Breaking the habit

'The Convincer' jolts passengers into buckling up for safety

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The simulated car slams into the barrier with a bone-jarring crash, but the person in the sled-like device is unhurt because he's strapped in. He gets out, shaken, to the comments of curious onlookers.

Called the "convincer," the device is used to demonstrate the necessity for a safety belt by simulating a crash at 5, 7 or 10 miles per hour.

Rhonda Cook of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association conducted demonstrations for several hours Friday at the Big Spring Mall. The program, presented in conjunction with the Big Spring Police Department, was designed to persuade the public to use the belts, as required by law. The convincer makes opponents of the law think, Cook said.

The law went into effect in September. Law enforcement officials have been warning those who haven't complied, but beginning in December, warnings will change to citations with a $25 to $50 fine.

Police Lt. Troy Hogue said local police won't be stopping drivers to make sure they're complying with safety belt regulations. But if a driver is stopped for another violation the officer will make sure he is complying with the seat belt law, he said.

Linda Scott takes a ride on 'The Convincer,' a device used to demonstrate the effects of a sudden stop or crash in a car at 10 miles an hour. The machine, used in the campaign to remind drivers to buckle up, was at the Big Spring Mall Friday.

"Once he's stopped, it's up to the officer" whether to give the subject a verbal or written warning or a citation, Hogue said. Department of Public Safety trooper Marvin Keenan said his department "won't place any special emphasis" on stopping drivers for safety belt violations. "It'll get the same priority as any other violation," he said.

Cook said the public has a lot of misconceptions about the law.

Only the driver and front seat passenger in passenger cars and trucks with a capacity of up to 3/4 ton are required to wear safety belts, she said. The driver is responsible for passengers between ages 4 and 15. Passengers from birth to age 2 must be in child safety seats, and children from 2 to 4 must either be in the safety seat or wearing a safety belt.

The seat belt law only applies to vehicles that have belt anchors as part of the original equipment, which excludes most antique vehicles, she said.

When the Automobile Dealers Association lobbied for the bill requiring safety belts for drivers and front seat passengers, it "promised we'd be back with an education program," she said. So far, the demonstration has been given in 10 cities, including Abilene and Odessa.

Cook said safety belts are designed for the safety of others as well as the driver.

"The safety belt keeps you from slamming against the passenger. It keeps you behind the wheel. If you're not behind the wheel, you're not in control of the car" and could easily hit another driver or pedestrian, she said.

Club can plant native flowers on mountain

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The West Texas Republican Womens Club may plant wildflowers on Scenic Mountain as long as the flowers are native to West Texas, according to guidelines issued this week by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin.

Club members had decided to plant wildflowers on the mountain as a Sesquicentennial project, but the project was put on hold when Joseph Dawes of Big Spring objected in a letter to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Dawes wrote that the project might upset the Big Spring State Recreational Area's ecological balance.

Club member Polly Mays met Thursday with William L. Pace, a biologist from Haskell who works for Parks and Wildlife Department, to discuss the project.

"We promised him (Pace) that we'll only plant plants that are native to this area," she said.

Mays said she is investigating seedlings the club has purchased for the project to see if they are native. The club spent $125 on the seedlings from a Kerrville company.

Mays said the investigation is complicated because she must determine the scientific name for each plant. Different plants share common names that can be misleading in determining whether the plant is native to a particular region, she said.

David Riskind, Pace's supervisor at the Parks and Wildlife Department, said the issue of planting wildflowers on Scenic Mountain has been blown out of proportion.

"No one is against beautification," Riskind said. "We want them (the women) to use appropriate material when they plant on the mountain."

He said when the department reviewed a list of wildflowers that the club had submitted for planting, it found "some of the mix were not native species."

Riskind said the department has given club members a list of wildflowers that will help them obtain "proper clearance" before planting.

The department's review of the proposal to plant wildflowers on Scenic Mountain will keep the women from "wasting money" on seedlings that would adversely affect the native growth on the mountain, he said.

Riskind said some of the wildflower species originally submitted by the club "wouldn't have made it anyway" as far as surviving on the mountain.

Mays said the club has not set a date for planting the flowers. She said Pace assured her that planting could be done as late as March 1-

Mahon rites

Texan remembered his roots

Staff and wire reports
LUBBOCK — Statesman George H. Mahon was remembered as a man who made his mark in history but never forgot his West Texas roots as 1,500 friends, family members and statesmen gathered for the late congressional leader's funeral Friday.

The former U.S. representative, a personal friend of Lyndon Johnson who headed the House Appropriations Committee during his 44 years as a congressman, died Tuesday. He was 85.

Among his accomplishments, the former Mitchell County district attorney enabled Big Spring to secure placement here of Webb Air Force Base, the Big Spring Bombardier School, the Veterans Administration Medical Center and the U.S.-Big Spring Field Station.

He is survived by his wife Helen. The couple had lived in Colorado City for the last two years.

Mahon, who served as the first 19th District representative.

"He was such a gentle man. The word honorable was not just a title for George Mahon, it was a way of life," said Wright, who delivered the eulogy.

Wright recalled the time 22 years ago to the day when Mahon stood beside then vice president Lyndon B. Johnson as he took the oath of office following the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

"George was standing there beside Lyndon Baines Johnson on Air Force One as he took that oath of office," Wright said. "He was a part of history then, and throughout his life."

But "George Mahon never forgot where he came from," Wright said. "Each year he would return to his district, where he would pick 100 pounds of cotton just to remember his roots."

Wright, who broke down once during the eulogy, said Mahon was also a great friend for Texans in Washington.

Workers say rights violated

PHARR (AP) — Federal labor officials have been told in a hearing that despite regulations farmworkers are receiving less than the minimum wage and that Texas officials are not enforcing field sanitation rules.

Sister Maureen Leach, representing the United Farm Workers of America, said that farmworkers are not getting $3.35 an hour as required by federal law.

She also told a U.S. Department of Labor hearing Thursday night that people over age 40 constantly are discriminated against, passed over for younger workers, and that state field sanitation regulations are not being enforced.

The field sanitations are not required by federal laws, but Texas is one of 13 states that does have such regulations.

"We need federal standards and we need enforcement," Sister Leach said.

Kate leaves power, water outages

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Power and water were scarce in Florida's Panhandle on Friday, while some cities remained isolated by floods or roadblocks and the capital was crippled by trees and utility lines downed by Hurricane Kate.

Gov. Bob Graham declared a state of emergency Friday in Leon County, which includes Tallahassee, Gadsden County to the east and five other inland northwestern counties, bringing to 19 the number in a state of emergency.

National Guardsmen helped police guard against looting, assist storm victims and keep people away from downed power lines.

For coastal residents, Kate was "like hitting a man when he's down," said one resident. The coast had been battered by tropical weather three times earlier this year.

"My action will allow state agencies to assist local officials contending with flooding, extensive wind damage and other problems left in the storm's wake," said Graham, who planned a helicopter tour of worst-hit areas later Friday, as Kate, which weakened to a tropical storm in the morning, moved north to South Carolina.

After a tour of the worst-hit areas by military helicopter Friday, Graham said the storm's destruction was not as extensive as he had believed and said he did not know whether he would request federal disaster aid.

Tom Lewis, head of the Department of Community Affairs, who toured the area with Graham, said Kate probably did more damage than Hurricane Elena, which caused an estimated $44 million in damages in Florida.

"We've had hurricanes before,

Al Garcia holds his granddaughter Kristen, 13 months, Friday as he surveys damage done to his greenhouse in Mexico Beach, Fla., in the wake of Hurricane Kate.

but nothing that pulled trees down like this," said Mary Anne Shuman, a 28-year Tallahassee resident. "There's a tree down in every yard."

Usually shady lanes in the southern capital of 89,500 people were sunny Friday, after moss-draped oaks were sheared by the storm. Some 90 percent of capital-area homes were without power Friday morning.

Residents of Florida's Panhandle, hundreds of thousands without power and many without water, packed buckets and chainsaws Friday to bail flooded homes and move toppled trees. "In a worst-case scenario, there are people in some areas who won't get power for a week," said Scott Hunt, spokesman for the Tallahassee Police Department.

Some coastal cities, like oyster-rich Apalachicola, were cut off by flooding and washed-out roads and bridges.

This season's $6.5 million oyster crop, nearly 10 percent of the nation's supply, was ruined by Hurricane Elena in late September, and Kate's assault battered the baby oyster beds counted on by residents for a comeback next year. "There ain't nobody going to get no oysters for five years," said Pete Poloronis, an oyster grower. "This is the worst it's ever been. The way we've had one hurricane after another here, that's just like hitting a man when he's down."

Officials had difficulty getting water to Apalachicola, where the water tower toppled during the storm. The main coastal highway, U.S. 98, was declared impassable from Carrabelle to Apalachicola, and trees littered other roads into the city.

Sands FFA teams win awards in district leadership meet

ODESSA — Sands High School's FFA chapter won several awards Monday at the annual El Rancho District FFA leadership contest at Midland Lee High School.

The school's Junior Chapter Conducting team placed first in the contest. Members are Adam Chavera, Damian Zarate, Kyle Ware, Danny Laller, Bobby Rivera, Billy McGinnis, Junior Valle and Lee Jackson.

First place in the Junior Skill Team was won by Freddy Covarrubias, Albert Gomez, Joe Mike Balchazar and alternate Emil De La Rosa, with a demonstration of a rope halter.

The Senior Radio Broadcasting team placed second with a discussion on cotton production. Members are Michelle Hall, Elaine Barraza and Russ Billingsley.

The Senior Chapter Conducting team placed third in the contest. Members are Duncan Hamlin, Paul Martin, Sammy Rodriguez, Jay Fryar, Chad Nichols, Ricky Ferguson and Lance Robinson.

Both first place teams will compete today in the Area II contest at Howard College.

Mahon

The Rev. Sam Nader, another longtime friend of Mahon's who officiated at the funeral, characterized Mahon as a servant of both God and his fellow man.

"He was a great man, for greatness consists of service to God and service to our fellow man," Nader said.

Nader told Mahon's family not to mourn his loss because Mahon had left behind something every family would wish to have.

"He left you a name without a stain, and a reputation without a blemish," he said.

Kent Hance, who followed Mahon in Congress after he retired in 1978 as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, called him the "ideal public servant. He acquired power, he didn't abuse it, and he always knew how to use it."

Mahon died at Shannon West Texas Memorial Hospital in San Angelo. Funeral services were at the First United Methodist Church in Lubbock, with burial in the Lorraine Cemetery at Lorraine, Mahon's hometown in Mitchell County.

After the services, many gathered to share their own personal memories about Mahon.

"He was one of the greatest political leaders of our time," said Gov. Mark White. "The contributions he made to this state and the nation can never be repaid."

Other public figures who attended the service included Gen. Maxwell Taylor from the Pentagon, former Texas Gov. Preston Smith, State Sen. John Montford, Attorney General Jim Mattox, and several county and city officials.

Mahon served as the only 19th District congressman until his retirement. He was first elected to the West Texas district in 1934. In Congress, Mahon became known as a conservative with a passion for pay-as-you-go government.

Mahon maintained a home in Colorado City throughout his career, but lived in Lubbock many years.

DWI sentencing postponed in Grinnan family accident

AUSTIN — The sentencing date was postponed again for a 40-year-old Round Mountain man, convicted of driving while intoxicated in a Dec. 26, 1984, accident which sent a Big Spring man into a coma.

Sentencing of Lloyd Allen Huggins was postponed from Friday to Jan. 26, according to the Travis County Clerk's office. The sentencing date had been reset once before.

A 30-year-old Big Spring man, Gordon Grinnan, remains in a coma as a result of the accident, which occurred just outside Austin. His wife Mary, 28, and two of the couple's three sons, 5-year-old Brian and 3-year-old Michael, also were injured.

With the exception of Gordon, the Grinnans have recovered physically from the accident. The couple's youngest son, Andy Paul, a 2-month-old infant at the time of the wreck, was the only family member not injured.

Huggins is serving an 18-month jail sentence for a prior DWI that occurred Dec. 24, 1984. He was released from jail on that charge eight hours before his car plowed head-on into the Grinnan's car.

Huggins has been arrested on suspicion of DWI four times and has been convicted twice. Prosecutors say they will ask for the maximum two-year sentence, which they want added on to his current 18-month term.

The family discontinued Gordon's medication after doctors told them he would not recover, Mrs. Grinnan said.

The six-member panel heard that thousands of farmworkers and vegetable packing shed workers lost their jobs after a freeze in December 1983 virtually wiped out the citrus industry.

People testifying before the group also said that the recent devaluations of the Mexican peso have prompted an unusually high number of illegal aliens to seek jobs in the Rio Grande Valley.

They urged the panel to do something to combat that problem. Troy Lowery of the Texas Department of Health said that local health department officials enforce the sanitation regulations.

"We don't think some of the local health departments are quite as aggressive as we would like them to be," Lowery said.

Sister Leach and others at the hearing said that farmers constantly violated the minimum wage law, saying that some workers were getting 30 cents per bucket of tomatoes and sometimes that amounting to about $1 an hour.

They were told that some farmers who employed less than six people were exempt from paying minimum wage.

Bobby Scott, representing the minimum wage and hour division, said that he wanted specific complaints about abuses and that his office would investigate them.

Farmers did not testify at the hearing. Isabel Soliz complained about the living conditions that their employer provided for them last summer in New Jersey.

"The first day we didn't sleep because we didn't know where we were going to sleep," Mrs. Soliz said. "We wanted to leave, but my husband had already committed himself to doing the job."

"But we were 10 living in a two-bedroom house and a kitchen," she said.

She said they were moved later after federal inspectors found out about their conditions. They were moved to a larger home, but the conditions were just as bad, she said.

Man pleads guilty to DWI

Carroll Dwain Calvert, 44, of Gail Route Box 241 pleaded guilty Friday morning to driving while intoxicated Nov. 1, 1984.

County Judge Milton Kirby fined Calvert $300 and $131 in court costs, and placed him on a 60-day jail sentence probated for two years.

He was arrested on FM 669, one mile west of FM 700, by Department of Public Safety trooper James Lasater.

Jones earns merit award

Vera M. Jones received the Award of Merit from the Lone Star District of the Boy Scouts of America during a banquet Friday at the First Baptist Church, according to Carl Bradley, outgoing district chairman.

Jones, wife of Lt. Col. (Ret.) Glenn Jones, has been involved with the local scouting program for nine years. Throughout those years she attended training sessions, sponsored day camps and was active in a number of programs, Bradley said.

Phil Corbin, executive director for the local district, said Jones and her husband were also active in a number of other scouting organizations around the country during their 20-year stint in the U.S. Air Force.

Corbin said the Award of Merit is voted on by a committee representative of the district. The results of the voting are kept secret until the annual banquet.

Corbin called Jones, "A prime mover of Scouting. She always gets involved in community projects."

Dr. Clyde Thomas, a Distinguished Eagle Scout award winner, was the keynote speaker at Friday's banquet.

Chuck Condray was installed as the new district chairman. Bill Bradford was installed as the new district commissioner.

Gary Richardson and Robert Abbott received the Scouters' Training Award during the evening. Both men trained three years in scouting programs to earn the honor, Corbin said.

All unit leaders received special plaques with the 75th anniversary Scouting emblem, said Bradley. Assistant unit leaders received paperweights.

Deaths

James Skiles

CISCO — Services for James Otis Skiles, 86, formerly of Big Spring, are set for 2 p.m. today at Cisco Funeral Home with the Rev. Jesse Casse, pastor of Pioneer Drive Baptist Church in Abilene, officiating. Burial will be at the Cisco cemetery.

Skiles died Thursday morning at his home in Abilene after a long illness.

He was born Dec. 2, 1898, in Laneview, Tenn., to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Winfield Skiles. He moved with his family to Brown County in 1902, to Scranton in 1904 and to Cisco in 1913. He married Hazel B. Warren Feb. 22, 1925, in Scranton. He was a meat cutter for the Agee Grocery in Big Spring for several years and at the Skiles grocery in Cisco. He moved to Big Spring in 1944 with his wife, son and daughter. They returned to Cisco in 1970 and moved to Abilene in August.

He was preceded in death by his brothers, Acie, Algie, Lloyd and Inman, and a grandson.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Lloyd Skiles of Abilene; a daughter, LaDonna of Escondido, Calif.; four grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Vietnam MIA buried

HONOLULU — Navy Lt. j.g. Richard C. Sather was buried on a grassy slope in an extinct volcano crater Friday, ending 21 years of uncertainty for the family of the American listed as missing in action in Vietnam longer than any other.

Sather, of Pomona, Calif., was shot down over North Vietnam on Aug. 5, 1964, when he was 26. He was the first American pilot to have crashed in North Vietnam.

Sather's remains were among those of seven people recently identified by the Army's Central Identification Laboratory here. The others were flown to the mainland two weeks ago for burial.

Farm eviction stopped

COCHRAN, Ga. — A farmer who said he would rather die than be thrown off the land his family had owned since the Civil War has been spared eviction by a woman who remembered him as a man "who never turned anyone down."

Oscar Lorick, 66, can stay on the 79-acre farm the rest of his life with his wife Virginia, 59, under an agreement announced Friday by Alvin McDougald, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Linda and Melvin Dixon of Miami will purchase the farm from the Cook Banking Co. of Cochran for $75,000 and lease it to the Loricks for $1 a month, McDougald said. Lorick owed $112,000 on the property and his farm equipment already had been sold at auction.

Emergency declared

PHILADELPHIA — Mayor W. Wilson Goode declared a state of emergency in a mostly white neighborhood Friday, saying he would not allow demonstrations against blacks moving there to escalate into violence.

"I find there is an imminent danger of civil disturbance which poses a serious, substantial and continuing danger to the health, safety and property of the citizens," said Goode, after street protests in the southwest Philadelphia neighborhood by several hundred whites Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Goode said the state of emergency will remain in effect for at least two weeks. Residents of the overwhelmingly white, working-class neighborhood took to the streets the past two nights, shouting racial insults against blacks who had moved in recently.

After thousands of blacks clashed with police in Mamelodi township outside Pretoria Thursday, residents gathered up shoes and clothing left behind during the stampede and took it to a central point to be collected. Township residents were protesting the presence of soldiers in the townships, high rents and restrictions on funerals.

Bloodbath

Blacks shot, killed in stampede during protest

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — In one of the bloodiest outbreaks in 15 months of nationwide anti-apartheid unrest, 30 blacks were killed this week in fighting in Mamelodi and Queenstown in Cape Province, police confirmed Friday.

For the second time in a week, witnesses accused police of firing on protesters without provocation at an anti-government demonstration. But police said they had to battle "particularly violent mobs" in Mamelodi township near Pretoria on Thursday.

Police headquarters in Pretoria said 13 people were killed Thursday in clashes between riot patrols and blacks in Mamelodi, not two as first reported. Police said 11 more bodies were found Thursday night and early Friday. Mamelodi was reported quiet Friday.

Another death was reported in Soweto, outside Johannesburg.

South Africa, meanwhile, suffered further blows to its economy. Euromotors Ltd., the South African subsidiary of French carmaker Renault, said it was closing its operation because of heavy losses, two days after a similar announcement by Peugeot. Auto sales are at half their 1984 level of 400,000.

Financial analysts say growing pressure in the United States and Europe for disinvestment in South Africa because of the government's race policies have accelerated the exodus of marginal or loss-making companies.

The government also said inflation rose from 16.6 percent in September to 16.8 in October, the highest level since records were kept. Inflation has been fueled by the plunge in the currency, the rand, to less than one-third of its value four years ago, making imports far more costly.

In Cape Town, Nelson Mandela met two lawyers Friday amid what Mandela's wife Winnie called speculation of "unprecedented intensity" that Mandela was about to be freed from a life prison term.

The lawyers declined comment after meeting Mandela, widely regarded as the most popular black leader in the country 21 years after he was convicted of plotting sabotage and jailed. Mrs. Mandela said her husband had recovered fully from prostate gland surgery Nov. 3, and she did not know why the government was keeping him in a Cape Town hospital.

The white minority government again denied Mandela's release was imminent.

Rumors suggested he might be deported to Zambia, headquarters of his outlawed African National Congress guerrilla movement. The ANC denied any knowledge of this, and said anything but Mandela's unconditional release would be unacceptable.

An ANC source in Lusaka, Zambia, said, "I think the South African government would like to get rid of Mandela, rid in the sense that he has become an embarrassment... But they must find an excuse to let him out that will also save their face."

A police statement about violence in eastern Cape Province said mobs attacked police with fire bombs and brickbats in repeated clashes in Mamelodi.

Volcanoes rumbling

BOGOTA, Colombia — Rumbles have been heard in two more volcanoes in Colombia, and a southern governor asked foreign experts Friday to find out if there is a danger of an eruption like the one Nov. 13 that killed 25,000 people.

Ney Guzman, geology professor at Valley University in Cali, said the devastating eruption of Nevado del Ruiz may have triggered volcanic activity in the 340-mile stretch of the Andes Mountains.

Gov. Mercedes Apraez of Narino province in southern Colombia said the 15,721-foot high Azufral volcano, 37 miles southwest of Pasto, was "making very strange noises" on Thursday.

Guzman said there also were reports of steam and rumbling on Thursday from the 14,111-foot Galeras volcano, 12 miles west of Pasto.

AIDS links in Africa

BRUSSELS — The AIDS virus has been linked to a stunning variety of fatal diseases that are suddenly beginning to spread in many parts of Africa, researchers said Friday at an international symposium on African AIDS.

An especially virulent cancer resistant to treatment has appeared in Zambia. Most recently it has begun to affect the brains of its victims, causing loss of mental function, said Dr. Anne Bayley, a surgeon at the University of Zambia.

In a hospital in neighboring Zaire, reports of an unusual fungal meningitis have increased more than seven times since 1978. The severity of the disease also has increased, said Dr. Joseph Vandepitte of St. Rafael Hospital in Leuven, Belgium.

Agents' release asked

PARIS — The French defense minister said Friday the government is "working on" the release of two French secret agents sentenced in New Zealand in connection with the bombing of a Greenpeace protest ship and the death of a crewman.

Meanwhile, the newspaper Le Monde said the agents — army officers Maj. Alain Mafart and Capt. Dominique Prieur — might leave New Zealand within three months.

The two agents were sentenced in New Zealand on Friday to 10 years for manslaughter and seven years for arson, with the terms to be served concurrently.

New funeral home to open

By SAM MENON
Staff Writer

Dedication ceremonies for Myers & Smith Funeral Home and Chapel are set for Sunday at 2:15 p.m.

The new funeral home, the second in Big Spring, is located at 301 East 24th Street, between Gregg and Goliad.

"The facility is licensed by the Texas State Board of Morticians and is run by a fully licensed staff," funeral director Bill Myers said.

Funeral directors, in addition to Myers and Floyd C. "Smitty" Smith, are Tommy Whatley and Warnell Avants. Lola Sheppard and J. Arnold Marshall serve as counselors; Katherine Hudgins is office manager.

Both Myers and Smith agreed that there was good scope for the funeral home business in Big Spring.

"The community is large enough to support a second funeral home," Myers said. "Smaller communities like Post, Texas, have more than two funeral homes."

Smith said Big Spring is one of the larger communities in Texas with one funeral home. "We have done our homework, and we are filling a void in the community."

Myers & Smith Funeral Home is located at 301 E. 24th, between Gregg Street and Goliad.

Myers has been in the funeral business for 20 years, serving as a funeral director in Big Spring since 1969.

Smith, who grew up in Stanton, has lived in Big Spring for the past 14 years and has been in the funeral business since 1969.

The newly constructed beige stucco building features a "West Texas colonial" design that utilizes light earth tones and covers 8,254 square feet of space. The carpets accentuate the decorative appeal of the interior.

The oak-paneled front door opens into the visitation lobby, accented by a fireplace with walnut mantel.

The funeral home has four state rooms and a chapel with 260 seats. It is equipped with a large inventory of caskets of various sizes.

A covered parking space adjoins one of the state rooms. More than 100 cars can park on the lot.

Myers said the mortuary was designed to feel like a home, and the decor was meant to have a soothing effect.

J. Stuart Todd of Dallas, who specializes in funeral home architecture, designed the home. J.W. Little Construction Company of Big Spring was the builder.

Pollard buys Lewis car sales

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Pollard Chevrolet purchased Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac the first of November, when Lewis retired. Owner Bill Pollard said he expects the addition to raise his sales by a third.

Pollard said 1985 has been a much more profitable year for car sales than the last two.

"The car market in the Permian Basin has been down a lot since the oil patch slowed in 1982 and through the drought," he said.

"He expects to sell about 75 cars per month in 1986, he said. He said he currently sells about 50 cars per month.

Pollard purchased an additional two acres across Fourth Street from his original location to store more vehicles. New trucks and used cars are on the new lot, in addition to more sales offices. The former used car lot is now used for new car storage, leaving room for an expanded service department.

Combining the two businesses lowers overhead costs and "gives us much more of a competitive edge," Pollard said.

Pollard said he is hiring about eight additional sales, service and parts personnel. Some are former employees of Lewis', he said, including shop foreman Jim Minchew and assistant parts manager Tom Churchwell.

The owner said he is expanding the truck service department to take care of more light trucks formerly handled in the main shop. This will allow the main shop to service more passenger cars, he said.

He said he left further space to expand the service department if the need arises, which he expects to happen if Big Spring shows any further growth.

Although the changes have brought temporary chaos, the new addition should be fully on its feet by January, he said. He expects to have an open house after the first of the year to introduce the additions and to kick off the business's 25th anniversary celebration, he said.

Emergency oil program tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve years after the Arab oil embargo sent the world into a decade-long recession, the government is conducting its first test of a $16.7 billion emergency oil stockpile program designed to prevent a repeat of the crisis.

The Department of Energy on Monday began accepting bids to be opened next week for the sale of 1.1 million barrels of oil from the nation's 490-million barrel Strategic Petroleum Reserve stored in salt caverns along the Texas and Louisiana coasts.

Despite the opposition of the Reagan administration, the test sale was demanded by Congress in June as a condition for extending the 1975 Energy Policy Conservation Act another four years. The act established the emergency stockpile.

The stockpile — originally targeted for 1 billion barrels but cut to half that amount in the face of mounting federal deficits — is the nation's primary insurance against a repeat of the 1973 and 1979 energy crises triggered by foreign oil-supply disruptions.

The administration has contended that testing the system now, amid an oil surplus and falling prices, will not prove its workability in a real disruption, when the opposite conditions would prevail.

Nonetheless, the administration is trying to cast the sale in a positive light, even though the estimated cost to the government is between $1.1 million and $2.9 million, including the net cost of replacing the oil that is sold.

"The test will help train both the department and potential buyers in the procedures," Energy Secretary John Herrington said. "It will give all participants important experiences in the process of moving crude oil from our reserve to the marketplace."

At its present size, the stockpile represents a 100-day supply of all U.S. oil imports and a two-year supply of current imports from the Persian Gulf, where both previous disruptions occurred.

Farm loan money in good supply

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The financial problems in agriculture will likely continue but money for farm loans is generally in good supply, according to a survey released Tuesday by the American Bankers Association.

The report was released in Dallas at the ABA's National Agricultural Bankers' Conference and contained in the ABA Bankers News Weekly.

The ABA sent its survey to 2,600 banks with at least 25 percent of their loans in agriculture. More than 1,100 bankers responded. The banks represent about 28 percent of the total number of insured commercial banks.

ABA writer William Herr described loan availability as a bright spot for agricultural bankers.

Almost 60 percent of all the respondents indicated that loan funds exceeded demand, while about one-third reported a balance and fewer than 10 percent said demand exceeded availability.

"Adequate funds availability was also indicated by average loan-to-deposit ratios that averaged lower than in other recent years," Herr wrote. "In mid-1985, the average loan-to-deposit ratio was 60 percent, about two percentage points below that reported in mid-1984."

The respondents indicated they would have preferred a higher ratio of 63 percent, and that suggests that some banks are likely to be seeking borrowers.

Another section of the survey said two-thirds of the bankers want to increase their market share of non-farm business, personal and installment loans. Fewer than 40 percent of the bankers reported wanting to increase their market share of farm loans.

Almost two-thirds of the survey respondents reported a decline in the quality of their farm loan portfolios.

U.S. considers minting gold coin

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in more than 50 years, the United States may be about to produce its own general circulation gold coin.

The House is scheduled at midweek to consider final passage of a proposal authorizing the production and sale of four U.S.-minted gold bullions. With almost no fanfare, the Republican-led Senate passed the legislation last week.

The U.S. gold coins would be legal tender to buy or sell merchandise. But it is expected they will be sought mainly by collectors and investors.

"The American gold coin will hit this country by storm," said Rep. Jerry Lewis, R-Calif., a chief sponsor of the bill to resurrect the dormant bullion.

It would not be made available to the public until October 1986 so as not to interfere with the sales of the Statue of Liberty coin.

The new design for the largest denomination — a $50, one-ounce gold piece — calls for art "symbolic" of liberty on one side.

On the reverse would be a family of eagles, with a male bird carrying an olive branch and flying above a nest containing a female eagle and eaglets.

It would have inscriptions of the denomination, the weight of the fine gold content, the year of minting and the words "Liberty," "In God We Trust," "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum."

The bill also calls for the minting of a $25 coin 27 millimeters in diameter, weighing 16.966 grams and containing one-half troy ounce of fine gold.

The $10 coin would be 22 millimeters in diameter, weigh 8.483 grams and contain one-fourth ounce of fine gold.

Toys can hurt children

When buying toys...

Choose toys with care. Keep in mind the child's age, interests and skill level.

Look for quality design and construction in all toys for all ages. Make sure that all directions or instructions are clear — to you, and, when appropriate, to the child. Plastic wrappings on toys should be discarded at once before they become deadly playthings.

Be a label reader. Look for and heed age recommendations, such as "not recommended for children under three." Look for other safety labels including: "Flame retardant/Flame resistant" on fabric products and "Washable/hygienic materials" on stuffed toys and dolls.

When maintaining toys...

Check all toys periodically for breakage and potential hazards. A dangerous toy should be thrown away or repaired immediately.

Edges on wooden toys that might have become sharp or surfaces covered with splinters should be sanded smooth. When repainting toys and toy boxes, avoid using left-over paint, unless purchased recently, since older paints may contain more lead than new paint. Examine all outdoor toys regularly for rust or weak parts that could become hazardous.

When storing toys...

Teach children to put their toys safely away on shelves or in a toy chest after playing to prevent trips and falls.

Toy boxes, too, should be checked for safety. Use a toy chest that has a light-weight lid that can be opened easily from within. The lid should stay open when raised and not fall unexpectedly on a child. For extra safety, be sure there are ventilation holes for fresh air. Watch for sharp edges that could cut and hinges that could pinch or squeeze. See that toys used outdoors are stored after play — rain or dew can rust or damage a variety of toy and toy parts creating hazards.

Sharp edges...

New toys intended for children under eight years of age should, by regulation, be free of sharp glass and metal edges. With use, however, older toys may break, exposing cutting edges.

Small parts...

Older toys can break to reveal parts small enough to be swallowed or to become lodged in a child's windpipe, ears or nose. The law bans small parts in new toys intended for children under three. This includes removable small eyes and noses on stuffed toys and dolls, and small, removable squeakers on squeeze toys.

Loud noises...

Toy caps and some noise making guns and other toys can produce sounds at noise levels that can damage hearing. The law requires the following label on boxes of caps producing noise above a certain level: "WARNING — Do not fire closer than one foot to the ear. Do not use indoors." Toys producing noise that can injure a child's hearing are banned.

Cords and strings...

Toys with long strings or cords may be dangerous for infants and very young children. The cords may become wrapped around an infant's neck, causing strangulation. Never hang toys with long strings, cords, loops, or ribbons in cribs or playpens where children can become entangled.

Sharp points...

Toys which have been broken may have dangerous points or prongs. Stuffed toys often have wires inside the toy which could cut or stab if exposed. A federal regulation prohibits sharp points in new toys and other articles intended for use by children under eight years of age.

Propelled objects...

Projectiles — guided missiles and similar flying toys — can be turned into weapons and can injure eyes in particular. Children should never be permitted to play with adult lawn darts or other hobby or sporting equipment that have sharp points. Arrows or darts used by children should have soft cork tips, rubber suction cups or other protective tips intended to prevent injury. Check to be sure the tips are secure.

All toys are not for children...

Keep toys designed for older children out of the hands of little ones — chemistry sets or hobby items can be extremely dangerous if misused. Teach older children to help keep their toys away from younger brothers and sisters. Even balloons, when uninflated or broken, can choke or suffocate if young children try to swallow them. More children have suffocated on uninflated balloons and pieces of broken balloons than on any other type of toy.

Electric toys...

Electric toys that are improperly constructed, wired or misused can shock or burn. Electric toys must meet mandatory requirements for maximum surface temperatures, electrical construction and prominent warning labels. Electric toys with heating elements are recommended only for children over eight years old. Children should be taught to use electric toys cautiously and under adult supervision.

Others responsibility...

Under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act and the Consumer Product Safety Act, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has set safety regulations for certain toys and other children's articles. Manufacturers must design and manufacture their products to meet these regulations so that hazardous products are not sold.

Your responsibility...

Protecting children from unsafe toys is the responsibility of everyone. Careful toy selection and proper supervision of children at play is still — and always will be — the best way to protect children from toy-related injuries.

For your gardens

By DON RICHARDSON
Howard County Extension Agent

The wise gardener plans ahead

The winter season is ideal planning time and a good time to take a critical look at your landscape and to make plans for future plantings and improvements.

The wise gardener plans ahead, particularly when it comes to new shrub and tree selections. Do not put the cart before the horse. Be sure there exists a basic landscape need before choosing new plants for the homegrounds. Choose the best possible plant to fit your landscape need.

A good landscape design is one that achieves a maximum of enrichment or beauty and enjoyment or usefulness. Emphasis is placed upon how well the landscape functions so as to satisfy the individual family's needs. Because the ideal landscape is designed for individual needs, likes and dislikes, it is difficult to say what is a good landscape or what is a poor landscape. What may be the ideal landscape for one individual may be completely wrong for another family. Landscape design is an art, an art that has few rules ... yet, there are definite guidelines for developing or improving a landscape design.

Five Basic Steps

The first step in looking at your landscape with a critical eye is to observe or study the existing homesite ... sun and wind direction in relationship to outdoor and indoor living ... natural drainage of the site ... existing plants, structures, walls, and drives. Take a look, too, for good and bad views and human and machine circulation on the homesite.

By observing the site, one may discover landscape needs. Perhaps the entrance walk is mislocated, or perhaps there exists a need for a pleasing view from the kitchen window. The next step is to list all the landscape needs.

Once you have discovered all your family's landscape needs, or what is to take place in the landscape, locate these needs in the landscape where they will best function. For example, the children's play area may best be located to take advantage of the existing tree, yet in view from the kitchen window but somewhat removed from the patio area.

After you have basically located where the various landscape activities will take place, the next step is to design these spaces ... give them shape, size, and definitions. Think in terms of outdoor rooms for these major activities and give them meaning just as you would in the interior of the home.

The final step in the design process is to select the best materials: plants, walls, surfacing, etc., which will best satisfy the need intended. One must know plants or materials in order to make a wise choice. The gardener must consider ultimate plant size, plant form, seasonal interest, growth requirements, and the general plant personality or character. Will the plant do the job intended?

The key to all good art is simplicity. Be sure every plant in the landscape is doing a specific job or fitting a landscape need or needs. Do not overplant. Be patient with small plants ... they will grow to be large ones.

To achieve simplicity in the landscape, group plants which are alike together, rather than scatter them here, there, and yon. Use lines and masses of the same plant, just as you would use all the same chairs around the dining table or matching chairs and sofa in the living room.

One plant used alone in the landscape becomes a specimen and deserves a very special location in the overall landscape plan.

The wise designer also considers maintenance. Plant only what you can properly maintain. Make plant selections in regard to the time and efforts you can offer.

A well-planned landscape will promote outdoor enrichment and enjoyment; yet, good home landscapes do not just happen ... they must be carefully planned.

Warren tells club about in-situ coating

Sue Warren of Warren Oilfield Insulation Company, Inc. was the speaker at the Desk & Derrick club meeting recently at Albertos Crystal Cafe. Two guests were present.

Warren said that corrosion is a silent enemy eating away at capital goods and devouring profits of oil companies.

Because pipeline service companies have perfected in-situ inspection, cleaning and coating, internal pipeline corrosion can be stopped before it starts. In-situ coating even rehabilitate lines that are already corroded, she said.

No coating will last unless the line is properly cleaned, so it can be cleaned to the most rigid specifications, said Warren. "Then we apply at least three uniform coats in a process which eliminates blisters, voids and pinholes."

Magnaflux developed the camera that documents the conditions of pipelines before and after coating, she said. This device is computer programmed to look for corrosion, inspect welds and take photos at time or distance intervals.

"It produces remarkable motion pictures that reveal corrosion as never before. There is no better way to look inside your line," said Warren. "This is a very new and effective way of servicing, cleaning and coating your lines."

In old pipeline rehabilitation can make a critical difference between profit and loss, she said. In new pipeline construction, this in-situ cleaning and coating process provides the only permanent and continuous protective lining, Warren said.

"The time has come for in-situ coating; the economics demand it," Warren said.

BEING SHORT ISN'T SO BAD AS LONG AS YOU DON'T LOOK UP!

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, NOV. 24, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day to tune in on what you can do to gain the things of a practical nature which appeal to your desire for a more secure foundation to your life.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to complete mental work early so that later you can be practical and gain advancements. Try to set up a stellar budget.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your intimate wishes are very important to you now, but you have to be more practical in order to gain them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't confuse your wishes in others or they could easily appeal things for you. Spend as much time as you can with the one you love.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) One who is inimical to your best interests could give you trouble during the daytime, but tonight you can be your charming self.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Hit on the right philosophy to follow in the future and meet any test that is presented later in the day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will lead a very interesting life which brings many changes, so give a fine education that will prepare him or her nicely for seeing every opportunity to get ahead. One who will be good at meeting emergencies. Some musical ability is in this chart.

MONDAY, NOV. 25, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment where material activities are concerned is more alluring, and later you will have a clearer perspective on how to add to your income.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to be very careful in handling a monetary matter in the morning. Plan how to improve your appearance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't be demanding in order to gain a personal wish in the morning, and later you can gain an intimate aim quite easily.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't let a secret worry cause you to act precipitously in the morning, and later you get the right solution by thinking quietly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The situation may be difficult between you and a partner in the morning, so say nothing and by evening all will be well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle your duties early, then off to make the key visits to people who are important. Don't neglect making out reports today.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will understand the practical and business affairs of everyday living and can make a big success out of life, provided ample education is given. Be sure to teach to study the motive behind any enterprise before getting into it. Give good moral and ethical training.

Goldthwaite puts stop to Forsan, 16-0

By Charlie Alcorn
Sports Writer

ABILENE — A pair of big scoring plays by Goldthwaite proved to be the difference as the second-ranked Eagles took a hard-fought 16-0 win over Forsan in the Class A Area championship game Friday night at McMurry College Stadium.

Goldthwaite struck first early in the second quarter when quarterback Jeff Head fired a perfect 68-yard scoring strike to split end David Wetzel, who had a step on cornerback Brandy Bryan.

Tim Sims' PAT made the score 7-0 and ended the first half's scoring.

The Eagles iced the game midway in the third quarter with a seven-play, 87-yard scoring drive. Goldthwaite's season leading rusher, Doug Holtzclaw, broke his only long run of the game, a 22-yarder, down to the Forsan 25 to get the drive going.

On the next play, Eagle fullback Glenn Carr, who led Goldthwaite's rushers with 68 yards on the night, scored on a spectacular 45-yard open-field run in which he broke four tackles before going into the end zone.

Sims' PAT gave the District 8-A champions a 14-0 lead with 3:49 left in the third quarter. Goldthwaite's final two points came on a safety in the last seconds of the game when defensive tackle Darren Pafford sacked Buffalo quarterback Brant Nichols on a desperation pass play.

Forsan put on a tremendous goal line stand at the end of the game, holding Goldthwaite out of the end zone three straight times from the 1-yard line before the safety.

Forsan moved the ball well all night on offense, outgaining Goldthwaite 172 yards to 157 on the ground. But Forsan was plagued by bad field position, set up by Eagle punter Scotty Miller, who kept the Buffs deep in their own end of the field with his long and accurate kicks. Forsan also was troubled by penalties on crucial plays in their drives. Three times in the game they had good drives stopped by miscues.

Forsan had its best opportunity to score after defensive end Lance Soles recovered a Goldthwaite fumble on the first play of the game at the Eagle 19. But the Buffs got off to a bad start when a motion penalty set them back to the 24-yard line. Goldthwaite's stingy defense held Forsan on three running plays, and forced the Buffs to go for three points. Bruce Strickland's 42-yard field goal attempt had the distance, but was wide to the right.

Both teams traded punts as defense dominated the rest of first-quarter play.

Forsan had another good drive in the second quarter, taking the ball from their own 7-yard line to the Eagle 39 before being stopped on a fourth down-and-three. Halfback Strickland was the workhorse in the drive, picking up 40 yards in the series, including a 28-yard run to the Eagles' 40. Forsan had first-down yardage at the Eagle 39, but it was wiped out by a holding call.

Goldthwaite had an opportunity to score midway in the second period after safety Holtzclaw had intercepted a Nichols pass intended for halfback Rodney McMillan and returned it 18 yards to the Forsan 40.

Eagle quarterback Head lobbed a pass to a wide-open Carr, but Carr couldn't hold on at the 20 yard line and the Buffaloes escaped into the lockerroom, behind by only seven points.

Forsan took the second half opening kickoff and drove the ball from their own 4-yard line to the Eagle 43 behind the running of Strickland. Strickland was the game's leading rusher, collecting 140 yards on 22 carries.

The Buffs' drive was again stopped by a penalty, this time for illegal grounding called on Nichols on a third-and-seven from the mid-

Hawks go cold and fall to Cisco

By STEVE BELVIN

The Howard College Hawks faltered in the final nine minutes of the game and in return the Cisco Junior College Wranglers rallied to take a 58-55 win over the Hawks in the opening round of the Big Spring Classic last night.

Coach Ed Sparling's staged a second half comeback, only to fall cold in the home stretch as the Wranglers made way to a hard-earned victory.

Like the score indicates it was not a scorer's game. The contest was controlled by the defenses. Both teams zone and pressing defense kept each other out of its rhythm. In fact, Cisco took only 51 shots in the game, six more than the Hawks.

Neither team shot exceptionally well. Cisco made only 21 attempts for a sub-par 40 percent. Meanwhile the Hawks made 23 of 45 attempts for 52 percent. One important factor in the game was that the Wranglers, now 3-1 for the season, went to the foul line 20 times; sinking 16 of the attempts. On the other hand Howard made just 8 of 13 attempts.

A lot of the Wranglers went to the line after getting fouled while getting an offensive rebound, something CJC did well all night.

Led by George Westbrook and Jack McCrimmon, the Wranglers outrebounded Howard 28-22. Both reserve players played tough underneath. The 6-4 Westbrook hauled down a game-high 10 rebounds while scoring 16 points. McCrimmon, a 6-5 sophomore, pulled down 6 rebounds, including four ofensive boards.

Cisco led the most of the first half. After it jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the opening minute, Howard scored nine unanswered points. Walt Reynolds, Bruce Kimble and Mike McCall all scored baskets in the span while Lemarn Merchant turned a three-point play.

But then Cisco made a run of their own and by the 4:22 mark, they held a 28-19 lead. Howard had a hard time in the span, committing many of their game-total 22 turnovers.

But Howard battled back behind some scoring by Reynolds and narrowed the deficit to 32-28 at the half.

Baskets by Howard's Mike Duran and Steve Blanchard at the start of the second period tied the score at 32-32. Howard eventually took a 44-42 lead on a bucket by Todd McDermott and stretched the lead to 48-42 at the 9:55 mark.

That when the Hawks' shooting started to fail them. From that point on they would score only 7 more points. Howard had spans of three and two minutes in which it went scoreless.

Meanwhile Cisco roared to a 56-52 lead with 2:31 left in the game.

Kimble, who had 21 points for the night, added a free throw and narrowed the deficit to 56-53 with 2:03 left in the game. Howard had trouble getting a shot off in the final two minutes of the game against the sticky Cisco defense. When the Hawks did shoot, it was a forced shot that drew nothing but iron.

Coronado drops Lady Steers

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The Big Spring Lady dropped a close 50-49 game to the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs here last night in Steer Gym in non-district basketball action.

Coach C.E. Carmichael's Lady Steers saw a second half rally fall just short. Big Spring outscored Coronado 27-21 in the second half of play, but it wasn't enough to bail the Lady Steers out.

Behind the scoring of Carmen Maclean and Micky Miller the Mustangs built up a 29-22 lead.

Maclean ended the game with 10 points while Miller added 11 points and numerous rebounds.

Coronado jumped out to a 10-7 lead with three minutes left in the first quarter. Junior forward Teresa Pruitt's scoring kept Big Spring close during the time. Pruitt ended the night with a game-high 16 points.

Baskets by Priscilla Banks and Monique Jones pulled the Lady Steers to within 14-13 at the end of the first quarter.

Pruitt hit two baskets and the start of the second quarter and Lisa Hale drilled a 15-footer to pull Big Spring to within 20-18 with 3:45 left in the contest. But Coronado's Gloria Black hit three baskets and Coronado took a 29-22 halftime lead.

With four minutes left in the fourth quarter Big Spring battled back to tie the game at 42-42. But Pruitt and 6-1 forward Sheri Myrick fouled out, ending any hopes Big Spring had of coming back.

"It created a problem when Sheri and Teresa fouled out," said Carmichael. "We had to bring in some cold players off the bench and we lost some size underneath."

Big Spring is now 0-2 for the season.

In the junior varsity game Coronado won 40-25. Kim Phipps and Michelle LeGrand added 10 and 6 points respectively. Nikki Rodrigues was credited with having a good game.

UTEP knocked in NIT tournament

DENVER (AP) — Forward Paul Fortier scored 19 points and center Chris Welp 18 as Washington built a big early lead and cruised to an 82-53 rout of cold-shooting, turnover-prone Texas-El Paso in opening-round basketball action Friday night in the Big Apple National Invitation Tournament.

Fifth-ranked Kansas met Pepperdine later in other Denver regional play.

The first half was a disaster for UTEP. The Miners scored only eight points in the first 10 minutes of the game and dropped behind 22-8. Two minutes later, after a pair of UTEP free throws, Washington scored nine straight points, four by Welp, to open up a 33-10 margin — the Huskies' biggest of the half.

UTEP began fouling in an effort to reduce the deficit, but the Huskies converted from the line, hitting 19 free throws in the half to only four for UTEP. Washington also had a 25-13 rebounding edge in the half, and committed only five turnovers compared to UTEP's 12. Trailing 43-22 at the half, the Miners' hopes for a second-half comeback dissipated when they missed two layups in the opening minutes of the half.

A basket by Fortier with 7:15 remaining in the game put Washington up by 28 at 67-39, and UTEP got no closer than 22 points the rest of the way.

Juden Smith had 13 points and center Dave Feitel, who fouled out with 3:37 remaining, had 12 for the losers.

St. John's 66, Navy 58
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — West Virginia got 23 points from guard Dale Blaney and held Auburn's Chuck Person to eight points in a stunning 75-58 Big Apple NIT victory Friday night.

In Sunday night's quarterfinal, the Mountaineers will meet St. John's, a 66-58 winner over 19th-ranked Navy in the Friday's opening game. Ron Rowan scored 11 straight points in pacing a second-half comeback by the Redmen.

Person, a 6-foot-8 senior, who had averaged 22 points last season, had his streak of scoring double figures in 68 consecutive games snapped. He made only four of 16 from the field.

West Virginia, which was without three of its top six players from last year due to graduation and two others because of an alleged campus assault, jumped to a 16-6 lead and led 34-26 at intermission. Person had just four points at the half.

Blaney, a 6-4 senior who had averaged 12.3 points last season, hit on 11 of 18 from the field and had eight assists and six rebounds.

The Mountaineers, who won the Atlantic 10 regular season title last season, also got double figures from Herbie Brooks with 13 and Renardo Brown and Erik Semisch with 12 apiece.

The Tigers fell behind 53-42 with about five minutes to play but managed to close the difference to 58-52 as Frank Ford hit for four points.

Green Bay player in hot water

DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — De Pere's police chief says his officers arrested Green Bay defensive back Mossy Cade last week "the same way we would handle anyone else under the same circumstances."

In making their arrest of Cade, police stopped Cade's car, aimed a gun at him and forced him to kneel in the street while they frisked him, a witness and authorities said.

"We weren't taking any chances," Police Chief Armand Wecker said.

Cade, 23, is accused of second-degree sexual assault. A 42-year-old Houston woman said she was attacked while staying at Cade's De Pere home.

She said she was in the Green Bay area to watch the former University of Texas player and the Packers play the Chicago Bears in a National Football League game Nov. 3.

Cade is free on $25,000 bond, and has another court appearance scheduled Dec. 11.

Owls nip Mustangs, 27-24

The Reagan County Owls ground out two touchdowns in the second half, held the Shallowater Mustangs scoreless in the second half and won a Class AA Zone championship 27-24 last night in Memorial Stadium.

The Owls battled back from a 24-13 halftime deficit to nip the team from the Panhandle. Reagan County's winning score came with 1:04 left in the contest. Fullback Tim Tatum scored his second touchdown of the night when he bulled in from one yard out.

Reagan County had cut the lead to 24-20 late in the third quarter when Tatum scored from 10 yards out.

Reagan got on the scoreboard first when quarterback Scott Lipsey scored on a one yard run. Shallowater came back on a 7 yard scoring run by Ronnie Barron, cutting the deficit to 7-6 with 4:16 left in the first quarter.

Shallowater came right back on a 27 yard scoring pass from Davey Rhoades to Tim Lennon. This gave the Mustangs a 12-7 lead with three seconds left in the first quarter.

The Mustangs upped their lead to 18-7 in the second quarter when Rhoades scored on a 11 yard run.

Reagan County answered on a 13 yard scoring pass from Lipsey to Joel Griner. The Shallowater lead was 18-13 with 4:16 left in the half.

Shallowater scored its final points of the night thanks to a 66 yard run by Johnny Revilla with 3 minutes left in the half. This gave the Mustangs a 24-13 halftime lead and set the stage for Reagan County's second half comeback.

Reagan County advances to regional playoff action next week with a 9-3 record. Shallowater ends the season with a 9-2-1 mark.

"I was shocked. I couldn't imagine what could be that awful that they would have him at gunpoint," said Marge Michulsky, who witnessed the arrest.

Wecker said his department wanted to be careful in making the arrest because the Houston woman reported Cade had a gun in the house.

"We didn't know if he was carrying it on his person or in his car," Wecker said.

Cade did not have a gun with him when he was arrested.

"We wanted to pick him up as low-key as possible. We handled him the same way we would handle anyone else under the same circumstances," Wecker said.

His lawyer, Donald Zuidmulder, was out of town and not available to comment Thursday, a secretary in his Green Bay office said.

The witness said when she looked out her window Nov. 14, she saw a squad car force Cade to stop his car.

"In all, there were three cars involved, two squad cars and one unmarked car," she told the Green Bay Press-Gazette.

"The officer in the first car jumped out with a rifle and crouched behind the fender and pointed the gun at Cade," she said.

Cade "put his hands up in the car. The other two cars pulled up behind him and sort of blocked him in. The officers in those two cars started yelling at him to get out of his car," she said. "They yelled at him some more and he knelt down in the street and they frisked him."

Wecker had no disagreement with the woman's account of the arrest. The arrest went as planned, he said.

He said police did not want to arrest Cade at his home because of their knowledge of the gun.

It might look like television drama to someone looking out a window, he said, but "those types of stops are made every day in the county."

Abuse of elderly growing in Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Top state health and welfare officials told a Senate study group Friday that abuse and neglect of older Texans is more widespread than most people think.

Based on some statistics, there might be as many as 110,000 victims this year, said Marlin Johnston, commissioner of the Department of Human Services. "Even with regulatory reform at the state level, there are indications that elder abuse has not abated but probably is increasing," said Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, chairman of a Senate subcommittee that will make recommendations on elder abuse to the 1987 Legislature.

The subcommittee heard expert witnesses Friday in the first of a series of public hearings it plans throughout the state.

"Statistics are staggering; the challenge of budgetary and personnel resources seems overwhelming. But the devastation of this problem demands that we meaningfully confront this issue for the enhancement of life not only for older adults but for all society," Gov. Mark White said in a letter to the subcommittee.

Johnston said the DHS has investigated about 10,500 complaints about abuse or neglect of the elderly this year and found "problems" in 73 percent of the reports. He stressed the complaints concerned both professional caretakers and family members.

"Sixteen percent of the problems involved willful abuse," Johnston said. "That includes physical mistreatment, being locked up in a room, having their food withheld and such."

He said 21 percent of the problems concerned neglect in the care of the elderly, many of them concerning food service.

"And 12 percent concerned financial exploitation of the patients," Johnston said. "A lot of times it was a family member who ran off with a Social Security check or other benefit."

State Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein said the state health department made 5,300 investigations of complaints of abuse and neglect this year, mostly at nursing homes. The department found 35 to 40 percent of the complaints valid.

Educators favor HB 72 reforms

AUSTIN (AP) — Contrary to many reports, Texas educators strongly support legislation making widespread changes in the state's public schools, including the controversial no-pass, no-play rule, a University of Texas study showed Friday.

The rule requires a student failing one class to sit out of athletics and other extracurricular activities for six weeks.

"The first and really strongest finding was that we found enormous support for House Bill 72, contrary to the view that has often been circulated, which has been much more critical," said W. Norton Grubb, associate professor at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs.

The study by Grubb and 12 LBJ students was released at a Capitol news conference in conjunction with a report by Texas A&M University on more specific areas of HB 72.

HB 72 was the reform legislation enacted by a special legislative session in the summer of 1984. The two reports on the 1984 law were commissioned by Texans for Quality Education Inc., a non-profit research organization based in San Antonio. Grubb said the UT report was based on a series of interviews with educators throughout the state in the winter and spring of 1985, and "many of the judgments have to be premature" because the legislation is still so new.

Specifically, he said, educators favored attempts to "correct inequities in funding and to improve the quality of academic instruction."

"Everyone supported increased aid and increased aid that went into teacher salaries," Grubb said. "Secondly, everyone welcomed (funding that) succeeded in narrowing the disparities in spending between rich districts and poor districts."

By and large, he said, teachers and administrators also "welcomed the variety of provisions in House Bill 72 to increase academic standards."

Among features Grubb listed as favorable were: no pass, no play; prohibitions against social promotions; 70 as a passing grade; passage of an exam to graduate; and limitations on extracurricular activities.

As possible "trouble spots" that should be monitored, Grubb named equalization aid; pre-kindergarten programs for disadvantaged children; discipline in the classroom; tutoring of students; and career ladders and competency exams for teachers.

"Many educators ... felt particularly that competency is something that needs to be judged within the classroom rather than on a paper-and-pen test," he said.

He added that there is a "general fear" that competency tests "will eliminate a disproportionate number of minority teachers and bilingual education teachers."

Grubb said possible problems that cropped up in the interviews "should not be a criticism of the bill but simply an agenda for continuous monitoring of education."

Carole Crain of A&M's College of Education said, "Our findings, I think, were major in one area, and that is that overwhelmingly there was support for House Bill 72. That is not always reflected in everything you hear."

The A&M report concluded that support for the career ladder, where teachers can achieve higher salaries through experience and extra training, "is relatively high." The report said, however, large percentages of school board members, superintendents, principals and teachers "found this section of the law unclear."

Asked about educators' views that the school reform law should be changed in some areas, Grubb said "in terms of the fine-tuning of no pass, no play, there were many districts who felt that it ought to be based on an average of grades rather than flunking only one course and there were others who felt the period ought to be shortened a little bit — to three or four weeks rather than six weeks."

Grubb noted that among other major provisions, House Bill 72 had increased education funding by $900 million. "I must admit to being stunned at the amount of attention paid to no pass, no play, which was both in our estimation and in the estimation of educators that we spoke to only one tiny little corner of a large, ambitious and complex bill."

Texans for Quality Education said in a preliminary summary of the two reports that the "true impact" of education reform legislation "will not be known for years."

 field line.
 Forsan, led by the fine play of Strickland, linebacker Jason Donaghe and cornerback Lee Morris, was successful in stopping the heralded Goldthwaite rushing attack. But the Goldthwaite defense was beginning to stiffen, keying on the Forsan power sweep.
 Forsan's final scoring opportunity came early in the fourth quarter when Strickland threw a halfback pass back to Nichols for a 19-yard gain down to the Eagle 41. But on the next play, Eagle defensive end Jason Allen came crashing in from the right side, forcing a Nichols fumble, and dashing the hopes of a Forsan comeback when he recovered the ball on the Buffs' 47.
 On the ensuing drive, Goldthwaite used up all but a few seconds left on the clock, using the runs of Carr and Holtzclaw to frustrate Forsan. The Eagles had a first down and goal on the Forsan 3-yard line, but were stuffed on four straight plays by the Buffalo linebacker corp.

 Forsan head coach Jan East lauded Goldthwaite's performance. "I'm not disappointed in this game. We got beat by a great team. I was very pleased with the kids' performance. I thought they showed a lot of character on that goal line stand in the fourth quarter."

 Kimble sunk two more free throws with 36 seconds left to cut the score to 56-55. Howard fouled CJC's Rodney Murray with 9 seconds left, he sunk both charity attempts, giving the Wranglers a 50-55 victory.
 Kimble and Blanchard carried the Hawks scoring. Blanchard's long range bombs kept the Cisco zone honest in the contest. The 5-11 sophomore from Palestine finished the game with 12 points, all from the outside.
 Walt Reynolds chipped in 9 points to go along with his 10
