Victim's friend tells of threat

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A friend of murder victim Maria Isabelle Zamora testified this morning in 118th District Court that the victim's husband, Felix, threatened "to kill" his estranged wife if he couldn't get her back.

Sara Molina told jurors the conversation took place at her house between 8 and 9 p.m. Nov. 12, four days before Maria Zamora died.

Felix Zamora, 37, of Knott is standing trial for the Nov. 16 shooting of his wife in the Latin Quarter club on Highway 350, a mile north of Big Spring. He was indicted for the murder in January by a Howard County grand jury.

Molina, during cross-examination by Zamora's attorney Richard Abalos of Odessa, said the conversation between her and Zamora took place in the presence of Eloy Garcia.

However, Molina said Garcia did not hear Zamora's threat against his estranged wife.

Molina also testified that the victim "ran around" with Garcia during her marriage to Zamora. On one occasion Maria Zamora left her job at Walls Industry in Big Spring to go with Garcia to Lamesa, Molina said.

Molina also told jurors she had advised Zamora during the Nov. 12 conversation to "get together with his old girlfriend," because his wife didn't want Zamora's children from a previous marriage.

The state also presented testimony from two other

Trade deficits cast U.S. as net debtor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States suffered a record $117.7 billion deficit in the broadest measure of its foreign trade last year as the country became a net debtor for the first time in 71 years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department reported that the deficit on the country's current account for 1985 was 9.6 percent above the previous record deficit of $107.4 billion in 1984.

The current account is the broadest measure of the country's international transactions because it measures not only trade in merchandise but also in services, mainly foreign investment flows between countries.

Up until 1982, the country enjoyed a surplus in the current account because American investment earnings overseas were enough to cover deficits in merchandise trade.

However, the country's soaring trade deficits have swamped the small investment surpluses in recent years.

For 1985, the surplus in investment earnings totaled $21.4 billion, a slight improvement from 1984. But the merchandise trade deficit last year totaled $124.3 billion, an 8.9 percent increase over 1984.

The soaring merchandise trade deficit and $14.8 billion in transfer payments such as foreign aid swamped the $21.4 billion investment surplus to give the country the $117.7 billion current account deficit for the year.

This big deficit wiped out the small $28.2 billion surplus America had at the end of 1984 in its overseas investments, pushing the country into the status of net debtor for the first time since 1914.

Simply stated, that means that foreigners own more United States investments than Americans own in foreign investments.

Some economists have warned that the country's foreign debt could rise to $400 billion before it begins to taper off. But analysts are divided over how serious a prospect that is.

OPEC may agree to reduce output

GENEVA (AP) — OPEC leaders, seeking to stabilize declining oil prices, today indicated they may be ready to cut production without insisting that Britain and other non-OPEC rivals do the same.

It remained unclear, however, whether the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries could reach agreement on a common strategy.

Most of the OPEC leaders remained out of public view today, but statements from key delegations indicated the organization may be willing to cut production without insisting on reciprocal action by non-OPEC producers.

The sentiment, emerging after two days of talks among oil ministers from the 13 member nations, pointed to a retreat from an earlier OPEC vow to defend its "fair share" of the oil market.

The key to the apparent shift was a report that Saudi Arabia, OPEC's largest producer, now favored reinstating the cartel's recently discarded production ceiling.

A Saudi government statement distributed today by the official Saudi news agency said:

"The kingdom sees that the best solution for settling existing differences among (OPEC) member states lies in convincing all of the necessity of abiding by the (production) ceiling by which quotas have been distributed among the member states."

The official OPEC production ceiling, set in October 1984, is 16 million barrels a day, with quotas for each member country. It has

Word wizard wins best speller crown

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Howard County crowned a new spelling champion Monday afternoon after 45 minutes and 24 rounds of competition. More than 50 onlookers, many hanging on every letter, watched 11 spellers compete on stage of the Howard College Auditorium.

Bauer Elementary School's Carvell Nguyen, 10, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tra Nguyen, 2604 Dow Drive, correctly spelled "library" to nail down the championship.

The fifth-grade word wizard will travel to Lubbock April 19, with expenses paid by the Big Spring Herald for the state regional competition. The winner of that bee will go on to Dallas. The Dallas champ will go to Washington D.C. for the national spelling bee in late May.

Runner-up this year is 14-year-old Brandy Taylor of Coahoma Junior High School. She's the daughter of Mrs. George West of Coahoma and Tommy Taylor of Olympia, Wash. Brandy and Carvell battled for four rounds before she missed on the word "permanence."

Should Carvell be unable to go to Lubbock for the regionals, Brandy will make the trip as the alternate.

Carvell participated in last year's county spell-off and was knocked out by the word "teenager," he said.

When asked if he was nervous about being on stage spelling, he said, "No, just excited."

"I usually study every night after supper and on weekends" for 1½ to 2 hours, he said.

He said if he continues to study hard, he has a chance to go to Washington for the finals.

No words thrown at him Monday gave him trouble, he said. "It's my best subject," he said of spelling.

Emcee of the event was John Rice, managing editor of the Herald, which sponsored county bee. Rice said nearly 400 spelling books were sold countywide for use in this year's competition.

Taking third place in the bee was Christopher Park, 11, a sixth-grader at Goliad Middle School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Park. He missed on the word "checked."

Other students on stage at Howard College were: Shanale Nichols of Moss Elementary, Amber Bowman of Marcy Elementary, Zeke Valdez of College Heights, Hillary Twining of Washington Elementary, Corey Laughner of Kentwood Elementary, Steve Loveless of Runnels

County opens center for mentally retarded

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Staff Writer

The Howard County Center for Human Growth and Development, a pre-vocational and vocational training center for mentally retarded citizens, had its grand opening at 901 Johnson Monday.

The center's main function is to provide mentally retarded citizens personal and occupational dependence in the community, said Carol Green, president of the center's governing board. The center will provide team work, communication, social skills and applicable work skills, she said.

Fifteen mentally retarded students are currently enrolled in the program. They will attend the classes until they acquire ample skills to work in the community, Green said.

The project is funded by Abilene State School and the Howard County Association of Retarded Citizens. The Big Spring Civitan

Club and the Elk Club also have contributed to the center, she said. "I feel great about it," Green said. "This will give retarded persons a chance to be self-supportive, self-sufficient and a chance to feel good about themselves. They'll become tax-paying citizens."

An immediate goal of the center is to build a bigger facility on East Third Street so more mentally retarded citizens will be able to take part in the center, Green said. There are more than 30 mentally retarded persons in Big Spring, she said.

The Howard County Association for Retarded Citizens is also having a membership drive in conjunction with Mental Retardation Month this month, said Green. Membership is $15 annually per family.

The ARC is a statewide, non-profit volunteer group composed of about 12,000 individual members witnesses this morning. Dr. Robert Rember, a licensed pathologist who performed an autopsy the day after Zamora's death, testified that "he detected a significant amount of alcohol" in the woman's urine.

Rember also said her death resulted from a .38 caliber gun. "She died as a result of a single gunshot, even though there were three gunshot wounds," Rember said. Sheriff's deputy George Quintero, who investigated the woman's death, told jurors he spoke with two women suspected of taking Zamora to Mexico after the shooting. The women, Anna Maria Ybarra and Amalia Munoz, first denied taking him to Mexico, but gave statements after they had been warned that charges would be filed against them for transporting someone to Mexico.

blem this is for the U.S. economy. President Reagan has contended that the country's status as a net debtor is not a cause for alarm but should be taken as a vote of confidence in the American economy. He has argued that it shows that "we are the best and safest investment in the world."

But many private economists have argued that with the United States now in hock to the rest of the world, this country's standard of living will be depressed as more U.S. capital flows into foreign hands to service the debt burden.

"We will have to pay interest on this debt and eventually foreigners may want their money back. It essentially puts a sword out there hanging over us," said David Wyss, an economist at Data Resources Inc., a private forecasting firm.

3 sentenced in district court

District Judge James Gregg sentenced two men to prison and placed one man on probation Monday in 118th District Court.

Robert Ramirez Gonzales, 20, of 907 S. Rannels will serve a four-year sentence at the Texas Department of Corrections for a burglary he committed in November 1983.

Esequial Peredez Flores, 30, of 1110 N. Gregg will serve a five-year sentence at TDC for a delivery of marijuana conviction he received in May 1981.

Morris said Flores violated his probation by being arrested for driving while intoxicated and driving with license suspended.

Jimmy Law, 27, of 1 Courtney Place was placed on five years probation for theft more than $750 and under $20,000.

According to judge's orders, the offense will be deleted from Law's criminal record if he successfully completes his probation.

Morris said Law recently attempted to cash insufficient checks at First National Bank and was charged with the theft.

The Saudis previously had said they would insist that non-OPEC oil producing countries such as Britain be included in any production restraints and that OPEC be allowed to produce as much as 18 million barrels a day.

The oil minister of Ecuador, Javier Espinosa Teran, said shortly before mid-day today that he understood all OPEC countries agreed they must cut their overall production from the current estimated level of between 17 million and 17.5 million barrels a day. Search nearing end

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — The search of the Atlantic where Challenger's cabin wreckage and remains of astronauts have been recovered may be near an end now that a salvage ship has made a third trip into port with debris, sources say.

The USS Preserver, as it did its last two port calls, pulled in under cover of darkness and without lights Monday night. Unlike last Wednesday's arrival, there was no honor guard of sailors in dress blues nor was there a flag-draped object on deck.

Mulroney begins talks

WASHINGTON — Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney begins talks with President Reagan hoping to win pledges of concrete action against acid rain, something Reagan has resisted.

Senior White House officials have said they expect Reagan to endorse a special report prepared for this year's "Shamrock summit" of the two leaders of Irish heritage, but not necessarily to sign onto the full $5 billion program it recommends to install clean-burning coal equipment in U.S. utilities.

Auto curbs questioned

WASHINGTON — A new study questions the benefits of automobile regulations, concluding that federal standards have added as much as $2,200 to the price and operational cost of a new car — though conceding they also saved tens of thousands of lives.

The study by four economists, released Monday through the Brookings Institution, acknowledged that automobile safety regulations dating to the 1960s have produced more benefits than they cost.

Korean cars recalled

DETROIT — Less than a month after its official introduction, all South Korean-made Hyundai cars sold in the United States are being recalled because a missing or damaged part could cause total brake failure, its importer says.

Up to 4,000 cars may be involved in the voluntary recall, said Bruce Matthias, spokesman for Hyundai Motor America Inc., the Gardena, Calif.-based import arm of Korea's Hyundai Motor Co. Ltd.

The Hyundai Excel subcompacts, which list for $4,995, are the first Korean cars to be sold in this country.

Auto crash kills seven

AMARILLO — Seven people were killed and two were critically injured in a head-on collision in the westbound lanes of Interstate 40 that authorities believe is the most deadly traffic accident in Amarillo's history.

The grinding crash was reported about 10 p.m. on the interstate, just inside the city's west city limits, police said.

Inmates free hostages following accord

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A 12½-hour uprising by death row inmates who took three people hostage ended peacefully after their complaints about the practice of assigning two prisoners to a cell were broadcast, officials say.

No injuries were reported during the disturbance, which began Monday morning when two inmates wielding sharpened broomsticks seized the hostages during a recreational period, said Department of Correction spokesman Vaughn Overstreet. One of the two once wrote the state Supreme Court that "death seems the only escape from the agonies" of prison.

Up to a dozen other death row inmates at the Indiana State Prison joined in the disturbance, he said.

One of the hostages — the administrator of death row — was released after about five hours. The two others, also prison employees, were freed shortly before 10 p.m. All three were in good condition, officials said.

After releasing the two, the inmates returned to their cells in exchange for broadcast of a memorandum of understanding with prison officials, said Charles W. Neary, the maximum-security prison's assistant superintendent.

"They looked shaken-up," Vicki Soukup, a reporter for the LaPorte Herald-Argus who met with the rebelling inmates, said of the two hostages. "Their hands were tied in front with strips of white cloth."

In exchange for the hostages' release, state officials promised that no physical retribution would be taken against the inmates. The agreement also included a promise that the correction department would say it favors one cell for each death row inmate.

The inmates involved must face a prison hearing and could be disciplined if found in violation of prison rules, according to the agreement that was broadcast over WSL-TV of Chicago, Neary said.

The inmates initially involved, Donald Ray Wallace

Jr. and Russell E. Boyd, agreed to release administrator Ed Jones, 39, of Westville, after being allowed to talk to Ms. Sukoup for 10 minutes, said Neary. Officials negotiated first for his release because he had heart surgery two years ago, said Neary.

"They did ask for drugs to stay awake. We declined," said Overstreet.

Ms. Sukoup said the inmates told her they were upset about double-celling and frequent shakedowns.

"They basically said that being electrocuted is their punishment. Their punishment doesn't have to include shakedowns," she said.

Overstreet said death row inmates have been writing Department of Correction officials to complain about the double-celling.

"Apparently they feel they should be given some special status that the other inmates aren't," Overstreet said. "We have men double-celled in smaller cells than that."

The inmates told Dan Luzadder, a reporter for The Indianapolis Star, Thursday night that they wanted their demands broadcast. Luzadder talked to the inmates after being driven by state police the approximately 150 miles to the prison.

The takeover came at the start of the recreation period, when the inmates were out of their cells, Overstreet said. The rest of the prison was then locked down.

Murder suspect held

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — A prosecutor said a Swede now in custody is a prime suspect in the killing of Prime Minister Olof Palme, and news reports said the suspect once belonged to a right-wing group that had called Palme a "madman."

Chief prosecutor K.G. Svensson asked the Stockholm magistrate's court Monday for permission to hold the suspect for further investigation, saying there are "probable reasons" to suspect the man of "complicity in the murder as perpetrator."

Lavishness on wheels

MANILA, Philippines — A look inside the presidential palace's garage revealed a luxurious personal bus for former first lady Imelda Marcos and a mobile hospital for her husband, deposed President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

Mrs. Marcos' bus had thick maroon carpeting, cream-colored wall paper, 14 arm chairs facing a bar and television, two beds, a kitchen, bath and the statue of Christ as a boy on the dashboard.

Papers blame Reagan

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Pro-Sandinista newspapers accused President Reagan of slandering Nicaragua in his effort to win congressional approval of $100 million in aid for anti-government rebels.

The government newspaper Barricada said Monday that Reagan, in his televised speech Sunday, repeated "the usual slander against Nicaragua ... and cynically alleged that the aid to the 'Contras' (rebels) is necessary for the defense of the southern border of the United States."

Royal rumors rampant

LONDON — British media say an announcement that Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson are engaged is imminent, but Miss Ferguson and Buckingham Palace were not surrendering any clues.

The British Broadcasting Corp. today said it appears that the official announcement could be expected soon that Queen Elizabeth II's second son was engaged to the 26-year-old Miss Ferguson.

The tabloid Today said the palace would announce the engagement on Wednesday, and the Daily Mail tabloid said it would be Thursday.

Gold miners clash

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Groups of miners at the world's second-largest gold mine fought with long knives, axes and sharpened metal rods in the early morning darkness today, and six men were killed, miners and a company spokesman said.

Police said that elsewhere in South Africa, two blacks were killed in rioting.

State treasury lakeside party knows no spending cuts

AUSTIN (AP) — Last weekend, after assuring Gov. Mark White in February "there is no fat in the budget of the state treasury," State Treasurer Ann Richards spent more than $4,000 in state funds to host 28 top aides at a lakeside overnight retreat, the Dallas Morning

News reported. Bill Cryer, a spokesman for Ms. Richards, said the contract for the retreat was signed Jan. 27 — three weeks before White urged all state officials and managers of the state's 200 agencies and universities to help bridge the budget gap by trimming their budgets by 13 percent. Ms. Richards wrote the governor in late February, however, that she could cut the treasurer's $3.5 million general fund budget by only $200,000, or 5.6 percent, this fiscal year.

Mergers are not meant for people

I have very mixed feelings about permitting Eastern Airlines to join up with New York Air. The two carry the majority of passengers between Washington-New York-Boston, and have been the only ones providing competition in the Northeast corridor.

New York Air is known as the bagel airline, because on mealtime flights its stewardesses throw paper bags filled with bagels and cream cheese at the passengers. It also serves drinks, coffee and beer. This doesn't sound like much until you've flown the Eastern Shuttle. The only thing they give you is a stale timetable. The reason the Eastern Shuttle will now allow food in the air is that it prefers to use its aisles in flight to collect your fare for the trip.

Instead of an Eastern stewardess asking if you want coffee, tea or milk, she wants to know if you are going to pay with cash, check or Mastercard.

To make up for the lack of refreshments in the air, Eastern keeps a hot pot of coffee cooking in the waiting area with free Danish on the side. As a seasoned shuttle traveler I have always preferred a New York bagel in the sky to an Eastern Danish on the ground. Eastern tries to make up for the no-food-while-flying policy by advertising that it gives away Frequent Traveler trips to Hawaii instead.

And then there are the seating arrangements on the planes. New York Air proudly claims it has only five seats across, while Eastern jams in its passengers with six. Some people prefer the five-seat configuration, while others would rather sit in the six.

Before the recently announced merger (actually Texas Air, which owns New York Air, bought Eastern) we saw competitive merchandising forces at work. While prices were the same, the services were different. We the consumers benefited from two ruthless competitors, each determined to steal customers away from the other.

But we must face the prospect that New York Air and Eastern will be under the same management.

What can we expect from the merger? I talked to a leading airline passenger consultant.

He said, "The good news is we have always found when two airlines merge the service inevitably goes down as the fares go up."

"What is good about that?" "The company's stock goes up and Wall Street is impressed with the profits."

"But what about the bagels?" I said. "Aren't the loyal passengers who have flown with New York Air entitled to their bagels?"

"There is no need for New York Air to serve bagels if it is no longer competing against Eastern. And if they don't serve bagels New York Air no longer has to provide cream cheese. Without bagels and cream cheese you might as well dump the coffee out the window. Without coffee you don't need a galley, and without the galley you can add four to six seats."

"That's awful."

"Mergers aren't made for people — they're made for companies. It isn't just New York Air that will benefit from the economies, it is also Eastern. If New York Air doesn't serve bagels Eastern won't have to serve Danish. Both airlines no longer have to worry what the other does because they're not competing anymore."

"Isn't there a monopoly here?"

"Why do you say that?"

"With two airlines flying the same route we had the choice of five seats across or six, and we could leave on the half-hour or the hour, and we could opt for a bagel, a Danish or a Hershey bar."

"Nothing will change for the first six months. Then naturally the New York Air-Eastern people will have to tighten their seat belts."

"Does the merger violate the law or doesn't it?"

"It depends on how many friends you have in Washington."

"I smell a first-class antitrust violation."

"That's impossible. The Reagan Administration would never allow it."

Marcos earns distinction as past master of greed

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Ferdinand Marcos fled his homeland three weeks ago in the grand tradition of deposed despots, taking with him a retinue of friends and relations — and as much booty as he could stash aboard two U.S. Air Force planes.

Marcos has had many despotic predecessors over the years, and we've made it a crusade to track down and expose the extent of the ill-gotten loot amassed by heads of state: the shah of Iran, President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua and a succession of Mexican presidents.

There may be a different outcome in the Marcos affair, however. Because of the special relationship between the United States and the Philippines — a former colony, a valued ally, the site of two major U.S. military bases and the recipient of billions in aid — Congress seems determined to investigate the wealth of this particular ex-president.

In fact, some of the cronies who accompanied Marcos into exile would have been served with House subcommittee subpoenas as soon as they stepped off the plane in Hawaii, had it not been for an apparent blunder by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. These friends' testimony is considered crucial in the attempt to trace ownership of hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of property in this country believed to have been bought on behalf of Marcos and his wife, Imelda.

Congressional investigators are trying to determine whether U.S. aid funds were used to buy any of this property; the new Philippines government is also interested in recovering whatever can be proved to have been illegally purchased during the 20-year Marcos rule. Since his presidential salary was between $5,000 and $6,000 a year, there would seem to be a substantial amount of property to be accounted for.

The House subcommittee on Asian affairs, chaired by Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., has found evidence that the Marcoses are the owners of a huge midtown Manhattan shopping center, and a prime piece of real estate on Wall Street — a total value of more than $300 million — and a $20 million estate in Suffolk County, N.Y.

The Marcoses have stoutly denied they own these properties. But documents discovered on the plane they took into exile reportedly contain evidence that the Marcoses were indeed the owners of some of the properties — and of others not even suspected by the House investigators.

Poll shows nuclear war unlikely

NEW YORK (AP) — A majority of Americans think nuclear war with the Soviet Union is unlikely in this century, and many believe relations with that country are improving, according to a Media General-Associated Press poll.

Although most people said they believed that the Soviets were a military threat to the United States, nearly three-quarters of the 1,512 adult Americans questioned in the poll said a nuclear war with the Soviets was not likely to occur in the next 15 years. Eighteen percent said nuclear war was likely to occur, and the rest were unsure.

Forty-seven percent said relations with the Soviet Union had improved under President Reagan, while only 10 percent felt relations had declined. Thirty-eight percent said relations had stayed about the same under Reagan, and 5 percent were unsure.

About half the respondents said relations would continue to improve under the leadership of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. Only 6 percent said they felt relations would decline, and 34 percent felt they would stay the same.

However, 69 percent of the respondents said the Soviet Union was a military threat to the United States, while one-quarter said the Soviets were not a threat. Of those who perceived a military threat, 34 percent said the threat was increasing, 6 percent said it was decreasing, and 58 percent said it was staying about the same.

People with greater education were more likely to perceive a Soviet threat than those with less education, the poll found. The percentage who said the Soviet Union was a military threat ranged from 60 percent of high school dropouts to 73 percent of college graduates.

There was little difference between conservatives and liberals on the issue, with 73 percent of conservatives and 67 percent of liberals saying the Soviet Union was a military threat to the United States.

Most of the respondents had a vastly different impression of American relations with China, once a U.S. foe. Only 26 percent said China was a military threat to the United States, while 64 percent said it did not pose a military threat.

Eighty-four percent of the respondents did not think a nuclear war with China was likely in this century.

On the issue of nuclear war with the Soviet Union, young people said nuclear war was likely more frequently than older people. Women also were more likely than men to think nuclear war would occur. And 34 percent of black respondents said nuclear war with the Soviet Union was likely within the next 15 years, compared with only 17 percent of whites.

Parents can't adjust to child

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our son was severely retarded when he was born. He has a number of medical problems and the doctor says he probably won't live very many years. It has about broken our hearts because we always looked forward to having a normal child, but my wife and I are just getting more and more depressed. How can we handle this? — H.H.

DEAR H.H.: I know this is not an easy situation, but not only can God help you, He can bring you to the place where you experience His blessings in ways you never could have imagined.

The Bible says, "Sons are a heritage from the Lord, Children a reward from him" (Psalm 127:3). You may not understand how that could be true right now — but it is. God has given you a child who needs your love — in fact, who needs love in a far greater measure than most children. And my prayer is that you would thank God that He thought so highly of your ability to love this child that He entrusted him to your care.

Within yourself, you may feel you do not have that kind of love — but God can give it to you, if you will let Him. It is the same kind of self-giving love Christ had for us when He died on the cross for our sins.

Then ask God also to help you discover ways this child can bless you. Don't concentrate on what might have been; concentrate instead on this child and how he can bring joy to your lives in ways you may not have thought about.

I have known many parents in similar situations who found new strength and joy from the simple trust and love a retarded child often has for his parents. This is, after all, the same type of simple trust and love we should have for Christ.

In addition, realize this is not the end. Someday, God may see fit to entrust another child to you — and if He does, you will be even better prepared to love him and rejoice in him or her.

In 1962, France and Algerian rebels agreed to a truce.

In 1974, most of the Arab oil-producing nations ended their embargo against the United States.

Century-old columnist still at work

PETTUS (AP) — Margaret Moore was 9 years old when she began writing about people and events in this South Texas community.

Ninety-one years later, she has no plans to quit.

"I never think of retiring," said the 100-year-old columnist for the Beeville Bee-Picayune. "I don't know any different kind of job. I don't know what people would do if they retire."

Mrs. Moore began writing in 1895 for the then-Beeville Picayune.

The publisher wanted Mrs. Moore's father, Henry Dahl, to write about events in Pettus, a new community 10 miles north of Beeville.

But Dahl, a German immigrant, could not write English very well. So he drafted his daughter.

In the first few years, she wrote about new people coming to the bustling town. She wrote about townspeople having visitors. She wrote about new businesses. She wrote about newborns and deaths.

She would go with her father from home to home in a horse-and-buggy looking for stories. Sometimes the news came to her — people would visit their farmhouse, located a few miles from town.

"My daddy was a good storyteller. I don't mean he'd lie; he was just good at telling stories," she said. "He was educated in Germany and he talked and read English. He just couldn't write it."

Mrs. Moore said newspaper editors did most of the true writing in her early years. She said she enjoyed it and got better at it.

But at age 14, Mrs. Moore took a 23-year break from the newspaper business.

She went to college for four years, married Begley Moore and began teaching school and raising a family.

In 1923, she returned to Pettus and continued to write about church and school activities and visitors in town.

In 1928, the Picayune merged with the Beeville Bee and Mrs. Moore continued writing, even though some townspeople got mad at some of the things she wrote, including the marital problems of one couple.

"People think newspaper work is easy work," she said. "It's not very easy work. There's always somebody ready to criticize you if it's not like they want it to be."

Mrs. Moore had other jobs, but Though she is 100 years old, Margaret Moore has no plans to retire. She began her writing career at age nine, and has been at since.

she loved to write.

She used a car and a telephone to get her information and used thousands of sheets of paper and wore out two typewriters in writing the news. She started a column, "Flowers for the Living, which recognized people for their good deeds. She thought townspeople should have their name in the newspaper at least one other time other than their obituary.

Joyce Latcham, whose grandfather hired Mrs. Moore, said that the elderly woman has a great personality.

"She's a woman who obviously likes people and likes to be with people. She likes to congratulate people," said Mrs. Latcham, whose family owns and operates the newspaper.

"There's still a place for a woman like her — with a variety of interests and a general interest in people," she said.

The newspaper is now published twice a week and Mrs. Moore's column, Pettus Potpourri, is published on Thursdays.

Mrs. Moore still writes about visitors, church and school events, and now, the declining population of Pettus, which today numbers about 400.

Businesses facing high liability insurance rate

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission statistics show nearly 1,500 places that sell beer and liquor by the glass voluntarily pulled or suspended their licenses last year in the face of skyrocketing liability insurance rates, officials say.

For the 30,173 business operators holding on to their licenses, insurance premiums are increasing as much as 700 percent, food and beverage industry representatives say.

"I'm sure many are operating without licenses," Fred Niemann, legal counsel for the Texas Mixed Beverages Association, said Monday.

Niemann said one theory linked to the high rates is that bar owners could be held partially responsible for damages.

Snyder celebrates reunion of stars

SNYDER (AP) — Amid a flourish of flashbulbs and the glow of smalltown memories, this West Texas city celebrated the return of five natives who left their hometown for careers in show business.

The all-star cast of former residents were guests at a West Texas Chamber of Commerce banquet. The five, all graduates of Snyder High School, are actors Powers Boothe, Brad Maule, Barry Tubb, Dane Witherspoon and musician Ann Patterson.

Maule, alias Dr. Anthony Jones of television's "General Hospital" said he faced his toughest audience ever when he shared his Hollywood experience with about 1,000 Snyder residents he knew while growing up.

"I'm connected to everyone in that audience. Basically, I know everyone out there," Maule said.

The honored guests arrived in separate Cadillacs — "Limos are too 'Hollywood,'" joked one woman — and walked into the county coliseum on a gold carpet as flashbulbs popped and a searchlight traced the West Texas sky Saturday night.

Once inside, the stars couldn't turn around without meeting an old classmate, teacher or neighbor.

Boothe, who won an Emmy Award for his portrayal of the Rev. Jim Jones in "The Guyana Tragedy," told the crowd he once gave up football for girls and acting.

Dear Abby

Couple's second marriage is first class all the way

DEAR ABBY: In response to the request from "Flying High in Iowa City" for information concerning a wedding aboard an airline flight: My husband and I were married on March 4, 1974, by the Rev. Wayne Bryan, a Baptist minister from Baton Rouge, La., on a Delta Airlines flight between Baton Rouge and Shreveport, La. We chartered the first-class section and brought along the entire wedding party.

It was a second marriage for both of us. We had been married (to each other) a year before, in Charleston, W. Va., but because of a legal technicality we needed a Louisiana marriage license.

The captain announced the marriage to the rest of the passengers, and Delta furnished the champagne and flowers.

DR. AND MRS. JEAN JEFFUS,
NEW ORLEANS

DEAR ABBY: Your column about the Iowa couple who wanted to be married in the air by an airline captain caught my attention. As a county judge, I have the authority to perform weddings. If any couple would like a marriage performed en route to Hawaii, book my passage (at their expense) and I will be glad to make the trip with them.

R.L. HOLLOWAY JR.,
WISE COUNTY, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: I am a 59-year-old lady minister, fully ordained. I perform about 60 weddings a year and would enjoy performing some weddings on an airline to Hawaii if some (or all) of my expense were paid. I have a lovely short wedding ceremony that everybody just loves, and I'm fairly free to go on short notice, so if "Flying High in Iowa" or others are interested, let me know.

THE REV. MOLLY C.
PETERSON, BREMERTON,
WASH.

DEAR ABBY: Why do sea captains have the authority to perform marriage ceremonies, but airlines captains do not?

RICHARD GATES,
ALLENTOWN, PA.

DEAR RICHARD: Before the advent of airplanes, some voyages lasted for many long months. During that time, passengers would meet and fall in love, thus creating a need to be united in holy wedlock. So out of necessity, the ship's captain was empowered to perform marriage ceremonies.

Today, airline passengers can reach their destinations in a matter of hours. This is not to say that passengers aboard an airliner have not met and fallen in love, but they can usually wait until they reach their destination to make it legal.

DEAR ABBY: Recently we were invited to a surprise 40th wedding anniversary party for a member of our family. The "hosts" were their two married children. The invitation read: A surprise anniversary party for Mom and Dad will be given on such and such a date at the () restaurant. Time, place, etc. At the very bottom it also read: $15 per person.

Abby, I may be wrong, but when an invitation reads "is given by," I assume that the sender is paying for the party. Maybe things are done differently today, but I have never given a party in my life and asked my guests to pay for it.

Please answer. We are all wondering whether these two cheap kids are out of line, or are we out of touch?

RUTH IN BROOKLYN
DEAR RUTH: You are not out of touch, the "kids" are. Their invitation should have read: "We are organizing a party for Mom and Dad and if you want to be a part of it, please remit $15."

When people give a party, they pay for it themselves.

Dr. Donohue

Bile lack affects vitamin absorption

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have primary biliary cirrhosis. I am familiar with the cause. My specific complaint at the moment is the terrific skin itch. How do you handle that? Incidentally, why is it I am told to take supplemental vitamins (A, D, and K)? Where can I pick up further information? — Mrs. J.

Primary biliary cirrhosis is liver damage from a backup of bile. The backup occurs because the bile drainage ducts have come under attack by the body's immune system. We don't know why that happens.

Because bile salts accumulate in the body, there may be intense itching along with skin yellowing, the jaundice that occurs in other liver disturbances. As for the itching, one answer to that is use of the drug, cholestyramine, or sometimes another drug, penicillamine (not penicillin).

When bile cannot get to the digestive system to absorb fat, the person may have to get a special kind of fat in the diet. It's called medium chain triglyceride. In this problem, since fat is also required to absorb the fat-soluble vitamins (A, D, and K), the person may also need supplements.

Primary biliary cirrhosis is chiefly an illness of women. I hope you are managing this difficult problem as well as possible. Some have abdominal bloating from it and then need to avoid salt and use diuretics to control that.

It's a complex disease, and rather than try to go into further detail, I'll refer you to a good organization that disseminates information about all sorts of liver disorders, including yours. It's the American Liver Foundation. The address is 988 Pompton Ave., Cedar Grove, NJ 07009.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've read that chickenpox doesn't recur because once you've had it, the body develops antibodies to the virus and you're protected for life. I cannot square this with the idea that shingles is the same virus as chickenpox. I should have thought that if shingles is the same chickenpox virus, the antibodies would prevent shingles as well. Does the chickenpox virus undergo some mutation in order to avoid the immunizing effect of the antibodies? — A.R.W.

Your reasoning is impeccable. You don't get chickenpox twice for the very reason you cite. Yet it is true that the shingles virus is the chickenpox virus that has survived in the body to erupt years later as a rash.

How it manages to survive is disputed. However, it does stay inside nerve cells, and there it's sheltered from the body's built-in antibody protection. If those antibodies could get at the virus they would quickly deactivate it and shingles would not appear.

In this respect, the shingles virus is as much a mystery as is the political terrorist who emerges from a sanctuary that has provided invulnerability between attacks. The old chickenpox virus emerges from its hiding, travels down nerve rootlets to the skin, where it produces the rash and pain. Then it darts back into hiding before we can mount an attack against it. You may want to read the booklet

"The Facts About Shingles," which other readers can obtain by writing me in care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I'm thinking of moving out of my cold climate to Florida next winter because of my asthma. How big an improvement can I expect? — J.O.

Coldness certainly is a problem for asthmatics. It may constrict the airways and prompt attacks. It's difficult to say whether you will have any improvement at all. Warmer climates do not get a clean bill of health. A high humidity in these warmer areas can end up meaning only higher levels of antigens over long periods of the year. I'm referring to things like tree pollens, which can make life just as difficult for the asthmatic as can the cold.

If you plan a move for this reason, it's best to make a trial visit. You may find things are really better in your own backyard.

A Blood Donor is needed for many reasons

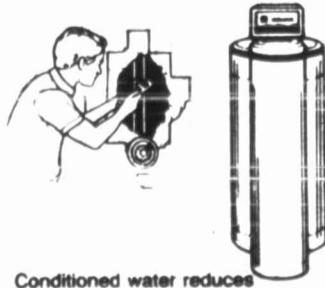

What good is a blood donor? According to a release by the United Blood Services, a blood donor is good for someone who has cancer, hemophilia, anemia, hepatitis, ulcers or any type of disease. Blood is also used by those having surgery, organ transplants or blood transfusions.

Anyone who is in good health with no communicable diseases can be a blood donor, Deloris Albert, president of United Blood Services, said.

There will be a blood drive at the Howard County Courthouse March 19 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. "We are 82 pints of blood in the hole," Albert said. "We collected 173 pints and have used 255 pints."

"A blood donor is good for people who are in a lot worse shape than most people you know. Someone needs a little of your blood a lot," Albert said.

Moslem spiritual leader denounces kidnap

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chief spiritual leader of Shiite Moslems in Lebanon, calling the kidnapping of Westerners in Beirut "inhuman and irreligious," says his efforts to win the hostages' release have run into a stone wall.

In the March-April issue of Middle East Insight magazine, Sheik Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah says he does not believe the hostages should be considered responsible for their governments' policies.

"I regard the practice of kidnapping in politics, particularly when innocent people are involved, as inhumane and irreligious, both in the eyes of Islam and of Christianity," Fadlallah said.

"I denounced it from the beginning at all levels, using all my power and efforts to obtain the release of those kidnapped," Fadlallah said. "However, I stumbled against a wall because there is a mysterious force behind this practice." He did not elaborate.

Fundamentalist Shiites are believed responsible for the kidnapping in recent months of several Westerners, including six Americans, eight French citizens and a Briton.

Western diplomats in Beirut believe most of the hostages are being held by the pro-Iranian Hezbollah Party, a radical Shiite offshoot presumably associated with the shadowy group Islamic Jihad, or Holy War. Fadlallah is reputed to be the Hezbollah leader, but he denies that.

Telephone callers claiming to represent Islamic Jihad say they will release the hostages in exchange for 17 people imprisoned in Kuwait for bombing the U.S. and French embassies and other targets there.

Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press and one of the American hostages, passed the first anniversary of his kidnapping on Sunday still in captivity.

Fadlallah has said previously that he has done more than anyone else to win the release of Anderson, who interviewed him the day before being captured, and the other hostages.

He extended his sympathy to the families of the hostages and denounced hijackings, including the capture of a TWA jetliner last summer.

"I might sympathize with the cause of the hijackers, but I do not endorse the means they use, because I believe that the Americans they are seizing are participants in cultural, medical and social institutions, and cannot be held responsible for the actions of their government."

The Washington Post reported last year that a bombing attack outside Fadlallah's home on March 8, 1985, was staged by Lebanese agents trained by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. The CIA denied the charges. The blast, in which Fadlallah escaped injury, killed 75 people and wounded 256.

Hezbollah said earlier this month that two CIA colonels masterminded the attack in retaliation for the Oct. 23, 1983, suicide-bombing of U.S. Marine headquarters in Beirut that killed 241 American servicemen.

Western intelligence sources said Fadlallah blessed the drivers of the vehicles used in the attack on the Marine barracks and a simultaneous bombing of French troops in Beirut, but he has repeatedly denied the assertion.

Fadlallah held the U.S. government responsible for "creating catastrophes in the lives of people" in other parts of the world.

If Americans would study international problems impartially, he said, they would "understand how much the people of the earth suffer from American policy" and would pressure their government to change course as they did during the Vietnam War.

Fadlallah blamed the United States for the current fighting in Lebanon, saying the problems resulted from decisions made in the mid-1970s by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and his aides, including efforts to destroy the Palestine Liberation Organization while reinforcing Israel.

"The (1982) Israeli invasion of Lebanon was the product of an American-Israeli plan," he said.

George A. Nader, editor of the Washington-based periodical, said Monday that Fadlallah had written the article in Arabic and that the magazine translated it into English.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Bob's Custom Woodwork is three-shops-in-one

It's hard to think of any home or business remodeling or repair job that Bob's Custom Woodwork can't handle within one of the three operations.

Bob's shop is really three businesses in one: General Contractor, "Furniture Doctor" Repair Service, and the Strip Shop.

As a general contractor, Bob's provides turn-key construction on room additions, everything from slab to roof including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

Remodeling is a specialty, including redesigned kitchens and baths. Bob's advice and counsel is an invaluable service to the homeowner who's in a quandry about where to begin remodeling.

"The Furniture Doctor" service offers complete repairs to furniture in your home or in the shop. This includes the repairs and refinishing of fine antiques. Bob's has hard-to-find specialty hardware for trunks, chests and other antique pieces.

In the Strip Shop, they do wood and metal stripping for home and industry. They will do the stripping and refinishing — or they'll strip an item and provide complete supplies and recommendations for the do-it-yourselfer.

Bob's installs microwave ovens, dishwashers and Majestic heat circulating fireplaces and mantels.

There's no job too small or too large for Bob Noyes and his crew. Bob does the estimates and gives his personal supervision to all jobs.

His wife, Jan, oversees the Strip Shop, handles bookkeeping and customer service. Armando Nunez does general carpentry, counter tops, installation of cabinets, custom doors and acoustical ceilings. Rod Zapata does cabinets, stereo centers and book shelving. Elvin Bearden does furniture repair. Craig Neighbors and Burke Bristow do strip and refinishing shop work. Nathan King does general carpentry and dry wall textures. Eddie Word does general carpentry.

Bob Kinnan is production supervisor in the manufacturing of expandable, affordable and versatile shelving for business display or home collectables. These shelving units are available through Bob's or at several locations including the Candle Shop in Big Spring and Antiques Haven in Stanton.

Bob's is a distributor of Alcoa building products including siding, roofing, trims, soffets and fascia, aluminum cedar shake roofing, Fashion carports, and patio covers. Instead of costly painting consider Alcoa building products line.

Bob's is located in Building 613 in the Industrial Park. Its phone number is 267-5811.

SWC teams exit NIT tournament

Buckeyes drop Longhorns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eldon Miller isn't ready to move out of the Ohio State basketball office just yet.

"I'm not ready to leave yet. We're having fun," Miller said after his Buckeyes defeated Texas 71-65 in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament Monday night. Miller, fired Feb. 3, will be replaced by Gary Williams at the end of the season.

The Buckeyes, now 16-14, remained alive by getting a strong game from starting forwards Brad Sellers (25 points, 10 rebounds) and Dennis Hopson (14 points, 9 rebounds) and also from an unlikely source, substitute guards Curtis Wilson and Jay Burson.

Ohio State will meet tonight's winner of the Cal-Irvine-Brigham Young contest in the third round Friday at 7:30 p.m. at St. John Arena in Columbus.

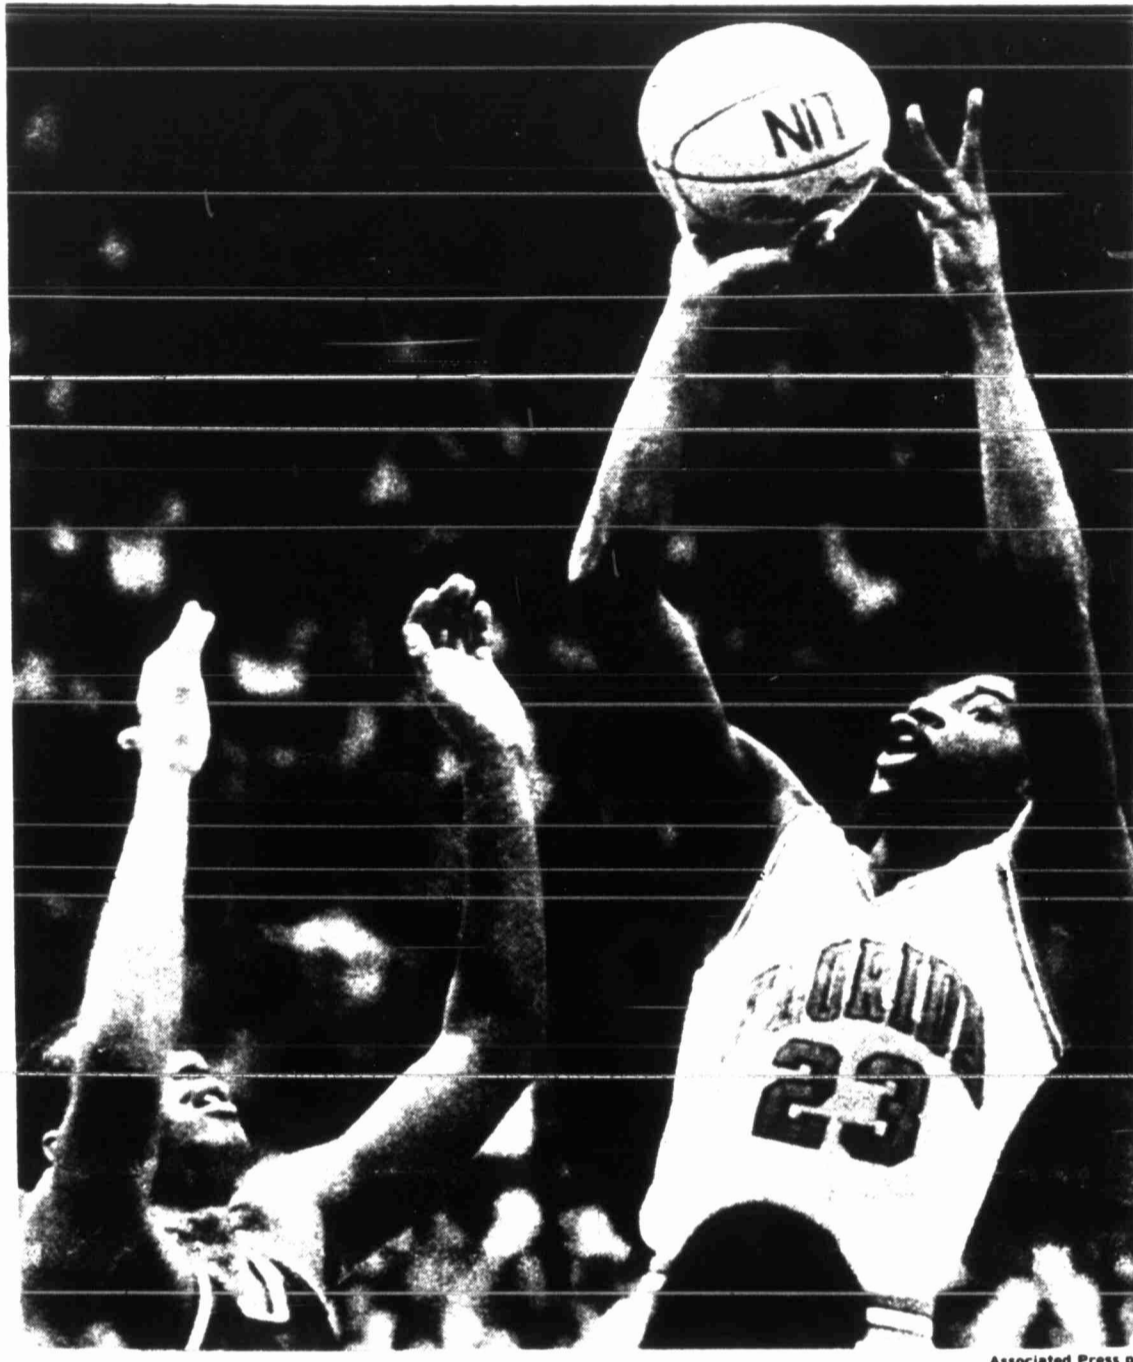

Wilson, a 6-foot-1 sophomore, came off the bench to score 17 points and had six assists and two steals. Burson, a 6-foot freshman, had 11 points.

"I think the guards did a great job in the second half," said Miller. "You put them with Dennis (Hopson) and Brad (Sellers) and we had a good effort."

Ohio State trailed Texas 24-12 with 4:57 left in the first half. But the Buckeyes outscored the Longhorns 14-3 over those last five minutes to draw within one at 27-26 at the half.

"We kind of got steamrolled in the final three minutes of the first half," said Texas Coach Bob Weltlich.

After nine lead changes and two ties in the first 10 1-2 minutes of the second half, Ohio

University of Florida's Clifford Lett (23) goes up for two points against two Texas Christian University defenders last night in NIT tourney action in Gainesville, Florida.

State took the lead for good with a seven-point run. First Wilson hit a three-point play, then Curtis McGee netted a pair of free throws and Sellers hit a baseline jumper to make it 49-41.

Texas, however, fought back to trail 54-52 with 3:16 left. But 6-foot-10 center John Brownlee was whistled for his fifth foul and the Longhorns wilted. McGee and Burson each hit a pair of free throws to start the streak, then after Texas had countered on a Patrick Fairs jumper to make it 58-54, Weltlich was whistled for a technical.

Horned Frogs lose on buzzer-beater

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Gators are one victory away from the Final Four of the National Invitation Tournament thanks to the heroics of a seldom-used freshman guard and a junior forward whose buzzer-beating jump shot ended Texas Christian's season.

Clifford Lett delivered seven clutch points in the final 3:38 and Joe Lawrence sank a 22-foot jump shot with one second left Monday night to send the 18-12 Gators into the quarterfinal round of the nation's oldest post-season tournament with a 77-75 victory.

Florida's next opponent as well as the site of the next game has yet to be announced. The Gators, however, are hopeful that NIT officials will be encouraged by Monday night's O'Connell Center crowd of 7,609 and award a third straight tournament game to the Southeastern Conference school.

The Gators are 15-1 at home this season, including victories over three teams — Alabama, Auburn and LSU — that are in the final 16 of the NCAA tournament.

Monday night, the Gators got 20 points from junior guard Andrew Moten and used quickness to overcome TCU's towering height advantage and send the Horned Frogs — regular season tri-champions of the Southwest Conference — home with a 22-9 record.

Florida was outrebounded 36-22, but shot 58 percent from the floor against the nation's No. 1 field goal defense. The Gators used fullcourt defensive pressure throughout the game to force a number of TCU's 17 turnovers and converted five of them into easy baskets.

"I knew Florida was a quick team, but I don't think our players knew they were as quick as they were," TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth said. "Their press really hurt us in the beginning, but we handled it better towards the end of the game."

Florida led by as many as 11 points in the second half before TCU roared back in the final nine minutes behind the outside shooting of Carl Lott and Carven Holcombe and strong inside play of Larry Richard.

Holcombe ignited the Horned Frogs' rally from a 63-52 deficit with three quick baskets. Lott, a junior guard held to two field goals in the first 34 minutes, took over with Florida leading 66-63 with 5:49 to go.

Lott hit five straight pressure jump shots, including a 17-footer that tied the score 73-73 with 1:58 left. Lett, meanwhile, kept Florida going.

The 6-3 freshman, who played sparingly during the regular season, hit a driving layup to give the Gators a two-point lead with 1:16 to go. Holcombe answered with a 15-footer 24 seconds later to set the stage for a dramatic finish.

With the clock running down, Florida's Ronnie Montgomery took an 18-foot jumper that was partially deflected. Lawrence grabbed the rebound with six seconds to go, flipped the ball back to Montgomery who dished it backed to Lawrence in the left corner.

"Ronnie drove and sucked the defense in. He got it back to me and I knew there wasn't much time left so I just let it go," Lawrence said.

"I've had confidence in my shooting all year and I felt it would go in. There was no doubt in my mind," added Lawrence, who scored only seven points.

Hawks crush LCC in double-header

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

Maybe the Howard College baseball team should have taken their spring break the week before playing Region V rivals McLennan and Ranger. A week in the sun seemed just the cure for the struggling Hawks.

Coach Bill Griffin's charges got back to business Monday afternoon at Jack Barber Field handing visiting Lubbock Christian College a pair of ten-run rule losses, 18-8 and 11-1 and served notice that the Hawks are primed, (deeply tanned) and ready for a late season charge to the state tournament.

The Hawks bats were ringing all day against some LCC pitching that was less than stifling. Howard scored runs in all but three innings during the doubleheader and banged out 22 hits, including nine extra base hits on the day.

Howard got the day started with a five run first inning off LCC starting pitcher Russ Eackles, who was plagued by wildness giving up three unearned runs. The Hawks never relinquished the lead.

After a scoreless second inning, including a strike out of the side by Hawk winning pitcher Joel Chimelis. Howard then added three more runs in the bottom of the third on a pair of RBI singles by pinch hitter Rafeal Diaz and catcher Fred Lopez and a sacrifice fly by center fielder Richard Messer, leaving the score 8-3 after three complete innings.

LCC staged a comeback in the top of the fourth with four runs. Chimelis was knocked out of the game after giving up a RBI triple to Chap first baseman Tony Pena, two walks, and an RBI double by designated hitter Shannon Hayes.

Freshman relief pitcher John

Wiles came on for Chimelis with the bases loaded and two outs with the score 8-6. He promptly threw a wild pitch allowing Hayes to score. But Wiles retired the next batter with a strikeout and the Chaps would never get closer.

Howard exploded for seven runs in the bottom half of the inning. Designated hitter Joe Cuellar had a two run single to start off the scoring followed by a two run double by Lopez and a two run triple by shortstop Steven Keller that gave the Hawks a comfortable 15-7 lead.

Howard stopped the game in the bottom of the sixth when first baseman Roland Gonzalez ripped a lead-off double and was replaced by pinch runner Chad Baker who scored on a wild pitch by LCC relief man Dale Wright for the 18-8 victory.

Howard need but four innings to put the Chaps away in the second game behind the standout pitching of freshman starter Thad Weber who twirled a four hitter.

The big inning for the Hawks was a six-run second, keyed by a three-run homerun by designated hitter Joel Chimelis off LCC starter Darren Miller. Bruce Smith, who went 4-for-5 in the series led off with a double.

Soviet leading World Figure Skating Championships

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Kira Ivanova of the Soviet Union, last year's runner-up, took an early lead in the women's competition of the World Figure Skating Championships Tuesday, while U.S. champion Debi Thomas was second.

Katerina Witt, the defending champion from East Germany, placed third in the compulsory school figures that begin the three-stage women's program.

Ivanova, 23, earned 0.6 points after the three figures, while the 18-year-old Thomas, of San Jose, Calif., emerged with 1.2 and Witt with 1.8.

In fourth position was 1985 U.S. champion Tiffany Chin, 18, of Toluca Lake, Calif., while Canadian national titlist Tracey Wainman, also 18, garnered fifth place. The third U.S. skater, Caryn Kadavy of Erie, Pa., was seventh at 4.2.

The 20-year-old Witt, who has won over judges and the skating public alike in striking harmony between grace and technique, is the favorite at the Vernets Sports Center where she seeks her third consecutive world crown. "She'd have to make a big error not to win," conceded Alex McGowan, Thomas' coach.

Tuesday's strong performance was an unexpected bonus for Thomas, who had expressed concern about her performance the day before.

"I'm a bit worried because my figures haven't been up to where they've been since I came here," Thomas said after practice Monday.

But Thomas grabbed the national championship after weathering the flu, a crash diet and arduous premed studies that cut into training, and says "my strong will" gets her through a lot of tough times. Borrowing the sentiments of baseball Hall of Famer Yogi Berra, she notes: "It's not over until it's all over."

On Monday, Soviet skaters Ekaterina Goreeva and Sergei Grinkov skated a sassy and skillful short program to stake an early lead in the pairs competition, while defending champion Alexander Fadeev of the Soviet Union went ahead in the men's singles in taking the low score in the compulsory school figures.

The 14-year-old, 4-foot-10 Goreeva, who barely meets her partner's shoulder, seemed to spin on air as she and the 19-year-old Grinkov, wearing matching midnight blue tuxedo tops, tallied mostly 5.8s and 5.9s.

Whether they were strutting down the ice, arm in arm, to the strains of Scott Joplin's "Ragtime" or flawlessly executing the seven required moves, the 77-pound Goreeva and Grinkov were the clear choice of the audience — and the judges.

Five out of nine judges awarded them first place in the two-minute compulsory short program, while defending titlists Elena Valova and Oleg Vasiliev won the top scores from the other four judges in capturing second place. In third place were last year's second-place finishers Larisa Selezneva and Oleg Makarov, appearing in their first international competition since being injured.

In the men's figures, European champion Jozef Sabocvik of Czechoslovakia followed Fadeev in the standings, while West German Heiko Fischer was third.

The men are to come back tonight for their short program, while the gold-medal event of the second day of competition was to be the pairs' long program.

Scottish boxer dies

LONDON (AP) — Scottish boxing champion Steve Watt died less than three days after collapsing in the ring at the end of a 10-round welterweight bout, authorities said.

His death will be investigated by Britain's top boxing panel, which immediately came under renewed pressure to change the sport.

Watt died at Charing Cross Hospital, where he had been operated on for removal of a blood clot last Friday night.

Watt, 28, sank into a coma shortly after being stopped by Rocky Kelly of London in the 10th round of a non-title bout last Friday. Authorities said he never regained consciousness.
