How's that?

G.E.D.

Q. What's the difference between a high school diploma and a G.E.D.? Can you get into college with a G.E.D.?

A. A G.E.D. is the equivalent of a high school diploma. Instead of going to high school, you get it by passing a test. Some employers equate a G.E.D. with a high school diploma, but others don't give it as much status.

A Howard College spokesman said you can get into Howard College and all other Texas public junior colleges with a G.E.D.

Energas agreement with supplier may lower future bills

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Energas customers throughout West Texas, including Big Spring, could receive refund credits on future gas bills as a result of a settlement being worked out by Energas and its supplier, Westar Transmission Co.

The amount of refund and other terms of the agreement have not been announced.

Harry Neel, vice president of marketing and technical services for Energas in Amarillo, said this morning that negotiations still were going on. "It's a favorable situation, and hopefully, they'll reach an agreement today," he said.

The agreement was being negotiated in the Austin offices of the Texas Railroad Commission, said Brian Schaible, director of public information services for the commission.

The agreement will settle a year-long dispute involving Westar, Energas and cities in an area extending from the panhandle to the Permian Basin.

Big Spring is one of more than 80 cities that receives its total gas supply from Westar, Mike Doll of Amarillo, director of corporate communications for Energas, told the Herald in August. Westar is a subsidiary of Cabot Corp.

Cabot had filed a request in August to increase the rate of its margin billing from 28.58 cents to 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, an approximate 160 percent increase. This would result in an $84 increase per year for the average Big Spring gas customer.

Energas officials say the fee is too high.

Energas is under a contract to buy all of the gas for its West Texas system from Westar. It is seeking to get out of the contract, contending that Cabot buys too much natural gas from its own subsidiaries at a higher price than gas could be bought for elsewhere.

Energas filed a complaint in December 1984 with the Texas Railroad Commission alleging improper pricing, improper transfer of Westar's assets and improper affiliate transactions. The commission was hearing the case this week when the companies asked for a recess so they could negotiate a settlement, Schaible said.

Even if an agreement is reached today, however, the dispute between Energas and Westar will not

Gross sales in county grow more than double

Gross sales in Howard County rose 113.8 percent the second quarter of this year compared to the same period last year, according to figures released by State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Second quarter sales this year amounted to $423.1 million for Howard County. Last year, the figure was $197.8 million.

In second quarter sales for other area counties:

- Borden County rose 13.3 percent to $87,112 from $76,871.

• Dawson County rose 5.3 percent to $36.8 million from $35 million last year.

• Glasscock County sales fell 20.8 percent to $788,899 from $995,878 last year.

• Martin County sales rose 2.7 percent to $14.7 million from $14.3 million last year.

• Mitchell County sales rose 9.4 percent to $15.9 million from $14.5 million last year.

Imports blamed for low refinery output

By WILLIAM GARLAND

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — The decline in U.S. refining capacity of petroleum products has reached levels that threaten national security, according to a study to be released Thursday at a congressional hearing.

The study cites the closure of 119 domestic refineries since 1981 and blames rising imports of foreign refined products such as gasoline and distillates on continuing troubles in the refining industry.

"The Reagan administration and Congress should launch a full-scale investigation and act promptly to alleviate the national security threat now posed by refined product imports," Dr. Charles K. Ebinger, author of the study, said in a prepared statement.

The study — entitled "Oil Product Imports: A Threat to U.S. National Security" — predicted foreign governments will continue to subsidize the export of refined products to the United States and to impact U.S. refinery production levels.

Ebinger, director of the energy and strategic resources program at the Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies, prepared the study for a hearing before the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Readiness. The study was prepared for the Independent Refiners Association that represents 31 domestic refineries.

The study concludes that:

• Deterioration of the domestic refining industry "could threaten national and international security as profoundly as the oil crisis of the 1970s, if and when refinery capacity is diverted to military use."

• Because of the high number of refinery closings, U.S. refiners might not be able to quickly refine crude oil now stored in the Strategic Petroleum Reserve on the Louisiana and Texas coasts.

• U.S. refiners are not prepared to compensate for major disruptions in foreign energy supplies and that "the situation worsens each day."

• U.S. reliance on foreign petroleum products is occurring at a time when crude oil imports are predicted to rise from "politically insecure members" of the Organization of Arab Exporting Countries.

Cotton harvest is on

Production goes way up; price down

Tractors strip puffy cotton flowers from leafless stems in fields near Sand Springs. This month's freeze has increased the pace of harvesting throughout the area, says Don Richardson, county extension agent.

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Howard County farmers are expected to gather roughly 80,000 bales of cotton this year, said county extension agent Don Richardson. That is about 1/4 to one 500-pound bale of cotton per acre, a 75,000-bale increase over last year's pest and drought-ravaged crop, he said.

Spurred by an early December freeze, the county cotton harvest is in full swing with nearly 60 percent of the crop in, the agent said.

The quality of this year's county cotton is mixed and is slightly lower overall in grade, Richardson said. "The grade dropped a little, but not so severely that it's a real serious problem," he said.

Despite the growth of an average crop this year, the agent downplayed the cotton's financial benefits to growers. "They might as well leave it out there for what it's worth," Richardson said only half joking.

The last he had heard, farmers were getting a paltry 45 cents a pound for their cotton, he said. Last year cotton was bringing in 61 to 62 cents per bale, said a spokesman in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

According to Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in College Station, farmers across the United States were getting 54 cents per pound during the first six months of this year. This adds up to a cost crunch likely to plow a lot of area farmers under.

"This situation has been apparent for the past three years," said Bruce Griffith of the First COTTON page 2-A Transport trucks carrying a fleet of Rolls Royces, which belonged to the Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, stopped in Big Spring today on a cross-country trip from Oregon to Carrollton, Texas.

Rolls Royce fleet piques curiosity

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Twelve auto transport vehicles pulled in to Rip Griffin's Truck Stop this morning with unusual cargo — 86 multi-colored Rolls Royces that until recently were the property of the Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh.

Truck stop patrons stopped what they were doing to ogle the cargo and to question the 24 transport vehicle drivers. Transport company owner Charles Lindamood and his drivers have become highway celebrities since picking up the vehicles in Antelope, Ore., on Saturday.

The vehicles became available for sale after a shakedown in Rajneeshpuram, an Oregon community built by followers of the Bhagwan. The Rajneesh is now in India.

His famous fleet of Rolls Royces, painted in various hues and decorated with peacocks, lightning bolts and flowers, have been stored in a Rajneeshpuram compound and were recently purchased by Bob Rothlisburger of Carrollton, an import car dealer.

The cars are valued at between $5 and $8 million, said Lindamood. Rothlisburger is planning to auction off the vehicles early next year.

Rothlisburger contacted Lindamood, owner of Lindamood Enterprises Inc. of Midlothian, and asked him to drive to Oregon and bring back the automobiles.

Dallas smokers beware

DALLAS — Cigarette smokers who give in to a nicotine fit in a Dallas restaurant, grocery store or bank could face prosecution and a $200 fine.

The Dallas City Council unanimously approved Wednesday an ordinance making smoking illegal in retail establishments with 500 or more square feet of floor space.

Individuals who violate the law could be fined up to $200 and could be prosecuted in municipal court.

AIDS vaccine possible

SAN ANTONIO — Researchers attending a conference on vaccine research predict that a successful vaccine against AIDS will be created by 1987.

"I think enough people are trying enough different things that by 1987 we should have an effective vaccine," Dr. Gordon Dreesman, head of virology and immunology at Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research, told the San Antonio Light on Wednesday.

College aid proposed

WASHINGTON — Spurning a Republican cost-cutting drive, the House proposed $10.6 billion for college aid next year, including financial help for a new generation of older, "non-traditional" students such as mothers returning to school.

A five-year extension of a wide variety of federal aid programs for students, colleges and universities through fiscal 1991 was passed and sent to the Senate on a 350-67 roll-call vote Wednesday night.

AMA criticizes movies

CHICAGO — The anti-abortion film "The Silent Scream" and a rebuttal film by Planned Parenthood try to provoke emotional responses rather than enlighten their audiences, says an American Medical Association panel.

The films appear to be crafted to evoke particular emotional responses while giving viewers the impression they are being led through logical reasoning, the association's Council on Scientific Affairs said in a report prepared for an AMA meeting Sunday.

Council fills seats

THE DALLES, Ore. — Four people have been appointed to the Antelope City Council to fill vacancies left by the resignations of followers of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh.

The four non-Rajneeshes, appointed Wednesday by Wasco County commissioners, would meet soon to select two more council members, a mayor and city recorder, officials said.

Panic-stricken people flee the area affected by a gas leak, top, Wednesday in New Delhi. Some people cover their faces, bottom, in an attempt not to inhale the gas leaked from the Shri Ram Fertilizer Plant. One person died of the incident Thursday and 25 others were hospitalized.

Gas spill strikes panic in India's capital

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A 50-year-old lawyer who inhaled gas that leaked from a fertilizer plant in New Delhi died today, and another 25 people had been hospitalized from exposure to the fumes, officials said.

The death was the first in the gas spill that occurred Wednesday, a day after the anniversary of the gas leak in Bhopal that killed more than 2,000 people.

The leak sparked debate over the safety of India's industrial plants and complaints that the government has not taken steps to prevent another disaster similar to Bhopal.

Charanjit Singh, a district court lawyer who inhaled the acrid oleum gas while on his way to work Wednesday morning, died this morning, said Hindu Rao Hospital medical superintendent M.L. Mathur.

Singh had complained of chest and head pain and lost consciousness soon after he was admitted, Mathur said.

The health ministry said Wednesday that more than 340 people were treated in several hospitals for eye and throat irritation, and that 62 of them had been admitted.

Twenty-five more people were hospitalized today, including two who were listed in serious condition with lung complications, officials said. Most of the others were being treated for eye problems.

Oleum gas leaked from the private Shriram Food and Fertilizers Industries complex when corroded metal supports collapsed under a 25-foot storage tank, officials said.

A cloud of acrid fumes billowed over broad congested area of the capital, causing widespread panic. Thousands of people fled, coughing and gasping and holding handkerchiefs over their faces. Traffic was snarled and offices, shops and schools closed.

Magdalene Gomes, a secretary, told reporters "there was so much panic we were running without a sense of direction. We didn't know where we were going. All that mattered to us was that we should escape the fumes."

Jayanti Prasad, who was treated for shock at Hindu Rao Hospital, said he was enveloped by the cloud of gas outside his shop.

"I felt suffocated and lost consciousness," he said. "I don't know who brought me here."

Fire department officials said the tank contained oleum in sulfuric acid and that the escaping gas combined with oxygen to form irritating but nonlethal vapor.

Dr. S. Varadarajan, director of India's Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, said the gas could cause irritation if inhaled in large quantities.

Doctors said the gas could affect the teeth and lungs of those severely exposed to it.

Bonner to extend stay

SIENA, Italy — The eye doctor treating Soviet dissident Yelena Bonner says he believes she will seek an extension of her three-month stay in the West so she can undergo a cataract operation.

Dr. Renato Frezzotti examined Bonner, wife of dissident and Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei D. Sakharov, for about three hours at his office Wednesday and sent her to a nearby laboratory for a specialized field-of-vision test.

Frezzotti said the cataract operation could wait until Mrs. Bonner returns from the United States.

Blacks to own property

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The government announced plans to give about one-sixth of South Africa's 24 million blacks the right to own property for the first time since 1913, but restrictions on where blacks may live will remain in force.

A prominent white opponent of apartheid said Wednesday the announcement "is important to black people in an emotional way, but in practical terms it does not mean anything."

Envoy denied visa

KUWAIT — Senior government officials today said Anglican church envoy Terry Waite has been refused a visa to visit Kuwait in connection with his efforts to free Americans held hostage in Lebanon.

"Kuwait does not want a link between the hostages and the 17 convicts" in Kuwaiti jails after being sentenced in a wave of December 1983 bomb attacks, said one official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Bishops differ on issue

VATICAN CITY — Roman Catholic bishops attending a synod called to assess the Second Vatican Council are divided over whether they should publish their findings and recommendations or keep them secret, Vatican sources say.

The synod already has agreed to issue "a message to all Catholics" on the closing day of the two-week assembly on Sunday.

Israeli plea to Russia

TEL AVIV, Israel — President Chaim Herzog has appealed to the Soviet Union to re-establish ties with Israel in the latest move by the Jewish state to restore the diplomatic links severed by the East bloc 18 years ago.

Herzog addressed the opening of the Israeli Communist Party's 20th annual convention in the port city of Haifa on Wednesday, the first time Israel's ceremonial head of state has participated in a conference of the pro-Moscow party.

Poindexter unworried about feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — John M. Poindexter, the publicity-shy nuclear physicist picked as President Reagan's new national security adviser, says he is not worried about White House power struggles because of assurances of unchallenged access to the Oval Office.

Poindexter, the No. 2 man on the National Security Council staff, moved up Wednesday with the resignation of his boss, Robert C. McFarlane.

Despite well-publicized friction with White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan, McFarlane denied he was leaving because of any feud.

Regan also dismissed reports of tension between the two top aides. "You have all been misinformed about that," the president told reporters during an appearance in the White House press briefing room with McFarlane and Poindexter.

Today, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes scolded the press for linking McFarlane's departure to conflict with Regan.

"This whole thing is totally overblown and you're doing a disservice to your profession; you're doing a disservice to the administration because you are incorrectly reporting the facts," he said told reporters at his morning briefing.

Speakes added, "I've have had stronger clashes with Bud than Regan has and I don't think Bud is leaving because of his clashes with me."

A 27-year Navy officer with the rank of vice admiral, Poindexter was virtually unknown outside the realm of foreign policy and defense.

He shuns contacts with reporters and once, on the eve of the U.S. invasion of Grenada, instructed Speakes to tell a reporter that it was "preposterous" that American forces were about to land on the tiny island.

During the brief appearance with the president and McFarlane, Poindexter said he was not concerned that he will face a power struggle with Regan, the strong-willed, frequently combative ex-Marine who ran the Treasury Department in Reagan's first term.

High school kids are pretty smart

Big Spring school administrators were pleasantly surprised this week as another component of the complex rules of House Bill 72 fell into place.

"Exit tests," a measure of whether high school students have accumulated enough knowledge to justify their diplomas, are another standard of tougher educational criteria under the new state legislation. State officials predicted that as much as 25 percent of high school juniors would fail the tests on first showing this fall.

The results aren't in elsewhere, yet, but in Big Spring 9 of 10 students passed the exams. That's quite an accomplishment.

According to Bill McQueary, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction for the school district, fully 90 percent passed the language arts portions of the exam and 87 percent passed the math.

For the remaining student in 10, there's work to be done. Three more opportunities are available to pass the test between now and next year's graduation, or there's no diploma. Remedial help is on the menu. But the goal of 100 percent of students passing these standard exams is well within reach; there's just some "stretch" involved in the accomplishment.

For Big Spring schools, the showing on the exit exams points to a standard of excellence in local instruction. Our students' showing on the tests is a feat which generates pride, and in so doing tends to perpetuate excellence.

Luggage loss is traumatic

One of the biggest problems of air travel is getting your luggage back at the end of the trip. For some reason more luggage is being lost now than ever before, and it's quite a headache for the airlines — not to mention the people who are flying.

What makes the whole thing mysterious is that if you're traveling with your wife, the airlines somehow manage to lose only her bags — the ones she absolutely needs if she is going to survive the trip.

There isn't a husband who has ever flown by air who hasn't faced this situation.

You get off the plane dog tired and wait at the baggage area. The carousel keeps turning and turning with everyone's luggage. You have all your bags in a matter of minutes. Your wife gets all her bags except for one — the large garment bag with all her dresses, costume jewelry and underthings. You wait an hour staring at the carousel, hoping against hope it will be the last piece of baggage off the plane. You don't dare speak to your wife. She finally speaks to you. "They lost my bag."

"I guess they did."

"What are you going to do about it?" she says, her lips pursed as if she's going to let out a scream.

"I am going to do something about it," you say, knowing in your heart there isn't a damn thing you can do. But you have to show some machismo. You go up to a man in uniform. "See here, sir," you say in your sternest voice. "You people have lost my wife's bag."

The man looks surprised. "I'm sorry, I'm the pilot of the plane."

There is another official-looking man with a badge on his chest. "Sir," you say, "you people have committed one of the gravest crimes known to tourism. You have lost the luggage of an honest woman. Unless you produce my wife's bag in the next 30 minutes, I shall have to report you to the president of your company."

"I'm a customs inspector," the man replies. "Go talk to someone from the airline."

Your wife, who is over in the corner twisting her handkerchief, asks, "What did they say?"

"I'm narrowing it down," you say. "The pilot of the plane doesn't know where your bag is, and neither does the customs service. So it must be someone else."

You are directed to a counter where one lone clerk is trying to cope with a large crowd of angry husbands. It is obviously the lost-luggage counter because all the women are huddled nearby wailing and tearing their clothes.

The clerk, hired for his masochistic tendencies, is smiling as he fills out long sheets of paper taking descriptions of the lost bags.

You get to the counter and ask the stupidest question any air traveler can pose: "Where is my wife's bag?"

The masochist smiles. "New Delhi, Bali, Rio de Janeiro. It could be anywhere."

"I have a good mind to slug you," you say.

"Oh, would you please?" he says. "Most people just shout at me, but very few of them really hit me."

"I wouldn't give you the satisfaction. What are we supposed to do now?"

"Why don't you go to your hotel and get a good night's sleep? If we find your luggage, we'll have it delivered."

"Suppose it's never found?"

"Then you can come back here and I'll fill out another form."

You return to your wife. "Well," you say, "it's no problem. They know exactly where the bag is, and you'll have it in the morning."

This calms her down until you get to the hotel. Then you make a mistake. As she's crawling into bed, you ask, "Where's your nightie?"

And she lets out a scream that can be heard all over the roofs of Paris.

Grace Caucus capable of blasting debt bomb

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Unless runaway government spending is halted, the public debt will catapult from $2 trillion next year to $13 trillion in 15 years. Thereafter, the debt will multiply by more than $2 trillion every year.

In a real sense, this overhanging debt is a time bomb, ticking remorselessly, increasing $6,412 at every stroke. It could literally destroy the American way of life.

If the debt bomb is to be defused, it must first be understood. The multi-trillion-dollar figures, though almost beyond comprehension, must be made comprehensible. Therewith, we offer this simple primer:

WHAT HAS CAUSED THE EXPLOSIVE PUBLIC DEBT? Politicians love to take credit for benefits but hate to be blamed for taxes. They have provided more government services and benefits, therefore, than they have been willing to pay for.

WON'T SOMEONE EVENTUALLY HAVE TO PAY? The multi-trillion-dollar overcharges will be passed on to our children. Congress is mortgaging their futures so we can enjoy the present. In 15 years, each taxpayer's share of the national debt will be $169,000. The interest alone, assuming a 12 percent interest rate, will cost each of our children $20,000 a year.

WHY CAN'T WE CONTROL GOVERNMENT SPENDING? Powerful coalitions form behind every government program. They include the people who benefit from the program, the suppliers who provide services for the program, the bureaucrats who administer the program and the politicians who control the program. They join forces to perpetuate and expand the program.

WHY DOES CONGRESS PUT THESE SPECIAL INTERESTS AHEAD OF THE GENERAL INTEREST? The special interests are organized, active and vocal. The taxpaying public is unorganized, inactive and silent.

DOESN'T ANYONE IN CONGRESS CARE THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S DEBTS ARE SOARING OUT OF CONTROL? That a catastrophe is in the making alarms many members. But the majority have opted for the personal opportunism of the moment and the postponement of the inconvenient consequences to the next fellow's term.

ISN'T THE BEST SOLUTION FOR CONGRESS TO RAISE MORE TAXES? Tax increases have never solved the basic problem. In the past, additional taxes have simply been used to finance new programs and more benefits.

HOW ABOUT A COMBINATION OF INCREASED TAXES AND SPENDING CUTS? This was tried in 1982. Under the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act, $98 billion in new revenue was raised during the 1983-85 period. Every $1 in new taxes was supposed to be accompanied by a $3 cut in spending. Instead, there was a $1.14 spending increase for every $1 tax increase.

THEN WHAT IS THE SOLUTION? Waste-buster J. Peter Grace claims the federal budget can be balanced and the spending spiral stopped without cutting legitimate services or benefits. All that is necessary, he pleads, is to eliminate the waste his commission found in the federal bureaucracy.

HOW CAN YOU HELP? Members of Congress who support the campaign to reduce waste in government have formed the Grace Caucus, chaired by Rep. Beau Boulter, R-Texas. Ask your congressman whether he has signed up yet.

Footnote: Jack Anderson is co-chairman with Peter Grace of the drive against government waste.

UNDER THE DOME: Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, isn't one to bear a grudge. Last month, he surprised a visitor by disclosing that, if asked, he would campaign on behalf of Francis "Bud" Mullen, former head of the Drug Enforcement Administration, if he decides to run for the House next year against Rep. Sam Gejdenson, D-Conn. In 1981, Mullen was the FBI official who misled Hatch's Labor Committee about the bureau's information linking Raymond Donovan to organized crime figures. Hatch said that while Mullen's testimony was misleading, it was "technically truthful." And that's enough to get the senator's support for a fellow Republican.

POLICING THE LAWMEN: A federal judge in California has drafted guidelines for the court-appointed monitor who will keep the federal-stage Campaign Against Marijuana Planting from trampling on innocent citizens' rights while it is trampling on illegal pot growing in the California hills. The monitor will be able to attend both training sessions and actual operations without warning, and will have authority to interview the police at any time and to compel testimony on improper activities. Government attorneys complain that the sweeping powers could result in an "adversarial relationship." That's the whole idea, isn't it?

MINI-EDITORIAL: We're amused by the irony of Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's situation. His headline advice to President Reagan was leaked to the press just in time to create a pre-summit furor. The irony is that Weinberger has spent five years trying to track down leakers in the Pentagon. His attitude toward the press is evidently a legacy from the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, on whose intelligence staff Weinberger served during World War II. MacArthur's view of the press was that only reports bordering on reverence should be encouraged.

Progress still far from ideal

By SPENCER SANDOW

While women have made some progress in the corporate world, they still have little true power when it comes to making things happen, as Republican and Democratic parties, courting successful business women, are finding out.

Women last year accounted for 45 percent of all management-related positions but earn only 75 cents to every dollar earned by their male colleagues, according to a recent survey. The figure is only about 30 percent more than women comparatively earned at the turn of the century, when women were not yet able to vote.

"Women may have reached the executive suite, but many still are not in the club, or the bar, or the meetings where the deals are cut," said the organizer of a women's political conference recently, according to an Associated Press story.

The problem, the story said, is that a generation of working women have focused their energies on their careers, ignoring or maintaining ignorance of the benefits of political connections.

A Republican National Committee conference scheduled Feb. 14-17 may be a start toward changing the situation. The conference will help women gain more power by learning how it's exercised outside their corporations.

Women will learn how to win appointments to local and state boards and commissions, and why it is important; how and when to make political contributions; how to build corporate strength through political action committees; and how to identify the political movers and shakers, the story said.

Women could become quite influential by getting involved in corporate decisions that affect politics and other circumstances, and it's about time they did.

While women appear to be advancing somewhat in the business world, reforms favoring women have taken a backwards trend, as evidenced by the failure of the Equal Rights Amendment. Our society needs a lot of improvement, especially in issues that affect mainly women.

When divorced and unwed mothers are being called "the new poor," it's time for change. When a constitutional amendment prohibiting discrimination against gender is defeated and women still aren't receiving equal pay for equal work, it's time for a change.

Opinion expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Wrinkle Cream Great Success

It's an exciting story of a pharmacist who developed a wrinkle cream which women all over the country are clamoring for.

Dr. Robert Heldfond is making cosmetic history with his EB5 cream. His dream since Pharmacy School has resulted in a wrinkle cream which is enjoying record sales in department stores and which cosmeticians and customers are praising very highly.

Research lab tests show that by daily use of EB5 cream, morning and night, facial lines, lines around the eyes, lines on the forehead and around the mouth are smoothed. Thousands across the country are so pleased that EB5 is 5 creams in 1 jar... EB5 is a wrinkle cream, a night cream, a moisturizer, an eye-cream, and a makeup-base... All In One.

A Christmas remembered...

By CAROL BALDWIN
Lifestyle Editor

The holidays are filled with traditions, and the Big Spring Herald is seeking help from readers in continuing the tradition of publishing "A Christmas Remembered."

For the past two years, the Lifestyle department has solicited letters from readers recounting their most memorable Christmas. This year, letters selected by members of the staff will be published in the Sunday, Dec. 22 edition of The Herald.

What makes a good story? Any Christmas story that is special to you might make interesting reading for others in this area.

Stories we've published in the past included a letter from a mother separated from her imprisoned son during the holidays, the story of a couple wed on Christmas Eve, a mother and daughter reunited after a 20-year separation, and Christmas during the Depression.

If your story has been published before, please do not submit the same story again. Stories should be submitted by Dec. 19 for publication on Dec. 22.

This year, we're asking readers to include a photograph of themselves in addition to the story. We will accept stories without photographs.

All stories become the property of the Herald and cannot be returned.

Send stories to "My Most Memorable Christmas," care of the Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas, 79720.

Dear Abby

Blind classmate overlooked at reunion

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended my 35th high school class reunion. It was the first reunion I had ever attended and I could hardly wait to get there.

Unfortunately, it was a big disappointment. Very few people spoke to me. When the class picture was taken, even the people standing next to me ignored me.

I learned later that they were embarrassed because they didn't know what to say to a blind man, Abby, if they had just said, "Hello, my name is So-and-So," believe me, I would have kept the conversation going.

I enjoy talking to people. My mind and hearing are not impaired, but a blind person can't walk around a room, patting shoulders and getting chummy like a sighted person. We just sit in our chairs and wait for people to come to us. I wanted so much to talk to some of my classmates, but very few would speak to me.

Please print this to let sighted people know that it is up to them to initiate a conversation with a blind person.

MR. ANONYMOUS

DEAR MR. ANONYMOUS: I'm glad you wrote. Your letter gives me an ideal opportunity to share some helpful hints on how to interact with a blind person. I quote a booklet provided as a public service by the Braille Institute:

"When you enter a room, please speak to me so I will know that you are there, and tell me your name immediately. Also introduce me to everyone else in the room; otherwise I may not know that they are there. If possible, let me know that 'Mr. Brown' is across the table, and 'Mr. Smith' is seated at my left, etc.

"Also tell me if there is a dog or cat in the room, then guide my hand to a chair. Describe the furniture placement and objects I might be apt to bump into, such as a door left ajar, a footstool, or a child's toy on the floor.

"If we go to a restaurant, please read the menu to me, including prices. I may ask for help cutting my meat. Describe the food placement to me as on a clock face. Potatoes at 12, carrots at 3, steak at 6, a tomato at 9, etc. Then I'll do just fine.

"Are you curious to know if I was born blind, or did I have some kind of accident? Don't be shy, ask me. I may be just as anxious to tell you as you are to ask.

"Don't avoid words like 'see.' I use them, too. Don't stumble over words like 'visually handicapped' or 'partially sighted.' I am blind. I know it. You know it. Be comfortable with it.

"Don't give me undeserved compliments or make patronizing remarks about accomplishments that are commonplace for a sighted person.

"If I have a Seeing Eye dog, remember he is not my 'pet' — he is trained to guide and protect me, so please don't pet him or try to play with him — he's on duty, doing the job for which he was trained.

"Please don't raise your voice to me. I am not hard of hearing; I'm only blind. If you are accompanying me to a store or restaurant, please encourage the clerks and waiters to speak directly to me, not through you. I am able to think, make decisions and talk. I just can't see.

"I am really the same as a sighted person, so please don't treat me as though I'm 'special.' Just walk beside me and be my friend."

Dr. Donohue

Is artificial blood in the future?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is there such a product as artificial blood? If so, where is it used and can it substitute for whole blood? — O.B.

Practical use of so-called artificial blood is still years away, although several companies are looking into it quite seriously. Yet it is doubtful that what emerges from research laboratories will be a true substitute for whole human blood, but rather for specific blood components, chiefly substitutes for red blood cells. The value is seen as extending our supply of regular human blood.

Artificial red blood cells have already been tested on animals. They are called "neohemocytes," or NHCs, for short. In one form, the NHCs are bits of encapsulated hemoglobin, the oxygen-carrying portion of human blood. When developed, their uses would include delivery of oxygen in emergency situations, as in shock from great blood loss. Another potential value might be in getting oxygen to brain areas affected by stroke, to limit damage.

You will undoubtedly be hearing more about such research in years ahead. However, I don't think we can look to such products as a substitute for regular human blood in the sense that we can forget about normal donor programs.

Blood performs many other functions beyond the simple delivery of oxygen to tissue. It is a bit futuristic to suggest that man will be able to duplicate all of blood's components to satisfy all the body's needs.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Some time ago, I had a severe case of shingles across my right chest. I had large blotches. I did not have the pain my doctor said to expect, but I did have pain in a lower molar tooth on the right side. If anything touched that tooth, there was great pain. It left after five months.

The dentist told me there was absolutely nothing wrong with the tooth. I feel sure the shingles was the cause. My doctor disagrees. Can you tell me if it was possible? — J.S.

I don't see how the tooth pain could have been connected with the chest shingles. I'd have to be convinced.

I'm glad to hear that you apparently escaped the usual bout with post-herpetic pain, the kind many experience after the crusting of the blisters. Perhaps you want to look over my booklet on the subject. Other readers can order "Facts about Shingles" by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You'll never know what you did for our family tonight. We felt a tug at the heartstrings when we read the letter from the parent of the young boy with the hair loss. It especially moved us when we read the response. Its sensitivity and compassion made such an impression, and we were brought to tears. We had a similar experience in our family and care deeply about the youngster and his frame of mind. — A.R.

Thank you for your thoughtful note.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and one dollar.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Ann Brown of the Americans for Democratic Action tosses a toy toward the "trash box" during a press conference in Washington Tuesday where the group released its annual Christmas toy price and quality survey. The group places the recommended toys in a "toy box."

Group focuses on dangers of toys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Children who try to wear the collar from a popular Cabbage Patch doll may be endangering themselves, and the collars should be replaced by the doll manufacturer, a Washington consumer group says.

The collars on some Cabbage Patch Koosa dolls are potentially dangerous because they are long enough to go around the neck of a pre-schooler, and have an unusual catch that is hard to unclasp once on the child, warned Ann Brown of the Consumer Affairs Committee of Americans for Democratic Action.

"Koosa itself is not dangerous. The problem is the collar. And kids will put it around their neck, that is just kids' nature," Ms. Brown said Tuesday during the committee's 14th annual pre-Christmas toy safety survey news conference.

Tamara L. Pickart of San Rafael, Calif., cited the example of her 6-year-old daughter Amy, who placed one of the collars on her neck while playing. The tot panicked when the collar proved too tight, Ms. Pickart said, and was kicking and fighting as adults tried to help her. The collar had to be cut off, Ms. Pickart said, warning of the danger should a similar problem occur with no adults around to help.

Ms. Brown said that by the end of November, Koosa dolls with a redesigned collar — shorter and easier to remove — had begun appearing in stores. But older models are still available and should be replaced by the manufacturer, Coleco, she said.

Coleco officials responded that the company had received no reports of problems with the collar.

"Both the original and revised collars on the Koosas meet all the Consumer Product Safety Commission and Canadian safety regulations," said Barbara Wruck, vice president of corporate communications at Coleco. "There have been no injuries that have occurred as a result of the use or misuse of this product."

At Tuesday's news conference, the consumer group also warned of problems with baby seats, gates and walkers and selected nine toys as highly recommended this holiday season.

The consumer group was critical of some toy makers for packaging they considered deceptive; toys that were hard to use or assemble; and items they felt were a poor value either because of cost or lack of play interest.

Ms. Brown said some new type portable baby seats that attach to tables — replacing high chairs for toddlers — can come loose.

She urged that baby gates carry warnings stating that they cannot be securely attached to walls where baseboard moulding is in use and said baby walkers are dangerous, causing mishaps without providing any real benefits to infants.

On the brighter side, the Safety Bath Whale by Sassy, Inc., was singled out as a good aid to parents whose children like to play in the bathtub.

Weinberger against planned pension cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Planned cuts in the increasingly expensive military retirement system would harm future readiness as well as the morale of the current force, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger told Congress on Wednesday.

Moreover, a Pentagon study of options for reaching a new congressional target for retirement pay shows the benefits promised future enlistees will have to be slashed 16 percent, Weinberger said.

The secretary, in a one-page letter that accompanied a special report to the Congress, in essence accused the lawmakers of being penny-wise and pound-foolish.

Citing the recently completed Pentagon study, he said benefit cuts would prompt a "significant" loss of experienced, mid-level personnel as well as higher recruiting and training costs.

He also said Congress would have to consider increasing active-duty pay and special bonuses if those problems were to be mitigated.

"Unless offsetting compensation is provided, our models conservatively indicate that our future manning levels in the 10 to 30-year portion of the force would drop below the dismal levels of the late 1970s," Weinberger wrote.

"And while the changes we have been required to submit technically affect only future entrants, we expect an insidious and immediate effect on the morale of the current force," he continued.

"No matter how the reduction is packaged, it communicates the same message; i.e., the perception that there is an erosion in support from the American people for the servicemen and women whom we call upon to ensure our safety."

Weinberger's letter, dated Nov. 15, was attached to a 34-page report outlining two options for achieving a $2.9 billion reduction in "retirement accrual funding" ordered this fall by Congress. Both were released Wednesday as a Senate subcommittee opened hearings to study the two approaches.

Weinberger concluded his letter with a plea to reconsider the cut-back, but there has been no evidence Congress is willing to do so. Lawmakers slashed the Pentagon's fiscal 1986 request for $18.2 billion in retirement money to $15.3 billion.

Appeals court upholds ruling on rape

AUSTIN (AP) — A divided Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld Wednesday a 30-year prison sentence assessed for aggravated rape in a decision that one judge said had a sexist tinge.

The ruling upheld a Dallas court of appeals and a Collin County trial court for not allowing evidence of prior sexual activity of the rape victim to be introduced as evidence.

Judge Marvin Teague and Judge Chuck Miller wrote concurring opinions but said they had some differences with the majority opinion written by Presiding Judge John Onion.

Miller said he differed only with the majority opinion because Onion used the term "prosecutrix" instead of "victim."

"The term 'prosecutrix' should be relegated to the attic trunk, along with corsets and pantaloons, and the term 'victim' placed in its stead," Miller said. He said the use of "prosecutrix" was "blatantly sexist."

"My, oh my, how Judge Miller fulminates over Presiding Judge Onion's use ... of the age-old legal word 'prosecutrix,'" said Teague. He said he was deeply concerned "that to make of this cause a feminist issue will seriously detract from the importance of what is before us."

The decision affirmed the 30-year sentence a jury gave Virgil Dean Allen upon conviction of the rape of a 17-year-old department store employee the night of Feb. 1, 1982. The girl testified a man approached her in the Collin Creek Mall in Plano and made her, at gunpoint, get in a pickup truck and was driven to a rural spot in Collin County. She said the man raped her, then drove her back to the mall parking lot.

She testified on direct examination that the man asked her if she was a virgin, and she said "No."

On cross-examination, defense attorneys attempted to show the girl has said, outside the hearing of the jury, that she had a Baylor College boyfriend and they had had sex several times.

The trial court refused to admit the testimony before the jury, which was the main point of the defense's appeal.

SWCID headstart program depends on federal grant

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf in Big Spring is seeking a federal grant to start an Upward Bound program for hearing impaired high school students.

The program would encourage low income and first generation high school students to continue their education by giving them a headstart on college work, said college director Sam Hill.

SWCID would be the first college for the deaf in the United States to have an Upward Bound program, he said.

Hill said school officials are "frantically" working on a proposal to submit to the U.S. Department of Education by the Dec. 16 deadline. Because the budget is still being worked on, he doesn't know how large a grant the school will request, he said.

Hill said he would know in mid January if the grant was approved. "We are very optimistic," he said.

The grant would be for three years, with Dallas as the targeted area for the program, he said.

Students from Dallas would begin the program their junior year of high school. SWCID instructors would work with them to upgrade their academic skills during the junior and senior school years at the students' Dallas high school. During the summer, the students would come to the Big Spring campus for six weeks.

After graduation, the students would get a headstart on their college education by taking college level courses at SWCID for six weeks during the summer. Then the students would enroll in college.

"We hope they enroll at SWCID, but they are under no obligation to," Hill said.

Students must be at least 13 years old or in the eighth grade to enroll in Upward Bound. They cannot be over age 19 or a high school graduate, Hill said.

C-City approves bid to build fire station

COLORADO CITY — The City Council accepted a bid Tuesday night from Colorado City contractor Virgil Stone to build a new fire station.

The action was taken at a specially called meeting.

City manager Brenda Tarter said, "We're very pleased that the bid has come in like it has."

The base bid was $466,600, but the council reworked the proposal and lowered the cost to $413,836. Although Stone's bid was not the lowest, Tarter said the council thought it better to keep the tax dollars at home.

The fire station will be built at 11th and Pine streets on land formerly belonging to the Colorado City school system. Construction will begin in about eight days with actual work being completed in about 210 calendar days.

Funding for the building is being partially provided by citizen Marion Bassham, and other residents of Colorado City will be asked to contribute, Tarter said.

G-City juniors make clean sweep in test

GARDEN CITY — All 25 juniors at Garden City High School passed the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills test, which is required for graduation, said Don Stringer, Glasscock County Independent School District superintendent.

The students took the tests Oct. 1-2. Stringer said he got the results Wednesday afternoon showing that 100 percent of the students passed. House Bill 72 requires that Texas students pass the test before they can receive a high school diploma. Students who fail the test the first time have three more chances to pass before their graduation date.

Stringer said none of the Garden City students received special instruction to prepare them for the test. This allowed school officials to see the areas of strengths and weaknesses in high school instruction, he said.

Thursday Notes

By Charlie Alcorn

Former Olympian Rose Magers writes from Tokyo, Japan of her recent selection to the World All-Star team. She was the only player selected from the United States. The team was picked by the International Volleyball Federation, choosing who they deemed to be the best player from each country. Her teammates come from the best volleyball playing nations in the world including the Japan, Soviet Union, Cuba, Korea, Brazil, Peru, Italy and West Germany. This all-star team will take on the world champion national team from China in the Hitachi Cup, December 28 in Beijing, China and December 31 in Shanghai, China.

Following the two all-star matches, Magers will return to Tokyo to play in the Japanese League, the country's professional volleyball league. She is the captain of the first division NEC team that finished third in the League last year. In NEC's first match of the year, Mager's will be playing against her former Olympic teammates, Rita Crockett and Flo Hyman.

Local cowboy Wacey Cathey is winding up his best year as a professional bull rider. The Big Spring native collected $52,805 this year on the PRCA circuit and finished fifth overall in the Bull Riding standings behind top winner Tuff Hedeman of El Paso with $72,634.

Cathey qualified for the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas and will have a chance at winning some of the biggest purse in NFR history.

You can watch Wacey compete on television Sunday, December 15 at 8 p.m. on Channel 2.

Bowl-A-Rama held its Bowler of the Month competition last Sunday. A fine turnout of 61 bowlers contended for the November titles. The winners are as follow:

Barbara Vieira	Scratch Series	554
Diane Arnold	Handicap Series	648
Nita Moser	Senior Scratch	595
Mildred Rudd	Senior Handicap	610

Congratulations to all these winners.

Western Texas' Alvin Lee is the leading scorer with a 21.1 average.

Sophomore post Walter Reynolds is the seventh leading rebounder in the conference with 7.7 boards per game. Reynolds is also among the leaders in blocked shots with 21.

As a team the Hawks rank a poor eighth in offense with a 69.5 points per game average, but have the second best team shooting percentage of .530. The Hawks are currently fifth in team defense, giving up 70.8 points per game.

The Queens, who also take a 5-7 record into the game with the Lady Dusters, are led by sophomore guard Lorri French, who is the WJCAC's fourth leading scorer at 17 points per game. Odessa College All-American Doreatha Conwell leads the conference with a 27.3 average.

Freshman guard Terri Powell is the seventh leading scorer with a 13.4 average.

As a team, the Queens are fourth in team offense with a 67 point per game average. They are fifth in team defense with a 65.1 points against average.

The Ebony Club at the Federal Prison Camp along with the Salvation Army is sponsoring a basketball tournament Thursday, December 12 through December 14 at the Camp Gymnasium.

Entry fee is $60 per team and each team is guaranteed two games. There will be a minimum of eight teams and a maximum of ten.

Spectators will be admitted with a donation of canned foods. All proceeds will go to the Salvation Army.

Raiders lure Mize

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — It appears that Texas Tech's Red Raiders may become the "Orange" Raiders with the acquisition of the Longhorns' top West Texas recruiter.

John Mize, a University of Texas assistant coach who recruited in Texas Tech's backyard for the Longhorns, was added to the Red Raider football coaching staff Wednesday by new Head Coach David McWilliams, who is fresh from Austin himself.

McWilliams — who was Texas' defensive coordinator before being hired Monday by Athletic Director T. Jones, an ex-associate athletic director at Texas — also announced that Dean Slayton had agreed to stay at Texas Tech.

Slayton was a defensive coach on the staff of Jerry Moore, who was fired as Tech coach in late November.

Mize, 39, was a member of Fred Akers' Texas orange-shirted staff for the past nine seasons. As West Texas recruiter, he lured such players as Jerry Gray and Tony Degrate to the UT campus. He coached the offensive line before moving to defensive tackles this past season.

Mize was a high school coach in Arkansas and was on the coaching staffs of Texas A&M and West Texas State before going to UT.

"I am happy we can get the caliber of coaches we are getting," McWilliams said. "John Mize is impressive both on the field and in the recruiting arena, and everybody knows what kind of job Dean Slayton has done with the Raider defense the past few years."

Slayton, 49, who has also coached at Texas-El Paso, Howard Payne and North Texas State, became the sixth member of Moore's staff to join the new regime.

McWilliams announced on Tuesday that Tech assistants Spike Dykes, Dick Winder and Clarence James had agreed to remain. McWilliams said shortly after his hiring on Monday that Carlos Mainord and Clovis Hale had agreed to join his staff.

Dykes coached with McWilliams at Texas for five years before

Evert Lloyd in Aussie finals

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd scored a disputed 6-1, 7-6 triumph Thursday over fifth-seeded West German Claudia Kohde-Kilsch to advance to the women's singles final of the $1.5 million Australian Open tennis tournament.

Earlier, Lloyd's husband, Englishman John Lloyd, was beaten 7-6, 6-2, 6-1 in the men's quarterfinals by top-seeded Ivan Lendl.

Asked if she felt robbed by the call, Kohde-Kilsch said, "I think so, but you must live with that in tennis. What could I do?"

Lloyd, playing with great aggression, had led 6-1, 4-1 before the tall and powerful 21-year-old German got into the groove.

"I was just starting to play well, and maybe I would have had a chance in the third set," Kohde-Kilsch said.

Television replays seemed to show the ball was clearly long.

It was not until the 11th game of the match that the German was able to hold serve, but from that point on she gained in confidence, began moving well and was far more effective at the net.

"She got in some good serves in the second set and it's hard to beat her," said Lloyd, who sought to play down the controversy over the call.

"I didn't see the ball," she said. "It's unfortunate it happened at that point — but that's tennis. I wouldn't dwell on it. These things happen. It came at a crucial time, so it was a break for me."

Lloyd said she was not surprised that Kohde-Kilsch fought back into the second set.

"She is one of those players who often seems to play better when she's losing," she said.

The 26-year-old Lendl, aiming to win the Australian title for the first time, struggled through the first set against John Lloyd, but then used his power serves to good effect and romped to victory in 1 hour, 44 minutes. The unseeded Lloyd, who had beaten seeds Tomas Smid and Joakim Nystrom on his way to the last eight of the grass-court event, found his own serve had deserted him.

"I had no chance against a player of his caliber if I could only get 50 percent of my first serves in," the 31-year-old Englishman said.

Lloyd felt his chance was gone once he lost the first set tiebreaker 7-5.

"The first set was the big one," he said. "If I'd have got that, I'd have had a chance. After the first set, he got his serve back and it seemed he was serving a couple of aces every game."

Lloyd said reaching the final eight boosted his confidence.

"I feel I've come a long way in these two weeks," he said. "But I was disappointed today, even though I was playing the best player in the world."

Fifth-seeded Stefan Edberg of Sweden meets unseeded Michiel Schapers of the Netherlands in the other quarterfinal.

Edberg has been extremely critical of his own form.

"I am not playing my best and I am struggling," said the 19-year-old Swede, the junior Grand Slam champion in 1983. "It's just not there."

The lanky Schapers defeated Wimbledon champion Boris Becker in the second round and has nothing to lose. He is ranked just 188th in the world.

The women's singles semifinals also are scheduled Thursday.

Defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd takes on fifth-seeded Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany, while the world's No. 1 player, Martina Navratilova, plays Czechoslovakian rival Hana Mandlikova, the third seed.

The women had a day off Wednesday when the spotlight fell on John McEnroe.

American Chris Evert Lloyd hits a two handed backhand during action in her win against Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany in their semifinal match in the Australian Open Thursday in Melbourne.

Big 8 players head Lombardi finalists

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Oklahoma nose guard Tony Casillas credits some straight talk from Coach Barry Switzer two years ago for his position in the spotlight as a finalist for the Lombardi Award for the nation's top college football lineman.

"When I was moved to nose guard two years ago, I wasn't the dominating type player," Casillas said. "Things weren't going my way. Coach Switzer told me I could become a good player and that I could achieve some of the honors such as this one."

Joining Casillas as finalists for the 16th annual award tonight are Boston College nose guard Mike Rush, Oklahoma State defensive tackle Leslie O'Neal and Michigan defensive tackle Mike Hammerstein.

The trophy, with a 40-pound block of granite as the centerpiece, is presented in honor of the late Vince Lombardi, former coach of the Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins. Lombardi died in September 1970 of cancer.

Casillas' acceptance of Switzer's challenge has put him in a position not only to win the prestigious award but to lead the Sooner defense on New Year's night against top-ranked Penn State in the Orange Bowl.

Casillas, a 6-foot-3, 280-pound senior, had 35 tackles, including four for losses and two quarterback sacks, in seven games for the Sooners this season.

Hammerstein, 6-3, 265, led Michigan in tackles for losses this season with 22 drops for 110 yards. The senior defensive end also added 73 tackles, had nine quarterback sacks for 53 yards in losses, one fumble recovery and one interception.

"My being selected is just a reflection of our defense this year," Hammerstein said. "We were first in just about every category. I'm honored to represent our team here."

O'Neal, a 6-4, 249-pound senior defensive tackle, had 93 tackles, nine quarterback sacks and 15 tackles for losses for Oklahoma State, 8-2, which will play Florida State in the Gator Bowl.

"I couldn't say I'd be displeased if I don't win," O'Neal said. "Being one of the final four is good considering all the schools involved."

Ruth, a 6-2, 268 senior nose guard, had 126 tackles for Boston College, 12 quarterback sacks, one interception and two forced fumbles. The Eagles, with Heisman Trophy winner Doug Flutie at quarterback, defeated Houston in the 1985 Cotton Bowl, but with Flutie gone dropped to a 4-8 record this season.

"The attention has waned but you don't play football for attention, you play for other things," Ruth said. "I think we had a great team this year. We just didn't have the record of the last three years."

The finalists are selected by a 211-member committee of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters. Texas' Tony Degrate won the award last year. Ohio State's Jim Stillwagon won the first trophy in 1970.

The annual Lombardi dinner is sponsored by the Downtown Rotary Club of Houston, with proceeds earmarked for cancer research.

Cowboys get ex-Saint

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys placed rookie running back Robert Lavette on injured reserve Thursday and filled his spot on the roster by signing wide receiver-kick returner Kenny Duckett, who was cut earlier in the year by New Orleans.

Lavette, who has an injured knee, must remain on injured reserve at least four weeks, but could be activated in time for the National Football League divisional playoffs on Jan. 4-5. He also returned kickoffs for the Cowboys.

Angry Curry preps for unification bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Don Curry is puzzled and angered by charges from Milton McCrory's camp that he lacks heart.

At a news conference Wednesday to hype their scheduled 12-round fight for the undisputed welterweight champion, the unbeaten Curry stared at the unbeaten McCrory and snapped, "I'll definitely take your heart and knock you out in the seventh or eighth round."

"Boy, you were drinking something," shouted someone at a table of McCrory's stablemates from Detroit's Kronk Gym.

"He's the one who lacks heart," said Curry, who is recognized as welterweight champion by the World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation. "He needs Emanuel (manager-trainer Emanuel Steward) out there to build his confidence up."

"You can tell by the tone of his voice he's scared," said McCrory, recognized as champion by the World Boxing Council. "I'm not afraid of nobody."

Curry, of Fort Worth, Texas, said he feels that charges he is a front-runner who will wilt under pressure stem from his amateur days.

"I was never in condition as an amateur," said the 24-year-old Curry, who took up boxing at age 8 and had more than 400 amateur fights.

"I did just enough to win. I was more interested in football, baseball and track. I felt anybody could put on gloves and fight three three-minute rounds."

"I don't have to prove my heart to anybody," added Curry, who has a 23-0 pro record with 18 knockouts.

While Curry is upset by the accusations that he lacks toughness, McCrory is upset by the 4-1 odds favoring Curry.

"I think being a 4-1 underdog is a putdown to me," said McCrory, who has a 27-0-1 record with 22 knockouts.

Herb Lembeck, a local oddsmaker, has some reasons for the 4-1 line.

"We try to put up a line that will get two-way action," he said. "And I think Curry has fought tougher fighters."

Lembeck thought the odds would go down by fight time at about 7 p.m. PDT Friday. The bout will be televised by HBO.

Lembeck also noted that Leon Spinks was an 8-1 to 10-1 underdog when he upset Muhammad Ali; Gerrie Coetzee was a 6-1 underdog when he beat Michael Dokes, and Michael Spinks was a 4-1 underdog when he upset Larry Holmes.

Thomas Hearns, the Kronk star who is the WBC super welterweight champion, wouldn't predict a McCrory victory, but said, "I don't see it going past four or five rounds."

The 6-foot-1 Hearns and the 6-1 McCrory have often sparred together.

Lucas' bomb proves fatal to Utah Jazz

By The Associated Press
Practice makes perfect, but not when it comes to making 60-foot shots.

The Utah Jazz led 120-117 in the waning seconds of their National Basketball Association game with the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday night, but Lakers forward Maurice Lucas hit a 60-footer that tied the score at the buzzer. The Lakers went on to win 131-127 in overtime.

"We practice them every day before practice," Lakers Coach Pat Riley said. "The funny thing is, Lucas never practices them."

"I was as surprised as anyone that the ball went in," said Lucas, who finished with 21 points. "When I got it, I just turned around and threw it up with both hands. It actually looked like it was on-line. At first, I thought it was a little soft, but when it went in, I was on the floor in disbelief, like everyone else."

In overtime, Lucas also made two free throws with 39 seconds left to put the Lakers ahead 128-124. Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who led the Lakers with 29 points, added two free throws with 13 seconds remaining.

Lucas said the Lakers, now 16-2 for the season, were fortunate to win.

Adrian Dantley scored 36 points to lead the Jazz, while rookie Karl Malone scored a season-high 25 points and added 15 rebounds.

76ers 115, Bullets 110

Paul Thompson scored 24 points, and Charles Barkley added a couple of key baskets on offensive rebounds late in overtime as Philadelphia prevailed despite losing Julius Erving, Sedale Threatt and Bobby Jones to injuries.

The 76ers, already playing without injured guard Andrew Toney, saw a nine-point fourth-quarter lead evaporate on Frank Johnson's layup with 26 seconds left that tied the score 102-102.

But a buck by Barkley off his own miss gave the 76ers a 109-106 lead, and he hit another shot seconds later off a rebound to put Philadelphia up 113-108. The Bullets closed to 113-110, but Gus Williams' three-point attempt bounced off the rim.

Jeff Ruland had 26 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists for the Bullets, and 7-foot-6 Manute Bol had five blocked shots in Washington's fourth-quarter surge before fouling out.

Celtics 130, Nets 111
Boston won for the ninth straight time as guards Danny Ainge and Dennis Johnson bombed New Jersey from outside.

Ainge hit nine of 10 shots from the field, including two three-pointers, and made all six of his free throws. His season-high 26 points, along with Johnson's 23, keyed Boston's 62.2 percent shooting and boosted the Celtics to 17-2 for the season.

Otis Birdsong had 20 points to lead the Nets, who trailed only 67-60 at halftime, but never recovered after Boston scored 11 of the first 13 points of the third quarter.

Suns 100, Bulls 99
Phoenix won for only the fourth time in 20 games after Jay Humphries hit two free throws with 20 seconds left against Chicago.

The Bulls trailed by 10 points with 8:44 left, but they outscored the Suns 17-6 run to take a 97-96 lead with 3:31 left on a technical foul shot by John Paxson. Two free throws by Orlando Woolridge with 1:10 to go put Chicago ahead 99-96.

Alvan Adams cut the deficit to one with a jumper with 53 seconds left, and Humphries was fouled after a miss by Woolridge, who led the Bulls with 29 points. Larry Nance had 29 points and Walter Davis 27 for the Suns.

Hawks 109, Trail Blazers 98
Dominique Wilkins scored 31 points and Glenn Rivers, playing his first game of the season, sparked at the guard position for Atlanta against Portland.

Rivers, who missed the first 19 games of the season with a broken wrist, had 16 points, 10 assists and eight steals in his debut for the Hawks, who snapped a three-game losing streak.

The Trail Blazers, who have lost three straight, were led by Steve Colter with 20 points.

Nuggets 115, Pacers 105
Forwards Alex English and Calvin Natt scored 27 points each in Denver's victory over Indiana.

The Pacers, losers of eight of their last nine games, trailed only 78-73 late in the third period, but an 8-2 spurt by the Nuggets gave them an 86-75 lead going into the fourth quarter. Indiana, which had 29 turnovers, never got closer than seven points in the last 12 minutes.

Herb Williams scored 28 points for the Pacers to lead all scorers, while Vern Fleming had 25, including 15 in the fourth quarter.

Clippers 128, Kings 103
Marques Johnson scored 31 points and reserve forward Rory White added 20 as Los Angeles broke a four-game losing streak by rolling over Sacramento.

A 27-8 spurt by the Clippers broke open the game in the second period, giving them an 18-point lead just before halftime. The Kings could get no closer than 11 after that.

Sacramento was led by Reggie Theus and Mike Woodson, with 14 points each. Woodson was ejected from the game after receiving his second technical foul early in the fourth quarter.

Tired Blue Devils keep winning ways

By The Associated Press
A little bedraggled but none the worse for wear, the Duke Blue Devils have built a 7-0 record that can't help but enhance their No. 3 national ranking.

Duke, which has played four games in the past six days, defeated Vanderbilt 84-74 at Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday night with 21 points from guard Johnny Dawkins and 16 from forward Mark Alarie.

"Our whole team is tired," Alarie said after the latest of the Duke victories, "but in the second half, our experience showed. We were able to overcome the crowd advantage and the Vanderbilt enthusiasm."

Other Top Twenty scores: No. 2 Michigan 56, Youngstown State 42; No. 5 Georgia Tech 94, Tennessee-Chattanooga 74; No. 7 Kansas 101, Western Carolina 79; No. 12 Illinois 84, Wisconsin-Green Bay 34, and No. 17 Alabama-Birmingham 63, East Tennessee State 44.

With two minutes left in the first half, Duke and Vanderbilt were tied 30-30. Duke scored the final six points of the half, then outscored the Commodores 12-6 in the opening minutes of the second half to build a 48-36 lead. Dawkins and Alarie each had four points in the second-half burst.

Forward Glen Clem scored 13 points for Vanderbilt, 1-2.

Top Ten
Unbeaten Michigan, using substitutes much of the game, got 12 points from starting guard Gary Grant to beat Youngstown State. Michigan Coach Bill Frieder took out all of his starters except Grant with 12:03 gone in the first half.

Georgia Tech, playing its third road game in five days, got 25 points from guard Mark Price and 21 from forward Duane Ferrell to beat UT-Chattanooga.

Kansas led by 13 points at halftime and outscored Western Carolina 13-6 to start the second half, taking a 57-37 lead with 16:14 to play. Danny Manning and Greg Dreiling had 21 points apiece for the 5-1 Jayhawks. Kansas took its biggest lead of the game, 79-51, on a jumper by Ron Kellogg with 8:42 to play. After that, Western Carolina got no closer than 18 points.

Second Ten
Illinois held winless Wis.-Green Bay, a Division II school, to just 14 first-half points en route to a 50-point victory. Bruce Douglas scored 14 points, Ken Norman had 11 and Efrém Winters 10 for Illinois, 3-1.

Jerome Mincy scored 17 points, and Alabama-Birmingham pulled away from East Tennessee State in the second half to win easily. The Blazers led 29-23 at halftime but outscored the Buccaneers 12-6 in the first 10 minutes of the second half. UAB, now 3-1, took their biggest lead of the game, 61-35, on a short jumper by Steve Mitchell with 2:33 to go.

Unranked
Sophomore guard John Johnson scored a career-high 19 points as undefeated Virginia rolled to a 101-58 victory and handed Virginia Military its first loss in five games this season. The Cavaliers are 4-0.

Michigan State also remained undefeated at 5-0 with an 87-61 victory over George Washington, getting 20 points from guard Scott Skiles.

Clemson went 5-0 with a 79-36 victory over winless Morgan State, getting 11 points from guard Larry Middleton. Middleton has hit 16 of his last 18 field goal attempts, including four of five against Morgan State.

Forward Randy Allen's 19 points helped Florida State upset North Carolina State 76-67.

Sorley named to 8-2A All-District squad

Derek Sorley was the lone Stanton Buffalo player to make the All-District 8-2A team. Tie is the second consecutive season for the junior wingback to make the squad. Sorley was also named to the second team defensive squad as a defensive back.

Other Stanton players making the second team defensive squad are linebacker Michael Holt and linemen Gary Montez.

District champion McCamey dominated the group with 13 first team selections. District runner-up Reagan County had seven first-teamers.

Sorley was quarterback Kevin Glaspie's "clutch receiver." He led the Buffaloes with 23 catches for 293 yards.

SMU, Baylor down non-conference foes

By The Associated Press
Southern Methodist coach Dave Bliss says it took the Mustangs time to make a dent in Prairie View's defense, but persistence paid off.

"The start of the second half was the key for us," said Bliss on Wednesday after SMU grabbed an 83-56 nonconference college basketball victory over the Panthers.

"They did a great job against us defensively the first half but our depth begin to wear them down in the second," said Bliss. "Johnny Fuller and John Colborne had excellent games coming off the bench for us tonight."

Kevin Lewis contributed 18 points to lead the Mustangs. Butch Moore added 15 points.

SMU held a slim six-point lead at halftime, 34-28, but outscored the Panthers 15-4 in the first five minutes of the second half to turn the game into a rout.

The Mustangs remained unbeaten after three games as 3,183 fans watched the contest at Moody Coliseum. Prairie View dropped to 0-5.

Baylor 84 Texas Lutheran 53

In Waco, Bears forward Darryl Middleton scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds to lead undefeated Baylor to its non-conference victory.

Baylor rested its starters in the second half. It improved to 4-0, while Texas Lutheran dropped to 1-4.

The Bears, with 12:20 left in the first period, took a 16-3 lead when Michael Williams hit a seven-footer. Carlos Briggs, who added 11 points, scored on a layup that increased Baylor's lead to 26-11 with 6:41 remaining in the first period, and the Bears stretched that into a 46-23 halftime lead.

Sophomore guard Dave Reichert came off the bench to add 14 points. Bruce Spencer was the only Texas Lutheran player to score in double figures with 11 points.

UTEP goes to Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) - The college football game between Texas-El Paso and Wyoming scheduled to be played in Australia on Saturday will be played despite financial problems, it was announced Thursday.

The weakening of the Australian dollar was blamed for the situation faced by the game's organizers, who are accommodating about 300 people connected with both teams. The presidents of both Western Athletic Conference Universities,

Dr. Haskell Monroe of Texas-El Paso and Don Veal of Wyoming, said that if they had known about the monetary problems they would have thought twice about accepting the invitation to play the Australian Bowl.

But Monroe, who arrived in Melbourne on Thursday, said he had been pleased with the support from Melbourne businesses.

"There are many people in Melbourne who want to see the bowl a success."

Advertisement for a church or community group, featuring a cartoon character and text about searching for God's truth. Includes a small cartoon of a man with a hat and a speech bubble.

Are you searching for God's truth? Are you hungry for the real truth of God? Are you so satisfied with what truth you already know that you are not searching to know more Bible truth at all? Every person has the God given right to search the scriptures for themselves. Be a seeker of truth. Each person has equal right, privilege and responsibility to obtain the knowledge of God's Word and live what is there stated. The love of money, love of honor from people, fear of contempt, love of ease, the dread of persecution and rejection, fear of change, the embarrassment of past error, lack of respect for the Word of God, and too much vain pride all stand as mountains in the way of accepting, teaching and living all the Bible says. And while people "love to have it so", change into or return to, the New Testament truth is impossible. There is but one bond of unity, one Lord with the authority over us, one God given book, one book on the science of religion that is God given, and one treatise on the art of living right before God, and that is the Bible. And we must determine what doctrines the Bible gives, and maintain only these. B.P. CHURCH OF CHRIST 11 & Birdwell

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DEC. 6, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite some confusion by the use of your thoughtful actions and organizing ability, you can accomplish a great deal. Tonight is ideal for romance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy keeping promises you have made in the morning, and avoid bigwigs and have meetings with associates.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Early plan fun hours with friends and then handle problems with fellow workers. Be willing to handle your mate's interests.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give more attention to whatever is important within your home, and later you can get out for recreation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Steer clear of an outside partner who likes to criticize, and then study good literature.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Talk over monetary affairs with family in the morning, and later you can be with good friends and have a fine time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't have fun with friends in the morning, and get busy handling desk work, and then you can handle practical work ahead of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get financial advice from an expert in the morning, and later you can go after personal aims and gain them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can easily get good advice from a wise friend instead of a newcomer, and then gain necessary data and finest aims.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A bigwig can give backing privately in the morning, and then later you can be at amusements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your ideas may not be very good in the morning, but a new friend just introduced to you can be very helpful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you talk over some emotional matter with an expert, you will get good results. Be very enthused.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to handle some long-range problem and then get busy with holiday shopping. Be very particular about what you buy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will want to act quickly and will want to study very hard, especially at whatever has to do with money. Upon reaching adulthood, your progeny will want to cooperate with others and thereby amass quite a fortune. There is a penchant for precision and neatness which is most important.

Chris Adams (left), and his brothers Shon (center) and Junior are all starting quarterbacks on their respective teams. They are also starting points guards during the basketball season.

Keeping up with Adams is not an easy matter

GAINESVILLE (AP) — Junior thinks his youngest brother, Shon, could eventually be the best quarterback of the three Adams kids, but Shon would actually prefer to switch to running back some day. Chris, the middle brother, is probably the most accurate passer of the three, but he's so modest you couldn't get him to admit it.

So it goes in the Adams' household — "My Three Sons" and "Our Family Honor."

Bobby and Josephine Adams have three sons — Robert "Junior," Chris, Victor Vashon "Shon" — who were all starting quarterbacks for their Gainesville football teams this fall. But there's more: All three came up through the ranks of Boys Club football, and all three are articulate, rather serious winners.

You can sense a family tradition. Just look at their jersey numbers, a mathematical progression — 6, 9 and 12.

Although the three have a lot in common, one can see the different personalities emerging through the same competitive spirit.

Junior, a Gainesville High senior, is the quiet competitor. Although he likes to be the best in all the sports he competes in, he doesn't let it go to his head.

His sophomore year he started the last four games at quarterback, and Gainesville won three of them. Partly because of his natural athletic ability, the Leopards experimented with the option game last year. As a result, Junior took quite a beating, and in the Wichita Falls game severely injured his shoulder. He came back later in the season, but still required off-season surgery.

Although 1984 wasn't successful statistically for Adams or the Leopards, he benefitted from the experience.

"Junior matured mentally from what he went through last year," says Leopards quarterback coach Pat Hunt.

Hunt describes Junior as a well-liked, down-to-earth person who has improved as a quarterback every week.

The 5-11 senior is easy-going and level-headed, and would just as soon talk about basketball and Michael Jordan as being in the spotlight as the Leopards signal-caller.

"I love basketball," said Junior, who is an all-district point guard. He compares the leadership qualities needed for point guard with those for football. "You have to be on your toes at all times."

He said that basketball helps him develop his quickness, which carries over to football.

To mentally prepare for a game Junior says: "I think about what I have to do real hard. I execute the plays in my mind, and then I pray. Everything else falls into place."

Junior also handled the place-

Adams

 kicking duties for the Big Red. Junior's goal is to play college football (probably at receiver or in the secondary) and go on to play pro ball.
 Chris, a sophomore, is the cool clinician. He is the scholar of the family and somewhat of a perfectionist. ("I'm five feet five and three quarters," he says.)
 All season JV coach Pat Benton has called Chris "Mr. Cool."
 Benton describes Chris as a "smart, take-charge quarterback with good timing and good mechanics." Benton said one of Chris' finer points as a passer is his touch on the ball. "He doesn't overthrow — he really lays it in."

 Benton put Chris' leadership and thinking abilities to use by installing a two-minute offense in the JV game plan this fall.
 Chris credits his recent development as a passer to an adjustment he made last year as a freshman. "I was throwing ducks, and coach Barrick gave me a tip about changing my grip," Chris said. "Then I started throwing spirals."
 The tire his father hung up in the backyard didn't exactly hurt his passing proficiency either.
 But don't let his mild-mannered nature cause you to think of him as a conservative player. His favorite play is throwing "the bomb."

Chris enjoys putting his analytical mind to use in the classroom also, especially English and science.
 "He likes to take things apart," says his father.
 Off the gridiron and outside the classroom Chris likes basketball (his freshman team went 15-3 last year) and hunting and fishing.
 "Chris is the Daniel Boone of the group," Adams quipped.
 Victor or "Shon" is the energetic extrovert of the family. He was the quarterback for the 7th grade Kittens.
 He also likes basketball and track.
 In school his favorite subject is math because that class is quiet, and he "can concentrate better when there aren't any disturbances. In some classes it's easy to get distracted."

 But, on the football field "nothing can distract me" because he is so intent on winning the game. "In a game it doesn't have to be quiet for me to do my part right."
 Adams said that Shon is a reflection of his two brothers, and could be better than they are because he profits by learning from them.
 "He forgets nothing," said his father. "He picks up everything and adapts so easily."
