Budget plan could cost Texas

Research group says state may lose $304.8 million in '87

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm's balanced-budget plan could cost his home state of Texas $304.8 million in fiscal 1987, the biggest percentage cut of the 10 most populous states, according to an analysis by a Washington research group.

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget reduction proposal was signed into law by President Reagan earlier this month. It sets federal budget ceilings for each fiscal year until outlays equal revenues in FY 1991.

If Congress and the president fail to stay within the spending limits, the law mandates automatic, across-the-board cuts, except for certain protected programs, such as Social Security, Medicaid and food stamps.

Federal Funds Information for the States, a research group for the National Conference of State Legislatures and the National Governors Association, assumed that the automatic cutbacks will go into effect.

The research group estimated the effect on the states' share of federal money for such programs as highways, education, energy, environment, urban development and general revenue sharing.

FFIS said Texas could lose $43.6 million in fiscal 1986, the first year the law is in effect, and could have the biggest percentage loss of federal money among the 10 most populous states in fiscal 1987.

In FY 1987, Texas could lose 6.3 percent of the federal money it currently receives, compared to a loss of 5.7 percent for California and 4.4 percent for New York.

Filing for office starts Saturday

Individuals who wish to seek election in 118th District or Howard County next November may file as candidates with their party chairman beginning Saturday, according to the state election code.

Candidates must file a designated campaign treasurer in the county clerk's office before filing with their party chairman, said county clerk Margaret Ray.

"The treasurer will act in the candidate's behalf prior to expending and receiving any money," Ray said.

According to files in the county clerk's office, Al Valdes has designated himself as campaign treasurer Nov. 22 in his bid for county commissioner in Precinct 4; Ray designated herself as campaign treasurer Dec. 30 in her bid to resume serving as county clerk; Peggy Crittenden designated herself as campaign treasurer Dec. 30 in her bid to resume serving as district clerk; Bonnie Franklin designated herself as campaign treasurer in her bid to resume serving as county treasurer; and Mack Underwood designated his wife Thelma as campaign treasurer in his bid for county commissioner in Precinct 4.

Social Security deduction to rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security system will take an extra dime from every $100 that the average worker earns starting on New Year's Day.

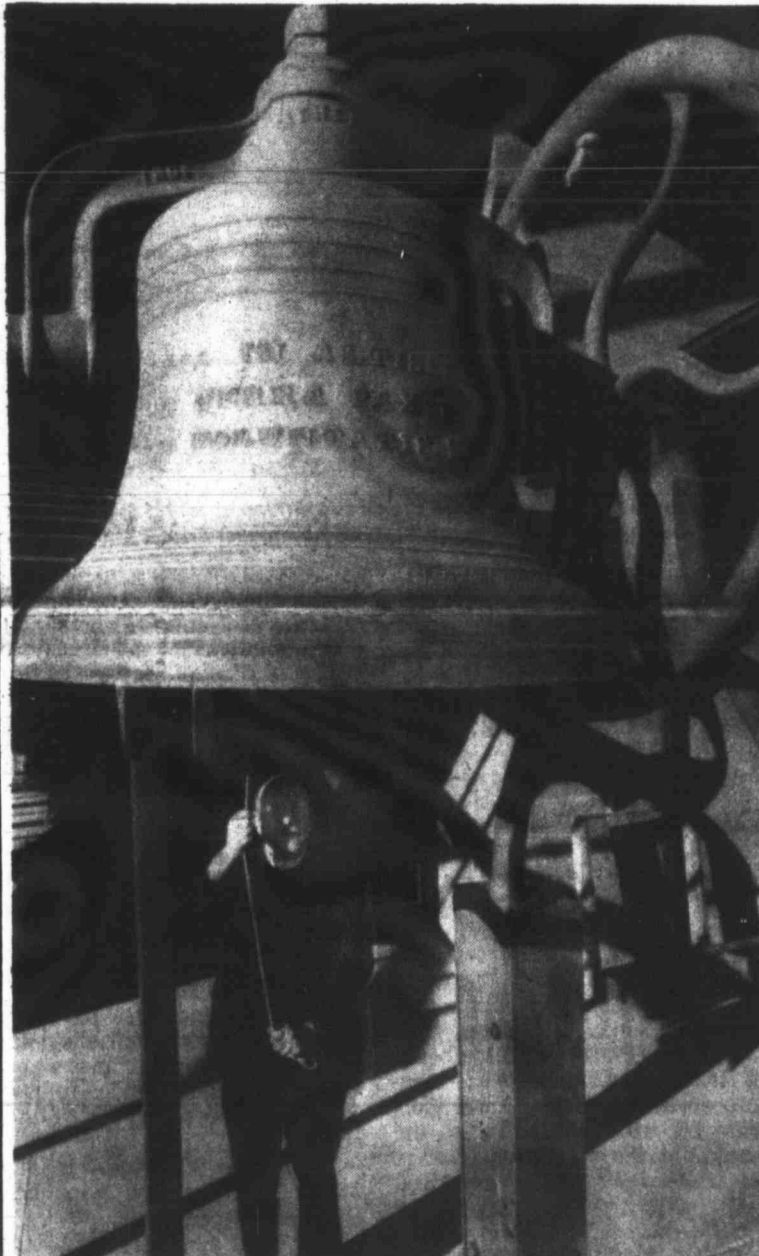

The payroll tax will rise from 7.05 to 7.15 percent when the new year rings in. That means that $7.15 will come off the top of every $100 that most American workers earn, with their employers kicking in an equal amount.

While workers will find their paychecks a tad lighter in 1986, Social Security's 37 million beneficiaries will find their monthly benefit checks 3.1 percent fatter starting Friday.

Four million aged, blind or disabled poor people who get Supplemental Security Income will also get a 3.1 percent cost-of-living increase in their checks, which are being delivered today, a day early due to the holiday, Social Security spokesman James Brown said.

The one-tenth of a point rise in the payroll tax rate translates to a 1.4 percent tax increase for employees. The self-employed will be hit with a 4.2 percent increase in their Social Security taxes, as their tax rate climbs from 11.8 percent to SOCIAL page 2-A

The Rev. Robert Bonnington of St. Mary's Episcopal Church shows how he will ring the church's bell Wednesday to herald the Texas Sesquicentennial. Churches and other organizations throughout the state will use bells, sirens or whistles at noon in commemoration of the state's 150th birthday.

State to ring in birthday

Sirens, whistles and bells will herald the beginning of the Sesquicentennial on New Year's Day.

A statewide bell-ringing has been planned for noon to last three minutes. Locally, about two dozen churches and other facilities with chimes, bells, sirens or whistles will participate.

"At high noon we are asking everyone to ring for three minutes every bell, blow every whistle and honk every horn — anything that makes noise and lets people know that we're starting the celebration in a big way," said Kay Bancroft, chairwoman of the event for Big Spring.

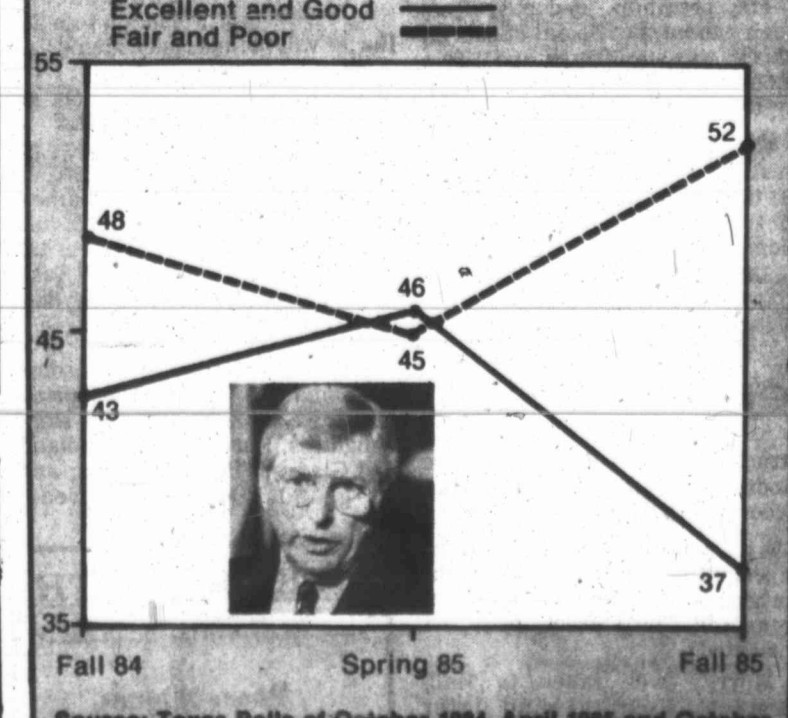

The Texas Sesquicentennial Commission planned for and designated "Six Days for Texas" in 1986 for every Texas community to ring out its own tribute to the state. The dates are Jan. 1, beginning of the Sesquicentennial celebration; March 2, Texas Independence Day; April 21, San Jacinto Day; July 4, U.S. Independence Day; Nov. 3, Stephen F. Austin's birthday; and Dec. 31, end of the Sesquicentennial.

Big Spring began preparing for the state's 150th birthday in 1984 by creating the Howard County Sesquicentennial Commission of city, county and chamber of commerce officials, according to a news release.

Governor's approval rating slipping

Gov. White's popularity declining

Q. How would you rate the job Mark White is doing as Governor — excellent, good, fair or poor? (Percent responding)

Source: Texas Polls of October 1984, April 1985 and October 1985

By DR. JAMES DYER
Harte-Hanks News Service

Gov. Mark White's approval rating among Texans has slipped in the past year, the fall Texas Poll shows.

In a telephone survey of 1,000 Texans Oct. 17-31, only 37 percent rated the job White is doing as excellent or good. Another 35 percent rated the governor's performance as fair, while 17 percent said it was poor and 12 percent had no opinion.

White's approval rating is down from six months ago when the Texas Poll found that 46 percent of Texans gave White an excellent or good rating. Last fall, 43 percent of Texans rated him highly.

The governor's decreasing positive ratings are evident among all groups in Texas, but his biggest losses come from the Gulf Coast area of the state (down 19 percent since last spring) and Republicans (down 16 percent). His good or excellent ratings have slipped the least, just 3 percent, among blacks and political independents, and 4 percent among East Texans. In Central Texas, his positive rating is up slightly, by 2 percent, since last spring.

In the current poll, the governor rates higher in the eyes of blacks than any other group. Half of Texas blacks give White an excellent or good rating, compared to 42 percent of Hispanics and 34 percent of Anglos.

Although White, a Democrat, garners more approval from Texans in his own party than from Republicans, still less than half of Democrats (44 percent) give him an excellent or good rating, compared to 30 percent of Republicans and 37 percent of political independents. That is a slip of 11 percentage points from six months ago. Among liberals and moderates, 41 percent say he is doing at least a good job. Only 31 percent of conservatives agree. Since last spring, White has lost 12 percentage points in his positive rating among liberals and moderates, and 7 points among conservatives.

There is more approval for White in south and central Texas, where 40 percent give him an excellent or good rating. The greatest disapproval comes from east Texas, where 24 percent say he is doing a poor job.

The controversy over Texas' "no pass, no play" rule has hurt the governor's rating, despite the rule's own popularity with 70 percent of Texans. About 64 percent of those who dislike the rule give White a poor rating, along with 48 percent of those who do like it. Only 48 percent of those who agree with the no-pass, no-play rule also give White a positive rating.

The Texas Poll, sponsored by Harte-Hanks Communications Inc., is conducted by the Public Policy Resources Laboratory at Texas A&M University. Results may vary by up to 3 percentage points either way because of sampling error.

Clowning around

Texan finds making people laugh not as easy as it looks

AUSTIN (AP) — The first time Kelly Van Cleave went to the circus, she couldn't wait for the show to end because she was bored.

Now, as a 1985 graduate of the world's only clown college, the 23-year-old Lago Vista resident is part of the big top — and she doesn't find it the least bit boring.

"The big thing is to go out and have fun," said Van Cleave, who graduated from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Clown College in Venice, Fla. "You have to want to do this, and I do. As long as I'm happy with what I'm doing I've got no complaints."

Van Cleave said she decided to become a clown after she attended another circus performance where she saw how the crowd reacted to the clowns and how much fun the performers were having.

Getting into clown college was anything but easy for Van Cleave, a graduate of Southwest Texas State University and a substitute teacher and volunteer firefighter when she isn't clowning around. The college accepts as many as 60 out of 1,000 candidates who apply every year.

Van Cleave failed in three attempts to get into the school.

"They told me to work in front of an audience and to get jobs clowning," said Van Cleave, who worked at benefits, birthday parties, and store openings to get on-the-job training.

On her fourth try, she was accepted into the 49-member class after a brief audition. She learned how to tumble, ride a unicycle, juggle, pantomime, walk on stilts, improvise, design and build costumes, and create a clown face. Classes ran 14 hours a day, six days a week, Van Cleave said.

Learning to be a clown is hard work, as Van Cleave said she found out just after classes began.

"I sprained my ankle the second day, but I was afraid to tell anyone because I thought they would send me home," she said. "Two people were sent home with torn cartilage in their knees."

However, the most difficult part of the 10-week course was not the physical exertion, Van Cleave said. The hardest thing was trying to "be funny all the time" for the instructors, circus veterans who were not easily impressed.

"Clowning is something that takes a lifetime to do," Van Cleave said. "The class was only 10 weeks and we had a lot to learn to do."

The moment of truth came at the end of the course, when Van Cleave was called into the office of Ken Kelly Van Cleave is now part of the circus big top as a 1985 graduate of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Clown College in Florida. A graduate of Southwest Texas State University, Van Cleave will become an active participant with the circus in 1986.

Feld, the circus president and producer. Feld told the nervous student that her gags were awful and that she had been miscast in skits. Then he gave her a job.

"He said I had a strong, upbeat personality," Van Cleave said. Margra McNamara, who handles public relations for the circus, said that as a First of May — the term for new clowns — Van Cleave has a lot to learn before she becomes a master of her trade. "But she'll contribute a lot," McNamara said. "Kelly is sincerely interested in her craft. To be good at anything, you have to be interested."

Police Beat

Man arrested on burglary

Donny Ray Christian, 23, of Gail Route Box 16 was arrested Monday night on suspicion of burglary.

A.E. Clanton of 401 Westover St. reported a possibly burglary in progress at a house he owns at 1405 S. Johnson at 10:32 p.m. Monday, according to the police report.

Police arrived at 10:35 p.m., according to the report, found Christian at the rear of the house and took him into custody.

Clanton told police this morning that more than $900 damage was done to doors and windows on the house.

Thomas Vernon of 1805 Morrison St. told police Monday night that he found someone prowling around his house and attempted to restrain him. The prowler, however, pulled a knife on Vernon and fled, according to the police report. Vernon was not injured in the episode, which occurred at 8:47 p.m. Monday, the complaint stated.

Gregory Woods of 308 Aylford St. told police Monday afternoon that someone he knows pointed at revolver at him outside his residence at 4:36 p.m.

Carl Hanson, 45, of Tyler was arrested Monday afternoon on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon and reckless conduct. He was arrested in a vacant lot on the 300 block of S. Douglas St.

Amil Syabo of 120 Airbase Road, Building 15, Apt. 5 told police

Monday morning that someone caused $350 damage to the windshield of his car by throwing a rock through it Sunday afternoon.

Kenny Platt of 1203 Mulberry St. told police that someone stole $300 worth of hand and power tools from his truck. According to the complaint, the truck was parked at his house when the theft occurred between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

E.W. McCarthy of 706 Bell St. told police Monday evening that someone broke a window at his house between Thursday and 5:40 p.m. Monday. The cost of damage was not determined.

Kathleen Bantz of 1315 Mulberry St. told police Monday evening that someone burglarized her home between 7:15 a.m. and 5:39 p.m. Monday. According to the complaint, a $400 color television, a $20 video game and 25 checks were stolen. Damage totaling $30 was done to a picture frame, a window and a waterbed mattress.

W.A. Baskets of 1901 Runnels St. told police Monday evening that someone he knows stole a $250 black chow puppy from his backyard at 4:15 Monday.

Betsy Coleman of 906 E. Sixth St. told police Monday morning that someone removed a city dumpster from her residence between 10 p.m. Sunday and 7:40 a.m. Monday.

Filing

Continued from page 1-A or 118th District Court judge, currently held by James Gregg, must designate a campaign treasurer in the Secretary of the State's office in Austin, Ray said.

Potential candidates have until Feb. 3 to file with their chairman, according to a primary and general election guide released from the Secretary of State's office.

Democratic chairman is M.H. "Slick" Boatler, and Republican chair is Spencer Wolfe.

This year's county and other district positions up for election are: county judge, now held by Milton Kirby; district clerk, now held by Peggy Crittenden; county clerk, now held by Ray; county treasurer, now held by Bonnie Franklin; and county surveyor, now held by Telesforo Fierro.

Also, county commissioner Precinct 2, held by Paul Allen; county commissioner Precinct 4, held by David Barr; justice of the peace in Precinct 1, Place 2, held by Lewis Hefflin.

Individuals also may file for justice of the peace positions in Precinct 2, Places 3 and 4.

Ray said the later two are non-paying positions and usually have not been filled.

Filing fees with party chairman, according to the election guide, are $1,200 for the district judge's position; $600 for the county judge, district clerk, county clerk, county treasurer and county commissioner positions; $300 for the justices of the peace positions; and $50 for the county surveyor's position.

The first primary election will take place May 3 and a second primary in case runoff elections are required will be held June 7.

The general election will be held Nov. 4.

Social

And for those workers who make more than $39,600 a year, Social Security's slice of their paychecks will be even bigger. The payroll tax cut off at $39,600 in 1985, but in 1986 it will apply to earnings up to $42,000. The maximum tax on employees will be $3,003, which is $211.20, or 7.56 percent, higher than this year's maximum.

Almost 9 million workers paid the maximum tax in 1985. About 7 million are expected to pay the maximum in 1986.

The 31 million elderly or disabled workers who qualify for Medicare will face higher deductibles and co-insurance payments for their hospital stays in 1986.

But for a change, there will be no increase in the monthly premium the Medicare recipients must pay for the so-called Part B of Medicare covering physicians' bills and other out-of-hospital expenses.

The premium, deducted from their monthly Social Security check, will stay frozen at $15.50 a month due to surpluses in the system's accounts.

The average SSI monthly payment for an individual will rise by $11 to $336, and for couples by $16 to $504. But about half the SSI recipients also get Social Security, and as their retirement benefits go up, many will find their SSI checks reduced.

Man stable after hit by car

A 66-year-old Big Spring man was in stable condition in the intensive care unit at Malone-Hogan Hospital this morning after suffering injuries Monday afternoon in a bicycle-car collision.

Glenn Murray of 208 N.W. Second St. suffered a fractured leg and shoulder, a hospital spokeswoman said this morning.

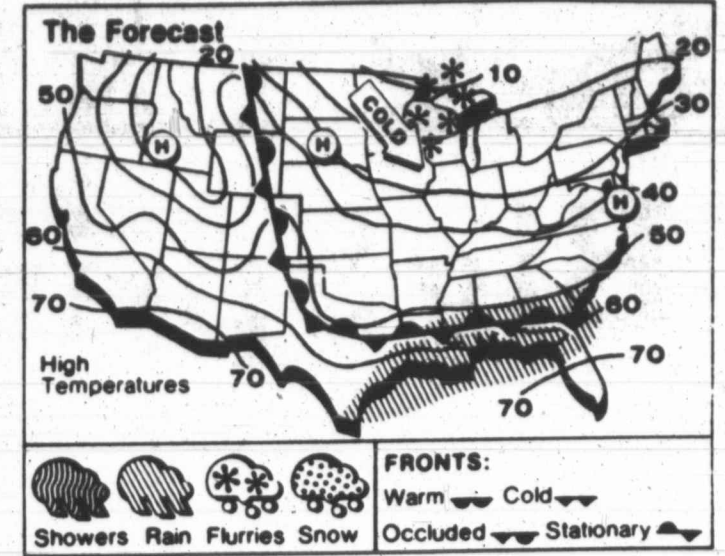

Murray was pedaling his bike south on N. Gregg Street on the wrong side of the road when he was struck by a car driven by Juan Rodriguez, 57, of 501 N.E. Ninth St., according to the accident report.

A glaring sun was a factor in the mishap that occurred as Rodriguez turned north onto Gregg Street from N.W. Third Street, the report indicated.

Murray was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital and later transferred to Malone-Hogan, said an ambulance spokeswoman.

Burglary parole revoked

A Big Spring man waived his right to a parole hearing Monday afternoon and will return to the Texas Department of Corrections to resume serving a burglary sentence.

Roy Rodriguez, 19, of 908 E. 15th was arrested Dec. 20 by police on an emergency parole warrant issued by the state board of pardons and paroles.

He was charged with committing aggravated assault in an apartment at 1009 N. Main.

"The parolee allegedly tried to stab a woman in the face," said David Harman, Big Spring parole officer.

Rodriguez was convicted of burglary last April in 118th District Court and was released from TDC on parole in October. He will serve two years and six months in the state penitentiary.

Sheriff's Log

Vandals damage pickups

An employee of Bill's Wrecker Service on Snyder Highway told a Howard County sheriff's deputy Monday afternoon that someone shot out windows to four pickup trucks parked at the wrecking service business.

Total damage was estimated at $265. The time of the vandalism was unknown, according to the report.

Ricky Robertson of Route 2 Box 98A told sheriff's deputies Monday afternoon that someone burglarized his house between Saturday and Sunday.

According to a sheriff's report, $120 in cash, a gold colored watch of unknown value and a 14-karat gold belt buckle worth $150 was stolen.

James Collingsworth of Box 309 Gail Route told sheriff's deputies Monday morning that someone knocked the left window out of his pickup truck and stole a Plexiglas that was mounted on the truck.

The vandalism and theft occurred after 11 p.m. Sunday, according to the sheriff's report.

The broken truck window was valued at $50, and the Plexiglas was valued at $26.

James Wallace of P.O. Box 833 on Hooser Road in Sand Springs told sheriff's deputies Monday night that someone broke into his house between Dec. 20 and Dec. 28.

The burglars stole a three-speed bike and five knives. Total value of the stolen items was listed at $115, according to the sheriff's report.

Fred Green of K-C Steak and Seafood House on the north service road of Interstate 20 told sheriff's deputies Monday morning that someone removed three cases of beverages and damaged a window during closing hours on Sunday night.

Sheriff A.N. Standard said value of the stolen beverages had not been determined.

Deputies released Jerry Walton, 40, of 1201 College from county jail Tuesday morning after he served 45 days of a 90-day sentence received for second offense driving while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty to the charge in county court on Nov. 18.

According to a sheriff's department arrest card, Walton received credit for 45 days good behavior.

He was arrested for the DWI offense July 1.

Textile worker arrested

STAPLETON, Ga. — A textile worker was arrested early today and charged with kidnapping one of two 12-year-old girls who had been missing for more than a week before they returned home.

Buford Williams Jr., in his early 20s, was arrested at the J.P. Stevens plant near Louisville and charged with kidnapping, Jefferson County Sheriff Zollie Compton said.

Elizabeth Tanner and Jessica Barrow, last seen riding their bikes about sundown on Dec. 22, ran into the Barrow home shouting "We're home, we're home!" about 7:30 a.m. Monday, said Mary Barrow, Jessica's mother.

The girls told authorities they had been released a half hour earlier near where they were believed to have been abducted.

Group to ask for exile

SEATTLE — With 10 white supremacists convicted of racketeering for waging a racist war against the United States, Denver officials are studying whether they can prosecute some defendants in the slaying of an outspoken Jewish talk show host.

An all-white jury deliberated two weeks before convicting the 10 defendants, members of the Nazi-like group The Order, of conducting a criminal conspiracy in 1983 and 1984 that encompassed two murders; bank and armored-car robberies totaling more than $4 million; counterfeiting and arson.

Gunman intoxicated

MANITIQUE, Mich. — A man armed with a .44-caliber Magnum, a deer rifle and a double-barrel shotgun barricaded himself inside a drug store, where he downed 2 1/2 pints of peppermint schnapps and passed out, officials said today.

After a one-hour standoff Monday, police in this Upper Peninsula community found the 24-year-old man sitting unconscious behind a counter at Putvin Drug Store, a revolver in his lap and a knapsack full of ammunition nearby, said public safety director James St. Louis.

Children leave state

CORPUS CHRISTI — A church group that lost a U.S. Supreme Court appeal challenging a requirement that its two homes for delinquents be licensed by the state has moved about 200 children out of Texas rather than comply.

"The Roloff homes are in exile," the Rev. Aubrey Vaughan said Monday, reading from a statement as he stood on the steps of the empty Rebekah Home for Girls, one of two homes set up by the late preacher Lester Roloff.

"They stand empty due to state officials who are more concerned for their political careers than the children," said Vaughan, pastor of Grace Baptist Church of Houston, and a longtime Roloff supporter.

Victor Simpson, the Associated Press news editor, and his wife, Daniela, accompany the white coffin of their 11-year-old daughter Natasha who was killed in Friday's terrorist attack at Rome's airport.

Tough rhetoric

'Appropriate' response to attacks urged

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — While President Reagan vacationed with longtime friends in this desert resort, his administration offered its support to any nation that can find and wipe out the terrorist group that killed five Americans in coordinated attacks on the Rome and Vienna airports.

After initially cautioning against a retaliatory strike, the White House called Monday for "an appropriate, measured and focused" response against those responsible for the attacks in which 18 people died, four of them terrorists.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes, saying that Libya is believed to be harboring the leader of a radical Palestinian splinter group suspected of masterminding the raids, said the United States is seeking allied support for unspecified action to punish the Libyan government of Moammar Khadafy.

Briefing reporters in Palm Springs where Reagan played golf and dined with many of his old friends from California, Speakes said of those involved in planning the attacks: "If we can find who they are, or if another nation can find who they are and they attack 'em, wipe 'em out, that's fine with us."

Speakes' tough rhetoric was in sharp contrast to the language he used in the immediate aftermath of the attacks on Friday, when he urged Israel and other nations in the Middle East to practice restraint.

Explaining his abrupt departure from the initial U.S. stance, Speakes said, "We have always been firmly opposed to an escalating cycle of violence which contains the seed of broader and more devastating hostilities. In that context, we have urged and will continue to urge all states to avoid taking actions which would only feed that cycle."

But the spokesman added, "At the same time, 'it has been our firm policy that terrorism cannot go unanswered. We have always retained the right to respond to terrorist acts in an appropriate, measured and focused way."

"Our policy is that you seek out those responsible and ... have at it, go at 'em," Speakes said.

Senior administration officials said the United States was concerned at first that Israel would strike Syrian anti-aircraft missile sites in Lebanon or Palestine Liberation Organization headquarters in Tunisia to avenge the airport raids on check-in counters of Israel's national airline, El Al.

The sources, speaking on condition they not be identified, said indiscriminate attacks could threaten the Middle East peace process at a crucial time. But they added officials did not mean for their initial statements to be taken as a policy shift away from the "swift and effective retribution" Reagan has promised as his answer to international terrorism.

Speakes said the United States is prepared to work with other governments to take action against the Khadafy regime. While refusing to disclose what steps might be contemplated, he said military action "is always an option" in combatting terrorism.

Asked if the administration regards Libya as responsible for the airport attacks, Speakes said, "We can't be that specific."

"The evidence is still being analyzed," the spokesman said. "All indications so far point to Abu Nidal's group," a radical splinter organization that broke with Yasser Arafat's Fatah contingent in the PLO in the 1970s.

"Other governments directly concerned share this judgment," Speakes said.

"We also note with considerable interest that the Libyan government has applauded the attacks in Rome and Vienna as heroic acts," he added.

Winnie Mandela freed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — A magistrate today freed black activist Winnie Mandela on bail after she defied a government order banning her from Johannesburg and the nearby black township of Soweto, but it was not clear if she planned to ignore the ban again.

In another development, the government radio announced today that 74 organizations have been barred from holding meetings for six months.

The South African Broadcasting Corp. reported the ban affects all major anti-apartheid organizations and took effect today. It said it applied in 30 magisterial districts primarily in eastern Cape province, around the racially divided city of Port Elizabeth, and regions just east of Johannesburg. Soweto was not included, it said.

Gemayel attack target

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanese radio stations reported today that President Amin Gemayel was the target of an assassination attempt by ambushers who fired rocket-propelled grenades at a motorcade in Beirut.

But presidential palace sources said Gemayel was not in the motorcade. The Lebanese Forces militia said the ambush was aimed at killing Assad Shaftari, a militia official who helped negotiate an agreement designed to end Lebanon's 10-year-old civil war.

The militia said Shaftari survived the ambush in the northern suburb of Zalka.

Rebels release couple

NEW DELHI, India — An Australian and his wife who say they were kidnapped by Pakistani tribal rebels and then jailed by communist authorities in Afghanistan for seven months said today: "It's good to be free, mate."

Dr. Robert Williamson, 34, a water expert working for the United Nations, and his 32-year-old wife, Jennifer Lade, told a news conference they were locked separately in isolation in Kabul prisons and forced to read Communist propaganda, but were "never treated badly."

Iraq escalates raids

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iraq said today it stepped up air attacks on Iran's oil operations and troop positions, with "hundreds of raids" against opposing forces in retaliation for what it said were Iranian raids on civilian areas.

An Iraqi military spokesman, in a statement over state-run Baghdad radio, did not give details of the air raids along the frontline. He denied Iranian reports of counterattacks on Iraqi troop positions in the northeast of Iraq.

Earlier, the Iraqi spokesman had announced two raids on Kharg Island oil terminal, an attack on a ship off Iran, and raids against four military camps.

Highways drive on recovery road

When you went to pay your vehicle registration fee this year, you no doubt got a shock at how much it cost. But highway department officials say your money is going to a good cause. The fee increase combined with an additional 5-cent-a-gallon fuel tax levy has brought Texas highways back from the brink of disrepair, highway officials say.

Currently there are 8,224 miles of highway — more than 10 percent of the entire state highway system — undergoing some type of work. As of Nov. 1, more than $2.8 billion in highway projects were under contract, nearly double the amount of two years ago. And the number of projects went from 559 in 1983 to nearly 1,000 in 1985. The scope of the projects includes safety, construction, rehabilitation and reconstruction.

There were several factors leading to the deterioration of highway work at the time the Texas Legislature took action to raise taxes in 1984. The 5-cent gasoline tax hadn't been touched since 1955. And, except for a minor increase in 1982, registration fees had been static since 1957.

From 1974 to 1984, the number of drivers in the state increased by almost 50 percent. But during that time, fuel economy was the byword of motorists and cars were using less gasoline.

"We had reached a real crisis point in 1984," said Bob Lanier, chairman of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission. "We were trying to operate a 1980s highway system on 1950s economics."

With the infusion of tax money, the state is back on the road to good roads. If it pinches a little at the tax office, remember that the money is going to keep Texas' highway system among the finest in the nation.

All he wants is a shiny company

Editor's Note: Due to the volume of holiday mail, this story of one boy's requests of Santa Claus arrived a little late.

Little T. Bone Snicker walked up to Santa Claus, who was standing on Wall Street, ringing a bell. "Ho, ho, ho," said Santa. "And what do you want for Christmas?"

T. Bone gave him a list. Santa scanned it. "Yummy Chocolate Chip Cookies? That shouldn't be a problem. How many cookies do you want?"

"I don't want cookies. I want the company."

"What on earth for?" Santa asked.

"So I can merge it with Alpha Chemicals, Beta Ballbearings and Picasso's Pizza."

"Ho, ho, ho. How do you expect to pay for it?"

"In a leveraged buyout. I'll sell off Rambo Steel, Rocky Asphalt and the Joan of Arc jeans division."

Santa said, "But Yummy Cookies has a poison pill in it to prevent cute little fellows like you from taking over the company."

Little T. Bone started to pull on Santa's beard. "I know that, stupid. That's why I'm willing to take $50 million in greenmail to go away."

Santa tried to change the subject. "If you can't have chocolate chip cookies, what else do you want for Christmas?"

T. Bone wiped his nose. "Ford." Santa said, "Ho, ho, ho. You're too young to drive."

T. Bone replied, "I don't want to drive. I want the Ford Company, including the aerospace division."

Santa went, "Ho, ho, ho. No one can buy Ford."

T. Bone got red in the face. "That's what they said about TWA and Revlon. I can buy anything if you get me a loan from the bank you're standing in front of."

Santa seemed terribly confused. "Good little boys don't borrow money without collateral. They can get their fingers burned. How about a train set?"

Little T. Bone thought about it. "I might be interested in Southern Pacific if I could sell off the real estate and get the air rights to the Los Angeles Railroad station."

Santa was getting weary. So tell me. Have you been a good little boy?"

"Very, very good," T. Bone said. "Don't believe what you read about my joining Senator Jesse Helms in his fight to take over CBS. It had nothing to do with firing Dan Rather. I figured Jesse knew how to run a network better than the people who are there now."

Santa said, "Would you like a Christmas peppermint stick?"

Little T. Bone shook his head. "No, but I might be interested in Christmas."

Now Santa had to take notice. "What do you mean Christmas?"

"I understand it's a very good money-maker. I read in The Wall Street Journal that in a good year Christmas grosses more than McDonald's."

Santa held his stomach. "Ho, ho, ho. Christmas is not for sale."

"Everything is for sale. It's just how you shape up the deal to sweeten the pot. I'd be happy to spin off the religious part of it, which is a money-loser, and just hold onto the gift divisions."

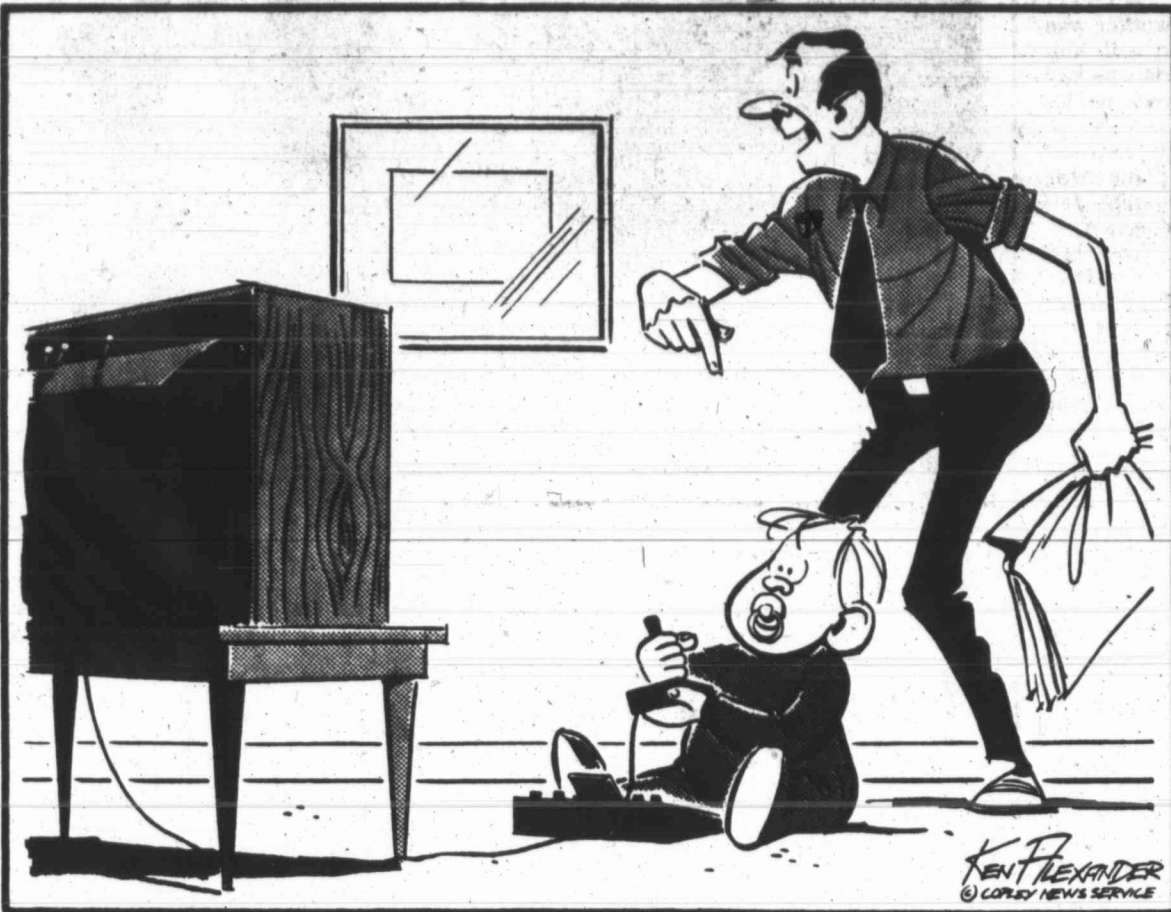

Santa said, "How do you intend to pay for it?"

"I'll issue Christmas junk bonds with your picture on them. This will assure the investors the bonds are guaranteed by the United States government."

"CHRISTMAS IS NOT FOR SALE!" Santa screamed.

Five brokers walking by heard him and in an hour the rumor was all over the street that someone was making a takeover bid for Christmas. This drove the market to new heights and caused the exchange to suspend all trading in the stock. As usual, everyone made a bundle except good guys like Santa Claus, who was left holding the bag.

How to spot a KGB fake

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — Forgery is a favorite Soviet weapon in the Cold War, but has never been an important part of the U.S. disinformation arsenal.

"There isn't that kind of concept in the U.S. government," explained Herbert Romerstein, a U.S. Information Agency expert on Soviet disinformation. In the Soviet Union, on the other hand, political forgeries are a tradition dating back to czarist times.

"We don't win in a war of lies," Romerstein told us. "We can win in a war of truth against lies. But our credibility is much too important to jeopardize. The Soviets don't worry about this, because truth or falsity is not relevant to their thinking of how to influence people. It is to ours."

For all its experience, though, the KGB frequently turns out pretty crude fakes that are easy for Western intelligence to expose. From Romerstein and other sources, we've learned how to spot Soviet forgeries. Here are the clues:

• Anonymous mailings: The KGB usually sends its "leaks" to the media in plain brown wrappers with no return address, making it difficult to verify the document's authenticity. That often works with gullible or anti-American publications. Realizing that the communist press has little credibility, the KGB tries to plant its forgeries in non-communist publications. Even a tiny item will do; it can then be picked up and amplified as "a well-known fact" by the pro-Soviet press. After sufficient repetition, it is broadcast by the Soviet propaganda network, usually with the standard introduction, "As the whole world knows..."

• Outdated or inaccurate bureaucratic titles and forms. The KGB has as much trouble as Americans do trying to keep up with the ever-changing style of U.S. government paperwork. Even non-government jargon can foil KGB forgers. Last year, for example, spurious threats to African and Asian athletes at the Los Angeles Olympics were signed "Ku Klux Klan." The Soviets didn't know that authentic Klan groups have distinctive titles like "Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan." After this was pointed out in press accounts, the Soviet news service Tass promptly reported that the letters had been signed "Invisible Empire" — trying to cover one lie with another.

• Unidiomatic English and misspellings. While British traitor Kim Philby was alive, he was able to proofread the major KGB forgeries to make sure that at least American usages were authentic. Now there seems to be no one to correct the stilted, schoolbook English, or such giveaway spellings as "centre" (British) for "center" (American).

Unusual names also trip up the KGB forgers. A 1982 memo supposedly written by Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige, for example, spelled his name "Baldrige."

Occasionally the KGB will slip by using translations of Russian terms that have no meaning in American usage. One supposedly internal U.S. government memo, for example, referred to the CIA not as "The Company," as some Americans do, but as "Competent Bodies," which is the Soviet term for their secret services.

And in Nigeria, a purported internal memo of the American Embassy referred to the planned assassinations of two prominent Nigerian politicians as "wet affairs." That is the literal translation of the unique KGB terminology for what American spooks might have called "terminations with extreme prejudice."

According to Romerstein, this type of forgery is unique to the KGB. "I've never seen a forged Andropov letter," he said. "I've never seen a forged Chernenko letter. I've never seen a forged Gorbachev letter. But I have seen forged Reagan letters, and I've seen forged Ford and Carter letters. Nobody else does it."

HOSTAGE UPDATE: Highly sensitive intelligence reaching Washington in the last few days indicates that an American hostage in Lebanon who was believed dead may still be alive. Peter Kilburn, a librarian at the American University in Beirut, was believed to have died from a chronic heart condition shortly after he was abducted last December. But he was being held by a different group than the captors of the other American hostages, which would explain why he was not seen with them earlier this year. The sources who provided this latest information asked us to withhold details we have on Kilburn while negotiations continue.

WATCH ON WASTE: Military dentists earn more than twice as much as those in the private sector, according to an unreleased study by the National Center for Policy Analysis. Bringing salaries in line could save at least $60 million a year, the center claims. According to the center's figures, dentists employed by private firms earn an average of $43,120 a year. Military dentists with the rank of commander or lieutenant colonel and 15 years' experience make $93,957; colonels and Navy captains with 26 years' experience make $114,321. The military compensation includes the value of pensions paid by the government.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Thank heaven for those wonderful folks at the National Institutes of Health. Just in time for the snow-shoveling season, they've announced the study of a new allergy: exercise. No kidding. Physical exercise can cause susceptible individuals to break out or swell up. We plan to take every precaution.

Making up is hard to do

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I feel terrible because of a quarrel we had with one of our neighbors about a year ago. I think he was in the wrong, but he wouldn't even speak to us after it happened. Now he has moved away, but I wonder if there was anything I could have done to avoid this. — Mrs. M.N.

DEAR MRS. M.N.: Have you ever noticed that often the hardest thing to do is get along with other people? The basic reason for this is that we are all sinners and self-centered by nature, and when we put ourselves first it inevitably leads to conflict. Only Christ can take away that selfish instinct and replace it with love for others. That is one reason the Bible devotes so much attention to getting along with others.

The Bible tells us, "Be careful to do what is right in the eyes of everybody. If it is possible, as far as it depends on you, live at peace with everyone" (Romans 12:17-18). That implies that there may be some people we simply cannot get along with, because they are determined to do wrong rather than right. But we must always examine our own hearts and be sure we are not acting selfishly and are not to blame.

First of all, you need to do whatever you can to overcome the problem you had with your neighbor in the past, although he has moved. Forgive him in your heart with Christ's help, and examine your heart to see if you acted in a wrong way also. Then write him, telling him you are sorry for the way your relationship was broken and want his forgiveness for the anger you felt toward him.

Then ask God to help you get along with others. Only Christ can give you a lasting love for others — the same kind of love He has for you. Have you thanked Him for His love for you, and for dying on the cross for your salvation? Receive Him now, and then show His love to others.

U.S. becoming aware of cost of drunk driving

By The Associated Press
 Drunken drivers faced more than just an array of tough laws in 1985. They also faced growing public concern about their behavior, and nothing reflected that concern more than what occurred in Nevada.
 In that state, thousands of motorists no longer ignore erratic driving. Under a new program that encourages people to report suspected drunken driving, police received 3,941 calls, located 984 autos and made 438 arrests this year.
 It's happening elsewhere, as people become aware of the cost of drunken driving. In Maryland, where police monitor citizens band channel 9, the number of citizen reports of drunken drivers increased this year. And Michigan installed a toll-free line for such reports this month.
 The drinking age is now 21 in 37 states. "Sobriety" roadblocks are popping up on summer weekends and winter holidays. Cab companies in dozens of cities offer free rides to people who drink too much. And thousands of drunken drivers are losing their licenses or going to jail.

 "We are all getting closer to it by having friends and relatives killed by drunk drivers. And we finally say ... we're just not going to accept the hazards of drunk drivers," said Capt. Brent Taylor of the Wyoming Highway Patrol.
 Fifteen percent of Americans have had a family member injured or killed by a drunken driver, according to a Media General-Associated Press poll conducted in May. The poll also found most Americans support harsh penalties for drunken drivers.
 Anti-drunken driving efforts in 1985 also included programs ranging from the nationwide "National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week" in mid-December to those like one in New Mexico in which anti-drunken driving poster and writing contests were held in public schools.
 Forty states participated in a "D-Day on Trafficways" crackdown Dec. 13. Hundreds of arrests were made during a 13-hour period, but police said the purpose of the crackdown was to remind the public about the dangers of drunken driving before the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

 Are such programs working? For several years, the percentage of highway deaths caused by drunken drivers has dropped. The trend continued in 1985. And despite an increase in enforcement, most states also reported a drop in arrests. That can be attributed in part to increased awareness and to stiffer penalties.
 The number of states with laws requiring jail terms, loss of licenses and stiff fines has been increasing in recent years, and some states have made their drunken driving laws tougher. In Illinois, for example, first-time drunken drivers will soon face automatic suspension of their licenses. And Oregon lowered the blood alcohol content at which a driver is presumed drunk from 0.10 to 0.08.
 At least 12 states turned to "sobriety" roadblocks in 1985. New York, for example, conducted 203 roadblocks since January and made 416 arrests. Los Angeles police conducted their first Saturday, arresting five of 560 drivers who passed through in two hours.

 But such roadblocks have been challenged in court, with mixed results. In California, an appeals court upheld the checkpoints. But in Pennsylvania, an appeals court ruled that roadblocks to spot drunken drivers "are nothing more than fishing expeditions" which violate citizens' rights.
 Court rulings have also become a concern for bar and restaurant owners in many states, who can be sued if a drunken customer gets into an accident.
 Harry Bean, owner of a pub in Laconia, N.H., saw his insurance premiums rise from $1,200 to $21,000 in one year because of the risk. "You get drunk, you have an accident and it may cost you a $300 fine and the loss of your license for 90 days," he said. "It could cost me $1 million."
 The federal government has decided to cut off a portion of highway funds to states that don't have a 21-year-old drinking age by Oct. 1986. It is now illegal to serve alcohol to people under 21 in 37 states.

Addictive cocaine free-basing sweeps Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A highly addictive practice of smoking cocaine "rocks" has swept this chain of islands off the coast of Florida, a side-effect of the South American-based drug trade that uses the islands as stepping-stones for the journey to the United States.
 In a country of 230,000 people, the number of cocaine users treated at mental health clinics has zoomed from zero in 1982 to 209 in 1984, according to Dr. David Allen, a Harvard-trained psychiatrist who heads the National Drug Council.
 "What we have is the world's first free-basing epidemic (which) could be preceding an epidemic in the industrialized states," Allen said. "Anywhere there is readily available high-quality cocaine, there is this potential."
 Dr. Henri Podlewski, director of the Sandilands Hospital where a special unit was created this year to treat free-basers, said free-based cocaine may be the most addictive drug known.
 He cited U.S. lab experiments in which monkeys and rats given access to pure cocaine consumed it continuously until they died, as compared to animals given heroin who regulated their consumption and lived several months.
 "Free-basing is extremely efficient, massive direct delivery of cocaine," Podlewski said.

 Allen said snorting cocaine, the most common use in the United States, delivers 30 percent pure cocaine over about 10 minutes. Free-basing cocaine shoots 80 percent pure cocaine into the brain within eight seconds, he said.
 What most Americans know about free-basing cocaine probably is limited to the accounts by comedian Richard Pryor of his frequent free-basing until June 9, 1980, when a mixture of cocaine and ether ignited and set his clothes on fire. He was hospitalized seven weeks and received extensive skin grafts.
 However, drug experts in the United States say more young people are using "crack," free-base cocaine sold in vials containing crystalline "rocks" as large as small marbles. The rocks are formed from cocaine chloride mixed with sodium bicarbonate and water and then heated. A survey conducted by a cocaine hotline in New Jersey in October and November showed that 28 percent of 200 randomly selected callers were using crack.
 "The notoriety given to some of the actions that have happened has turned a lot of people off," said Special Agent Billy Yout of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration in Miami, the No. 1 U.S. distribution point for cocaine. "It is much more dangerous than (snorting)."

 Yout said free-basers have killed themselves both by overuse and by explosions. He expressed doubt that free-basing would be attractive to the "white-collar" cocaine users who can indulge in snorting in their cars or offices within seconds by dribbling cocaine powder into a rolled-up dollar bill and quickly sniffing the drug.
 Allen said in the Bahamas, usage has widened as ready-to-smoke "rocks" have become available in street sales. Bahamians use special small stone vessels, called comokes, or even soda-pop cans for free-basing, he said.
 Allen said it would be impossible to reliably estimate the number of free-basers in the archipelago, but noted that a British research yardstick indicated only one-fifth of those with such dependencies seek treatment.
 Podlewski said records kept by workers at a special cocaine hot line showed that of 500 callers who reported cocaine dependency problems, only 6 percent subsequently sought treatment.
 Once they try free-basing, some 80 percent of users will become psychologically hooked, Allen said.
 "I've seen guys do it for four days without stopping. They do it until they run out of cocaine. Their whole life is mobilized around getting more. Teenagers sell their parents' possessions. Some turn to prostitution, some to crime," he said.

 "We now believe that the cocaine interferes with the brain's pleasure centers. The addicts say that in the first free-base high, they can feel themselves rushing into paradise.
 "On the second try, he can't get the first high again, but he can see it. He gets almost there. But they quickly come down, and begin falling into cocaine depression. And that only responds to cocaine. So they have both the positive reinforcement to get high and the negative reinforcement to avoid the depression."
 Free-basers invariably focus their lives around their addiction and become paranoid, sometimes suicidal. Some experience what Allen calls "cocaine psychosis," in which inanimate objects speak to them and they become violently defensive about their habit.
 The Bahamian treatment program leans heavily on "group psychotherapy," Podlewski said. Users suffer little from physical withdrawal from cocaine, but the emotional toll is strong.

Peoria proud to be 'most average'

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Peoria is back on the list of most average cities in America, and its mayor couldn't be prouder.
 Being "most average" at anything might not get you into the Guinness Book of Records, but Dancer Fitzgerald Sample, a New York City-based advertising agency, keeps tabs on the nation's most average cities to let manufacturers know where to conduct marketing tests.

 Peoria dropped from grace two years ago, because its unemployment and cable television usage rates were higher than most cities, but it's back on the list now.

Dear Abby

New Year's resolutions are achieved one day at a time

DEAR ABBY: Last New Year's Eve you published some New Year's resolutions. I cut that column out and taped it on my bathroom mirror where I could read it every morning. I want you to know that it has helped me to become a better person.

I hope you will run it every New Year's Eve. I'm sure it will benefit many others as it has me.

NEVER TOO OLD

DEAR NEVER: The "resolutions" column has become an established annual tradition:

DEAR READERS: These New Year's resolutions are based on the original credo of Alcoholics Anonymous. I have taken the liberty of using that theme with some variations of my own:

Just for today I will live through this day only, and not set far-reaching goals to try to overcome all my problems at once. I know I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

Just for today I will be happy. Abraham Lincoln said, "Most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be." He was right. I will not dwell on thoughts that depress me. I will chase them out of my mind and replace them with happy thoughts.

Just for today I will adjust myself to what is. I will face reality. I will change those things that I can change and accept those things I cannot change.

Just for today I will improve my mind. I will not be a mental loafer. I will force myself to read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it, thereby saving myself from two pests: hurry and indecision.

Have a happy, healthy New Year. And pray for peace!

LOVE, ABBY

Nora Dawn Phillips to participate in pageant

Nora Dawn Phillips, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Phillips of Sand Springs, has been selected to compete in the 1986 West Texas Miss T.E.E.N. pageant to be held at Midland College in Midland on Jan. 11, 1986.

The pageant is a preliminary for the Texas Miss T.E.E.N. pageant to be held at Loews Anatole in Dallas over Labor Day Weekend, 1986.

Contestants between the ages of 14 and 18 must maintain a B average in school. They are required to participate in the volunteer service program of the pageant. Through this program, young women become involved in community activities by contributing at least 12 hours to some charity or civic work. According to directors of the pageant, more than 5,000 hours of volunteer service is logged each year through pageant volunteers.

Prizes the winner of the West Texas Miss T.E.E.N. pageant will receive are a $500 cash scholarship to any school, an Contestants are judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, speech or talent, interview and formal presentation with a trophy awarded to the winner in each category.

Consider the cost of convenience

COLLEGE STATION — You may be paying as much per pound for the convenience of individually packaged treats like fruit leather rolls for your child's lunch box as you would for a pound of lobster.

With consumers willing to spend more money for convenience, "added value" food products are now the biggest trend in the food industry, said Nancy Granovsky, family economics expert.

"Adding value means taking a basic food product and making it more attractive and more profitable by making the product more convenient," said Granovsky.

Frozen entrees, grocery store salad bars and frozen orange juice concentrate, pre-mixed and then sold in cartons in the dairy case, are just a few examples of added-value products, she said.

"Many consumers don't realize what they're paying for the convenience of less food preparation time, because per pound comparisons of costs are difficult to make," Granovsky said.

"You may not mind the higher prices of added-value food, if you place a high premium on your time," she said.

Dr. Donohue

Carpal tunnel syndrome may be occupational

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 31-year-old female who's been cooking professionally for 10 years. As you can imagine, my job consists of stirring, chopping, slicing, dicing, as well as handling large kitchen utensils. For about a year, I have been having on and off tingling and numbness in my right hand and fingers. Even combing my hair can make the hand go numb. Does this sound like carpal tunnel syndrome? — Mrs. L.S.

It certainly does; at least that would be an excellent avenue to explore with your doctor.

It involves a tiny hollow in the wrist, through which pass a large nerve and many tendons to serve the fingers. Under the best of circumstances it is a tight squeeze to get all these structures through. Any encroachment, like a swelling, can produce the peculiar sensations you report. If this feeling is confined to the ring finger and those toward the thumb, then carpal tunnel syndrome is even more likely. The little finger is spared, since it is served by a different nerve than the one that passes through the carpal tunnel.

Constant trauma can cause it, and for this reason it is found frequently among people like yourself, who use their hands in their work. You probably are right-handed and tend to exert that one more than the left. It's been known to happen to secretaries and to operators of vibrating equipment, like jackhammers.

If resting the hand, perhaps with special splinting, doesn't help, then surgery can relieve the tunnel pressure. Steroid injections may also help. Incidentally, another clue to carpal tunnel is appearance of pain at night, or worse pain then. It can occur to women during pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What triggers a herpes genital infection? — Mrs. C.A.

The initial (primary) herpes infection is caused by direct contact with the virus being shed by an infected partner. We cannot say, though, exactly what triggers recurrences. But the same mystery surrounds other examples of recurring viral infections — for example, the shingles virus, which is in reality a reappearance of the old chicken-pox organism.

However, for herpes, many theories have been put forth to explain recurrence. One is trauma.

Or it may be from tight underclothing or irritation from intercourse itself.

Searching for such triggering events usually is fruitless, but it is worth noting such events that may have preceded past recurrences. The booklet "Herpes: Don't Panic" discuss most of what we know about the subject. Other readers may order by writing me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.25.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My big toes freeze up whenever the weather gets below freezing. Does this indicate poor circulation or what? A more serious problem, perhaps? — J.A.E.

Poor circulation is a likely cause, but it is not the only suspect.

Some people have a certain kind of protein in their blood (cryoglobulins) that coagulate when exposed to cold. That leads to diminished circulation, particularly in the distant points of the body, like the feet.

Raynaud's disease is another possibility. In that, there is a constriction of small blood vessels followed by an expansion. It leaves the affected area red and painful. Diabetes is another possibility.

If protecting your feet (and quitting cigarettes if you are a smoker) doesn't help, then you should be examined for one of the problems I've mentioned.

Miami has shot at title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An underdog with a shot at the national title heading into the Orange Bowl two years ago, second-ranked Miami is on the other side of the fence going into Wednesday night's Sugar Bowl.

Mindful of what they did to a powerful Nebraska team in 1983, however, the Hurricanes say they won't allow the odds-makers to convince them they'll beat No. 8 Tennessee to keep their title hopes alive.

"We've done one thing really well all year," says Miami offensive tackle Ed Davis. "That's not to look past anyone. Our thoughts are centered here."

Fullback Alonzo Highsmith recalled Monday how being a heavy underdog to Nebraska motivated Miami, which won the Orange Bowl 31-30 to lay claim to its first national crown.

Tennessee probably holds some of the same feelings as this week's Sugar Bowl game approaches, he said, although the 8-1-2 Volunteers don't have a shot at finishing No. 1.

"In '83 nobody really gave us a chance in the world to win. We heard about how Nebraska was going to blow us out," Highsmith said. "I can relate to Tennessee a little bit because everybody is blowing up Miami and saying Miami this, Miami that."

The 10-1 Hurricanes are 7½-point favorites to defeat Tennessee. A victory, combined with an Oklahoma triumph over top-ranked Penn State in the Orange Bowl, could give Miami its second national title in three years.

"The underdog factor has been overplayed because Tennessee has a great football team," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said.

"When we look at Tennessee, we see a team that's playing great football," Johnson added. "We see a team that at the end of the regular season was performing as well as anybody in the country."

Tim McGee, Tennessee's star wide receiver, said he doesn't feel either team has an emotional edge. Both have plenty of incentive to win.

"It's a reality that as a team we don't have a chance to win the national championship regardless of what we do to Miami or how bad we might beat them," McGee said.

"What we can accomplish is a high preseason ranking for next year so the guys coming back don't get to work as hard as we did to get recognition and exposure," the senior wide receiver added.

"We've been overlooked by just about everybody all year, I believe," said Tennessee linebacker Kelly Ziegler, who played high school football in Miami with Hurricanes linebacker George Mira Jr.

"We really didn't get the respect we deserve in the polls until the end of the year," Ziegler added. "We have a real point to prove. Miami is going out playing for the so-called national championship, but we're going out there Wednesday and playing for some respect."

HALF A CENTURY OF CHAMPIONS

Huskies hold on to Freedom Bowl win

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Mike Marquez patiently fielded questions from still another wave of reporters, explaining how "the fumble" occurred.

"We were driving down the field, just smashing the ball down the field, and it felt really good," Marquez said softly. "Then we get down to the 2 ...

"It was very disappointing." Underdog Colorado was tantalizingly close to a go-ahead touchdown with five minutes left in the Freedom Bowl Monday night when Marquez fumbled at the Washington 2-yard line. The Huskies recovered and held on for a 20-17 victory over the Buffaloes.

"It came down to one play," said Colorado Coach Bill McCartney. "If we don't fumble, we have a great chance to win the game."

The Buffaloes coach said some of his coaches who saw the Marquez fumble from the press box thought he was down and that Colorado should have kept the ball.

Earlier in the game in a similar situation, Washington fumbled near the Colorado goal line, but the Huskies' runner was ruled down and they went on to score a touchdown.

"I found a seam and was trying to drive into the end zone," said Marquez, a sophomore who led the Colorado rushing with 80 yards on eight carries. "The ball rolled out as I was going down and they called it a fumble ... It just took everything out of me."

Earlier in the fourth quarter, Marquez dropped a sure touchdown pass when the Buffaloes trailed 20-10. But they went on to score, anyway, on a 31-yard touchdown pass from punter Barry Helton to tight end Jon Embree off a fake field goal.

"That took the pressure off me that time," Marquez said. "I was hoping we could come back and score again after the fumble."

However, the Washington defense held Colorado in check on its last two possessions to preserve the victory.

Washington Coach Don James, talking about the pivotal fumble recovered by Husky linebacker David Rill, said: "I didn't think we were going to stop them, and that would have put pressure on our offense."

Asked whether Marquez was down, James replied, "I don't know. I don't care. I won't know until I see the films."

"A lot of things went against us, too, like 13 penalties." Rill, a sophomore who was credited with 17 tackles in the contest at Anaheim Stadium, said the fumble "came at a good time."

"I was a little out of position, but Joe Kelly made a good hit, the ball popped out, and I was closest to it."

Pass-happy Florida St. romps in Gator Bowl

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden said his team was determined to come out throwing the ball in the Gator Bowl football game "whether we had a receiver or not."

As it turned out, the Seminoles had two mighty good receivers, a potent quarterback and a tackle-breaking running back. They combined to give the 18th-ranked Seminoles a 34-23 victory over 19th-ranked Oklahoma State Monday night before a crowd of 79,417.

The Seminoles, 9-3, rolled up 569 yards in total offense, with quarterback Chip Ferguson completing 20 of 43 passes for 338 yards and two touchdowns and running for another score. Tailback Tony Smith raced through the Oklahoma State defense for 201 yards on 24 carries.

"We have a pretty explosive offense if we're executing," said wide receiver Herb Gainer, who caught seven passes for 148 yards and two touchdowns.

Gainer and fellow sophomore receiver Randy White, who four passes for 87 yards, may have been the keys.

Gainer caught only four passes during the regular season, and White didn't make a single reception before the Gator Bowl. They were forced into duty because Florida State's top receiver, Hassan Jones, was suspended for selling complimentary tickets to an earlier game and the No. 2 and No. 3 receivers were hurt.

"It wasn't as tough as I thought it would be," Gainer said.

"No question, the biggest surprises were the two wide receivers, Gainer and White," Bowden said. "If they hadn't played the way they did, we couldn't have done it."

Ferguson said he had no doubts about Gainer and White.

"They just were playing behind some great players," said the freshman quarterback, who was voted most valuable player in the game. "Everybody had said we didn't have any receivers, but I had confidence in them all along. It hurt a lot not to have Hassan and Darrin (Holloman), but these guys did a great job."

The Cowboys, on the other hand, didn't do their jobs. Oklahoma State Coach Pat Jones summarized his team's performance in just two sentences.

"We didn't play good enough on offense to win in the first half," Jones said. "And in the second half, we didn't play good enough on defense to win."

The Seminoles managed 13 points — on field goals of 23 and 39 yards by Derek Schmidt and a 39-yard pass from Ferguson to Gainer — in the first half while holding the Cowboys scoreless.

And in the wild second half, Florida State had an answer to every Oklahoma State threat.

When the Cowboys got a 33-yard field goal from Brad Dennis on their first possession after halftime, the Seminoles marched 73 yards to a 3-yard touchdown run by Cletis Jones to make it 20-3.

The Cowboys appeared to be in good shape after exploding for 14 points in 1:33 late in the third quarter. Thurman Thomas ran 29 yards with a screen pass to make it 27-10 with 2:52 left and, after a fumble recovery by Harry Roberts on the third play following the kickoff, Thomas passed to quarterback Ronnie Williams on a 12-yard flea-flicker to make it 27-17 with 1:19 left in the quarter.

Florida State responded with a 55-yard drive to a 1-yard touchdown run by Ferguson to make it 34-17 with 10:43 to play.

Oklahoma State's final touchdown, a 31-yard pass from Williams to Hart Lee Dykes, came with only 10 seconds to play.

Williams had a respectable

Bears linebacker gets top award

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Singletary, the middle linebacker whose wide-ranging play is the most important element in the Chicago Bears stifling defense, was named today the NFL's defensive player of the year by The Associated Press.

Singletary was chosen over defensive end Howie Long of the Los Angeles Raiders and linebacker Andre Tippett of the New England Patriots in voting by three writers or broadcasters representing each of the NFL's 28 franchises.

"They couldn't pick a better one," said Bears Coach Mike Ditka, himself the winner of the coach of the year award after guiding Chicago to a 15-1 record this season.

Singletary, a 6-foot, 228-pounder from Baylor, was selected by the Bears in the second round of the 1981 draft, lasting that long because he was thought to be too short for an NFL linebacker.

But the Bears' defensive captain has made up for that with speed that allows him to cover from sideline-to-sideline in the Bears' "46" defense, which often leaves him alone in the middle of the field. He also makes up for it with outstanding hitting ability and rarely misses a man once he has him in his sights — he's led the team in tackles for the past three years.

"I think it's a reflection on our defensive coordinator, Buddy Ryan," Singletary said. "Everything we do as a defense reflects Buddy Ryan. He gets the game plan together. It's not designed for one particular individual to do it all."

"I'm blessed to be in the right place at the right time. Any time I receive any honors at all I look at my defensive linemen and even the defensive backs I work with. I'm grateful we work together as well as we do."

Singletary, who has played middle linebacker since high school, credited high school Coach Oliver Brown at Houston Worthing with teaching him "it's not always how big or how fast, it's the desire you have to be the best."

At Baylor, linebacker coach Corky Nelson showed me "what playing line is all about, being smart, tough and aggressive."

"He's a great example of what a football player should be," Ditka says of Singletary, whose horn-rimmed glasses make him look more like a college professor.

"He works harder than anyone we have on the team," says Ditka. "He's a joy to be around. He enjoys it and he works at it and it rubs off on the young people when he watches extra films and shows leadership in other areas."

Cowboys relaxed for Rams battle

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will field the most relaxed playoff team in their history when they collide on Saturday with the Los Angeles Rams.

The Cowboys will have every psychological advantage going for them.

—They have already won the National Conference Eastern Division, their "outstanding" goal for the 1985 season and there is little pressure to win.

—They are underdogs yet have beaten the Rams four straight times in the playoff games in California. In the other three times the teams have met in the playoffs, the Rams have won in Texas.

—The Cowboys just took a 31-16 thrashing from San Francisco. They have been blown out in two games this year, 44-0 by Chicago and 50-24 by Cincinnati, and bounced back to win both times.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he was going to just sit back and enjoy the show.

"I'm not really worried which team will show up but it should be interesting," said Landry. "You never can tell when this team is going to play good."

The Cowboys finished the regular season with a 10-6 record and the NFC East title but haven't played two solid games back-to-back.

"I can't even tell in workouts how this team is going to do," said Landry. "But I know you can't count 'em out."

"We don't have the pressure we have had in the past when we were favorites to make it to the Super Bowl."

The Cowboys were two-point underdogs to the Rams, champions of the NFC West.

Dallas' season has resembled a stock market graph.

"We have shown up poorly at times," said Landry. "We have to put two good games together in a row."

Landry said quarterback Danny White, who missed the 49er game with an assortment of injuries, should be ready for the Rams.

"I don't know if he will be 100 percent because it's hard to tell when Danny is hurting," said Landry. "But I think he will be the best he's been for sometime. He's had a tough year physically. He's been pretty beat up."

The Cowboys will fly to Anaheim Friday afternoon for Saturday's 3 p.m. CST kickoff.

Landry said the Cowboys won't be intimidated by the road game.

"We know the Rams well and scrimmage them during training camp," said Landry. "The atmosphere of Los Angeles is easier for us than anywhere else."

The last time Dallas played Los Angeles was in Anaheim Stadium in the 1984 season opener. Dallas won 20-13 as Gary Hogeboom passed for 343 yards.

Minus seven, Baylor defeats UTS, 51-50

By The Associated Press
Without their first seven players, the Baylor basketball team could hardly be called the "Bad News Bears." But they were good enough to handle Texas-San Antonio.

"This was the Baylor basketball team that played tonight," said Baylor Coach Gene Iba after Monday night's 51-50 victory over UT-San Antonio. "The faces were different, but this was still Baylor."

It was a different lineup, though, because of the suspension of many key players. The seven players, including starters Carlos Briggs and Darryl Middleton, were suspended recently after an NCAA investigation of recruiting violations under former Coach Jim Haller, who was fired last season.

Brandon Taylor scored 17 points for Baylor and the Bears withstood a strong second half by Texas-San Antonio. Baylor, 8-3, led at halftime 33-23 but was outscored 27-18 in the second half.

Top Twenty
Juden Smith scored 17 points to lead UTEP over Alabama. Smith and Alabama's leading scorer, Buck Johnson, both were ejected after a fight with seven minutes remaining in the game. Johnson, with 21 points, made the all-tournament team, however, and Smith was chosen most valuable player.

The Miners were down by as many as 20 points in the first half and trailed the Crimson Tide by 39-30 at halftime. In the second half, Texas-El Paso outscored Alabama 15-6 to even the score with 10:17 remaining. The Miners never trailed after that.

Johnny Dawkins scored 21 points and Mark Alarie added 15 to lead Duke over Northwestern. The Blue Devils took a big early lead, then survived some poor ballhandling and bad shooting in the second half to win their 11th straight game without a defeat. Duke committed 25 turnovers, most of them in the final 20 minutes.

Syracuse improved its record to 8-0 with an easy victory over outmanned C.W. Post, which didn't have a starter taller than 6-foot-6. Rafael Addison paced Syracuse with 17 points, Wendell Alexis added 15 and Howard Triche and Dwayne Washington scored 12 apiece.

The Pioneers used a scrappy, man-to-man defense and the 22 points of 6-foot-5 Glen McMillan to keep the game close until the second half.

Bruce Dalrymple scored 22 points and shut down Richmond star John Newman as Georgia Tech took an early lead and romped over Richmond.

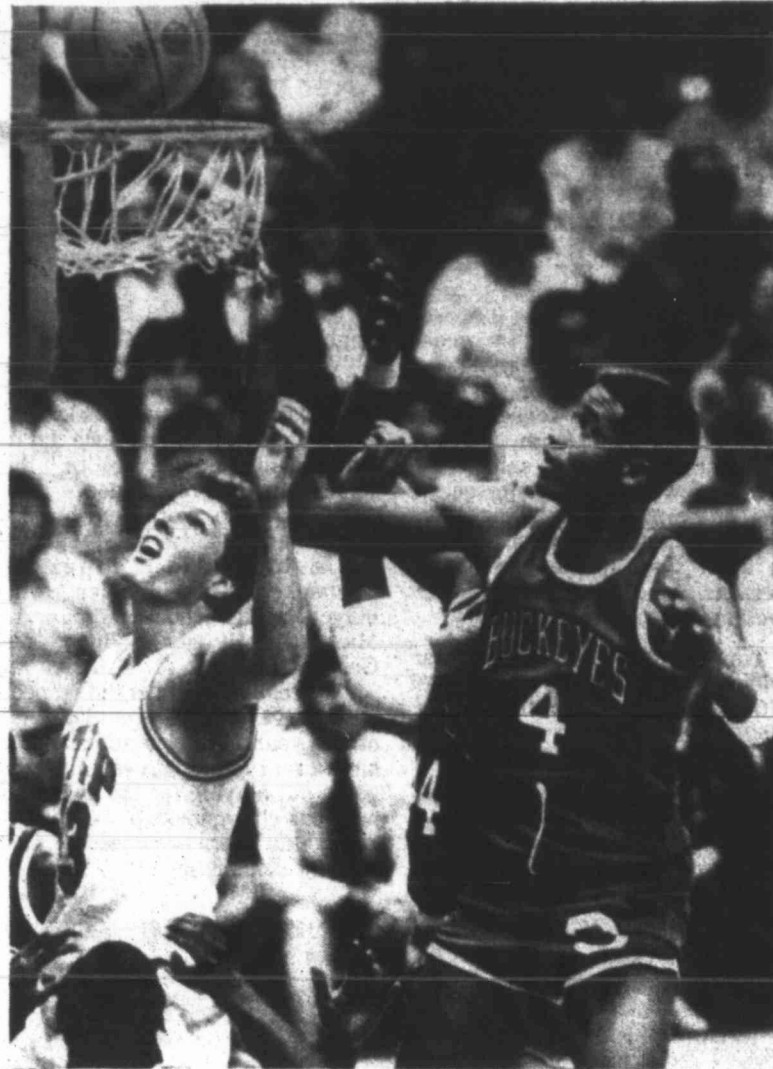

Nikita Wilson had a team-high 19 points and eight rebounds to lead Louisiana State over Oral Roberts. The victory was the 12th for the unbeaten Tigers.

Louisiana State led by as many as 23 points midway through the second half and the Titans managed to whittle that lead to 13 with just over two minutes to play.

Kenny Walker scored 18 points, mostly with outside jumpers and slam dunks, as Kentucky routed VMI. Kentucky's pressing defense forced VMI into 10 first-half turnovers and made five steals that the quicker Wildcats converted into easy layups.

The Wildcats led 39-20 at intermission, then sewed up the game at the start of the second half by outscoring VMI 19-2 in the first 6:30.

to lift Illinois over Iowa State. The Illini made good on eight of nine free-throw attempts in the final 4:35.

Wysinger's free-throw efforts overcame a strong second-half surge by the Cyclones, who trailed by one point with just 27 seconds left.

Ken Barlow scored 15 points, including his 1,000th career point, as Notre Dame defeated Creighton. The Irish led from the opening basket by Tim Kempton, who finished with nine points.

Notre Dame's balanced scoring attack included 10 points each from David Rivers, Scott Hicks and Mark Stevenson.

Cardinals interested in Stallings

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys secondary coach Gene Stallings has been interviewed for the vacant head coaching job with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Hanifan was fired just hours after the Cardinals finished the National Football League season with a 5-11 record.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said the team president Tex Schramm told him over the weekend that Stallings would be interviewed for the job.

"I think that Gene Stallings is very capable of becoming an excellent head coach," Landry said. "I am pulling for him. He would be a good head coach anywhere he goes."

"I would hate to lose him. But he's been shooting for a head coaching job for a long time. You've got to pull for your assistant coaches to become head coaches," Landry said.

Stallings confirmed his trip to St. Louis and said he is interested in the job, but wouldn't comment further on his interview, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

"All I want to do right now is get ready for the Los Angeles Rams. We've got a very big football game coming up," he said.

Stallings has been the Cowboys' secondary coach since 1973 following eight seasons as head coach at Texas A&M.

Bates finalist for Man of Year award

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Place-kickers Nick Lowery of the Kansas City Chiefs and Rich Karlis of the Denver Broncos are among five players selected as finalists for the National Football League Man of the Year award.

Officials of the Pro Football Hall of Fame announced that Eric Sievers, a tight end with the San Diego Chargers, center Dwight Stephenson of the Miami Dolphins and safety Bill Bates of the Dallas Cowboys also were nominated.

The winner of the citizenship award will be selected by a media panel and announced before the Super Bowl. He will be honored at the Pro Bowl in Honolulu on Feb. 2.

NC State gets grid coach

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dick Sheridan resigned as head football coach at Furman and signed a five-year contract to become North Carolina State's fifth football coach in 10 years.

Sheridan succeeds Tom Reed, who was the Wolfpack coach for three years.

At Furman, Sheridan compiled a 69-23-2 record, including this year's 12-2 mark. Under Sheridan, the Paladins captured five Southern Conference football titles, including a string of four league titles between 1980 and 1983.

American reaches junior tennis final

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Unseeded Melissa Hernando of Holmdel, N.J., beat second-seeded Bettina Sonneveld of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-2 to reach the final in the Girls 14 of the Rolex International Junior Championships at the Port Washington Tennis Academy.

Hernando will meet Andrea Vierira of Brazil in Tuesday's final. The South American eliminated top-seeded Carrie Cunningham of Livonia, Mich., 6-4, 7-5.

In Boys 16 semifinals, Glenn Solomon of Roslyn Heights, N.Y., outlasted Thierry Grin of Switzerland 6-7 (6-8), 7-6 (7-0), 6-4.

Little All-American team announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Calvin Addison, a freshman fullback for Pillsbury Baptist of Owatonna, Minn., the smallest four-year college in the nation, was named today to the Associated Press Little All-America team for 1985.

The 5-foot-10, 195-pound Addison, who was elected a team co-captain, rushed for 1,454 yards and scored 13 touchdowns in nine games.

Addison was joined at running back Joe Dudek of Plymouth State in New Hampshire, who rushed for 1,615 yards — a Division II record — scored 24 touchdowns in 11 games and finished ninth in the balloting for the Heisman Trophy.

Dudek broke the all-time college record with 79 career touchdowns and finished third in career rushing with 5,570 yards, trailing only Tony Dorsett and Charles White.

The Little All-America team consists of players from Divisions II and III in the NCAA and all NAIA schools.

The quarterback is Chris Hegg of Northeast Missouri State, who led the NCAA Division II in total offense with an average of 343.8 yards a game. Hegg completed 284 of 503 passes for 3,741 yards and 32 touchdowns.

One of the wide receivers is Jeff Tiefenthaler of South Dakota State, who caught 54 passes for 1,056 yards and 13 touchdowns. Tiefenthaler, a junior, set a college record by catching at least one touchdown pass in 14 consecutive games, including the first 10 this season.

The other wide receiver is Mike Healey of Valparaiso, who set a Division II record by catching 101 passes this season for 1,279 yards and 11 TDs. At tight end is Brent Jones, who led Santa Clara in receiving for the third year in a row with 44 receptions for 665 yards and became the first player in the school's history to score 200 career points.

The offensive line consists of Stan Eisenthorn, Towson State; Chuck Duffy, Clarion; Jeff Penko, Ashland, and Mark Raiff, Case Western Reserve, with Charles Smith of Texas A&I at center.

The place-kicker is Mark Foegle of Pacific Lutheran.

The defensive linemen are Ike Readon, Hampton Institute; Tim Shannon, Pacific Lutheran; Rich Thomas, Central (Iowa), and Ike Wise, California-Davis.

One of the linebackers, Frank Sheptock of Bloomsburg, made the Little All-America team for the third year in a row. The other linebackers are Phil Eiting of Wisconsin-Superior, Henry Jackson of Angelo State and Tim Torrey of Ithaca.

The deep backs are Tom Collins of Indiana Central, Keith Furr of Emory & Henry and Bruce Jones of North Alabama. The punter is Jeff Williams of Slippery Rock, who led Division II with a 43.0-yard average.

Second Team
Offense
Tight End — Dennis Thomas, South Dakota State.
Wide Receivers — Robert Clark, North Carolina Central; Wayne Ralph, Whitworth.
Linemen — Sal Cesario, Cal Poly-SLO; Ted Hall, North Dakota State; David Haubner, New Haven; Eric Masson, South Dakota; Greg Robinson, Sacramento State.
Quarterback — Scott Woolf, Mount Union.
Running Backs — Mike Oliphant, Puget Sound; Chul Schwanke, South Dakota.
Placekicker — Walter Rule, Texas A&I.
Defense
Linemen — Dan Galante, Lawrence; Lawrence Jackson, Presbyterian; Anthony Valente, Union (N.Y.); James Ward, Virginia State.
Linebackers — Jim Dick, North Dakota State; Rick Holt, Oregon Tech; Kevin Johnson, Concord; Darin Lintner, Nebraska-Omaha.
Backs — Vic Harris, Mount Union; Jerry Haslett, Clarion; Mark Long, Augustana (Ill.).
Punter — Mike Matzen, Coe.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JAN. 1, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until midafternoon, you are under unusually productive influences when it comes to making arrangements on a very exact basis. Be very careful, and you will make headway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can make great progress in whatever you are engaged in during the daytime, be it indoors or out of doors.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how to get your appearance improved and later you can enjoy the pleasures that you like the most.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to get your dwelling more charming, and everything operating efficiently there, but get at it now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get into the bustling world of activity early and make the right contacts. You can take care of transportation affairs.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Whittle down those ideas you have that are nonetheless sensible and you can add appreciably to your income.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can easily see what it is you want and go after it in a most positive and sure manner, and gain it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have very personal affairs to take care of, so put aside business matters for a while. The evening should be spent with a loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Know what it is you subconsciously desire and then contact those who can assist you to gain your aims.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) There are many duties to perform that require your full attention, so be fast and accurate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to plan an important trip wisely so that you can get the finest results from it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to get caught up on bookkeeping, make out bills and collect sums owed to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A fine day for talking over plans made with outside partners and come to a true meeting of minds.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may seem to ask too many questions before doing anything, but this is only to be sure of handling the matter wisely later. Teach early to concentrate on the big issues and the details will then fall into place. It is important that the consciousness be expanded early in life.

Without superstars, Nets down Knicks 123-111

By The Associated Press
The New Jersey Nets were the winners of the "Battle of the Missing Superstars."
With leading scorer and assist man Micheal Ray Richardson missing from action since last Friday, the Nets got good performances from backups Darwin Cook and Kelvin Ransey Monday night in a 123-111 NBA victory over New York. The Knicks were playing their third straight game without star rookie Patrick Ewing, out with a jammed knee.
"We have good guards all the way down our lineup," Nets Coach Dave Wohl said. "This is an opportunity for them to show what they can do. Kelvin has played well all year long (as the team's No. 3 guard) and Darwin's played well when he got the chance."
Cook, starting in place of the AWOL Richardson, had 14 points, nine assists, six steals and just one turnover, while Ransey was 8-for-12 from the field and scored a season-high 19 points. Darryl Dawkins led the Nets with 25 points on 11-for-13 shooting, while Buck Williams had 19 points and 13 rebounds and Mike Gminski 18 points for the Nets.

"We showed each other we can win without one of our best players," Wohl said. "It proves we can adjust, but it still hurts when you lose someone who was playing as well as 'Sugar' was."
Elsewhere, it was Indiana 97, Washington 90, Chicago 121, Cleveland 117, Milwaukee 121, Detroit 110, Denver 125, Houston 122, Utah 107, Seattle 105, Boston 125, Los Angeles Clippers 103, Portland 125, San Antonio 110; and Philadelphia 87, Sacramento 84.
Dawkins, who had 17 points in the second half, had five during an 11-5 streak late in the third quarter that turned a 77-76 deficit into an 87-82 lead. The Nets then took control with a 12-3 streak at the start of the fourth period that made it 99-85.
Wohl said Ewing's absence prompted him to go inside early in the game "and then when we broke away in the third and fourth quarters, we worked well inside and outside."

"Darryl, Buck and Mike were going so good, it opened things up," Wohl said. "And tonight, I was hitting my outside jumper."
"Whether 'Sugar' is here or not, I've just got to get out and play," Cook said. "And when you go against the Knicks, you've got to go right at them. And that's what I tried to do."
James Bailey, subbing for the 7-foot Ewing, had 18 points and 10 rebounds, both season highs, but could not match Ewing's prowess defensively.
"We definitely miss Patrick," said guard Trent Tucker, who led the Knicks with 25 points. "He's an intimidating force out there."
New Jersey tallied the most points that have been scored against the Knicks this season, eclipsing the previous mark of 115 by the Philadelphia 76ers on Nov. 30. New York leads the NBA in fewest points allowed, with an average of less than 100 points per game.

Nuggets 125, Rockets 122
Denver moved within one-half game of Midwest Division leader Houston as Alex English scored 42 points.
English, who scored 54 points the last time the Rockets visited Denver, scored 12 points in the fourth period to help keep the Nuggets in front.
Houston, which was led by Akeem Oluajwon's 24 points, led by as many as nine points in the first half.
Bucks 121, Pistons 110
Milwaukee handed Detroit its eighth loss in the last nine games as Sidney Moncrief scored 21 points to help the Bucks take a big lead in the first quarter.
Milwaukee outscored the Pistons 42-25 in the opening period and expanded the margin to 104-79 with 10:11 left before Detroit made the final score respectable.
Celtics 125, Clippers 103
Kevin McHale had 22 points and 18 rebounds and Larry Bird 21 points for Boston, which jumped ahead of Los Angeles 22-6 and stayed in control the rest of the game.

Trail Blazers 125, Spurs 110
Portland sixth man Clyde Drexler had 23 points, 15 rebounds and 11 assists, while Mychal Thompson scored a season-high 30 points as Portland snapped San Antonio's five-game winning streak.
Pacers 97, Bullets 80
Indiana, the league's worst team at 9-21, won for just the second time in 15 road games this season as Herb Williams scored a career-high 38 points against Washington.
The Bullets were missing five players — Jeff Ruland, Frank Johnson, Gus Williams, Kenny Green and Darren Daye — sidelined by injuries or illness.
Jazz 107, SuperSonics 105
Adrian Dantley scored 33 points and John Stockton put Utah ahead to stay against Seattle with a field goal in the final minute.
Karl Malone added a free throw with five seconds left for the Jazz, but he missed his second shot, giving the SuperSonics a final chance to tie or win. But Jack Sikma bobbed the inbound pass and missed a desperation shot at the buzzer.

Bulls 121, Cavaliers 117
George Gervin scored 31 points and two baskets by Dave Corzine helped Chicago overcome a Cleveland lead late in the game.
The Bulls turned a 111-106 deficit into a 113-111 lead with 4:12 left, but the Cavaliers came back to go ahead 117-116 with 1:46 left on a dunk by Mel Turpin. Corzine then hit a short jumper at the 1:30 mark and a layup 40 seconds later to give Chicago a 120-117 edge.
76ers 87, Kings 84
Bobby Jones scored all seven of his points in the final 1½ minutes to lift Philadelphia over Sacramento, which lost its fifth straight game.
The Kings led by 12 points midway through the fourth quarter before Charles Barkley, who led all scorers with 26 points, scored 10 consecutive points. Barkley finished with five slam dunks.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Crystal-Vend has good-tasting water

PURE — It's easy to use the Crystal-Vend machines. Pure water is available at 25 cents a gallon through the water vending machines at Safeway and Newsom's.

Crystal-Vend brings crystal clear drinking water and purified, mineral-free water right to your container at only a fraction of the cost of other bottled water.
With the price of delivered bottled water going up due to sky-rocketing fuel and labor costs, the Crystal-Vend machine bypasses those expenses. It offers good-tasting drinking water, as well as purified water for distilled water needs, at 25 cents a gallon.
The processing system within the Crystal-Vend machine eliminates sediments and water cloud, and dissolves chlorine, metallic salts and organic impurities. It also is designed to statically control bacteria.

The drinking water is ideal for cooking, coffee, tea, ice, fruit juices and aquariums, and it contains a trace of minerals for taste. However, the purified water is 99.9 percent mineral free and suitable for distilled water uses, such as steam irons, car batteries, photography and potted plants. It also is ideal for low sodium diets advised by doctors.
Not only is Crystal-Vend the best buy for your dollar, it also is the most convenient selection. Crystal-Vend machines are at three locations in Big Spring: Don Newsom's Food Center at 1910 Gregg, Safeway at 1300 Gregg, and Safeway at College Park Shopping Center. That means that you don't have to wait on a home delivery. All you have to do is take your container by one of the locations and fill up at the coin-operated machine. Big users can fill five-gallon bottles, while small users have the option of getting as little as one gallon.

Crystal-Vend water exceeds all federal, state and county drinking water standards. The machine will turn on the sold-out light and refund your money if the high purity standards are not met by the purification system contained within the machine.

Try Crystal-Vend for 25 cents a gallon. If you have any questions, give Ken Martin at call at (915) 682-3781 in Midland.
