City weighs budget options

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Faced with a looming budget deficit for the 1986-87 fiscal year, the City Council mulled a series of fiscal options ranging from a small tax increase to a scale-back of bond sales at a work session Monday.

Next year's projected general fund deficit of $217,000 is linked to a dwindling city tax base eroded by the plunge of oil prices, farm troubles and depressed property values, Councilman Rod McEwen said this morning.

City consultant Don Davis told the council that $6 million is expected to be shaved from the city tax roll because of the poor performance of the local economy. The city's tax roll represents the appraised value of all property taxed by the city.

Because of the crunch in revenue projections, city fathers decided Monday to pare $700,000 from the $3.8 million in bonds earmarked for sale to finance a range of capital improvements.

City Secretary Tom Ferguson told councilmen if the entire $3.8 million package went through, about $500,000 would be needed to service the bond debt. That, coupled with city expenditures adjusted up for inflation, would necessitate a 3 percent tax increase or a $35 per year jump for the average homeowner, Ferguson said.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford said he was unsure if the city should move forward with such big ticket items as a $1.6 million project to improve water pressure on the south side of town.

Rutherford also questioned the need for an increase in the city's operation and maintenance budget, which was nudged higher to account for inflation.

"I have a question in my mind of how many people are going to meet their (tax) obligations, increase or no increase," Rutherford said.

Driver may have seen missing girl

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Big Spring native Christie Proctor, who disappeared from her Dallas home Feb. 15, may have been seen at an Ontario, Calif., truck stop, a truck driver told Dallas police.

Lisa Brooks, Christie's aunt of Big Spring, said a female truck driver was at the California truck stop over Easter weekend when "an obnoxious little girl kept bothering her."

It was not until the driver got to Mesquite and saw a poster that she realized the girl may have been 10-year-old Christie, Brooks said.

Dallas police subjected the woman to a polygraph and hypnosis, and her story remained the same, Brooks said.

"It's a trail that's more than a week old, but that's all we've had" for some three weeks, she said.

The girl reportedly was seen with a man, a woman and two other children. The man was about 40 years old, clean shaven with dark hair and a fair complexion. The woman was obese, bleached blonde and the driver described her as "a real pig," Brooks said. The children were a girl 8 to 10 years

High Court resists House subpoenas

AUSTIN (AP) — A Texas Ranger has been dispatched to deliver subpoenas to members of the Texas Supreme Court, setting up a potential showdown between a House investigating committee and high court justices.

But a House Judicial Affairs Committee spokeswoman today said the subpoenas apparently hadn't yet been delivered to two justices the committee wants to testify.

Chief Justice John Hill says he wants to cooperate with a legislative committee's investigation, but he believes subpoenas of two high court justices violate constitutional principles.

"I want to assure you that we mean no disrespect to the committee in refusing to allow individual justices to respond to the legislative subpoenas, but we believe them to be improper under the separation of powers doctrine," Hill said Monday.

Despite his position against the subpoenas, Hill said he and other justices would be willing to meet openly in a Supreme Court conference room with the House Committee on Judicial Affairs, which voted 6-0 Monday to subpoena Associate Justices C.F. Ray and William Kilgarrin.

Committee Chairman Frank Tejeda, D-San Antonio, said the panel is looking into allegations about the proposed transfer of two multimillion-dollar cases involving San Antonio lawyer Pat Maloney Sr. from the 4th Court of Appeals to another appeals court.

Margaret Lloyd, right, and Garner Thixton of the Big Spring Humane Society bathe an unhappy-looking dog Saturday in Lloyd's back yard. The Humane Society has planned several activities throughout April for Pets Are Wonderful Month.

Volunteers keep shelter going

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Most times Margaret Lloyd has a menagerie of four-footed friends staying at her house. Her current guests are three orphaned kittens not yet weaned, three older cats and several dogs.

Lloyd heads the Big Spring Humane Society, which takes care of abandoned animals and finds homes for them. The society deals with 75 to 100 animals a month, she estimates.

Now the animals stay at the pound or in volunteers' homes. But soon, Lloyd hopes, the society will have its own animal shelter for the purpose. The society is looking for a house or mobile home just outside the city limits.

In the meantime, however, Lloyd is planning to train volunteers April 12 to man the city animal shelter on weekends, when a lot of people drop by looking for animals.

The shelter is open afternoons from 3 to 4 p.m., but many times the directors are called to pick up animals then and can't remain at the shelter to help customers, Lloyd said. It's a complaint the society often receives from the community, she said.

She hopes keeping the shelter open with volunteers will help cut down on the number of animals that have to be destroyed. People have more time to visit the shelter to see if their missing animal is being held or to see if there's an animal there they'd like to adopt, she said.

Lloyd said she hates to have an animal put to sleep. "I'd like to save them all," but priority must be put on saving the ones for which homes are more likely to be found, she said. The society often places these animals in temporary "foster homes" until adoption, while other, less fortunate animals may be left at the pound.

Thai policemen inspecting the bomb explosion site at the Erawan Hotel in Bangkok Tuesday where U.S. Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger was scheduled to attend a state dinner.

Weinberger censures Vietnamese strategy

SURIN, Thailand (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger today lashed out at Vietnam's "brutal invasion tactics" as he visited civilian victims of border fighting and toured an artillery base along the Thai-Cambodian frontier.

Weinberger's 2½-hour visit to the border was seen as a major demonstration of American support for an ally facing Soviet-backed forces in neighboring Cambodia.

Later in the day, a bomb exploded in the parking lot of a Bangkok hotel about 90 minutes before Weinberger was to arrive for a state dinner, and three people were reported injured, two seriously. Weinberger was at the Hilton Hotel when the bomb went off, but was to have passed within five yards of the site on his way to the reception.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the bombing at the government-owned Erawan Hotel. The state dinner was moved to the Hilton, where Weinberger is staying during his three-day visit.

About 150 students and workers rallied today opposite Government House in Bangkok, where Weinberger and Prime Minister

Prem Tinsulanonda were meeting, to protest protectionist U.S. trade legislation and a plan to establish a stockpile of U.S. armaments in Thailand from which the southeast Asia country could draw in an emergency. The demonstrators carried banners reading "Stop suppressing our economy" and "Stockpile, no thanks."

A government release said Prem and Weinberger discussed security matters, joint military exercises and other issues. It said the stockpile plan would designed "to enhance the ability of the Royal Thai Armed forces to resist outside aggression."

At the border, an entire village of about 1,000 people, including farmers, children and wizened elders who had been driven from their homes by the fighting, welcomed Weinberger to the region with American flags and traditional dances.

The U.S. defense secretary flew by helicopter to the frontier where Thai and Vietnamese forces have clashed periodically since Hanoi's invasion of Cambodia in late 1978.

Names in the news

By The Associated Press
TEL AVIV, Israel — Actor ROD STEIGER said he was afraid terrorists might harm him after a photographer took his picture in a street here, according to a published report.

...afraid of terrorists

Steiger, who is in Israel to do a film about the exploits of a crack Israeli security agency, told the photographer "don't publish the picture. The terrorists will get at me," the daily Hadashot reported Monday.

The Oscar-winning film star is playing in a Canadian-Israeli coproduction called "Gideon's Sword," which recounts some of the recent exploits of Israel's counter-espionage organization, the Mossad, in the war against terrorism.

SUNDANCE, Utah — Actor ROBERT REDFORD says he opposes lengthening a four-lane highway through Provo Canyon even though it would improve access to his ski resort.

"For me the canyon is symbolic of many things, and it's something that I want to preserve," said Redford, who moved to Utah 22 years ago and owns Sundance Resort.

Last summer, state crews widened the entrance to the canyon and built a four-lane road reaching four miles into the canyon, the site of at least six fatal accidents during the past two months. Plans call for continuing the four lanes even further.

MEXICO CITY — Occidental Petroleum Corp. Chairman ARMAND HAMMER has contributed $100,000 to the earthquake damaged General Hospital and promised to continue helping it rebuild.

ROBERT REDFORD

Hammer and representatives from the UCLA Medical Center toured the spacious hospital complex Monday with "Miami Vice" star Edward James Olmos, who represented a group of Floridians interested in helping earthquake victims.

The hospital's eight-story gynecological wing and adjoining residence for physicians collapsed during the Sept. 19 earthquake, killing scores of doctors, staff members and patients.

WASHINGTON — Actress ANN JILLIAN, singer TEDDY PENDERGRASS, EDWARD M. KENNEDY JR. and Senate Majority Leader BOB DOLE have received awards for demonstrating the ability to overcome serious handicaps.

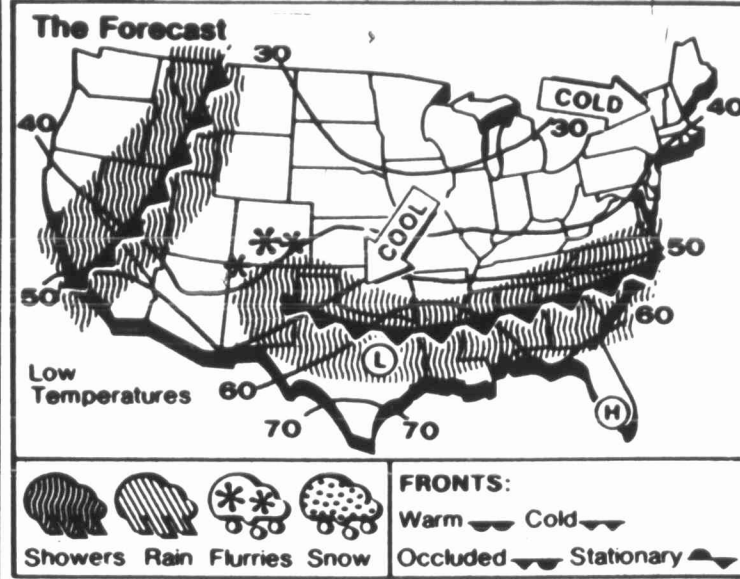

The awards were presented Monday as part of a benefit for the National Rehabilitation Hospital.

Miss Jillian recently underwent a double mastectomy. Pendergrass was partially paralyzed in an automobile accident. Kennedy, the son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., lost his right leg because of cancer, and Dole, R-Kan., has only partial use of his right arm, which was shattered by gunfire during World War II combat.

LOS ANGELES — Entertainer RUDY VALLEE will probably be hospitalized for several more weeks while recuperating from surgery for throat cancer, a hospital spokesman said.

It was thought earlier that Vallee might be released next week from Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, said the spokesman, Ron Wise.

The family had been at the truck stop for a couple of days, using the showers and other facilities, Brooks said. The man said he was a truck driver, but the woman driver who spoke to Dallas police said she never saw him go to the trucker's parking lot. He always went to the automobile parking lot. The woman told police she never saw what kind of vehicle he was driving, Brooks said.

Ontario, Calif., is about 50 miles outside of Los Angeles, Brooks said.

Dallas police are still searching for the family and anyone else who might have seen them, investigator Martha Pena of the police youth division said this morning. Police officers have spoken to employees of the truck stop and to other truckers the driver knew who were there over the weekend, but they have not found anyone else who remembers seeing the girl, Pena said.

Christie, who moved with her mother and brother to Dallas in November 1985, is the granddaughter of Ralph and Lynette Brooks, owners of Blum's Jewelers.

She disappeared the afternoon of Feb. 15 while walking a few blocks to her Dallas apartment complex from a friend's house.

A reward totaling more than $20,000 has been placed in a fund at the First National Bank for Christie's safe return.

Strike impacts oil prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil futures prices fell back by more than a dollar in morning trading today, erasing a good part of Monday's hefty gains, which came as traders foresaw a cutback in world oil supplies caused by a strike in Norway.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, contracts for May delivery of West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude, were selling at $13.00 a 42-gallon barrel. That was down from Monday's $14.33 close, but still higher than Friday's $12.74 settlement and last Tuesday's low of $9.75.

Analysts had suggested that Monday's rally would be temporary.

C-City short of funds for new fire station

COLORADO CITY — The City Council decided Monday night to sell certificates of obligation to make up for a shortage of donations to build the new fire station.

City Manager Brenda Tarter said Marion Bassham, a private citizen, donated 50 percent of the $413,000 necessary to build the structure. The county also donated some money, but Tarter said "the other funds just aren't here yet." She estimated that $95,000 would "be the most that we will have to come up with."

By utilizing certificates of obligation, Tarter said the expenses of agents' fees and bond ratings would be alleviated.

Also at the monthly meeting, bids were taken on a new swimming pool at Ruddick Park. The city's architect, Luther-Tittle-Loving of Abilene, is currently reviewing the low bid, which was presented by Aquafab of Phoenix, Ariz. The company gave a bid of $164,000 for pool expenses and a $44,000 bid to refurbish the bath house. Final figures and recommendations will be presented to the council Wednesday.

Assault charge dropped after man sent to prison

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
 Staff Writer

An aggravated assault charge filed against a Big Spring man in March 1985 was dropped by District Judge James Gregg March 31 upon recommendation from the district attorney's office, District Attorney Rick Hamby said Monday.

Willie Ray Myles, 25, of 712 Willia was arrested March 2, 1985, on suspicion of aggravated assault against Robert Walker of 907 W. Second in the 1500 block of E. 11th.

He was indicted by a Howard County grand jury on the charge last May.

District Attorney Rick Hamby said this morning his office has received a written affidavit in which Walker "identified someone else" as the assailant.

Following his arrest for the aggravated assault charge, the state Board of Pardons and Paroles issued an emergency warrant for the arrest of Myles, who at the time was on parole for a marijuana conviction in Nolan County.

Council

In support of his reasoning, Rutherford warned of area unemployment reaching 12 to 15 percent in the months to come. Any tax increase, no matter how small, would be significant, he said.

Councilman McEwen, however, said it would not "be politically expedient to put (that improvement) off."

McEwen argued the people elected to sell the bonds so that such improvements would be made to the city. He maintained that previous councils repeatedly put off making improvements to the city and were not vigilant in the maintenance of the city's infrastructure.

"I'm concerned about the economy and I'm concerned about the capital improvement program," he said.

For an extra $5 a month, people can see major improvements to the city, McEwen said.

Another variable in the bond sales equation is the present condition of the municipal bond market.

Davis told the council of legislation in Washington sponsored by Sen. Robert Packwood, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which would alter tax exempt status of municipal bonds. The change, with an effective date of Sept. 1, would render the city bond a less attractive investment.

When all was said and done, the city staff was instructed to find the cost of financing $3.1 million in bonds for the completion of the fourth water pressure plane, repairs to streets and the sewage system, and upgrading of the city's underground water network. With $450,000 in city money and a state matching grant of $300, major street and waterline repairs will be done to the city's north side.

McEwen said this morning that with reduction of debt service, prudent operation and user fee increases, a tax hike of less than 2 percent should be sufficient to head off a budget deficit and still make needed improvements to the town.

Ban efforts renewed

WASHINGTON — The United States is renewing its effort to cut Libya off from its European trading partners as President Reagan weighs military and other options following two terrorist attacks on Americans in Europe last week.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said today that "a substantial amount of information" is flowing into the White House from intensive investigations of the latest attacks but that "we are not prepared to draw any public conclusions."

Engine safety stressed

WASHINGTON — A federal safety board wants the Federal Aviation Administration to tighten required inspections of a widely used jet engine, saying recent FAA directives give airlines too much latitude and don't safeguard against engine failures.

The National Transportation Safety Board said Monday it began having renewed concern about the Pratt & Whitney JT8D engine after a routine ramp check on an Eastern Airlines Boeing 727 last February uncovered a 6-inch hole in one engine before the plane was about to take off from New York's LaGuardia Airport.

Protesters arrested

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Officials said a foray by Greenpeace members onto the Nevada Test Site had little chance of interfering with a nuclear weapons test scheduled today, a test Sen. Edward Kennedy said could perpetuate the arms race.

Nine protesters entered the sprawling test range Thursday, according to the activist group.

Mexico shifts policy

MALLEN — Mexico is becoming less protectionist and is encouraging foreign investment as it tries to rebound from the falling price of oil that jeopardizes even more that nation's troubled economy, U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen said.

Bentsen, D-Texas, told the U.S. International Trade Commission on Monday that he had stressed the importance of twin plants during last week's visit with Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid, his cabinet and industrialists.

USDA test clears meat

LITTLE ROCK — No heptachlor has been found in samples of ground beef that was to have been distributed to public schools, a U.S. Agriculture Department spokeswoman says.

The USDA tested 105 ground beef samples from eight warehouses in Texas and California, Danielle Schor, a public information specialist, said Monday. More tests on meat and milk are being conducted, she said.

Fateful crossroads

Despair drives Palestinians to action

EDITOR'S NOTE — For two decades, the Middle East has been the crucible of international terrorism. This second part of a five-part series looks at a new turning point in the Palestinian "armed struggle."

By CHARLES J. HANLEY
Associated Press Writer

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Today's "godfather of terrorism" is sometimes 14 years old.

At that age, Tareq Same said, he joined the Palestinian guerrilla movement. He is now 17 — he sucked hard on his Syrian cigarette — and ready to die.

"I want to do a suicide mission. With an explosives belt," the skinny boy in fatigues told a visitor. "It's my duty."

His comrades, crowded into a charcoal-heated room above the muddy lanes of the Yarmouk refugee district, said they all knew of someone who carried out suicide attacks against Israeli troops in nearby Lebanon.

And what of attacks on civilians, like the Palestinian slaughter of Americans and others at Rome and Vienna airports last December?

"If the American administration does not stop supporting Israel," a young guerrilla shot back, "we are ready to do operations worse than Rome and Vienna!" Teen-age bravado, perhaps — but of a dangerous variety.

Like the lone surviving terrorist in the Rome attack, three of Same's companions said they lost family or friends in 1982 when Palestinians at Beirut's Sabra and Chatilla camps were massacred by Israeli-allied Lebanese Christians.

And, like the Rome gunman, they want to strike back, at almost anyone.

Such bitter desperation is bringing the Palestinian movement to a fateful crossroads, said knowledgeable Arabs, Israelis and Westerners in the region.

Combined with new political frustrations within the Palestinian leadership, it could turn the guerrillas again toward all-out international terrorism, these diplomats and other specialists said in recent interviews. The latest split between Jordan and Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization, derailing efforts toward an Arab-Israeli peace, has left "an atmosphere of utter hopelessness," among Palestinians, said one West European ambassador in close touch with the PLO.

"Arafat's opponents can now say his policy of moderation was wrong," said the diplomat, who granted an interview on condition of anonymity, "and that terrorism, killing innocents, is the only language Israel and the United States understand."

Since 1974, "establishment" Palestinian guerrilla organizations have sought to distance themselves from terrorist outrages committed by such renegades as Abu Nidal, blamed for the Rome-Vienna attacks. But the larger groups are now feeling pressure.

The Palestinian guerrilla story, in many ways, is the story of contemporary terrorism.

After King Hussein's army drove the guerrillas from Jordan in 1970, depriving them of a vital base for attacks on Israel, they plunged more deeply into global "armed struggle."

They shocked the world with bloody "spectaculars" — skyjackings, the Munich Olympics siege, the massacre at Israel's Lod Airport. They became "godfathers" of terrorism, training radical groups from Europe and elsewhere.

But in 1974 the PLO, exploring political avenues to peace, declared it would confine future attacks to Israeli territory. Angry hard-liners split off into runaway anti-Arafat bands, such as Abu Nidal's Fatah-Revolutionary Council.

In 1982, Israel invaded Lebanon and drove the PLO from its base in Beirut. Scattered among a dozen Arab countries, the guerrilla groups quarreled, grew dispirited, became further radicalized.

Israeli terrorism expert Ariel Merari notes parallels between today and the dangerous period after 1970. Without political advances to appease the Palestinian rank-and-file, he says, the PLO leadership may again feel a "need for spectacular violent activity."

Peace hopes recede

PANAMA CITY, Panama — The breakdown in Central American peace talks probably dealt a crippling blow to hopes by congressional opponents to defeat President Reagan's plan to send $100 million in aid to the Contra rebels.

Negotiations among 13 Latin American foreign ministers collapsed Monday as Nicaragua's three neighboring countries accused the leftist Sandinista government of blocking all attempts to reach an accord.

Coalition threatened

JERUSALEM — Israeli political leaders are searching for a way out of a dispute threatening the future of the tense coalition government that began when Prime Minister Shimon Peres demanded the resignation of his finance minister.

The dispute between Peres' Labor Party and the right-wing Likud bloc led by Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir is the latest of more than a half-dozen that have threatened the national unity government forged in September 1984 when neither side won enough votes to rule alone.

Security strengthened

BONN, West Germany — Authorities say they have increased surveillance of the Libyan embassy and tightened border controls following a terrorist bombing at a West Berlin nightclub that killed a U.S. soldier and a Turkish woman.

But a special 100-member commission of U.S. and West Berlin military police investigating Saturday's blast, which also injured 230 people, said it has "no concrete clues" as to who was responsible for the bombing.

Dobrynin meets Reagan

WASHINGTON — President Reagan and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin met today in what U.S. officials said was an effort to lay the groundwork for a second summit between Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Dobrynin was expected to discuss Moscow's willingness to agree to a meeting soon between Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and Secretary of State George Shultz to make summit arrangements, the officials said.

Beirut car bomb kills 10

JOUNIEH, Lebanon — A car bomb exploded today about 50 yards from offices of President Amin Gemayel's Phalange Party in this Christian port's main square, and police said at least 10 people were killed and 35 wounded.

Officials reported 10 charred bodies were dragged from the rubble of two high-rise buildings and 35 wounded people were taken to a hospital.

Bush assures Bahrain against attacks

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Vice President George Bush today told Bahrain officials, who fear Iranian attacks on Persian Gulf oil tankers, that the United States is committed to keeping gulf shipping lanes open.

To underscore U.S. resolve, Bush planned to visit the USS La Salle, the command destroyer of a U.S. naval task force that has patrolled the Gulf since June 1983. The task force includes four frigates and the destroyer.

Bush arrived Monday on the second stop of a four-country tour of the gulf and Arabian Peninsula.

Clue of the shoe in Marcos' case

Sherlock Holmes was studying the newspaper. "No matter where one goes to track down the secret of the Marcos fortune, the trail always leads back to the shoes." "Why is that?" I asked him. "I'm not sure, Watson. Let's see what we know already. Imelda has 3,200 pairs of size 8 shoes in her closet, most of which had never been worn. Why, Watson, why?" "Suppose Ferdinand Marcos had a foot fetish. Many men with power do."

"It's too easy, Watson. Even someone with an extreme foot fixation could never go through 3,200 pairs."

"I've known people with fetishes who went through a pair of new shoes every day. Perhaps Ferdinand was one of them."

"I checked around at the palace. No one ever saw Marcos playing with Imelda's shoes."

"Well then, Sherlock, maybe Imelda was the one who had a foot fetish."

Sherlock smiled as he usually does when he's caught me. "Wrong, Watson. Not a foot fetish. If anything, Imelda had a shoe fetish."

"What is a shoe fetish?"

"It's a compulsion to hold and caress a piece of footwear to assuage your guilt."

"And what causes one to have the fetish?"

"We're not sure. All we know is that many people who have a shoe fetish also have a numbered bank account in Switzerland."

"It's all starting to come together, Sherlock. Mrs. Marcos bought shoes on her trips abroad to disguise the fact she was opening numbered bank accounts."

"Just the opposite, my dear Watson. Imelda opened numbered bank accounts abroad to disguise the fact she was buying shoes."

"Of course," I said. "But why?"

"Imelda had a very deprived childhood. The money she sent out of the country was to assure her that no matter what happened to the Philippine government, she would always have something to wear to the ball."

"But, Sherlock, we're talking about $3 billion. Are you trying to tell me that all this money was set aside for footwear?"

"Have you priced women's shoes lately, Watson?"

"That's all well and good. But suppose Imelda had stocked up on the shoes so that when she was booted out of Manila she could open her own store in Honolulu."

"Take a look at this photo. Does Imelda look like somebody who would work in a shoe store?"

"Probably not. But she could own it and not work there."

"Except for one thing, Watson. All the shoes are size 8. You can't open a store where all the footwear is the same size."

"Hmmm. Well, tell me, Sherlock, does solving the shoe enigma help you solve the problem of where the Philippine treasury is?"

"Not necessarily. A lot of it is hidden in real estate, gold, jewelry, banks and legitimate companies that Marcos bought when he was riding high. But all that has surfaced are the shoes."

"Quite. Say what you will, Sherlock, the Marcoses always covered their tracks."

"Watson, I would like to go back and take one more look at Imelda's closet."

"Why, Sherlock?"

"The Marcoses had a dog guarding their clothes. On the night they sneaked out of the palace the dog did not bark. Why not, Watson?"

"Why, Sherlock?"

"Elementary. The dog had a shoe in his mouth."

Terrorist attacks on airports may go beyond Libya's hand

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — The menacing visage of the Ayatollah Khomeini is looming ever larger in the deliberations of experts trying to identify those responsible for the terrorist assaults on the Rome and Vienna airports that left six Americans dead last December.

At the time, President Reagan angrily blamed Libya's volatile Muammar Khadafy. But U.S. intelligence agencies have received information from usually reliable sources that Abu Nidal, the renegade Palestinian who heads the group that committed the attacks, used Iran as a planning and training center for the operation.

What makes this development so significant — and so alarming for the United States — is that Nidal's protector and supporter for years has been Iran's blood enemy, Iraq. At one time, Iraq was brankrolling Nidal (real name: Sabri Banna) and his group to the tune of $23 million or more a year.

But then, as part of the U.S. attempt to lure Iraq out of the Soviet orbit with arms supplies and other aid, the State Department prevailed on Iraq to drop its support of Nidal. The selling point was that forcing Nidal to move his headquarters from Iraq might remove Iraq from the list of terrorist nations ineligible for U.S. aid.

Unfortunately, the pressure seems to have worked — sending Abu Nidal into the arms of Khomeini.

Nidal was once part of the most militant wing of the Palestine Liberation Organization. He was associated with Black September, the terrorist group that committed, among other outrages, the massacre of Israeli athletes at the 1972 Munich Olympics.

At about that time, Nidal split with PLO chief Yasser Arafat, and in 1974 a PLO curfew tried him in absentia and sentenced him to death. Ever since, Arafat and Nidal have been trying to get each other assassinated.

Meanwhile, Nidal has carved a path of murder and mayhem across the Middle East and Europe. His usual assassination targets have been moderate Arabs, particularly PLO diplomats.

On June 3, 1982, Nidal actually ignited a war when his goons seriously wounded Shlomo Argov, the Israeli ambassador in London. The attempt was the immediate cause — some say the pretext — for Israel's ill-starred invasion of Lebanon three days later.

After the twin airport attacks last Dec. 27, the Reagan administration blamed Libya as an accomplice. But the evidence points more to Iran and Syria. The two four-man teams of terrorists got crucial training and operational planning in the Bekka Valley of eastern Lebanon. The Bekka is controlled by the Syrians and patrolled by hundreds of Iranian revolutionary guards, who run the valley as if it were a suburb of Tehran.

Secret interrogation by Italian intelligence of the lone surviving terrorist in the Rome attack, Mohammad Sarham, confirmed that some of the teams' training took place in Isfahan, Iran, as well as the Bekka, and that the airport attackers entered Italy via Syria.

Our own sources inside Iran report that Nidal himself has spent extended periods of time since last September at the Iranian terrorist training camp in Manzarieh Park, close to Khomeini's Tehran residence. One trusted CIA source said Nidal stayed as long as a week on at least half-a-dozen occasions between September and the Christmastime airport attacks. His escort on these visits was Khomeini's son, Ahmad.

Several U.S. intelligence officials now concede that Iran (and Syria) bear more blame for the attacks than Libya. If Nidal has indeed become a lackey of Khomeini, it means he may shift his attention from old scores against the PLO to new ones against the United States.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Are the bureaucrats in charge of the much-criticized U.S. Aid program in Egypt trying to boost their own stock by implying that the bad guys disapprove of their activities? Reports to Foggy Bottom from U.S. Embassy officials in Cairo point out that leftist, anti-American opponents of Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak have accused the Agency for International Development of providing cover for U.S. espionage. This, the leftists say, is making Egypt too dependent on the United States and is "a U.S. shadow government in Egypt." Does this absurd criticism mean AID must be doing something right? That may be the message.

Alcohol is cause of our bad news

To the editor:
I just finished listening to the 7:00 a.m. news and felt once again I had to put my thoughts out for the public, to see if I am the only one that feels this way.

We the people of Big Spring have listened to news of robbery, fights, and murder, not once or twice this year but over and over and over again. And who is the biggest culprit on over 90 percent of all this crime? You guessed it, liquor! What did I hear on the news this A.M.? We have a petition going around to get us to vote for a liquor by the drink.

There are, I'm sure, families out there now that are afraid to be on the streets after dark now because of all the news that we read of what's going on in our town. So Big Spring do we want to legalize the culprit that is causing all our bad news in Big Spring?

Think long and hard before you sign something that will cause headlines like this: "Man Shoots Wife and Young Son." Could you sleep at night good if you did? Knowing this man was so drunk he did this?

Or is this the reason you would sign the petition: "Oil Industry Holds Convention In Town?"

I hope everyone isn't wanting that because there is no good that can come from liquor, white shirt or otherwise.

Libyan finances shaken by oil price dip

By KEVIN COSTELLOE
TRIPOLI, Libya — In the wake of the U.S.-Libyan confrontation in the Gulf of Sidra, Col. Moammar Khadafy has turned his attention to Libya's growing economic crisis and called for an end to dependence on dwindling oil revenues.

Khadafy has used the March 24-25 confrontation with the U.S. 6th Fleet to boost his popularity at home and with Arabs abroad. But domestically he faces mounting financial woes, largely caused by plunging prices on world petroleum markets. Since December, the price of oil has fallen about 60 percent.

Recent interviews with more than a dozen diplomats and foreign workers in Libya revealed a widespread economic crisis that includes shortages of food and other staples, and threatens jobs in the oil fields.

In an unusually harsh speech last Tuesday, Khadafy warned against the danger of dependence on oil to fuel his country's economy.

Oil is by far the largest single source of income for Libya. Libya makes few products of its own and depends heavily on imports.

In Tripoli, Khadafy said, "We must depend in our living on our own production," and called for better use of "worn-out" equipment and more recycling of paper to improve the economy.

Such a speech is a far cry from the 1970s, when skyrocketing oil prices let Khadafy boast that he was even equipping the tents of desert nomads with television sets.

According to industry estimates, Libya has seen its oil revenue plunge from $22 billion in 1981 to less than $8 billion in 1985.

"When the oil revenues started going down, instead of cutting spending across the board, they cut consumer products," said one diplomat who has spent nearly three years in Libya. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

Rosemary Wells, an Irish woman who has lived in Libya for three years and is married to a Libyan, was asked about the availability of food and other staples.

"It was bad when I came, but now it's worse," she said.

"Supermarkets are bad. Things are very scarce. There only has been meat for the past three weeks," she said.

In Tripoli, many buildings are falling into disrepair, while unfinished construction projects fill many parts of the city. Many of the shelves in stores are empty, and there are lines to buy bread.

Peter Antonenko, a Canadian working as an oil expert in the desert, said a 20-pound lamb can cost 80 dinars, the equivalent of about $200 at the official exchange rate.

He noted the Libyans have a chaotic system of food distribution, saying for example that a load of bananas recently was due to arrive in Benghazi.

"The whole city knew about it (beforehand) and people started lining up early in the morning," he said.

Antonenko, of Dawson Creek, British Columbia, said that in some instances an entrepreneur will try to ship such products to another city but is stopped by police.

"If you had a truck filled with stuff, they'd take it away from you on the highway. Khadafy wants each region to be self-sufficient." Antonenko has been in Libya for two years.

Khadafy kicked out thousands of lower-scale foreign workers, including Tunisians and Egyptians, last summer. Many worked on farms or were fishermen.

In addition, says Antonenko, many jobs in the oil fields are threatened by declining oil revenues.

"The reliance on foreign workers is decreasing, because they (the Libyans) don't have the money to pay them," said one Western diplomat.

He estimated foreign workers at "not less than 50,000" in a country with 3.5 million Libyans.

Foreigners, including Indians, staff many hospitals. Other foreigners run oil and construction projects, teach oil-drilling courses to Libyans, work in hotels and perform other vital functions.

There are also several hundred Americans working in Libya, risking a 10-year prison term for violating President Reagan's order to leave the country.

That order followed the Dec. 27 terrorist attacks at the Rome and Vienna airports that left 20 dead, including five Americans. The Reagan administration claims the Libyans helped finance and train the terrorists.

The foreign workers are well aware of their importance to the economy.

"If we were to leave, the whole thing would fall down. It's a house of cards," said Emo Domenico Petrolati, a designer for a Swedish communications firm.

Kevin Costelloe is a writer for the Associated Press.

Heat worsens edema

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I'm a 36-year-old woman who has leg swelling. I have it before my menstrual period and also, it gets worse in the summer. Does heat contribute? An older woman friend died from heart failure and swelling of her legs was one of the problems she complained about frequently. I worry. — Mrs. T.Z.

There are many causes of edema. Your elderly friend's swelling was from a very serious cause. Her weakened heart was not permitting the proper circulation of blood and body fluid. Her blood circulation was so feeble that the fluid leaking from the tiny capillaries could not get back into circulation. Her vessels were already choked with sluggish blood.

Your swelling isn't in that league. Other less ominous factors are playing a role. One is the hormone production increase during the premenstrual weeks. The fluid leaking out to bathe and nourish cells is remaining, because that is one of the effects of the female hormones. As soon as hormone production wanes, the fluid gets back into circulation and the swelling disappears.

The other factor (in summer) is the heat. It acts much the same way in the body as anywhere. It tends to make things swell, in this instance the capillaries. That causes inordinate leakage of fluid out into the body — again swelling. In the pre-menstrual period that effect may be exacerbated.

But the good news for you is that not all edema bodes heart or serious chronic circulation problems.

Dear Abby

Airline makes way for heavyweight passenger

DEAR ABBY: A reader recently recommended a solution for fat people who couldn't fit into a regular seat on a commercial airline: "Buy two coach seats and remove the arm rest between them. For some heavyweights, that may not be enough."

I submit the following Associated Press release, March 6: "FRANKFURT, West Germany — Japan Air Lines removed six seats from the first-class section of a Boeing 747 Wednesday to make room for an 875-pound man flying to Tokyo.

"Albert Pernitsch, 29, of Graz, Australia, claims to be the world's heaviest man. He told reporters at Frankfurt airport that he was traveling to Japan to exhibit himself at a Tokyo fair.

"Japan Air Lines removed six seats and reinforced the plane's floor to install a special seat for Pernitsch, airport spokeswoman Sigrun Weiss said.

"They also installed a toilet with a desk-sized seat concealed by a curtain and a specially designed safety belt for the extra-large passenger, she said.

"A Japan Air Line spokesman in Frankfurt declined to say how much Pernitsch paid for his flight."

VERMONT READER

DEAR READER: At least no one had to ask, "Where's the beef?" It was in first class.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in connection with the letter concerning the cousins who came to a wedding celebration and filled their plastic bags with food to take home. You said it wasn't proper.

Your answer was right on the button, but this problem was discussed 3,500 years ago, and the answer can be found in the Old Testament in Deuteronomy 23:24: "When thou comest into thy neighbor's vineyard, then thou mayest eat grapes, thy fill at thine own pleasure; but thou shalt not put any in thy vessel."

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange day in that there will be sudden benefits accruing to you from some unexpected sources, but soon afterwards there seem to be some insurmountable problems.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You get fine ideas in the morning, but later you have doubts about them; if you carry through, you get the right results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find more modern methods of handling your business and personal affairs and get better results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An outside partner can give you good advice that should be followed, and then you get good results even though you have doubts.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You find a better way to handle your work, so get at it and finish it even if you have an interruption.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) A temporary hitch may occur in an entertainment you have studiously set up, but this soon clears up and you have a good time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get that new arrangement organized with an older member of your family, even though this is a bit difficult to do.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with a partner who can be mutually profitable at some interest you both like.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have a fine idea on how to do your work better and can get out of the slump of despair you have been in for some time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put your special talents to work and you can gain fine profits from them. Plan a surprise for your partner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan what can be done to please those who dwell with you, and then do it. An upturn in gaining your aims is possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with as many friends as you can and get their cooperation for some personal idea you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are tempted to upset conditions around you just when you are to receive accumulated benefits.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to make high marks at school in early youth, so give many fine courses, the theory of which can easily be absorbed. Then the knowledge received will be turned into practical channels and much success is possible in the business or professional world.

A fond farewell

I recently heard a comment by Dean Smith, head basketball coach at the University of North Carolina, who said "the athletic department of any school is the front porch of the institution."

In my 16 months as sports writer at the Big Spring Herald I have realized, first hand, how true that statement is. Though education has top priority at any school, and well it should, athletics always maintain a higher profile in the community. Nowhere is this more evident than in small-town west Texas, where Big Spring and all the Crossroads communities are decidedly sports-crazed.

I really could not have asked for a better first job. As a high school and college athlete I grew to love sports in all forms. Being a sport writer never seemed like a job. Rather, it has been a pleasure. Working for the Herald has been an ideal working experience; getting paid to watch and report on a plethora of sporting events.

It has also been a wonderful learning experience.

The most intriguing part of my job has been covering, talking with and just plain watching the kids. I use the term kids very loosely. After my brief observation period, I'll assure any doubter that even those doe-eyed high school freshmen are no longer kids. Like it or not this generation of prep student is as worldly as any college student of an earlier day. The Class of '86 and beyond are undoubtedly "The Racing Generation."

I feel comfortable in assessing this generation through the observation of student-athletes, simply because they are as diverse as the communities they call home. Every majority and minority is represented.

Jocks all, but also the academically gifted and underachievers, socialites and loners, leaders and followers. Those religious and non-believers. Boys and girls; black, Spanish and Anglo. All with one common denominator: they are growing up so fast that the term "precocious" is virtually obsolete.

Which makes the work of the coaches all that more praiseworthy.

During the course of my stay in Big Spring I have had the opportunity work with numerous coaches, administrators and supporters of Howard College, Big Spring High and the eight area high schools' athletic programs. It has truly been an honor and usually a pleasure.

I marvel at these ladies' and gentlemen's dedication to our youth and I tip my hat to each and every one of them for the enthusiastic, and basically unsung, service they provide their communities. As consummate professionals each coach has, in his or her own unique way, instilled the priceless values of hard work and fairness in the athletes. Their efforts should never be taken for granted.

As I pursue an advanced degree in Creative Writing at the University of Iowa, I probably won't have the opportunity to visit the Spring City on a regular basis, but I want to thank everybody (the list is enormous) who made my stay in town such a pleasant and unique experience. Big Spring, and particularly its warm, and outspoken people, has left an indelible impression on me.

In a word, it's been "real."

Howard College trustees were expected to hire Bryan High School coach Larry Brown for the position of men's basketball coach.

HC President Bob Riley said this morning he expected the board to approve hiring the highly successful high school coach at its noon meeting. "I'll recommend him to the board today at noon," said Riley in a morning interview. "If the board acts ... then we'll have a new coach today. If not, we'll keep looking. But I think they will be pleased."

Brown, who has 14 years coaching experience, has compiled a 185-71 record in the last seven years at Bryan. He led the Vikings to the playoffs in each of those years. In 1983 and 1984 Bryan won consecutive AAAAA state championships. In 1982 and 1983 the Vikings were regional finalists.

Brown was named Coach of the Year by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches and the Associated Press in 1984. The previous year he got coach of the year honors from the TABC.

Brown's previous coaching stints were at Van, Hearne and Danbury. His career coaching record is 319-159.

Brown, a graduate of Stephen F. Austin University, will serve as assistant coach for the South team in the 1986 U.S. Olympic Festival this summer. He was the only high school coach chosen in the southern states for the job. The Festival will be held July 20-August 1 in Houston.

He was also South High School All-Star Basketball coach in 1985 and is a officer on numerous coaches association boards.

Big Spring High School will be in search for a new boys basketball coach with the reassignment of present Steers coach Mike Randle, said Big Spring Athletic Director Ron Logback.

In a statement today Logback said that Randle would have the option to stay on and coach in another sport and continue to teach his art class.

Logback said the decision had been thoroughly thought out by himself, Personnel Director Bill McQueary, Superintendent Lynn Hise and Principal Murray Murphy. "We've been discussing the possibilities and have been talking it over with Mike since February," said Logback. "We are trying to go by this the best way from the standpoint that this won't destroy coach Mike individually. He has some good assets and he's a very good man. It was a tough decision for us."

"At the present time we feel the basketball programs needs to head in a new direction."

Randle, a graduate of Big Spring High, played college basketball at Howard College and Texas Lutheran University. He served three years as assistant basketball coach for the Steers before taking over the head duties for the past three years. This season the Steers finished in sixth place in 4-5A with a 3-11 district record and 4-23 overall mark. Randle has compiled a 12-73 record in his varsity coaching stint at BSHS.

He said right now his plans are up in the air. "I'm very disappointed, but there's nothing I can do about it," he said this morning.

Gibson's two homers leads Tigers to win

By The Associated Press

Kirk Gibson remembers happier times — say October 1984. He's thinking about a repeat of those glory days — in, say, October 1986.

Gibson got April 1986, and the American League baseball season, off to a rousing start for the Detroit Tigers on Monday. He went 4-for-4, including two prodigious homers, and drove in five runs. Gibson's two-run shot in the seventh inning lifted the Tigers past the Boston Red Sox 6-5.

"It was just too good to be true," said Gibson, who waved his glove at the cheering crowd when he returned to right field after the first homer, then tipped and doffed his cap after the second one.

"I put a lot of pressure on myself to justify all I went through over the winter," he added, referring to bitter contract negotiations with the Tigers. "The last day I can compare this with is the last game of the 1984 World Series. This doesn't happen very often."

In the fifth game of the '84 World Series Gibson also hit two homers and drove in five runs as Detroit beat the San Diego Padres 8-4 at Tiger Stadium to take the Series in five games.

In other AL openers Monday, it was Milwaukee 5, Chicago 3, and Cleveland 6, Baltimore 4.

Today's AL schedule had Kansas City at New York; Toronto at Texas; California at Seattle and Minnesota at Oakland.

Tigers 6, Red Sox 5
An opening day crowd of 51,437 roared its approval as Gibson slammed a pair of homers. That offset four home runs by the Red Sox, including one by Dwight Evans on the first pitch of the game from Tigers ace Jack Morris.

"I was prepared to swing at the first pitch," Evans said. "I plan to swing at the first pitch more often this year."

Morris didn't have his best stuff Monday, but he thought he'd at least be safe on the first pitch.

"I had to smile," Morris said. "I couldn't believe he wouldn't at least take a pitch. It was a fastball over the plate. It was strike one, supposedly."

Thanks to Gibson, though, Morris wound up with a victory, despite his problems with the long ball.

Gibson's first homer came in the fourth when he smashed the first pitch from Bruce Hurst into the upper deck in center with Dave Collins on base to put Detroit ahead 4-2. He sped around the bases and gave Collins a lusty high-five at the plate.

Indians 6, Orioles 4
Rookie catcher Andy Allanson contributed three hits and drove in a run in his major-league debut and last-minute sub Mel Hall drove in two runs after starter Carmen Castillo aggravated a calf injury in practice.

Ernie Camacho, the Indians' top reliever in 1984 but out almost all of the '85 season with an elbow injury, earned a save.

"In the overall picture, Allanson was our catcher of the future," Manager Pat Corrales said, "but he became our catcher of the present by progressing a little faster than anticipated."

"This is something to be stored away for years to come," Allanson said. "My entire family was here."

"We have a young bunch of guys and nobody is counting on us to do anything," Cleveland's Andre Thornton said. "But we're not a bad club, and we've got to get better."

Mike Flanagan was charged with five runs in two-plus innings. He walked three Indians and all three scored.

Brewers 5, White Sox 3
Home runs by Rob Deer and Ernest Riles off Tom Seaver — making his 16th Opening Day start — paced the Brewers and Ted Higuera, a 15-game winner as a rookie last season, picked up the victory.

Deer stunned an opening day crowd of 42,265 with a home run that landed onto the left-field roof of Comiskey Park. The Sox moved home plate back eight feet this season to cut down on such home runs, but that didn't make any difference to Deer.

"I don't think I've ever hit one that far," Deer said. "I knew I hit it real well, but I didn't see it. I didn't know it landed on the roof until I reached the dugout."

"The home runs were the keys; they were two big blows," Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger said. "We played good today, and Teddy Higuera pitched a good game."

Deer was acquired from San Francisco during the winter.

"Power was the No. 1 reason for the trade," Milwaukee GM Harry Dalton said. "You can scout the whole country and not find four or five people who can hit them as far as he can."

"He didn't have a lot of at bats at San Francisco so we figured we'd take a chance since we need some power. "Who knows, if he gets 500 at bats, he might hit 30 home runs. This was an important day for him."

Dodgers 2, Padres 1
Valenzuela had a superb spring and he continued his mastery in the opener before 49,444 fans. Making his fourth straight Opening Day start and fifth in six years, he was reached for a run in the ninth on singles by Kevin McReynolds, Steve Garvey and Garry Templeton.

"I felt good the whole game, in the ninth inning, too," Valenzuela said. "This was my best spring. My control was good in the spring and today. I threw my curveballs for strikes."

In 31 innings of pre-season work, Valenzuela allowed only two earned runs for a 0.58 earned run average.

Mike Marshall homered and scored both Los Angeles runs.

"I really wasn't concerned about not hitting any homers during the spring," Marshall said. "It's just different down there (in Florida). I work on a lot of things to get ready for the season."

Reds 7, Phillies 4
Despite an erratic performance by starter Mario Soto, who still earned his fourth consecutive victory in an opener, Cincinnati had too much for Philadelphia and Carlton.

Soto's fielding error aided the Phillies' three-run first, highlighted by Glenn Wilson's sacrifice fly and Von Hayes' two-run double. Soto lasted just 5 2-3 innings, giving up six hits and three walks.

But Carlton served up a three-run homer to Eric Davis in the second inning to put the Reds ahead 4-3. Mike Schmidt tied the game with a solo homer in the third, but Bo Diaz knocked in the go-ahead run in the bottom of the inning with the second of his three singles.

Dave Parker led off the fifth with a long homer to center field, and Carlton was gone before the inning was over.

Parker thinks Carlton is far from through.

"He didn't have that good location with his pitches," Parker said. "He definitely had a good breaking ball. When he gets his location, I think he's going to come back and dazzle the league like he has in the past."

Carlton, of course, wasn't talking.

"It was just a bad outing. He pitched super this spring," said Phillies Manager John Felske. "It was just one of those things. When he made a mistake, they hit it. You can't make mistakes against a club that hits like Cincinnati."

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Smith's offers quality workmanship on autos

Quality of work is a commodity that is not emphasized today as much as it used to be. When a customer spends money on service, he deserves to get the best that is available. That's what Billy Smith strives for as owner of Smith's Automatic Transmission. Billy promises his customers will not find any hidden costs or gimmicks. The work and estimates are guaranteed. Billy knows the importance of straight forwardness to his customers, as it helps bring repeat business. Billy grew up in the automobile repair business. His father worked in the field for 31 years and taught him the trade from the time he was young. Billy purchased the family business five years ago. Billy believes servicing and overhauling transmissions is a specialized field. Therefore, he and his staff are trained in this specialty. Smith's Transmission's staff also includes A.J. Langdon and Bill Stewart. At one time, Smith's Transmission was located in Sand Springs. It is now east of Big Spring Mall on FM700. The business' address and phone number are hard to locate in this year's telephone book. The address is 2900 E. FM700, and the number is 267-3955.

TRANSMISSION SPECIALISTS — Smith's Automatic Transmissions specializes in servicing and overhauling automatic transmissions. It is located at 2900 E. FM700.
