High school drops to AAA

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Writer For the first time in 30 years Big Spring High School won't be competing in Class AAAAA University Interscholastic League events, particularly football and basketball.

Big Spring's new home will be Class AAAA, one size down from the largest-school classification, in District 2, where it will reside with eight other schools in an area that rambles from Ward County on the west to Nolan County on the east.

Athletic Director Ron Logback said, "The move puts us in competition where there will be schools closer to our enrollment.

The decision came this morning from the University Interscholastic League in Austin.

The change takes effect with the fall football season.

The UIL based its decision on school enrollment figures taken in October, 1985. Big Spring missed the new Class AAAAA enrollment standards by 130 students. The AAAAA standards went from 1,305 students and up to 1,440 and up.

Big Spring High School had 1,310 students last October which fit the Class AAAA range of 715 to 1,439 students.

Big Spring will join District 2-4A members Andrews, Ft. Stockton, Lamesa, Pecos, San Angelo Lakeview, Snyder, Sweetwater and Monahans. All schools are original members of the 2-4A District

It will be the first time since 1956 that Big Spring has not been in the district referred to by many football fans as the "Little Southwest Conference." Class 4-5A has Midland Lee and perennial powerhouse Odessa Permian along with San Angelo Central.

There were only four teams in the district when Big Spring was first admitted three decades ago. Besides Big Spring there were Abilene, Midland, Odessa

District 2-4A has winning tradition

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Writer

With its move from District 4-5A to District 2-4A Big Spring leaves one tough athletic schedule for another.

Big Spring football coach Quinn Eudy rates Big Spring's new district as one of the toughest in the state. "This is a highly competitive district, much like 4-5A. The only difference is there is more depth in 4-5A," he said.

The Sweetwater Mustangs are vivid proof that Big Spring's new league is football-oriented. In 1985, the Mustangs finished the season 13-1-1 and won the State AAAA Football Championship, defeating Tomball 17-7 in the title game. In 1984, the Mustangs reached the state quarterfinals before bowing out to eventual state champion

"It stands to reason that we're better off competing against people on our enrollment level," said Eudy. "But what makes this district so strong is they have some of the best off-season programs in the state.

With the move to AAAA the Steers will have to disband practicing in pads in the spring. UIL rules forbids any school, with the exception of AAAAA schools, from practicing in pads in the spring.

"I think not putting on the pads in the spring will be a disadvantage to us," said Eudy. 'We've gotten so used to it and it's a good way to tell who'll perform for you in the fall. But it's all right because everybody in the district has to do it

The new district also features other powerhouses in various sports, particulary in volleyball, where Big Spring is very strong

Change gets mixed reaction at school

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

Reactions varied from 'ecstatic' to "it's no big deal' at Big Spring High School after this morning's announcement that the school will go from Class AAAAA to AAAA in UIL competition.

Principal Murray Murphy said he was "glad" of the change. "I think it's a good step for us. It will give us the opportunity to compete with schools that rival our size.

Murphy said the school has been competing against schools with nearly double its enrollment, but now Big Spring will be the biggest school in its district.

The change should instill more of a winning attitude in students, he said.

"Our margin for success has improved greatly. (Students) will see they can win week in and week out. We will become accustomed to going out there expecting to win instead of going out there expecting to lose.' Band director Ricky Mitchell said he is "ecstatic" about the "That's great for the band program," he said. "It's something we've been waiting for for a long time." At concerts, he explained, the band is required to play music

Continued from page 1-A "Year in and year out this district has some of the top teams in the state," said Big Spring volleyball coach Susan Sharp. "Monahans and Pecos have been perennial powers and now Snyder is on the move."

Snyder is the defending state champs in volleyball. Big Spring, the defending 4-5A district champion, was defeated by Snyder twice in two meetings this past season.

'It's going to be quite a challenge for our girls to move into this district. These teams have established winning programs. I really think this a much stronger district than the one we're leaving.'

Garden City Athletic Director Tony Stricklin is encouraged by the district change for the Bearkats. Continued from page 1-A at a certain level of difficulty Music for AAAAA bands is more difficult, and "it's been hard for us," he said. "We were in way over our heads."

Now music is at a level the band can realistically handle, he said

The Big Spring music programs were competing against Midland and Odessa schools, with bands of more than 200 members and an extensive private lesson program, he said.

The Big Spring band had 147 members during last year's UIL contests. This year it will compete against Snyder, Sweetwater, Monahans and schools of a similar size, he said.

"The kids will enjoy who we have to compete against," he

But reactions from band members varied. "I'm glad in a way because it will be more to our level, but it's not as much of a challenge,' said junior Medina Corwin, who plays the oboe.

She said it means more to get cheers from the audience after a performance at a more difficult school. "It means more to know you really showed them up," she said.

Junior Mike Ramey, clarinet player, said easier contest music should help the band. 'The 5-A stuff was pretty difficult," he said. "It's more at our level in 4-A. We'll do better.

Sophomore Mary Ann Guevara, cornet player, said the band would "get more done" as a AAAA school.

The change will not mean as much for the choir, said director Kristy Jasek

"We'll have a little better chance at being successful in contests." she said, but competition still will be fierce. 'There's some extreme competition in Fort Stockton, Andrews and Monahans," she said. Jasek said the number of local students in choir this year is down. "We are still in a building process," she said. Journalism teacher Steve Poitevint said the change to AAAA "will not be any big deal for us.

"There's a little uncertainty." he said. "We have never really competed with these schools

WASHINGTON - Ten law enforcement organizations today asked House members, passed legislation that would permit interstate sales of firearms.

The police groups, in a statement prepared for a news conference, said the bill would add "to the carnage" of violent crime "by allowing more guns to slip into the hands of criminals.

The organizations oppose efforts by Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Mo., chief sponsor of the House version of the bill, to bring it to the floor by a rarely successful discharge petition.

Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, a perennial foe of Reagan administration farm policy, also praised Lyng, saying, "He will be more of a fighter for farmers and less of a water carrier for the administration.'

Savimbi gets backing

WASHINGTON - Angolan rebel leader Jonas Savimbi, visiting government officials' here, appears to be receiving support from the State Department in his efforts to bring attention to U.S. business investments in the West African nation.

Savimbi, here seeking American backing for his struggle against the Cuban-backed government in Luanda, has long been troubled by the benefits the Marxist authorities have received from Angola-based U.S. firms. He was to discuss the matter with President

Health care pays off

WASHINGTON — America paid an average of $1,580 per person for health care in 1984, more than 10 percent of the nation's gross national product, but the investment is paying off in lower death rates from killer diseases, a new study says

The annual report on the nation's health, released Wednesday by the Health and Human Services Department, says life expectancy once again has hit a record high, while infant mortality once again has set a record

Death rates from heart disease have fallen by 28 percent since 1970, while death rates from stroke have fallen 49 percent.

Bystanders view the tail section and other debris from an AeroCalifornia DC-3 that crashed Wednesday in the Mexican Pacific coast city of Los Mochis, killing all 21 aboard.

Plane slams into hill killing 21 aboard

LOS MOCHIS, Mexico (AP) — The charred pages of a schoolbook were among the few identifiable belongings left after the crash of an AeroCalifornia DC-3 airliner in this Mexican Pacific coast city that claimed the lives of all 21 people aboard.

Investigators studied the wreckage to try to determine why the propeller-driven plane slammed into a hill Wednesday morning and burst into flames. Airline officials said the pilot tried to land in heavy fog at a small airstrip near a hotel.

The plane, carrying 18 passengers and three crew members, left Ciudad Constitucion on the Baja California peninsula, and was scheduled to arrive at Los Mochis nearly an hour later.

All aboard were Mexicans, said Mara Castellon, spokeswoman for AeroCalifornia's main office in La Paz. Baja California.

Los Mochis' main airstrip was closed due to thick fog. Small commercial planes in the area were advised by the control tower to land at airports north or south of Los Mochis

Instead, pilot Modesto Copado Hernandez made a decision to try landing at an airstrip near the Colinas Hotel, said Enrique Gomez Llanos, AeroCalifornia's general manager in Los Mochis.

This reporter, flying above Los Mochis when the crash occurred, saw that the AeroCalifornia plane could not land on its first attempt. But when the plane came around and started to climb over the hill, its wing dipped and it crashed into the side of the hill.

Police officer Victor Manuel Sarnudo Romanillo said he arrived about 15 minutes after the crash. "It was a big mess and the bodies were all burned up. But they were still in the plane.

Los Mochis in Sinaloa state is across the Gulf of California from Baja California. It is a fishing community, center of a prosperous agricultural area and has a small community of retired Americans.

AeroCalifornia, a regional, privately owned company, also flies to Guadalajara and Tijuana

Marcos names members to panel

MANILA, Philippines — Saying he was responding to "some of my friends in the U.S. Embassy," President Ferdinand E. Marcos appointed the last members of the national election commission today, eight days before the Feb. 7 special presidential election.

U.S. Ambassador Stephen Bosworth said Monday that filling the nine-member commission's two vacancies with qualified individuals would be a "significant confidence-building step, but time is drawing short." Critics have charged the commission, mostly composed of friends of Marcos, would help rig ballot counting in order to keep the 68-year-old Marcos in office. Marcos has been in power 20 years.

Marcos said today during a speech to the Manila Rotary Club that the "idea of losing has never entered my mind." He added, however, that he would turn over power peacefully to opposition candidate Corazon Aguino if she wins the election.

Meanwhile, a military announcement reported that unknown gunmen shot to death two local leaders of Marcos, raising to 16 the number of people killed in pre-election violence in the Philippines.

Arab ministers meet

TUNIS, Tunisia - Arab foreign ministers meet in special session today to discuss Libya's call for a pair hab co of the United States in retaliation for U.S. sanctions against Libya and purported American military threats.

However, the reaction from some Arab nations, many of which have close economic ties with the United States, was expected to be lukewarm. Arab diplomatic sources said it was very unlikely that the Arab League would decide to take any radical action against the

U.S role vital for Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya - About 40 American oil service companies are far more important to Libya than the American oil companies that produce 20 percent of Libya's oil and recently suspended shipments, Western diplomats and industry sources say.

Libya's oil fields operate almost exclusively with American technology and technicians.

Many American oilmen and smaller service companies have indicated they will leave Libya by Feb. 1 to abide by the embargo ordered by President Reagan in response to allegations that the government of Col. Moammar Khadafy sponsors terrorism.

Leaders to discuss oil

CANCUN, Mexico — The presidents of Mexico and Venzuela, Latin America's two largest oil producers, meet in this Caribbean resort today to discuss the crippling effect of the world oil glut on their heavily indebted economies

The welfare of both countries is closely linked to the price of oil, which has fallen to below $20 a barrel on some markets recently. The two countries' treasury ministers say a sustained drop below that price could devastate their countries

Mexico and Venezuela are among the Third World's largest debtors. Mexico has a foreign debt of $96.4 billion and Venezuela owes foreign creditors $35 billion, both mostly to American banks.

Rioters, troops clash

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti - Riot troops fired tear gas at anti-government protesters during a demonstration by about 30,000 people outside the Roman Catholic cathedral in the north coast city of Cap Haitien, witnesses

The demonstrators marched to the cathedral, witnesses said, and soldiers and riot troops armed with automatic weapons and shields took up positions around the edges of the crowd

Death in space haunts survivors

We know the dangers of space travel, yet we shut them from the collective consciousness because trips to space had been so safe for so long

The tragedy of space shuttle Challenger Tuesday demonstrates how vulnerable humans hurtled into space really are. It brings an Age of Reality to what had been an almost mythical space program. The loss of the seven astronauts compares to the loss of President Kennedy; ironically it was Kennedy's Camelot era that breathed life into the space age.

The death of Christa McAuliffe of Concord, N.H., our "Teacher in Space," is particularly devastating, though. She was a teacher, a respected figure of the people. She was a wife and mother. She was an enthusiastic adventurer. She was a dreamer. She was an optimist.

Because she was lost in space and because there will be nothing on which to build a funeral, it is hard to grasp her physical departure. "We still believe she's out there somewhere," said Christa's next door neighbor, Jeanne Tim-

And because we view so much make-believe tragedy on television, the reality of seeing human beings vaporized is difficult to comprehend.

McAuliffe was the embodiment of the American spirit. She loved life and lived it fully. She jogged, and played basketball and tennis. She taught Christian education at her church. St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church.

"It was shock. It was sorrow," Marilyn Wilson, a neighbor across the street, told the Associated Press. "It wasn't going to happen. ... The girl next door was never as complete as Christa. (NASA) picked the best possible person."

We go on with our lives, but that terrible moment is forever etched in our minds. But we should try to temper the sadness by thinking of what Christa McAuliffe stood for. As she told Jeanne in an autographed photo:

"May your future be limited only by your dreams. "Love, Christa."

ENT LEXANDER Jack Anderson FTC documents expose tobacco company claim By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON - Tobacco companies do a slow burn whenever they're accused of trying to sell their hazardous products to young people through alluring advertisements. Industry lobbyists have now been hit with this charge by a prestigious opponent, the American Medical Association, which wants Congress to ban all cigarette advertising.

The ensuing controversy could shed belated light on a collection of secret industry documents that have been in the Federal Trade Commission's possession since 1979. The documents undermine the contention of a leading tobacco company, Brown & Williamson, that its ads had not been aimed at potential customers under the age of 21.

The internal Brown & Williamson documents were recently introduced as court exhibits in a libel suit the company brought against a Chicago television commentator

Company officials declined to say whether the marketing strategies laid out in the documents which date to the mid-1970s — are still being followed. Instead, they described "our policy" in this sensitive area as: "Brown & Williamson believes that smoking is an adult custom. Advertising and promotion activities for our products are aimed at adult smokers, 21 years of age and over.

Apparently that wasn't always the case. A Strategic Positioning Statement." prepared by Brown & Williamson's ad agency in 1974, included young smokers among the crucial targets of a promotional campaign intended to boost the sagging sales of Viceroy cigarettes.

The document listed male smokers 16 to 25 years old as among the "Best Prospects" for increased sales, explaining: "Fifty-five percent of young males 16-25 smoke full-taste cigarettes. Twentyseven percent of all full-taste 84mm smokers are 16-25. Only 15 percent of Viceroy smokers are 16-25. Therefore, there is ample opportunity for growth in Viceroy coming into alignment with the category.

The strategy paper said the "primary objective" of the upcoming ad campaign was to "position Viceroy as to attract young males from competitive brands" while hanging onto the cigarette's own customers.

The two other groups listed as "prime prospects for Viceroy" were "Females 18-49" and "Blacks 18-49.

The ad agency's report played down the importance of "starters" (first-time smokers) and "restarters" (those who had quit smoking for more than a year), explaining that "starter and re-starter groups together account for only 8 percent of all

A January 1976, "Marketing Strategy" paper, approved by Brown & Williamson, noted "problems (that the) marketing plans must solve." Our listed solution: "Efforts must also be made to increase the brand's appeal to smokers 18-40.

The strategy paper identified the "Target Audience" for each of three Viceroy ads to be tested as either "Full-flavor smokers and starters, aged 18-40," or "Full-flavor smokers and starters, aged 18-40, specifically who think they smoke too much and would like to smoke less.

Finally, after the four-month ad campaign was dropped as ineffective, an internal memo dated November 1976, sought approval of Brown & Williamson's vice president for marketing for more research "to determine the reason for Viceroy's inability to attract starters and competitive smokers."

Footnote: A Brown & Williamson spokesman told our associate Tony Capaccio: "Cigarette advertising is inherently public. Judgments about the advertising can be made only on the basis of the published advertisements

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Kemal Ataturk, the libertine dictator who brought Turkey into the modern world by forcibly Westernizing it, must be whirling in his grave. State Department sources report that signs of Islamic fundamentalism are popping up in Turkey, evidently imported from neighboring Iran. More women are seen wearing chuddars, the long black robes that are common in Iran but have been a rarity in Turkey. The Koran is a best-seller. And Moslem clergy are urging women not to shake hands with men, read newspapers or watch TV. Government officials have countered by warning that fundamentalism threatens Turkey's cherished secularism

MINI-EDITORIAL: The bodies of more than half of the 248 American soldiers who died in the Newfoundland plane crash last month remain unidentified. One reason, the Pentagon explained, is that medical and dental records of the men were aboard the same plane and were destroyed in the fiery crash. This is strictly against Army regulations for reasons that have now been made all too painfully clear. Yet someone along the chain of command made a thoughtless decision that has cost the families of the dead servicemen untold and needless anguish. That someone's head should roll.

The story of a self-made man

By SPENCER SANDOW You can either work hard or work smart, he says, and if you work smart you don't have to work hard. His life is an example.

A self-educated and wealthy man, he was born in 1943 in Cincinnatti, Ohio, the eldest son in a poor family. Nine years later his parents packed him up with his two brothers and his sister and drove to Texas. They were bound for Houston, the Land of Opportunity, where jobs were plentiful. But the family car broke down in Dallas and lacking money for repairs, they stayed. He has lived there ever since.

"We were so poor," he recalled, that Mom would buy one chicken to feed the whole family. When you have four children and three of them boys and big eaters, that doesn't go far. My portion was the wings. You've never seen such clean bones in your life.

Consequently, he considers one of the major milestones of his life to be when he first earned enough money to afford to eat meat every

On his own before he finished high school, he worked as a sacker in a grocery store. One week found him without money and with a bare refrigerator

"I had a large can of pear halves, one of those tiny loaves of rye bread and a sausage that was so hot I had been unable to eat it. That had to last me a week, until the next paycheck," he said. "I allowed myself one slice of bread, one slice of sausage, half a pear and a spoon of the pear juice per day." At the end of the week, he gorged on an all-you-can-eat-for-fifty-cents

His life began to change when his future father-in-law helped him get a job in a stockbrokerage firm. With only a year of college, earned at night, he worked his way up to stockbroker. Now he is president of his Dallas firm.

He is interested in everything. He performs aerobatics with his airplane in shows around the southwest. He goes on archaeological digs in Central America. He scuba dives in the Caribbean. He would like to bag a grizzly bear with a bow and arrow Quick-witted and well informed, he can converse wisely on almost any subject, but prefers history and its cause-effect relationship in the modern world. Articulate, he uses dramatic speech to his advantage.

He could out-argue Racehorse Haynes. He makes a better modern-day hero than Rambo. I know, he's my father.

NASA never compromised on safety

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Always the pressure was on NASA to fly more, to carry more, to earn back more of the enormous cost of the space shuttle program.

"Fast turnaround" became a way of life. On each work day, as they passed through the Kennedy Space Center gates, engineers and janitors alike were reminded by signboards of how many days it was until launch.

The National Aeronautics and Space Agency went to great lengths to shave a day here and there off the turnaround time. On the last mission, the shuttle was kept aloft two extra days in the vain hope that weather would permit a Florida landing and trim six days off the preparation for the next flight.

And yet, NASA never hesitated to delay a flight for safety reasons, even at the risk of offending the customers for whom it was delivering satellites to orbit. The weather had to be right, the ship had to be right. On a few occasions, computers ordered launch pad shutdowns because one instrument reading did not agree with another.

"We always strive in every flight that we perform to be as reliable and as safe as we possibly can and to do everything that we can to ensure that the vehicle and the systems are all ready to fly," shuttle director Jesse Moore said Tuesday. "Flight safety is our No. 1 priority in the space shuttle program.

The pressures on NASA came from all around. From the Air Force, from NASA's European competition, from Congress, from friends and from critics.

The agency's goal was 24 launches a year, beginning in 1988, with the four spacecraft -Columbia, Challenger, Discovery and Atlantis flying six times each. This year, 1986, was to be the most ambitious to date, with 15 flights pencilled in. But the year started badly. The first mission was an embarrassment. Five times the crew entered the shuttle Columbia, only to climb out again hours later because of a scrub. Two more launch dates were set, then postponed until the shuttle finally made it aloft, 25 days NASA promised the fastest turnaround ever, seven days from Columbia's landing to Challenger's launch. It would be tight, but the schedule would be maintained. For the first time in the shuttle program, a second launch pad was available and Challenger lifted off a respectable three days late.

There was absolutely no pressure to get this particular launch off," said Moore. There is no doubt, however, that NASA has been feeling the heat. The Air Force argued vehemently that it was unwise to depend on the shuttle alone to deliver critical satellites into space. NASA contended that was "a heavy-handed scheme by the Air Force to give the shuttle a black eye" and said it counted on Air Force business for one-third of its revenue

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger finally ended the competition, by deciding the Air Force would buy an improved version of the Titan rocket. The service will buy 10, launching saellites on them at the rate of two a

The European consortium Arianespace has been giving NASA intense competition for the satellite dollar, winning several contracts that would otherwise have gone to the space shuttle. Arianespace officials have said they hope to win one-third of the satellite communications business by 1995, but they, too, had a rocket blow up recently, destroying two satellites. China announced last year it was open for commercial launch business and Japan is developing its own capability. India has joined space-launching nations and Brazil is building a rocket base. The Soviet Union, too, is beginning to compete for launch business. Rep. Bill Nelson, whose district includes

Cape Canaveral and who flew on Columbia earlier this month, is a shuttle booster who has been pushing hard for a fifth orbiter. But there are others in Congress who are not as friendly to the shuttle — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., would prefer money be spent on unman-

Now the pressure on NASA is to find out what happened. It's certain to be a while before the signboards at the gates again proise a launch in a few days.

This brings the overall loss for the first three months of the fiscal year to $289,430.

Assistant administrator Richard Murphy said the hospital averaged eight to 10 patients in October, November and December. Patient count for January is running 14 to

In other business, hospital administrator Ray Mason said the board received a letter from Mrs. Charles Root requesting that the Root name be taken from the hospital.

Mason told directors he believes the request should be approved.

Health screening fees may go up

By HANK MURPHY Staff Writer

The city is expected soon to draft an ordinance increasing fees for venereal disease Health Center.

The rising health care fees reflect a comprehensive city plan to boost user fees for a number of citywide services.

The city has commissioned an Irving firm, David M. Griffith and Associates LTD., to study and determine costs to the city of the numerous services it provides from maintaining the golf course and tennis center to delivering police and fire protection to the Airpark.

While the city administration is still reviewing the hulk of the study, fee figures pertaining to the health center surfaced at a council work session Monday.

The only significant change in the current fee structure is a jump in the charge for venereal disease screening from a present fee of $5 to a proposed $15.

The Griffith study indicated that it costs the city $13.62 for each patient screened at the center. However, the city is currently collecting only about 20 percent of the $5 fees it now charges for the service, said James Luck, a sanitarian for the city. Thus, it was recommended by councilmen to charge a higher fee with hopes of retrieving a greater share of the service's cost.

A question was asked whether the increase would dissuade people who need to be screened from using the service.

Dear Abby

Matter of taste

and I toured England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, and we noticed a strange habit in all these countries that puzzled and disturbed us. While eating, they held their forks upside down as compared to the way we Americans hold ours. I tried to explain to them that the fork is curved so as to facilitate the lifting of the food to the mouth. "rake" their food onto the fork with their knife. (And you should see how they eat their peas!)

Also, after cutting meat, they do not set the knife down and change the fork from the left hand to the right; they eat left-handed, which looks rather awkward. When I mentioned this to an Englishman, he laughed and said, 'We are one up on you; switching the fork from the left hand to the right hand is wasted motion."

Abby, please inform us as to where they acquired these strange eating habits. THE WILBURS

IN BELFAIR, WASH. DEAR WILBURS: Their habits evolved from custom. Don't complain; the English have come a long way from the days when King Henry VIII ignored the utensils, ate with his hands and tossed the bones over his shoulder!

DEAR ARRY: I take exception to your response to the person who didn't want to state her religion on the admittance form when she entered the hospital. You said she didn't have to.

I refused to disclose my "marital status" on a similar form when I was scheduled for a goiter X-ray, and I was informed that unless I completed the form there would be no X-ray! The argument that my martial status had nothing to do with my goiter fell on deaf ears to those in charge.

NAMELESS IN PENNSYLVANIA DEAR NAMELESS: You were right — your marital status had nothing to do with your goiter, but you knuckled under because you were intimated by "those in charge." Your hospital may have been the exception; the only information required for an X-ray is: name, address, date of birth and who is going to pay for it. (Getting married? Send for Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923. This condition can arise with any viral infection (of which mumps is one). It's just another of a host of inexplicable quirks viruses exhibit from time to time. For some reason this virus has prodded your son's body to produce a lot of antibodies aimed at the platelet cells. Those are the ones that form clots. The shortage causes the ease of bleeding, which is what the bruising represents.

Children are more susceptible to this. If the child can get through the initial platelet shortage stage, production resumes and the shortage disappears. If not, then surgery to remove the spleen is considered. That organ removes platelets from the blood in a normal ongoing process. So if the spleen is removed, the platelet level should rise. People can get along well without a

Mavericks get 'free' gift from San Antonio

By The Associated Press The best things in life were free for the Dallas Mavericks.

Dallas hit 37 consecutive free throws Tuesday night in its 126-114 victory over the San Antonio Spurs before rookie Detlef Schrempf missed with 4:13 left in the game, stopping the Mavericks two short of the NBA record set by Utah on Dec. 12, 1982.

'We've been concentrating more in free throws in practice and it paid off," Mavericks Coach Dick Motta said after his team finished

38-for-41 from the line for the game. "I knew we didn't miss any free throws in the first half and I couldn't remember if we had missed any free throws in the second half going into the fourth quarter."

'We just need to practice more. Spurs Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said after San Antonio was 17-for-32 at the free-throw line. "I told our players that it is embarrassing to be a pro and miss that many free throws. I want them practicing free throws now instead of shooting one-on-one against each other.'

Rolando Blackman scored 25 points and Mark Aguirre 22 for Dallas, while Mike Mitchell and Alvin Robertson had 20 each for San Antonio.

In other games, it was Utah 107, Philadelphia 86; Indiana 92, Washington 88; Detroit 107, Atlanta with 21 points.

94; and Phoenix 118, Los Angeles Clippers 108.

The Dallas victory was overshadowed by the continuing feud between Motta and Aguirre, who blamed his coach for his failure to make the All-Star team.

"Dick has no feeling for me and I have no feeling for him, but I can survive," said Aguirre, who last month was suspended by Motta for three games because he helped Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins to his feet while the ball was in play. "I knew I wasn't going to make it after my run-in with Dick. I knew I had blown it all.'

He added, "I could be playing the starting small forward (in the All-Star game) if I was with some other teams.

Dallas extended a seven-point halftime lead to 95-80 after three periods and built a 23-point bulge in the final quarter.

Jazz 107, 76ers 86

Adrian Dantley scored 14 of his 30 points in the third period as Utah handed Philadelphia only its third loss in 13 games.

Jazz extend a 44-38 halftime lead to 77-64 after three quarters. The 76ers cut the deficit to 91-84 with three minutes to go, but a threepoint goal by Dantley sparked a 16-2 Jazz spurt the rest of the way

TCU alive with win over Coogs

Jim Killingsworth said it was a 'ragged game,'' but it was enough for the Horned Frogs to defeat the Houston Cougars and stay only a game behind Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference basketball

TCU took advantage of some excellent rebounding against against a taller Houston team to take a slim 53-49 victory and break a fourgame winning streak by the Cougars. TCU out-rebounded Houston, 43-33. "Houston played hard and they played good, but it was just kind of a ragged game," Killingsworth said. "There wasn't much finesse on our part, but we managed to struggle through.

"I thought we did a good job on the boards," Killingsworth said. "And you know that's pretty good for our guys to stay on the boards with (Greg) Anderson and (Ricky)

In other SWC action Wednesday night, Texas A&M whipped Arkansas, 81-67; SMU defeated Rice, 68-52, and Texas edged Texas Tech, Texas coach Bob Weltlich thinks the maturity of the Longhorns enabled them to come from behind and beat the Red Raiders, 49-46. Center John Brownlee, who had

Tech coach Gerald Myers

"I think that Texas' experience and pose at the end really won the game for them," he said. "The score was low, but that was because both teams worked the ball for the good shot and both teams played good defense.'

SMU coach Dave Bliss praised Kevin Lewis, who had 25 points to lead the Mustangs in their 68-52 victory over Rice.

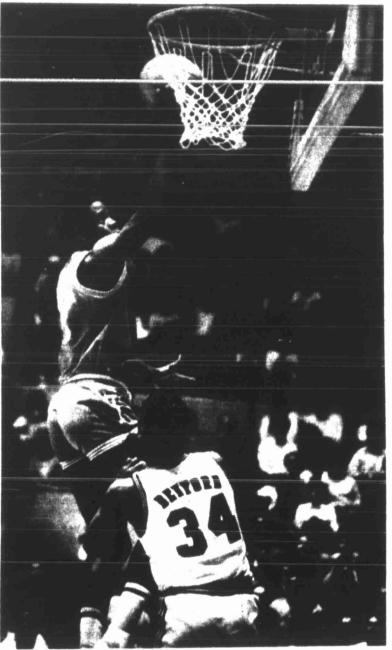

"He's a marvelous shooter," Bliss said. "We worked hard to get the ball to him with the open shot, and it doesn't take a genius to see Rice Coach Tommy Suitts was disappointed with the Owls' play. "Tonight we played like a bad team. I'm disappointed about the whole thing," he said. "This has never happened with this group of kids before. They have had every opportunity to give up in the past, but they never have. Then all of a

Cowboy Interview: Bill Bates

By CHARLIE ALCORN Sports Writer

Bill Bates, the Dallas Cowboys' special-teams demon and nickel back-on defense, was in town Tuesday to help celebrate the opening of Big Spring Savings new drive-in facility. I had an opportunity to talk to the third-year pro from the University of Tennessee about the the 1985 season, the Cowboy's future and his views on the sport in general. Were you suprised by the Super Bowl outcome?

"I wasn't really suprised. I figured if Chicago got any kind of momentum going they would wear New England out like they did. I just think the NFC is much stronger than the AFC this building a dynasty? "Kind of hard to say at this point. When you talk about dynasties, I always think of the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Bears are young and they do have a lot of talent, but it will depend on how they hold together after a year like this. They played well but you never know if they're going to keep that team unity or if they're going to have guys going in different directions.

What do think the Cowbovs are going to have to do to get back in the championship picture? "I think we had a great year winning the East (NFC East Conference title). We have a lot of young players who gained experience this year, plus a solid group of veterans returning next year. I think we really need an impact player on offense, somebody like Herschel Walker, in a trade or through the draft. Somebody who can come in a give us a lift.

Last year you were the first player ever named to the Pro Bowl as a special teams player. Were you disappointed in not repeating this year?

"It was great nonor for me to play on the special teams at Dallas and I feel that I had a hand in getting that position put in the Pro Bowl. Of course after getting that recognition last year, people started keying on me more this season, but hopefully the times that I was being double-teamed it freed up somebody else to make the tackle. I'm not so much interested in the personal rewards, although they are all great, as much as going to the Super Bowl and winning as a

Where did you develop your enthusiasm for special teams

"I didn't play on many special teams at Tennessee because I started all four years at strong saftey and the coaches didn't want me on the field that much My rookie year in Dallas I wanted a jersey some how, some way. Coach Landry gave me a chance on the kickoff team the first game and I made the tackle and went bananas after that. Special teams have always been fun.

Did you anticipate the great success you've had with the Cowboys coming out of Tennesse? "I was definitely a long shot After not being drafted, and I really thought I would after starting all four years at Tennessee, I thought maybe my career was over. But the Cowboys made me an offer I couldn't refuse and said come try out with them at a free agent camp. I was determined to give making the team my best shot and if it hadn't worked out that would have been fine, but it did work out and I couldn't be

With the rise of Chicago's 46 defense and the apparent ineffectiveness of the "Flex" do you think there will be wholesale changes in the Dallas defense?

"No I really don't think so. It's more a matter of our players playing the defense right. The 46 defense is not much different than the Flex. They cover the gaps more than we do but they just execute the defense real well. We've got to get back to doing that.

"The Bears play close man-toman defense and the cornerbacks are really the key to the defense. But then again, when a quarterback only has two seconds to throw the ball it makes it tough. If you think back seven years ago, people were saying "how are we going to stop the Flex, we need to find an offense that can stop the Flex" and they did. I think the same will happen to the 46."

Are you looking for some added responsibility next year on defense or do you think that you'll be used primarily in special situations.? "I want to play as much as I can. Playing for the Cowboys has been a great honor but now that I've been with the team three years I'd like to step into a leader role on defense. It's hard because everybody in the Cowboy defensive backfield is a great player. Earning a starting position at strong safety will be a real challenge

You were a finalist for the NFL's "Man of the Year" award in 1985 for being involved in community work. Where did Dallas Cowboy defensive back and special teams captain Bill Bates chats with reporters during a press conference Tuesday afternoon. Bates says the Cowboys could be in the hunt for a Super Bowl bid next season but need some improvement, particularly on offense.

you become so deeply involved in charities.

A couple of different ways. In Knoxville, where I grew up and th University of Tennessee is located, I was the hometown boy and well known, so I initinally got involved with charities through the school. We visited a lot of hospitals in the area and I became particularly close to a young girl who had leukemia. When she passed away it left a real impression on my heart. And it made me vow that if I'm in the position to help somebody out, and do it positively, then that's what I want to do." Any predictions for the Cowboys next year?

"Building on this year, I think we can win the East again and get back into that championship game. Our goal this year was to get in the playoffs and we did that and I think our goal should be to get to the Super Bowl this year. I think we have the players to do it but we have to play consistent ball. Probably the most important thing is for everybody to have a good feeling about everybody else on the

AL & WANDA BAGWELL CATERING SERVICE

Promote simple New Testament Christianity, free from all mixture of human opinions and inventions of men, and without the addition of: "We are going to do this our way regardless of what the Bible says." Seek to point out the abuses which rob the church of it's proper role with God and man. Reveal the schemes and actions of contempory religions, religious leaders, and organizations which are not consistent with the teachings of the New Testament, for they blind men to Bible truth and lead to souls loosing eternal rewards and suffering eternal condemnation. A religion lacking either the gospel facts, the ordinances and laws of Christ, and the sound doctrine of Jesus and His apostles, although having other times, is a religion unacceptable to the God of heaven according to what the Bible teaches. All false religions of all ages are but perversions of the one revealed in scripture. Never hold any senti-🎇 ment or proposition as more certain than the evidence from scripture on which it rests. Everything must be subjected to the test of scripture. Truth must be the search and never scrifice it to any personal consideration. Galatians 1:6-12 Billy Patton Birdwell CHURCH OF CHRIST
