Astronauts didn't know full impact of seal problems

WASHINGTON (AP) -Astronaut Robert Crippen, who has flown more space shuttle flights than anyone else, told the presidential Challenger commission today he once was told about a problem with a booster rocket seal but he did not consider it "that big a But, said Crippen, he was not aware that a waiver had been issued that, in effect, acknowledged that catastrophe could result if the seal failed.

"If I had been aware of the change," he said, "I would have taken the problem much more seriously.

A leaking seal in the right booster rocket is believed to have caused the explosion that destroyed Challenger and killed its crew of seven on liftoff Jan. 28.

Crippen and three other astronauts who appeared today testified that no escape system could have kept the astronauts alive in that situation.

However, astronaut Henry Hartsfield said he would like to see some sort of low-altitude survival capability, such as one that would allow astronauts to bail out. Crippen, however, said a bailout might not be feasible.

Hartsfield said that present procedures for dealing with engine failures require the shuttle to ditch and that he doubts the shuttle could survive that. Near the end of the morning session, Chairman William P. Rogers said the commission will recommend that an independent safety panel be formed to watch over future flights.

Commissioner Richard P. Feynman, a physicist, said that board's job should be to watch the little compromises that are made from flight to flight. "The argument is always given that the last time it worked," Feynman said. "It's kind of Russian roulette. When I look at

No charges expected in Easter shooting

By HANK MURPHY Staff Writer

The shooting case of 20-year-old Miles Ray Anguanio, hit in the abdomen with a bullet while jogging Easter night, is "coming to a head," Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning.

Edwards refused to disclose details of the police investigation, but said he does not expect criminal charges to be filed in the incident. He would not say why.

Anguanio was one of three persons shot Easter Sunday in Big Spring. He is recovering at Malone-Hogan Hospital where his condition this morning was listed as stable.

Oil price dip may aid state

WACO (AP) - If oil prices continue to drop, the benefits to the state economy will outweigh the negative impact after a certain point, a Baylor University economist said. 'This is a curious thing I've stumbled on," said Dr. M. Ray Perryman, director of Baylor's Forecasting Service and creator of the Texas Econometric Model. "When you get below $15 per bar rel, the negative impact of each dollar drop starts diminishing a lot.

And you start seeing a lot of things happen at $10." The drop from $11 to $10 is the critical contract price for West Texas intermediate crude. More than 90 percent of Texas oil is traded in contract markets and is not as volatile as the spot market. As of Wednesday, the price was averaging about $11.50 The oil industry already "has taken such a hit" that the ensuing impact on the economy, Perryman said. For example, the drop from $25 to $20 per barrel had a much greater impact than the drop from $15 to $10.

'Every $5 drop is not the same,'' Perryman said. "What we've found is the negative impact gets less and less for each dollar drop from $15. 'Actually, the state's economy does a little bit better when the price is at $10 than at $11," Perryman said. While he has not calculated prices lower than $10, Perryman assumed the net beneficial effect would continue. He emphasized the effect on the state's economy as a whole, but said some individual cities still would be affected negatively. Every dollar drop hurts Houston and Beaumont," he said. Although the net effect on the drops do not have as negative an state's economy will be beneficial, "the state's budget is still worse off with each dollar per barrel drop,' Perryman said.

Perryman estimated the drop to $10 also creates an additional annual demand for 1.5 million barrels of Texas oil, which would help strapped refineries in the Galveston and Texas City areas.

"At $10 per barrel, consumers are already starting to consume a bit more, and a lot of production processes can convert from coal to oil." Perryman said.

While some Texas cities have been reeling from the economic impact from the plunge in oil prices, others such as Dallas, Waco, Austin and San Antonio are benefiting through lower fuel costs, Perryman said.

The impact from dropping oil prices has come in waves, Perryman said. The first wave affected the immediate drilling areas, such as the Midland-Odessa area, some sections of the Texas Panhandle, the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area and the Longview and Kilgore areas.

The next wave hit industries related to drilling such as refineries, corporate headquarters, law and accounting

The next wave affected the state's financial institutions. First, the West Texas area was affected, then the larger banks

Crimestoppers rewards go to two anonymous tipsters

$250 each were paid this month to informants whose tips led to the arrest of an escaped prisoner indicted for attempted murder of a police officer and to the solving of several recent local burglaries.

The rewards were announced Wednesday at the Crimestoppers board of directors meeting.

He said the safety panel should have "someone whose responsibility it is to work as hard as possible.'

Crippen said he was told, during a formal flight review at which he represented the astronauts, that scot was found outside the seal on a booster rocket that was recovered from the Atlantic after the launch of a shuttle in January 1985.

"In truth, in my perception, it wasn't that much of a big deal," said Crippen, who flew on the first shuttle mission as pilot to commander John Young, and has flown three missions since.

"I guess the emphasis was not one to think it was the major problem that I guess it was," Crippen said

But Young, who is chief of the astronaut office, testified, "I don't ever recall anything coming out on the flight readiness reviews on solid rocket motor seals. ... If any one in the gang had known about this business and said something, we could have done something about it."

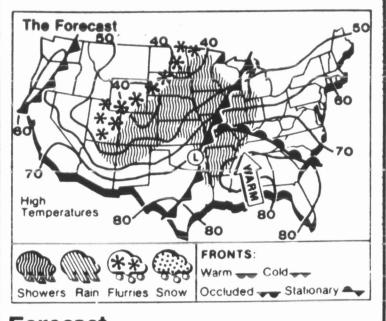

Young, who also flew in the Gemini and Apollo programs and is America's most experienced space flier with six, said nine space shuttle missions made 1985 a banner

"It was hard to see how we could do a lot more with our people unless we do something different,' he said in answers to questions by chairman Rogers. "People are just working long hours, long periods of time...If we had more missions, from an operational strandpoint, it would be tough." NASA had planned 15 launches this year, before shuttle launches were halted by the loss of Challenger, the year's second mission.

Panel members pressed Young on this point, because in recent memos he said that pressure to launch caused compromises in flight safety. Commissioner Robert Hotz asked whether NASA's 15-launch schedule for this year would have been too much work.

Said Young: "I think we would have been pushing it."

The blast blew a 9-by-3-foot hole in the side of the plane in front of the right wing. TWA President Richard D. Pearson said in New York the explosion occurred on the cabin floor at row 10 or 11 of the passenger seats.

Officials at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport said the terrorist was an Arab who sat in seat 10F on the Cairo-to-Athens flight. They said they suspected he planted an explosive aboard before getting off in Athens. ANSA, an Italian news agen-

The airport officials said they believed the terrorist was the same man who planted a bomb in luggage aboard a Rome-bound Alitalia flight in Istanbul Dec. 29, 1983. When the man did not board the plane in Istanbul, the passengers were taken off, all the luggage was inspected and the bomb was found

At that time, sources in the Turkish police identified the suspected saboteur as an Iranian named A. Omar.

Phillips to lay off 2,000

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. - Phillips Petroleum Co. says it will lay off 2,000 to 2,500 employees by July 1 as a result of the continuing fall in oil prices.

Phillips Chairman C.J. Silas said Wednesday the reduction in the workforce is expected to help reduce annual operating expenses by about $200 million.

The oil company employs 26,700 people worldwide, 6,100 of them at its headquarters in Bartlesville. About 1,000 of the planned layoffs will be in the northeastern Oklahoma

He said exploration and production operations would be affected most by the layoffs. That will affect employees in Bartlesville, Denver, Houston and London, he said

Appraisal change urged

AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court has under consideration a challenge to the state law calling for single countywide property tax appraisals.

Galveston County Tax Assessor-Collector Chuck Wilson, along with similar county officials throughout the state, claims the statute takes away authority given them by the state constitution

'The Legislature failed woefully,'' Galveston attorney Anthony Griffin Jr. said Wednesday of a 1981 constitutional amendment that includes counties in single countywide appraisal districts.

School has no-hug rule

WAUKEGAN, Ill. — Teachers being asked not to hug or pat students because officials fear child abuse allegations say the advisory is unfortunate because small children need the reassuring touch of instructors.

In an advisory letter to his 700 teachers last week, Jack Taylor, superintendent of Community School District 60, said teachers should refrain from touching students because of recent sex-related charges against two Waukegan teachers.

Denice Kerr, a substitute teacher at elementary schools, said Wednesday night she would "take her chances" and continue to hug and pat her students.

Pain-relief cells studied

NEW YORK - Transplants of painkillerproducing bodily cells into the spinal cords of rats provided relief from pain up to four months, suggesting that such surgery may help control chronic pain in people, researchers

The experiments involved injections of nicotine, and people with intractable pain could be able to trigger relief by taking nicotine, even in chewing gum, or some other substance that acts like nicotine, said George Pappas, professor and head of the anatomy department at the University of Illinois College of Medicine in Chicago.

Wallace bids farewell: Fiery governor mellowed with age

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) -George Corley Wallace is often remembered standing in the hot sun, a little man with a defiant glare in his dark eyes, his jaw jutting forward, his fist clenched - a symbol of the segregationist South.

Now he is a man who cannot stand, who speaks softly, whose hands clench against the pain of paralysis, whose eyes rarely hold fire, a mellowed man who readily greets blacks as his friends.

Four times governor of Alabama and four times a wild card candidate for president, Wallace has dominated the state for most of a quarter century marked by profound social change.

On Wednesday, looking back over "the good times and the hard times," he bid a tearful farewell to the political arena, saving that because of his health he would not seek a fifth fouryear term.

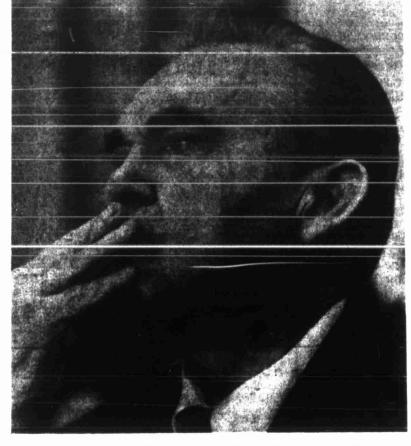

Born in rural row crop country, a Golden Gloves boxer as a youth, Wallace moved rapidly through Alabama's political structure - state prosecutor, legislator, circuit judge - and won the governor's office in 1962 at the age of 43.

"Segregation today, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever!" he said. He stood in the schoolhouse door against integration, and he publicly scorned the black vote when blacks were still marching for the right to enter the voting booth.

He ran in a handful of Democratic presidential primaries in 1964 and came back to tell Alabamians how some of his supporters in the North were 'singing 'Dixie' in Polish."

He strengthened his power base at home, running his wife Lurleen for governor in 1966 when he could not legally succeed himself. Her triumph was followed two years later by her death from cancer.

He took his political success in the state as part of Alabama's message to the country. In 1968 he campaigned for president as an independent, with retired Alabama Gov. George Wallace throws a kiss to his supporters Thursday after announcing that he will not seek a record fifth term in office.

Gen. Curtis Lemay as his running mate, and carried five states. In 1972 he said "send 'em a message," and began building delegate strength heading into the Maryland primary.

But at Laurel, Md., a man shot Wallace five times, with one bullet jamming into his spinal column, leaving him paralyzed in the legs.

Wallace carried Maryland and Michigan while lying near death in the hospital, but his career as a White House hopeful came to an effective end.

By then, Wallace appeared to be nearing an end in Alabama as well. He had won the governor's office for a second term in 1970 and a third term in 1974, but the law blocked him from running

He divorced his second wife, Cornelia, and left the political spotlight, taking a post with the University of Alabama.

But his office had a view of the Capitol. With a new bride at his side - Lisa Taylor, a mid-30s divorcee - Wallace made a comeback.

His opponents said Wallace had hurt Alabama's image, that little progress had been made in education and the battle against poverty during his tenure. Some black leaders said they could never forget.

But Wallace said he had been wrong about segregation and, in the midst of the 1982 recession that saw Alabama's jobless rate go above 16 percent, he campaigned on a promise of "jobs, jobs, jobs" - for blacks as well as whites.

It was a measure of how far he had traveled that last week he was given an honorary degree from Tuskegee University, long known as Tuskegee Institute, the state's premier black college.

Europe economy booms

Reagan mum on dollar

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration is sending signals that it has given up, at least for the time being, efforts to drive down the value of the U.S. dollar - a message that could mean bad news for export-hungry farmers.

The administration has said nothing publicly about the dollar's value since early last month and an administration official said in an interview Wednesday that this silence was by design.

A weaker dollar makes imports more expensive and thus less attractive to American consumers, while pushing down the price of farm goods and other American exports on world markets.

TO: CITIZENS OF BIG SPRING

As local employees of Fraser Industries, we would like to endorse Troy Fraser for Mayor of Big Spring.

During the past 10 years, many pallet plants have gone out of business. However, due to Troy Fraser's aggressive management style and sound financial decisions, Fraser Industries has tripled in size during that same period.

The employees of Fraser Industries feel this type of aggressive leadership is what the city of Big Spring needs.

The following points of view reflect the opinion of the newspaper's editorial board, which consists of the publisher and managing editor. We hope readers will consider our viewpoint in choosing their candidates, but whether voters agree with our view or not we urge them to cast a ballot Saturday.

Fraser for mayor

A mayor of a city must be able to articulately advance the wishes of the city council: to the city manager and employees, to the public, to other government agencies and to visitors, including business prospects.

From a field of two good candidates, Troy Fraser is the better choice for mayor.

Fraser has a demonstrated commitment to the betterment of Big Spring. He has put in long hours helping the YMCA, the United Way, coaching kids' sports, and promoting industry and business interests. Moreover, he has long been an unabashed and outspoken cheerleader for Big Spring.

In a city manager system of government such as ours, the mayor's job is to guide, to advance the wishes of city council and to be a spokesman for the city. It is the city manager's job to run the city on a day-to-day basis.

Fraser has promised to be a voice for fiscal responsibility and to champion the long-term growth of the city. It is vision such as his that Big Spring needs in a mayor.

Council: Overman

D.W. Overman will be a watchdog councilman. It was Overman who doggedly followed the trail of the lump sum payment to a former city utilities supervisor. He uncovered $-1\frac{1}{2}$ years after it occurred — the fact that nearly \$18,000 was paid to an employee at the time he resigned from the city.

Then Overman went further, he got proof. By checking through the records at City Hall, he was able to prove that the payment represented undocumented back wages claimed for overtime hours.

As it turned out, the proof that Overman turned up wasn't needed. When the city manager — now a private consultant — (and the few councilmen privvy to the action) were asked about the hitherto undisclosed payment, they were open about it. But Overman had done his homework, and had there been any question about the payment, he had the proof.

When workers in agencies have the courage to blow the whistle on misdeeds in government, they deserve commendations. For a private citizen to do the same kind of investigatory legwork is similarly to be applauded.

D.W. Overman is the best choice for city council District 2. The city needs more like him who are diligent to questionable actions dealt with outside the public eye. With Overman on the council, we would expect more light to shine on city government. And that's a good thing.

Non-involvement is worst crime

To the editor: Without taking sides in the issue, because I was not there, I am compelled to write this letter regarding the shootings in city park on last

Because of what my family has been going through for the past six weeks, I have become more aware than ever that we, as Citizens of the United States of America, need to help our law enforcement agencies in reporting any crime we might witness. When my granddaughter disappeared in broad daylight, at 6 p.m. on a Saturday afternoon in Dallas, in front of a school with people coming and going and living in the condos and apartments RIGHT THERE, NO ONE SAW ANYTHING.

The last person to see her now refuses to take a polygraph or cooperate in any way. The Dallas Police and the FBI only want to see if something will come to light that has not as yet. Now, because of his refusal to cooperate, he is a suspect. The fact that Christie has not been found is possibly because someone, who does not want to BECOME INVOLVED, will not come forward.

People have got to help solve the crimes in our country by not being afraid of the police, but by helping them. Due to the lack of citizen help crime is on the rampage and will continue to be so until we all understand that law enforcement officers cannot do their job alone.

I only hope that those people "who saw nothing" on Sunday never have to go through the agony that we and many others are going through because of "not seeing anything" at the scene of a crime.

Not wanting to become involved is a disease of the times. How can we teach our children and grandchildren that law officers are here to help us, if we, ourselves do not set the example? LYNETTE BROOKS pending final report on the skeletal remains. Some members are anxious to have done with the matter; others want to have all the lingering doubts resolved before submitting the final report.

One frustrating concern is that the Brazilian government, after almost 10 months of trying, has been unable to turn up a single X-ray that could be used to identify the skeleton positively. Mengele's diaries — which have been authenticated — told of numerous physical ailments that would likely have led to X-rays, as did testimony of the people who protected him in exile for more than 20 years.

Mengele have been found, none had an X-ray of their notorious patient. Mengele insisted on obtaining all his X-rays, they said.

One curious incident involved Mengele's hairball. apparently caused by ingestion of mustache bristles that lodged in his digestive tract. The doctor who treated Mengele was located, and he recalled the difficulty he had borrowing the X-rays he had taken

Doubt about Mengele remains splits team of forensic experts

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR WASHINGTON — Just as investigators from the United States, West Germany and Israel were in hot pursuit of Dr. Josef Mengele, the most notorious Nazi war criminal still on the lam, his family suddenly announced last year that he had drowned in 1979 and that his bones were buried in Brazil.

Forensic experts examined the skeletal remains and identified the bones as Mengele's "with reasonable scientific certainty." This led the three governments to call off their search for Adolf Hitler's "Angel of Death."

We pointed out some curious discrepancies that aroused our suspicion that maybe, just maybe, Mengele had pulled a hoax on the world and had escaped again. Our associate Lucette Lagnado pursued clues from Germany to Paraguay

Now the United States' leading forensic dentist Dr. Albert Dahlberg, has asked the Simon Wiesenthal Center to reopen the investigation of the skeletal remains exhumed in Brazil. He is professor emeritus of anthropology at the University of Chicago and is considered the dean and pioneer of forensic dentistry. This is the science of identifying planations various team members made recently at the annual convention of forensic scientists in New Dahlberg said. "They were a little too hasty, and the

when he wanted to discuss the unusual operation at a medical conference some time later.

The patient, whom the doctor knew then as Wolfgang Gerhard, was extremely reluctant to part with the X-rays even for a few days, and finally agreed only on condition that no copies be made. He scrupulously counted each X-ray, and checked them just as carefully when the doctor returned them.

X-rays of the lower abdomen would amost surely include portions of the pelvis and spine that could be matched against the bones dug up in Brazil. Mengele, himself an anthropologist, would have known that such X-rays could demolish any hoax he might habe been planning.

Dental records are also conspicuously absent, and Dahlberg said he was unimpressed by the dental evidence found in the Brazilian grave. He believes genetic studies might help to identify the few teeth as Mengele's or not, but this would require the Mengele family's cooperation, which has not been forthcoming

Meanwhile, the report of Dr. Donald Ortner, a Smithsonian Institution anthropologist who examined some of the remains ipndependently, was inconclusive. When asked the crucial question. Ortner first replied: "There is nothing in the skeleton which proves it is Mengele." But he also pointed out: There is nothing which proves it is not Mengele.'

Ortner finally acknowledged that the skeletal evidence he saw was not decisive. "I cannot, on the basis of what I see, resolve the question of whether it is a hoax or not," he said. "There is nothing that pins it down to a specific person. ... The variables are not sufficiently fine to make the point that it is

His gut instinct based on other tests, Ortner said, is that the bones in the Brazilian grave were Mengele's.

UNDER THE DOME: Pentagon poohbahs, pouting about the gruelling hours they must spend testifying on Capitol Hill, have been caught in a backfire. Government auditors found that the brass hats actually have spent far less time testifying before congressional committees in the past 10 years than they did in the decade previous. The report was requested by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., after complaints about the "immense burden" of having to testify on the hill. From 1965 to 1975, military officials spent an average total of 2,740 hours a year before committees; it dropped to an average of 1,642 hours a year from 1975 to 1985.

Let private schools alone

By SPENCER SANDOW Poor Gov. Mark White. He's being harangued by coaches and band directors for no pass-no play, by teachers for the TECAT test requirement and the career ladder, and by school districts for giving them additional burdens but no funds to implement them.

He probably couldn't stand the thought of being beaten on by church fundamentalists, pastors and religious parents too. That would be political death for any Bible Belt politician. So it appears he decided to back off a little in changing private school regulation.

New standards for church and private schools that drew hundreds of protests from Christian education supporters will be relaxed, State Board of Education Chairman Jon Brumley said, according to an Associated Press story.

Although the regulations stemmed not from the governor but from the state board of education, the board is governor-appointed and its actions reflect on him in the minds of voters.

The regulations approved by the board last month would have required teachers to have degrees from accredited schools and to teach certain basic classes. They would require private schools to give their students standardized tests to prove they are being properly taught.

Opponents complained the original regulations would infringe on religious freedoms.

White's much-talked-about system were proposed to give children a better education. Texas schoolchildren were ranked academically far below the rest of the country. They still are, but the situation is improving, statistics

In the realm of private education, however, it is doubtful the state could make any improvements. Statistics show children in private schools traditionally score much higher academically than their counterparts in public schools.

It has been routinely demonstrated that the private sector can do things much better and less expensively than the government. This is evident in private

Battle for union basis for Reagan fight

By W. DALE NELSON SANTA BARBARA, Calif. - The fervent

anti-communism that fuels President Reagan's crusade against leftists in Central America has its roots in a battle for control of a movie actors' union four decades ago.

'The communists in Nicaragua are not seeking dialogue and persuasion or pluralism," the president said in a Republican und-raising speech in New Orleans last week They want total power in their hands, and they have no respect for the borders of their neighbors. The battlegrounds of Central America in the 1980s are a far cry from the movie lots of Hollywood in the 1940s, but Reagan's words echo eerily his description of jousting with communists and their allies as an activist and later president of the Screen Actors' Guild. "I will say of the communists - they were the cause of the labor strike, they used minor jurisdictional disputes as excuses for their scheme," he wrote in an autobiographical account published in 1965. 'Their aim was to gain economic control of the motion picture industry in order to finance their activities and subvert the screen for their propaganda.'

As often is the case with Reagan, his views on the issue developed more cut of personal experience than scholarly analysis.

The heavy taxes he had to pay as a highsalaried movie star, for instance, clearly contributed to his stubborn opposition to tax increases as president "Because everyone thinks Hollywood is synonymous with great wealth, we have been and are discriminated against taxwise," he wrote in his autobiography "Where's the Rest Similarly, the fellow travelers of his

Hollywood days and the Sandinistas who plague him now appear linked in Reagan's mind as part of the worldwide communist conspiracy he sees as enduring and dangerous. Communist influence in Hollywood, which collapsed with the Nazi-Soviet pact of 1939, revived after World War II as Soviet and other communists abandoned their wartime cooperation with the West. Reagan, a liberal Democrat when he broke into the movies, played a key role in breaking a violent film studio strike engineered by the conference of Studio Unions, headed by Herbert Sorrel, later expelled from the national executive board of the Painters Union for having "willfully and knowingly associated with groups subservient to the communist party line.

'Some of the people against us were communists, some were knowing fellow travelers. and many were innocent dupes sincerely supporting a cause they believed was just, Reagan wrote.

By the same token, the president now argues that congressional opponents of his policy of arming Nicaraguan rebels are acting out of good motives but their actions will enhance communist power in the Western Hemisphere.

Once, he put himself in the same category. "From being an active (though unconscious) partisan in what now and then turned out to be communist causes, I little by little became disillusioned or perhaps, in my case, I should say awakened," he said. But if some of his fellow performers were dupes, as he had once been, Sorrel of the Conference of Studio Unions emerges in Reagan's script as the Hollywood equivalent of Daniel Ortega, the Nicaraguan president whom he accuses of betraying the aspirations of the people he led in revolution. "The communist plan for Hollywood was remarkably simple," Reagan wrote in his movie memoirs. "It was merely to take over the motion picture business 'Using the CSU as a vehicle for communist aims was a first step of admirable directness. It meant the unscrupulous manipulation of what might have been a legitimate dispute.

Silver Haired Legislature to fight for elderly's rights

Texas senior citizens are organizing a lobbying group to influence the government on issues concerning the elderly.

Senior citizens in representative districts and major cities throughout the state will elect a Silver Haired Legislature May 30, said Ed Shive of Big Spring, member of the American Association of Retired Persons and the Howard County Retired Teachers Association.

Donkeys find niche guarding goats

MOUNTAIN HOME (AP) Joan and Perry Bushong stand in a limestone-studded field west of Mountain Home evaluating their herd of 3,000 mohair-producing Angora goats and nine of their ranch help.

The Bushongs evaluate by observation because the "help" can't talk - they bray. But their record speaks for itself, say the Bushongs.

The Bushongs bought donkeys in August to guard their goats from scores of predators that roam the rocky Real County terrain on four of their ranches. In the past six months, since the donkeys were first introduced, no goats have been lost to the jaws of hungry scavengers.

Flocks of black buzzards, circling goat victims, used to be a familiar daily sight in the morning sky.
The Bushongs live 60 miles from

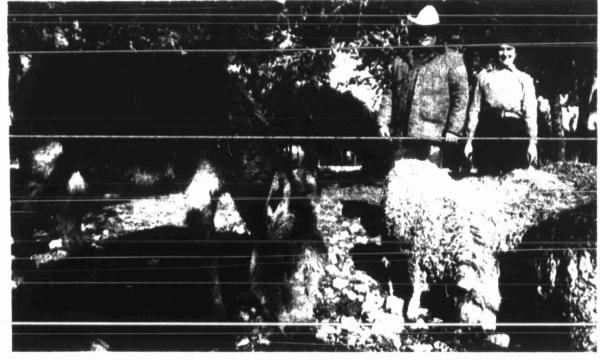

Kerrville and 36 miles from Rocksprings - where nights are filled with the wail of distant coyotes, where bobcats and Russian boar move across the wild countryside, where "ranch" still means 2,000 acres-plus and where even four-wheel-drive vehicles get

The land supports one animal unit per 25 acres. One cow, five sheep or six goats equal one animal unit. Fifteen windmills dot 20,000 acres of Bushong ranches, pulling water from below the arid soil.

Ninety-five percent of the U.S.'s mohair comes from within a 150-mile radius that includes this area. And ranchers like the Bushongs are struggling to protect their investments from a growing number of predators.

There was a time when controlling varmints in the area was something the family could trol methods. He found that guard manage with the help of their ranch hands and government trap- operations, weren't suitable for pers, but in 1984 increased numbers of coyotes and boars weighing up to 400 pounds moved into the area from the south.

The Bushongs estimate that in 1985 they lost more than 250 goats each worth about $60. Several lambs also were lost to the hungry culprits, and one longhorn calf was attacked and seriously injured.

Joan and Perry Bushong watch as one of their "guard donkeys" eats alongside a few of the couple's Angora goats at their ranch near Kerrville. Since the donkeys arrival at the ranch, the goat population has been safe from predators.

Bushong blames the recent predator population boom on the fact that many neighboring ranches are owned by absentee landowners who pay little attention to covotes and boars. Although they might have no interest in goats, he said they should understand that the white-tailed fawn crop also is suffering.

Frustrated by the predator problem, Bushong began studying condogs, while useful on smaller sprawling terrain of Cedar Springs Ranch or the 14,000-acre "West Kerr Ranch" he leases.

Talking to other ranchers at a goat sale, Bushong said he heard a "tall tale" about burros protecting flocks from coyotes.

It sounded far-fetched, but Bushong said he had nothing to clumps of prickly pear cactuses, lose. So last August the Bushongs bought nine jennies and a jack from a local horse trader. Prices ranged from $125 to $250 each. The animals had no prior training and probably had never seen goats before, Bushong said.

"You got to get 'em when they're young or you'll never make a goat out of 'em,'' he added.

Training was hit and miss at first, he explained.

"If two jennies are put in adjoining pastures, each with its own herd, they ignore the goats and just walk the fence and talk to each other," he added. "They got to get real lonely before they'll take up with whatever's there.'

But it's not hard to isolate the lop-eared guards and their broods on the Cedar Springs Ranch where 600 to 2,000-acre sections of craggy hills, generously accented by spiny drop into rugged canyons.

Desperate for fellowship, they eventually franternize with the shaggy, squat goats and become protective.

The Bushongs said they haven't lost a single goat since the donkeys became guards. 'We don't know how it works - whether they bray when a coyote comes around or whether coyotes are scared of donkeys or what," Mrs. Bushong said. Bushong added that donkeys don't solve the problem - they only keep the problem away from his herds. He calls "guard donkeys" one tool in the fight to cut losses. The Bushongs also use traps and "This August when we've had them a year, we'll know just how successful they are, but we'd have to say at this point we're happy with them," Mrs. Bushong said.

Youth Achievement Award nominations being taken

Nominations are being accepted through April 10 for the annual Youth Achievement Awards, sponsored by the Big Spring Herald, Zale's Jewelers and the Big Spring Rotary Club.

Four finalists will be chosen from each of the four Howard County high schools, said Herald publisher Tom Watson. One overall winner from each school also will be chosen for the award, he said.

"Leadership, scholarship and citizenship" are the qualities judged in the contest, he said. Anyone can nominate a senior for the awards and information is verified with the schools, he said. Judges are provided by the Rotary Club.

Judging should be complete by April 14, he said. Application blanks are printed in the Herald and should be sent to the newspaper at P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring. A photograph, preferably black and white, should be included.

Finalists will be notified by mail. The four overall winners will be announced at a dinner in early May for finalists and parents. School officials and principals also are invited to the dinner.

This is the 20th year the Youth Achievement Awards will be

Dear Abby

Sister tells story of father's abuse to one who loves him

DEAR ABBY: My sister recently informed me that eight years ago she was sexually abused by our father. She said he didn't go "all the way," but he sexually abused her nevertheless. Our mother found out (how I don't know), and all three went for

At the time, I knew something was wrong, but I didn't know why. I am all mixed up about my feelings now. Why did my sister tell me about it? I have always loved my father. Am I supposed to hate him

Actually, I think I am madder at my sister for telling me. She seems to want to hurt our father — which I can understand — but she didn't care who else she hurt in the process.

When I asked her why she told me now about something that happened eight years ago, she said she thought I should know what our father did to her.

and it shouldn't be kept a secret.

What I want to know is, Why do you think she told me, and who should I be mad at?

DEAR MIXED UP: I don't think you should be mad at anybody. Perhaps your sister wanted to open the door for a discussion, in case your father had abused you, too. (It is not uncommon for a father who sexually molests one child to molest the

Your sister is obviously still very bitter and angry; she needs more therapy to resolve these painful feelings. She also needs your patience and understanding

DEAR ABBY: "Big in Flagstaff" asked if a person who is 5 feet 10 and weighs 370 pounds can fit into an airplane seat going overseas. You said, "If you go first class, you should have no problem."

Obviously neither you, "Big" nor his travel agent has ever been in the coach section of a modern

If any of you had, you would know that all one needs to do is lift the arm rest between any two seats, and you will have enough space to accommodate a

Your advice to consider first class is both ludicrous and expensive. Coach fare from Flagstaff to London is $613 round trip, First class is $3,606. If "Big" were to buy two coach seats, it would cost him $1,226, and he would fly comfortably, as opposed to flying first class for $3,606

You flew it on this one, ABBY C. J. PADFIELD,

LA MESA, CALIF.
DEAR C.J.: What's fare is fare. You'll get no argument from me.

DEAR ABBY: I need help with a problem. My 16-year-old daughter refuses to eat. She is losing weight! She is 5 feet tall and I don't think she weights more than 80 pounds. She claims I am nagging too much, and we always end up in a fight.

Is her diet a "teen-age fad" that I am making too much over? She says she eats out, but I can see by the way her pants sag that she is lying.

NO NAME, PLEASE DEAR NO NAME: Yes! Your daughter is "anorexic" - she perceives herself as being "too fat," so she's starving herself. She needs to see a doctor who will probably recommend an eating disorder clinic or a psychiatrist. Don't delay.

'Preston Harris Award' created for employees of State Hospital honoring Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent at Big Spring State Hospital from 1958-1975, was announced by Dr. Gary Miller, commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

In a letter to A.K. Smith, Big Spring State Hospital superintendent, Miller identified Harrison as "one who was admired and respected across the state and nationally for his pioneering, innovative approach to mental health

In his letter, Miller continued, "His unique vision and leadership resulted in many 'firsts' for our department: the first community-based program for mental health patients; the 'work village' concept; development and implementation of the first geographic unit in Texas:

Creation of an annual award and innovative volunteer programs. He created the Outreach Program, which was later implemented statewide.

> According to Miller, the award will be given annually to an employee of the Texas Department of Mental Health and, Mental Retardation who has made significant contributions to the department in terms of creativity, efficiency and innovation. Names of winners will be engraved on a permanent plaque displayed at the Central Office in Austin, with a mini-plaque presented to each

> In commenting on the announcement, Smith stated, "I did not have the privilege of knowing Dr. Harrison, but I feel that I have come to know him through the legacy he left here a solid foundation on which we have been able to build."

Gardening experts talk to club

Don Richardson, Howard County agricultural extension agent, and Rick Minzenmayer, county entomologist, spoke at a recent meeting of the Rosebud Garden Club.

Richardson recommended taking soil tests to determine what kinds of fertilizers are needed in gardens. He suggested careful choosing in selecting a garden site: One that's sunny and close to water where plants don't have to compete. He also said to to utilize more native plants in landscaping and to conserve water by using mulch.

Minzenmayer said that five percent Sevin Dust will kill ticks and fleas

Minaenmayer stated that July 1 is the time to apply insecticides for grub worms and to keep in mind that chemicals are safe if used according to the instructions on the label

Duncan wins high rook score

GOD.... May God enlighten our mind that we may know Him as He really is, call upon Him as He really is, not a creature of our own making. What is God like? What is He like in Himself? (cf Isaiah 40:18f) What has God revealed about Himself that can be answered from the Bible? God reveals himself, or should I say, He reveals something of Himself, for His total self is hidden in the light which no man can approach and live. What He is totally cannot be thought or uttered for His glory cannot be expressed in human speech. When we fully consider the fearful mystery and Majesty of His Being, at what is revealed, we refrain from words and sit in awe. May we learn that nothing can be added to God. Nothing is necessary to Him, His Being, for if it were so, it would reveal an imperfection in Him, and how can God be God, the Bible revealed God, if there is an imperfection? Who can fathom the thought that though God did not need us, yet He sought us and desires our worship? Reversal of tubal ligation still iffy

Am I right to be concerned?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: In 1973 I had a tubal ligation done. The doctor's exact words to me at the time were, "Your tubes are cut and tied." Can this process be reversed? Is it possible for me to get pregnant? What is the cost of such an operation? I am 34 years old. — Mrs. J.S.

Tubes can be and often are rejoined, success depending on where the original cut was made, how long the tubes have remained cut, and how much of the cut-off tubes remained. By success of the reversal I of course refer to subsequent pregnancy, and that's far from being a cut-and-dried proposition.

Some reports have claimed success as high as 60 percent. It may take up to 10 months for conception to occur. Also, the women should be informed that there is a greater chance for having an ectopic pregnancy with tubal reversal. That's a pregnancy in which the fertilized egg develops outside the uterus, most often in the tube itself. As you know, the tube is the means by which the egg gets to the uterus. An ectopic pregnancy almost always has to be terminated to avoid rupture of the tube.

As to cost, this will differ according to several variables. It's enough to note that it is major surgery of the elective kind and expensive. You can talk it over with your gynecologist, who can tell you your prospects for success and general cost ranges.

It's best to consider tubal ligation as permanent at the time of the surgery, and not in any way a temporary birth control method.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Everytime my husband and I have our blood pressures taken it is a different reading. Please tell me what normal is for a female, age 75, and for a man the same age. — V.V.

Regular readers can skip this The newest official recommendations are that the first number of a blood pressure reading should be less than 140. The second number should be less than 90.

I don't know where you and your husband have been getting your readings. There are variations in readings from day to day and from one part of a day to another. So it is hazardous to proclaim high blood pressure on a single reading unless it's way out of the ballpark.

Let me suggest that you get one of the home blood pressure kits and take your own readings. They aren't very expensive and give you clear readouts without your having to plug a stethoscope in your ears and all the rest. You can record readings for a few days to assess things and then present those to your doctor if they are out of the range I mentioned.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My wife can drink other beverages but red wine zonks her out. I mean she gets a terrific headache after. What is this red-wine business? — L.L.

Red-wine headache is wellrecognized. Shortly after drinking the smallest amount the person gets a headache that gradually increases in intensity, reaching peak in about an hour.

One authority attributes this to an intolerance triggered through action of prostaglandins in the body. I can't tell you why red wine is involved. It is sort of like an instant hangover for these people.

Dr. Herbert S. Kaufman (Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center, San Francisco) made a study of this. He had a group of red-wine headache-prone people take one aspirin a half-hour before sipping test glasses of the wine. Many reported freedom from their accustomed headache.

Aspirin works against prostaglandins, but I'm issuing no guarantees. My advice is to avoid the red wine and find some other

Dr. Kaufman found certain common factors in red wine headache history. He says people can minimize the effect by using wine from corked rather than screw-ontop bottles. California wines are better than French. Light exercise helps after use. He advises strict avoidance before bedtime.

Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

NCAA adds 3-point goal

DALLAS (AP) — A decision by the NCAA men's basketball rules committee to impose a three-point goal and the use of instant replays to correct timing and scoring errors has met with mixed reviews by college coaches

One praised the moves, another called the three-point goal "silly." Notre Dame's Digger Phelps was less than enthusiastic about the rules changes, announced Wednesday by Dr. Edward S. Steitz, secretary-editor of the rules committee and athletic director of Springfield, Mass., College.

"It would be nice, one of these years, to let the game settle down and see what we really have,' Phelps said. "If anything needed to be addressed, it's still the foul situation at the end of the game." Southern Methodist Coach Dave Bliss thinks the idea will work.

"I think you'll see a lot of dramatic comeback attempts and a lot of dramatic losses," Bliss said. "I think it will be positive."

Under the new rule, three points will be credited for a shot made 19 feet, 9 inches from the basket. In another rules change, coaches no longer will be charged with a technical foul if they leave the coaching box to protest errors involving time, scoring and alternating possession. Louisville assistant coach Bobby Dotson questioned the need for the three-point goal.

"The game was going awfully good," he said. "I don't see why they need to mess with it. I can't understand why they would put something like this in. "I think it's silly."

Steitz said the three point goal would ease the rough play beneath

"It's going to force teams to play more defense away from the basket," Steitz said. "People will say 'you are putting the little man back into the game' and that's good.'

Steitz stressed that the used of instant replays would be used only to clarify timing and scoring questions

An incident that occurred in Kansas City during the NCAA Midwest front court will have a five-second Regional two weeks ago was a factor decision to use instant replay, Steitz said.

A clock malfunctioned causing 15 seconds to be lost during a game between Kansas and Michigan State and the incident was blamed for blemishing the Jayhawks'

'When there is a problem area that we haven't addressed, we'll try to address it," said Steitz, athletic director at Springfield, Mass., College.

Steitz said conferences experimented with different distances for the three-point goal before adopting the 19-9 distance.

'Some conferences used the pro distance (23-9) and didn't find that desirable," Steitz said. "As a result of a questionnaire, most of the coaches preferred 19-9."

In another rules changes, the committee eliminated the 28-foot hash marks and the combination count while a player is being closely guarded in the mid-court area. Under the new rule, the entire

The committee also listed several items for experimentation including:

- Creation of a rear boundary arc concept. Instead of requiring 10 seconds to cross midcourt, teams would have to advance to the arc within 10 seconds

Widening the free throw lanes to the NBA width of 16-feet.

Reducing the size of the backboard as a safety factor. The size reduction would be below the basket to help prevent player

HC rodeo starts 1st of four shows

The Howard College Rodeo team will try to move up in the Southwest Region rodeo standings when they host the Howard College-Frank Phillips Rodeo this Thursday through Sunday at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl.

Howard coach Dusty Johnson will take his freshmen-laden squad in the rodeo hoping to make up up ground on the leaders from their sixth place position. Right now both the Howard men and women rest in sixth in the 15-team region going into the four-day event.

But the team top five scores of the season determine the outcome, so Howard still has a reasonable chance at their first region title since 1979. Currently Western Texas College is leading the men's division and Eastern New Mexico University is leading the women's competition.

Leading the way for the Howard men has been freshman bareback rider Bill Berry along with fellow freshman bull rider Gary Snokhous. Snokhous is fourth in his event while Berry is resting in 10th place.

Freshman Karen Snodgrass leads the Howard women in the barrel racing. She finished second in the Odessa rodeo two weeks ago. Freshman Karan Cochran is another top performer. She currently holds down the fifth position in the breakaway roping. She is also a good bet in the goat tying event. The stock for this year's rodeo will be provided by Harry Vold Rodeo Corporation of Avondale, Colorado. Chuck Baley is in charge of the animals for this rodeo. Vold Rodeo Corporation has served such rodeos as Cheyenne Frontier Days and the National Collegiate Finals.

Action Thursday, Friday and Saturday night begins at 7:30. The rodeo will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Reds trying to unseat LA Dodgers in NL West

By The Associated Press The talent is there, so the key may be attitude. And Cincinnati Reds player-manager Pete Rose has a jump on the others in that "I think if our guys come back with the same attitude they left with in '85, we have a good chance of winning the West," Rose said.

The Los Angeles Dodgers won the National League West by 5½ games over Cincinnati last year, but with almost all the teams in the division on the rise, it's time for a

"I just feel we're going to be a lot stronger ballclub with Bo Diaz for a whole year, with Buddy Bell for a whole year, and John Denny and Bill Gullickson," Rose said. "With those four guys, we ought to be able to make up the games the Dodgers beat us by last year.

In 1985, the Reds closed to within four games before falling back another 1½ games at the finish. They were followed, in order, by Houston, San Diego, Atlanta and San Francisco

In 1986, the division will look more like this: Cincinnati Reds

Bell, the third baseman, and Diaz, the catcher, came to the Reds in midseason 1985. Then, the Reds went out and got Denny from Philadelphia and Gullickson from Montreal to help out rookie 20-game winner Tom Browning and Mario Soto.

"I don't want to go out on a limb," Rose said. "But I'll be very disappointed if we don't win the West.

Even with this new talent, however, the real key could rest with two holdovers, Dave Parker and Nick Esasky. Parker had 34 homers and 125 RBI last year; he needs another year like that. At the same time, Esasky needs to improve from the 21-homer, 66-RBI season of 1985

'There's a lot of teams that can win the Western Division," Rose said. "It's just a matter of what team stays the healthiest and what teams get the most breaks.' Los Angeles Dodgers 'We've managed to do very well

Celtics set another record

By The Associated Press To K.C. Jones, records are no big deal, even when they are 36 years

"It is rest and preparation for the playoffs that are important," the Boston coach said Wednesday night after the Celtics established a single-season record with their 28th straight home victory. "A team in 1934 broke a record. Who cares? Twenty years from now nobody will care about this record."

The Celtics beat the Detroit Pistons 122-106 with an overpowering performance by their front line of Larry Bird, Robert Parish and Kevin McHale, who combined for 83 points and 37 rebounds.

"It's something that happens to be here on the way to the playoffs," Jones said of the record that broke the NBA mark for consecutive home victories established by the Minneapolis Lakers in 1949-50. "I really can't get into the record. I can get into what we need to win the ballgame."

But Detroit Coach Chuck Daly said the Boston players wanted the record.

"I'm sure the winning streak was in the back of their minds because they all played very hard tonight," Daly said. "I would rather have come in here on another night."

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 93, New York 87, Phoenix 110, Golden State 101; Los Angeles Clippers 97, Utah 94; and Portland 121, Seattle 109.

Parish had a season-high 30 points and 18 rebounds, Bird had 29 points, 11 rebounds and 13 assists and McHale added 24 points and eight rebounds.

The Pistons played without guard Isiah Thomas, who missed his third consecutive game with a pulled left hamstring.

The Celtics now are 37-1 at Boston, equalling the mark for most nome victories in a season a chieved twice each by Philadelphia and the Los Angeles Lakers. If Boston wins its remaining six games, it will tie the NBA mark for best single-season record, 69-13, set by the Lakers in 1971-72.

76ers 93, Knicks 87

Philadelphia, playing without center Moses Malone, still had plenty of healthy players to beat New York, which lost its sixth consecutive game.

Charles Barkley had 18 points and 19 rebounds and scored the first five points of the final period to extend a two-point lead to 73-66, and the Knicks, who have lost seven players for the season because of injuries, never caught up.

Julius Erving added 23 points and rookie Terry Catledge 19, while Maurice Cheeks collected 14 points, nine assists and seven steals for the 76ers, who have lost Malone for the rest of the regular season because of a fractured eye socket. Darrell Walker led New York with 18 points.

Suns 110, Warriors 101
Phoenix improved its playoff chances with a strong fourth quarter against Golden State.

Alvan Adams and Larry Nance, who had 31 points, 15 rebounds and seven blocked shots, scored eight points each as the Suns outscored the Warriors 37-22 in the fourth period to rally from a 79-73 deficit. The lead changed hands 11 times in the quarter before Jay Humphries' jumper with 3:54 left put Phoenix ahead for good at 96-95.

Phoenix, which also got 27 points from Walter Davis, is now only 1½ games behind San Antonio in the race for the eighth and final Western Conference playoff berth. Golden State, which was paced by Joe Barry Carroll with 18 points, is out of playoff contention.

Clippers 97, Jazz 94

Los Angeles also stayed in playoff contention as Benoit Benjamin had 18 points and 16 rebounds for the Clippers against Utah.

The Clippers' fourth straight victory moved them to within 2½ games of the Spurs. Los Angeles trails Phoenix by a game.

Mark Eaton's two hook shots capped an 8-0 Utah run, giving the Jazz an 86-82 advantage with 6:56 left. The lead changed hands four times before Benjamin gave Los Angeles the lead at 95-94 with a slam dunk with two minutes remaining, and Norm Nixon hit a 15-foot jumper for the final points of the game.

Adrian Dantley, battling Atlanta's Dominque Wilkins and Denver's Alex English for his third league scoring title, scored a 29 points to lead all scorers. Dantley leads Wilkins by .10 and English by

Trail Blazers 121, Sonics 109
Kiki Vandeweghe scored 36 points on 17-for-22 shooting against Seattle as Portland broke a 13-game road losing streak.

Vandeweghe had 12 points in the fourth quarter as the Trail Blazers broke open a close game, outscoring the Sonics 39-23 in the final period.

Xavier McDaniel had 27 points and 15 rebounds for the Super-Sonics, while Gerald Henderson added 21. Clyde Drexler had 24 points for Portland.

YMCA gets new program director

If you've noticed the number of different activities which are now being scheduled at the local YMCA, some of them can be attributed to new YMCA Program Director Renae Berg.

Miss Berg is completiting her first—month in the position, which was formerly held by Bob Morton. Berg comes from the "Y" via Malone Hogan Hospital where she served her internship for public relations.

Berg hails from Sioux City, Iowa where she was a member of the swimming and diving teams. She got her Associate's Degree in Liberal Arts from Mankato State University in Minnesota.

From MSU she transfered to South Dakota State where she received her Bachelor's Degree in Public Recreation. From there she served her internship here at Malone Hogan.

'The division has really changed," Lasorda said. "It's gotten stronger. I believe each club has improved a great deal. I definitely think it will be stronger and more entertaining.'

It could be a close race — one of the most hotly contested in baseball — but not too close to call. Dodgers No. 2.

Atlanta Braves

There was a changing of the guard in Atlanta. Bobby Cox took over as General Manager, and Chuck Tanner was brought in to manage. Both have made immediate impressions — Cox with two key trades and Tanner with his infectious optimism.

If it weren't for some uncertainty on the staff of starting pitchers, the Braves could give either Cincinnati or Los Angeles a good run. Problem is, however, that after opening-day starter Rick Mahler and young left-hander Zane Smith, the rest of the starting jobs still are in a state of flux. Tanner, as always, has a bright side.

"We've got a lot of arms with equal major league ability," he said. "We had 13 or 14 pitchers trying to make the team, and we could only take 10. I can't complain. Some other teams are hunting for

The most positive note on the staff: Reliever Bruce Sutter is recovering nicely from shoulder surgery and should be a force

Cox made two important trades in the offseason, getting Ozzie Virgil from Philadelphia to catch and Ted Simmons from Milwaukee to strengthen their No. 1 preseason priority, the bench.

With Bob Horner healthy and Dale Murphy a model of consistency, the Braves are good enough for San Diego Padres The Padres can't help but be a little disorganized this year, at least early on. Manager Dick Williams dug his trenches for a battle with the front office, then went AWOL. He quit during spring training, leaving the job of finishing what he started to Steve Boros.

Boros has at least one bright side some pretty good pitching with starters LaMarr Hoyt, Andy Hawkins, Eric Show and Dave Dravecky, and a strong builpen with Goose Gossage and comer Lance McCullers.

On the field, the Padres must fill some infield spots, like third base, but the real problem is speed. Leon "Bip" Roberts, whom the Padres drafted out of the Pittsburgh organization last December, may help in that area if he can hold down the second base job Houston Astros

Playing in the Astrodome, the Astros generally have been a team built for speed. Not last year, though.

In 1985, the Astros stole only 96 bases, better in the league than only San Diego and Atlanta. Firstyear Manager Hal Lanier spent five years as a coach with the St. Louis Cardinals before coming to Houston, so he recognizes the deficiency.

"If you're going to live by being aggressive, you have to take chances," he said. "You can't wait for two or three hits in one inning."

To that end, Lanier will be asking Bill Doran, Kevin Bass, new acquisition Mickey Hatcher and even veteran Jose Cruz to start running. San Francisco Giants

There doesn't appear to be any way out of the cellar this year for the San Francisco Giants, despite some player moves that could help. They got Candy Maldonado from the Dougers to help Chili Davis, Dan Gladden and Jeff Leonard in the outfield, and Juan Berenguer has been added to the pitching

The starting pitching probably will give new Manager Roger Craig fits, but at least he has a good bullpen with the lefty-righty combo of Mark Davis and Scott Garrelts.

Americans flock to Japan baseball

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's baseball season opens Friday with 11 new foreign players, who will be trying to show they are worth their high salaries and live up to the high demands put on their talents.

They join nine Americans and three Taiwanese in Japan's two six-team leagues.

Most of the newcomers this year are youngsters from the U.S. minor leagues. Carlos Ponce and Doug Loman of the Yokohama Taiyo Whales, Mark Brouhard of the Yakult Swallows and Brad 'Animal'' Lesley of the Hankyu Braves all spent most or part of last year with Vancouver, a Milwaukee Brewers' farm club.

They will be joined as rookies by George Vukovich, 29, formerly of the Cleveland Indians, who will receive an estimated $667,000 to play for the Seibu Lions, and former California Angels reliever Luis Sanchez, 32, who will earn a similar salary for the Vomiuri Giants, Japan's most popular

Pat Putnam, 31, who played for the Kansas City Royals' Omaha farm team last year, will be with the Nippon Ham Fighters, trying to regain the form that saw him hit 18 unaccustomed language and living home runs for the Texas Rangers in his rookie year in 1979.

The new players will have a hard act to follow. Last year, former Ranger Randy Bass, in his third year in Japan, won the Central League Triple Crown with a .354 average, 54 home runs and 134 runs batted in during the 130-game season. He led the Hanshin Tigers of Osaka to the pennant and their first Japan Series championship.

Among other returnees are former Montreal Expo Warren Cromartie, who hit .309 with 32 homers for the Yomiuri Giants; 1984 Pacific League Triple Crown winner Greg "Boomer" Wells, who batted .327 with 34 homeers for the Hankyu Braves, and Dick Davis, .343 with 40 homers for the Kintetsu Buffaloes.

The foreigners — each team is allowed two on its roster — have a far more precarious job situation than Japanese players, who often play with the same team their entire careers and are given work after they retire with the private railways or department store chains that own many of the teams.

They also must put up with the conditions, spartan facilities at many parks, and the long, hard practices required of baseball players in Japan, even during the regular season. They must get used to the fact that they will always be expendable "helpers" who are not supposed to outshine the Japanese

But the rewards can be great. Bass, a journeyman player in the majors before coming to Japan, will earn about $722,000 this year, while Cromartie, Wells, Sanchez and Vukovich all will be in the $560,000 range.

In contrast, Takashi Nishimoto, a 12-year veteran and the highestpaid Japanese on the wealthy Yomiuri Giants, receives about $250,000. Koji Yamamoto, who has hit 509 home runs in 17 years with the Hiroshima Toyo Carp, gets about $472,000.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning delays are soon replaced by a chance to put into motion your most talented gifts, so watch for the best ways you can make headway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) First handle a long-time responsibility and then get into the activities that mean much to you with the aid of interesting friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep that outside promise to a partner early, and later retire to the quiet of your study and plan how to become more successful. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Once you get important work done, be out socially with persons who can assist you in gaining some personal wish.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Keep a promise to your mate in the morning, and then handle the outside obligations that need quick attention.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Take care of that home affair, and then get into outside activities that are interesting and can be most profitable to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Hang on to any situation that can bring greater concord between you and vour mate. Be more practical in business.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Someone who is intrigued with one of your talents should be listened to. Concentrate on one particular desire and go after it. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are dynamic today and can accomplish a good deal and also get rid of obstacles in the path of your progress. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) See a bigwig who will appreciate your ability and be helpful to you. Don't stay up late tonight. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be more concerned with needs of your family, even if you are pressured to get something done. Treat them nicely. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are so enthused about showing your finest capabilities to the right people that not a moment should be lost in doing so. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may get some excellent ideas that should be jotted down so that you do not forget them. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will do very well in modern types of vocations. An inventive mind here; don't try to make him or her conform to the traditional, since this would curtail the fine promise of great success that is indicated in this life. Provide the best education possible, with emphasis on technology.
