NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE, England (AP) — An American gull that has made this northeast England port city its adopted home is attracting hundreds of birdwatchers and caused a security scare at its favorite roost — a hospital. "We had a number of security alerts after people in camouflage clothing and carrying binoculars, telescopes and cameras with long-range lenses began appearing in the grounds at the crack of dawn," Newcastle General Hospital spokesman Simon Annis said Friday.

Triumphs, tragedies mark year for city

By HANK MURPHY and SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writers

The past year saw Big Spring reel from the shock of several murders, fatal wrecks and a monster fire at the Cosden refinery. Yet through all the bleak news, bright rays of progress, such as the Stacy Dam project and downtown renovation plans, illuminated the underlying vitality of the city. Here are the Top 10 local stories of 1985 as compiled by the Herald staff.

Stacy Dam

The dispute over building Stacy Dam continued throughout the first part of the year as the Supreme Court, after first reversing lower courts' rulings in favor of a Stacy permit in 1984, sent the whole matter back to the Texas Water Commission on Jan. 9 for an administrative remedy to the battle that had raged since Stacy was conceived in 1977.

Intense lobbying by Stacy fans and opponents, including intervention by Gov. Mark White, followed. White announced he had "directed" the river authority to negotiate a "prompt" settlement of the disagreement, which it did.

By May, the dust had settled. On May 14, the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring was issued a permit to build the new dam on the Colorado River. The water district — and West Texas cities of Midland, Abilene and San Angelo, which will dip into Lake Stacy — celebrated with a "thank you" party in Big Spring July 10.

Texas had an offbeat 12 months

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — For Texans, 1985 was a blend of the good, bad, ugly and bizarre, a bottle of fine wine with a leaky cork or a sleek limo with four flat tires.

Maybe Joan Collins in a convent or J.R. Ewing in a Norman Rockwell painting.

Texas '85 came wrapped in black but trimmed with a silver lining. There was lots and lots of bad but more than a little good.

If the year had a logo, it would be a long-suffering Texas Aggie with a Cotton Bowl bid in his teeth and a pack of NCAA hounds at his heels.

Or born-again drifter Henry Lee Lucas shaking off the baptismal waters while recanting his tale of mass murder and insisting: "I only

Reagan urges restraint in Mideast

PRESIDENT REAGAN reacts to terrorist attacks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Reagan, muting his distress over terrorist attacks in Rome and Vienna that killed five Americans, urged Israel and Arab governments Saturday to show restraint at "a time of extreme tension" in the Middle East, his spokesman said.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes, in Los Angeles with the vacationing president, said Reagan reviewed intelligence reports on the anti-Israeli shootings against El Al passenger counters in the Rome and Vienna airports that left 18 people dead and 121 wounded.

"We do not have a clear-cut picture of any responsibility" for the attacks, Speakes said.

He said Reagan sent messages "to a number of governments in the region urging restraint and underscoring that it's absolutely essential that we continue the peace process, now more than ever."

Speakes refused to say which governments received the messages. But a spokesman for Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres said Reagan had written Peres condemning the "atrocities" at the airports and counseling restraint.

"Such acts must be condemned and their perpetrators brought to justice," the Reagan letter said. "Furthermore, we must not allow terrorists to deter us from pursuing our larger goal of a lasting peace."

Asked if the United States still supports "swift and effective retribution" against terrorism,

Speakes replied, "This government has certainly always favored finding those responsible and taking appropriate action."

Speakes refused to say what U.S. steps might be taken in the latest terrorist assaults Friday, and stressed that the United States does not know who masterminded them.

One senior U.S. official, who spoke only on condition that he not be identified, said Reagan deliberately avoided characterizing

'Star Wars' test made

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — A hydrogen bomb buried in a boxcar-size canister was detonated in the Nevada desert Saturday in a test of "Star Wars" technology, officials said.

The bomb, with a payload the equivalent of 150,000 tons of TNT, was detonated 1,800 feet beneath a desert mesa at 11 a.m. PST, said Chris West of the Department of Energy.

Code-named Goldstone, it had an explosive punch 10 times the force of the atomic bomb that devastated Hiroshima during World War II.

Aid tops $120 billion

WASHINGTON — Since 1960 the United States has provided more than $120 billion in military aid to 113 countries, about half of the money in grants, according to U.S. government figures.

The trend is away from loans on ordinary commercial terms and toward either outright grants or loans at subsidized interest rates, says a report by the General Accounting Office, the investigative body of Congress.

"As this trend continues, the United States is faced with a rise in actual costs to provide assistance to various countries and at the same time the need to reduce federal expenditures and, in turn, the budget deficit," said the Oct. 30 report, made available to reporters last week.

Weather on Uranus?

PASADENA, Calif. — A camera aboard the Voyager 2 spacecraft has photographed the first hints of a weather pattern on Uranus, and scientists say they might be seeing an icy fog over the planet's south pole.

"It is the first time we have seen any detail in the atmosphere from our Voyager (television camera) images," said Ellis Miner, deputy project scientist at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Voyager 2 was launched in 1977, explored Jupiter in 1979, Saturn in 1981 and will have its closest encounter with Uranus on Jan. 24, when it flies within about 50,000 miles of the solar system's third-largest planet.

Eight hurt after concert

NEW YORK — Melees at a "rap" music concert spilled into the streets as hundreds of young people jostled and robbed passers-by, leaving eight people injured, two critically, inside and on the sidewalk, police said.

"I can't blame the rap music," police Inspector Robert Burke said at a news conference Saturday. "When you consider that there were 22,000 people inside there ... (there) was a minimal number of incidents."

Police said they anticipated violence and stationed about 140 officers outside Madison Square Garden during Friday night's Krush Groove Christmas Party.

Airport attacks

Police say terrorists were avenging airstrike

ROME (AP) — The attackers who killed 12 holiday travelers and wounded scores at Rome's main airport were Palestinians, apparently out to avenge Israel's air strike against PLO headquarters in Tunisia, police said Saturday.

Three of the gunmen died in Friday's assault on Israel's El Al airline and on TWA and Pan American airlines, police said. The attack wounded 74 people.

Two wounded Americans died Saturday, raising the overall Rome airport death toll to 15, including five U.S. citizens.

A note found on the lone surviving terrorist said, "The tears we have shed will be exchanged for blood. The war has started from this moment."

An additional three people, including one terrorist, were killed and 47 people were wounded in a near-simultaneous attack Friday at Schwechat Airport in Vienna, Austria.

Alfred Rupp, a police lieutenant colonel and head of Schwechat Airport security, told The Associated Press that "it is clear that the two attacks were related," but there was no firm evidence of a link on Saturday.

Riccardo Infelisi, Rome's deputy police chief, told the AP the four terrorists who attacked Leonardo da Vinci Airport were "without a doubt" Palestinians, but their countries of origin were not known.

"They call themselves the martyrs of Palestine and it appears that it is in reprisal for the bombing in Tunisia, where also several civilians, women and children, were killed," he said.

On Oct. 1, Israeli jet fighters raided the base of the Palestine Liberation Organization in Tunisia, killing at least 60 people.

A state police official Saturday identified the Schwechat attackers as Abdel Aziz Merzoughi, 25, Ben Ahmed Chaoual, 25 and Mongi Ben Abdollah Saadouti, 26, who was killed in a shootout with police. Their nationalities have not been determined, police and Interior Ministry officials said.

CBS Radio broadcast what it said was an interview with one of the men held as terrorists.

Asked if he was a member of the PLO, the man interviewed replied, "Yes."

Asked where he got his instructions, he replied, "Fatah." Al Fatah is the mainstream PLO group led by Yasser Arafat.

When asked why the attack was staged, the suspect said: "Because Israel (pause), we kill Israelis."

CBS did not identify which terrorist was interviewed.

The two survivors were under heavy guard in a Vienna hospital with stomach and chest wounds. A Vienna police spokesman said no one "to our knowledge" had talked to the suspects.

In Malaga, Spain, a man who said he belonged to a PLO faction headed by Abu Nidal claimed the faction was responsible for the Vienna and Rome attacks. There was no way to confirm the call.

An Italian news agency, AGI, on Saturday quoted unidentified judicial sources as saying the lone surviving terrorist in Rome told officials he and his accomplices belonged to Abu Nidal. The report could not be confirmed independently.

Abu Nidal is the assumed name of Sabry al-Banna, who broke with PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat's main guerrilla faction, Fatah, a decade ago. Nidal's men have claimed responsibility for attacks on PLO, Israeli and Western targets.

The PLO issued a statement Friday from Tunis, Tunisia, denying any involvement with the attacks.

Infelisi identified the surviving terrorist as Mohammad Sarham, 19, and said he was carrying a note in his pocket in Arabic, which investigators translated into Italian. It read:

"As you have violated our land, our honor, our people, we in exchange will violate everything, even your children to make you feel the sadness of our children. The tears we have shed will be exchanged for blood. The war has started from this moment. The martyrs of Palestine."

Reagan sends message

TEL AVIV, Israel — President Reagan sent a message Saturday to Prime Minister Shimon Peres saying Middle East peace efforts should not be disrupted by the anti-Israeli terror attacks in Europe, Peres's spokesman said.

Reagan's appeal followed veiled threats from Israel that it would retaliate for the airport attacks Friday on the ticket counters of Israel's national airline, El Al, in Rome and Vienna.

Peres's spokesman, Uri Savir, said the airport attacks would be discussed at the Cabinet's weekly session Sunday.

Peace pact is signed

DAMASCUS, Syria — Leaders of the three most powerful Moslem and Christian militias in Lebanon signed a Syrian-sponsored armistice pact Saturday meant to end nearly 11 years of civil strife that has killed more than 100,000 people.

The 23-page peace document was signed at 3:10 p.m. in a ceremony held under the auspices of Vice President Abdul-Halim Khaddam of Syria.

Druse chieftain Walid Jumblatt signed for the Progressive Socialist Party, Justice Minister Nabih Berri for his Shiite Moslem Amal movement, and Elie Hobeika for the Lebanese Forces Christian militia.

Soviet flights to resume

MOSCOW — Direct air service between the Soviet Union and the United States will begin April 27 for the first time in more than four years, a Soviet official says.

Boris Bugaev, minister of civil aviation, told a news conference on Friday that on April 27 an Aeroflot airliner will fly to New York from Moscow and a Pan American World Airways plane will fly from New York to Moscow, the Tass news agency reported.

Service between Moscow and Washington will resume on April 29, Tass quoted Bugaev as saying.

An agreement to resume direct air service between the two countries was reached last month. The accord calls for at least four flights per week by Aeroflot and Pan Am, with the Soviet airline flying to New York and Washington and Pan Am to Moscow and Leningrad.

Naturalist slain in cabin

NAIROBI, Kenya — Dian Fossey, an American naturalist who spent most of the past 18 years befriending and defending Rwanda's rare mountain gorillas, was killed by attackers at her remote mountain cabin, Rwandan officials said Saturday.

Fossey, 53, began her pioneering work with gorillas of central Africa in 1967 and soon pronounced them a misunderstood, gentle species.

David Houston to perform in city

Grand Ole Opry star David Houston will be featured entertainer at this year's County Music Spectacular Jan. 9, sponsored by the Big Spring Police Association. The fundraising musical will begin at 8 p.m. in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Houston is a Grammy Award winner with 13 No. 1 hits to his credit. He has appeared on "Hee Haw" and the "Johnny Carson Show" as well as in several movies.

His grammy winning song "Almost Persuaded" was a chart buster in the United States, Canada and several European countries. Houston also has recorded No. 1 hits with Barbara Mandrell, "After Closing Time," and Tammy Wynette, "My Elusive Dreams."

Sharing the musical spectacular with Houston will be Leon Ashley and Margie Singleton.

Performing with Ashley will be the "Strings of Nashville." Ashley is widely recognized as a showman in country music, and some of his songs have been recorded by Kenny Rogers and Tom Jones.

Singleton, whose hit singles include "Old Records," has sung duets with Faron Young, George Jones and a number of other country greats.

Parking crunch threatens bakery

AUSTIN (AP) — The spread of state government has choked the flow of hand-made goods to the Old Bakery and Emporium near the Capitol.

Some of the 1,300 senior citizens who sell their goods through the bakery say it's harder to get to the downtown store since the state converted a visitors parking lot into a state employees lot about a year ago. "We got pinched in a crack," said Sherry Sybesma, a member of the Old Bakery advisory board.

The store is under the auspices of the Austin Parks and Recreation Department. It is operated by senior citizen volunteers. The Old Bakery is popular with tourists and downtown workers who drop by to browse and buy the crocheted items, wooden toys and assorted other hand-made wares. The cakes, cookies and brownies sold in the rear of the store also are popular.

But receipts for this year probably will show no growth over last year, according to Ms. Sybesma. Vivian Evans, an 80-year-old volunteer at the bakery, said the reason is easy to pinpoint.

"It's parking," she said. "It's absolutely horrendous. They've overlooked the fact that we are senior citizens and we are volunteers," she said.

"Shoppers," said Ms. Sybesma, "are going to the mall where there is parking."

Volunteers, clients and customers parked in the state visitors lot across the street until it became a state employees lot last year.

The State Purchasing and General Services Commission said the space was needed for state employees who worked nearby but had been assigned spaces several blocks away.

The city provides nine 30-minute metered parking spaces and one handicapped space on Congress Avenue near the Old Bakery. Downtown parking is insufficient, according to storekeepers.

To encourage turnover, the metered spaces are good for only 30 minutes.

"The same people keep getting tickets in the same cars day after day," said Charlene Wright, manager of See's Candies on Congress Avenue.

Q.: Our home has been on the market for six months. We have had only one offer, contingent upon the sale of the buyer's house. That home is overpriced and on the market for over a year. We're tempted to take the offer. What's your advice?
A.: You know why the buyer's house isn't selling, but have you determined why yours isn't? Have you looked objectively at the price you're asking for your home? Is it overpriced? Are you asking an unreasonably large down payment? Are you asking for an all-cash transaction when you could offer to take back a second mortgage? In other words, before you accept a questionable offer, take a look and see if there isn't a way to have a few more offers — perhaps more attractive ones — from which to choose.

China Long's Bachelor's Degree Paid Off
"I knew educated people generally have a better quality of life"

China Long's professional life could have ended with the closing of Webb Air Force Base in 1977, but it didn't. It just began.

"I had seventeen years in civil service, three short of retirement. I could have transferred anywhere in the world, but I wanted to stay in Big Spring," she said.

So Long decided to travel the 55 miles from her home to The University of Texas of the Permian Basin every day for a year. "I decided a long time ago I was going to be 50 whether I got a degree or not—it's never too late. I knew that educated people generally have a better quality of life. A college degree doesn't insure success, but it shows that you're willing to put forth the effort to attain a goal."

Long graduated from high school in 1956 and completed a year at Howard College before she married. Then over the next 15-20 years she kept taking courses until she earned her associates degree at her hometown college.

"When I got to U. T. Permian Basin, I found that an older student has a definite advantage; you have more life experience to relate to the material you study." Long also took advantage of U. T. Permian Basin's unique self-paced instruction courses that allowed her to complete work on her own time without the added pressure of classes to attend.

Officials fear Ethiopian starvation will continue

KEMBOLCHA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopia's main food pipeline is a tortuous road with pretzel-like twists and gear-grinding climbs.

It cuts through deserts that were wastelands when Ethiopia's fabled Queen of Sheba was consorting with King Solomon in biblical times and it crosses highlands as green as a rain forest.

In December, I traveled that pipeline in the cab of a truck from its start at the Red Sea port of Assab to Kembolcha, a food distribution center nestled in mountains 300 miles to the southwest.

This is one of the areas afflicted by the African famine that set off a massive relief effort more than a year ago. Although there has been some rain, many still are hungry and relief officials say that millions will again be stalked by starvation in 1986 unless the aid effort is sustained.

The trip begins in a dusty lot just outside the port, the terminal for the United Nations truck fleet in Ethiopia. No one can say how long the grain has been piled in the open lot or a dozen or more like it in the cramped, dingy port town.

There is a sickly sweet smell of fermenting grain from the stacks of rotting sacks. Weathered sacks of grain are stacked at the lot and on the nearby docks of Assab. Off shore, 13 cargo ships loaded with more relief food rock with the Red Sea tide.

The work day never ends at Assab, not since hundreds of thousands of tons of relief aid for millions of Ethiopian famine victims begin arriving a little more than a year ago.

Due to a lack of transport, Ethiopia has been hard pressed to handle the influx of goodwill. Ethiopian government officials said there was a 150,000-ton backlog of relief food at the port at the beginning of December.

That is why the United Nations decided to establish a truck fleet in Ethiopia, operated by the World Food Program, my host for the fleet's maiden run by a 29-truck convoy.

Come February, the United Nations expects to be running 250 trucks in northern Ethiopia, its largest relief fleet anywhere. The U.S. Agency for International Development has promised 150 trucks and the rock music charity groups Band Aid-Live Aid have pledged 100 trucks. In addition, the United States is contributing $2.4 million and Band Aid-Live Aid $1.3 million for operational costs.

On the morning of the fleet's first trip, it is 9:30 a.m. — more than three hours past the scheduled starting time — when the lead truck with me aboard lumbers from the yard. It sends up a cloud of choking dust for the trucks that follow.

It's a jolting ride in the cab, even with the weight of 35 tons of wheat and corn in the trailer.

In the desert flatland that opens up an hour outside Assab, the trucks race along at breakneck speed, outpaced only by swirling "dust devils" that dance across the barren landscape. The drivers are trying to make time before beginning the straining, slow-motion climb into the highlands.

The drivers, who are Ethiopians, say the nameless road is one of the best in the country, but even that claim has started to crumble like the tarmac under the weight of the big rigs.

By day, troops of baboons congregate at the roadside to feast on spilled grain.

As night falls, hyenas crisscross the road scavenging for food near dimly lit villages.

Relief workers said untold numbers of famine victims who collapsed on the road on the trek to feeding centers were eaten by hyenas and that the animals have lost some of their fear of humans.

Days later, I met two orphaned boys at a feeding center and relief officials said the boys' healthy mothers had been attacked and eaten by hyenas. Except for the trucks, the only other "traffic" on the road are camel caravans that plod along the desert floor and donkeys and cattle belonging to the highlanders.

The truck drivers negotiate the road with a daring that seems like foolhardiness. They overtake slower, straining trucks in blind curves or on the switchbacks that snake up the mountains.

All along the route twisted wrecks of trucks are like macabre mileposts.

Dinner is whatever you can find in the roadside village where the drivers park for the night. For me, it was a can of peaches.

On the road, the drivers' hotel is a bunk at the rear of the cab. With time out for an eight-hour rest, the first truck of the convoy reached Kembolcha 24 hours after setting off from Assab.

Trucks wait in line at this food distribution center to unload grain into one of the blocks of newly built warehouses of corrugated tin.

Thousands of tons of grain are stored here, some to be distributed immediately, some to be held back as insurance against an uncertain future for millions of Ethiopians.

Too much or too little rain, a failed crop or a delayed relief shipment could send Ethiopia sliding back into another famine like the one that killed a million of its 42 million people and affected 8 million more.

At the receiving end of the pipeline, the hungry wait with threadbare sacks, buckets and pans for rations of corn, wheat, powdered milk and an assortment of other relief aid.

CLU cites death row 'crisis'

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Citing a "death row representation crisis," the Texas Civil Liberties Union called Friday for a new state office to make sure lawyers are available to those sentenced to death.

"Because the state does not pay for legal representation after state court proceedings have been concluded, many inmates are without counsel as their cases enter the critical stage of federal habeas corpus review," the group said in a special civil liberties report for 1985.

"During the summer, the state nearly executed an inmate who had many avenues of appeal available, simply because he was unable to locate a volunteer attorney until the 11th hour," it said.

TCLU executive director Gara LaMarche said that example refers to John Michael Lamb, who was scheduled for execution last summer. Lamb almost missed getting a routine stay of execution because he couldn't find a lawyer to handle federal court actions, LaMarche said.

The executive director said his organization remains firmly opposed to the death penalty but believes it will continue to be used in Texas "for some years to come." As long as it remains, he said, something must be done to ensure that death row inmates receive full due process of law.

Many of the 210 death row inmates cannot hire their own attorneys to seek relief in federal courts after their state court appeals are completed, the TCLU report stated.

Texas should follow the lead of Florida, the only state with more death row inmates and more executions than Texas, and create a state post-conviction appeals agency, it added.

Most people would be surprised to learn that winter sun can pose a greater problem for your eyes than summer sun. But it's true. That's why protective lenses are just as necessary in winter as in summer — Did you know that fresh snow reflects 85% of ultraviolet light, compared with grass, for example, which reflects 1 or 2%. In fact, snow reflects sunlight with more intensity than any other surface — even water. So, if you are heading for the slopes you might want to consider the advice given by Stephen M. Over, National Ski Patrol Executive Director who says, "I've seen a lot of people take great care with buying all of their equipment and then at the last moment cap it off with an inexpensive pair of sunglasses. A good sunglass lens, I believe, is just about the most important accessory a skier can buy." Go on. Take off for the ski slopes. But take your good sunglasses to block those ultraviolet rays — Have fun, come home in one piece — and don't forget your eye examination this new year.

Problem drinkers get a taste of 'down and out'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — At 8:30 Saturday morning in Portland's Old Town, the homeless have been turned out of the night shelters. The alcoholics who spent the night on damp sidewalks are beginning to look for their first drink.

In a 24-hour restaurant that occupies the first floor of a run-down hotel where tenants pay by the week, six outsiders are ordering breakfast.

Like many of the people who live in Burnside, just north of downtown, these six men have problems with alcohol. They're here today because they drink and drive — day in and day out, they drink and drive.

Multnomah County District

Judge Frank L. Bearden calls them "judgmental drinkers" — those who habitually stop by the bar on the way home from work.

Bearden and the county's other district judges have begun sentencing such men and women to spend weekends among the destitute.

The worst of their weekend neighbors are getting sick in the streets. They urinate on parked cars; they defecate on the sidewalks. Many can barely lurch into a corner market for another bottle of fortified wine.

The six convicted drunken drivers spent Friday night in the Everett, an alcohol-free hotel where men and women enrolled in programs developed by Burnside Projects, a local charitable agency, live together while they try to break the cycle of dependency.

The six are trying to break a habit — drinking and driving — that costs thousands of Americans their lives every year. They pay $80 to come here, to a program called Project Awareness, instead of spending the weekend in county jail. About 25 people have gone through Project Awareness since it began in mid-October.

"You have to realize that you're an alcoholic," says one, "and face up to it."

Oregon's are among the toughest drunken driving laws in the nation. First offenders are sentenced to an alcohol diversion program that lasts six months to a year and their drivers' licenses are suspended for three months to a year.

Second offenders are evaluated and ordered to enter another treatment program; their licenses are suspended for as much as three years. They face a minimum mandatory fine of $300, but fees and court costs can push the total to $1,500 or more.

They have the option of serving a minimum of 80 hours in community service or a minimum of 48 hours in jail.

Bearden said a "creative" definition of jail written into the law opened the way for Project Awareness. The problem drinker who spends the weekend among the down and out, he said, is given something to think about.

"It's that type of person I think this program might have some effect on," Bearden said. "We're not going to cure the chronic alcoholic, but two days in jail isn't either."

The program also reduces the pressure on jails in the Portland metropolitan area, where Bearden said space was as "precious as platinum."

The six men enrolled in Project Awareness this December weekend are supervised by Harold Miller, who works the rest of the week as graveyard shift supervisor of the Burnside Projects night shelter on Everett Street.

Miller splits the six up after breakfast, sending two to shampoo carpets at an area hotel and setting the others to work looking up telephone numbers for fund-raisers seeking donations for Burnside Projects.

Lunch is at the Blanchet House, a steamy soup kitchen where the meal is greasy vegetable soup, dressing that looks and tastes like cardboard, pasta salad, sausage, french fries and Hostess pies.

But every two weeks, the program gets six to eight people who don't need to be in a jail cell and would benefit from a more constructive environment, said Burnside Projects director Jean DeMaster.

"Think about what's happening to you. If you need help, get it."

Those who designed the program say it's too early to try to measure its success — and they have no illusions about its potential.

Fund drive nears goal

With a goal of $35,000, the Salvation Army Christmas Cheer Drive has gone way past the halfway point with collections of $31,244.42 to date.

Below are some stories that did not make the local Top 10 list for 1985, but which ranked high in Herald staffers' choices of major stories for the year.

Mahon, Nix die

Statesman George H. Mahon of Colorado City died of a heart attack Nov. 19 at the age of 85. During his 44 years as a Congressman representing this area, he headed the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Mahon also was a personal friend of Lyndon Johnson.

The local "King of Swing" also died this year. A heart attack stripped the title of "oldest active fiddler in the state" from Big Spring's Hoyle Nix on Aug. 21. He was 87 years old. Nix had been inducted into the Colorado Country Music Hall of Fame and the Nebraska Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Mother's lawsuit

Adelina Garza, mother of Jose G. Garza, slain by then-sheriff's deputy O.D. Majors in 1984, filed suit in June against Howard County seeking $6 million damages for her son's death. The 16-year-old was fatally shot after a police pursuit in Big Spring.

The lawsuit was filed after a Howard County grand jury refused to indict Majors in the shooting. The suit has yet to be resolved.

Guard convicted

A former guard at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp was convicted Oct. 23 of accepting bribes and smuggling drugs into the camp for convicted drug smuggler Rex C. Cagle.

Former guard Eddie Joe Roybal was accused of accepting a total of $11,550 in bribes on May 31 from the former drug kingpin. He pleaded not guilty to four counts of accepting bribes and smuggling drugs into the prison Aug. 12 but was convicted of the offenses in an Abilene federal court.

Juvenile housing

Where to detain juvenile offenders was the question for Howard County officials this year. A federal mandate in effect in December required juveniles to be housed in separate quarters out of sight and sound of adult offenders.

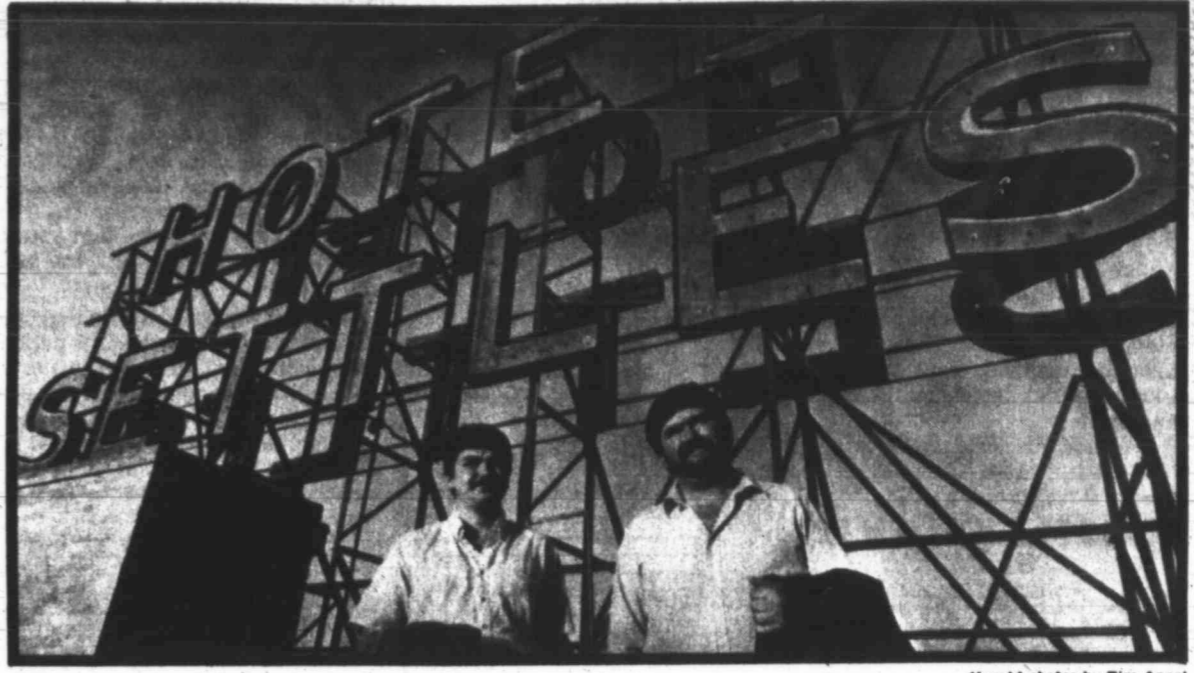

Howard County juveniles were being held in the former juror's quarters of the courthouse until an escape attempt convinced Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Margy Thompson the quarters weren't secure enough. The county bought the old Woolworth building at Fourth and Main to be converted into a detention center, but plans were never finalized.

Commissioners finally decided in November that juvenile offenders would be detained in Taylor County.

A 15-year-old boy and 54-year-old woman died when this van flipped off I-20 on North Birdwell and caught fire July 15.

Gil Cuadra, right, and brother Michael began restoration of Hotel Settles, but put the project on hold citing lack of community support.

Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. refinery March 26 east Big Spring in the glare of a swarming West Texas media replete with television crews from Lubbock, Midland, Odessa and Abilene.

The refinery blaze that shot fireballs roaring 80 to 100 feet in the air, destroyed portions of the crude oil processing unit and sent area gasoline prices skyrocketing.

Cosden officials vowed to begin limited production a few days after the blaze, but it was several weeks before the refinery resumed any production, and it wasn't until June 10 that the company began operating as it had before the fire.

Scott, 41, of Big Spring; Darlene Hammork, 41, of San Angelo; and Clyde Clark, 3, of San Angelo.

A few days earlier a teen-ager and a woman were killed when a van went out of control on I-20 near the Birdwell Lane overpass, plunged down an embankment and caught fire. Eric Wade Beaver, 14, and Marian Landers, 54, both of Lovington, N.M., died in the July 15 accident.

Kenneth Hendry, 31, of San Angelo was killed instantly July 18 when two pickups collided head-on five miles east of Garden City on Highway 158.

City renovation

Renovation of the historic downtown area began enthusiastically but lost steam toward the middle of the year.

San Antonio developer Gil Cuadra bought 15 downtown buildings plus the Settles Hotel July 12. His long-term plans for the area were to double the amount of tourist dollars and add 1,000 jobs by creating a historic district.

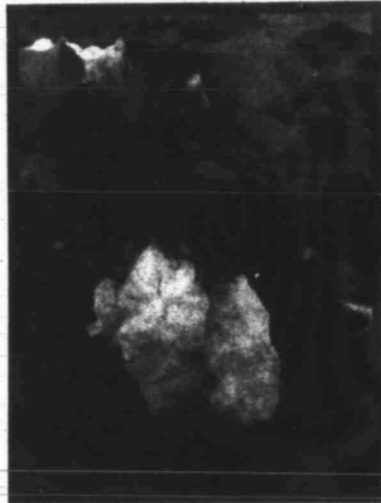

Renovation began on the Settles after the courts settled a disagreement between Cuadra and Dallas' M Bank, which claimed to have $800,000 of liens against the hotel. But Cuadra put the Settles work on a back burner Oct. 18, complaining the restoration "lacks the necessary community support."

The historic Spanish Gothic-style Municipal Auditorium also was targeted for restoration by the city council, but work was postponed twice during the summer because the council found repair bids insufficient.

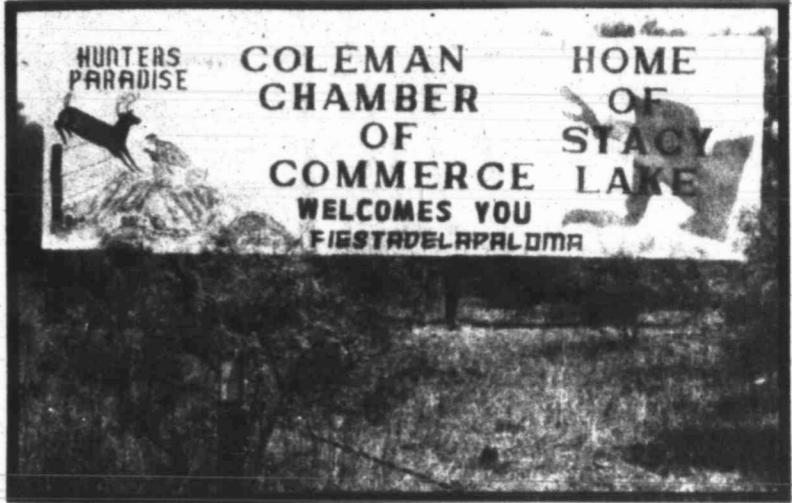

The downtown renovation movement received another blow Oct. 28 when Big Spring wasn't named a 1986 Texas Main Street city by the Texas Historical Commission. But city officials and businessmen said they would continue the renovation plans without the designation.

Firefighter's fights

Big Spring firefighters won yet

1985 found a much-needed boon to the local cotton industry, following a two-year bust.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District finally issued a permit in May to build Stacy Dam, soon to be bringing water to a thirsty West Texas.

Terrell murder

For less than $10 in cash and costume jewelry, 81-year-old Maurine Terrell was beaten to death by two young Big Spring men at her home on March 19.

An exhaustive two-week investigation led to murder charges against Joe Angel Martinez, 22, and Jorge Chavana, 21, who were accused of beating the woman to death with a blunt object.

Chavana was sentenced to 30 years in the Texas Corrections Institute Dec. 12, after pleading guilty to his part in the murder. Martinez, who has also pleaded guilty, will be sentenced early next year.

Murderers also took the lives of 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez, who was gunned down on W. Fourth Street in November, and Maria Zamora, 28, who was shot Nov. 16 at the Latin Quarter Lounge.

Rash of wrecks

Seven people died and 37 were injured in three major traffic accidents, including a bus wreck, during a seven-day period July 15-21.

Four people were killed and 37 injured July 20 when a church bus from San Angelo went out of control on rain-swept Highway 87 in Ackerly, skidded 100 to 150 feet and came to rest on its hood. Killed were Sheila Albert, 15, and Anita another round in their ongoing feud with City Hall when on April 6 city voters sided with them and passed a civil service referendum.

City councilmen had unanimously backed a resolution opposing civil service, citing additional bureaucracy and expense for the city. Firefighters countered that civil service would ensure them the basics of fairness and equalization.

Fights later on over pay and the Fair Labor Standards Act would keep the City Hall vs. firemen brouhaha boiling.

Liquor petitions

The liquor by the drink question went on the rocks this year as two petitions designed to put the issue on the ballot failed.

Citizens For Choice petitions died in March and June because they collected too few usable signatures to force a referendum, said Howard County Tax Assessor/Collector Dorothy Moore. Moore said at the time that signatures must appear exactly as they do on voter registration cards, down to the middle initial.

Tornado warnings

On April 28, nine funnel clouds passed through Howard County accompanied by hail and up to 4 inches of rain that flooded many areas of Big Spring.

Despite advance warning of the approaching storm, officials in charge of the warning system decided not to sound the tornado sirens. The behavior of those in charge of the sirens was questioned. Why have and maintain the system if it won't be used? it was asked.

A short time later, violent storms again lumbered through the area. This time, however, the sirens wailed throughout the city amid the din of the howling storm, warning people to head for safety.

Fiberflex buyout

The Fiberflex dispute was settled March 15 when former O.I.L. manager Charles "Chris" Christopher agreed to buy out all 67 other shareholders for a total of $16 million. This gave Christopher control of the company.

Cotton harvest

This year's cotton survived the hail and grasshoppers that beset farmers in May and grew into a respectable county harvest, a harvest 90 percent better than last year.

Still, cotton farmers are having a tough time of it because they can't get a high enough price for their produce to make their operations profitable. A world-wide cotton glut and a strong dollar are drying-up overseas markets.

Investigators probe the wreckage of a Delta jetliner Aug. 4 at the Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport. The disaster, which killed 137 people, was the top state news story of 1985.

Turmoil in the Texas prison system rated fifth place in the AP Texas Top 10 stories. Here inmates are searched by a prison guard at Ellis Unit.

Texas Top 10

Delta jet crash heads AP's list

DALLAS (AP) — The Delta Air Lines jetliner crash that killed 137 people and brought the meteorological term "wind shear" into households across the country was voted as Texas' top news story of 1985 by Associated Press editors and broadcasters.

A close second was education reform — principally the controversial no pass, no play rule — which drew nearly as many votes from the 83 newspaper and broadcast editors who responded to the AP survey of the top 10 news stories of the year.

The Aug. 2 crash of Delta Flight 191 at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, the worst plane crash ever in Texas, got 30 first-place votes and the no pass, no play furor gathered 24.

Repeal of the state's Blue Law, enabling stores to open on Sundays, was the No. 3 story just ahead of enactment of a law mandating seat belt use in the front seats of motor vehicles. Both took effect Sept. 1.

Violence in Texas prisons, which claimed a record 27 lives and prompted Department of Corrections Director Lane McCotter to order nearly half of the state's 38,000 inmates confined to their cells Sept. 9, was rated No. 5.

The state's sixth biggest story was its massive water plan, two constitutional amendments approved by the voters in November that provide for $1.43 billion in bonds for a statewide water program.

The Texas economy, from oil industry woes to failed banks and a sliding Mexican peso that hampered border business, rated No. 7. Texas' role in providing relief to earthquake-ravaged Mexico City was No. 8 and the saga of convicted murderer Henry Lee Lucas, in which case after case attributed to him and an accomplice unraveled, was No. 9.

The recruiting violations that exposed boosters' overenthusiasm — did Mother." A year like '85 was surely what Dickens had in mind when he spoke of the best and worst of times.

The government banished the Baghwan from the country, and a benevolent Texan bought his string of Rolls-Royces for $5 million or so.

At Fort Worth's Paschal High School, a handful of white, bright, upscale students calling themselves the Legion of Doom took it upon themselves to rid the school of theft, drugs and "undesirable elements."

Police say the self-styled vigilantes may have committed as many as 35 felonies in the process.

Dallas researchers Michael Brown and Joseph Goldstein won a Nobel Prize for medicine and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram won a Pulitzer Prize for public service.

On the dark side, Texas led the nation in prison executions and perhaps the world in prison violence. Inmates killed one another nearly five times as fast as the state's lethal needle.

Approaching her 100th birthday and in need of a facelift, the Goddess of Liberty was brought down from atop the Capitol in Austin and found herself a potential target of a religious group.

"She's been identified as a graven image," state architect Roy Graham said gravely.

Assuming she eludes her enemies, the metal goddess will be recast and the duplicate put back in place.

"She is under 24-hour guard in a warehouse," Graham assured us.

Beneath the dome, Texas legislators were unusually busy. They repealed the "blue" laws, passed a seat belt statute, enacted education reform, approved a water plan and still found time for fisticuffs, mild chicanery and world class buffoonery.

PAUL THAYER ...enters Big Spring prison

They tapdanced again around the parimutuel issue, which means Texans can gamble on their horses in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana or almost anywhere but home.

"No pass, no play" surfaced as the battle cry of '85, at least until a high school math teacher in Fort Worth was accused of charging students for grades.

"No pay, no pass," they called it. We couldn't wait for James Michener's epic, "Texas," and in 1985 we got it. Boorring.

It was that kind of year. Out west, someone suggested Texas build a China-like great wall around the state. "We could call it Walls Across Texas."

Worse yet, we're about to celebrate something we can't spell or pronounce and probably can't define. It's called a Sesquicentennial and marks 150 years of independence from Mexico.

And speaking of celebrations, we can watch the New Year's Eve revelry at Billy Bob's and never leave our living rooms. CBS staged and filmed the festivities for us in November.

It was a lousy year for Texas zillionaires, although Ross Perot bought an original Magna Carta and did his dead level best to entice an Indian museum from New York.

The financial woes of the Hunt brothers of Dallas, Bunker and Herbert, overshadowed only slightly those of the Davis brothers of Fort Worth, Ken and Cullen. And neither rivaled in publicity the bankruptcy actions against former Dallas Cowboys owner Clint Murchison.

West Texas wheeler dealer Billie Sol Estes got back in the news, accused this time of attacking his Hispanic housekeeper shortly after her arrival in Abilene.

Not so, says he. A trial is pending.

At Big Spring, Paul Thayer, former deputy defense secretary, and Dallas stockbroker Billy Bob Harris entered federal prison to serve sentences for Security and Exchange Commission violations.

In Dallas, a hidden surveillance camera captured the chilling, senseless shooting of Oklahoma teen-ager Matt McKay, who happened on a convenience-store robbery.

Like a recurring nightmare, television beamed the shooting into homes each evening while monitoring the graceful and courageous hospital vigil of Matt's grieving mother.

After hanging to life for several days, Matt died.

A potential horror was averted when a bomb exploded harmlessly in the baggage compartment of an American Airlines jetliner at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

The Halloween Eve flight, with 154 aboard, originated in Austin.

Five weeks later, the FBI arrested Albert Lee Thielman of San Marcos and accused the mild-mannered, church-going real estate executive of planting the bomb to kill his wife and three young children.

The alleged motive: $4 million in insurance.

The year was a mixed bag for the Texas Rangers, who were cited for bravery after a daring gun battle-rescue of Alvarado kidnapping victim Amy McNeil, 11.

Hardly had the cheering ended when the Rangers were besmirched in the traveling Henry Lucas Road Show.

It was also a tough year for Robert Sakowitz and the glitzy 83-year-old specialty chain he heads as president and chief executive officer. The family owned institution fights for its life after filing for protection under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law.

Meanwhile, Neiman-Marcus unveiled its annual His and Her Christmas gifts: a pair of yellow diamonds costing $2 million. But that was not the big news at N-M.

Texas' capricious weather, the multibillion dollar award against Texaco for interfering in Pennzoil's takeover of Getty Oil and the state's employment picture all fell barely short of the top 10.

Delta 191 crashed in August in a thunderstorm on final approach to D-FW Airport, clipping a car on a nearby highway and slamming into a water tower short of the runway.

Investigators suggest wind shear, or a sudden change in wind direction, as a leading cause of the crash at one of the nation's busiest airports.

The accident sparked intense national scrutiny of air travel, focusing on air traffic controllers, radar equipment and the means of relaying weather warnings. It also spurred efforts to equip the nation's airport with special radar capable of identifying areas of wind shear for notifying pilots.

Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot, left, and Gov. Mark White sit together during a meeting of the Governor's Select Committee on Public Education. Recommendations of the committee have been implemented in the school system, including the controversial no pass, no play rule.

Education reform was voted top story of 1984 after a special session of the Legislature produced the sweeping package in an attempt to reverse a pattern of disappointing results on standardized student tests. It was near the top again in 1985 when its no pass, no play provision took effect.

The rule, championed by Gov. Mark White, bars any student who is failing one or more classes at the end of a six-week grading period from athletics or any other extracurricular activity for the following six weeks.

The Texas High School Coaches Association declared war on the rule and also on White, promising to form a political action committee for next year's governor's race.

Repeal of the 1961 Blue Law that kept most stores closed on Sunday, a move expected to fill the state coffers with an additional $24 million in sales taxes over the next two years, took effect Sept. 1. So did the law mandating use of seat belts, pitting those claiming it would save lives against others worried about an erosion of civil liberties. Violations initially brought warnings; fines went into effect in December.

Violence in Texas' prisons peaked in September, when McCotter ordered the lockdown amid reports that prison gangs were planning takeovers at several prisons over the Labor Day weekend. No inmate deaths were reported over the next three months.

In a story titled "Who's Ripping Off the Store?" D Magazine reported on an insider theft scheme that enabled wealthy Dallas women to purchase stolen merchandise at cut-rate prices.

Stay tuned. Corpus Christi won the big bucks battle to be the Navy's homeport for an old battleship while the Dallas Museum of Art captured the $35 million art collection of Emory and Wendy Reves, housing it in a replica of the couple's French villa.

Morganna the busy kissing bandit interrupted a Houston Astros game for a quick liaison with pitcher Nolan Ryan and also smooched a teammate or two before being hauled off by the rent-a-cops.

Houston attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes galloped to the rescue, contending modest Morganna never intended to go on the field.

"The force of gravity pulled her from the stands," purred Haynes.

Also in Houston, a district court judge named Solomon Casseb Jr. upheld a jury verdict that awarded Pennzoil Co. nearly $11 billion in damages from Texaco in a merger dispute.

It was easily the largest civil damage suit in U.S. history and among the most controversial.

Grumbled one metropolitan newspaper editorially:

"How in the world could any reasonable jury, or judge for that matter, conclude that there was $11 billion damage done to the good people at Pennzoil?"

The Wall Street Journal pronounced the award "incredible" and complained that the nation's legal system "no longer seems reliable enough to do business under."

The success story of the year was in East Texas, where a Henderson brick company organized in 1946 for $100,000 sold for $340 million. An original $8,000 investment returned $16 million.

Drawled brick czar Homer Bryce: "We made about 60 millionaires overnight and a whole flock of half-millionaires."

On the down side, farmers, ranchers and oilmen, long the backbone of Texas industry, suffered through drought, depressed prices and an energy slump that cost the state treasury millions in tax revenues.

Troubled Muse Air survived by merging with competitor Southwest Airlines, but the state recorded one of its worst air disasters in history when Delta Flight 191 crashed Aug. 2 at Dallas Fort Worth International Airport. Death toll: 137.

A massive earthquake killed thousands in Mexico City but only rattled buildings in some South Texas cities already shaken by the continuing woes of the peso devaluation.

Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire won reelection after a rowdy battle with ex-mayor Louie Welch, who may have helped torpedo his own campaign with an off-the-cuff comment into a "dead" microphone on the AIDS trauma.

"Shoot the queers," chuckled Welch.

The mike was not dead, and Welch later apologized.

In San Antonio, police department SWAT team members agreed to alter lightning bolt tattoos that some said resembled the Nazi SS insignia. Unit members contended the tattoos were merely a symbol of the team's "esprit de corps."

And a school official at an alternative counseling center came under fire from the South San Antonio School Board for using cardboard boxes to isolate and punish unruly students.

Principal Hoyt Garner said he's not cruel but tough, and "We're tough because we have to be tough."

Upset over remarks by local art leaders, Dallas sculptor Bill

Easley destroyed a wax model of a statue he planned to give to San Antonio in honor of the state's 150th birthday.

Also in San Antonio, a congressional candidate named Lowell Embs was arrested after he allegedly threatened to drop a boulder on the head of a former employer.

Some may remember Embs as suggesting in 1982 that he was the only certifiably sane candidate in the governor's race, having rebuffed efforts by his family to have him declared mentally incompetent.

Republicans Bill Clements, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler lined up for an '86 challenge of Gov. Mark White, who took time off from dodging political bullets for a guest appearance on the TV soap "Dallas."

After three months of testimony, the state rested its case in December against a Texas City nursing home, Autumn Hills, accused of starving an elderly woman to death.

The trial resumes in San Antonio Jan. 6.

For sheer terror, nothing matched a series of deaths and disappearances of young women in southwest Fort Worth near the campus of Texas Christian University.

Dating back to late 1984, nine women were reported murdered or missing and most were young, single and attractive and had lived or visited on the city's southwest side.

"We're going to break this thing," vowed Police Chief H.F. Hopkins, assembling a 40-man investigative task force.

By year's end, all but one remained unsolved, but the public outcry as well as the disappearances had tapered off. So did the national news coverage.

Finally, December 1985 found Amarillo angrily protesting an article in TV Guide by Texas writer

Patriots slam Jets out of playoffs

New York Jets quarterback Ken O'Brien hits the turf head first as he's driven down by New England Patriots linebacker Andre Tippett in second quarter action.

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Tony Franklin kicked four field goals and Andre Tippett, Don Blackmon and Garin Veris led a defense that forced four turnovers as New England beat the New York Jets 26-14 on Saturday to move into the second round of the National Football League playoffs.

Ten of New England's points in the American Football Conference wild-card game came during a 15-second span in the third quarter when the Pats extended a 13-7 halftime lead to 23-7 on a Franklin field goal and Johnny Rembert's 15-yard touchdown return of Johnny Hector's fumble on the ensuing kickoff.

That was typical of the way the Jets self-destructed as Veris, a rookie defensive end who had three sacks, and linebackers Tippett and Blackmon, who each had a sack, constantly harried quarterbacks Ken O'Brien and Pat Ryan.

The Patriots moved into a second-round AFC playoff game against the Los Angeles Raiders at Los Angeles next Sunday.

The Jets had two first-half drives killed by turnovers — a fumble by Freeman McNeil and an O'Brien pass that was picked off by Fred Marion.

They were also hurt by a key third-down interference call on cornerback Russell Carter, who in his first game back following a half-season on the injured list was also beaten on a 36-yard touchdown connection from Tony Eason to Stanley Morgan. And Franklin's fourth field goal, a 26-yarder, came after Veris intercepted a pass tipped by Tippett and returned it 21 yards to the Jets 12, where he fumbled and teammate Steve Nelson recovered.

The Jets made things reasonably close following those quick 10 points, moving the ball 57 yards in 10 plays to cut the New England lead to 23-14 behind Ryan, who came in after O'Brien went out with a concussion. Ryan's 12-yard scoring pass to Mickey Shuler capped the drive.

But Franklin's fourth kick, with 3:13 left, sealed the game.

Eason, who hit the big plays all day, finished with 12 completions in 16 attempts for 179 yards as New England won the rubber game of their three meetings with New York. O'Brien went out after completing 13 of 17 for 149 yards, and Ryan completed 10 of 16 throws for 84 yards.

New England took a 3-0 lead 9:20 into the game on Franklin's 33-yard field goal after the Patriots had moved 28 yards from the Jet 44-yard-line to the 16. The Pats got their field position when Rocky Klever was called for a 15-yard face-mask penalty as Irving Fryar returned a Dave Jennings punt to his own 41.

The Jets drove 72 yards in 10 plays to take a 7-3 lead, scoring on the first play of the second period on an 11-yard pass from O'Brien to Hector. The key play of the drive was a 21-yard connection from O'Brien to Shuler on a second-and-22 play to the Patriot 36 after O'Brien had been sacked by Veris.

Franklin's 41-yard field goal on the next series cut New York's lead to 7-6. The drive was marked by a 39-yard Eason-to-Fryar connection that put the ball at the Jet 22.

The Jets moved the ball well on each of their next two possessions but were stopped each time by turnovers.

The first drive was halted when McNeil fumbled and Roland James recovered on the New England 45. The second ended when O'Brien, who had completed 10 straight passes, threw deep from the Patriots 43 and had the ball picked off by Marion, who returned it 26 yards to the 33.

Four plays later, at the New York 36, Eason caught the Jets in a blitz and hit Morgan, streaking down the left sideline, with a line-drive TD pass over Carter, who was activated for this game after spending almost half the season on injured reserve with back spasms. The play, which gave New England a 13-7 lead, was set up by an 11-yard run by Craig James on a draw from a shotgun formation on third and four.

New England extended its lead to 16-7 on Franklin's 20-yard field goal 8:36 into the third period. It came on the end of a 51-yard drive that followed a 27-yard punt by Jennings.

The key plays on the drive were a pass interference call against Carter on a third-and-8 that gave New England a first-down at the New York 34. On the next play, Eason hit James for 24 yards to set the ball up at the 10.

Then, on the ensuing kickoff, Rembert stripped the ball from Hector, picked it up and raced 15 yards into the end zone to make it 23-7 with just 20 minutes left in the game.

Baylor upsets LSU, 21-7

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Baylor quarterback Cody Carlson tossed scoring passes of 5 and 15 yards to lead the Bears to a 21-7 upset of 12th-ranked Louisiana State University in the 27th Annual Liberty Bowl Friday night.

Picked in the preseason to finish as low as seventh in the nine-team Southwest Conference, the Bears capped a 9-3 season with their crushing victory over the Tigers as Baylor rolled up a 26-9 advantage in first downs.

The loss was only the second of the year for LSU, a member of the Southeastern Conference, which completed the season with a 9-2-1 record. The Tigers' only score came on a Liberty Bowl-record 79-yard punt return by Norman Jefferson.

Baylor overcame the 7-0 deficit to lead 10-7 at the half and then throttled the Tiger offense for most of the second half as they put the contest away. Clinging to a 13-7 edge, Carlson, who alternated with Tom Muecke at quarterback for the Bears, capped a 62-yard fourth-quarter march with a 15-yard scoring strike to split end John Simpson. Carlson then found Matt Clark alone in the end zone with a 2-point conversion pass as the Bears took command 21-7 with 10:42 remaining.

Carlson finished the contest hitting 9 of 12 pass attempts for 161 yards and the two TDs, while Muecke completed 9 of 18 passes for 113 yards.

Jefferson hauled in the Baylor punt at his own 21-yard line and found an alley down the left sideline. The Tiger junior shook off a pair of potential tacklers at the Bears' 30 to give LSU a 7-0 lead with 5:17 remaining in the opening quarter. Jefferson's run broke the old punt return record of 63 yards set in 1963 by Maryland's Bob Smith against Tennessee.

But after that, the Tigers were unable to penetrate any further than the Baylor 30-yard line.

Baylor charged back into the contest quickly behind Carlson, who led the Bears 80 yards to tie the game on their next possession, the quarterback connecting with flanker John Simpson for a 59-yard gain to the LSU 9, then later hitting a diving Clark in the end zone for the TD.

Ohio St. stops BYU, 10-7

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Linebacker Larry Kolic had two of Ohio State's four interceptions of Robbie Bosco passes, returning one of them 14 yards for a touchdown, to lead the 17th-ranked Buckeyes to a 10-7 victory over No. 9 Brigham Young University Saturday in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Kolic, a senior who quit the Ohio State team twice as a junior for personal reasons, scored his touchdown 1:08 into the third quarter as Ohio State wiped out a 7-3 halftime deficit.

He also picked off a Bosco pass midway in the period and returned it 9 yards to the BYU 14, only to see the Buckeyes' offense — which also got a 47-yard field goal from Rich Spangler in the first half — lose its second fumble deep in Cougars territory.

Ohio State, a 1-point underdog to the defending national champions, dominated the game after Bosco and David Miles teamed on a 38-yard scoring play that gave BYU its 7-3 lead.

Kolic and his teammates applied heavy pressure to Bosco with a relentless pass rush that played havoc with BYU's offense, which had been averaging 500.2 yards and 33.5 points per game. Bosco completed 26 of 50 passes for 261 yards.

The Buckeyes also recovered two first-half fumbles to foil BYU scoring opportunities, cornerback William White came up with an interception in the end zone to kill a Cougars' threat with 3:38 to go, and Terry White's end-zone interception with three seconds to go secured the triumph before an Orlando Stadium crowd of 50,920 and a national television audience.

The Cougars moved from their 13 to the Ohio State 37 before William White leaped high in the rear of the end zone to intercept a pass intended for Mark Bellini.

BYU got one more shot at the Ohio State defense in the final minute. Bosco moved the Cougars to the Buckeyes 30 before Terry White intercepted him.

Ohio State, which lost its last two games of the season to Wisconsin and Michigan to fall out of the Rose Bowl and national championship picture, finished at 9-3. Brigham Young, 13-0 last year when it won the national championship by beating Michigan in the Holiday Bowl, finished 11-3 this year.

Arizona, Georgia battle to 13-13 deadlock in Sun Bowl

EL PASO, (AP) — For the second year in a row, Georgia got a tie for Christmas. They weren't the same.

Last year's 17-17 tie with Florida State in the Florida Citrus Bowl came three days before Christmas. Georgia's Kevin Butler barely missed a mammoth 70-yard field goal attempt on the final play.

On Saturday, three days after Christmas, the Bulldogs settled for a 13-13 deadlock with Arizona in the Sun Bowl as both teams missed field goal tries in the final 69 seconds.

"I feel a little different this year than I did last season," Georgia Coach Vince Dooley said. "Last year, I felt we should have won the game. This year, I'm more proud of the team for hanging in there and fighting hard throughout the game. On the other hand, if (Arizona's Max) Zendejas had made that field goal, I might be feeling a little bit different right now."

Georgia's Davis Jacobs was wide left on a 44-yard attempt with 1:09 remaining and Zendejas, the third-leading field goal kicker in NCAA history who had connected from 22 and 52 yards earlier, sent a 39-yard attempt wide to the right with four seconds left.

The misses came after Georgia erased a 13-3 deficit in the first 5:34 of the fourth quarter on a 45-yard field goal by Jacobs and Lars Tate's 2-yard leap over the line of scrimmage for a 2-yard touchdown with 9:26 left.

Georgia's comeback, plus Zendejas' missed field goal, denied Arizona what would have been its first victory in five bowl trips.

AU coach Smith called Arizona's first bowl trip in six years "a great football game. It was fun. The two teams were about as evenly matched as you can get.

I think this was another major step for our football program. We gave them everything they could have asked for except a win."

Tate's touchdown, followed by Jacobs' conversion, came on fourth-and-one and capped a seven-play scoring drive after Georgia roverback John Little forced a fumble by Arizona tailback James DeBow and safety Tony Flack recovered at the Wildcats' 23.

Jacobs' 45-yard field pulled Georgia within 13-6 at 1:53 of the final period. Steve Crumley, whose 38-yard field goal had given Georgia 3-0 lead early in the second quarter, was set to attempt a 40-yarder but the Bulldogs were penalized for illegal procedure.

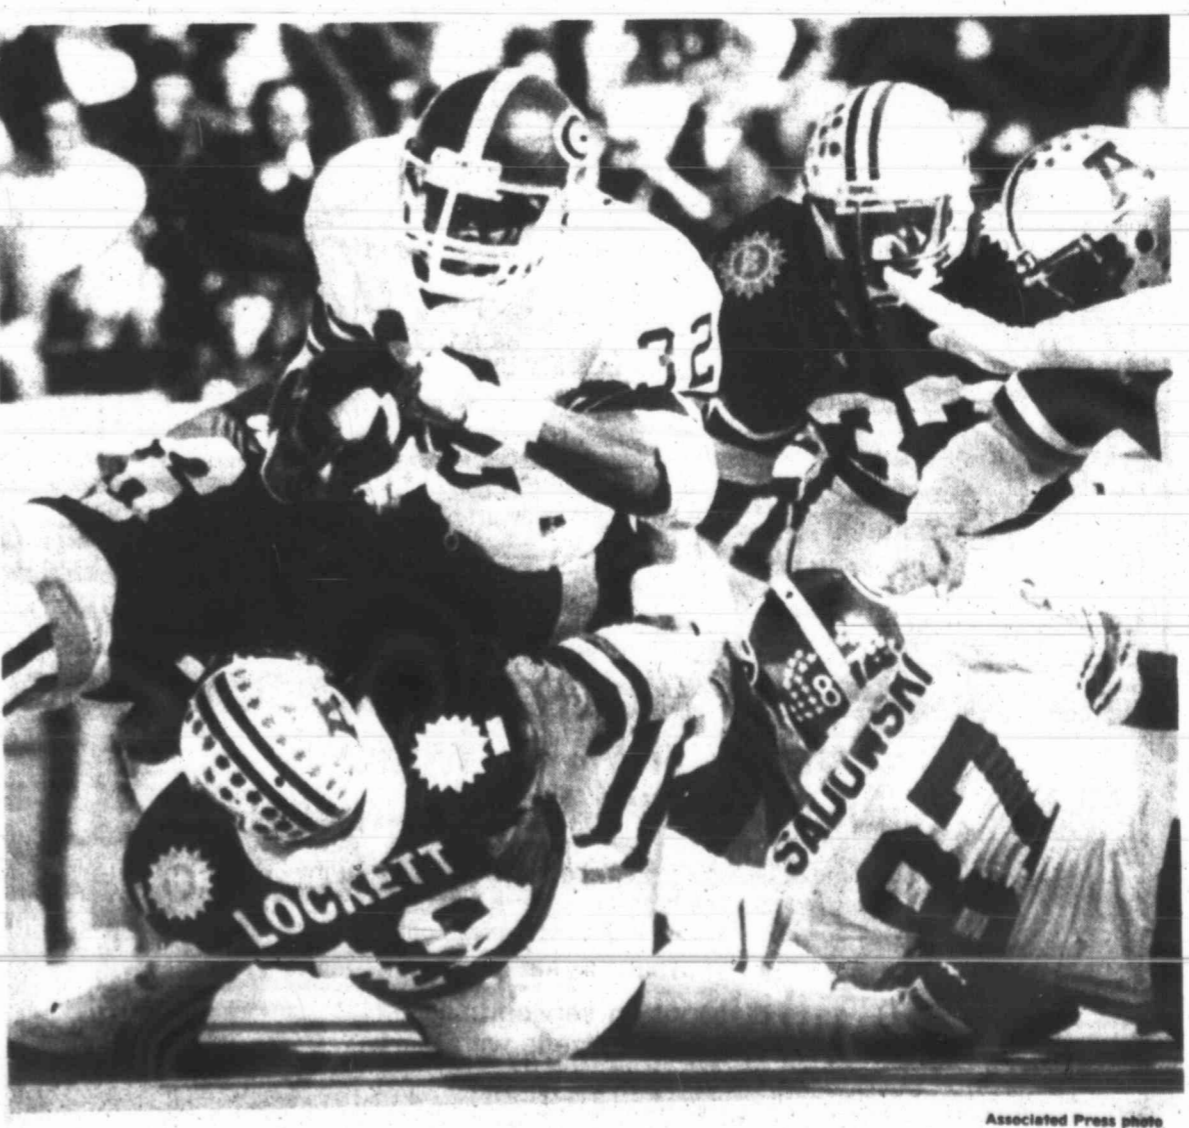

Jacobs, Georgia's long-range kicker, took over and brought the Bulldogs within 13-6. Flack's fumble recovery came two plays later.

Arizona had built its lead on the two field goals by Zendejas and nickel back Martin Rudolph's 35-yard return of an intercepted pass.

The tie gave Arizona an 8-3-1 record and also prevented the Wildcats from matching the school single-season record of nine victories set in 1974 and equaled in 1975. Georgia wound up 7-3-2.

A record crowd of 52,203 packed the stadium for the 52nd annual Sun Bowl in sunny, pleasant weather. The temperature was 54 degrees at the kickoff.

Zendejas, whose first field goal tied the score in the second period, snapped the 3-3 deadlock at 4:49 of the third period. The senior place-kicker drilled a line drive through the uprights from 52 yards out with a brisk breeze at his back. It came after Arizona had a second-and-one at the Georgia 30 but was penalized twice on successive snaps.

Hawks pluck Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) — Dominique Wilkins scored 36 points and grabbed 17 rebounds as John Koncak added a career-high 20 rebounds as the Atlanta Hawks snapped a seven-game road losing streak with a 100-80 NBA victory Saturday night over the New York Knicks.

The Hawks last won a game on the road Nov. 9 against the Los Angeles Clippers. The Knicks, who entered the contest with a four-game winning streak, were without rookie center Patrick Ewing, who missed his second straight game with a jammed right knee. Ken Bannister topped the Knicks with 17 points and Gerald Wilkins — Dominique's brother — had 16. Koncak scored 12 points for Atlanta and Randy Wittman added 11.

The Hawks opened their largest lead of the game, 83-60 at the 1:15 mark of the third quarter. The Knicks were able to cut into the margin with an 11-2 spurt midway through the fourth quarter, but then Wilkins sank a free throw and three-point shot to put the game out of reach.

Wilkins, the NBA's third leading scorer, paced Atlanta to a 57-40 halftime lead with 24 points, 12 of which came during a span of 4:09 in the second quarter.

Rockets 118, Trail Blazers 108 HOUSTON (AP) — John Lucas made two key steals and Akeem Olatunji scored 11 of his 30 points in the fourth quarter as Houston came from behind to defeat Portland 118-108 in National Basketball Association play Saturday night.

Bucks 114, Cavaliers 112, OT RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Ricky Pierce tipped in a missed shot at the buzzer to give the Milwaukee Bucks a 114-112 overtime victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers in a National Basketball Association game Saturday night.

Pierce tied the game at 112-112 with 15 seconds left when he made a driving basket and was fouled, but he missed an opportunity to break the tie as he failed to hit the ensuing foul shot.

UTEP hand Hoyas first loss, 78-64

EL PASO (AP) — Quintan Gates scored 12 of his 18 points after halftime as Texas-El Paso stunned 5th-ranked Georgetown 78-64 in a late non-conference college basketball game Friday night.

It was Georgetown's worst loss since a 94-73 setback to Alabama in 1982. Both teams are now 9-1, although Texas-El Paso was not ranked going into the contest.

Colorado 70, Texas Tech 62 LUBBOCK (AP) — Torin Williams and Randy Downs each scored 14 points to ignite the University of Colorado to a 70-62 nonconference college basketball victory over Texas Tech Saturday afternoon.

The win upped Colorado's record to 7-3, and also snapped a 15-game road losing streak for the Buffaloes.

Texas Tech lost its third straight game and fell to 4-6. The Buffs broke open a close game midway through the first half by outscoring Tech 13-0 over a 7½-minute span to take 30-24 halftime lead.

Kentucky 69, Louisville 64 LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Forward Winston Bennett scored a career-high 23 points, including 15 in the first half, and guard Roger Harden added 10 in the final half to lead 13th-ranked Kentucky to a 69-64 victory over No. 15 Louisville in a nationally televised college basketball game Saturday.

Kentucky improved to 8-1 with its third straight victory while Louisville fell to 6-3. Kentucky leads the intra-state series 12-5, including three wins in the last four meetings.

Louisville, after trailing 33-30 at the half, pulled even at 50-50 on forward Herbert Crook's baseline jumper with 8:11 left in the game.

The Wildcats then went on a 9-2 tear to open up a 59-52 margin with 4:26 to go. Louisville closed the gap 61-58 on Milt Wagner's basket at 2:24, but Kentucky's Roger Madison scored on a goal-tending call on Louisville center Pervis Ellison and Harden sank two free throws to expand the lead to an insurmountable 65-58 with 41 seconds left in the game.

DePaul 63, Texas 62 ATLANTA (AP) — A block by Dallas Comegys slowed down Texas' John Brownlee long enough for No. 20 DePaul to pull out a 63-62 victory over the Longhorns Saturday in the consolation game of the Cotton States Classic college basketball tournament.

No. 7 Georgia Tech, the host team, played Navy for the championship later Saturday.

DePaul, 7-3, was up 59-58 with a little more than one minute remaining when Comegys blocked a Brownlee shot.

Davidson 70, Rice 47 NASHVILLE, TENN. (AP) — Sophomore guard Derek Rucker scored 13 points to lead a balanced Davidson attack as the Wildcats stopped Rice 70-47 Saturday night in the consolation game of the Music City Invitational basketball tournament. Host Vanderbilt played Iowa State later for the championship game.

Rucker scored nine of his points in the first half as the Wildcats built a 31-20 lead and Davidson put the game away from the free throw line, connecting on 26 of 28 charity tosses during the contest.

Alabama rolls past USC in Aloha Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — Craig Turner's third-period scoring run started a 21-point second half as No. 15 Alabama rolled past Southern California 24-3 in the Aloha Bowl on Saturday, giving the Crimson Tide a record-tying 21st college football bowl victory.

Alabama, making a record 38th bowl appearance, got its 21st victory to tie a mark held by USC, which saw its post-game record fall to 21-8. The Tide is 21-14-3 in bowls.

Held to a 3-3 halftime tie,

Alabama took charge in the third period after Greg Richardson's 14-yard punt return set up the Tide at the USC 42-yard line. Alabama alternated the running of Turner and Bobby Humphrey during a 10-play drive. A personal foul against USC gave Alabama a first down at the USC 4 and Turner scored two plays later from the one.

Kermit Kendricks intercepted a pass by USC quarterback Rodney Peete and returned it 16 yards to the Trojan 44 to set up the second Alabama touchdown march.

Anti-hangover diet aids holiday headache

An anti-hangover diet can take the headaches out of New Year's Eve celebrations — literally and nutritionally.

The secret to staying healthy and headache-free, according to an article in a recent issue of Harper's Bazaar, is to drink in moderation, and to eat both before and after imbibing.

It takes the liver one hour to "digest" one drink — 12 ounces of beer, four ounces of wine or one ounce of hard liquor.

Joan A. Yuhas, assistant professor of human nutrition and food science at Ohio University at Athens, said some vitamins — especially vitamin D — are not well absorbed during that time. Other problem nutrients include vitamins B1, B6, folic acid, B12 and C.

Moderate drinking is not hazardous to health if the drinker maintains a well-rounded daily diet.

"That means 1,200 calories worth of the right foods — the optimum daily level for most weight-conscious women," Yuhas said.

That includes fruit, dark leafy greens, legumes, liver, lean meats, whole grains, potatoes, corn, nuts, seafood and dairy products. Two servings of protein a day are needed to make up for the loss incurred by alcohol's diuretic action.

"Take in plenty of water before a party, then reach for the hors d'oeuvres once you are there to avoid drinking on an empty stomach," advised nutrition consultant Bonnie Taub-Dix, assistant chief dietitian at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City.

She said this would gently stimulate the flow of salivary and gastric juices to improve digestion.

To slow down alcohol intake, try an occasional white wine spritzer or dry vermouth with apple juice on the rocks.

Go easy on red wines and dark liquors, which contain pain-promoting congeners that cause hangover headaches.

In addition, complex carbohydrates and a small amount of fats will slow alcohol absorption from the stomach, easing the workload on the liver. That means you can drink more with a meal because your body has extra time in which to process it.

Once a hangover strikes, the experts advise drinking plenty of fresh-squeezed citrus fruit juices and lots of water to replenish lost fluids and combat dehydration, fatigue and weakness.

Bland foods in small, frequent meals will help soothe a fluttery stomach. As for hangover headaches, Yuhas advised:

"Since alcohol enlarges blood vessels in the brain, coffee and tea may bring some relief by having the direct opposite effect."

The nausea and lethargy of a hangover can be caused by an upset in the body's acid-alkaline balance. High-carbohydrate food is a good energy source that helps restore chemical equilibrium.

A restorative morning-after breakfast, according to Carol Ann Pearce in Harper's Bazaar, could include whole-grain cereal, skim milk, juice and whole wheat toast with margarine or jam.

Exercise helps the hangover victim keep alert because it speeds up the breakdown of acetaldehydes — enervating by-products of alcohol — by stimulating circulation and delivering more oxygen to the brain.

Sensible drinking and eating habits will help make holiday mornings hangover-free, but check with your physician before following any diet or food regime.

Dear Abby

Sad plight gives verse a heavy punch

DEAR ABBY: This came with my insurance company's newsletter. Being from Iowa yourself, you must feel for the poor farmers. How about giving this a run? I don't know who wrote it.

LAKE HELEN, FLA.
DEAR LAKE: It's wonderful. And I wish the author would please surface and take a bow:

LAST WILL OF MR. FARMER
I leave:

To my wife my overdraft at the bank — maybe she can explain it.

To my banker my soul — he has the mortgage on it anyway.

To my neighbor my clown suit — he'll need it if he continues to farm as he has in the past.

To the ASCS my grain bin — I was planning to let them take it next year anyway.

To the county agent 50 bushels of corn to see if he can hit the market — I never could.

To my undertaker a special request — I want six implement and fertilizer dealers for my pallbearers. They are used to carrying me.

To the weatherman rain and sleet and snow for the funeral, please — no sense in have good weather now.

To the grave digger — don't bother. The hole I'm in should be big enough.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old woman, but I've been told that I could pass for 19 or 20. I have been going with a young man who is in his teens, but looks older.

We are lovers and the whole shebang. What I need to know is, can I be arrested or get into trouble with the law because of his age?

GLORIA
(NOT MY REAL NAME)

DEAR GLORIA: You do not indicate in which state you reside, but if you are experiencing "the whole shebang" with a minor, you could certainly be in trouble with the law. Check with a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: A reader suggested changing the expression "making love" to "making babies" as a way to reduce the growing number of unplanned pregnancies. How about also changing

"copulating" to "populating"?
JIM AND DIANE PANTHER,

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 3 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses. WEDDINGS If a wedding writup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Dr. Donohue

How heavy is heavy?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I know you can't tell me in actual pounds, but when the exercise books talk about using "heavy" weights, what do they mean by heavy? Does that mean weights so heavy you can barely lift them at all? — B.H.

No, By heavy, they mean weights you can lift only six consecutive times without a pause between each lift. In the language of weightlifting that translates as "six reps." The weight you can lift only once is called the "one-rep max." The weight one ordinarily uses for muscle-building exercise is two thirds of that one-rep max.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What's the purpose of doing a bench press with the back of the bench tilted up? Is it any different, really, from doing it with your back flat on the bench? — Mrs. R.L.

Can we let non-iron pumpers in on what you are asking?

A bench press isn't a tool-and-die machine. It's an exercise done with weights. It's usually done lying flat on a bench. The person lifts the weight straight up from the body, then lowers it.

Most benches can be adjusted so that the exercise can be done in a semi-seated position. The question, then, is: Does this form of the exercise offer any different benefits?

The answer is, yes, it does. And the question lets me point out a very important fact about exercise in general.

It is that a very minor alteration in body position, grip, or motion produces a profound change in the muscles used. If you want to prove this, try doing a chin-up, first with the hands close together, then with the hands far apart.

The same alteration in muscle use happens when you use the inclined bench for the bench press exercise. That tilt of the back causes a shift in muscles used. Specifically, the front part of the upper shoulder muscle (the anterior deltoid) gets a better workout in this position. Altering the bench into various positions introduces variety into exercise while permitting use of different muscles and different parts of the same muscles.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am pregnant. My doctor says it's all right for me to exercise. But when I asked him how much, he couldn't answer. Can I do the same as before my pregnancy? — Mrs. E.N.Z.

No. In fact, you have to DECREASE the intensity of your exercise below the pre-pregnancy level by at least 25 percent.

Here's an example: If you jogged two miles a day, you now should jog only 1 1/2 miles. Whatever exercise, your pulse rate should never get higher than 140 beats per minute. I say that because there is agreement now that overheating the body may cause harm to the fetus.

Drink lots of water when exercising. Your joints, you will find, are looser during pregnancy, so you must be careful not to tax them or greatly twist them. And you must be aware of the fact that the growth of your uterus and the fetus alters your center of gravity. You can be thrown off balance more easily. Be prepared for this bit of unsteadiness. Otherwise, exercise during pregnancy within these guidelines is good for the mother's general well being.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 71, weight 112 and am 5 feet, 2 inches. I walk three miles a day at an average of 15 minutes per mile. The humidity is high here, so I walk before sunrise, when it's cool. Question: How do I know when my pace of walking is too great? When should I know when to reduce it? — Mrs. J.B.

I like your program. The test of whether you are overdoing is the same for any age. Can you carry on a normal conversation while you are exercising? You should not be exhausted when you return after your walk. If that is happening, back down, either in distance or in speed.

For one thing, you don't want to be exhausted after exercise, because then you are less likely to warm' down. I mean by warming down just moving about for a few minutes after you walk.

Millions of out-of-shape men and women desire fitness, but shy away from formal programs because they think it's all too complicated and difficult. Dr. Donohue's newest booklet, "Introduction to Fitness," puts the esoteric terminology of aerobics into plain language and offers a fitness program anyone, regardless of age, can adapt.

For a copy write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.50.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

about a get-together of Boy Scout Troop No. 1.

Joe said the Capitol Area Council in Austin gave its Distinguished Citizen and Distinguished Eagle awards to Cong. J.J. (JAKE) PICKLE, Joe's brother. Jake grew up in Big Spring.

JANICE HARRIS and JOE PICKLE were there from Big Spring and BEN PICKLE, grandnephew of the honoree, led the invocation and Pledge of Allegiance.

On hand for the event were DR. CLYDE THOMAS, JANE THOMAS, DR. THOMAS JO AND TEMPLE WILLIAMSON of Kerrville, and STEVE D. FORD JR. All of the men were members of Boy Scout Troop No. 1.

Also visiting in town recently from Plano were MR. AND MRS. KENNETH CHRANE, daughter CHRISTIAN and son DARRAN. The family visited with LOU D. CHRANE.

The Herald did a story on Christian several years ago. She took her college entrance exams when she was 12. She is a sophomore at Plano High School today and rides American Saddlebreds in shows and in competition, according to her uncle Lou Chrane.

Band to present Kentwood Center benefit

The Heart of Texas Band and West Wind Productions and Music Store are combining forces to present a benefit for the Kentwood Center Jan. 2, according to Shelton Castle, member of the band. Castle said benefits will go towards offsetting operating expenses at Kentwood Center. The center is a popular meeting place for several organizations in the city. Senior citizens use the facility for a number of weekly activities. The center periodically sponsors country music shows but "can't afford professional musicians," Castle said. "We had some time off and we're hoping to raise some money for the center."

oriented," Castle said. "There will be no dancing and no drinking." Another special guest during the concerts will be country-western musician Vince Hatfield. Members of the Heart of Texas band are Castle, Denny McCullough, J.R. Hayes, Bee Haley, Frank Aciri and Kevin Sneed.

Kitchen and Bath Specialists

by Bob and Jan Noyes

TODAY'S BATHROOM
A recent independent survey of prospective homeowners sheds some light on what they want for features in the bathrooms of their new homes. They are not cutting corners. While two baths is the number chosen by the majority, almost a third of those interviewed want four baths. They think of a medicine cabinet, exhaust fan, linen storage, tub-shower door, single-bowl vanity and ceramic tile walls and floors as standards. Twenty-one percent want to include a dressing area. Half of those surveyed want colored rather than white bath fixtures. Other desired options are a tub-shower enclosure, separate tub and shower and an oversized whirlpool tub.
The trend in bathrooms is toward more luxury. Today's bath is much more than a place to wash up. If you're remodeling, consult the specialists at BOB'S CUSTOM WOODWORK. We design, build and install new baths and kitchens from floor tile to custom cabinetry. Come to North Industrial Road in the Industrial Park, or call 267-5811. We're open M-F, 9-12, 1-5 or by appt. Happy New Year!
— HINT —
Seventy percent of prospective homeowners surveyed above would like a secluded master bath plus a walk-in closet.
