BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A leading independent newspaper said today that Shiite Moslem terrorists claimed to have killed American hostage William Buckley in retaliation for Israel's raid on PLO headquarters in Tunisia. The Beirut newspaper An-Nahar said it received a statement and photograph of Buckley from the terrorist group Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, which it published today.

Islamic Jihad "stated it has carried out the execution," An-Nahar said in an accompanying report. An-Nahar said the statement and

Meanwhile, leftist Druse militiamen moved tanks around the Soviet Embassy today after 120 Soviets, mostly women and children, were evacuated to Syria following threats by Moslem extremists to blow up the embassy compound.

But a 4 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT) deadline passed without any attack on the walled complex that spans two main streets in west Beirut. The bomb threat was made Wednesday by an anonymous caller who said he spoke for the Islamic Liberation Organization, the Sunni Moslem group that claimed responsibility for kidnapping four Soviet diplomats on Monday and killing one of them. Soviet sources said the group was going to Damascus and then on to Moscow. The callers demand that Syria, the main Soviet ally in the Middle East, call off its militia allies besieging Sunni fundamentalists in the northern port of Tripoli.

"I got bombarded with so many questions (on the vote count) I deliberately decided not to look at them yet," he said. "Everybody in the world asks me how it's going.'

Thoman said he didn't want to give an answer, because he didn't want anyone to think his vote had been drowned out by an avalanche of another popular choice.

WFAA is currently broadcast to West Texas by a chain of microwave towers from Dallas, its home base. Big Spring and other West Texas towns will stop receiving the channel Nov. 15, Thoman said earlier.

Times Mirror Microwave, the company that brings WFAA and KERA to the area, told local television companies it will no longer broadcast the station to this area, because it lost its lease on one link in the microwave chain, the tower near Sweetwater.

To determine a replacement for the channel, Big Spring Cable allowed subscribers to vote from alist of possibilities, which included KTVT from Dallas; WGN from Chicago; Trinity Broadasting Network, a Christian station; Arts and Entertainment; and Country Music Television

Lawmaker trying to repeal law on seat belt use

ODESSA (AP) - Not more than a month after a mandatory seat belt law went into effect, a West Texas lawmaker announced a) drive to have the legislation repealed because he says the measure restricts personal freedoms.

Rep. Kelly Godwin, R-Odessa, said Thursday that the Sept 1. law requiring motorists and front-seat assengers to buckle up is ineffective and unconstitutional.

The Odessa lawmaker said he is beginning a petition drive to repeal the law adding that its "true test" is public acceptance. He admitted seat belts can save lives.

"But that's not the issue here. The issue is personal freedom and infringement on personal rights," the lawmaker said.

The law fails to meet federal Department of Transportation standards for similar laws and to protect Texas from accident liabilisuits, he said.

Ward said the abuse center would admit those patients who are "nonviolent and show a high potential for recovery."

Ground-breaking ceremonies for construction of the professional building are expected to take place later this month, Brannon said. The building will be located on the south slope between FM 700 and Malone-Hogan's emergency room.

He said construction costs of the approximately 10,000-square-foot building will be between $700,000 and $800,000.

Brannon said a professional building is needed for physicians who wish to conduct private practices and locate near the hospital. Office space will be offered as either lease or purchase agreements. Estimated cost for purchasing space in the completed facility will be $70 per square foot. The building will be managed by Hospital Corporation of America, which also manages Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Renovating Malone-Hogan's west wing into a chemical and substance abuse center will cost HCA about $95,000, Brannon said.

The wing is being remodeled to provide "a home atmosphere," Ward said.

Malone-Hogan Hospital administrator Wayne Brannon announces two major projects at a press conference Thursday.

A worker continues with renovation of Malone-Hogan's west wing, which will be used for a drug and alcohol abuse center. The center is expected to open in January.

Construction of a new professional physician's office building is scheduled to begin later this month on this vacant lot between Malone-Hogan Hospital and FM 700.

She said a patient can expect to pay about one-third the average cost the hospital charges for normal care, which currently ranges from $300-$400.

The drug and alcohol abuse center came as a result of a year-long study by HCA, Brannon said. The study indicated West Texas was in need of 60-70 beds to serve patients afflicted with substance abuse.

"A funny thing we learned is that people who want this type care want to receive it out-oftown, but within 30 to 50 miles of their home," Brannon said.

The treatment center will offer after-care programs and counseling for family members in addition to patients. A treatment program will last about 30 days, Ward said. Brannon said a full-time staff of 15 persons and some part-time help will work in the treatment center.

"We'll be using several specialists including social workers, counselors and psychologists," Brannon said.

federal agency plans to give natural gas users a $5 billion annual windfall from the nation's 10,000 natural gas producers and a few large industries that have benefited from falling energy prices

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission said Thursday it would hold a final vote next Wednesday on a wide-ranging package of measures changing most of the rules by which natural gas - which now supplies onefourth of the nation's energy - has been sent to consumers for the last five decades.

In the past week, however, legislators from primarily gas pro-ducing states persuaded the Senate Energy Committee to block any FERC action for up to six months

WASHINGTON (AP) - A as part of federal budget legislation.

But on Thursday, a coalition of senators from primarily non-producing states launched a counteroffensive, vowing to either overturn the committee on the Senate floor or at least delay a vote until after the FERC has acted. Both Democratic and GOP leaders acknowledge the issue is the latest skirmish in the decadesold economic war between the energy haves of the Sunbelt and the have-nots in the Snowbelt. "The issue is a simple one," said

Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J. "It's whether $5 billion should be in the hands of producers or the hands of consumers.

Bradley plans to lead the fight. against the measure authored by Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., which would forbid FERC from adopting most of the new regulations.

Consumer groups contend the measure could reduce the winter heating bills of as many as 45 million American families by 10 percent to 15 percent if the revenues that producers will have to forfeit are passed through to con-sumers by pipelines and local gas distributors

Most of the nation's 10,000 gas producers and some Wall Street analysts counter that those savings will further cripple a drilling industry already suffering from up to 40 percent drops in some wellhead prices over the past three years.

"That loss, whether it be $4 billion or $5 billion, represents ploring and developing new sup- supplies run short.

plies," said Nicholas Bush, president of the industry's Natural Gas Supply Association.

With the nation's gas reserves at a record low and current production outpacing their replacement, now is not the time to be taking money away from producers," he argued.

Within as little as three years, according o one analysis by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the proposed FERC regulations could lead to a repeat of the 1977 and 1978 winter shortages that closed down factories and schools in the Midwest.

Bradley dismissed those arguments Thursday, saying there about half of the $10 billion that is plenty of gas available from producers spent last year on ex- Canada and Mexico should U.S.

Wheel outshines any in West

DALLAS (AP) - Friends just supposed that career carnival man Buster Brown had seen one too many five-legged cows when he decided to build his new midway toy: a 212-foot-tall Ferris wheel.

2-A

Just months ago, it was a collection of gangling girders without a permanent home.

But as the State Fair of Texas opens, the Texas Star Ferris wheel stands as a tribute to the Fort Worth man's own youthfulness, risky business sense and bigheadedness in a city that rewards the big.

"He took off midseason to see them building it in Italy," said R.K. "Rolly" Larson, Brown's friend and executive director of the Outdoor Amusement Business Association in Minneapolis. "Not every carnival man would do that. He'd carry around snapshots of pieces he'd taken from up looking down, from down looking up, from every angle you can imagine." It would become, Larson says, Buster's pride and joy.

For the 1985 fair, it has become one of the biggest new attractions. "We've had a steady stream of people coming over and standing there by that fence, taking pictures and just watching," said Mack Duce, a Dallas part-owner of the wheel

So huge is Brown's Texas Star that it overshadows any other wheel in the Western Hemisphere, rates third in the world to wheels in Japan and Austria, and is four times taller than Big Tex.

This wheel is so sturdy that it is purportedly hurricane-, earthquake- and tornado-proof. And, it is so safe, with gondola doors that won't budge when the ride is moving, that it is suicideproof.

It can withstand the weight of 252 185-pound riders - 23 tons of fun. The attraction of Ferris wheels is nestled somewhere between the thrill of height and the youthful desire to feed one's fancy, researchers say.

"There's a general fascination with getting a bird's-eye view,' said Norman Anderson, a Ferris wheel buff from North Carolina State University in Raleigh who has written a book on Ferris wheels. "And we've always thought bigger is better. I'm completely rational and methodical. But not with Ferris wheels. I get hooked.

"This is the biggest thing I've ever done," said Brown, 49, whose family and in-laws have put rides in fairs on contract for decades. "I've bought Sea Dragon and Sky Dives and merry-go-rounds and for all sorts of money. But I've never million to buy, hundreds of thousands more to assemble, inspect, insure and ensure a safe ride.

Each rider's $2 ticket price will go toward paying for the wheel. Brown figures this will take seven to 10 years. State Fair officials agreed to plow all proceeds back into the ride, rather than splitting the take, because it is such an asset to the fair.

And unlike other contract rides at the fair, this one will remain at its Fair Park site permanently.

The Texas Star was a complicated proposition from the start. Germans designed the wheel; Italians built it in metric measures. In hundreds of skeletal sections, it traveled the seas from Reggio Emilio, Italy, to the port of Houston.

Then 20 flatbeds trucked it to Dallas. Here, California architects, Ohio inspectors and hired hands from Texas each worked fist-sized rivets and skyscraper-height girders into the superstructure. Brown said hassles were merely part of his risky business.

"People in this business are gamblers. I'm gambling on what circulates in carnival circles that big-headed Buster Brown will come up short on this one, that maybe this time he's crackers, said Outdoor Amusement's Larson. But Brown has faith that the big ride will capture Texans' fancy.

Man's case is in limbo

No hearing date has been set for a Dallas man who is being held in county jail on suspicion of violating the terms of his probation, Adult Probation Officer Frank Martinez said

William Rodney Ethridge, 30, of Dallas was brought to Howard County jail on Wednesday from prison in Huntsville, where he had completed a prison term for theft, said TDC public information officer Charlie Brown. He was placed on a mandatory hold supervision status at Howard County's request, he said.

Martinez said Ethridge presently remains on probation in Howard County and may or may not be released from jail depending on a decision from 118th District Court Judge Jim Gregg. Ethridge has been charged with violating the terms of a five-year probated sentence for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle that occurred on July 24, 1983. He was sentenced Oct. 5, 1983.

He had previously been con-a suburb of Tunis, the Tunisian capital. Government sources said 61 Palestinians and 12 Tunisians were killed.

The Islamic Jihad statement said that "beyond any doubt" the Israeli raid "was carried out and planned jointly by the United States and Israel under the supervision of American intelligence (CIA).

The United States has denied any association with the raid.

Islamic Jihad's statement said Buckley was "tried and found guilty of involvement in American intelligence crimes," and said it would make public later "confessions and some documents that we found in his possession."

Buckley, a bachelor from Medford, Mass., became a Foreign Service officer in 1983. Beirut was his first assignment.

curred on April 16, 1983. The case was subsequently dismissed said Ector District Clerk Jackie Glover Barnes because he was charged with the same offense in Howard County and that case was pending. Martinez filed a motion in district court on Feb. 1, 1984, asking the court to revoke Ethridge's probation for failure to report to his probation officer, being delinquent in paying fees and "not obeying orders of the court.'

While in prison, Ethridge filed a motion asking that the motion to revoke be dismissed because the state had not made "a diligent good faith effort" to bring his case to trial, "even after 262 days has elapsed." The motion is dated Nov. 6, 1984.

Foot-stomper gets jail

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - A 35-year-old man, arrested more than 40 times in the past 17 years for stomping on people's feet, has been sentenced to jail for two more incidents, including one while he was free on bond.

George Mitchell pleaded guilty Thursday to treading on a woman's feet outside a Nashville restaurant April 22 and on another's in a store checkout lane Aug. 29. Criminal Court Judge Sterling Gray sentenced him to the maximum 11 months and 29 days on each of the misdemeanor counts and said Mitchell must serve three-fourths of each sentence before being eligible for parole.

He was hospitalized after the crash with a broken neck and burns over more than 80 percent of his body.

FRENCH PRESIDENT Francois Mitterrand, right, is all smile as he listens to Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev during private talks inside the Elysee Palace Friday on the third day of Gorbachev's four-day official visit to France.

Separate arms talks

Washington supports; France rejects offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is giving its blessing to a Soviet proposal for separate arms control talks with Britain and France, saying it could pave the way to resolve a deadlock over nuclear arms in Europe.

However, French President Francois Mitterrand today turned down the Soviet offer, although he said there could be no substantial nuclear weapons reductions by the superpowers unless the militarization of space was halted.

Britain's Foreign Secretary, Sir Geoffrey Howe, said his country was carefully considering the proposition. Officials also are encouraged by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's statement in Paris on Thursday that it may be possible to negotiate an agreement to curb intermediate-range nuclear weapons ahead of accords on strategic, or long-range, and space weapons. The U.S. position on the Soviet proposals was expected to be a topic at today's joint briefing by Paul Nitze, a special presidential adviser on arms control, and Richard Perle, assistant secretary of defense for international security policy.

On another Gorbachev pronouncement, that Moscow was unilaterally reducing its SS-20 missiles in Europe, the administration was unimpressed, seeing it as a thinly veiled attempt to dissuade The Netherlands from joining other NATO countries in deploying new American missiles

After Gorbachev disclosed his proposal for separate negotiations with France and Britain, President Reagan said "it's more power to them" if the Soviets can arrange such talks.

While one purpose of the proposal might be to sow discord between the United States and the European allies, Reagan and other officials seemed unworried.

"It certainly would drive a wedge if we arrogantly decided we would negotiate on behalf of other countries without their consent." Reagan said in Cincinnati. "No, this is between them and the Soviet Union," he added.

A U.S. arms control offical, who insisted on anonymity, said Gorbachev's proposal puts "a whole new complexion on the ... issue

"I think it's a step in the right direction," he said, especially if "they stop haranguing us and make them (the British and French) accountable for their own forces.

Some U.S. officials said that at the very least the Europeans would want to find out what Moscow had in mind. These officials, who insisted on anonymity, said if it was a ploy to divide the allies, then Paris and London probably woudn't comply.

With Gorbachev at his side, Mitterrand said today that "France does not refuse an exchange of views with the Soviet Union, but I do not think that it would be reasonable to think that there could be a negotiation."

Mitterrand said a reduction in nuclear weapons can be achieved only if "this proposal of principle is linked to the impossibility of transferring the arms race from earth to space.'

Howe said the British position is that "if there are substantial reductions in the nuclear armories of the superpowers, the United States and Soviet Union, and if other conditions remain the same, then we shall of course be prepared to consider our own position."

Two quakes hit Japan

TOKYO (AP) - Two earthquakes struck the Tokyo region within a 15-hour period today, but there were no immediate reports of casualties or damage, officials said.

The first tremor at 6:28 a.m. had a preliminary measurement of 5.6 on the Richter scale, while the second, at about 9:25 p.m., measured 5 on the 7-point Japanese scale, according to the Central Meteorolgical Agency.

The agency said the second tremor was considered "very strong," and said it was the first time since 1929 that a quake of that strength had struck the Japanese capital.

Ecuador threat to OPEC

VIENNA, Austria - OPEC's attempt to sidestep a bitter internal fight over whether to increase oil production quotas has backfired, with one of its members threatening to quit the international oil cartel.

Ecuador announced it may leave the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries following the group's decision Thursday to put off until December the sensitive question of whether to grant certain countries a bigger share of total OPEC production.

Rescue work continues

MEXICO CITY - Rescue workers painstakingly picked their way toward a 9-year-old boy who they said still was signaling to them 15 days after a great earthquake trapped him in the rubble of his apartment building.

"The boy is alive, thanks to God," Jose Negrete, a spokesman for the volunteer rescuers, said late Thursday.

Ceasefire announced

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Iranian negotiators announced a ceasefire beginning today in strife-torn Tripoli, where pro-Syrian and pro-Palestinian militias have clashed for 19 days, killing hundreds of people.

The announcement, made after hours of regotiations in Damascus, Syria, revived hopes for the release of three Soviets held by extremists threatening to kill them unless there is an end to the fighting. The body of one of the kidnapped Soviets, cultural attache Arkady Katkov, was found Wednesday.

Embassy evacuated

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Leftist Druse militiamen evacuated 120 people from the Soviet Embassy today and rolled tanks around its perimeters hours before a deadline for a threatened suicide bomb attack.

Terrorism simply breeds terrorism

Robert Dean Stethem. He was the 23-year-old Navy diver who was brutally beaten and then executed by terrorists who hijacked TWA flight 847 last June. That was a murder for which the United States government rightly pledged to seek appropriate justice, however long it took and however difficult the search.

Now we learn that U.S. officials have discovered the identity of the three men suspected of hijacking the TWA airliner and murdering Robert Stethem. They are Ali Younis, Ahmed Gharbieh, and Ali Atwi - all said to be members of an extremist Shiite group known as the Imam Hussein Brigade.

But we also learn that U.S. officials are reluctant to press what passes for the government of Lebanon to arrest these three and put them on trial for murder. Why this reluctance? Because pressing for action against the three suspects could interfere with diplomatic efforts to free the six Americans still being held hostage in Lebanon, reportedly by the same sorts of Shiite fanatics that shot Robert Stethem to death.

Assuming these reports are correct, consider the precedent being set. Murder an American and remain safe from prosecution or pursuit so long as your confederates hold other Americans hostage. If these are to be the rules, the six Americans being held captive in Lebanon may remain prisoners indefinitely, crouching in some dark cellar under the barrel of a gun. That cannot be what the Reagan administration intends.

The vicious, cold-blooded murder of Robert Stethem cannot go unpunished. And the six Americans held hostage in Lebanon must be freed. Those are not, and must not be made, mutually exclusive imperatives.

Debtor status not necessarily bad

The Commerce Department reported last week that the United States has become a net debtor for the first time since World War I. Assets in this country owned by foreigners now exceed assets held by Americans abroad. This is bound to provoke wailing and gnashing of teeth on Capitol Hill, besides providing new excuses for protectionism. But the development is not necessarily bad.

foreigners have been investing

U.S. be better off if it were exporting capital by underwriting shaky ventures in Brazil or Argentina? Of course not.

In an ideal world, it might be better for Americans to own more assets abroad than foreigners hold here. All else equal, we'd rather have Japanese firms paying dividends to Americans than the other way around. But a couple of things ought to be kept in mind. The change came about because One is that investments here generate work for Americans -

Access to POW files face bureaucratic stonewall

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - In what smells suspiciously like a cover-up, the Defense Intelligence Agency has been blocking members of Congress from scrutinizing its files on sightings of live American prisoners of war in Southeast Asia. And the agency has prevailed on the House Intelligence Committee to go along with the information blackout.

The puzzling question is: Why does the Pentagon want to hide the many eyewitness reports that indicate American soldiers listed as "missing in action" may, incredibly, still survive in some godforsaken jungle pesthole more than 10 years after the end of the Vietnam War?

The DIA's primary reason for not letting interested members of Congress pore through the files on live POW/MIA sightings is that old Watergateera chestnut: "national security." Just how information on American prisoners 10 years after the end of hostilities could possibly jeopardize national security, the Pentagon doesn't begin to justify.

A DIA official told us that no member of Congress has been denied access flat out to the POW/MIA files, and said the agency has repeatedly briefed Congress on the matter.

But our Capitol Hill sources say the DIA has refuge undoubtedly saw the 20 U.S. returnees being moved from their camp," the DIA airily concluded. Forget the remaining dozen or so; they were bureaucratically eliminated in one short sentence.

Item: A Pathet Lao defector said he saw American POWs as late as 1977. He gave the name of one American as, say, for instance, "Powmia." "Only two unaccounted for personnel have the name and neither of them correlates to the information reported by the source," said the DIA, unimpressed that the man had given an unusual name that belonged to only two MIAs.

'One of the two, the DIA explained, was in an air crash in southern Laos in 1967 and "there is no evidence that he survived the crash." The other was also lost over Laos that year, but his crewman, who later died in captivity, reported that "he believed ('Powmia') died prior to ejection.

Although there was non-solid evidence that either man had in fact been killed. DIA shelved the case because the eyewitness had offered no corroborative evidence that either had survived. File and forget.

Footnote: The prime sponsor of the disclosure resolution is Rep. William Hendon, R-N.C., who worked for the DIA in 1983. Ironically, he has been denied access to files as a congressman that he saw as a consultant.

In Big Spring's northside at this time of year, the bell sounds and bam, bam - boxing begins.

The West Texas Amateur Open Tournament begins this weekend at the Howard County Park clubhouse at 1005 N.W. 4th. Approximately 100 fighters will converge on the clubhouse which is being handled as a warmup tournament for the state regional finals of the United States Amateur Boxing Federation Tournament that will be held in Ft. Hood on Oct. 26-27.

State finalists from the Ft. Hood tournament will advance to Tulsa, Okla. for national finals which will be televised by ABC's Wide World of Sports on Dec. 15, said Howard County Club boxing coach Jaime Baldwin.

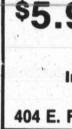

He said Howard County will enter eight boxers in this weekend's tournament that begins Saturday at 6 p.m. and resumes Sunday at 2 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Baldwin savors the opportunity of Big Spring hosting the tournament. His three sons — Juan, Jaime and Martin — have the advantage of fighting on their home turf and the chance of giving the Spring City some recognition.

Juan is four times regional Golden Gloves champ. He has over 200 wins and 18 loses. Most boxers around here don't want to fight him," Baldwin said about the 17-year-old bantam weight slugger. He said Jaime boasts about the same career record and is currently ranked 11th nationally by the USABF.

more in this country than Americans have been investing abroad. This capital account surplus, as economists refer to it, is the flip side of the current account deficit - the excess of imports over exports. If one is in deficit, the other has to be in surplus.

Contrary to the usual explanation, it is not the trade deficit that has caused the capital inflow, but the other way around. Because of its rapid growth, improved tax climate, low inflation and stable government, the United States is one of the most attractive places in the world to invest. To buy assets here, foreigners need dollars. To get dollars, they have to sell goods to Americans. Thus U.S. imports have to rise.

America's recent prosperity, so different from the economic conditions in most Western industrial countries, has pulled in capital from around the globe. This is part of the investment boom that has occurred here since the economic recovery began.

Much of what is called debt to foreigners is actually equity. If Mazda builds a plant in Michigan instead of at home, Americans don't "owe" Mazda a cent, at least in the conventional sense of the word. Any money Mazda makes from the factory, it has to earn, by providing cars that Americans want.

The same conditions that lure foreign investors are similarly attractive to Americans. Why finance a venture in Europe when the prospects for making money are so much better here? Another reason for the gap is that American banks, who have found themselves stuck with bad loans to developing countries, aren't too keen on exposing themselves further. Would the one reason the U.S. economy has been creating millions of new jobs a year, while its trading partners have seen their employment growth stalled.

Another is that, though in some sense it might be better for new plants and office buildings to be financed by Americans, it's preferable to have them financed by foreigners than not built at all. Our balance sheet would look better to some people if foreign capital weren't pouring into the U.S., but the economy actually would be worse off.

The important question is not how much money the U.S. is "borrowing" from abroad, but how it's used. The usual complaint is that foreign lending is paying for consumption by allowing the government to run huge deficits, in effect letting Americans live beyond their means. The rapid rate of capital formation ought to dispel that fear. If a new machine can pay for itself in higher output, there's nothing wrong with borrowing to buy it.

Likewise, the foreign-owned share of government debt, far from growing, has fallen since Ronald Reagan took office. And much of the defense budget, a prime source of higher spending, is properly classified not as consumption but investment.

None of this is to suggest that the defense budget and total federal spending aren't too high, or that we shouldn't be concerned about the comparatively low level of saving in this country. Both phenomena are unhealthy. But a mistaken preoccupation with our new status as a debtor will only distract from the genuine reasons for worry obstructed representatives who have tried to make a careful examination of the entire file on a given live sighting. Instead, the DIA offers statistics and generalities in briefings designed to assure Congress. that everything is under control.

Faced with this bureaucratic stonewall, 18 Repub. n House members in July took the unusual - and largely unnoticed - step of sponsoring a resolution to force the Defense Department to provide "full and complete information regarding the following: all case files, complete with individual DIA analyses concerning reports of live Americans in Southeast Asia" from March 23, 1977 to date.

But the Intelligence Committee, in a closed session on Sept. 5, killed the resolution. Reading the minds of its 18 colleagues and detecting ulterior motives, the committee said the 18 wanted "free and easy access ... to the files ... (to) convince members of the House that there were Americans being held prisoner in Southeast Asia and persuade them that there was an institutional bias at DIA against accepting this fact."

Having exonerated the DIA of bias, the committee echoed the intelligence agency's "national security" phantom for good measure. But we've seen some of the DIA's files and they contradict the Intelligence Committee's complacent verdict that there is no cover-up at the Pentagon.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: The Polish military regime of Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski is moving to protect its exposed ideological flank by cracking down on the universities. Ever since the rise and fall of Solidarity, academics have been given stiffer jail sentences than even the union leaders. But Jaruzelski evidently thinks the intellectuals are still dangerous. So new laws have been promulgated allowing for dismissal of professors, adminstrators or students who engage in activities "against the in-terest of the state," and imposing strict ideological requirements on the curriculum. The brief taste of freedomin Solidarity's heyday is now officially over.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We bow to no one in criticism of federal grants for the study of exotic trivia or promotion of wild hypotheses. But we salute the National Endowment for the Humanities $500,000 grant to the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which is hard pressed for funds to preserve its irreplaceable collection of Americana. The society is the oldest and second-largest in the world, and its priceless documents are a source for many scholars, since millions of Americans' ancestors entered the country in New England. The Boston-based society must raise $1.5 million in matching funds in the next two years to get the federal grand.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

The tournament is sanctioned and licensed by the USABF, Baldwin said.

He said 27 boxing teams from West Texas will enter the tourna ment and of particular interest will be the East Shade Oriental Club from Amarillo.

Members of the former karate club are currently boasting about a 125-pound boxer they are bringing to Big Spring.

"They want to match him with Jaime," Baldwin says with a Baldwin says with a gleam in his eye.

"Not many fighters in West Texas want to box Jaime," he tells me later, "they know who he is." He said Juan carries the same reputation.

The reputation goes on the line this weekend. Hopefully it will again next December in Tulsa.

United Way at 27 percent of goal

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Howard County's United Way fund drive is 27 percent of the way to its $210,000 goal, said Sherrie A. Bordofske, local United Way director.

The agency has collected $57,430 in donations from residents and businesses throughout the community, she said.

This year's fund drive is chaired by Teddy Griffin of First Federal Savings and Paul Petterson of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home. The drive began Sept. 4 and will end Oct. 31.

Bordofske said United Way agencies provide a broad range of community services.

According to figures released by Big Spring's United Way agency, the largest total donations so far have come from the Pace Setters division, said Bordofske The Pace Setters division consists of "any individual or company that donates $500 or more, she said, and the total for that division is $43,570. The division is chaired by Charles Beil of First Federal Savings in Big Spring and Larry Bristo of Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Bordofske said.

The next largest amount of donations, totaling $5,036, comes from the Loaned Executive Division.

Bordofske said this division comprises "14 of the largest employer groups in Big Spring.

The division is chaired by Richard Hoolahan of Malone-Hogan Hospital and Capt. Carroll Braun of the Big Spring Salvation Army.

A special events division, with $1,617 in funds collected so far, is expected to add revenue to the drive, Bordofske said. That division includes any special communi-ty events planned to raise money for the United Way.

Some of the future events include a barbecue at the "Country Affair" this weekend at the Howard County fairgrounds. Special barbecue recipes prepared by Tom Koger will be sold, said Bordofske.

Trash baler ceremony postponed

The city's grand opening ceremony for its new solid waste baler has been delayed until later this month, said public works director Tom Decell.

The opening was delayed so crews could make installation adjustments on the conveyor belting; which must be attached to the baler itself, Decell said. However, the adjustments - being directed by representatives from the companies supplying the baler and the conveyor — should be completed soon.

Decell said the ceremony, which will include tours and demonstrations of the equipment, will be rescheduled.

The baler, which compacts and converts solid waste into bales somewhat like a hay baler, will be the first used by a Texas city. A private industry operates one in the Houston area, Decell said.

Big Spring (1-3) at Permian (3-0-1)

The Steers will hit the road for the first time this year against a Odessa Permian squad that has an unusual blemish on their record after last Friday's 7-7 tie with Abilene High.

Both teams will be missing key players. Steer's starting fullback James Harlin broke his arm in practice Wednesday and will miss the rest of the season. Permian All-Stater Greg Anderson is out with an elbow injury

Carl Speck and the quick Steer backs have the offensive firepower to give the Panthers trouble, but will have to play an error free game to catch Mojo by suprise.

Big Spring's defense will have to tighten up to contain the speedy Permian backfield, but neither team will score a bundle of points. Watch for an upset if the Steers don't turn the ball over. Odessa Permian 21, Big Spring 14

Coahoma is coming off a tough loss to Big Lake while Abilene Wylie escaped with a one point win over Colorado City. This game will be an important momentum builder with district play starting next week. The Bulldogs have been getting excellent passing from QB Brian Calaway but they need to establish a running game if they are to be successful against a tough Wylie defense.

Look for a hard hitting homecoming contest between these two 3A rivals, but Wylie won't be the spoiler tonight.

Coahoma 21, Abilene Wylie 20

Colorado City (2-2) at Clyde (2-2)

Colorado City is a team in transition. After looking sharp with a 2-0 start, the Wolves have since foundered against Denver City and lost a heartbreaker to Abilene Wylie.

Clyde has scored 70 points in a pair of runaway victories to even up their record.

The Wolves are looking for improvement from a young offensive line and more consistency from quarterback Mike Ligon. They will need it to get past Clyde at their home field. Sammy Rivera will provide enough offense to get the Wolves by in this one.

Colorado City 14, Clyde 13

Rule (2-2) at Borden Co. (1-3)

Borden County has been playing a rough non-district schedule in the first four ball games. All-stater Chris Cooley has provided the Coyotes with more than enough offense, but the defense has been susceptible to giving up the big play.

Rule does not possess the speed or the quality backs Borden County has faced in the past weeks and linebackers Brice Key and Mickey Burkett won't give up any long TD's tonight.

Look for Cooley to run past Rule often enough for his fourth 200-yard game of the season and lead the Coyotes back to the winning track. Borden County 49, Rule 28

Seagraves (3-1) at Stanton (2-2)

Stanton showed its' true grit last week with a 12-6 victory over Ozona I QD Nev powerhouse, Seagraves; will give the Buffs all they can handle tonight. Sorley is back and fullback Michael Holt ran the ball with authority last week, but Seagraves prides itself on a rugged defense. This will be a low scoring game and Stanton will miss Glaspie's ex perience when the going gets tough. Seagraves 13, Stanton 10

Banks leaps to Cup record

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) -World record-holder Willie Banks, with his favorite music blaring in his ears, made World Cup history and won his first major international championship Friday, soaring to victory in the triple jump. Banks, "the bouncing barrister," a + hore a ga word a ga a contraction of a contraction of a second gas a second s

- he is an aspiring lawyer, having attended UCLA law school bounced to one of six World Cup records set in 13 events.

Helped by the use of his musical tapes - he had threatened to withdraw if he had not been per mitted to bring them onto the field - and an enthusiastic crowd estimated at 11,000, Banks sailed 57 feet, 8¼ inches (17.58 meters).

This has been quite a year for me," said the bubbly, enthusiastic Banks, who earlier this year had set the world record of 58-111/2 (17.97).

"For many years, I've been try-ing to be No. 1 — in the world championships, the Olympic Games and the World Cup. This is my first one (title).

Banks' tapes had become the center of controversy Thursday, when the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the world governing body of track and field, had proclaimed that he could not bring his tape player onto the field.

But Friday, the IAAF rescinded the ruling after listening to Banks' tapes for 21/2 hours and realizing that he would not be receiving any coaching from the stands through his earphones - a violation.

"They said they wanted to listen to the tapes, so I let them listen to Prince," said Banks. "They also listened to tapes by Steve Perry and Whitney Houston.

During the competition, Banks also listened to all three artists.

It was the kind of inspiration he needed to beat a tough field that included Oleg Protsenko of the Soviet Union, the runner-up who also broke the old World Cup record of 57-0 (17.37) by Brazil's Joao de Oliveira in 1981.

Oliveira, a three-time World Cup champion, also held the world record of 58-81/2 (17.89) until Banks erased it in June, leaping 58-111/2 (17.97).

"I don't see how people can get upset about the tapes," said Banks. "I've added interest to the triple jump.

Not only to the triple jump, but to an entire track and field meet. When Banks first appeared on the track, he was warmly greeted by the fans and responded by waving, smiling and blowing kisses.

BIG SPRING (TEXAS) HERALD, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1985

Each time he moved to the head of the runway, the fans clapped rhythmically. The clapping in-creased when Banks raced down the runway.

When the triple jump ended, Banks was at his best. He pointed with one finger on each hand toward the crowd, signifying that he was No. 1, he did a backflip on the runway, and again blew kisses, waved and smiled.

And on the awards stand, he capped his crowd-pleasing perfor mance by jumping up and down and kissing his medal.

Joining Banks in setting World Cup records were Canada's Ben Johnson, with a time of 10.00 seconds in the men's 100-meter dash: Bulgaria's Stefka Kostadinova in the women's high jump at 6-63/4 (2.00); East Germany's Sabine Busch in the women's 400-meter intermediate hurdles in 54.45 seconds; the Soviet Union's Georgy Kolnootchenko in the men's discus, 226-8 (69.08); and the East German women's 1,600-meter relay team, 3:19.50.

Marita Koch, who anchored the East German relay team, also sped to victory in the women's 200 in a sparkling 21.91. It was her second World Cup individual title. Koch, the world record-holder in the 200, also won the 400 in 1979.

The other men's winners Friday were Ethiopia's Wodajo Bulti in the 10,000 meters in 29:22.96; the United States' Andre Phillips in the 400-meter hurdles in 48.62; and Kenya's Sammy Koskei in the 800 in 1:45.15.

Completing the list of women's winners were Soviet teammates Natalya Lisovskaya in the shot put, 67-1034 (20.69), and Olga Gavrilova in the javelin, 219-2 (66.80); and East German Hildegard Korner in East Germany, seeking its third consecutive title, led the women's standings with 52 points. The Soviet Union was second with 46 and the Europe Select team third with 39. Johnson's brilliant effort in the

The only world record-holder to lose was women's javelin thrower Petra Felke of East Germany. Gavrilova overtook her in the final round, after having fouled on her three previous throws. The toss was the best of Gavrilova's career.

The competition followed a colorful opening ceremony that was marred only by a demonstrator who raced onto the field with a sign saying, "no nukes," after the introduction of the U.S. team.

Sands (3-1) at Wilson (3-1)

Sands found out what its like to play with the big boys last week against O'Donnell and they've learned a lot from the 28-0 loss. Wilson is a team much like O'Donnell, with good size on the line and above average speed in the backfield.

The Mustangs are a young, scrappy group that will give Wilson all it can handle in this ball game. If the Mustang line doesn't get overpowered in the late going look for an upset. Otherwise... Wilson 28, Sands 14

Forsan (4-0) at O'Donnell (3-1)

Forsan is looking more and more like a Class A championship contender after a dramatic 21-20 road victory over Rankin last week. O'Donnell has some legitimate playoff thoughts of its own after whitewashing a good Sands club.

This will be the week's best ball game, with both teams featuring good running attacks and tough defense.

If the Buffaloes can win this one, a top ten ranking should be in their future. But they will have to earn it.

Forsan 15, O'Donnell 14

Presidio (2-2) at Garden City (2-2)

Garden City's offense is no longer one dimensional since fullback Trey Willey has taken the pressure off tailback Abby Madrid the past two weeks. The Bearkat passing attack is coming around as well, the combination will prove deadly against a porous Presidio defense. If Garden City can keep its mind on the game, in an unusual Satur-day night Homecoming tilt, they should handle the boys from the border.

Garden City 24, Presidio 18

Paint Creek (3-1) at Grady (0-4)

Grady has on of the most productive backfields in the Crossroads with Luis Gonzales' accurate passing and the running of Arnold Valasco, but they're still looking for their first win. Paint Creek is not among the state's Six-Man elite, but they're no slouches either. And they run a tricky spread offense. Watch the Wildcat's light up the the scoreboard for the home crowd and a long overdue win in the Upset Special of the Week. Grady 58, Paint Creek 48
