How's that?

Movie

Q. "The Last Days of Marilyn Monroe," a movie, is supposed to air at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Are we going to get it in Big Spring?
A. The movie will not air in Big Spring, said a spokesman for the Big Spring Cable Co. The movie is running on a Dallas channel that we do not get here.

Calendar

Veterans

TODAY

• The Southwest Permian Basin chapter of the Paralyzed Veterans of America will meet at 7 p.m. in the Veterans Administration Medical Center Room 219.
• The Coahoma Band Boosters will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the band hall.

WEDNESDAY

• The Kentwood Older Adult Center's annual chili supper will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Chili, beans, pie and drinks will be served for $3.

FRIDAY

• The Sesquicentennial Committee and the Big Spring, Planter's, Rosebud and the Texas Star American Violet garden clubs will plant a tree for Arbor Day at 4 p.m. on the courthouse lawn.

Outside Mild

Look for fair skies and temperatures in the upper 60s this afternoon with southwesterly winds, 5 to 15 miles per hour. Tonight, skies should be partly cloudy and lows should drop to the upper 30s. Wednesday's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and a high in the mid 60s.

Lost invitations won't hinder volunteer lunch

Despite invitations being lost in the mail, the Big Spring State Hospital volunteer awards banquet will go full speed ahead Thursday.

The banquet to honor volunteers will begin at noon in the Allred Building at the hospital, said Kathy Viccinelli, coordinator of volunteer services.

The banquet is free for volunteers, she said, and all volunteers are invited. For reservations, call the hospital at 267-8216, Ext. 535.

The luncheon will honor Tom Ferguson of Midland, who is retiring after 27 years of volunteer service, said Viccinelli.

Also, pins and bars will be awarded for volunteer hours, and the Jack Y. Smith award will be presented.

Area counties on hunger list

Staff and wire reports
Mitchell and Glasscock counties have some of the hungriest people in America, according to a Harvard study released this week.

Texas topped the list of the 150 hungriest counties of America, but some of those named don't consider themselves so poor, much less hungry.

"I do not know where they got their information. The counties we had that were identified do not have high rates of unemployment," said public information officer Barbara Evans of the Department of Human Resources regional office in Abilene.

The "hunger counties," identified in a report by the Physicians Task Force on Hunger at the Harvard School of Public Health, were ranked based on the highest rates of poverty and lowest rates of participation in the food stamp program.

Texas was listed as having 29 "hunger counties," where more than 20 percent of the residents live below the federal poverty level — now $10,609 for a family of four — and fewer than one-third of eligible residents actually receive food stamps.

Mitchell County, which falls under Abilene's welfare jurisdiction, ranked No. 20 in the state and No. 106 in the nation on Harvard's list of hunger counties.

Evans said she wonders if the report addressed on-going community activities that sponsor food drives, or if researchers were aware of potential recipients, such as farmers, who fall below the poverty income level but do not qualify for food stamps because of their assets.

Joan Morris, a program director for income assistance in the Permian Basin's regional office for the Department of Human Resources, said there may be "somewhat of a stigma in certain persons applying for food stamps," which could account for the low rates of participation.

Glasscock County, which falls under the Permian Basin's welfare jurisdiction, ranked fourth in the state and 63rd in the nation.

Glasscock County wouldn't have a great deal of participation in the food stamp program because of the low population size, Morris said. She said many Glasscock residents had been self-sufficient "until the farming industry went down."

County Judge Dick Holmgren of Brazos County, which was No. 46 nationwide and topped the list in Texas, said "I think their statistics are as screwed up as they can be."

But Brazos has repeatedly posted among the lowest unemployment rates in the nation. Not only that, the county is the home of Texas A&M University, whose more than 30,000 students comprise a third of the population.

"I don't deny the fact we've got some low-income areas, but if there are people aware of actually hungry, I'm not aware of it," HUNGER page 2-A

Woman's death due to smoke

Smoke inhalation has been ruled the cause of death of 69-year-old Helen D. Ebling, who died during a blaze at her home early Saturday morning, said Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Ebling, a retired Big Spring schoolteacher, was found dead in the bathroom of her house at 2805 Cactus St. by firefighters shortly after midnight Saturday, according to a fire department report.

Assistant Fire Chief Burr Lea Settles said the cause of the fire is still under investigation, but he said unofficially that careless use of a cigarette could have triggered the blaze.

The department's official ruling now is that the fire started accidentally, Settles said.

U.S. agencies warned of spending reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. agencies have been told by the White House to brace for automatic spending cuts of nearly 5 percent as new estimates of the 1986 budget deficit soared to a record $220 billion.

That's $48 billion above the $172 billion target for fiscal 1986 set by the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law. The cuts are triggered if the deficit exceeds the target by $20 billion or more.

The Congressional Budget Office and the White House Office of Management and Budget were to release their official deficit projections on Wednesday, along with details of the cuts that will be required.

However, White House spokesman Larry Speakes on Monday announced that the cuts would amount to 4.3 percent for most domestic programs and 4.9 percent for the military.

Military programs are receiving a higher proportional reduction because the law exempts some weapons contracts from being cut and because of a presidential decision to shield all military personnel from the reductions. That shifted a larger burden of the cuts onto other military programs.

On Capitol Hill, Rep. Edward R. Roybal, D-Calif., chairman of the House Aging Committee, called for Congress to block automatic cuts in the Medicare program that would be triggered under the Gramm-Rudman formula.

The law calls for automatic cuts of 1 percent in Medicare payments to doctors and hospitals.

Even though this is far less than the 4.3 percent cut in most other domestic programs, Roybal said it still posed "a major threat to the elderly's access to quality health care." He said the payments should be boosted 1 percent this year, not reduced.

Medicare and other health programs are in a separate category under Gramm-Rudman. They can be cut automatically, but not more than 1 percent in fiscal 1986 and 2 percent in subsequent years.

Social Security benefits, including the annual cost-of-living increases, are exempted entirely from the cutbacks.

Despite the $48 billion shortfall in meeting the deficit target this year, Congress limited the first round of Gramm-Rudman cuts on March 1 to a total of $11.7 billion.

The Gramm-Rudman act, named for sponsors Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., requires a series of successively lower annual deficits until the federal budget is balanced in 1991.

If Congress cannot enact the required cuts, then automatic across-the-board spending reductions are triggered. This year, the cuts are to be triggered on March 1. In later years, they will come on Oct. 1 — the beginning of each new fiscal year.

Health department plan on AIDS draws criticism

AUSTIN (AP) — Quarantining "incorrigible" AIDS victims for the public's sake could backfire, chasing male homosexuals into the closet and preventing early detection of the disease, witnesses told a state health department hearing examiner Monday.

A New York cancer researcher said if an AIDS quarantine rule proposed by the state health department is adopted, "resentment, fear, suspicion will explode in cruelties" against "people fighting for their lives."

Dr. Mathilde Krim, who has headed the Interferon Laboratory at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, said although the proposed rule is "based on logic and restraint," it "is illogical and dangerous" and "will have little or no effect in terms of protecting the public health."

The stated purpose of a rule proposed by the health department is to protect the public health by isolating AIDS patients who refuse to curtail sexual activities that could spread the fatal disease.

AIDS — acquired immune deficiency syndrome — cripples the body's immune system, leaving the victim vulnerable to infections and other diseases, including cancer. The disease is spread by sexual or blood-to-blood contact, and 800 Texans are among 16,000 AIDS victims nationwide.

Survival is name of the game

LAKE BELTON (AP) — On a cold winter morning, a band of a dozen fatigued men take positions in a wooded and briar-patched Texas field, preparing for an assault on an enemy camp.

Some of the "soldiers" will be killed. Others wounded. There hasn't been a surprise, "Red Dawn" attack by communist insurgents. The events are not even part of a Fort Hood military exercise. And in reality, those "killed" and "wounded" will, within an hour, be back in the woods preparing for another assault.

The name of the game is survival. Despite some military trappings, the action is closer to a game of cowboys and Indians than military war games.

Survival games have moved into Central Texas. Participants and sponsors believe the games may become the latest craze, allowing those who play the games to act out any number of scenarios while releasing tension and frustration.

Survival Games of Central Texas Inc. began operation in November, and provides participants with 25 acres of rough terrain on which teams and individuals can battle.

"It's a gentleman's game," said Dick Gooch. Gooch and Dr. Dave Webster own and operate Survival Games.

Those involved, however, generally look like anything but gentlemen.

Standard dress is camouflage fatigues. Even the faces of the play-soldiers are camouflaged with paint.

"The games can be as mental or as physical as you want," said Gooch, owner and operator of The Racquet Club of Temple.

Gooch's partner, Webster, is a family practice doctor in Temple.

"I deal with sick and depressed people all week long. I love to come out here and see these people laughing and smiling," Webster said.

"It's a great chance to be a kid again. To capture the flag. To play chess in the woods," Gooch said.

Gooch and Webster had heard about the growing popularity of survival games in other parts of the country, and decided it was time to introduce the games to Central Texas.

They contacted the national Survival Games headquarters in Northampton, N.H., and were granted franchise rights for Bell and McLennan counties. They leased property near Lake Belton, purchased more than 30 carbon dioxide-powered pistols that shoot exploding paint pellets, and opened their camp for business.

Several survival game teams already have been formed in the Temple area. One team is called the "Wild Bunch," a group of about 12 Temple area men 20 to 25 that has become particularly successful.

During a recent weekend excursion, the "Wild Bunch" managed to defeat a team of Fort Hood soldiers.

Ken McDonald, employee of a Temple welding company and leader of the "Wild Bunch," said the majority of his team members are friends who grew up in the Temple area and graduated together from high school.

McDonald said his team members got hooked the first time they played, and now participate virtually every weekend.

"It gives you something to do on Sunday besides sitting in front of the television watching football,"

McDonald said. The games generally are played by two teams, each with a maximum of 15 players.

The teams are designated as the Gold Team or the Red Team, with each player wearing a colored ribbon.

The playing field is divided into halves, each with a variety of terrain identified by name on a large map at the base camp.

Gooch and Webster serve as officials for the game. They designate the general area where each team will place its flag. After the designation is made, the teams move out and place their flags.

Once the flags are positioned, the game begins. Each team determines a strategy, such as a mass assault on the opposing flag, or an intensive defense of its own flag.

One team moves through the woods. When the "enemy" is encountered, "gunplay" breaks out. The carbon dioxide guns propel the 3/4-inch paint pellets accurately for 10 to 15 yards. When struck by a paint pellet, the "wounded" participant will feel the impact, although reportedly there is no pain.

A person hit in the torso below the neck and above the waist is considered killed, and must sit out the remainder of the game.

A person hit in another area of the body, such as the legs or arms, is considered wounded, and must sit out five minutes at the base camp before getting back into action.

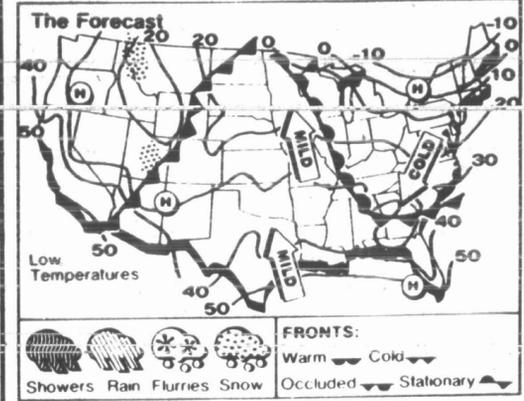

Head shots are illegal and do not count. All participants are required to wear goggles when they are on the field of play action.

Shots that splatter off trees or bushes do not count. A game ends when a team's flag is captured. If no one captures a flag within one hour, the game is called and the winner is determined by the number of participants "killed" or "wounded."

Participants rent the pistols, and receive two ammunition canisters containing 20 rounds, for $19.

The camp is located off state Highway 36 on White Flint Park Road on the west side of Lake Belton.

Big Spring High burglarized

Craig Fisher, assistant principal at Big Spring High School, told police Monday morning that someone burglarized the high school between 8 p.m. Sunday and 6 a.m. Monday.

Thieves stole a $150 cassette player, a $60 cassette recorder, a $100 blank pistol and four digital stopwatches worth $160, according to the complaint. Two glass door panels were damaged in the break-in, the report stated.

Lupe Gonzales of 907 Runnels St. told police Monday morning that someone removed a $1,100 angel statue from a headstone at Mount Olive Cemetery between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday.

James Weaver of James Weaver Auto Sales, 605 E. Fourth St., told police Monday morning that someone stole a $100 car stereo from a car at the business between noon Saturday and 11 a.m. Monday.

Virginia King of Mesquite St. told police Monday evening that someone stole her wallet while she was standing at the service counter at TG&Y. The theft occurred at 5:45 p.m. Monday, and the wallet contained about $350 in cash and a credit card, according to the complaint.

Guy Heffington of 1011 W. Sixth St. told police Monday afternoon that someone tried to steal a $175 color television from him at 2:45 p.m. Monday.

Jose Castro of 1001 N.W. First St. told police Monday that someone he knows caused $1,000 damage to his car and stole $250 worth of tools from the vehicle between 10 p.m. Friday and noon Monday.

Flora Gomez, a bartender at the El San Luis Club, 3800 W. Highway 80, told police Monday afternoon that someone caused $75 damage to a wall in the men's restroom at the club Saturday night.

Howard Walker, owner of the Harley Davidson Shop at 908 W. Third St., told police Monday afternoon that someone caused $75 damage to a business sign at the shop between 9:30 a.m. Saturday and 9:30 a.m. Monday.

George Cole of 1002 N. Main Apt. 68 told police at 11:45 a.m. Monday that someone caused $190 damage to a door on Apartment 35 at the Main Street building sometime Monday morning.

Arless Scott, manager of Video Concepts, told police Monday morning that someone rented a $300 video cassette recorder and two video tapes worth $140 from the business Jan. 8 and failed to return them.

Commissioners approve courthouse tree planting

Howard County commissioners unanimously approved a request from the Big Spring/Howard County Sesquicentennial Commission to plant an oak tree on the courthouse lawn.

The tree will be planted on the southeast corner of the lawn, County Judge Milton Kirby said at Monday's commissioner's court meeting.

Commissioners also accepted vehicle bids from auto dealerships for county road and bridge department trucks.

A $10,113.63 bid for a one-ton patching truck was awarded to Bob Brock Ford.

The county will trade in one pickup for two pickups from Pollard Chevrolet, which submitted a bid of $19,347.68.

The department also will purchase four pickups for the road and bridge department from Shroyer Motors for $33,970.64.

In other action, commissioners: Drew names for appointments to the county's grievance committee. No action was taken on appointments, though.

Set Jan. 1, April 1, July 1 and Oct. 1 as terms for county court.

Suspect in high-speed chase receives probated sentence

A Louisiana man received a three-year probated sentence in 118th District Court Monday afternoon after he pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Lee Ray Catoire, 17, of Eunice, La., was passenger in a car stolen from Highland Pontiac on FM 700, which was involved in a high-speed chase with a Department of Public Safety trooper Jan. 3. The chase spanned three counties, before the suspects were nabbed by the trooper in Mitchell County.

The driver, Alvin Phillip Allen, 21, of 203 N. Goliad remains in Mitchell County custody facing an aggravated assault on a peace officer charge. In the course of the chase, he rammed the trooper's car with the stolen car, according to a Department of Public Safety report.

Allen also has been charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in Howard County.

Marfa man injured in wreck

A Marfa man was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after the car he was driving struck a guard rail Monday morning in the 1200 block of N. Lamesa.

Johnny Hernandez, 27, was turning south on N. Lamesa from the north service road of Interstate 20 when he spilled hot coffee on himself and lost control of his car, according to a police accident report. The vehicle swung wide and smashed into a guard rail, the report stated.

Hernandez was not wearing a seatbelt, according to the report.

Holmgren told The Dallas Morning News.

Harvard researchers admitted the study was based on statistics. "We begin extensive field work in February. We may well start in Nevada," Judy dePontbriand, a spokeswoman for the task force, said in Boston. She said the report was "a blueprint for ongoing research."

Meanwhile, Collingsworth County Judge Zook Thomas acknowledged that his county did have a low per-capita income: "We've got a railroad spike plant, a bolt plant and a wrecking yard. Other than that, we're strictly agriculture." But the judge said he knew most of the county's 4,600 residents and knew none who were hungry.

"We did have some elderly people who didn't want to go ask for them (food stamps,) but I think that's over with," Thomas said.

Most of the 29 counties identified in Texas are in West Texas and the High Plains area of the state.

Other "hunger counties" in Texas identified by the study were Gaines, Motley, Wilbarger, Mason, Parmer, Hays, San Saba, McCulloch, Briscoe, Haskell, Brewster, Dickens, Jeff Davis, Caldwell, Concho, Menard, LIMestone, Real, Leon, Knox, Swisher, Red River, Walker, Milam and Sabine.

Aid for Israel safe

WASHINGTON — The $1.2 billion in U.S. economic assistance to Israel this year will be untouched by federal budget-balancing laws because it was handed over to the Israelis months ago.

However, the cuts are likely to hit most other countries, and some nations are wondering if reductions in their assistance levels for the 1986 fiscal year ending Sept. 30 will be larger than anticipated. That's because Israel's slice appears to be exempt from the first set of budget cuts.

Inspection tightened

WASHINGTON — The deaths of 248 soldiers in the crash of a chartered jet in Newfoundland last month has spurred the government to begin tough new inspections of Pentagon-hired charter companies, a federal aviation official says.

The program, to be announced by Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole today, will involve detailed inspections of two dozen companies that ferry military personnel and cargo, Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Bob Buckhorn said.

Cameras pose problem

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Like many shutterbugs whose cameras give out at a critical moment, Columbia's astronauts tried and failed today to fix a photo device that could provide clear shots of Halley's comet.

Space agency officials, meanwhile, were considering ending the shuttle mission a day early.

"I just finished working with the image intensifier again, and there is no amplification at all," crewman George Nelson reported after he had attempted for several hours to fix the instrument following instructions radioed from Mission Control.

Illegal flow threatening

DALLAS — Illegal aliens were caught at the Texas-Mexico border at the rate of more than 10,000 a week last year, and those currently entering the country are more apt than ever to displace American workers, immigration officials said.

Although many believe illegal aliens take only jobs U.S. citizens don't want, there is increasing evidence that more skilled laborers are entering the United States illegally, said Mario Ortiz, Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman.

Harold Reid of The Statler Brothers points fellow Statler Jimmy Fortune in the direction of the microphone as Fortune accepts the traditional ballad award for the song "My Only Love." Fortune's song was also named song of the year at Monday night's Songwriter Awards show in Nashville.

Top hit

Statler Brother pens his way to stardom

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "My Only Love," a No. 1 hit by The Statler Brothers, was honored at the National Songwriter Awards as the top country music song by fans who also picked "Hello Mary Lou," first popularized by the late Ricky Nelson, as another favorite.

The two songs and the writers who composed them were honored Monday night along with other country music composers at the nationally televised sixth annual awards show at the Tennessee Performing Arts Center.

Statler Brother member Jimmy Fortune, who wrote "My Only Love" for his brother's wedding, won the top award for the second straight year. He won in 1985 for his composition, "Elizabeth."

"My Only Love," which topped on the country music charts last March, also was voted the year's No. 1 traditional ballad in country music.

"My life is truly a fairy-tale come true," said Fortune, 30, a service order writer at a Charlottesville, Va., car dealership when he joined the quartet in 1982.

Fortune said his brother wanted him to write a Lionel Richie-type love song, "but I couldn't do that. It came out to be a pretty good song, they liked it so we recorded it. It turned out to be a pretty good idea."

Country music fans also picked "Hello Mary Lou," a rock 'n' roll hit in 1961 for Nelson, as best traditional upbeat song. The Statlers, who revived the song last year, performed it at the awards show in honor of Nelson, who died Dec. 31 in a Texas plane crash.

"40 Hour Week (For a Living)," recorded by the four-piece band Alabama, won top country-rock song for writers Dave Loggins, Lisa Silver and Don Schlitz.

New chief sets agenda

GUATEMALA CITY — The first civilian elected to govern Guatemala in 16 years says his priority upon taking office today will be to improve the ailing economy and control human rights abuses.

Vinicio Cerezo, a 43-year-old lawyer and Christian Democrat, will be inaugurated at a midday ceremony, becoming the first civilian president since Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro, who served from 1966-70. He replaces chief of state Gen. Oscar Humberto Mejia Victores.

Coup attempt in Yemen

MANAMA, Bahrain — Persian Gulf sources said today the president of Marxist South Yemen was seriously injured in a coup attempt, and the British Foreign Office in London reported that unidentified aircraft were bombing the South Yemen airport.

A Foreign Office spokesman, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said diplomats in South Yemen's capital, Aden, reported aircraft bombed the airport at about midday and tanks were seen in the city's Khormaksar district.

NATO is on the guard

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — NATO officials in Denmark said today that security at the Western defense alliance's installations in Denmark and Norway had been increased due to warnings of possible Palestinian terror attacks.

Erik Alstrup, spokesman for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's local Baltap headquarters told The Associated Press that extra guards had been placed around its facilities and that surveillance had been increased.

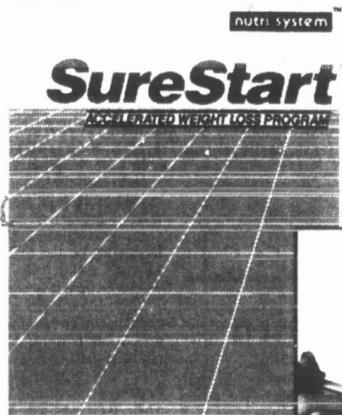

PLO convenes meeting

MANAMA, Bahrain — Top Palestine Liberation Organization lieutenants met in the Iraqi capital of Baghdad Monday to discuss what they see as U.S. and Israeli threats of reprisals against Palestinians after the Rome and Vienna airport attacks, officials said.

PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat chaired the meeting, the second high-ranking PLO conference in Baghdad since November.

Members of the Executive Committee, the PLO's policy-making body, and delegates from the 75-seat Central Council of Fatah, Arafat's mainstream guerrilla faction, were at the meeting, a spokesman for the PLO office in Baghdad said by telephone.

Japan should be defending itself

Although Japan is an economic superpower, it has been a military midget for the past 40 years. That, of course, has been partly because of the bitter memories of World War II, and partly because of security agreements with the United States and language in the Japanese Constitution designed to prevent Japan from becoming a military power.

Japan is increasing its defense spending, however, with American encouragement. The Japanese government has approved a fiscal 1986 budget that provided for zero growth in general expenditures but a 6.6 percent increase in defense outlays.

Japan's military budget has gone up by an average of 4.6 percent annually, adjusted for inflation, for the past three years. The 1986 budget reflects Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone's promise to increase Japan's share of its defense costs.

Japan still limits its defense bill to slightly less than 1 percent of its gross national product, but the country's economy has been growing fast enough to achieve a real increase in military spending.

A more militarily powerful Japan could worry some of its neighbors, who remember World War II and fear the potential combination of Japanese economic muscle and military force. The prospect of a resurgent militarism within Japan also concerns some people.

Such concerns need not be aggravated by the relatively limited expectations being placed on Japan's defenses, however.

The United States has asked Japan to have enough power to defend its home islands and the shipping routes vital to Japanese commerce. That means having an army large enough to stop, or at least impede, any Soviet invasion of Japan, and sufficient air and naval strength to guard sea lanes to the Philippines.

By increasing its defense budget, which could eventually allow the United States to reduce some of its military operations in the Far East, Japan is proving itself to be a loyal ally. The United States can't bear the total burden for defending freedom in Asia. Japan can and should play a more active role.

Gramm-Rudman is no comedy act

Repeat after me. Gramm-Rudman! Gramm-Rudman! It doesn't ring a bell? Don't worry, I've anticipated all your questions.

What is a Gramm-Rudman? Gramm-Rudman is not a what, but a who — actually three whos — Sen. Gramm of Texas, Sen. Rudman of New Hampshire and Sen. Hollings of South Carolina. They spearheaded the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act. Hollings is usually dropped from the credit because most newspapers do not have the space to include all three names in the story.

Is Gramm-Rudman-Hollings for real?

No, it's a dream decreeing that by 1991 the government must balance the federal budget by not spending any more money than it takes in. This has been man's fantasy since he learned to fly.

It sounds like a musical comedy. Some people consider it a tragedy. The military hate Gramm-Rudman because they fear their appropriations will be severely cut. The Democrats are afraid Gramm-Rudman will knock out all the progressive legislation achieved over the past 50 years. And the President fears Gramm-Rudman will wipe out his authority to dictate a budget he can live with. You will hear a lot about Gramm-Rudman but don't expect it to get a standing ovation.

What kind of money are we talking about?

The first cut is $12 billion, followed by another of $50 billion for fiscal 1987.

Isn't that a drop in the bucket for Washington?

It's peanuts, especially when we're spending a trillion a year. But Gramm-Rudman's goal is to eventually chop off $200 billion.

Now you're getting into street theater.

It could develop into a good fight because President Reagan has no intention of cutting "Star Wars." At the same time, Reagan has no problem using Gramm-Rudman as an excuse to shut down the Small Business Administration, the Job Corps, the Student Loan Program and the Department of Education.

Why did Congress vote for Gramm-Rudman?

Some voted for it because 1986 is an election year. Others voted for it because they believed the bill would embarrass the President. Still others thought Gramm-Rudman would help the President. But the majority voted for it because they didn't understand it.

Most of those who say they are for it are hoping the law will be declared unconstitutional. They even put a clause in the bill saying it had to be brought to the courts as soon as possible.

Where does the President stand on Gramm-Rudman?

Nobody knows. When he signed the bill, he said he would be happy to see it tested in the courts. But now he wants the Justice Department to keep it from getting to the courts. The thinking is the President loves the idea of Gramm-Rudman but not the bill itself. Reagan's biggest worry is that in order to meet the requirements of the act Congress will demand that he raise taxes.

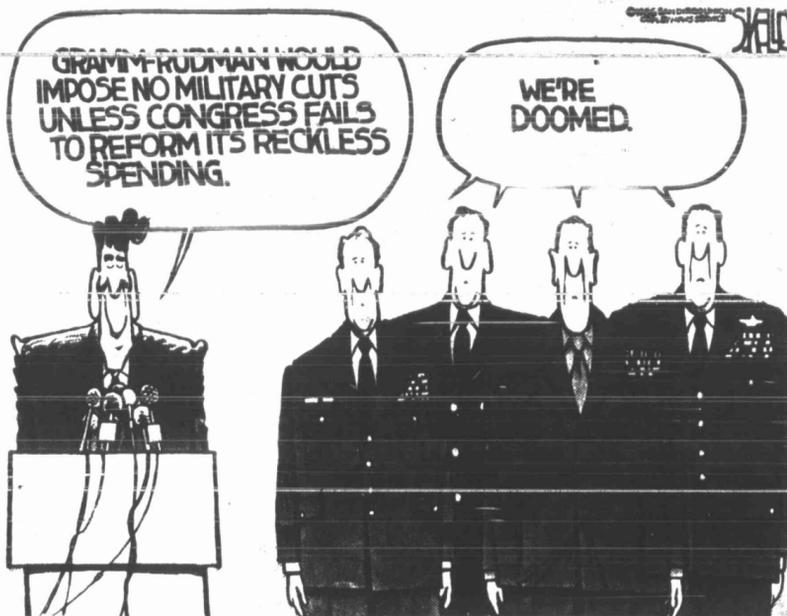

If the President won't raise taxes what can he do to meet the Gramm-Rudman conditions?

Ask for revenue enhancers.

Why are they called enhancers? Because if the President called them taxes the Democrats would accuse him of going back on his pledge to lower them.

What else does the Gramm-Rudman act promise besides burlesque, tragedy, melodrama and musical comedy? Try soap opera.

Gandhi wants to export peace

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — India's Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, a charismatic young leader in the John F. Kennedy mold, believes peace not only is possible between the superpowers but is desired by both sides.

He has developed a warm relationship with both President Ronald Reagan of the United States and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. "I found in both leaders," Gandhi told us, "a genuine want for peace. But because of the various constraints, they were not able to do as much as they wanted to."

If a third party could help break this closed circle of futility, Gandhi is willing to accept the "very difficult role" and "do whatever I can."

We visited Gandhi in his modest home in New Delhi during the filming of a television documentary on "Rajiv's India." Some of his comments were aired on the public television network.

Speaking of the two superpowers, he said: "I don't think that either country wants to write off the other country. But it is very difficult to sell this idea to either of them. There is a deep mistrust."

The best approach, he suggested, would be to focus on the roots, "not just the manifestations," of the mistrust. In Gandhi's opinion, the agitations over the arms race and "star wars" are merely the manifestations. It would be better, he said, to go straight to the causes of Soviet-American discord.

He would begin with the human element: "How the leaders relate on a personal basis with each other." He would like to create "an atmosphere in the world where weapons would not be required." But he is not an impractical dreamer. "We do live in a real world, and we can't pretend that things don't happen," he said.

There is a subdued, philosophical roll to Gandhi's conversation that is impressive in a young man. The world, he said quietly, should not be divided into blocs. "Any alignments, if the West has a bloc or the East has a bloc, is undemocratic because, by definition, it means that we are going to say what you say, not what we think."

Rajiv Gandhi is a commanding figure, tall, athletic, handsome, with a caring face and a contagious smile. His unique leadership capacities have gripped the Indian imagination. The temper of the times is such that if India can be united and revitalized, he is the man to do it, and this is the time it can be done.

"Our way of thinking has to change," he said. "We are not dynamic enough. We don't take enough initiative." He attributed this to India's "colonial legacy."

Insight

...But words will never hurt him

By PHIL SWANN

WASHINGTON — If words could kill, Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy would be a dead man.

But, of course, they don't.

So the world's most despised despot is free to serve as the patron saint to Palestinian terrorists, a band of bullies whose political vision is so blurred that they believe killing an 11-year-old girl is "heroic."

The television image of this madman tearing up a field in his tractor after his disciples plowed through airports in Rome and Vienna with bombs was a bit much for our nation's leaders.

President Reagan and members of Congress, including many in the Texas delegation, called the dictator every name they could think of. Washington bookstores must have had a run on the latest edition of the Roget's Thesaurus. It was beginning to sound like Khadafy would be wise to renew his life insurance policy.

During a news conference at which he announced economic sanctions against Libya, Reagan called Khadafy, "a barbarian and a flake."

Reagan, however, stopped short of calling Khadafy mentally imbalanced.

"That's a pretty fair assessment," said Rep. Joe Barton, the Ennis Republican, responding to Reagan's statement. "If Libya is going to be part of the civilized world, then they will have to be civilized."

In an interview, Barton seemed on the verge of calling for Khadafy's scalp.

"The Bible says, 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,'" said Barton, when he was asked if the United States should consider military action against Libya. "We would hope to minimize civilian casualties, although they don't play by those rules."

Rep. Tom Loeffler, a Republican candidate for governor, also did not mince words, referring to Khadafy as "a cowardly, blood-thirsty madman."

Rep. Beau Boulter, R-Amarillo, said simply that Khadafy was a "maniac."

The tongue-lashings certainly make good reading and, perhaps, make people feel a little bit better. But, alas, it brings to mind an old rule of thumb in Washington that certainly applies here — the more they scream, the less they can do.

Why? Three reasons:

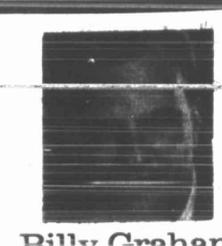

• There are approximately 1,000 Americans still living in Libya, our could face death, or perhaps captivity, if the United States suddenly dropped a bomb on Tripoli.

• According to published reports, Reagan administration officials fear military retaliation against suspected terrorists will spawn terrorist attacks against Americans at home. In fact, the president revealed that U.S. intelligence officials have foiled 126 terrorist acts, including some targeted for the United States.

• Although Reagan broke off all U.S. economic ties with Libya, our European allies who are dependent upon Libyan oil are not following suit. The United States can not unilaterally empty Libya's pockets.

The bottom line: the United States' only option seems to be to dump rhetoric on Khadafy and his band of killers.

Bible warns of the occult

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We are worried because our 14-year-old son has become deeply involved in a fantasy role-playing game that seems to take all his time and energy. Although I don't understand it completely, it seems to emphasize things like demons and the occult. Are we right to be so concerned? — Mrs. H.C.S.

DEAR MRS. H.C.S.: On the basis of what you say, you have every reason to be concerned about your son's involvement in this game. Your letter does not go into detail about what he is playing, but reports I have read concern me because such fantasy games seem to open the door to occult ideas.

The Bible warns us against having anything to do with the occult — no matter how innocent it seems on the surface. There is a new emphasis on these ideas in our society today that we need to face honestly and clearly.

In addition, as a general principle, parents should be concerned about anything — no matter what it is — that absorbs a young person's attention so much that he begins to neglect his responsibilities and his relationships with other people. This can lead to withdrawal from normal activities, and eventually a young person may become unable to cope with the real world.

Although it may seem difficult, as a parent you have a responsibility to step in and keep your son from becoming ensnared any further by this game. He is at the age when he wants his independence, but he also is too young to realize the harm that can come from some activities.

The greatest thing that could happen to him would be to discover the adventure and joy there is in following Christ. Your letter says nothing about your own spiritual commitment. Have you neglected your relationship with God — and thus been unable to point your son to the real meaning of life through Christ? As a family, make Christ the center of your lives.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Tuesday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1986. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Jan. 14, 1784, the United States ratified the peace treaty with Britain that ended the Revolutionary War.

On this date: In 1639, the first constitution of Connecticut — known as the "Fundamental Orders" — was adopted at a meeting in Hartford.

In 1742, English astronomer Edmond Halley, who observed the comet that still bears his name, died at the age of 85.

In 1898, the Rev. Charles L. Dodgson, better known as author Lewis Carroll, died less than two weeks before his 66th birthday.

In 1914, the Ford Motor Company greatly improved its assembly-line operation by employing an endless chain to pull each chassis along.

In 1943, during World War II, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a conference in Casablanca.

In 1952, NBC's "Today" show premiered, with Dave Garroway as host.

In 1964, in her first public statement since the assassination of her husband, Jacqueline Kennedy appeared on television to thank the 800,000 people who had sent her messages of sympathy.

In 1969, 25 crew members of the U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise were killed when an explosion ripped through the ship during maneuvers off Hawaii.

Ten years ago: The government of Spain drafted several thousand postal workers into the army in an effort to stem labor unrest.

Five years ago: Outgoing President Jimmy Carter said farewell to the nation in a nationally broadcast speech, and the Federal Communications Commission freed radio stations of several major regulations, including limits on number of commercials and minimum requirements for news and public affairs programming.

Dear Abby

Staying home with her pride

DEAR ABBY: I'm a divorced woman who knows what it feels like to be overlooked, forgotten or just plain excluded on special holidays, so I round up all the "strays" I know and invite them over for a Christmas Eve meal. It's not a formal sit-down dinner; it's a casual, serve-yourself buffet sort of party, and all seem to enjoy themselves.

Well, how is this for a slap in the face? About 10 a.m., I phoned someone I thought would appreciate the invitation and said, "Hi, if you're not doing anything special tonight, come on over for dinner about 6 p.m."

This friend said, "Thank you, but I have plans (I could tell the way she said it that she didn't have any plans, but I wasn't going to beg her.) I learned later that she sat home alone, but had too much pride to admit it. My question: Don't you think a person who has no plans is foolish to turn down an invitation for this reason? Also, is there something wrong with the way I worded my invitation?

ALSO HURT DEAR HURT: Not everyone is comfortable admitting that he or she has nowhere to go. Since it's become a tradition to "round up strays" at holiday time (and I hope you don't use that expression publicly), why not invite them a week or so ahead of time? Their pride would be salvaged, and a good time could be had by all.

DEAR ABBY: As a Christmas gift, a co-worker gave me a membership to an organization she is very much devoted to.

I have never attended a meeting, or expressed any interest in joining the organization. In fact, I would prefer not to have my name listed as a member.

Can I be made a member of an organization without my permission? I don't want to insult this woman, nor do I want to sour our relationship because we have to work together, so please tell me how I can cancel my membership without offending her.

UNWILLING MEMBER DEAR MEMBER: Thank her for the gift, then tell her that since you have no intentions of becoming active in the organization, you must decline the membership. I can't guarantee that you won't offend her, but it beats being a member of an organization you would not care to join.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Whiskers) grew a very lush beard two years ago, and I love it, but it has created a problem.

We are planning a trip to Australia, and the picture on his passport shows him to be clean shaven. Now that he has a beard, we are wondering if this might cause a problem.

What is your advice?

WHISKERS' WIFE DEAR WIFE: It is essential that one's passport picture resemble the person carrying it. Whiskers has two choices: (1) Shave off his beard so this face matches his passport picture; (2) apply for another passport accompanied by a new picture showing Whiskers with whiskers.

Dr. Donohue

Calcium link studied

Dear Dr. Donohue: The advice about the need for calcium for women to prevent bone problems is well-known, but I had not heard of the high blood pressure connection. Is it true that calcium can help in high blood pressure as well — Mrs. M.B.

It's too early to say whether this is so or not. But it is under active study. Calcium is thought to cause an expansion of small arteries and in that way lower blood pressure. I'm sure there will be more written on this in the future, and I'll be waiting for it. (See the next letter.)

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 63-year-old female. I read in a health magazine about calcium pills being good for high blood pressure. I've been taking them for about six months. They are labeled calcium lactate. I take six a day, two with each meal. Each tablet contains 648 milligrams of calcium lactate, and that is supposed to provide 89.3 mgs. of elemental calcium. My question is, am I taking too much or not enough? — G.G.

I'll let my statement to Mrs. M.B. stand as comment on the high-blood-pressure connection. But let me address the matter of calcium needs in general.

The recommended daily allowance for calcium is 800 mgs. Many say this is too low and feel between 1,000 and 1,500 would be more appropriate. But always remember that you have to figure in what you are getting from food along with any supplements (pills).

You can see from this that your six pills (540 mgs.) is not too much, so long as you're not really loading up on high-calcium foods in the bargain.

You did make a nice example of the confusion from labeling. It's the elemental calcium figure that's important in calculating your totals, and you can see the wide variances involved.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

Jody Martinez is talent winner

Jody Martinez, son of Mrs. Fred Martinez, won the West Texas Talent Show in Odessa Jan. 6, according to show director Blair Phillips.

Martinez was selected from a field of 21 contestants after being judged in a personal interview and two talent presentations.

As "Mr. West Texas Talent," he will travel and make appearances throughout Texas. He will represent West Texas at the Mr. and Miss Texas Talent Show in July at Houston's Eddington Hotel. The Texas Talent Show offers more than $100,000 in scholarships for the top five finalists plus a chance to represent Texas at the U.S.A. Talent Show in Chicago.

Rebekah Lodge officers to be installed

Installation of new officers for the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 was discussed when the group met recently.

Mary Cole, noble grand, presided.

Installation ceremonies will be held on Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. The event will be formal, according to Iva Kenney, reporter.

There were 25 sick visits made during the past week.

New Super "Dream Pill" Lose Weight As You Sleep!

No Dieting — Eat All You Want
NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — An amazing new super "dream pill" has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose up to 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure."

This remarkable new diet pill combines two natural substances which cause adults to lose weight fast by "tricking" the body into acting like a teenager. These nutritional substances, called L-arginine and L-ornithine, stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

"Pill Does All The Work" According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation 'diet menus' to follow, NO caloric counting, NO exercise and NO hunger pangs." The pill is not a drug! It is 100% safe consisting of natural amino acids just like those found in the foods you eat everyday.

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results
Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident.

Many jobless workers go without any compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of every three jobless workers last year, on average, had to get by without any monthly unemployment compensation benefits, a new study shows.

An average 5.6 million people, or 67.4 percent of the nation's 8.3 million unemployed, were not drawing the benefits in any given month of 1985, the private Center on Budget and Policy Priorities said in a report released Monday.

By contrast, three out of every four jobless workers were getting the benefits a decade ago, when the unemployment rate hovered at 8.5 percent at the peak of the 1974-75 recession, the center said.

The nation's unemployment rate averaged 7.2 percent for all of 1985, but fell to 6.9 percent in December, according to statistics released last week by the Department of Labor.

The program just doesn't do what a lot of people think it is supposed to do," said John Bickerman, the center's research director. The center is a Washington-based, non-profit research group financed largely by private foundations.

"Most people expect this program to be there when they need it," Bickerman said. "Statistics show that four of every 10 adult male workers can expect to be unemployed at some time over a 10-year period."

The number of people both unemployed and not getting jobless benefits last year is more than a quarter of a million people below the 5.87 million average during the 1982 recession, when more than 10 million people were unemployed several months.

But it is still more than 2 million people greater than the number of jobless not getting the benefits for any year in the 1970s, the center said.

Bickerman said more than 340,000 people in 1985 lost unemployment benefits averaging $127 a week as a result of a decision by Congress and the Reagan administration to end the Federal Supplemental Compensation Program last March.

That program, financed entirely by the federal government, was established right before the 1982 election to extend unemployment compensation eligibility for another eight to 14 weeks beyond the normal 26-week maximum of most states. The first 26 weeks of coverage are financed by states, usually through taxes on employers.

Senator thinks MIAs may be alive

HONOLULU (AP) — The leader of a congressional delegation en route to Vietnam said he will brief that country's leaders about a planned U.S. Senate hearing on the possibility that Americans are still alive in Indochina.

Sen. Frank Murkowski, chairman of the Senate Veterans Affairs committee, heads a 26-member entourage that includes another senator and two congressmen traveling to Vietnam and Laos seeking further details on the fate of Americans — living or dead — in Southeast Asia.

Murkowski, who said his committee will hold hearings Jan. 29-30, said he does not rule out the possibility that Americans may still be alive in Vietnam or Laos nearly 13 years after the end of the war.

"I am not without a reasonable doubt," he said.

During the hearings, the Alaska Republican said "anybody who has something substantive pertaining to live sightings will make their statements, and then we will ask the (Reagan) administration to respond."

"We would like them to respond on an individual, case-by-case basis, so perhaps we can narrow down the number of unexplained live sightings," said Murkowski. "I intend to let all the people with information, and who want to be heard, testify."

Murkowski said he would thank the Vietnamese for their apparent willingness to follow up on such reports, and also tell them of his upcoming hearings on the issue.

On Monday, a top Pentagon official said the Vietnamese government has pledged to investigate nearly 100 "live sighting reports" of missing Americans, which remain under scrutiny by the United States.

Richard L. Armitage, U.S. assistant defense secretary for international security affairs, said in Washington that hundreds of live sightings reports have been dismissed in the past decade by the Pentagon as fabrications or because men allegedly involved already were accounted for.

But he said, however, that 95 reports "are under continuing investigation in an attempt to confirm the information."

Also on the fact-finding tour, which will take the delegation to the Philippines, Thailand and Laos are Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., Rep. Bob McEwen, R-Ohio, and Rep. Michael Bilirakis, R-Fla. McEwen and Bilirakis serve on the House Veterans Affairs Committee, and DeConcini is on the same committee in the Senate.

Slow start haunts Howard

Chaps diffuse Hawk upset bid

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

Take away the first six minutes of the game and the Howard College Hawks beat the Midland College Chaparrals last night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. But unfortunately for Howard, the first six minutes of the game can't be erased and the No. 4 ranked Chaparrals came away with a 74-65 win over the Hawks.

After getting off to a horrendous start, the Hawks settled back and fought the Western Junior College Athletic Conference leaders tooth and nail. But in the end, the first six minutes spelled doom for Howard.

In that span the Chaps displayed why they carry such a high ranking. The defending conference champs came out smoking as they ran their man-to-man offense to perfection against Howard. Behind the smooth play of guard Ricky Grace, Midland ran off a 16-2 spurt in the opening six minutes.

Grace spearheaded the attack with four baskets, including two off alley-oops. MC worked its back door and give-and-go plays to the tune of seven baskets in their first ten attempts.

Meanwhile the tight Midland defense forced Howard into seven of their 15 turnovers during the span, prompting Howard coach Ed Sparling to call it the difference in the game. "We came out tight and never really loosened up," he said. "We've been falling behind early all season. I don't have the faintest idea what to do about it. You can't spot a team like Midland 14 points and expect to win."

Howard gamely battled back behind the strong inside play of Mike Duran and outside work of Vernard Goode. Goode scored 9 points and did a fine job of penetrating the MC defense. Duran worked hard underneath, especially the offensive boards. He made 7 of 10 shots and hauled down eight rebounds against a physical Midland front line.

But Midland still held a 41-30 halftime lead.

The Hawks came out and made a six-minute run of their own at the start of the second half. Guard Walter Walker hit three bombs in a row against the Chaps zone as Howard outscored the visitors 16-8 in their run. Mitchell Porter's steal and layup cut the MC lead to 49-46 with 14:23 remaining in the game.

From that point the two teams traded baskets until the scoreboard read 59-56 at the 5:22 mark.

Then Midland guard Mookie Blaylock took over.

While his teammates held Howard scoreless the next three trips down the court, he hit three consecutive shots to give Midland a 65-56 lead with 3:50 remaining.

But Howard would not fold as it answered with 17-footer by Porter, a tip-in by Walt Reynolds and two free throws by Walker. The lead was back to three at 65-62 with 2:15 left.

But the ever-present Blaylock, who ended the game with 28 points, including 8 of his last 9 shots, hit another basket to up the lead to five with 1:40 remaining. Following another Midland basket, Blaylock iced the game when he turned in a three-point play off a driving layup. His free throw gave Midland a commanding 70-62 with just over a minute left.

Sparling says his team's youth showed in the final two minutes. "We had a mental block. I told the kids we had some fouls to waste and they didn't use them. Heck, they're only shooting 54 percent from the line as a team, we might as well have put them on the line." "We're growing up but it's a long, slow process." With the loss Howard falls to 2-2 in conference and 8-9 overall. Midland College is now 4-0 in conference and 18-0 overall. Howard will be in action Thursday in Odessa when they battle Odessa College at 8 p.m.

Baylor violations draw stiff penalty

WACO, Texas (AP) — The NCAA has cited Baylor's basketball program for 30 specific violations that will cost the school six scholarships over the next two seasons and a spot at post-season tournament play, it was reported today.

The violations include players receiving cash, airline tickets, free transportation, and hunting and fishing trips, the Waco Tribune-Herald quoted an unnamed source as saying.

They were detailed in the NCAA's original letter informing Baylor of its findings. The NCAA has made no official announcement yet on its probe.

Although final penalties have not been determined, Baylor will be allowed only 11 scholarships for the 1986-87 season and 13 for the 1987-88 season, the Tribune-Herald said. The NCAA's scholarship limit is 15.

Baylor currently has 15 players on scholarship. The team's only seniors, guard Carlos Briggs and forward Edwin Mitchell, were dismissed by head coach Gene Iba last week for reasons he said were unrelated to the NCAA probe.

Both players, who had been suspended in December by the NCAA, plan to remain in school, and their scholarships could not be transferred even if they were to leave Baylor.

The newspaper reported its source said the scholarship reduction could be reversed, but believes that action unlikely after the NCAA Council's subcommittee on eligibility reduced the season-long suspensions of guard Eric Johnson and post Darryl Middleton to nine games Sunday.

Both players will be eligible to return to action against Texas A&M Feb. 1 in Waco.

Baylor athletic director Bill Menefee, former faculty representative Edwin Horner and new faculty representative David Guinn met with the Committee on Infractions in New Orleans Monday at the NCAA convention.

Under the sanctions outlined by the newspaper's source, Baylor cannot sign any recruits this season, and only up to six for the 1987-88 if all the current players' scholarships are renewed.

Without the sanctions, Baylor would have been able to sign four players in each of the next two years. Two players offered scholarships last spring did not attend Baylor, accounting for the two unused grants.

Only two current players, junior Mark Buchanan and freshmen Stephen Hafford, are not on athletic scholarships. Iba could put either or both on scholarship, but hasn't made a commitment to do so, pending the outcome of the appeals process.

University of California athletic director Dave Maggard, chairman of the subcommittee on eligibility, said one of the sanctions against Baylor included a ban from competing in the NCAA post-season tournament or the National Invitational tournament this year.

Odessa drops Lady Steers

ODESSA — The Odessa High Bronchos put together two strong quarters as they went on to defeat the Big Spring Lady Steers 53-46 last night in District 4-5A play.

Sophomore point guard Katrina Thompson led Big Spring with 11 points. Teresa Pruitt and Monique Jones added 10 points each. Nikki Graham scored a game-high 18 points for the winners.

Big Spring will host Abilene High Friday night in Steer Gym at 8 p.m.

The Lady Steers battled back as they scored 20 points in the final quarter, but it would not be enough to win.

BIG SPRING (46) — Sheri Myrick 2 0 4; Katrina Thompson 5 1 11; Monique Jones 2 6 10; Teresa Pruitt 3 4 10; Tammi Wise 3 2 8; Kelli Burrows 1 1 3, totals 16 14 46.

Steers to host Bronchos

The Big Spring Steers will try to get back on the winning track when they host the Odessa High Bronchos here tonight at 8 in Steer Gym.

The Steers, 1-3 in district play and 2-15 overall, will be trying to rebound from a 66-39 loss to Midland Lee last Friday. In that game Brian Mayfield led the way with 16 points. Sidney Parker added 10 points.

Odessa High, which brings a 6-13 season record into tonight's game, is still looking for its first district win. Paul Chavez leads the Bronchos scoring attack with a 24 point average.

Junior varsity action gets underway at 6:15 p.m.

Officials meeting

The Big Spring Basketball Officials Association will have a meeting Wednesday, Jan. 15 at Goliad Middle School at 6:30 p.m. All members are encouraged to attend this very important meeting.

Cisco dominates HC Queens, 70-57

CISCO — A 17-point burst by Cisco late in the first half spelled the difference in this non-conference game enabling the Lady Wranglers to handily defeat the Howard College Hawk-Queens, 70-57, Monday night in Cisco JC gymnasium.

The Queens took the early lead and held a 19-15 advantage with 4:44 remaining in the first half when Cisco outscored Howard, 17-4, and took a comfortable 32-23 lead into the lockerroom at half.

The Queens continued to struggle in the early part of the second half, falling behind by as much as 21 points before going to a full court press that cut the deficit to ten points with over four minutes to play.

Cisco ended the Howard rally shortly thereafter, forcing three straight Queen turnovers and increased their lead to fourteen. Howard was unable to get any closer than ten points with Cisco easing to the 70-57 victory.

For the game Howard shot an icy 32.5 percent from the field and were outrebounded, 40-33.

One bright spot for the Queens was the fine play of freshman guard Terri Powell, who hit for 20 points. Howard point guard Pam Franklin chipped in 14 and post Carolyn Willard hit for 12.

MONDAY'S RESULTS
Western Texas 88, New Mexico Junior College 70, South Plains 63, Clarendon 62.

Cuyahoga Community College West (Ohio) right-handed pitcher Jeff Shaw, who added 10 mph to his fast ball last summer, says that the Cleveland Indians intend to make him the first player taken in Tuesday's Supplemental Draft.

Heads slim Supplemental picks

Unknown to go first in draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Until last summer, Jeff Shaw was an obscure right-handed pitcher. Today, however, he is expected to be the No. 1 pick in the regular phase of baseball's winter free agent draft. "I never thought I'd go No. 1," said Shaw, who reportedly will be picked by the Cleveland Indians.

The 19-year-old Shaw, a native of Washington Court House, Ohio, who plays for Cuyahoga Community College-West near Cleveland, said he was told by telephone Sunday that the Indians would take him No. 1, but the club would not confirm it Monday.

The Indians, who had the worst record in the American League last season, has the first pick in the regular phase of the draft. The selections are based on the reverse order of how the teams finished, based on percentage, during the 1985 season, with the American and National leagues alternating picks.

Shaw attended a Cincinnati Reds' tryout camp last summer and received little attention. But he and his mother then drove to Columbus, Ohio, for a tryout with the New York Yankees at the home field of New York's Class AAA affiliate, the Columbus Clippers.

At the time, Shaw was enrolled in Rio Grande College.

"We drove up there on a Saturday," Shaw said. "A Yankees' scout wanted to sign me on the spot." After participating in the Yankees' tryout camp, Shaw played in a semipro league in Washington Court House, and increased the speed on his fastball from the 84-85 mph range to 93 mph. His added speed attracted numerous baseball scouts.

In order to be eligible for this week's draft, Shaw then transferred to Cuyahoga Community College, a two-year school.

Other top prospects in this year's secondary phase include Toby Nivens, a freshman pitcher at San Jacinto Junior College in Texas; Mark Cole, a shortstop from Seminole Junior College in Oklahoma; outfielder Scott Ruskin, formerly of the University of Florida; and Gerry Nielsen, a pitcher from Sacramento Community College.

The Minnesota Twins have the first choice in the secondary phase, the order of which was determined by drawing lots.

For the first time in the event's history, the draft will be held in secret.

Members of the media will be barred from the draft at the commissioner's office and at the offices of the teams where officials, as has been the case, will make their picks in a telephone hookup. Also, instead of immediately releasing the names of all the players chosen in the first two rounds of the regular phase and all the players selected in the secondary phases, as was customary, baseball officials will not disclose the choice until seven days later. And then, only in alphabetical order, without noting the rounds in which the player was drafted.

Reportedly, the change was made to frustrate college recruiters.

"Our draft was turning into recruiting lists for some schools," one baseball club's scouting director was quoted as saying in Newsday. "We'd do all the work, spend all the money, scouting high school talent. Then, as soon as we had the draft, college coaches would call these players in the first couple of rounds and offer them full scholarships, sight unseen."

Reportedly, another aim of the blackout is to prevent agents from learning which players are most highly regarded — those who are likely to command the higher signing bonuses.

Those eligible in the regular phase are January high school graduates, players who have withdrawn from four-year colleges and junior college players. Those eligible in the secondary phase are previously drafted players who did not sign.

BYU upsets No. 13 Notre Dame

By The Associated Press
The Notre Dame basketball team was knocked down a peg by Brigham Young after moving up a few notches in the national rankings.

"We didn't play well at all," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps after Monday night's 80-76 overtime upset by the Cougars. "They made some good shots and played well offensively and defensively."

The Irish had jumped three notches to No. 13 in the polls just before Monday night's game.

In other games involving the nation's ranked teams, No. 3 Duke whipped St. Joseph's 87-66; No. 12 Alabama-Birmingham stopped 18 points in overtime to lead BYU's upset of the Fighting Irish. Gnetting scored on a layup and added a free throw with 1:33 left in the overtime to give the Cougars a 76-75 lead.

BYU used a 13-2 spurt midway through the first half to go from a 19-16 deficit to a 29-21 lead. The Irish did not regain the lead until Mark Stevenson connected on a 10-foot jumper with 2:58 left in the overtime.

But Gnetting countered with a layup at the 2:30 mark and the Cougars didn't trail again.

Mark Alarie scored 22 points and Johnny Dawkins 21 as Duke defeated St. Joseph's, the 15th straight victory for the undefeated Blue Devils. The Blue Devils outscored St. Joseph's 22-2 during 8½ minutes in the second half, turning a six-point lead into a 26-point advantage.

The loss snapped an eight-game winning streak for St. Joseph's, 9-3. "I'm kind of bewildered as to how well we played in the second half against a real good team," said Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski. "We had a terrific second half, dynamite basketball, and I'm not a guy to overly praise my team."

Steve Mitchell scored 24 points and Jerome Mincy had 25 points and a game-high 10 rebounds to lead Alabama-Birmingham over South Alabama.

UAB took the lead at the start and never lost it, although South Alabama clawed to within one point on several occasions. Mincy was five of six from the floor during the first half on his way to scoring 16 points as the Blazers led 36-25 at the half. In the second period, Mitchell and Mincy continued to hit during the first 10 minutes of the half, helping UAB pull away.

John Williams scored 21 points to lead Louisiana State to an easy victory over Mississippi. LSU pulled away from a 10-10 tie to go ahead 44-29 at intermission and coasted the rest of the way.

Roderick Barnes paced the Rebels with 22 points. Jeff Hall hit a 20-foot jumper to break a 54-54 tie with 1:21 remaining and Louisville added three free throws to hold off Southern Mississippi.

Louisville built a six-point lead with 12:58 to play, but Southern, led by a pressing defense, rallied to 67-67 with 3½ minutes to play. Billy Thompson added a pair of free throws and Herbert Crook one to preserve the victory for Louisville in the final minute.

Hersey Hawkins scored 25 points, including the tying basket as time ran out, and Bradley went on to defeat Dayton in overtime. Newly-arrived to the polls, the Braves improved their record to 16-1.

Others

Brian Humea had 20 points and Detroit held off a late surge by Butler to post a 75-73 win. Doug West scored 15 points and Ken Wilson added 13 to pace Villanova over Connecticut 68-59. Derek Rucker contributed 20 points to lead Davidson to a 92-71 decision over Western Carolina. Doug Turner hit a 15-foot jump shot with 20 seconds remaining to give St. Bonaventure an 82-81 victory over Rhode Island.

College Roundup

South Alabama 77-64; No. 14 Louisiana State beat Mississippi 86-68; No. 18 Louisville defeated Southern Mississippi 59-54 and No. 20 Bradley edged Dayton 79-77 in overtime.

Hawk Profile

Mitchell Porter followed his brother Michael's footsteps in attending Howard College.

The 6-1, 16-year-old freshman forward hails from Hattiesburg, Miss. He has been playing competitive basketball for the past five years.

"I love to play the game because God blessed me with the talent," said Porter. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Miller credits his father with his basketball success because "he worked me hard when I was small."

Porter lists his favorite subject as biology and says fishing is his favorite hobby.

His future plans include attending a Division I college and major in communications. "After graduation, I plan to pursue a career in television or radio communications."

PUBLIC NOTICE
HOWARD COUNTY CONSOLIDATED TAX APPRAISAL DISTRICT
1986 EXEMPTIONS AND VALUATION APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS
RESIDENTIAL HOME OWNERS

All residential homeowners need to file a 1986 homestead exemption application in order to confirm their current qualification for the exemption.

All property owners granted a homestead exemption for 1985 were mailed applications for homestead exemptions for 1986. All persons, upon receipt of their applications, should read the application to determine the correctness of the address and legal description, sign the form and return to this office in the addressed envelope provided by the District.

All property owners not granted a homestead in 1985 should apply at the District Office, located in the basement of the Howard County Courthouse, 101 W. 3rd Street, Big Spring, Texas.

DISABLED VETERANS AND THEIR SURVIVORS
Disabled veterans and survivors need not apply for their exemptions unless 1) the veterans percent of disability has changed or, 2) the veteran has acquired property not covered under his prior years exemption.

AGRICULTURAL LAND OWNERS
Property owners who have applied under articles VIII I-D or VIII I-D-1 (Texas Constitution) for ag-use valuation in 1985 or prior years need not reapply.

If the use of all or part of qualifying land changes to a non-qualifying use the property owners must notify the Chief Appraiser in writing before April 1st, 1986.

Property Owners who have not applied for ag-use valuation in prior years should file an application.

PERSONS, CORPORATIONS AND ASSOCIATIONS
Having one or more of the following exemptions must apply for the exemption annually:
1. Solar and wind powered energy devices exemption.
2. Cemetery exemption.
3. Historic site exemption.
4. Miscellaneous (under Sec. 11.25 State Property Tax Code)

Forms are available at: The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District Office
