Ways and Means Committee - in a dramatic turnaround - is expected to vote this afternoon to make major concessions on oil and gas tax incentives in the committee's tax reform plan, according to a Texas congressional source.

The changes in tax law, if adopted, would mean the savings of several billion dollars each year for the industry.

Treasury Secretary James Baker met Monday with Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., and lobbied the chairman to be lenient with the industry's key tax provisions.

Rostenkowski later met with Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, and three other congressmen and agreed to make revisions in the tax proposal recommended by Ways and Means Committee staff, the

The chairman brought up the revised package of oil and gas provisions before the committee late Tuesday, but Pickle objected to a technicality in the proposal. The committee is expected to approve the package on oil and gas provisions Wednesday.

The revised proposal would keep the percentage depletion allowance for independent producers and royalty owners for stripper wells and retain most of current law for the intangible drilling costs deduc-tion that the industry considers important for future drilling, according to a Texas congressional aide close to the process.

Rostenkowski's compromise also would keep the tax incentive for tertiary recovery investments and expenses for "dry holes" in which there is no production.

Industry officials in Washington would not comment on the proposal had not taken final action and negitiations on the issue were considered to be at a crucial stage.

The compromise on intangible drilling costs would allow the industry to immediately write-off all drilling expenses through the "casing" process. Expenses incurred after completion of casing - where pipe is to seal a well's bore hole would have to be written off over a

Suspect arrested in death of youth

Police at 2:45 a.m. today arrested Preston Virgil Crawford, 33, of 3606 Calvin at his home on a warrant for the murder of Jimmy Yanez, 19, of 1009 W. Eighth.

Crawford was transferred to the Howard County Sheriff's office at 9:05 a.m. and released on bond, set by set by Justice of the Peace Willie Grant.

Dr. Donald Crockett Jr., who treated Yanez for a gunshot wound in his back, pronounced Yanez dead at 11:05 p.m. at Malone-Hogan Hospital, apparently from loss of blood, according to police reports.

An autopsy is being performed today by Dr. Robert Rember. Funeral services will be 4 p.m. Thursday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. James F. Delaney officiating.

No motive has been established in the shooting, which occurred at 10:10 p.m. during an argument with another man, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said today.

A witness to the shooting, Ruben Gonzales of 10091/2 W. Eighth, told police Yanez and another man were arguing in Yanez' car, a Chevrolet Z-28, in the 800 block of W. Fourth Street when the shooting occurred. Gonzales was sitting in Police are unsure whether the car was parked or driving down the road at the time of the shooting, Edwards said.

Gonzales drove Yanez to the hospital after the spooting, Edwards said. The threemen had met shortly before the shorting and had been seen together in other places Tuesday night, he said.

'We can't get a motive out of anyone," said Edwards. "The witness who was there in the car hasn't told us a motive, and Crawford has declined to give us a statement."

issue, Bentsen told reporters. Bentsen said farmers have been kept in the dark about farm policy for next year while the Senate continues to debate the 1986 farm bill, which outlines federal farm programs for the next four years.

The plan to win approval for a one-year farm bill is an unusual approach and one a senior aide to the senator concedes is a long shot.

Farmers and bankers throughout Texas have been forced to plant crops and make loans bas-ed on speculation about next year's federal farm policy, Bentsen said.

"Cotton farmers in South Texas are now putting down herbicides for next year," said Bentsen. "They start planting cotton in February and milo the last week in January. They do not have (farm) programs," he said.

He said a one-year farm bill could be approved quickly by the House and Senate since controversial items in the bill relate to farm programs after 1966. The one-year measure would only deal with four four-year farm bill – under congrains and rice.

If Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole goes along with the plan, Bentsen said a one-year version of the bill. the bill could pass both the House and Senate by Thanksgiving.

Paul Thoman, manager of Big Spring Cable, says copyright fees won't play a role in the local rate increase.

Copyright fees impact cable costs

copyright fees can play a role in determining basic monthly rates charged by local cable operators, according to Federal Communications Commission officials.

But Paul Thoman, manager of Big Spring Cable, said Tuesday the copyright fee is not a factor behind his company's plan to implement a basic rate increase next year.

Big Spring Cable last year grossed $1.1 million and paid approximately $11,000 in federal copyright royalty fees, according to federal records

Big Spring, Coahoma and Howard County, according to the licensing division of the copyright office in the Library of Congress.

Copyright fees, which last year totaled $11,163 for Big Spring Cable, are determined by a mathematical formula based on the cable system's gross receipts and its number and type of distance signal stations (those outside the local broadcast area), according to Stephen Ross, director of the cable television branch of the Federal Communications Commission.

For example, a cable operator must pay more to carry an independent distance station, such as WTBS in Atlanta, than Odessa's

However, since Big Spring Cable has just three distance stations (network stations WFAA and KERA in Dallas and the independent WTBS) and serves a small area, it pays far less in copyright fees than most urban cable

"The rate increase has nothing to do with our copyright fees,'

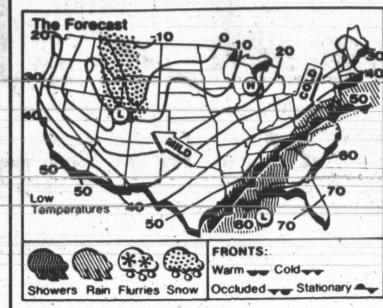

Telecable Associates, Big Spring Cable's parent company, is Microwave to keep broadcasting WFAA in Big Spring and three other communities.

However, Times Mirror is seeking a larger monthly fee for the rights to WFAA. If Telecable accepts the larger fee, Big Spring Cable would be forced to increase the basic rate 35 cents a month to

The company also has scheduled a 65-cent rate hike beginning next year, which would bring the total increase to $1 a month.

Thoman Tuesday said the 35-cent a month increase is uncertain because negotiations between Telecable and Times Mirror have stalled. He said the 65-cent innegotiating with Times Mirror crease is "still likely but not definite."

Officer faces charges

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — An Army in-telligence officer has been indicted on fraud charges as part of a sweeping investigation in-to allegations that agents have falsely billed the government for expenses while on covert missions, according to a published report

A federal grand jury charged that Lt. Col. Dale C. Duncan, 39, filed false claims involving more than $66,000.

Volcano gave warning

ARMERO, Colombia - The old volcano had rumbled for months, spitting a little ash and gas now and then, but had done no harm for a century and no one thought it would now. Its last major eruption was in 1595, while Spanish explorers watched from the distance.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 13, ash began floating down on Armero, a farming town in the lush Andes valley at the base of the Nevado del Ruiz

Black mobs battle

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - Police said two rival black mobs of about 1,000 members each battled with spears and clubs early today near Durban, and that six people were killed. Anti-apartheid violence was reported in seven areas of South Africa.

A police spokesman said the fighting near Durban had nothing to do with politics, and officials listed no new deaths as a result of antiapartheid violence. Six blacks were killed Tuesday, and nine died Sunday and Monday.

to set record

AUSTIN — Texas Upland cotton producers expect to harvest 4.3 million bales this year, an increase of 17 percent from 1994 and a 5 per-cent increase from the October estimate.

Based on recults of a Nov. 1 survey, statewide yield is expected to average a record-high 439 pounds per acre, up 63 pounds from last year, according to figures released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"Cotton harvest moved into the High Plains during October; however, progress was slowed by wet field conditions," state statisti-cian Dennis Findley reported. "Some defoliation operations are underway across the Plains, but most growers are waiting for a

Deadline set for internship

Application deadline is Jan. 15 for summer internships in Congressman Charles Stenholm's Washington, D.C., office. Applications are available from the district office in Abilene.

Four people will be chosen in March to work in the nation's capitol in June or July, two people each month. Interns may attend committee hearings, floor debates and a special speakers' forum. They also will answer constituent inquiries and assist in the day-today operations of the office, according to a news release.

College students in or from the 17th Congressional District, teachers at any level, or district residents ages 19 to 25 who possess a demonstrated interest in government are eligible for the internship program. For applications and additional information, contact the congressman's office at P.O. Box 1101, Abilene, Texas 79604 or call (915) 673-7221.

of college's accreditation By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer There's little doubt Howard College will be accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, president Dr. Bob Riley said at the Howard County Junior College District board of trustees meeting Tuesday. The association visited the college this month to review it for reaccreditation, which takes place every 10 years. The college should know the results of the review by December 1986.

"Overall, by far, we are doing a good job at the college," Riley said. Accreditation assures the easy transfer of classes to and from the college, he had said earlier. It also makes students eligible for financial aid.

He said the accrediting board made 20 recommended changes, an "acceptable" number. None of the recommendations were a surprise to the college directors, he said. The directors agreed with all of them, and they will be easy to implement, he said.

The review for accreditation was "a very positive experience for the college," he said. The association came to make recommendations to improve the college, and "they went about it in that light," he said. In other business, the board approved the resignation of nursing instructor Margaret Williams, who resigned for personal reasons effective the end of November. It voted to replace her with Connie Boyd, wife of a SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf math instructor who is due to begin his position there in January

Coffee study isn't fair, even if true

There they go again - medical researchers proclaiming a study indicating that something that tastes delicious may be hazardous to our health. This time it's coffee in large quantities that's suspect, according to a study of 1,130 white, male graduates of Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore.

The study, begun in 1948, suggests that a person who drinks five or more cups of coffee a day risks a three times greater chance of having heart problems than a non-coffee drinker. Coffee is said to stimulate heart rate, raise blood pressure and possibly increase cholesterol blood levels. Americans who consume a third of the coffee produced in the world won't take kindly to this threat to the aromatic brew. They'll grasp at coffee leaves, so to speak, and point to reseachers' acknowledgement that other studies have found slight or no links between heavy coffee consumption and heart disease, although the Johns Hopkins research is more comprehensive than others.

It would be unfortunate, indeed, if evidence against coffee increased to the point that U.S. workers began going out for "tea breaks," flight attendants offered passengers "bouillon, tea or milk," and panhandlers were forced to ask passersby, if they could "spare a half a dollar for a cup of cocoa."

But coffee drinkers can take comfort in researchers' assurance that it's all right to drink one or two cups of coffee daily as long as they reduce well-known heart risks such as smoking, high fat diets and high blood pressure. That would at least satisfy the needs of so many of us who are no good until we've had that first cup of coffee in the morning.

Trade barrier is a punitive step

Does protectionism work? To judge from events on Capitol Hill, a growing number of people in Congress apparently think so. They might consider the experience of the American textile industry, which has been lovingly sheltered from international competition for 24 years, at a hefty cost to consumers, and is still in trouble.

"Unfortunately, some members of Congress have considered the experience of the textile industry and have drawn an unlikely lesson from it: provide more protection. The House of Representatives has passed a bill to slash textile imthe idea this week. If the bill should child in the country. host of exporters, including Hong Kong, South Korea and China.

These exporters are denounced for a variety of trading sins, but their real crime is to provide Americans with inexpensive clothes that we insist on buying. Sen. Ernest Hollings, a South Carolina Democrat, is furious that U.S. textile firms have trouble getting licenses to sell in South Korea. That is a bad thing, if true, but if Korean clothing sold for twice as much as American-made goods, it would not be on Hollings' mind. Hong Kong, for example, is one of the most open economies on earth. This bill offers no exemption for that openness.

There is no question that the American textile industry has seen better days. Some 88,000 jobs have disappeared since 1977. Foreign producers also are taking away customers here, with the dollar volume of textile imports more than doubling in the last five years.

It might be nice to keep the U.S. industry at its current size. But its problems are not symptomatic, as Hollings claims, of a general crisis in the American economy. While textile mills have been closing or cutting back, other industries have been expanding. The U.S. has added some 17 million jobs in the last decade.

The cost of preserving the textile industry far exceeds any benefit to the average American. Foreign textiles already are subject to more than 300 different import quotas, not to mention tariffs averaging an extraordinary 26 percent — more than five times as high as the typical tariff on imported manufactures. As a result, Americans pay some $27 billion a year in higher clothing costs than they would in an open market ports and the Senate will consider $119 for every man, woman and > posed in this bill. Given the job erosion under past protectionist measures, there's no assurance that new ones will restore lost jobs. The Washington-based Heritage Foundation estimates that any employment gain would come at a cost of between $70,000 and $200,000 a year per job. The lower figure is more than four times what the worker in the saved job is likely to

But it isn't guaranteed that any textile jobs will be saved. Much of the job loss is due to capital investments that reduce the number of workers needed in mills. It is guaranteed, though, that consumers will pay more for clothing than they would otherwise. The impact will be felt most keenly by those with the least money, who rely disproportionately on inexpensive foreign clothing

It is also a good bet that the measure would destroy jobs outside the protected industry. Any money diverted to textile workers. managers and stockholdres is money that has been going to someone else. Rep. John Miller, a Washington Republican, spoke for these interests when he said in the House floor debate, "Don't ask us to help your workers by taking away dock workers' jobs in New York, California or Florida."

The bill is bad enough on its own. But it especially warrants rejection beause its enactment would invite dozens of more measures aimed at erecting an economic Fortress America. Neither consumers nor the economy would gain from expanded protectionism. If past textile protectionism has achieved nothing else, it's proven that.

Libya eliminates an exile

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - In a shameful act of self-serving treachery, one of America's closest Arab allies Morocco's King Hassan — handed over a courageous

Libyan dissident to that country's brutal dictator, Muammar Qaddafi. The betrayed anti-Qaddafi exile was beaten and kicked to death by the colonel's goons on the airport runway in Tripoli, according to U.S. intelligence sources

The victim of this high-level sellout was Omar Muhayshi, a boyhood friend of Qaddafi and once a high-ranking official in the Libyan revolutionary regime before Qaddafi's insane excesses led Muhayshi to join the opposition and go into exile. For eight years, Qaddafi had tried everything to have his one-time friend assassinated, even offering an ex-CIA agent $1 million to arrange Muhayshi's murder. The efforts failed, and Muhayshi thought he had found safe haven in Morocco. Some sources believe Qaddafi's obsession with Muhayshi was the strongest single motive for the colonel's surprise treaty with Hassan last year. The betrayal of Muhayshi and his delivery to Qaddafi were part of the quid pro quo for the cutoff of Libyan aid to the Polisario guerrillas battling Hassan for the western Sahara region. So both Muhayshi and the Polisarios learned to their sorrow the wisdom of the Biblical injunction: "Put not thy trust in princes.

According to one secret CIA report, Muhayshi turned sour on his longtime friend in 1974, when it became clear that Qaddafi was wasting Libya's oil wealth on a megalomaniacal dream of becoming the leader who would unite all the Arab states under his rule. As a member of the original 12-man Revolutionary Command Council, Muhayshi "had a stormy relationship with Qaddafi ... and often chafed under Qaddafi's high-handed ways," the CIA reported.

But when he chose to break with Qaddafi, it was primarily because of "broader differences over foreign policy and economic measures (which were) a measure of growing frustration with Qaddafi throughout the regime," the report states, adding: "Although not personally liked by many of his colleagues, Muhayshi did have the sympathy of some, if not their support."

On Aug. 11, 1975, a plot by two council members and 20 military officers was aborted, and the conspirators went into hiding. Muhayshi escaped to safety in Tunisia, but most of the others were rounded up and executed the following March. Nevertheless, as the CIA pointed out, the "Muhayshi plot" was a victory of sorts, because Qaddafi "lost his mystique as the 'unchallengeable' leader, an important underpinning for his brand of personal rule."

In exile, Muhayshi continued to irritate Qaddafi by publishing revealing personal memories of the unstable Libyan strong man and by broadcasting radio attacks on him from Egypt and Tunisia. Eventually he sought and was granted refuge in Morocco.

Other Libyan exiles warned Muhayshi two years ago that a deal might be cooking between Hassan and Qaddafi - and that it might include him. But Muhayshi paid no heed.

To his horror, Muhayshi learned too late that he was part of the bargain. Whether Qaddafi's agents were allowed to kidnap him in Morocco, or whether the king's men put him on the plane, is not clear. But the result was the same. Our sources say he was stomped to death as soon as he got off the plane in

The sources say untold numbers of other anti-Qaddafi exiles were similarly "extradited" to Libya to face the dictator's vengeance. The only reliably safe haven in the region seems to be Egypt, which remains determinedly opposed to Qaddafi — and has an intelligence service sharp enough to thwart his plots against Libyan exiles.

EYE ON THE ECONOMY: Whatever happened to the Great Infrastructure Crisis? You remember the headlines a few years ago about crumbling bridges, highways and sewers all over the country. But nothing recently. The answer, unfortunately, is that the crisis is forgotten but not gone. The experts' current estimate is that there is now a $400 billion gap between the funds available and the amount needed over the next 15 years to keep the concrete from crumbling. Included in this colossal sum — which will have to be raised by either cities, states or the federal government — is $264 billion for roads and bridges, and $90 billion for water and sewerage.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Vitaly Yurchenko is back in Moscow now. But whether he's the toast of the Kremlin or languishing in Lubyanka Prison isn't clear. One thing is, though: He left some CIA officials with egg on their faces. Was he a double defector? A triple agent? A single scooper? (He certainly was a party pooper.) Oddly enough, four days before his bombshell press conference last week, an intelligence expert told us that some old pros in the CIA suspected he was a Soviet plant. His information was "too pat," the source explained: "It cleared the books on too many suspected double agents." Maybe

Seek full joy in God

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I got to talking about religion the other day with a friend at work. He said he was a backslidden-Christian. I have never been around church very much, and I wonder what he meant by that term. Is it found in the Bible? - Mrs. T.R.

DEAR MRS. T.R.: The term "backslidden Christian" means a person who may have committed his life to Christ and followed Him for a time, but now has slipped back into ways of living that are not right in God's eyes. The word "backsliding" is found several times in the Old Testament, where it usually is applied to the Hebrews, who were chosen to be God's special people but turned away from His will and instead lived lives of sin. The prophet Jeremiah said of the people of his day, "For their rebellion is great and their backslidings many' (Jeremiah 5:6). Some modern translations of the Bible use words "unfaithful." like "faithfuless," "stubborn (against God)" and 'waywardness'' to describe the backslider.

I am sorry your friend is not following Christ as he should. I am sorry for his sake; he will never know the full joy and peace that comes to us when we are close to God. I also am sorry for your sake, because your friend is not a good example of witness for Christ to you. But don't let his failures keep you from Christ.

By your own admission, you have never thought much about God, but God loves you and He wants to forgive your sins and make you part of His family. Turn to Christ and ask Him to come into your life. You may not understand everything right now about being a Christian, but the most important decision you will ever make is what you will do with Jesus Christ. Then seek to follow Him each day in the light of His Word, the Bible. God not only wants to come into your life, but He also wants to use you in the life of your friend, to point him back to Christ.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, Nov. 20, the 324th day of 1985. There are 41 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

Ten years ago - on Nov. 20, 1975 Spain's Gen. Francisco Franco died in Madrid, two weeks before his 83rd birthday. Franco's death ended nearly four decades of absolute rule.

On this date:

In 1620, Peregrine White, the son of William and Susanna White, was born aboard the Mayflower in Massachusetts Bay. He was the first child to be born of English parents in New England.

In 1789, New Jersey became the first state to ratify the Bill of Rights. In 1910, revolution broke out in Mexico, led by Francisco I. Madero. In 1925, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was born in Brookline, Massachusetts. In 1943, during World War II, American forces landed on Tarawa and Makin Atoll in the Gilbert In 1945, 24 Nazi leaders were put on trial before an international war crimes tribunal at Nuremberg, Germany

In 1967, just a few minutes after 11 a.m., the Census Clock at the Department of Commerce ticked which depicted the outbreak of nuclear war. Five years ago: After a disastrous reception by New York critics, United Artists announced it was withdrawing its $44 million movie "Heaven's Gate" for reediting. The movie, which still flopped in subsequent release, is considered one of Hollywood's most costly bombs.

Emergency was slap at firemen

To the editor:

Once again, the City Manager, Don Davis has manipulated the City Council by calling an Emergency Meeting on November 11 even though the regular meeting was the following day.

What the "emergency" proved to be was the reduction of salaries of a select group of city employees, namely, Firefighters.

The memories of the present council must be short as the voters made it perfectly clear that they didn't like the so-called emergency meetings at a forum in March, 1985, as well as an election in April, 1985. Was this another meeting to avoid input from the citizens while taking action against the firefighters because they had overwhelming support in the passage of the Civil Service referendum?

Was this action taken because of the hostility that the City Manager has for firefighters - or any employee who disagrees with his policy?

I think this meeting was called to make policies detrimental to the welfare and morale of the firemen before the President signed a Bill that would protect them, a Bill that Don Davis said didn't exist, and I quote from the November 13 issue of The Big Spring Herald, "the legislation does not exist (as a Bill). We're monitoring it daily. Our action tonight was taken to try to protect the firefighters and continue the same policy."

On November 13. President Reagan signed into the law the Bill that Davis said didn't exist although John Branham of the Firefighters had advised the council that it was on the President's desk. I ask, who had all the facts? This is not the first time that Davis has incorrectly "counseled" the council. On March 11, 1985, the administration caused to be published erroneous figures claiming that the Civil Service Act would cost the city $71,000 per year for firefighters and $274,104 per year for all employees.

Frankly, I am ready for the present council to cut Davis' $49,792 annual salary. I'm tired of paying jogging and ranching time, as well as for inaccurate information; better still, let's cut Davis' salary to $0, and reclaim the city car that he drives, and he can enjoy full-time jogging and ranching.

D.W. OVERMAN Editor's Note: The emergency action came at the Tuesday, Nov. 12 meeting, although the subject was discussed at a Monday, Nov. 11 work session.

Signal scrambling is unconstitutional

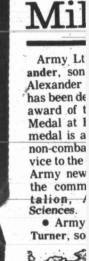

To the editor:

Isn't scrambling the signals to dish owners (and I am not one of them) going against the Constitution? People's rights? Sounds to me like a little bit of dictatorship. Even those of us on the cable can't get what we want - or anything decent.

We had a trial of two months of Home Box Office. I'll bet we didn't see five good movies the whole time. The rest was trash. I could hardly wait for them to come get it. What does Sweetwater have to do to keep us from getting Channel 8 & KERA 13? I'd rather pay a little more to keep them than put out money on any of the things you have on any of the other services. WFAA news & movies are the best & KERA is absolutely the best & my favorite.

Housing starts make rebound in October

By The Associated Press Housing construction rose 10.8 percent in October, the Commerce Department reported today.

The big rebound, the largest increase in seven months, came from a 15.8 percent jump in construction of single-family homes, which rose to an annual level of 1.12 million units, the department said.

Single-family homes and apartments were constructed at an annual rate of 1.76 million units last month, up from a September rate of 1.59 million units, it said.

Meanwhile, a relatively low level of optimism over the state of the economy and disappointment with President Reagan's efforts to limit government's role in business were expressed by small business leaders responding to a Dun & Bradstreet survey.

The survey released Monday indicated 62 percent of the 585 small business people answering a mailed questionnaire felt positive about the economy, the lowest level of optimism in the five years of the annual study.

In addition, the Federal Reserve Board reported continued pressure from foreign competitors helped reduce capacity utilization at factories, mines and utilities by nearly a full percentage point to 80.2 percent in October.

But despite the gloomy indicators, two private reports forecast steady economic growth for 1986.

A synopsis of the Dun & Bradstreet survey conducted for the business information com-

Dear Abby

Lifetime of good health begins without any butts

American Smokeout, an upbeat, good-humored, one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours - just to prove they can do it.

The idea was conceived by the American Cancer Society, which insists that anyone who can live without a cigarette for 24 hours can quit forever. So, if you're hooked on cigarettes (or cigars) and you really want to quit, why not start tomorrow — for just 24 hours?

The following information may motivate you: According to Dr. William G. Cahan, attending surgeon at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, lung cancer is the single

A congressional study has just reported that health costs from the adverse effects fo smoking have reached a new high of $65 billion a year in increased medical bills and lost productivity. The loss in death and disability cannot be measured. (And how does one measure the amount of heartache, remorse and guilt suffered as a result of a preventable, self-induced

"How about the rights of smokers?" you ask. Of course they are entitled to smoke if they wish. But they will have to find a place where they can smoke to their hearts' content without offending

"Quitting cold turkey" is the hardest way to quit, but my readers have told me it's the most effective, and in the long run, the easiest way. Cutting down is less traumatic, but the temptation to smoke is often too powerful to resist while smoking just one, two or three cigarettes a day.

Those who are heavily addicted may require professional help to break the habit.

So, if you're hooked on cigarettes or have been telling yourself, "One of these days I'm going to quit," why not start tomorrow - for just 24 hours?

It won't be easy, but I can promise you, it will be the best Thanksgiving present you can give yourself - and those who love you.

Dr. Donohue

Will choline help vanishing memory?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My question is, will choline help my vanishing memory? I would like to try acetylcholine, but can't find any. Would that help one's memory? - Mrs. F.O.

I doubt this will help your memory. And since so many people like yourself seem to be looking for a magic memory pill, it might be a good idea to go after this subject right here

Memories are stored in brain cells, much as statistical information is stored in electronic computers. And in either case, little would be accomplished without some way to extract the informa-tion and memory material. I can't begin to tell you how this is cone in electronics, but in the brain it's through the action of brain chemicals, acetylcholine being one of them. It transfers the memory from storage cells to minking areas of the brain.

You can give up your sarch for acetylcholine. You won't ind it in pill or tablets. It can't but into the blood. The digestive process destroys it.

I'll bet you are taking lecithin, and that the label tells you it contains choline. It does, and hat is not destroyed in the digestive tract. But let me also note u (and the same choline) a so occurs in nature, in foods such as egg yolks, liver and soybeans.

yolks, liver and soybean.

I know you are serious about trying to regain lost memory, and so are many sincere scientists. They are learning much. They find that as we age, several changes occur to cause memory dimitution. One is a slackening in production of an enzyme that helps make acetylcholine. Another is an increase in activity of an enzyme that breaks it down. That's the that breaks it down. That's the background of the interest in choline been encouraging. Yet some say that long-term choline therapy might stop future memory loss. There doesn't seem to be much hope for its ability to reverse existing memory loss.

In truth, at this point we are all groping in the dark when it comes to understanding ultimate truths about the brain and its chemistry. Other drugs (vasopressin and physostigmine) have been tried as memory restoratives. Again, no one is touting either as an effective antidote to memory dysfunction. When I run across evidence of something that works, I'll let you

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Last fall, my husband went for a routine examination. The nurse, who was assisting the doctor, told my husband he either has or will have a heart problem because he has "club fingernails." His nails are quite large, but we always thought it was nereditary. His father has them. Can you tell me more? -

That nurse should have known better than to ruminate aloud, as it turns out to the great anxiety of your husband and yourself.

Clubbed nails look swollen and rounded. Not every wide nail is defined as "clubbed." In fact, there are quite precise degrees of nail angulation to place them in the medically "clubbed" category. whether or not this represents, as it may in your husband's case, merely a hereditary quirk in nail development.

Clubbing can be a sign of disease of the lung, heart or liver - even colon cancer. But you don't look at a person's nails and say he has or doesn't have a serious disease.

The doctor may make a note of it mentally, and keep it in mind as he examines the patient. I'd just file away the fingernail comment and

Big Spring Boxing Club coach Jaime Baldwin Sr. and assistant coach Ed Garza display one of the many championship trophies the team has

A boxing success story

Those Baldwin boys are at it again.

You know, the brother combination of featherweight Jaime Jr. and bantamweight Juan who have been tearing West Texas apart for the past five years with their quick hands and fast-moving feet.

These two members of the Big Spring Boxing Club are fast becoming some of the big names in amateur boxing. This weekend at Ft. Hood Army Base in Killeen they will try to gain more national attention when they compete in the Region VIII State Boxing Championships.

The duo qualified by winning the Regional championship, which was held in Big Spring last month. At stake is a chance at the National Finals in Tulsa, Oklahoma; which will be televised on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

More importantly it's a chance for national exposure for two of the best boxers in the United States. Unfortunatley, lack of recongination is one of the boxing brothers' main

"It a great chance for us, said the 17-year-old, 125-pound Jaime. "If we get to Tulsa it's a chance for people to see what we've got. We want people to know us and know we're from Big Spring.'

But the Baldwins have had their problems getting sponsorship right here in the Spring City. In their five years of success they finally have a business willing to back them. Golden Corral Steakhouse is sponsoring Juan and McDonald's is Jaime's sponsor.

The boxers' father and trainer, Jaime Baldwin Sr. says at lack of sponsorship has a lot to do with people not realizing these boxer's capabilities. "The people here in West Texas really don't know how good these kids are," he said. "Most look at the end product, which are the champions, but they don't look at the people coming up that could be possible champions."

"Three years ago we had more support, but a lot of that has gone with the drop in the economy,'

The Baldwin brothers, who have less than 40 losses between them in over 450 bouts, admit that lack of local support has got them down.

"Right now Big Spring doesn't recognize us," said Juan. If we were boxing for Big Spring High School we might have more support, but unfortunately the school doesn't have a boxing team."

"I love representing Big Spring," commented Jaime. 'But we just don't have any help. Maybe we should change the name to Baldwin Boxing Club."

The duo gets what little money it raises from raffles. Although they did receive some funds from the Big Spring Police Department when they competed in the Police Athletic League Boxing Tournament in Cleveland, Ohio two years ago.

But this duo is not about to let lack of support or recognization spoil their trek to the 1988 Olympics, which is their ultimite goal. In fact Jaime has been offered two pro contracts, but has turned both down. "They want to fight in the '88 Olympics," said their trainer-father. "That way they can bring honor Big Spring and the United States in

The elder Baldwin says his sons face a stern test at Ft. Hood. "No doubt it will be a tough. These are some of the top ranked boxers in the nation," said Jaime Sr."

"I'm more prepared this time," said Jaime, who competed in the tournament last year. "Last year I was a brawler, This year I'm more of a boxer. It took experience and a lot of listening. I think I'll win state."

Meanwhile Juan is making his first trip to this prestigious tournament. "It really doesn't bother me that it's my first big open class tournament. I've had one year's more experience boxing Junior Olympics that Jaime. I think I'm more advanced. If anybody beats us it's because they worked harder.

Then they've done a a lot of hard work." It has been like a fairy tale for daddy Baldwin. "I never thought they would go this far. I first got them into boxing because they had trouble with the kids in the neighborhood and I thought this would be a way for them to air out their frustrations in a controlled way. Boxing helps you to learn how to deal with defeat and enjoy it when you win. It's a big plus in helping a youngster grow up."

"I know the boys are young but they've had just as many fights as the older guys and I think they are in better shape because they are so young. I think they have a good chance."

Perhaps his sons summed it up better: "Look out Texas," said Juan has his brother quickly finished: "Because the Baldwin boys are coming.

Steers down Seminole, 70-62

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Writer

Big Spring Steers basketball coach Mike Randle had to test his bench strength out in a hurry.

Randle faced the task in the Steers season opener against the Seminole Indians last night in Steer Gym. Evidently Randle's troops assed the test as Big Spring defeated Seminole 70-62 in a game in which four Steer players fouled Three starters; guard Charles Young and forwards Billy Cole and Sidney Parker all exited via fouls. Sixth-man Collin Carroll also fouled out of the game.

Cole was the first to go with 5:45 left in the game. Parker, who had a fine game, went next at the 5:15 mark. But not before he had scored a game-high 21 points and pulled down 7 rebounds. The 6-2 junior led all Steer shooters with a 10-14 night from the floor.

Young was the next to go at the 4:06 mark and Carroll followed suit with 1:13 remaining in the game. But by then a 66-57 Big Spring lead was just to much for the Indians to overcome.

But taking up the slack for Big Spring's fallen warriors were such notables as Shawn Shellman, Paul Decker, DeWayne Sherman, Cedrick Banks, Paul Decker, Kevin McKeown and Randy Odom. These players came off the bench and filled in well.

'The bench did a great job," said Randle of his reserves that combined for 13 points and 8 rebounds. "They got in there and played good defense. They definitely saved our hide tonight.

Also pulling Big Spring through the tough times was sophomore forward Brian Mayfield. The 6-5 leaper was a force whether scoring one of his 20 points, hauling down a game-high 14 rebounds or collecting seven blocked shots for the night.

Twice he brought the partisan crowd to its feet with a pair highflying dunks.

But just as the Steers looked very good at times, they looked pretty bad also. They looked good at the start of the game as rattling off a 7-0 lead in the first three minutes. Carroll hit a basket and Big Spring led 13-2 at the 3:15 mark.

That's when the Steers did an about-face, suffering a rash of turnovers enabling the Seminoles to cut the margin to 17-13 by the end of the quarter.

Mayfield and Parker carried the Steers in the second quarter as the duo combined for 14 of Big Spring's 16 second quarter points. A free throw by Mayfield and a basket by Parker gave the Steers a 33-25 halftime lead.

Big Spring fell on hard times in the early going of the third quarter. committing 9 of their total 25 turnovers in the period. Alex Minter's basket was the only Steers score in the three minutes of the contest as Seminole cut the margin to 35-33.

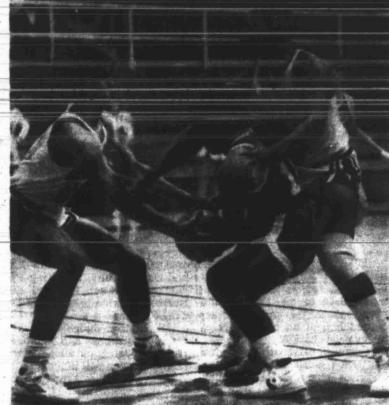

But Big Spring did another about-face, this time for the best; as they ran off a spurt, outscoring the Seminoles 11-2 in the last four minutes of the quarter. Mayfield and Parker were the keys with Parker hitting medium range jumpers and Mayfield scoring from the inside game.

The Steers closed out a successful run when Sherman fed Mayfield, who promptly dunked over Seminole's John Johnson. Then Banks got a rebound, threw a full length court pass to Parker, who got a layup at the buzzer.

Big Spring took a commanding 51-39 lead into the final quarter. Behind the scoring of Johnson, Kirby Brooks and Randy Jones the Indians battled gamely and cut the defict to 67-54 with 3:20 remaining. But that's as close as they would get. Brooks and Jones led Seminole with 16 points each. Johnson added

Johnson led the losers with 8 rebounds.

Randle said that his team's 25 turnovers hurt dearly. "It wasn't their press affecting us that much,

DENVER (AP) - Alex English, a quiet-spoken veteran forward for the Denver Nuggets, noted after wards that the Nuggets' latest game against Houston was fun.

It had to have been for English, who scored a career-high 54 points the highest individual total in the National Basketball Association this season - to lead the Nugget effort that snapped a seven-game winning streak for Houston.

The 127-113 victory for Denver also moved the Nuggets into first place in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division, a half-game ahead of Houston.

"It was a great win," English said, "a game that was lots of fun to play in. My legs have felt stronger and I'm not nervous any more about hitting the shots."

Denver Coach Doug Moe said he was surprised when he heard during the game that English had 48

Cisco drops Howard, 66-63

CISCO - The Cisco JC Wranglers took advantage of some costly, late game turnovers by Howard College and pulled out a 66-63 victory in thelast ten seconds Tuesday night in Cisco. Hawk foward Bruce Kimble led all scorers with 20 points. Walter Reynolds chipped in 15 for Howard. The non-conference loss drops the Hawks record to 2-6 on the year. HAWKS (63) — Duran, 3-1-7; McCall, 3-1-7; Reynolds, 5-2-15; Kimble, 8-4-20; Hughes 1-2-4; McDermott, 2-0-4; Walker, 4-1-9; Tetals, 26-11-63.

CISCO (66) - Ellis, 3-2-8; Martin, 5-0-10; Murray, 7-2-16; Westbrook, 0-4-4; Mc Crimonon, 1-2-4; Grissom, 7-2-16; Knorr, 3-2-8; Totals, 26-14-66.

Lopez named LPGA Player of Year

NEW YORK (AP) - Nancy Lopez received her third LPGA Player of the Year Award and her third Vare Trophy for the tour's lowest scoring average, the first time she had won either prize since 1979. Lopez broke her record for the lowest scoring average on the tour, with a 70.73 average in 25 tournaments — the first player to average below 71 for a season. Lopez' 1985 winnings, $416,472, also was a record.

Texas Tech head coach Moore fired

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Jerry Moore put down the telephone and looked at a photograph of his son, Chris, a walk-on football player at Texas Tech and said, "That was the hard part." Moore had become the first head football coach fired in Texas Tech's 60-year history and had to deliver the bad news to his son.

The Tuesday firing by Athletic Director T. Jones becomes effective after Saturday's Southwest Conference game in Houston against the Cougars.

'This puts a big knot in my stomach and a lump in my throat. I'm confused and I'm hurt," Moore

Jones said he made a decision to fire Moore, 46, on Sunday night after a 9-7 loss to Southern Methodist.

Jones asked Moore to resign Monday night, but he refused. "A matter of pride was involved," said Moore. "I'm not bitter and I'm not going to say anything bad about the school, but I wasnt' going to resign after putting in five hard years to get this program on its feet. Speculation on Moore's replacement centered around University

JERRY MOORE ... first Tech coach fired

Texas defensive coordinator David McWilliams and Texas Tech defensive coordinator Spike Dykes. Jones knew both coaches when he was an associate athletic director at Texas.

Moore predicted the new coach would have almost instant success because of the talent pool the Red Raiders had been building. Moore red-shirted most of this year's freshman crop and had developed some talented performers, such as quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver and sensational wide receiver Wayne Walker.

SPIKE DYKES ... possible replacement

"Whoever comes in here will enjoy it because they'll have a great mch of kids, and this could be another Baylor or a TCU in 1984 here next year," Moore said.

Jones announced at a 3:30 p.m. ress conference that he was "making a change in the head football position" and that he wanted Texas Tech to become more prominent on the national scene.

"I would like to see the university in a consistently competitive position and occasionally get into the Cotton Bowl," Jones said. "We have signed up for games against Ohio State and Nebraska because we feel it is important for athletes to compete against the best."

Jones said he hoped to find a.

replacement soon. Two years remain on Moore's contract, which states he can be relocated within the university

Jones said he expected Moore to honor the contract "the way the contract reads."

Moore, who's paid almost $60,000 a year, said he would have to discuss that matter with Jones. He said he would like to stay in coaching, which is precluded by the contract.

"The contract situation is going to have to be worked out apparently," Moore said.

Texas Tech players were unanimous in saying they felt Moore had received a raw deal.

"They just gave up on him," quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver moter Don King, beaming and visibly relieved, waited at the courtroom door to give thanks and autographs to the jurors who acquitted him of an assortment of tax-evasion charges. "I want to personally thank you all," King said as the three men and nine women on the jury filed out Tuesday following a trial that lasted more than seven weeks and deliberations that spanned two

"I love you," King said to one juror. He signed autographs for five women jurors. When one ask-ed, "You want that pen?," he gave her the pen. Then he hustled off to call his wife.

"Only in America," he said before he left.

King's longtime associate, Constance Harper, said nothing as she left the courtroom. The jury ruled that she was guilty of three counts of attempted income tax evasion. accepting the prosecution contention that she failed to report and his company, Don King Pro-

Griesa said he will sentence Harper on Jan. 8 and allowed her to remain free on bail in the interim. Each count carries a maximum of five years in prison. Andrew Lawler, Harper's defense lawyer, said he will appeal the conviction.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Roanne

L. Mann had contended throughout the trial that Harper received the money in return for helping King skim nearly $1 million in cash from his company without reflecting the drawings on the corporate books. The 20-count indictment that went to the jury specified $446,200 in payments which King allegedly received improperly. The charges included conspiracy, attempted tax evasion, filing false returns and aiding in the filing of false returns. King's defense lawyer, Vincent

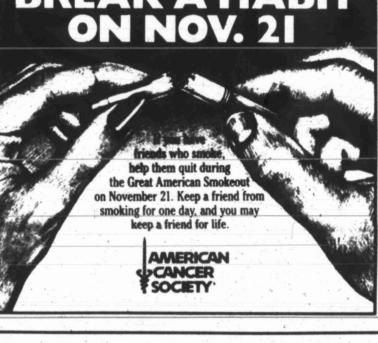

Fuller, agreed that King received income that went unreported and untaxed but insisted that sloppy accounting, not wrongdoing, was to

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 21, 1905

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day is great for using your most idealistic and imaginative qualities to decide your future course of action. Later, make use of your aptness at details and make them work for you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get that plan working in the morning that can gain you your fondest aims and then explain it to the one you love in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You understand the aspects for the future and can get started on some new project today, but avoid one who is furtive.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give some worldly matter plenty of thought then do the physical work that is required, but take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Study into new methods that can help attain a loftier position in life. Make new contacts who are most worthwhile.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Study every phase of work shead of you and then you can handle it very well by concentrating on ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan entertainment for the near future in the morning, but tonight avoid an argument with a neighbor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy and make your surroundings more functional and beautiful and you can work more efficiently and be happier in them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be only with congenials during the day and tonight don't try to force your ideas on others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to make your home more comfortable and establish more harmony with your family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are thinking cleverly and can improve your interests and relationships easily now

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can handle finances wisely today so that you soon have a greater abundance. Consult with an expert about property.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your needs and then contact those who can be of assistance to you and get good results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be alert to whatever is happening around him or her and would do well in any profession where uncovering the truth of any situation is concerned. One who can be very artistic and likes to pay attention to details. One who is very interested in good literature.

Herald recipe exchange

Local cooks share their favorite holiday recipes

By CAROL BALDWIN

Lifestyle Editor
Thanksgiving is Nov. 28 and this week's Recipe Exchange features a recipe for turkey, as well as some featured recipes from local cooks.

Martha Stephens dropped by the office earlier this week to share a holiday recipe for Pumpkin Pie. Grace McClinton forwarded a recipe for Spiced Tea that a reader asked for earlier this month.

The rest of this week's recipes were provided by members of the GFWC-TFWC Big Spring Junior Woman's Club. The women are hosting their third annual autumn bake sale at the Big Spring Mall from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

All items will be packaged in autumn colors. The recipe will be included with each item. The club will also be selling Christmas or-naments and childrens' necklaces which can be personalized when purchased Proceeds from the sale will be used to help in the city's downtown renovation project.

ORANGE-CHESTNUT STUFFED TURKEY 10-12 pound turkey, thawed if frozen, giblets removed 1/4 cup butter or margarine

½ cup chopped celery 1 medium onion, chopped (½ cup) 1 package (8 ozs.) herb seasoned stuffing mix 3 cups coarsely chopped, cooked or canned chestnuts 3 oranges, peeled, cut in pieces 1 cup orange juice, divided 1/4 cup chopped parsley

1/2 tsp. salt 1/2 tsp. dried rosemary

1/2 tsp. dried leaf thyme, crumbled Rinse turkey; pat dry with paper towels. In large skillet melt butter; saute celery and onion until tender. Stir in stuffing mix, chestnuts, orange pieces, ½ cup orange juice, parsley, salt, rosemary and thyme; mix well. Spoon stuffing loosely into turkey cavity and neck area; close with skewers. Place in a shallow roasting pan, breastside-up. Roast in 325 degree oven for 3 to 31/2 hours or until a meat thermometer inserted in breast meat registers 185 degrees or until juices run clear when the thickest part of the thigh is pierced with a

Brownfield drops Lady Steers

BROWNFIELD — The Big Spring Lady Steers dropped their season opener to the Brownfield Cubs by a slim 47-43 margin here last night.

The Lady Steers, under the direction of new coach Eli Carmichael, let the Cubs make a run in the second half to hold on for the slim win. Leading 14-12 after the first quarter of play, the Cubs ran off a 17-12 spurt to take a comfortable 31-24 halftime lead. The Cubs took advantage of Big Spring mistakes against the press to gave their lead. Big Spring did rally in the final quarter, outscoring their opponenet 11-6, but it too little, too late. Junior forward Teresa Pruitt led the Lady Steers with 15 points and eight rebounds. Senior forward Monique Jones
