Q. Where can I get one of those long cane poles used to knock pecans out of trees?

A. After calls to several plant nurseries and retail stores, the Herald can find no one who sells the poles or who knows where to buy one. Wesley Deats, owner of John Davis Feed Store suggested using a dowel rod, available at lumber yards, to knock the pecans down.

Prince touches down in Texas

Perot award presentation is highlight of itinerary

Prince Charles pauses to greet a small group on hand to watch the Prince's arrival at the Dallas Fort Worth International Airport Monday. Prince Charles is in Texas to make a presentation to Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot and to help Texas celebrate its sesquicentennial.

DALLAS (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles stepped regally off the British jet that shuttled him into Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, but the real excitement is scheduled for later in the week when the prince kicks off the state's Sesquicentennial celebration.

The doors to the VC-10 Royal Air Force jet opened and the red carpet was unrolled shortly after 5 p.m. Monday, with Gov. Mark White, the mayors of Dallas and Fort Worth and other dignitaries on hand to greet him.

A gusty, but sunny and warm day also greeted the prince, who shook hands with White, Dallas Mayor A. Starke Taylor, Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen, British Consul General Martin Himes and John Loeb, president of the Winston Churchill Foundation.

As the heir to the British throne brushed back his wind-tousled hair, a band of kilt-clad British Caledonian Airways bagpipers played the "Yellow Rose of Texas" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" on the tarmac.

British and American photographers and reporters pressed against the ropes that cordoned them off from the prince. Film reeled and cameras snapped, but the prince had no words for the reporters. After the brief greetings Prince Charles, minus Princess Diana, headed for the Loews Anatole hotel in Dallas in a limousine.

During his visit to the state, he will present Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot with the Winston Churchill award.

State and local leaders have been working feverishly for the last four months to map out the visit that was prompted by the Dallas billionaire and computer magnate.

Prince Charles had planned to come to Dallas primarily to present Perot with the Churchill award, which is bestowed to those who epitomize Churchill's spirit. But the celebration of the 150th anniversary of Texas' independence from Mexico piqued his interest.

"The more he asked about the Sesquicentennial, the more interested he got," said Sam Garner, head of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission. "So he decided to see a lot more of the state."

The prince's crowded itinerary includes stopovers in Houston, Austin and San Antonio before he jets to Palm Springs, Calif. on Friday.

He was expected to tour this morning the Electra Communications Corp.

Pickens says oil prices will plunge deeper

DENVER (AP) — World oil prices will drop to $10 to $12 per barrel in coming months if OPEC keeps opening the spigots on its prolific, cheap-to-produce wells, Texas oilman T. Boone Pickens has warned.

And there won't be very much the American oil industry can do to stop the plunge, the Amarillo oilman who heads Mesa Petroleum said on Monday.

Oil prices, which stood at $29 for the 42-gallon barrel in Texas last December, now have dropped to $17 and are falling, he said, noting that under the assumption retail gasoline prices would fall accordingly, consumers should be picking up regular leaded fuel for 70 to 75 cents per gallon.

Such a drop would cause thousands of wells in the United States to be plugged because they become unprofitable at those prices, he said, and eventually U.S. oil production of more than 8 million barrels of crude daily would drop by 25 percent.

"These prices will eliminate the high-cost producers and those high-cost producers are in the United States," he warned. "Big oil companies can't run their big budgets on $17 oil."

The result will be layoffs and reduced drilling budgets, he said. For example, his own company spent $400 million a year drilling in the boom years of 1979 to 1981, but this year will spend only $20 million.

But he said few tears will be shed for oil companies, because, "Far more people are helped by $17 oil than are hurt by it."

The price reductions began in December when the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — led by Saudi Arabia — abandoned trying to set world oil prices and began concentrating on retaining market shares.

Pickens, who was in Denver to discuss his proposed merger with the Lakewood-based K N Energy, also said his plan is not hostile and a combination of the two companies would be a natural.

K N employs about 1,800 at its headquarters and along its pipeline transmission network, which Mesa wants to use to transport its vast natural gas reserves in Kansas and other areas.

At a press conference at the Denver Petroleum Club, Pickens said he has heard K N is trying to sell to someone else "and we want to be in on the bidding process."

K N officials, who have declined to meet with Pickens, have had no comment.

Pharmacy owner is 'boss of the year'

By CARLEEN EVERETT

Clint Hollomon was named "boss of the year" by the Cactus Chapter of American Business Women's Association Monday night at its 25th annual Boss of the Year night.

"This year's decision was a hard one to make," Nelda Colclazer, boss night chairman, said.

Hollomon "has lived and worked in his chosen profession all his life," Colclazer quoted from the recommendation written by Mary Hollomon, wife and business associate of the recipient.

Hollomon, owner of the Medicine Shoppe pharmacy, has been active in planning local health programs and began a local chapter of the American Diabetes Association, Colclazer said. "He has succeeded in educating the public to generic drugs, saving them hundreds of dollars a year," she added.

Hollomon helped establish an adopt-a-family program in which he organized health care, medical, dental and prescription service for the family for a year until the family got back on its feet and could support itself, Colclazer said.

Search continues for missing girl

Staff and wire reports
DALLAS — Police and FBI agents continue to search for 9-year-old Christie Diane Proctor, formerly of Big Spring, who disappeared Saturday afternoon while walking a few blocks to her apartment complex from a friend's house.

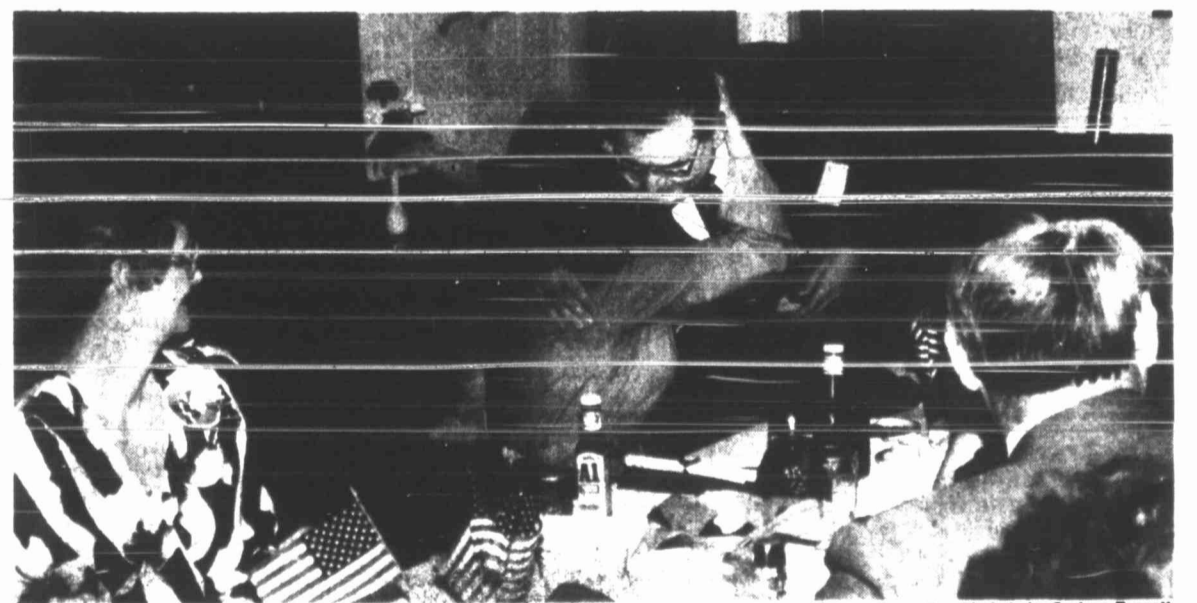

She is the granddaughter of Ralph and Lynnette Brooks, owners of Blum's Jewelers in Big Spring. The Brooks went to Dallas

Sunday morning and have offered a $5,000 reward for their granddaughter's safe return.

Law enforcement officials are investigating a possible link between the disappearance of Christie and the brief abduction of another young girl last week.

A 10-year-old girl who attended the same elementary school as Christie was forced into a white van Wednesday by a man who later

Council to discuss overtime payment

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The City Council will go into executive session at its regular meeting Feb. 25 to discuss the $17,835 overtime payment to former utilities superintendent W.W. Windham, Councilman Gary Don Carey said today.

Mayor Clyde Angel said he called for the executive session at the request of Carey and Councilman Johnny Rutherford, neither of whom were on the council at the time of the payment.

Angel said he was "well satisfied that nothing was done wrong" and he was not questioning anyone's integrity. "I feel we may have mishandled it at the time," he said.

City Manager Don Davis authorized the nearly $18,000 payment to Windham in 1984 for 815½ hours of overtime Windham claimed to have amassed despite signing

Falls out of capsules

Johnson & Johnson is withdrawing from the over-the-counter capsule market after two Tylenol capsules were tainted, but it is unclear whether the rest of the highly competitive industry will follow its lead.

"This is a question for Johnson & Johnson," said Chairman James E. Burke, announcing his company's decision Monday at its New Brunswick, N.J., headquarters.

Prophetic farewell

WASHINGTON — The Senate marked George Washington's birthday as it has for the last 90 years, listening anew to the first president's parting advice: stay out of debt, avoid foreign entanglements and beware political parties.

Three found murdered

ALBANY — Murder rocked this quiet Central Texas town where a grandmother, her daughter and granddaughter were found shot to death in their home in a quiet neighborhood, authorities said.

Texas Ranger Sid Merchant said all three had been shot in the head sometime Monday, and a .22-caliber semiautomatic pistol was found. He said a heater gas valve had been turned on, possibly to confuse the scene.

The three dead were identified as Dorothy Seedig, in her 50s; her daughter, Julie Dennis, 32, and Mrs. Dennis' daughter, Melissa, about 3 or 4.

No let-up in storms

A powerful Pacific storm pounded the West today after the heaviest rain in three decades unleashed floods that forced hundreds to flee and released mudslides and avalanches that cut off towns and swept away houses.

Waves of storms, powered by winds up to 100 mph, have left at least six people dead and three missing since striking the coast a week ago. More than 18 inches of rain and 8 feet of snow have hit some areas since the storms arrived.

They were expected to ease by this afternoon, allowing rescuers a chance to evacuate more people before another storm strikes by the end of the week.

Crush for cheap cars

SAN ANTONIO — About 100 people, many of them shouting obscenities, responded to a car dealer's offer to sell used cars for 22 cents apiece to the first five customers to show up for a Washington's Birthday sale.

At one point Monday morning, security guards warned officials of Tom Benson Chevrolet that the front windows of the dealership were on the verge of caving in.

One of the first five in line — who asked that his name be withheld for personal safety reasons — said other people "were literally wanting to throw their bodies through the door" to get in first.

Hilda Ruiz Marrero displays her plantains at a farmers market on the outskirts of Havana, Cuba, recently. Farmers markets have been set up all over Havana to help ease food shortages.

Growing markets

Dose of capitalism improves Cuban diet

HAVANA (AP) — Twice a week, Luis Acosta gets up at midnight and travels to a farmers market on the outskirts of Havana, where he and other entrepreneurs gather to engage in that once-forbidden relic of the pre-revolution era: capitalism.

Acosta, a youthful-looking 66, has to be at the market by 3 a.m. if he is to secure an up-front place to hawk his wares. At the 7 a.m. opening, streams of customers begin arriving, Cubans willing to pay high prices for the wide selection and generally good quality produce.

Scores of farmers markets have been set up all over Havana, the result of a government decision, reached somewhat reluctantly in 1981, to try to ease food shortages through what President Reagan likes to call "the magic of the marketplace."

Acosta clearly likes the system. Since the ban on capitalism was lifted, he has bought an air conditioner and a color television set and replaced wood construction at his home with cement. On this day, he's selling malangas, a potato-like vegetable, for 70 to 80 cents a pound. That is no small sum for Cuban workers, many of whom earn just 200 pesos a month. A peso is roughly equal to $1, with 100 cents to the peso.

Nearby, Pedro Sosa, 34, is hard at work selling potatoes. A small smile betrays his satisfaction with how the day is going. Eight people are lined up to buy his potatoes at 40 cents a pound.

Sosa guesses he'll gross 480 pesos this day, an astronomical sum for most Cubans. But his net income will be considerably less because of the 20 per cent tax he must pay and other costs of his operation.

He's doing a lot better than the flower vendor nearby, who expects net income this day of 15 pesos on sales totaling 30 to 40 pesos.

Like Acosta, Sosa believes in the system. Asked if he is doing better now than he was before, he replied, "Si, claro" (Yes, sure).

The markets are a departure from socialist orthodoxy but, in the wake of the discontent demonstrated during the Mariel boat lift in 1980, the government felt a modest dose of capitalism would improve the diet of Cubans and increase agricultural income.

An economist here said many Cubans had a lot of money but few places to spend it.

In addition to allowing farmers markets, the government set up so-called "parallel markets" as an alternative to the private sector approach. These state-run operations compete directly with the private entrepreneurs, usually operating on the same block. They offer lower prices but the quality and the selection generally are inferior.

The farmers markets and the parallel markets represented new innovation. At both, there is no limit on how much a customer buys, a major shift in a country long plagued by shortages and rationing.

Train crash kills 70

SANTIAGO, Chile — Two crowded passenger trains carrying about 300 people slammed head-on into each other on a bridge damaged last year by a terrorist bomb, the government news service said. Radio reports said today that about 70 people died.

Initial reports indicated that 15 people had been killed, but a radio station in Valparaiso and others in the areas said today the toll had risen to about 70. They said about 200 people had been injured.

A police officer, who spoke on condition he not be identified told The Associated Press in a telephone interview that the reports of the higher death toll were accurate. An official announcement will be made later in the day, he said.

Three leap to death

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Three people jumped 10 floors to their deaths and at least 14 others were killed by the smoke and flames of a fire that consumed a 13-story office building in the downtown business district, officials said.

About 40 people were taken to a local hospital for treatment of injuries.

The fire department said the blaze broke out on the ninth floor just after noon Monday, but the cause was not determined immediately.

Riots enter third day

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Residents of a black township set among affluent white suburbs of Johannesburg said five people were killed during a third day of rioting that began after the funerals of two blacks killed in previous protests.

Police confirmed that a mob in Alexandra burned the home of a black policeman Monday, shot and killed him, and burned his body, but said they did not have complete casualty figures.

Confirmation of the five deaths reported by residents would increase the death toll since the Saturday funerals to eight.

Israelis resume raid

TYRE, Lebanon — Israeli troops backed by tanks, helicopter gunships and missile boats resumed their sweep of southern Lebanon today, one day after mounting their largest operation in months in search of two soldiers captured by Moslem guerrillas.

Helicopters dropped scarlet flares before dawn, illuminating the coastal highway from the Litani River to this southernmost Lebanese port, and helicopter landings strips east of Tyre. Gunboats patrolled offshore.

Computers keep an eye

TOKYO — Avenues in Tokyo will be equipped with computer eyes that can read and identify car license plates and within seconds notify police of a vehicle's location, the National Police Agency announced today.

Haiti has chance for democracy

There is an excellent chance for democracy to take root in long-troubled Haiti now that "President-for-Life" Jean-Claude Duvalier has done everybody a favor by leaving the country.

The United States, exercising quiet diplomacy, was instrumental in convincing "Baby Doc" — as the former Haitian strong man was universally known — that it was time to give up his inept and brutal rule and seek asylum.

There is every indication that the Reagan administration is following up on its opportunity to encourage the establishment of a pluralistic Haitian government that will end human rights abuses while providing economic opportunities to its impoverished people.

The interim government that assumed power when Mr. Duvalier fled to France has promised elections, a new constitution and a "real and working democracy."

The rhetoric sounds good, and the Reagan administration has said it will give favorable consideration for emergency economic aid in exchange for actions leading toward democracy and human rights.

It is too early to tell how things will turn out in Haiti, but the fact that Mr. Reagan and Congress did not box the United States into a position of defending Mr. Duvalier against his own people has bolstered a feeling of good will toward Americans in Port-au-Prince. Some U.S. aid to Haiti had been withheld because of Mr. Duvalier's human rights record, for example, and most Haitians are appreciative of that fact.

Haitians also know that U.S. officials, including Secretary of State George P. Shultz, began calling for a "democratic process" in Haiti long before Mr. Duvalier departed.

Haiti appears to be remarkably free of Marxist elements threatening to take the country down the road to economic ruin traveled by Cuba, Nicaragua and pre-liberation Granada.

The United States must do everything possible to solidify Haiti's pro-democratic feelings and help it join the ranks of the world's truly free nations.

Haiti is the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere, but with a responsible government and help from its friends it at long last can begin to climb out of the economic and political backwaters.

Kissinger talks Henry-to-Henry

Henry Kissinger, after "careful consideration," turned down the race for governor of New York State. There are many questions left unanswered. Whose idea was it to ask Kissinger to run, and why did he turn it down?

It all started one morning when... Henry Kissinger looked in the bathroom mirror and his image said, "Let's face it, Henry, they are not going to change the Constitution to permit foreign-born citizens to become President of the United States — although there is no doubt in my mind that you are the most qualified."

"So?" Henry said. "You're going to have to think of something else to keep from getting bored. Why don't you become Director General of the United Nations?"

Henry shook his head. "Ted Koppel never asks the Director General of the United Nations to go on 'Nightline'."

The mirror image said, "Then why not campaign for Commissioner of the National Football League? It's the most powerful job in America. They can't play the Super Bowl without you."

"I wouldn't mind being football commissioner, except they don't provide you with a private plane or a personal chef. I have to think of the perks."

The image in the mirror furrowed its forehead. "Would you like to be a network anchorman on the evening news?"

"They could use me. Dan Rather has a terrible accent. But I would have to give up going to conservative cocktail parties where I am adored."

The image spit some shaving soap out of its mouth. "You have to get an important job, Henry. How long do you think people are going to accept you for yourself?"

Henry replied, "How soon they forget that it was I who opened up a gateway to China and introduced silks, spices and breadfruit to the New World."

"The image in the mirror said, 'Don't get discouraged just because you got a raw deal. You are not without influence. After all, you are on a first-name basis with Margaret Thatcher, Francois Mitterrand, Deng Xiaoping and Oscar de la Renta.'"

Henry blushed. "That's nice of you to say but I'm not going to take any old job just because I know of a lot of heads of state."

"That's it!" the image said. "Why don't you become a head of state?"

"What state?" "New York State." "New York is not a real state like Mozambique or Tonga."

"Nevertheless it is a state and the governor is the head."

Kissinger finished shaving, put on some Brut and said to the image, "May I think about it?"

The image beamed. "Take all the time you want. Gosh, you look beautiful!"

Henry had pretty much made up his mind he would run when his wife Nancy came stomping in the bathroom waving a copy of the New York Post. "Are you going to run for governor?"

Kissinger said, "I'm thinking about it."

Nancy said, "You'd better make up your mind. You have to choose between me or Albany."

Henry sighed. "There is no choice, Liebchen."

When Nancy left Henry looked sadly into the mirror and said, "I could have been a contender."

CIA has kept track of Marcos' real estate purchases in Hawaii

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — The CIA has apparently kept a close watch on the purchase of property in the United States by Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife, Imelda, in recent years. At least two purchases of real estate in Hawaii were reported to the agency by businessmen who claim they were working for the CIA.

Evidence of the spy agency's Marcos-watching is contained in sworn statements given in the bizarre case of Ronald Ray Rewald, who ran a Honolulu-based investment firm from 1979 to 1983, when he was arrested for fraud. Rewald has been convicted of embezzling investors' money in an elaborate swindle, but our extensive investigation, along with those by congressional investigators and Rewald's attorneys, turned up solid evidence that Rewald and his associates were working at least partly on the CIA's behalf.

Half a dozen or more CIA agents, including some former Honolulu station chiefs, had ties to the investment firm. Officially, the CIA has admitted only a "low-level" involvement.

Confidential statements and reports obtained by reporter John Kelly show that Rewald and at least one CIA consultant were keeping an eye on the Marcoses' financial dealings in this country. A Philippine Embassy spokesman told our associate Donald Goldberg that Marcos has denied buying property in the United States.

In a 1983 statement about his legal problems, Rewald told his attorney, Robert A. Smith: "We were keeping a close eye on Mrs. Marcos the last couple of years under the direction of the agency. She had been negotiating on purchasing some land here. All this is legal. They're allowed to do that. But it was the agency's feeling that they were doing it in anticipation of early exile... And we were coming up with real good information."

Rewald's firm hired another company to do a confidential investigation of Hawaii property purchases by the Marcoses. Two were identified in the investigative report.

One estate, purchased in 1977, was valued at $717,000. It was bought by Gliceria Tantoco, a close friend of Imelda Marcos. Mrs. Tantoco's family owns the biggest department store chain in the Philippines. She has been identified by Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., as the buyer of several New York properties for the Marcoses.

A second estate, valued at $1 million, was bought in 1980 through Antonio Floriando, who has also been linked by Solarz to other properties bought for the Marcoses. Neither Mrs. Tantoco nor Floriando could be reached for comment, but a Philippine Embassy spokesman charged that the evidence elicited by Solarz was based on "hearsay and third-party allegations."

Rewald's claim that he spied on the Marcoses for the CIA may seem far-fetched, but it is supported by Robert W. Jinks, a Utah attorney who was a consultant to Rewald's investment firm and who claims that he also worked for the CIA.

In a sworn deposition given to the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1984, Jinks said he was led to believe he was working for the CIA by a former agency station chief as well as the current one, both of whom he had met through Rewald. He described trips he had made for the CIA to Australia, New Zealand, Guam, Hong Kong and Saipan, and continues:

"Then when I got to the Philippines, that was in connection with — that was a mixed bag of CIA and regular, what you might call investment analysis. We were supposed to be determining the flow of capital out of the Philippines and where it was going, and the Marcos name was mentioned, Mrs. Marcos in particular..."

Jinks testified that he had made the trip to the Philippines with Rewald.

UNDERCOVER ULCERS: Common sense would suggest that undercover drug-busters have one of the most dangerous and stressful jobs imaginable. Now a psychologist has studied the statistics and confirmed the supposition. While about one in eight of the normal population, otherwise similar to narcotics agents, may be "psychologically at risk" during any given period, the ratio is one-in-four for undercover agents. Even when they're back on safer assignments, the undercover agents are more likely to have psychological problems, the stats showed.

MINI-EDITORIAL: A Goliath vs. Goliath battle is raging between the nation's doctors and lawyers. The physicians are up in arms because the sharp rise in malpractice suits has sent their insurance rates soaring, and the American Medical Association has suggested new laws to restrict such suits. An American Bar Association committee has recommended the AMA's proposals be rejected and accused the doctors of harboring a cavalier view of the "rights of individuals." Well, we would like to believe that the lawyers have our "rights" foremost in mind, but frankly we think they are primarily concerned with their pocketbooks. Incompetent physicians should pay for their transgressions, but frivolous lawsuits are an abominable burden on society. We endorse the AMA's proposals. A box on the ABA's house.

Overtime episode has a bad odor

To the editor: I am concerned about the overtime payment of nearly $18,000 to W.W. Windham. The lack of any documentation of such overtime, the lack of prior approval by his supervisor of such overtime, the lack of knowledge of the whole affair by four councilmen, the lack of a public meeting in the matter and the hushed nature of the entire matter gives the whole story affair a disgusting stench.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Tuesday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of 1986. There are 316 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: One hundred and one years ago — on Feb. 18, 1885 — Mark Twain's Adventures of Huckleberry Finn was published in the United States for the first time. The book made its debut in Britain and Canada in December 1884.

On this date: In 1546, Martin Luther, the leader of the Protestant Reformation in Germany, died.

In 1564, the artist Michelangelo died in Rome.

In 1735, the first opera to be presented in the U.S. — "Flora, or Hob in the Well" — was performed in Charleston, S.C.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of the Confederate States of America in Montgomery, Ala.

In 1930, the ninth planet of our solar system, Pluto, was discovered.

In 1953, "Bwana Devil," the movie that heralded the 3-D fad of the 1950s, opened in New York.

In 1970, the Chicago Seven defendants were found innocent of conspiring to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic Convention. Five, however, were convicted of seeking to incite a riot individually.

In 1972, the California Supreme Court declared the state's death penalty unconstitutional. Among the more than 100 men and women spared as a result of this decision were Sirhan Sirhan and Charles Manson.

Ten years ago: President Gerald Ford issued an executive order sharply restricting the power of intelligence agencies to intrude upon the lives and activities of U.S. citizens.

Five years ago: In a nationally broadcast speech to Congress, President Ronald Reagan asked for budget cuts of $41 billion in 83 major programs, increases in defense spending and tax cuts.

One year ago: Gen. William Westmoreland and CBS agreed to end a $120 million libel suit brought by Westmoreland against the network over a documentary that charged Westmoreland misled the nation during the Vietnam War.

Today's birthdays: actor Jack Palance and TV host Bill Cullen are 66. Cosmopolitan editor Helen Gurley Brown is 64. Actor George Kennedy and Sen. John Warner, R., Va., are 59. Yoko Ono, the widow of John Lennon, is 53. Actress Cybill Sherratt is 36. Actor John Travolta is 32. Actor Matt Dillon is 22.

Thought for today: "The optimistic thinks this is the best of all possible worlds, and the pessimist knows it" — J. Robert Oppenheimer (1904-1967).

Brooklyn native awaits the statue

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

When the statue of liberty exhibit arrives in Big Spring on Wednesday, first in line will be Ann Holcomb, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The "Move to Freedom" Statue of Liberty exhibit will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Second and Main Streets.

"I'm glad it's here and I'm glad that people are helping to restore her," Holcomb said.

For Holcomb, the statue of liberty brings back childhood memories. "We used to go there a lot," she said. "We'd go to the park and have a picnic and then go up in to the statue. We used to go up to her arm, but her arm got weak and they closed it off."

The statue of liberty means "home" to Holcomb who says she's proud to be from New York.

Holcomb, who lived in Brooklyn for 23 years, remembers riding the subways in New York and the Staten Island ferry for a nickel. The price is up to $1.25 now.

Some of her favorite memories are of the times she went to Coney Island and ate nickel hot dogs at the hot dog stands. "Once I met Red Skelton at a hot dog stand on 42nd street," she said.

The city life is her preference, because "there are more things to do there," she said. Going to the Paramount theatre and seeing live performances at the Broadway shows are some of Holcomb's recollections.

Holcomb said she lives here because of her husband's job, but "I'd rather be in Brooklyn" she added.

Dr. Donohue

Daycare tots need shots

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is Hib vaccine and how safe is it? Does it give strep protection? I have heard it mentioned for protection of day-care children especially. I am completely in the dark about this vaccine. Is it widely used? Are there any side effects? I want to make an informed decision for my 2-year-old. — Mrs. J. B.

The Hib stand for hemophilus influenza, type B bacterium, the most common cause of meningitis in youngsters between 2 and 5 years. Meningitis is inflammation of the meninges, the covering of the brain and spinal cord.

First of all, let me clear up some natural confusion about this vaccine. Use of the word, influenza, as part of the name of the bacterium was unfortunate. It has nothing to do with flu, which, as you know, is caused by a group of viruses, not bacteria. And the vaccine doesn't protect against infection from the strep germ.

The Hib vaccine is widely used and is considered quite safe. In fact, it is recommended for use in all children in the 2-5 age bracket, especially for those in day-care settings. The bacterium is often passed from child to child.

The vaccine is given in a single dose, with no repeats needed. Side effects are few, usually limited to temperature rise and perhaps some swelling in the area of the injection.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What action does the drug, Sinemet, have in treatment of Parkinson's disease? — F.M.C.

Sinemet is a form of dopamine, the brain chemical lacking in Parkinson's disease patients. It contains a second ingredient, carbidopa, which preserves dopamine by preventing its breakdown. Your other drug questions are answered in the new booklet, "Coping with Parkinson's," which other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.50.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My 3-month-old infant is colicky. The pediatrician gave me some medicine. Now I'm not sure how to use it, how often, I mean. He is so busy. I understand it's used "when needed," whatever that means.

Can you help? — Mrs. C.O.

No doctor's so busy he can't tell a patient how to use medicine. Call him. And let me add a few words about colic generally.

Most colic can be handled without medicine. Gas accumulation in the intestines causes most of the distress. Altering feeding techniques, i.e. proper positioning of the infant in a more upright position, avoiding air swallowing and overfeeding, etc., usually helps, as does careful burping.

If medicine has to be used it should be administered sparingly. Many doctors recommend use only during periods of distress or at times when the problem can be anticipated.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Super "Dream Pill" Lose Weight As You Sleep!

No Dieting — Eat All You Want

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — An amazing new super "dream pill" has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose up to 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure."

This remarkable new diet pill combines two natural substances which cause adults to lose weight fast by "tricking" the body into acting like a teenager. These nutritional substances, called L-arginine and L-ornithine, stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

"Pill Does All The Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation 'diet menus' to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise and NO hunger pangs." The pill is not a drug! It is 100% safe consisting of natural amino acids just like those found in the foods you eat everyday.

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident.

Extraordinary Guarantee

Place your order now. If you are not completely satisfied with the thinner "new you" simply return the empty container for a full refund of your entire purchase price. No questions asked. Now what could be fairer than that?

You can order a 30 day supply of these remarkable capsules for $19.95 or a 60 day supply for $34.95.

To order simply call Dream Pill TOLL FREE 1-800-453-4817 and use your VISA or MasterCard. Operators are standing by 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If you don't have a VISA or MasterCard, Dream Pill will also accept C.O.D. orders right over the phone! But please don't wait. Order today. You won't risk a thing. Either you get a slender new you — or you get a full refund of your purchase price.

Dear Abby

Rekindled romance sparks trouble in two marriages

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old divorcee. I married Larry (not his real name) when I was 16 and left him (like a fool) for another man when I was 18. I never realized what a jewel Larry was until it was too late.

Larry got married and now he has three children. In the meantime, I've been living with this other guy, "Barney," for six years. We have a child but we're not married yet. We plan to make it legal in the near future.

I have always regretted leaving Larry and have prayed for a reconciliation, but after all of these years I never thought I had a chance. Well, I ran into him two weeks ago in a parking lot, and it was like our very first meeting all over again! We have seen each other a couple of times since and now he wants to leave his wife and shave want to start shaving?

FONTANA MOM
DEAR MOM: A boy who has nothing to shave wants to start shaving for the same reason a girl who has nothing to put into a brassiere wants to start wearing one: peer pressure. Give him your blessings. He'll be shaving for a long time. One more year won't make much difference.

LIBBY (NOT MY REAL NAME)
DEAR LIBBY: Slow down. If Larry isn't thinking about his family obligations, he should be. You also have a child to consider as well as a six-year relationship. Don't do anything without considering the consequences very, very carefully. Go on the cruise you've planned with Barney and try to get your head straight before you go off the deep end.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen many letters in your column complaining about snoring bed partners. Your stock answer: "See an ear-nose doctor for a possible minor surgical solution." I have a better idea.

My husband was the champion snorer of them all. Then one day we figured out his snoring might be caused by breathing through his mouth, so we bought some paper "tape" 1 inch wide, and he began taping his mouth closed every night before going to sleep. (He would say, "No more talking, I am going to tape up now.") Then he would press his lips together and tape them shut. After sleeping quietly all night long, he would peel off the tape in the morning. (It peels off easily.)

This worked for 20 years. I have told others. Some say this will stop their breathing. Not so.

MRS. L.P. IN L.A.
DEAR MRS. L.P.: It sounds too good to be true, but I wouldn't recommend it for others without suggesting that they run it by their doctor to make sure it's safe for them. Another suggestion: Buy one of those machines that drone on endlessly to drown out street noises, snoring and other disturbing sounds that interfere with sleeping. They are available at sleep shops, hardware stores and listed in most gadget catalogs. If you try either of these suggestions, please let me know if it works for you. Pleasant dreams.

DEAR ABBY: You asked "Forgotten Parents," who had never seen a dime of the $10,000 their son had borrowed from them 10 years ago, if they had a promissory note. This reminded me that years ago, we foolishly loaned $5,000 to a relative without any kind of IOU or promissory note. Instead of asking for one after he had the money, my wife wrote to him asking when we could expect a partial payment on the $7,500 he owed us.

Quick as a flash we received a letter from him advising us that he did not owe us $7,500 — it was only $5,000!

Mission accomplished. We got it in writing.

SHREWD IN EL CENTRO, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 16 years old and wants to start shaving, but he has nothing to shave. There is a little bit of fuzz on his upper lip, but it's hardly noticeable. A few of his friends have started to shave already, so I suppose that is where he got the idea.

Should we let him? Abby, why would a boy who has nothing to shave want to start shaving?

FONTANA MOM
DEAR MOM: A boy who has nothing to shave wants to start shaving for the same reason a girl who has nothing to put into a brassiere wants to start wearing one: peer pressure. Give him your blessings. He'll be shaving for a long time. One more year won't make much difference.

(Is your social life in a slump? Lonely? Get Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Employment agency helps job hunters

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by consulting a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located with Home Real Estate at 2600 Gregg.

Finding the right person for the job is the duty of Ruby Taroni, experienced personnel counselor at Big Spring Employment. Mrs. Taroni joined the firm in 1961 and has 24 years of experience in the local market. Today she owns the firm.

Throughout the years, Mrs. Taroni has developed many contacts at Big Spring business firms and has her finger on current openings in temporary, part-time and full-time positions of all kinds. Her knowledge of local companies is of great help in placing applicants — bringing together qualified applicants with compatible companies.

Each applicant is brought to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluates each applicant before he or she is sent for an interview.

She spends many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements. Thus, fewer rejections make for better public relations. There also is a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tend to rise.

Many highly-qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity. All services at Big Spring Employment are handled on a confidential basis.

Big Spring Employment carries an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.

JOB SEARCH — Ruby Taroni, owner of Big Spring Employment Agency, helps people find employment and employers find qualified applicants.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day when most persons will change their perspective from being social and interested in public activities to an attitude in which they want to quietly settle down and make plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on good pals in the morning and what you can do to aid them, but later study how you can become more successful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get out in the business world and know how to improve routines. Be supportive of friends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Early morning is best for winding up a project that you have been working on for some time, and then later get into worldly matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Solving that problem with your mate can be done early in the day, but later pursue what you personally desire.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy and keep any promises made, but do so with a spark of originality for best results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) As the day begins, put extra efforts into any work you have to do and get the approval of a bigwig.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can realize an ambition in the morning, and later get into the specifics connected with it. Keep active and you will be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study what it is your mate desires of you and then try to please, so get that plan working early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into modern interests that inspire you now, and tonight is fine for enjoying your home and family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have hit on a new idea for adding to your income and holdings in the morning, so carry through with it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make that plan workable so that you can reach some important goal, and get busy on the work it entails.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Set up a plan of action in the morning to gain your goals of an original nature in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have cheerful friends, do well at school with studies and should have the education slanted along social and humanitarian lines, but later in life will turn to the field of investigations and do very well and will be a fine family person. Encourage participation in sports.

Hawks rise to take 54-52 win over OC

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

Like a phoenix rising from the ashes, the Howard College Hawks soared to their finest win of the season, a 54-52 defeat of Odessa College with a superb first half performance and poised play in the final minutes to hold off a furious OC rally.

Using aggressive man-to-man defense and confident outside shooting, the Hawks built a lead of sixteen points midway through the first half and never relinquished it the whole game. Odessa made only two of its first 17 shots and finished the half going six of 23 from the field as Howard took a 29-16 lead into the locker room at half.

"It was the best half of defense we've played all year," said Hawk head coach Ed Sparling. "We were getting great weak side help on (Greg) Lazard inside and really took them out of their offense."

The Hawks got a break when Lazard picked up his fourth foul with 11:30 remaining, but the Wrangler trapping defense kept the Hawks from padding their lead.

bench in the half as the Hawks shook their mid-season tentativeness and took the ball to the basket with authority.

Reynolds turned in a good night's work with 20 points and 10 rebounds.

OC's first half efforts were also hampered when Lazard, who led all scorers with 21 points, was forced to sit most of the half with early foul trouble.

Odessa came out strong in the second half behind the inside play of Lazard, who hit three consecutive shots to cut the lead to 29-20.

Howard forward Mike Duran hit the Hawks first shot of the half on a turnaround jumper just before the 45 second clock expired to give the Hawks a boost in the face of Lazard's dominating play.

The Hawks got into team foul trouble early in the second half, but held on to a nine point lead with good outside shooting against the OC zone defense.

The Hawks got a break when Lazard picked up his fourth foul with 11:30 remaining, but the Wrangler trapping defense kept the Hawks from padding their lead.

The Hawks put Odessa in the bonus midway through the half when Duran and McCall both picked up their fifth fouls. But the Wranglers missed two front-end opportunities and an easy slam dunk that would have cut the lead to three with 7:50 remaining.

The two teams continued to trade baskets through the final minutes, but the Wranglers finally whittled the Hawk lead down to one, when Lazard hit a pair of free throws with 2:26 remaining.

On the Hawks next possession, freshman forward Trey Hughes hauled in a crucial rebound and then hit a jumper to give the Hawks a 51-48 lead with 1:15 left in the game.

Odessa immediately responded with a basket by Lazard and then sent Howard point Vernard Goode to the line with 33 second left. Goode hit the front end to give the Hawks a two point lead.

Following a timeout, Odessa brought the ball down with the intention of playing for the last shot, OC but turned the ball over trying to feed Lazard inside. The ensuing struggle for the ball, sent Howard guard Walter Walker to the line with 23 seconds remaining.

Walker canned both free throws, providing the Hawks with a 54-50 lead the Wranglers were unable to overcome.

Howard mentor will not return

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

Howard College men's basketball coach Ed Sparling will not return as head coach next year, Howard College officials said today.

At a press conference today Howard College President Bob Riley and Howard Athletic Director Bill Griffin said the second-year coach was given a choice of resigning or not having his contract renewed for the 1986-87 season. Riley confirmed that the decision was reached following a meeting with Sparling last Wednesday.

When contacted today, Sparling said he would not make an official statement regarding his position until Tuesday, Feb. 25, following the Hawk's final game with New Mexico Junior College on Monday.

Sparling came to Howard in September of 1984 following the resignation of then head coach Mike Mitchell. In his first year, the Hawks finished with an overall record of 14-16 and 5-9 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play. The Hawks finished fourth in the WJCAC standings last year and upset Western Texas College in the first round of the conference tournament before falling to Amarillo College in the tournament semifinals.

streak midway through the 1985-86 season, but have come back to win their last two WJCAC games giving them a 4-9 conference ledger and 10-16 overall.

Boxer allowed to retain WBA crown

ATLANTA (AP) — World Boxing Association heavyweight champion Tim Witherspoon will undergo drug education and speak to youngsters about the dangers of drug abuse under an agreement with the Georgia State Boxing Commission which will allow him to keep his boxing license.

If Witherspoon does not comply and his Georgia license is stripped, he would not be able to fight in the United States, said Commission Chairman Lanny Franklin. Franklin said Georgia and the other members of the national Association of Boxing Commissions have an agreement to "honor each other's suspensions."

The WBA has not announced a decision on whether it will discipline the fighter for using marijuana prior to his Jan. 17 title victory over Tony Tubbs in Atlanta.

The Georgia commission Monday placed Witherspoon on probation for the rest of the year and fined him $500. He agreed to probation conditions which require him to undergo drug testing, take drug education classes and speak to young Georgians about the dangers of drugs.

Failure to comply, according to the agreement between the boxer and the commission, will result in "an automatic revocation and suspension of his license in Georgia without further notice or hearing."

Witherspoon, in Atlanta for the hearing, said, "I was just hoping everything would come out all right."

No. 1 OC wrangles Queens

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

Howard Coach Don Stevens had a good game plan for his Hawk-Queens rematch with the top-rated Odessa College Lady Wranglers which included rebounding and solid defense. But before the Queens ever set foot on the floor of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, the main battle had already been decided.

"I just made sure the girls were not intimidated by Odessa," said Stevens. "Once they got past the mental part, we showed we could stay right with them."

And stay they did, pushing Odessa to its closest decision of the year before falling 77-75 Monday night despite a game-high 28 points from freshman guard Terri Powell.

In the two teams' previous contest in January, the Queens played the Lady Wranglers tough through most of the first half, but six minute lapse left the game out of reach by halftime with OC leading

...leading rebounder

43-25. There were no such lapses in last night's game.

Queens post Carolyn Willandt and Sophia Ish battled the OC stable of six-footer giants on even terms the entire game, particularly in the second half when the Queens actually outrebounded the Lady Wranglers 15-12. Willandt finished the game with 21 points and a team-high 10 rebounds.

All-American Dee Conwell was again the main force for Odessa, scoring 22 points, pulling in 13 rebounds and blocking five shots. OC's cat quick backcourt of Donna Wilson and Renay Dougherty also had fine game with 14 and 12 points apiece and numerous steals and assists.

The Queens let the visitors know they were in for a struggle by scoring the first four points of the ball game and handled the Lady Wranglers full court pressure with ease.

The score was knotted 16-16 midway through the first half as

...deadly outside shooting

Powell connected on four straight outside shots and Odessa dominated inside play behind Conwell and fellow post Linda Banks, who had ten first half points.

Howard's ball handling got a sloppy late in the first half, enabling the Lady Wranglers to take a 33-24 lead. But Lorri French brought the Queens back with a three point play to cut the OC lead to 33-27 with 3:50 left in the half.

The Queens had an opportunity to cut the lead further but suffered three straight turnovers and two missed front end free throw shots; resulting in a 42-31 halftime deficit.

Odessa controlled the tempo through most of the second half but could not ever shake the Queens despite building leads of 13 and 11 points on several occasions. But every time OC looked primed to blow open the game, the Queens would whittle the lead back down.

At the 5:31 mark Odessa had a ten point lead, and looked to be sitting pretty with both Ish and French out of the game for the Queens via fouls. But just when they needed it most; Powell caught fire, hitting five straight shots.

Her three point play put the Queens within striking distance, 75-69 with 1:35 left, Willandt followed with a crucial rebound and basket that left the score 77-73 with 40 seconds remaining.

Odessa successfully ran the clock down to 15 seconds before the Queens put Conwell on the line, but a lane violation gave the ball back to the Queens.

Powell canned yet another long bomb with four seconds left, but Howard was unable to stop the clock again leaving the final score 77-75.

"I was real proud of the girls tonight, they followed their game plan did not fold when they could have easily," said Stevens. "Terri (Powell) had a phenomenal game as did Carolyn (Willandt). I thought Brandye Owens also came in and did a fine job off the bench."

Rockets' star out for two weeks

HOUSTON (P) — All-Star center Akeem Olajuwon will miss at least two weeks of the season with a knee injury — just as the Houston Rockets were beginning to establish themselves as a power in the National Basketball Association.

Team physician Dr. Charles Baker said Olajuwon received a sprain of the medial collateral ligament Saturday in a game against the Los Angeles Clippers when teammate Robert Reid fell on him under the basket.

Michigan State moves into Top 20, UTEP exits

By The Associated Press
Michigan State is back among college basketball's Top Twenty for the first time in over a year and guess who was first to offer congratulations? None other than Michigan Coach Bill Frieder.

The Spartans, unranked since the eighth week of last season, are 17-6 and No. 19 in this week's poll of writers and broadcasters. Michigan, which has been among the leaders all season, is No. 7 this week and the Wolverines host the Spartans in a Big Ten showdown on Thursday night.

Meanwhile with their stunning 71-67 loss to Utah, the University of Texas-El Paso Miners dropped from the top Twenty.

Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote, who has earned his money both on and off the court this season, said the Spartans' emergence was a credit to his team, especially to its three guards — Scott Skiles, Vernon Carr and Darryl Johnson.

"We've had a surprisingly good season, so I'm happy for the kids," said Heathcote, whose team has had to make do without a big man.

"Now we've got to play No. 7 at their place, so maybe this will be our lone shot at the Top Twenty. But, we're going to enjoy it. We're proud to be there."

Heathcote said the Spartans' next goal is a post-season tournament bid. Last year Michigan State earned its first NCAA berth since Magic Johnson led the Spartans to the national championship in 1979.

"An NCAA berth has been our goal all year," Heathcote said. "We didn't kid ourselves that we were a title contender. We said, 'Let's finish in the first division, let's go NCAA or at least NIT, anything to be playing at the end of the season.' It's not a reality yet, but it's getting closer all the time."

"We've got some quality wins against some good basketball teams. We can score a lot, but we give up a lot. We'll just see how it goes."

Off-court problems have plagued the Spartans the last few years. Heathcote suffered a heart attack in September 1984 and the high-scoring Skiles was arrested three times. The third arrest was for drunken driving last November in East Lansing, Mich., while on probation for a misdemeanor marijuana-possession charge in his hometown of Plymouth, Ind.

For that, Skiles will serve a 30-day jail term, probably at the conclusion of the spring semester.

There was no change in this week's top five with North Carolina, 25-1, Duke, 25-2, Kansas, 24-3, Memphis State, 23-2, and Georgia Tech, 19-4, holding the same spots as a week ago.

The Tar Heels were a unanimous No. 1 pick for the second straight week and for the fourth time this season.

St. Johns, 24-3, is just ahead of Michigan, 22-3. The ranking for the Redmen, who beat then-No. 9 Georgetown on the road and won their 21st straight home game over Connecticut, is their highest of the season. They are the only team not ranked in the preseason poll to crack the Top Ten this season.

Kentucky, 22-3, Syracuse, 20-3, and Oklahoma, 23-3, round out the Top Ten.

Nevada-Las Vegas, sixth last week before losing to Cal-Irvine, leads the Second Ten.
