Spring Reagan condemns murders

WASHINGTON (AP) - The murders of three British kidnap victims in Lebanon is a "tragedy that shows "all of us together" must take action to stamp out terrorism, President Reagan said

The president spoke as a surge of terrorism, anticipated by the Reagan administration after the U.S. bombing of Libya, began to take shape with the Lebanon murders, an attempt to put explosives aboard an Israeli airliner in London and fire bombs thrown at a U.S. Marine post in Tunisia.

began a meeting with Australian Prime Minister Robert Hawke, Reagan said the slayings in Lebanon were "a tragedy, but I think it's another example of the fact that terrorism is something for all, all of us together.' "We are prepared for an increase in terrorism," White House spokesman Larry Speakes said.

In neighboring Libya, Col. Moammar Khadafy was reported alive but possibly wounded in the bombing raid on his headquarters Monday night. Administration officials sifting through intelligence reports said there were indications he had left Tripoli, the capital, and had gone into the desert amid

Three bodies were found in the mountains east of Beirut with a note nearby that said one was a CIA agent and two were British intelligence officers killed in retaliation for the U.S. bombing of Libya, the Moslem Voice of the Nation radio reported from Beirut.

"We do not know who is responsible, but it bears the marks of the White House deputy press secretary Edward Djerejian said the United States has confirmed that all three victims were British. "As faras we know, there are no

Petition brings liquor-by-drink to June election

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The liquor-by-the-drink petition had collected enough valid signatures by Wednesday afternoon to force an election, said County Tax Assesor-Collector Dorothy Moore.

Citizens for Choice collected 2,495 valid signatures as of Wednesday, she said. Deadline for collecting the necessary 2,421 signatures is Monday.

Ben Bancroft of Citizens for Choice said he is pleased with the "A lot of people in town would like to see the issue submitted to the voters," he said. The election probably will take place between June 3 and June 10, he said. Moore must go before county commissioners at their next meeting May 12 to declare the signatures valid. The commissioners then must set a date for the election 21 to 30 days after the

Between now and then, Citizens for Choice will be out encouraging people to vote in favor of allowing liquor to be served by the drink, Bancroft said.

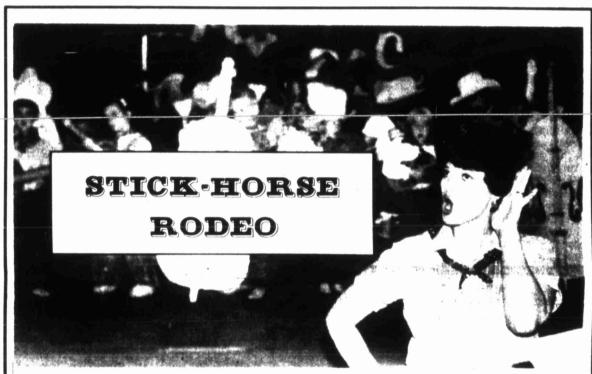

As the law stands, liquor cannot be sold by the drink, except at private clubs.

Bancroft said collecting 2,421 signatures, 35 percent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election, was difficult. Big Spring's population is somewhat smaller now than during the last election in 1982, he said.

Also, the signatures had to appear exactly as they do on voter registration cards, as the law requires in issues involving alcohol. Two petitions in the past two years failed to get enough signatures to call for a vote because hundreds of signatures were declared

City gets grant for runway

Staff Writer

The Texas Aeronautics Commission in Austin gave the city of Big Spring a $94,000 grant Wednesday to help rebuild crosswind runway 7-25 at the McMahon-Wrinkle

Airpark.

Acting city manager and airpark superintendent Hal Boyd said this morning the grant represents 70 percent of the $134,000 project. The city will fund the remaining $40,000 towards renovation of the runway

Runway 7-25, a converted taxiway, is the only crosswind runway currently serving the airport. A crosswind runway is essential to service lighter aircraft, Boyd explained.

The airfield, built for powerful military aircraft, was not designed for use by smaller airplanes, Boyd

Boyd guessed it will be 60 to 90 days before a 50-foot portion of the runway is chipsealed and overlaid. The contruction will take little time to finish, he said. The grant proposal, written by Boyd, was part of an overall grant package for improving runways, port. It was submitted to the Federal Aviation Administration and the TAC in 1984, Boyd said.

Billy Schnerr, chief deputy director of the state commission, said it is hoped the upgrading will accommodate FAA construction of a new crosswind runway at the airport,

If and when the FAA does build a new runway for the city, runway 7-25 will be converted back to a taxiway, Boyd said.

Legislative Budget Board to include Sen. Montford

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby named state Sen. John Montford to the Legislative Budget Board Wednesday, bringing the total number of West Texas legislators on the 10-member board to four.

Montford, D-Lubbock, replaces Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana, who resigned from the Senate. The board drafts the budget recommendation presented to the Legislature at the beginning of each session.

Three other West Texas legislators serve on the board, Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple; Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls; and Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield. Only one member, Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, is from East Texas.

Reagan blasts Soviets

WASHINGTON - The Reagan administration, stung by cancellation of summit planning talks, lashed out at the Soviet Union for a lack of progress in easing superpower tensions and bitterly condemned the Kremlin for failing to avert the bombing of a West Berlin nightclub.

'They have wasted six months since the summit," the State Department said in a sharply worded statement Wednesday that blamed Moscow for not maintaining the momentum begun at President Reagan's meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev last November.

In a separate but related blast, the department said the Soviets had been warned Liby ans were planning an assault in the German city and could have stopped them from carry-

Cities to feel pinch

AUSTIN — Local governments in virtually every part of the state will feel the effects of the oil price decrease when they start to collect property taxes in 1987, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Cities, counties and school districts may feel the revenue loss more than state government, Bullock said Wednesday.

Bullock has already warned state officials that oil price fluctuations, with spot market prices dropping from $26 a barrel to $13 a barrel, would cost the state $1.3 billion in projected revenue.

"As big as that impact might seem, it could appear small next year when hundreds of Texas cities, counties, school districts and other local governments face the possibility of dramatic reductions in their local tax bases because lower oil prices have cut the taxable value of oil and natural gas deposits," the surprise move voted to block President Reagan's proposed $100 million in assistance for the Nicaraguan rebels, expressed confidence they can revive the Democrats, however, predict the GOP lawmakers will lose the tactical gamble they have taken, and say they will likely approve a different version of the aid containing restrictions the president opposes.

In a surprise move, Republicans joined Democrats Wednesday in approving an amendment that basically eliminated all $100 million President Reagan wants for the Contras fighting Nicaragua's leftist government.

The Republican tactic prevented the House from voting on a proposal by Rep. Dave McCurdy, D-Okla., which would have granted Reagan his $100 million package, but delayed spending $75 million of it for at least three months while peace talks were tried to end the Central American struggle.

Instead, by a 361-66 vote, the House passed an amendment by Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., which would replace Reagan's program with a package of $27 million in aid to Central American refugees and $2 million in help to the so-called Contadora Latin nations trying to mediate a peaceful solution.

On the vote, 184 Democrats were joined by 177 Republicans. Only one Republican, Rep. Willis Gradison of Ohio, voted to keep the Reagan plan alive. The parliamentary maneuvering came because Democrats hold a 252-182 edge in the chamber, with one seat vacant. Last month, after the House voted 222-210 against Reagan's package, House Democratic leaders promised to bring it up again this month but to attach it to an unrelated bill making $1.7 billion in various appropriations. The Republican-controlled Senate later narrowly approved a modified Contra package. But Reagan has threatened to veto the spending bill if it passes and he complained Wednesday that Republicans were being denied a vote on a freestanding Contra package because of "a back-door parliamentary maneuver."

Republicans will now have to round up signatures on Reagan package. The GOP will need 218 signatures, meaning it will have to hold all its own members and pick up at least 36 Democrats. Under House rules, the earliest the measure could come to the floor would be May 12.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., later sent word to reporters that he would allow the Contra package to come to the floor in a normal manner, perhaps as an amendment to a defense appropriations oill expected to reach the floor next month.

On Wednesday, the administration sent a three-page report to Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, D-Texas, a Contra aid supporter, responding to allegations against the

The report conceded that drug traffickers "have tried to establish connections" with Nicaraguan rebels and that some individual Contras "may have engaged n such activity.

But the administration asserted that "we have no evidence that the leadership of the United Nicaraguan Opposition (UNO) is, or has been, engaged in drug trafficking.'' UNO is the rebels' CIA-supported political umbrella group.

The report also said Contra links to drug trafficking occurred when the rebels were not receiving U.S. funding — in 1984 and 1985 — and the rebel movement was particularly hard pressed for financial support.'

In the report to Stenholm, the administration disputed other complaints that the Contras engaged in widespread human rights abuses and possibly diverted some of the $27 million in non-lethal U.S. aid sent to the rebels since last year.

"To date, there have been only unsubstantiated charges that UNO has been guilty of diverting funds to personal use," the report said.

Rep. Tom Foley, D-Wash., the third-ranking Democratic leader, said, "I don't think they're (Republicans) going to get enough signatures on the discharge petition.

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) - The U.S. Embassy announced today the evacuation of some 200 dependents of mission employees and other personnel from Sudan, apparently because of Libyan threats against American

The announcement came after an embassy employee was shot in the head in Khartoum late Tuesday and thousands of people on Wednesday burned American flags and shouted slogans to protest the U.S. bombing

"Due to continuing calls from a neighboring country for violence against American citizens and interests, and the shooting of an American citizen in Khartoum, the American Embassy has decided to evacuate official Americans' dependents and certain other personnel," the statement said.

Cuba assails attack

HAVANA - Cuba observes the 25th anniversary of the Bay of Pigs invasion today, but the government media is giving that historical turning point equal billing with criticism of the U.S. air raid on Libya.

The Communist Party newspaper Granma carried more than 40 stories from dozens of countries Wednesday highlighting the adverse international reaction to the attack on Libya.

The media concentration on Libya fits nicely with Cuba's long-held view of the United States as a ruthless, expansionist power.

Thatcher wins debate

LONDON - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher defeated an opposition attempt in Parliament to censure her for backing the U.S. strike on Libya, but opinion polls published today indicated she did not have the support of most Britons.

Mrs. Thatcher's Conservatives succeeded in ending a six-hour emergency debate on the issue in the House of Commons on Wednesday by a 325-206 vote. A censure is implied if the governing party loses the vote for adjournment of debate.

The Conservatives hold a 136-seat majority. During debate, Mrs. Thatcher charged the government of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy with taking part in several terrorist attacks, including the April 5 bombing of a West Berlin nightclub where a U.S. soldier

OPEC session resumes

GENEVA — OPEC oil ministers opened a third day of emergency talks today with little sign that the petroleum producers' cartel could arrive at an agreement that would push oil prices higher.

As speculation was growing Wednesday that Khadafy was facing an internal revolt, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries suspended its conference after a two-hour morning session.

Cowtown Boot Company sells genuine, handmade, first quality boots direct-to-you through factory-owned stores. You do not pay "middleman mark-up", so you save substantially. In fact, Cowtown's prices are so low, you probably can buy two pairs for the price you would pay for just one pair somewhere else! These are not "factory seconds", either. Stand on test ban is often puzzling

The idea of a comprehensive nuclear test ban is one whose symbolic importance far exceeds its concrete effect. It wouldn't accomplish as much as its most fervent advocates hope, but it would pose far less risk than its opponents believe.

One proponent is Secretary General Gorbachev, who had declared a moratorium on Soviet tests last July in the hope that the United States would join it. The Reagan administration's reply came on March 22, when it detonated a nuclear device in the Nevada desert.

But Gorbachev, who knows when he has the moral high ground, offered again to forgo testing if the U.S. would do likewise, and proposed a summit meeting in Europe "in the nearest future" to work out the details. The adminsitration took the opportunity to spurn him once

The reason for Reagan's resistance is easy to see. A test ban is dangerous not because it would impair America's defenses, but because it would raise hopes of a Soviet-American agreement on weapons issues that really matter. If the administration wanted an arms control treaty, it would make sense to pursue a test ban. Since it doesn't, it makes no sense at all.

By itself, a comprehensive test ban doesn't accomplish very much. It doesn't reduce the size of the nuclear arsenals. It doesn't diminish the risk that those arsenals will be used. It doesn't save much money. It doesn't alter the conflicting interests of the two superpowers.

Unlike the limited test ban of 1963, which put an end to atmospheric explosions, it doesn't even address a clear environmental risk to human health. Underground tests were adopted mainly because they don't rain radioactive fallout on people.

All a comprehensive test ban does is stop either side from setting off nuclear explosions — or rather nuclear explosions exceeding a specified size, since tiny blasts could probably escape detection by the other side. At this point in the nuclear arms race, that change wouldn't have much effect on the military capability of either side.

Critics insist that continuing tests are essential to ensure the reliability of existing warheads, to allow the development of new weapons, to improve communications links that would be needed in case of nuclear war, and that a ban would be unverifiable, allowing the Soviets to cheat.

These criticisms are either mistaken or irrelevant. After 763 U.S. tests and 535 Soviet ones, we can afford to stop. Warheads can be checked without nuclear explosions, and any loss of confidence in their reliability would be insignificant. New weapons could be developed, since all other tests (notably flight tests) would be allowed. A ban could easily be verified through remote monitoring devices installed in both countries - a measure the Soviets accepted in 1978, before the last talks on a test ban were suspended

It's true that an agreement would make it harder for the U.S. to develop smaller nuclear warheads. But the main point of these is to make a nuclear exchange less destructive and hence more thinkable. It would block the development of X-ray lasers, a possible component of Reagan's "Star Wars" shield, but that shield is valuable only to bargain away. It would inhibit improvements in command-and-control facilities.

In each case, though, the Soviets would be equally handicapped. If neither side had to give up anything, there would be no need for an agreement: Each side would quit testing on its own.

Still, the value of a test ban shouldn't be exaggerated. It is largely irrelevant to the more urgent purposes of arms control, particularly reducing the risk of war. To address those purposes, we need an agreement on offensive and defensive weapons — of the sort that President Reagan clearly will not consider.

The President deserves criticism for his cavalier rejection of a test ban. But its only his way of making his larger, more dangerous point: Arms control in this administration is beyond the realm of possibility.

Commitment fosters love

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: With all the problems people have today with marriage and divorce, you must get this question a lot, but I wonder if you have any suggestions on how I can strengthen my marriage. We have been married three years, and it seems like a lot of the romance has faded. — Mrs. J.L.K.

DEAR MRS. J.L.K.: In a few paragraphs I cannot say everything I would like to say, of course; in fact, you will spend the rest of your lives growing in your love and finding new ways to deepen it. My wife and I have been married more than 40 years and we are more deeply in love now than we ever have been. But that does not come automatically; it takes commitment and work to make a strong marriage.

Begin, therefore, by renewing in your hearts and minds the commitment you made — before God and other people — when you were married. In God's perfect plan, marriage is a lifelong commitment of a man and a woman to each other — and to Christ. Don't base your marriage on emotional attachment alone; base it on commitment to Christ and to each other, which will get you past the rought places (which every marriage will have) and deepen your love. A key to many happy marriages is a husband and wife praying together daily for one another.

Then ask God to help you strengthen your marriage in practical ways. For example, it is far too easy in our fast-paced world to become so busy that a husband and wife have little time together. Communication suffers and indifference or bitterness replace love. Take time for each other. Think of little acts of love and thoughtfulness — the surprise gift, the unexpected favorite dinner. Remember: True love is a selfgiving love — not selfish. And learn to "forgive and forget." My wife often says a good marriage requires two good forgivers! "Love is patient, love is kind ... it is not selfseeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs" (1 Corinthians 13:4-5).

Billboard barons get fat on largess of taxpayers

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR WASHINGTON — Probably few Americans are aware that $200 million in their tax money has been given to the billboard industry as compensation for removing its huge eyesores from the landscape under the Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Nor do they realize that the House Public Works Committee — that openhanded custodian of the congressional pork barrel — has voted to boost the tax-payers' largess to the billboard barons. In an unprecedented move, the committee proposes to raid the federal highway construction trust fund to finance its generous payoff plan.

The legislation as approved by the committee would raise the benefit ceiling from $10,000 to $20,000 for each billboard the government wants to remove. The bill would block highway and mass-transit projects unless the federal or state government agrees to pay for relocation of the billboard — or can prove that removal is absolutely necessary, which isn't easy.

Environmentalists and at least one economy-ingovernment group are understandably incensed over the plan to enhance the billboard industry's revenues. "This is the only federal law we know of that pays polluters to stop polluting," Jill Lancelot of the National Taxpayers Union told our associate Stewart Harris. "We think it's time to stop federal subsidies of the billboard industry."

Subsidies weren't the idea at all back in 1965, when Lady Bird Johnson's campaign to beautify the country resulted in a law that supposedly would bring eventual removal of virtually all roadside billboards. But the law was turned on its head in a number of ways, with the result that after 20 years and $200 million, the removal job is only half done. And in some states, businessmen are using loopholes in the law to put up billboards faster than they're being torn down.

How does a relatively small industry have such clout in Washington? Some suspicious critics think it has something to do with honorarium — a 50-cent word for the fee a member of Congress gets for making a speech to a private group.

ing a speech to a private group.

In 1984, for example, the billboard industry shelled out almost $100,000 in honoraria for speeches that in some cases were as brief as an Academy Award acceptance. One environmentalist joked ruefully that a congressman can earn an honorarium merely by clearing his throat as he flies over a billboard industry convention.

Rep. John Breaux, D-La., who drafted the current giveaway plan, pocketed $5,000 for sharing his eloquence with the billboard moguls in 1984. He also received some modest campaign contributions from them. (Unlike campaign funds, speaking fees go straight into a politician's pocket.)

Rep. James Howard, D-N I. chairman of the

Rep. James Howard, D-N.J., chairman of the Public Works Committee, earned $6,000 in speaking fees from billboard magnates and associated groups in 1984. He did give one free speech to billboard bit shots that year, settling instead for an all-expensespaid, five-day stay in Palm Springs, Calif.

Howard also accepted $16,050 in campaign contributions from billboard people in 1963-1985.

Both congressmen denied that the campaign funds or the speech fees had any influence on their views of the billboard industry.

In fact, the industry doesn't always get what it wants. Last February, while billboard lobbyist Vernon Clark was out of town, Reps. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., and Mike Synar, D-Okla., negotiated an exclusion for billboards from legislation requiring tough health warnings for snuff and chewing tobacco. When Clark got back, he realized this would leave regulation of this lucrative billboard advertising up to individual states or the Federal Trade Commission, which might promulgate stricter regulations.

He stormed up Capitol Hill seeking reconsideration of the exclusion provision. The billboard lobby was "crying all over the place," Waxman said. "It was a tense time," Synar added.

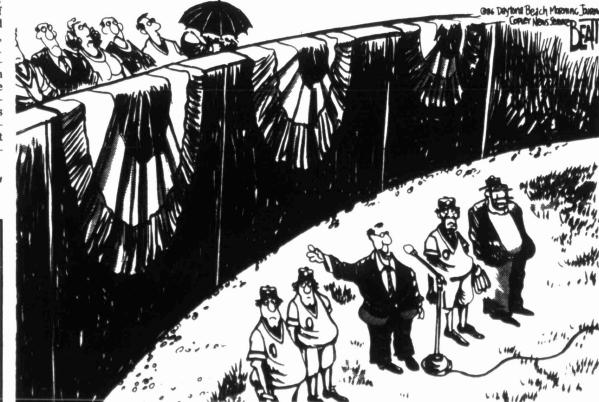

But they held tough.

DAVID? DAVID WHO?: Maureen Reagan, the president's political daughter, recently told us about the political action committee she heads. It is, she said modestly, a David among the PAC Goliaths. Turns out she has a lot to be modest about. There was some confusion over the correct name of her group, so we called the Republican National Committee to get it straight. Not only could they not help us, but no one there had even heard of Maureen Reagan's PAC. For the record, it's the GOP Political Women's League PAC, of Landover, Md.

DIPLOMATIC DILEMMA: Perhaps no job on the governmental level is as thankless as that of the neutral embassy that agrees to represent the interests of a nation that has broken off diplomatic relations with another. Like a marriage counselor or a labor arbitrator, the neutral diplomats listen to complaints from both sides and try to smooth things out as best they can. In Washington, Algeria's embassy handles this thankless chore for Iran, whose embassy was closed down years ago. The U.S. and Iranian governments are both so bitter that the Algerian Embassy is reduced to the role of mailman, passing messages back and forth.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Former oil tycoon George Bush deserves a handful of sand in his crankcase as he tours the Middle East trying to "stabilize" (that is, raise) world petroleum prices. We're not wholly insensitive to the plight of independent U.S. oilmen, the local communities that suffer when Big Oil does—and even the bankers who made foolish loans in anticipation of ever-higher oil prices. We'll try to disremember their insensitivity during their fat years to the finiancial battering of motorists and oilburning homeowners. But it's hard to swallow the view that U.S. interests should be aligned with the oil sheiks.

Three area school districts will save about $139,000 because of tax appraisal changes handed down by a State Property Tax Board recently in Austin, said the county's chief appraiser, F.E. Pereira.

Pereira told a Wednesday meeting of the Howard County Consolidated Tax 'Appraisal District that he was able to convince a panel to shave $46,458,000 from the state's appraised value of Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan school districts. The property values in these three districts were appaised too high, he said.

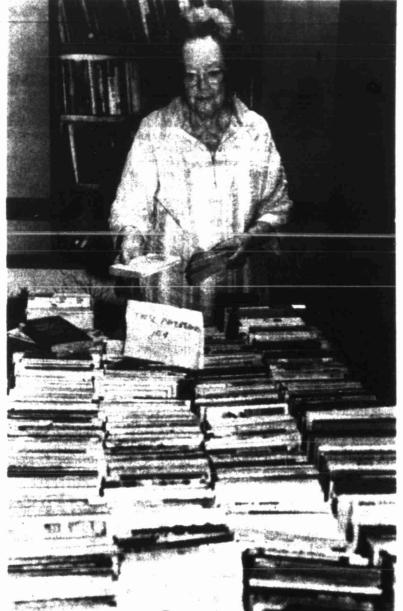

What this means for the three tax districts is each will save on local fund assignments, which are based on an area's wealth. The state requires individual school districts to pay a set amount toward foundation school programs, or the basic cost to educate students. These state fund assignments for the three school systems will shrink,

With the decrease in local funds, the state will bear more cost by sharing a bigger percent of the state sales tax with the local districts, he said.

Pereira stressed that the lower appraised values will not translate into lower individual school taxes.

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business for Big Spring Schools, explained that despite additional state revenue for schools and decreased appraisal values, a shrinking tax base could hypothetically force taxes up.

The formula for figuring tax rates is subject to a complicated set of variables in a constant state of flux, he said.

Opposed was House Bill 281, which would permit unions to force employees to join without holding an election, as is now required, McLaughlin said, and would prohibit dual shop operations in the construction industry.

Burger: Raid is political question

DALLAS (AP) - Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said Wednesday the question of whether President Reagan had the right to bomb Libya may well be a political one, rather than a legal one.

He acknowledged the possibility that someone may file a lawsuit challenging the legality of the attack, as was done after the invasion of Grenada.

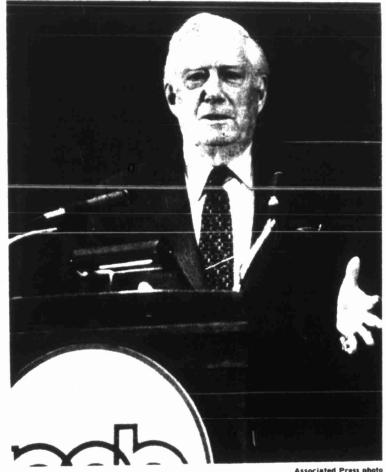

"When they do, we'll have to decide it," Burger said.

"I would not undertake to predict what the court would do, but certainly ... if that question came before us ... I'm sure someone would come in and say 'it's a political question for the political branches to decide."

The Supreme Court used what Burger called "the political question doctrine," when it declined to decide whether President Carter had the authority to abrogate a U.S. treaty with Taiwan.

The administration has said the United Nations Charter gives authority for the attack on

At a news conference before a speech on the Constitution at the National Association of Broadcasters convention, Burger warned reporters they may be particularly vulnerable to terrorist attack.

Panel points out weaknesses in traditional U.S. diplomacy

WASHNGTON (AP) America's ambassadors spend too much time on "traditional diplomacy behind closed doors" and too little on efforts to sell U.S. policies to the ordinary people of foreign nations, a presidential commission said Wednesday.

The Advisory Commission on Public Diplomacy also expressed concern that a $4.4 billion embassy rebuilding plan designed to bolster security against terrorists could 'greatly diminish'' the effectiveness of the U.S. Information Agency and other programs to enhance the nation's image

The commission found a "lack of continuity in leadership" of the Voice of America, and said VOA "continues to be surpassed by other major international broadcasters," particularly the Soviets.

Hightower blames faulty policy for farmers' woes

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Texas Agriculture Comissioner Jim Hightower and state Rep. Steven A. Carriker Tuesday called national farm policy a disaster and blamed it for driving 173 Texas farmers off the land each week.

Thousands of Texas family farmers are continually living a personal nightmare," Hightower

At a Capitol news conference, Hightower and Carriker unveiled a report by the Texas Farm Credit task force.

They said 1985 was the worst vear for Texas farmers since the Great Depression of the 1930s and 1986 will be worse when another 10,000 family farmers leave the Hightower, who appointed the task force, said producers in threefourths of the state "did not break even on a single major crop.

Carriker, a farmer, described the 1985 farm bill as "a kind of rose garden, rose-colored glasses, ostrich-head-in-the-sand attitude toward the problem of agriculture.

He said proposed legislation by U.S. Rep. Berkley Bedell, D-Iowa, would help solve the crisis. The legislation would establish minimum crop prices at the cost of production and give farmers voting power to match production with demand.

Carriker, who headed the 15-member task force, said although taxpayers are paying more to subsidize farmers, farmers are making less.

The drop in oil prices is serious, Carriker said, but farmers are facing tougher times than the oil industry.

The major reason for failing family farms is insufficient crop prices, the task force reported.

Farmers in only six of 22 Texas regions sold their crops for more than the cost of producing them, the report stated.

In Howard and nearby counties, the task force reported that market prices for dryland cotton was below the amount it cost farmers to produce those crops

Accompanying the loss of income were dropping land values, loss of property taxes to local school districts and undervalued farm equipment. "The crisis has now arrived in all its fury and Texas is hurting as bad as any state in the nation." Hightower said.

He said the flight from family farms will lead to conglomeratecontrolled farms that will charge more for produce and offer less variety and quality. In addition, the loss of every dollar in the farming community has a negative economic impact totaling three dollars in the state's economy, the report stated. The report recommended lobbying for a new national farm bill and urging the Farmers Home Administration to help farmers in financial trouble, "instead of acting like the Farm Foreclosure Ad-

Dear Abby

Fussy husband's neatness is messing up wife's mind

DEAR ABBY: My husband is, a fanatic about neatness. When Harry (not his real name) comes home from work, he zooms through the house, snatching every toy he sees to put away. Our children, 2 and 4, may keep the toy they're holding - the rest Daddy sees as "clutter." It's hard to explain to a 3-year-old why she can't find the bear she was playing with only minutes before.

I am not a poor housekeeper, but I have to fight to keep the Sunday paper an extra day if I didn't finish reading it. Christmas morning Harry sat with a garbage bag while presents were being opened so the boxes and wrapping paper could be discarded immediately. ("Hand the trash to Daddy, then you may open another present.") Christmas card envelopes with addresses I needed were thrown out while the mail was being opened.

When Harry and I were dating, I teased him because he did his laundry every day. He explained that if anything happened to him, he didn't want anyone to find a pair of dirty socks in his apartment! I thought he was kidding, now I know he was serious. My self-esteem as a housekeeper is shot because I can't keep everything perfect for Harry. Does Harry have a problem? Or do I have one?

DEAR END: Psychiatrists have a name for people like Harry. He's "compulsive obsessive"; everything must be in "perfect" order at all times or he's inappropriately upset. Your problem is dealing witn your husband's compulsive behavior unless (or until) you can persuade him to see a therapist and put an end to it.

DEAR ABBY: While waiting for a smog check at a gasoline station, I met a man and we got to talking. I'm a widow, 68 years young. He told me he was a widower, age 70. As it turned out, we both belong to the same health club and we seem to have a lot in common. I liked his looks and thought he'd make a nice friend.

My car was ready first, so as I was paying my bill, I thought to myself, "Why not give him my phone number so he can call me?"

I tore a deposit slip with my name and address on it out of my checkbook and handed it to him, saying, "Here's my phone number. Call me, and maybe we can have coffee sometimes." He smiled and seemed

Well, it's been two weeks, and I haven't heard a peep from him. Do you think I was too forward?

DEAR WAITING: Too forward? Absolutely not. I say, "Shoot the ducks while they're flying!"

DEAR ABBY: I am 39, and last month my husband of three years died. We were very much in love, and the loss is almost unbearable.

In the past few weeks I've received dozens of cards and notes, for which I'm grateful, but many were addressed "Mrs. Jane Doe" or just "Jane Doe."

Abby, I'm widowed, not divorced! The omission of my husband's first name hurts me. Maybe I'm too sensitive, but my husband's name is dear to me. I've lost him; I don't want to lose his name as well.

Please remind your readers that a widow is entitled to, and wants to, use her husband's full name. It's one small way she can keep him close to her.

HEARTBROKEN IN OHIO DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Please accept my heartfelt condolences. I shall print your letter, hoping it will spare other widows the pain you have experienced.

Please consider that those who "hurt" you when they omitted your husband's first name in addressing their cards and notes of sympathy did so unwittingly. So give them an "A" for thoughtfulness and a

"D" for lack of awareness.
(Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.)

Troubled heart can put up brave front

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband had a minor heart attack for which we were not given any warning whatever. He never in his life complained of chest pains. Just one day he keeled over with a heart attack. Why do things like this happen? I just don't understand. -Mrs. P.D.

Severe heart disease may be present in people who exhibit not the slightest stymptom — no shortness of breath, no palpitation, no pains. They may look the perfect picture of health. In fact, half the people who have heart attacks are this way. They never had a chest pain. The heart, in short, is a tough and durable muscle. It can be in great trouble and put up this brave front.

Your husband's is a case in point and a problem facing us all. How do you find out if a person who has no symptoms of heart disease actually does have heart disease? It is, after all, the No. 1 killer in our country and most other Western

One way doctors have of predicting heart trouble is by adding up a growing list of known risk factors. You've heard of them, I'm sure — high cholesterol, high blood pressure, obesity, diabetes, alcohol abuse, smoking, inactivity, family history of heart trouble. If after adding up the ones that involve the patient you come up with a bad total, the chance of that person truly having heart disease is good, no matter how healthy he seems. It takes a heart of monumental toughness to withstand the battering of even a handful of such risk factors over many years. The answer then is to reduce each of those factors to a minimum to avoid what otherwise would be practically inevitable — a heart at- happening by discouraging vessel tack. If a person has lived with several of those factors he should have an exercise stress test to uncover the true status of his heart.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You mentioned beta blocker medicine in answer to P.O., the man who had terrible migraine headaches. What's the other name for them? Can you get it over the counter? Please send me material on the subject. - Mrs. H.W.

There's more than one beta blocker. They help when the goal is calcium blockers. to prevent migraine attacks from spasms, the precursor of the headache. The first beta blocker found effective for this was propranolol. The trade name is Inderal. Recently, studies have indicated high effectiveness of another beta blocker, timolol (Blocadren) in preventing migraine. More recently than this, work has been done to evaluate the effectiveness new family of drugs,

Incidentally, all these medicines are available by prescription, not over the counter. I am sending on the booklet "Headache: Causes-Sysmptoms-Cures." Other readers can order by writing me and enclosing a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope and $1.00.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL. 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "You Can Control Angina." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.25.

envelope and $1.25.
Dr. Donohue welcoems readers mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

was predicted in the Old Testament numerous times, and it is even of supreme interest in heaven among those who did not even need salvation according to the written word of God. The question has to be asked: WHY DID JESUS DIE ON THE CROSS? The Bible gives the answer to that question:to fulfill and take away the law of the Old Testament (Matt.5:17 Colossians 2:14-17), to ratify the new covenant (Matt. 26:28; Hebrews 9:14-18), to fulfill Old Testament predictions (Isaiah 53). to make possible the charch/to produce the church (Acts 20:28; Ephesians 5:21-33), so we could be reconciled to God(2 Corinthians 5:18,19), to redeem us (I Peter 1:18,19),to be our propitiation (meaning to appease the wrath of God and satisfy justice-l John 2:1,2), and because he loved us (John 15:3) as well as to express the love of God the Father (John 3:16,17). Mountain storage tank idea shelved atop the mountain.

The city already has plans to build a reservoir on the slope of the be a valuable asset in broadening mountain to service taps in Highland South and Kentwood addition where water pressure is low.

Moving the reservoir atop the mountain would serve those areas as well as Christopher's proposed development of the giant hill.

The storage tank, or pressure plane, the city now envisions has a price tag of about $680,000, said Public Works Director Tom Decell. To move it several hundred feet up would put an additional $306,000 on the cost of building it, he said.

Councilman Harold Hall said Tuesday the city originally told Christopher that it would place the reservoir atop the mountain if he would pay the difference.

Christopher told the council he forecasts building 20 homes on the mountain's mid-slope in the next two years. He said development will coincide with the economic development of West Texas. "There's no reason to conceive of any quick development up here,'

Given that, development water needs in the forseeable future could be served easily by a 100,000-gallon storage unit, he said.

"We believe we're being asked by the city to pay for elevated water to serve a tremendous amount of land and possible homes and tax base for the city well beyond what we have out here," he said.

Even with Christopher's $100,000 offer, the added cost to the city would still be $206,000.

Councilman Harold Hall said Tuesday the actual price would be closer to $250,000 with the need for additional pipe and pressure reduc- $224,000, he said.

Christopher told the council he The City Council at a work ses- would ready the new subdivision sion Monday shunned a proposal by for annexation with necessary South Mountain developer Charles specifications such as curb and the city's tax base

When the council hedged at spending money on the project, Christopher said, "The city's been looking to increase its tax base and what you're saying is you're not going to increase your tax base."

Hall said he first approached Christopher with the idea of Christopher pooling resources with the city on the water project. But Christopher did not respond to city initiatives or queries about the project until Monday, one day before Decell had requested a response in writing.

"We've bent over backwards to help the man," Hall said of the efforts by Decell and engineers to develop a plan that would serve both interests.

But as it stands now, the city will move forward with its original plan, perhaps selling water to Christopher. Hall said this is the consensus of the council.

Hall said he's not convinced the development of the mountain will pan out, saying it would be unwise for the city to invest $250,000 hoping for a return later in tax collections.

"First, we don't have the money to gamble with," he said. "Second, it's not good business.'

Elevated water storage or not, Christopher said the project will go forward with enough water for the subdivision.

Christopher said he could drill for the water to supply 40 to 50 homes at a cost of about $91,000. but said he would rather tie into both the city's water supply and sewage system. The tie-in to the waste water network will run 4444 The Howard County Jaycees men's slow-pitch tournament this past weekend at Johnny Stone Memorial Park was a roaring success.

Last year's State-runnerup L.G. Nix won the tournament. American Well Service finished second and Arguello Grocery finished third.

4444 The new Big Spring Fast-Pitch Softball League got under way this week with action at Comanche Trail Park Field. Behind the pitching of Bobby Myrick, Sterling City defeated Coahoma 4-3. The Big Spring Spankers defeated Sterling City 12-3. Phillip Ritchey was the winning pitcher and also had three hits. Elmer McMahan hit a homer for the winners. The five team league plays its games on Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 6:30 and 8.

4 4 4 4 4 The Howard College Rodeo team made a strong showing at the New Mexico Junior College Rodeo in Hobbs, N.M. this past weekend. The HC cowgirls finished first and the men finished tied for third with Sul Ross State University.

Johnna Puckett won the barrel race to lead the women. Karen Cochran was third in breakaway, Shannon Garrison was third in goat tying and Annette Overby was fourth in the breakaway competition.

There is no entry fee. Information and entry forms may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Midland Parks and Recreation Department, 300 Baldwin, Midland, Texas 79701. Completed entry forms must be received by the Midland Parks and Recreation by Monday, May 5 at 5 p.m. 4444 Keeping the subject on track and field, Big Spring has another budding star in the cinder circles. He's seventhgrader Neal Mayfield, brother of Big Spring High high jump sensation Brian Mayfield. At a track meet last week in Andrews Mayfield won first in three individual events. He won the high jump (5-10), long jump (18-11) and 100 meters (11.90)

These are pretty respectable marks for high schoolers and almost unheard of for a 13-year-old. Somehow I get the feeling that the name Mayfield will be in Big Spring record books for years to come.

 The Midland Angels have their home-opener Friday against last year's Texas League Western Division Champion El Paso at 7 p.m. The home opener is the first Burger Burger KingKNFM Family Fun Night. During the sixth inning a drawing will be held to award a family of four a three-day, two-night trip to Disneyland and a California Angels baseball game.

NBA playoffs begins

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics, nearly unbeatable at home during the regular season, have the Chicago Bulls right where they want them Boston Garden — in the first two games of their NBA playoff series. The Celtics, 67-15 overall and 40-1 at home, have every reason to be overconfident against the Bulls, winners of only eight of 41 road games. The two teams meet tonight in one of four NBA playoff series openers.

Boston players say their own expectations are just as high as those of their fans and the media.

'We expected ourselves to win last year and the year before and the year before that," Celtics forward Kevin McHale said Wednesday. "Other people's expectations of us are half of what they are of ourselves. 'A lot of those expectations are held by the players themselves, swingman Scott Wedman added. "So if it's coming from the players, it's confidence, not pressure.

Other best-of-5 first-round series starting tonight are Detroit at Atlanta, Sacramento at Houston and San Antonio at the Los Angeles Lakers Boston's 40-1 mark broke an NBA record of 37 home victories in a season and also erased the all-time mark of 33-1 set in 1949-50 by the Rochester Royals. The Celtics' 31 consecutive home victories is another NBA record.

The Bulls believe they would have been much better than 30-52 had they not lost guard Michael Jordan for 64 games with a broken left foot.

The Bulls won six of their last 10 games to pass Cleveland for the last playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Over that span, Jordan averaged 26.5 points in 27.7 minutes per game

Queens sign blue-chipper

The Howard College Hawk Queens added their second bluechip player to their basketball stable by signing Reagan County guard Leslie Gooch Wednesday afternoon

The 5-5 guard comes to Howard with some high credentials. This past season she led the Owls to a Region I-AA tournament before losing to eventual state champion Abernathy. The Owls finished the season with a 26-1 record.

Gooch made the all-league team in District 8-AA for four years and was Second Team All-State her junior year. This season she for words on the subject of baseball, but he readily admits he has no explanation for the Los Angeles Dodgers' record-setting run of futility.

"I've never seen anything like the Dodger manager said Wednesday night after his team played its 10th straight one-run game in a 2-1 loss to San Diego. "If somebody had told me something like this would happen, I'd have told them they're crazy.

Simply put, what has happened is that the Dodgers - favored by most to repeat as National League West champions — have lost seven of those games, including the last three in San Diego's final at-bat.

Padres Manager Steve Boros. whose team has won seven of 10 and shares with the Dodgers the major-league record for consecutive one-run games at the start of a season, also is devoid of a meaningful answer.

"I'd like to be able to exlain it. but I can't," Boros said after Graig Nettles' pinch-hit single off reliever Tom Niedenfuer produced the winning run with two out in the ninth inning. "This whole 10-day stretch has been simply remarkable. Elsewhere in the NL, it was

Houston 4. San Francisco 1, and Cincinnati 5, Atlanta 3. St. Louis at New York and Pittsburgh at Philadelphia were postponed by Nettles, whose glove work at third base for the New York Yankees made him a Dodger World Series nemesis long before he joined the Padres, certainly came through with his biggest hit of the season. He went to the plate mired in a 1-for-16 slump.

"I know relief pitchers don't like to get beat with their second best pitch, so after it got to 3-2 I was looking fastball all the way," Nettles said.

The hit scored Kevin McReynolds from second base.

Dennis Powell, 0-2, making his first start of the year, allowed the Padres just four hits in 8 1-3 innings. Niedenfuer replaced Powell after the latter had walked McReynolds.

Steve Garvey grounded out to first, moving McReynolds to second, and Garry Templeton was in-Tom Lasorda is rarely at a loss tentionally walked to bring up Nettles. His hit made a winner of reliever Rich Gossage, 2-0, who worked the ninth in relief of starter Dave Dravecky.

> The 10th consecutive one-run game for both teams is one shy of the National League record for consecutive one-run games in a season. While Lasorda wouldn't mind setting the record in a victory, he would rather have a laugher.

"We're just in a rut and we've got to get out of it, said Lasorda, whose team has scored just 27 runs in 10 games — eight of them well pitched. "We need the day off, I'll tell you that."

The Dodgers, who have lost four games in extra innings, get their first day off today. They open a three-game series in Atlanta on Friday night.

Dravecky accounted for a 1-0 Padre lead with his first majorleague homer, a drive to left-center field in the third.

Cesar Cedeno's run-scoring double in the fourth broke Dravecky's scoreless inning streak at 19 2-3.

Reds 5, Braves 3 In his 17th major-league season, Dave Concepcion could be forgiven for relaxing every now and then. But the 37-year-old Cincinnati shortstop didn't stay on top because he'd made a habit of such

"I was getting lazy, losing my stroke," Concepcion said when explaining why he showed up 51/2 hours early.

The extra batting practice "really worked," said Concepcion, who hit two homers and drove in three Strikeouts may have become commonplace to Nolan Ryan. That's understandable after 4,101 of them. But a game-winning RBI from a lifetime .122 hitter is another matter.

"I didn't realize that was it," Ryan said jokingly in discussing a two-run, second-inning single. "A big RBI man like me ... that is pretsurprising.

Ryan, 2-1, struck out nine San Francisco batters in 7 2-3 innings. He allowed six hits and walked three before Dave Smith came on in relief to collect to his third save.

The game-winning RBI statistic has been used only since 1980, but Ryan said he couldn't recall ever having one in his 19-year majorleague career

Saberhagen two-hits Red Sox

By The Assciated Press

"You can't pitch much better than that," Kansas City Manager Dick Hower said.

He was talking about his own Bret Saberhagen, but he could easily have been referring to Ron Romanick of the California Angels.

Both Saberhagen and Romanick pitched two-hitters Wednesday night to lead their teams to victories - Kansas City beating Boston's Al Nipper 1-0 and Romanick stopping the Seattle Mariners 4-0.

Saberhagen, who last vear became the youngest pitcher to win the Cy Young Award in the AL, faced just 29 batters, striking out six

The only Boston hits were singles by Tony Armas with two out in the second and Don Baylor leading off the fifth. Neither advanced beyond

"This was good, especially coming off a horrible spring," Saberhagen said. "I was concerned whether I could go a strong seven (innings)

During the spring he struggled with a sore shoulder and a virus. "Saberhagen is OK," Howser said. "Now I don't have to answer that question any more." Nipper was almost as good as Saberhagen, allowing just five hits. But one was Steve Balboni's second homer of the season to lead off the second, the only run Saberhagen needed. Last season Balboni had only two hits at Fenway Park. In the California-Seattle game, Romanick lost his perfect game by walking the very first batter, the first of five in the game. And, with two down in the sixth, Ivan Calderon's single broke up the nohit bid.

But the California right-hander didn't mind.

"It's my best game ever, as far as keeping my stuff through nine innings goes," Romanick said. "I was a real pitcher out there.

Gorman Thomas got Seattle's second hit, a one-out single in the Romanick is now 2-0 as he tries to erase the memory of the second half of 1985. After going 13-4 before the All-Star break, he won only one game after July.

Wally Joyner's solo homer, his second of the season, supported Romanick's pitching and gave the Angels a 1-0 lead in the first. California added two more runs in the fourth and their final score in the seventh.

White Sox 10, Tigers 4 Ron Kittle had a three-run homer and a sacrifice fly, while Carlton Fisk also homered as Chicago overpowered Detroit at Comiskey

"I don't care if I was 1-for-13," said Kittle. "I didn't consider myself in a slump. I hadn't swung at a bad pitch all season. I felt good at the plate, I was comfortable. Guys go through things like that; it just happens.

The triumph was only the second in eight games for the Sox as Floyd

The defending champion Lakers also appear to have an easy firstround opponent in San Antonio. Los Angeles finished 62-20 for the second consecutive season, while the Spurs won only 11 of their last 38 games and finished 35-47.

Pain gets best of Louganis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Greg Louganis, winner of a record 35 national diving championships and a double gold medalist in the 1984 Olympics and 1982 world championships, has found pain an opponent he couldn't defeat.

"I usually don't dive in pain," Louganis said Wednesday after he placed third in the men's platform prelims of the U.S. National Indoor Diving Championships.

Louganis, 26, was in competition at the Indiana University Natatorium for the first time since sweeping all three events at last vear's outdoor national championships.

"I didn't feel rusty." said Louganis, who finished with 548.10 points - about 70 below his winning total in the event last year. "I was dealing with a lot of pain."

Louganis had about 10 warts removed from his hands and feet earlier in the day. "I had one wart underneath a nail on my hand, and the doctor had to dig it out," said the defending champion, who will be defending his 1-meter springboard title tonight. "I've done it before (had warts removed on the day of competition). This time the doctor was very through."

Scott Donie, a 17-year-old high school senior who has never placed higher than eighth in national seniors competition, scored a career-high 552.45 points to lead the men's prelims. Ron Meyer, a double champion on the springboard in the 1985 NCAA meet, was second at 548.76.

There was a surprise in the women's 3-meter prelims with Tristan Baker, a junior at Brigham Young, placing first. Megan Neyer, 1982 world champion in the event, was second, and defending champion Kelly McCormick, Olympic silver medalist at 3-meters, took third.

"I wasn't paying attention to the meet really at all," said Donie, a 5-foot-6, 140-pounder who attends Spanish River High School in Boca Raton, Fla. — having moved there from Mission Viejo, Calif. to continue his training under Coach Ron O'Brien. "I was just worried about my own list (of dives)."

Donie, born in a military hospital in Italy where his father was serving in the U.S. Army, has been diving for nine years and left his parents in Houston to train under O'Brien's eye in California. "At first it was really hard," said

Donie of living away from his parents. "But after a while it's just like going to college. Ron does a great job of keeping us in line and making us aware of what we're working for." Baker had a final score of 509.10 points for her 10 dives. Neyer, seek-

The list of men's finalists included two-time NCAA 1-meter champion Matt Scoggin, 1982 indoor platform champion Dan Watson, 1984 NCAA 3-meter champion Kent Ferguson and 1985 outdoor platform runner-up Jim Gray.

NCAA rules against NLU basketball recruit

MONROE, La. (AP) — The school's top officials accepted with bitter disappointment Wednesday night the NCAA Council's final ruling that 6-foot-4 forward Chana Perry is ineligible to play women's basketball at Northeast Louisiana University.

'Nothing the NCAA does surprises me anymore,'' said NLU President Dwight Vines after reporters phoned him and Athletic Director Benny Hollis to tell them of the decision announced by the NCAA in Kansas City

'This entire episode has been shocking, to say the least," Vines said.

"We have no plans to file (suit) against the NCAA," he said. "It's an organization that has great latitude in how it deals with its members. It's a voluntary organization and, if you don't like it, all you can do is get out."

In January, the NCAA made Northeast Louisiana the first women's program to receive a public penalty in connection with the recruitment of Perry, a sophomore from Brookhaven, Miss.

In addition to ruling Perry ineligible, the NCAA also made Northeast's women ineligible for postseason play and forbade Coach Linda Harper from recruiting off-campus for one year.

The sanctions were the harshest ever imposed on a women's program and Wednesday night marked the second time they were upheld on appeal. 'The council sustained the earlier interpretation that the school gained a competitive advantage in violation of the rules, and that the student-athlete is ineligible," Davis said. "She's free to go anywhere she wants. But she's not eligible at Northeast

Neither Perry nor Coach Harper could be reached Wednesday night for comment, but both Vines and Hollis said Northeast would not pursue the matter further in the courts.

'We are very sad for Chana," he said. "We tried to plead a case for Chana Perry to have the opportunity to do what she wants to do, which was to play basketball at NLU. "We will honor her scholarship as long as she wants to stay here. And, if she wants to go somewhere else, we will do everything we can to help her make an orderly relocation.

It was the NCAA's second refusal to reconsider the case. Its council took up the school's final appeal of Perry's ineligibility Tuesday during meetings this week in Kansas City.

The recruitment of Perry was marked by controversy from the outset.

Her father, Curtis Perry, signed the national let ter of intent, although he lived in California and his daughter lived with her mother in Brookhaven.

Perry's mother, Antoinette Perry Smith, maintained the national letter was invalid but was overruled. She then sued Northeast for $500,000, alleging that former assistant coach Joy Shamburger moral ly corrupted her daughter while recruiting.

That suit is still pending. In finding Northeast guilty of recruiting violations last January, the NCAA said the school had provided Perry with illegal transportation and lodging while she was being recruited, that she was loaned a wristwatch, was illegally introduced to someone representing the university's athletic interests and also shot a few baskets at Northeast's gym with an assistant coach watching.

Also, the NCAA said an assistant coach - no longer at the school — lied to investigators lookinginto the matter.

Longtime distance runner switching to shorter races

NEW YORK (AP) - Francie Larrieu-Smith, a world-class runner for 20 years, is shortening her race schedule but increasing her distances.

"I used to be a little vagabond, racing all over the country," she said. "During the indoor season, I often would race twice on weekends - once on the East Coast and once on the West Coast.

"Now I pick and choose my races, The next major race for the 33-year-old runner is the May 31 L'eggs Mini Marathon in Central Park, a 10-kilometer (6.2-mile) event she won last year in 32 minutes, 23 seconds - three seconds ahead of favored Grete Waitz of Norway.

Larrieu-Smith's last big race was in January, when she was the second women's finisher in the Houston Marathon in 2 hours, 33 minutes, 36 seconds the fastest marathon by an American woman on a loop-to-loop course. England's Veronique Moret was the No. 1 woman's finisher.

After the mini marathon, Larrieu-Smith plans to compete in the USA Outdoor Championships at Indianapolis. But instead of defending the 10,000-meter title she won last year, she will run the 5,000, which she thinks will be the best preparation for her next marathon - either Chicago on Oct. 26 or New York on Nov. 2.

"I want to concentrate on my leg speed," she said. 'When you're training for a marathon, leg speed sometimes gets pushed into the background. I'm strong, but I'm not fast.'

Larrieu-Smith, winner of 18 national titles and a two-time Olympian, has run indoors, outdoors, on the roads and cross country. She said she approached her first marathon conservatively.

"Instead of going for it, my first thought was to try and finish," she said. "I just wanted to run through the entire (26-mile, 385-yard) course. But about 10 miles into the race, I was only some 30 seconds behind the leader. That's not much in a race like that. But I realized there still were some 15 to 16 miles to go, so, I decided to maintain my pace."

Completing the race gave Larrieu-Smith "an overwhelming feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment.

"I feel at this point in my career that I want to get the best performance out of a race that I can," she said. "I want to race extremely well. I look forward to having super great performances rather than mediocre ones

"My coach, Robert Vaughn, is big on peaking for performances. I don't race as much now, so I select a goal, then take a certain amount of time to prepare for that race. My goal last year was the L'eggs. "The L'eggs is a tremendous race, because it is the premier race in the world for women. I'll be nervous coming back wearing No. 1 this time. There'll be so many good runners in the field. Even if I finish in the top five or 10, I wouldn't be that disappointed.

"Potentially, there usually are about 20 women who can win the race. I could get 20th.

Last year, Larrieu-Smith beat a field that included Waitz, Joan Benoit, Maricica Puica, Anne Audain, Judi St. Hilaire and Aurora Cunha.

Larrieu-Smith enjoys running in New York, and always was a crowd favorite at Madison Square Garden events. Recently, while running in Central Park during a visit to the city, she said "more people recognized me than than where I live (Buda, Texas, near Austin).'

" 'Go Francie, Go France,' they were yelling." Larrieu-Smith will not compete on the lucrative European circuit this summer, staying home to prepare for her fall marathon.

"Running a marathon makes a 10K race seem so short now," she said.
