman said Wednesday that the government, through the International Red Cross, gave the leftist rebels a radio transmitter to keep in contact. He said there has been communication.

Blast cause unknown

MUNICH, West Germany — An explosion rocked the state police headquarters in this southern West Germany city today, authorities reported.

A police spokesman said the blast occurred at 9 a.m. (3:00 a.m. EDT). He could not say immediately what caused the explosion, or whether there were any casualties.

Concert reaffirms people's support

If there was any doubt about fundamental support for America's farmers, the FarmAid concert Sunday should go far toward dispelling it. Farmers can take heart from the outpouring of help, both financial and philosophical, that the musical event has produced.

With the concert still four days off, pledges of almost $2 million from U.S. corporations were recorded by Wednesday. The nearly 80,000 tickets for the concert were sold out in three days. Twelve hours of music will be televised on Nashville Network and three hours will be syndicated to more than 100 television stations. Fifty performances are planned in the 14-hour musical tribute to the American farmer.

Country singer Willie Nelson, the driving force behind FarmAid, says the millions of dollars expected from individual contributions should be used for direct cash payments to needy farmers; legal assistance; counseling and job placement for those who have lost their farms or risk losing them; and improving public awareness of the financial plight of many U.S. family farmers.

Nelson doesn't want any money used for direct lobbying in Congress. But singer Neil Young, another organizer, says you can't separate farming from politics. He believes one version of the 1985 farm bill deserves enactment and wants money committed to lobbying for it.

Farm groups, though, are split on the validity of the legislation just as organizers disagree on how the money should be used. On one point, however, they all agree: High interest rates and low prices, coming on the false buoyancy of double digit inflation rates, have knocked big holes in the solvency of America's farmers. Farmers need help - and America is determined to provide that aid.

U.S. conservatives' ardor for Zia was based on the belief that he was a relaible anti-Soviet ally. It cooled when they realized he was an Islamic fundamentalist determined to take his country down this road - and who stirred serious and widespread opposition among his countrymen. In short, he wasn't the reliable ally for whom conservatives were willing to tolerate human rights abuses.

The tip-off was Zia's failure to persuade the White House that he should be given the E2-C Hawkeye radar system for his fighter planes. Another factor in the cooling-off was Zia's cavalier disregard of U.S. concern over his determination to build an "Islamic nuclear bomb."

By SPENCER SANDOW Sometimes the most farreaching technological advances result from accidents. That is what happened when a science student in 1970 accidentally ruined a classroom scientific experiment. Instead of a black plastic powder, the experiment's usual result, he got a silvery film that looked a lot like metal, according to Discovery magazine's June issue.

No one would have thought any more about it had not chemist Alan McDiarmid of Philadelphia visited the professor five years later and seen the substance.

The chemist was so curious he had the plastic tested, which led to a surprising discovery - when slightly altered, the plastic became capable of conducting electricity as well as metal.

The potential to change industry was staggering. The new plastic could help create and conserve energy in ways that were impractical before. It could enable utility companies to better store wind or hydroelectric energy. It could make solar energy and electric cars economically feasible at last. The plastic could make solar energy feasible because it could be made into inexpensive solar panels. Solar energy costs are financially prohibitive because the panels' materials are so costly that they wear out in some 30 years, before they pay for themselves.

country and abroad will be looking to Volcker for signals. Volcker, for his part, will probably not budge an inch. Slow growth has characterized the American economy since the first quarter of 1984. A heavy breaking factor has been the overvalued dollar. Exchange rates make foreign goods relatively cheap in this country, while pricing U.S. producers out of foreign markets. As a result, the manufacturing and farm sectors of the American economy have been almost stagnant.

During most of this period the Fed has kept money easy. Interest rates have fallen as much as four points since December, thus diminishing the appeal of American securities to foreign investors. The dollar has declined by 15 percent against a basket of other currencies since February.

The immediate impact of those actions has been to sustain the U.S. economy. Businesses highly sensitive to easy money are picking up steam. Auto sales are one example. Housing starts are another. If interest rates continue to drop and the dollar keeps weakening, American exports will eventually recover - at least in some degree.

But the easy credit has meant a large rise in the stock of money circulating in this country. One measure, M-1, is running 12 percent above target for this year. The investment community regards money supply as a barometer of inflation. New surges will stimulate inflationary expectations. Interest rates would then begin to rise, slowing growth further, perhaps to the point of forcing a new recession.

So American banking and business are watching Volcker to see which way interest rates will break. If the break is down, slow growth could continue until a new burst of activity asserted itself with the recovery of exports late next year. If rates turn up, the dropped below expectations. Without such earnings it is impossible even to maintain the fiction that debts will some day be repaid. Without the fiction of possible repayment, there is no point in limiting consumption by politically costly austerity programs.

Brazil has already strayed from the path of austerity. Mexico, the model debtor up to now, has recently shown signs of restiveness. If interest rates start to ri. _ much and oil prices continue to fall -Mexico would insist on a radical revision of its loan packages.

A Mexican break from the good debtors circle would show the way for the rest of Latin America. Thus the big debtor countries are watching the Fed for signs on interest rates. And their creditors, the big banks in this country, Europe and Japan, have yet another reason to maintain the Volcker watch.

U.S. political leaders, to be sure, could deal directly with the problems underlying the prevalent edginess. Closing the budget deficit would probably help most. The dollar could then resume its gentle decline. Coordinated intervention to drive it down further would make sense, and the Administration could sustain its free trade principles much more easily.

But President Reagan's idea of dealing with the deficit is to change the subject to tax reform. Congress wants to make trade restriction the issue. For the next few months the two branches will be fighting it out - probably to a draw. So the big decisions are on hold, and interim attention focuses on Volcker.

Calculated ambiguity is almost surely going to be Volcker's reaction in these conditions. He does not want a recession; he wants to keep interest rates low enough to avoid economic stagnation. The more so, if the dollar eases downward as a result.

Joseph Kraft's reports on Washington, national affairs and trends are distributed nationally by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

And by an irony of fate, administration and congressional support for Paksitan's latest military dictator, Gen. Mohammad Zia ul-Haq, may have suffered its crucial blow from Zia's treatment of Shutto's daughter, Benazir. It would be poetic justice if Zia were undone by his rash decision to place under house arrest the daughter of the formidable rival whom he had executed on trumped-up murder charges in 1979.

We came to the Bhutto family's aid in the past first pleading for Bhutto's life, then bringing pressure on Zia to let his old rival's widow leave Pakistan for cancer treatment in 1982. Last year, we urged him to release Bhutto's daughter after three years of house arrest so she could go into exile

Now she has been put back under house arrest after addressing a throng of supporters on the occasion of her brother's funeral.

She had been promised by Zia that she would be in no danger if she returned to Pakistan for the funeral. With incredible gall, the man who had her father hanged said with a straight face, "You can have differences of opinion, but on the occasion of a death in the family, the sorrow transcends barriers."

The State Department publicly expressed 'dismay' at Benazir Bhutto's arrest, and observed pointedly that it seemed "inconsistent" with Zia's pledge to return Pakistan to democracy. Several senators have contacted the Islamabad government on the young woman's behalf, and a letter of support is circulating on Capitol Hill.

Our associate Lucette Lagnado has discovered other signs of disillusionment within the Reagan administration and congressional circles that were once solidly pro-Pakistan. Gone are the "days of old tweed and whisky," as a conservative scholar

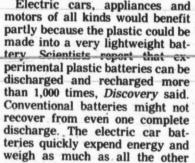

Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, who charmed Congress and the president with his understanding of the American viewpoint, added weight to the foreign policy tilt toward India.

Zia's decision to put Ms. Bhutto under house arrest, demonstrating his fear of popular opposition after more than a decade of dictatorship, may prove to have been the last straw.

EVERYONE'S A CRITIC: Is the Reagan administration a paper tiger in its response to acts of terrorism? No. It's "an empty drum," according to one critic. "I must point out," he said, "that other nations must have no fear of any possible action by the United States ... (The Americans) shout, without resorting to any action. Their threats are baseless ... nothing is likely to happen." Who said this - a senator or a New Right firebreather? Nope. The commentator was Ayatollah Khomeini.

WATCH ON WASTE - The Social Security Administration's ill-starred effort to bring its computer system up-to-date has already cost the taxpayers a bundle - and will continue to do so for years to come. Here's how: The company that won the $115 million modernization contract failed to produce, and is being sued for fraud. The former software director in the Social Security office that handled the contract has been indicted for extortion. And now Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler has given 10 other employees of the office hefty pay raises in a morale-boosting move that is intended to improve efficiency. The computers, of course, still need updating.

The wave of the future might be for homes, businesses and industry to rely more on alternate forms of energy made possible by the new plastic and less on costly conventional energy sources like electricity and petroleum.

Though the oil industry could be hurt if the predictions occur, the travel business, for one, could benefit. From electric cars, it's a comparatively small step to electric planes, trains and ... space travel.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice that on August 20, 1985, the Company filed tariffs which propose revisions to the Joint User Tariffs and implementation of Shared Tenant Services Tariffs.

If the tariffs are approved by the Public Utility Commission, the Company will grandfather existing customers to the Joint User Tariffs and totally withdraw the Joint User Tariffs one year after the date of approval of the proposed tariff revisions, with one exception. Even after the one year period, existing single-line customers subscribing to Joint User Tariffs may continue their service under certain conditions.

Also, if the tariffs are approved, the provision of shared tenant services will require partitioned switching equipment.

No new rates are being proposed in the aforementioned tariffs. As a result of the partitioning of switching equipment, some existing customers may require additional PBX trunks. If so, the Company's revenues may increase. The Company is unable, at this time, to estimate the additional revenues, if any, which would result therefrom.

The Commission received these tariffs as Docket 6450 and a prehearing conference will be held at 10:00 A.M., Monday, September 23, 1985, at the Commission's offices at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, in Austin, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. Motions to intervene should be filed with the Commission on or before 4:00 P.M., Friday, September 20, 1985. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. De aprobar la Comisión tales tarifas, la Compañía mantendrá vigentes los acuerdos con usuarios actuales en lo que respecta a Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados, pero descontinuará tales tarifas a partir del primer aniversario de la fecha en que se aprueben las nuevas tarifas. Sin embargo, existe una excepción; aún después de tal aniversario, los clientes con líneas sencillas que actualmente cuentan con el servicio para Usuarios Mancomunados podrán seguir con tal servicio sujeto a ciertas condiciones.

De aprobarse las nuevas tarifas, las disposiciones correspondientes a los Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos requerirán el uso de conmutadores separados.

Dear Abby

Wife's turn to violence something to fear

DEAR ABBY: "Mary" and I are both 41. We've been married 20 years and have four children. We both work. The last several years we have been slowly growing apart. We've had marriage counseling with positive temporary results.

Mary is quick-tempered and critical of me and our children. I am more even-tempered and laidback. In the last two years she has lost her temper and thrown knives and garden shears at me. She has also threatened me with a hot flatiron. In a fit of anger, she has destroyed photos of me and thrown out things belonging to our teen-aged children, knowing the loss would hurt them deeply. Last night at bedtime I had a coughing spell and apologized for making so much noise. Mary said, "That's OK; you'll know when you wake up that ve cut your throat!

I don't like the person I see her becoming. Is it normal for women her age to occasionally threaten violence? Will she get over it in time? I feel that she is unstable and wonder if she would ever harm me or the children if she were provoked.

I need some suggestions to help our family situation. FEELING UNEASY

DEAR FEELING: Don't wait to find out if your wife would ever harm you or the children. Call your family physician now and report Mary's violent, aggressive behavior. She may have a serious problem that can be arrested and controlled if treated early. Mary's behavior is not normal.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have noticed a trend lately that we don't like. Very often when we visit friends, they don't have the courtesy to turn off the TV when we arrive, and they usually leave it on throughout our visit. We usually call ahead rather than drop in unexpectedly.

It seems to be getting worse. On another occasion, we were having a party at our home. There were a dozen guests present when one of our guests turned on our TV and spoiled the party. Please comment. NOT TUNED IN

DEAR NOT TUNED IN: You say ou "usually" call ahead. When you don't call ahead, if your friends are watching TV, you should not expect them to turn it off. On the other hand, if you were invited, it's rude for your host to keep the TV on during your visit.

As for the guest who turns on the TV while a party is in progress, he might just as well tell the host that the party is boring and needs an electronic transfusion. That's gross and insulting - even if it's true.

Hot Astros win 8th straight

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Mike Scott's hot and so are the Houston Astros. But it's too late, for 1985 at least

"Hopefully we can keep it up and end up in second place," Scott said Wednesday night after he won his fifth straight decision, a 7-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, to run his record to 18-7.

"It's late, but better late than never.'

The victory was the eighth in a row for the Astros, who also have won 19 of their last 22 outings.

"It's the best streak I've seen since I've been with the team," said Scott, who had a 29-44 career record with the Astros and New York Mets before this season.

While the Astros, currently 31/2 ames behind Cincinnati in the National League's Western Division, might be extremely pleased to finish second this season, the losing team Wednesday night wouldn't exactly be overjoyed to be the unnerup

Los Angeles' loss, combined with Cincinnati's victory over Atlanta, sliced the Dodgers' division lead to 612 games over the Reds heading into their final 17 games of the season.

Scott said he thinks the Dodgers, who've lost three of their last four games, sorely miss slugger Pedro Guerrero

"The Dodgers are not the same club without Guerrero in there," he said. "They beat us badly early in the season, that's probably why we're out of it now.

Guerrero has missed 13 games with a sprained left wrist and his status remains on a day-to-day basis. He had hit eight homers, driven in 14 runs and had a .356 average against the Astros this season, as the Dodgers whipped them seven consecutive times.

With the score tied 2-2 in the seventh inning, pinch-hitter Burt Pena, batting for Scott, hit a sacrifice fly to right to ignite a four-run Houston rally.

Pena's sacrifice scored Mark Bailey, who had doubled to lead off the inning against reliever Ken Howell, 4-6. Dickie Thon's third hit of the game, an infield single, mov-

The Dodgers tied the score in the fifth on pinch-hitter Terry Whitfield's bases-loaded walk and a run-scoring double play grounder by Mariano Duncan.

Steers set non TOL

By CHARLIE ALCORN Sports Writer

The Big Spring Steers and Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen are two football teams searching for the remedy to a slow, 0-2 start to the 1985 season. One will find the winning solution when they meet Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

For the Steers, giving up the big play on defense and inconsistency on offense have kept the team from realizing the promise of a suc-

Monterey, which lost its first game to Midland High 27-19, and last week to 5-A power Plainview 31-7, is struggling in the offensive department. The Plainsmen run a number of different sets from a basic I formation and have thrown the ball considerably in their first two games.

"We would like to throw the ball about 25 times a game," explained Monterey head coach James Odom. "We haven't had much success so far with the passing because our pass protection has been breaking down. We have a young, inexperienced offensive play good for stretches, then boom, they bust a big play on us," exclaimed Odom

Last year Big Spring scored 15 points in the fourth quarter to best the Plainsmen 22-21. Steer head coach Quinn Eudy is expecting another tough ball game this year. "I think it will be a low scoring, physical game. Our defense will improve and they have an aggressive defense too."

The series is even at 1-1 between Big Spring and Monterey. Before last year's victory the only other time the two had met was in 1974.

with the Plainen taking an 11-7 win.

When the Garden City Bearkats and Grandfalls Cowboys meet Fri-day night at 8 p.m. in Garden City, both coaches will be looking for two specific things.

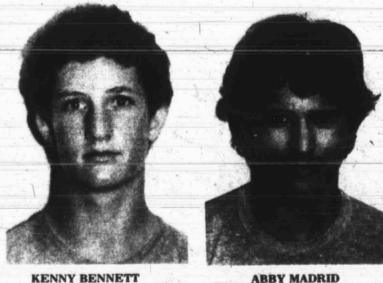

If either coach gets what he is expecting from his team, then Friday's clash might be full of fireworks.

Garden City coach Tony Stricklin will be looking for a good first half of play from his troops. In previous close losses to Miles and Bronte, the Bearkats fell behind in the first half, only to rally and fall short. In fact the Bearkats haven't scored a point in first half action this season.

"I can't explain this slow start we have," said a bewildered Stricklin. "We must learn to play four quarters of football. We have a lot of inexperienced kids in there and that's got alot to do with it. But we come out and play well in the second half."

Grandfalls first year coach Thomas Slagle is looking for some better ball handling and above all, his team's first score of the season. The Cowboys have been whitewashed by Sterling City 28-0 and Irion County 40-0.

The main reason is fumbles "We must stop putting the ball on the ground," said Slagel. "We've fumbled 18 times in two games. We lost 13 of the fumbles. It's not really poor ball handling, we're just los-ing the ball down the field."

... improved quarterback

Like Garden City, the Cowboys have a very young team. Slagel inherieted two returning starters and has only two seniors on the whole team. "The kids are learning a new system and it takes time. But the fumbles are what is killing us."

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A sudden idea just how to please a friend should be put in motion quickly with good member following.

good results following. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be with a partner who has his feet on the ground and will prevent you from taking any chances that would not be wise. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You have pro-mises to keep so get right at them and stop pro-crastinating since you can handle them wisely. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You can have a fine time by LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You can have a fine time by receiving some unexpected invitation or by following a hunch just where to go for recreation.
