Spring Reagan wants Marcos to quit

MANILA, Philippines (AP) The Reagan administration today called on Marcos for the first time to step down, and said using violence to prolong his 20-year rule would be "futile." The White House said it received reports that pro-Marcos soldiers were planning attacks on the rebels, but none was Military rebels today declared Corazon Aquino the new Philippine leader, but President Ferdinand Marcos claimed control of the military and called on loyal civilians to come to his palace with guns to defend him.

Speaking over a private television station after rebels captured the government broadcast complex, Marcos appealed to supporters, "By all means, come over and we'll have a grand fire."

He said, "We will demonstrate people's power, specially if they bring arms with them.

Mrs. Aquino, who claims Marcos defrauded her of victory in the Feb. 7 election, spoke to a huge crowd outside Camp Crame, where the leaders of the military revolt, former Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile and Lt. Gen. Fidel Ramos, the former deputy armed forces chief, barricaded themselves with fellow rebels.

"This is the first time in history that the civilian population has protected the military," Mrs. Aquino told the throng, estimated by reporters at up to 500,000. "Please keep vigil here.

Commissioners asked about site for raceway By SCOTT FITZGERALD

Staff Writer

An investment group inquiring about the availability of county property for a multi-park raceway complex north of Big Spring was referred to the Big Spring Industrial Foundation during this morning's commissioners court meeting

But Commissioner Paul Allen told Hays that the property "was leased out for the next 40 years" and wouldn't be available until Charles Hays, who acted as a spokesman for the group, told commissioners the former county airport located off the Snyder Highway about 31/2 miles north of Big Spring "was ideal for the purposes.

The raceway complex would consist of a water track for speed boats, a drag strip and oval track for motor vehicles, and a truck and tractor pull strip.

We believe the proposed project can be a real asset to Big Spring and Howard County," Hays told

According to a lease agreement signed by the county and the foundation on Sept. 1, 1978, the foundation has the right to sublease the property

Commissioner Bill Crooker said the county entered into a lease agreement with the industrial foundation at that time in an effort "to do everything possible to promote industrial formation in the wake of the Webb Air Force closing down."

Crooker said the Federal Aeronautics Administration closed the county airport and made the former Webb airstrips public entities

Commissioner O.L. Brown also referred commissioners to a January 1982 motion amended to the lease agreement allowing the foundation to retain earnings from leasing property space to private oil well companies for storing rigs and tanks.

That presently is the only use being made of the property, Allen said. Earnings at that time were $500 a month, Brown said.

Allen said the amount is quite a bit less now

Hays said the investment group would appear before the industrial foundation board which was scheduled to meet this afternoon.

Both Marcos and Mrs. Aquino scheduled presidential inaugurations for Tuesday. Marcos said he would take the oath of office for a new six-year term at the palace.

Mrs. Aquino's camp said she would be inaugurated as head of the provisional government at a clubhouse that often has been the site of opposition news conferences Faced by the revolt and mass assemblies calling for his departure, Marcos declared a state of emergency on government television. But the broadcast went off the air abruptly, cutting Marcos off in mid-sentence. A rebel force led by Col. Mariano Santiago took over the station, Channel 4, after a clash in which at least four people were wounded. A loyalist soldier who reportedly shot himself in the mouth by accident died later at Capitol Hospital, hospital officials said. The television station went back on the air three hours later, with pro-Aquino announcers telling viewers. "This is the first free broadcast from Channel 4.'

Marcos then turned to Manila's Channel 9, owned by one of his associates, to issue a broadcast 'calling all my good friends to come to Malacanang," the presidential palace.

Earlier on Channel 9, he proclaimed a curfew from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. He said said he had the rebellion under control and 'probably will take action in the next few days

Probationers abound

WASHINGTON — Criminal offenders who are on probation and parote outnumber these who are in jail by a 3-to-1 margin, the Bureau of Justice Statistics says in a new report.

The study, released Sunday, concludes that one of every 65 adults in the United States was on probation, under parole supervision or imprisoned, and that one of every 35 adult men was under some kind of corrections supervision in 1984, the most recent year for which figures are available.

Texas Air buys Eastern

MIAMI - Eastern Airlines, faced with strike deadlines and loan defaults, announced early today that it will be taken over by Houston-based Texas Air Corp., which already operates Continental Airlines and New York Air.

Eastern, facing a midnight Sunday deadline to accept the purchase offer, about which it would reveal no details, blamed an uncooperative union for forcing the sale, Eastern Chairman Frank Borman said in a

Abuses at state schools

DALLAS — The growing number of patientabuse cases at state schools for the mentally retarded may stem more from better reporting techniques than worsening care, officials

Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation reports reviewed by The Dallas Morning News showed that 218 cases of abuse and neglect were confirmed at the 13 state schools during fiscal 1985.

Officials said the amount reflected a 34-percent increase over the 162 cases confirmed during 1984. In 1983, investigators confirmed 112 cases of abuse and neglect.

Economic growth seen

WASHINGTON - The United States will enjoy stronger growth this year, with little danger of a recession as falling oil prices help to hold inflation at low levels, the nation's business economists predicted today.

The National Association of Business Economists said its latest survey of 300 of its members found them decidely more optimistic about future growth.

Currently, 88 percent of the economists believe the current recovery will last into 1987 or beyond, while a survey one year ago found half of those polled expected a new recession to begin this year.

TV coverage favored

WASHINGTON — Could the American people stomach what they saw if they saw the Senate on television?

"They would say it's inefficient, it is a spectacle, it is a charade, it is all the things a democracy is not supposed to be," says Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La.

Johnston says he favors broadcast coverage. But he is sharply critical of the gavel-to-gavel coverage that would get a three-month, closed-circuit test under a measure before the Senate

The Flood-hit go home to pick up pieces

By The Associated Press

Thousands of northern California residents returned today to clean up homes flooded by nearly nine days of nonstop storms and officials in Oregon and Idaho were "praying for no more rain" after floods and mudslides severed highways.

Civil defense crews in Boise, Idaho, on Sunday built a ditch of sandbags to funnel water from hillsides through town, cutting the east end of the state's capital

Some of the heaviest flooding Sunday was in western and northeast Oregon and southwest Idaho. In Oregon, 22 people and two families were evacuated.

'We're just praying for no more rain," Umatilla County sheriff's dispatcher Toni Murray said in the northeast Oregon city of Pendleton on Sunday after floods washed out several rural roads.

The National Weather Service said rain was expected to continue today and Tuesday as as a new weather system moves into the state. Residents of Pendleton and parts of Washington and Idaho were warned about flood danger.

In northern California, about 16,000 people were back in their homes as floodwaters continued receding, but 11,000 residents of West Linda, 90 miles northeast of San Francisco, were not being allowed to return, said Yuba County Undersheriff Dennis Moore. About 26,000 people fled Thursday night after a levee broke on the Yuba River's south fork. The levee was repaired Saturday. Moore said he doubted that homes in West Linda would be habitable for a couple weeks. Workers kept watch on fragile levees.

A leaking 400-foot levee bulge at Robbins that spurred the evacuation of hundreds of residents over the weekend showed only minor seepage, said Dale Follas of the Sutter County Office of Emergency Services. Robbins is about 10 miles south of the Linda-Olivehurst

At least one death was blamed on the Yuba River flood, a 61-year-old man Moore said had refused to

In San Joaquin County, 1,400 Thornton residents were still homeless after a levee break on the Mokelumne River, said Nancy Hardaker, a spokeswoman for the state Office of Emergency Services. She said they would not be allowed to return home for several days.

In the Sonoma County town of Guerneville, roads were hazardous because of debris and downed power lines, county spokeswoman Brenda Bellinger said.

Amtrak restored its coast run from San Francisco to Los Angeles on Saturday, and two San Joaquin Valley runs to Bakersfield on Sunday, said spokesman Arthur Storm-caused damage is now estimated at $319 million, Hardaker said. She said at least 10,872 homes were damaged and 1,463 were destroyed by the Pacific storms. At least 742 businesses were damaged and 185 were destroyed.

Network shyness raises questions

During the last two years, W.R. Grace & Co. has waged a one-company advertising campaign against the federal deficit. But the New-York based chemicals conglomerate has come to a dead end with the three major television networks.

NBC, CBS and ABC refuse to air the company's latest ad lambasting the trillion dollar deficit. The networks' stated reasons for this are truly troubling.

Network executives contend the ad presents only one side of a public controversy and they could be compelled under the so-called Fairness Doctrine to provide equal time for the opposing viewpoint. Such speciousness. Even assuming that someone would argue for spiraling deficits, which we doubt, Mr. Grace has offered to compensate the networks for rebuttal. How can the networks worry about potential costs of a rejoinder when W.R. Grace and Co. will pay the bill?

Another network rationale is that the deficit is a controversial issue best left to analysis by network news departments. But NBC and ABC aired a Grace ad last year that showed two bureaucrats presenting a $50,000 bill to a newborn infant — an estimate of the deficit liability every child yet unborn will have to assume. Those same network executives now say that ad merely implied a factual statement, whereas the latest ad presents an unmistakable point of view.

Curiously, the real reason may lie in the astonishing public reaction to the initial ad. It provoked more than 100,000 phone calls to a toll-free number from viewers requesting details on An ABC executive says the new ad is objectionable because it employs scare tactics and might offend some viewers. This from the same network that presented a prime-time movie that graphically depicted the horrors of a nuclear holocaust. Even so, ABC offered to air the Grace spot from midnight to 12:30 a.m.

In truth, the futuristic ad is tasteful, albeit hard-hitting. It can be seen on several cable stations that have no problem presenting a warning about the staggering national debt. Could it be that the major networks, which dominate the public airways, have an ideological problem with paring the federal deficit?

That is the most nagging question of all.

policeman. Helms, certain that the nation's moral fabric is being shredded by pornography, has a 'scourge to all of society.'

"It is no secret," he says, "that the illicit sex industry has in recent vears invaded American living rooms through cable television. In New York City, he is informed, cable TV offers "depictions of nudity and sexual intercourse." There is also the problem of "dial-aporn" telephone services, which make "pornographic messages available for a fee to any caller.' His bill bans either medium from transmitting sexually explicit material, with violators liable to a $50,000 fine and six months in prison.

To hear the senator from North Carolina tell it, pornography is to blame for nearly every problem around — starting with the destruction of family life and going through "venereal disease, adolescent pregnancy, child abuse, homosexuality and pedophilia.'

The untutored wouldn't guess that these phenomena preceded Marilyn Chambers by several millennia. There is no effort to demonstrate that they are caused, or even aggravated, by pornography. In the censorious mind, the connection is self-evident.

Nor is there any consideration of the possibility that by furnishing a harmless outlet for sexual fantasies, some of them destructive, erotic material may dissipate the urge to act them out. To the sex police, concrete harm isn't the issue. Pornography's simple offensiveness is grounds for suppression.

They are right in only one respect: The question of conse-

If a man proceeds from gazing upon the gynecologically explicit magazine photographs to abusing his children, the blame lies with him, not the magazine. Helms rationalizes his proposal partly as a means of shielding children from pornography. That could be accomplished by far less drastic measures. Parents can avoid sexual fare on cable TV simply by not buying it; those who do buy it can prevent the kids from sneaking a look by using devices that block access to certain channels. Telephones can also be equipped to prevent calls to numbers featuring raunchy recordings. But this feint doesn't disguise his real purpose, about which Helms is refreshingly candid. In fact, he says, one flaw in the existing law on "dial-a-porn" is that it "explicitly legalizes the transmission of obscene or indecent remarks to adults who consent to hear the message." Imagine! Adults, in his view, have no right to exercise choice in this realm: "The channels of commerce should not be open to breaches of public morality." Who will define public morality, or breaches of it? Iran is a puzzle piece, again in 1979 anti-American incident

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Evidence stashed away in the vaults of the CIA suggests that Iranian agitators played a key role in an anti-American outrage that was initially ignited by Soviet disinformation: the sacking and burning of the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad by a Pakistani mob on Nov. 21, 1979.

The mob had been driven to an apparently spontaneous frenzy by radio reports that falsely charged the United States with instigating the takeover of the Grand Mosque in Mecca the day before. Descending on the embassy compound in buses, the rioters forced more than 100 U.S. and Pakistani personnel to take refuge in a room-sized security vault. They huddled there in suffocating heat, amid smoke and tear gas fumes for five hours, while the chancery building burned around them.

By a near-miracle, only two Americans died in the melee: a 20-year-old Marine guard killed by sniper fire and a 30-year-old Army chief warrant officer, who succumbed when trapped in his burning apartment.

As we have reported previously, secret CIA reports indicate that KGB disinformation specialists were responsible for the inflammatory report that the United States (and Israel) engineered the seizure of the Grand Mosque. The absurd report was broadcast during a soccer match, and was widely believed despite immediate U.S. denials. It now appears that the Iranians played a crucial part in the Islamabad embassy attack. Part of the Iranian effort was public; part was secret.

At the time of the attack — about two weeks after the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran — Iranian officials openly accused the United States of complicity in the mosque seizure by religious extremists. Only a few hours before the mob formed, a radio broadcast from Iran into Pakistan quoted the Ayatollah Khomeini as saying:

'It is not unlikely that criminal U.S. imperialism did this in an attempt to infiltrate the solid ranks of Islam. Moslems must not let down their guard and should expect this kind of dirty act by American imperialism and international Zionism

Intelligence reports from Pakistan in the weeks following the embassy sacking implicated a cadre of Iranian "students" as agitators who incited the Pakistanis, and virtually led the mob to the

Five years later, in December 1984, the CIA found another piece of the puzzle during a routine briefing of Charles Kapar, an Agency for International Development employee who had survived a Kuwaiti airliner hijacking. Two AID colleagues were brutally murdered by the hijackers, and Kapar and an American businessman were systematically tortured before finally being released at the Tehran

During their six-day ordeal, Kapar realized that two Iranian passengers were acting as spies for the hijackers, relaying any hints of passenger resistance. And Kapar was sure he had seen one of the franians before, though he couldn't remember

Before his subsequent debriefing by the CIA, recognition dawned on Kapar: The Iranian had been in the mob that stormed the embassy in Islamabad in 1979. As luck would have it, Kapar had been among 16 Americans at AID headquarters who escaped the rampaging Pakistani mob. He was sure the Iranian passenger on the Kuwaiti airliner had been part of the mob, which swung by the AID building in buses before attacking the embassy.

Kapar confirmed to us his identification of the Iranian "sleeper" on the airliner as one of those who led the 1979 attack in Islamabad.

'The Iranians were agitating all over the place at the time," he said. "There was a distinct suspicion that they started the whole thing.

With incredible luck, Kapar apparently crossed paths with the Iranian agent provocateur twice and lived to tell the tale.

Wizard of Oz II, the sequel

By TIM APPEL

A couple of weeks ago, I watched The Wizard of Oz on television for the two hundred and sixth time, and I still have many questions about some things that were not explained by the end of the program. Below I have jotted several of these questions down, and if any reader out there can help me, it would surely be appreciated.

If Dorothy stayed in the Land of the Munchkins, would she have played center on the women's basketball team there?

Did the Horse-of-a-differentcolor eventually find his way back to Kansas as a can of dog food for Toto? Were the rumors actually true that after the Wizard took off in his hot air balloon, that he hit the Hindenburg in Lakehurst, N.J., and was the real cause of that airship blowing up?

Did the people in the Emerald City actually pay for construction of those beautiful buildings with money earned from the illegal worldwide distribution of poppies and their by-products that grew naturally outside their city limits? But I've seen the movie so many times, that I wish the network could change parts of it so that the story would never be the same twice. I've enclosed a few changes I would like to see next year.

The Big Spring "Pot-Hole

Toto is actually a vicious German shepherd, which draws hilarious results as he runs amok in the Emerald City.

Glenda the Good Witch trades in her bubble as a mode of transportation for a Porsche

The Wicked Witch of the West dispatches her flying monkeys to pick up Dorothy, only to find out the FAA has suspended all flying monkeys for using illegal wing

And of course in the grand finale, costing millions of dollars and using 600,000 extras, Dorothy, after tapping her heels together three times, accidentally blurts out 'There's no place like Detroit.'

Insults augment campaign

AUSTIN - A. Don Crowder is on the cutting edge of a political phenomenon that we might call inspired insults.

Crowder is a political newcomer seeking the Democratic nomination for governor on a shoestring budget and a fast tongue. But, if Crowder is to be believed, you already knew

A few days ago, I asked for his reaction to the latest Texas Poll, which showed his name recognition at 13 percent compared with 96 percent for Gov. Mark White Crowder pointed out that the poll was made before he grabbed headlines by calling White a "nerd" because the governor didn't participate much in extracurricular activities in high school.

'There are very few people who don't recognize me now," Crowder, a former high school jock, told me. He said he gained even more momentum later by calling White a 'scumball.'

Crowder obviously has found his niche in Texas politics in terms of winning free publicity. The news media love grabber insults and will play them for all they're worth - to a point. And the public likes to read or hear about them - to a point.

Crowder's problem is that such publicity stunts can quickly grow old and cold. Yesterday's "nerd" may grab the headlines as refreshing in an otherwise blah race; tomorrow's "worm" might simply be dull and in bad

Before Crowder starts measuring windows at the Governor's Mansion for new curtains, he should carefully plan his future insults.

Calling an opponent dumb is routine, for example. But how many politicians have called opponents a "dork." I'd recommend Crowder launch that one in early March, after giving time for "nerd" and "scumball" to sink in to the public's mind.

Maybe by that time Sheila Bilyeu of Corpus Christi, another dark horse candidate for governor, will have found her niche in the campaign and be moving up in the polls. Crowder can knock her back down by calling her a "dorkette.

Then it'll be time to fire at White again maybe calling him a "dingdong." That would put an image of a school bell into the voters' minds and remind those who don't like nopass, no-play to vote against White.

The latter part of the campaign will be the difficult time for gaining attention through insults. Crowder might get desperate and lash out with the overused "wimp" or "dummy." He will have to remind himself that political insults must be inspired.

Calling White a "pea brain" won't win Crowder back-page play on the state's smallest newspaper, but a blast at the incumbent as a "vegetable head" might win page one play and 30 seconds on the television news.

For a late-campaign grabber, he might go for "pusillanimous pervert." But you have to be careful with alliteration or the voters might be reminded of Spiro Agnew.

It's too bad Crowder didn't announce for agriculture commissioner instead of governor. Think of the fun of watching him try to outdo Commissioner Jim Hightower in the insult business.

Rather than react with shocked seriousness the way straight-and-dull White did, Hightower would have accepted the challenge and simply blown away Crowder with a creative retort.

No one is better than the commissioner at putting down opponents, whether political or otherwise, with a touch of humor. Four years ago, Hightower effectively eliminated his Republican opponent, a poultry expert, by labeling him "chickenman.

In that same year, Hightower blasted George Strake, then candidate for lieutenant governor and now GOP state chairman, as 'the whoopee cushion of Texas politics.'

Since then, the commissioner has referred to Washington, D.C., bureaucrats as "so dumb they make my feet itch" and to Republicans as people with "$100 hats on two-bit heads." Maybe White should invite Hightower over to the mansion and ask for a few lessons in inspired insults. He probably won't need the help against Crowder and the other political lightweights in the Democratic primary, but the lessons could be invaluable against the Republicans in the fall.

Other women are sole owners because they were previously married to a farmer and received the land in a divorce proceeding.

The seminars will start off with the indepth look at the mineral estate. Negotiating an oil and gas lease is new to many landowners, and one can never tell when an oil company will come by and make an offer. One of the important things to learn is the minerals are not leased, but truly are sold. In ad-

The first day the seminar will look at surface leasing of farm and ranch land. Methods to use to negotiate leases with tenants, what items to include in leases, and how to evaluate a tenant's productivity are major topics.

The second day will introduce basic income tax planning and give ideas to women landowners on how to structure their farm and ranch operation to save income taxes. Buying, selling and trading land will also be discussed. The new rules for tax-free exchanges will be discussed, as well as the rules on the recent rule changes on interest rates required for family transactions.

Estate planning, both to save estate taxes and to make estate administration easier for loved ones, is always of great concern to all. Farm and ranch owners particularly have an unusual problem in estate planning: they have a valuable asset with very little cash

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I'd appreciate a rundown on cortisone, like where we get it and what function it serves. Is Cushing's disease having too much of it or too little? Thanks. - F.D.

Cortisone is a hormone, and like all other hormones it performs vital functions. Insulin is an example of another of the many hormones in the body. It's made in the pancreas and, of course, you know its role — control of blood sugar.

Cortisone is made in the adrenal glands, specifically in their outer shells, the cortex, from which the

Landscaping is sound investment

Are you interested in a sound investment? In this day of inflation and high prices, anything you can do to enhance your home is like putting money in the bank. And what better way to enhance your home than through landscaping.

One of the most often overlooked aspects of the home is the outdoor living space, and in particular, the landscape. Selecting the right plants for your home should take just as much thought as selecting your drapes, wallpaper, furniture, or carpeting. Yet, landscaping is often regarded by the homeowner as incidental - of secondary importance at best.

To some homeowners landscaping is for others. It is enough to keep the lawn mowed and occasionally watered so that it doesn't die completely. Plants around the home become a nuisance, the care of which may interfere with a game of golf, a fishing jaunt, the bridge club, or may upset the budget when the water bill gets too high because of a summer drought. Have you ever stopped to think that your home landscaping reflects the kind of person you are? A neat, well-groomed, functional outdoors reflects a person's pride and wellhomeowner enjoys his home both inside and out, and living is meaningful and fun.

What about the cost of plants? 'They can get kind of expensive," you say. While $30 may seem like a big price to pay for a tree, just think of what a worthwhile investment you have made. While many things in life depreciate in value, plant materials in the home landscape increase in value. A $600 sofa may be given to Goodwill Industries in 10 to 15 years, but that $30 live oak or pecan tree may be worth ten times the purchase price after the same period of time. A being. It usually means that the pretty good investment, don't you

Of course, landscapaing does not stop with the purchase of a live oak. Good landscaping does not come cheaply, even for the "do-ityourselfer." A well-planned home should reflect a minimum investment of 10 percent of the value of your home. For example, if you have a $80,000 home, approximately $8,000 should be invested in the outdoor landscaped living area. The average homeowner is probably shocked at such a figure, however, this investment includes many facets of the landscape, such as fencing and paving for patios, etc., and not just plant materials. DEAR ABBY: I am a 58-year-old divorcee, and he is a 64-year-old widower. We have been dating for a year. When we met, he came on to me like I was the only woman in his life; then I found out I wasn't. He never asked me to go steady, but we seemed so right for each other we became lovers immediately. He tells me I am the one he wants to settle down with, but he's not ready yet.

His boat is our love nest. We go there to spend the night, and it's very romantic. I know he takes other women on his boat overnight. I know he does because he's never inspiration from another person. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Daytime may bring problems at home, so be tactful in handling them. Do whatever will improve your health. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You may feel you are not living your professed philosophy of life, but try your best. Visit a prominent person tonight.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you are not careful, you could spend far more than you had planned to do. Tonight plan how to be more economical in the future. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although you may feel nervous in the morning, calm yourself. Steer clear of contacts who annoy you during the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You seem to have a myriad of duties to perform, but be patient, and they are soon behind you. Exercise understanding at home. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to gain personal aims during the day, but you get the right slant towards evening. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use care in handling any credit or community affairs during the day, then enjoy socializing in the evening. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to study every phase of a new enterprise before you commit yourself to it. Enlist the aid of an expert. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study all reports and statements carefully for possible errors in them that could be very costly to you. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Steer clear of a serious discussion with a partner until you are both in a better frame of mind. Rest at home tonight. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very exact and neat at whatever is important to do and will make few or no mistakes at all. Teach early not to criticize others who will not be similarly gifted. The field of medicine would be ideal.

He used four pitchers to do it. But Howard College Hawks baseball coach Bill Griffin figured out a way to hand the Pair Junior College Dragons a 11-10 loss in the opening game of their doubleheader yesterday at Jack Barber Field.

The Hawks got a strong pitching performance from Bryan Willis in the second game to take a 11-3 win and complete the sweep

It took a starter finishing another starter's job to do the trick in the first game. Willis got Paris' Kevin Cox to ground out in the top of the seventh with two men on, preserving the win for Thad Webber. Between Webber and Willis there were John Wiles and Robert Rodriguez.

Griffin did a masterful job in using the foursome

Webber, now 3-1 for the season went five inning before before running into big trouble in the sixth. He gave up eight runs, two which were unearned; seven hits while striking out seven.

Miles came on in relief and went one and one-third innings and was pulled in the seventh inning with Howard leading 11-10 with one out and two men on base. The Dragons had just scored two runs on singles by Jeff Smith and Benny Braggs.

Griffin then pulled Wiles and inserted the left-handed Rodriguez to pitch to the right-handed Brent Herndon. All Herndon could manage was a weak roller back to the mound for out number two.

Amaya, the freshmen designated

Keller and Medina each got three hits and drove in two runs.

Paris had a 4-2 lead going into the bottom of the third and Richard Messer cracked a line drive homer over the left field fence, cutting the lead to 4-3.

Spring training here

By The Associated Press To those hoping to unseat the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West, the news that Alejandro Pena is throwing without pain is not good.

Playing without Pena, limited to just four innings following shoulder surgery last season, the Dodgers won the division with baseball's best staff earned run average, 2.96. In 1984, the 26-year-old righthander posted a league-leading 2.48

Pena, who in health would join a staff already blessed with Fernando Valenzuela, Orel Hershiser, Bob Welch and Jerry Reuss, pitched batting practice Sunday for the second time this spring.

Pena said he is confident he'll return to the Dodger rotation this season.

The New York Mets also got some good news from the mound. Pitcher Bruce Berenyi, limited to just three starts last season before undergoing shoulder surgery, impressed Manager Dave Johnson with his throwing at St. Petersburg.

"He threw for 12 minutes and got up to about 88 mph," Johnson said. 'He had some real pop on his ball. I'm excited about the way Bruce threw considering he was operated on a year ago.

Berenyi was 12-13 with Cincinnati and the Mets in 1984. He started last season as the No. 3 starter in the Mets' rotation.

Now, bolstered by the freedom of movement in his arm, Berenyi can harbor realistic hopes of reclaim his spot behind Dwight Gooden and Ron Darling.

With pitchers (and catchers) virtually the the only players in most camps, managers and coaches were closely monitoring their

One, however, Kansas City's Bret Saberhagen, made news off the field. Saberhagen, who at 21 became a World Series MVP and the youngest American League Cv Young award winner ever, has volunteered to a random drugtesting clause in his contract with the Royals.

Saberhagen, a 20-game winner last year, requested the Royals add the drug-testing clause. He won a $925,000 salary at arbitration. "I thought that since it is a good contract for me, if the Royals have any questions about my ability, I have nothing to hide," Saberhagen said in Fort Myers, Fla.

Left-handed relievers Rod Scurry and Al Holland, probably battling for the same spot on the New York pitching staff, will have to shed some weight, Yankee Manager Lou Piniella said.

Piniella wants Holland, who weighs 227 pounds, to be 210-215. Scurry, who said he pitched at 196 last year, weighs 205. Finding "four starting pitchers who can win the American League" is the task of Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. He said has not decided whether he would return to a four-man rotation, which was successful in the past or stay with five starters, as the club has done in recent years.

Last season, the Baltimore pitching staff compiled a 4.38 earned run average — the highest in club

First baseman Bob Horner reported early to the Atlanta spring training camp in West Palm Beach, and predicted that new Manager Chuck Tanner will help the Braves bounce back from their disappointing 1985 season. "We have good, new leadership and I think things are going to be a lot better," Horner said of the Braves, fifth in the NL West last In Winter Haven, Boston's Roger Clemens was talking about finishing what he starts. "I want to be ready to go all out when the season starts and I want to finish strong," the right-hander Considered a "franchise type"

New York Mets pitcher Dwight Gooden bunts the ball during a spring training workout at the team's camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Sunday. Camp is open for starting pitchers and catchers with the full squad reporting next

Steer baseballers open season with new coach and young team

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Writer

John Velasquez is not stepping into what one would call an "ideal situation" as the new Big Spring Steers baseball coach When the Steers open the season against Hardin-Simmons Cowbovs Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Abilene, the new Steers mentor will have a giant challenge in his first head coaching stint because he will be attempting to mold a young, inexperienced team into winners. And by no means will it be easy.

The 31-year-old Velasquez, who served as junior varsity baseball coach last season, inherits a squad that has seven seniors. Three of which did not play last season. After that, things are even slimer with seven juniors and one sophomore. None have any kind of varsity experience.

Although the road ahead appears to be a rough one, you couldn't have told it by zeal exhibited by the players in a recent workout. They have fun out here," said Velasquez as he hit infield practice to his team. "But they are also good workers. We had a tough offseason of conditioning and weights. They are all excited about playing.

When talking about this year's team one has to start with pitcher Mike Dodd. The senior righthander was Big Spring's ace last season and is counted on to be so again this year. Last year he posted a 5-3 record as the Steers went 11-19 and 5-9 in district play, good for fourth place.

While Dodd will be the ace, junior Carey Frazier and sophomore lefty Aaron Allen will complete the starting rotation. Billy Franklin, Jimmy Rogers and Chad Walsh will be relief pitchers.

.get tradition back

"I've been pleased with the pitching so far," said Velasquez. "Our pitchers have been showing the ability to throw strikes. They've been doing a good job of keeping the ball low. In scrimmages against Lamesa and Monahans, our pitchers only gave up two good solid hits.

Besides Dodd, other returning senior lettermen includes shortstop Randy Hayworth, outfielder Felix Olivas and first baseman Eli Torres. Velasquez says that Torres and Olivas along with Torres and junior outfielder Marcos Ramos.

Hayworth, who played third base last season, will be moved to shortstop because Velasquez calls hims "his best fielder"

RANDY HAYWORTH .senior shortstop

"Overall we're hitting well as a team but our defense hasn't been so hot. That one thing we can't have We don't want to get into those 16-15 games because the team usually loses is the team that made the last error.

"The bad weather two weeks ago really slowed up down because we couldn't practice outside.

Rounding out the remainder of the Steers squad are senior Sammy Lolya and juniors Matt Garrett, Charley Ogle, Raymond Ontiveros and Eric Thompson.

Velasquez is out to Steers baseball back on the right track. 'In the seven years I've been here they've always played good baseball at Big Spring. I want to

Top ranked Tar Heels fall to Wolf Pack, 76-65

By The Associated Press

Suddenly, top-ranked North Carolina is staggering. The Tar Heels are in jeopardy of losing the No. 1 ranking they have held since the college basketball season began after suffering their second straight loss Sunday.

North Carolina State, behind sophomore Chris Washburn's 26 points, downed North Carolina 76-65 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game at Raleigh.

The Tar Heels, playing without starting two injured players guard Steve Hale and top shotblocker Warren Martin — dropped to 25-3 and 9-3 in the ACC, tying them with Georgia Tech for second place and putting both a full game behind first-place Duke.

In other Sunday games, No. 9

Syracuse edged No. 13 Georgetown and Purdue upset No. 15 Indiana 85-68 in the Big Ten Conference.

Three other Top Twenty teams were upset Saturday. Florida State beat No. 4 Memphis State 82-80, DePaul topped No. 6 St. John's 81-72, and Southern Mississippi beat No. 18 Virginia Tech 69-66.

Bennie Bolton added a careerhigh 18 points as N.C. State boosted its record to 18-9, 7-6. Brad Daughtery led North Carolina, which shot only 30 percent in the first half, with 23 points.

North Carolina cut a 17-point deficit to 62-57, but Bolton's clutch shooting help pull the Wolfpack Syracuse got 24 points from Dwayne Washington, including a free throw with 25 seconds left for the winner, avenging its only Big East loss.
