Curtis: Firemen pay policy valid

By KEELY COGHLAN

Staff Writer

The city's Fair Labor Standards Act policy does not conflict with a bill signed into law last week, said City Attorney Doyle Curtis.

Under Curtis' interpretation, city policy does not violate the new act. However, that does not mean city officials will not revise their policies, Curtis said Thursday afternoon.

"I just advise on the legalities," he said. "I'm not looking at the political factors."

According to city policy approved Nov. 12, pay rates for personnel in the fire department would be reduced so they would earn about the same amount of money with three hours of regularly scheduled overtime as they did before cities lost their exemption from the Fair Labor Standards Act.

"In my opinion, we are not in violation of the act. The act is not effective until April 15, 1986," Curtis said.

The bill is confusing because it uses an April 15, 1986, effective date, but a clause lists an April 19, 1985, date as the start of its protection for personnel from discrimination, Curtis said.

Curtis' interpretation also is based on the fact that the discrimination clause in the bill does not specifically state that cities cannot reduce employee's pay rates. The Joint Conference Explanatory Statement, however, does contain such a specific prohibition.

Teresa Garland, a legislative aide for Rep. Steve Bartlett, R-Dallas, said the explanatory statement contained information that becomes part of the bill's legislative history. Bartlett was one of the main sponsors of the bill in the House.

The statements "are not law per se," said Tom Duncan, a staff member with the House Parliamentarian's office.

"But it is intended to be part of the bill's legislative history," Duncan said. "It clarifies the intent of the managers of the bill. It may be important in a court case to clarify the meaning of the law."

Curtis said he was waiting on a copy of the final law and the final explanatory statement so he could study it. If Congress did not adopt the conference committee's statement, then it would cease to have any authority.

"If there's an ambiguity in the law, then the statement explains

Summit raises hope for better ties

'Quick fixes won't work'

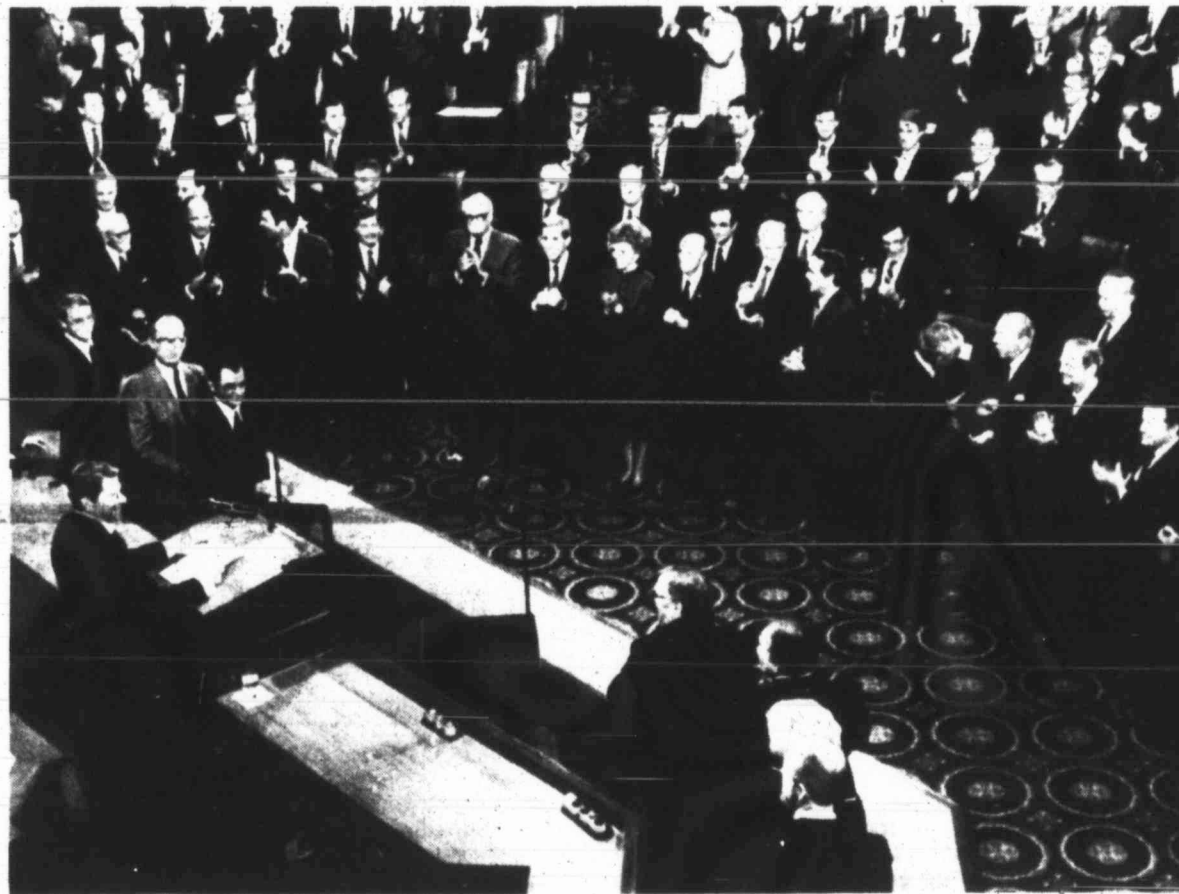

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, making a homecoming report on the U.S.-Soviet summit, called for a new "steady as we go" era with Moscow and won applause from legislators who found "hope rather than accomplishment" in the blunt-spoken meetings in Geneva.

"We are not further along towards an arms control agreement. But we are further along in the personal chemistry in the relationship," said Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., after Reagan's nationally televised address Thursday night on his three days of summitry with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Added Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, "It was a speech that reflected the summit itself. There was little substance, but much hope for improved relations in the future."

Reagan, summing up the first superpower summit in six years, said he, like everyone, is "impatient for results." But, he added, "goodwill and good hopes do not

Congressmen laud leaders

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — Texas congressmen Thursday awarded high marks to President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev for their performance at this week's summit in Geneva.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and Phil Gramm agreed the summit reduced world tensions and raised hope for a serious arms agreement between the two superpowers. However, Bentsen expressed disappointment the world leaders failed to make more progress on arms.

"It is encouraging that the two leaders found they had more to talk about than they had planned on and that they agreed to resume their dialogue in the future," said Bentsen, D-Texas. "Their failure to make any visible headway on the arms control agreement is disappointing."

"I think we laid the foundation for a future agreement," countered Gramm, R-Texas.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, agreed with Gramm, ex-

Vote to raise oil taxes worries White

AUSTIN (AP) — The U.S. House Ways and Means Committee's vote to raise oil industry taxes by $5 billion over four years is "difficult to understand," says Gov. Mark White, who has lobbied against such a move.

White on Thursday said the House committee action will hurt the Texas oil industry and not help the federal budget.

"This tax increase is going to mean more loss of jobs and loss of income for workers in the industry, and that simply isn't the way to raise revenue," White said.

On Wednesday, the Ways and Means Committee voted 29-4 for a crackdown on tax breaks given oil and gas producers. Even at that, the reduction was not as large as committee chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., had wanted.

White last week wrote

Rostenkowski, urging him to carefully consider any tax law changes which would "unduly penalize" the oil and gas industry.

"We in Texas are not going to sit idly by and watch the lifeblood of the Texas economy be leached and our national defense be put in peril by a tax bill that seeks to eliminate deductions for intangible drilling and development costs and percentage depletion allowances," White said then.

Thursday, the governor said he found the Ways and Means Committee's vote "difficult to understand."

White said increasing taxes on oil producers not only will cost jobs but will endanger national defense by increasing the dependence on foreign oil at a time when much of the nation's military hardware runs on petroleum.

He also rapped Treasury Secretary James Baker, saying Baker remained silent until "the last moment" and then "urged committee members to accept a proposal that more than doubles the tax burden on the oil industry, backing off from the $1.9 billion proposal he himself previously submitted."

Food, auto price hikes fuel inflationary trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising food and automobile costs sent consumer prices up 0.3 percent in October, the government said today, breaking a string of five consecutive 0.2 percent monthly increases.

Even with the gain last month, retail prices have risen at an annual rate of just 3.3 percent so far in 1985 and analysts — anticipating the October spurt in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index — cautioned against reading too much into today's report.

Donald Ratajczak of Georgia State University, head of an economic forecasting project that specializes in wholesale and retail price inflation, said, "The acceleration in inflationary pressures appears to be temporary and should become subdued again early in 1986."

But David Ernst of Evans Economics Inc., a private Washington forecasting firm, predicted that the pattern of increase for the next few months was likely to continue on the order of 0.3 percent.

Food prices overall, including restaurant meals and alcoholic beverages, rose 0.4 percent in October compared to a 0.3 percent increase the previous month.

The transportation component, featuring higher prices for automobiles and auto financing, rose 0.2 percent after declining for five straight months.

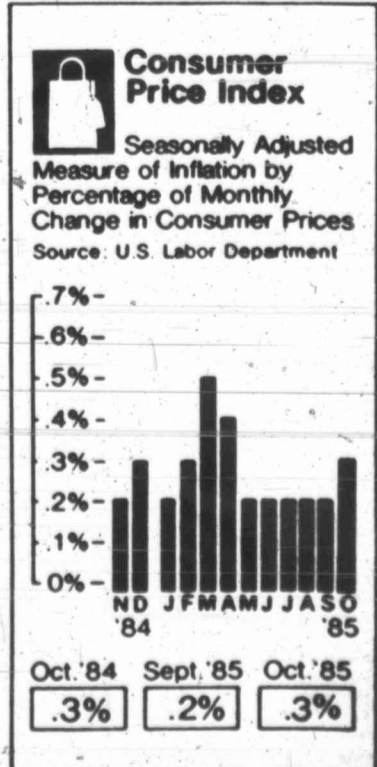

The Labor Department said that increase came mostly because of higher automobile finance charges and insurance costs along with price hikes for 1986 models. Those increases more than offset fresh declines in gasoline prices.

The annual rate increase of 3.3 percent for the first 10 months of 1985 is still the slowest pace since 1967, when consumer prices rose 3 percent. The October index was 3.2 percent above the same month a year ago.

Retail prices rose 4 percent in 1984, 3.8 percent in 1983 and 3.9 percent in 1982.

The department provided these additional details on consumer price activity for October, all adjusted for normal seasonal variations:

—A sharp 3 percent increase in

Kate leaves trail of destruction

PORT ST. JOE, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Kate was downgraded to a tropical storm today, but more than 100,000 people remained without electricity, the capital was virtually without power and Florida's Panhandle was a maze of flooded streets, toppled trees and roofless buildings.

Ninety percent of Tallahassee, the state capital, was blacked out after Kate barreled ashore Thursday, forcing more than 100,000 people to evacuate and spinning at least eight tornadoes across the panhandle and southern Georgia.

The twisters and high wind ripped the roofs off buildings in the Panama City area and Meigs, Ga., toppled Apalachicola's water tower, tore down trees and knocked down power lines in Port St. Joe, Mexico Beach and Tallahassee.

Up to 30,000 homes and businesses were without power Thursday night, from Panama City west to Apalachicola River, Gulf Power Co. said. Eight Florida Power Co. substations were knocked out and 90 percent of Tallahassee, a city of about 89,500, was blacked out early today, said Joy McIlwain, a spokeswoman for the state Division of Emergency Management.

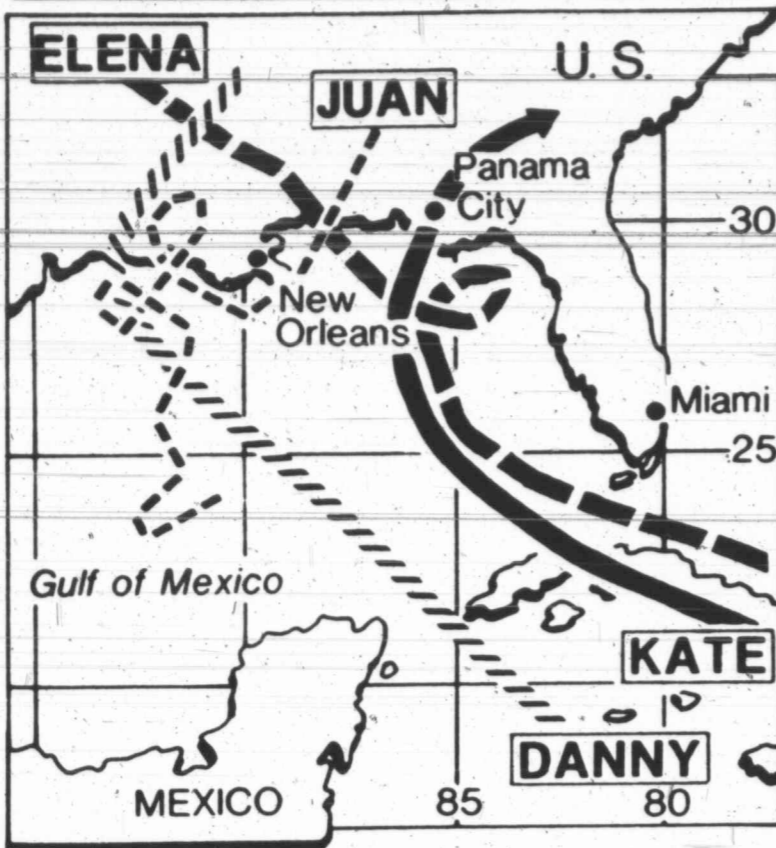

Two people drowned when their fishing boat capsized in Kate's high seas, one man was electrocuted when he stepped on a utility line and an 81-year-old woman died of a heart attack after being evacuated.

The 11th named storm of the 1985 Atlantic hurricane season, Kate was blamed for up to 10 deaths and "grave" destruction to crops and property in Cuba.

Streets were impassable, flooded by heavy rainfall or blocked by fallen trees and coastal roads, which had taken a beating from previous hurricanes Elena and Juan, were crumbling into the Gulf of Mexico in several areas.

Whitcaps were reported on flooded U.S. 98 in Apalachicola as the tide rose Thursday night.

HURRICANE ALLEY 1985

This map shows the paths of the four hurricanes that have hit the Gulf Coast in 1985. Hurricane Kate, the latest in a series that made more than 100,000 people flee for the fourth time in as many months, left the Florida Panhandle without power and turned it into a maze of flooded streets, toppled trees and roofless buildings.

Emergency officials warned evacuees to remain in shelters for the night.

Kate's 20-mile-wide eye hit land between Panama City and Apalachicola with maximum sustained winds of 85 mph and gusts higher than 100 mph.

At 5 a.m. EST, Kate's center was near latitude 32.0 north, longitude 82.0 west, about 100 miles west of Savannah, Ga. The storm was moving east-northeast about 20 mph and was expected to emerge over the Georgia-South Carolina coast by midday.

Its peak winds were near 55 mph with stronger gusts in squalls and forecasters said little change was expected in either its speed or strength.

In Georgia, Kate was toppling trees and utility lines today, but authorities reported no injuries. Georgia Power Co. spokesman Rick Rountree estimates between 2,000 and 3,000 customers without power in south Georgia "and that's probably a conservative estimate."

"It is a mess down here. All of our lights are out, all of our radios are out, everything," said Sheila Cason of the Grady County Sheriff's Department in Thomasville, Ga.

Two houses were damaged by tornadoes in Meigs, officials said.

"As far as any substantial damage is concerned, I think we've already seen the worst," said forecaster Mark Zimmer. "The storm has been over land for ... hours now, and the winds are down to about 75 mph. Unless there are some heavy rains or tornadoes, I don't think you'll see any serious damage."

Hurricane warnings from just east of Destin to St. Marks were expected to be lowered early today, forecasters said. Tides 8 to 12 feet above normal were expected to continue through this morning.

"I can tell you, it's bad right now," operator Merle Weeks said Thursday at the St. Joseph Telephone & Telegraph Co. in Port St. Joe. "I can't see outside, but I can hear it."

Fifty-three National Guardsmen patrolled evacuated areas on Gulf County on Thursday and 346 were on standby, said Lt. Col. John McNairy from the Guard's emergency operations center in St. Augustine.

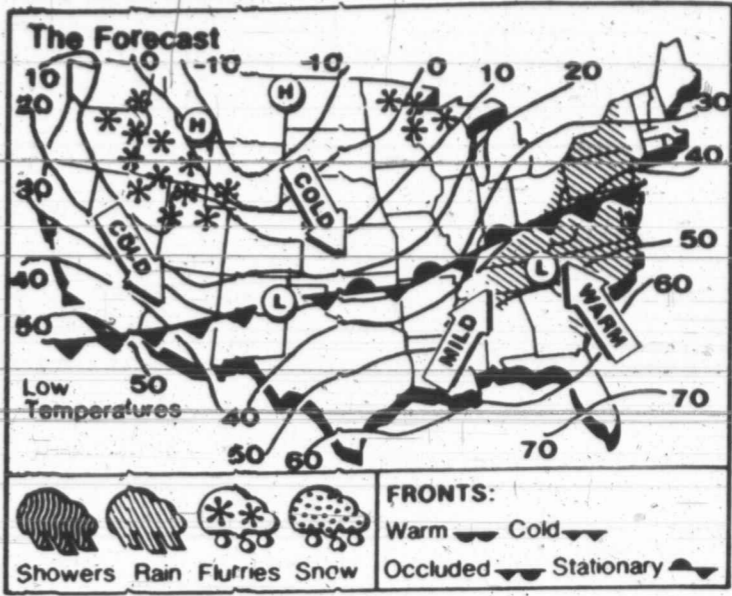

Tornadoes touched down in Panama City and Calhoun County, and high winds tore part of the roof off a school being used as a shelter in nearby Callaway. The roof of the two-story federal building in Panama City was blown off. No injuries were reported in either incident.

More than 100,000 people were evacuated from 10 Florida counties starting Wednesday.

Secretary of Labor so he could review them.

Curtis questioned the scope of the Supreme Court ruling in the San Antonio case that has been interpreted as meaning that cities and states are no longer exempt from the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Curtis interprets the case much more narrowly, saying the court ruled only that city employees in non-traditional capacities, particularly transit authority employees, were not exempt from the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Providing police and fire protection and water service are traditional capacities of cities, according to a 1974 court ruling, Curtis said.

Attorneys for the international organization of the firefighter's union local view the bill differently, however. In a memo sent to firefighters here, they describe a battle over whether reducing wages to employees because of the act is illegal, and say a compromise worked out in the conference committee on the legislative history now makes such a reduction illegal.

Deaths

Mrs. Juan Moreno

Services for Mrs. Juan (Maria C.) Moreno, 55, will be at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Nalley-Pickle and Welch-Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Kenneth Seamans, pastor of the Airport Baptist Church, officiating.

Man arrested on warrants

Police arrested Fernando Morales of 1101 Nolan at 3:10 p.m. Thursday at his residence for failure to identify himself and on warrants from Big Spring and Anson for failure to appear in court, driving without a license and running a red light, according to police reports.

Police were sent to Morales's residence in reference to a burglary. Morales gave a fictitious name when contacted by the officer, the reports stated.

Checks, money order stolen

Karen Bell, Coahoma city clerk, told Howard County sheriff's deputies Friday morning that two checks and a money order were stolen from a letter drop at Coahoma City Hall sometime between Nov. 9-11.

The checks were written for $26.30 and $20.90, and the money order was for $51.00.

Deputies arrested Ricky Lynn

Fox, 21, of 3304 Auburn on a warrant charging him with issuing a bad check.

He was released after paying a $297.39 fine.

Police transferred James Curtis Hayes, 23, of 1002 N. Main to county jail after he was arrested for burglary. He was released on $10,000 bond.

3 enter guilty pleas

Two persons pleaded guilty in 118th District Court and another pleaded guilty in Howard County Court on Thursday.

District Parole Officer David Harmon also reported a parole violation case that resulted in a Big Spring man returning to the Texas Department of Corrections.

Albert Bolden Williams, 37, of Caldwell pleaded guilty in district court to theft. He was arrested Oct. 13 in the 300 block of N.W. Third.

District Judge James Gregg sentenced him to two years at the state penitentiary.

Virginia Odzozelik, 28, of 2201 Main pleaded guilty in district court to violating the terms of probation she received in April for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Gregg sentenced her to seven years at TDC.

She was transferred from county jail to TDC early Friday morning.

Stephen Taylor Christian, 22, of 1107 S. Goliad waived his right to a parole hearing, Harmon said, and will return to the state penitentiary to serve a four-year sentence for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and criminal mischief.

He was arrested Oct. 19 and admitted violating his parole, Harmon said.

Michael David Hadorn, 26, of Route 3 pleaded guilty in county court to violating his probation for a driving while intoxicated judgment. County Judge Milton Kirby sentenced him to 60 days in jail.

Hadorn had been transferred from Ector County jail Thursday morning by sheriff's deputies.

pressing hope that the summit "served to reduce tension and misunderstanding between our two nations."

Stenholm added: "The extensive personal contacts, the scheduling of future meetings and the new cultural accords should all contribute to reduce the likelihood of conflict."

Reagan, who addressed a joint session of Congress Thursday night, has scheduled additional summits with the Soviet leader next year in the United States and in the Soviet Union in 1987.

"The two sides have confirmed the importance of an ongoing dialogue, reflecting their common desire to seek common ground on existing problems," Reagan and Gorbachev said in a joint statement.

Reagan and Gorbachev signed agreements on cultural exchanges, air safety in the North Pacific and solar technology research. The superpower leaders, however, failed to come to terms on arms control.

alcoholic beverage prices, due to an average $2 per gallon hike in the federal excise tax for distilled spirits on Oct. 1, was mostly responsible for the sharper increase in overall food and beverage prices, which had risen just 0.3 percent in September.

The 0.2 percent increase in prices for food purchased in grocery stores was the same as in September and would have been more modest but for a 2.1 percent hike in beef and veal prices. Prices for restaurant meals rose an average of just 0.1 percent in October after a 0.5 percent gain in the preceding month.

Automobile finance charges rose 1.9 percent after 10 straight months of declines. Insurance costs rose a matching 1.9 percent, mostly a reflection of higher prices for 1986 model cars.

New car prices themselves rose 0.5 percent after a 0.3 percent rise in September.

Gasoline prices, however, were down 0.8 percent for the fourth straight month.

always yield lasting results. Quick fixes don't fix big problems."

For his part, Gorbachev left snowy Geneva with a message that mixed hope with a straightforward reminder that there are serious obstacles to the comprehensive arms control agreement that both men said they seek.

"I would be so bold as to say the world has become a more secure place" because of the three days of meetings, the Soviet leader told a news conference. But he issued a fresh condemnation of Reagan's so-called "Star Wars" plan for a space-based missile defense, saying that unless the president compromises, "all restraint will be blown to the wind" in the arms race.

The Gorbachev news conference and the Reagan speech were the final acts of a summit drama whose principal agreement — aside from accords on cultural exchanges and diplomatic facilities — was a decision for future summits. The two men will meet again in Washington next year and Moscow in 1987.

They failed to come up with a new framework for arms control talks, but Reagan said, "We are both instructing our negotiators to hasten their vital work. The world is waiting for results."

That was certainly true in Congress, where most lawmakers praised Reagan's trip and expressed optimism about the future, even as a few critics complained there had been few concrete achievements.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., called the summit "a hopeful beginning to a process of dialogue and negotiations which we hope will become more comprehensive and bring more concrete progress in the future."

The indictments were disclosed Thursday by Attorney General Edwin Meese, who vowed that the United States will "continue to pursue this case in every way possible" and predicted that the hijackers eventually will be caught.

JFK remembered

DALLAS — A wreath-laying ceremony today by Green Berets in honor of slain President John F. Kennedy marks the last time members of the elite Army unit he created will commemorate his assassination, an official says.

Sgt. Major Joe Lopez, of Arlington, said the Dallas chapter has placed a wreath at the JFK Memorial here on Nov. 22 each year.

Cuca Garcia-Flores holds up her newly issued card of citizenship Thursday in Eagle Pass. Members of the tribe were given U.S. citizenship after a brief ceremony. The group was not recognized by the United States until 1983 and recognition as a Texas Indian tribe came in May of this year.

Fresh chapter Kickapoos eager to build new lives

EAGLE PASS (AP) — The Texas Kickapoo Indians, having cleared the hurdle of gaining U.S. citizenship, now focus attention on moving out of their bamboo hut village and onto a new reservation, officials say.

"We are hopeful that in the future we can get rid of all these shacks where they have been living — tear them all down," said former U.S. Rep. Abraham "Chick" Kazen.

Kazen, a Democrat from Laredo, sponsored legislation in Congress in 1983 that gave the Texas Kickapoos the opportunity to file for U.S. citizenship.

Thursday, citizenship cards for 143 of the 536-member tribe were turned over to tribal council leader Raul Garza, who later distributed them to the Kickapoos.

"He cannot tell you how everyone feels. But he feels very, very happy," said Nakai Breen, a Cherokee and spokeswoman for the Kickapoos, interpreting for Garza.

Mrs. Breen said Garza told her U.S. citizenship "is going to better their life."

The Indians now are eligible for government health care, food stamps and other welfare services.

The next step for the Texas Kickapoos, a branch of the Kickapoo tribe living on a reservation in central Oklahoma, is to build suitable housing on a 125-acre tract of land south of Eagle Pass.

The land was purchased earlier this year with donations from various churches.

The Kickapoos for years have lived in primitive bamboo and cardboard huts underneath the international bridge at Eagle Pass.

Migrant farm laborers, they have drifted from Mexico to the northern United States annually. But they have made Eagle Pass their permanent home.

James Wahpepah of the Oklahoma tribe said he hopes the Texas Kickapoos now can bring industry to Eagle Pass and "get away from farm laboring."

"I hope we will become self-sufficient," he said, adding the Kickapoos want to vote and serve in the military.

At the citizenship ceremonies at the Eagle Pass National Guard armory, Kazen said he hoped the tribe and its supporters could "move a little faster to get proper homes for you."

"Now you will be formally recognized as American citizens. Then you should be proud to do for yourself and get involved," Kazen urged.

"No one's handing it to you. We're just extending a helping hand. You've got to do it yourself," he said.

Last volcano survivors

BOGOTA, Colombia — Two people rescued from a stone church steeple a week after a deluge of volcanic mud covered almost every other building in Armero may be the last survivors to be found, a Red Cross spokesman said.

Also Thursday, President Belisario Betancur defended a government-ordered evacuation drill that sent thousands of residents of a town near the Nevado del Ruiz volcano running into the hills on a rainy night.

Searchers confirm find

BANGKOK, Thailand — A joint U.S.-Vietnamese team searching for remains of four American MIAs has confirmed that wreckage they unearthed is from a U.S. Air Force B-52 bomber, a spokeswoman said today.

Vietnamese who are working at the site side-by-side with the American team say the plane was shot down 13 years ago during the Vietnam War.

Groups fight over flag

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Moslem militias divided over which flag should wave from government buildings as Lebanon celebrates its Independence Day today battled with tanks and multi-barrelled rocket launchers for control of a strategic sector of west Beirut.

Police said at least 20 people were killed and 80 wounded in three days of fighting between the Shiite Amal militia and Druse Progressive Socialist Party. The Druse tried to tear down Lebanese flags and raise their banners instead.

Envoy meets captors

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Anglican church envoy Terry Waite said today he has met twice more with the kidnappers of American hostages and faces "very grave difficulties" in his efforts to free the captives.

But Waite said he believes the problems can be resolved with more work.

"A good measure of mutual trust has been established and I am able to say that progress is being made," he told reporters in a news conference at the Commodore Hotel.

Curb weapons and save lives

Would you like to buy an automatic weapon? A recent newspaper advertisement offered a machine gun for only $449.50.

Magazines offer all sorts of automatic weapons, and people are buying them.

One hunter in Arizona ran across a couple of men with automatic weapons in the woods this fall. Both were dressed in camouflage suits. They proudly demonstrated their weapons to the nervous hunter.

It is doubtful that the gunmen were hunting with their military weapons. But the hunter wondered what they were doing. He did not ask and beat a retreat as soon as he felt it was wise.

During the last few years, we have read a number of articles about paramilitary and survival groups training in backwoods places. Members and students are instructed how to kill in hand-to-hand combat with knives, high-powered guns and grenades.

While legislators and law enforcement officials take a dim view of such activities, they do little to curb them.

If we do not want to become a nation of Rambos, we had better adopt tougher laws controlling the sale and possession of military-type weapons. They have no valid civilian use in a peaceful and law-abiding society.

Raising a super baby has charm

It all started the other morning as my son and I were sitting at the breakfast table, I watching Bullwinkle cartoons and he perusing the New York Times.

Now it may strike you as odd that a 3-month-old in a high chair would be reading the New York Times over breakfast. It is. Normally by that hour he is already through the Times and halfway through his mail edition of Le Monde. But his organic chemistry class had run late the previous night, so he had slept in a few extra minutes.

"Did you see this article about the researchers who think it's unwise to push infants into early education?" he asked, puffing on his meerschaum. Uh-uh, I mumbled, annoyed at this distraction from "Fractured Fairy Tales."

He ignored the hint. "They say that this 'hothousing' of young children may achieve only rote learning, may foster neuroses and may stifle an enjoyment of life," he continued, oblivious to the pipe ashes spilling on his Winnie the Pooh pajamas. "They say that small children profit the most from unstructured play. Brian Sutton-Smith of the University of Pennsylvania even says, 'If you get hothoused, you end up being a rotten tomato.'"

Well, that's just great. Who is this Brian Sutton-Smith anyway? And where was he three months ago, when I was in the delivery room after my son was born, acquainting the new arrival with his multiplication tables? Probably snoozing away at a faculty meeting, while his kids were at home in the sandbox, letting their mental potential waste away.

Me, I wasted no time in getting my son's synapses into fighting trim. By the time he left the hospital, he was correcting my grammar and memorizing the table of chemical elements. By the end of his first month, he was reading Thomas Aquinas in the original Latin, programming his computer to handle statistical regressions and prepping for the law boards.

I don't mean to brag, but this was considerably more than I was led to expect. The achievements of one 20-month-old prodigy were reported breathlessly: "He plays the violin, knows several hundred Japanese kanji and is an 'instant' mathematician, dealing in arithmetic, geometry and algebra." Poor thing — only geometry and algebra? I'm afraid the second generation of super babies has made that child as obsolete as a Stanley Steamer.

Now along comes some conference of self-appointed experts to give me the Emily Litella treatment: "Never mind." Of course they would say that. They didn't get the "super baby" treatment when they were small, so they resent kids who are more fortunate. And their brains have been hopelessly stunted anyway, by parents who let them waste their time as infants cuddling stuffed animals and listening to Mother Goose rhymes.

To be honest, these retrograde theorists have no grasp of the benefits to parents of raising super babies. The profits from my boy's export-import business came as a nice bonus, and I figured that when the Nobel Prize committee comes calling, the folks could expect a little beach house in Malibu. On the days when his father's creative juices ran dry, my boy would take over my column, appeasing my readers while enabling me to spend the afternoon at the race track or seeing "Rambo" for the 12th time.

But that was before Brian Sutton-Smith and the New York Times conspired to mess up a nice arrangement. You see, my son resents all the unstructured play he's missed. Although he realizes it's too late in the game for him to start entertaining himself with crib toys and music boxes — besides, he says, "I've got a payroll to meet" — he sees no reason to indulge my juvenile tastes.

So no more fun and games. Now it's study, study, study, trying to master differential equations and slog my way through one of Henry James' more impenetrable tomes. Watching all this, the kid grins as he relights his pipe and winks impishly: "A super baby deserves a super father, don't you think?"

Libya's water war has a political ax to grind

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — No one in the American Southwest needs to be told that access to such water sources as the Colorado River can spell the difference between lush farmland and jackrabbit country. Powerful interests have battled in the courts for decades over the right to share the limited water supplies that can turn a desert green.

Half a world away, Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi is planning a "water war" of his own. But he'll fight it with earth-moving equipment — and tanks and planes if necessary. His long-range objective, intelligence sources suspect, is to bring Egypt to its knees by cutting off the waters of the Nile, which have sustained Egypt for millennia.

Ostensibly, Qaddafi's grandiose scheme to run a pipeline 1,200 miles from an underground lake in southern Libya to the Mediterranean coast is simply an ambitious plan to make the desert bloom where the bulk of Libya's population lives. The project, which could cost as much as $25 billion, would irrigate 450,000 acres along the coast. Qaddafi has dubbed his project "The Great Manmade River."

The economic goal of the pipeline is arguably benign, if a bit harebrained, considering that its cost is more than double Libya's entire annual income from oil sales. But it's the suspected political goal that has Western intelligence sources concerned.

Both Egypt and Sudan are fearful that if Libya succeeds in draining the underground lake in the Kufra Oasis, their own aquifers will be drained, too, perhaps lowering the level of the Nile far to the east and Lake Chad even farther to the southwest.

The Egyptians fear that Qaddafi wouldn't stop at just poaching underground water supplies, but has a secret plan to extend his pipeline from Kufra south and then east to the Nile in northern Sudan. The distance would be about the same as the publicly announced pipeline from Kufra to the Mediterranean. The Egyptians note that Qaddafi is already building a 160-mile road from Kufra to the Sudanese border — and the Nile is only another 325 miles away across the empty desert.

Alarming evidence that Qaddafi is plotting a water war was uncovered by Egyptian intelligence early last year. It was a plan, confirmed a year later by a defecting Libyan pilot, to bomb the Aswan High Dam in southern Egypt, draining the huge water reserves in Lake Nasser and robbing Cairo 700 miles north of life-giving water and electricity.

Qaddafi himself was surprisingly candid about his ambitions in an interview last August with a Cairo newspaper.

"I imagine that it is possible," he said, "to link the Nile to the Great Manmade River in Libya, that the Libyan and Egyptian deserts can turn green, and that the Western Desert can yield fruits and become a green carpet... I would imagine that Lake Nasser will be linked to al-Kufra, the source of the Great Manmade River. Will we not thus create paradise on earth?"

A less beatific view of Qaddafi's intentions was expressed last year by then-President Gaafar Nimeiri of Sudan, who was ousted in a coup April 6. He told reporters that Qaddafi was already waging a water war, "causing starvation through controlling the River Nile water." He pointed out that "this war has grave consequences for Sudan, but it is a matter of life and death for Egypt, which is wholly dependent on the Nile water."

The suspicious Nimeiri has now been replaced by Sudanese leaders much friendlier to Qaddafi — and much less friendly to Egypt. Qaddafi has already persuaded them to stop work on a canal in southern Sudan that would have increased the flow of usable Nile water by 4 billion cubic meters, half of it allotted to Egypt.

TERRORIST WATCH: Damascus is fast becoming the terrorist capital of the world. Among the extremist groups that have set up headquarters there, under the watchful eye of Syrian secret police, are the dissident Palestinian factions opposed to Yasser Arafat, the Armenian Secret Liberation Army, the Kurdish Democratic Army and various Shiite groups plotting to overthrow Iraqi strong man Saddam Hussein. Meanwhile, on another terrorism front, the Red Army Faction and associated leftist radical groups have resurfaced in West Germany, directing terrorist attacks against American military facilities — and U.S. service personnel.

MIDWEST MALAISE: Congress and the White House are locked in combat over new legislation to help America's farmers. Whoever wins, the farmers seem doomed to lose anyway, heading inexorably into the worst financial crisis since the Great Depression. The Midwest's aging smokestack industries can no longer pick up the slack in an agricultural recession, and high wages and energy costs exacerbate the situation. A grim yardstick of the Midwest's plight is the number of farm banks that have collapsed this year — more than half the national total of failed banks. The ripple effect of bank failures on rural areas is immense.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The Federal Aviation Administration recently rebuffed 38 self-important members of Congress, who whined that Supreme Court justices and diplomats were taking up too much room in the V.I.P. parking lot at National Airport. The FAA refused to exclude the justices and diplomats from the lot. We applaud this spunky decision, but think it didn't go far enough.

Muddy sport defies odds

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
What induces courage to be brought out of a man for those of us watching to learn and gain by?

"A little Crown and Coke and a little help from my so-called friends," said Glen Daniels, 27, of Big Spring who works at Fiberflex.

Daniels defied all odds Tuesday night at Players when he stepped into a mud-filled wrestling rink to take on three members of the Dirty Dallas Dolls.

He chortled. He grabbed. He slipped. He pinned. He got pinned.

But most of all, he got muddy. Daniels indeed became "Creature of the Mud Lagoon" at the conclusion of his performance.

We the audience shuddered — then cried. Yes, ladies and gentlemen — it was that inspirational.

"Wrestling a woman," he said, "yea, it felt pretty good."

The bravery of this superstar.

Buddy Brown's wrestling entourage consisted of Crystal Snow of Corpus Christi, a lean little wrestler who told me before the first match that this wasn't "a strip show."

There was Debbie Davidson of St. Charles, La., who wrestled with authority all night long, and of course "Big Mama" — donned in black leotards and a black mask a la Mr. Medic.

How did it come about that Daniels risked his life stepping into that ring?

His friends, of course.

They passed the hat to take financial donations. They ordered him another drink. They urged other audience members to cheer him on.

Daniels stripped down to his blue jeans. He took a last belt of Crown and Coke before stepping up to the ring to test the muddy slop with his big toe.

Destiny handled the rest.

He took two out of three falls against both Snow and Davidson. He was in the process of doing the same against "Big Mama" when the match unexpectedly was halted because of a $100 prankster dare from an irresponsible audience member.

Daniels, like a true champion, shrugged it off and hosed down afterwards outside in the freezing air.

Would he ever consider a repeat performance?

"I'd do it again," he said.

And what separates the men from the boys or the girls from the big mamas in mud wrestling?

Eating the mud.

"It doesn't taste very good," Daniels said. "They don't even add no sugar to it."

Personal spending drops to 25-year low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans' personal spending plummeted 0.9 percent last month, the biggest decline in almost 25 years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department attributed the big plunge to a drop in car sales following an auto-buying binge in August and September.

Personal income rose 0.4 percent in October, the best gain since a 1 percent rise in April.

The big spending spurt had left consumer debt levels at a record high and the personal savings level at a record low. Given those two factors, analysts had predicted that spending will slow sharply in coming months as consumers take a breathing spell.

This slowdown is expected to have adverse effects on the overall economy. Since consumer spending makes up almost two-thirds of the gross national product, many analysts are predicting extremely weak growth in coming months.

The government reported Wednesday that the GNP grew at a 4.3 percent annual rate this past summer, the fastest clip in more than a year.

While the Reagan administration is forecasting growth will top 5 percent this quarter, few private analysts are that optimistic. Many are looking for a slump to around a 3 percent growth level with even further weakness in the first half of next year.

The 0.9 percent drop in the spending rate matched a 0.9 percent decline in February 1984 and was the largest since a 1.2 percent plunge in December 1980.

The October fall followed strong gains of 1.2 percent in September and 1.1 percent in August.

During both of those months, car sales soared as consumers rushed to take advantage of attractive cut-rate financing deals. Those incentives were removed in October and car sales fell sharply and remained depressed in early November.

The department reported that purchases of durable goods declined at an annual rate of $40.1 billion last month after rising at an annual rate of $17.9 billion in September with new car sales accounting for the giant swing.

The 0.4 percent personal income gain followed smaller 0.3 percent increases in both September and August.

The stronger income gain last month came despite the fact that growth in wages and salaries was below the September pace. Payrolls rose at an annual rate of $7.6 billion in October compared to a September gain of $12.6 billion.

Manufacturing payrolls did show a big jump, reflecting an increase of 60,000 jobs in this sector, only the second monthly rise in factory employment this year. Manufacturing wages rose at an annual rate of $2.4 billion last month following a tiny $200 million September gain.

Farm proprietors' incomes were up $1.2 billion in October following a September decline of $400 million.

Disposable income, the amount of money left after taxes are paid, rose 0.4 percent in October, twice the 0.2 percent September increase.

The changes left Americans' savings as a percentage of disposable income at 2.9 percent in October, up slightly from the record low of 1.8 percent hit in September.

With the changes, the personal income level was left at $3.22 trillion while personal consumption spending.

CLEAN to concentrate on Area 6

The Chamber of Commerce's CLEAN committee campaign will continue Saturday with Area 6, which is bounded north by 11th Place, south and east by FM 700 and west by Gregg Street.

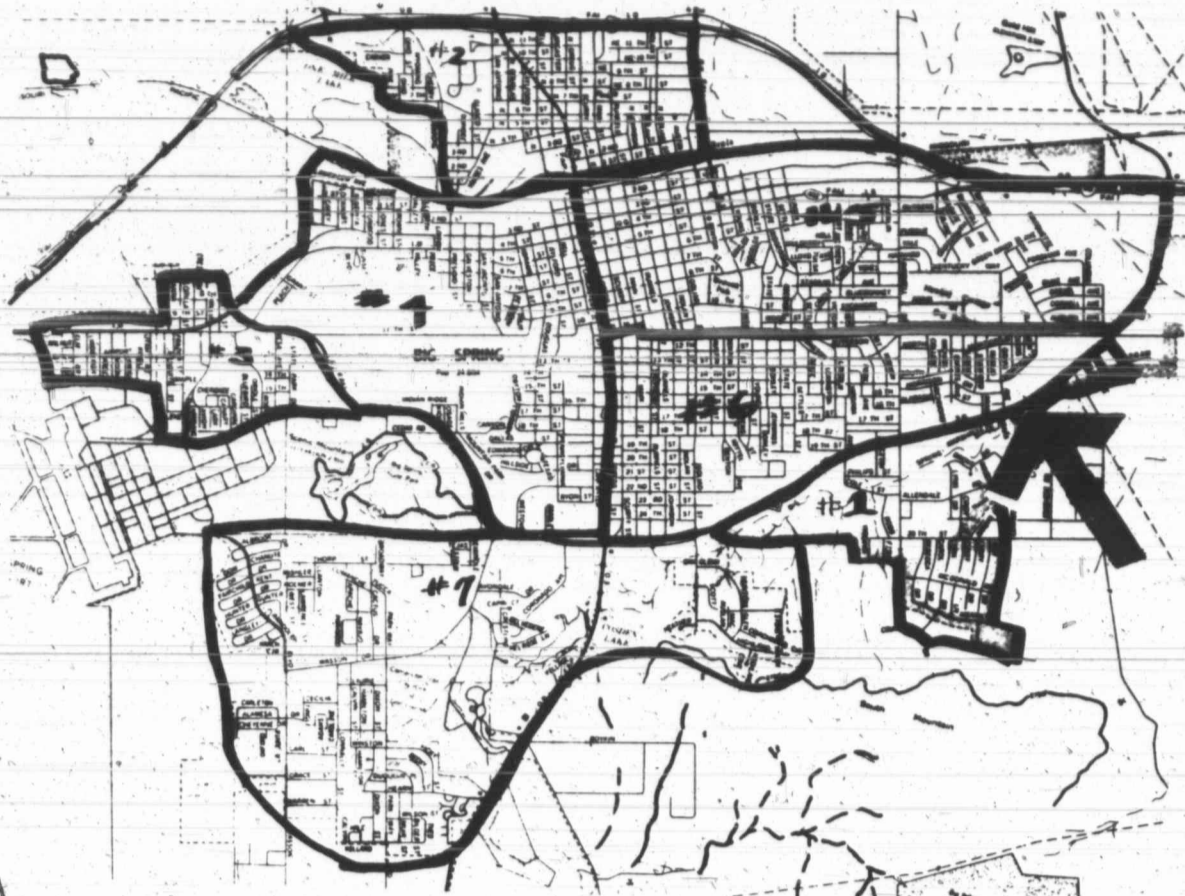

Crews will collect trash items such as tree branches, furniture pieces and appliances that are too large to place in dumpsters. Items to be discarded should be placed at the curb in front of residences and not in alleys.

The citywide cleanup is being done in coordination with the city of Big Spring. The Nov. 30 pickup has been canceled because of Thanksgiving holidays.

The revised schedule is:

- Area 7 — Coronado, Highland, Capehart, Douglas, north FM 700, south city limits, west C.L. and east Highway 87, Dec. 7

- Area 1 — Kentwood, north FM 700, south city limits, West Virginia and east-central Grafa, Dec. 14.

The Chamber of Commerce's CLEAN campaign continues Saturday with Area 6. The cleanup will skip a Saturday for Thanksgiving holidays and will continue for two more Saturdays.

Dear Abby

A special gift

DEAR ABBY: This is for that lady whose family wouldn't sign the papers for her to donate her organs after she died.

I had a brother and his name was Andy. He was 9 years old. He was blind and paralyzed. Andy died last August. His blindness was caused by brain damage, so he could donate his corneas.

Some people told me they thought that was gross, and I told them, "It was not gross because now somebody can see. They can really see!" It doesn't hurt so much knowing that Andy died because his dying did somebody some good. A 9-year-old boy who was blind and paralyzed was able to make somebody see.

I am 11 years old and already decided that I want to donate my organs after I die.

That lady in Texas who wanted her organs donated but couldn't get her family to sign for her should tell her family, "Just because you are against something doesn't give you the right to decide for everybody else."

JILL TURNER

DEAR JILL: Thank you for stating a principle that deserves to be carved in stone. You have centuries of wisdom stored in that 11-year-old head. Please write again and send me your address. I have a gift for you.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine and I work at the same location about 30 miles out of town. Since he doesn't own a car, and it wasn't really out of my way to pick him up and take him home, I was only too happy to have him ride along.

It's been a year now, and these thoughts have crossed my mind: I am spending $250 a month on car payments and $45 a month on gasoline. Meanwhile, my friend is saving a bundle.

I've spoken with a number of people who say they have the same problem, and the only solution we agreed on was to sell our cars and freeload on other people for transportation.

However, we find it hard to put our feet down because we really aren't going out of our way to pick up these riders.

Please print this.

NOT A TAXI

DEAR NOT: A person who "rides along" daily should not have to be prompted to give the driver a gift, or fill the gas tank occasionally. But since your passenger apparently needs a small needle, I'm printing your letter and hope it penetrates.

Dr. Donohue

Osteopetrosis is opposite of Osteoporosis

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the difference between osteoporosis and osteopetrosis? Which is more serious? — R.K.

You really can't compare the two conditions. Both, of course, are bone abnormalities. And that's what they have in common.

Petrosis is Greek for "rocklike," and in osteopetrosis, that's the way the bone appears in an X-ray; it's so dense that X-rays do not penetrate. It shows extremely white.

Osteoporosis, on the other hand, produces pictures where bone appears as a faint shadow, because X-rays pass right through the thinned substance. Between the extremes of whiteness and shadow lies the nice grayness of healthy bone substance.

The two conditions differ also in their genesis. Osteoporosis, of course, stems from deficient bone substance (chiefly of calcium) and it most often develops over many years. Osteopetrosis is inherited and is most often found in children.

I should have noted earlier a second similarity of the two conditions. Both lead to bone fragility. Despite its density, osteopetrosis, like the osteoporotic kind, breaks easily.

Also, there are varying degrees of severity of each. The bone density can be so slight as to pose no health problem. Some osteopetrosis can, however, be very serious and incapacitating.

Which is more serious of the two? You can never make blanket statements to answer that question. Either can be quite dangerous. In its serious forms, however, one would have to consider the osteopetrosis problem more troublesome because of its inheritance factor. There is little to do for it. Osteoporosis, as you have been hearing lately, can be prevented and alleviated with attention to diet (calcium) and exercise.

You are the first person to ever mention osteopetrosis in a letter. That will give you an idea of its rarity.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My aunt is a sweet lady of 79. She has started having problems with infections. She turns very yellow and has to go to the hospital frequently to have a shunt (whatever that is) removed and a new one put into her stomach. I feel that possibly if she ate sensibly her problems might not be so severe. She turns very yellow just before she has to go to the hospital. She has gotten really thin. She also suffers from diarrhea quite often. All we know is that there is some kind of blockage and that is why they insert the shunt, I presume. Can you comment? — Mrs. T.C.

I hope I've gotten this straight. If I have, I would guess that your aunt has something blocking the drainage of bile from her gall bladder, perhaps a tumor of the pancreas. The pancreas and gall bladder share a common duct for emptying digestive juices into the intestines. A tumor can block that and cause the symptoms you describe.

The shunt is a detour around the blocked duct. Such artificial tubes tend to get blocked from time to time, and do require replacement. Signs of blockage would be jaundice, from backup of bile pigment, which eventually shows up in skin cells. Diarrhea is another sign — as the important digestive enzymes become deficient.

Diet has little to do with her blockage, but is still important for several reasons. She has to have specific instructions, emphasizing foods that can be digested with deficient enzymes. She may need certain enzymes provided. She has to replace all the fluid lost in her diarrhea bouts. She also probably needs vitamins.

I can't go any further. I'm already way beyond the bounds of reasonable speculation, but she does need help.

Program on education presented

Dee Dee Cauley, a former F.B.I. agent, was the speaker at a meeting of the Mary Jane Club recently. The group met in the home of Mrs. Horace Nash.

Cauley, who is also a licensed counselor and American history teacher, is currently on a maternity leave from public schools. She was assisted in her speech by Lou Ann Stallings. Both women are members of Concerned Women for America.

The women gave criteria for evaluating the education students are receiving. They asked, "Can your child really read?" They said there are 23 million functionally illiterate people in the United States.

The women said many children are taught the "Look-Say" method of reading. They recommended teaching phonics. They said at the end of first grade, a child who is taught phonics can master 240,000 words as opposed to the Look-Say goal of 350 words.

The women also asked, "Is there child abuse in your child's classroom?" The women urged members to check their child's school to find out what is being taught and what games and activities children engage in.

Members brought gifts for the Big Spring State Hospital Christmas parties. The next meeting will be a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Don McKinney on Dec. 12.

Ruth Appleton is given birthday reception

Ruth Appleton was honored Sunday with a reception at Coahoma State Bank in celebration of her 75th birthday.

Hosting the event were her children: Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Weldon Appleton of San Antonio,

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Firenza of Lubbock and Mrs. James Coates of Coahoma; and her grandchildren: Lt. and Mrs. Robert Appleton of Killeen, Joan Appleton of Houston, Scott and Shawn Firenza of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Daryle Coates, Cheryl and Blake Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Coates, Brent Coates, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Coates, Cassie Coates and Ralston Coates, all of Big Spring.

The honoree was given a corsage of pink carnations.

Extension Homemakers host Thanksgiving dinner

Forsan (11-0) vs. Goldthwaite (11-0)

This Area championship game between undefeated Forsan and Goldthwaite promises to be a real struggle. Both teams have playoff experience and come into the game feeling that the winner could go as far as the state finals.

Forsan will attack the solid Eagle defense with a power running game that has not been stopped so far this season. Goldthwaite has relied on its speed on defense to hold seven opponents under 100 yards this season. But will they be able to handle the likes of Bruce Strickland and Wayne Wright up the middle all night?

Forsan's top-rated defenders will also be challenged by Goldthwaite's Wishbone formation. It will be the first the Buffaloes have seen the formation this year. Forsan will have to figure out the Eagle option game quickly or big play man Doug Holtzclaw is liable to break a long run.

Another overlooked factor that could decide the game is Forsan's little used passing attack. If the Eagles start stacking against the run, Buff quarterback Brant Nichols won't hesitate to air it out.

In the end, this game will probably be determined by field position. Special teams play could make the difference if both defenses play up to their reputations.

Look for plenty of hard hitting and one or two big plays that will spell victory for the team with the most poise.

The ninth-ranked Buffaloes are looking for a little respect. Tonight they will earn it.

Queens blast Cisco, 77-66

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

Howard College Hawk Queen coach Don Steven's freshman laden team took a crash course in maturity during a rough season opening schedule in which they lost five games. The young Queens learned their lesson well as they dominated a strong Cisco Junior College squad 77-66 Thursday night at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Playing with post-season poise, the Queens used balanced scoring and flawless ball handling to upset the highly touted Lady Wranglers, who came into the contest at 5-2.

"I'm really pleased we've put two good games together," said Stevens. "You never know with freshmen, but the girls played with a lot of poise. We beat a good team with some quality inside people."

Topping all scorers on the night was Queen leading scorer Lorri French with 20 points. Freshman guard Pam Franklin enjoyed another outstanding game directing the Queen offense ending up with 16 points on the night.

"Pam had a great game. She showed a lot of poise against their press and directed the offense well," commented Stevens.

Franklin's backcourt mate, Terri Powell, also continued her fine outside shooting for the Queens, hitting for 13 points. Powell also dished out a team high six assists and had five rebounds. Another freshman, forward Brandy Owens, had an excellent night off the bench, scoring 10 points and playing heads up defense against Cisco's taller inside personnel. Cisco's used four players over 6'1" during the game, but they could not score consistently against the HC front line of Owens, Sophia Ish, Carolyn Willand and Windee McCullin. Using good positioning all night, the Queens out-rebounded the Lady Wranglers 36-30. Willand led the Queens with eight rebounds, while Ish pulled down seven and added a pair of steals.

Powell got the Queens off to an early lead on three straight jumpers, but Cisco came back to tie the game 10-10 with 11:37 left in the half.

The Queens then began building a lead they would not relinquish the rest of the game. Owens scored a three point play to give Howard a 20-14 lead and the Queens never looked back.

Midway through the period Cisco turned the ball over seven times and went without a point until the Queens had built a 29-16 lead with just over three minutes remaining in the half.

The Lady Wranglers cut the lead down to eight in the last minute due to some cold Howard shooting. But the Queens soon regained the momentum when Cisco head coach Ronnie Hearn was called for a technical foul with 14 seconds in the half. Franklin hit both charity shots and the Queens took a substantial 40-29 lead into the locker room.

Howard came out the second half looking tentative against the Cisco full court press. But Willand hit a pair of inside jumpers to keep the Queens ahead 60-52.

The Lady Wranglers made their best run of the game midway through the period behind the penetrating drives of guard Michelle Henry, who scored eight second half points, and post Val Burnett, who led Cisco with 18 points.

Playing with four fouls, Burnett hit a pair of three point plays to pull the Lady Wranglers to within four, 56-52, with 9:15 left in the game. But the six-foot sophomore to pick up her fifth foul at the 6:49 mark and the Lady Wranglers could not muster another rally.

Cisco was still within striking distance when Howard came down with six minutes remaining and nabbed four consecutive offensive rebounds, running nearly two minutes off the clock. On the Queen's fifth shot of the possession, Cisco's Sharlyn Barea fouled Ish and Wrangler guard Jeanna Nix drew a technical for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Powell came on to hit the technical and Franklin then scored a bucket and a free throw to give the Queens a commanding 71-60 lead with 2:19 remaining.

The Wranglers tried to press and trap Howard at the end but the Queen's ballhandlers easily out-manuevered the Lady Wranglers with brilliant passing and pulled away for the 77-66 victory.

The Queen's raised their record to 4-6 with the win. Cisco drops to 5-3.

University of Alabama-Birmingham guard Steve Mitchell goes up for two points over teammate Anthony Gordon and Texas A&M defender Mike Clifford in opening round action of the Big Apple NIT basketball tournament in Houston. The Blazers went on to defeat the Aggies, 71-68.

UAB nips Aggies;

Duke downs Lamar

HOUSTON (AP) — The Duke Blue Devils, ranked No. 6 in The Associated Press preseason college basketball poll, admit they didn't roll out a finished product in Thursday night's first round game of the NIT Big Apple pereseason basketball tournament.

All they ask is time. "It looked like we had a few first game jitters," Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "We haven't developed into a cohesive unit."

Duke had just finished beating back the last charge by the Lamar Cardinals for a 66-62 victory that put the Blue Devils into Sunday's second round against Alabama-Birmingham, which also had a close call before defeating Texas A&M 71-68.

The winner of Sunday's game advances to the semifinals in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"We weren't as sharp as we have been," said David Henderson, whose 18 points led the Blue Devils. "We're going to be a different ball club than we showed tonight before the season's over."

Duke had to battle for a 32-30 halftime lead against the Southland Conference Cardinals and fought to a 56-49 lead with 6:43 to play.

But Lamar just wouldn't quit. Two free throws by James Gully with 32 second to play, cut Duke's lead to 62-60.

The Blue Devils wouldn't quit either and finally sealed the victory with four free throws in the final 17 seconds by Henderson and Johnny Dawkins sealed Lamar's fate.

Henderson scored 18 points to lead Duke and Dawkins scored 14. The Cardinals had balanced scoring with 14 points each from Anthony Todd, Karl McCauley and James Gully.

"We've been involved in a lot of close games the past four years and we've got a senior team," Duke's Mark Alarie said. "We were able to get the key free throws at the end and didn't feel the pressure like a younger team would. That's why we won."

The Cardinals never got into their offensive pattern, Coach Pat Foster said.

"We could not run our offense like we wanted to at any time tonight," Foster said. "Their defense just did a super job."

Alabama-Birmingham blew a 16-point, 39-23 halftime lead against the Aggies and had to depend on Jerome Mincy, who scored eight of his 16 points in the final 4:41 of the game, and 24 points from guard Steve Mitchell.

"I tried to concentrate and make my shots," Mincy said. "Fortunately, I made some key baskets and the free throws. A&M is one of the most physical teams I've ever played. It was really rough."

Cotton Bowl bid still up for grabs

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The Baylor Bears will be bucking history on Saturday when they try to charge into the Cotton Bowl with a victory over the Texas Longhorns.

The 15th ranked Bears haven't beaten Texas in Austin since 1951 but they'll have to if they want to make their third Cotton Bowl visit. The Bears have a high-scoring offense and are ninth in the country in scoring defense.

"This game is what we've worked for since the end of last season," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "We made a commitment then. It went through the spring and summer and into two-a-days. I'm very pleased and excited to be in this position."

"We've worked hard to become a good team and we have. How good we really are we'll find out Saturday."

Baylor was a two-point pick by the oddsmakers over Texas for the 12:04 p.m. regionally (Raycom) televised game. In other SWC clashes, Texas Tech was a one-point underdog in Coach Jerry Moore's final game at the Astrodome in Houston against the Cougars; Arkansas was a one-point favorite over Southern Methodist in Fayetteville; and Texas A&M was a 21-point pick over Texas Christian in Fort Worth. Rice is idle this week.

The Razorbacks are expected to be Holiday Bowl bound while the Bluebonnet Bowl is interested in either Texas A&M or Baylor.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said the Bears are a very talented team.

"The Bears have as much talent as anybody," said Akers. "They have tremendous speed and quickness, and their quarterbacks are experienced, skilled operators. It will be a real challenge."

Akers said he is proud of his team which has only one SWC loss just like the Bears.

"Our team has come a very long way from the time it was picked in the bottom division of the conference race," said Akers. "They deserve a lot of credit for what they've accomplished. Not many people believed we would be to this point with our destiny in our hands — a shot at the title and at the Cotton Bowl."

record and a 3-1 conference mark. Texas A&I is 7-3 overall and 4-0 in the league. ENMU's air attack will be pitted against the Javelina's ground game.

Eastern is averaging 236 yards passing and 46 yards rushing, while Texas A&I is averaging 241 yards rushing and 128 yards passing.

Eastern nabbed second place in the conference with a 26-24 victory last week over Angelo State, which blew a 17-0 lead.

Texas A&I took a 10-3 victory last week over Abilene Christian.

OU, Nebraska shootout heads lineup

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — One of the nation's top collegiate offenses will face one of the country's stingiest defenses when Nebraska and Oklahoma collide in a game that could decide the Big Eight championship and a trip to the Orange Bowl.

The Cornhuskers, second-ranked in the nation with a 9-1 record, are 6-0 in the Big Eight. They bring into the game the nation's best rushing attack, averaging 395 yards a game, and are the No. 2 team in total offense.

The Sooners are ranked first in total defense and second nationally against the rush. Oklahoma, 7-1 and 5-0, has given up an average of 65 yards a game on the ground.

The matchup is being nationally televised on ABC-TV beginning at 2:30 p.m. CST.

Combatants in several other bowls also could be decided Saturday.

In a night game that will reflect on the national championship, Penn State protects its No. 1 ranking and a trip to the Orange Bowl against Pittsburgh. The rest of the Top Ten schedule has Minnesota at No. 3 Iowa, Colorado State at No. 4 Miami, Fla., No. 12 Ohio State at No. 6 Michigan, No. 7 Oklahoma State at Iowa State and No. 8 UCLA at Southern Cal.

In the Second Ten, the schedule is Utah at No. 11 Brigham Young, No. 13 Air Force at Hawaii, No. 15 Baylor at Texas, No. 16 Tennessee at Kentucky, No. 17 Louisiana State at Notre Dame, Southern Methodist at No. 18 Arkansas and No. 19 Texas A&M at Texas Christian Air Force at Hawaii is a night game.

The annual Nebraska-Oklahoma contest has decided the Big Eight champion 38 of the past 40 years. The Big Eight champ is the host team in the Orange Bowl. Penn State already has verbally committed to play the Big Eight winner in Miami on New Year's night.

If Nebraska wins or ties Saturday, the Huskers would go to the Orange Bowl. A loss reportedly would send the Huskers to the Fiesta Bowl.

A win by Oklahoma puts the Sooners in a showdown with Oklahoma State next week for the conference title. Nebraska beat Oklahoma State earlier in the season to give the Cowboys their only loss.

Indications are that if Oklahoma beats Nebraska but loses to Oklahoma State, the Sooners would go to the Gator Bowl with Oklahoma State going to the Orange Bowl.

Bowl bids officially can be extended Saturday.

A close game could easily be decided by the leg of Nebraska kicker Dale Klein. Klein, who hit seven field goals for an NCAA record against Missouri, set a school single-season record last week with his 13th three-pointer.

"If we do not get the ball in the end zone rushing or passing, we've got to get close enough for his leg," sophomore quarterback McCathorn Clayton said.

Both Oklahoma's Barry Switzer and Nebraska's Tom Osborne are complimentary of each other's teams.

Osborne, 4-9 against the Sooners, said Oklahoma seems to have had two seasons on offense — one before quarterback Jamelle Hollaway took over for injured Troy Aikman, and one after.

"For the last four or five games, they have been very productive," Osborne said. "Right now they are playing as well offensively as anybody in the country. I'm sincere in saying this is as good a football team as Oklahoma has had."

Switzer said Nebraska's offense is as potent as ever. He said Nebraska tailback Doug DuBose is one of the best in the Big Eight along with Oklahoma State's Thurman Thomas. But he said the defensive coaches are concerned about stopping Husker fullback Tom Rathman, who averages 7.7 yards per carry.

"Nebraska has always been a great fullback-trap team," Switzer said. "This is something we didn't have to contend with last year as much."

Penn State, at 10-0 one of only two unbeaten Division I-A schools, winds up its season against Pitt,

5-4-1. The Nittany Lions are coming off a 36-6 drubbing of Notre Dame, while the Panthers have lost two of their last three. The other major unbeaten is Bowling Green, which is headed to the California Bowl Dec. 14 in Fresno, Calif., against Fresno State, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion.

The Big Ten Conference could send as many as six teams to major bowls.

Iowa, 9-1, could clinch the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 with a victory over underdog Minnesota at Iowa City. But, if the Hawkeyes should lose, the winner of the Ohio State-Michigan game goes to Pasadena, Calif. In any case, both of those teams, plus a couple of others from the Big Ten, will be bowl bound.

Michigan also could go to one of two New Year's Day bowls, either the Fiesta Bowl or the Cotton Bowl, while Ohio State could go to either the Florida Citrus Bowl Dec. 28 at Orlando, Fla., or the Cotton Bowl.

If Illinois beats Northwestern on Saturday, the Illini are ticketed for the Peach Bowl on Dec. 31 against Army, which ends its season Saturday against Navy. Minnesota looks like it is headed for the Independence Bowl Dec. 21 at Shreveport, La., against the Clemson-South Carolina winner, while Michigan State could go to the All American Bowl Dec. 31 at Birmingham, Ala., against Georgia Tech.

Nuggets shock Lakers

By The Associated Press
It wasn't in Doug Moe's playbook, but he was willing to take credit for it.

Wayne Cooper, with only one other field goal to his credit during the game, hit a 20-foot jump shot with four seconds left to give the Denver Nuggets a 121-120 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Thursday night.

The loss ended a seven-game winning streak for the defending National Basketball Association champion Lakers (11-2). The Nuggets hadn't beaten the Lakers in Denver in 10 games since Jan. 19, 1982.

"It was a perfectly designed play for Coop," Moe said, unable to hide the irony in his face. "He was 1-for-7 and the last guy to throw the shot."

Cooper admitted the play actually was to have gone to Mike Evans, but fearing a turnover, Cooper instead put the ball in the air. "... I knew as soon as I got it, I had to shoot," he said.

In the other games scheduled,

Portland defeated the Los Angeles Clippers 112-108 and Milwaukee clobbered Sacramento 131-97.

"We didn't gear up for Cooper's shot," Lakers Coach Pat Riley said. "He did what he had to do and he buried it."

NBA Roundup

The Lakers had a final chance to win the game, but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar missed a jumper from the corner, and Earvin "Magic" Johnson's rebound shot also missed.

Alex English led Denver with 30 points and Calvin Natt had 23, Mike Evans 22 and Bill Hanzlik 21.

Abdul-Jabbar had 10 of his game-high 33 points in the fourth quarter and reserve forward Maurice Lucas contributed 10 key points in the last quarter.

Blazers 112, Clippers 108
Portland handed the Clippers their eighth straight loss, getting 21 points from forward Kenny Carr, including a three-point play with 18 seconds to play. The Blazers, meanwhile, snapped a four-game losing streak.

The Clippers made a 12-2 run, including eight points by Marques Johnson, to tie the score 99-99 with 4:56 left, and they led 108-105 with 1:10 to go. But Kiki Vandeweghe hit for Portland with 31 seconds left, and Carr added his three-point play to make it 110-108.

Vandeweghe had 23 points, and Rory White led the Clippers with 18.

Bucks 131, Kings 97
Milwaukee won its sixth in a row, and Alton Lister scored 10 of his 19 points in the third quarter to help the Bucks build a 40-point margin going into the final period.

Randy Breuer added 19 points for Milwaukee, while Eddie Johnson had 28 points to lead the Kings, who trailed 34-26 after the first quarter and never really threatened.

The Bucks had seven steals, including four by Paul Pressey, in the third quarter, during which they expended for 41 points.

Class AA Zone playoff set

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

Area football playoff action comes to Big Spring tonight when the Shallowater Mustangs and Reagan County Owls battle in a Class AA matchup.

Both teams bring impressive records into the contest.

Shallowater (9-1-1) won District 5-AA with a 5-0 record. Last week they scored 21 fourth quarter points to down Haskell 27-7 in the opening playoff round. It's only setback was a 16-12 loss to Abernathy. Patterburgh tied the Mustangs 7-7.

Reagan County, (8-3) was runner-up in District 8-2A Behind McCamey with a 4-1 record. Last week it blasted Van Horn 40-12. Reagan County lost to Crane, 14-12; Sonora, 22-20; and McCamey 15-7.

First year Shallowater coach Keith Kitchens brings a passing attack into tonight's encounter. Senior quarterback Davey Rhodes has completed 61 of 126 attempts for over 1,200 yards. In last week's win he passed for 220 yards. Receivers Greg Roberts and Timmy Lennon combined for 13 receptions.

Lennon has caught 27 passes for 556 yards while Roberts has 18 receptions for 360 yards.

Defensive tackles Trent Peacock (160) and Trenton Chandler (190) are the Mustangs top defensive players.

"I expect Big Lake to be tough and physical," said coach Kitchens. They are big and don't do anything fancy. They just line up and run right at you."

The Owls have a very balanced running attack led by 192-pound senior fullback Tim Tatum. He's the top rusher for coach Ronnie Reeger's Owls with 1,009 yards. Sophomore James West has chipped in 937 steps.

Sophomore receiver-turned-quarterback Scott Lipsey likes to throw to wingback Robert Saldivar. Saldivar has snagged 17 catches for 300 yards.

Linebackers Tatum and Zeke Harkenroad are the Owls top tacklers.

Coach Reeger says Shallowater's passing game is on his mind. "I'm really worried about their passing attack because we have three sophomores in the secondary," he said. "They do a good job with their passing game but they also have a great running game. I just hope we can do whatever it takes to win."

Dial-a-Story available for children

By KIM KIRKHAM
Religion Editor

Two retired women are offering the children of Big Spring a number to call to hear a religious story.

Louise Paulger and Leona Hooper started Dial-a-Story in January 1985.

After reading an article in a Christian magazine against Dial-a-Porn, Paulger decided that if children could call and hear that "filth, they could call and hear something good," she said.

"We felt that we should light a candle rather than curse the darkness," Paulger said.

An answering machine is hooked up on a second telephone line which was placed in their home.

Hooper and Paulger obtained a year's supply of tapes from International Child Evangelism Fellowship. There are 13 stories on each tape with a total of four tapes for the year.

The story is changed every week on Saturday. Children can call the number, 263-3049, from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Because there is only one set of tapes available, the women may have to make their own tapes next year.

The program is financed "by interested Christian friends," Paulger said.

At first they asked for a reply from the children at the end of the 2½-minute message. "It sort of personalizes it," said Hooper. "The children for the most part loved it and were glad we had it," said Paulger.

They usually don't ask for a reply now because it takes too much time to listen to the messages.

At the Howard County Fair this year, the women set up the tapes so that children could listen to the recorded messages through headphones.

Many children found out about the number through the fair. "They liked to have wore the machine out," said Hooper.

The two women met while working for International Child Evangelism Fellowship, a non-denominational organization. Paulger worked full-time in the fellowship for 28 years. Hooper worked full-time for 40 years.

The two women moved to Big Spring and operated a bookstore, Visual Aid Depot, from 1956 to 1966. They are now retired and teach Sunday School classes at Crossroads Bible Church.

Fellowship sponsoring Thanksgiving service

The Howard County Ministerial Fellowship is sponsoring the first annual City-Wide All Faiths Thanksgiving Service Sunday from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the First Church of the Nazarene. Public invited, and nursery provided.

Dr. Carl Powers, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene and secretary of the fellowship, will bring the message. Kevin Warner, East Fourth Street Baptist Church will direct music. Warner also is a member of the fellowship.

The Thanksgiving service is an "all-faith type of service where all the churches will get together," said Keith Gibbons, president of the fellowship. He is pastor of College Heights Christian Church.

The goal of the Thanksgiving service is "unity among churches and pastors in the town of Big Spring," said Gibbons. Unity is "something Big Spring needs, and we ought to try it once or twice a year.

"It's not a competition type of thing," Gibbons said. The ministers and churches are "putting aside our little differences."

"I think it will be an ongoing thing," said Mike Perry, chairman of the fellowship's Thanksgiving service committee and chaplain at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Committee members are Dale Bailey, pastor of Evangel Temple Assembly of God, and Guy White Sr., pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist. They have been working on the Thanksgiving project for two months.

There will not be an offering. "We're doing it just as a service of love," said Gibbons.

"I think that we'll have a good crowd," said Perry. About 150 people attended the Easter service in April sponsored by the fellowship. "I think that we'll have at least that many, maybe 200," said Gibbons.

church and Children's Church will participate in "big church" Sunday.

The local congregation will join Nazarenes around the world in receiving the annual Thanksgiving offering for missions with a denominational goal of $9 million. The cost of operating the church's missionary endeavors is $40 per minute.

A goal of two hours of support, $4,800, has been set locally using the theme "Two Hours Should be Ours."

The Thanksgiving "Celebration of Praise" continues at 6 p.m. Sunday with congregational singing, Thanksgiving prayer time, audience participation, a duet by Tiffani Ward and Kasi Welch and a sermon by Powers.

Gardner to lead preaching mission

ACKERLY — The Rev. Loren W. Gardner will be leading the preaching mission at the First United Methodist Church in Ackerly beginning Sunday at 7 p.m. Services on Monday and Tuesday will be at 7:30 p.m.

Gardner is pastor of North Birdwell United Methodist Church in Big Spring and Coahoma United Methodist Church. He will be speaking on commitment and discipleship.

Special music and congregational singing will be a highlight of each service.

Before becoming pastor of the two local churches, Gardner was pastor at Roby United Methodist Church in Roby. He also has pastored at Eula, Hermleigh and Colorado City.

A native of West Virginia, Gardner attended Universal School of Aeronautics at Charleston. There he earned a degree in drafting.

Gardner also attended McMurry College in Abilene, receiving a degree in religion and English, and Perkins School of Theology, where he received a certificate of attainment for his studies.

Sunday service 'Celebration of Praise'

Thanksgiving services Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene will feature a congregational "Celebration of Praise."

Sunday School classes for all age groups begin at 9:45 a.m.

Worship begins in the sanctuary at 10:50 a.m. Sunday. Music will be provided by the reJoyce Choir with Otis Thompson directing. Vanessa Burchett and Gerry Spears will accompany the choir, and Bob and Gerry Spears will present a duet.

Dr. Carl Powers, pastor, will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon as a part of the celebration. Kinder-

Jehovah's Witnesses two-day assembly

SAN ANGELO — Jehovah's Witnesses, representing 12 congregations in west central Texas, ended their two-day circuit assembly Nov. 16 at the convention center in San Angelo. More than 1,244 people attended.

Gene Shalkoski, district supervisor from the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, N.Y., was the featured speaker. He said that Christians today should be diligent to glorify God.

Highlight of the seminar was the public Bible address "Global Peace — from what source?"

The morning session was concluded with an ordination ceremony, and 17 people were baptized.

Religion roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid speculation about what the extraordinary Roman Catholic synod opening in Rome next week will do, a highly knowledgeable U.S. church official sees "at least three possibilities."

Russell Shaw, public affairs officer for the U.S. Catholic Conference, writing in the national Catholic weekly, Our Sunday Visitor, lists these possible alternatives for the Nov. 24-Dec. 8 meeting:

- It may be mainly a "celebratory event" of the results of the reforming Second Vatican Council of 1962-65, calling for continued progress along the same lines.
- It could be a launch pad for some new initiative, the most dramatic — and least likely — of which could be a call for a Third Vatican Council.
- It might simply provide two weeks of high-level discussion of current issues in the church with no immediate practical results, but with the possibility of some later action by the pope.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Benjamin F. Chavis Jr., a black clergyman once imprisoned among the "Wilmington 10," has been elected executive director of the Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ.

He succeeds the Rev. Charles E. Cobb who is retiring after holding the post since the commission was formed 20 years ago.

Chavis, at 38, becomes the youngest chief executive officer of any national agency in the 1.7 million-member denomination. He served 4½ years in prison for disturbances surrounding school desegregation in Wilmington, N.C., in the 1970s before a federal court overturned the convictions.

The imprisonments were cited by Amnesty International as a "political prisoner" case.
