San Angelo adds aid to SSC

City chips in to entice atom smasher to Garden City

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

San Angelo joined Big Spring Monday in pledging to finance a site study for an enormous particle collider that, if built, would thrust this area to the forefront of atomic study.

San Angelo's Board of City Development-Chamber of Commerce pledged $25,000 to fund the study, with Midland and Odessa expected to match the sum.

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation several months ago pledged $25,000 to help write the site study, said Hooper Sanders, foundation vice president.

Coordinating the effort to write the study is the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The study is already in the preliminary stages, said Adolph Janka of the West Texas Chamber.

Data has been gathered pertaining to soil composition and core borings in the Garden City area, one of 22 areas proposed nationwide, he said.

Building the Supercooled Super Collider, a $3 billion to $6 billion project that would enhance scientists ability to study subatomic particles, would give this area an enormous economic boost, Janka said.

The proposed atom smasher would usher into West Texas a base for high tech industry, something the area has been trying to lure for

Magazine: Gramm for president?

By PHILLIP SWANN

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau WASHINGTON - Although Sen. Phil Gramm has dismissed talk he might run for president in 1988, a leading conservative magazine has tossed his hat in the ring for him.

In its January issue, Conservative Digest has published interviews with whom the magazine calls the 10 "most likely" GOP candidates for president in 1988. The list includes Vice President George Bush, Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., and Gramm, R-Texas.

Larry Neal, Gramm's press secretary, reiterated Tuesday the senator does not plan to run for president in 1988.

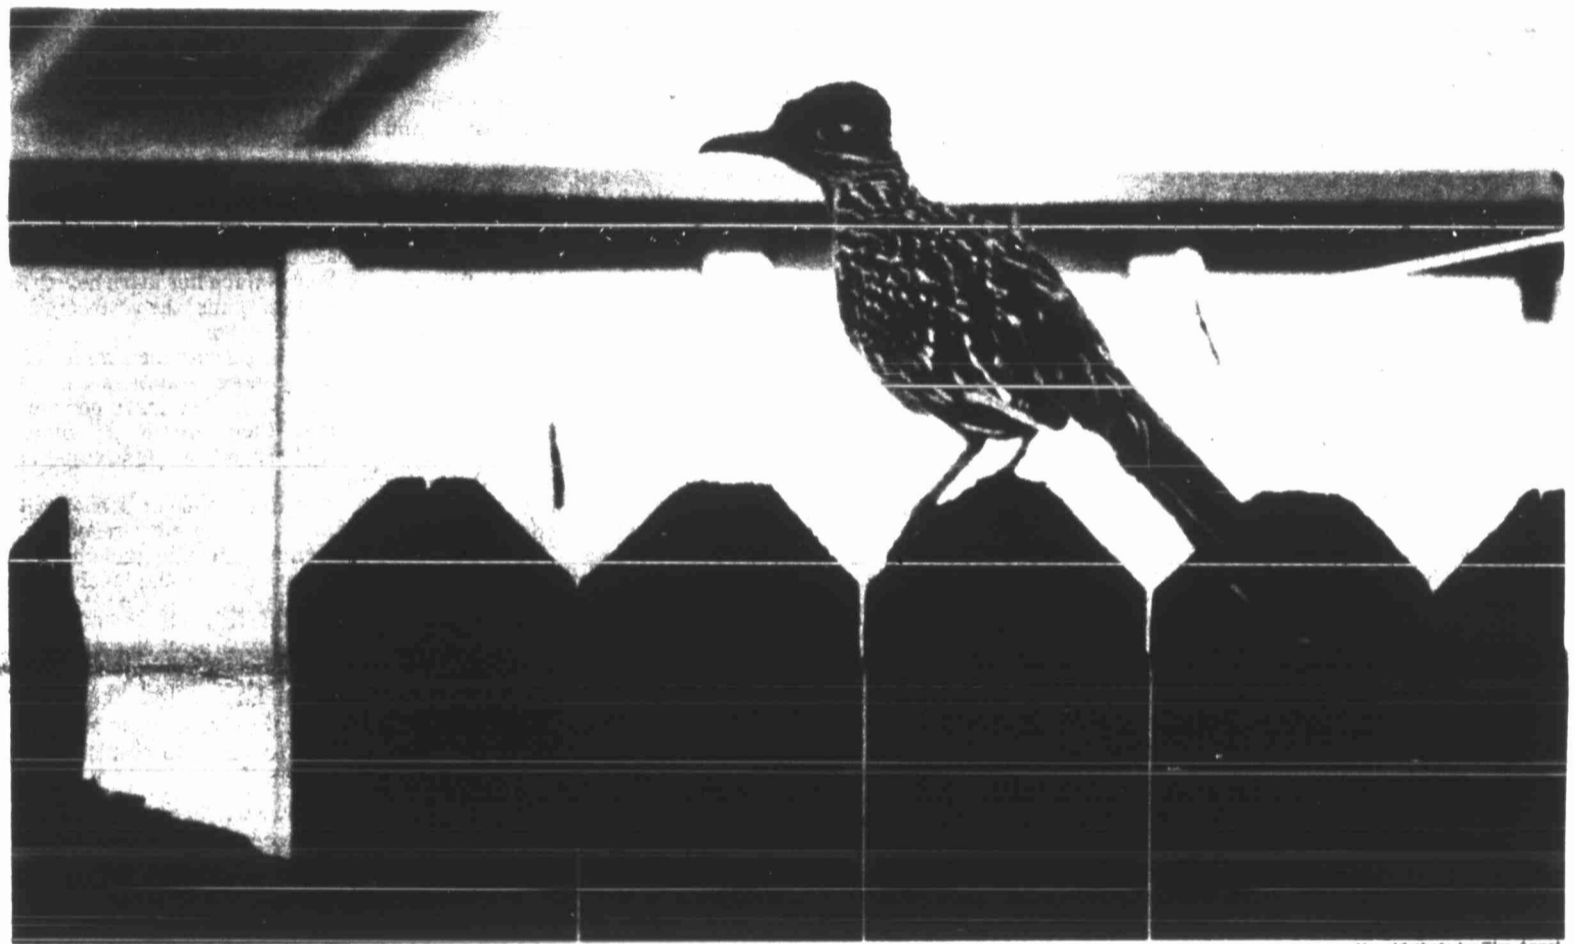

"The senator has indicated that he has not heard anyone knocking on his door, and he has looked out the window and hasn't seen anybody coming up the path," Neal said.

But Conservative Digest said the Texas lawmaker's work on the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction plan "has been the talk of the nation's capital for months." The proposal, enacted by Congress last year, forces Congress and the president to eliminate the federal deficit by 1991.

The publication adds that Gramm is "especially respected for his personal integrity, economic knowledge and persuasive skills that get things done which others have thought to be politically impossible."

In the magazine interview, Gramm outlines his positions on several major issues. He calls for less government spending, tougher restrictions on abortions and

A roadrunner takes advantage of the unseasonable weather, basking in the sun on a fence near College Park shopping center. A high in the upper

Firm files for lower electric rates

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN - The Texas Utilities Electric Company filed an application Tuesday with the state Public Utility Commission asking approval to decrease fuel charges to customers by about $233 million yearly.

Texas Electric Service Co. of Big Spring is a division of the company.

The utility also is seeking authorization to refund about $78 million to its customers. The refund, about $13 per residential customer, is a result of the savings brought about by lower-than-expected costs of natural gas used to make electricity.

According to a company news release, the $233 million decrease in fuel charges will lower fuel costs from 2.79 cents per kilowatt-hour to 2.46 cents per kilowatt-hour. The lower fuel charge will save the average residential customer about $45 a year, the utility said.

"We will continue to aggressively pursue contracts for lower-priced gas in our efforts to keep fuel cost to our customers as low as reasonably possible," vice president Tom Baker said.

TUEC announced its plans to ask the PUC's approval of the refund and lower fixed charge in December. The company serves parts of West, North Central and East Texas.

County to collect taxes for school district

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Independent School District should save at least $20,000 a year by consolidating its tax collection with Howard County, school district tax assessor-collector Don Green said this morning.

School board trustees unanimously approved contracting with the county tax assessor's and collector's office during a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The contract stipulates that county tax assessor and collector Dorothy Moore and her office deputies will assess and collect the school district's taxes for the next two years, beginning Oct. 1.

Monday night's approval capped nearly six months of discussion about consolidating tax assessing and collecting duties with the county, said board member Don Wise.

The only taxing entities in the county that have not entered into a tax collection contract with Moore's office are the Coahoma and Forsan school districts.

Prior to voting on the motion, assistant superintendent Don Crockett told board members that efforts would be made to relocate three employees in the district's tax office to other jobs in the district.

Crockett also told board members that the contract allows the school district to give final approval of the calculated tax rate.

"We keep our responsibility and retain the right to set the tax rate if we don't like her (Dorothy Moore's) figures," Crockett said.

He reminded board members that the contract did not affect the school district's policy of dealing with delinquent taxpayers. Crockett said, however, that proposals are being voiced from tax entity officials to retain one attorney to review all the entities' delinquent taxpayers.

Board member Al Valdes, who was late to the meeting and missed the vote, said he approved of the action.

"I think that's good Mrs. Moore

C-City school board renews superintendent's contract

COLORADO CITY - The Colorado Independent School District board renewed Superintendent Charlie Uselton's contract and voted to hire Donald Nimmo of Jacksboro as the new assistant superintendent at a meeting Monday night.

Nimmo replaces Dr. Walt Bingham, who resigned Dec. 6 to accept a position as superintendent in Malakoff.

As assistant superintendent, Nimmo will oversee curriculum, teacher evaluations and special education programs.

Uselton's new contract calls for a pay increase of $1,368, making his annual salary $55,525. He is supplied an automobile and allowed $1,800 for car expenses. Nimmo's salary was set at $43,000 with $1,200 travel expenses.

Also decided on was a hike in the driver's education fee from $85 to $110. "Everything has to be financed locally now," Uselton said. "We lost a little over $2,000 last year because our fees weren't high enough."

City sets new cable franchise

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The City Council last night passed a resolution calling for a new contract with Telecable Associates, Inc., the owners of Big Spring Cable TV, which would raise the franchise fee the company pays the city.

Under terms of the new contract, the city will boost its franchise fee, a fee imposed for the use of public right-of-ways for cable wires and equipment, from 3 percent to 4 percent of the firm's gross revenue. Last fiscal year the city collected $41,182 in fees from the company.

"I feel like this is an equitable compromise for the company and the city," City Manager Don Davis told the council.

The council also authorized Howard County to collect and assess city taxes.

Under the agreement, which also was entered into Tuesday by the Big Spring Independent School District, the county will be responsible for collecting taxes, assessing property value, and collecting delinquent taxes for each taxing entity.

The city and school district will pay the county a fee based on about 1 percent of the total tax revenue collected for them by the county. Last year the county collected $2,355,680 in tax revenue for the city, said county tax assessor and collector Dorothy Moore.

In other business the council:

• Approved specifications and permission to advertise for bids for three 30-yard roll-off containers, diesel cab chassis and hydraulic roll-off assembly, fertilizer for parks, six pick-up trucks and long-distance telephone service.

• Awarded a $35,260.77 bid to Pollard Chevrolet for three new police cars.

• Accepted a bid of $40,136 from Pollard Chevrolet for new detective cars.

• Awarded a $910 bid to Dacia Fire Equipment of Lubbock for police lights, sirens and speakers; a $184 bid to Enforcement Equipment of Kansas City for police barriers; and a $469 bid to West Texas Fire Extinguisher Co. of Big Spring for hand held spotlights and flashlights.

Mainstreaming

Program for blind leads students to use other senses

ARLINGTON (AP) — Each day as 7-year-old Lizzie Phillips searches for her reading clues at Corey Elementary, her gait slows and a look of concentration clouds her face.

She listens intently to the cheery chatter coming from each classroom along the extended hallway.

Her main clue is the sound of her teacher's voice. Today, though, the teacher isn't talking and Lizzie walks right past the room.

When she reaches a part of the hallway that dips steeply downward, she stops. That is her second clue.

"That's right, you've gone too far," says Jana Almquist, one of the district's four teachers for the visually handicapped.

After a quick about-face, Lizzie strolls confidently into the correct room.

"She's been working really hard at listening to what's around her and recognizing her classroom," said Almquist.

Lizzie is one of the 50 visually impaired students in the Arlington Independent School District.

She is also a product of the district's main emphasis for special education students — mainstreaming.

Mainstreaming strives to help special education students participate in regular classes and student activities.

"Our goal is that they develop a great deal of independence," said Margie Gunther, director of special education. "They are not segregated from their peers at all."

The school district seems to have done so well at mainstreaming that some parents of special education students who move to the area settle in Arlington because of its first-rate program.

The Phillipses moved to Arlington 3½ years ago from Waxahachie. "We came to Arlington because of the schools," said Rhonda Phillips, Lizzie's mother.

While in Waxahachie, Lizzie was enrolled in preschool classes at Dallas Services for the Visually Impaired from the time she was 2 years old.

"I finally decided I didn't want to do that forever," Mrs. Phillips said.

She and her husband, Gary, checked out the special education programs of area school districts. Arlington and Richardson came out on top, she said.

They chose Arlington because they had lived here in the past. "It's just been wonderful," Mrs. Phillips said. "Her progress has been amazing."

Mainstreaming requires a cooperative effort between special education and regular teachers, Almquist said.

Lizzie Phillips, 7, reads an assignment in her first grade class at Corey Elementary School in Arlington. Lizzie is one of the 50 visually impaired students in the city's school district and is a product of the district's emphasis for special education students — mainstreaming.

"It takes a very special person to adapt," she said. "We try to help the teachers as much as possible."

For Lizzie to participate in regular classes, Almquist receives her assignments several days ahead of time from her teachers and puts them in braille for her.

She also translates her homework papers from braille into writing so each teacher can grade them.

The district has invested funds in providing up-to-date equipment for the visually handicapped students to use.

This semester, Lizzie has been learning to use an optacon, which allows her to read material that is not in braille.

The $5,000 device consists of a small, closed circuit camera that converts pictures of letters into tactile impulses.

Students place an index finger on a sensing device and are able to feel words spelled out through vibrating impulses.

"It tickles," said Lizzie, who has mastered many letters and a few words on the machine.

Education for the visually impaired is available for children from birth through age 21.

"A lot of people don't know that right from the minute they are identified as visually impaired they can get services," Almquist said.

She stressed the importance of parents getting help early for their sight-disabled children.

"Ninety percent of everything an infant learns is through the visual sense," Almquist said.

The teachers currently work with five infants.

"Most of our students are low vision," said Almquist. "It's just a matter of teaching them how to use adaptive equipment."

The low vision students learn to use telescopes and magnifiers to read blackboards and street signs.

Keema McClung, the orientation and mobility teacher for the district, helps students use their other senses to find their way around.

"We want them to be able to travel as comfortably, as safely and as confidently as possible," she said.

When Lizzie changed schools this year, her orientation and mobility teacher spent many days before school helping her learn how to find her classrooms, the restrooms and the lunchroom.

"We begin with the simple and go to the more complicated," McClung said. "We start out with a room, then go to a home, a neighborhood, a classroom, or a mall."

The first week of school, all of Lizzie's classmates received instruction on how to guide her when the class goes to the lunchroom or on field trips.

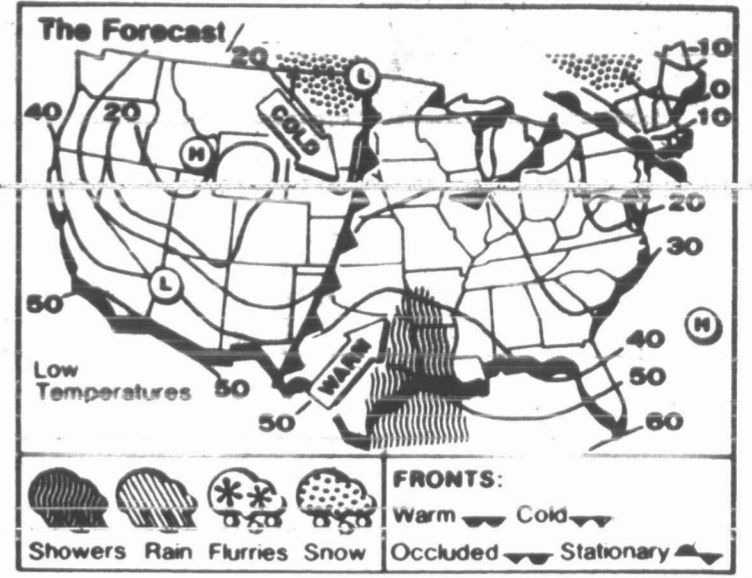

Now, several of her classmates argue over who gets to take her to lunch.

Mrs. Phillips attributes much of that to the mainstreaming program.

"Instead of worrying about the kids accepting her, the kids just love her," Mrs. Phillips said.

Almquist said she gets positive comments from the students about the program.

Weather

Local

West Texas: Partly cloudy tonight with isolated light showers far west and Big Bend gradually spreading into the Permian Basin and Concho Valley late tonight and early Thursday. Mostly sunny otherwise Thursday. Highs Thursday generally in the 60s but cooling into the upper 50s panhandle Thursday. Lows tonight mostly 30s except to mid 40s Big Bend of Rio Grande and Concho Valley.

State

A high-pressure ridge over the central Gulf of Mexico pumped low-level moisture into Southeast Texas today, threatening to bring an end to the mostly clear and mild conditions across the Lone Star State.

Dense fog formed over the extreme southeast corner of the state, reducing visibility to near zero in the Beaumont area. An upper-level system moving in from the west spread high cloudiness over most of the rest of the state.

The National Weather Service said only the Panhandle and Northeast Texas had clear skies.

Early-morning temperatures were in the 30s across Southeast, North Central and most of West Texas, along with isolated spots in the Edwards Plateau. Central Texas and the lower Rio Grande valley lingered in the 50s, with 40s throughout the rest of Texas.

Extreme readings ranged from 30 at Amarillo in the Panhandle to 56 degrees at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi.

Winds were southerly at 5 to 10 mph over the Panhandle, South Plains and North Central Texas and light and variable elsewhere.

Increasing cloudiness was expected in most sections tonight with a chance of showers in the south and far west. The weather service predicted clearing conditions in the west Thursday and partly cloudy skies in the north, while it should be mostly cloudy in the south and east with a chance of rain.

He is being challenged by Travis Floyd, R-Big Spring, who also filed for candidacy last week.

a long time, he said. Furthermore, construction of the multibillion dollar project would spawn jobs and infuse capital into the local economy, Janka said.

Another economic benefit would be the influx of hundreds, perhaps thousands of some of the brightest and highest paid scientists in the world, he said.

Janka said the four cities bidding to bring the huge synchrotron to the area have a good shot at gathering the resources to do it. Competition for the proposed project, however, is stiff.

Some proposed sites have spent millions of dollars to persuade the Department of Energy to build the particle collider on their turf, Janka said.

Still, the area's chances of becoming the mecca of quantum physics are buoyed some by its geology. Janka said he was told by a Texas A&M University engineer the Garden City site is probably the most economically feasible of all the sites proposed if the synchrotron is 60 miles in circumference. A site near Pecos might be more feasible if the collider is 100 miles around, he said.

The Supercooled Super Collider will consist of a six-inch thick concrete tunnel about six to seven feet in diameter buried 30 feet underground housing 4,000 SuperTex magnets cooled to 450 degrees below zero, according to a Houston Area Research Center fact sheet. Beams of protons, the elementary particles of atoms, would be sped through the tunnel at nearly the speed of light before colliding and releasing subatomic particles so scientists can study the mysteries of the atom.

Janka said he was told that the synchrotron "will be to science and physics what NASA is to space."

Building seen as start

AUSTIN — Construction of an office building in Austin by Japanese companies indicates a potential for greater investment in the city, business and public officials say.

Sumitomo Construction Co. of Tokyo and its real estate arm, Sumiken Real Estate Co., plan to begin construction next month on a $6.3 million, five-story office center near downtown Austin.

It represents the first commercial development by Japanese companies in the Austin area.

McGREGOR — When Alma Bass, 71, was notified recently that she now is eligible for a pension from the Veterans Administration, she was pleased.

Before long, however, the McGregor widow was wishing she'd never heard the good news.

Officials told her the pension pushed her income about $50 above a state cutoff, so that she is now ineligible to receive Medicaid. That means, she says, that she can no longer afford the cost of her care at Westview Manor Nursing Home here.

Buying methods change

WASHINGTON — The creative financing tactics employed by many home buyers during the 1970s are giving way to more traditional borrowing patterns in the 1980s as inflation abates, a national group of lenders said today.

The U.S. League of Savings Institutions said the changes have resulted in a resurgence in popularity for the 15-year mortgage, a financing technique that all but disappeared in the past two decades.

During the 1970s, many Americans sought to buy the most expensive home they could afford, stretching their finances to the limit in the belief that inflation would drive home prices skyward, enabling them to increase their equity and sell their homes for a handsome profit, the study said.

Slow sales year seen

NEW YORK — Another so-so year for the nation's big retailers is expected for 1986.

Consumer buying — which represents two-thirds of the gross national product — powered the economic expansion of the past few years, but slowed in 1985 and should slow even more this year, the experts say.

Although Americans' confidence remains high, their needs pretty much have been sated, analysts say. Sales also have been dampened by extraordinary consumer debt and low savings, many economists believe.

American stars are idolized in Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — To many Pakistanis there is nothing more moving or heroic than John Wayne letting the bad guys have it with both barrels or the sight of Rambo solving a nagging international dispute with a machine gun.

Hollywood's men of action are revered figures in Pakistan, their violent exploits marveled at in cinemas from one end of the country to the other. And although a star's fame may wane in his own land, America's rugged screen heroes are not soon forgotten in Pakistan.

"Such towering behemoths as Clark Gable, Gregory Peck, Errol Flynn, Stewart Granger, Glenn Ford and John Wayne to name a few," exulted a film critic in a recent article praising American action films.

Such figures are deeply admired in Pakistan's male-dominated society, which is proud of its warrior traditions. Stars like Clint Eastwood are held up as role models.

"Eastwood is the man every boy dreams of becoming and every man regrets he could never be," enthused one fan in a letter to a magazine.

The recent deaths, in quick succession, of Yul Brynner, Orson Welles and Rock Hudson prompted more than one newspaper to mourn their passing in editorials. "The death of these movie giants is a sad and irreparable loss for millions of filmgoers around the world," commented the Muslim in its editorial.

The preoccupation with manliness means that American actresses do not receive the same attention or devotion as their male counterparts. American actresses are rarely mentioned in film columns, and usually only action films find a big audience.

A critic in a recent review of "Places in the Heart," starring Sally Field, commented that the film wasn't too bad, but the inclusion of a romantic angle was quite unnecessary and spoiled the plot.

Strict censorship, imposed to ensure that imported movies do not offend the country's strict Islamic laws and customs, has tended to help minimize the role of American actresses. Any suggestion of sex, including a kiss, must be cut out of films, but movie critics complain that zealous censors go too far, cutting out shots in which a woman's ankle is visible or even close-ups of an actress' face. "In the process (the censors) destroy the continuity of the movie," complained one critic.

The advent of video cassette recorders has helped Pakistanis see Western movies uncensored and also increased their access to the films. Many villages far from cinemas now have restaurants or tea shops with VCRs on which movies are shown for the patrons.

The appeal of a movie like "Rambo" easily reaches across cultural and linguistic boundaries to find huge popularity in Pakistan. "The sense of insecurity and the string of frustrations that hound the man in the street are all forgotten once the viewer enters the cinema hall and watches with intent eyes all that goes on the screen. Such films act like opiates," wrote one critic of the epic starring Sylvester Stallone. But a movie like "Rambo" can also be taken seriously by some Pakistanis as a realistic reflection of what goes on in the world.

"Rambo" throws ample light on the international scene and the behavior of the big-wigs involved in recent events," commented the Pakistan Times newspaper in its review of the movie.

The high cost of bringing in American movies means that many obscure U.S. films tend to show up in Pakistan.

Newer American action stars rapidly find a following in Pakistan. But some critics responded to Arnold Schwarzenegger movies by longing for the old days when movie studios ensured that stars had simple names. "Such a tongue-twister," one critic commented.

Gemayel rival gives up

BEIRUT, Lebanon — President Amin Gemayel's main Christian rival, Elie Hobeika, surrendered today as forces loyal to the president and a rebel militia figure stormed Hobeika's headquarters near Beirut's harbor, military sources said.

The sources said Hobeika's Lebanese Forces militia, its strength cut in half by the sudden defection of military commander Samir Geagea, had been barraged for eight hours by tank and gunboat fire before surrendering.

Hobeika and Gemayel have been struggling for leadership of Lebanon's Christian community.

Kremlin cautions Japan

TOKYO — The Soviet Union's foreign minister told his Japanese counterpart today that Japan should be cautious about participating with the United States in research on the "Star Wars" space weapons program, a Foreign Ministry official said.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, quoted Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze as saying Japan should "consider its own national interests" when deciding whether to cooperate in research on a space-based anti-missile system. The program officially is known as the Strategic Defense Initiative.

Chileans plan protest

SANTIAGO, Chile — Supporters of the military government planned demonstrations today when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who has denounced Chile's human rights record, arrives for talks with opposition leaders.

Francisco Hernandez, director of the state radio network, said after a Cabinet meeting Tuesday that pro-government groups were instructed to refrain from violence but were being allowed to hold street protests against the Massachusetts Democrat.

Fight goes on in Yemen

MANAMA, Bahrain — Diplomats and Persian Gulf sources said today that South Yemeni air force planes bombed the capital's airport and harbor, and that forces loyal to the president made small gains in the third day of fighting for control of the impoverished Soviet ally.

Officials in the North African country of Algeria said an Algerian diplomat was killed in the fighting. They did not identify him, or give the circumstances of his death. Japanese sources had said earlier the diplomat was killed by a stray bullet.

Hunger research overly simplified

The problem with statistical research is that statistics can lie. Any researcher will admit that. We think that's the problem with a new poverty study just out.

Research by Harvard University led to the conclusion that our neighboring counties of Glasscock (Garden City) and Mitchell (Colorado City) are home to some of the hungriest people in America. We don't doubt but what there are poor people in these counties, but we do question the accuracy of a statement as sweeping as Harvard's — especially when you consider that Harvard is a long way from West Texas.

The Harvard study identified counties in which 20 percent or more of residents live below the federal poverty level ($10,609 annually for a family of four) AND where fewer than one-third of eligible residents receive food stamps. Then it "ranked" those counties on a "hunger index." Under those guidelines, Mitchell County came up 106th "hungriest" in the nation and Glasscock rated even worse, at No. 63.

Within the study's guidelines, though, are so many variables that the Harvard conclusions almost cannot help but be wrong, or at least misleading.

One welfare worker pointed out yesterday that Mitchell County doesn't have a particularly high unemployment rate. Another noted that in agricultural communities the family income might qualify them for food stamps but the assets of the farm would make them ineligible. In a less abstract sense, the farm itself is a source of sustenance for many of these people.

In other families, pride of heritage may inhibit them from seeking public assistance. That same family pride might provide a built-in safety net through the extended family. Charity assistance, too, can differ from county to county, state to state.

In short, the goal of the survey — determining pockets of intense poverty in the United States and bringing them to public attention — is a laudable one. The research itself, though, is suspect because it is built on an overly simplified premise.

Smart brain, sloppy pen

Jeanne Kirkpatrick, who served for four years as ambassador to the United Nations, was the most prominent intellectual in the Reagan administration, recruited because of her reputation as a weighty thinker on the U.S. role in the world. If anyone can make a persuasive case for President Reagan's military buildup, she can.

But she can't. Kirkpatrick, who now supplements her scholarly work with a syndicated weekly newspaper column, this week addressed the "growing vulnerability of the United States."

The article is a display of deceit, ignorance and intellectual confusion. It offers a revealing look at the weird thinking that dominates this administration.

Reviewing 1985, she writes, "For the first time in American history an adversary has the ability to destroy our country and us in a matter of minutes. The Soviet advantage in nuclear missiles is real and growing. Our capacity for deterrence is minimal and declining."

The Soviet ability to annihilate us, contrary to Kirkpatrick's implication, is nothing new. It dates back to the 1950s. This vulnerability was not the product of stupid American policies, but of the unprecedented power of nuclear weapons.

Nor do the Soviets have us outgunned. The U.S. can hit them with 13,000 nuclear warheads, 50 percent more than they can send against us. Theirs are concentrated in vulnerable, land-based missiles; most of ours are on invulnerable submarines. Besides depolying increasingly accurate ballistic missiles on land and at sea, we have a huge lead in developing cruise missiles, which threaten to ruin the Soviets' investment in air defense.

Kirkpatrick's tirade continues: "The growth of Soviet military power matters when the Soviets have enough missiles of enough accuracy to knock out our missiles. It matters when they can assure our destruction and we can neither destroy their missiles nor protect ourselves."

She neglects to mention, worse, she may not realize, that the prospect of pre-emption endangers only our land-based missiles, which carry only a fifth of the U.S. stockpile. It would leave us with the capacity to level every Soviet target several times.

It does matter that we can't defend against a nuclear attack. It matters just as much that the Soviets can't either. This mutual vulnerability has kept the peace for 40 years. But deterrence, insists Kirkpatrick, is eroding.

Besides their imaginary nuclear lead, with its fictional threat to our retaliatory capacity, the Soviets are "well ahead in anti-ballistic missile defense." The Soviets have indeed done more research than we have on ballistic missile defenses, but it is nonsense to say this poses any real threat to our deterrent. Certainly the U.S. ought to be conducting research of its own, if only as a hedge against the slim possibility of a Soviet breakthrough.

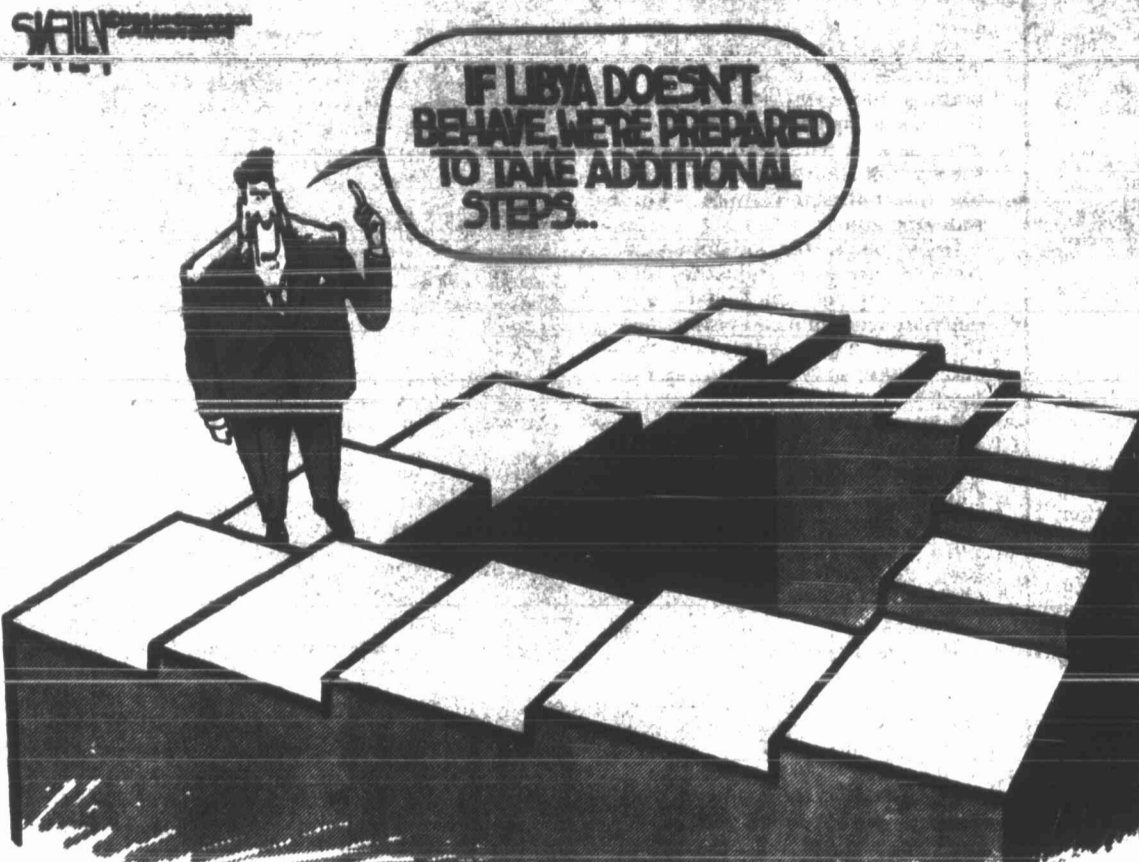

But that is no justification for Reagan's "Star Wars," which Kirkpatrick says can make 1986 "the year that America is delivered from the threat of nuclear checkmate."

Is she this ill-informed or just a hopelessly sloppy writer? Not even Reagan claims it could be deployed in the next 12 months.

And its realistic promise falls far short of making Soviet missiles, as the President put it, "impotent and obsolete." One leading advocate, retired Lt. Gen. Daniel O. Graham, says he would consider Star Wars a success if it could knock out 30 percent of incoming warheads.

Kirkpatrick's article is a sorry specimen of conservative disinformation. It's hard to believe any intelligent observer of these issues could swallow nonsense like this.

Khomeini's seminary chief mastermind of subversion

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
 WASHINGTON — Iran's chief prosecutor, Musavi Khomeini, is one of three Iranian officials who bear the ultimate responsibility for the kidnappings and murders of Americans around the world over the last few years. He is outranked only by the Ayatollah Khomeini and his designated successor, the Ayatollah Montazeri, in Tehran's hierarchy of terror and subversion.

As most committed of the committed, Khomeini was entrusted with the leadership of Khomeini's theological seminary in the holy city of Qom, which has churned out hundreds of zealots/terrorists in recent years. Khomeini himself had attended the school years earlier, and was Khomeini's favorite student.

Not only Iranians enroll at the Qom seminary. Students from other Middle Eastern and African countries also come for concentrated indoctrination in "Moslem fundamentalism." Before they return home to foment rebellion or travel elsewhere to conduct terrorist actions, the young revolutionaries are given an intensive one-week course in weapons and explosives at the Lavizan military camp in northern Iran, and equipped with new identities.

Among the homicidal alumni of Iranian terrorist training were the young gunmen and grenade throwers who recently staged simultaneous attacks at the Rome and Vienna airports, according to intelligence sources.

According to a highly sensitive U.S. intelligence report, Khomeini was for more than a decade an "agent of influence" employed by the KGB. The information came from an Iranian communist leader who recently defected to the West. The defector had been Khomeini's KGB paymaster.

The two men first met in Leipzig, East Germany, in 1961, shortly after Khomeini had completed studies at Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow. They saw each other frequently between 1965 and 1975. Khomeini, who had joined Khomeini's exiled followers in Iraq, shuttled between Baghdad and Leipzig as often as four times a month to collect his own salary and funds for Khomeini's underground fight against the shah.

Khomeini has been called "the ayatollah in the embassy" because he helped plan and lead the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran in November 1979, and also interrogated some of the hostages. He evidently has kept his hand in: He was at least aware of the interrogation and torture of CIA agent William Buckley in Tehran — if he did not actually participate in it. Buckley died of torture-induced heart failure early last year in a Tehran hospital, according to U.S. intelligence sources.

Khomeini has been tapped regularly by Khomeini for special subversive missions over the years. In 1962, he was appointed leader of more than 100,000 Iranian Shiites making the annual pilgrimage to Mecca in Saudi Arabia. Less than two weeks after he arrived, however, the Saudis expelled him when he was caught red-handed trying to recruit local fundamentalists for an uprising against the Saudi government.

In 1963, Khomeini was back in Mecca, addressing some 300 Moslem clerics from Asian and African countries, urging them to overthrow the "godless regimes" at home in favor of an Islamic state.

In November 1963, Khomeini popped up in Britain, traveling under an assumed name with a Syrian passport. He was supposed to organize Moslem students and workers and open secret accounts in offshore banks on the channel island of Jersey, but he fled after being discovered by anti-terrorist authorities.

A month later, he was seen in East Berlin, where he is believed to have helped organize bombings of France's super-train, La Tres Grande Vitesse, and the Marseille passenger station. His suspected collaborator in these enterprises was the notorious Ilyich Ramirez Sanchez, better known as Carlos the Jackal, who later claimed credit for the bombings.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We've often suspected the Pentagon had more than its share of fruitcakes in its purchasing departments, but nothing demonstrated this nuttiness more biting than the 18-page specification deemed necessary for contractors who wanted a slice of the military's annual fruitcake budget. Eighteen pages? The intention, a Pentagon spokesman said, was to prevent a cake maker from cutting corners. But as Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., pointed out, "If they go to such lengths for fruitcakes, you can imagine what the standards and specifications would be for even the most basic weapons system." Exactly.

Ship incident broadens scope of conflict

By NABILA MEGALLI
 MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Iran's interception of a U.S. freighter has increased fears in the Persian Gulf of superpower intervention in the Iran-Iraq border war as Iran apparently escalates its campaign to detain any ships suspected of supplying Iraq.

An Arab diplomat based in Kuwait said he believed "the Americans would not hesitate to shoot to kill if their ships were endangered in the region." He spoke on condition of anonymity.

"The French at one stage sent a warship to escort a French-flag merchant ship in the gulf, and in recent weeks the Iranians harassed a British ship, and now we have the Americans being forced to protect their ships," said another Arab diplomat, also speaking on condition of anonymity.

"The situation is fraught with danger, and the American warships are not exactly safe to play with," said the diplomat, who also spoke on condition he not be identified.

The U.S. warships — the destroyer Conolly and the frigate Boone — were sent as a precautionary move to the Gulf of Oman, where the U.S. freighter President Taylor was stopped and boarded Sunday by Iranian sailors. U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said the warships were there "to prevent anything other than what happened."

A maritime shipping agent in the United Arab Emirates said U.S. Navy units were "shadowing" American merchant ships in and near Persian Gulf sea lanes to protect them against harassment by Iran.

In Washington, however, State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said in a statement Monday that a nation at war traditionally has "certain rights" under the rules of naval warfare to find out whether neutral freighters are supplying contraband to the enemy.

"We are continuing to assess the facts of this particular incident, not all of which are yet known, to determine whether the stop-and-search was appropriate under the circumstances," Kalb said.

Iran has said the move was allowed by international law. The 39,000-ton President Taylor, the first U.S. ship stopped by Iran, was bound from Pakistan to the gulf port of Fujaira in the United Arab Emirates.

No property damage or injuries resulted. Iran and Iraq have been fighting an indecisive border war since September 1980, when Iraq sent troops into Iran.

Neutral tankers first came under attack in 1983 when Iraq, determined to deprive Iran of the oil revenues needed to fight the war, threatened to attack any ships coming within 50 miles of Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal.

Iran — which unlike Iraq, is not an Arab state — retaliated by raiding Arab and other vessels in international waters south of the zone declared off-limits by Iraq.

Iran's Parliament speaker, Hashemi Rafsanjani, warned at one point that if the Persian Gulf sea lanes were not kept secure for Iran's oil exports, then they would be "made insecure for all" countries.

On Oct. 18, Iran tried to intercept a French freighter, prompting a French warship in the vicinity to move in and chase away the Iranians.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Peres de Cuellar said Monday that in 1985 the international Maritime Organization reported 16 civilian ships were detained and searched by Iran's navy.

He said Iran confiscated cargo from Chinese and Danish ships on the grounds that it was bound for Iraq, and ships with West German, Japanese, Dutch, Italian and Yugoslav owners also were stopped and searched.

Perez de Cuellar also said the International Maritime Organization reported 45 other incidents in the gulf in 1985, including Iraqi air attacks on ships sailing to or from Iranian ports.

The United States is neutral in the Iraq-Iran conflict, but last year restored relations with Iraq after an 18-year break.

Meanwhile, the direct hostilities between Iran and Iraq showed no signs of ending. The two sides report almost daily skirmishes along their 733-mile warfront, each claiming victories that cannot be independently confirmed.

Arab diplomatic sources here said Iraqi air superiority probably would keep Iran from decisive victory should it invade Iraq, while the Iraqis have not seemed eager or able to punch again into western Iran since withdrawing in 1982.

Iraq has called repeatedly for peace. The Islamic Conference Organization, the non-aligned nations and the gulf Arab countries have tried to mediate, but Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has declared the struggle a "holy war" to overthrow Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and give Iraq a "genuinely Islamic" government.

Nabila Megalli writes for The Associated Press.

Hippie-type music is Satan-inspired

To the editor:
 I just read the editorial by Mr. Appel in Monday's Herald ("Around the Rim") and I will take issue with the lad. On my FM radio, I get 7 to 8 stations and at least 5 of them play the "hippie-type" music he speaks of.

Does anybody ever tune in on the weekends on TV to a program called "Night Flight"? Well, it's on Channel 11 and 13 and 8, on (Channel) 11 all night. Now a person has to be very stoned to wade through this type of music.

Also, Mr. Appel, I know a lot of young people that go to our night clubs that has country music and they really enjoy it. I remember when I was in high school in the '60s when kids and parents enjoyed the same music.

That was before "Satan" inspired music came into being.

Human rights abuses worse in South Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea has dropped its liberalization moves, leading to worsening human rights abuses over the past year, a new human rights monitoring group said Tuesday. In communist North Korea, rights such as freedom of speech, press, and assembly simply do not exist, the group, Asia Watch Committee, added. The private group's first major report on human rights in Asia alleged that although the United States has great influence in South Korea, the Reagan administration has virtually abandoned the struggle for human rights "to the forces of dictatorship and repression." The report said "the Chun government is prepared to do whatever it thinks necessary to hold on to power." It said some South Koreans, particularly students, hold the United States responsible for human rights abuses because it backs President Chun Doo-hwan's regime, and "Anti-American sentiment is growing." Recent Reagan administration denunciations of torture, it said, were "a welcome departure from the past practice of minimizing or ignoring such abuses in public statements." But the report called for the Reagan administration to "state clearly, publicly and regularly, that it strongly supports and expects" a democratic transition of power in Korea when Chun steps down in 1988. Adrian DeWind, a New York attorney who is chairman of Asia Watch Committee, said Tuesday: "With proper pressure from the United States for electoral reform and civil rule, there is a real possibility there would be a democratic government in South Korea that would be noncommunist, friendly to the United States and agreeing with the policy of maintaining U.S. forces in Korea."

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruce Springsteen, fast food, Madonna, videotapes, Prince, MTV and home computers were hot; designer jeans and athletic wear were not, according to a survey of how U.S. teen-agers spent $65 billion last year. Household items such as groceries and gas accounted for $35 billion of the total as the teen-agers took over shopping duties in many families. "That's primarily because 50 percent of teen homes have a full-time working mother, and another 20 percent have a part-time working mother," Grady Hauser, vice president of marketing for Teen-Age Research Unlimited of suburban Lake Forest, said Monday. Fifty-two percent of the nation's teen-age girls, or about 8 million, do the family's weekly grocery shopping, he said. "The family is still funding the grocery purchases, but teens are doing the buying," Hauser said. Purchases that the 1,600 teen-agers surveyed bought most often in 1985 were fast food, soft drinks, shampoo, deodorant, toothpaste, clothes, ice cream, bubble gum and movie tickets, Hauser said. The nation's 29 million teen-agers spent $30 billion of their own money, or $80 per month, on items of their own choosing in 1985. Hauser, whose company surveys teen-agers nationwide every six months and sells its data to advertising agencies, retailers and others, said he did not have an item-by-item spending breakdown. He said 48 percent of the nation's teen-agers rented an average of two videotapes per month, for a total nationwide rental of $8 million tapes a month. That popularity might explain a decline in traditional dating, reported by teen-agers, Hauser said, as more teen-agers favor group activities over an evening as a couple. "They're not stopping socializing," he said. "They're having groups of friends over for videos," he said. Home-computer use by teen-agers increased 50 percent in 1985, although only 14.6 percent of teen-age girls surveyed used personal computers at home compared with 30.1 percent of the boys. Rock music continued to have a huge impact, with teen-agers listening to the radio more than 20 hours per week, and watching MTV, the music television channel. "It's clear that MTV... is one of the most effective vehicles at reaching teen-agers," he said. "It reaches 43 percent of all teen-agers weekly." The survey's findings also suggested that 3 million teen-agers bought portable stereos with headphones in 1985, Hauser said. The three most popular performers in 1985, according to the survey, were Madonna, Bruce Springsteen and Prince. In clothing, sales of designer jeans and athletic wear declined among teen-age girls in favor of the looser, hodge-podge collection of costumes worn by popular singers like Madonna, Hauser said. The survey's dollar figures were obtained by asking teen-agers how much they spent in the week before receiving the questionnaire, then projecting the responses for a year, he said. The latest survey was conducted in June. In assembling the survey, the company sent questionnaires to 5,000 teen-agers, and used 1,600 responses, 808 of them from boys.

Health, not age, is a guide to surgery

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am an 81-year-old lady and have found out I have a diverticulum in my esophagus. I hope I spelled those words right. Surgery has been mentioned, but I don't want to have surgery at my age. Would you please let me know if there is anything that can be done otherwise. I am worried. — Mrs. B.N.

Let me talk first about the Zenker's problem, then turn to the matter of surgery, and perhaps clear up some misunderstanding there.

I mention Zenker's almost automatically, because that's the kind of esophageal diverticulum (pouch) most people have.

This pouch arises in the back inner surface of the throat and extends into the muscle wall. One writer with this wrote in frustration for not being able to see his diverticulum. You can't see it. It's a protrusion into the body.

Some of the symptoms are caused by an obstruction to swallowing. Food and fluid may become lodged in the pouch. As it sits there, it may emit a most foul odor; in fact, this is how many are alerted to the problem, when all other known sources of bad mouth odor have been eliminated. Some may have coughing spells, especially when lying down to sleep.

However, these bothersome complaints do not cover the potential for serious complications that can arise from the problem. For example, undigested food may slip down into the lungs, leading to pneumonia.

Now to your surgery. I don't know if it was your doctor who suggested that, but if he did, one would have to assume your health to be quite good, except for the throat problem. Age is no barrier to having surgery; ill health is.

Doctors aren't guided so much by years as by fitness. Many people older than you have undergone more serious surgery than this, and conversely, many much younger have had to forego even less serious surgery because of what they have done to their bodies through smoking and other damaging activity. Surgery is the only way to correct Zenker's diverticulum.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Could you give me some information on Gilbert's disease? My mother has it. The family would like to know how serious it is. The doctors say they can't do anything for her? Hope you have heard of this. — A.E.

Those doctors might have added that there is nothing that they need do for her. I like letters on Gilbert's disease; they give me the rare occasion to assure readers that there is nothing to worry about.

Gilbert's is an innocent condition, a minor defect in the way the liver gets rid of a pigment material, bilirubin. Bilirubin is the residue from the daily breakdown of old red blood cells. From time to time, the liver takes a break and there is a temporary elevation of bilirubin blood levels.

This increase leads to a yellow cast of the whites of the eyes. That's alarming until you find the cause. There are no other symptoms. You should be advised that certain activities can prompt the liver to take one of these unscheduled breaks — things like exercise, alcohol ingestion, or fasting. Nothing's hurt; nothing need be done.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Club hears fitness tips

The Mary Jane Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Clovis Phinney Jr. with Mrs. Ted Fowler as co-hostess. Laurie Churchwell, owner of the Dance Gallery and Fitness Center, spoke to the group on fitness.

Churchwell said the average American gains 7.1 pounds between July 31 and Dec. 31. She said everyone should make a lifetime commitment to correctly balance foods in their diet.

To attain this, a person should consume 25 percent complex carbohydrates — found in fruits, vegetables and bread; 50 percent protein, found in fish, poultry and lean beef; and 25 percent fats — found in gravies, fried foods and desserts.

She said this should be combined with aerobic exercise for 20 minutes three to four times a week at 60 to 80 percent of one's maximum heart rate.

Churchwell said adequate rest is also important.

Dear Abby

Story is tall tale to wife

DEAR ABBY: You once said that you could usually spot a phony letter. Well, today is my 70th birthday, and so help me, this is true. The letter in your column from "Jane," who refused to open the door to a stranger, struck home. On a recent Saturday, at midnight, I was still reading when I heard a timid knock at the front door. I peered out, and saw a topless young lady standing there with her arms crossed! Fearing a ruse for a robbery, I opened the door slightly and said, "Yes?" She asked, "Could you please lend me a shirt?" I said, "What happened?" She replied, "The guy I was riding with took my shirt. Where is the nearest bus stop?" I thought, should I ask her in and wake my wife — she has 99 blouses — no, that might mean trouble, so I reached into the hall closet for an old windbreaker I use in the garden, and handed it out the door. She put it on and tried to work the zipper, but it was broken, so rather than have her stand there fussing with it, I said, "Bring it back; here is my business card." She said "I will. Thank you, thank you, thank you." Then she left. The next morning at breakfast I told my wife what happened, and she didn't believe a word of it. Now my wife thinks I lied, and I'm out a jacket. How should I have handled the situation? EDDY HILL, VAN NUYS DEAR EDDY: I think you handled the situation with gallantry, chivalry and style. Your wife may not believe you, but I do. P.S. Let me know if you ever get your jacket back. *** DEAR ABBY: My wife complains constantly that she is starved for sex. One look at her and you know that's all she's starved for. Since the birth of our second child, she's gained so much weight she refuses to weight herself. (She must be 300 pounds.) Fat turns me off. That's why there's no sex. What troubles me even more is what she's doing to our children. They are both very fat. She keeps feeding them cakes, pies, cookies and fried foods that will only make them fatter. Our daughter will be entering her teens soon, and I know the other kids will make her life miserable. Kids can be so cruel. Our son, who is 7, is so fat he can barely walk, let alone run. How will he be able to play sports?

If my wife is bent on destroying herself, why is she doing this to the kids, too? When I mention that the kids are fat, she flies into a rage. What can I do? NO NAME, NO CITY NO STATE DEAR NO: The children are not your wife's responsibility alone — they're yours, too. Your wife desperately needs to be examined mentally as well as physically. She could be suffering from emotional problems. (One of the cheapest and most accessible mind-altering substances available is FOOD.) The poor woman is also guilty of child abuse, and if you permit her to continue fattening the children, you're equally guilty. First express your loving concern, then get her to a doctor!

DAR members elect officers for new year

The Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the L.J. Jeter home recently to elect officers for a two-year term. Officers are: Mrs. Curtis Driver, regent; Mrs. John Key, vice regent; Helen Ewing, chaplain; Mrs. Tom Barber, recording secretary; Mrs. June Reid, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L.J. Jeter, treasurer; Mrs. Fern Alexander, registrar; Mrs. Elvis McCreary, historian; and Mrs. John Cobean, librarian. Driver and Key were named delegates to the state conference. Mrs. John Cobean is alternate. The conference is March 13-18 in Austin. Mrs. G.C. Barnett and Mrs. Bill Cade will attend the Continental Congress in Washington, D.C., April 14-18. Helen Ewing gave a program on national defense. She told of a graph displayed in Switzerland's office of civil defense which shows that 20 military personnel were killed for each civilian during World War I. In a future nuclear war, the ratio is projected to be one military personnel to 100 civilians killed. Today, Switzerland has 5.7 million shelter spaces ready for 6.3 million inhabitants. Since 1964, new residential structures are required to include ventilated shelter space. These spaces in apartment houses are used for storage and can be emptied in a few hours. Community space shelters have current peace-time uses such as underground parking lots or dormitory space for summer camp. Men between the ages of 20 and 60 are required to be active in their local civil defense if they are not in the army. There are 20,000 women volunteers. The system is linked by 1,500 command posts and 1,100 medical facilities in the civil defense network. The next meeting is at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at 8 Highland Heather.

Local garden clubs to join in Arbor Day ceremony Jan. 17

The Big Spring Garden Club, Planter's Garden Club, Rosebud Garden Club and the Texas Star American Violet Garden Club have combined with the Howard County Sesquicentennial Committee to honor Arbor Day in Howard County Jan. 17. The four garden clubs have purchased a live oak to be planted Jan. 17 at 4 p.m. on the courthouse lawn. Dr. Kenneth Patrick will give the invocation. A program will follow. Jerry Tabor, parks director, will present a speech. Victor Sedinger, First Christian Church, will give the benediction. The Sesquicentennial Committee will present a bronze plaque which will be imbedded in concrete at the site.

Herald recipe exchange

By CAROL BALDWIN
Lifestyle Editor

This week's Recipe Exchange features recipes from a reader, Lucile Moran. The West Texas Girl Scout Council also submitted a number of recipes which call for cookies as key ingredients.

Moran, of 911 W. Third, said she'll be "72 years young" on May 14. She's been a Big Spring resident since 1950. She shared a number of recipes including several for desserts, Spanish Olive Oil Pickles, and a main dish.

Lorraine Teel of the local Girl Scout council said that West Texas Girl Scouts will be taking orders for cookies through Jan. 24. Delivery will begin on Feb. 28.

Cookies are $2 a box and money will be collected at the time of the delivery. There are seven flavors of cookies, including: Peanut Butter Patties, Shortbread, Chocolate Chip, Peanut Butter Sandwiches, Lemon Pastry Creme, Caramel deLite, and Thin Mints.

Money from cookie sales is used to support the West Texas Girl Scout Council's camp program, service center and other programs. A portion is kept by local troops for their activities.

Booklet offers useful hints for illegals

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — There's a new tourist book available for foreigners that offers advice on the cheapest places to shop, what to do if arrested in the United States and even how to make a telephone call.

The booklet could be meant for any group of tourists, but the intended audience is illegal aliens trying to make a go of life in the United States.

Written in Spanish by two New Mexico residents, the booklet costs $1 and is titled, "The Other Side — A Guide for the Undocumented."

"The other side" is Mexican slang for the United States or the other side of the border.

The booklet includes general characteristics of people detained by the Border Patrol, advises the undocumented to refuse to answer questions while in custody and says border guards can be sued if they mistreat anybody.

"We came to realize that those people didn't know some basic things about living and working in the United States," said Tom Barry, co-author of "The Other Side" and co-director of the Resource Center in Albuquerque, N.M. The center is a private, non-profit research organization that specializes in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Barry and the group's co-director, Deb Preusch, produced the booklet in 1980. Since then, Barry said 40,000 copies have been distributed to church and legal-aid groups across the United States and to organizations in Mexico City and the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Sonora.

About 5,000 copies remain in the original press run and the group plans to raise money for a second printing. Nearly half the money for the first printing came from the Presbyterian church, he said.

The idea for the booklet came when Barry and Preusch were trying to organize a strike of undocumented agricultural workers in Arizona.

Although the book contains plenty of tips on getting along in the United States, Barry said it "certainly is an advocacy book."

He said the booklet recognizes millions of undocumented workers are in the United States.

A bright future

While right in the heart of the season, I can think of no better subject to talk about than basketball.

The Spring City is not going through what you'd call a banner basketball season. I'll admit that most of our local hoops teams on the college and high school level are competitive, but they are not setting the world on fire, mind you.

But there are three young local teams that are making quite a few people stand up and take notice. They are none other than the seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys teams.

For the second consecutive season coach Bobby Doe and Mike Ritchey have put together good seventh grade teams at Goliad. Last season Goliad Mavericks A and B teams had a combined record of 17-5. This season they might even better that mark.

Right now the Mavericks A team sports a spotless 7-0 record. They are just coming off a championship winning weekend at the Big Spring tournament. The squad is loaded with talent, said Goliad coaches.

Neal Mayfield is the leader and a good one at that. The 5-10 seventh grader is already playing around the rim, averaging 24 points per game and 10 rebounds. He also gets plenty of help from Alan Baker and Louis Soldan, just to name a few.

The Mavericks B team is not far behind with a 6-1 slate. In fact, their only loss was to the Snyder A team this past weekend in tourney play. The Snyder A team was defeated by the Goliad A team in the tourney finals, 44-39.

Guard Roy Gomez and post player Dustin Self are the offensive weapons. Defensively Raul Castillo and Freddy Rodriguez are the catalysts on the team.

Meanwhile over in the land of the Runnels Yearlings, coaches Frank Anderson and Mike Wallace have quite a bit of talent themselves.

The Yearlings A team sport a 5-1 record. The team suffered its only loss of the season to Brownfield, 57-30, in the championship game of the Big Spring Tournament.

But don't let that score deceive you, this Brownfield team is a undefeated powerhouse with the poise and talent of players much older. As one spectator put it, "that's the best eighth grade team I've ever seen play."

Well, the Mavericks A team is pretty good themselves. Chris Cole, who is destined to be a star post player, averages 15 points and 7 rebounds per game. Chad Robins is also a force under the boards, said Goliad coaches.

The Runnels B team is working hard to make sure four games are all it will lose in the past two years. Last season they lost only two games and this season they own a 4-2 record.

They always have a balanced scoring attack with Chad Freeman and Thomas Hernandez leading the way. Trey Smith, Joe Downey and Junior Carrillo do a good job on the boards, said coaches.

Then there's coach Kent Carruthers' freshmen Steers who also sport a 4-2 record. They get their scoring punch from Abner Shellman and rebounding strength from Chris Crownover.

So you can see middle grade coaching system and players have been making a name for themselves. There 30-10 combined record indicates that.

It's nice to know the Spring City has a bright basketball future.

N. Carolina rallies to remain spotless

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - Freshman Jeff Lebo's career-high 18 points kept top-ranked North Carolina alive until it was time to make a change.

Even after Lebo scored his ninth field goal in 10 tries, the unbeaten Tar Heels still trailed Maryland 62-59, and their 16-game winning streak was in jeopardy.

So, with 6:58 remaining, Coach Dean Smith pulled Lebo, a 6-foot-2 guard, and went with a lineup that featured Brad Daugherty and Warren Martin, both 6-11, and 6-10 Joe Wolf.

"We did it for defense and rebounding," Smith said after Martin and Steve Hale scored four points apiece during an 8-0 streak that rallied unbeaten North Carolina to a 71-67 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over the Terps.

North Carolina was the only Top 20 team in action Tuesday. Martin, back in action after missing three games with a broken finger, sank four free throws and Hale scored two field goals to put North Carolina ahead 69-65.

Martin also recorded one of his five blocked shots when Len Bias, who led Maryland with 20 points, tried a baseline jumper that would have forged a 69-69 tie.

Maryland's Terry Long retrieved the tipped shot but Daugherty, who scored 15 points, stole the ball and was fouled with 21 seconds left.

North Carolina, 3-0 in the ACC, took the ball out of bounds, and Kenny Smith scored a clinching dunk shot with 13 seconds to play. Smith also had 10 assists.

"Warren Martin gave us a big lift and Hale made the big shot," Smith said. "Everybody contributed defensively in the last six minutes. We got a couple of steals from our scramble defense."

"We played very well for 35 minutes," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell. "The last five minutes we played like a bunch of hot dogs. We took bad shots, and that took us out of the game."

Maryland, 10-5 after losing to three of the nation's top five teams in 11 days, led 42-39 at halftime and extended its margin to 58-49 before Smith called a timeout with 11:14 remaining.

The Terps, now 0-3 in the ACC, have come agonizingly close this month, previously losing by four points to third-ranked Duke and by a single point to No. 5 Georgia Tech.

"We played great defense and outrebounded them," Driesell said. "When we were up by nine points, and with 14,000 cheering for us, we should have won going away."

The Terps hit half of their field goal attempts in the first half, but were only 12-for-31 after intermission. The Tar Heels shot 59 percent for the game, including 14-for-20 in the second half.

Maryland led 21-14 midway through the first half before Lebo and fellow freshman Kevin Madden sponsored a comeback.

Lebo tried seven shots in the first half and Madden four, each missing only once, to more than make up for the 10-for-25 shooting by the remainder of the team.

Steers ice Bronchos, 63-60

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The Big Spring Steers overcame a error-filled second half, thanks to some clutch free throw shooting down the stretch, to defeat the Odessa High Bronchos 63-60 last night in 4-5A basketball action.

The win wasn't easy by an means against the Bronchos, who are still searching for their first district win. Most of the time the Steers were their own worst enemies, committing 16 of their 23 turnovers in the second half.

If not for some big free throws by Kevin McKeown, Sidney Parker, Charles Young and Brian Mayfield in the final minutes, OHS might have headed home with a victory.

The game was close all the way with Big Spring trailing by two at the end of the first quarter and leading by five at the half. The Steers led 44-42 going into the final quarter.

Thanks to a series of turnovers, Odessa took a one point lead with 1:20 remaining in the game. Ed Lewis' tip-in gave Odessa a short-lived 57-56 lead.

McKeown made one pressure free throw to knot the game at 57 with 59 seconds left. Next Odessa forward Tracy Blaylock was fouled attempting a shot. He made one giving OHS a 58-57 advantage. Then it was Big Spring's turn to go to the line as Sidney Parker was fouled. Parker made the first end of the one-and-one tying the game with 44 seconds left.

Only 16 seconds later Mayfield

Charles Young ... hits clutch free throws

Billy Cole ... tough on boards was fouled following a missed Odessa field goal. He made the second attempt of his two shot foul, giving Big Spring a 59-58 lead with 28 seconds remaining.

OHS' Blaylock missed on a 20-footer and guard Charles Young was fouled grabbing his ninth rebound of the game. The junior calmly sunk both attempts, giving Big Spring a 61-58 lead with 18 seconds left.

Odessa's Paul Chavez missed a field goal and Mayfield was fouled at the other end. The sophomore forward, who finished the game with 20 points and 15 rebounds, was good on both attempts. This gave Big Spring an insurmountable 63-58 lead with 9 ticks on the clock left. Lewis' uncontested basket at the buzzer cut the Steers winning margin to three.

Steers coach Mike Randle was bothered by his team's number of turnovers in the last 16 minutes of play. "We just made too many turnovers in the second half," said Randle. "We stopped passing the ball and tried to dribble. They got a lot of steals that way."

"But the guys didn't fall apart. Usually when we have bad luck they panic and things get worse. But they stayed after it and hit some key free throws at the end."

Big Spring took a 35-30 halftime lead thanks to the play of Mayfield and Billy Cole underneath. The duo combined for 17 points and 14 rebounds in the first two quarters. Cole, who fouled out with 3:06 left in the game, ended the game with 11 points and seven rebounds.

McKeown and Parker also turned in stellar performances. McKeown hit 4-6 shots from the field, including three-in-a-row at the start of the game. He also collected three steals.

Parker hit the boards hard in the second half. After getting only two boards in the first half, he came back with eight rebounds in the final two quarters.

The Big Spring defense also did a fine job on Odessa's leading scorer Chavez. The 5-8 senior, who came into the game averaging 24 points, was held to a district-low 10 by the Steers.

JV'S FALL TO BRONCHOS
The Big Spring junior varsity dropped a 62-52 to the decision to the Bronchos in the first game of the evening.

Forward Steve Gill led Big Spring with 13 points. Randy Odum and John Olson added 12 points each.

9th-ranked Buffaloes cruise over Badgers

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

STANTON - The Stanton Buffaloes came into Tuesday night's game with the lowly McCamey Badgers with all the confidence in the world. And why not. The Buffs brought a sparkling 16-3 ledger into the game and were ranked ninth in Class 2A, while McCamey was struggling at 3-9.

Through nearly all of three quarters the Buffs executed with the greatest of ease, perhaps a little bit too much ease, allowing the Badgers to cut an 18-point lead to six before the Buffs pulled out the 68-62 victory.

It was an inspired effort by the McCamey team that looked to be thoroughly outclassed in the first half by Stanton's starting five. But the young Badgers never gave up, and when the Buffs got a little sloppy late in the third quarter, a potential blowout turned into a semi-nail biter.

The Stanton starters never let the game get out of control and no matter how furiously McCamey tried to overtake their opponent, the Buffs always had the answer. Hitting the long jumper, dishing off for easy inside basket, or calmly canning pressure free throws.

Forward Kevin Gaspie operated the Buff attack to perfection in the first half, scoring from the outside with an old-time set shot and penetrating the lane for 15 first half points.

Stanton quickly opened up a ten-point, 21-11, first quarter lead, using an aggressive full court press and dominant inside play.

Post man James Williams, whose improved play has shored up the Buffs weak inside game of a year ago, contributed six points and four rebounds, while teammate Derrick Sorley pulled down six first half boards and added six points against the outmanned Badgers.

Fifteen turnovers and some icy shooting by the Badgers also contributed to the Buffs comfortable, 42-26 halftime lead.

Stanton upped their lead to 18 with just under two minutes to play in the third quarter when McCamey exploded for ten unanswered points to pull to, 54-44 at the end of the period.

Post man James Thomas, who hit three consecutive turnaround jumpers, and guard Vivian Garza, who hit two long bombs, were the catalysts in the Badgers surprising comeback.

Forward Greg Avery scored four quick points to give the Buffs some breathing room early in the last quarter but it was short lived as Stanton began to get sloppy with their ballhandling. McCamey cut the lead back to eight, 66-58 with 2:45 remaining with the help of four Stanton turnovers and the timely outside gunning of Garza.

Despite several chances to cut the lead even further, McCamey could come no closer than six points. Garza's hot hand withered and leading scorer Adam Arana, who had a game-high 23 points, forced several poor shots enabling the Buffs to maintain the six point margin of victory.

Gaspie led Stanton with 22 points and eight rebounds. Mark Gonzales also had fine night from the field, scoring 14 points and pulling in eight rebounds. Avery ended the night with 15 points. Stanton raised their record to 17-3 and 3-0 in 8-2A play with the win.

McCamey dropped to 3-10 and 0-3 in 8-2A play.

NCAA adopts tougher drug policy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Drugs are out, but boosters are still in.

The NCAA voted Tuesday to slap penalties on athletes who test positive for drugs before or after postseason games, but failed to slam the door on boosters making on-campus contacts.

The anti-drug program which failed a year ago to reach the floor for a vote, partly because it didn't include cocaine and other "street drugs," was overwhelmingly passed this time around despite scattered complaints that it's cost will be prohibitive and the NCAA has no business getting involved.

And "the potential for abuse" was cited several times as the reason for not extending the off-campus ban on booster contacts to the campus as well.

At the second day of its annual convention, the NCAA also voted:

- To reduce from eight to seven the number of sports needed to remain a Division I-A member.
- To delay for at least a year a proposal to allow five years of athletic eligibility instead of four.

- To keep the Division I and Division III men's and women's indoor track championships.

- To permit, "when circumstances clearly warrant," the restoration of eligibility of an athlete involved in "major" or "secondary" rules violations.

- To limit to one game or tournament per year what a basketball team may play without it counting toward the maximum games allowed.

- To approve a resolution calling for stronger federal legislation against gambling on college sports.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said as the convention drew to a close that he felt its three major achievements were the anti-gambling resolution, the drug testing and Monday's approval of eligibility standards based on high school grade-point averages and SAT or ACT scores.

"In the domestic arena, the NCAA has taken a leadership role in dealing with a problem that is greater than most of us recognize," Byers said of drugs.

And in a specific reference to the use of steroids, Byers said, "Somebody had to step in and break the chain in high school to get scholarships to college and in the college area to get a professional contract."

The list of 79 banned substances is divided into seven groups - psychomotor stimulants, sympathomimetic amines, miscellaneous central nervous system stimulants, anabolic steroids, substances banned for specific sports such as alcohol for riflery, diuretics and street drugs (amphetamine, cocaine, heroin, marijuana, methamphetamine, THC and "others").

Among the other drugs mentioned, the NCAA places limited on the amount of testosterone (a steroid) and caffeine which can legally show up in urine samples.

For football bowl games, according to Jim Brock, executive vice president of the Cotton Bowl, 72 players will be tested, 36 from each team. Of those 36, 22 will be notified beforehand that they will be tested while the remaining 14 will be selected at random.

The price tag for pre-bowl testing: $200 per player. That comes to $14,000 worth of testing, the cost to be shared by the NCAA (50 per cent) the bowl (25 per cent) and the competing teams (12½ per cent apiece).

In track and field and other individual sports, medal winners and a few other random competitors will be targeted for testing, similar to the U. S. Olympic Committee's screening procedures.

The NCAA, with its $44 million annual budget, estimates that the total cost during 1986-87 will be $620,000.

"We've been doing our own drug-testing program for the past two years," SMU Athletic Director Robert Hitch said. "We'll continue to do our own, but what we're going to find is that it's going to be so darned expensive."

The plan also penalizes coaches and other athletic personnel who know about an athlete's drug abuse but fail to report it.

AP names Gooden top male athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets, the youngest player ever to win baseball's Cy Young Award, today was named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year for 1985, capturing the 55-year-old award by a substantial margin over Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton.

Gooden, a 21-year-old right-hander who led the major leagues in victories, strikeouts and earned run average last season, received 53 votes in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters nationwide. A total of 221 votes were cast.

Payton was second with 39 votes, followed by stock car driver Bill Elliott with 25, Cincinnati Reds player-manager Pete Rose with 23 and Los Angeles Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar with 20.

Last year's winner of the award, first presented in 1931 to baseball player Pepper Martin, was Carl Lewis, who won four gold medals in track and field at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics. Lewis also won the award in 1983.

Gooden was the first baseball player to win the award since 1979, when it was given to Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"It's different from the Cy Young because it includes all players from different sports in every event, and you pick the best one," said Gooden, who will be presented with the Athlete of the Year trophy Feb. 21 in his hometown of Tampa, Fla. "It's something I will always cherish."

Gooden was named the National League's Cy Young winner last Nov. 13, three days before turning 21, after a season in which he went 24-4 with 268 strikeouts and an earned run average of 1.53. He put together a string of 14 straight victories from May 30-Aug. 25, and he went 31 consecutive innings from Aug. 31-Sept. 21 without allowing a run.

On Aug. 25, he became the youngest pitcher in modern history to win 20 games, reaching the milestone at 20 years, 9 months, 9 days old, and he posted the highest winning percentage in the National League (.857) since Preacher Roe went 22-3 (.880) for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1961.

DWIGHT GOODEN gets nod over Payton

Through two seasons in the major leagues, Gooden has a record of 41-13.

He also has been injury free, never missing a start. But he gave the Mets a scare last week, when he injured his right ankle by stepping on a sprinkler while running on the choppy outfield at Hillsborough High School in Tampa.

After spending a few days on crutches as a precautionary measure, Gooden resumed jogging Monday.

Soft-spoken and seldom given to hyperbole, Gooden rarely has tried to explain his own success. He has left that to others.

"It's a mixture of his maturity and his command," Mets Manager Davey Johnson said. "He studies the hitters. He's not just a thrower; he's a student of the game. He's learned the hitters, and he knows how to pitch to them."

During the season, Mets catcher Gary Carter said Gooden had "more maturity than any 20-year-old I've ever seen. There aren't enough adjectives to describe him. Catching him is like sitting back in a rocking chair — he has such great command of all his pitches."

Jim Frey, a Mets coach in 1984 when Gooden won the NL's Rookie of the Year award and now manager of the Chicago Cubs, calls Gooden "a special kind of pitcher."

Jazz end Rockets home streak

By The Associated Press
 Home sweet home finally turned sour for the Houston Rockets.

Winners of their first 20 games at home this season, the Rockets succumbed to Utah's rough-house tactics and lost to the Jazz 105-102 Tuesday night. They were the last team to go unbeaten at home in the NBA this season.

NBA

Rickey Green scored four points in the last nine seconds to give Utah the victory.

In other National Basketball Association games, it was Atlanta 115, Sacramento 104; Portland 120, Cleveland 108; Washington 117, Chicago 113; Philadelphia 123, New Jersey 105; and Los Angeles

Lakers 143, Phoenix 122. Bulls 117, Bulls 113.

Leon Wood scored 16 consecutive Washington points and Jeff Malone eight straight to highlight a 30-15 streak that carried the Bulls to victory over Chicago in a game marred by a fight between 7-foot-6 Manute Bol and Bulls' 7-footer Jawann Oldham.

The Bulls led 98-87 with 7:43 left in the game before Wood, acquired this week from Philadelphia, and Malone got hot.

With only a minute to go in the game, Oldham and Bol exchanged punches and were ejected from the game. As they left the floor, Oldham again went after Bol and more punches were landed.

Lakers 143, Suns 122
 Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 21 points, 19 assists and nine rebounds as Los Angeles steadily pulled away to beat Phoenix.

The Lakers, who have the NBA's best record at 30-6, led 34-28 after one quarter, 70-57 at halftime and extended the margin to 86-64 midway through the third period.

76ers 123, Nets 105

Philadelphia won for the eighth time in nine road games and its 13th in 14 games overall as Charles Barkley, Maurice Cheeks, Sedale Threatt and Julius Erving scored 19 points each against New Jersey.

The 76ers outscored the Nets 16-2 over the final 3:57 of the third period to increase a four-point lead to 97-79. Barkley, Cheeks and Threatt each scored four points during the decisive streak.

Trail Blazers 120, Cavaliers 108
 Kiki Vandeweghe scored 28 points and backup forward Jerome Kersey had 10 of his 14 points during an 18-4 spurt in the second period that lifted Portland over Cleveland.

The Trail Blazers led by three points in the second period when Kersey scored to start the run that gave them a 53-36 lead with 3:43 left in the first half. The Cavaliers cut the deficit to 105-103 with five minutes left in the game before Portland regained momentum.

Hawks 115, Kings 104
 Atlanta handed Sacramento its fourth straight defeat as Dominique Wilkins had 25 points and 15 rebounds, and Eddie Johnson led the Hawks' 35-point fourth quarter with 12 points.

British catching Super Bowl fever too

By ANDREW WARSHAW
AP Sports Writer
LONDON (AP) — Three years ago, few British sports fans could tell a tight end from a touchdown.

But the land of cricket and soccer has since been gripped by football fever, and with days to go before Super Bowl XX in New Orleans, it is reaching a peak.

In pubs and subways, British gridiron buffs confidently rattle off names such as Walter Payton and The Refrigerator, and argue favorite plays from televised National Football League games.

Recorded game highlights attract more than four million television viewers and some 200 home-grown teams, including the Heathrow Jets, Greenwich Rams and Dunstable Cowboys, now play the game. With plans under way for major sponsorship, Britain could soon get its very own national league.

NFL interest is also growing in Italy, where games are televised on privately owned stations and there is a small semi-professional league. A cult following is said to be springing up in France and Spain.

Nowhere, however, is the enthusiasm as great as it is in Britain.

In the build-up to the Jan. 26 Super Bowl, national newspapers have begun carrying regular game reports, plus player and team profiles.

Radio stations, even the tradition-minded British Broadcasting Co.'s Radio 4, give results of important NFL games in their sports bulletins.

And on Monday mornings, excited fans busily make phone calls seeking scores of the previous night's pro games across the Atlantic.

Magazines like "Quarterback," "Touchdown" and "Gridiron UK" feed the growing British appetite for football, detailing NFL developments and offering package deals to the States for big games.

Although soccer and cricket still attract far bigger crowds than football, thousands of fans have begun switching loyalties.

"If I had the choice of watching pro football or soccer on TV, I'd probably choose football," said 33-year-old Jonathan Massey.

"I hate to say that, because I was brought up on soccer. But the way they package gridiron here is so exciting, so zappy. Soccer just doesn't deliver the goods any more."

Massey, who works for an international auction house, knows his football.

"I like the Green Bay Packers' running backs and Joe Montana of the San Francisco 49ers, and I'm thrilled New England got to the Super Bowl," he said with the assurance of a seasoned armchair quarterback.

For the fourth straight year, Channel 4 will televise the entire Super Bowl live, this time from the Louisiana Superdome.

The network, whose purpose is to serve minority interests, has a slick, 75-minute Sunday night show called American Football and its viewers have quadrupled to 4.2 million in four years.

The all-action show, featuring exciting graphics and lively music, is now the station's fourth most popular program.

The host is Nicky Horne, a diminutive British disc jockey who says he knew virtually nothing about the sport when the show began in November 1982.

Across the Atlantic, John Smith, a former New England Patriots' kicker and one of the few Britons to play pro football in the United States, helps Horne round up the matches from different game sites.

Smith, who played for the Patriots from 1974 until 1983, took over last season from Miles Aitken, an American who left to help cover basketball, his No. 1 sport, for Channel 4.

The fusion of Horne's musical background and Smith's 16 years of playing experience has proved a huge success. At least twice a season, the pair repeat the rules of football for prospective converts.

"We wanted a layman and an expert talking in a conversational, informal, un-patronizing way," said Derek Brandon, the show's creator and producer.

"We wanted to do away with the traditional sports presenter in blazer and tie, leaning on a desk next to a useless telephone and a jug of water. We wanted to make it entertainment," he said.

"All the viewers started on the same footing — men, women, children and old people — and there was no inbred jargon, like there is in cricket. But what has amazed me is the way the sport is now part of our public consciousness," Brandon, 35, said in an interview.

The advertising industry is cashing in, too, using football language to promote products in TV commercials. "It's the only cereal for your super bowl," chirps one slogan.

"It does not surprise me that the advertisers know what the American football terms mean, but what is astonishing is that they are confident the public understands, too," Brandon said.

British teams are split, haphazardly, into different leagues, including the British American Football League and the American Football League (UK), both of which have their own championship games.

Attendance is still relatively sparse, averaging about 1,000 people a match, and playing ability poor by American standards.

Wadkins looking for improvement

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins collected three titles, was second on the money-winning list and was named Player of the Year on the PGA tour in 1985.

He's seeking improvement in 1986.

"It was a good year, and it was close to being a great year," said 36-year-old Wadkins, starting his 16th season as a touring pro.

The principal lack in an otherwise distinguished campaign, Wadkins said, was a major title, a victory in one of golf's Big Four events, the Masters, U.S. and British Opens, the PGA.

He was close.

"I really thought I was going to win the (U.S.) Open, and had a chance right up to the end," said Wadkins, who finished fifth in the American national championship and was in title contention in the PGA.

"It's time to win another major. I'm at the point in my career where I need to win more majors," said Wadkins, who won the 1977 PGA championship and has been runner-up in that event on two other occasions.

"If I can stay healthy — and I sure hope I can — there's no reason I can't win another major this year."

"I'm probably playing as well as I ever have. I still have time. I'd like to win them all, all four, before it's done," Wadkins said before teeing off today in defense of his title in the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic.

The brashly confident Wadkins, considered by many of his peers as the leading player in this country right now, faced one of the strongest fields ever assembled for this five-day, 90-hole tournament spread over four desert golf courses.

Among his chief challengers in the race for a $108,000 first prize are Craig Stadler, a former Hope winner who lost to Wadkins in a playoff last year, 1985 leading money-winner Curtis Strange and Calvin Peete, a runaway winner last week in the season-opening Tournament of Champions.

Seventeen of last year's top 20 money-winners are on hand along with the current holders of all four of the world's major titles, West German Bernhard Langer (Masters), Andy North (U.S. Open), Sandy Lyle of Scotland (British Open), and Hubert Green (PGA).

Other major figures include Johnny Miller, Ray Floyd, Australians Greg Norman and David Graham, Larry Nelson, two-time Hope winner John Mahaffey, Mark O'Meara, Tom Kite and 56-year-old Arnold Palmer, a who scored his fifth Hope victory in 1973.

The pros play one round on each of four courses — Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta, Indian Wells and Eldorado — each day with a different three-man set of amateurs, before the field is cut to the low 70 pros for the Sunday finish at Bermuda Dunes.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JAN. 16, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: During the daytime it is necessary that you do not try to plunge into a new undertaking until you are better informed of all phases of it and get rid of pending duties you have agreed to.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do not do anything that could upset a higher-up during the daytime. In the evening, you can have a delightful time with your friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be on the alert for sensible new methods for gaining greater success, but forget that illogical system you have in mind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't permit some annoying responsibility to keep you from being with a good friend for some worthwhile purpose.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't permit a partner to keep you from handling your finest interests during the daytime.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be open-minded to new opportunities to advance at work and gain benefits. Find a new ally in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be sure to schedule your time and budget your money so that business and social activities run smoothly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be equally fair in dealing with a partner and a home tie and all goes smoothly for you. Drive with care.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Apply yourself seriously at your duties and don't allow yourself to go off on any tangents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Practicality and creativity are fighting for expression, so combine them nicely and schedule your time wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Wait until later in the day for discussions with family and avoid arguments. Invite guests in for the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't permit a private matter to deter you from getting out in the world and accomplishing a great deal.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Wise budgeting of your time and money can make the future brighter for you. Listen to suggestions of an expert so that you can handle your holdings much better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can easily comprehend whatever is of a practical nature and also know what methods are good for handling such matters well and make them run more smoothly. Teach to be steadfast at whatever is attempted and then big success is possible in any undertaking.

The food will be at the National Guard Armory, FM 700, from 8:15 a.m. to 2 p.m. That is the only day food will be given out, according to a news release.

All recipients must have their certification card with them to receive food.

Those who can't be there may send their certification card and a permission note with someone else to pick up the food. Recipients should bring a sack to carry the food home in, according to the release.

Poll says Americans give media very high rating

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite their widespread belief that the news media are biased and influenced by the powerful, Americans give newspapers and broadcast stations high marks for credibility, according to an opinion survey made public today.

The apparently contradictory responses are contained in a survey commissioned by Times Mirror Co., which owns the Los Angeles Times, Newsday and other newspapers, and conducted by the Gallup Organization.

The survey concluded that "the vast majority of the citizenry believes that the major news organizations in America are believable" and found that the news media's credibility was higher than President Reagan's.

However, while giving high ratings to the believability of the media, most people interviewed were critical of many aspects of its performance. The strongest critics of the media tended also to be the people who used it the most and knew it the best.

Actress Reed's funeral scheduled for Friday

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Actress Donna Reed was "a consummate professional" who "never expected anyone to look up to her," friends said of the all-American TV mom and Academy Award winner who died of cancer two weeks before her 65th birthday.

Her husband, retired Army Col. Grover Asmus, was at her side when she died Tuesday at their Beverly Hills home.

"It was probably just as well. We expected it. Her death was imminent. It was kind of rough," said Miss Reed's brother, Bill Mullenger, 58, a real estate agent in Denison, Iowa.

Doctors learned Miss Reed had pancreatic cancer several months ago, when she was hospitalized for ulcers, Mullenger said in a telephone interview. "I saw her at Thanksgiving. She was about like any normal person would be when they find out they have cancer - depressed.

"There was not much hope of remission or that it could be treated."

Funeral services were scheduled Friday at Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church. Burial will follow at Westwood Cemetery, said

Pam Flynn, whose husband, Harry, was Miss Reed's publicist.

Miss Reed won an Oscar for best supporting actress in 1953 for her portrayal of Alma, a prostitute, in "From Here to Eternity," the tale of Army life on the eve of Pearl Harbor.
