Big Spring's only New Year's baby made an appearance late in the day Jan. 1.

The baby girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Balderas of 1301 Park, was born at 4:43 p.m. Wednesday, nearly 17 hours after the new year began, said a hospital spokesman.

The five-pound, 10-ounce girl, delivered by Dr. Mel Porter at Malone-Hogan Hospital, has not been named, the spokesman said this morning.

No other babies were born at Malone-Hogan or Hall-Bennett Hospital, spokesmen from both hospitals said.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the two years since the breakup of "Ma Bell," the quality of telephone service has remained steady, in the opinion of a majority of Americans responding to a Media General-Associated Press poll. There is also optimism that telephone service will improve soon.

Nevertheless, the poll found little public support for the breakup of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which created seven regional telephone companies and threw open the door to long-distance competition. Only one-quarter of the 1,462 respondents in the nationwide telephone poll thought the breakup

Six in 10 respondents said they more frequently than was longfelt they were paying more for telephone service now than they did before the AT&T breakup in January 1984. Three percent said they thought prices declined, and 28 percent said they thought prices remained the same. The rest were

Poll shows phone service unvaried

But most people did not think the breakup of AT&T resulted in a great change in service, the poll found. About two-thirds of the respondents said the quality of local and long-distance service was the same as before the breakup.

Among those who reported a change in quality, most said service had declined. Local service was cited for declining quality distance service When asked, "Do you think the quality of telephone service will improve, decline or stay the same in the next 10 years," 52 percent said it would improve, 18 percent said it would decline and 17 percent said it would stay the same. The rest were unsure.

Three-quarters of the respondents said they still used AT&T for long-distance calls. The nearest competitors were MCI with 6 percent and GTE-Sprint with 5 percent.

Seven in 10 AT&T customers reported no change in the quality of long-distance service since the breakup, while only half of MCI and GTE customers said quality was the same.

Customers of the new telephone companies were more than twice as likely as AT&T customers to say that service had improved since the breakup. On the other hand, 19 percent of MCI customers and 16 percent of GTE customers said service had declined, compared to 11 percent of AT&T customers who reported deteriorating service.

The Bell System was broken up as part of the settlement of the Justice Department antitrust suit against AT&T. In that split, AT&T retained its long-distance operations and communications equipment business while spinning off its Oliver earned a reputation as an exceptional actor, playing a variety of roles on Broadway after emerging from middle-class roots in Red Bank, N.J. In messages that were taped last week and televised in both countries Wednesday in an unprecedented exchange, both leaders referred to their summit talks in Geneva on arms control, but politely held fast to the positions they have taken on the U.S. plan for the "Star Wars" anti-missile defense system.

"It's my hope that one day we will be able to eliminate (nuclear) weapons altogether and rely increasingly for our security on defense systems that threaten no one," Reagan said in his address.

"Both the United States and the Soviet Union are doing research on the possibilities of applying new technologies to the cause of defense. If these technologies become a reality, it is my dream that it will one day free us all from the threat of nuclear Gorbachev also spoke of the danger of escalating the arms race, saying, "It is a reality of today's world that it is senseless to seek greater security for oneself through new types of weapons.

Star Wars has been a sticking point in the U.S. Soviet arms control talks. The Soviets insist on a ban on such plans and the United States says the program answers similar Soviet research.

"It is the forceful and compelling demand of life itself that we should follow the path of cutting back nuclear arsenals and keeping outer space peaceful," Gorbachev said.

The messages were televised simultaneously at 1 p.m. EST in the United States on all the major commercial television networks and at 9 p.m. Moscow time in the Soviet Union. Each talk lasted about five minutes and each leader spoke in his native language in telecasts that featured simultaneous translations.

Khadafy warns of war

TRIPOLI, Libya — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafv, who has been accused of harboring a terrorist group blamed for attacks on Rome and Vienna airports, said retaliation against Libya would lead to war in the Mediterranean and attacks on the United States and Israel.

Libya has taken on the responsibility of defending Palestinians in Libya, and "if an assault was launched against them in Libya, then we will chase Americans in the streets of America and the Israelis in the streets of occupied Palestine," JANA, the official Libyan news agency, quoted him as saying Wednesday.

PLO swears by sword

AMMAN, Jordan - A top PLO official, addressing a rally to mark the 21st anniversary of armed resistance to Israel, said Palestinians must continue military activities as their "sole means of liberation," but not abandon political efforts.

Hani al-Hassan, a top political adviser to Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat, on Wednesday also urged dissident PLO groups to reunite with the group's mainstream.

Plane crsash kills ten

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile - A chartered twin-engine plane crashed while trying to land at a fog-covered Antarctic air base, killing its two-man Chilean crew and eight American globetrotters headed for a New Year's Eve barbeque, authorities said.

Felipe Molina, a spokesman for the Aeropetrel charter company, said Wednesday in Punta Arenas that Chilean air force pilots found 10 bodies in the wreckage of their Cessna Titan 404 plane six miles from the Lt. Marsh Air Base on King George Island.

Departing Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckier admits that her agency's stalled three-year campaign to review Social Security disability cases has hurt many innocent people. But the plan to resume reviews this month has insufficient safeguards against further insensitivity. Lawmakers should ensure that the agency acts fairly.

When congress first ordered reviews of disability benefits in 1990, it foresaw a systematic venture to detect and purge cheaters. But the Reagan administration seized upon that order as an excuse to indiscriminately pare the program's $18

For many of the nation's handicapped, the result was sudden destitution: From March 1981 to June 1984, 491,000 recipients were declared able to work and tossed from the disability rolls. Those speedy reviews, condemned as "capricious" by District Judge Earl Larson of Minnesota, produced an astonishing error rate: Of those who appealed, 291,000 won reinstatement of benefits. But many others who lost benefits - especially the mentally ill or retarded - were too impaired to challenge the bureaucracy.

The hit-or-miss fraud detection unleashed a national outcry, which prompted the government to suspend its programs last year and Congress to tighten the review process. The new law requires face-to-face interviews with disability recipients and demands proof of medical improvement before disability benefit checks can be cut off. It assures continued disability payments during appeal of a benefit-cutoff decision.

The administration's promise to heed the law in resuming reviews is heartening. But many disabled Americans remain understandably skeptical. They argue that Scrooge-like administrators can subvert even a sensible process. They worry that recipients will face hasty reviews, unjustified cutoffs and months of wrangling.

Contributing to their distrust is a misguided administration policy: In defiance of congressional orders, it prohibits state agencies from applying appellate rulings in making decisions on initial disability claims and appeals.

Tracking down malingerers does not require abandoning compassion for the truly disabled. The administration can fulfill its task by conducting reviews according to Congress' instructions. If the administration falters, Congress should intervene.

Is Vietnamese crime wave a normal result of immigration?

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - Criminal activity in Vietnamese-American communities is thriving. Law-enforcement agencies glumly agree about that. As we've reported, organized gangs of Vietnamese re operating in as many as 13 states

But what the frustrated authorities can't agree on is the source of the crime wave. Is it a communist plot, or merely what could have been expected when a wave of refugees swept into this country during and after the Vietnam War?

Clearly, some of the refugees were less than upright pillars of the community back in Vietnam. The "Hanoi mastermind" theory was laid out in a recent report by William Cassidy, a former U.S. consultant, at a private conference of law-enforcement officers in Houston. It provided some startling, if anecdotal, evidence that extortions and murders in Vietnamese communities in the United States are sometimes instigated, or at least encouraged, by communist agents sent here by Hanoi.

The analysis was reviewed by our associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg. Its basic claim is that "agents provocateurs" have infiltrated anticommunist Vietnamese groups and fomented violence against known communists. The point of this bizarre activity is to discredit the anticommunist groups and thus create favorable propaganda for the Hanoi regime.

The communists' ultimate goal in this Byzantine game, according to Cassidy, is to force the United States into renewing diplomatic relations, which would eventually increase the flow of Yankee dollars from an illegal trickle into a legal flood

The intelligence expert believes there will be a growing problem of Hanoi-orchestrated crime in this country, "particularly in organized vice, currency operations, and the growth of small, highly mobile, violent gangs.

As one example of communist-controlled criminal activity, Cassidy cited his investigation of a Vietnamese family's gold and jewelry association in Southern California. He said the family was 'planted" there by Hanoi to send cash and gold bullion back to Vietnam using a network of jewelry shops as a cover

In addition, large amounts of credit were extended to Vietnamese wives of Americans with the idea that they could be blackmailed into passing sensitive information to Hanoi - which would presumably pass any worthwhile intelligence on to Moscow.

But another view of Vietnamese-American crime is offered by the FBI. The bureau attributes the crime wave, not to Hanoi skullduggery, but to refugees who were criminals before they came here from South Vietnam

The President's Commission on Organized Crime disclosed that many Vietnamese criminals sneaked into the United States using names of dead persons who had no criminal records. "These criminals were involved in narcotics trafficking, extortion and prostitution activities in Vietnam," a commission document reported. Once they made it through the refugee camps, they emerged as practitioners of the same kind of illicit, violent activity that was their trademark on the streets of Saigon.

The Rim We must fight fire with fire

By SPENCER SANDOW In spite of President Reagan's get-tough attitude toward terrorism, experts say the world can expect an increase in terrorist attacks on innocent bystanders like the recent attacks that killed 18 people in Rome and Vienna. Palestinian extremists have made a calculated return to the spectacular terror tactics of the 1970s because they are experiencing morale problems, the Associated Press quoted terrorism analyst Brian Jenkins as saying. The change in tactics is testimony to Israel's El Al airlines' success in preventing airline hijackings. Other airlines should take their cue from El Al, which hasn't had a hijacking since 1968.

But Reagan's policy of "swift and sure retribution" against terrorism is easier said than done. Terrorists are so few in number that they are hard to find and catch, Jenkins explained. It doesn't take much of an infrastructure to mount a terrorist campaign, he said.

A possible solution to the terrorist problem would be an American organization of secret assassins to kill known terrorists.

Unlike present policy, terrorist leaders should be the target. Those that actually set the bombs and hijack the planes and ships are only cannon fodder to fuel the terrorist machine. To their leaders, they are expendable

The assassination tactic would help deprive terrorist organizations of top leadership and give the U.S. a reputation as a country to reckon with.

In addition, the U.S. should get tough with Libya and other countries who help terrorists. Tactics like boycotting the Olympics, which the U.S. practiced in 1980 to protest the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, aren't tough enough. U.S. and Cuba: 25 years of bad blood

By GEORGE GEDDA

WASHINGTON (AP) - Twenty-five years ago - on Jan. 3, 1961 - the United States and Cuba, after a prolonged period of threats, insults, embargoes, harassment, intrigue and reprisals, broke diplomatic relations.

At the time, the rupture between long-time friends was expected to be short-lived. It has not turned out that way. A generation later, the hostility between the two countries appears unshakable. The areas of common ground are few. Each side views the other as being irretrievably expansionistic

The end to almost 60 years of Cuban-American diplomatic ties came on the first working day of 1961, as an old president prepared to retire and the country was ready to inaugurate a new president, John F. Kennedy, and a new era.

The break came just two years after Fidel Castro and his Sierra Maestra guerrilla band overthrew the military dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. It was precipitated by Castro's demand that the United States reduce its diplomatic mission in Cuba from 87 to 11. Prime Minister Castro contended the embassy was a nest of spies from the FBI and the Pentagon.

For outgoing President Dwight Eisenhower, 'I've never hesitated to that was the last straw cooperate with you before, Ronnie.

There is a limit to what the United States in self-respect can endure," he said, adding that it was his "hope and conviction" that the two neighbors could resume normal relations program. But when the next Com-

But soon the relationship became even more tendentious. In April, a band of CIA-trained and -financed Cuban exiles invaded Cuba at the Bay of Pigs and were dealt an ignoble defeat, an event that, more than any other, ensured Castro was there to stay. By December 1961, he felt secure enough to disclose publicly that he was indeed, despite his prior denials, a lifelong Marxist-Leninist.

In Washington's view, Cuba is a vassal state, a one-time economic showcase that is now an economic pigmy, kept afloat only with the help of more than $4 billion annually in Soviet aid. Bolstered by a nationwide system of informers, the revolution ruthlessly suppresses all forms of dissent or independent

In Cuba's view, the United States directs most of the evil in the world and is a greedy, corrupt, crime-ridden, disease-infested, drugplagued society. In contrast to the prerevolutionary period, Cuba sees itself as a country which boasts no unemployment, exports doctors and teachers and has achieved a degree of social well-being unmatched in the When talking about each other's country,

Reagan and Castro avoid ambiguities:

Reagan: "Don't let anyone fool you; what's happening in Cuba is not a failure of the Cuban people. It's the failure of Fidel Castro and of communism. Castro: "Ninety miles from the United States, after years of imperialist hostility and years of a ferocious economic blockade, (Cuba) has defended itself, fulfilling Leninist principles. Reagan: "(Cuba) is a new fascist regime where freedom of speech and press of every opposition group has been stamped into the ground with ideological zeal." Castro: "They have a hatred toward us that I don't know how to explain. It is an obsessive hatred towards Cuba. We feel proud of that hatred. Over the years, there have been attempts at accommodation, particularly in 1977, the first year of the Carter administration, when the two countries agreed to open small diplomatic missions - but not embassies - for the time since relations were broken. That arrangement remains in effect.

But a year-by-year rundown over the past decade suggests the relationship has been under almost continung strain: • 1975: Cuba sends troops to Angola.

• 1976: Cuba blames CIA for the shooting down of a Cuban civilian airliner over the Caribbean.

• 1977: Cuba dispatches troops to Ethiopia. • 1978: President Carter accuses Cuba of supporting separatist uprising in Zaire.

• 1979: The United States "discovers" Soviet brigade in Cuba, only to find it had been there all along.

• 1980: More than 120,000 Cubans, including "undesireables," come to Florida aboard the Mariel boat lift

• 1981: U.S. threatens military action against Cuba in retaliation for Cuban involvement in Central America. • 1982: U.S. claims Soviet arms shipments to Cuba reach record levels.

• 1983: Congress approves Radio Marti, a new broadcast service to Cuba • 1984: U.S.-Cuban immigration pact reached but Cuba scraps it after five months. • 1985: Castro campaigns for Latin America to repudiate its debts, owed mostly to U.S. banks.

Most of these episodes, of course, were mere dustups compared with the Cuban missilecrisis of 1962, when the United States and the Soviet Union went to the brink of a nuclear exchange over the presence of Soviet offensive? missiles in Cuba

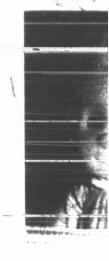

The relationship had been on a long downhill slide over the previous year

U.S.-Cuban trades which at one point had reached $800 million a year, virtually ended when the United States suspended sugar purchases in July 1960 and then cut off most exports to Cuba three months later

Cuba, meanwhile, strengthened its ties to communist countries, agreeing to major sugar deals with the Soviet Union and China. It also seized, without compensation, virtually all U.S. private business holdings in Cuba, valued at $1 billion.

At the end of 1960, Cuba mobilized its militia, warning that a U.S. invasion of the island was imminent. On the day the break in relations was announced, Cuba was preparing to take its case against the United States to the United Nations

Dr. Donohue

Is dad's family history important?

Dear Dr. Donohne: I think you may say this is silly, but I wonder about heredity on my father's side making me more likely to get breast cancer myself. I'm not talking about him, although I know men can get breast cancer. I am talking about the fact that his sister and his own mother had it. My mother is healthy and none of her family had it. Mother says she never heard of heredity from the man's side. I just thought I'd ask. - Mrs. W.I.L

An inherited tendency to breast cancer development can be passed on from the father's side of the family if it has occurred in female relatives. This seems to be more significant if those relatives had breast cancer at an early age and in both breasts.

Your question, you see, is not at all silly. But you should not become obsessed with this thought. Inheritance is but one of many factors leading to breast cancer. It is one of those things to mention to your doctor, especially when he is checking you for breast lumps that seem suspicious. It helps him evaluate things. And this family tendency should be further motivation for you to take all the precautions and willing all the imp opportunities you have and which all women should take advantage of anyway

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have picked up a yeast infection (vaginal), It is candida type. My doctor says it is not necessarily caused by sexual intercourse. I don't have to tell you that I am not that kind of a girl. I am 62, and remain a widow lady of high morals. How can one get yeast infection without having sexual intercourse? - Mrs. M.S.F.

The fact is that most such yeast infections are not venereal in origin. Candida is often found as part of the microbial population of the normal membranes. It's overgrowth of the yeast that spells

Here's how that overgrowth can occur: Wearing tight-fitting undergarments, especially those of synthetic fiber, can set up the environment for vaginal yeast growth. Antibodies taken over a ng period of time can hill off other organisms and leave space for unhealthy yeast overgrowth. Uncontrolled high blood sugar can lead to it. I have not the slightest doubt as to your high moral standards. What are doing for the candida? The booklet "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment" might offer some hints about this problem. Other readers can obtain a copy by writing me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain the ESR test and why it is done for people with rheumatoid

The initials are for erythrocyte sedimentation rate (ESR). To perform this test the doctor needs blood taken from the patient's veins and a calibrated, fluid-filled tube. When the blood is placed in this tube, the erythrocytes (red cells, and filled parts of the blood separate — like cream from milk, if you will. Then the red cells begin to descend. The faster that descent the greater the inflammation in the body. Inflammation is the hallmark of rheumatoid arthritis activity. It's what causes the pain.

When first treating a patient for arthritis, an initial ESR level can serve as a sort of baseline for further tests. And additional readings that show a lowering of the red blood cell descent rate may indicate success in controlling the joint inflammation. The test is also valuable as an indicator of illnesses other than rheumatoid ar-

DEAR ABBY: I have had it! For the last six years my husband and I have had a cocktail party on Christmas Day for our neighbors and close friends. We have an open bar and a beautiful buffet, which is quite expensive.

Here's my problem: One couple (man and wife) arrive early and gorge themselves at the buffet table. They eat so much and so fast, little is left for the other guests. Honestly, Abby, between them they polish off over half of a special meat dish that most guests have complimented me on. After they have sated themselves, the husband concentrates on our

The other guests have noticed how piggish they are, and my husband said he has had these pigs at our parties for the last time. But how can we avoid having them? They are very close neighbors, and it would be awkward to exclude

If we don't invite them, they are brassy enough to come uninvited when they see all the neighbors going into our house. Any suggestions?

ANGUISHED IN ARIZONA DEAR ABGUISHED: Inviting people you do not want in order to avoid awkwardness" is a cop-out. Do not invite them. And if they come anyway and proceed to attack your buffet, sidle up to them, and whisper with a wink and a smile. "Whoa! Save a little for someone else!" DALLAS (AP) — Texas A&M's tenacious defense stopped Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson cold on two critical fourth down wine New Year's Day and quarterback Kevin Murray passed for a record 292 yards to carry the Aggies to a 36-16 victory over Auburn's Tigers in the 50th Cotton Bowl Classic

The 11th-ranked Aggies, making their first appearance in the game in 18 years as the Southwest Conference champion, finished the season 10-2. The 16th-ranked Tigers, fifth-place finishers in the Southeast Conference and making their first Cotton Bowl appearance, were 8-4.

and shredded the Aggles' defense for 129 yards on a record 31 rushes. But it was two fourth-down runs he couldn't convert that turned the game around.

Linebacker Larry Kelm tackled Jackson for a yard loss on fourthand-2 at the A&M 3-yard line early in the fourth period with the Aggies leading 21-16.

Cornerback Wayne Asberry did it again for the Aggies on fourthand-2 at the A&M 27 with five minutes to go.

Murray then completed a 9-yard touchdown pass to Keith Woodside. The old Cotton Bowl record of 231 passing yards belonged to Joe

Theismann, who played here for Notre Dame in 1970

The Aggies scored on Andrew Toney's 1-yard run with three seconds to play after an interception.

Jackson, showing his Hetsman credentials early, scored the first time he touched the football, on a 5-vard run in the first quarter. The Aggies charged back to take a 12-7 lead on touchdown runs of 11 yards by freshman Harry Johnson and 22 yards by sophomore Woodside. But Jackson showed he can catch

Bo stopped in final quarter

DALLAS (AP) - Texas A&M did something in the 50th Cotton Bowl Classic on New Year's Day that no bowl team had ever done to Auburn's Heisman Stop him in the fourth period.

The tenacious Aggie defense frustrated Jackson twice on vital fourth-down plays, then ex-ploded for a 36-16 victory over the Tigers.

"We stopped Bo when we had to," said Texas A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill. "Those two fourth-down plays were the Jackson was stopped at the A&M 3-yard line and the 27-yard line on fourth-and-2 plays. "The fourth down on the goal and the fourth down at midfield were the two big plays without a doubt," said Sherrill

He added "I've been around a lot of teams but I've never been around a team that has given so much of themselves to make something happen.'

Auburn had a first-and-goal from the Aggies 6-yard line but Jackson failed in four tries.

"The coaches felt we could run right at them," said Jackson. "We did and they stopped us."

Aggies quarterback Kevin Murray provided the offensive punch with a Cotton Bowl record 292 yards passing.

The victory was a sweet one for Sherrill, who played linebacker under Dye, an assistant coach at Alabama in 1965.

Sooners stake claim to number one crown

MIAMI (AP) — Oklahoma ended Penn State's dream of a perfect season and any debate over who's No. 1 in college football Wednesday

The third-ranked Sooners, behind a 71-yard pass play from freshman quarterback Jamelle Holieway to tight end Keith Jackson and a defense that forced five turnovers, beat the No. 1 Nittany Lions 25-10 in the Orange

What threatened to be a hectic national championship bowl day instead apparently became a foregone conclusion since secondranked Miami lost to Tennessee 35-7 in the Sugar Bowl and No. 4 Iowa fell to UCLA 45-28 in the Rose

That left Oklahoma as the apparent national champion more than four months after the Sooners were ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press' preseason poll.

"Who else could you vote for now?" Penn State Coach Joe Paterno said after bringing an unbeaten team to the Orange Bowl for the fourth time and suffering his first setback. "I think they're the best team in the country. They're certainly the best team we played this year.'

argue. "We beat the second-best team in the country," Switzer said. "There's no way a national championship is going to come easy. You just don't expect that. You have to beat a great football team to win the national championship, and we did tonight.'

The AP will announce the national champion at 6:30 p.m. EST Thursday. Oklahoma and Penn State finished 11-1, Miami and Iowa

Oklahoma's victory didn't come easy against a Penn State club that was a one-touchdown underdog despite its perfect record and No. 1 ranking. After being held to 31 rushing yards in the first half, even though they led 16-10 at the intermission, Oklahoma finished with 228, 107 below its average and much of that thanks to sophomore fullback Lydell Carr's insurance 61-yard touchdown run with 1:42 left to play.

The Sooners' only other touchdown came on the 71-yard pass play from Holieway to Jackson, giving them a 10-7 lead early in the second period.

Junior placekicker Tim Lashar provided the other Oklahoma Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, points with an Orange Bowl-record who won national championships in four field goals. Ironically, he muf-1974 and 1975, wasn't about to fed the extra point try following

Sugar turns sour for Hurricanes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The spotlight doesn't fall often in the defensive trenches of college football, but that's where it land ed when Tennessee tripped Miami 35-7 in the Sugar Bowl.

The Volunteers spoiled second-ranked Miami's hopes for a national championship Wednesday night by intercepting four Hurricane passes and causing five fumbles, two of which resulted in Tennessee turnovers In addition, blitzing Vol

After the game, Tennessee Coach Johnny Majors told reporters they should ask defensive coordinator Ken Donahue how Tennessee's quick but small defense held potent Miami scoreless for the final three periods

Tennessee blitzed throughout the game and twice tried to block Miami punts, one of which resulted in a roughing the kicker call and the other that sprang Hurricane Melvin Bratton for 25 yards on a fake punt.

Junior linebacker Dale Jones who sacked Testaverde for losses of 21 and 17 yards, said the rest of the country may have been suprised by the margin of Tennessee's victory, but not Vol fans whose cheering turned the Superdome into a home field for their team.

Richard Cooper, who at 6-6, 272-pounds is the biggest player in Tennessee's defensive front.

batted down two Testaverde passes at the line of scrimmage. Safety Chris White grabbed his 10th interception, returning a Testaverde pass 68 yards to adversity caused when it had to Younger Morris leads Michigan in Fiesta

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) -Michigan tailback Jamie Morris got some good advice from his big brother and a little motivation from Coach Bo

Schembechler It was all the 5-foot-7 170-pound sophomore needed Wednesday to lead the Wolverines to a 27-23 victory over Nebraska in the Sunkist

Fiesta Bowl. Morris rushed for 156 yards on 22 carries and caught two passes for another 10 yards as the fifthranked Wolverines came back to beat the seventh-ranked Cornhuskers.

Morris' older brother, Joe, gained 141 yards in leading the New York Giants to a National Football League playoff victory over the San Francisco 49ers last Sunday.

"I chided Jamie before the game," Schembechler said. "I told him that his brother was able to get 140-some yards in a playoff game and I assumed he'd do the same thing for us. He had a great game. Jamie really played his heart out." Morris churned out 88 of those yards in the third quarter as Michigan took advantage of three Cornhusker turnovers and a blocked punt. The Wolverines scored 24 points in the quarter to wipe out a 14-3 halftime deficit.

Coach Bo felt we could move the ball against them," Morris said. "He said we just had to go out an play like Michigan."

"He said just go out there and run like a man possessed," Morris said. "In the second half, I just blanked everything out of my head.

"It was time for somebody to make a move and I wanted to take a little pressure off (quarterback) Jimmy Harbaugh.

Harbaugh, the 6-3, 204-pound senior who has a year of eligibility remaining, said Morris saved the game. "You can't say enough about Jamie Morris," Harbaugh said. "I love him. He's a great competitor. He was the difference in this game today. It marked the third time this season that Morris, who was voted the game's outstanding offensive player by writers and broadcasters, has gained over 100 yards

Ball helps UCLA bowl over lowa

Ball thought he had cost UCLA a chance to play in the Rose Bowl game 51/2 weeks ago. The freshman Iowa. running back and his team got a reprieve, however, and both made the most of it.

"I couldn't even think straight after the USC game," Ball said Wednesday after coming off the bench to lead the 13th-ranked Bruins to a stunning 45-28 upset victory over fourth-ranked Iowa in the 72nd Rose Bowl football game.

"I felt like I was responsible for us not going to the Rose Bowl," Bell said

UCLA led crosstown rival Southern California 13-10 early in the fourth quarter on Nov. 23 when Ball lost a fumble at the Trojan 1-yard line on a first-and-goal situation. Southern Cal went on to upset the Bruins 17-13, but UCLA won the Rose Bowl bid anyway when Arizona knocked Arizona State out of the Pac-10 lead.

"When I heard Arizona won, I felt quite a relief," Ball said after gaining 227 yards on 22 carries and scoring four touchdowns against Iowa, which brought the nation's fifth-stingiest defense into the game.

It was second-best rushing total in Rose Bowl history, trailing only the 247 yards by USC's Charles White in the 1980 game.

Green spent much of the season on the sidelines after spraining a knee ligament practicing for UCLA's second game of the season. The following Saturday, Ball made his first collegiate start and scored four touchdowns against San Diego

Another UCLA second-stringer who got an opportunity for stardom and made the most of it Wednesday was junior quarterback Matt Stevens, who played in place of senior starter David Norrie.

Norrie saw action briefly in the game's final minutes. He had suffered an injury to his right thigh in practice a couple of weeks ago.

"Matt did a great job out there, Norrie said. "I knew he would. If there's ever been a game player, it's Matt. He had a great game.

Norrie admitted some disappointment in not getting to play before the issue was settled, but added, "I knew it wouldn't have been 100 percent David Norrie out there, or anywhere close. The coaches made the right decision.'

Sox's Veeck dead at 71

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck, the colorful former owner of the Chicago White Sox, died today in Illinois Masonic Medical Center. He was 71.

Veeck had entered the hospital Monday after suffering from shortness of breath. He had undergone surgery in October 1984 for removal of a lung tumor.

Veeck, a former heavy cigarette smoker who lost his right leg as a Marine in World War II, began his career as a vendor with the Chicago Cubs, was an official of the club, then went on to operate the St. Louis Browns, Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox twice.

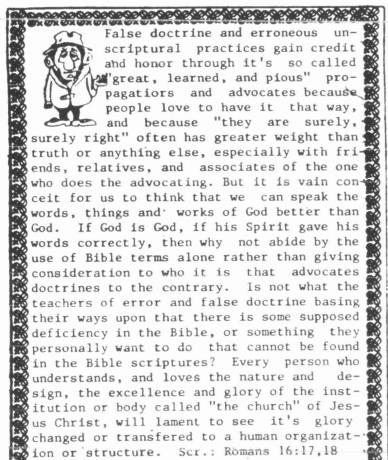

He was credited with bringing to baseball the exploding scoreboard, clowns, midgets, ethnic nights and giveaways.

Veeck never wore a tie or a coat and there never was a dull moment with him around. Anything for fun and laughs, that was the flamboyant Veeck's style.

He came in a gregarious, hoarse laugh, coarsened by his love of beer and cigarettes. But he lived much of his life in physical pain.

It was fitting that he titled his well-known book, "Veeck, As In Wreck." He had a pegleg, the result of the World War II mishap, and he used it for an ashtray before he reluctantly broke a three-tofour-pack-a-day cigarette habit in his later years because of repeated attacks of emphysema.

Sixers down Blazers in OT

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Moss Malone scored seven of his 35 points in overtime Wednesday night as the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Portland Trail Blazers (21-119 for their eignun consecutive (vauona) Basketball Association victory

Malone's two free throws with 2:49 left in overtime put Philadelphia ahead 118-113. Portland rallied to within 120-119 on Jim Paxson's 15-footer with 24 seconds to play.

The Blazers had a chance to win the game after Philadelphia's Clemon Johnson missed a pair of free throws with 10 seconds to play with Portland still trailing by one.

Clyde Drexler sank what appeared to be the winning basket with four seconds remaining, but was called for traveling on the play. Malone hit one of two free throws with one second to go to boost the 76ers' lead to two and Julius Erving stole Portland's inbounds pass after a timeout to clinch the victory.

The game was tied 15 times, including a 112-112 deadlock at the end.

of regulation. Portland outscored Philadelphia 19-7 in one stretch to forge a 104-104 tie with five minutes left in the fourth period. Center Sam Bowie paced the fourth-quarter Portland effort, but fouled out with 4:28 left in the period.

Malone scored 17 of his points from the free throw line. Charles Barkley added 31 points for the 76ers, who boosted their record to 20-12. Portland dropped to 20-16.

Philadelphia had a 44-32 rebound advantage. Malone had 14 rebounds and Barclay 13.
