Patti Pyle receives the 1986 Miss SWCID title.

Kim Beckham, center, reacts to the announcement that she is the 1986 Miss Howard College at Thursday's pageant.

Sophomores take pageant titles

By CAROL BALDWIN
Lifestyle Editor

Kimberly Beckham was named Miss Howard County, and Patti Pyle was named Miss SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf during a pageant Thursday at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Beckham, a 19-year-old sophomore majoring in drama, will represent the county at various events throughout the year and will advance to the Miss Texas competition in July.

She is the daughter of Richard and Linda Willadsen.

Beckham performed in a brief comedy skit titled, "Knock, Knock," as her talent presentation Thursday. Following the pageant, Beckham said, "I've been in theater since I was a freshman in high school. But this was different. I was playing myself tonight."

When she heard her name announced as winner of the Miss Howard County title, Beckham first thought someone would jump out from behind the stage and say, "Smile, you're on Candid Camera," and take everything back," she said with a laugh. "It was really a shock."

First runner-up in the Miss Howard County pageant was Stephanie Dobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quail Dobbs of Coahoma. Dobbs performed a dramatic reading. She is an 18-year-old freshman at Howard College. Other contestants were Gracela Fuentes, Blythe Sparling and Pricilla Escanuela.

Patti Pyle, a 21-year-old SWCID sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pyle of Midland. Patti performed a sign/song as her talent presentation. Sign/singing involves using sign language and some dance movements set to music.

After the pageant, Pyle said fellow students and instructors at SWCID helped her with her talent presentation.

"I signed when I was a little girl, but then I went to public school in the seventh grade and did not use sign language again until last year," Pyle said.

"I practiced a lot in my room," Pyle admitted with a smile. As her name was announced as winner, Pyle said, "I was shocked and happy. But I wish the others could win too. They all did a great job."

First runner-up was Teresa Tiller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tiller of Corpus Christi. Tiller is a 19-year-old freshman at SWCID.

Other SWCID contestants were Gina D'Amore, Anna Lisa Lamprecht, Wendy Broussard, Kim Hawkins, Kim Freyer and Margaret McCaffery.

Sheryl Gambill, Miss Howard College of 1967, was mistress of ceremonies. Tim Haynes, head of the fine arts division at Howard College, was emcee. The Nighthawks provided music for the production. Jonna Fitzgerald, the reigning Miss Texas, was a guest during the pageant. Fitzgerald shared her skills on the violin with a brief show during the pageant. Ronda Fowler, the outgoing Miss Howard County, and Debbie McCauley, outgoing Miss SWCID, also performed.

Judges were Bea Eoff of Lubbock, Dr. Ronald J. North of Lubbock and Glenda Vaughn, a traveling companion for Miss Texas and an associate of the Miss Texas pageant.

The stage was highlighted with a backdrop of white balloons and silver streamers. Contestants for the Miss Howard County pageant were judged on their personality, poise, beauty and talent, as well as personal interview, swimsuit or sportswear and talent categories.

Winners receive scholarships to Howard College and to SWCID.

Persistence won her Miss Texas crown

By CAROL BALDWIN
Lifestyle Editor

If at first you don't succeed, then take to heart the success story of Jonna Fitzgerald, the reigning Miss Texas.

Fitzgerald, in town Thursday for the Miss Howard County/Miss SWCID pageant, was a Miss Texas contestant four times before winning the crown last July. "I was persistent. It was something I wanted to do," she said.

Fitzgerald entered the pageant in 1982, 1983 and 1984 before taking the crown in 1985. In 1983 she was one of the top 10 finalists and in 1984 she was second runner-up. "I told myself that there were only two more spots" to move up before seizing the title. "I knew it would always haunt me if I had quit."

This summer Fitzgerald was prepared for another defeat. She readied herself for "two different paths" and was "very excited that it happened this way."

Had she lost, Fitzgerald was going to go "directly back to school, maybe join a sorority and get more involved in college life." Participating in pageants had left her

New plan on conduct considered

Big Spring Independent School District may adopt a new discipline plan to put the district in compliance with House Bill 72 rules, Bill McQueary, assistant superintendent for personnel said during a special meeting of the school board Thursday afternoon. A public hearing on the plan will be held at the board's next regular meeting Nov. 14.

The plan was developed with input from students, parents, teachers, administrators, the PTA, student councils and the Howard County Juvenile Probation Department, McQueary wrote in a copy of the plan he passed out to board members and press at the meeting.

"We are already operating with (the plan) pretty much in tact," he said at the meeting. Changes involve expulsion and suspension policies.

In the new plan, outlined by McQueary, a student can be expelled only if he assaults someone on school property; when his presence presents "a clear and present danger"; or when his continued disruptive behavior hinders the school from educating other students.

"Suspension" would be called "home-based instruction" and students would be required to complete their regular class work at

CLEAN campaign to sweep city

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce's CLEAN committee campaign will cover Area 2 this Saturday.

Crews will collect trash items such as tree branches, furniture pieces and appliances that are too large to place in dumpsters. Items to be discarded should be placed at the curb in front of residences and not in alleys, said LeRoy Tillery, chamber executive vice president.

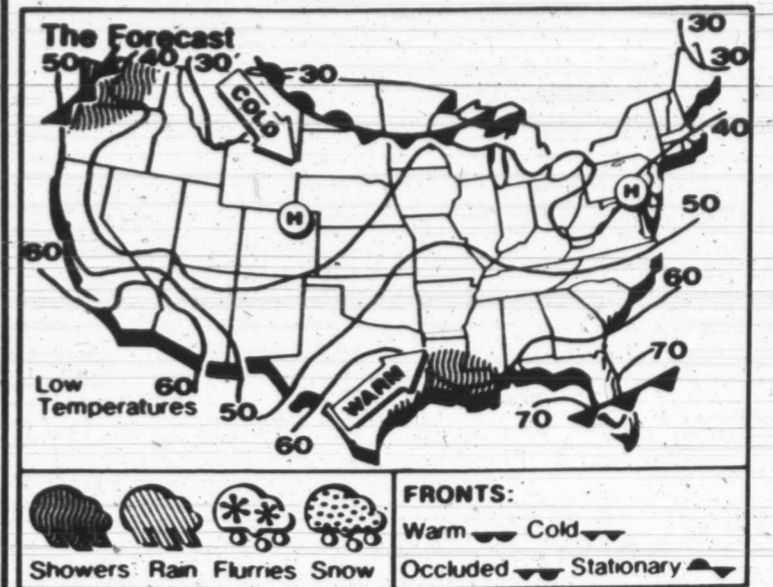

The citywide cleanup is being done in coordination with the city of Big Spring and will continue on Saturdays throughout November. The schedule for trash pick-up is:

- Area 2 — north, west and east city limits and south railroad, Oct. 26.
- Area 3 — north and west city limits, south state park and east FM 700, Nov. 2.
- Area 4 — north railroad, south and west FM 700 and east Gregg Street, Nov. 9.
- Area 5 — north railroad, south 11th Place, west Gregg Street, east FM 700, Nov. 16.
- Area 6 — north 11th Place, south and east FM 700 and west Gregg Street, Nov. 23.
- Area 7 — Coronado.

Highland Capehart Douglas, Nov. 30, Virginia and east/central north FM 700, south city limits, west C.L. and east Highway 87. • Area 1 — Kentwood, north FM 700, south city limits, West Grafa, delayed by rain, new date to be announced.

Weather

Forecast

West Texas: Mostly sunny days and fair at night through Saturday. Highs Saturday mostly 70s to lower 80s, except to around 90 along Big Bend. Lows tonight upper 40s far west to lower 60s Concho Valley.

State

High pressure brought tranquil weather to Texas Friday morning as patchy low clouds and fog cut visibility to less than one mile in spots in the central and eastern half of the state.

The National Weather Service said a few widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported just north of the Red River and west of San Angelo, but the remainder of the state enjoyed clear skies.

Early morning temperatures fell into the 50s across the High Plains and west of the Pecos. Elsewhere, readings were generally in the 60s except for a few readings in the 70s in extreme South Texas.

A light north to northeast wind was reported statewide. The weather service said North Texas could expect partly cloudy and continued warm weather through Saturday with a few scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms in the extreme southeast through Saturday. The lows tonight were expected to be in the 60s and the highs Saturday in the low 80s.

In South Texas, the forecast called for partly cloudy skies Saturday with widely scattered thunderstorms along the coast and in Southeast Texas. Lows tonight were expected to range from the 60s to mid 70s along the coast with highs Saturday mainly in the 80s.

Voters to decide vet loan program

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Texas voters will decide on Nov. 5 whether to extend a loan program to benefit veterans who may qualify for low-interest mortgage loans.

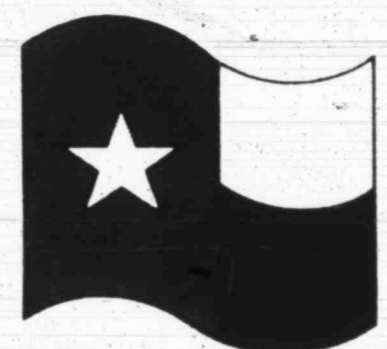

Amendment 8 would authorize the Veterans Land Board to issue an additional $500 million in general obligation bonds for its housing assistance program, Veterans of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and Marines and their survivors who qualify could acquire loans of up to $20,000.

Another but unrelated proposition, — Amendment 4 — would allow the School Land Board to sell some of its state-owned property.

Supporters of extending the veterans' benefits say the loan program has been extremely popular, according to the House Study Group, which prepared an impartial analysis of this and other constitutional amendments.

The $500 million in bonds

On the ballot

This is one in a series of the proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution that will be on the ballot in the Nov. 5 statewide election.

originally issued will be exhausted by the end of 1985, the report states. Approval of the amendment would permit the board to make another 25,000 loans, stimulating the housing industry and generating property tax revenue for local governments, supporters contend.

The loans would pose almost no financial risk to the state, since they would be secured by a mortgage, deed of trust or other lien on the home, supporters say.

Opponents argue that such government borrowing crowds out private corporations and individuals who are competing for the limited amount of funds available, forcing up interest rates for everyone, according to the House Study Group report. Texas veterans certainly deserve aid, but are already eligible for a wide variety of benefits, including federal Veterans Administration housing loans, opponents argue.

Amendment 4 would allow the School Land Board to sell land it already owns for larger or more lucrative tracts.

The Permanent School Fund receives the income from leases on some 4.75 million acres throughout the state, including bays, river beds and submerged lands under the Gulf of Mexico. Currently, the School Land Board can sell land, but the proceeds can be invested only in certain bonds and securities. The board also can trade land for land of equal or greater value.

Supporters say the many small and scattered tracts the board owns are difficult to trade, according to the House report. The amendment would allow the state to sell the land outright and use the proceeds to buy larger and more economically viable tracts.

According to the House report, there is no opposition to the amendment.

little time for campus activities at the University of Texas at Arlington, where she is enrolled.

But by winning the Miss Texas crown, Fitzgerald immediately began preparing for the Miss America pageant. Like most contestants in the pageant, Miss America was a longtime goal for Fitzgerald. She was named second runner-up in the contest.

Fitzgerald strikes a fatal blow to the image some might hold of beauty contestants who would do anything to win that Miss America crown.

"There was no back-biting at the contest," she said. "I made some friends for life there." She said participants are "a sisterhood" and that all former contestants are members of the Mu Alpha Sigma, a sort of sorority which keeps in touch with newsletters and meetings.

"All 51 girls were ready not to win," Fitzgerald said. "We felt we had achieved enough" by winning state titles. "Everyone put a lot of time and effort into winning their state title," she said. Contestants at the pageant, instead of being pitched against one another, concentrated "on doing the best you could do."

Fitzgerald said, "It would have been nice to be Miss America, but being Miss Texas is not a bad second."

Man arrested on warrant

Midland County sheriff's deputies arrested John Davis Hyden Jr., 32, of 2204 Grace and returned him to Howard County Thursday morning.

An arrest warrant had been issued for violation of a four-year probation he received July 3 after pleading guilty to aggravated assault on a police officer.

He remained in county jail this morning in lieu of bond.

• Big Spring Police transferred Joe Guzman, 20, of 711 Anna to county jail after he was arrested for driving while intoxicated. He was released on $1,000 bond.

• Deputies released Della Renee Dickson, 24, of 709 Willa from county jail on orders from District Judge James Gregg. She was arrested and jailed Oct. 16 on a warrant for violating the terms of her probation for a theft by check conviction.

• Police transferred Christopher Coy Willis, 18, of 1405 Main to county jail after he was arrested for possession of marijuana. He was released on $500 bond.

• Deputies released Ruben Trevino, 17, of 808 W. Fifth after he served time in jail for $128.50 in fines owed for Department of Public Safety traffic warrants.

• Deputies arrested Val Islas, 23, of Route 1 Box 420 on a warrant charging her with violating the terms of her probation for a DWI judgment. She was released on $1,000 bond.

• Police transferred Ramon H. Acosta, 25, of Pampa to county jail after he was arrested for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He was released on $5,000 bond.

home and return it when they return to school. The maximum time a student could be suspended would be 10 days per semester. Students could be placed on "in-school suspension" for the remainder of the semester if they are expelled.

A key part of the plan is parental involvement in the discipline management program, McQueary said. The plan calls for two parent-teacher conferences per year, parent training workshops for home reinforcement of study skills, and a written statement signed by parents that they understand and consent to the responsibilities outlined in the program.

Teachers would be trained in the plan before Dec. 31, 1986, and students would have a code of conduct that clearly spells out the district's expectations of them and the consequences of violating the code.

School board adopts new insurance plan

The Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees adopted a new employee hospitalization insurance plan, which would save the district money and keep the employees' premiums from rising.

The policy was adopted at a special meeting of the board Thursday afternoon.

The new plan will cost the district $397,680 for a year, which is up from last year's $321,234 but not as high as the old plan would have been this year. The old plan would have cost the district $410,248 this year.

Both plans are with Blue Cross

Blue Shield, and the basic deductible per employee will remain $350. Employees have the option of paying extra for a lower deductible. But while premiums for the extra coverage will stay about the same, the lowest deductible under the new plan will increase from $100 to $200.

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, said the district's insurance premiums were raised under the old plan because the insurance company paid more on claims last year than it collected in premiums from the school district.

"We just had bad luck" last year, Crockett said.

Satellite thefts reported

Digital Satellite and Circuit Distribution made a report Thursday of two thefts in which persons refused to pay for satellite equipment they had bought and have since moved from their address. The first theft was for $714 and the second for $568, according to police reports.

Someone also stole $980 worth of satellite equipment from American Satellite, according to police reports. The equipment was installed Feb. 13, and the thief has since moved from his address without paying for the equipment, police reports stated.

Police arrested Rudy Rodriguez, 23, of 801 Lorilla on suspicion of violating his parole, according to police reports. The arrest occurred at 300 Birdwell at 5:46 p.m. Thursday.

Two men stole $32.74 worth of merchandise from the 7-Eleven store at 2310 Wasson, according to police reports. The two took a carton of cigarettes and two 12-packs of beer at 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

Lester Randolph Smith of 1600 Lancaster told police someone damaged the rear passenger window and right rear and front tires of his car between 5:10 p.m. Wednesday and 2:55 p.m. Thursday.

Someone damaged the paint of a 1979 Toyota coupe by applying a red stripe to the left front fender between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 3:30 p.m. Thursday, according to police reports. The car belongs to Stacy Johnson of 407 Johnson.

Someone used spray paint to write obscenities on the window and wall of City Savings at 2600 Gregg, causing an estimated $50 worth of damage, police said. The vandalism occurred between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 8:15 a.m. Thursday, according to police reports.

Donny Hale of 610 E. 11th Place told police two people entered his house without his permission at 8:58 p.m. Thursday and refused to leave when he requested.

Vandals caused $500 worth of damage to the paint of a 1976 GMC pickup belonging to Chris Simpson of 807 W. 16th, according to police reports. The vandals damaged the car by spraying it with spray paint between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 11 a.m. Thursday.

The best and worst

WASHINGTON — If you want to escape "urban stress" caused by burgeoning population, supposedly the best place to go is Fargo, N.D.

That's the recommendation of Zero Population Growth Inc., which on Thursday released its survey of the problems posed by population growth in 184 major cities.

It said the worst place for such "urban stress" is Miami.

Malpractice costs VA

WASHINGTON — The Veterans Administration, operator of the nation's largest medical system, cost the government $34.5 million in medical malpractice claims over two years, according to an internal report.

An audit by the VA's inspector general's office said the money was paid out for settlements and judgments in the 1983 and 1984 fiscal years, and that another $2.3 million is paid annually in VA compensation for injuries inflicted during VA medical treatment.

Insurer insists test

SAN FRANCISCO — One of the nation's leading life insurers says it is requiring AIDS tests of applicants in five "high-risk" states after paying 3 percent of its total claims so far this year to victims of the deadly disease.

Transamerica Occidental Life Insurance Co., one of the 10 largest U.S. insurance companies, said Thursday that some applicants in California, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, Texas and Washington, D.C., would be tested for AIDS.

The company is the first to require the tests, said the American Council of Life Insurance in Washington.

Priest dies of AIDS

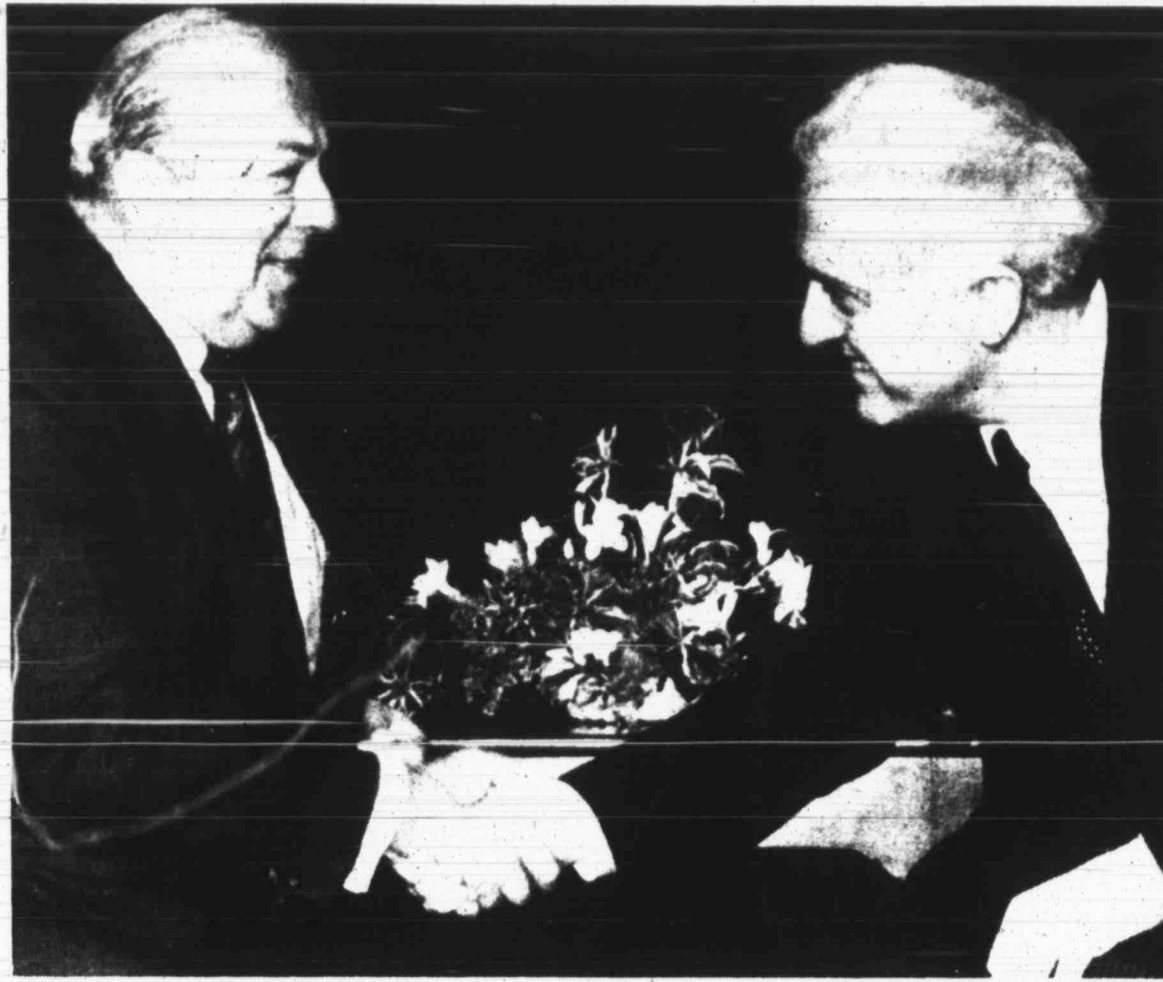

WORCESTER, Mass. — A 41-year-old Roman Catholic priest who was a college instructor and campus chaplain has died of AIDS, officials said.

The Rev. Paul R. Hanno, who had been at Anna Maria College in Paxton for about three years, died Saturday at St. Vincent's Hospital. His death certificate said he suffered from acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Chemical firm indicted

TRENTON, N.J. — Ciba-Geigy Corp. and four officials of its Toms River chemical plant have been indicted on charges of illegally dumping toxic waste in landfills and the Atlantic Ocean for 10 years and lying about it, prosecutors said.

The giant chemical company faces up to $2.3 million in fines if convicted on all 35 counts stemming from the 14-month investigation, state Attorney General Irwin Kimmelman said Thursday.

SECRETARY OF STATE George Shultz, left, shakes hands with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze as they meet at the American Mission to the United Nations in New York Friday. Shultz and Shevardnadze discussed the agenda for the Nov. 19-20 summit meeting between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Agenda

Secretary Shultz studies trip to Moscow

NEW YORK (AP) — As President Reagan winds up three days of pre-summit consultations here, Secretary of State George Shultz is weighing a trip to Moscow and a Soviet proposal for an agreement on principles at Geneva.

Despite Reagan's assertion in a U.N. speech Thursday that Moscow was sponsoring "war with the people" of Afghanistan, Angola, Cambodia, Ethiopia and Nicaragua, preparations for his Nov. 19-20 meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev are accelerating.

This morning, Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze met over breakfast to work on the summit agenda.

Reagan, meanwhile, was ending his three busy days in New York with separate meetings with Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl.

The president also scheduled a meeting with the family of Leon Klinghoffer, a partially crippled, retired businessman who was killed during the hijacking of the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro.

On Thursday, Shevardnadze met for 30 minutes with Reagan in New York and commented, "If there were no positive seeds we would not have met at all."

Shultz called it "base-touching" on summit preparations and said the Soviets were showing "seriousness of purpose" in advance of the summit meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

He said he was discussing with Shevardnadze the Soviet official's proposal in a U.N. speech earlier this year that Reagan and Gorbachev adopt "an agreement in principle" at the summit.

They resumed their discussions over a heavy breakfast today at the U.S. Mission to the United Nations.

Shevardnadze, noting the spread of omelets, pancakes and other dishes laid before him, told Shultz that, if the Soviets had known what would be on the menu, they would have come earlier. But Shultz, after listing the choices for his guest, suggested they eat lightly because they had much to discuss in the session scheduled for two hours.

Aides to both men joined in the talks.

An agreement in principle would fall short of an accord limiting nuclear missiles or specific solutions to other problems around the world. But Shevardnadze said, "There is no doubt that this would be the best gift to all in the jubilee year of the United Nations."

Kidnap victim reunited

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — President Jose Napoleon Duarte's daughter, nervous and tired from six weeks as a hostage, was reunited with her family, and scores of rebels allowed to leave El Salvador in exchange for her safety arrived in Panama today on their way to Cuba.

Seventy-six of the guerrillas, 73 wounded fighters and 3 rebel commandants who had been captured by the government, arrived in Panama City early today from San Salvador aboard a Panamanian jet.

Soviets reject proposal

MOSCOW — The Soviet news agency Tass today said President Reagan's speech to the United Nations offering a new start in superpower relations boils down to a rehash of Washington's "bankrupt foreign policy directives."

Meanwhile, Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev said in Sofia, Bulgaria, that new Soviet arms proposals and the Kremlin's call for a space-weapons ban will remain Moscow's priorities at the Nov. 19-20 superpower summit meeting in Geneva.

Tass accused Reagan of trying to divert attention from the Kremlin's new arms proposals and of distorting reality in Afghanistan, Nicaragua and other Marxist, Soviet-backed nations.

Clashes kill two men

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Clashes between anti-apartheid rioters and police turned a fashionable white section of Cape Town into a battleground, and police said two black men died near Durban when they apparently tried to blow up a school.

In Pretoria, President P.W. Botha announced that the state of emergency imposed July 21 had been lifted in six of 36 black communities because calm had been restored there. He said the state of emergency regulations, severely criticized in South Africa and abroad, had proven to be effective.

Leaders fail to agree

UNITED NATIONS — Leaders from East, West and the non-aligned nations proclaimed the urgent need for nuclear disarmament at the U.N.'s 40th birthday celebration, but failed to reach accord on a proclamation to mark the special day.

Speaker after speaker at the General Assembly tribune urged the United States and the Soviet Union to come to an agreement to reduce their stockpiles of atomic weapons when their leaders meet Nov. 19-20 in Geneva, Switzerland.

But U.N. delegates were unable to find common ground for an anniversary declaration because of the issue that has bedeviled the 159-nation world body for 38 of its 40 years: the Arab-Israeli conflict.

It's the object of law that counts

It's unfortunate that the attorney general of the United States requires the sort of lesson on the U.S. Constitution and its interpretation that he got from a senior member of the Supreme Court the other day. But given the fact that the need is so urgent, no one could have done it better than did Justice Brennan in his speech at Georgetown University.

Although Brennan never mentioned the attorney general either by title or by name, there was no doubt whom he had in mind. There are those, he said, who assert that the courts should decide constitutional cases simply by trying to "discern exactly what the framers thought about the question under consideration." But that kind of "simple historicism" — pretending one can put oneself in the head, say, of James Madison — as Brennan points out, is arrogance cloaked as humility.

Given the disagreements among the framers themselves, and given nearly 200 years of changes in circumstances, there is no way to know the "original intention." The framers never thought about wiretapping, for example; is wiretapping, therefore, a form of "search" within the meaning of the Constitution or isn't it? In any case, there is no way to function without taking into account the intervening years of history and social experience and, even more emphatically, the radically different problems and circumstances of the present. "We judges," as Brennan said, "read the Constitution in the only way we can: as 20th century Americans." Most emphatically they cannot restore the conditions of the 18th.

All of that is elementary stuff to most students of American history, as is the principle, also defended by Brennan in his speech the other day, that the majoritarian process must be limited if civil liberties and minority rights are to be protected. Anything else would permit "the imposition of a social caste system or wholesale confiscation of property so long as the majority of the authorized legislative body, fairly elected, approved. Our Constitution could not abide such a situation." That, too, should not be something about which the attorney general of the United States needs reminding. Unfortunately, he does.

Publisher's role sets poor record

Conservatives think the government's proper role is to maintain a national defense, put criminals in jail and enforce the Ten Commandments. Liberals think it should concern itself mainly with regulating the economy, redistributing income and protecting baby seals. But which of them ever envisioned the government as a book publisher?

Still, there is no escaping the curious fact that the U.S. government devotes a lot of resources to that job, putting out thousands of publications of bewildering variety.

Exactly how many I don't know, but the catalog before me includes nearly 1,000. It also advertises a subscription service which provides a bi-monthly list of all Government Printing Office publications. This list alone, it says, takes up 350 microfiche.

Your tax dollars at work? The catalog (number Y-3, if you're ordering) says no: "there are no free books distributed by the GPO." This policy enables us to operate our Sales Program without using tax revenues. Maybe so, although accountants have ways of making black look like white. But that's beside the point. The point is, the federal government has more important things to do.

Some of the publications, of course, make sense as a way of smoothing the administration of federal programs — like the digest of OSHA standards, or the handbook for the Medicare patient. A government probably has to print copies of its own Constitution; I only wish someone would buy a few for Ed Meese. And no journalist will complain about the annual Statistical Abstract of the United States, which has padded many a column with irrelevant but authoritative numbers.

But the vast majority of the books offered in this catalog are not so worthy. There are two basic types: those that cater to an audience already well-served by private publishing houses and those that cater to hardly any audience at all. It is hard to see why the government should publish either type.

Take the second category first. Here we encounter books like "A History of the Rectangular Survey System," which provides a gripping account of "the origins and growth of public land surveying and registration in the U.S." For just $3.75, you can be the proud owner of "Photovoltaics in the Pacific Islands." There is the "Antarctic Bibliography: Indexes (Vols. 8-12)," which is no help to those of us interested in volumes 1-7.

If there's an Agatha Christie buff on your Christmas gift list, consider the "Crime Scene Search and Physical Evidence Handbook." Camp followers may want to curl up with "U.S. Marine Corps Uniforms, 1983," which includes 16-by-20 prints, "suitable for framing." Or, for light vacation reading, try the "Electric Power Annual."

Books like these bring to mind the old adage that the only things the government can do well are wage war and debase currency. If the GPO didn't publish a history of the rectangular survey system, it's entirely conceivable that no one would.

That's not to say these publishing efforts are entirely wasted. Anything which brings disrepute on the government can only advance the noble cause of anti-statism.

And I for one have already sent off $33 for "Head and Neck Injury Criteria: A Consensus Workshop." It may come in handy the next time a catalog of government publications gives me the urge to bang my head against the wall.

Perks help flaunt clout

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — This country was founded on the concept that all men are created equal, but in Washington, D.C., 200 years later, this principle has somehow evolved into a system of privilege that would do credit to the late, unlamented Austro-Hungarian Empire.

The perquisites of office — known and understood by everyone here as "perks" — run the gamut from the aristocratic (chauffeur-driven limousines) to the bourgeois (office pantries) to the almost proletarian (free junkies to the beach).

Whatever the level of perks, one feature is common: the fierceness with which they are guarded and exploited.

Silly as it may seem to people living in the real world, one of the most treasured status symbols in Washington is the privilege of choosing a work of art to decorate one's office and having it properly framed at government expense.

It can be anything from a snapshot of the office occupant with an even bigger big shot to an inspired squiggle from junior's kindergarten class. If the bureaucrat can get it mounted and framed at taxpayers' expense, it shows he or she has clout. You might almost formulate a law on the subject: The more trivial the object framed, the more important the perk-pusher.

Our associate Tony Capaccio has been looking into the situation, and he has turned up some examples that would boggle Thomas Jefferson's mind:

● June Koch, an assistant secretary at the Department of Housing and Urban Development, sent the visual arts office a pencil caricature of her for framing. It had been drawn by a Soviet housing expert at a conference she attended last May.

Somehow, the cartoon got lost in transit. Her reaction was worthy of Ivan the Terrible. Siberia beckoning, the visual arts staff conducted a long search, and Ms. Koch's own staff had a day-long, top-to-bottom shakedown. "They still haven't found the damn thing," a HUD spokesman said.

● No one is ever likely to confuse the U.S. Tax Court with Florence under the Medici. But in 1974, each tax court judge was given $2,000 during a relocation to buy art to decorate the walls of his private chambers and outer offices. The selections included $400 paintings, $100 prints and $600 tapestries. These yard sale bargains evidently delighted the judges to such an extent that in 1979 they voted to give new judges $2,000 too — and last year they voted themselves an additional $2,000 apiece. Temporary judges had to make do with a lousy $800, but that can buy some Norman Rockwell reproductions and Currier & Ives prints.

● Such is the ingrained attitude of the perk fancies that when Paul Cooksey, a deputy assistant Treasury secretary, tried to curb the memento-framing practice, employees complained. What did he do to draw this self-righteous indignation? Simply issue a memo in April stating that "in the future no more items of a personal nature will be framed by the carpenter's shop" except for such documents as presidential or departmental commissions, appointments or other formal papers.

The response may have been grudging, but it was gratifying: The amount spent on framing dropped from $2,992.80 the month before Cooksey's directive to $69.60 in August. Between October 1981 and April 1985, the department had spent $45,000 on framings.

● On rare occasions "perkomania" is overcome by old-fashioned egomania. Rep. Fernand St. Germain, D-R.I., laid out $5,000 from his campaign fund for a portrait of himself by New York artist Everett Raymond Kinstler, to hang in the hearing room of the Housing Banking Committee, which St Germain has headed for many years.

Footnote: Mark Woolley, an investigator for Citizens Against Government Waste, contributed to this story.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: The government's import quota on sugar is costing American consumers $5 billion a year, according to a recent study by Citizens for a Sound Economy. Though only 1 percent of U.S. farmers grow sugar, the government decided to protect them by cutting sugar imports in half. This, the study shows, raised the price of sugar from 3.5 cents to 21 cents on the world market, and costs the average American family $100 a year on its grocery bill. In addition, the quota hurts sugar-growing Caribbean countries the most, making it tough for them to repay the hundreds of billions they owe U.S. banks.

WATCH ON THE PENTAGON: Defense Department Inspector General Joseph Sherick is suspected by investigators for Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., of hyping his record of "39,000 criminal cases" initiated since January 1982, as he boasted in a press release. The suspicious congressional sleuths think Sherick included such Junior Tracy crime-buster cases as an $18 travel voucher overpayment, $46 in excessive tips claimed on another expense account, $26 in unauthorized long-distance telephone charges and $5 discrepancies in the receipts of Army and Air Force movie theater cashiers.

MINI-EDITORIAL: It's nice to know that Soviet boss Mikhail Gorbachev doesn't reserve his smiling, bare-faced lies for external consumption. He's pulling his shell game on the long-suffering Soviet public as well. Banner headlines in Pravda just announced that production of consumer goods will increase by 30 percent in the next five years and by a whopping 80 percent to 90 percent by the year 2000. In the services area, output by everything from restaurants to car repair shops will increase by 130 percent. We suspect that knowledgeable Soviet citizens are giving this horsefeathers the horse-laugh it deserves.

Around The Rim
Country life and city lights

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
What alternative does a corporate dropout have when he decides to flee the big city and a job title with Monsanto Company in Houston?

He, contrary to what author Thomas Wolfe may think, can go home again.

That's what Coleman County historian Ralph Terry did when he left Houston 11 years ago and returned home to Coleman.

When asked why he made the transition, Terry laughs and says "I keep asking myself that."

He doesn't have to ask what he's been doing with himself since returning home.

Terry recently headed an ambitious three-person editorial project that compiled a two-volume set titled A History of Coleman County And Its People.

Coleman County is of particular interest to West Texans because it is the site for Stacy Dam. The future reservoir is expected to host many water recreation buffs and Coleman no doubt will be affected by the new inflow of tourists.

"This is one of the better books I've ever read," Terry says modestly, "it has better continuity and is more comprehensive."

The 1,312-page set weighs 10 pounds, sells for $62 and contains nearly 3,000 photographs. It deals mainly with the historical families in Coleman County, Terry says. A quarter of the book's information deals with histories of churches, schools and past communities located in the county.

Terry said the project began 3½ years ago when members of the Coleman County Historical Commission decided to compile into a book old photographs they had discovered.

"We originally intended for it to run 400 pages," Terry said.

As interest, feedback and work on the project grew, the historical commission contracted with Anchor Publishing of San Angelo and copyrighted their project.

Terry said the commission will receive profits from the book which is projected to earn $2,000 to $3,000.

The volume's first print run was 1,800 sets. Terry says the commission has sold 1,500 volumes already.

"We may go to a second printing and have 500 sets reprinted," Terry says.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, October 25, the 298th day of 1985. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On October 25, 1854, the "Charge of the Light Brigade" took place during the Crimean War Battle of Balaklava. An English brigade of 600 men charged the Russian army against hopeless odds and suffered heavy losses. Wrote the poet Tennyson: "Theirs but to do and die... Theirs but to do and die."

On this date: In 1812, the U.S. frigate United States captured the British vessel Macedonian during the War of 1812.

In 1918, the Canadian steamship Princess Sophia foundered after hitting a hidden reef off the coast of Alaska. All of the nearly 400 people aboard died.

In 1929, former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe in connection with the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve in California.

In 1940, the president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, John L. Lewis, vowed in a radio address to retire if President Franklin D. Roosevelt were elected to a third term. Lewis kept his word.

In 1951, peace talks aimed at ending the Korean War resumed in Panmunjon after 63 days.

In 1962, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson presented photographic evidence of Soviet missile bases in Cuba to the U.N. Security Council after Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin refused to confirm or deny their existence.

Dear Abby

An alternative to trick or treating

DEAR ABBY: Last year you ran a wonderful letter from a concerned mother who deplored the custom of sending children out to beg for treats on Halloween. My 12-year-old daughter took it to school, and it completely changed the character of the way Halloween was celebrated in our little town. Please run it again. This is from your home state.

WHERE THE TALL CORN GROWS
DEAR FELLOW IOWAN: Thanks for asking. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Those who presumably worry about their children who are out trick-or-treating on Halloween should take a lesson from my mother and her friends. They never had to worry. We stayed home because she and her neighbors would toss the best party of the year — next to Christmas. They did this with little effort, permitting the children to do most of the work and planning.

Hot dogs, hamburgers, soft drinks, cookies and cakes were in bountiful supply. We played games, bobbed for apples and received prizes for our costumes.

Growing up in a small town (population about 9,000), I never heard of trick or treat until I moved to Washington, D.C. We didn't have to worry about poisoned candy, pins and razor blades in apples, or the threat of being lured into the home of a stranger to be molested.

I personally despise the custom of trick or treat and refuse to condone it by encouraging children to come to my door. Call me Scrooge. Fortunately, more parents in my part of the country are beginning to see the sense in block parties on Halloween. I hope it catches on and replaces the deplorable custom of sending children out to beg for treats.

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: You hit upon something that has troubled me for a number of years. The very principle of trick or treat is pure and simple blackmail: "If you don't give me a treat, I will play a trick on you" — the "trick" being anything from overturning garbage cans, soaping (or breaking) windows, or doing serious damage to property.

This kind of vicious and anti-social behavior should not be tolerated. Most police departments must call in extra hands on Halloween to patrol the streets in an effort to protect private and public property.

What began many years ago as a harmless holiday, celebrated by telling children scary ghost stories about imaginary witches, goblins and spirits, has turned into legalized blackmail.

Halloween has become scarier than ever, and I vote for abolishing the custom of trick or treat.

DEAR READERS: A few weeks ago I published a letter from Mel Hebert, a lonesome U.S. Marine stationed in Okinawa. He asked for mail for him and some of his lonely buddies.

Well, the island of Okinawa has been clobbered with mail, thanks to you, my readers.

To those of you out there who want to correspond with a 23-year-old, single senior airman from Medford, N.J., now stationed at Osan Air Base in Korea: write to Operation Dear Abby in care of Wayne J. Barnaby, PSC Box 421, APO San Francisco 96366-0006.

Dr. Donohue

Is nearsightedness inherited?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: All three of my sisters are nearsighted and wear corrective glasses. My sight is normal and so it that of my children. Is nearsightedness inherited? — Mrs. Y.M.

We used to think that nearsightedness (myopia) was entirely hereditary. Now we think it is a combination of heredity and things that happen in the eye apparatus during our lives. For example, it's possible to induce myopia in certain monkeys, by temporarily sealing their eyelids (artificially closing them). The monkeys then become artificially nearsighted. This makes us suspect that more than heredity is involved.

Thus, if a child has spent hours on hours doing close-up work, his eyeball might, if he is hereditarily prone, become elongated. In this state, light rays from images will strike the eyeball too far ahead of the focus point of the lens deep in the eye. Distant objects will appear fuzzy, while close ones are quite clear. That's myopia.

Myopia is a common problem, affecting as much as 25 percent of the population. With our new suspicion of the twin causes of heredity and environment, we soon may find ways to prevent it in those hereditarily prone by limiting the factors such as excessive close-up work by young children. At this point, it would be difficult to stay just which factors were involved to make your three sisters myopic while you and your children have normal vision.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was married to my ex-husband for 20 years. A doctor told him when he was in his early 20s that his sperm count was so low it would be a miracle if he ever fathered a child. So we adopted. I never became pregnant in all those 20 years of marriage. We have since divorced and his new wife is pregnant by him. Is this possible? He says he has been taking a lot of vitamins. He is now in his early 40s. — P.H.

I suppose I might begin by noting that we are a lot smarter about such findings as "low sperm count" than we were even 20 years ago. Certainly, today one would not make a prediction regarding fertility on the basis of a single count. Sperm counts can fluctuate. But once repeat tests for quantity of sperm and its motility have consistently pointed to infertility in the male, then that is usually true for life.

Also, analytical techniques have progressed. We now know that the male has to abstain from sex prior to the testing of sperm. But let us be frank. Something beyond faulty sperm test technique or timing has to be found to explain 20 years of infertility. One suggestion is that you were one of the factors involved.

If the sole cause was your husband's insufficient sperm, and if the other facts are as you state them, I am at a loss to explain his suddenly regained ability to father a child. I can tell you one thing, though — vitamins had nothing to do with it.

Piano recital slated Sunday

The students of Ann Gibson Houser will perform during a two piano recital in the small chapel of First Baptist Church at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Performing will be Kate Thornton, Laura Thornton, Courtney Fryer, Raemi Fryer, Angela Tubb, Paige Duncan, Jamie Arrick, Raygan McCann, Chandra Harrell and Brandy Bedell.

Also Muffy Halloman, Ashley McCann, Heather Farris, Brook Arrick, Dean Braun, Shannan Doneghe, Kerri Tyndol, Jenny Moore, LeAnn Tillery and Tara McCann.

Also Amber Stroup, Kathryn Whitaker, Leola McCrea, Sharla Barley, Joan Wilson, Dawn Underwood, Jon David Bryson, Vicky McDowell, Brenda Bedell and Myra Harrell.

Auxiliary hears report on bake sale

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Big Spring Downtown Lion's Club met for lunch at the home of Linda Holmes recently. New officers are Thelma Carlile, president, and Lucy Bonner, treasurer.

Linda Holmes reported that a recent pie and cake sale was a success. Ruth Salisbury was chairperson. Meeting plans for the next six months were discussed and hostesses selected.

Edie Faulkner will host the meeting Nov. 20.

Big Spring Garden Club Council hears report about fall luncheon

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs met Sept. 26 in the home of Adele Tibbs to complete plans for the annual fall luncheon which was held Oct. 12 at First United Methodist Church.

The luncheon featured a style show by Charde and music by Frank Arner. Dr. Kenneth Patrick sang the Lord's Prayer as the invocation, accompanied by Joy Grimes.

Mrs. Brent Womack set up a art display in the foyer, and Mrs. Clyde Angel gave a book review.

Receptiops of the Johnny Johansen horticulture scholarships from Howard College were recognized. Lynn Walling of the Howard College agriculture department was recognized for his work.

Guests included Johnny Johansen and Erma Balch.

It was announced that the Southern Zone meeting will be held Nov. 14. Bluebonnet seeds were planted on area school grounds by third grade students supervised by Garden Club members. Seeds were furnished by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs as a Sesquicentennial project. Naomi Hunt, county extension agent, sponsored this project for 4-H members.

Mrs. Preach Martin gave the Council several jars of seeds to plant for the Sesquicentennial project.

Live oaks, received by the Texas Forestry department, will be planted on the courthouse lawn at the request of Judge Milton Kirby.

Mrs. Clinkscales and Mrs. Womack reported on the Howard County Fair flower show and said the show was a success.

Retired widow is Mormon missionary

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Editor
Laura Pinchak is a retired widow serving as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

On her third mission, Pinchak is from Raymond Alberta, Canada. She came to Big Spring, Oct. 8 to serve a one-year mission. Her other missions were in South Carolina.

way of seeing the country and also giving service to the Lord," said Pinchak. "What better way to serve the Lord than go on a mission."

Senior couples serve 18-month missions and single seniors serve one year missions, she said, "providing their health is good."

"I love the climate" in West Texas, she said. "I love the heat, the warmth. I'm used to 25 to 30 degrees below zero. When I left there was 2 foot of snow on the ground."

Before retiring, she was a cook and waitress in a restaurant. "We pay for our own way — our rent, food — nothing comes from the church," she said.

Mormons "believe strongly in families, that families can be forever," said Pinchak. She has two sons, a daughter, 16 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. All live in Canada.

Church women to observe World Community Day

World Community Day sponsored by Church Women United will be observed at 10 a.m. Nov. 1 at the First Presbyterian Church. The service is entitled "Harvest of Blessing." An hour of fellowship will follow the service. All area women are invited. Nursery will be provided.

Church women from the farm belt of America — Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and North and South Dakota — wrote the service.

World Community Day, first observed in 1943 as a "peace day," grew out of the concern of Church Women United for ways women could bring about an enduring world peace with justice.

Church Women United is a movement that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women together in one Christian community of prayer, advocacy and service.

Church to sponsor bazaar

St. Paul Lutheran Church will have a bazaar Nov. 2 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. sponsored by the Lutheran Womens' Missionary League. Public invited.

There will be handmade items, baked goods and a silent auction.

The youth group will operate a concession stand.

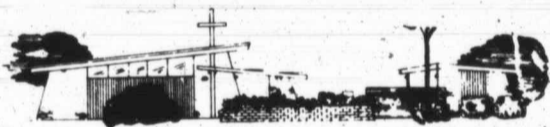

Cardenas family to perform at revival

The First Church of the Nazarene is involved in a mini-revival this weekend with the Cardenas family from Lamesa as music evangelists. The Cardenas family has operated the LaFamilia Mexican Restaurant in Lamesa for several

Religion roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Catholic Conference has protested the Nicaraguan's government's broadened "state of emergency" restrictions on civil liberties, saying the measures won't help resolve conflicts there.

In a telegram to Nicaraguan President Ortega, Msgr. Daniel F. Hoye, conference general secretary, cited reports that the government took over church offices to prevent publication of a new magazine. Hoye called for respect for "the right of the church to publish freely."

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Bishops of the state Church of Norway, a Lutheran body, have criticized a recent conference here on "faith and miracles" sponsored by "Full Gospel" congregation as

"heretical" and "unbiblical."

NEW YORK (AP) — The Greek Orthodox Church of the Americas, headed by Archbishop Iakovos, has sent $100,000 to the Ethiopian Orthodox Church and $60,000 to the head of Greek Orthodoxy there to aid victims of hunger in that country.

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J. (AP) — The Rev. Carl McIntire, fundamentalist leader and longtime foe of the ecumenical movement, says evangelist Billy Graham was "used by the Soviets" in his recent missions in Rumania and Hungary. McIntire said in a statement that Graham, who reported Communist authorities are allowing wider opportunities to preach, "has become a Soviet pawn."

TRICK OR TREAT

The ancient Druids believed that on "All-Hollow's Eve" (Oct.31) the Lord of the dead (Sanhain) called together souls of all the wicked who had died during the year. These, in the bodies of animals, returned to their former homes where, if they were not entertained, they cast evil spells upon the residents. Hence trick or treat, which our kids enjoy, had its origin! We worship the true God who is Lord of the living and the dead. (Rom. 14:9)

City to go spook happy

Witches, warlocks, ghosts, ghouls and other Halloween horrors will haunt the halls of schools and spook houses throughout town this weekend.

The Rotary Club and the March of Dimes will sponsor a spook house at Big Spring Mall. The haunted house will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday and Tuesday through Thursday, organizer Phil Furqueron said. Admission is $2. Proceeds will benefit the Rotary Club and the March of Dimes.

Washington Elementary School will have a carnival Saturday. The school cafeteria will serve barbecue sandwiches for $1.50, beginning at 4 p.m. Booths will be open from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Tickets are four for $1.

Moss Elementary School's carnival will start at 5 p.m. Saturday, with dinner served until 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Hot dogs, chili dogs, frito pie, nachos and pickles will be sold, with prices ranging up to $1.50.

Booths will open at 6:30, and an auction will take place at 8. Tickets for booths will be 25 cents each. Also, clowns will sell helium balloons and cotton candy.

The Elbow-Forsan Halloween carnival will be at Elbow Elementary School from 6-9 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are 25 cents or five for $1.

The Sands High School student council will sponsor its annual Halloween Carnival in Ackerly Saturday.

Festivities begin at 6:30 p.m. with a costume contest for infants and fifth graders in the school auditorium. After the contest, elementary, junior high and high school Halloween kings and queens will be crowned.

Immediately following the coronation, the carnival will begin. Booths will be located in the elementary gym, and a concession stand will be in the gym foyer. An auction will be conducted in the cafeteria, and the spook house will be in the gymnasium dressing room.

The Head Start Program Committee will sponsor a Halloween carnival from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday at Lakeview School.

Free face-painting for children will be done at Howard County Library from 3 p.m.-5 p.m. on Halloween day.

Loeffler to campaign here

Republican gubernatorial candidate Tom Loeffler will bring his campaign for the GOP nomination to Big Spring Saturday morning.

Rep. Loeffler will be at the Chamber of Commerce from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. to answer questions and discuss his race.

He is vying with former Gov. Bill Clements and newly turned Republican Kent Hance, a former Lubbock Congressman who was defeated in the Democratic party run-off for U.S. senator in 1984 by state Sen. Lloyd Doggett. Doggett, in turn, was defeated by Sen. Phil Gramm.

The winner of the GOP nomination will face the Democrats' choice, probably incumbent Gov. Mark White.

Rewards offered in vandalism case

Rewards totaling up to $1,500 have been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for vandalism and arson at the Senior Citizens Center, 625 Airbase.

The Medicine Shoppe is offering a $500 reward, said owner Clint Hollomon. Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 for the information, said Big Spring police Lt. Jerry Edwards.

Burglars broke into the center between 2 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday, damaging two vending machines, stealing change, soft drinks and candy, and setting a pile of clothes on fire, according to police reports.

Hollomon said the vandals caused an estimated $30,000 damage, and the center was unable to prepare hot meals or operate the Meals on Wheels program.

Blood drive begins on Halloween

Don't be surprised when a witch meets you at the door during Hall-Bennett Hospital's blood drive this month.

The drive falls on Halloween, said hospital employee Cheryl New, and the hospital is attempting to woo donors with a Dracula banner that says, "I want your blood."

The drive will be from noon to 6 p.m. in Room 106 of the hospital. Halloween cookies and punch will be served, and McDonalds coupons will be given to donors, New said.

Six-week honor roll published

The following students are on the Grady Independent School District honor roll for the first six weeks:

Odessa (6-1) at Big Spring (1-6)

The surprising Red Hoses of Odessa High are coming to town in hopes of spoiling Big Spring's Homecoming festivities. OHS operates a powerful Wishbone attack and has the best secondary in 4-5A, two factors that will not make the Steer's first district win an easy one.

Ira (3-4) at Grady (2-4)

A Six-Man showdown for a probable District 4 South Zone championship will have all the folks in Tarzan and Lenorah jumping with anticipation. Grady's team resembles the walking wounded (5 starters injured) after a wild win over McCaulley. Ira is coming off impressive wins over Highland and Borden County and can't be stopped by less than perfect execution from Wildcat quarterback Louis Gonzales and his stable of fine receivers.

Sands (3-4) at Garden City (3-4)

This Crossroads Country grudge match features a pair of teams with little chance of making the playoffs, but winning seasons are still very much in the picture. Sands offense has been hurt badly by the absence of Jay Fryar and they must establish a running game to win this game.

Ballinger (6-1) at C-City (4-3)

Ballinger is again playing the heavyweight in District 7-3A and is odds on favorite to take the district title. Colorado City is looking for a playoff spot in a rebuilding year. Terry Strambler will give the rock solid C-City defense its toughest assignment of the year running behind a big offensive line.

Coahoma (2-5) at Sonora (4-3)

The Bulldogs are in a slide at present and desperately need this 7-3A game to turn the season around. Coahoma found a running back in Gary Vaughn last week and with the return of quarterback Brian Calaway to the lineup, point production should be up.

Forsan (7-0) at Loraine (3-4)

The Buffaloes are moving, gearing for next week's showdown with Roscoe. But tonight their minds will be solely on the Bulldogs from Loraine. To be truthful, the Buffaloes could still look past Loraine and win hands down, but they won't.

B-County (1-6) at Highland (3-4)

The Borden County Coyotes are going through a rebuilding year, so are the Highland Hornets, who's been a previous power in Six-Man football. But the Coyotes, who lost two starters to grades, are having injury problems and trying to find a quarterback to replace injured starter Jerry Green.

Stanton (3-4) at Big Lake (4-3)

This is a do-or-die situation for the Buffaloes. They must win this game if they are to have any possible playoff hopes. Meanwhile the same thing holds true for the Big Lake Owls. It will be a knock-down, drag-out game, both teams will go for broke because this game is the season as far as they're concerned.

Wilson (5-2) at Klondike (0-7)

A small, inexperienced Klondike Cougars squad is taking its lumps this season. It will benefit them for next year's wars. But for now the Cougars will have to deal with it. Wilson has a big, well-coached team. They simply have too many horses for the Cougars to handle.

KC sends Series back home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Kansas City speed connection of Lonnie Smith and Willie Wilson came alive Thursday night, leading the Royals to a 6-1 victory over St. Louis in Game 5 of the World Series and signaling that time had not yet run out for the American League champions.

Their backs had been to the wall for so long they had written graffiti on it, Hal McRae had said. On this night, the graffiti read: "Not just yet."

The victory cut the Cardinals' advantage in the best-of-seven Series to three games-to-two heading back to Kansas City for Game 6 Saturday night.

The Royals will send left-hander Charlie Leibrandt, the hard-luck loser of Game 2, against Cardinals right-hander Danny Cox, who won Game 2 with the aid of four ninth-inning runs.

With Danny Jackson pitching in and out of trouble despite allowing only five hits and striking out five, the Nos. 1 and 2 hitters for the Royals suddenly sparked a dormant Kansas City offense.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, seemed more like the team showing pressure. Slick-fielding shortstop Ozzie Smith made an error that led to a run, and fan favorite Tito Landrum had a rough day.

The Royals scored once in the first inning against Bob Forsch and added three more in the second, beginning with the first controversial call of the Series in a disputed play at home plate argued vehemently between Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog and umpire John Shulock.

Still left for the Royals is an unenviable task. They had fallen behind 3-1 in the Series Wednesday night when they were shut out 3-0 by John Tudor. Of 34 previous teams to face such a deficit, only four had gone on to win the Series, the last being the 1979 Pittsburgh Pirates.

But the Royals had come back from such a deficit against Toronto in the AL playoffs, and now they hoped to do the same against St. Louis.

Jackson, who worked seven effective innings in Game 2 before he left for a pinch hitter, was a little less effective in Game 5, but he was good enough.

had the better of the pitching as relievers Rickey Horton, Bill Campbell, Todd Worrell and Jeff Lahti combined to hold the Royals to one unearned run the rest of the way. Worrell worked two innings, tying a World Series record by striking out all six batters he faced and helping Cardinals pitchers fan 15 Royals, two shy of the single-game Series record set by St. Louis' Bob Gibson against Detroit in 1968.

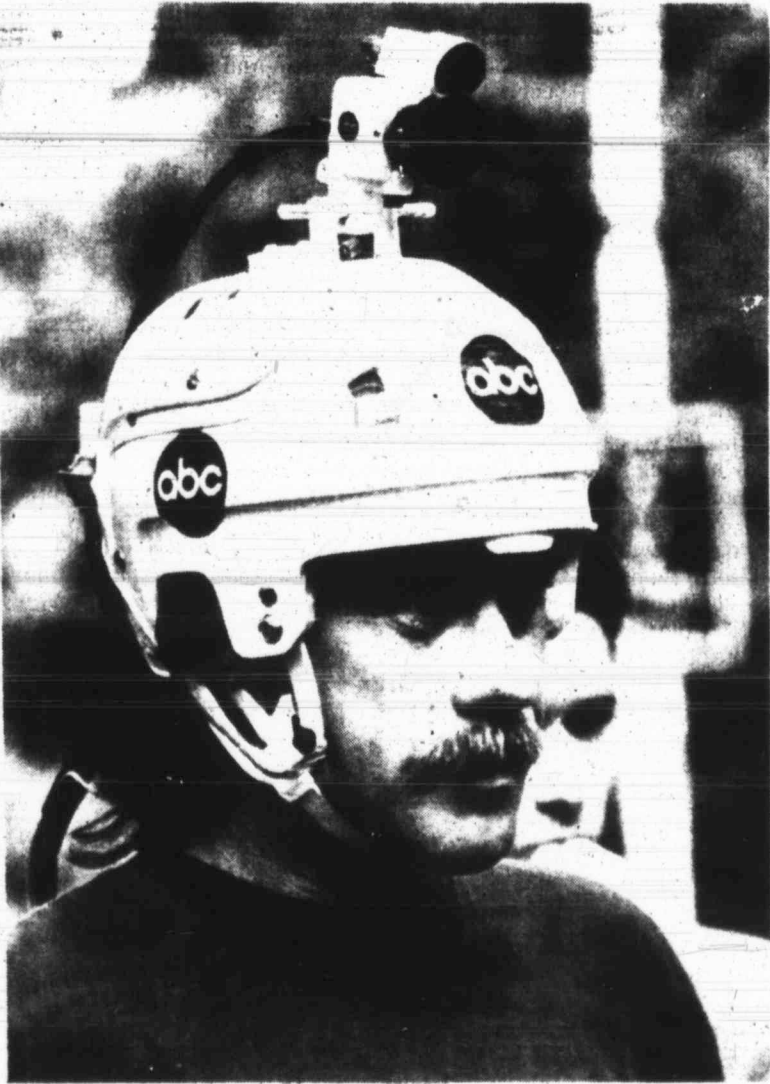

The Royals got their unearned run, the first by either team in the Series, against Lahti in the eighth. Sundberg scored from second when Jackson, who had tied a Series record held by Mickey Mantle among others by striking out five straight times, hit a grounder up the middle fielded by Ozzie Smith at shortstop. Smith's off-balance throw skipped in the dirt past Clark at first.

KC added another run in the eighth when Pat Sheridan hit a line drive over Landrum's head in left, scoring Frank White from first.

The Royals broke a 1-1 tie with the disputed run, starting a three-run second inning and the demise of Forsch. With one out, Sundberg hit a soft fly into shallow left field, apparently misjudged by Landrum. Landrum tried to make a shoe-top catch and got his glove on it, but the ball rolled perhaps 15 feet past him for a double.

Forsch ran the count full against Buddy Biancalana, and the light-hitting Royals shortstop hit a ground single between first and second. Cesar Cedeno fielded the ball in shallow right and made a strong throw home.

World class runner and winner of the 1983 New York City Marathon, RON DIXON, displays a micro-cam mounted on a hockey helmet which he will wear as he runs this year's marathon on Sunday. DIXON, who will not compete officially in the marathon, has been contracted by ABC Television for the network's live coverage of the event.

Smith wants revenge

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's Geoff Smith still has the picture of the dramatic finish of the 1983 New York City Marathon in his head and in his home.

It is not a pretty picture. It shows New Zealander Rod Dixon, the winner, exulting, his arms raised toward the sky, after having kissed the ground with both hands. Smith, the heart-breaking runner-up, is in the background, having collapsed onto the pavement after crossing the finish line.

Smith, a former firefighter in Liverpool, England, running in his first marathon, had led the 26-mile, 385-yard race from near the 16-mile point until the final 385 yards, when he failed to cut the corners and was overtaken by Dixon.

"I still have 1983 engraved in my mind," said the 32-year-old Smith, who will be returning to the New York City Marathon on Sunday.

Smith added, "And I'm sure that if I'm at 26 miles again and someone is coming on to me, I'll think of it again. It was a disappointment. In 1983, no one thought I could even run a marathon."

Despite his stirring second-place finish two years ago, nine seconds behind Dixon, in 2 hours, 9 minutes, 8 seconds — still the fastest first-time marathon ever — and victories in the 1984 and 1985 Boston Marathon, Smith is not considered the favorite for Sunday.

That distinction has been given to Ahmed Saleh of Djibouti, winner of the 1985 World Cup Marathon in 2:08:09, the fifth-fastest clocking in history.

"I never see me as the favorite," said Smith, who went into the last two Boston marathons as the No. 1 pick. "I just went into Boston to run a Geoff Smith race. I never get involved in hype.

"I'm in good shape," added the two-time Olympian. "I'm ready to run fast. I think I can win the race. If I run smart, I think I'm in 2:08 shape. If I stay in control, I can win. I feel I've done the work. My training has gone great.

"I have only one man to beat, and that's me. I'm not worried about anyone else."

By running smart, Smith will have to cut all the possible corners and not go out at a killing pace like he did at Boston last April, when cramps in both hamstrings in the closing stages nearly prevented him from finishing the race.

"I never miss any corners any more," he said with a laugh Thursday.

"I still see the 26-mile marker," Smith added. "And I'm sure that if I'm at 26 miles again and someone is coming on to me, I'll think of it again. It was a disappointment. In 1983, no one thought I could even run a marathon."

Smith does not think he made a mistake by going out swiftly at Boston, but did blunder by not drinking enough electrolytes along the route. He plans to correct that on Sunday.

Smith said he has no pre-race strategy. "I never decide until I get on the starting line what I'm going to do," he said. "I just might be ready to fly. The last two months (of preparations) have gone extremely well."

Part of the preparation is looking at that picture.

Spurs deal recalcitrant Gervin to Bulls

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — George Gervin, the San Antonio Spurs' all-time leading scorer and the mainstay of the franchise since 1974, says being traded to the Chicago Bulls isn't the end of the world for him.

"It ain't like I'm dying," he said Thursday after the Spurs announced the 6-foot-7 guard would be traded for forward David Greenwood.

"I got a new job, a new owner and new people to deal with," he said. "If you're a good person you can deal with that."

Gervin, who has the all-time leading scoring average of 27.3 for a National Basketball Association guard, has played in nine NBA All-Star games and made the All-NBA first team five times.

Also in the books is Gervin's record for the most points in a quarter, established in 1978 when he scored 33 against New Orleans. Despite Gervin's credentials, Spurs owner Angelo Drossos said it was time for a change.

"It was a difficult decision, but a decision we had to make sooner or later," he said. "We decided to make it now."

"We're not happy with making the deal. He's helped make the franchise what it is," Drossos said.

Drossos said he had offered to let Gervin retire, but he rejected that proposal.

"I'm not ready to retire," Gervin said. "That's out of the question."

Gervin said he held no animosity toward Drossos or any other team officials.

But his agent, Pat Healy of Tacoma, Wash., said Gervin was not happy with the trade.

"His choice was to continue to remain with the Spurs, retire in San Antonio and stay there for the rest of his life," Healy said.

Healy said the Bulls agreed to pick up the year remaining on Gervin's $750,000 annual contract, which also carries incentives up to $300,000.

Healy said Spurs General Manager Bob Bass told him Greenwood, the second pick by Chicago in the first round of the 1979 draft, would get a guaranteed $500,000 for two years.

Spurs officials refused to comment on terms of Greenwood's contract.

But Drossos said the 6-10 Greenwood, who has averaged 13.5 points per game, "is a good shooter and a good rebounder." Greenwood said he was not surprised at the trade.

"I knew I was expendable. I also knew I was the odd man out in the Bulls' plans. It was not surprising to me, but I know I'll get a good shot with San Antonio," he said.

Greenwood, who has played six NBA seasons — all with the Bulls, missed 11 games last season with tendinitis in both heels. He underwent surgery in the off-season.

In moving to Chicago, Gervin will be playing under his former Spurs coach Stan Albeck.

Jerry Krause, Bulls vice president of operations, said he was aware "Gervin has been classed as an inadequate defensive player."

"But his former coach, Stan Albeck, will have him back again and he assured me that Gervin will not give away too many points, he said.

Aggies QB was offered cars

DALLAS (AP) — Four colleges offered sports cars and other improper inducements to Texas A&M quarterback Kevin Murray before he signed a professional baseball contract in 1982, according to a story published today in the Dallas Times Herald.

The newspaper said Dan Duquette, an administrative assistant for development and scouting for the Milwaukee Brewers, wrote a one-page memorandum about a luncheon conversation with Murray before Murray signed to play with the Brewers in 1982.

Duquette said he wrote the memo after the lunch while the conversation was still fresh in his mind.

Blue Jays name manager

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Blue Jays today named Jimmy Williams as the fourth manager in the history of the American League baseball club.

Williams, 42, has been the Jays' third base coach since 1980. He succeeds Bobby Cox, who resigned Tuesday as the team's manager after four years in that position. Cox immediately signed a five-year contract as general manager of the Atlanta Braves of the National League.

New acquisitions may make Lakers better

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, pushing aside any complacency that might come after a World Championship year, figure two new faces could make them a better team this season.

The Lakers, who will be trying to be the first team in 16 years to successfully defend the National Basketball Association crown, have added veteran forward Maurice Lucas through a trade and the talented rookie A.C. Green through the college draft.

Those two, combined with the nucleus of last year's championship team, could make the Lakers even tougher this year.

"I think we have the capability to be a better team (than last year)," said Ervin "Magic" Johnson, who pointed to the addition of Lucas and Green as key factors.

Coach Pat Riley said the Lakers may appear improved, but he wants to see how all of his players mesh on the basketball floor before he'll call the overall product a better team.

"On paper it could be," said Riley, who has guided Los Angeles to two NBA titles in four years. "But that doesn't mean anything. Maurice Lukas and A.C. Green figure to play a lot. It will be how they blend in that counts. If they do, then I think we will be a better team (than last year)."

The lone sore spot for the Lakers the past few years has been the team's rebounding. That's where Lucas is expected to make a big impact, shouldering the load at power forward along with Kurt Rambis.

"We've never had a player like Maurice Lucas," Johnson said. "We've never had a true board man and inside player, a guy who can play both offense and defense. We've always had two guys and had to have one or the other in there."

The Lakers, who rolled to a 62-20 record last year, will once again be led by center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who returns for his 17th season. The NBA's only six-time Most Valuable Player showed few signs last year of slowing down, averaging 22.0 points per game.

Johnson, one of the NBA's top playmakers, will again be at the controls of the Laker offense. The 6-foot-9 guard, who was second in the league in assists last year, has led Los Angeles to three league titles in six seasons. Rounding out the Lakers' starting five will be forward James Worthy and guard Byron Scott.

Worthy emerged as a scoring force in his third NBA season last year, averaging a career-high 17.6 points. Scott took the role of the Lakers' long-range shooting threat in his second year, adding 16.0 points a game to their score.

The Lakers' bench appears deeper than ever. Defensive specialist Michael Cooper heads a talented cast that includes Lucas, Green, guard Mike McGee, forward Larry Spriggs, and centers Mitch Kupchak and Chuck Nevitt.

With their new blend of faces, the Lakers take a good frame of mind into the defense of their NBA championship.

"We're relaxed and loose. We're gearing up for long run," Rambis said.

Sub-Varsity Roundup

Lamesa 8, Runnels A 6

LAMESA — The Runnels Yearlings A team gridders dropped their first game of the season as they were nipped by Lamesa 8-6 here last night.

It was a very even game as Lamesa drew first blood in the opening quarter. Following a bad snap to the punter, Lamesa took over at the Runnels 42-yardline. They scored in 11 plays. The all-importantrity for two was good and Lamesa had a 8-0 lead with 1:56 remaining.

Runnels scored in the third quarter, going 33 yards in eight plays. Pete Lara scored from two yards out. The try for two failed. Runnels had a chance to win the game late in the final quarter, b a fumble at the Lamesa 3 killed the threat.

Chris Cole led Runnels with 84 yards in 16 carries. Good games were turned in by Junior Carrillo, Joe Downey, Mike Hilario, Peter Buske, Sam Carrilio and Lara.

Runnels is now 4-1 for the season.

Runnels B 12, Lamesa 0

LAMESA — The Runnels B team kept their season perfect at 4-0 by taking a 12-0 win over Lamesa.

The Yearlings turned in a stout defensive performance, allowing Lamesa only 63 yards total offense.

After a scoreless first half, the Yearlings got a break when Martin Yanez intercepted a pass and returned it 48 yards to the Lamesa 3. The score came when Junior Lopez tossed a 3-yard strike to Weldon Akin. The try for two failed.

The second Runnels TD came off a 5 play, 52 yard drive. Yanez scored on 30 yard run.

Cornerback Tim McQueary led the Runnels defense with two interceptions. Also turning in good performance were Lance Newell, Dusty Davis, Joe Her-andez, Lopez and Stan Solis.

Goliad C 14, Lamesa 8

The Goliad Mavericks C team got their second win of the season in five tries as they downed Lamesa 14-8 last night in middle school football action.

Gary Oliver scored the first touchdown for the Mavericks when he went in from 50 yards out. The final Goliad TD came on a five yard run by Lex Christie.

Shane Anderson and Roy Gomes turned in good games for the winners.

This was the C team's final game of the season.

Goliad A 36, Lamesa 6

Halfback Neal Mayfield had a field day passing, and the Goliad Mavericks A team trounced Lamesa 36-6 last night.

Mayfield passed for two touchdowns off halfback passes. Both of his passes went to wide receiver Armondo Enriquez. The first play covered 50 yards while the second score was a 90-yarder.

Mayfield also did some damage with his feet, scoring on a 60-yard run.

The other two Maverick scores came on a five yard quarterback keeper by Louis Soldan and a five yard run by Alan Baker.

Turning in good performances for the winners were: Santos Martinez, Mike West, Mike Williams, Joseph Yanez, Rigo Moran and Shawn Johnson.

The Mavericks are now 4-2 for the season.

Coahoma 16, Goliad B 6

Coahoma jumped out to a 16-0 halftime lead and held on to take a 16-6 victory over the Goliad Mavericks B team.

Coahoma scored on a 60 yard halfback pass from Darrin Ray to Mike Hernandez. Rusty Ginnetti score the two-point conversion. The other Coahoma score came on a five yard run by Hernandez. A pass from Eric Drewery to Keith Burnett was good for the two points.

Runnels scored in the fourth quarter on a one yard quarterback sneak by Shane Myrick.

Good games for Goliad were turned in by Lamont Jajolla, Freddie Rodriguez, Demis Morales and Richard Krieson.

The loss leaves Goliad B with a 4-2 mark.

Simmons gets probation

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Longhorn tailback Edwn Simmons has been placed on probation for four months for five speeding tickets issued by Department of Public Safety officers over a one-year period.

Justice of the Peace Ray Robertson of Wood County told the Austin American-Statesman if Simmons received another moving violation during the probationary period, he probably would lose his driver's license.

"At that point, my policy is that we do suspend," Robertson said. "On first offense, I usually probate. Everybody should have a second chance."

Simmons, a junior from Hawkins in Wood County, did not appear at the hearing Thursday but called Robertson on Tuesday, and the peace justice said he counted that as Simmons' appearance.

Finally. Some good news from the Third World.

What's the news? Through CCF, hundreds of thousands of needy Third World children now have food, clothing, medical care, a chance to go to school or whatever is needed most to improve their lives.

You can become a part of this heartwarming story by sponsoring a poor child yourself. It costs just $18 a month—only 60¢ a day. All you need to do is call this toll-free number. It will mean so much to one girl or boy. Being sponsored can really make a difference for one child. And that's the kind of news everyone likes to hear.
