Ex-prison guard goes on trial

Harte-Hanks News Service
ABILENE — A former Big Spring federal prison camp guard was caught June 20 with $1,000 believed to be an inmate's bribe, a former prison camp officer testified Monday.

Former guard Eddie Joe Roybal is on trial in federal court in Abilene on two counts of accepting bribes, a count of delivering a controlled substance to a prison inmate and a count of delivering contraband to an inmate.

Thelda Cauble Harris, sister of convicted drug kingpin Rex Cauble, testified this morning that her brother persuaded her to lend $11,550 to Roybal. Cauble is one of two inmates from whom Roybal is accused of taking money.

Harris, a longtime Denton businesswoman, said Cauble commended Roybal to her as a "deserving young man" who needed the $11,550 while attending school to become a deputy U.S. marshal.

Harris obtained cashier's checks for $6,550 and $5,000 from Denton's Western State Bank on May 28, and mailed the checks to Roybal. She also sent Roybal a one-year demand note that he signed and returned to her, Harris testified.

Roybal twice showed up unannounced at her Denton home, the first time after he had been relieved of his duties at the prison camp and Cauble had been transferred to the La Tuna Correctional Institute at El Paso, she said.

He did not tell her he had lost his prison camp job and told her he did not know why Cauble had been transferred, she testified. "He told me he wanted Rex to know that he had nothing to worry about," Harris said.

Big Spring Prison Camp Superintendent John Gluch testified Monday that Cauble and Gary Marcus Gunter, the second inmate from whom Roybal allegedly accepted a bribe, were both immediately transferred after Roybal's June 20 arrest. Gunter, who acted as an informant for the FBI and is a prosecution witness, was transferred to a federal prison at Fort Worth, Gluch said.

Roybal's second visit to Denton was to borrow an additional $200, which Harris did not lend him, she testified emphatically. Roybal has not paid back any of the original loan, she said.

Roybal cashed the two checks May 21, officials at two Big Spring savings institutions testified. Roybal used the larger check to make payments on a pickup truck and a mobile home, and was given a balance of $4,995.39, said Bruce

City water projects on tap

City councilmen Monday discussed a $3.5 million package of improvements to the city's water system as part of its capital improvements program for the next two years.

Those improvements would include installation of 43,400 feet of pipe for 21 water mains; construction of an elevated storage tank and booster system for the Capehart Addition, which includes part of the former base housing now known as the Greenbelt Homes area; and construction of a storage tank and water mains to serve as the Airport booster system.

The recommendations came as part of a study by the city's engineering consultants, Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock, presented to council members at Monday's work session.

Work would be funded by unexpended monies obtained from last year's sale of bonds and the upcoming sale of bonds for the fourth year of the city's capital improvements program.

The study identified necessary improvements on three time frames: immediate needs, needs through 1990, and needs through 2000.

Councilmen discussed bidding the water main installations in the next year, with the proposals to build the two storage tanks listed as alternate bids.

Included among the immediate needs but not being considered right now for funding are: construction of an elevated storage tank on the west side of the airport for a pressure maintenance system; the installation of 41,200 feet of water mains on 18 streets to correct dead ends and other regulatory defects; the replacement of all water mains smaller than 4 inches with pipes that are at least 4 inches wide; and replacement of the pressure maintenance facility monitor and control with new equipment.

Defined as necessary improvements through 1990 are the construction of four water mains.

Cable offer submitted

By SPENCER SANDOW

A proposal to continue broadcasting WFAA-TV to West Texas cable subscribers has been submitted by Times Mirror Microwave to local cable companies, a Times Mirror spokeswoman said today.

The company, which brings WFAA and KERA-TV to Big Spring and other West Texas towns via a chain of microwave towers, had announced that WFAA would not be transmitted after Nov. 15.

Marie Watson, contract administrator for Times Mirror, said the proposal calls for a five-year contract at $3,000 per month, said. The price doesn't include public television station KERA, which the company also offers, she said.

Big Spring Cable systems manager Paul Thoman said this morning he is interested in the proposal, but needs the information in writing from Times Mirror before making a decision about keeping the channel.

Thoman said he had not yet heard anything directly from Times Mirror, but he spoke with Snyder cable company owner Mel

Election seeks TDC inmates swap

Harte-Hanks News Service
HUNTSVILLE — A constitutional amendment to move Texas inmates to prisons in other states could be a powerful tool in cutting gang violence, Texas prison officials say.

But the measure won't be a solution for all gang-related problems at the Texas Department of Corrections, acknowledges Jim Riley, TDC deputy director for operations.

"The time is right," Riley said. "But we're not planning on it being a cure-all."

Director Lane McCotter ordered a lockdown on Sept. 9 after a gang-related triple homicide at the Darrington Unit in Brazoria County. A search turned up 125 weapons at the locked-down units, a significant decrease from the nearly 2,000 discovered in a sweep last summer.

"It's like sitting on a time bomb," said TDC spokesman Phil

Guthrie during the three-week lockdown.

Amendment 6 on the Nov. 5 ballot would allow TDC to join 31 other states in the Interstate Corrections Compact. Under that agreement, member institutions are able to transfer inmates to facilities in another state.

The Texas Legislature adopted the Interstate Corrections Compact contingent upon adoption by Texas voters of Amendment 6. The state constitution doesn't allow for the transfer of inmates now.

Because of the small numbers of inmates who would be transferred, Texans shouldn't look on Amendment 6 as a way to wipe out prison gangs. It probably won't stop gang violence, but Riley believes it will be an effective tool in protecting informants and allowing inmates who break with gangs to "start fresh" at another system.

Gang leaders may also be transferred to other systems and away from their positions of power.

No organized opposition has appeared, but, according to the House Study Group, which prepared an impartial analysis of this and other amendments to be voted on, opponents say the state has no business transferring its problems. The only way to ensure Texas inmates are properly treated, they say, is for the state to take care of them itself.

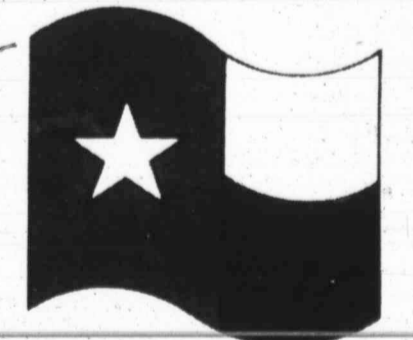

Opponents also are concerned that inmates may be removed from family and attorneys if they're transferred out of state. They argue an inmate's parole process will be negatively affected because Texas parole officials would not have first-hand information on transferred inmates.

The study group's report does not identify the quoted opponents.

Lynne Adele, a spokeswoman for an Austin-based prison reform group, said her organization

Botha threatens chromium embargo

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — President P.W. Botha, reacting angrily to economic sanctions, said South Africa could put a million Americans out of work by stopping chromium exports.

Meanwhile, 5 blacks died in unrest across the country.

Police said one black was burned to death near Port Elizabeth, 600 miles south of Johannesburg, and another was shot and killed by policemen who opened fire on a crowd hurling stones at cars in a black area east of Cape Town.

Witnesses in Soweto, the black township near Johannesburg, said as many as three other blacks died there as rival black groups battled with spears, rocks, hatchets, fire bombs and handguns.

The fighting in Soweto is between Zulus and supporters of the United Democratic Front, two groups with differing approaches to ending white-minority rule. Some supporters of the United Democratic Front regard Zulu Chief Gatsha Buthelezi as a sellout for his moderate approach.

Police say about a third of the more than 760 people killed in unrest during the past 14 months were blacks killed by blacks for alleged collaboration with the government, while the rest were killed by police.

Botha made his economic threats against the United States and other countries at a political rally in farming community of Bethlehem, 130 miles south of Johannesburg.

He said his government could put a million Americans out of work by withholding chromium. An embargo on chromium exports also could bring Western Europe's auto industry to a standstill, he said.

South Africa, which according to reference materials has 91 percent of the world's chromium reserves, is the West's major supplier of chrome and some other strategic metals.

"By digging a hole for South Africa, they could end up harming themselves," Botha said. "The world should cooperate with South Africa in the interests of the whole of southern Africa."

Experts disagree on the extent to which the West is dependent on South Africa for some minerals.

Some say South Africa exaggerates its importances, but others say South Africa is virtually the exclusive supplier of some sophisticated alloys used in modern weapons.

Asked about Botha's claim about the effect of a South African chromium embargo, General Motors Corp. spokesman Don Postma in Detroit said: "There's no way of knowing at this time. There isn't any way to evaluate it. We'll just have to see what he (Botha) means by this."

He also said he didn't know if GM gets its chrome from South Africa. Spokesmen for other U.S. auto companies could not be contacted for comment late Monday. On Sunday the 49-nation Commonwealth of Britain and its former colonies, trying to pressure the white-minority government to end apartheid, approved a series of mild sanctions.

But it agreed to review the sanctions in six months and consider firmer action if Botha's government does not move more quickly to end apartheid, the system of racial segregation laws.

The United States also has instituted limited sanctions against South Africa.

Botha told the Bethlehem rally: "We will not accept any notice to complete discussions (on changing apartheid) within six months. Only South Africans will decide that."

Card scam

Man turned to tricks for a living during Depression

ABILENE (AP) — It was the middle of the Great Depression, and cards weren't just another game for Herschel Freeman. They were a living.

"We were in the grip of the greatest depression the world has ever known," Freeman said.

A plate lunch with salad at an Abilene hotel cost 25 cents, "if you could get the quarter," Freeman said.

"If you were lucky enough to find a job at $8 to $10 a week, well, you had found yourself a home. Young people these days just have no comprehension of that," he said.

Freeman, now 65, was living near Big Spring when the Depression set in. Freeman said he ran away from home in the early 1930s at the age of "11 or 12." Jobs were hard to come by for people of any age.

"You can see there was plenty of time to practice (with a deck of cards)," Freeman said.

And practice Freeman did. He trained himself in sleight of hand and card tricks, eventually becoming a "confidence man."

"It was a matter of survival," Freeman said.

Freeman found he could make more than enough money to survive using just three cards and a variation on the old shell game.

He stopped playing confidence games, Freeman said, shortly before World War II when he got married and started a family. During the war, he was a Marine who traveled with the USO doing card shows.

Today he operates game booths that travel with the Bill Hames Shows midway.

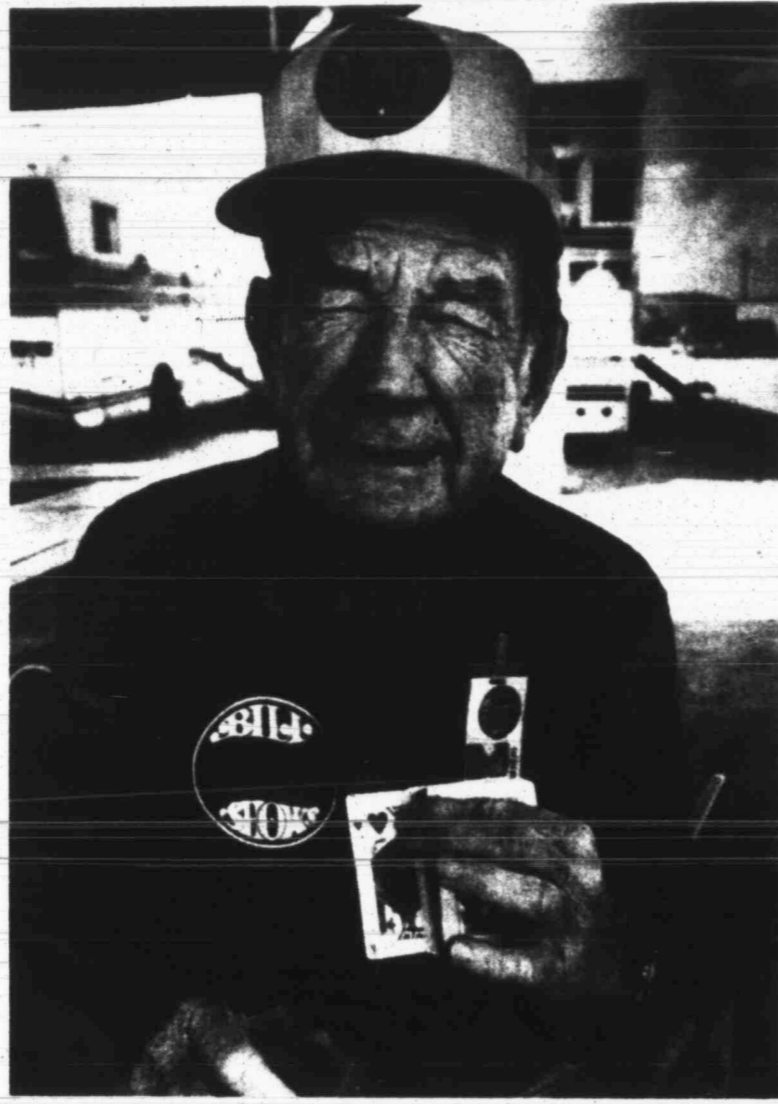

Though the confidence games are in the past, he still entertains friends with his mastery of a card deck.

Freeman will offer only a smidgen of the details about his life before the war.

He'll mention about the time a Texas banker was taken for several thousand dollars or laugh about another time when an arrogant San Francisco pimp was put in his place by a card scam.

But the details of how it was done are hard to pry out of Freeman.

What Freeman will give you is a demonstration and some practical advice.

Pulling a pack of cards, Freeman demonstrated his prowess.

A spectator pulled a 7 of clubs from the deck Freeman had in his hand and put it back. No matter how many times he tried, the spectator could not pick any card from the deck other than that 7 of clubs.

Freeman pulled cards from "thin air." He changed the face of card merely by rubbing it against a spectator's arm.

And he demonstrated the card version of the shell game that Freeman says is an almost sure-fire ticket to riches from a greedy victim.

Freeman explained that the idea is to pick a card and keep one's eyes on it as he places it on a table with two other cards and rapidly moves them on a table. One wins if one can pick up his or her card when the cards stop moving.

It isn't easy. In several games, a spectator found the right card only once.

Freeman said he has only a limited amount of sympathy for those who are taken by card tricks.

He does not like it when elderly people get taken for their life savings, he said, but all scams depend on the amount of what he calls "larceny" in the victim's soul.

"If you don't believe there is larceny in everybody," Freeman said, "watch your wife when she goes to the supermarket and sees something marked down by half ..."

Scams wouldn't work if people weren't trying to cheat the people who pull the scams, Freeman said, or if people wouldn't try to get something without working for it.

"Why should that grocer want to give you something for less than it cost him? He doesn't even know you," Freeman said.

The three-card scam, an age-old meal ticket for confidence men, would not work if the victim didn't expect to take the perpetrators for at least as much as they took him, Freeman said.

Today, Freeman says the only place he pulls his confidence scams is in front of police officers who want to learn about how scams work.

Freeman said he is proud of his more than 30-year association with the Bill Hames midway, which he called one of the best in the nation. The operation is well-run, and equipment — including the trailers in which the carnival workers live — is well-maintained, he said.

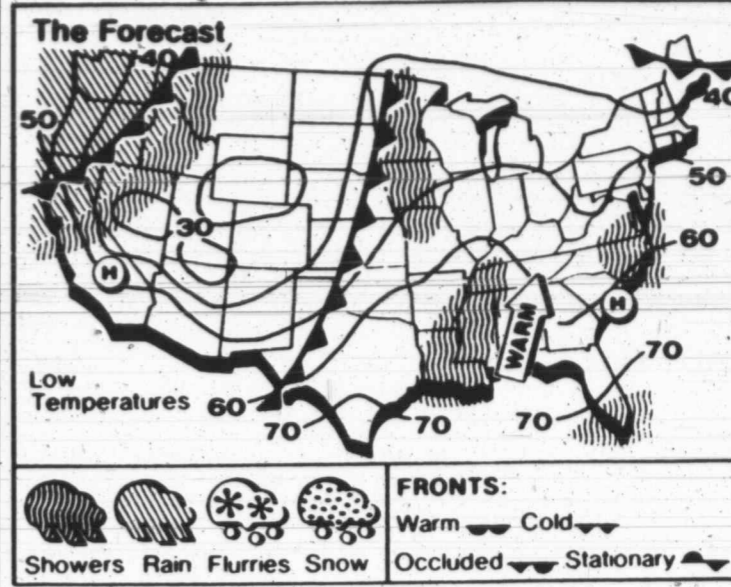

"Things have changed a lot" since he started traveling with the carnival, he said.

Freeman said his life was tough, but he wouldn't have traded the education he got on the road for anything. It taught him how mean people can be to other people, he said.

To really learn about life, Freeman said college students should do "a pair of overalls with $3 in their pocket."

People can treat you cruelly, he said, when you ask them for spare change.

Sheriff's Log

Bicycle thefts investigated

The Howard County sheriff's office is investigating two separate bicycle thefts recently reported from Coahoma.

Judy Pherigo of Coahoma told a sheriff's deputy Monday morning someone stole a dirt bike from her front porch during the day Sunday. The dirt bike was described as a silver-framed Huffy 4000 valued at $110.

John Justiss of 301 Ramsey told a sheriff's deputy Tuesday morning someone stole his son's bicycle from the residence sometime between 8 a.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday.

The bicycle was described as a BMX brand valued at $60. Jaunell Roever of Suburban East Mobile Home Park told a sheriff's deputy Monday night that someone kicked in an office door at the trailer park, causing $150 damage.

The incident was reported to have occurred between 9:30 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Franklin D. Roberts Jr., 21, of Route 1 Box 567C on two Wichita County warrants charging him with indecency with a child. He was later released on bonds totaling $7,000 set by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Deputies arrested Dale Robert Vela, 27, of Harding on warrant charging him with violating the conditions of his peace bond.

He remains in county jail on the authorization of Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Deputies arrested James Puentes, 19, of 1805 Hamilton on a warrant charging him violating the conditions of his probation received for a driving while intoxicated judgement.

He was released on $1,000 bond.

Prison

Hogenmiller, manager of Big Spring Savings and Loan.

Roybal also bought a 15-foot boat on June 1 with cash, testified Samuel Miller of Big Spring.

Prison employee Capt. Michael Borrego told the federal court jury he ordered Roybal to produce $1,000 after telling Roybal he was suspected of taking money from Gunter.

His recollection is that Roybal at first denied having the bribe money, the officer said. Roybal got out the money after being told that "if he didn't produce the money, I was going to search him," Borrego said.

Roybal peeled off 10 $100 bills, Borrego said. "He laid them on the top of my desk," said Borrego, who now works at the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

The apprehension of Roybal came after Gunter was "wired" with a cassette recorder for his conversation with Roybal earlier that evening, Borrego said. FBI agents had taped the recorder to Gunter's chest earlier that evening at a Big Spring motel.

Camp officials also recorded two telephone conversations of June 13 between Roybal and Gunter, Borrego said.

Jerry Russell Tharp, a Big Spring Prison camp guard, told the jury he acquired a hospital bed for Cauble "in late May or early June" at the written request of Roybal.

Tharp said he did not know at the time that the return of the hospital bed, earlier ordered taken away from Cauble, was against the express orders of Gluch and a supervisor.

Thirteen more water mains are projected as necessary through 2000, the study shows.

In addition, the city is planning to upgrade equipment at the city's wastewater treatment plant, which has not been operated consistently within the state permit since its expansion in 1980, City Manager Don Davis said.

Davis said he and Public Works Director Tom Decell met with Environmental Protection Agency officials in Dallas two weeks ago to discuss an extension for work at the plant.

If the agency approves the six-month extension for compliance, it will be the last extension it grants, Davis said. The city has been trying to resolve the problem for about a year, he said.

The problem is being caused by dumping or infiltration of an acid into the city system, Davis said. The city is currently testing the system to determine where the leakage or dumping occurs, he said.

If the city does not correct and determine the cause of the problem, it will be subject to legal action by the EPA, Davis said.

"We know what we need to do. It will cost money. I think we have enough money in bonds sold that are not expended (to cover the expenses)," Davis said.

In addition, Parkhill, Smith and Cooper's engineering study shows that the city needs to do $150,000 of improvements, including construction of 1,500 feet of sewer main. That work, however, is contingent on the results of increased maintenance work and a study to determine if overloading of a sewer main is caused by infiltration or by blockages in the system.

Thoman said he doesn't yet know what the proposal would mean for cable customer fees.

"There is so much information we don't have yet. We don't know what the penalty clause is. We're waiting for a more concrete proposal," he said.

Mrs. W.B. Shaw of Snyder, who is heading a petition drive to keep WFAA, said Times Mirror president George Batsche called her with news of the proposal Monday evening. Petitions are available at several local businesses, including all the radio stations, several financial institutions and retail stores, and the Big Spring Herald.

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. — A strike by 70,000 autoworkers against Chrysler Corp. stretched into a seventh day today with negotiators locked in their longest session since the talks began in August.

The continuing strike against the No.3 automaker threatened to cut short the return to work of 10,000 Canadian Chrysler workers, who ended their 5½-day strike on Monday.

Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca, who helped end a deadlock in the Canadian talks over the weekend, arrived at company headquarters late Monday and stayed until after 2 a.m. as a session that started at 9 a.m. Monday dragged on past the 21-hour mark.

Patient improves

HARRISBURG, Pa. — A medication problem rather than a stroke may have caused a brief seizure in the first person to receive the artificial Penn State heart, doctors said.

Anthony Mandia, 44, continued to improve Monday and had no more slurred speech episodes, doctors said.

It appeared that the "mild, transient seizure" that briefly afflicted Mandia on Sunday stemmed from too low a level of an anti-seizure drug that he had taken for some time, cardiologist Dwight Davis said.

MEMBERS OF the sanctuary movement hold a peace vigil, as they have done for the past 244 Thursday afternoons outside the Federal Building in Tucson, Ariz., protesting against the U.S. foreign policy in Central America.

Sanctuary

Leaders see no violation in aiding aliens

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Eleven sanctuary movement leaders say they acted on religious beliefs by smuggling illegal aliens into the United States, but they won't be able to present those beliefs in their federal trial.

Jury selection was scheduled to begin today in the trial of the 11, including two priests, a nun and a minister, who claim they violated no laws, national or international, and were compelled by their beliefs to provide aid and sanctuary to Salvadorans and Guatemalans fleeing for their lives from oppression in their homelands.

But the prosecutor, Donald M. Reno Jr., a special assistant U.S. attorney, says they engaged in a conspiracy to violate U.S. immigration laws and that the Central Americans they aided came to the United States as economic refugees, trying to escape impoverished conditions, and are not entitled to asylum here.

In pretrial rulings, U.S. District Judge Earl H. Carroll granted the government's request to prohibit the defense from basing its arguments on religious motivation and international law.

To gather evidence in the case, the government used informants and undercover agents to tape record secretly conversations in churches and in church-related meetings.

But Reno said last week that he would not use any of 91 taped conversations in establishing his case, relying instead on 50 witnesses, including numerous sanctuary workers named as unindicted co-conspirators, some of the aliens helped by the defendants and one of the two informants paid by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to infiltrate the movement.

Defense lawyers said they intend to use parts of at least 21 tapes.

Chemical causes food binge

DALLAS (AP) — A chemical previously identified in the human brain has been found to be the most potent appetite stimulant known, and researchers say it could play a critical role in binge eating, anorexia and other eating disorders.

When the chemical was injected into the brains of rats, they began overeating within minutes and by the third day were eating more than twice what they would normally consume, said Sarah Leibowitz, a neurobiologist at the Rockefeller University in New York.

The rats' daily weight gain was more than four times their normal gain during 10 days of testing, according to Leibowitz and Glenn Stanley, a researcher in her laboratory.

Leibowitz reported the findings Monday at a meeting of the Society for Neuroscience.

Leibowitz said the substance, called neuropeptide Y, could be responsible for the binge eating attacks experienced by people with the eating disorder bulimia, and for occasional overeating in normal individuals.

Victims remembered

TOKYO — More than 3,000 family members, friends and officials gathered today at a memorial service for victims of history's worst single plane aviation disaster, the crash of a Japan Air Lines plane Aug. 12 that killed 520 people.

The service in Osaka, destination of the plane, was organized by the airline as a memorial to the 368 victims from western Japan, JAL spokesman Geoffrey Tudor said in Tokyo.

Kidnap talks stall

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — The government and the Roman Catholic Church sent representatives to Panama to negotiate final details of the release of President Jose Napoleon Duarte's kidnapped daughter, but last-minute conditions apparently stalled the talks.

Guerrillas who hold Duarte's daughter said in a radio broadcast Monday that Duarte had rejected their offer, but sources said Duarte still was considering a rebel proposal.

Not easy for Craxi

ROME — Aides say Bettino Craxi will have the framework of a new government in place within several days, but some of his coalition partners say it may prove more difficult to replace the government that fell as a result of the Achille Lauro hijacking.

President Francesco Cossiga on Monday asked Craxi to try to put together a new government, and the five former coalition partners began meeting immediately to see whether that was possible.

Exclusively for women

LLANELLI, Wales — A 37-year-old woman in this southern Wales city of 26,000 people has begun a taxi service exclusively for women.

"It's not sex discrimination. Some women just prefer to have a woman driving them, especially at night," Glensy Preston said Monday, the day the service went into operation.

Fares are accepted only from women, she said.

Peres ready for talks

UNITED NATIONS — Israel's prime minister, invoking the memory of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's visit to Israel 8 years ago, said he is ready to travel to Jordan to negotiate peace in the Middle East.

Prime Minister Shimon Peres made his surprise gesture Monday, when 19 other foreign leaders also addressed the General Assembly as part of the United Nations' 40th anniversary celebration. Twenty-one statesmen are scheduled to address the session today.

WFAA petition is worth signing

An appeal to find a way to keep television station WFAA of Dallas on Big Spring Cable TV attracted more than 500 supporters in just 72 hours, according to Bill Nehls, who is circulating the petition here.

That kind of response trumpets the obvious: WFAA is highly regarded television fare, even though its offerings are limited primarily to movies and news. WFAA-TV offers superb television news, bringing the world into as good a focus as its "local" subjects in Dallas.

Four cable companies — ours, Snyder, Colorado City and Sweetwater — are in the same boat. Notice has been given by Times Mirror Microwave that service of WFAA will be discontinued Nov. 15.

End of subject? Maybe not. A grassroots campaign by cable subscribers to let Times Mirror know how important WFAA is to them has had astonishing success. In Snyder, where the petition drive began, more than 5,000 signatures reportedly have been secured.

Will it work? We don't know. Certainly, WFAA has a stake in all this. Perhaps it can bring some pressure to bear. Times Mirror Microwave today said it is making a new cost proposal to the cable companies for continuation of WFAA on its microwave relay service. So it can be done, if the price is right. At this point, it is unclear whether the proposal is cost prohibitive or not.

But we don't think readers can go wrong by expressing an interest in keeping WFAA. Petitions are available at numerous local outlets, including financial institutions, radio stations and here at the newspaper. Even Big Spring Cable, which is interested in keeping WFAA on the air, too, is making a copy of the petition available. As a public service, we're offering an individualized petition below, for those who want to clip and mail it:

Mail to: TV Petition, P.O. Box 3738, Big Spring, TX 79721.

Art Buchwald TV sets are hardly revered in old age

Atomic waste is not the only thing you can't dispose of in America.

"I would like to purchase a 25-inch TV set."

"You came to the right place. Simple Simon has the best video bargains in the city."

"What do I do with my used one?"

"Anything you like. We never tell a customer what to do with his TV set."

"Will you give me a trade-in?"

"You're kidding. Do you know how many TV sets in the U.S. are thrown out every day?"

"Would you haul it away if I buy the new one?"

"I may be simple, but I'm not crazy. Thousands and thousands of people are stuck with aging TV sets. They can't sell them, they can't give them away, and they can't throw them out. Garbage men don't even want them."

"So what does one do with the old set?"

"The same thing you do with nuclear waste. Find a deep hole in South Carolina and bury it."

"I can't even lift my TV."

"Then soak it with gasoline and set a match to it."

"In the living room?"

"If it will make you feel better, do it in the kitchen. Look mister, there is something you have to understand. The greatest thing about America is that you can buy the newest appliances known to man. The worst thing about it is that you can't get rid of the old ones. Once you own a fridge, a washing machine or a TV set you're stuck with it for the rest of your life.

"I have a mind to keep my old TV and have it fixed. How much would it cost?"

"Five hundred and fifty dollars."

"You haven't even seen it yet."

"Every TV set costs five hundred and fifty dollars to fix."

"For that kind of money I could buy a new one."

"I know. That's why we charge five hundred and fifty dollars to repair the old one."

"Perhaps I could donate my TV set to a senior citizens home or an orphanage."

"I wouldn't try it. They've been stung with too many second-hand sets, and they're not about to accept a used one. Why don't you just put yours in the attic and forget about it like everybody else does."

"We don't have any room. Our old stove is in the attic and, come to think of it, so is the sink that came with the house."

"Listen, I'm busy. Do you want the TV or don't you?"

"Yes, I do if you could just give me some idea how we can move the other one out."

"It will cost exactly five hundred and fifty dollars."

"But that's as much as you'll charge me to fix it!"

"Mister, we don't make any money hauling away sets. We just do it to beautify America."

Jack Anderson Army prepares to fight a war it already lost once

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Last June we charged that a vital Army computer project was turning into another billion dollar boondoggle, and reported that the Army's inspector general was investigating the mess.

The investigation is now complete, but the Army has refused to release the report. Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, who is becoming the nemesis of Pentagon wasters, has asked for a copy but has been rebuffed. Internal Army documents, which we've reviewed, explain why.

In a nutshell, the Army plans to solve the problem by repeating its mistake. Generals, historically, prepare to fight the last war they won. In this case, the Army is preparing to re-fight a war it just lost — and to fight it on an even bigger scale.

The Army has spent at least $40 million on just the "brainstorming" stage of its CAMIS computer project — trying to decide what the computer system should be designed to do. While the money is being spent on schedule, the work is months behind. The delay, according to our Army sources, can be blamed, in part, on the sole-source contractor.

So now the Army plans to have CAMIS absorbed by the new, all-encompassing Starnet computer system. Why? Because, according to a July memo seen by our associate Donald Goldberg, "the Army didn't have a 'Chinaman's chance' of successfully defending CAMIS" to Pentagon superiors.

But here's the rub: The generals intend to have the Starnet system designed and built by yet another sole-source contractor, Electronic Data Systems Corp. of Texas. In effect, the Army is busily rebuilding the Maginot Line.

The Army is aware that the new plan is "still not without risk." So an August internal report warns: "The Competition-in-Contracting Act has created an environment and an expectation that sole-source contracting will no longer take place. It is possible that the sole-source contract ... may be protested."

In other words, it's strictly an image problem. And this, the report suggests, can be handled by a good public relations campaign. "The Army should attempt to mitigate these risks through an effective liaison and information campaign" — aimed at Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Congress and the media.

At least one Army official, Wayne Grant, acting assistant secretary for financial management, has warned that the "new approach being recommended" — that is, the sole-source contract to Electronic Data Systems — may not be in the Army's best interests.

For one thing, "there appears to be no rationale on a cost-effectiveness basis" for canceling other, competitively won contracts to be absorbed by Starnet, Grant wrote, adding: "Largely because of the perception that (Electronic Data Systems) had a 'lock' on these earlier contracts, 'we had to take rather extraordinary measures' to persuade other companies that it was worth their while to bid on them.

"To cancel these (contracts) would at least appear to confirm that viewpoint and could readily lead to protests or legal actions..." Grant wrote.

He also warned the generals that not only would a sole-source contract on Starnet "send a clear signal" that would discourage other contractors from future bids, but it would run head-on into opposition from Weinberger and his chief associates, who are now committed to the competitive bid process.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., wants to know why the Securities and Exchange Commission has been losing so many big cases in federal court recently. The cases at issue involve the spate of gigantic corporate mergers, both friendly and hostile. The commission has argued against the mergers, claiming that they violate federal law by failing to protect the shareholders' interests. But the commission keeps coming up on the short end of the judicial decisions. Wirth has asked SEC Chairman John Shad for details on the lost cases, and for suggestions for legislation to protect stockholders.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI: Ex-Rep. Geraldine Ferraro is sounding out politicians around New York state to see if she has a chance to unseat Republican Sen. Alphonse D'Amato next year. One important thing she has to find out — perhaps the crucial factor in her decision — is whether campaign money will be forthcoming. A recent look revealed her campaign fund has exactly $89,308 in it. She had to transfer $20,575 last April to her 1978 campaign fund to pay the $21,239 she ran up in legal fees during the investigation of her 1978 finances by the Federal Election Commission.

MINI-EDITORIAL: If you saw any of Mikhail Gorbachev's televised appearances during his recent visit to France, then you know the new Kremlin leader is a first-rate performer. He appears to be the first Soviet politico to master a technique pioneered by U.S. politicians years ago — the ability to dissemble and prevaricate convincingly on camera, in the full knowledge that the truth rarely catches up. Given President Reagan's renowned expertise before the cameras, maybe we ought to lay aside the nuclear arsenals and have a Reagan-Gorbachev image duel. Photo ops at 50 paces could save a few million lives and prevent nuclear winter.

Billy Graham Be ready for Jesus' return

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have a friend who talks quite a bit about the second coming of Christ. Does the Bible really say very much about this? Why is it important? — P.F.

DEAR P.F.: There are literally hundreds of verses in the Bible which speak (directly or indirectly) about the fact that Jesus Christ will come again. It was Jesus Himself, however, who gave us the clearest and most extensive teaching about this subject. Although we may not understand every detail of what the Bible says about the second coming of Christ, the central fact is very clear: some day Christ will come again to establish His Kingdom. His first coming in the manger of Bethlehem was one of humility and obscurity; His second coming will be one of glory for all to see. "All the nations of the earth will mourn. They will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of the sky, with power and great glory" (Matthews 24:30).

Although we do not know when Christ will come again, we know that it could be at any moment. "Therefore, keep watch, because you do not know on what day your Lord will come ... So you also must be ready, because the Son of Man will come at an hour when you do not expect Him" (Matthew 24:42, 44).

What does it mean to be ready for Christ's return? First of all, we are only ready for His return if we have committed our lives to Him and are trusting Him as our Savior and Lord. Have you asked Him to come into your heart by faith? If not, give your life to Him today. Second, we should live for Him every day. "Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming" (2 Peter 3:11-12). Are you living for Christ every day, and seeking to witness for Him? If not, turn your life over to Christ without reserve today.

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Today

Today is Tuesday, October 22, the 295th day of 1985. There are 70 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On October 22, 1962, President John F. Kennedy went on radio and television to announce he had ordered U.S. air and naval forces to blockade Cuba, following the discovery of Soviet missile bases on the island. Kennedy demanded the Soviets dismantle the rocket sites.

On this date: In 1746, Princeton University in New Jersey received its charter. In 1811, Hungarian composer Franz Liszt was born.

In 1836, Sam Houston was inaugurated as the first president of the Republic of Texas. In 1883, the original Metropolitan Opera House in New York held its grand opening. The first opera performed at the Met was Gounod's "Faust."

In 1928, President Herbert Hoover made a speech in which he spoke of the "American system of rugged individualism."

In 1934, bank robber Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd was discovered and shot to death by federal agents at an Ohio farm. In 1954, West Germany joined the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In 1979, the deposed Shah of Iran arrived in New York for medical treatment. The U.S. government's decision to allow the Shah to enter the country sparked the seizure of the American embassy in Tehran by Iranian militants less than two weeks later.

Ten years ago: The Cincinnati Reds won their first World Series in 35 years, defeating the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in the final game.

Five years ago: At a campaign stop in Waco, Texas, President Jimmy Carter ridiculed what he called Republican challenger Ronald Reagan's "secret plan" to gain release of the American hostages in Iran.

Nation's health bill totals $387 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's health bill totaled $387 billion in 1984, the first time in 20 years the rate of increase has fallen below two digits, reports Ob. Gyn. News.

Last year's increase was 9.1 percent over the previous year, the publication noted.

physicians' services for $75 billion, and nursing home care for $32 billion.

The remainder covered dentists, other professional services, drugs and medical supplies, research, medical construction, government health programs and administration.

Declining hospital usage and lower overall inflation were major factors in slowing the rate of increase, the journal reported.

Dear Abby

Cell block correspondent warns of driving drunk

DEAR ABBY: I clipped this from the Twin Falls, Idaho, Times-News to send to you because I think it deserves a national audience. Idaho recently passed a driving-under-the-influence law, and I am amazed at the number of people who have been jailed. Before this law was passed, a drunk driver killed my sister and cousin and he went free. I hope you print this.

BITTER IN IDAHO
DEAR BITTER: Thank you for a powerful and timely item — "A Message From a Cell Block:"

"Dear Drunk Driver: This message is coming to you from the Twin Falls County Jail. I am doing six months in here for DWI, because I didn't listen to the warning that others were trying to get across to us through TV and radio ads. I have seen people come up here because they've killed and injured people while driving drunk. It's no joke. Now the laws are cracking down on drunk drivers. It is costly, I know. I can't pay my bills while I'm here. I am losing my credit. I just got my insurance down to a low yearly rate, and now it is going right back up higher than ever. It's hard to keep a job without a driver's license.

"If you don't know what it's like to miss a special holiday, or a loved one's birthday, or, as far as that goes, a loved one, then just get in your car and drive drunk, and you'll find out fast because they will get you sooner or later. Think about the family vacation, or a new TV, or maybe a VCR, or your child's birthday present, because when you get done paying fines, lawyer fees and court costs, that's all you'll be able to think about. So if you have a problem with drunk driving, stop now, and get help."

MARTY A.

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about sex, drugs and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Dr. Donohue

Sprue a special digestive disorder

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have what I understand to be symptoms of sprue, including sore gums. I understand this is an intestinal problem. But what laboratory tests are done to diagnose it as sprue specifically? Is it the same as colitis? — J.T.

Colitis is inflammation of the large intestine. Sprue is a digestive disorder in which the intestinal lining of the small intestine is sensitive to gluten, a protein found in wheat, rye, barley and oats.

For the most part, the two are easy to separate when you have the patient in front of you and can ask questions. Sprue causes diarrhea, weight loss and signs of vitamins and mineral absorption deficiencies. The absorption problem brings on anemia and bone complaints, also bleeding trouble, as with the gums. You didn't mention bleeding, but that can follow.

True, some of these symptoms can be found with other intestinal illnesses. A direct examination of the colon with a scope is an excellent way to diagnose various forms of colitis. And colon X-ray is another good way to rule out non-sprue ailments. However, a biopsy of the upper intestinal tract, where most absorption goes on, will confirm the sensitivity condition (sprue).

Strict avoidance of the gluten products is the keystone of sprue treatment. Sprue, incidentally, is also known as celiac disease and gluten enteropathy. The booklet "Colitis and Kindred Complaints" discusses these problems. Readers may obtain a copy by writing me, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Some of us at work have been wondering about a disease we heard about. It is progeria. The books we consulted had nothing on it. Is there anything you can tell us about it? We all work in a health care center and read your column every day. — W.T.

Progeria was first described by a doctor in 1886. Since then there have been only 80 recognized cases. Its rarity is fortunate, for progeria is a terrible and mystifying ailment. You might detect in "geria" the Greek root word for old age. The prefix, pro, indicates the meaning as premature old age. It causes old age in the very young.

A baby who has the illness looks normal early in infancy but quickly begins failing to thrive, staying smaller than it should. As years progress, signs of aging mount. Hair is lost; joints stiffen; there is a wizened appearance, and arteries harden. Premature death is a certainty, for we have no way to reverse whatever is taking place in the body.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Your attitude is most refreshing and encourages me to believe physicians are human and have a sense of humor. Now, you talked about ways to tell what kind of body frame one has, grabbing your wrist with a hand to see if the middle finger touches, overlaps, or leaves a space. I can overlap by more than an inch. I am 175 and wear size 12 shoes. My husband, who has always been considered medium frame can overlap his fingers around his wrist by the same amount. Please clarify. — M.M.

I'm sorry I ever imparted that pearl of wisdom. Supposedly, if you can touch the middle finger and thumb you have medium frame. An overlap indicates "small" and a gap between the finger and thumb a large one. Forget that one, OK? Let's go back to the drawing board.

Try this: Measure the distance between the bony nubbins on both sides of the elbow. For a woman between 5 feet, 8 inches and 5 feet, 11 inches, a distance of 2 3/8 and 2 7/8 inches indicates a medium frame. A lesser measurement means a small frame, a larger one a larger frame.

If it's ideal body weight you want to gauge, forget frame altogether. Just allow a hundred pounds for the first five feet of height and another five pounds for each inch over that. Men are allowed 106 pounds for the first five feet and six pounds for each additional inch.

Troubled with gout? To learn about new treatment for this painful disease, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Farm lobbies push low-lead gasoline exemption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two farm lobbies, without much attention, have won House approval of a farm bill amendment aimed at exempting farmers from a coming reduction in the lead content of gasoline.

The unexpected action on Oct. 7 caught the Environmental Protection Agency, the petroleum industry and environmentalists off guard and has driven them into conference rooms to come up with tactics to keep the Senate from going along with the provision.

The amendment requires EPA to exempt gasoline sold for "agricultural machinery" from its scheduled Jan. 1 reduction in the permissible lead content of leaded gasoline from 0.5 grams per gallon to 0.1 gram.

The agency would be required to study the effects of low-lead gasoline on farm engines and report findings to Congress by Jan. 1, 1987.

Old gasoline engines relied on lead to coat exhaust valves and prevent excessive wear of the valve seats. The question is how much lead is enough?

Greg Dana of EPA's mobile sources division said, "we don't think there's a problem here. We're pretty confident 0.1 grams provides adequate protection." The 0.1 gram standard is a little misleading, in that refiners who beat earlier specifications earned credits, allowing them to produce other fuel with higher lead content until their credits are used up.

Since these credits are actively traded, Dana said EPA had thought its talks with farm organizations on plans to approve lead additives for on-farm use in 1988. "We're not quite sure where the pressure is coming from," he said.

Asked if the agency could speed up approval of additives and persuade the Senate they would make acceptance of the House provision unnecessary, Dana said, "It's hard to speed things up. ... I'm not quite sure what we're going to do at this point."

Lead is a powerful poison that causes subtle mental degradation in children at fairly low blood concentrations, and EPA has been trying to get it out of the atmosphere for 14 years.

Environmental organizations, usually as quick with a press release as the fall of a maple leaf in October, have not been heard from, with the exception of the Environmental Defense Fund.

EDF's Robert V. Percival said in a statement that the provision was a "cruel hoax ... an attempt by a few oil companies to benefit."

He did not name any companies, and major oil industry groups said they were caught by surprise. Gus Enz of the American Petroleum Institute, the largest group, said Friday he could not comment except to say, "we're looking at it."

Later API issued a statement saying it was "difficult to assess" without more specifics.

Herb Bruch of the National Petroleum Refiners Association had not even heard of the farm bill action until called by a reporter on Friday.

Bruch said it was not clear any refiners would offer leaded gasoline for the farm market, since they would have to establish another network of trucks, tanks and pipelines to do so at a different concentration from their regular leaded.

Tom Van Arsdall of the National Farm Cooperatives Association, whose members own five oil refineries, has been working for a year to get some kind of protection for farmers.

"I'm hopeful that EPA is right" that 0.1 gram is enough or that additives will be available, he said.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Bob's Custom Woodwork is three-shops-in-one

It's hard to think of any home or business remodeling or repair job that Bob's Custom Woodwork can't handle within one of the three operations.

Bob's shop is really three businesses in one: General Contractor, "Furniture Doctor" Repair Service, and the Strip Shop.

As a general contractor, Bob's provides turn-key construction on room additions, everything from slab to roof including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

Remodeling is a specialty, including redesigned kitchens and baths. Bob's advice and counsel is an invaluable service to the homeowner who's in a quandary about where to begin remodeling.

"The Furniture Doctor" service offers complete repairs to furniture in your home or in the shop. This includes the repairs and refinishing of fine antiques. Bob's has hard-to-find specialty hardware for trunks, chests and other antique pieces.

In the Strip Shop, they do wood and metal stripping for home and industry. They will do the stripping and refinishing — or they'll strip an item and provide complete supplies and recommendations for the do-it-yourselfer.

Bob's installs microwave ovens, dishwashers and Majestic heat circulating fireplaces and mantels.

There's no job too small or too large for Bob Noyes and his crew. Bob does the estimates and gives his personal supervision to all jobs. His wife, Jan, oversees the Strip Shop, handles bookkeeping and customer service. Armando Nunez does general carpentry, counter tops, installation of cabinets, custom doors and acoustical ceilings. Rod Zapata does cabinets, stereo centers and book shelving. Elvin Bearden does furniture repair. Craig Neighbors and Burke Bristow do strip and refinishing shop work. Nathan King does general carpentry and dry wall textures. Eddie Word does general carpentry.

Bob Kinnan is production supervisor in the manufacturing of expandable, affordable and versatile shelving for business display or home collectables. These shelving units are available through Bob's or at several local outlets including the Candle Shop in Big Spring and Antiques Haven in Stanton.

Bob's is a distributor of Alcoa building products including siding, roofing, trims, soffit and fascia, aluminum cedar shake roofing, Fashion carpents, and patio covers. Instead of costly painting, consider Alcoa building products line.

Bob's is located in Building 613 in the Industrial Park. Their number is 267-5811.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

The seventh week of football action wasn't a banner week for Crossroads Country teams, but area schools did manage a 50-50 split in last week's action.

Three area teams are tied for first place in their district with undefeated records. The Forsan Buffaloes, in District 7-A South Zone, pushed their loop record to 2-0 and kept their season record spotless, by soundly drubbing Sands 63-0.

The Wildcats from Grady, in Six-Man 4-South Zone, won their third consecutive game with a 35-52 upset win over McCaulley. The Wildcats are now 1-0 in district play.

The Colorado City Wolves are also making their push for a possible playoff berth in District 7-3A as raising their loop record to 2-0 with a 24-0 win over Ozona Friday night.

The Garden City Bearcats evened their conference mark at 1-1 by outlasting the Roby Lions 21-7.

On the other side of the coin; the Borden County Coyotes keep having their problems with injuries, as they dropped a 51-14 decision to Ira in six-man play. The Coahoma Bulldogs are still searching for their first district win after suffering a 54-8 loss to the Crane Golden Cranes.

Stanton saw its loop mark fall to 1-1 as they dropped a hard-fought 21-6 game to undefeated Greenwood. Ropes put the clamps on Klondike 52-0 to round out Friday night's football action.

Here's what Crossroads coaches had to say about last Friday's games and their upcoming encounters.

DUKE FRISBEE, BORDEN COUNTY — On injuries that keep taking their toll on his team.

"We've been having some bad luck with injuries. We lost our quarterback Jerry Green last Thursday, he's out for the rest of the season with a broken leg. Now we've got three starters out."

"Ira had a good ball club, but if you take any team's starting quarterback away, they're going to be hurting. In situations like this it's tough for the kids but we're going to go to Highland (next opponent) and play. We have one week instead of one day to get a quarterback ready."

DUKE FRISBEE

TONY STRICKLIN

TONY STRICKLIN, GARDEN CITY — On his team's strong defense played in the second half.

"We got it together in the second half. We played very good defense. We didn't let them get a first down and forced them into some turnovers, which we took advantage of."

"It was a big win for us because we had six starters out with injuries. The younger players really came through for us. We started five sophomores on offense and defense."

"Sands (next opponent) and our team are equal ballclubs. We basically have the same strengths. They have a good running game and I think they'll try to throw the football against us."

JAN EAST, FORSAN — On his team's impressive shutout over Sands.

"The defense played real good, of course they've been playing pretty well all season. They (Sands) had five interceptions and two fumbles and we took advantage of them."

"We threw the ball a little bit, we had to because they had us backed up deep in our territory. Loraine (next opponent) doesn't have the speed it had last year. They have some good size, with four kids weighing over 200 pounds."

"I don't think we'll be looking past them to Roscoe. Last Friday's game is a good indication we won't be doing that. We know we must be 8-0 when we play Roscoe."

JAN EAST

TOM HAM

TOM HAM, KLONDIKE — On his team's loss to Ropes.

"Ropes has a lot better team than their record indicates. They are a senior ballclub. Their quarterback was the key in the win. He ran the Veer option well."

"We've been hit by some nagging injuries and couldn't keep the same players in over five plays at a time. Turnovers early in the game hurt us. I think we had something like three interceptions and one fumble. The bad thing is the interceptions bounced off our receiver's hands. It is the sign of an inexperienced team. It was Ropes' best game by far."

"Wilson (next game) is tough as a boot. They have three kids that weigh 285, 235 and 205 plus they have three 190-pounders. They have a premier running back in Justin Bedarz. We know he's going to get his, we have to stop the rest of the team."

CURRIE McWILLIAMS, GRADY — On his team's impressive win over McCaulley.

"I'm satisfied with the way we played against McCaulley. We got ahead of them 30 points and it's a good thing we did because we had two starters leave the game. They were a very physical team and we took our lumps. We're wounded right now, our quarterback (Luis Gonzales) is the only healthy one."

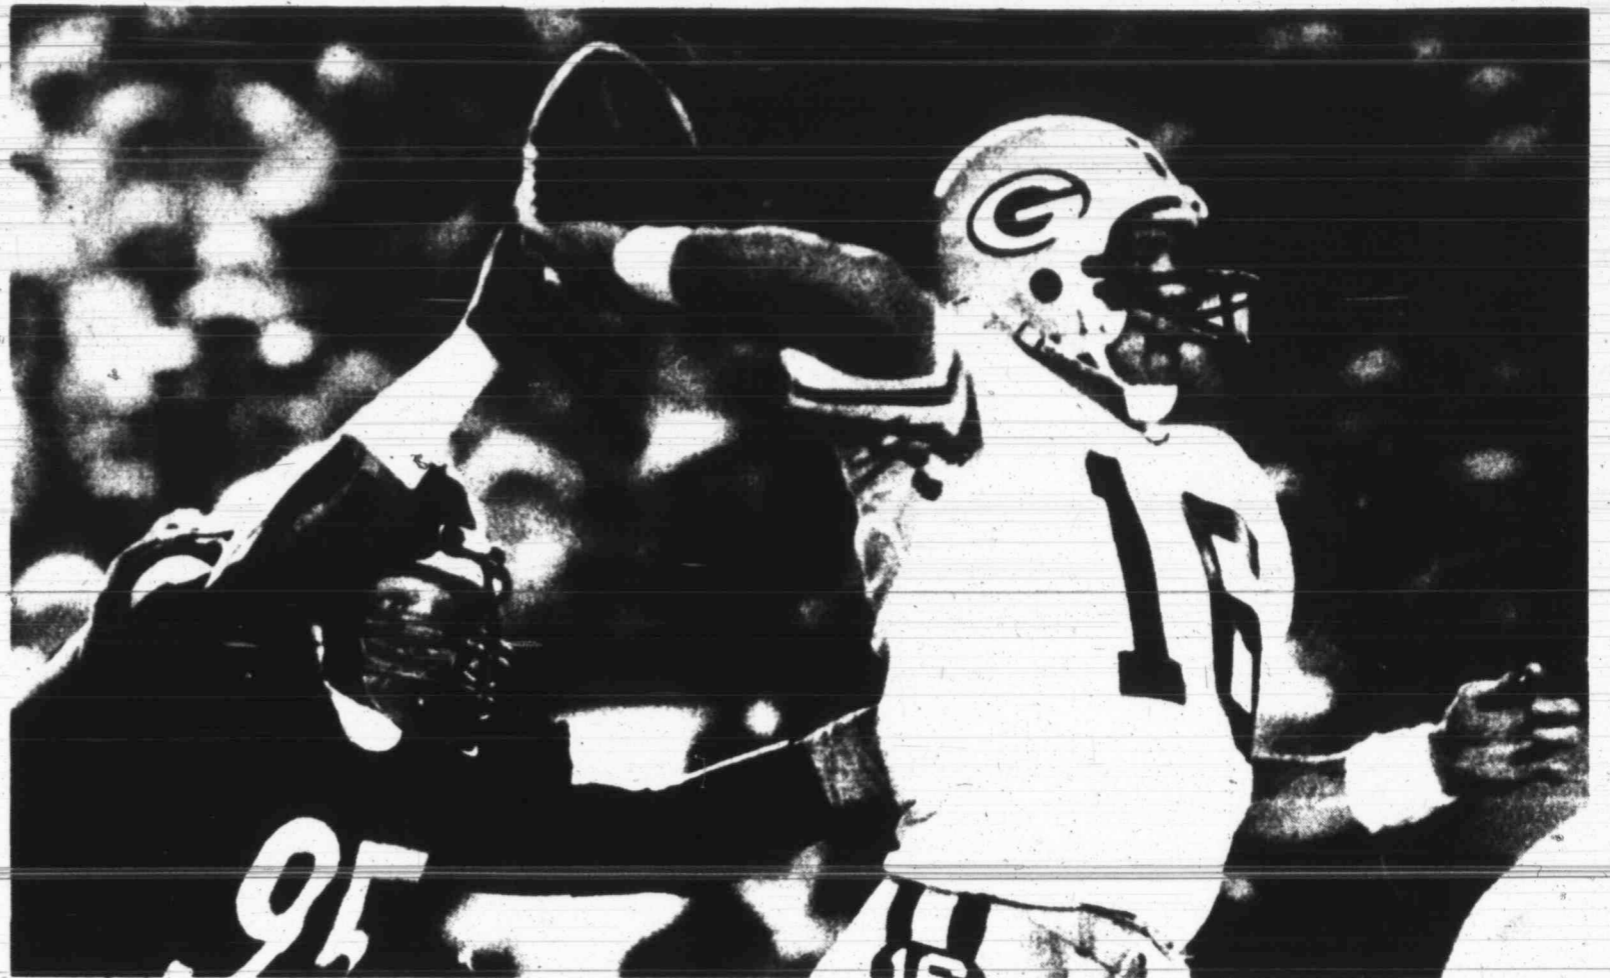

"We'll try to have everyone ready to go because this game with Ira could very well be for the zone championship. Ira has a ball control offense and they don't make many mistakes. We can't turn the ball over to them."

CURRIE McWILLIAMS

BRUCE MITCHELL

Chicago Bears' defensive end RICHARD DENT (95) puts a stop to an attempted pass by Green Bay Packers' quarterback RANDY WRIGHT in third quarter action in Chicago Monday night. The Bears won their seventh consecutive game, their best start since 1942.

Bears devour Packers, 23-7

CHICAGO (AP) — Walter Payton laughed when asked what it was like to run behind 325-pound William "The Refrigerator" Perry.

"It's great to hide behind him," Payton said. "Nobody can see you."

The Green Bay Packers had a lot of trouble finding Payton, who scored touchdowns on runs of two and one yards as the Bears remained unbeaten with a 23-7 National Football League victory Monday night.

Perry, the Chicago Bears' huge rookie defensive tackle, was Payton's escort into the end zone on both scoring runs and also scored a touchdown himself.

"He's so wide that nobody expects him to hit with such speed and effectiveness," said Payton, who carried 25 times for 112 yards, the 66th 100-yard game for the NFL's all-time leading rusher.

The victory gave the Bears a 7-0 record, their best start since 1942 when the team won all 11 of its regular season games. The Bears also maintained a three-game lead over Detroit and Minnesota in Central Division of the National Conference. Green Bay dropped to 3-4.

Lynn Dickey got the Packers on the scoreboard first with a 27-yard scoring pass to James Lofton. But the Bears dominated thereafter, particularly a defense that intercepted four passes and recorded a fourth-quarter safety.

Payton and Perry took care of the offense. Mike Richardson intercepted a Dickey pass and the Bears marched on the Packer 31 to the 2. Perry came into the backfield and opened a huge hole for Payton's tying touchdown.

The next Bear interception was by Wilber Marshall, who returned it to the Green Bay 17. Quarterback Jim McMahon completed a short pass to Payton and Payton carried for 10 to the Packer 1-yard line.

Perry again entered the game but, instead of blocking, he plowed across for the tie-breaking touchdown.

Late in the second period, the Bears drove from their own 11 to the Green Bay 1-yard line on the throwing of McMahon, who completed four passes in the drive.

Perry again returned to the line and this time blocked as Payton scored to make it 21-7 with 1:11 left in the half.

The first half was marred by loose play by both teams.

Early in the third quarter, the Packers drove to the Chicago 23 on the passing of reserve quarterback Randy Wright, who entered the game when Dickey suffered a pulled thigh muscle.

Wright passed to Paul Coffman for 30 yards and to Jessie Clark for 27 before the Bear defense stiffened. Al Del Greco attempted a 42-yard field goal, but it was blocked by Tyrone Keys.

The next time the Packers had the ball, Dan Hampton sacked Wright and forced a fumble. The Bears marched to the Packer 4-yard line, and Perry was summoned from the sidelines again.

This time, however, Payton was stopped on a third-and-one play and the Bears turned the ball over on downs when a fourth-down McMahon pass was incomplete.

McMahon, who left the game in the fourth quarter with an ankle injury, finished with 12 completions in 26 attempts for 144 yards.

Wright completed nine of 22 passes for 179 yards before the Packers went to third-string quarterback Jim Zorn in the fourth quarter. Zorn met with little success and was sacked in the end zone by linebacker Otis Wilson late in the game to complete the scoring.

Andujar goes for third Cards win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals right-hander Joaquin Andujar has better reason than most not to take the Kansas City Royals lightly heading into Game 3 of the World Series.

Since Aug. 23, when he defeated the Atlanta Braves to become the National League's first 20-game winner, Andujar has won only one of seven decisions and has a 6.99 earned-run average in his last 10 starts.

"When everything goes right, everything goes right, but when things go wrong, everything goes wrong, and that's what happened," Andujar said Monday while preparing for possible vindication as the starter in tonight's game.

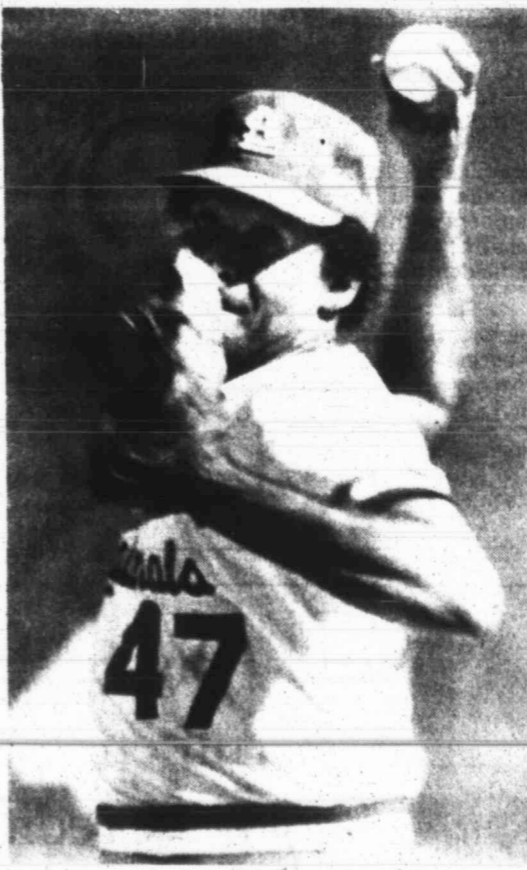

"I threw some good fastballs, 92-93 mph, but they hit the ball in the right spot. There's nothing I could do about it," the 32-year-old hurler said. "I'm just human, and I have slumps just like (Jack) Clark can at bat."

"The slider is coming better now. That was my problem the last two months. I was hanging my slider," said Andujar, who has been working closely with Cards pitching coach Mike Roarke.

Although the Royals trail the Cardinals 2-0 in the best-of-seven Series, Andujar stressed caution.

"They have a good club. There's a long way to go. You must be careful. You never know. Those are my favorite words."

Kansas City's scheduled starter, 20-game winner Bret Saberhagen, admitted some misgivings about having to bat in this, a Series without the designated hitter, but Andujar said he was looking forward to the opportunity.

JOAQUIN ANDUJAR ...St. Louis starter in game three

"I think it is a good idea to have pitchers hitting. I love to swing the bat," said Andujar, a lifetime .124 batter as a switch-hitter. "I'll probably not see any fastballs. They'll hook me."

Andujar's pitching fortunes have run the gamut since the Cards acquired him from the Houston Astros in a June 1981 trade.

He was 6-1 for the Cards in 1981 and was the staff leader a year later with a 15-12 mark and pitched two victories in leading St. Louis to the World Series title, including a triumph in the deciding seventh game.

But in 1983, he fell off precipitously to 6-16 before rebounding for 20-14 and 21-12 marks the last two seasons.

"But I give 100 percent all the time," he said.

Although Andujar's effectiveness fell off, it can't be attributed to a lack of effort. As one of the NL's three 20-game winners, he pitched 269 2-3 innings while starting 38 games, tops on the staff. He had 10 complete games and finished with a 3.40 earned-run average.

As the first NL pitcher to register consecutive 20-win seasons since Houston's Joe Niekro in 1980, Andujar thinks he hasn't gotten the recognition he deserved as one of baseball's best pitchers.

"I won 20 games last year, the only one in the National League, and then I go to spring training this year and nobody talks to me," he said. "So I say, 'I'm going to win 20 games again and I'm not going to talk to anybody.' It's not that I don't like you. I just get my revenge."

Hawkeyes remain in driver's seat

By The Associated Press

Iowa is a unanimous No. 1 as the nation's top college football team while Florida vaulted into second place, Miami of Florida cracked the rankings for the first time this season and Minnesota made the Associated Press Top Twenty for the first time in three years.

Thanks to a 12-10 victory over runner-up Michigan, plus losing efforts by third-ranked Oklahoma and No. 4 Arkansas, Iowa received all 60 first-place votes and a perfect 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

The last team to be voted a unanimous No. 1 was Nebraska in the fifth and sixth polls of 1983.

Michigan's last-second setback dropped the Wolverines from second to fourth. Meanwhile, Oklahoma lost to Miami 27-14 and skidded from second to 10th while Arkansas' 15-13 loss to Texas knocked the Razorbacks from fourth to 14th and put the Longhorns back in the Top Twenty after a week's absence.

Florida trounced Southwestern Louisiana 45-0 and climbed from fifth to second with 1,086 points while Penn State edged Syracuse 24-20 and rose from sixth to third with 1,007 points, followed by Michigan with 986 points.

Nebraska's 28-20 triumph over Missouri lifted the Cornhuskers from seventh to fifth with 946 points and Auburn jumped from eighth to sixth with 864 points by downing Georgia Tech 17-14.

Defending national champion Brigham Young went from ninth to seventh with 761 points by beating New Mexico 45-23, Air Force whipped Colorado State 35-19 and rose from 10th to eighth with 750 points, Ohio State outlasted Purdue 41-27 and climbed from 11th to ninth, and Oklahoma rounded out the Top Ten with 598 points.

The Second Ten consists of Florida State, Oklahoma State, Baylor, Arkansas, Miami, Tennessee, UCLA, LSU, Texas and Minnesota.

Last week, it was Ohio State, Oklahoma State, Florida State, Baylor, Alabama, Georgia, LSU, UCLA, Army and Tennessee.

However, Tennessee nipped Alabama 16-14, Georgia was tied by Vanderbilt 13-13, and Army lost to Notre Dame 24-10.

Minnesota ran its record to 5-1 by defeating Indiana 22-7 and made the Top Twenty for the first time since September 1982.

Coleman out

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vince Coleman, the speedy St. Louis outfielder, will miss the remaining games of the World Series. Examinations of Coleman's left leg, injured Oct. 13 when an automatic tarpaulin rolled over his leg prior to the third game of the National League Playoffs, revealed a tiny bone chip on the outside of his knee. Coleman, who stole 110 bases as a rookie, has not played since.

Cox leaves Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Manager Bobby Cox, who led the Toronto Blue Jays to 99 victories and the American League East Division title this year, is leaving the team to join the Atlanta Braves as general manager, according to Toronto General Manager Pat Gillick. The Braves had asked the Jays for permission to talk to the 44-year-old Cox last Friday, just two days after Toronto had been eliminated from the AL playoffs by the Kansas City Royals in seven games. Cox, who managed the Braves from 1978-81, was unavailable for comment. Earlier this month, Atlanta hired Chuck Tanner as manager after plummeting to a 66-96 mark, 29 games out of first place in the NL West.

Cahill captures Top Steer award

Junior linebacker Mike Cahill got the nod from his coaches as the Top Steer award winner in Big Spring's 46-27 loss to Midland Lee last Friday night.

The 6-1, 170-pounder was the top defensive player against the Rebels, with 11 tackles against an explosive offense. Although he has missed some playing time this season due to injury, Cahill is the Steers' third leading tackler with 43 stops.

The offensive line award goes to David Shortes, a 6-2, 195-pound senior tight end. He was the leading blocker in the line plus he snagged four passes.

The top offensive back award was split by sophomore Charles White and quarterback Carl Speck. White, who has been injured much of the year, ran for a personal season-high 83 yards in 15 carries. Speck had a banner night directing the Steer offense to over 400 yards total offense. He completed 19 of 26 passes for 312 yards. This was his first 300-yard game of the season.

The top speciality teams player was Jimmy Rogers, a 170-pound senior. Rogers was constantly in the middle of things on the kicking teams.

Brad Hanlon was named top secondary player. He was the secondary's leading tackler with eight stops.

Cowboys' White probable for Atlanta Falcons game

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Danny White is a probable starter for the Dallas Cowboys in their game here Sunday against the Atlanta Falcons, team officials announced on Monday.

White sat out the 16-14 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles with bruised ribs.

However, rookie guard Crawford Ker has been ruled out for the Atlanta game. Ker has been admitted to Baylor University Medical Center for traction treatment after suffering muscle spasms in his back.

Listed along with White as probable for the Atlanta game are linebacker Jeff Rohrer, despite a strained back; running back Timmy Newsome, despite continuing problems with an injured knee; and offensive tackle Phil Pozderac, also still bothered by an old knee injury.

Female paying price to play with boys

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Jacqueline Lantz's debut as the state's first high school female football player left her lagging behind the boys and looking tired.

But her coach, Tony Arrichiello, who appeared to ignore her throughout Monday's two-hour practice, said: "She's right where everyone else was the first day, but it's not the first day."

Standing only 4-foot-11 and weighing in at 123 pounds, she was dwarfed by most of the 21 other members of the junior varsity Lancers here at Lincoln High.

Clad in a lavender sweatshirt, purple sweatpants and yellow terry-cloth shorts, a purple helmet securely on her head, Miss Lantz did warmup exercises and sprints but only watched during kickoff-return practice.

During the final two-mile run, Miss Lantz slowed to a walk by the end of mile one and walked the second.

Miss Lantz was shielded by her attorney, Virginia Knaplund, who did not want the 16-year-old to talk to reporters.

The teen's place on the team is still tenuous and dependent on a federal court ruling. But even if she loses in court within the next two weeks, a state legislator plans to carry the ball for females on the football team by changing the state education law.

The law prohibits girls and boys from playing together in six contact sports: football, boxing, ice hockey, rugby, wrestling and basketball.

So, earlier this month Miss Lantz went to U.S. District Court in Manhattan for permission to punt and pass with the guys.

U.S. District Court Judge Louis Stanton granted her permission to participate in non-contact drills, effective Monday, pending a final ruling.

While previous efforts to get on the team last year failed, the path this year was cleared by Elizabeth Balsley, who won the right to play football at North Hunterdon High School in New Jersey.

In the stands Monday were Miss Lantz's father Paul and sister Denise.

"She wants to know what it's like on the field instead of in the stands," he said, admitting the entire family roots for the Jets.

But wanting to play may not be everything.

Before the practice began, boys milling around the field talked about other members of the junior varsity intentionally "hurting her" so she would abandon the idea of play.

The team members themselves had been advised not to comment by Arrichiello because, he said, "it wouldn't be fair."

A varsity player, Jerry Vittorio, proclaimed football "a man's game" while some cheerleaders expressed concern Miss Lantz would be hurt.

"She's so much smaller than them," said Christine Bush.

But Julie Galasso said, "If she's good enough, she should play."

The problem may be time. The other team members began practice Aug. 26 and under the rules, Oct. 21 is too late for anyone to catch up. The team's last game is Nov. 16. If she doesn't make junior varsity, she has told her father she won't try for varsity when she's a senior next year.

Lincoln High School Principal Jerry Hodus said he was concerned about her safety because of her size. She didn't get hurt Monday because she really didn't do anything.

Arrichiello said the team practices contact play on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and he planned to give her a conditioning program for those three days.

Also cheering her on was State Assemblyman Nicholas Spano, who introduced the legislation to change the state law and who led the publicity cry for Miss Lantz.

"We could win through the courts what would take another year in the legislature," he said.

Lincoln, like North Hunterdon, has what is known as a "no-cut" policy under which anyone who tries out can be considered a member. But Hodus said until the judge rules, the policy would not necessarily apply to Miss Lantz.

Even if the judge rules as early as next week, Miss Lantz has to put in more time before she can face another team.

The New York Public High School Athletic Association, which regulates interscholastic sports competition in the state, requires students must practice for at least 13 days before playing football: five days of non-contact conditioning sessions and 8 days of contact practice in full equipment.

One thing everyone at Monday's practice agreed upon was she couldn't hurt the team any: they're 0-4 for the season so far.

Astros eyeing new manager

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Leyland, third-base coach for the Chicago White Sox, is "high on the list" of candidates to become manager of the Houston Astros, says Astros General Manager Dick Wagner.

Leyland, 40, has been highly recommended to replace Bob Lillis, who was fired at the end of the regular season, and is "one of five — plus or minus one — that we are looking at."

"Listening to people, he gets very high marks," Wagner said. "I'm going to talk to him Wednesday and see how he feels about our club and our league."

Wagner said Monday that Don Zimmer, a third-base coach with the Chicago Cubs, is no longer a candidate.

"We have not asked for permission to talk to him," he said. Wagner said he hopes a new manager will be named shortly after the World Series.

BRUCE MITCHELL, COAHOMA — On his team's disastrous showing against Crane.

"It wasn't one of our better games that's for sure. And that's what's so frustrating because we know we're a much better football team. We just have to bounce back against a good Sonora team."

"We turned the ball over too many times. We had six fumbles and one interception; their longest scoring drive was 52 yards."

Sonora is a lot like us. They don't have real big people or outstanding speed. But until lately, they've been doing a good job of execution. They had a lot of turnovers in the last two games."

DALE RUTH, STANTON — About his displeasure with his team's play against Greenwood.

"We didn't play up to our potential. We got after Greenwood, but we just didn't play as good as we could have. I'm not taking anything away from Greenwood because they have a good team. It was a hard game to lose, now can't lose anymore if we're to have a shot at the playoffs."

They set up for our passing situations and intercepted two passes, but we dropped our share of passes. It was lack of concentration. They took advantage of our mistakes."

"Big Lake (next game) has a good team with a line that averages 190 pounds. We must stop their fullback Jim Tatum."

DANNY WILHELM, SANDS — On his team's loss to powerful Forsan.

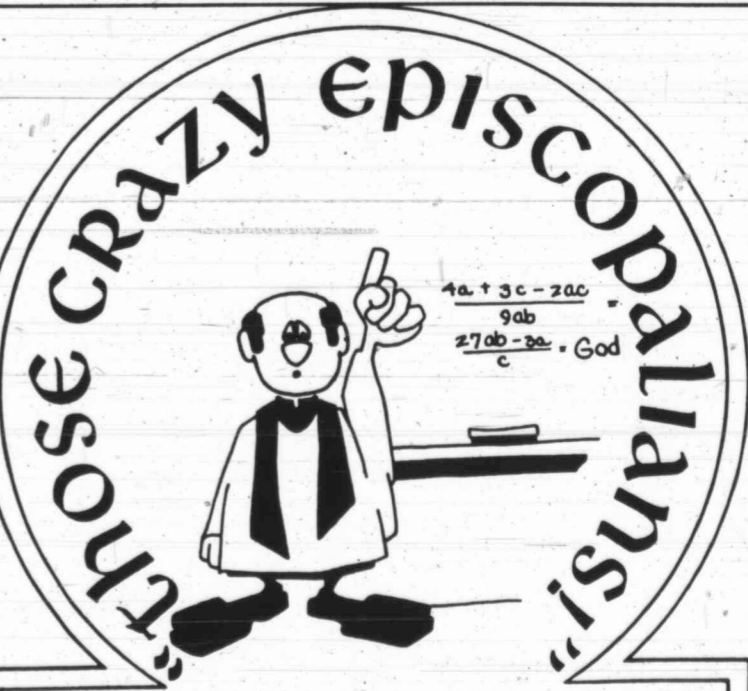

"We didn't do very many things right offensively or defensively. Forsan has a real good football team plus we had six starters out with injuries. Because of turnovers, they didn't have to go far for their scores. We've played four good teams, now we think we've got a chance at winning our last three games and having a winning season."

"I think the Garden City game (next opponent) will be a close game. I hope it's an overall defensive game. If it turns out to be high-scoring, we might be in trouble."

TOM RAMSEY, COLORADO CITY — On his team's upcoming showdown with Ballinger.

"Ballinger and us always have a good, hard-fought game. With the exception of last year when they beat us 28-6, the team that scores twice is the team that wins. Ballinger is not quite as good as last year, but they have a similar team. They have a good quarterback (Eric Lugo) and running back (Terry Strambler). They try to control the game with a running attack and pass when they have to."

"I think the defenses will control the tempo of the game."

do they really "go to school" BEFORE JOINING the church?

As much as anything else, Confirmation (or Inquirers) classes are for the "joinee's" own protection... so that he knows exactly what he's getting into. This simple, interesting set of instructions from the minister assures complete understanding the church's tenets. It carries no obligation to become a member.

Episcopalians don't discount the sudden revelation of God's presence. (Same call it "seeing the light.") They do, however, believe that a more deliberate initiation into church membership is less likely to "wear thin" in subsequent years.

They have some pretty good reasons for believing theirs is a "thinking-man's religion." Christ, they say, demanded simple faith — but not blind faith.

Periodically, your nearest Episcopal church offers a series of Inquirers' classes. Here's an excellent opportunity to learn, without obligation, if the Episcopal Church offers something you've found missing in your previous religious experience. The minister — if you call him — would be delighted to discuss it with you.

Baylor Bears ambushing SWC foes

WACO, Texas (AP) — The Baylor Bears are back doing what they do best, ambushing the Southwest Conference.

It seems there's no bad Bear like a spurned Bear.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff, who can play psychological poker with the best, bluffed his Bears into believing they were downgraded and underrated by the so-called experts.

"We're not going to finish eighth like we were picked," Teaff said during the early part of the season. "We're better than that."

Indeed, the Bears have rushed right to the head of the SWC football class with a 4-0 start based on physical defense and a diversified Veer offense. They beat Southern California on the road to gain momentum for victories over Texas Tech, Houston, SMU and Texas A&M. Baylor, which hosts Texas Christian University on Saturday, beat A&M 20-15 Saturday night before a sellout house of 48,500 fans in Baylor Stadium.

"We're becoming a resilient team," said Teaff. "Our kicking game has been great. We've had the clutch defense when we've needed it. And our offense has been doing the job on third down. We had drives of 97, 75, and 80 yards against the Aggies and that's good offense."

Baylor has a horde of adequate running backs, two excellent quarterbacks in Cody Carlson and Tom Muecke, good receivers, and a wild Bear called Ralph Stockemer.

Stockemer, who shocked Southern Methodist two weeks ago by catching a touchdown pass as a tight end, crashed across for a touchdown from a yard away to beat the Aggies in the fourth period.

Bear fans are beginning to sense something special about the season, thinking they could be on the road to the Cotton Bowl again like they were in the Januarys of 1975 and 1981.

Like the 1980 season when Baylor was picked to finish sixth in the SWC and they finished sixth in the nation.

Or the 1983 campaign when they were selected eighth and still manage to win seven games.

The Friday night pep rallies in Waco are drawing big crowds with some 10,000 on hand before the Aggie game.

"I'm getting too old for those midnight pep rallies but they've been just great," said Teaff. "The fans are really pumped up about the season."

On Sunday, Teaff left a film session to visit a woman and a man who were celebrating their 100th birthdays at a nursing home.

Their birthday wishes were to meet Teaff.

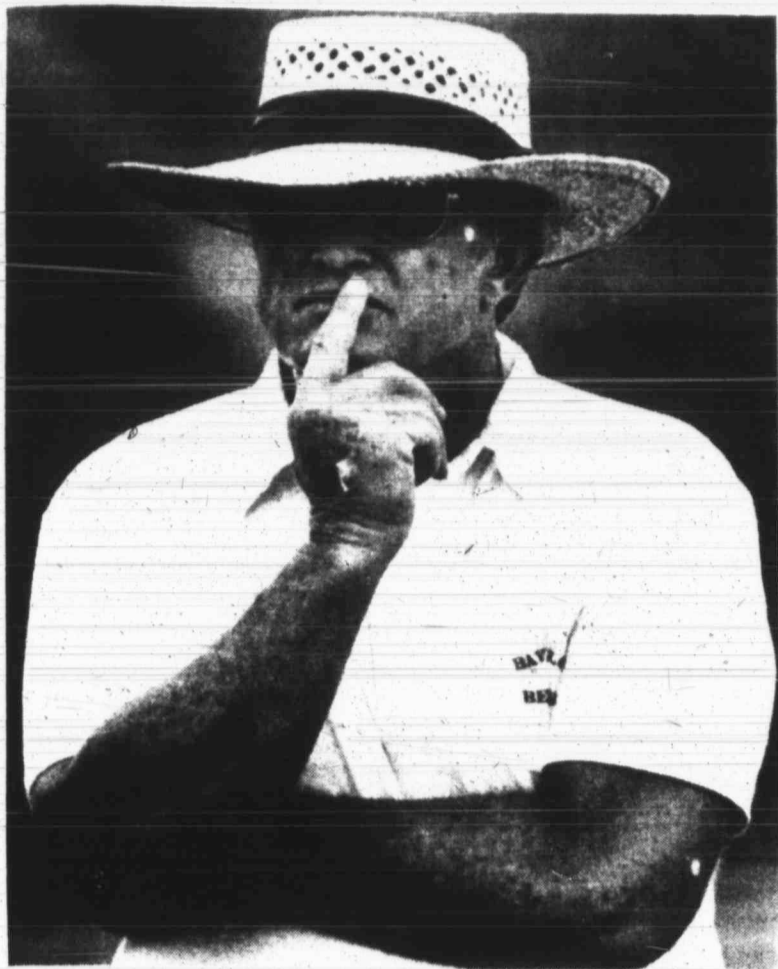

The Bears, who are 6-1 overall, still have rugged road games remaining against Texas and Arkansas.

Teaff is using the upcoming road tests as challenges.

"The odds are against us going on the road and winning at Texas and Arkansas," Teaff said. "We have to win our other two home games."

"The way it looks right now we might have a conference champion with at least one loss this year."

The rest of the SWC had best hurry if the Bears are going to get a blemish.

GRANT TEAFF, head football coach at Baylor University, likes the position his team is in midway through the Southwest Conference football schedule. Baylor hasn't led the SWC since going to the Cotton Bowl in 1981.

Longhorns nursing injuries after upset

AUSTIN (AP) — The heart of Texas' defense is hurting as the Longhorns prepare to play Southern Methodist, a team Texas Coach Fred Akers says has the best talent in college football.

All three Texas linebackers, Ty Allert, Chris Duliban and Britt Hager, will miss practice this week with injuries, Akers told his weekly news conference Monday.

Allert and Hager have painful hip bruises and Duliban a sprained thumb following Texas' 15-13 upset victory over No. 4-ranked Arkansas on Saturday.

Starting defensive tackle Terry Steelhammer reinjured his ankle and suffered a slight bone separation in his chest, and cornerback Eric Jeffries bruised the same shoulder that he dislocated last year. Akers was quoted as saying Sunday that "SMU has more physical talent than anybody in the country," and he was asked if he stood by that comment.

"Yeah. They've probably gotten better since yesterday," he said. "I haven't seen everybody in the country, but can you tell me who has more? Who has more speed and size, and generally what football talent is gauged on?"

Texas, 4-1, and SMU, 3-2, play Saturday at Texas Stadium in Irving, and Akers was asked if the Ponies have the best offense the Longhorns have faced this year.

"Yeah, more potential — there are more threats," he said.

Akers also said, however, that games against SMU should not responded, "I don't know how that can help them."

The Texas-SMU services has become a bitter and close rivalry in recent years, and Akers was asked if emotion might be a "wild card" in SMU's favor.

"I don't see anything new about it. It's that way every year, isn't it?" Akers said.

In the victory over Arkansas at Fayetteville, Ark., Akers said, "The best thing that we did ... was play with just an awesome amount of effort."

Bret Stafford played almost the entire game at quarterback after Todd Dodge got the majority of the playing time in a 14-7 loss to Oklahoma, and Akers was asked if Texas was still a two-quarterback team.

'The Beast' looking for middleweight upset

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Boxing Writer

"I know I'll knock him out," says John Mugabi.

That is exactly what the fighter called "The Beast" has done to all 26 of his professional opponents.

But opponent No. 27 will be a fighter no one has beaten in his last 36 fights dating back to 1976, a man who shrugged off Thomas "Hit Man" Hearns' vaunted power with a snarl. He is Marvellous Marvin Hagler, the undisputed middleweight champion of the world.

They will meet in a scheduled 12-round title bout Nov. 14 at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Nev., the scene of Hagler's sensational third-round knockout of Hearns last April 15.

"If it goes the distance, I'll still win," said Mugabi, a 25-year-old Ugandan, who has a home at Tampa, Fla.

"I know I can box. I can fight whichever way I want. I'm a good fighter. I'm not just a brawler."

"He can box when he has to," said trainer George Francis. "After all, he had 200 amateur fights."

Top amateurs must have some boxing ability because of the shortness of the bouts — a three-round limit — and the fact that the rules reward boxing. A knockdown punch counts no more than a jab.

"We saw him in the Moscow Olympics on TV and brought him to London where I trained him in my gym," said Francis, who has been with Mugabi for his entire professional career, as has manager Mickey Duff.

Mugabi has been fighting professionally as a junior middleweight and is ranked as the No. 1 contender in the 154-pound class by the World Boxing Council and the International Boxing Federation. But the World Boxing Association ranks him its No. 1 contender in the middleweight division, which has 160-pound limit.

Mugabi has knocked out such legitimate middleweights as Curtis Parker and Frank "The Animal" Fletcher.

While, Francis, a Briton who has been in boxing for 40 years and is a realist, feels Mugabi can box better than critics give him credit for, he said, "You must give John a puncher's chance."

"If he can find him and hit him, we've got a puncher's chance."

But hitting Hagler can be a difficult task. The champion flows easily from a left-handed to a right-handed style and back again and has many moves born of a 13-year-old career in which he has posted a 61-2-2 record, with 51 knockouts.

Yes, Hagler got hit hard and often by Hearns, but that was because an emotionally supercharged Hagler shunned risks in order to not just win, but to win big.

"I don't think he's going to come out like that against me," Mugabi said.

"All the guys who have done that have been knocked down," said Francis. The aggressive Parker was knocked out in the first round.

"I'm trying to teach him some of the moves Hagler makes. He has to keep his poise and not be intimidated," said Francis, who has trained two fighters to win WBC titles — light heavyweight John Conteh of Britain and super featherweight Cornelius-Boza Edwards, who also is a native of Ghana.

Hearns, the World Boxing Council super welterweight (junior middleweight) champion, also will appear on the card in a scheduled 12-round fight for the North American Boxing Federation middleweight title held by James Shuler.

Shuler is the No. 1-ranked middleweight contender of the WBC and IBF, who has said he doesn't want to challenge Hagler at this time.
