Hearing calls for energy policy

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

ODESSA — America needs a sound energy policy said several businessmen who testified this morning at a congressional energy subcommittee hearing on the effect of falling oil prices.

Congress needs to repeal "unnecessary" regulations and price controls and needs to terminate the windfall profit tax, said Dick Veeridge, executive vice president of the Independent Producers Association of America.

Congress should also revise banking regulations that encourage foreclosures, he said, and should consider refunding to oil producers money they paid from the windfall profit tax.

Malcolm D. Abel, vice chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, Texas Independent Producers and Royalties Owners Association, said an import fee on foreign oil should be imposed as a temporary measure to counter OPEC dumping excess oil on the market.

"Producers and consumers should be protected from extreme fluctuations," he said.

Charles Perry of Perry Management of Odessa said a national energy policy should include less dramatic changes. Changes made over a longer period of time will have less dramatic impact on the oil industry.

The speakers said deregulation would help the oil industry by allowing a more competitive market place and encouraging oil production in America.

In response to testimony about deregulation, Congressman Charles Stenholm asked, "What about when the prices go out the top because of unnatural market influences? Then where are we, the consumer?"

Stenholm, who is chairman of the House Small Business Subcommittee on Energy, Environment and Safety, agreed that America needs a national policy that will bring stability to the energy business.

Also present at this morning's hearing was Congressman Larry Combest, a member of the congressional subcommittee.

A second hearing will take place in Abilene from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Royal Inn, 5695 S. First St.

James L. Williams of Texas Business Forecasts said one reason the United States had problems with OPEC was that U.S. price regulations on natural gas were below international market levels. Without those price regulations, the price increase in 1978 and '79 might have been lower, he said.

Oil prices slide below $10 barrel

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil prices tumbled below $10 a barrel today in nervous trading, the lowest in more than eight years, caused by bulging world supplies, warm weather and pessimism about when the depressed market may stabilize.

"It's impossible to say where it will all end," said Peter Beutel, an analyst with Rudolf Wolff Futures Inc., a New York commodities futures firm.

The price of a standard 42-gallon barrel of West Texas Intermediate, the main U.S. crude and an important market indicator, fell to $9.90 in early dealings on the New York Mercantile Exchange, down from $10.42 Monday.

That compares to the pre-Easter price of $11.44 a barrel and the late November price of $31 a barrel, before the price slide began.

Oil prices have not fallen below $10 a barrel since 1977, when refiners were paying an average of $9.55 a barrel for domestic crude oil.

Futures contract prices for refined products, such as gasoline and heating oil, also slumped today, furthering declines from Monday dealings.

Among contracts for April delivery, heating oil dropped nearly 25 percent to 33.30 cents a gallon, down from 42.78 cents on Monday, caused partly by the blanket of warm spring weather over much of the country. Unleaded gasoline fell nearly 2 cents to 34.80 cents a gallon.

"There's nothing holding the market up," said Andrew Lebow, at the Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc. securities firm.

On Monday, United Arab Emirates Oil Minister Mana Saeed Oteiba was quoted as saying in Abu Dhabi that oil prices would drop to "$8 to $5 a barrel" without cooperation among producers inside and outside the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"There is no bottom level that can arrest the downside in prices," the official Emirates News Agency quoted Oteiba as saying.

U.S. Energy Secretary John Herrington disagreed with that view, however.

Council eyes range of fee hikes in city

By HANK MURPHY Staff Writer

City Council members informally agreed to changes reflecting steep to nominal fee increases for city recreational facilities in a work session Monday afternoon.

If council's thinking holds, the sharpest rise will come from annual membership fees at the municipal golf course. Councilmen have suggested the current $175 annual rate be raised 83 percent to $320 per year to lower the city's subsidy of the course.

The fee increases stem from a council decision last year to boost "user" fees as an alternative to raising taxes. Councilman Gary Don Carey said he expects the fee increases, if approved, to take effect sometime in May.

According to a $28,500 Giffith and Associates fee study, the city bears almost 73 percent of the cost of maintaining the course. By hiking yearly fees, the council hopes to drive down taxpayers' subsidies to 50 percent.

Also due for increases are fees for using the Figure 7 Tennis Center courts, the municipal swimming pool, Moss Lake, reservations of park pavilions, the Dora Roberts Community Center and ball fields.

The council is considering boosting admission to the swimming pool to $1.50 for children under 12 and $2.50 for adults. It now costs $1 for kids and $2 for adults to swim in the city pool.

Tennis players can expect to pay 15 percent more for using the municipal courts.

The increase in rates were agreed to after the councilmen considered other options ranging from installing coin-operated lights to eliminating paid supervision of the facility.

Cost for reserving a picnic pavilion will, if council recommendations prevail, cost $25 instead of $12. The fee, however, is only for Rescue workers carry the body, wrapped in plastic, of one of the people killed Monday when a Mexicana Airlines jet crashed near Morelia. The Boeing 727 was en route from Mexico City to Los Angeles when it crashed into the side of the mountain after the pilot radioed that he was losing altitude.

Mexico jet crash kills 166

POMOCA, Mexico (AP) — Helicopter-supported search teams removed bodies from the twisted wreckage of a Mexicana Airlines jet that smashed into a remote mountainside, killing all 166 people aboard. An airline official said five Americans were among the dead.

The Boeing 727, en route from Mexico City to Los Angeles with stops in the Pacific resorts of Puerto Vallarta and Mazatlan, hit the 7,792-foot mountain known locally as El Carbon about 90 miles northwest of Mexico City shortly after takeoff Monday morning.

"Unfortunately, there are no survivors," Mexicana spokesman Fernando Martinez Cortes said of the 158 passengers and eight crew aboard Flight 940.

Witnesses in this hamlet of 300 people at the foot of the hills said the plane exploded "like thunder" and was burning before it crashed.

"I heard two booms like thunder, one up and one down. I and some others, we climbed up the mountain and we were able to see only pieces of plane and a few dead thrown around here and there," said Ignacio Carrillo, who has a small farm nearby.

Angel Bolanos, 43, with his horse loaded with forage for his seven cows, said, "It was 9 (a.m.) and a little bit more. I saw it. It fell burning. While it was flying, part of the plane came loose and fell and the other part also fell. When it fell it sounded like thunder, and when it broke it sounded like thunder. The part that fell caught fire and it was like a volcano."

The cause of the crash was not known, but Mexicana said the pilot reported pressurization problems and sought permission to fly lower shortly before the plane went down.

Helicopters began taking bodies to a base camp set up in a field in Pomoca on Monday. The recovery operation was suspended at nightfall but resumed today.

Rescue workers were searching for bodies, putting the remains in bags on stretchers and then climbing 1,500 feet to a ridge near the top of the peak where only one helicopter can land at a time.

Ambulances in a small field at Pomoca took the bodies from the helicopters to Balbuena Hospital in the nearby community of Maravatio. Hospital director Eduardo Lleverino said 24 bodies had been received at Maravatio. From there, they will go to Morelia, the nearest city 42 miles west of the crash.

Officials said rescue teams also were looking for flight recorders from the plane, which could provide vital information to determine what happened.

Bureaucrats buckle down on budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government agencies are adhering to the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law despite widespread confusion over details of making this year's required $11.7 billion in spending cuts, according to a General Accounting Office report.

"The correct amounts of budgetary resources were removed from all budget accounts," the GAO said Monday in a report to the president and Congress on compliance with the new law. It added that "agencies made a conscientious effort to follow congressional priorities in making required reductions" despite sometimes ambiguous legislative language.

Congress passed the Gramm-Rudman law in December to eliminate the government's annual deficits by fiscal 1991. The law sets gradually lower levels on red ink and imposes automatic across-the-board spending cuts if Congress and the president do not agree on spending and tax changes to meet the targets.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, one of the authors of the law, said the GAO report was encouraging. "It's reassuring to be reminded that elected officials still control the government," he said. "While there were numerous bureaucrats who didn't like it, they did their duty... (and) acted prudently."

"We found widespread confusion among agencies in applying the program, project and activity definitions" needed to determine the across-the-board spending cuts. "This confusion often reflected the ambiguities of the definitions themselves and ... should not be considered to be material noncompliance with the requirements of the act," the GAO said.

The first round of cuts, for fiscal 1986, began March 1 and was limited in the law to $11.7 billion. The reduction required domestic agencies to cut spending by about 4.3 percent and the military 4.9 percent. Military pay and "Star Wars" research were exempted, along with Social Security benefits, veterans compensation and welfare programs.

Even with the reduction, the deficit for the year will be about $208 billion, according to congressional and Reagan administration estimates.

In fiscal 1987, which begins Oct. 1, the maximum deficit allowed in the law is $144 billion. That deficit now is projected at about $182 billion, $38 billion over the target.

The Senate Budget Committee has approved a budget that would not exceed the ceiling.

Alien grave

Legend says extraterrestrial buried in Aurora cemetery

AURORA (AP) — If Aurora residents are unsure now whether an extraterrestrial visited their town in 1897, they'll be less sure when they go see a movie based on the legend, some town residents say.

The film "Aurora Encounter" is based loosely on the legend that a UFO crashed in the small Wise County community in 1897 and that the sole occupant of the cigar-shaped craft was buried in Aurora cemetery. According to longtime resident Bonnie Oates the best thing about the film is that it's only a movie.

Ms. Oates, who owns the property where the UFO purportedly crashed, says the movie was an Aurora encounter in name only.

"It wasn't anything about Aurora," she said. "You wouldn't know it was the same place. I'd tell you not to go see it and expect to see anything like the legend of Aurora. It's more of a kid's show to me."

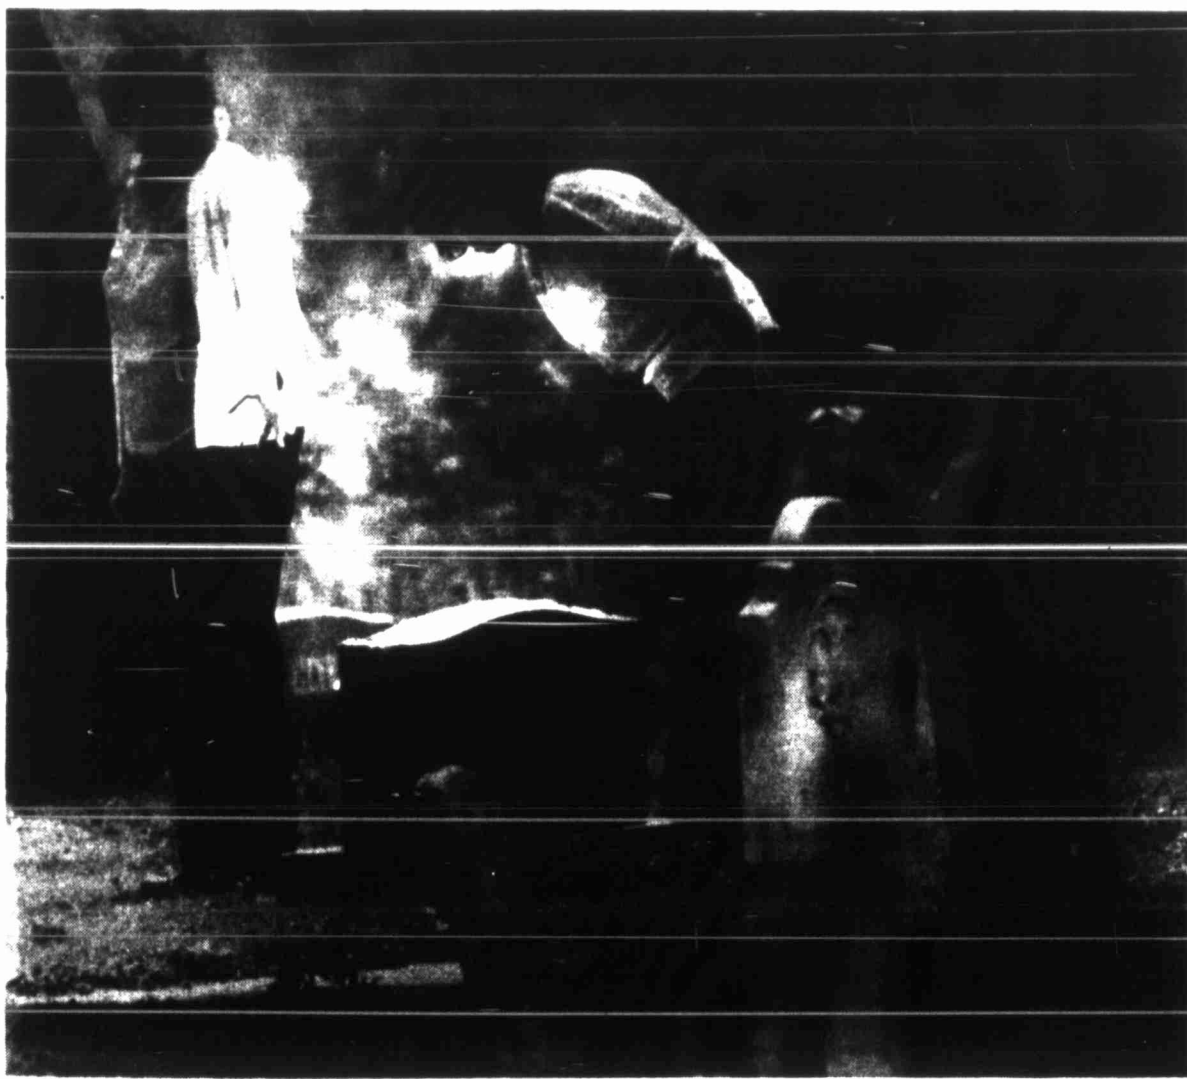

The movie's producers say their movie owes a debt to "E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial" and acknowledge they took dramatic liberties with the Aurora legend.

In the movie, which was filmed in Ferris, the space traveler lives a while, befriend several Aurora residents. Subplots involve an enterprising reporter and the governor of Texas, played by Spanky McFarland.

Legend has it that the spaceman died in the crash, but Aurora residents nevertheless say they're intrigued.

Periodically, from the late 1960s to the early 1980s, newspapers and magazines published stories about the alien visitation, prompting outsiders to prow around the small North Texas town with Geiger counters and other devices designed to help them find remnants of the spaceship.

Scientists and historians say the Aurora legend was a hoax perpetrated by residents of a once-thriving town that had been bypassed by the railroad and racked by a spotted fever epidemic.

Laura Hudler, right, of Aurora and her mother, Eula Newman of Haltom City, look for the grave of the spaceman who, legend says, crashed in 1897 and was buried in the cemetery in Aurora. The legend inspired a movie, the "Aurora Encounter."

Edna Pegues, Aurora's most accomplished historian, wrote, "What did really happen in 1897? NOTHING."

Some longtime residents, though, prefer to believe the legend.

"I've come to believe it's true," said Leona Stankewitz, an Aurora resident since 1936. "Now some people just think it's a hoax, but I don't think it was. Back then, they noticed things like that, but today's generation, they see so much happen they just sort of brush it aside."

A woman who lives near the cemetery where the alien is supposedly buried said she has noticed some people loitering around the graveyard.

Another Aurora resident said he would be surprised if the movie didn't spark more interest in the town.

"I just figured it'd get the people from up North down here digging through the cemetery again," said Curtis Derting.

Lawsuit on debt goes to trial

Testimony in a civil lawsuit involving a local rental and sales company and a Big Spring woman was expected to begin this afternoon before an 11-man and one-woman jury panel in 118th District Court.

Hughes Rental & Sales Co. of Big Spring is suing Dora Juarez of Big Spring for failure to uphold the terms of a written agreement she allegedly took out with the company on June 3 involving $510 worth of property.

Earlier this morning, an out-of-court settlement was reached in another case scheduled to go to trial today. In that case, Albert Franco had sued Texas Employers Insurance Association.

Franco, a former employee of Fiber Glass Systems Inc. of Big Spring, said he got hurt on the job with Fiber Glass in 1981, according to the suit's petition, and was claiming workman's compensation.

Michael B. McKinney, attorney for Texas Employers Insurance, said this morning an "agreeable" settlement had been reached with Franco, but he refused to disclose the amount.

Spain sought for Marcos

WASHINGTON — The United States has reopened talks with Spain on the possibility that deposed Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos might be permitted to move there, according to U.S. officials.

The officials, speaking Monday on condition of anonymity, said Spain has been asked to reconsider its decision of two weeks ago to deny refuge to Marcos.

Marcos has been in Hawaii since Feb. 26, a day after his 20-year rule ended, but he is reportedly unhappy and wants to move to another country.

Social Security studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress must either restrict Medicare hospital spending or increase its tax income, trustees for the program say, or face the possibility of system bankruptcy by the mid 1990s.

The trustees, who manage the $21 billion trust fund that pays for the hospital insurance program for the elderly and disabled, said the fund could go bankrupt by 1996 if changes are not made.

The prediction is contained in the annual report by the board of trustees to Congress.

Murder nets 7 years

WASHINGTON — More than half the convicted murderers released from state prisons in 1983 were back on the street after spending less than seven years behind bars, says a new government study.

The survey of more than 300,000 criminal cases, released Monday by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, also found that 18 percent of those sentenced to life imprisonment for any crime served three years or less before being released.

The median time served by convicts sentenced to life imprisonment was eight years and seven months, and the median time served by all offenders in state prisons in the survey was 19 months, said the report by the bureau, a research arm of the Justice Department, based on statistics gathered from 30 states.

Lid is off the passbook

NEW YORK — People who put money in passbook savings accounts, the traditional family nest egg, may get a few perks starting today now that the accounts are open to unlimited interest, but shouldn't expect a big boost, industry experts say.

The government ended its 5.5 percent interest ceiling on passbook accounts as the last stage in its six-year deregulation of consumer interest rates paid by banks and savings institutions.

"There's no good reason to boost your cost of funds by raising the passbook," said Bob Schosberg, president of the New York League of Savings Institutions.

Rumblings reflect California's vulnerability

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A strong earthquake that shook skyscrapers, rattled shelves and roused thousands of people could have been deadly and is a reminder that the earth's crust in northern California is unsettled, an expert said.

"It may be several decades before we have a quake like the one in 1906, but quakes like (Monday's) can do a lot of damage if they hit populated areas," said Robert E. Wallace, chief scientist of the U.S. Geological Survey's Office of Earthquake Studies.

Five people suffered minor injuries and no major damage was reported from Monday's quake, which had an epicenter about 15 miles southeast of Fremont and 65 miles southeast of San Francisco.

The great San Francisco earthquake on April 18, 1906, killed at least 2,000 people and destroyed 28,000 buildings, leaving more than 225,000 people homeless.

Monday's quake, which hit at 3:56 a.m., was estimated to measure 5.3 on the Richter scale, according to the University of California Seismographic Station at Berkeley. The state Office of Emergency Services estimated the reading at 5.6, a magnitude that is capable of causing extensive damage.

The 1906 quake was before the Richter scale was developed, but has been calculated to have had a force of 8.3.

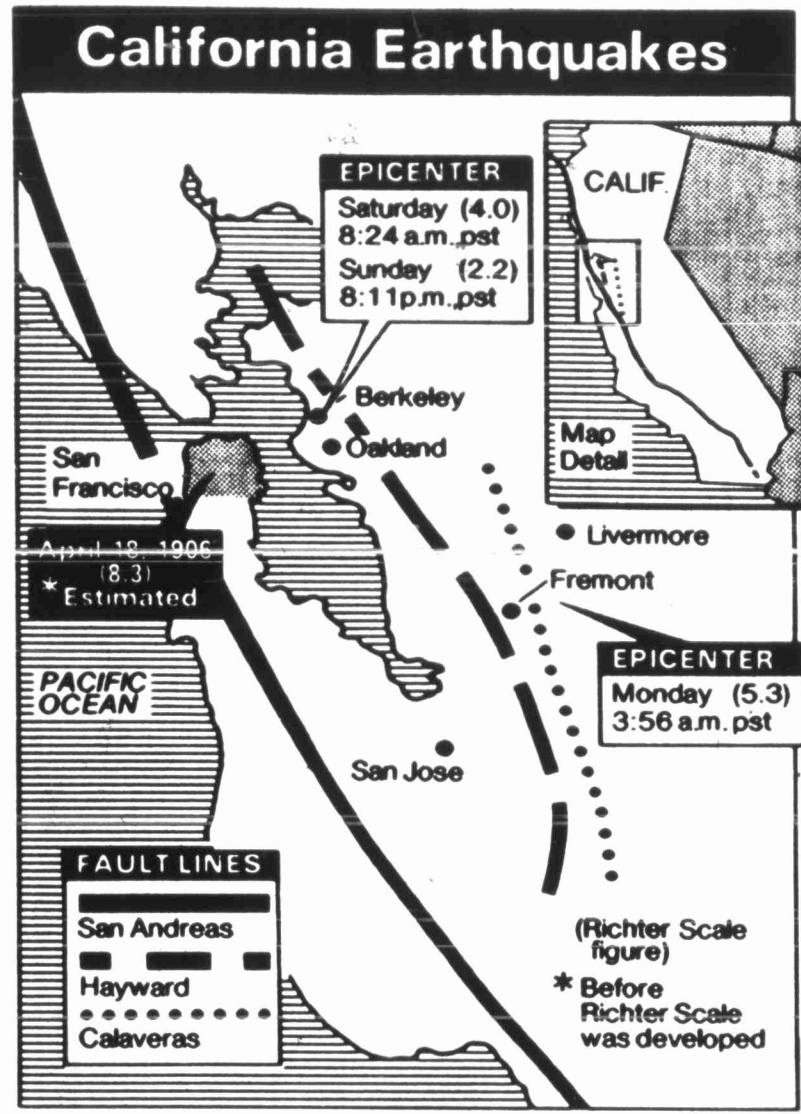

The Richter scale measures the energy released by quakes as measured by ground motion. Each increase by one number indicates a ten-fold increase in ground motion. Thus, a quake of 5.0 has 10 times the ground motion of one with a magnitude of 4.0.

The latest earthquake followed a moderate one Saturday morning that measured 4.0 on the Richter scale and a slight tremor of 2.2 on Sunday night, University of California officials said.

About 230 aftershocks were recorded Monday, the strongest measuring 3.4 at 5:05 a.m., said Edna King at the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park.

The three quakes and swarms of aftershocks would not help in forecasting tremors, said Rick McKenzie, a staff research associate at Berkeley.

San Francisco police dispatcher

This illustration shows the three earthquakes that have hit Northern California since Saturday, as well as the quake of 1906 which devastated much of San Francisco.

Irene Voorhees described Monday's quake as "a long, rolling motion" and said the switchboard was jammed with callers.

It was felt as far north as Santa Rosa and as far south as San Luis Obispo, a range of about 350 miles. Alexian Brothers Hospital in San Jose reported three people with minor injuries, from cuts or being hit by falling objects in their homes, and said they were treated and released. Two others were treated at Washington Hospital in Fremont, including a woman who broke her toe leaping out of bed.

Buildings suffered cracks in the walls and ceilings. Several windows were broken by the tremor, which was the strongest to hit northern California since Jan. 26, when a quake of 5.5 on the Richter scale jolted the Hollister area, about 120 miles south of San Francisco.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. restored power to about 9,300 people who were without electricity after Monday's initial shock snapped power lines.

Strike settlement near

MANILA, Philippines — A government official said today negotiators have reached an agreement to end a strike by 22,000 Filipino workers at U.S. military bases, but a union leader said he must consult members for their final decision.

"The leaders agreed to end the strike ... I am confident this is firm. I am confident they will return to work tomorrow," deputy Labor Minister Carmelo Noriel told The Associated Press after a mediating session.

The Filipino workers at Subic Naval Base, Clark Air Base and a half-dozen smaller U.S. facilities have been on strike for 11 days.

Barmaids and taxi drivers who said the strike deprived them of their earnings because U.S. servicemen could not leave the bases dismantled strikers' barricades at the gate to Clark Air Base over the weekend.

Candle blamed in blaze

LONDON — Officials say they suspect a lit candle may have started the fire that gutted a wing of King Henry VIII's Hampton Court Palace, destroyed art galleries, and killed one person.

The blaze that broke out early Monday in the three-story south wing of the 16th century building damaged priceless royal art treasures and caused millions of dollars of damage.

However, firefighters said they saved 90 percent of the building, a favorite residence of British monarchs until George II, who died in 1760.

Protestants on rampage

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Rampaging Protestant mobs attacked Roman Catholics and police in several Northern Ireland towns today following a clash in Portadown between police and hundreds of participants in a banned march.

Authorities reported that 49 people, including 13 policemen, were hurt in a confrontation between hundreds of youths and police in Portadown on Monday.

Later, a Protestant mob rampaged through the center of Portadown, a town of 14,000 people located 25 miles southwest of Belfast, smashing store windows but causing no injuries.

Rome lets Bulgarian go

ROME — A Rome tribunal today ruled that Sergei Ivanov Antonov, a Bulgarian who was acquitted of charges of complicity in the 1981 shooting of Pope John Paul II, may return home.

The court refused to give immediate clearance for the departure from Italy of two Turkish defendants who also were acquitted, Musa Serdar Celebi and Omer Bagci. The reason for that decision was not immediately known.

Safe at second, but tested at third

The testing of baseball players for drugs has begun.

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, this is Dan Sundergard of WFLY Radio, and we are in Florida at the baseball training camp stadium of the Doppler Snail Darters. They are playing an exhibition game against the Windemere Dumpings. Leading the lineup for the Snail Darters is Brian Smirk.

"Brian steps up to the plate, tips his cap, takes a practice swing and the umpire hands him a specimen bottle. Smirk is shaking his head to indicate that he doesn't want to be tested, but the umpire vehemently insists. Hold it. Max Fury, the Snail Darter manager, has just jumped out of the dugout and is having a tantrum. He is cussing and throwing his hat on the ground. The umpire is telling him to get back to the dugout. But Max is too incensed to pay any attention. Wait a minute — Fury has grabbed the specimen bottle and has thrown it at the Windemere bench. It has broken into a thousand pieces. The umpire is now tossing Max out of the game for interfering with the testing of a baseball player when he is at bat.

"Things have settled down. Smirk is back at home plate. The umpire gives him another specimen bottle. This time Brian does not flinch. He jogs behind the backstop where no one can see him and ... Let's pause now for a commercial.

"Welcome back to Doppler Stadium. Smirk is returning to home plate. He hands the specimen bottle to the umpire who raises it up to the sun. Everyone in the stadium is holding his breath. Now here comes the decision from the umpire. He is spreading out his hands in a sweeping gesture. SMIRK IS SAFE! The test has come up negative! The crowd is going crazy. The Doppler dugout has emptied out and the players are swarming around Smirk, hugging and kissing him. Now he is riding on their shoulders waving to the fans. Just a second, Tap Chewing, the Windemere manager, is arguing with the umpire that Smirk's specimen was positive and not negative. The umpire has turned his back on Chewing who seems to be threatening to take the test to the baseball commissioner on appeal.

"The umpire has told everyone to get off the field so the teams can play ball.

"Monarchy throws a fast-breaking ball which Smirk connects with and there it goes over the second baseman's head ... back to the wall. Brian has a triple! The third base umpire hands Brian another specimen bottle to make sure he hasn't used any drugs while running from home plate to third. Smirk is going behind a billboard ... And now it's time out for another commercial.

"Here comes Brian back to third with his specimen. The umpire is taking out his test kit. Hold it! He is looking at Smirk strangely. Now his thumb goes up in the air. Smirk is out! This is the first time a major league player has ever been tested safe at home and then called out at third.

"Smirk is jumping up and down on the umpire's test kit. The Doppler third base coach is throwing sand into the umpire's face. But nothing will change the umpire's mind. In baseball, test tubes don't lie.

"There goes Brian walking toward the dugout. Maybe our man on the field, Simple Semple, can have a word with him."

"What happened, Brian?"

"It was a bad call. I was clean for the entire triple."

"What was that white stuff you were sniffing when you slid into third?"

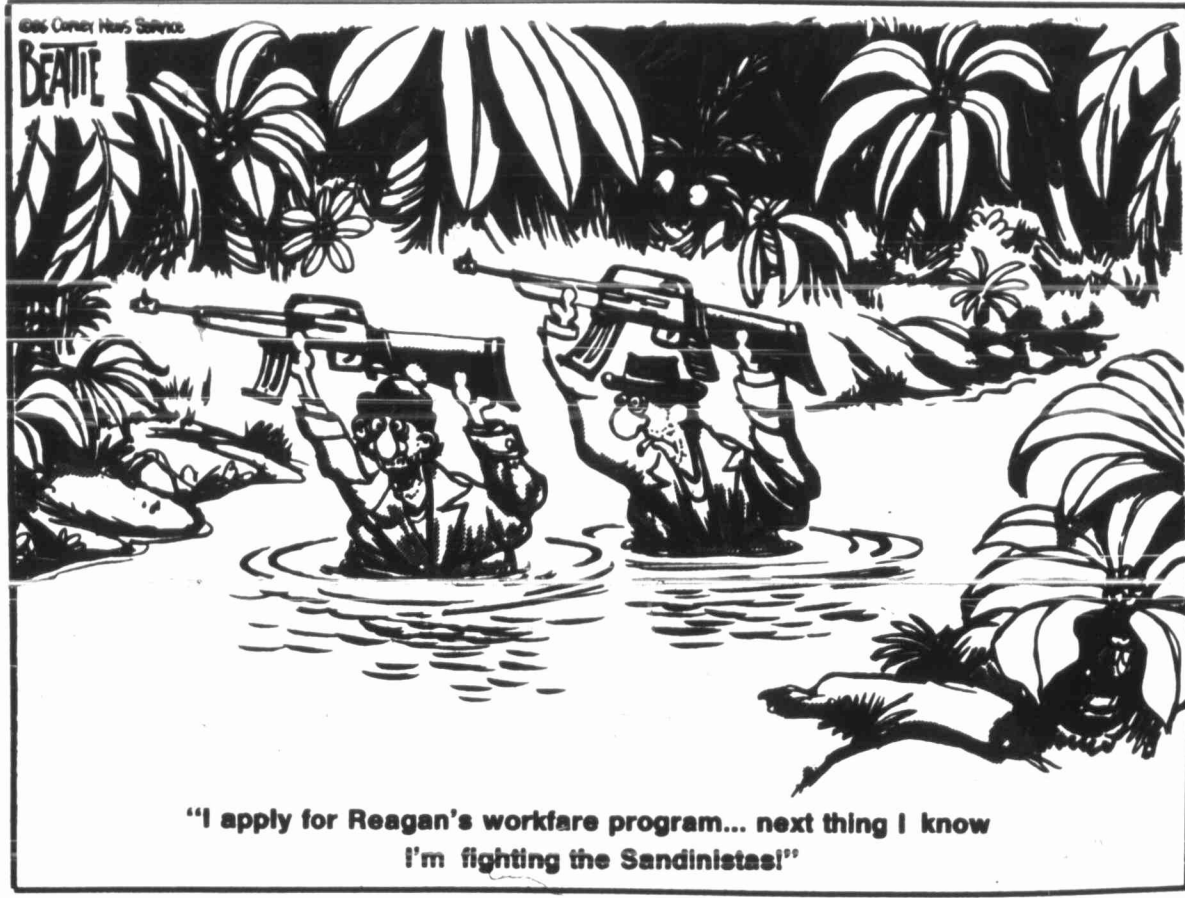

"That was lime from the baseline."

"Do you think it was the lime that made your test positive?"

"Do you believe the baseball commissioner has gone too far with testing baseball players?"

"Damn right. There is nothing wrong with testing us once. But when they test us at every base they've gone too far."

Nancy Reagan's war on drugs is reduced to a mere skirmish

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Nancy Reagan has made the war on drugs her top priority. But the White House budget handlers are quietly undercutting her efforts.

The president's latest budget proposal, for example, amputated $20 million from the $75 million funding for the Customs Service's air interdiction program. The agency is already finding it difficult to keep abreast of the increasing drug traffic across the Mexican border. Unless Congress reinstates the money, the interdiction mission will be impossible.

One immediate effect of the budget cut will be elimination of a proposed "eye in the sky" over Fort Huachuca, Ariz.: a tethered, radar-loaded balloon that would keep 24-hour-a-day vigil for dope smugglers flying across the border to secret landing strips in the Arizona desert.

Just how helpful the radar balloon would be in the fight against narcotics smugglers was made dramatically clear in a secret three-day operation the Customs Service conducted last year to determine the extent of smuggling across the Mexican border.

Our associate Donald Goldberg learned the details from an internal memo of the Vice President's National Narcotics Border Interdiction System, and from interviews with officials familiar with the study.

Called "Operation X," it began when Customs officials in Tucson realized there had been a suspicious drop in the number of interdictions reported during the preceding months. Had the smugglers changed to other entry routes? Had they bought a tipster inside the agency to leak the schedules of the interdiction flights?

On three consecutive nights, the surveillance missions were taken over by Navy E2C radar planes out of San Diego, flying along the border as far east as Tucson. The arrangements were super-secret; even the pilots weren't told their flight plans until they were airborne. There was no way the smugglers could get advance information.

The planes few during the smugglers' daily "window" — midnight to 4 a.m. — and the results were astonishing: "Fourteen suspect aircraft were detected crossing or approaching the U.S. border," the memo disclosed. "Ten were observed between Sells and Nogales, Ariz.; one near Douglas; one in the Animas Valley of New Mexico; one near Yuma, and one in the Gulf of California."

The Operation X results suggested that anywhere from 300 to 400 planes that could be carrying drugs were penetrating the border each month in that region alone.

"It is believed that such a high number of suspect targets were spotted in such a short period of time because the operation was initiated and conducted in a low-key manner that did not telegraph law enforcement intentions to narcotics smugglers," the internal memo explained.

Customs officials insist there are no leaks coming from their agency. They suggest that smugglers' spies might simply be watching the airfields or monitoring the agency's open radio transmissions to obtain the few minutes' warning needed to change course or abort a flight across the border. But if that were the situation, the Operation X flights could have been spotted, too.

In any case, tethered radar balloons would solve the problem; they are incorruptible. The radar would pick up illegal planes up to 150 miles from the balloons' anchor sites, eliminating the need for radar plane patrols.

The operation of weather balloons would be far less expensive than the E2C flights. Sources estimate that a radar balloon would cost about $400 an hour to operate, compared to the E2C's $3,700 an hour.

FUDDLE FACTORY: It's Catch-22 time again. Congress ordered the State Department to install an inspector general's office, in hopes of saving money by exposing waste and fraud in the department's far flung operations. But as Secretary of State George Shultz explained to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., in a recent letter, it will cost $12 million a year for the 180 auditors, investigators and supporting staff an inspector general will require. And — you guessed it — the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing act has nixed any possibility of finding the $12 million. State will make a start by some in-house shuffling of personnel.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Travelers who recently returned from Iran report a macabre juxtaposition of two "landmarks" in every town or village they visited: a Revolutionary Guard recruiting office and an ever-expanding cemetery. They are cause-and-effect reminders of the grim toll of Iranian youth exacted by the war with Iraq. Incredibly, the Ayatollah Khomeini's recruiters seem to have no trouble enlisting volunteers, despite the likelihood that the teenagers will wind up in the cemetery next door.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The White House wants to save money by abolishing the Justice Department's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention. We couldn't agree more. This is the office, you'll remember, that proposed to identify future criminals by looking for youngsters who were left-handed or had oddly shaped ears. And recently the office paid a researcher to write a high school course on the Constitution; the researcher reportedly held the opinion that the Bill of Rights doesn't have to be honored by the states. The juvenile justice office is a turkey; lopping its head off would indeed be cause for thanksgiving.

Billy Graham

God can help carry burden

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am undergoing my third round of treatment for alcoholism. Each time I left the state treatment center thinking I had licked my problem, but a few months later I would be back in the same old rut. Now I am filled with fear that it will happen again because I don't think I am strong enough. — A.R.

DEAR A.R.: It's true you may not be strong enough on your own to overcome this problem — but God can give you the strength you need if you will let Him. The Bible promises, "I can do everything through him who gives me strength" (Philippians 4:13).

As the rest of your letter indicates, the treatment has helped you understand some of the reasons you turn to alcohol — personal problems by using alcohol, and that never works. However, your treatment has not been able to give you the ability to deal with those problems — and that is where God can help.

Begin, therefore, by turning to Christ and turning your life over to Him. God loves you and wants to help you, and He accepts you just as you are. Confess your need to Christ, and invite Him into your life today.

Then ask God to help you as you deal each day with your problems. How will He do that? First, by giving you a new incentive to live as you should — a desire not only to do what is best for yourself, but to live for Christ. Then He also wants to lead you to other Christians who can encourage and help you. Seek out a church where Christ is preached, and let your pastor know of your problems and fears. Not only can he help you, but he may be able to put you in contact with recovering alcoholics who also can offer support.

Don't try to fight your problem alone. You need Christ and you need others who know what it is to "Carry each other's burdens" (Galatians 6:2).

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Dr. Donohue

AIDS onset: Time span varies

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please explain about AIDS symptoms. I have heard several different ones mentioned, including fever, persistent cough, night sweats, fatigue, loss of appetite. Also, I'd like to know the minimum and maximum time limit from exposure until symptoms do occur. Is there a time span that most AIDS victims seem to follow before symptoms occur, or does it vary from person to person? — A.R.

The time from exposure to the AIDS virus to the onset of symptoms does vary greatly, anywhere from four months to five or more years. A year and a half to two years is within the average.

Many of the symptoms you mention fit the picture — weight loss, fever, unexplained fatigue, night sweating and enlarged lymph nodes. But please understand that all these symptoms are indicators of many other ailments as well, not just AIDS. An unexplained weight loss of 15 pounds or so is always a sign that something is amiss.

Why do you ask? Are you per chance in one of the high-risk groups for catching AIDS (promiscuous male homosexual or intravenous drug abuser)? If you're not, your anxiety about AIDS is next to groundless.

If you are in one of the high-risk groups and are having all these symptoms, you still should be examined to find out the reason for them. Just as one example, Hodgkin's disease can appear in young adulthood with many of those same symptoms. I gather from another part of your letter that you are in that age group.

Dear Abby

Ignorance of life in Alaska lives on

DEAR ABBY: I was astonished by your reply to "Annoyed Canadian." It is apparent that many people have misconceptions about Alaska. As congressman for all Alaska, I can assure you that we, too, have "beautiful summers, dress like most Americans (we are Americans), and live in houses just like you do." While some in the "bush" or outlying areas may use dogsleds for travel, most people in Alaska use cars, planes and boats as do those in the "lower 48."

I've enclosed a travel guide to give you a better idea of what our state is like. Better yet, do come to the Great Land and see for yourself. Best regards.

DON YOUNG, CONGRESSMAN FOR ALL ALASKA

DEAR REP. YOUNG: Thank you for your gracious letter. I don't know where my head was when I told a reader that he must have been thinking of Alaska when he mistakenly assumed that all Canadians lived in igloos, traveled by dogsled and dressed like lumberjacks.

I know that you have beautiful warm summers, and I was also aware that your annual dogsled races had been recently canceled, due to "no snow."

Please forgive my colossal goof. I really knew better. However, my Alaskan gaffe brought me an unexpected bonus. Robert Atwood, editor and publisher of The Anchorage Times, invited me to Anchorage to see the truth firsthand.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R.F. IN WEST PALM BEACH: I like the way Malcolm Forbes put it: "Anybody who thinks money is everything has never been sick. Or is."

Dear Eldra,
Thanks for 34
wonderful years.
All My Love,
Joe

HOME IMPROVEMENT — Virginia and E.G. Miller show carpet, wallpaper and vinyl flooring samples at Miller's Crown Decorating.

Miller's Crown Decorating can help with your remodeling

Miller's Crown Decorating can help you with your home or commercial decorating needs, says Darrell, E.G. and Virginia Miller. The family-owned business offers residential and commercial floor coverings, window coverings and wall coverings, as well as installation and equipment and products to service them.

Miller's is Big Spring's only authorized Cook Paint dealer. The store shops around for reputable installers for everything it sells if the customer wants professional installation.

The owners take pride in not being wasteful with materials purchased by their customers. For example, when laying carpet, Miller's will figure how to install the 12-foot wide carpet in the house with as little waste as possible.

When quoting prices to customers, Miller's will give both the cost of materials for those who wish to do it themselves and the cost of materials plus labor for those who want professional installation. Often, the companies Miller's represents put products on sale. "We pass the sale on to the customer with the standard markup. The customer will realize more out of the sale than we do," E.G. says.

Miller's also sells and installs commercial wall vinyl, commercial and residential ceramic tile, and custom-fitted mini-blinds. An example of their work can be seen on the second floor of Malone-Hogan Hospital, which was recently remodeled. The store installed the wall vinyl and carpet there in January.

"We are a family store," says Virginia, wife of E.G. and mother of Darrell. The three Millers have owned and operated Miller's Crown Decorating six years.

E.G. has more than 35 years experience in painting and installing tile and carpet. He also has worked in every phase of construction. He taught his son the business of carpet laying, and it was Darrell's idea to open up the home improvement business. Darrell asked his parents to join him with his father as a partner and his mother as a bookkeeper. Virginia already had a part-time job, so at first she handled the books before going to work each day. "As it turned out, Darrell does the carpet laying, and his Dad and I run the store," Virginia says. E.G. also is a fireman and is away from the store while on duty, leaving Virginia to run the store full-time now.

"We try to have a store where the customer can come in and discuss his problem," says E.G. The Millers and their customers will work these problems out often over a cup of coffee.

"Come by and talk to us," says Virginia. "We can help you in all your decorating needs; from paint brushes to matching that special color you need." Miller's Crown Decorating is located at 1510 S. Gregg.

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Most persons who are in a position of prominence are not in the best of humor and you should be very cautious about asking for support for your projects. Not a good day for romance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you carry through with what you have planned for today and get good results, provided you are careful with credit.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You had better postpone going after new interests since you would only meet with obstacles and delays.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't seek advice on how to improve your business affairs now, and avoid getting into big trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Be careful in speaking either with your partners or outsiders, or you could lose valuable friends.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) It is important that you follow orders and thereby keep out of trouble. Don't let a co-worker who whines spoil your composure.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Not the right day to get your capabilities to the attention of those who can help you to make them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't bring up any moot points at home and you will thereby avoid controversy. Not a good day to have guests in.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use tact in all kinds of communicating, otherwise you could easily cause a severance of valuable connections.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle relatively unimportant matters today since they are an integral part of the whole sphere of endeavor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You do not feel sure of yourself today, so don't make any decisions that are vital to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to get rid of all your problems somehow, but it would be wise to patiently handle one at a time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A friendly bigwig could give you ideas that are fine, but not useable as yet, so just make a note of them for the future.

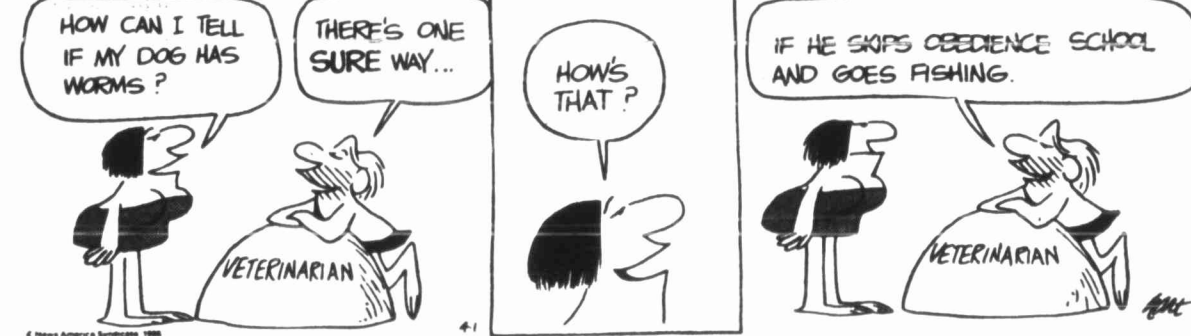

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will get involved in all kinds of practical activities and find new ways of solving problems connected with money and property, so be sure to give a fine academic education and much success is possible during the lifetime. A good sport here.

Inconsistent Hawks spilt with Panola

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

The Howard College Hawks continued their Jekyll and Hyde brand of baseball, losing the first game of their doubleheader with Panola Junior College 9-4, before coming back to win the second game 13-3 Monday afternoon at Jack Barber Field.

The doubleheader split gave the Hawks a 2-2 split in the four-game, two-day series with the Ponies of Region 14. Howard split an Easter Sunday doubleheader with Panola, losing the first game 6-5 and coming back to win the second game 10-3.

The Hawks raised their record to 20-15-1 with the split. Panola raised its record to 28-17. Howard will host Region V leader McLennan Community College in a three-game series this Friday and Saturday.

In the first game, Hawk starter Joel Chimelis was tagged early, giving up two unearned runs in the first inning and two more in the second inning before being relieved with none out and the bases loaded by Marty Rodriguez.

Rodriguez had a rough time as well during his short relief stint. The freshman from San Antonio forced in a run when Jeff Reese drew a walk making the score 5-0. But the big blow for the Ponies was provided by designated hitter Mark Brown, who cleaned the bases with a grand slam home run deep over the left field fence, leaving the visitors comfortably ahead, 9-0.

Hawk pitching shut the Ponies down after the seven-run second inning, allowing only four hits and no runs.

But Panola had some fine pitching of its own from sophomore starter Russ DeLome, who went the distance while raising his record to an impressive 6-1 on the year.

Hawk right fielder Frank Medina was the lone hitting threat, driving in two runs with an RBI double in the bottom of the second and an RBI single in the bottom of the fourth.

The Hawks rallied for three runs in the fourth inning on three consecutive singles by Steve Keller, Bruce Smith and Medina and a sacrifice fly by Richard Messer, but DeLome held on to leave the final score 9-4.

In the second game, the Hawks started out slowly, falling behind 3-0 after two and half innings, but their bats came alive shortly thereafter.

Howard took advantage of two Ponies errors in the bottom of the third inning to tie the score 3-3. Medina drove in one run with a sacrifice fly scoring Joe Cuellar. Smith and Keller came in on the errors. Howard starting pitcher Bryan Willis gave up only one earned run and four hits in six innings of work. The sophomore righthander used a good fastball and pinpoint control to hold the Ponies bats silent after the third inning.

Howard scored one run in the bottom of the fifth to take the lead, 4-3. Medina got his fourth RBI of the series with an RBI single that brought in Keller.

After Willis had sent the Ponies down in order in the top of the sixth, Howard exploded for nine runs in the bottom half of the inning to end the game on account of the ten-run rule.

Ramces Guerrero led the inning off with a walk and then stole second base. Catcher Kevin Hays pushed Guerrero to third with a single before third baseman Chimelis brought him home with an RBI single. Cuellar struck the next blow with an RBI single scoring Hays to make the score 6-3 with no outs.

Bruce Smith ripped a two-run single that sent Panola pitcher John Miller to the bench, but the Hawks had no mercy for his relief man Kevin Clark.

Clark surrendered a single Medina and two RBI singles to Lopez and Guerrero before giving up a game ending three RBI double to Kevin Hays.

Frosh center leads Louisville to crown

DALLAS (AP) — With the national championship on the line, Louisville and Coach Denny Crum are never nervous about a freshman center.

Crum's latest rookie in the middle, aptly nicknamed "Never Nervous" Pervis Ellison, scored 25 points and dominated the inside Monday night as No. 7 Louisville beat top-ranked Duke 72-69 and became the first team to win two national championships in the 1980s.

The last one, too, came with a freshman. Rodney McCray was in the pivot when the Cardinals beat UCLA in 1980.

"I'm a lot happier this time," Crum said. "The last time there was so much pressure."

With the 6-foot-9 Ellison working inside at the close of the game, the Cardinals spoiled Duke's 37-victory season — the most successful in NCAA history — and offset a 24-point performance by All-American guard Johnny Dawkins.

Ellison was voted the tournament's Most Outstanding Player — the first freshman to win since Utah's Arnie Ferrin in 1944. He scored eight of Louisville's last 15 points and two of his 11 rebounds were key grabs in the final moments.

"That's why we call him 'Never Nervous Pervis,'" said sophomore teammate Herbert Crook. "Down at the end, when we need rebounds, he gets them."

"Sure I get nervous, that's just a name somebody put on me," said the slender player from Savannah, Ga., who will be 19 on Thursday.

Ellison put in the rebound off Jeff Hall's missed jumper with 41 seconds left and increased Louisville's lead to 68-65. With 20 seconds left, he sank two more free throws after grabbing a rebound off a miss by Duke's David Henderson.

Duke's pesky guards forced Louisville to throw the ball away in the early going and it was a fast-paced game throughout. Seldom more than 20 seconds were run off the 45-second shot clock. Both teams used pressure defense to keep each other off balance.

Duke's guards outscored Louisville 35-13. Louisville's Milt Wagner didn't get his first field goal until there was 5:33 left in the game. That came on a fastbreak set up by an Ellison blocked shot.

Louisville's front line outscored Duke's 48-30, but more importantly, Louisville outrebounded Duke 39-27, with Crook getting 12.

Duke's Henderson made only 5-of-15 and forward Mark Alarie 4-of-11 up front for Duke, while guard Tommy Amaker hit only 3-of-10 shots. Dawkins held up his end by making 10-of-19.

Louisville went ahead 42-41 on Crook's tap-in, which gave the Cardinals the lead for the first time since they were up 4-0. Dawkins then hit three straight jump shots, one leading to a three-point play, for a 48-42 lead.

Championship eludes Duke seniors

DALLAS (AP) — Despite an NCAA-record 37 victories, Duke couldn't get the one it wanted most.

"The thing is, nobody remembers who was second," Duke center Jay Bilas said after Monday night's 72-69 loss to Louisville in the NCAA championship game.

"I hope history is kind to us. We were a good basketball team."

In the end, though, it wasn't quite good enough. Consider the four seniors' final performances.

—All-American guard Johnny Dawkins had 24 points but no field goals and just two free throws in the last 15 minutes. —Forward Mark Alarie had 12 points but fouled out for only the third time all season.

—Bilas was held to four points and three rebounds and played much of the game in foul trouble.

—Forward David Henderson missed 10 of 15 shots from the field, including his last three when the game was on the line, and fouled out.

To be sure, the seniors have other numbers to remember: a No. 1 national ranking for the last six weeks of the season and the 37-3 record that eclipsed Kentucky's 1946 national championship as the winningest team in college basketball history. Dawkins and Alarie leave as 2,000-point career scorers with Dawkins finishing as the second-leading scorer in Atlantic Coast Conference history.

"It's something I think we can look back on with a great deal of pride," Bilas said. "We gave it our best shot, but we fell a little short."

"I'm proud of the record. I'm disappointed we didn't win this year's NCAA national championship," said Dawkins, who carried the runnerup plaque from the podium before Louisville received its second national championship trophy.

Cowboy Notes

• Hogeboom wants out of organization

DALLAS (AP) — Backup quarterback Gary Hogeboom said he would attend the Dallas Cowboys' mini-camp today and Wednesday, but has let it be known he hasn't changed his mind and wants off the club as soon as a trade can be arranged.

Cowboys new quarterback coach Paul Hackett said he has met with Hogeboom, and the meeting lasted "about three minutes."

"Gary explained to me his position, and that is that he has asked to be traded by the Dallas Cowboys. Gary said that he just did not want to play in Dallas. He said it was nothing personal, he just wanted to be traded," Hackett said.

However, the Cowboys have said they have found little interest in Hogeboom around the National Football League, and Hogeboom's agent has come to the same conclusion.

The team has given agent Joe Courage permission to speak with other NFL teams in an effort to arrange a trade.

Courage said he has talked with 14 teams about a possible trade, and all expressed the same sentiment — little or no interest.

Hogeboom, who asked to be traded after the 1985 season when he was second-string to Danny White, was told the Cowboys would do the negotiating. However, after months of little progress, the Cowboys decided it would be better if Courage made the effort.

"What we have said is, they are free to find out if other teams have an interest in him," Cowboys personnel director Gil Brandt told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"Instead of us calling around and having people say we're not trying very hard, we decided to let them find out if there is any interest. They're going to find out there isn't much at this time," Brandt added.

Courage declined to say which teams he spoke with, but did say he expects the Cowboys to trade out of the National Football Conference if and when they trade.

"It's just not the right time," the agent said. "This thing will start to heat up as the draft draws near. I think we might be able to work something out then."

Hogeboom will attend the mini-camp and will attend training camp this summer if he is still a member of the Dallas team at that time, Courage said.

• Team talking with USFL quarterback

DALLAS (AP) — Reggie Collier, quarterback of the Orlando Renegades of the USFL, met with Dallas Cowboys officials at their training facility last week, offensive passing coordinator Paul Hackett confirmed.

The Cowboys first requested and were granted permission from the Renegades to speak with Collier, Hackett said Monday.

Hackett said he and Collier, who was drafted by the Cowboys in the sixth round in 1983 but opted for the USFL, had lunch together and Collier toured the facility.

Collier could figure prominently in the Cowboys' plans should backup quarterback Gary Hogeboom be traded, as he has requested.

"Before I could talk with him, we requested permission from Orlando and they granted it," Hackett said. "I can't call (any USFL players) unless I get it cleared by the team."

Hackett said he didn't talk about a contract with Collier.

"There are so many things involved with the USFL," including an anti-trust suit against the NFL that is expected to go to trial in April or May, Hackett noted. "We just wanted to go by the book."

Collier said he also met with Cowboys head coach Tom Landry and team president Tex Schramm.

"The main purpose of my visit was to meet Paul, and I was very impressed by him. We see eye to eye on a lot of things," Collier said. Hackett, an assistant coach last year with the San Francisco 49ers, was hired by the Cowboys during the off-season to try to put new spark into the Dallas passing attack.

Collier has one year and an option year remaining on his contract with Orlando.
