Spring Soviet sailor's fate undecided

A MAN who identified himself only as a Soviet consul from Washington, D.C., steps off a dock at Belle Chase, 10 miles southeast of New Orleans. He and the two men behind him were taken to the Soviet ship Marshal Konyev on Saturday to speak with a Soviet crew member who jumped ship Friday but was returned by Border

BELLE CHASSE, La. (AP) -Customs agents guarded a Soviet freighter today as State Department officials negotiated for a third day the fate of a sailor who twice jumped ship but was returned to the vessel.

State Department officials, aboard the Marshal Koniev since Friday, were trying to determine what the sailor wanted to do.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said today administration officials are discussing the matter with Soviet officials in Washington and aboard the ship. 'We wish to interview him in appropriate surroundings to determine his true intentions," the spokesman said. Speakes' deputy, Edward Djerejian, said any request for political asylum would have to go through an established judicial process that could not begin until the man requests it.

I think we have a responsibility to assure that the wishes of the individual are understood," Robert McFarlane, White House national security adviser, said Sunday on CBS' "Face The Nation." "I would expect the Soviet Union to understand that is our authority and our interest and I expect it will be resolved. As the negotiations went on, U.S.

Customs agents and Coast Guard boats kept watch on the freighter in the Mississippi River.
Mike Flad, a U.S. agent for the Soviet vessel, said he saw the sailor

Friday afternoon, about 16 hours after he jumped. The man appeared to be in his 20s, said Flad, an agent for Universal Shipping Agencies Inc.

The sailor dove from the ship into the river near Belle Chasse, a small port town downriver from New Orleans in Plaquemines Parish, on Thursday and Friday. Flad said he swam 80-100 yards across river to shore.

Thomas Richard, who works for Universal Shipping, said he received a call Thursday night from the Border Patrol saying that a sailor had jumped ship and come ashore.

Richard said he was ordered to put the sailor back on the ship. The seaman jumped from the boat that was ferrying him back to the Soviet freighter, but was recaptured. He was returned again after he jumped a second time Friday, but Immigration and Naturalization Service officials in New Orleans contacted Washington, said David H. Lambert, district director of the INS. Lambert said Border Patrol agents could not communicate with the man and thought he was a Raymond Guthrie, a boat operator for Port Ship Services, said Saturday he had ferried the sailor back to the Marshal Koniev.

Walker admits selling secrets

BALTIMORE (AP) - Retired Navy communications specialist John A. Walker Jr. admitted today that he spied for the Soviet Union for 17 years and agreed to testify against a former Navy buddy in exchange for a lenient sentence for Walker, 48, pleaded guilty to three counts, including a new espionage charge of conspiracy, admitting for the first time that he passed Navy secrets to the Soviet Union from 1968 through 1985.

His son, Michael, pleaded guilty to all five counts that had been brought against him last May.

The new charge against the elder Walker was contained in an indictment which had been handed up Friday but was sealed until today.

Prosecutors and government sources previously had indicated that Walker, the alleged mastermind of a family spy ring, had been paid by the Soviet Union for as long as 18 years, but the initial fivecount federal indictment against Walker had covered only evidence for 1985. The new incident goes back to 1968.

Walker also pleaded guilty to two charges contained in the original indictment handed up last May attempting to deliver national defense documents to the Soviets and attempting to receive military secrets from his son, a 22-year-old Navy seaman.

He pleaded innocent to three related charges from the May indictment.

As part of the plea bargain agreement, the father agreed to testify in any trial related to the The government, in turn, recommended that John Walker receive a life term for the new conspiracy charge and a concurrent life term for attempting to deliver secrets to the Soviets. The government also recommended a 10-year term for the third guilty plea. The government agreed that the elder Walker would not be subjected to further prosecution from the Navy and said he would not face any further espionage or tax violation charges.

Prosecutors recommended that Michael Walker, who also agreed to testify, be sentenced to only 25 years in prison on all five counts, terms plus 30 years.

Juvenile housing unresolved

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners took no action this morning concerning a federal mandate that requires removal of juveniles from adult jails and lockups after Dec. 8.

The county currently puts juvenile detainees on the fourth floor of the county courthouse in the former district court jury quarters.

County Judge Milton Kirby gave each commissioner a 15-page memorandum he received from the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission that talks about compliance with the Federal Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act.

"By Dec. 8, we have to make some kind of provisions to comply with the act," Commissioner Paul Allen said.

Allen said the county has facilities to detain juveniles and that commissioners would review the current detention sites "to see how well it fits our needs.

The commissioners court, Allen said, needs to talk with Big Spring architects John Gary and Donald Juveniles page 2-A

Recession causes migration slowdown

Fueled by migration from a tracted 383,000 people from other states between 1981 and 1982. But census figures show that number plummeted to about 32,000 between 983 and 1984.

The slowdown in migration into Texas is a turnaround from the early 1980s, when census officials estimated that six out of every 10 new residents moved here from outside the state.

The phenomenon's cause is twofold, officials say.

The energy recession has damaged the economy of Houston, the state's largest city and the nation's fourth largest.

DALLAS (AP) - Texas' once- had a devastating ripple effect on mighty population explosion is the Texas economy. Lower prices fading out along with its famed oil mean less drilling, which means fewer jobs, which in turn means less money to be spent on faltering Frost Belt, Texas at- everything from drilling equipment to home appliances to movie tickets, economists say.

A second factor is that the Frost Belt recession - which spurred many residents of the Midwest and Northeast to move to Texas - is turning around, economists say.

"The economy in Houston took a downturn when the oil industry did the same. At the same time, the auto industry and the chain of industries related to it turned around and people went back to their roots and to higher-paying jobs," said Susan Szaniszlo, coordinator of the Texas Data Center for the state's Commission on Inter-

The 1980 census counted Texas' population at 14.2 million. In 1981-82, Texas' population grew 4 percent, a rate four times the national average, according to Census Bureau figures.

But last year, the state's population grew by only 1.3 percent, to 15,9 million. At the same time, the national average growth rate was 1

Ms. Szaniszlo told the Dallas Morning News that although Houston's population grew by 6.2 percent in 1981-82, it grew by less than half of that -2.5 percent - in

"You can see it's slowing down, and since Houston consists of such a large percentage of the state's population, when Houston changes, you see a change in the overall rate of the state," Ms. Szaniszlo said. The rest of the state is not changing that rapidly."

Texas' fast-paced growth earlier this decade had caused forecasters to believe it soon would overtake New York as the country's secondmost populous state behind California.

But there is more at stake than just pride in being second-biggest, said Thomas Plaut of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas in Austin. The state may face serious economic consequences, Plaut said. Some of the effects are already being felt. The energy recession has meant oil and gas tax revenues a major part of the state's budget - have not kept their expected pace. Adverse effects are more longterm, too, Plaut said. They include education, care for the elderly and a possible shortage of skilled

"When Texas was booming, it was able to gain the highesttrained workers and skilled workers," he said. "Now many of those may have moved back to the Midwest. That loss in the labor force is greater than the sheer numbers would indicate."

But there is a good side to the slowing growth, some believe.

For one thing, it will give the state's large cities an opportunity to improve what planners call the "infrastructure" — the roads, water, sewer, police and fire pro-tection and other services that keep a city functioning.

"It's a chance to breathe," Plaut said. "That is what's happening in Houston, and that's also what will happen in Austin and Dallas as the growth in those two areas slows."

Aggie telecommunications neophyte

AUSTIN (AP) — Clayton Williams may be the ultimate Aggie, and the best Aggie jokes are the ones Texas A&M alumni tell on Williams, whose personal wealth as been estimated at $150 million by Forbes magazine, is such an Aggie that he has given substantial royalties to Texas A&M University.

He flies Aggie flags from his oil rigs, and his home at Midland has a swimming pool in the shape of a senior boot.

Williams had invested millions to boost his string of telecommunications towers between Midland and Dallas before he heard the bad news: By regulation, the towers must be orange and white, the school colors of archrival University of Texas.

But Claytie, as the 53-year-old Williams calls himself, is never one to let school pride stand in the way of good business.

Recently, he threw a party for 1,000 people at the Hyatt Regency in Austin, many of them Teasip-pers, to tout the virtues of his upstart long-distance company, ClayDesta Communications.

Williams will have spent $30 million on his digital long-distance network by the time it reaches Austin late this year. Plans call for completing the network to major points in Texas and parts of Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico in two years at a cost of about $100 million. Williams candidly admits he is a neophyte in the fast-paced game of telecommunications

Even with something like 150 long-distance companies doing business in Texas, Williams is convinced the break-up of AT&T offers entrepreneurs such as himself a rare opportunity to grab a profitable slice of a growing business.

By the time his marketing blitz is over, Williams may be as much a television personality as Lee Iacocca or Bob Uecker.

The commercials have a country ense of humor to them that is all

"I've got a sparkle in my eye and it's kind of fun," he says of his TV image. "We came up with what we wanted to say, and then we put them in Claytie's words — we Claytie-ize them. A little bit of the flavor comes through."

In selling Austin on his service, Williams uses a sales force to court business customers and a telemarketing effort aimed at residential customers.

And he will also use his business connections and friendships. One party for friends in Austin included Tracor Chairman Frank McBee, Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent — and plenty of Aggies.

"I have a lot of friends in Austin," Williams says. "I've been on my knees in front of the Railroad Commission quite a few times over the last few years. I'm kind of asking my friends to help me and contact their friends."

Williams is a natural salesman and he says selling high-quality phone service is easy compared with selling life insurance, which he used to do.

Asked about Reagan's attitude toward the way American authorities have handled the case so far, Speakes said the president has received "a rather detailed report to indicate there was difficulty in determining his intentions because of the interpretation problems there. Speakes refused to say whether Reagan had ordered the ship held in U.S. waters pending resolution of the dispute over the sailor's fate. He said the vessel is in the jurisdiction of the Port of New Orleans but refused to comment when asked if the ship would be permitted to depart without Reagan's approval.

Chrysler rolls again

DETROIT - The assembly lines were rolling again today at Chrysler Corp., where 70,000 workers began returning to their jobs after ratifying what a United Auto Workers official said was "the best contract we've negotiated in 25 or 30 years.'

The three-year pact, which brings Chrysler workers wage and benefit parity with General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. hourly employees, was approved by about 87 percent of those who voted, UAW Vice President Marc Stepp said Sunday.

NEW IBERIA, La. - Hurricane Juan battered the ed less threat than the heavy seas and rising tides. coast with 85 mph winds today, forcing thousands of people from their homes, stranding hundreds more and throwing offshore oil rig workers into 10-foot Gulf of Mexico seas where helicopter-borne rescuers struggled to save them.

Four people were missing, including two who disappeared when a boat rescuing rig workers overturned, and one death was blamed on the storm.

Eighty workers were forced to go overboard in escape capsules, special 30-foot fiberglass shell lifeboats, when a rig collapsed onto another, and a boat with nine people aboard sent out urgent pleas for assistance as it listed at 55 degrees.

"We have located two of the life capsules. There are people in the life capsules, there are people hanging onto the sides of the life capsules, there are people floating in the water," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Thomas Peck in New Orleans.

Helicopters were hoisting the people out of water, while small Coast Guard crew boats attempting to aid in the rescue were tossed by 10-foot waves, he said.

As the hurricane churned off the Louisiana's central coast about 110 miles southwest of New Orleans, about 5,000 people were told to evacuate low-lying areas, but a washed out road kept 1,500 residents of Grand Isle, on the Gulf, from moving inland, officials said. At 8 a.m. CST, the National Weather Service said the center of Juan was lingering near latitude 29.7 north and longitude 92.4 west, or about 50 miles south of Lafayette. "Steering currents appear to be weakening," the weather service said. "Motion for the next few hours could be slow and erratic, keeping the center near or over the central Louisiana coast. This will prolong the high tides and winds along the coast." Officials said Juan's maximum winds of 85 mph pos-

Using two of the "unsinkable" capsules, 80 oil rig workers went over the side when a rig was ripped from its moorings and smashed into another 35 miles south of Leesville, said Coast Guard spokesman Keith Spangler reported about three dozen distress calls at the Gulf Coast rescue center in New Orleans, most coming from the offshore oilfields where workers were caught unprepared when the storm blew in.

Coast Guard helicopters plucked 29 people from boats, he said.

One man was washed overboard when a supply boat lost power and ran aground near the mouth of the Mississippi River and two others were missing after a 165-foot oilfield boat capsized as it was evacuating workers, Spangler said.

A wind surfer was also reported missing on Lake Pontchartrain, he said.

Blood screening reveals AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) - In screening 62,000 military personnel for signs of AIDS exposure in the blood, the Pentagon found 44 people who had been exposed to the virus, a confidential internal report

The 44 cases amounted to less than one-tenth of one percent of the individuals screened in a recent three-month period.

The results also show how unreliable the blood test used to screen for AIDS exposure can be. The 44 cases were discovered among 500 individuals who initially tested positive, the report said. The remaining 456 individuals were given a clean bill of health, but only after additional, expensive medical exams.

Pentagon officials say the Defense Department will proceed with its plan to eventually test the blood of all active-duty military personnel and reserves.

Failure to establish such monitoring as quickly as possible could allow the disease to spread undetected, eventually jeopardiz-ing combat readiness and wartime medical care, they say.

AIDS, short for acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is a fatal disease that attacks the body's immune system. In more than 14,000 reported cases, the disease has been confined primarily to homosexuals, intravenous drug users and individuals who received tainted blood transfusions, although there is now some evidence the disease is spreading to the general population.

Dan White death is in character

The final chapter in the tragic life of Dan White has been written, seven years after he shot and killed San Francisco's Mayor George Moscone and Harvey Milk, the city's first openly homosexual supervisor.

White recently took his own life by carbon monoxide poisoning, and many in San Francisco's gay community considered the suicide final justice. But, by all accounts, it was an act of mental illness, deep depression and despair.

A former police officer, White was elected a San Francisco supervisor, then resigned because the pay was not sufficient. When his parents offered to supplement his income, White asked for his job back.

After Mayor Moscone refused to rescind the resignation, White entered the City Hall through a basement window, killed the mayor and then walked down the hall to Milk's office and killed him.

In the trial, White's defense centered on a claim of diminished capacity, that the defendant's depression was heightened by eating junk food. It became known as the "Twinkie defense.

The Twinkie tactic was successful in warding off a firstdegree murder conviction. White was sent to prison for voluntary manslaughter and was freed after serving five years. The state Legislature, viewing the injustice in the White verdict, amended the California penal code to limit the right of defense attorneys to introduce evidence about their clients' mental state at the time of their crimes.

Thus the "Twinkie defense" was discredited, and rightfully so. Psychiatry is not an exact science, and in this particular case, the assertions about mental state seemed ludicrous. But now that Dan White has taken his own life, there is indication that mental problems were there from the start. Destiny has a way of unfolding, no matter how tragic.

Death penalty is a human disgrace

Oct. 16, the state of Indiana, armed with the majesty of the law and 2,300 volts of electricity, killed William Vandiver. Or, more precisely, began to kill him. Failing in the first attempt, the executioners had to electrocute him three more times before finally producing the desired result an interminable 17 minutes after they U.S. Constitution, not a favorite of started. "It did not go according to plan," admitted the attending physician.

Vandiver was not a good candidate for sympathy. The 37-yearold drifter was convicted of killing his father-in-law, Paul Komyatti, by stabbing him 34 times with a fish fileting knife, before cutting his body into pieces with a hacksaw. The murder culminated a plot conceived and carried out with the help of Komyatti's wife, son and daughter, who hated him and wanted his inheritance.

A heinous crime, by any standard. But the savagery of one person doesn't excuse a reciprocal savagery by a mass of people acting through the machinery of the state. Nonetheless, the death penalty flourishes in modern America.

After nearly 10 years of impasse created by judicial decisions, the parade of what Albert Camus call-"administrative assassinations" resumed in 1977 with a Utah firing squad's volley into the chest of Gary Gilmore, Since then, 49 people have been executed. Another 1,590 await their turns on Death Row, with 250 or so added each year. Just to eliminate the existing backlog would require killing one person every day for more than four years.

The spectacle upholds the criticism that the death penalty is inherently capricious. Some 20,000 murders are committed every year sentence and fewer still producing an execution.

Of the unlucky participants in this judicial lottery, 40 percent are black, but only one in 94 is female. More important than the race of the murderer, according to figures

Three minutes after midnight on compiled by the Death Penalty Project of the American Civil Liberties Union, is the race of the victim. Of the 49 killers executed in the last eight years, 45 killed whites. Only four, all blacks, killed blacks. The rarest breed on Death Row is a white who murdered a black.

The Eighth Amendment to the the "strict constructionists" in Ronald Reagan's administration, prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments." The death penalty is rendered unusual by its arbitrary incidence.

Komyatti's son had joined Vandiver in the attack that led to his murder, but he got a 100-year prison sentence. Charlie Brooks was executed by the state of Texas for his role in the fatal shooting of an auto mechanic, while his partner got 40 years, making him eligible for parole in seven years even though the authorities didn't know which man actually pulled the trigger.

Is the death penalty cruel as well? Of course. In fact, its entire appeal to the popular mind lies in its cruelty. Unlike the typical murder, which is horrible enough, an execution is inflicted with premeditation upon an individual who has been forced to live for years under an official promise that at a scheduled moment, he will meet a gruesome death. As Camus noted, "It is not in private life that one meets such monsters."

Nor is capital punishment necessary. Society doesn't need to execute the likes of William Vandiver to protect itself. It can simply imprison them for the rest of their

It is that same lust that once excused systematic torture, that once rationalized execution by the most excruciating and protracted means in this country, with barely one in a imaginable. But electrocuting a thousand leading to a death man is every bit as barbarous as those medieval atrocities. A socie ty which presumes itself civilized should feel disgraced by the nasty business of execution.

Back-scratching in Florida

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - Within weeks after the chairman of the House Banking Committee got a large mortgage loan from a Florida thrift institution and his re-election campaign received a contribution from its political action committee, the committee's staff director made several calls to federal regulators on behalf of the savings and loan

The chairman is Rep. Fernand St. Germain, D-R.I. The thrift institution is Florida Federal Savings & Loan of St. Petersburg, the largest in the state. Here's the chronology:

• Jan. 17, 1983: Florida Federal gave St. Germain

a $164,136 adjustable-rate mortgage starting at 12.5 percent toward the purchase of a condominium at Sandpiper Bay in Englewood, Fla.

 Feb. 1: Florida Federal applied to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board for permission to convert from a mutual institution to a stock corporation.

 Feb. 11: Florida Federal's political action comnittee SALPAC bought a $500 ticket to a St. Germain fund-raiser held at the National Democratic Club in Washington, D.C.

 Between Feb. 1 and April 29, when the bank board approved Florida Federal's conversion, St. Germain's staff director, Paul Nelson, made several 'status calls" to the board inquiring about the St Germain told our associate Tony Capaccio: "I am aware of the calls, but very frankly I do not recall the specific details of how they were initiated." He added: "It is inconceivable that they could be regarded as having impact on the agency's

H.E. Rummel, communications director of Florida Federal, agreed with the congressman. "Our conversation was not unusual at all," he said. 'As a matter of fact, there's not a whole lot someone like St Germain can do for a St. Petersburg savings and loan.

These disavowals raise the question of why Nelson made the telephone inquiries, if not to show the bank board that the chairman of the Banking Committee was interested in Florida Federal's application. St Germain's committee overseas the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Once the thrift institution converted to a stock company with the bank board's approval on May 26, 1983, St Germain bought 1,500 shares of stock for $30,000, "pursuant to a form letter mailed to all depositors," he told us. This was a tiny fraction of the 9.5 million shares, but it was larger than at least nine Florida Federal officials. St Germain sold the shares at a loss last May

On Jan. 18, 1984, Florida Federal's political action committee bought another $500 ticket to a St Germain fund-raiser in Washington. Five weeks later, St Germain's re-election committee - for which the congressman acts as treasurer — opened a $100,000 money market account with Florida Federal. To date it has earned $9,824.39 in interest

When the Wall Street Journal broke the story of St Germain's long-time business relationship with Raleigh W. Greene, chief executive officer of Florida Federal, the congressman complained that the article depicted it "in the worst possible light." There is no indication that St Germain did legislative favors for Florida Federal individually. And there is no suggestion that he received preferential interest rates on his various loans from the

But there is no doubt that all savings and loan institutions benefited — including Florida Federal from legislation St Germain co-authored with Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, in 1982 that restructured the en-

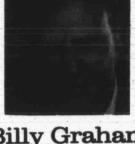

St Germain told us: "I have known Raleigh Greene so many years as a friend and I know in my heart that there was not the slightest suggestion of a conflict of interest in this friendship.'

Footnote: At the time we went to press, the House Ethics Committee, contrary to published reports, had not notified St Germain that he was under

UNDER THE DOME: Senate Judiciary Committee members are being unusually tight-lipped about why the nomination hearing scheduled today for Stanley Sporkin's appointment as a federal judge will be closed to public and press. Sporkin, former CIA general counsel, isn't talking either. "That's what the committee wants," he said, adding that after the nomination has spent a year in limbo, "I'm. grateful to be given the opportunity to be heard."

WATCH ON THE PENTAGON: A recent Army Audit Agency report we've seen shows that military waste isn't confined to big defense contractors. At Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., guidelines were ignored in the purchase of goods and services, and the taxpayers got stuck for about $400,000 in unnecessary "Improprieties in the procurement division" were reported by the auditors, who noted that 'repair parts for vehicles were not acquired from the most economical supply source." The post's procurement office spends more than $51 million a year on various supplies.

Retarded child tests parents

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our 2-month-old daughter has been diagnosed as having a very serious heart problem. We had always hoped we would have a healthy baby and I find it hard not to be angry at God for letting this happen to us. Why did He let this happen? - Mrs. W.G. DEAR MRS. W.G.: Recently I was talking to an acquaintance who has a severely retarded daughter who is now 6. He told me of the frustration and hurt — and even anger toward God — he and his wife felt when they first heard the news. Now, however, he said, they realize that their lives have been blessed in ways they never could have imagined when the child was born.

'Yes," he told me, "it involves a lot of work and special care. But now we realize in a new way the meaning of true love. This child is so responsive to love, and God has taught us lessons about how to love others that we never would have learned otherwise."

I don't tell that story because it will answer all your questions; frankly, sometimes there are things that happen to us that we cannot always understand or explain. But rather, I tell it to show that God can take any situation no matter how difficult or disappointing it seems on the surface and use it for His purposes in our

Furthermore, God loves you and wants to help you in this new situation. God does not bring us children just to satisfy our emotional needs. Instead, God has given this child to you to love and care for. The key is for you and your husband to get on your knees and invite Jesus Christ to come into your hearts by faith. Then ask Him to help you be the kind of parents this child needs.

Wolter, 25, is a native of Iowa. She was introduced to deaf culture when she enrolled in sign language courses at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Wolter has studied alternative theater and felt theater would be a good educational tool for deaf students. Theater for the deaf dates back more than 100 years, and Wolter began studying theater programs and their impact on the culture of the deaf.

To garner more experience in the field, Wolter took a job as a drama counselor at Camp Endeavor, a camp for hearingimpaired children in Florida She graduated from Northwestern University in 1982 with a degree in drama and shorlly thereafter began working as an intern in the theater department at the National Technical Institute for the Deaf in Rochester, N.Y.

She later contacted the Model Secondary School for the Deaf in Washington, D.C., inquired about an internship there, and began working as an intern in drama there. Later, she worked as an intern in drama activities at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., a liberal arts college for the deaf and hearingimpaired.

Her desire to learn more about deaf theater also took her to England, where she worked in educational theater combining the skills of deaf and hearing children. Wolter did some student teaching at a program for deaf students at the Danforth Technical Institute for the Deaf in Toronto, Canada

She recently completed work on her master's degree in deaf education from the National Technical Institute for the Deaf. She accepted the job with SWCID late this summer.

Wolter is preparing a production with her Creative Theatre Ensemble group at SWCID. The group will present the production in November. Seventeen SWCID students are enrolled in the program.

The program "explores prejudice, why prejudice happens and how we can solve it. Of course, nothing we do is going to stop it, but the project is helping spark an awarness in the students," she said.

The production is "partly student-created stories and my devised script from famous historical speeches." Wolter said she drew heavily from the "human rights activities of the '60s" and from snatches of history dating back to the 1600s.

"We have a real variety," she said with a smile. "I hope to have some student-created poems, art work and slides as part of this production."

She has also been working with Minnie Mae Wilding, coordinator of the Learning Assistance Center at SWCID, on translating English into American Sign Language. Student created stories have been transformed into an English script this way, Wolter said.

Wolter said a date for the production will be announced shortly. The production will be open to the public. In addition to her work in drama at SWCID, Wolter is teaching career orientation, survival skills, public speaking (signing) and theatre activities.

Since moving to Big Spring, she has spoken to the Lion's Club and the Rotary Club and is working on a traveling ensemble group which will recruit new students as well as entertain audiences and help promote deaf

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old man with a problem. How can I find a woman that both my mother and I can agree will be the right wife for me?

I want to get married and settle down, but I just can't seem to find anyone my mother thinks is good enough for me.

Can you help?
WANTS TO MARRY DEAR WANTS: No, but you can help yourself by seeing a counselor to find out why your mother's approval is more important than your own in choosing a wife.

DEAR ABBY: I operate a motel in a college town. I have discussed this problem with other motel operators, and we seem to have the same problem: unregistered guests. We rent a room to one person, and it ends up with more than one occupant.

Our greatest fear? Fire!

The thought that we wouldn't know to search the rooms for other bodies in case there had been a fire is terrifying. Right now I have a room rented to a college female on a monthly basis. She's had four different overnight male visitors that I'm aware of, but I have no idea what their names are or whom to contact in case of emergency.

It's not only college students; few hours occasionally. It's children, they don't have to be people will understand how serious this matter is

The fact that you mentioned your friend's form as "Type 2" is helpful in permitting me to be a bit specific. Some forms of Ehlers-

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 29, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There will be much deception in relationship with others today and tonight, so examine the motives of those with whom you have contact as well as your own motivations.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you understand what others expect of you in business dealings and be sure of yourself when signing any papers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You must use care in the handling of practical and material affairs that are important today or you could lose a bundle.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan carefully what should be done about some pressing obligations or they could prove even more expensive in the long run. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't rely on friends to help you to gain some personal aims to-day, but go after them yourself, and get good results. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) A day to be very careful in the business world and do nothing that could spoil your chances in life or your reputation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't follow the advice of a newcomer who wants you to make some radical changes or you can later regret it. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have doubts about some responsibility so study it well and be sure it is correct before you handle it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to get your points across to a stubborn partner, but it is worth the effort. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not make an issue of the fact that you feel you are not getting enough money for the work you do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't toss away work you have done to pursue something new, or you may lose benefits already accrued.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't take a family tie to task and consider your own limitations. Not a good day or evening to invite guests into your home. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day when you find it difficult to say the right words in communicating with others, so rest up for a while.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have to make a real effort to communicate well with others since the mind is full of own ideas and prejudices and will also need spiritual teachings to counterbalance the extremely practical traits here. Let the diet be right

Sports Royals smash Cardinals, 11-0, for World Series title

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The Kansas City Royals, rallying behind the five-hit pitching of Bret Saberhagen, completed one of baseball's most shocking comebacks Sunday night and won their first World Series championship, defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 11-0 in the decisive seventh game.

The Cardinals, who had seen their 3-1 lead in games vanish along with their hitting and who had been within two outs of the Series championship Saturday night, simply collapsed in the final What had been billed as the greatest seventh-game pitching matchup in more than two decades went up in smoke created by the Royals bats. The Cardinals' ace, 21-game winner John Tudor, couldn't even make it through the third inning and wound up at a Kansas City hospital for stitches after cutting his index finger on an electric fan in the clubhouse.

"I'm not surprised we did it," said Royals Manager Dick Howser. "I'm surprised how we did it - a blowout ball game.

"We should have put it away last night and we didn't," said Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzon dressed in street clothes after being ejected along with pitcher Joaquin Andujar in the fifth inning.

Saberhagen, the Royals' own 20-game winner whose six-hitter in Game 3 had given the Royals hope. was voted Most Valuable Player of the Series after striking out two and walking none in his second straight complete game.

The destruction occurred at the hands of platoon outfielder Darryl Motley, who hit a two-run homer and drove in three runs; Steve Balboni, who drove in two of Kansas City's three runs in the third inning, and the suddenly rejuvenated George Brett, who had four hits.

The Royals put the game away with six runs in the fifth inning, during which both Andujar and Herzog were ejected by home plate umpire Don Denkinger. Herzog had argued a critical Denkinger call at first base that fueled the

Royals' winning, ninth-inning rally in Game 6, and consecutive ball calls on inside pitches to Royals catcher Jim Sundberg brought all the frustration to the surface. For the Royals, it was the comeback of comebacks. Not only had they recovered from a 1-3 deficit in the American League playoffs, but they became the first team to come back from losing the first two games of the Series at home.

For the Cardinals, it was a fade into offensive oblivion.

After leading the National League with a .264 team average during the season, the Cardinals hit just .185 in the World Series — the lowest ever for a seven-game - and scored a total of 13

"They've got a good staff," Her-zog said, "but they're not that good. If they were, they would have on 130 games.

Part of the Cardinals' offensive woes probably could be traced to the absence of injured leadoff hitter Vince Coleman, but the lack of St. Louis hitting also had to be a tribute to the young, well-schooled pitching staff of the Royals

The Royals pitchers not only quieted the St. Louis bats but frustrated and eventually halted altogether the vaunted running game of the Cardinals. The Cards had stolen 314 bases during the season, for an average of nearly two a game, but managed just two swipes in the Series against the predominantly left-handed Royals

This night, however, belonged to a 21-year-old right-hander by the name of Saberhagen, whose wife, Janeane, had given birth to their first child, son Drew, the day

Saberhagen allowed a secondinning single to Jack Clark, then retired 11 in a row before giving up another single to Tito Landrum with two out in the fifth inning. He also allowed singles to Ozzie Smith, Andy Van Slyke and Terry Pendleton.

The Royals' hitters, meanwhile, asked for no quarter, and gave none. After dispensing with Tudor, they slugged their way through another six St. Louis pitchers, winding up with 14 hits and the greatest margin of victory ever in the seventh game of a World Series. The Cardinals used five pitchers in the fifth inning, tying a World Series record set by Baltimore in 1979.

In their big inning, the Royals sent 11 men to the plate against Bill Campbell, Jeff Lahti, Rickey Horton, Andujar and, finally, Bob Forsch, in the process building their biggest winning margin of the season. They had won two earlier games 10-1.

Without the services of a designated hitter, the Royals had routed the Cardinals, who were in their 14th World Series. The Royals, born of 1969 expansion, had been in the Series only once before, losing in six games to Philadelphia

No team ever had come back after falling behind 0-2 at home in a Series, and only four had rallied from a 1-3 deficit.

The big inning began when Jim Sundberg singled, chasing Campbell in favor of Lahti. Balboni singled, sending Sundberg to second, and Motley drove in the first run of the inning with a single. Buddy Biancalana struck out, and Saberhagen hit into a fielder's choice, Balboni going to third. Lonnie Smith followed with a two-run double, going to third on the throw home, and Willie Wilson hit an infield single that scored Horton relieved. He gave up a single to Brett, whose Series average had slipped below .300 with just one RBI, as Wilson moved to third.

Horton was out, Andujar was in, and that's when the real trouble started.

Frank White singled, scoring Wilson and sending Brett to third, and when the count went 3-2 on Smith. That was all for Lahti, and Sundberg, hitting for the second time in the inning, Andujar motioned angrily to home plate. Andujar and Denkinger met about halfway between the mound and the plate, and Herzog stormed out. Herzog already had accused Denkinger, an AL ump since 1969, of being prejudiced toward the Royals after his ninth-inning call at first base in Game 6. This time, Herzog was thrown out for arguing balls and

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Give Tom Landry a 6-2 record in the second half of the National Football League season and he'd take a

"I'd go fishing or play golf if you'd give me 6-2 again," said Landry after the Dallas Cowboys thumped the Atlanta Falcons 24-10 on Sunday and kept their National Conference Eastern Division lead. "I'm very happy to be at 6-2 at this point," said Landry. "I never thought it would be. Up jumps the hard part for the Cowboys, who play at St. Louis on Monday night Nov. 4 then travel to Washington the next week. "Now comes our tough stretch," said Landry. "We have a tiring combination of games coming up.' A sore-ribbed Danny White was far from perfect in his return to the Dallas lineup. But he offset three interceptions by running for a touchdown, passing for another and hitting 27 of 47 passes for 362 yards against the 1-7 Falcons.

Tony Hill caught a 35 yard touchdown pass and had 10 receptions for 161 yards. Tony Dorsett gained 90 yards, 60 of them on a touchdown burst up the middle.

"Danny did have three turnovers but that's not surprising when you interception in the fourth period. consider the harassment he was under," said Landry. "Still, he made the big plays for us. His experience enabled him to make those big plays."

White, who had beaten the Falcons in two previous outings against them, said "It wasn't pretty but it was a win. I did some good things and some bad things. It was good to get back. My ribs still

'We knew we were going to have a tough time," said Landry. "We had to make the big plays to beat

"Danny had to run for his life back there. We don't like to see him run because of those blitzes but sometimes you have to. He did what he had to do. He is hurting and this game probably didn't help him any.

The busy White called an audible and bootlegged a yard for a touchdown, and had to tackle Scott Case to save a touchdown after an

"Danny threw a couple he wish he hadn't thrown," said Landry. "I feel good about this team. We'll go to the playoffs for sure if we keep playing like this."

White, who wears a flak jacket, said he never intended to run three times against Atlanta with his bad

"Believe me, it's a last-ditch effort," said White. "I'm just trying to do the job the best I can. We had a lot of pressure and I won a few and lost a few.'

Atlanta quarterback Dave Archer hit only 9 of 23 passes against the Cowboys, suffered five sacks and three interceptions. He flipped a three-yard scoring pass to tight end Allama Matthews.

Quinn's Quarter

"I was really pleased with the kids effort. They have been playing hard every game, but the breaks finally went our way this week and we took advantage of them. That was the key."

'OHS concentrated on taking our passing and option game away When they did, we just started running dives right at them and were successful. Our offense is good enough, that a team can shut down one facet of our game plan and we can still be successful.'

"(Charles) White and (Phillip) Matthews ran extremely hard and the offensive line had their best game of the year. They were really moving people off the ball."

DEFENSE

"I thought our defensive front seven had an excellent game against the run. Another key was our corner play. They came up and forced the run better than in any previous game. "Odessa has one of the fastest back fields in the district, but we didn't let them turn the corner on a breakaway the entire game. Their quarterback made a few bad decisions on the option which resulted in a couple of turnovers that we capitalized on. Pius, our secondary played the pass so well (two interceptions) that we were able to concentrate on the run." "It was the best total defensive game of the year. The kids played four full quarters without a letdown. They excelled in every facet of the defensive game.

TURNING POINT

"The first turning point came in the second quarter on the Matthews punt return. That really caught them by suprise and it gave us a quick 17-0 lead. They turned the ball over on the next possession and we took it in again for a touchdown to lead 23-0 at half.

'After we gave up those two quick touchdowns in the third quarter, I was worried, but we rose to the occasion and turned the situation around.

"The second big turning point was the fumble recovery early in the fourth quarter. Again, we capitalized on it and scored from their forty-yard line to regain control of momentum. You have to capitalize and score on turnovers to win games, and we did.'

NEXT GAME "Abilene High has the premier defense in the district. We're no going to do anything different, just try and see what they'll give us and take advantage of it. Nobody has shut us down yet, but Abilene will certainly be a challenge.'

Champions defend marathon titles

NEW YORK (AP) — For the 16th humidity was not as high New York City Marathon, the winners were familiar - Orlando Pizzolato of Italy and Grete Waitz of Norway

For the winners, the pattern of victory was very unfamiliar.

Pizzolato won the race for the second straight time Sunday, coming from far off the pace and overtaking favored Ahmed Saleh of Djibouti with a powerful performance in the second half of the 26-mile, 385-yard race. It was in sharp contrast to last year, when Fizzulato, winless in 12 previous marathons, was plagued by stomach and leg cramps over the final five miles and struggled

His time of 2 hours, 11 minutes, 34 seconds, was more than three minutes faster than his winning effort of 2:14:53 in 1984.

Waitz was the first women's finisher for the fourth consecutive time and the seventh time in eight years, but she also did not experience the intestinal difficulties that had slowed her in 1984. The intestinal problems appeared only briefly this time, near the 10-mile mark, and she won handily in 2:28:33, compared with 2:29:30 a bother Saleh and Britain's Geoff Smith, the 1983 New York City runner-up and 1984 and 1985 Boston Marathon winner. They went out at a pace that was faster than the world best of 2:07:12, set in April by Olympic champion Carlos Lopes of Portugal. But they couldn't maintain it.

Meanwhile, the sturdy Pizzolato, who was in 20th place at the 14-mile mark, was maintaining a steady pace and moving up rapidly toward My plan was to deliberately the spindly legged Saleh, finally caught the 29-year-old Army captain from the little East African country with about two miles remaining. The two exchanged the lead several times for about a half-mile, before Pizzolato assumed command and ran away from the struggling Saleh, who had suffered severe leg cramps at the 19-mile mark. Pizzolato won by 55 seconds, with Saleh second in 2:12:29.

"I dreamed of winning this race," Saleh said through an interpreter. "But I had cramps in the calf of my right leg after about the 19th mile. From the point I Saleh was 30 seconds ahead of third-place finisher Pat Petersen of New York. Petersen was timed in 2:12:59, and was followed by Don Norman of Republic, Pa. in 2:14:08 and Gerard Nijboer of The Netherlands in 2:14:27.

Bill Rodgers, four-time winner of the New York and Boston marathons, placed seventh in 2:14:27 and Frank Shorter, the 1972 Olympic champion and 1976 silver medalist, was 56th in 2:28:25. Waitz has dominated the New York race like no other woman in any marathon.

The former schoolteacher in Oslo, was dogged for the first 11 miles by Australia's Lisa Martin, the first-place finisher in this year's Pittsburgh Marathon. But she finally drew away and wound up winning comfortably by 1:15.

Martin finished second in 2:29:48. Then came Laura Fogli of Italy in 2:31:36, Lorraine Moller of New Zealand oin 2:34:55 and 41-year-old Priscilla Welch of Britain in 2:35:30.

Pizzolato and Waitz each received $25,000 and a Mercedes.

Bears beat Vikings for eighth victory

By The Associated Press You have to go back 43 years to find the last Chicago Bears' team that went 8-0.

The Bears again combined a potent offense with a swarming defense Sunday as they manhandled the Minnesota Vikings 27-9 for their best National Football League start since 1942. Chicago went on to go 11-0 that year.

Jim McMahon threw two scoring passes, Otis Wilson returned an interception 23 yards for another touchdown and Walter Payton gained 118 yards on 19 carries for the 67th 100-yard game of his career.

"Our goal was to be undefeated, and we still have a chance to do it,' said Payton, only half in jest.

The Bears' victory, combined with the San Francisco 49ers' 28-14 defeat of the Los Angles Rams, left Chicago as the NFL's only unbeaten team at the halfway mark of the season.

McMahon hit Dennis McKinnon with a 33-yard scoring pass on the game's opening drive and connected on a 20-yard touchdown pass to Payton in the fourth

The Bears were leading 13-7 early in the third quarter when Minnesota's Tommy Kramer went back to pass. Richard Dent deflected the ball to Wilson, who intercepted and went down the left sideline for the clinching touchdown.

49ers 28, Rams 14

Joe Montana threw for 306 yards and three first-half touchdowns as San Francisco 49ers snapped out of the doldrums to hand Los Angeles Rams its first loss of the season.

The victory ended a two-game losing skid by the defending Super Bowl champion 49ers and evened their record at 4-4, still three games behind the 7-1 Rams in the NFC West.

Montana, coming off a bout with the flu, completed 22 of 30 passes and was not intercepted. He engineered drives of 79, 88, 88 and 66 yards before leaving the game late in third quarter with a minor chest injury.

Lions 31, Dolphins 21 Detroit fullback James Jones carried 36 times for 114 yards and scored two touchdowns, including one of Eric Hipple's three scoring passes, as Detroit upset Miami.

It was the second successive victory over a Super Bowl XIX team for the resurgent Lions, who upset San Francisco a week ago. Both the Dolphins and Lions have 5-3 records.

Jets 17. Seahawks 14

Ken O'Brien tossed a 15-yard touchdown pass to Wesley Walker with 5:11 to play as New York rallied from a 14-point deficit and ended years of frustration against Seattle.

The victory was the Jets first ever against the Seahawks in eight games and put New York, now 6-2, in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division of the American Conference.

Eagles 21, Bills 17 Philadelphia's Ron Jaworski threw 32 yards to wide receiver Mike Quick with 1:55 left in the game to cap a three-touchdown, fourth-period rally that nipped Buffalo.

The Eagles trailed 17-0 after three quarters before driving 77 yards to their first touchdown, a 3-yard run by Jaworski. Moments later, Eagles safety Wes Hopkins intercepted a pass by quarterback Vince Ferragamo and returned it 24 yards for a touchdown that made it 17-14 with 4:40 to go.

Philadelphia's game-winning 87-yard drive started with five minutes left.

Broncos 30, Chiefs 10 Randy Robbins blocked two punts to set up a pair of scores and Gerald Willhite ran for two shortyardage touchdowns to lead Denver past Kansas City.

The victory put the 6-2 Broncos a half-game ahead of the Los Angeles Raiders in the American Conference West.

Patriots 32, Bucs 14 Craig James ran for two touchdowns and passed for another as New England overcame a 14-0 deficit to whip winless Tampa Bay.

James, who threw an 11-yard TD pass to Tony Collins in the second quarter, rushed for 96 yards and scored on runs of 8 and 22 yards in the fourth period.

Place-kicker Tony Franklin booted field goals of 35, 50 and 49 yards for the Patriots, who improved their record to 5-3.

Redskins 14, Browns 7 John Riggins scored his 114th career touchdown to pass Lenny Moore and take over second place on the all-time list as Washington defeated Cleveland.

Riggins' 1-yard burst early in the first quarter was the first of two Washington touchdowns resulting from turnovers by Cleveland rookie quarterback Bernie Kosar, who was benched at halftime with Cleveland trailing 14-0. The other

TD came on a Joe Theismann pass to Gary Clark.

Colts 37, Packers 10

Eugene Daniel intercepted three passes and Wayne Capers, making his first start, scored on a 20-yard run and on pass receptions of 39 and 33 yards, leading Indianapolis to an easy victory over Green Bay. Two of Daniel's interceptions set up first-half touchdowns by the Colts, who built a 20-10 lead at intermission and put the game out of reach on their first possession of the third quarter. Randy McMillan took a handoff from quarterback Mike Pagel, who took a return pitch and threw a 39 yards to Capers.

Capers' other TD reception came from backup quarterback Matt Kofler.

Giants 21, Saints 13

Cornerback Elvis Patterson set up a second-quarter touchdown pass with an interception and a fourth-quarter score with a fumble recovery to lead New York over-New Orleans.

Patterson's interception led to a 6-yard scoring pass from Phil Simms to Bob Johnson midway through the second quarter. Then Patterson recovered a bobbled punt at the New Orleans 12 to set up the first of two late touchdowns by touchdown pass and blocked a punt for a score. That's how you win.

Moon's condensed version of the Oilers second straight victory was accurate. With the Cardinals leading 10-6 in a defense-dominated game, the Oilers took the game away in less than 90 seconds in the fourth quarter.

"They had no one in the middle of the field," said Hill, who caught six passes on the day for 132 yards. "I was able to get one-on-one coverage and Warren threw a great pass.'

After the ensuing kickoff, the Houston defense stopped the Cardinals deep in their own territory. Oilers linebacker Frank Bush then blocked a Carl Birdsong punt and Mike Akiu scooped it up and ran in for the score.

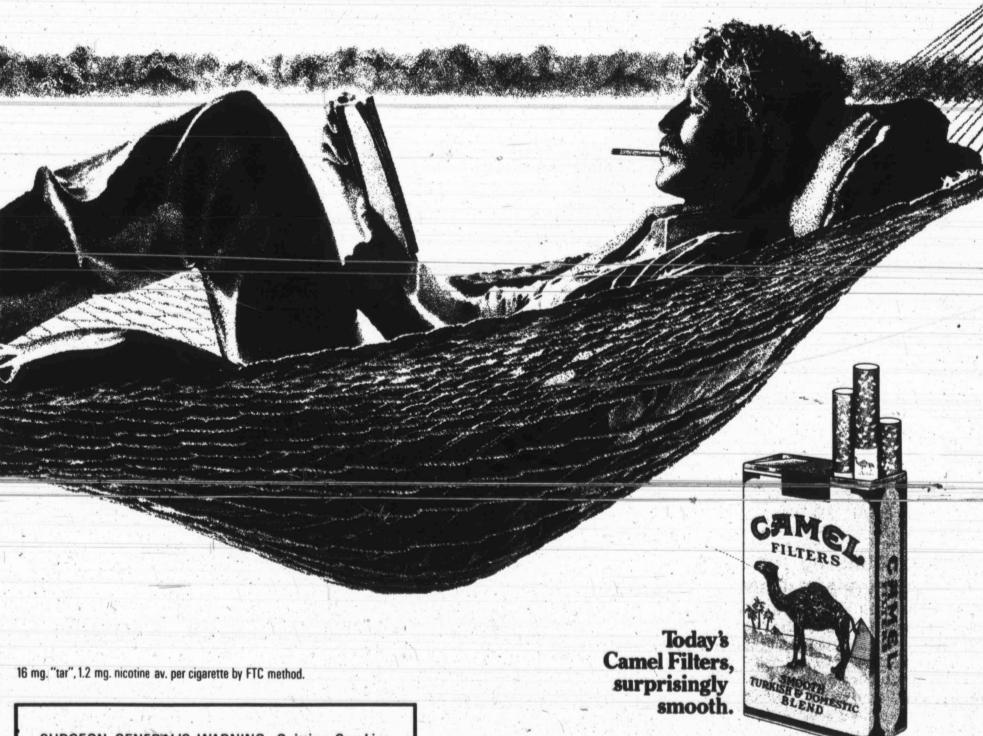

Houston, which broke a five-game losing streak last week with a win over the Cincinnati Bengals, improved to 3-5 with the victory. St. Louis, meanwhile, dropped to 3-5 by losing its fifth game in six outings.

The Cardinals took a 7-0 lead on their first possession of the game when Neil Lomax connected with Pat Tilley on a 12-yard pass.
