Teacher test held 'no surprises'

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The TECAT "competency" test teachers and school officials took Monday held no surprises, but it will not determine a teacher's competency, local test takers said this morning.

"I don't know that it should be labeled a competency test. It would be more of a literacy test," said Big Spring High School Principal Murray Murphy.

Superintendent Lynn Hise, who also took the test, said the term

Hise: Quiz covered only basic skills

"competency test" is a misnomer. It was more of a basic skills test, he said.

"The score will not determine whether a teacher is effective or ineffective," he said. "It had nothing to do with the teaching process."

He said a lot of money was spent on the test that "could have been used better." But he said the test was adequate for determining basic skills.

Steve Poitevint, high school journalism instructor, said the test was "insulting in a way."

"It's like coming back and saying 'we changed our minds. What you did 15 years ago (when you earned your teacher certificate after college) isn't good enough.'"

He said he took the test and he didn't find it difficult, but he didn't think it was necessary.

"I think it's stupid," he said. "It's not going to prove anything — if we're competent or not. It didn't test teaching skills."

Dona Sinclair, high school English teacher, said the test was "a poor evaluation of competency."

"There's no way a test can measure understanding, communication and concern for a student," all essential elements in teaching, she said.

She said the test was unfair to non-English majors because it heavily stressed those skills in determining competency.

Poitevint agreed. "For a language arts teacher, yes," he said. "But what about a music teacher, who doesn't have to deal with that type stuff every day? What about a coach or a math teacher, who doesn't have to deal

Budget cuts won't hurt TDC project

PALESTINE (AP) — Budget cuts by the Texas Department of Corrections will not affect the department's court order to build new facilities and improve living conditions for inmates, prison board chairman Alfred Hughes said.

"We're not cutting any associated items," Hughes said Monday. "But we've stopped all capital projects, except those that are court-related."

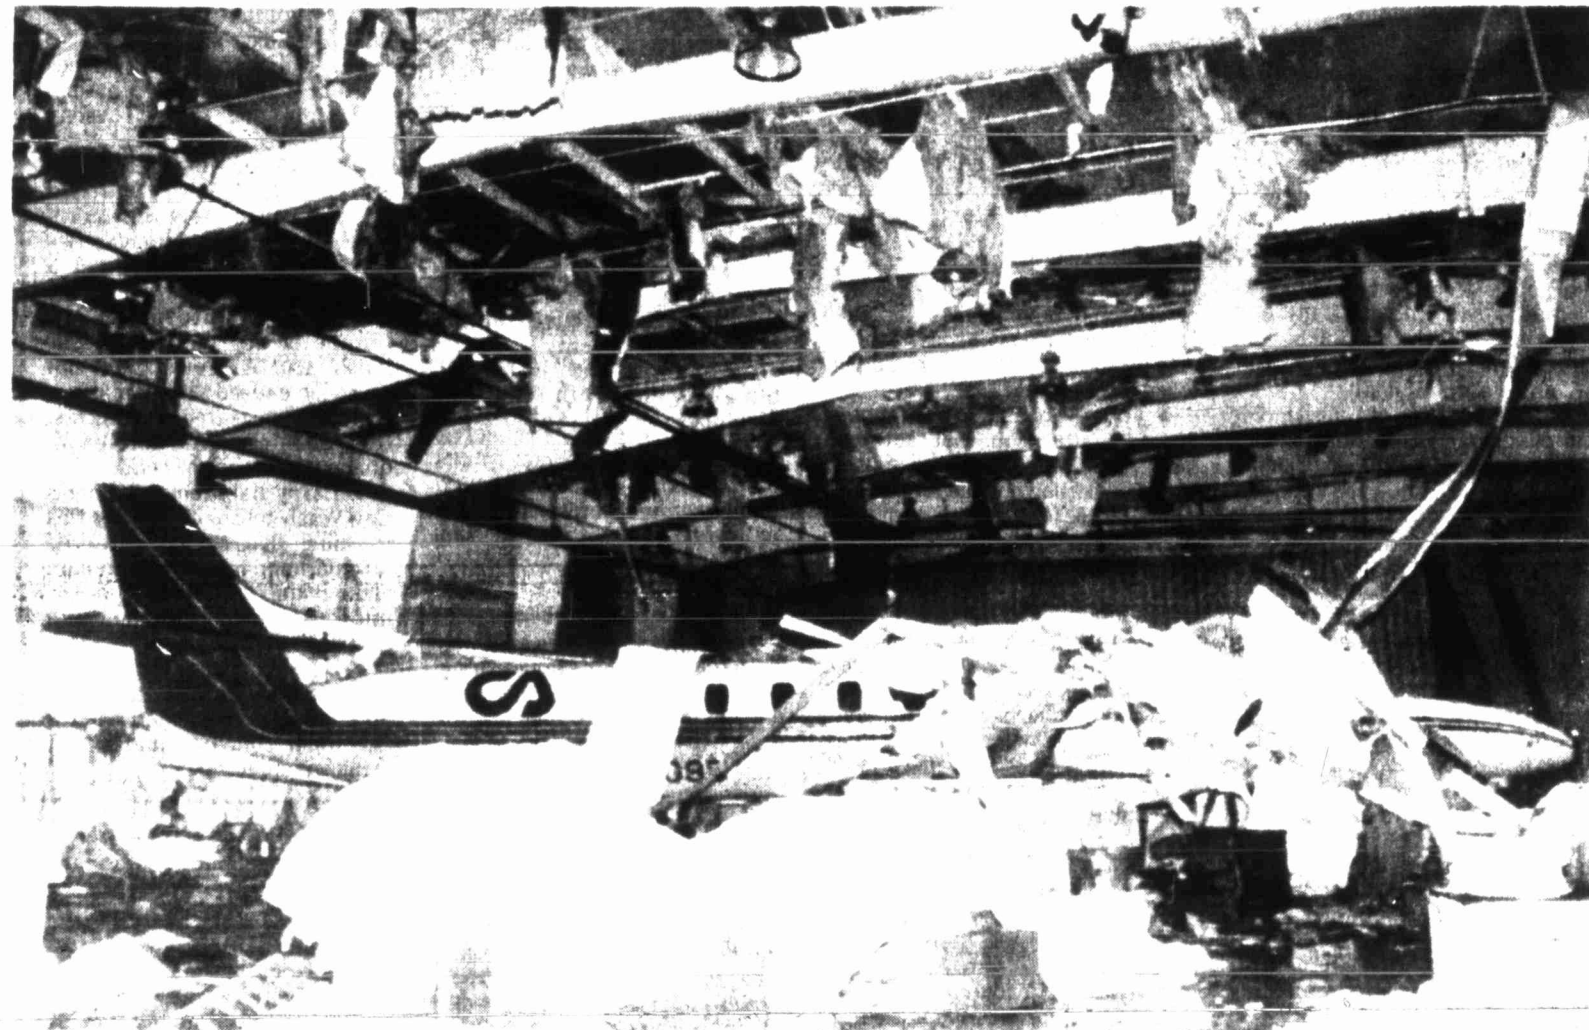

Hughes said the TDC will be able to comply with only half of Gov. Mark White's request for all state agencies to cut their budgets by 13 percent in light of the state's oil-related economic problems.

Items that were eliminated, he said, include a new department administration building and projects like parking lots.

Hughes also said the department would not attempt to renegotiate the federal court agreement in hopes of trimming costs.

"That would be a waste of all our time," he said.

Hughes, speaking during a meeting of the Texas Board of Corrections, said the budget cuts for his department are still undergoing scrutiny and no decisions will be made for a couple of weeks.

Chagra sentenced again for 30 years

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Elizabeth Chagra has received a 30-year prison sentence for the second time for plotting to kill a federal judge.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Chagra was convicted of the crime again on Feb. 27 after her original conviction was overturned by an appeals court on the grounds that the first jury had been improperly instructed.

U.S. District Judge William Sessions, who in 1982 ordered Mrs. Chagra to serve a 30-year term, re-issued the sentence Monday.

She will be eligible for parole in 1992, according to federal prosecutors.

"I thought it was a grisly, grisly bit of work on the part of the judge," her attorney Warren Burnett said after the sentencing.

"I was quite disappointed. She's been a splendid prisoner and has been rehabilitated. Both of these factors should have been taken into consideration," he said.

Burnett urged leniency so Mrs. Chagra could tend to her ailing parents.

"You have nothing but the most compelling evidence of her rehabilitation," Burnett told the judge. "We are deceiving ourselves to think that she would be further rehabilitated by further incarceration."

Mrs. Chagra made a tearful plea to the judge that she be imprisoned near her family in El Paso. But Sessions did not specify where she would be incarcerated.

She told Sessions she did not know how much longer her parents would live and that her three children had become almost strangers to her.

"If I can't be their mother, I

Students honored at fair

Seven Big Spring students won honors in the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair Saturday.

John Webb of Runnels Junior High became the fair's all-time winner when he was named overall winner of the junior high and middle school entries, according to a news release. He also won two awards from the Air Force in the areas of science and engineering and space sciences with his entry, "Aerial Photography." He has won four first place awards in seven years of participation in the fair.

Laura Ainsworth of Big Spring High School won the U.S. Air Force Award in microbiology and the American Society of Microbiology Outstanding Award for her entry "Should You Smooch Your Pooch?"

Firemen battle 2 blazes

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

A stubborn grass fire and the blaze of a vacant structure kept the Big Spring fire department busy Monday.

Shortly after 1 p.m. firefighters were summoned to battle a brush fire near the 1500 block of First Street and just east of Brown Street that had singed a fence surrounding residential property at 100 Brown St.

Fed by tall tumbleweeds and various junk scattered over nearly 2 acres of vacant property, pockets of flames sent billowing black clouds of smoke rolling from the area.

Firemen battled the blaze, that at various times threatened to burn out of control, by dousing it with water, setting back fires and calling in heavy earth-moving equipment.

Witnesses said they heard several explosions as paint and aerosol cans burned in the brush.

Firefighters took about 1 hour 20 minutes to get the fire under control, but remained on the scene for another eight hours, said Fire Chief Carl Dorton.

The department has no leads on the origin of the fire and the property owner had not been determined as of this morning, according to a department report.

Later Monday, units responded to a report of another brush fire at the corner of NW Fourth and

MEXICO CITY — Opera tenor PLACIDO DOMINGO plans to donate $800,000 to victims of September earthquakes that killed up to 7,000 people here, including four of his relatives, and says collections will top $1 million in coming months.

Domingo, who was born in Spain but grew up in Mexico and has held a series of benefit concerts for the earthquake victims, said upon arrival Sunday, "We're going to make an agreement on the best way to deliver the promised aid, and then the money will be turned over to the victims within a week or two."

He said he preferred not to give the money to the National Reconstruction Fund because "I made this commitment and I promised to help the earthquake victims personally."

The government newspaper El Nacional reported that Domingo would give a benefit concert June 2 in Guadalajara, Mexico's second-largest city.

SUN CITY, Ariz. — MICHAEL DRUMMOND, the youngest person to get a Jarvik-7 artificial heart, is back working as a grocery store clerk, and says that when co-workers wondered what he could handle, he told them, "I can do anything."

However, Drummond wrapped up his first week on the job Friday at Bell Camino Safeway with a little office work, selling some Arizona lottery tickets to customers and collecting their returnable bottles.

"They just want to start me out slow," he said.

The 26-year-old former assistant grocery store manager said he hasn't been sick since his November release from University Medical Center in Tucson, but wears a surgical mask occasionally to guard against infection.

Drummond was 25 when he received a Jarvik-7 heart in a temporary implant Aug. 29. Nine days later, he was given the heart of an accident victim.

LONDON — ANDREW YOUNG, a former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says his second four-year term as mayor of Atlanta is "the most job security I've ever had," but that he's thinking about what to do next.

Young, who represented the Carter administration to the United Nations, is forbidden by law to seek a third term as mayor, and said Monday, "I've always wanted to write — so maybe I'll just stay home."

But he didn't rule out another stint in politics.

"If I'd run for a statewide office, it would more likely be governor than senator — because I enjoy running something," said Young, who was here to launch a tourism and convention promotion for Atlanta.

Two cars reported stolen

Two local auto owners had their vehicles stolen recently in Big Spring.

Bert Hilger, manager of Bob Brock Ford, told police Monday morning that someone stole a 1979 Lincoln Town Car from the business between 9:30 a.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Hilger also reported to police that someone caused $250 damage to another new Lincoln on the lot by breaking into the car.

Jose Rodriguez of 1708 S. Main told police Monday night that someone stole his 1979 Chevrolet Suburban from outside his residence between 10 p.m. Sunday and 6 a.m. Monday.

Gene Leoffler of San Antonio told police early this morning that someone stole $9,000 in cashier checks, $6,000 in cash and an unknown number of car titles from his car while it was parked near Room 150 at the Park Inn Motel early this morning.

Gary Richardson of Washington Elementary School told police Monday morning that someone broke into the school's offices after causing $100 damage to two doors between 5 p.m. Friday and 7:45 a.m. Monday.

Russ Buske of Malone-Hogan Clinic told police Monday morning that someone caused damage to a coin-operated machine and then stole an unknown amount of coins at the clinic between noon Saturday and 8:15 a.m. Monday.

Mike Hughes, owner of Hughes Rental, told police Monday morning that someone stole $1,545 worth of furniture and a $375 portable air compressor from the business after damaging a door by breaking it down between 6:30 p.m. Saturday and 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Dorothy Humphreys of 603 George St. told police Monday morning that someone stole her for-ed a $200 check from her account Feb. 11.

Christine Mulkey of Midland told police someone stole a $400 camera from her car while it was parked in the 700 block of Tulsa between 10:30 a.m. and 11:25 a.m. Monday.

Weldon Powell, manager of K-Mart, told police Monday afternoon that someone stole a $60 shopping cart from the store Monday afternoon.

Edward Hart of 502 Washington St. told police Monday afternoon that someone stole a $150 radar detector from his car while it was parked at 700 N. Owens St. between Jan. 15, and March 4.

Anna Thompson told police Monday afternoon that someone stole a drill and two extension cords of unknown value and caused damage to four metal panels at Total Electric, 3217 E. Farm Road 700, between Thursday and 1 p.m. Monday.

John Rodriguez of 1612 Canary St. told police Monday morning that someone stole a $425 pistol from him sometime Sunday.

Judy Robertson of Dee Jay's Soda Shop told police Monday morning that someone caused $500 damage to a plate glass window at the business Monday night.

Lloyd Sauer of Sand Springs told police early this morning that someone stole $20 in quarters after damaging two video machines at Rip Griffins Truck Stop between Sunday and 11:59 p.m. Monday.

Herbert Baird Jr., 49, of Lubbock was arrested Monday on an outstanding U.S. Marshal's warrant.

Donald Ray Cahorn, 22, of Lubbock was arrested late Monday night on suspicion of driving without a license and a second offense of failure to maintain insurance.

Police arrest three men for car wash burglaries

A routine traffic stop early this morning resulted in the arrest of three young men who police connect with a string of area car wash and other business break-ins.

Police say Johnny Lee Ezell, 17, of 701 Wyoming St. was arrested at 5:45 a.m. at 1410 Harding St. on a charge of driving without a license. He later was charged with carrying an unlawful weapon that police said were numchucks. After talking with detectives at the police department, he was charged with six counts of burglary of coin-operated machines.

Also charged with six counts of burglary of coin-operated machines and possession of an unlawful weapon was 17-year-old Kenneth D. Scott of 1609 Harding St. He also was carrying numchucks, police said.

The third man arrested was Richard Charles Clayton, 18, of 3912 Parkway. He was charged with four counts of burglary of coin-operated machines, according to police. Clayton is on probation for burglary, police said.

All three were being held in the city jail this morning, according to police.

The following car washes were burglarized between Monday night and early Tuesday morning:

- Al Pope, manager of the Sun Rise Car Wash, 2310 Goliad St., told police early this morning that someone damages two car vacuum coin-boxes and a car wash machine.
- Police informed Bill Chrane of Top of the Hill Car Wash, 1301 E. Fourth St., that someone caused $150 damage to three coin-operated machines at the business and stole an unknown amount of coins.
- Larry Ashbrook of Nichols Car Wash told police early this morning that someone caused $150 damage to an auto vacuum cleaner and caused an undetermined amount of damage to a car wash control panel.
- Hershel Harris of ABC Car Wash told police early this morning that someone damaged a car wash coin box and a soft drink machine.

Firemen extinguished the fire with 1,000 gallons of water after it had destroyed the $2,000 building owned by Chon Rodriguez of 1004 N.W. Third St., according to the report.

Commissioners approve request for equipment

Howard County Commissioners voted unanimously Monday morning to approve a request from the sheriff's office for burglary alarm equipment.

Sheriff's Deputy Barney Edens told commissioners the equipment would assist the department in curbing residential and business burglaries in remote areas of the county.

The equipment, Edens said, would provide a location to be monitored from the sheriff's office and reduce excess patrol duty by a limited staff.

He said the three portable alarms would cost approximately $1,800.

During Monday's meeting, commissioners also:

- Unanimously approved advertisement for bids on a winch for a new truck tractor that will be purchased soon by the county road and bridge department.
- County Engineer Bill Mims told commissioners the winch would cost about $8,000.
- Unanimously approved O.L. Brown's motion to make necessary repairs on the courthouse's air conditioning and heating systems.
- Unanimously approved Howard County Friends of the Library's request to voluntarily finance and re-carpet the film and meeting room in the basement of the Howard County Library.
- Unanimously approved IBM's $5,677 bid to provide the county library with an automated circulation system.
- Unanimously approved a request from the Fair Association to reserve the county barn at the county fairgrounds from Sept. 7-27. The Howard County Fair will be Sept. 15-20.

Sheriff's Log

Missing 4-year-old found

A 4-year-old girl reported missing Monday morning was found unhurt after a 2½-hour search by Howard County sheriff's deputies, local law enforcement officials and civic volunteer groups.

Ashley Ward, daughter of Tommy and Stormy Ward of Coahoma, was reported missing from the Silver Heels addition south of Big Spring at 10:06 a.m., according to sheriff's reports.

Laurie Young, who reported the disappearance, said the 4-year-old was playing in her backyard when she apparently wandered off, according to the sheriff's reports.

The girl was located "a few 100 yards north of the residence," hidden under a tree, said Sheriff A.N. Standard. "She did not require medical attention. There was no visual injury or complaints as such."

Ben Lockhart of the License and Weight Division of the Department of Public Safety in Big Spring found the child, Standard said.

Other agencies and groups who joined the search included the U.S. Border Patrol, Howard County Sheriff's Posse, the Highway Patrol Division of the DPS and the Howard County Youth Horsemen's Club.

Ruth Griffice of 1400 E. Eighth told sheriff's deputies Monday night someone stole a refrigerated air conditioner from a trailer in Lot 1 of the Desert Hills Trailer Park.

The theft occurred between noon Friday and 2 p.m. Sunday. The air conditioner was valued at $300, according to a sheriff's report.

Police transferred Mary B. Jennings, 47, of 2911 W. Highway 80 Apartments No. 29 to county jail Monday afternoon after she was arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to fraud. She was released on $10,000 bond.

Deputies responded to a disturbance reported at the Hideaway Lounge on Highway 350, north of Big Spring at 5:45 p.m. Monday.

According to the sheriff's log, an ambulance was dispatched to the scene and transported Mrs. Ernest Hollis Cunningham, to a local hospital for minor injuries.

Deputies arrested her husband, Ernest Hollis Cunningham, 27, of West Highway 80 Apartments for public intoxication. He was released on $200 bond.

with that type stuff every day?"

Sinclair said the test took far too long to complete. Teachers had been told it would take three hours, but it took most people four to six hours, she said. Such a long test is very stressful, especially when "thinking I may lose my job," she said.

Murphy said the test was "what we expected from the sample copies we had received from the state as study guides." He said most teachers were ready for the test.

"The questions and types of skills represented are what we had prepared for," he said.

He said he "feels relatively good about" the results, and that most teachers feel the same.

Ricky Mitchell, band instructor at the high school, said the test wasn't hard for him, partly because he was involved in research over the summer and was used to the techniques.

"A lot of people had problems with the reading part and picking out main ideas and so forth," he said.

Mitchell and Murphy both said they thought the success rate would be high.

"Ninety-five percent plus of educators will pass the test with ease," Murphy said.

Mitchell said "a lot of teachers were scared when they went in, so they were really careful."

Hise said it would be a good test for anyone to take to determine basic skills. As a group, teachers would probably do better than the general public at this type of test, he said.

The TECAT — a test of basic reading and writing skills — was mandated by the 1984 Texas Legislature as part of a massive education reform bill that includes the no-pass, no-play rule barring failing students from extracurricular activities.

More than 200,000 teachers statewide took the test in three shifts Monday. Although about 10,000 teachers were expected to flunk the test, many came out smiling, saying the test was a breeze, according to the Associated Press.

want to at least be their friend," she said.

Mrs. Chagra was convicted of conspiracy in the killing of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., who was gunned down outside his home here May 29, 1979.

Known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences, he had been presiding over a drug case involving Jimmy Chagra, Mrs. Chagra's husband.

She testified in the most recent trial that she delivered $250,000 to Wood's hired killer, Charles Harrelson. But she said she thought the money was to pay off a gambling debt owed by her husband.

Harrelson was sentenced to two consecutive life sentences for killing the judge.

Air safety questioned

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Administration insists it has enough air traffic controllers to direct airplanes safely, but members of Congress are showing increased skepticism and worry about the margin of safety.

"I see a healthy (air traffic control) system out there," FAA Administrator Donald Engen told a group of senators Monday who had joined a task force to examine air safety issues.

Tower resigns position

WASHINGTON — John G. Tower, the former chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has submitted his resignation as a U.S. arms control negotiator for "personal family reasons" and because the job lacked excitement, U.S. officials say.

Tower has handled negotiations with the Soviet Union in Geneva on reducing long-range nuclear weapons.

Reagan plan resisted

WASHINGTON — President Reagan still insists he wants Congress to approve his full package of $100 million in aid to U.S.-backed guerrillas fighting Nicaragua, but congressional leaders say strong opposition to the proposal means a compromise plan could emerge next week.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Monday that "it's going to be very, very difficult" to win approval in the Republican-controlled Senate for Reagan's plan to provide $30 million in non-lethal aid and up to $70 million in military help for the Contra guerrillas.

Math skills lagging

LOS ANGELES — The math skills of American eighth-graders lagged behind those of 13 other countries, and the top U.S. high school seniors scored lowest out of 10 nations, The Los Angeles Times reported today.

The Times, citing 1982 results of international testing, reported that eighth-graders from Japan, the Netherlands and Hungary scored highest on tests of arithmetic, algebra, geometry, statistics and measurement.

Fraud comes to light

HOUSTON — Two Houston men connected to the city's free summer lunch program schemed to steal $175,000 through bribes and kickbacks, a prosecutor charges.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Powers told jurors Monday that Art Bernal, 52, operator of the now defunct AMBCO Food Catering Co., and Art Jones, 44, former assistant parks director, took part in the scheme with former program coordinator Randy Bostic.

"They devised a premeditated, fraudulent and corrupt plan to milk the summer food program operated by the City of Houston," Powers said.

Three states hard hit by heavy winds

By The Associated Press

The National Guard patrolled Covington, Ky., today under a state of emergency declared after at least 20 tornadoes sliced through three states, killing five people, injuring 70 more and leaving 70,000 people without power.

Some of the tornadoes that struck in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, spinning off winds up to 90 mph, also left Cincinnati's airport — across the Ohio River in Erlanger, Ky. — a shambles, with up to 50 planes damaged, officials said.

"It's a complete disaster," said San Juan Romero, an air traffic manager at the airport. "A bomb could not have done the damage this has done."

Across the three states, the storms and tornadoes tore roofs from buildings, sent mobile homes flying and ripped into the city of Covington, also across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Two men died in Indiana, one of them when a barn collapsed on him after he had sought refuge inside. There were two deaths in Ohio when twisters flattened houses. A man using a chain to hold down a barn roof in western Kentucky died when it blew off, dragging him 78 feet, said County Coroner John Muster.

In Johnson County, south of Indianapolis, a roof at a day care center caved in on 130 pre-schoolers, but only three suffered injuries, all of them minor, said Rhea Curry, the center's director.

Cincinnati airport spokesman Ted Bushelman said six people suffered minor injuries when the control tower windows blew out.

"There are also 30 to 50 airplanes damaged beyond repair," Bushelman said. Most of the damaged airplanes were small Cessnas, Pipers and a few Lear jets. The airport was closed to flights for two hours while debris was cleared.

In Covington, officials declared an emergency and warned non-residents to keep out after high winds knocked out power to most of the city and ripped the roofs from dozens of buildings. About 50 National Guard troops were sent there, said Gordon Nichols of the state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services.

"At about 20 minutes till 5, we heard this really strong wind. The next thing, it sounded like a bomb went off," said John Carey, who was working in his advertising agency near downtown Covington.

"We saw the wind coming down the street and toppling trees, and we heard glass shattering and debris landing," Carey said.

Police cordoned off large sections of the city. Nichols said no estimate of damage could be made until today when disaster crews begin inspection.

Officials said high winds damaged at least 300 homes in Lexington, Ky.

About 40 people were injured in Newport, Falmouth and Erlanger, said state Trooper Jim Dolwick. Eight to nine injuries were reported in Lexington and Bromley, Ky., along with 22 injuries in Indiana, and four in Ohio.

Kremlin protests order

MOSCOW — The Foreign Ministry today protested an American order that the Soviet Union reduce its United Nations staff and called the order an "illegitimate demand" that threatens future superpower summits.

The oral protest was made to U.S. Embassy officials and denied U.S. allegations that Soviet employees at the United Nations engage in espionage.

Marcos backers nabbed

MANILA, Philippines — Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile today ordered the first arrests of prominent supporters of deposed President Ferdinand E. Marcos, two assemblymen accused of election-related killings.

A Defense Ministry announcement said assemblymen Orlando Dulay and Arturo Pacificador, an assistant majority floor leader in the assembly, were wanted for alleged involvement in killings of supporters of new President Corason Aquino in the Feb. 7 presidential election.

Yurchenko plans book

MOSCOW — A Soviet newspaper said today that Vitaly Yurchenko, who returned to the Soviet Union after claiming he had been kidnapped and brought to the United States by the CIA, plans to write a book.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda mentioned Yurchenko's coming publication in a brief commentary in which it juxtaposed criticism of CIA involvement in Nicaragua with Yurchenko's alleged harassment by the agency.

Rally demands changes

SEOUL, South Korea — Thousands of marchers chanting "down with dictatorship" surged into the streets of Seoul today after a rally backing a petition drive for constitutional changes that would give South Korea a popularly elected president.

It appeared to be the largest political demonstration since President Chun Doo-hwan came to power in 1980, and government opponents gave estimates of the number of marchers ranging from 3,000 to 7,000.

Iraq claims gain

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Iraq claimed its ground, air and naval forces inflicted heavy losses on Iranian troops occupying Iraq's Faw peninsula Monday and Iran said its forces killed at least 200 Iraqi soldiers in the southern fighting.

Iraqi warplanes blasted two "large maritime targets" off Iran's Persian Gulf coast in the last 24 hours and its ground troops battled Monday with Iranians for control of strategic heights in the northern sector.

Physician hopes to free French hostages in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A physician seeking the release of French hostages held by Shiite Moslem extremists rushed to Beirut to prevent "further carnage" after kidnapers published photographs they say prove that they killed one captive.

Razah Raad, a French heart specialist who was born in Lebanon, drove from Damascus to Beirut late Monday upon hearing of a statement and photographs issued by Islamic Jihad purportedly showing the body of French hostage Michel Seurat.

He waited in a luxury hotel today to be contacted by the kidnapers in order to begin negotiations for the release of the French hostages.

Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, claimed last week to have killed Seurat, an employee of the French Center for Studies and Research of the Contemporary Middle East. Seurat was kidnapped last May 22 in Moslem west Beirut.

It also claims to hold two French diplomats, a journalist, and has claimed that it kidnapped six Americans missing in Lebanon.

Swedish murder threatens access

The assassination of Prime Minister Olof Palme of Sweden does more than rob the Swedish people of a dedicated public servant and a statesman of uncommon stature. It threatens a tradition of openness and accessibility that citizens of democratic Sweden cherish. It's a tradition that citizens of democratic America have let slide in recent years.

Legitimate security concerns usually have dictated the isolation of elected officials in the United States. The Swedes, on the other hand, have resisted what one Swedish official called a "security cocoon." Palme himself believed passionately that the accessibility of elected officials is a necessary element of democracy and acting Prime Minister Ingvar Carlsson has said that he also expects to walk unguarded in Stockholm once the murder is solved.

Americans understand and accept the need for prudent security measures — the concrete barriers ringing the White House, the armies of Secret Service personnel, the curtailment of face-to-face contact with elected officials — however much they regret the inaccessibility that results.

Other trappings of power that seal off public servants from the people they serve are less easy to justify. We have in mind, to cite a few examples, the ubiquitous official limousines that ferry government officials about Washington, the ruffles and flourishes that accompany a presidential visit to the hinterlands, the red-carpeted hall leading into the East Room of the White House for a presidential news conference.

There is something refreshing, by way of contrast, about a nation whose prime minister stands in line with everyone else for a ticket to the movies and whose opposition leader rides a bicycle to work. Such accessibility, we realize, is probably a thing of the past in this country, though the lack of pretension certainly need not be. We would suggest that it comports quite nicely with a nation that prides itself on government of, by and for the people.

50 ways to sell U.S. on Marcos

Almost every public relations firm in America is after the Imelda Marcos account. Myron Steakknife told me why. "Mrs. Marcos has a distorted image in the U.S., but fortunately she has enough money to change it. I'm making a presentation next week. What do you think of it?"

Myron opened a large folder. "The way I see it, Imelda owns half of all the real estate in New York, and Leona Helmsley owns the other half. I want Imelda to move to New York and personally advertise her real estate properties in the same manner that Leona does hers.

"I see Imelda in a full-page photo stretched over the top of a piano saying, 'Leona is wild about Harry and I'm wild about Ferdinand. If you really want to have a ball come to the Golden Casa for a lovers weekend. We feature free breakfast, free ice, free movies and free elections."

"I have another based on Mrs. Helmsley's ad in New York magazine. It shows Leona standing in the dining room of her Palace Hotel saying, 'It's the only palace in the world where the Queen stands guard.'"

Steakknife said, "We'd show Imelda singing into a microphone on the balcony of her hotel. The copy would read, 'Leona Helmsley has no idea what it takes to guard a palace. Would you believe even a company of crack troops and a dozen tanks isn't enough?'"

"Why the ads?"

"I want the public to think of Mrs. Marcos as an astute businesswoman instead of someone who keeps shoving pesos in her Calvin Klein jeans. The fastest way to do this is through advertising. I also have a brokerage firm interested in signing up Imelda for a commercial. She would stand in front of the plane she arrived on from the Philippines and say, 'Hello, I'm Imelda Marcos and my husband and I made money the old-fashioned way — we smuggled it out of the country in a trunk. If you expect to be overthrown soon, call me at this toll-free number, and for a fee I'll advise how to keep your loot with the blessing of President Reagan.'"

I said, "You think that will help Imelda's image?"

"It can't hurt it. I want to persuade the country Imelda was not one of these dictator's wives who spent all her time in Paris buying clothes with her country's Fresh Air Funds. I'm going to show that there were a lot worse spendthrifts kicked out of their countries this year."

"You're not talking about Mrs. Duvalier?"

"Let's just say I'm talking about anyone who knows anything about voodoo economics."

Steakknife said if Imelda doesn't want to go head-to-head with Leona Helmsley or do brokerage commercials, she could always venture into the jewelry business. "She has enough diamonds to light up the Statue of Liberty for a week," he said.

"That's a lot of diamonds."

"Just because a person is a head of state's wife doesn't mean she can't own a few nice things."

"Your entire presentation seems to be built around getting Mrs. Marcos a job."

"Every woman has to fulfill herself," he said. "Since Imelda owns shopping centers, art treasures, stocks and chests full of gold bullion, she doesn't have to lift a finger for the rest of her life. But when you've been married to someone like Marcos you have to keep occupied in your spare time. There is just so much polo Imelda can play with Ferdinand."

"This is a pretty good presentation," I told him. "Do you think Madame Marcos will go for it?"

"I don't see why not. If she doesn't want to do it I have a book contract for her to sign. A publisher wants her to write Hawaii on $750 Million a Day."

Request for inquiry falls into the wrong officials' hands

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — As a retired Air Force officer, Myron M. Hnatio probably should have guessed what the outcome of his complaint to the government would be.

He asked the White House for an "independent inquiry" into the official harassment of his son, John, an Energy Department whistle blower. Instead, the White House turned the matter over to the same bureaucrats the younger Hnatio had exposed.

Not surprisingly, the reply the father got tended to gloss over the mistreatment his son had received from his bosses. Here's the story:

"I do not have faith that an explanation of the Department of Energy would be fair and accurate," Myron Hnatio explained to President Reagan in his letter of Oct. 9, 1984. He, therefore, requested an independent inquiry into the harassment of his son, which we had reported in this column.

John Hnatio's offense was telling congressional investigators about security lapses at government nuclear weapons plants. Not only did his recommendations go unheeded, but Hnatio was slapped with an official reprimand and threatened with the loss of his security clearance, which would have cost him his job.

Belatedly, Hnatio received a grudging apology from the DOE for this response.

The bulk of the criticism, first from Hnatio and then from Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., was leveled against William Hoover, director of the Energy Department's Office of Military Applications; James W. Culpepper, former deputy assistant director for security affairs; and officials in the Office of Safeguards and Security.

Internal files of the White House Correspondence Unit, obtained by our associate Tony Capaccio, show that the elder Hnatio's letter to the president asking for an independent inquiry was sent to Hoover and company for action. In fact, the final version of the reply to Myron Hnatio, submitted to the White House for release, was signed by Hoover.

Hoover told us he bore "no malice aforesought toward John Hnatio." He said the letter to Hnatio's father was "coordinated by my staff," and added, "I didn't provide any facts." Hoover commented, "I would have been just as happy if someone else had responded to the White House, frankly."

The White House reply, dated Jan. 14, 1985, contained no outright lies, but it hardly gave a complete version of some events.

For example, the letter said Hnatio's reprimand was "for what was thought at the time to be a violation of DOE regulations and procedures regarding proper handling of classified material." It failed to note that the reprimanding official had testified: "Both my initial inquiries and discussions with Mr. Hnatio indicated to me that his actions had not resulted in the compromise of classified material."

The letter did note that "due to Mr. Hnatio's belief that the OSS (Office of Safeguards and Security) actions were excessive, a letter of apology was issued for any misunderstanding or unwarranted actions directed to him." It did not mention that the apology was issued under the pressure of Dingell's investigation and an inspector general's report criticizing the actions taken against Hnatio.

Nor did the letter to the father disclose that one of those who had "coordinated" the response had once referred to the inspector general's report as a "piece of (excrement)," and that this official and a colleague had argued against giving John Hnatio the apology.

Footnote: Dingell's investigators plan to review the circumstances surrounding the White House response. Because of an investigation into the harassment of John Hnatio, an Energy Department spokesperson declined comment.

BANKERS' BLUES: Back in August 1982, top Mexican officials informed then-secretary of the Treasury Donald Regan that their country couldn't repay its loans from U.S. banks. New loans were hastily arranged so interest payments could be met, and what became known as the international debt crisis limped along from one year to the next. Now Mexico and other debtor nations are making rumbling noises that sound like threats of default or bankruptcy. To the bankers, it's like a replay of 1982, but they're reluctant to follow Treasury Secretary James Baker's plan to put on more Band-Aids in the form of new loans to debtor nations.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We'd like to suggest a solution to the growing problem of what to do with deposed tyrants who have trouble finding asylum. Let's have the United Nations designate an uninhabited island in the Pacific as a sort of garbage dump for discarded despots. On the first boat we'd put Haiti's Baby Doc Duvalier, Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines, Jean-Bedel Bokassa of the Central African Republic and Idi Amin of Uganda. They could busy themselves erecting memorials to the late shah of Iran and Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua — and tidying up a little grass shack for Muamma Khadafy of Libya.

Christians aren't perfect

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am not a Christian, but I don't have any problems with people who want to be religious. But I have a real problem with a couple of people in my office who claim to be Christians and yet they are irresponsible and lazy and only interested in themselves. Is this the way Christians should behave? — W.C.

DEAR W.C.: No, of course not — and I suspect you know this, or you would not have even asked the question. That does not mean Christians are perfect, of course. But a true Christian will not be satisfied to remain irresponsible and lazy, but will instead seek — with God's help — to become more like Christ. One reason I have used your question is in the hope it will make Christians more aware of their responsibility to live for Christ every day.

Let me stress, however, that your co-workers may have never actually committed their lives to Jesus Christ. Unfortunately, in our society there are many people who claim to be Christians and even may appear to be so outwardly. They go to church, they may live fairly decent lives, and so forth. And yet they have never honestly and clearly committed their lives to Jesus Christ.

On one occasion, a very religious man came to Jesus. If ever a man could have claimed to be good, it was this one. Jesus' words must have startled him: "you must be born again" (John 3:7). His greatest need was to commit his life to Christ and experience the new life He brings.

And that is your greatest need. Don't be put off by those who claim to be Christians but whose lives don't reflect it. You need for your sins to be forgiven, and you need the hope for eternity which only Christ can give you.

God loves you, and the greatest discovery you could make is to turn to Christ and find the new life He brings to all who truly commit their lives to Him.

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Embarrassment shouldn't matter

To the editor:
The question concerning the embarrassment of a coach having been arrested at school in front of his students and members of the faculty seems to be bothering the general public. If embarrassment is all the man has to suffer, isn't he the lucky one? If he is innocent, no sweat.

I believe some time ago, they arrested one football player at Church. I fully believe that if I were handing out cigarettes, (marijuana, or plain) or any other form of drugs, alcohol or anything else that would hurt a child, the police would not hesitate to jerk me off my school bus in front of my students, and it would not matter to them if I was embarrassed or not, and the public would heartily approve of my arrest regardless of what street I was on.

I do not say this man is guilty. I do not know. I believe a man, woman, or child is innocent until proven guilty.

If embarrassment is the only thing we as a general public have to worry about, we certainly haven't got much of a worry.

Dear Abby

'Loose labor market' implies job scarcity

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter, you incorrectly used the phrase "tight labor market" to refer to a situation where jobs are scarce. Actually, a tight labor market is one in which job openings are plentiful and workers who don't like their work can easily quit and find other employment. Economists use the phrase "loose labor market" to describe job scarcity.

Your mistake in terminology is commonly made. So keep the following rhyme in mind:
When the labor market is tight
Tell your boss to fly a kite.
But when the labor market is loose,
Saying that will cook your goose.

DANIEL J.B. MITCHELL,
UCLA PROFESSOR

DEAR PROFESSOR: You could have fooled me. I erroneously assumed that because the terminology "money is tight" means "money is scarce," the same held true for the labor market. Thanks for warning me up.

Although flying a kite was an electrifying experience for Benjamin Franklin, I wouldn't recommend telling one's boss to fly one under any circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I was appalled at the ignorance of that doctor who opposed artificial insemination for the unmarried 35-year-old professional woman who wanted to have a child before it was too late. He gave the impression that artificial insemination was done as a lark with a turkey baster. Actually, it's done under hygienic conditions in a doctor's office only after a great deal of investigation and many consultations. Some facts:

One out of every six American couples of reproductive age is infertile, and 40 percent of the cases are attributed to the infertility of the male.

Twenty-six states have already passed laws legitimizing artificial insemination, and approximately 20,000 babies are born every year because of it.

How do I know so much about it? Had it not been for artificial insemination, my husband and I would not be the proud parents of two beautiful, healthy children. Unfortunately, at age 31, my husband had surgery for testicular cancer, which rendered him sterile. Adoption would have meant years of waiting, but with artificial insemination we were able to become parents without delay. Our children have at least one biological parent, and believe it or not, the "donor" was so well-matched that both our children resemble their "father."

LUCKY US IN PASADENA

DEAR LUCKY: Lucky, indeed. And boo to that insensitive doctor.

DEAR ABBY: You mentioned "the rhythm system" as one of the many methods of birth control. First, I appreciate your respect for the Catholics' objection to artificial birth control, but, Abby, "the rhythm system" is a thing of the past. Today there are many family planning organizations that teach natural methods of birth control. The most popular one is the "sympto-thermal" method. As the name implies, it is a matter of learning to read the signs of fertility. This method is not only approved by the Catholic Church, it is extremely effective whether a woman's cycle is regular or irregular, whether she is nursing or approaching menopause.

Please pass this information on.

PREFERS THE NATURAL WAY

DEAR DEBBIE: Thanks for bringing me up-to-date. The sympto-thermal method is effective in reverse, too. It teaches women who want to conceive how to determine their most fertile period.

For more information on this subject, write to: The Couple to Couple League, P.O. Box 111184, Cincinnati, Ohio 45211.

Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, as this is a non-profit organization.

Dr. Donohue

Liquid isn't cause of diarrhea, but fructose may be

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Among other resolutions for the New Year, I gave up drinking beer. Actually, I reduced it to a single bottle a day. As a substitute, I sip on bottles of soft drinks when watching T.V. I'm a 54-year-old woman.

Now here's my problem and my question. I am drinking sometimes upward of three to five bottles of pop a day. Is this causing the problem of diarrhea I have experienced since starting this program? Is there a difference in the liquid effect of beer and pop? I never had this problem before. — V.H.

Fluid in any form is still just fluid, and fluid of itself will not cause diarrhea. It is absorbed by the body from the intestines. I have only one suggestion as to the source of your recent diarrhea problem. What kind of pop are you drinking?

I ask that, because some manufacturers add fructose for sweetener. That is a form of sugar that doesn't break down as easily as do other kinds. If you load up on fructose, the intestines may not be able to handle the sheer volume and you can develop cramping and diarrhea.

Check the label on your pop. If it lists fructose, you may be getting too much of that substance.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the drug, sucralfate. I am taking it on doctor's orders — for peptic ulcers. I understand it is not an antacid type medicine. What does it do for ulcers? — D.L.

Sucralfate is neither antacid nor an inhibitor of acid production, the cases with other ulcer-control medicines. This drug, rather than being absorbed by the intestinal tract, is attracted to the ulcer site. There, it forms a shield over the ulcer to protect it from irritation by surrounding digestive acids.

It is one of the many therapy choices now available for ulcer treatment. I recently discussed the other aspects of ulcer control you asked about (edited part of letter). If you want further details, see the booklet "Peptic Ulcers: The Modern View and Treatment." Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a lung disease, alveolar proteinosis. Is there literature available on the subject? Is there a doctor in my area who does the treatment for it? — F.A.

Alveolar proteinosis is a rare condition, and I don't know where outside of a medical text you might find literature on it. I have not seen any. I can give you a brief outline.

It is a condition in which a protein-like thick fluid fills up the air sacs, the alveoli. Why this happens is unclear, but it is partly from loss of efficiency of the scavenger cells that normally keep such areas clear. The chief symptom, as you can imagine, is the breathlessness, for oxygen is not able to pass through the protein layers and into the blood.

I don't know how severe your alveolar proteinosis is. If it is quite severe and affecting large areas of sacs, then all the sacs have to be washed. And I mean that literally; the washing is done via a bronchoscope. The treatment has to be repeated sometimes.

I wish I had more to tell you about his strange illness. I hope you have improved by the time you read this. You should have little trouble finding a doctor to give you the treatment I mentioned, if that ever is necessary.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Are pancreas grafts being done now? Doesn't this offer great hope for a cure of diabetes? — E.L.

Few areas of medicine have prompted greater intensity of research than has diabetes. Yes, pancreas transplants are being done experimentally, and the future for the procedure does seem bright at the moment. In fact, recent transplants have resulted in correction of the insulin problem in a number of diabetes patients. Some things remain to be worked out before we can expect the procedure to become routine. I agree with you that pancreas transplant progress bodes well for an ultimate cure for the illness.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung problem, write to Dr. Donohue for a copy of his new booklet, "Emphysema-Bronchitis: The Twin Problems," P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Own America's First Silver Dollar

Original 200 year old coins —
real legal tender of our 13 colonies!

December, 1985. MONTPELIER, VERMONT — International Coins & Currency, Inc. a national distributor of numismatic coins, is offering for sale a limited number of original 200 year old coins — among the first large silver dollars minted in the Americas. These magnificent silver coins once circulated in our original 13 colonies. Because of their high silver content and popularity, Thomas Jefferson recommended that they become official legal tender of the United States of America.

Minted from 1772-1821, these silver dollars were the most popular coins of our 13 colonies and were used as legal tender in the USA up until 1857. As collectors and investors turn to American coin classics, these scarce silver dollars are becoming increasingly sought after and desirable.

Struck at America's oldest mint in Mexico City and denominated 8 Reales, these silver dollars were the forerunners of the first U.S. silver dollar minted in 1794 — and served as the most favored trade coin in the world. Yet huge silver melts and the fact that relatively few were saved from destruction make these coins "sleeping" classics. Each silver dollar is a big 39.5 mm in diameter, contains 27.07 grams of .903 pure silver, and each comes with a Certificate of Authenticity attesting to its fine quality and genuine status. This guarantee never runs out. Because the supply was originally discovered in the Far East, genuine "Chinese merchant markings" are often visible and serve to authenticate the coins.

Because of the age and historical significance of these coins, you might expect to pay up to several hundred dollars for one. But while supplies last, they are available on a first-come, first-served basis for $75 each — and you can save up to $75 by buying more than one. International Coins & Currency, Inc. is offering for sale a limited number of these coins to collectors and investors at: 1 coin $75; 2 coins $150; 3 coins $215 (save $10); 5 coins $345 (save $30); and 10 coins $675 (save $75). There is a strict limit of 10 coins per customer. Your 100% satisfaction is guaranteed — you may return your order for a prompt no-questions-asked refund within 15 days (less postage and insurance of course).

To order your coins by credit card, call toll free at 1-800-451-4463, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week (including Sundays). If you prefer, send check or money order in full amount to: International Coins & Currency, Inc. Dept. 873, 11 East State Street, P.O. Box 218, Montpelier, Vermont 05602. Add $3.75 for 1 coin or $5.00 for more than 1 coin to cover postage and insurance. Special presentation cases for individual coins are also available at $2.50 each. Mr. Douglas Schneible, ICC's Numismatic Director is Lifetime Member No. 1305 in the American Numismatic Association. All coins are available for prompt delivery.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WED., MARCH 12, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: On your own today, you can make some important decisions, strategies and plans for the future, but make sure you sidestep any discussions with people in a position of authority.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do not make any sudden changes if you want to change some poor situation into a good one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find the best way to arrange your affairs on a novel and high-minded plane, but don't listen to a gossip.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use care or you could get in trouble with one who has a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude, but by evening all clears up.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Keep quiet about a public plan you have in mind, otherwise it can soon be stolen from you by an opportunist.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You have good ideas that can be studied further; make a success of them instead of helping another with his or her ambitions.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A partner may be angry so try to understand the reasons and come to a fine accord, then in the evening try to please your mate more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to a partner for assistance with a problem connected with your regular work, but be wary of a co-worker.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to set up appointments for pleasure with friends today. Be patient.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get away from that meleé at home and do some shopping. Make sure you get to an important appointment on time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use much care on the highway, especially where poor driving on the part of others is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You had better not rely on friends to help you get ahead faster today as they are busy, but in the evening all works out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be more concerned with gaining more of this world's goods and forget petty personal matters.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will want to make sudden changes in attitudes, actions, etc., so teach to complete whatever has been started and learn the importance of perseverance, especially where projects and jobs are concerned. This can bring true success, for otherwise your progeny will become like the rolling stone that gathers no moss.

Hawks complete sweep of Longview

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The Howard College Hawks completed a four game sweep over the visiting Longview Community College Lakers by taking a double-header yesterday at Jack Barber Field.

In their opening game 6-4 win, the Hawks literally put forth a little "extra" to win their third-in-a-row against the team from Kansas City, Mo.

That "little extra" came in the form of seven extra base hits in the contest. In fact the Hawks got only one single in the game, that by third baseman Ramces Guerrero in the second inning.

Howard's timely hitting coupled with a sparkling relief job by Bryan Willis was enough to take the Hawks to victory.

Willis had to come in and spell starter Greg Landry in the first inning. Landry suffered control problems, walking the first three batters before Howard coach Bill Griffin called on Willis.

The first Longview run came in when cleanup hitter Kevin Jackman hit a sacrifice fly, driving in Troy Cuellar. The next run scored when Carters Rodgers singled in Larry Lippert.

Form that point on Willis rendered only three hits and two runs the remainder of the game.

Howard tied the game up in the bottom of the second. Hot-hitting Bruce Smith doubled and scored on Guerrero's single. Guerrero tied the game up when left fielder Jeff DeJesus tripled.

Longview went back ahead 4-2 in the top of the fourth. Lippert's double and a single by David Richards were the telling blows which led to two Laker runs.

Howard got a run back in the bottom of the inning when Smith belted a solo shot to lead off the inning. It was the second basemen's fifth homer in the last six games.

The Hawks put the game away in the fifth, chasing Longview starter Don Smith from the game with three runs. Smith took the loss as he went four innings, allowed 7 hits and six runs. He was relieved by Billy Wilkes, who came on in the fifth with one man on and no outs. Joel Chimelis started off the Howard fifth with a bloop double.

He scored when catcher Alfred Lopez hit a triple to deep center. The Hawks went ahead 5-4 when Frank Medina hit a two-bagger against the left field fence, scoring Lopez. That's when Wilkes was called in to relieve Smith.

Wilkes was greeted by a triple to right field by Steven Keller, driving in Medina with the final Howard run.

HAWKS 15, LAKERS 2

Howard romped in the second game by blasting the Lakers 15-2, in a five-inning game.

Alex Lopez got the win, going the distance and allowing six hits. He was aided by a Hawk attack, led by Kevin Hays and Joe Cuellar, that banged out 11 hits.

Hays got two hits, including a two-run homer in the fourth, and drove in three runs. Cuellar had an even better day, going 3-for-3 and driving in six RBI's.

Mat Pearson was the losing pitcher for Longview leaving the Lakers record at 2-10 for the season. Howard is 13-9-1. The Hawks will be in action Monday, March 17 against Lubbock Christian College at Jack Barber Field.

The two teams will start at noon to finish a suspended game that was tied 10-10. A regularly scheduled double-header will follow.

Favorites roll in a 'night at the fights'

• Hagler slowly puts 'Beast' away

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Marvious Marvin Hagler likes to say nothing pleases him more than a good fight. Against John "The Beast" Mugabi, he got that — and more.

Hagler, pushed hard by a determined Mugabi, battered the challenger through the late rounds Monday night before knocking him out at 1:29 of the 11th round to retain his undisputed middleweight title.

It was a crowd-pleasing performance by Hagler, who appeared to dominate much of the bout, but had trouble putting Mugabi away. And, at least in the eyes of the ringside judges, Mugabi was in the fight until the end, trailing by three points on two cards and only one on the third.

"It wasn't that close," insisted Hagler. "I thought I had full control of the whole fight."

The victory, coupled with Thomas Hearns' devastating first-round knockout of James Shuler an hour earlier, set up a planned Hagler-Hearns rematch. A prospect Hagler wasn't was looking forward to after going 11 bruising rounds with Mugabi.

"I've given it a lot of thought ... this may be my last fight," he said immediately after the bout.

But after getting some attention to a bruised right eye, a shower and a change of clothes, Hagler backed off a bit.

"I'm not committing myself to anything now," he said. "I just got through with a tough fight. Let me get home a put it together."

Promoter Bob Arum said he had few doubts Hagler would keep fighting, especially with more than $10 million awaiting Hagler for a rematch of his third-round knockout of Hearns last April.

"Sometime in September we're looking for a Hagler-Hearns rematch," said Arum.

And Hearns, who has already signed for the rematch, said he couldn't wait.

"There's never a day, a time, a minute throughout the day that I don't think about it," said Hearns, who needed, and got, an impressive win to keep his rematch hopes alive.

Hagler, fighting for the first time since his triumph over Hearns, started cautiously against the Ugandan, throwing jabs and staying away from the vaunted power of Mugabi.

Mugabi managed to land several shots to Hagler's head early, backing the champion up on several occasions. But Mugabi's punches were often wild and Hagler was able to get inside of them to land effectively.

"He gave me a good fight and I love a good fight," said Hagler. "I said through all of this hype that this would be an exciting fight."

With Hagler beginning to take control, the stage was set for a wild sixth round — a round that rivaled the almost non-stop first-round action in the Hagler-Hearns fight.

Hagler opened up midway through the sixth round, stinging Mugabi with flurries of punches to the head. At one point, Mugabi seemed ready to go down, but referee Mills Lane picked that time to separate the fighters and warn Hagler about punching low.

When action resumed, so did Hagler's relentless attack — except this time Mugabi fought back and landed several hard shots of his own before the bell rang to end the round.

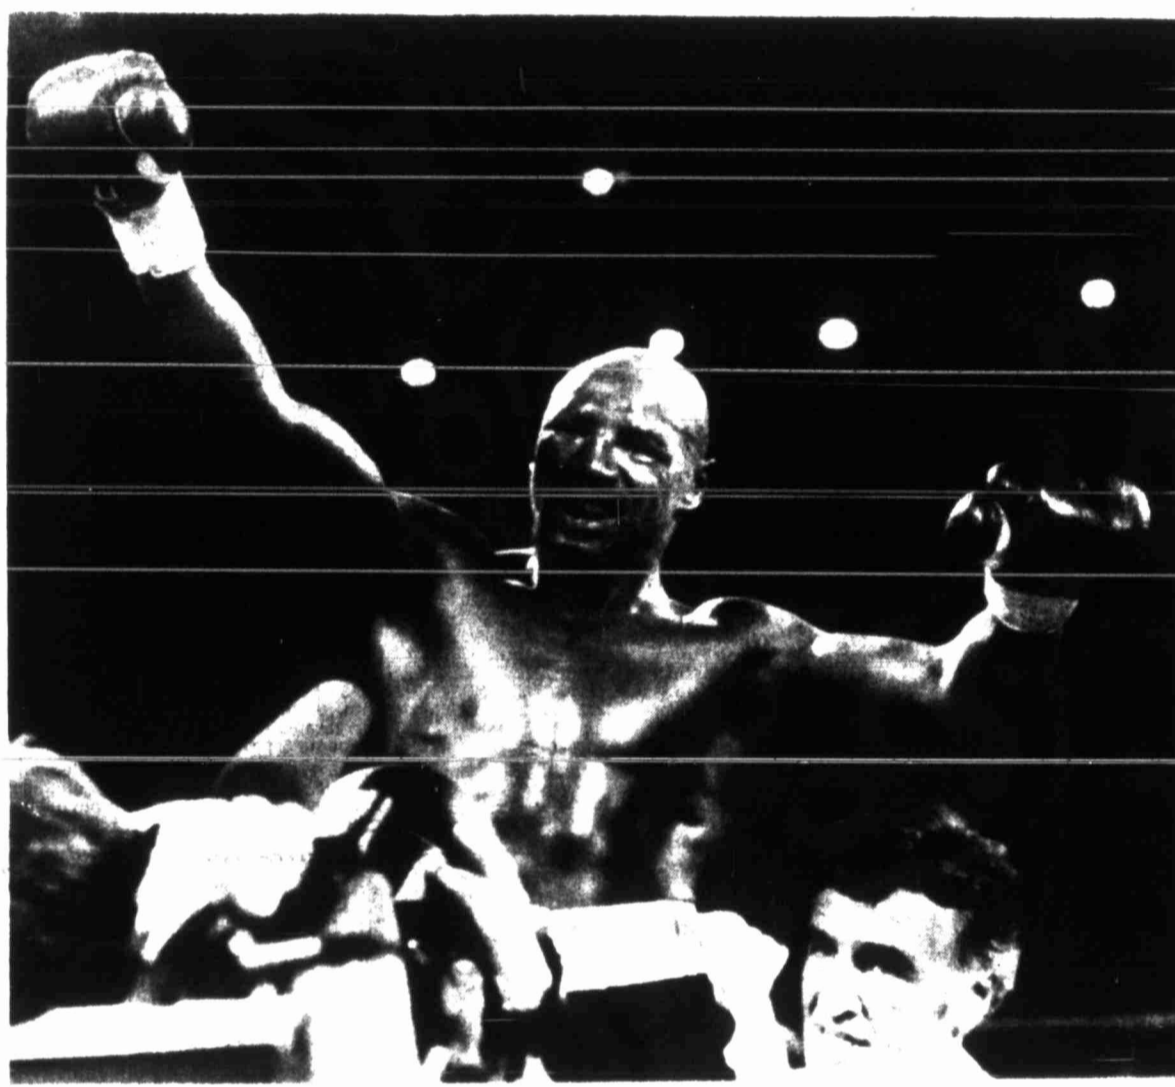

"I thought I had him there," said Hagler, who defended his title successfully for the 12th time. "But it's tough to knock out an opponent in great shape early. I saw that and retreated a bit."

Hagler continued to pursue Mugabi in the seventh but the head shots that landed frequently didn't seem to affect the challenger. Instead, Mugabi came back again and landed some punches to end the round.

"I tried to stand there and fight," said Mugabi. "My right hand was hurt in the sixth round and I couldn't hit him that hard with it."

Hagler's right eye began swelling shut in the ninth round, but Mugabi who had only been that distance once before, began to tire.

Hagler opened the 11th with a flurry that backed the challenger up, then connected with two rights, followed by a left, and three straight hard rights that put Mugabi down.

Marvin Hagler raises his arms in jubilation after knocking out John Mugabi in the eleventh round last night in Las Vegas.

• Hearns quickly disposes of Shuler • Tyson makes fast work of Zouski

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Thomas Hearns knew he needed more than just a win against James Shuler. He needed a blowout.

That's just what he produced, ending Shuler's 22-fight unbeaten string with a stunning knockout at 73 seconds of the first round Monday night to capture the North American Boxing Federation middleweight championship.

Hearns did an efficient job of that, pounding the NABF champ with a booming right hand that dropped Shuler flat on his back for a stunningly fast end to their fight.

"You want to stay only as long as you have to," he said. "You want to get your work over and go home. If you can get out early, then you get out. "I hit him with a couple of left hooks to the body and made him bring his hands down a little. That gave me the opportunity to get the right hand in."

Shuler confirmed that version. "I was trying to pull away and throw the left hook over his right," he said. "I was stepping with my left hand down. I didn't throw it quick enough and I just got caught. I left myself open. No excuses. I lost. Next time, I'll be much better. I learned from this one."

Shuler said Hearns' early punches did not sting him.

"I thought I'd take it to him," he said. "As they say, it's back to the drawing board. I've just got to start over again. I'll come back stronger." Even though the fight ended quickly, Hearns said it wasn't a cakewalk. "James came out shooting jabs," Hearns said. "I had to watch the left jab. He connected a few times."

Hearns said his legs had quit on him in the Hagler fight and that may explain his strategy of doing less road work in preparation for Shuler.

Trainer Emanuel Steward said Hearns' legs "were in a weakened state against Hagler. He punches with his legs. He has maybe the best pivot punch in boxing today. If his legs hadn't given out, he would have knocked out Hagler, maybe just as soon as this fight (against Shuler) ended."

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Undeclared heavyweight Mike Tyson, admitting that he turned in the weakest fight of his career in extending his knockout streak to 19 at the expense of Steve Zouski, vowed that it won't happen again.

The 19-year-old Tyson, of Catskill, N.Y., knocked out Zouski, of Brockton, Mass., with a left hook to the head at 2:49 of the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder Monday night.

Co-managed by Jimmy Jacobs and Bill Cayton, Tyson continues his climb toward a title chance with a nationally televised 10-rounder against James "Quick" Tillis on March 29 at Glen Falls, N.Y.

"Zouski is a game guy," said the 5-foot-11, 220-pound Tyson, now ranked 10th by the World Boxing Council. "However, this was my worst performance ever. Mentally I was not prepared, but I guarantee I'll be ready for March 29."

Tyson, taken off the streets of New York by the late Gus D'Amato, who guided Floyd Patterson to the heavyweight title 30 years ago, appeared to be going through the motions in the first two rounds against Zouski, 210. After backing his opponent into a corner, Tyson heard Kevin Rooney, his trainer, holler, "This guy will go 10 rounds with you if you don't start throwing some punches."

Tyson, 19-0, responded with two left uppercuts and a right behind the ear, followed with a left hook and right uppercut before landing the left hook that sent Zouski

Tyson admitted that he heard Rooney shout, "Hook, hook" before landing the knockout punch.

"I didn't see the opening, but Kevin did and I reacted when he shouted," Tyson said. "I just threw the punch and the guy dropped to the canvas."

"Now I hate the thought of going back to the gym. I know I didn't have a good fight and now I'm going to hear about it."

Jacobs, referring to the Tyson-Tillis fight, said, "Tillis is quite a step up. Mike will be ready. I won't rate tonight's fight or any fight he has. As long as Mike accomplishes his objectives, I'm satisfied."

Berry heads AP All-America hoop team

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Berry, the leading scorer and rebounder for Big East Conference tournament champion St. John's, was the only unanimous selection on the 1985-86 Associated Press Division I All-America college basketball team announced today.

The 6-foot-3 junior who played center for the 30-4 Redmen this season was joined on the first team by seniors Len Bias of Maryland, Kenny Walker of Kentucky and Johnny Dawkins of Duke and Indiana junior Steve Alford.

A panel of 10 sportswriters and broadcasters comprised the selection committee.

There are no repeaters from last year's first team. Bias, Walker and Dawkins were second team selections last year.

Berry, who played in the shadow of All-America Chris Mullin at St. John's last season, moved from forward to center this season. He averaged 22.9 points and 11.3 rebounds despite facing double and triple coverage most of the season.

Berry used his great leaping ability, unorthodox style and soft left-handed touch to lead the Big East in scoring. He made 60 percent of his field-goal attempts and holds the school record for total points in a season and blocked shots.

He was named winner of the John Wooden Award Sunday, one of the sport's honors as college basketball's top player.

Bias, the AP's unanimous choice as the Atlantic Coast Conference's Player of the Year, averaged 22.9 points on 55 percent shooting from the field and 86 percent from the free-throw line. The 6-8 forward, relying mostly on outside jump shots, has scored 2,082 points in his career, surpassing Albert King as the Terrapins' all-time scoring leader.

Walker, also 6-8, has been the main force behind Kentucky the past two seasons, leading the Wildcats to Southeastern Conference titles in both the regular and post season this year. He averaged 19.6 points on 57 percent shooting from the field, bringing

He also averaged 7.6 rebounds while playing forward in the 29-3 Wildcats' three-guard, two-forward offense.

Dawkins, a 6-2 off guard, teamed with Tommy Amaker in leading top-ranked Duke's pressure defense which forced an average of 19 turnovers this season. He has been the Blue Devils' scoring leader in each of his four seasons, giving him a total of 2,403, tops in Duke history and second all-time among ACC players.

He also became the first player in ACC history to accumulate more than 2,000 points, 500 rebounds and 500 assists in a career. He averaged 19.3 points this season on 54 percent field-goal shooting and 81 percent from the foul line.

"Johnny has been not just consistently good, but consistently excellent for four years," says Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski, whose 32-2 team won the ACC regular-season and tournament crowns.

Alford, a 6-2 off guard for the 21-7 Big Ten runner-up Hoosiers, has averaged 22.4 points on 56 percent shooting from the field — normally outside jumpers — and 87 percent from the foul line.
