How's that?

Toxic wastes

Q. In Time magazine's Oct. 17 issue, a story about hazardous dump sites, a map showed two sites that looked like they were right on top of us. Where are they and how are they dangerous?

A. According to an EPA spokeswoman, the sites are in Odessa. Known as Odessa Chromium I and II, they are on a government funding list of the most hazardous waste dumps.

The EPA, working with the state of Texas, is researching the amount of damage done and what it would take to clean it up, the spokeswoman said. Both dumps affect local domestic wells and Odessa Chromium II affects an aquifer, not connected with city water, she said. Those affected by the dumps have been notified, she said.

Firemen put off pension hike

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring firemen today agreed to delay an increase in their pension payments for a month after council action Tuesday night.

Firefighters, at an emergency meeting of their retirement board, voted to table their decision earlier this month to increase their pension deductions by 3 percent, firefighters said.

Under state law, the city is required to match individual payments into the pension plan. The firefighters' decision today delays increases in both the city's and individual's deductions, scheduled to take effect this paycheck.

The city currently matches a 6 percent pension deduction by firefighters.

Today's decision came on the heels of a council vote Tuesday to offer the firefighters a choice: either accept a 3 percent cut in salaries to pay the city's portion of the increase or put off the pension payment increases until January or February, when the council has its mid-year budget review.

City Finance Director Tom Ferguson estimated the increase would cost $27,000.

Firefighter Paul Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Big Spring Professional Fire Fighters Association Local 2922, said firemen were reluctant to defer payments for six months without more time to study the proposal.

Brown described the council action as an ultimatum. "They aren't guaranteeing that they'll have the money when they review the budget," he said.

"We're not asking for a fight or a confrontation. We want to negotiate on peaceful terms," he said. The 30-day delay would give firefighters a chance to develop possible options, Brown said.

"I feel the council is trying to stick us between a rock and a hard place," Brown said. "I understand they have budget problems. But they were given more than enough advance notice."

The Legislature on May 17 passed a bill requiring cities to match individual pension deductions up to 9 percent, although firefighters were not allowed to vote on the bill until it took effect Sept. 1, he said.

"A department head or someone in city management should have informed the council," Brown said, saying that the Texas Municipal League probably included the item in its newsletters. "It's not our job — we couldn't tell them it was going to go up; we couldn't vote on it until Sept. 1."

Councilmen said one of the reasons they had to consider the salary cuts was the timing of the firefighters' decision, after budget deliberations had been finished.

Testimony ends in bribery case

ABILENE (AP) — A jury today began deliberating the fate of a former guard at the Big Spring federal prison camp charged with accepting gratuities from convicted drug kingpin Rex Cauble.

Eddie Joe Roybal, 33, who now lives in Weatherford, is charged with two counts of accepting gratuities from inmates, one count of smuggling a controlled substance into the prison camp and one count of smuggling contraband into the facility.

Roybal denied Tuesday that he did any favors for Cauble in exchange for a $11,550 loan from Cauble's sister.

Roybal's testimony Tuesday afternoon concluded the evidence in his federal court trial, which began Monday. The jury received the case about 11 a.m. today.

Roybal also denied Tuesday that he did any special favors for another inmate, Gary Marcus Gunter, in return for money.

Gunter, who was cooperating with prison officials and FBI agents, arranged for Roybal to receive $1,000 in marked bills through the mail, agents testified.

Roybal said he understood that the $1,000 was part of $10,000 that was to be loaned him by friends of Gunter in Dallas.

The defendant told Assistant U.S. Attorney Jimmy Tallant that he expected to pay off the loan to Cauble's sister, a $10,000 loan he expected from Gunter's friends, and several thousand dollars in outstanding debts and monthly payments.

The defendant denied that his arranging for Cauble to get a hospital bed for his room was an exceptional favor.

"Did you at any time do anything for Mr. Cauble that you had not done for other inmates?" Tallant asked him.

"No, I didn't," Roybal responded.

But in a tape-recording played for the jury, Roybal is heard boasting about persuading another corrections officer to bring Cauble a hospital bed.

Gunter, 31, who admitted to a lengthy criminal record, said he was present during conversations between Cauble and Roybal that

Amendment to correct indictment flaws

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Convicted criminals could no longer use technical errors in their indictments as prison escape clauses if Texas voters approve a constitutional amendment.

As proposed by the Texas Legislature, Amendment 11 on the Nov. 5 ballot reads: "The constitutional amendment relating to the manner in which a person is charged with a criminal offense and to certain requirements applicable to state writs and processes."

Texas legislators want indicted defendants to object to defects in their indictments before the trial instead of after. Under current law, convicted persons can obtain a new trial by objecting to errors in their indictment after the trial.

But opponents said the proposed amendment would weaken the Bill of Rights.

"Convicted criminals do not go scot-free because of technical defects in the indictment," said Joe

On the ballot

This is one in a series on the proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution that will be on the ballot in the Nov. 5 statewide election.

Harrington, legal director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Technical flaws in an indictment only allow the defendant to have a new trial, Harrington said, adding that guilty criminals seldom go free because of invalidated indictments.

The Bill of Rights was designed to put restrictions on the prosecution and the government, he said. "They shouldn't have the ability to put people in jail without the proper document," Harrington said.

Although it is more costly and less efficient to require a search warrant before arresting a suspect, Harrington said, the cost is worthwhile because the Bill of Rights safeguards individual liberties. "No cost is worth saving if it takes that right (liberty) away from us," he added.

But state Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, sponsor of the proposed amendment, said the courts have reversed many cases because of technical flaws.

"Our criminal justice system is plagued by violent criminals who are able to get off scot-free because of technical defects in the indictment," he said. Brown cited a case where the defendant was granted a new trial because the indictment neglected to mention the liquid the victim drowned in.

State Rep. Terral Smith, R-Austin, said the defendant might not be convicted in a new trial because of the time lag and the difficulties in contacting the original witnesses.

"We want to prevent legitimate convictions from being overturned because the grand jury failed to dot every 'i' and cross every 't,'" Smith said.

The proposed amendment, however, would give the prosecution a constitutional exemption for not doing its work properly, Harrington said, adding that the prosecution could be sloppy in preparing a vague indictment. The constitution guarantees the defendant the right to know exactly what the charges against him are, he added.

An indictment is a written statement presented by a grand jury charging a person with an offense. Under law, a person has to be indicted before he can be tried for a felony offense. The indictment must include all the essential elements relating to the offense and must be prepared in a prescribed way.

Alan Whitworth of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association said passage of Proposition 11 would create many lawsuits because the proposed amendment does not provide any guidelines on preparing indictments.

Inadequate indictment gives the prosecution an unfair advantage, subverting the principle that defendants are innocent until proven guilty, he said. "We are giving up too much for that slight advantage," he added.

Shaw supports water proposals

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Larry Don Shaw Jr. referred to Aesop's fable of the pitcher of water and the crow during last night's endorsement speech for water proposals in the Nov. 5 constitutional amendment elections.

The state representative spoke to an audience of 11 persons at the Dora Roberts Fairbairn.

Shaw said the fable tells of a crow who raised the pitcher's low water level by placing pebbles in it so it would rise high enough for the crow to stoop and drink from it.

"We've been doing just enough to meet today's needs," Shaw said, "but the fact is, we face a wolf and that is decreased water supplies for the future."

The water proposals will be listed as Propositions 1 and 2 on the Nov. 5 ballot. If voters approve the proposals, the items would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $900 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

Shaw said Proposition 2, which allows the development board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds not to exceed $200 million, evolved out of a natural resources committee's work that took place before the Legislature convened. Shaw served as vice-chairman of the committee, he said.

"I think the water plan before you is significantly better than ones from the past," Shaw said. "It had come time to sit down and negotiate a plan to serve all Texans."

The plan, Shaw said, "does not favor any particular sector of the state. It brings the majority of coalitions to an agreement."

Shaw cited statistics to indicate that the state was on a "collision course" if it didn't take preventive action now to avoid a water supply decrease for the future.

He said current projections for future water use in Texas show a population increase of 21 million persons seeking water from a water supply that will decrease 20 percent in capacity from what it is today. The state would need to increase its current total acreage feet from 18 million to 22 million by the year 2000 to meet water demand.

He said if the ballots fail to pass, no state funds for water developments projects would be available for the future.

The nearly $1 billion appropriated for bonds, Shaw said, would be issued through a matching funds program.

Municipalities or districts would submit water project plans to the appropriate state board for review before receiving funds, he said.

The board would mandate criteria for conservation and water quality enhancement, Shaw said.

The fifth-grade class homecoming float in Marathon pokes fun at the athletes who failed one or more of their classes. The football season in this West Texas town has ended prematurely because five members of the 10-member football team failed at least one class, making them ineligible to play for the next six weeks under the state's controversial no pass-no-play rule.

Weather

State

By The Associated Press

Moist air and light winds combined to form patches of dense fog over Central Texas Wednesday morning, cutting visibility to near zero in the Hill Country and prompting the National Weather Service to post a travelers advisory in the Austin area.

Meanwhile, cool, dry air graced the western part of the state with brisk morning temperatures and clear skies.

The weather service said that North Texas could expect mostly fair and warm weather Thursday except for a few lingering morning showers in the northeast. The low tonight were expected to range from 58 in the northwest to 65 in the southeast while the highs Thursday were expected to range from 84 to 87.

After a spate of evening thundershowers tonight, South Texas was also expected to have partly cloudy and warm weather on Thursday with highs in the 80s. The lows tonight were expected to range from the 60s to the mid 70s, the weather service said.

Nation

Rain dotted the nation from the Pacific Coast to the heartland today and sections of the Appalachians were chilly while much of the East had fair skies.

Rainshowers, with snow in the mountains, reached from the northern Pacific Coast through the northern Rockies. A snow-prompted travelers' advisory was in effect for the mountains of Oregon.

Showers and thundershowers moved from the Dakotas to western Minnesota and Iowa.

Forecast

WEST TEXAS: Mostly sunny and warm days with fair nights through Thursday. Highs Thursday upper 70s Panhandle and mountains to near 90 along the Big Bend. Lows tonight mid 40s Panhandle to upper 50s Concho Valley and Big Bend.

Police Beat

Robbery suspect located

Big Spring police have located a suspect in the armed robbery of the Western Sizzlin' Steakhouse, said Lt. Jerry Edwards.

The suspect is in custody in Gold Beach, Ore., in connection with other crimes, Edwards said. The man may have been traveling through the country, committing similar robberies, he said.

Local police are in the process of getting a warrant for the man, he said.

Burglars broke into five residences and a Gregg Street business this week, including one in which the intruders netted $6,800 of household goods, stereo equipment and jewelry, according to police reports. The burglaries do not appear to be related, Edwards said.

Police have no leads in the Tuesday burglary of the Earl Newell residence at 802 W. 14th, Edwards said.

Among the $4,750 in jewelry taken were two diamond rings. The first, valued at $2,500, is a man's nugget-type ring with four 1 1/2 carat and three one-quarter carat diamonds. The other is a 14 karat gold basket-type ring with 20 chip diamonds.

The burglary occurred between 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., the police report stated.

Terry Northcut of 1408 Johnson told police someone broke into his house between 3 p.m. Monday and 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. Taken was a 20-gauge double-barrel full-length shotgun, the report stated.

Herman Romero of 400 N.E. Ninth told police someone broke into a storage building at his house between 7 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday.

Taken were an electric valve grinder, valued at $150; a 50-foot electric cord and droplight, valued at $25; a 7 1/2-inch power saw, valued at $100; and a hacksaw and drill, valued at $47.

Florida McAlister of 105 E. 15th told police a burglar damaged a screen door and a wooden door and frame at her residence between 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. Taken were a penny bank shaped like a bullfrog and several cuts of meat.

Burglars also struck Conoco Oil Industries gasoline station at 2100 Gregg between 10:45 and 11:15 a.m. Tuesday, O.T. Mitchum told police. Taken were two 20-foot utility chain links, two fiberglass rods, a container of copper links and an oil squirt can. The items are valued at $50, the report stated.

Burglars also broke into Rose Gamble's residence at 1306 Harding between 11 a.m. Saturday and 11:30 a.m. Tuesday. It was unknown whether anything was taken, the police report stated.

Vandals broke a window and damaged the left side of a T-top on a blue 1978 Chevrolet at Carroll Coates Auto Sales at 1101 W. Fourth. The damage, estimated at $575, occurred between 7 p.m. Sunday and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Holly Clark of Colorado City told police someone stole her brown leather purse while she was at Wal-Mart. The purse, valued at $20, also contained a checkbook and a $56 paycheck from Beasley Transports to Aaron Clark.

Police Tuesday night arrested Billy Edward Burnett, 42, of Knott Route in the 1000 block of 11th Place on suspicion of driving without a license.

J.M. Meek of 707 Washington told police vandals broke the glass window on his front door at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Damage is estimated at $25.

Rob Hicks of 2701 Apache told police vandals broke two window panes and a screen at 4:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Deaths

Cecil Miller

Services for Cecil Miller, formerly of Big Spring, are pending at Nalley-Pickle and Welch Funeral Home. Miller died this morning at the Memorial General Hospital in Los Cruces, N.M.

Mollie Pant

LUBBOCK — Graveside services for Mollie Hocom Pant, 56, formerly of Big Spring, were scheduled for 2 p.m. today at Old Lubbock Cemetery, directed by Sanders Funeral Home, with Rev. David L. Lance officiating.

Pant died Monday at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene after a brief illness. She was a resident of Lake Brownwood and had lived in Big Spring from 1946 to 1983.

She is survived by her husband, Vernon Pant of Lake Brownwood; two sons, Russell Neefe of Dallas and Charlie Neefe Jr. of New Orleans, La.; a daughter, Mrs. Tommy (Barbara) Hill of Odessa; nine grandchildren, five sisters and a brother.

No pass, no play, no football team

MARATHON — The Mighty Mustangs high school football team has canceled the rest of its season, defeated by Texas' new addition to the rule book: If you don't pass your courses, you don't play the game.

When report cards came out this month, five members of the varsity football team were failing at least one class, making them ineligible to play under the state's "no pass, no play" regulations regarding extracurricular activities.

The team, which played six-man football, had only 10 members to begin with.

The bad grades meant no football for the school's homecoming Friday night and left this rural West Texas town without one of its main points of attraction.

"It really hurts this town," said football coach Gary Lamar. "This is a football town. That's all they have here."

Up to 200 fans routinely would follow the Mustangs to out-of-town games as far as 220 miles away.

"I believe it's unfair," said J.R. DeLeon, a lifelong Marathon resident whose daughter was picked by the team as Football Sweetheart. "All we used to do is come out here and play ball. That's all we got. Marathon does not have any other type of entertainment."

During the homecoming celebration, the junior class float carried the message: "We still love you Mustangs, but please study harder next year."

The fifth-grade float was less subtle. Class members used a flatbed trailer to arrange desks and chairs in a classroom. The fifth-graders all wore dunce caps, and the banner on the side read:

"Back to the Books."

Naomi Garcia was crowned Homecoming Queen on the football field after the parade.

"It's not the same without a game," she said. "It doesn't feel real."

James Martin, who escorted Miss Garcia, was a player who had passed all of his classes.

"I didn't realize how hard it was to play your last game as a senior, until I realized last week was my last game," Martin said. "I wish we'd had a chance to end our season better than 0-5."

County unemployment shows slight decrease

Howard County's unemployment rate decreased slightly in September, the third month in a row for a decrease. The changes were insignificant, however, said John Eckerly, Texas Employment Commission office supervisor.

The TEC measured the rate at 5.4 percent for September, compared to 5.7 percent in August.

"We're dealing with figures so small, that any minor change looks like something," he said.

Last year in September, the rate was 4.6 percent. Eckerly said the slowdown in oil business was the main reason for the increase over last year.

The county had 16,275 people in the total labor force in September. August's figure was 16,683. A year ago at the end of September, 16,502 people were in the labor force.

The total number of people employed at the end of September was 15,395. This compares to 15,739 last month and 15,740 last year.

September figures reveal 880 unemployed. This compares with 944 last month and 762 last year.

Firemen

Fire Chief Carl Dorton, who also is chairman of the retirement board, said at the council meeting that information on the new bill "got by me."

He also said he understood the council decision, and favored a deferment on the increase until mid-year.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford, who made the motion to take the increased deductions from salaries if firefighters did not delay their decision, said the move was forced because of the tight budget.

"We can't conjure up the money. I understand it's a law and we have to come up with it," Rutherford said.

"I got the idea at the public hearing that people didn't want their taxes increased," said Councilman Russ McEwen, who seconded Rutherford's motion. "We can find it in the budget from the fire department or another department."

Council members agreed the pension increase should come from the fire department budget. "I don't know any other place to get the money. There are only two line items: reduce salaries or eliminate the purchase of the truck. We can't afford to (not purchase the truck); we're in too much trouble with the insurance," said Mayor Pro Tem Harold Hall, referring to key rates.

Sheriff's Log

Deputies respond to alarm

Howard County sheriff's deputies responded to an alarm at Pinkies on Highway 87, north of Big Spring at 12:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Deputies found a front window broken near the store's front door, but no items were found missing, according to sheriff's reports. Value of the broken window was estimated at $350.

Deputies arrested Maximo Hernandez, 23, of Knott on a warrant charging him with violating his probation for a prior aggravated assault judgment.

He was indicted by the Howard County grand jury last week for an aggravated assault with serious bodily injury incident that occurred in north Big Spring on Sept. 15.

Deputies arrested Bradley C. Wigginton, 21, of San Angelo at the Big Spring State Hospital Tuesday morning on a warrant from Tom Green County charging him with criminal mischief.

Tom Green County Sheriff Ernest D. Haynes said Wigginton was recently indicted by a Tom Green County grand jury on a criminal mischief charge. He was transported to San Angelo yesterday afternoon by Tom Green County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies released Willie James Matthews, 54, of 1311 W. Second from county jail Tuesday morning after he served 10 days for a driving while license suspended judgment. He was given a three-year probation sentence by Judge James Gregg in district court Tuesday after a grand jury indicted him on a felony driving while intoxicated charge.

Deputies arrested Juanita White, 39, of Gail Route for a DWI judgment she recently received from county court. Howard County Judge Milton Kirby ordered that she serve 15 days in county jail.

Big Spring Police transferred Mark Wayne Reeves, 31, of 1012 W. Third to county jail after he was arrested on a warrant for suspicion of DWI. Reeves' initial bondsman withdrew bond. He was released on a new $1,000 bond.

Deputies arrested Travis Lee Pittman, 25, of 1012 W. Third on a warrant charging him with violating the terms of his probation received from a DWI judgment.

Judge Kirby revoked Pittman's probation and sentenced the defendant to 30 days in county jail.

Deputies arrested Ramon Alvarado Nunez, 65, of 404 Aylford on a warrant charging him with violating the terms of his probation received for a DWI judgment.

Judge Kirby revoked Pittman's probation and sentenced the defendant to 30 days in county jail.

A Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper arrested Richard David Belew, 35, of 1016 Bluebonnet on suspicion of DWI.

He was stopped at Highway 350 and Second Street at 10:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Belew later was released on $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Testimony

led to the $11,550 loan from Thelda Cauble Harris of Denton.

Witnesses testified that Roybal made installment payments, paid some debts and bought a $2,100 boat with the money from Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Harris testified Tuesday morning that she made the May 28 loan at her brother's request and that she expected to be repaid.

Mrs. Harris said Cauble told her the loan was to cover Roybal's living expenses during what Roybal had hoped would be 10 months of training to become a deputy U.S. marshal.

U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward denied a defense motion for an instructed verdict of acquittal on all counts for lack of sufficient evidence, and on the three counts involving Gunter for reason of entrapment.

Woodward said he would give the jury a charge on entrapment, but would not instruct the verdict.

Roybal admitted Tuesday he provided a controlled substance — two Darvocet capsules — to Gunter after the inmate repeatedly asked him for something to relieve back pain.

FBI Special Agent Thomas Clark testified that a vial containing 65 pills and $1,000 in 10 marked $100 bills were mailed to Roybal's home in the same package.

But Roybal denied on the witness stand that he had ever seen capsules.

Council accepts uniform bid

Councilmen Tuesday night awarded a bid for employee uniforms to Texas Industrial Services of Big Spring.

According to city computations, the average cost of the uniform per man under the Texas Industrial bid is $120.24. The cost for the current contractor, Dickies Work Clothes of Snyder, is $122.99.

The city furnishes 105 employees with uniforms.

In other action, the council approved the renewal of a lease for the building housing the Northside Community Center at the previous rate of $1 a year. The center is a non-profit organization.

Councilmen also agreed to waive the first year's rent on a building at the Big Spring Airport because of $42,400 of remodeling work completed there.

Raising money for poor

NEW YORK — Up to 10 million people are to link arms from New York to California next Memorial Day weekend to raise money for the poor in what organizers are calling the largest participatory charity event in history.

The same people who produced "We Are The World" announced Tuesday that they will sponsor "Hands Across America," in which 6 million to 10 million people will create a human chain across the nation.

Participants will pay at least $10 each. United Support of Artists for Africa, better known as USA for Africa, said the event would raise $60 million to $100 million to ease domestic hunger and homelessness.

Technology piracy on

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union, using Eastern European diplomats and other officials as its agents of espionage, is engaging in a "systematic looting" of U.S. advanced technology and military secrets, a top Pentagon official says.

Assistant Defense Secretary Richard Perle, testifying before Congress on Tuesday, joined FBI Director William Webster in urging that restrictions be placed on the movements of Warsaw Pact diplomats, officials and other visitors in the United States because many are being used as spies for the Soviets.

Agreement reached

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers agreed today on a tentative contract that gives 70,000 U.S. workers equal pay with Ford and GM and a $2,000 bonus for helping the company avoid bankruptcy, union officials said.

The three-year agreement, announced at 3:15 a.m. by UAW President Owen Bieber and Vice President Marc Stepp, ended a bargaining session that stretched more than 42 hours and could end a week-old U.S. strike by Monday.

New hearing ordered

HOUSTON — The no-pass, no-play law, which has sidelined football players and cut extracurricular activities for students across Texas, is headed for trial before the state district judge who ruled it unconstitutional in May.

State District Judge Marsha Anthony — whose finding of unconstitutionality was reversed by the Texas Supreme Court in August — ordered a new hearing Tuesday and refused a temporary injunction to halt enforcement of the law.

She set the case for trial Nov. 18 as a class action that could affect all the state's 1,100 school districts.

LETTA CASEY gestures as two of her sons, J.J., left, and Henry Lee, look on while she testifies before a Congressional task force on Capitol Hill Tuesday. Casey, from Roses Creek Hollow, Tenn., told the panel that she and her three sons had to rely solely on a monthly allotment of $153 in food stamps and a garden on their hillside acre for their food.

Poverty

Mother testifies food stamps inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the government's Food and Nutrition Service says the billions of dollars spent on food stamps and similar programs are filling the plates of America's hungry. But one Appalachian mother sees it differently.

"When school started this year I was so happy, because I knew the boys would be fed better than I could feed them," Letta Casey, 38, told a congressional task force Tuesday.

She said that during the latter half of summer, she and her three sons had to rely solely on a monthly allotment of $153 in food stamps and a garden on their hillside acre in Roses Creek Hollow, Tenn., for their food.

"If we hadn't had the garden, we would have actually starved," she told the task force of the House Select Committee on Hunger.

Casey has lost two of her five children — one of them because of premature birth she attributes to her own hunger.

She doesn't mind that her house lacks electricity and running water. She was raised without them and adds, "Those are bills I don't have to worry about."

But a balanced diet for her and her boys also is lacking and food stamps are an insufficient supplement, she said.

Henry Casey, 13, who accompanied his mother at the hearing, was asked by a panel member what he usually eats. With some coaxing from his mother, he replied, "I usually eat potatoes and bread" and said he drinks about two glasses of milk a week.

Robert E. Leard, administrator of the Agriculture Department's Food and Nutrition Service, told the panel the food stamp program, along with the Women, Infants and Children nutrition program and other such government services, generally are adequate to meet the need.

"The programs are out there," he said.

"I think the (food stamp) program is fine just the way it is. People can live on what they get," he said, adding that food stamps are intended as a supplement and not as a total food budget.

Rep. Leon E. Panetta, D-Calif., chairman of the task force, disagreed.

"The fact that there's increased use of the program shows there is a problem," Panetta said. "Yes, we need more volunteers, and yes, we need more people involved. But you also need adequate benefits provided to the people."

The food stamp program, which Leard called "our first line of defense against hunger" and the government's largest food assistance program, spent about $10.7 billion last year on benefits to 35 million needy people, he said.

The average food stamp allotment is about $45 per person a month, he said, and 70 percent of those receiving food stamps are members of households headed by women.

"We need to assist people on food stamps to make sure they get the most from their money," Leard said. "You can live on this and have a very excellent diet."

He said the program is teaching recipients to find the lowest food prices by shopping at large supermarkets and buying store-brand items.

But Ms. Casey said many people who live in rural areas are unable to travel to cities to shop in large stores.

"We have to buy in the little places ... so we have to pay more," she said.

PLO rejects proposal

A PLO spokesman rejected Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres' new peace initiative as a variation on the Camp David accords that the PLO found unacceptable, and a state-run paper in Egypt said Peres' plan was vague and contradictory.

Ahmed Abdel-Rahman, the spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization, reaffirmed the PLO's support for an international conference which would bring together "on an equal footing" the PLO, the United States, the Soviet Union and parties to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Five killed in fire

BARBEZIEUX, France — Fire swept a hospital and nursing home complex in this southwestern French town early today, killing five people and injuring 12 others, fire officials said.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight, apparently in the basement. The cause was not immediately determined.

Firemen brought it under control 90 minutes later, and then discovered five bodies in the building.

Peace conference set

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A leading newspaper today quoted the head of Syrian military intelligence in Lebanon as saying that Christian and Moslem militia leaders will meet next month and sign an accord to end 10 years of civil war.

The independent daily An-Nahar quoted Brig. Gen. Ghazi Kenaan as saying a Syria-mediated reconciliation conference will be held during the middle of next month.

Clergyman warned

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — At least four blacks were reported killed in outbreaks of violence outside major white cities, and the president warned a white clergyman that his planned meeting with guerrillas is a "challenge" to the government.

The Cape Argus newspaper reported 150 arson attacks, many involving gasoline bombs, in black and mixed-race neighborhoods of Cape Town during a 24-hour period ending Tuesday afternoon. The paper said homes and cars were attacked.

Quake strains economy

MEXICO CITY — Reconstruction costs from last month's devastating earthquakes put even more pressure on Mexico's strained resources and worsen its precarious economic situation, said Treasury Secretary Jesus Silva Herzog.

"The predicted levels of public deficit, balance of payments and inflation will not be able to be met," Silva Herzog said. "In addition, the earthquake complicated the situation, especially because greater resources than we have will be required."

New step to end an old stigma

The subject is stigma, and the wives of six members of Congress brought it before that body. In this case the stigma is that which surrounds mental illness, and prevents either adequate attention or adequate financing for treatment and research into a massive public health problem.

Stigma even prevents a clear picture of the extent of mental illness. The Department of Health and Human Services estimates that in 1979, there were from 1.7 million to 2.4 million people suffering from serious mental disorders. About 900,000 were in institutions; of the remaining, many depended on their families for support, but many others were living in the streets. What other major disease presents so wide but unrecognized a problem?

The six congressional wives went beyond the statistical dimension of the problem. Norma Lagomarsino, wife of Rep. Robert Lagomarsino of California, told a Senate committee how hard it had been to recognize, or to get her son to recognize, that he suffered from schizophrenia, and how high the emotional and financial toll was for her family in dealing with the disease. For her willingness to speak openly of her anguish, Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah said, "I'm proud of you."

In a time when many persons still regard mental illness with the suspicion once given to leprosy, it takes courage to discuss the issue. The husbands of the congressional wives represent both parties and a range of ideological positions; what their families have in common is the effort to overcome stigma. Nancy Domenici, wife of Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, said that "once the awareness goes up, stigma goes down, research goes up and services go up." The Senate committee voted to increase research funds for the National Institute of Mental Health to $216 million. That is at least a new sign of awareness.

The Marines doubt sergeant's motive

The United States Marine Corps has a problem. He is Sgt. Rolf Lindblom, an avowed homosexual. The 25-year-old soldier, an administrative clerk in the Marine training center in Los Angeles, wants to be discharged so he can "become involved" in gay activities. "It is impossible to become involved while in the Marine Corps," he says.

That should be that. The Marines, like the other military services, have a flat policy against homosexuality. Soldiers found to be homosexual are ordinarily given honorable discharges, unless they have violated other military regulations, like engaging in homosexual acts with a subordinate or on a federal installation. An honorable discharge is all Lindblom wants.

The Marines say not so fast. They want some solid evidence that the sergeant is gay. Says Marine Corps spokesman Maj. Bill Wood, "The issue is whether he's had homosexual relations. There's a possibility we will keep him in the Corps if there isn't convincing evidence." How come? The Marines worry that Lindblom may be using the Cpl. Klingner ploy to get out of the two remaining years he owes the Corps.

They have good reason to want to keep him. Says entering active duty in 1980, says Wood, Lindblom has compiled an "excellent" record in the service, with several job performance citations from his superiors. "There is no reason for separation (i.e., discharge) based on his service," says Wood.

This illustrates the problem with the Pentagon's anti-homosexual policy. On the one hand, it insists that "homosexuality is incompatible with military service." On the other, it finds itself expelling people whose performance in uniform proves that axiom false.

If homosexuals invariably make bad soldiers and sailors, there's no need to have a rule against them. They all would be weeded out anyway for failing to do their jobs or violating other, more rational military regulations. The current prohibition says that even those homosexuals who do well must go. It betrays the Pentagon's fear that homosexuality is not at all incompatible with military service.

The old "blackmail" excuse no longer holds, since avowed homosexuals can't be threatened with exposure. Nor is it convincing to argue that heterosexuals in uniform won't tolerate gays, in light of cases demonstrating otherwise. The policy has been fatally undermined by growing public tolerance. A 1982 Gallup poll found that most Americans, including 54 percent of those aged 18 to 24, think gays should be allowed to serve in the military.

The existing policy produces some odd results. The services often have chosen to discharge people for doing nothing more than acknowledging their homosexuality. In those cases, it is up to the soldier who wants to stay to prove he has not engaged in homosexual acts. But when the services want to keep someone who claims to be gay, they put the burden of proof on the soldier to prove that he has engaged in homosexual acts.

This brings to mind the Catch-22 faced by Joseph Heller's Yossarian. If he could prove he was crazy, he would get the discharge he wanted. But if he wanted a discharge, he was obviously sane and couldn't be discharged.

Lindblom's mistake was his candor. If he had been smart, he would have let slip that he was gay and then, when confronted by his superiors, vowed to fight to stay in the Marine Corps. Judging from past cases, the Pentagon would have spared no expense trying to get rid of him.

Of course, Lindblom may be lying. Certainly the services have to protect themselves against fraud, particularly since phony claims of homosexuality will become epidemic if the draft is ever resurrected. But there is a simple way to avoid the dilemma: Eliminate the ban on homosexuals. Then Lindblom's sexual preference would be treated as the irrelevancy it is. The services have no reason to treat it as anything else.

North Korean terrorist ship plies as freighter

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — While the world was watching the strange saga of the Italian cruise ship pirated by Palestinian terrorists last week, U.S. intelligence was keeping close watch on another ship that has been linked to terrorism.

The ship is the Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho, a sometime merchant ship owned by North Korea, which uses it to support terrorist operations in the Far East. According to our intelligence sources, it is the only merchant ship in the world that has been identified as an engine of state-sponsored terrorism. The fact that it masquerades as a freighter only adds to the ship's sinister reputation.

Early this past summer, the Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho visited Japan, much to the alarm of Defense Intelligence Agency personnel in Tokyo. It dropped anchor in Japan a second time on Aug. 14, remaining there three days.

These two visits led military officials in Hawaii to provide us with details of the terrorist ship's known activities in the last couple of years. Here's what they told us:

The Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho made its first blips on intelligence monitors in 1983, when North Korean commandos planted a bomb at the "Martyrs' Mausoleum" in Rangoon, Burma. The bomb was detonated by radio too early to kill visiting South Korean President Chun Doo Hwan, but 17 members of the South Korean delegation and four Burmese were killed in the blast.

One North Korean commando was killed and two others were captured. At least one of them gave the Burmese a detailed confession.

The assassination squad had been brought to Burma on the Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho. A secret U.S. military intelligence report said the ship "was tasked to ... put the terrorists and the equipment ashore and to exfiltrate the terrorists to North Korea on completion of the mission."

The report added that "the capture of the North Korean terrorists aborted the merchant ship's exfiltration mission and the ship returned to North Korea in November 1983."

It "basically remained inactive" in or near its home port of Nampo on the west coast of the peninsula "for long periods of time." During that interlude, the ship was involved in "limited People's Republic of China trade" across the Yellow Sea, the report stated.

The Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho extended its travels this year with the two trips to Japan. What particularly worried U.S. intelligence was that the crew manifest, obtained by U.S. agents, made it clear that "much of the crew of approximately 31 persons — including most of the key officers — is identical to the crew which participated in the terrorist support voyage in late 1983," the secret report stated.

Summing up the evidence on the Tong Gon Ae Guk Ho, the report made these points:

- The ship has a "previous history of involvement in covert transport of terrorist-related personnel and arms."
- It has a "history of involvement in North Korea agent and smuggling activities in Japan and possibly other Asian countries."
- It has been "equipped with sophisticated communications devices, heavy machine guns, small firearms, grenades, a larger than normal crew and special 'training' facilities."

- The ship has undergone "periodic subordination" to the Korean Communist Party for special operations "while disguised as a trade ship."
- The ship has most likely become "part of the North Korean merchant marine (which) was recently organized into 'suicide squads' in order to become the fourth defensive force of North Korea."

UNDER THE DOME: Members of Congress concerned over dope traffic think a federal "drug czar" could best deal with the problem, but the White House opposes the idea. In a compromise last year, the president appointed a Drug Enforcement Policy Board, headed by Attorney General Edwin Meese, to lead the war on drugs. It has yet to hold its first meeting, and Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., wants to know why. He plans to ask board members what, if anything, they've accomplished, and if the answer is unsatisfactory, he'll renew the push for a czar.

THE OMBUDSMAN: The widow of a retired Air Force master sergeant wrote us to complain that she lost her husband's military pension when he died two years ago. Instead of the $600-a-month he got, she now gets $250 from the Veterans Administration. "It doesn't seem fair," she wrote. We agree, but when we investigated, it turned out there was nothing improper under the law. When a military pensioner's death is not service-connected — and her husband's was not — the survivor is entitled only to veterans' benefits. And if the widow supplements her income by getting a job, she'll lose the modest VA benefits entirely.

Around The Rim Let's listen to the lady

By KEELY COGHLAN
"Give us your poor, your tired, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. ..." — The Statue of Liberty

They crowded the docks at Ellis Island, waiting in long lines for medical exams and questionnaires. The tired, the hungry, the poor.

The world they found had its own set of dangers: mind-numbing, back-breaking work in foul firetraps; crowded slums; gangs of roaming hoodlums; real-estate scams that took advantage of the illiterate immigrants' desire to own land.

Most came for "the good life," David Copperfield's streets paved in gold. A few came for religious freedom.

Their dreams, more often than not, were transferred to their children. The second and third generations would be the ones to have a "piece of the rock"; they would be the lawyers, the doctors, the successful businessmen.

Today, jurors are being chosen in the Sanctuary trial in Tucson, Ariz. The 11 defendants, including a minister, two priests and a nun, are accused of smuggling illegal aliens into the country.

The prosecutor, a U.S. attorney, has said the Central Americans were merely fleeing poverty and were not entitled to asylum in the United States.

The defendants, however, say they are compelled by their religious beliefs to aid the Salvadoran and Guatemalan refugees fleeing political oppression in their own countries. The judge has ruled that their religious convictions and international law are not legal as a defense.

In El Salvador and Guatemala, the number of "desaparecidos" — those arrested in the middle of the night by government squads, interned, tortured and often killed — mounts daily. El Salvador's civil war continues to escalate.

Our grandparents came to this country for this or less; perhaps they, too, came because they wanted a "normal" life or they wanted to turn a quick buck.

The slums of inner cities, the wasted bodies of famine-stricken Africa, the cardboard shacks in Haiti near the marble presidential palace show that economics is one of the best tools a political oppressor has.

Our parents, grandparents and great-grandparents knew this. Meanwhile, we collect money to repair a statue without listening to what she has to say.

Gorbachev has two goals in Geneva

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Reagan administration analysts, sizing up Soviet attitudes a month before the summit meeting, have concluded Mikhail Gorbachev needs an arms control agreement to give him a "breather" so he can concentrate on fixing his country's lagging economy.

But since the chances of an accord are slim, they expect the Soviet leader to go to Geneva, Switzerland, with at least two objectives: to undercut President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative and to revive détente in order to improve the flow of trade and technology from the West.

He will strike at SDI — popularly known as "Star Wars" — by depicting it as an obstacle to arms control rather than as part of the process of reducing the risks of nuclear war, which is the way Reagan portrays the anti-missile program.

That means making Geneva "an arms control summit," said one of half-dozen U.S. officials assembled recently at the White House to brief reporters on summit prospects. But in pursuing an accommodation with the United States at the same time, Gorbachev will have a tricky assignment.

While he tries to create a friendly atmosphere for his meeting with Reagan, the Soviet leader also will be aiming a punch to the president's solar plexus by striking at Star Wars.

Reagan just won't give up the program. He has portrayed it to the American public as a moral necessity, while his foreign policy spokesmen insist Star Wars is not a "bargaining chip," to be offered in exchange for the 50 percent nuclear weapons reduction proposed by Gorbachev last month.

The president cannot be expected to react kindly, then, to Soviet criticism of the potential use by the United States of X-rays, lasers and particle-beam weaponry to shield the nation from attacking missiles.

And yet, U.S. analysts have concluded, Gorbachev must try to stop Star Wars by weakening American political support for the program after the summit, since he is not likely to achieve his aim at Geneva with an arms control agreement.

As the new Soviet leader, Gorbachev's first priority, according to these officials, is to do something about the Soviet economy. He wants to boost the rate of growth to 4 percent to 5 percent, from the current level of 3 percent to 3½ percent.

Growth has been slow even though the weather has been relatively kind to the Soviets the last few years. If it worsens, agriculture, transportation and energy supplies will suffer.

Soviet industry needs retooling. More than 30 percent of industrial machinery is at least 15 years old. Oil production last year declined for the first time since World War II.

Faced with these problems, Gorbachev would like to be spared the cost of competing with the Strategic Defense Initiative. And yet, Soviet Defense Minister Sergei Sokolov said last May if the United States goes ahead with its futuristic defense system, the Soviet Union has "no choice but to take reply measures."

Reagan initially offered to share SDI technology with the Soviets. By way of illustrating Gorbachev's predicament, one of the officials told the reporters: "Even if we gave them the technology, the (economic) burden of deploying it would be crushing."

On the U.S. side, while summit strategy is still evolving, an effort to de-emphasize arms control as the paramount item on the agenda has emerged.

Secretary of State George Shultz, in his meetings with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, has stressed that Reagan intends to discuss the status of human rights in the Soviet Union.

Another key U.S. official told the reporters at the White House the president will try "to fashion a basis for discourse" when he sees Gorbachev.

And Reagan himself, in his weekly radio address Saturday, placed the summit in much broader terms than seeking to cap the nuclear arms race. "True peace must be based on more than just reducing the means of waging war," he said. "It must address the sources of tensions that provoke men to take up arms."

Barry Schweid has covered four U.S.-Soviet summit meetings in reporting on diplomacy for The Associated Press since 1973.

Vandalism forces center's closure

The Spring City Senior Citizens Center at 625 Airbase will be closed through the end of the week because of vandalism done during a weekend burglary.

Jewel Dunlap, a center employee, said the center has been closed down by the health department because of smoke damage.

Vandals broke into the building between 2 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday and burned a pile of clothes, according to police reports. They also damaged two vending machines, stealing change, soft drinks and candy, police said.

Dunlap said no meals will be served at the center the rest of the week, and the Friday night dance will be canceled.

"We don't know for sure when we'll be open again," she said. "Just as soon as we can get someone in to repair the damage."

Suit on oral contract filed against Amigo's

A Dawson County resident filed suit Monday in the district clerk's office alleging an oral contract concerning personal property has been breached.

The suit names Milton Lozano Sr. as plaintiff and Linda Arsiaga et. al. and husband, owners of Amigo's Club, as defendants.

Milton Lozano Sr. asks the court to rule that $45,765 of personal property ranging from chairs to stereo equipment currently located in the club be returned to him, and a fair market value price be awarded for any missing items.

He also asks the court to award him $1,000 per month in damages and interest accrued for all items leased from Feb. 5 to the final judgment date. The amount is claimed as a reasonable monthly rental value for the property, the suit says.

Lozano says in the suit that he acquired the property from Mary's Disco Paradise and Milton Lozano Jr. Prior to the acquisition, the suit says, Lozano Jr. had sold the private club at 205 Runnels to Linda Arsiaga, her husband Manuel and E.A. Sancez, who were planning to run a private club known as Amigo's.

The suit claims that in connection with the sale, Lozano Jr. agreed the new owners could use the property for a one-year period "to enable them to get started and have such property available for use until they could acquire their own."

The newly formed Young Republicans club discussed the state water plan at its first regular meeting last week.

County Republican Party chairman Spencer Wolf attended the meeting, said president Coit Walker.

Other officers for the club are Barbara Moore, vice president; Richard Moore, treasurer; and Linda Walker, recording secretary.

The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month and is open to Republicans. Guest for the next meeting, scheduled Nov. 12, is Janelle Evan, the G.O.P. district chairwoman.

For more information or to join the club, call Coit Walker at 263-0663.

To my Patients,

I am happy to announce the relocation of my office from Malone and Hogan Clinic to 1700 West Farm Road 700 — the same building in which I first began practicing in Big Spring, in 1981. My new office faces FM 700, and is directly behind Malone-Hogan Hospital. You may reach me at my new number 267-1607, effective October 15. Until then, you can reach me at 263-1211, Malone-Hogan Hospital.

I appreciate your confidence in choosing me as your orthopedic surgeon. As I commit myself to the area with the purchase of my own building, I also commit myself, and my staff, to continue to provide the best care possible for you in the most effective, and therefore least costly manner.

If you need me in any way, please call me at the hospital, my home, or at my new office on and after October 15.

Sincerely,
R. K. Reddy, M.D.

Salvation Army events set

The Salvation Army will have an open house Nov. 17, Capt. Carroll Braun told board members Monday.

During the open house, officials will judge the dolls that dressed by women's groups for Christmas, said Lupe Dominguez.

Braun also set Nov. 29 as the kickoff day for the Salvation Army's Christmas Kettle campaign at the Big Spring Mall. Other kettles will be located at TG&Y, K Mart, Wal-Mart and The Box, Dominguez said.

Other Christmas activities planned include doll trees at Big Spring banks and the "live angel" tree. The live angel tree is decorated with angel ornaments listing the age, sex and size of a child needing clothes, allowing people to buy clothes for needy children, she said. Last year, the Salvation Army provided holiday dinners for 312 families and provided 318 families, or 716 children, with toys. Another 321 children received clothes through the angel tree, she said.

The Salvation Army also provided gifts to 980 patients in nursing homes, the Big Spring State Hospital and the Veterans Administration Medical Center. Sixty-five people attended the group's Christmas parties and 102 had Christmas dinner at the welfare center, Dominguez said.

The Salvation Army is asking for volunteers to ring the bells at the kettles, to work in the toy shop, to sort food donations and pack and distribute food baskets and toys, Dominguez said.

Dear Abby

Family trade wars

DEAR ABBY: Here's one for the books: Before I was married, I admired my future mother-in-law's china, so she gave us service for 12 for our wedding gift. The set was displayed along with our other wedding gifts at her home.

After we returned from our honeymoon, we picked up our wedding gifts, and I noticed that 10 pieces were missing from our set of china. My mother-in-law promptly explained that she had a party and there were 10 pieces missing from her set, so she had taken some of ours to fill in for those she didn't have. She promised to return ours "soon."

Abby, how long is "soon"? It's been 21 years, and his mother has still not replaced the pieces she took from our set. Whenever I have a party, I have to "borrow" my own china from her. Immediately after, she "borrows" them from me again.

Have you any ideas on how to get my pieces back for keeps? I don't want to appear petty, but this is really irritating.

10 PIECES SHORT

DEAR 10: Your mother-in-law is short more than 10 pieces. But for the sake of peace in the family, on every gift-giving occasion — Mother's Day, Christmas, birthday, etc. — add to her china until she has a complete set.

DEAR ABBY: I have been in love with this man for five years. I'm 40 and he's 42. Three years ago he moved in with me. I've always been a good Christian, and it bothers me to know that I am living in sin. He's divorced. His wife left him for another man, which really tore him up. I was a 35-year-old virgin when we met. I never knew what love was until he came along.

He is a good and faithful man, but he refuses to marry me until he is sure he loves me. Abby, I am not dumb. I realize he may not be sure for another five years and I should send him packing, but I keep hoping he will marry me. He has a good job and no responsibilities, so I can't understand why he won't marry me now.

It was his idea for me to write to you about this problem. What do you say?

HAD ENOUGH IN INDIANA DEAR HAD ENOUGH: I say you've had more than enough. Give him three months to make up his mind, and if he still isn't sure, send him packing and get on with your life.

Dr. Donohue

Hemachromatosis

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My wife has hemachromatosis. Your recent article raised some questions in her mind. She has started the bloodletting therapy you recommended, but she now wonders what foods she should avoid to prevent the iron buildup in her blood. — E.S.M.

People with this problem (and there are more than we once suspected) absorb too much iron from food, and, unchecked, this can damage the liver, pancreas and the heart. If detected early, treatment, such as the periodic bloodletting you mention, will prevent that kind of damage. Your question is a good one. Since the cause is overabsorption of iron couldn't the answer also be found in a low-iron diet?

That is true, but only to a limited degree. I say that because iron is so plentiful in such a wide variety of food that trying to eliminate it through food restriction would quickly get a person into deep nutritional difficulties.

But there are some diet steps you can take as an adjunct to other therapy, such as the bloodletting. You can avoid drinking orange juice with meals, for vitamin C enhances iron absorption. Cut back on meat, which is rich in iron. Avoid iron-fortified foods. Vegetables and fish, while they do contain iron, have the kind that isn't absorbed as easily as that in other meat.

Let me make a point about hemachromatosis that readers who write to me on the subject seldom mention — it is inherited. And because, as I mentioned, successful treatment does depend on early detection (to avoid the organ damage) other family members should be tested for it as soon as one member knows he or she has it. With proper attention, the hemachromatosis patient can live an active life. Unless the person realizes he has it, he can be damaging his body without knowing it.

I got the answers to your question from the Hemachromatosis Research Foundation, specifically from Dr. Margaret Kirkker, its founder, and a woman who has worked indefatigably in the field for years. She tells me she will be glad to answer any specific questions my readers have. All you have to do is write to her in care of the foundation, P.O. Box 8569, Albany, NY 12208. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BARBECUE SALMON BURGERS

1 can (15½ oz.) or 2 cans (7½ oz. ea.) Honey Boy Salmon
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup quick cooking rolled oats
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon spicy brown mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Oil
4 hamburger buns, toasted if desired

Drain salmon; combine with egg, oats, onion, parsley, lemon juice, spicy brown mustard, salt and pepper. Form into 4 patties. Barbecue on oiled piece of foil 6 minutes; turn and cook 6 minutes longer. Place salmon burgers on buns and serve with your favorite condiments. Makes 4 servings.

Variation: Fine dry bread crumbs can be substituted for rolled oats. If so, add 1 additional egg and ¼ cup salmon liquid to the salmon mixture.

Enticing treats make bewitching party fare

By KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

Giant pumpkins, hootowls and funny-face goblins are all part of a safe and happy Halloween. The enticing treats below make bewitching party fare for Halloween celebrations at home or at school—a popular safe alternative to "trick or treats" on the streets.

Each is prepared with flavorful solid pack canned pumpkin, notable for its content of Vitamin A, plus iron, Vitamin C and other valuable nutrients.

THE GREAT PUMPKIN PAN COOKIE

2 cups flour
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels

Assorted icing or peanut butter

Assorted candies, raisins or nuts.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt. Cream butter; gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; mix well. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin, mixing well after each addition. Stir in morsels. Spread dough into greased and floured 14-inch deep dish pizza pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on rack 15 minutes. Remove cookie from pan. Cool completely. Decorate using icing or peanut butter to affix assorted candies, raisins or nuts. Cut into squares or wedges to serve. Makes about 24 servings.

VARIATION: Substitute 1 cup raisins for morsels.

SCRUMPTIOUS PUMPKIN BROWNIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
2 tps. pumpkin pie spice
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup chopped walnuts (optional)
2 cups butterscotch flavored morsels
1/2 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, cream butter and sugar; add pumpkin, eggs and vanilla. Stir in flour, oats, spice, baking powder, baking soda, salt and walnuts. Spread batter into greased and floured 15 1/2 x 10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan (or two 8-inch square baking pans). Bake 25 to 30 minutes; (30 to 35 minutes for 8-inch pans). Immediately sprinkle butterscotch morsels on brownies; let stand 5 minutes. To frost, gently spread butterscotch morsels to cover brownies. In small saucepan, melt chocolate morsels over low heat. Drizzle over frosted brownie in a spiral design. While still warm, lightly drag the edge of a knife or thin metal spatula from the center of the spiral to the edge of the pan. Repeat motion at spaced intervals to make a spider web pattern. Cool completely before slicing. Makes about 3 dozen bars.

PUMPKIN COOKIE MONSTERS

1/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup solid pack pumpkin
3/4 cup light molasses
3 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/2 tsp. ground allspice
Icing, raisins, gum drops and other candies

Cream shortening and sugar; stir in pumpkin and molasses. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Add to pumpkin mixture, one-third at a time, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Cover; chill 2 to 3 hours. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. On well-floured surface, roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with assorted floured cookie cutters (or cut around floured cardboard patterns). Gently place on greased baking sheets. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until firm to the touch. Remove from baking sheets, cool on wire racks. Decorate with icing, raisins and candies. Makes 2 dozen (3-inch) cookies.

CANDIED PUMPKIN DANDIES

1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 cup sugar
1 1/4 cups flaked coconut, lightly packed
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
Finely chopped walnuts or peanuts
Red and green candied cherries (optional)
In large heavy saucepan, combine pumpkin, sugar, coconut and spices; mix well. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring constantly, about 15 to 20 minutes. Candy is done when it becomes very thick and leaves the side of pan, forming a ball in center when stirred. Turn mixture out onto a buttered baking sheet; cover loosely with foil or plastic wrap; cool completely. Lightly butter hands and shape candy into balls; roll in chopped nuts. Top each with a candied cherry half, if desired. Cover and store in refrigerator. Makes 2 1/2 dozen candies.

VARIATION: For a crunchier candy, stir 1 cup crushed granola into cooked candy before cooling and shaping.

PUMPKIN PARTY PUNCH

46 ounces apple juice or cider
1 can (30 oz.) pumpkin pie mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 quart lemon lime soda, chilled
Combine apple juice and pumpkin pie mix; mix well. Chill. Just before serving, combine pumpkin mixture and ice cream in punch bowl; stir until smooth. Gently stir in soda. makes 4 1/4 quarts.

PUMPKIN FACE SLOPPY JOES

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
2 Tbsps. firmly packed brown sugar
2 Tbsps. prepared mustard
2 tsps. chili powder
1 tsp. salt
8 hamburger buns, split
American cheese slices
In large saucepan or skillet, brown meat; drain. Add onion and garlic; cook until tender. Stir in pumpkin, tomato sauce, sugar, mustard, chili powder and salt. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 10 minutes. For each sandwich, cover bottom half of bun with meat mixture. Top with cheese cut-outs to make pumpkin face. Broil until cheese begins to melt. Top with top half of bun. Makes 8 servings.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat shortening and sugar until fluffy; blend in eggs. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda and spices. Add dry ingredients alternately with combined pumpkin and milk, mixing well after each addition. Spoon into two greased and floured 6-cup fluted tube pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool completely on wire racks. Trim, if desired. Invert one cake on serving plate; frost with orange frosting. Place second cake bottom end down, on top; frost. Make pumpkin face decoration on cake with green frosting. Top with ice cream cone for stem.

Frosting:

9 Tbsps. butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 Tbsps. vanilla extract
1 1/4 tsps. grated orange peel
Dash of salt
6 3/4 cups sifted powdered sugar

1/2 cup orange juice
Red, yellow and green food coloring

Cream butter; blend in vanilla, orange peel and salt. Add sugar alternately with juice, beating until fluffy. To 1/2 cup frosting, add green food coloring to desired shade of green. To remaining frosting; add red and yellow food coloring to desired shade of orange.

VARIATION: Prepare cake as directed except spoon into two greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Fill and frost with orange frosting. Decorate with green frosting.

Making my move

This week I'd like to talk about forecasters, and not of the weather variety. I'm talking about football.

No, the forecast doesn't call for it to rain footballs this Friday, at least I hope not. Before you get anymore weird ideas let me explain myself.

Right now I'm in the heat of the dreaded prediction race with opponents Tim Yeats, Don Stevens, Charlie Alcorn, Tim Appel, Lisa Brooks and Keely Coghlan. There's only three weeks to go and I'm here to tell the world that your's truly is about to make his move.

Up until last week I was saddled in next-to-last place. I'll admit that's atypical of the defending champ. But I'll let you in on a little secret: I'm just doing it to make things interesting. After all, I wouldn't want to slaughter everyone and take all the fun out of a close race.

Laugh if you like, but it's true. Take for instance last year's race. This sportswriter stayed in third and fourth place until the last three weeks, then I made my move. On the 10th and final week of the prediction box, I went a sparkling 12-4 to win the title by two games. My winning percentage was a hot .725, which is more than I can say for this season's current leader, Coghlan, who has a mediocre .651 percentage.

See why I'm not worried.

I'm not worried because this is Coghlan's first year in big time predicting and the pressure is getting to her. How else can you go 8-8 and jump into first place. Besides I've got Texas Tech on my side, and she always picks her alma mater.

Then there's Howard College women's basketball coach Don Stevens, who's saddled in a second place tie with County Attorney Tim Yeats, one game behind Coghlan.

I never thought I see the day when a lawyer and coach would be a threat to my title, but they really are, especially Stevens.

Any man that enters six different football contest per week is a serious forecaster. The good thing about Stevens is that he won only managed one third place out of all those contests. Keep on trying coach.

Then there's Yeats, a quite-spoken man who sometimes thinks with his heart instead of his head. Yeats is a very consistent predictor but he has one main fault. He's a Texas Tech alumnus.

Next is my good friend and fellow sports writer Charles Williams Alcorn III. His name may sound impressive but his forecasts sometimes leave a lot to be desired.

There's really no in-between for ole Chuckie. He's either very good or very bad. This Victoria native will go 12-4 one week and turn around and plummet to 7-9 the next week. He's been trying to get some South Texas games in the forecast.

Then there's the "mad forecaster" Tim Appel. It's a good thing he doesn't take pictures the way he picks games. It's always a treat to watch him make his picks. I just love the way he takes one look at the week's games, takes the pencil from behind his ear and frantically marks his picks.

At least he never turns in his selections late. Anyone with that method of predicting, I don't even worry about. In fact it makes me wonder how he ever finished third last year.

Last and certainly least is charming radio personality Lisa Brooks. On radio she sounds good, but on paper, there's never a dull moment waiting to see who she picks.

To be truthful, Lisa got off to a horrendous start; the poor lady was 12 games off the pace after three weeks. At least

Royals pummel Cards, 6-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank White still may not feel like a cleanup hitter, but his teammates hope he continues to hit like one after he swept away some of their World Series worries Tuesday night.

"When I hit a home run I'm just as surprised as the next guy," White says. And he may have been the most surprised guy in the ballpark when he hit a fifth-inning, two-run homer that helped the Kansas City Royals bounce back from two straight losses and beat St. Louis 6-1 in Game 3.

Bret Saberhagen, the 21-year-old ace of Kansas City's staff, struck out eight and allowed just six singles in stopping the momentum of the Cardinals and keeping the Royals out of a double-jeopardy situation in the best-of-seven Series.

White said he was particularly surprised about this home run after watching a long drive by teammate Steve Balboni fall into the glove of Cards' left fielder Tito Landrum at the wall in the second inning.

"I hit 22 home runs this year, and if I get a pitch, I can hit it out of any ballpark," White said. "But when I go up to the plate, people aren't going to say I'm a big guy like Balboni and I'm going to hit it out."

White also drove in a run with a double, and Lonnie Smith had a two-run double as the Royals ended an offensive drought that had seen them score just three runs in losing Games 1 and 2. George Brett tied a Series record by reaching base in all five plate appearances.

Brett said that "after losing the way we did Sunday night," on four St. Louis runs in the ninth inning, "we bounced back and played very well. We showed them we can beat them. We feel like we can beat them."

"No one has won after getting down 0-2 (at home)," Brett said. "But if we win tomorrow, I think the pressure is on them a little."

The Royals scored their first two runs off Cardinals right-hander Joaquin Andujar in the fourth inning on Smith's hit, then White ended yet another futile day's work for Andujar when he hit the two-run homer in the fifth. His run-scoring double came in a two-run seventh.

"I was trying my best and throwing well," Andujar said. "But they were finding the holes. Everything I was throwing was good. But when you're in a slump, that's how it goes."

White's homer was the first of this World Series. It also was the first in World Series play for White, pressed into duty as a cleanup hitter after the absence of a designated hitter had relegated Hal McRae to the KC bench.

"He was awesome tonight," Brett said of White. "I hope he is awesome tomorrow, too. He hit that long home run, and he drove me in from second with the double. Frank has adjusted very well from hitting sixth or seventh, whatever it is, but I think he's adjusted very well in the World Series."

White said he didn't think he would have been any threat to McRae if this Series had used the DH.

"I was a little surprised when he (Manager Dick Howser) moved me to fourth," White said. "But I think he had a lot of confidence in me to get the job done. ... It was a situation where I could lose, but if I played well, I also had a lot to gain."

The Royals already had lost the first two games of the Series at home. It had happened only nine previous times in the World Series, and none of those teams had gone on to win. But the future would have looked even dimmer had the Royals fallen to 0-3, a deficit from which 16 previous teams had failed to recover.

Game 4 of the Series Wednesday night sends Kansas City left-hander Bud Black, 10-15, against the ace of the Cardinals' staff, left-hander John Tudor, 21-8 and the winner of Game 1.

Navasota tops in 3A

By the Associated Press

Navasota's 28-12 victory over Hempstead not only pushed the unbeaten Rattlers into the No. 1 spot in Class 3A of The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll, it also gave them the lead in the teams' Dist. 24-3A battle.

After last weekend's play, Hempstead, the season-long No. 1-ranked team in 3A, dropped to sixth on the latest balloting by the AP's panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Houston Yates in Class 5A, Tomball in 4A, Electra in 2A and Munday in A retained their No. 1 ranks.

Houston Yates defeated Houston Sterling 48-6, extending its district winning streak to a state Class 5A record 44 consecutive games. Aldine and Odessa Permian remained second and third.

Waco Jefferson-Moore was the lone upset victim in 4A. Moore lost to Waco University 12-7 and dropped from No. 8 out of the top 10. Henderson, 7-0, which beat Athens 6-0, moved into the No. 10 position.

Three other Class 3A teams lost their games last week, including No. 5 Port Arthur Austin, No. 6

Alvarado and No. 10 Sweeny. Port Arthur Austin dropped to eighth. Sweeny remained at No. 10 and Alvarado was replaced by Van Housen, a 20-0-1 team to Shallowater, lost its No. 10 ranking in 2A and was replaced by Leon, 7-0. Leon, which has yielded only 20 points this season, defeated Centerville 40-14.

Electra received 20 first place votes and a 271-243 lead over runner-up Hamlin, which got five first-place votes.

In Class A, Granger dropped from No. 5 to ninth following a 20-20 tie with Calvert. Godley, No. 9 last week, lost its second game and was replaced at No. 10 by Nazareth.

Nazareth defeated Dist. 2-A rival Vega 12-6. Vega was unbeaten and had allowed only six points this season.

Other teams challenging for top 10 positions included: 5A, Lewisville 28 points, Houston Cypress Fairbanks 25, Tyler 27, Amarillo Palo Duro 14, Dallas Carter 13; 4A, Waco University 13, Uvalde 11; 3A, Alvarado 16.

Big Spring whips Lee

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Lady Steers narrowed their magic number to two with a 15-11, 15-5 win over the Midland Lee Rebels last night in 4-5A volleyball action.

The Lady Steers, now 10-1 for the season, need a win over Odessa High Saturday afternoon in Steer Gym, to insure themselves of a playoff berth. Big Spring has a two game lead over San Angelo Central and Abilene High.

It was not one of Big Spring's better games, according to coach Susan Sharp. "We didn't play well, we were very lackluster," said Sharp. "It goes back to us not getting up for the teams we think we can beat. Although the Midland Lee coach said it was her team's best game of the year."

After the first match, Big Spring fell behind 5-3 in the second match. "We went into the game knowing we could go down the line on them," said Sharp. "But the girls didn't do it, they wanted to hit everything in the middle. When we started going down the line in the second match, we had success."

Monique Jones was top server for Big Spring with 11 points. She was followed by Tab Green who scored 7 points. "I'm pleased with Tab Green's serving. We've been able to score some points off it."

The win gives Big Spring a 21-8 season record.

JV'S MAKE IT A SWEEP Coach Elaine Stone's junior varsity Lady Steers upped their district mark to 7-4 and overall record to 18-9 by taking a 15-7, 17-15 win over the Rebels.

Sonya Evans was leading server in the first match with 5 points. In the second match, Nikki Rodriguez and Cary Brooks scored 8 and 7 points respectively.

Stone also praised the play of Laura Mauldin.

Ligon, Munoz take top spots in Crossroads Honor Roll

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The seventh week of Crossroads football action saw more sterling performances. Offensively it was a good week for quarterbacks while defensive backs stole the show on the other side of the field. But it's a 200-pound sophomore defensive tackle that receives the Crossroads Defensive Player of the Week award.

Forsan Buffalo Stacy Munoz had a banner night in Forsan's 63-0 drubbing of Sands. The defensive tackle was one of the main reasons the Sands managed less than 100 yards total offense for the night. Munoz finished the game with 12 tackles, one quarterback sack and pressured the passer numerous times.

On the other side of the ball, Colorado City quarterback Mike Ligon gets the nod for Offensive Player of the Week.

The 5-7, 140-pound senior was instrumental in leading the Wolves to a 24-0 win over Ozona. Ligon completed 7 of 15 passes for 172 yards and two touchdowns. He also gained 46 yards in 8 carries and one TD on the ground.

One of Ligon's main targets was wide receiver Michael Swann who snagged four passes for 132 yards and two TD's.

Stanton quarterback Kevin Glaspie had a good night despite Stanton's 21-6 loss to Greenwood.

Glaspie completed 10 of 28 attempts for 171 yards.

Grady quarterback Luis Gonzales turned in another superb performance in Grady's 65-52 win over McCaulley. The senior slinger completed 9 of 13 passes for 254 yards and 4 TD's. He has now passed for 1,452 yards and 24 touchdowns.

Gonzales had plenty of help from his friends. Running back Arnold Valasco caught two passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns, he also returned a kickoff 71 yards for a score. Wide receiver Terry Deatherage snagged four airbales for 128 yards and three TD's. Michael Mitchell also returned a kickoff 73 yards for another Grady score.

The Forsan backfield duo of Bruce Stickland and Wayne Wright made their presence known in Forsan's romp over Sands. Stickland carried six times for 105 and a TD. He also added six extra points, a 32-yard field goal; not to mention four kickoffs that sailed into the endzone. Wright carried six times for 82 yards and two TD's.

Garden City fullback Trey Willey led his team to a win over Roby by carrying 17 times for 100 yards, his third 100-yard game in the last five weeks.

Coahoma's Gary Vaughn proved that he's a very capable running back. Getting his first start after moving from tight end, the senior tailback rushed for 107 yards in 12 carries.

Forsan cornerback Lee Morris turned in a strong performance against Sands. He made seven tackles, broke up three passes and returned an interception 8 yards for a score.

Not to be outdone was teammate Jason Donaghe. The senior linebacker was in on eight stops and returned one interception 30 yards for a score.

Colorado City strong safety Cary Ritchey had one of his best games last Friday. The sophomore was in on eight tackles and set up a C-City touchdown with a 30 yard punt return.

Coahoma cornerback Darrell

Abregg had his hands full last Friday when he was assigned to cover Crane's leading receiver Kenny Walker. Abregg was up to the task, no allowing Walker a reception. For the night Abregg made eight tackles and broke up four passes.

Scott Waranke also had a good game for Coahoma, making 14 tackles after switching from defensive tackle to defensive end.

Other top defensive performances were turned in by Grady end, Wade Miller, with eight tackles, one interception and one fumble recovery; C-City linebacker Albert Rivera, with 15 tackles and Stanton linebacker Michael Holt, who made 10 tackles.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, OCT. 24, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning upsets and changes in plans are soon followed by a good chance for you to make an important person aware of your ambitions and to extend your assistance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your goals in the morning, and you will know how to gain them by a more direct approach, so don't waste time foolishly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Postpone that business affair until you have first realized some personal goal that is important to you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Steer clear of that overly talkative partner and get much accomplished in the world of activity so you become more prosperous.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't get so bogged down by your duties that you cannot see the opportunities around you for greater advancement.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Keep occupied with business matters of importance and forget pleasure for now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Maintain harmony at home even though tempted to argue, and then later, talk over with an associate how to improve joint interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep rooted to your work and gain benefits instead of running around hither and yon. In the morning, be careful in driving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't commit yourself financially in the morning, and later you know how to push your finest talents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your ideas may not be good in the morning, but you can profit from those of kin the rest of the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A private worry could easily keep you from accomplishing much in the outside world, if you permit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A pal could give advice that would get you into trouble, so forget it and work on practical affairs that need your attention.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Postpone settling that upsetting problem in the morning and do whatever pleases you most.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ...he or she will be easily tempted to go after the things that are not good for him, or her, so be sure you get a good hold on your progeny early, but lovingly, and help lead in the right direction in life. One who would do well in artistic pursuits. Give good spiritual training.

... steady setter

Lady Steer Profile

Lisa Hale has emerged as the Big Spring Lady Steers' top setter in her first year of varsity duty.

The 5-3 junior has been playing competitive volleyball since her seventh grade season. "I feel that volleyball is a very competitive sport and I love to compete," she said.

The daughter of Barbara Hale says her mom has been the most influential person pertaining to her volleyball career. "When I wanted to quit and give up, she made me see what I would be missing."

Hale is also a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes and lists her hobbies as water skiing, swimming and weight lifting. Math and English are her favorite subjects.

Her future plans include attending Texas Tech to major in psychology and playing volleyball.

Right now she's fighting to become the first predictor to finish under .500. One word of advice from the defending champ. Just because you attended Texas Tech doesn't mean you have to pick them.

So now you see what I'm up against in my quest for another Prediction Box Championship. I'm currently in fourth place, seven games off the pace.

Like I said, time to make my move.

Owners break off contract

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Major league baseball made no serious attempt to negotiate a new anti-drug agreement, says the acting director of the players union, who called the decision by owners to terminate the old agreement "regrettable."

"Were the owners truly interested in trying to reach a resolution of this matter, they would be willing to engage in good-faith negotiations to try and resolve that matter," Don Fehr said Tuesday after club owners voted unanimously to end a 1½-year-old anti-drug agreement with the players.

In a statement issued at the World Series, Barry Rona, chief counsel for the owners' Player Relations Committee, said the PRC had been unable to make any substantial progress in reaching an agreement with the union. Under terms of the old agreement, either side could terminate it at any time.

Rona said that without mandatory testing the owners decided the agreement "could not work" toward eliminating baseball's drug problem.

But Fehr said the owners did not engage in good-faith bargaining.

"We had one meeting when this was open to discussion," Fehr said. "When the matter was raised by them, when their proposal was made, we asked a number of questions about it which they were not prepared to answer."

"For example," Fehr said, "they could not even tell us the name of the test they wanted to do. There have been no further meetings, although we have been ready to have those meetings."

That was separate from the Basic Agreement, which governs most aspects of the game. It provided for counseling, anti-drug education and, under certain circumstances, amnesty for players who come forward and acknowledge a drug problem.

But there were provisions for penalties against players who fell outside the guidelines, generally those who were repeat drug offenders.

Last month, Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, who declined Tuesday to comment on the action of the owners, asked the players to vote on whether there should be mandatory urinalysis for drugs. But the players voted overwhelmingly to leave the matter in the hands of the union.

The action, which essentially leaves baseball without a drug program, also leaves players without protection should they submit to testing, which National League player representative Kent Tekulve said has not been proven to be 100 percent accurate.

"Without that protection, I know I would not submit to drug testing because of the possibility of false results," said Tekulve, a relief pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies. "I would hate to test and have false results and get kicked out of baseball."

"Where we go from here is up to them," Tekulve said, noting that owners made no use of the program to begin with. "They've unilaterally agreed to ignore what they agreed to, anyway."

Ueberroth said he would not discuss the drug issue until after the World Series.

Stacy Kilgore: Patience pays off

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

For Stacy Kilgore, patience is the best quality. That's the best way to describe his football season so far.

When the Steers host the Odessa High Broncos this Friday in their homecoming tilt, it will be Kilgore's third consecutive start and only the fourth game he's played in this season. Until that time he was a reserve free safety that didn't see any action.

Then he got his call during the fifth game of the season against Odessa Permian. He has been making the most of it every since.

The 5-6, 140-pound senior came in on the fifth play of the game; he hasn't vacated his cornerback spot since.

Up until this season Kilgore was primarily a free safety on the sub-varsity squads, a starting free safety at that. With the exception of last season on the junior varsity where he was used mainly as a running back.

But he always thought of himself as a free safety, that is; until the Permian game.

The season's start was a rocky one for Kilgore. He saw little or no action and was confined to the sidelines, cheering on his teammates. This is where the patience paid off.

"That was a very frustrating time for me," he admitted. "Here I had started since the seventh grade and now I wasn't getting to play. I hated not playing."

That's when he thought about switching to cornerback in an effort to get some playing time. "One day I asked coach Sharp (Mike Sharp, Steers secondary coach) if I could play some cornerback. He let try it. I had to show him what I could do in practice."

... aggressive cornerback

Evidently Kilgore showed his coach enough, because as soon as he got in the Permian game; and did a fine job. He finished the night with six tackles and one interception. He also attacked the sweep with reckless abandon, something the defense was in dire need of.

Since then his performances have been just as consistent. Last week in a losing effort against Midland Lee, he was the secondary's leading tackler with seven stops.

Needless to say Kilgore is very happy with his new home. "I knew I could do it, and the coaches gave me a chance."

One of the reasons Kilgore says he likes his new spot is the contact involved. At free safety you have to hang back, at cornerback you can force the play. That way I get to hit somebody."

Even if it means knocking heads with a 200-pound pulling guard or tackle.

"You get all kinds of things coming at you on a sweep. Sometimes there is pulling guards and backs, I just try to take somebody out and force the play back inside."

One of the reasons Kilgore doesn't mind hitting is his superior body strength. An avid weightlifter, who can double his weight in the bench press and squat over 300 pounds, says weight training plays a big part in his vicious hitting. In fact, he still lifts weights after practice with Steer coach Chaz Briscoe.

"I think it's important to lift during the season. You lose a lot of body strength when you don't. My upper body strength really helps because I can take the running backs on high."

This week's game with Odessa High figures to be a very busy one the Steer cornerback. "They run a lot of sweeps which is what I like because it means I get to hit."

Will the Steers be up to the task against the high-flying Broncos?

"We'll be fired up for them. We might be down a few days after a loss, but we'll get it back up by game time. Because we've lost all of our district games, Odessa might come down here taking us lightly. We've got a different story for them."

And the moral of the Stacy Kilgore story?

Pausing for a moment he concluded: Don't ever give up because you'll get your chance sooner or later."

Seems like pretty sound advice.

Cubans outbox U.S.

HAVANA (AP) — Mike Moor of Monessen, Pa., gave the United States its only win in a dual amateur junior boxing tournament Tuesday night between Cuba and the United States.

Another round of competition between the 17- and 18-year-old fighters is scheduled for Thursday night at the Sports City Coliseum in downtown Havana. The event is sponsored by the Cuban and U.S. boxing federations.

Moor, in giving the Americans their only victory of the night, knocked down Claudio Lamoth with a good right hand with 15 seconds left in the first round of their three-round bout.

Showing more patience and poise than any of the other U.S. boxers, Moor kept the pressure on the Cuban to gain a 4-1 decision. Francisco Fuentes of Nicaragua, one of five judges, was the only one to vote against the American.

Jose Pera of Cuba scored the only knockout of the night when he floored Mario Munoz of Denver in the first round. Pera was Cuba's most impressive boxer.
