Manslaughter indictment given

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
A Big Spring man initially charged with murder in the shooting death of 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez last November was indicted by a Howard County grand jury on voluntary manslaughter.

The indictment of Preston Crawford, 33, of 3606 Calvin was one of 46 indictments the grand jury returned Thursday afternoon after convening for 2½ days. Grand jurors also indicted a 26-year-old coach and history teacher at Big Spring High School for delivery of marijuana. Charles "Chas" Briscoe was arrested by police at the high school on Feb. 26. His arrest was part of an intensive police operation in cooperation with the federal Drug Enforcement Agency initiated 11 months ago. Grand jurors heard 25 cases that resulted from the operation. The murder charge against Crawford was initially presented to grand jurors in January, but they passed on a decision because additional evidence was still being gathered, said District Attorney Rick Hamby.

A voluntary manslaughter charge differs from a murder charge, Hamby said, in that it is "murder committed in a situation involving passion."
The offense carries a 2-to-20-year

Reagan call excludes White from oil talks

AUSTIN (AP) — President Reagan will meet with three oil-state governors next week to talk about the recent collapse in oil prices, but Texas Gov. Mark White won't be among them.

White, a frequent critic of Reagan's policies, unsuccessfully has urged the president to impose an emergency tariff on imported oil. White said Thursday that he thought it was a mistake for some oil-state governors to be left out of the Reagan meeting, which is scheduled for Tuesday. "I think it is an oversight that all oil-producing states will not be included in the meeting, since these states have experienced a crippling loss of jobs and state revenue due to the dramatic downturn in spot oil prices," White said. Reagan's invitation went to Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh, Wyoming Gov. Ed Herschler and West Virginia Gov. Arch Moore. Janis Monger, a press aide to White, said the governor's office was told that Reagan decided to include a governor from each region. "He personally extended the invitations to each governor," she said.

White organized a summit meeting held earlier this week in Dallas and attended by several oil governors.

White said Nigh, who will represent the Southwest, will be an effective spokesman for the region's interests. Nigh co-hosted the oil summit with White.

The Texas governor, a Democrat, said he hopes Republican Reagan will "be receptive" to the seven-point resolution that was adopted at the oil summit.

Among other actions, that resolution called for:

- A temporary, variable tariff on imported oil and refined products.
- Preservation of tax incentives for oil exploration, drilling and production.
- A program to save low-output "stripper" wells.
- Repeal of the windfall profits

tax. "Given today's volatile conditions in the Middle East, it is vital to our national security interest for the president to act now to stabilize the domestic energy industry so essential to our national defense," White said.

In a statement released in Oklahoma City, Nigh said he had asked that White be invited.

"I know of no other governor more concerned about the plight of the oil and gas industry than Mark White. It would be appropriate that he be included in this discussion, particularly since Texas produces almost one-third of the nation's oil," Nigh said.

Although he was left off the list, White said he didn't feel insulted.

"The president knows exactly my position on this," White said. "I am very pleased that the president is meeting with some of the oil-producing states. And if they will listen to the governors that are going up there, then I'm very hopeful we'll see action out of the administration," White said.

Career ladder revised

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer
A policy of placing teachers on the career ladder was approved by the Big Spring school board at its regular meeting Thursday night.

The vote was 4-2, with Dock Voorhies and Billy Pineda voting against the policy.

The new policy rewards teachers identified as excellent by placing them on a higher career ladder level, said a memo from the career ladder advisory committee. It sets performance categories, criteria for selection of career ladder teachers and maintenance of required standards.

Another option, which was supported by Voorhies and Pineda, would have placed on the career ladder all teachers who meet the minimum requirements set by House Bill 72.

This alternative, however, would require more funds to pay teachers than the state grants the district for this purpose, said Bill McQueary, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction, who was on the committee.

Nancy Wiseman, a Level II

teacher on the committee, said this option was financially unrealistic.

Under the new policy, teachers will be evaluated using a new form which has five categories, from "clearly outstanding" to "unsatisfactory," McQueary said. Previous forms used had three and four categories. Each campus will have two appraisers, who will administrative personnel in the school district.

Appraisers will be required to pass a 30-hour course this summer teaching them how to evaluate teachers, McQueary said.

In addition, a district-wide curve system will be employed to assure fairness in evaluation. Some appraisers will naturally be more difficult and some more lenient than others, said Superintendent Lynn Hise.

There is no time limit after which teachers must move up the career ladder. Teachers can stay on Level 1 as long as they maintain satisfactory performance requirements, McQueary said.

In other business, the board:

- Considered but took no action on a plan to consolidate district kindergartens onto one campus at the Airport school. This would make a stronger, more cohesive program for 5-year-olds, Hise said in a memo to the board.

It would allow for better distribution of students among teachers, he said, and the teachers would be on one campus "with the advantage of sharing ideas, materials, etc."

The plan would also free two classrooms at Marcy Elementary School, four classrooms at Kentwood and remove the campus-sharing situation at Lakeview school, Hise said.

The plan would cost the district $85,000 to $95,000 more than they pay now, Hise said, but he believes "dollars spent wisely at this level can save dollars spent later in remedial programs and prevention programs for potential drop-outs."

The plan will be considered at the May 8 meeting to give the public time to respond, Hise said.

• Took no action on the selection of a tax collection attorney. Jimmy Anderson, on a committee with the Howard County Consolidated Tax

Statue facelift starts

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The 8-foot replica of the Statue of Liberty stands in front of the Municipal Auditorium, black with 36 years of corrosion — but not for long.

Trinity Memorial Park is undertaking a project to renovate the "little lady," said president Phillip Welch. Renovation work has already started on the foundation and plaque, he said.

Corrosion must be stripped from the sheet copper of which the statue is made, Welch said, and a color foundation laid. Various parts of the statue will be highlighted by having the bronze color rubbed off. Then a clear, sealing finish must be applied. The statue became cor-

Mourners denounce U.S.

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Thousands of Libyans, some chanting "We will destroy America," jammed the streets around a small mosque today for the funeral of 19 victims of the U.S. bombing raid.

Young women in uniform wept and revolutionary guards brandished AK-47 automatic rifles as mourners carried caskets draped in green cloths the two miles from the capital's largest place of worship, the Molay Mohammed mosque, to the smaller mosque for prayers and burial.

Islamic chants — "There is no god but Allah and Mohammed is his prophet" — mixed with revolutionary slogans like "Holy War — Suicide" and "We are a storm — We will destroy America."

Col. Moammar Khadafy, who was shown on Libyan television Thursday night visiting wounded people in the hospital, was not seen at the funeral, which was shown live on the state television and radio networks for more than two hours.

One slogan shouted by the crowd today was, "Khadafy is our leader, and he will fight our revolution."

Arabic writing on the caskets indicated there were civilians and military personnel among the dead.

After prayers at the Molay Mohammed mosque, the procession wound slowly through a dense crowd of 3,000 to 4,000 people amid much pushing and shoving by distraught people, many of whom raised clenched fists.

Libya has not made public casualty figures, but Western diplomats say at least 100 people, and probably more, died in the American bombing raids early Tuesday.

The official Libyan news agency reported Thursday that some victims of the raids were buried in Libya's second-largest city, Benghazi, which along with Tripoli was a target of the U.S. attacks. The news agency JANA did not say how many people were buried in Benghazi.

Banks and many shops reopened Thursday for the first time since the U.S. attacks, and tensions began to ease in this seaside city. But the tirade of anti-American rhetoric continued with fresh pledges of support for Khadafy's revolution.

Names in the news

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK — Actress CYBILL SHEPHERD resents the implication that director Peter Bogdanovich discovered her as an unformed girl and molded her in his own sophisticated image.

Her picture on the cover of Glamour magazine inspired Bogdanovich to cast her in "The Last Picture Show," her first film, in the early 1970s.

"It's as if when Peter came along I'd never even heard of opera or anything," Miss Shepherd said in an interview to be published Sunday in Parade magazine. "I think I molded Peter as much as he molded me. But I'm certainly not diminishing his huge influence on me. He was a great teacher, and he believed in me, not only as an actress but as an intelligent person."

"You know, a lot of people assumed, because I was pretty, that I was dumb. I had an agent who even talked slowly when she spoke to me. She thought otherwise I wouldn't understand."
 Miss Shepherd, 36, is co-star of the hit television series "Moonlighting."

PRINCESS DIANA
...dresses for Japan

LONDON — PRINCESS DIANA paid a fashion compliment to Japan by wearing a red and white dress, the colors of the Japanese flag, to lunch at the Japanese Embassy.

But Diana and her husband, Prince Charles, will have to wait until they visit Japan next month to sample Japanese food. The menu Thursday was decidedly French except for one national delicacy, Japanese egg custard.

SYLVESTER STALLONE
...eyes movie site

Japanese Ambassador Toshio Yamazaki, who greeted the royal couple, said later, "The Japanese nation will give their royal highnesses a very enthusiastic welcome."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Actor SYLVESTER STALLONE's production company is eyeing the Ocoee River area as the site for a new $25 million movie, officials say.

"They have been scouting," said Jane Word, director of the Tennessee Film, Tape and Music Commission. "No decision has been made. When the film company is ready to announce, the governor will make the announcement."

In an April 2 letter to Tennessee Valley Authority general manager

Bill Willis, Ms. Word said the river would be used to film a scene of a father saving his son who can't swim.

The unnamed film is scheduled for production this summer, but officials would not comment on whether it will feature Stallone's Rambo or Rocky characters.

NEW YORK — Choreographer MARTHA GRAHAM says she wasn't really a rebel and revolutionary, as she was called in her younger years in dance.

"I wasn't seeking to shatter anything; I was only trying to build something for myself," Miss Graham, 91, told a news conference Thursday to announce a new season of her Martha Graham Dance Company, 60 years after its first concert.

A European tour is scheduled for the company later this year and Miss Graham said she is conscious of the danger of terrorism.

"I'm deeply affected by what is going on in the world," she said. "Fear for the youth, fear for the preciousness of life is there."

"It's a question of our future, whether we tour or do not go. I would not go in the midst of turmoil as exists today, although we've been booked to go."

NEW YORK — Real estate magnates HARRY and LEONA HELMSLEY have donated $33 million to New York Hospital, the largest single contribution to the center since 1927, The New York Times reported today.

The money will aid the hospital's $300 million modernization program and its cardiovascular research.

"This is of great importance and it will be the underpinning of the remaining modernization," said Robert S. Hatfield, president of the hospital's board of governors. Hatfield said the gift was the largest single donation to the hospital since it received $40 million from Payne Whitney 59 years ago.

Helmsley, who controls Helmsley Enterprises Inc., one of New York City's largest real estate, management, hotel and financing companies, had been a patient at the cardiovascular center, which will get $3 million. His wife is president of Helmsley Hotels, which operates 30 hotels across the country.

 Heavy snow and gusty winds lashed the Northern Plains and Rockies today, while rain prompted flood warnings in the East. Snow piled up a foot deep between Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyo., and spread from Wyoming across the Nebraska Panhandle and western South Dakota.

Warnings for heavy snow and gusty winds were in effect for the Black Hills of South Dakota, southeast Wyoming and the Nebraska Panhandle.

Travelers' advisories and warnings to take special care of livestock because of the weather extended from western North Dakota across northwest Nebraska and from Wyoming through the northern and central mountains of Colorado.

Utah ski areas also had lots of snow. Since Wednesday afternoon, Alta received 23 inches, Snowbird 19 and Brian Head 15. A foot of snow fell at the 8,000-foot level of the Uinta Mountains.

Arrested man says he was trying to retrieve property

A local businessman who told police he was trying to retrieve more than $17,000 in cash and merchandise stolen from his business, was himself arrested Thursday morning on suspicion of breaking into a home.

Steve Chrane, 34, of 1705 Yale St., owner of Chrane Boat and Marine, was arrested Thursday morning on suspicion of burglary with intent to commit a felony.

Kathy Emma Freitag of 1004 Howell St. told police Thursday that someone broke into her home at 10:56 a.m. Thursday and threatened her and others with two guns.

"He thought he knew who it was who broke into his business," said police Lt. Jerry Edwards. "He tried to take matters into his own hands instead of letting us handle it, and we arrested him."

Edwards said this morning that police have no evidence to support Chrane's claim that stolen goods were at the home he broke into.

Chrane filed a complaint earlier Thursday stating that someone had broken into his business between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 9 a.m. Thursday. Besides causing $250 damage in the break-in, thieves stole $1,852 in cash, $13,620 in outboard motors and a $2,500 vehicle from the business.

Chrane was transferred to county jail and later released on $2,500 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Darratt.

Martin County jury gives maximum sentence in DWI

STANTON — A Littlefield man began serving a two-year sentence for driving while intoxicated after he was found guilty Thursday afternoon by a Martin County Court jury.

Felton Eugene Jones, 44, was given the maximum punishment by jurors after they deliberated for 10 minutes, said sheriff's deputy Mike Welling.

Jurors also opted for the defendant to pay a $2,000 fine, Welling said.

Jones was jailed in Martin County after the juror's decision. County attorney Jim McGivray prosecuted the case for the state and summoned four witnesses, Welling said. Jones testified as the only defense witness.

The defendant was arrested Aug. 17 at 8:30 p.m. on FM 829, five miles north of Interstate 20 by Welling and Department of Public Safety trooper Wade Turner.

Welling said Jones refused to submit to an alcohol breath test and also had three prior DWI convictions within a two-year period.

Jones had also been arrested for DWI four times within a year, Welling said.

Deaths

Manuel Avila Brito

ODESSA — Services for Manuel Avila Brito, 37, formerly of Big Spring, will be Saturday at 1 p.m. at St. Joseph's Catholic Church with the Rev. John Waldron, pastor, officiating. Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tonight there. Burial will be in Sun Set Memorial Gardens, directed by Martinez Funeral Home. He will lie in state at 1105 W. Ada until services.

He died Wednesday, April 16, 1986, from five gunshot wounds, at least three of which were fatal, said Odessa police Cpl. John McAhon. The police are handling the case as a murder, he said. Brito married Elida Tavarez

Oct. 3, 1968, in Odessa. He was born Jan. 29, 1949, in Pecos. He served in the Army during the Vietnam War.

He is survived by his wife, Elida of Odessa; his father, Rodolfo M. Brito of Big Spring; three brothers, Robert Brito of Odessa and Mike and Richard Brito, both of Big Spring; two sisters, Maria and Gloria Brito, both of Big Spring; and his maternal grandfather, Juan Avila of Pecos.

Price tag for air safety

WASHINGTON — Airlines are imposing new security measures to combat terrorism abroad, including around-the-clock guards at parked aircraft, but they say travelers should help pay for the expensive precautions.

Pan American World Airways said it plans to ask the government to approve a $5-per-passenger surcharge to defray added security expenses, and other airlines are likely to follow suit.

Meanwhile, the head of the airline pilots union called Thursday for better training and pay for airport security workers to get away from "the rent-a-cop" approach to combating terrorism.

Shuttle crew identified

ORLANDO, Fla. — NASA officials have identified the remains of Gregory Jarvis, and all seven Challenger astronauts now have been accounted for by pathology experts, Jarvis' father says.

The wreckage of the shuttle's crew cabin was found March 7 in the Atlantic Ocean 18 miles offshore, but pathologists until this week had been able to identify the remains of only six astronauts killed in the Jan. 28 explosion, The Orlando Sentinel reported today.

NASA has promised the astronauts' families that it will release the remains for burial, possibly next month.

Violence rocks town

HOLLIDAY — The justice of the peace in this North Texas town of about 1,500 said she was not surprised by an outbreak of violence that included the firebombing of two businesses, slashing of tires, and obstruction of fire department vehicles.

There also were unconfirmed reports of shots being fired in downtown Holliday after dawn Thursday morning.

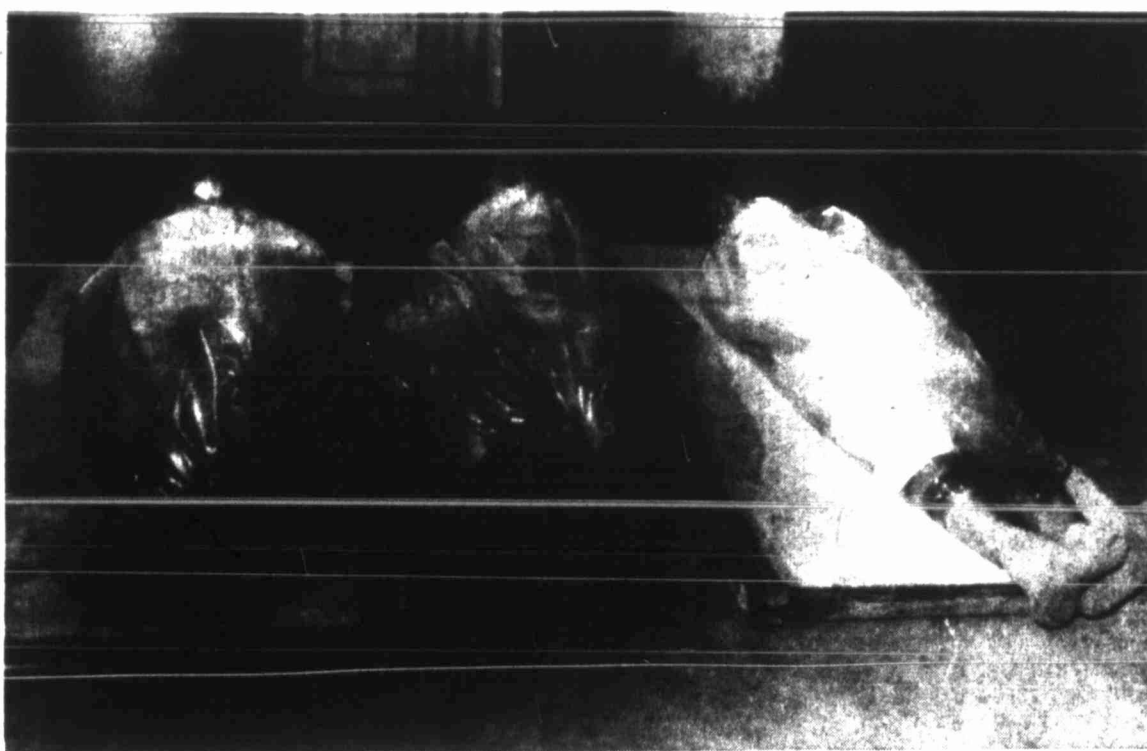

The town spent Thursday night under a council-declared state of emergency after firebombings and other early-morning violence apparently aimed at law enforcement officials.

Church leaders critical

WASHINGTON — Several Christian church leaders are criticizing the U.S. bombing raid on Libya, saying the attack will only lead to further acts of violence.

Their comments, made Thursday, put them at odds with public opinion polls and with some Jewish leaders, who praised Monday's assault.

The bombing was "both morally questionable and fundamentally imprudent," said the Rev. Avery Post, president of the 1.7-million-member United Church of Christ. He also said the attack "assumes that the only effective response to terror is more terror. As a Christian, that is a proposition I cannot accept."

Three bodies wrapped in plastic bags lie in a hospital morgue in the central mountains town of Bahmdoun, Lebanon, Thursday, believed to be those of three kidnapped Britons. The blood-stained bodies were found on a free-lined highway in the Druse controlled mountains east of Beirut. An anonymous caller claiming to speak for the Arab Revolutionary Cells said they "executed" the men to avenge U.S. air strikes on Libya last Tuesday.

Grim reminder

Note says three slain to avenge air raid

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Police searched a shell-pocked seaside apartment building today for the body of a British hostage, but said an anonymous telephone call claiming he had been killed apparently was a hoax.

The bodies of three captives were found Thursday in the mountains east of Beirut, and a note left nearby said the men were slain in retaliation for British cooperation with a U.S. air strike on Libya early Tuesday.

John Rowan, first secretary of the Irish Embassy in Beirut, identified the slain men as Philip Padfield, 40, Leigh Douglas, 34, and Alec Collett, 64, all Britons.

However, the body identified as Collett's was found to have 10 fingers. His daughter, Suzie Grant, told the British Broadcasting Corp. in London that the body could not have been his because he had a finger removed in an operation some years ago.

British Foreign Office spokeswoman Sue Jones, also in London, said the body initially thought to be Collett's might be that of Brian Keenan, a teacher kidnapped April 11 who holds dual British-Irish citizenship.

Ms. Grant said that officials of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency, for which Collett was working when he disappeared, did not know who the third victim was.

British Embassy officials in Beirut could not immediately be reached for comment.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe said today his government had "firm evidence of direct Libyan involvement" in the kidnappings of Douglas and Padfield, who were last seen March 28 in Moslem west Beirut.

"We have good reason to believe they were in Libyan hands" when killed, Howe said.

Padfield was director of an international language center, and Douglas was a political science professor at the American University in Beirut.

Keenan, 35, taught English at the American University. Collett, based in New York, was on a writing assignment for the U.N. agency when he was seized in southern Lebanon March 25, 1985.

Authorities dismissed as an apparent hoax an anonymous telephone call to the Christian-controlled Voice of Lebanon radio claiming that another Briton, cameraman John McCarthy, had been slain.

Four gunmen seized McCarthy, 29, and his Lebanese driver Thursday on a highway that leads to the airport through west and south Beirut.

McCarthy, who works for the Worldwide Television News Agency, arrived in the Lebanese capital March 16 and was booked to fly back to London Thursday.

The radio station said the caller claimed that McCarthy's body would be found wrapped in a blanket on the second floor of a west Beirut apartment building. It said the caller claimed to speak for the Arab Revolutionary Cells, which took responsibility for the slaying of three other kidnap victims.

Police searched the building thoroughly but found nothing, police and witnesses said.

The Arab Revolutionary Cells are believed linked to Palestinian terrorist Abu Nidal. On Wednesday, Abu Nidal's Fatah Revolutionary Council faction threatened to avenge the U.S. raids with "heavy blows."

Non-violent goal set

SEOUL, South Korea — Dissident leader Kim Dae-jung says the political opposition has seized the initiative in South Korea, but that it will need patience to win democratic reforms.

Change must come to South Korea, but only "moderation and non-violence will get the people's support and the understanding and sympathy of the world," he told The Associated Press in an interview.

"This year, 1986, should be the year of patience, and 1987 the year of Korea, the decisive year," Kim said Thursday. "We must not let the time, the opportunity get away."

Weapons cut proposed

BERLIN — Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev today proposed reductions in conventional military forces and tactical nuclear weapons across the entire European continent from the Atlantic to the Urals.

Speaking to the East German Communist Party Congress in East Berlin, Gorbachev said he was taking the initiative for an East-West agreement on meaningful cuts in the ground and tactical air forces of European countries, as well as in U.S. and Canadian forces deployed on the continent.

The Kremlin leader provided few details of his proposal. A brief report from the official Soviet news agency Tass, filed from East Berlin, did not elaborate.

Cartel agreement dim

GENEVA — OPEC oil ministers entered their fourth day of negotiations today with sources reporting that the cartel appears to have given up hope of agreeing on immediate cuts in oil production to reverse a price collapse.

The fall in crude oil prices to below $15 a barrel could cost the member nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries $60 billion in lost export income this year. As recently as November, oil was selling for $30 a barrel.

After three hours of talks Thursday, the 13 OPEC oil ministers suspended their conference and instructed their technical advisers to draw up a range of proposals on production and pricing policies.

France expels Libyans

PARIS — France said today that four Libyans are being expelled from the country as possible troublemakers.

Security Minister Robert Pandraud said the four will be forced to leave the country soon because their actions are "likely to trouble public order."

Pandraud, deputy to Interior Minister Charles Pasqua and a former top police officer, said in a statement that the government would not say where the Libyans will be sent or precisely why they are being expelled. He did not identify them.

Frightened islanders live in caves, bunkers

LAMPEDUSA, Italy (AP) — Some residents of this tiny island midway between Sicily and Libya have taken refuge in caves and bunkers that were used during World War II, worried that Libya may launch another missile attack.

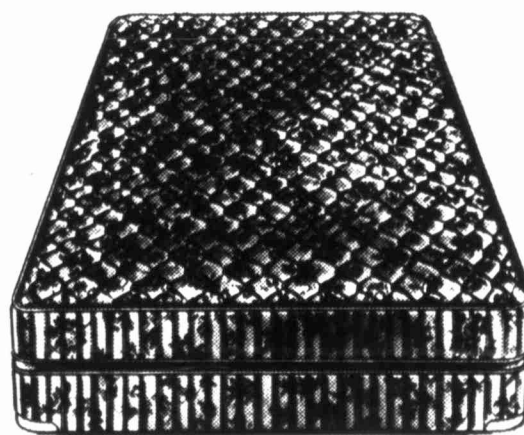

Others among the barren island's 4,500 people have been sleeping outdoors, where they would avoid the danger of being crushed inside their homes.

On Tuesday, less than 15 hours after the U.S. bombing raid on Libyan cities, Libya fired two Soviet-built surface-to-surface missiles at Lampedusa, situated about 180 miles north of Libya and 170 miles southwest of Sicily.

Both missiles landed harmlessly in the sea.

Pizza program

On behalf of the second graders at Elbow Elementary I would like to thank Pizza Hut for their "National Reading Incentive Program". This program is sponsored throughout the U.S. by Pizza Hut Inc.

For the last six months any student reaching the prescribed monthly reading goal was given a free pan pizza. If each student in the room reached the reading goal for five of the six months, the whole class could earn a room pizza party. I'm happy to say our second grade earned a room party and the pizza was delicious.

The "Book It" program has been a great incentive for reading in our school — Thanks, Pizza Hut!

Symphony success

Big Spring is fortunate in that its greatest resource is its wonderful people! We really seem to have a "can do" attitude which helps us accomplish successes like Saturday night's symphony concert. We had a record attendance of 400.

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Big Spring Symphony Association, I would like to thank the following special individuals and groups:

Wayman Clark of Neel's Transfer and Storage who supervised a group of volunteers on his day off to move the grand piano from Howard College to the city auditorium; Tim Haynes who cooperated with us to arrange for moving the piano; Marshall Horn who carefully tuned the returned piano; the Big Spring Steer Band and Boosters who moved chairs and music stands from the high school and back again; Mike Henry who again handled the project of tape recording the concert; and the Big Spring Symphony Guild who graciously hosted the noon luncheon on Saturday for the musicians as well as the reception following the concert.

I want to thank the city of Big Spring for getting Ken Hewitt to take care of Mount Olive Memorial Park. At last you have got someone out there who cares. Ever since my dad was laid to rest out there I've had nothing but trouble. My dad's headstone was a mess. I had dug the foot stone out so many times. But the last time I couldn't even find them.

I was so mad and upset when I went to the office. Then I met Ken Hewitt. He went to the grave with my stepmother and me. He asked me to give him one week. In a week it was fixed. Plus, the rest of the graves there by my dad's. Hope you can keep him for me!

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, April 18, the 106th day of 1986. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
Eighty years ago, on April 18, 1906, a devastating earthquake estimated at 8.3 on the Richter scale struck San Francisco, followed by raging fires. About 700 people died.

On this date:
In 1775, Paul Revere began his famous ride from Charlestown to Lexington, Mass., warning the American colonists that the British were coming.

In 1942, four months after Pearl Harbor, an air squadron led by James H. Doolittle bombed Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

In 1946, the League of Nations went out of business.

In 1949, the Irish republic was proclaimed.

In 1956, actress Grace Kelly married Prince Rainier of Monaco in a civil ceremony. A church wedding was performed the next day.

In 1983, a car bomb demolished the U.S. embassy in Beirut, Lebanon, killing more than 60 people, at least 17 of them Americans.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged that the United States was interfering in the internal affairs of Western European governments by warning them against allowing Communist participation.

Five years ago: President Reagan sent a personal note to Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki expressing regret over the sinking of a Japanese cargo ship after it collided with the nuclear-powered submarine USS George Washington on April 9.

One year ago: Cable television magnate Ted Turner unveiled his plans for an attempted takeover of CBS Inc. Turner later abandoned his takeover bid.

Today's birthdays: Actress Barbara Hale is 64. Actor Clive Revill is 56. Actor Robert Hooks is 49. Actress Hayley Mills is 40.

Thought for today: "The crisis you have to worry about most is the one you don't see coming." — Mike Mansfield, former Senate Democratic Leader and U.S. ambassador to Japan.

Morocco's king falls out of favor with Washington

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's once-ardent support of Morocco's King Hassan has cooled like the desert sands. In fact, we have learned, State Department officials had at least three secret talks last year with the leftist Polisario rebels, who have been battling Morocco for 10 years over the mineral-rich Western Sahara once owned by Spain.

The cause of this startling reversal of administration policy is one man: Moammar Khadafy, the "flaky" dictator of Libya. Though he once supported the Polisario with weapons and money, he astonished the White House in 1984 by announcing a "union" with Morocco. Khadafy's betrayal of the Polisario rebels left Algeria as their only effective supporter.

It was the Moroccan-Libyan solidarity treaty — which the Reagan administration learned of in the newspapers despite years of courting King Hassan — that led the president's policy makers to consider the bizarre tilt from Morocco to Algeria. Conservative Morocco had been regarded as the bulwark of U.S. hopes for influence in North Africa, while Algeria was considered dangerously leftist.

Even President Carter viewed the Polisario rebels as puppets of Algeria, Libya and the Soviet Union. Hassan played on these fears to gain increased U.S. military and economic support.

Although still officially supporting Morocco in the inconclusive desert war, the White House has come to the conclusion that it can't really Hassan, and that Algeria would be a more reliable anti-Khadafy ally.

Disillusion with Morocco — and high hopes for Algeria — led to the secret meetings with the Polisario last year. They were at a suitably low level, but they were the first such meetings since 1980, when Carter emissaries conferred with the rebels without visible effect.

The new White House friendship with Algeria was made easier by the decision of President Chadli Benjedid to cultivate friendlier ties with the United States. Algeria not only showed a willingness to buy arms from U.S. and Western European suppliers instead of just from the Soviet bloc, but to stand up to its Libyan neighbor as well. Evidently the Algerians looked on Khadafy's love affair with Hassan as a prelude to his oft-expressed dream of a Pan-Arab union — which would swallow Algeria under Khadafy's rule.

As one congressional expert said, the Algerians "have specifically sought to repair relations with the West." Algeria's reward has been favorable loan offers from the Export-Import Bank, a U.S. government agency, and a warm welcome for President Benjedid when he visited Washington last year.

In an interview with our associate Lucette Lagnado, the Polisario Front's representative at the United Nations acknowledged that the rebels' relations with the United States have improved, though he would not confirm the reports of direct U.S.-Polisario meetings. He complained that the Reagan administration has not gone as far as he would have liked, but he said, "There is a change of mood." Congress, he added, has been much more supportive lately.

The administration's new interest in Algeria and the Polisario is not necessarily a cross betrayal of its longtime ally, Hassan. It's no secret that Morocco is in bad economic shape, with high unemployment and food shortages. Spilling his country's limited resources into the endless desert war doesn't help Hassan or Morocco.

In that light, the Reagan administration would be doing its old, uncertain ally a favor by nudging him toward the negotiating table to end the war.

Footnote: Morocco's Washington lobbyists have argued ardently that King Hassan's solidarity treaty with Khadafy is little more than a pro forma piece of paper and that the United States is still the foremost object of Hassan's affection.

CRIME WATCH: There are ethnic criminal gangs that even Capt. Frank Furillo of "Hill Street Blues" never imagined, according to federal organized crime investigators. Would you believe the "Potato Bag Gang"? No, it's not Irish, it's Russian, made up of Soviet immigrants the Kremlin let out of its clutches. The Feds say the Russian gang numbers about 500, and is engaged in fraud, extortion and drug trafficking in New York. Meanwhile, down in Miami, the Mafia has reportedly been muscled out by a Cuban outfit that calls itself The Corporation.

Insight

Official says Khadafy is not target

By R. GREGORY NOKES
WASHINGTON (AP) — If a foreign power bombed the White House while President Reagan or his family were sleeping inside, could the conclusion be any other than that it was trying to kill him?

Did the Reagan administration try to kill Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy in Monday's bombing? His home was heavily damaged and an infant daughter was killed and two small sons injured, according to Libya.

His wife and all eight children were inside asleep and Khadafy himself was in a tent nearby, the Libyans said.

Western reporters who were given a tour said the windows and doors of the two-story residence were blown out, ceilings caved in and rooms filled with smashed furniture and debris.

They said it appeared at least two bombs dropped within 30 yards of the house. Officials accompanying reporters on the tour were quoted as saying Khadafy was inside the sand-bagged tent at the time of the raid. But this was not confirmed.

In his television address Wednesday night, his first appearance since the raid, Khadafy said, "Reagan's government should collapse, and he should be put on trial as a war criminal and murderer of children."

But Larry Speakes, the White House spokesman, appeared unmoved over the claim that an infant daughter was killed. "We were not aware previously that there was an adopted Khadafy infant. ... We had not seen the adoption papers," he said.

"We're not trying to assassinate Colonel Khadafy," said Richard Murphy, the assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs, when the question was raised before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee Wednesday.

"We want to change his behavior," explained Speakes.

Nor was an overthrow of the Khadafy government the aim, the officials said.

"We're not trying to pick for the Libyan people the leadership that they ought to have," Murphy said. "That's not going to be our choice."

By presidential executive order, assassinations are off-limits. Attempting to topple a foreign government without first declaring war is a violation of international law under the United Nations charter.

Retaliatory strikes also are a violation of international law, even if they are against a country that is linked to terrorism, as was Libya. But self-defense against another country is not a violation, and Reagan justified the attack on Libya as self-defense, an explanation that has been widely accepted in Congress.

Although it is officially denied, the belief is widespread that the administration had sought to lure the Libyans into the fight over international waterway rights in the Gulf of Sidra three weeks ago. In a quick escalation, the gulf clash was followed by the April 5 terrorist strike on a West Berlin nightclub — which the administration says was carried out by Libya — and then to Reagan's order for Monday's air strike.

One of the targets when American warplanes bombed Tripoli was the Bab al-Azziziya Barracks in Tripoli, where Khadafy's home is located. Khadafy doesn't always stay there.

Khadafy's family pediatrician, Dr. Mohammed Muafa, told reporters a blast that hit near the house caused Khadafy's 15-month-old adopted daughter, Hana, to suffer a skull fracture and internal injuries that proved fatal.

Around The Rim

Nature heals the spirit

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
When you go on vacation — always reserve a little time for yourself to fulfill a curiosity.

Especially if your vacation consists of going back home again (which disputes a Thomas Wolfe axiom).

Going back home to El Paso for a few days was a welcomed relief. Catching up on the news was a little strange though.

A former co-worker resigned his job, gave away his personal possessions and joined a monastery.

Another co-worker is currently awaiting his turn under the guillotine of upper management.

Of course — so and so got married.

Another so and so who would seem most the unlikely candidate in the world was in the hospital.

And the unexpected encounters — Scott? Is that really you? She was more gorgeous than ever, but shooed me away because she was with some "friends."

Oh well, memorable vacations always have a thread of fulfilling a curiosity and mine was the Guadalupe Mountains National Park. It's located 110 miles east of El Paso on U.S. Highway 62-180.

To recommend it as a place to visit would be an understatement. If you really want to call yourself a "Texan" — you have to visit it because the Guadalupe Peak is the highest point in the state.

The mysterious aura of the surroundings will dazzle you.

You can pick from a number of trail hikes to plunge deep into the plethora of mother nature.

Because of the relatively short time period, I picked what looked to be a brief hike.

The Manzanita and Smith Springs Hike was brief all right — I lost all sense of time as I hiked into another world. I encountered a mule deer upon setting out. Dunked my head into spring waters. Hiked through misty rains (this is Texas?).

Don't be alarmed when you hear the ancient Apache voices screaming in the wind.

"Be prepared when you enter the back country," a national park pamphlet recommends.

Especially if the goal is to fulfill a curiosity.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Two sons, 4-year-old Sef and 3-year-old Camis, were hospitalized in serious condition with internal injuries, the doctor said.

Khadafy's wife and the rest of his eight children also were at home, and all reportedly suffered from shock.

The military installation that was the target of the attack was a 10- to 15-acre complex with a reception hall, barracks, individual houses and an open field where there is a sand-bagged tent in which Khadafy often works.

Reporters counted what appeared to be eight bomb craters in a 300-yard row extending from immediately in front of Khadafy's home to an administrative building under which his fortified bunker is located.

The row of craters passed within 50 yards of a tent, reporters said. It appeared that no other parts of the compound were hit.

Rep. David R. Obey, D-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee before which Murphy testified, told The Associated Press afterward that he didn't think the administration had attempted to kill Khadafy, "but it might change things considerably if it was a byproduct of our attack."

Although Speakes and Murphy denied the United States was trying to overthrow Khadafy, Speakes didn't specifically deny an Egyptian newspaper report late last month which said the administration had on three occasions sought Egypt's help in a joint military action against Libya.

Speakes neither confirmed nor denied the report, but said, "We and the Egyptians have a common perception of regional security issues. Our relations in this area have been closely and mutually profitable."

R. Gregory Nokes writes on diplomatic issues for The Associated Press and has been covering U.S. policy in the Middle East since 1974.

Small well operators can stop output without risking leases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, trying to preserve some oil reservoirs from abandonment in the face of low prices, told operators of small wells Thursday they could stop production without losing federal leases.

"Continued abandonment of such wells clearly will reduce our ultimate recovery potential" on federal lands, Interior Secretary Donald P. Hodel told reporters, and that loss of productive capacity "no doubt will increase U.S. dependence on imported oil — which is contrary to the nation's interests."

Involved are so-called "stripper" wells, which produce less than 10 barrels per day. Failure to produce from such a well on a federal lease has meant the lease is supposed to be surrendered after 60 days.

Operators now will just have to give the Bureau of Land Management a certificate that they would abandon the well otherwise and the bureau will lift the 60-day requirement, "subject to our right to require production" and payment of $1 per acre per year, Hodel said.

Operators on lands of Indian tribes will have to win approval of the tribe and the Bureau of Indian Affairs as well.

While the action clearly will help some well operators, Hodel repeated the Reagan administration's stance against general aid to the domestic petroleum industry. "We do not favor protectionist activities and we do not favor subsidies for an industry or a sector of an industry," he said.

A bipartisan group of senators led by Sen. David L. Boren, D-Okla., is drafting a bill to aid small producers through a package of increased tax breaks.

Boren's press aide, Barbara Webb, said the bill would embody such principles as an undetermined increase in the stripper well depletion allowance of 15 percent, tax credits to make up the difference between the cost of production and the selling price and purchase of stripper oil for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve.

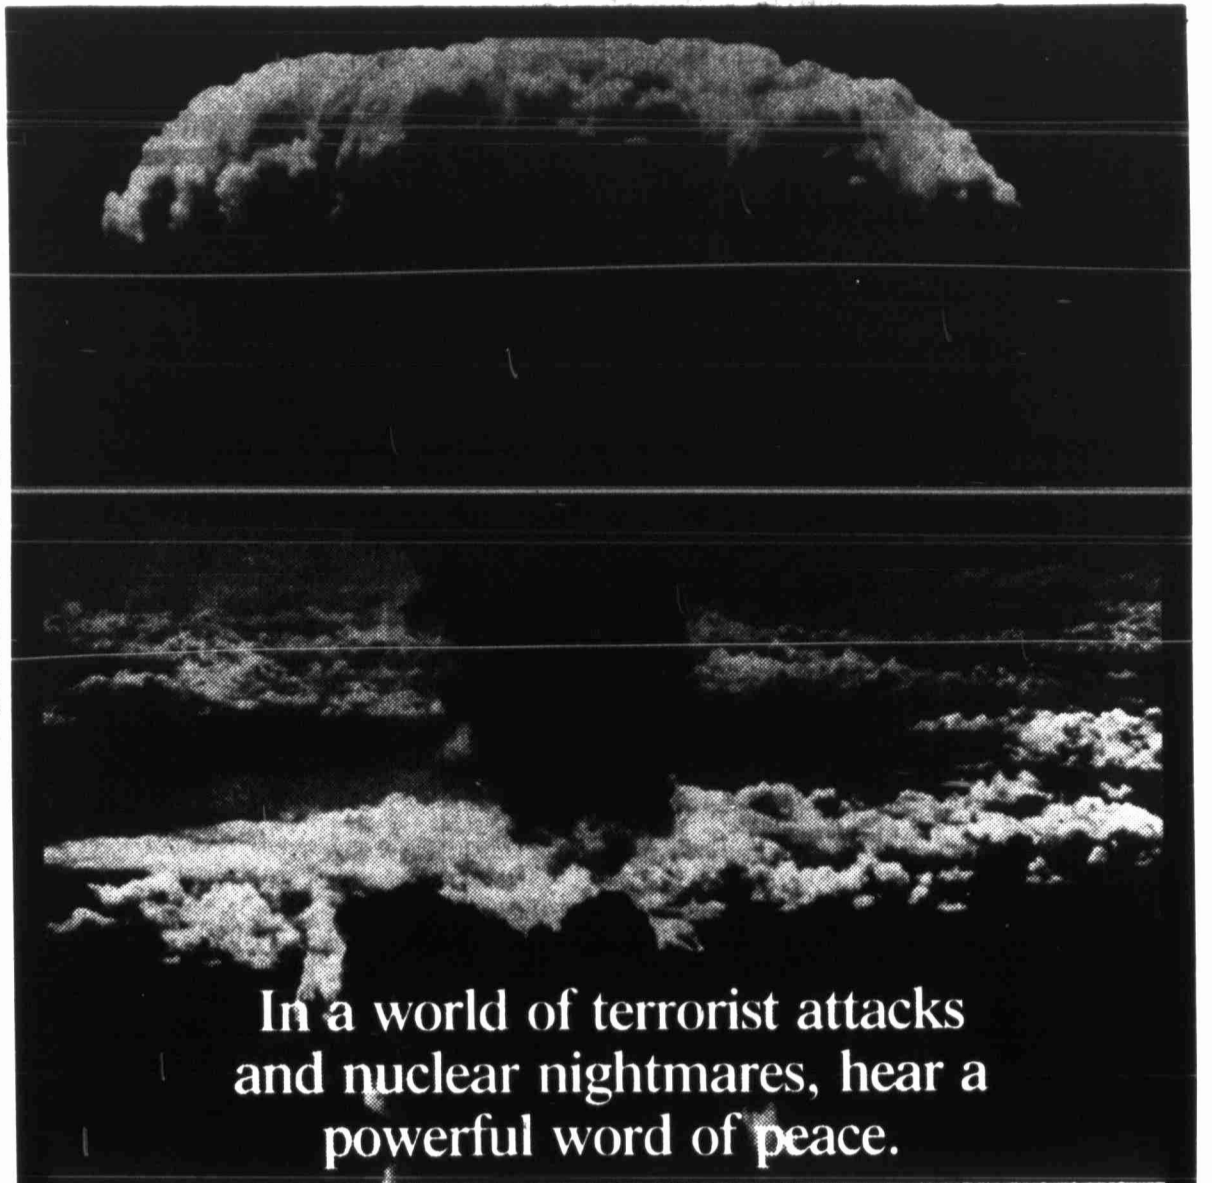

The 50,000 barrels a day bought for the reserve comes from Mexico. Hodel said he did not believe purchases should come from "any particular domestic suppliers" if the administration decides to buy domestic crude when the Mexican contract runs out in July.

Joe Lastelic, a spokesman for the industry's American Petroleum Institute, said the stripper-well action "really helps in some ways ... it's a salutary move."

Many operators have abandoned stripper wells, or have announced plans to do so, since crude oil prices went into free fall early this year.

Because the well production is so small, pumping and maintenance costs are spread over a small number of barrels and can make the well uneconomic when prices fall.

Abandonment means removal of the well casing and pumps and, generally a requirement of state regulations, plugging the well with concrete. That may make it what Hodel called "cost prohibitive" to restart production even if prices rise well above the $27 or so that prevailed at the end of last year. Current prices are near $12.

In a world of terrorist attacks and nuclear nightmares, hear a powerful word of peace.

Chamber launches cleanup

The Chamber of Commerce's semi-annual CLEAN campaign will begin Saturday with Area 1, said Tom Decell, director of public works for Big Spring.

The area includes Kentwood and is bounded on the north by FM 700, south by the city limits, west by Virginia and east by Central.

Crews will collect trash items such as tree branches, furniture pieces and appliances that are too large to place in dumpsters. Items to be discarded should be placed at the curb in front of residences and not in alleys.

The citywide cleanup is done in coordination with the city of Big Spring and will continue on Saturdays until all seven areas are covered.

The schedule for pick-up is:

- Area 2 — north, west and east city limits and south railroad, April 26.
- Area 3 — north and west city limits, south state park and east FM 700, May 3.

• Area 4 — north railroad, south and west FM 700 and east Gregg Street, May 10.

• Area 5 — north railroad, south 11th Place, west Gregg Street, east FM 700, May 17.

• Area 6 — north 11th Place, south and east FM 700 and west Gregg Street, May 24.

• Area 7 — Coronado, Highland, Capehart, Douglas, north FM 700, south city limits, west city limits and east Highway 87, May 31.

PTA elects officers

Awards were presented and officers were elected Thursday at the annual District 17 PTA meeting in Big Spring.

From Big Spring, Donna Parker was elected vice president and Nelda Reagan recording secretary of the organization, Parker said.

Several Big Spring students were given cultural arts awards. They are Jimmy Anderson for intermediate music, Holly Armstrong for primary photography and Whit Armstrong for intermediate photography, all from Bauer Magnet School, and Danielle Bruns of Moss Elementary School for primary music, Parker said.

Winner of the Roadrunner award for outstanding elementary school PTA was Santa Rita Elementary School of Midland. Winner of the Oak Tree award for outstanding secondary school PTA was San Jacinto Junior High of Midland.

About 150 people from Big Spring, Midland and Odessa attended the meeting, Parker said.

Oregon Pharmacist Making Cosmetic History!

Wrinkle Cream Great Success

It's an exciting story of a pharmacist who developed a wrinkle cream which women all over the country are clamoring for.

Dr. Robert Heldfond is making cosmetic history with his EB5 cream. His dream since Pharmacy School has resulted in a wrinkle cream which is enjoying record sales in department stores and which cosmeticians and customers are praising very highly.

Research lab tests show that by daily use of EB5 cream, morning and night, facial lines, lines around the eyes, lines on the forehead and around the mouth are smoothed. Thousands across the country are so pleased that EB5 is 5 creams in 1 jar... EB5 is a wrinkle cream, a night cream, a moisturizer, an eye-cream, and a makeup-base... All In One.

EB5 appears to be the natural way to help aging skin. It contains natural Liprogen, collagen and lipoprotein (natural skin oil) with Vitamins E and B5, A and D, and other ingredients. Dr. Heldfond's EB5 cream is greaseless and leaves the skin soft and velvety and younger-looking.

If you are concerned about your skin appearing to be aging too quickly, hurry and find some EB5 cream. One jar lasts for months.

Note: EB5 cream is available in Big Spring at JC Penney at Big Spring Mall. 267-3811.

Dear Abby

Man's $100-an-hour romance may not add up to marriage

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I don't know how to deal with. I'm a 44-year-old divorced man who does a lot of traveling for a small business I own. One night I saw an ad in the newspaper for a "dating service" I was lonely, so I called the number and the service sent a pretty lady to my room. She said for $100 an hour she would do anything I wanted to do, so we went to bed.

After seeing her off and on for seven months, I have fallen in love with her. When I told her how I felt, she said she loved me, too. Then we talked about marriage. She's 35, divorced, and has a 12-year-old son in boarding school.

She said if we get married she wants to continue working for a while as she has a lot of debts to pay; she also said that her work would not interfere with our marriage as she would work only during the daytime. Meantime, she still charges $100 an hour and says that after we are married, I won't have to pay her.

What are your views on this?

HUNG UP IN HOUSTON
DEAR HUNG UP: Regardless of how you feel about each other, if she's charging you for sex, she's a prostitute, and you're one of her customers. And if you marry her

DEAR ABBY: My son (I'll call him Johnny) is being married next month. Three years ago he fathered a son out of wedlock. (I'll call the boy Billy.) It was no love affair — he grew up with this girl. They were just pals. After a big party one night, this thing just happened. Johnny offered to marry her, but she refused.

He pays child support, but he rarely sees Billy or Billy's mother. Not many people know about this, but my husband and I consider Billy our grandson, and we see him and his mother often and do what we can for them.

Now the problem: Billy's mother wants him to attend his father's wedding. Johnny doesn't care one way or the other, but the bride doesn't want the child there. She knows all about him and has even seen him a few times.

Billy's mother is demanding that the boy attend his father's wedding. I don't think this is the place for him. How can I get the mother of our lovely grandson to change her mind?

MONTANA GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Tell her that this is the bride's day, and it's her wish that the child not attend the wedding. And if you have any influence with your son, please stress the importance of supporting his bride in her decision.

and approve her "working" during the daytime, you should have your head examined.

DEAR ABBY: I used to dream of being a doctor. But somehow that dream has changed. Now I want to become a registered nurse, perhaps specializing in pediatric nursing.

My parents are not very happy about my decision. It's my future. If I can only make them understand that I will not be happy studying medicine. My heart is set on taking care of people in a way that nurses do.

I am a high school senior and must make some decisions about my career. Can you help me? I am a male, if that makes a difference. R.N. OR M.D.?

DEAR R.N.: It makes no difference whatsoever. Follow your heart; the world needs more nurses with your dedication and enthusiasm. Tell your parents what you have expressed so well in your letter to me.

Helpful guidelines for giving friends good advice

By REDBOOK
A Hearst Magazine

Giving advice is an art, but you don't need a degree in counseling to help a friend in trouble.

The first thing to ask yourself is whether your advice will help or hurt, according to an article in the April issue of Redbook, written by Amy Bjork Harris, co-author of "I'm OK — You're OK."

Harris has a list of guidelines to help friends give good advice. She advises friends first to be honest with themselves about whether they want to get involved in the advice-seeker's troubles. If you do, then trust your own insights and instincts. Be aware of your impact and speak carefully if you think your advice may be followed.

Know your own limitations. Don't promise help you may be too busy to deliver and don't be afraid to admit, "I don't know." If drug or alcohol abuse is involved, don't let friendship become a substitute for needed professional help.

Choose a specific time and place when a friend asks to talk to you.

Talk in a comfortable, quiet place where you will not be interrupted. Restaurants are too distracting, and you don't want to be where you will have to answer the telephone in the middle of a friend pouring out her troubles.

Let your friend talk things through — don't hurry her. Listen carefully and respond to her questions. Don't be evasive, or answer a question she did not ask.

Is honesty necessarily best? Not when honesty could threaten a friend's welfare without accomplishing anything.

Don't be afraid to share your view, once you have gotten the picture. You may see something she has overlooked. Share with her your failures, and also the ways in which you have found help — prayer, meditation, church or therapy.

Ask sensitive, practical questions that will encourage her to explore and evaluate her position and options. Have her develop a "want" list of her desires that could include anything from a dog to a lot of money to a good professional reputation. Then help her develop strategies for fulfilling her wants. This encourages her to see her life from a more hopeful perspective.

Don't discourage tears, but don't encourage them, either. Maintain eye contact to keep her from replaying past pain. If you want to cry with her, go ahead. Then wipe your eyes and continue. Words, not emotional whirlpools, are needed to solve problems.

Don't take sides between a husband and wife because they may make up and turn on you. The exception is when your friend reports she is being physically abused. Encourage her to leave an abusive husband and help her find shelter elsewhere.

Look for ways to praise your friend — worried people need stroking. Be generous in offering assistance and remember your presence may be even more appreciated than your advice. Keep a friend's confidence — unless she talks about suicide. Then alert her family immediately.

"It may be that your friend's link with you is all that is keeping her hope alive," Harris said. "To give hope to someone else is to give life."

Dr. Donohue

Dentures may harbor yeast growth

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am an elderly woman who in the past couple of years has had yeast infection in my mouth. It is hard to get it cleared up. The remedies I've tried are expensive and haven't worked. What causes this infection? What can you come up with in the area of cure, medicines, whatever? Can dentures have anything to do with it? — M.C.

I am certain you are speaking about the yeast, candida, a common troublemaker. Candida is Latin for white, and that's what the yeast looks like in the mouth, a curd-like white.

This yeast is there most of the time and causes trouble for us only when we permit it to have a population explosion. Then we get the troublesome signs.

a handy population center for such yeast.

Other factors can promote yeast overgrowth. Antibiotics can cause it by thinning the population of other microorganisms that live in mouth tissue. Diabetics may develop it. Other medicines besides antibiotics can be involved.

After checking these possibilities and taking action, you may still be left with the yeast. What's left is medicine, the kinds you use as mouthwashes or as troches (medicated lozenges). Two popular medicine names are nystatin and clotrimazole. Have you tried either of those? If not, do so. If you're still in trouble, write again. I'll try a different tack. Be sure you read the next item.

if by chronic candidiasis you mean a yeast infection that's hard to clear up, you're in Mrs. M.C.'s ballpark. Yet, almost always such infection does yield to persistent treatment.

You may mean more than that, however. You may mean a rare condition called chronic mucocutaneous candidiasis. That's a specific kind. It usually appears in infancy, rarely after age 30.

With this, the yeast infects skin, nails, and mouth tissue because the body's immune defense against the organisms has broken down. Of course, this basic immunity deficiency makes the problem difficult to fight. Medicines help, but they are not as effective as in people who have healthy defenses against the organisms. In fact, Mrs. M.C. (the first writer) might suspect such a condition if her medicines continue to fail her.

ment of the century. Please offer some relief. I may go berserk. — F.L.

I'm going to skip all the niceties. Here's a program. Stop any overzealous cleansing, which is the first reaction of most people. Scrubbing, etc., only worsens the situation. Cleanse with Balneol oil applied to the tissue, or you can use Tucks medicated pads. Beware foods like coffee, chocolate, tomatoes, citrus, nuts, colas, tea, alcohol. Wear loose undergarments.

Resist scratching. It is counterproductive, and no matter how great the relief; it's not worth it. Such itch can be a sign of diabetes. Avoid scented or colored tissues.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Last Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

I don't know what the answer is for you, but you can look to your dentures as a possible contributor, especially if they are ill-fitting. Besides producing harmful tissue irritation, such dentures can provide

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is there such an illness as chronic candidiasis? And if so, can you tell me something about its cause and treatment? — Mrs. M.S.

Check my answer to Mrs. M.C. (above) first. Now,

Petty speaks to Child Study Club

The Big Spring Child Study Club featured guest speaker Wanda Petty from Johansen's Nursery in its recent meeting.

Petty told the group of the importance of a child to have something of its own to take care of. She suggested the use of plants to teach a child patience.

Next meeting will be May 2 at 1600 Indian Hills at 12 noon.

Celtics dog Bulls

By The Associated Press
Boston found strength in numbers to overcome a 49-point performance by Chicago's Michael Jordan as the Celtics opened the NBA playoffs with another home victory Thursday night.

Dennis Johnson, who was guarding Jordan for most of the game, scored 16 of his 26 points in the third quarter as the Celtics pulled away to defeat the Bulls 123-104. Johnson was one of four Boston players to score 23 or more points. "I guess I could say I'm lucky," Johnson said. "He (Jordan) could go out and hit 52 the next time."

The victory was the 32nd straight at home for the Celtics, and the home team also won easily in three other series openers Thursday night. Atlanta defeated Detroit 140-122, Houston routed Sacramento 107-87 and the Los Angeles Lakers clubbed San Antonio 135-88.

Jordan's 49 points matched his NBA career high and set a Bulls' record for points in a playoff game. The previous team mark was 41 by Flynn Robinson in 1968.

Jordan warned that the Celtics shouldn't take Thursday's game as a sign that they should concentrate on him.

"They really can't consider this a one-man team even though I had a good night," Jordan said. "If they think that, they're making a big mistake." Johnson missed all six of his field-goal attempts in the first two quarters as Boston fell behind by as many as 12 points. But he hit seven in a row as Boston built an 84-71 lead in the third quarter. Five of those baskets came in a 22-6 Boston spurt starting with 48 seconds left in the first half and en-

McCracken and thinclads ready for district meet

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

Four years of hard work will all come down to one meet for Big Spring High School half-miler Dax McCracken as he and the rest of his teammates will be competing in the District 4-5A track meet Saturday at Midland's Memorial Stadium.

McCracken goes into the meet as one of the top BSHS runners who have a chance to advance to the regional meet. But even with his respectable time of 1:59.30 in the 800 meters, McCracken still faces an uphill, but not impossible challenge.

He will have the third fastest time going into what shapes up to be a very close race. He along with Dave Parkerson and David Almond of Midland Lee are all in the 1:59 range. But Lee's Mike Garza and Herschel McGaha of Odessa Permian are the top runners to beat.

Garza, a two-miler-turned half-miler, has a best of 1:56.31 while McGaha has clocked a 1:55.80. "Everything is working out because they have me heated in the same lane with Garza," said McCracken at a Wednesday afternoon workout.

"He's the man to beat. I'm going to stay with him because he always takes the lead. To stick with him I'll probably have to try to move past him late in the race. It will probably come down to the last 100 meters. I'll have to finish strong because he has a very good kick."

McCracken has paid his dues in the track circles. Coach Randy Britton changed him from a mile to half-miler during his freshman year. "At first Dax wasn't sold on the idea," admitted Britton. "But he finally realized he could do well in the 800. His work habits have been very good over the past two years."

McCracken ran a 2:06 his freshman year and lowered his time to 2:02 his sophomore season. Last season he ran 2:00.20. Last week at the Tall City Relays in Midland he broke the two-minute barrier for the first time in his career.

"It's been a long time coming," he said. "It's been kind of frustrating because I thought I'd go under two minutes sooner, especially the way I've been working out."

What will it take to get the Big Spring senior to regionals?

"I'd say a 1:56 or 1:57. I've been feeling stronger and I think I can do it. When I ran the 1:59 it was in the heat of the day. At district I'll be running at night, that should help bring my time down."

Another goal McCracken has his sights set on is the school

Canadian in opening lead of Heritage Golf Classic

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Canadian Dan Halldorson chipped in for an eagle on the way to a 66 that staked him to a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $450,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I'm starting to feel like I can play again," said Halldorson, in a deep slump until he won last week at Hattiesburg, Miss., in a tournament for players not invited to the Masters.

"This is just sort of a carry-over from last week," said Halldorson, who had missed the cut in seven of nine tournaments before his victory.

Halldorson, 34, whose only previous PGA Tour triumph came in the 1980 Pensacola Open, was the first man off the tee at the Harbour Town Golf Links. He finished up his 5-under-par effort with a birdie on the final hole and watched it stand up all day.

Roger Maltbie, another early starter, birdied five holes in a row in his round of 67.

Fuzzy Zoeller managed a 68 despite the recurrence of chronic back problems that sent him hobbling off for treatment.

He, too, played in the morning before the winds off Calibogue Sound began to pick up and blew away the chances of any would-be contenders.

Curtis Strange led a group at 69, two under par on the 6,657-yard course that winds down to the red-and-white striped lighthouse overlooking the 18th green. Also at 69 were Ray Floyd, left-hander Russ Cochran, Andy Bean, Pat Lindsey, Scott Hoch and Joey Sindelar. Of those leaders, only Floyd, Lindsey and Sindelar played in the more windy conditions of the afternoon.

Tom Kite and Australian Greg Norman, who tied for second behind Jack Nicklaus in Augusta, Ga., last week, each had 70s.

Bernhard Langer of West Germany, the defending champion here, could do no better than a 72, one over par.

Halldorson, who partnered Dave Barr in Canada's World Cup victory last winter, birdied the first two holes with putts of about 15 feet.

On the 528-yard fifth hole, his drive, he said, "looked like it was going out of bounds" before it hit a tree and came back in play. He was just short of the green in two, then ran a little chip about 60 feet up the hill and into the cup for an eagle.

He matched another birdie on the 13th with a bogey — his first in 63 holes — on the 15th, then capped it off with a 4-iron shot that set up a four-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

Dan Halldorson pops the golf ball out of the sand during first round play of the Heritage Golf Classic Thursday in Hilton Head Islands, S.C.

Cubs trip Expos in 13th

MONTREAL (AP) — Cubs Manager Jim Frey was almost tempted to do a double take.

"We got a win from quite an unexpected source of power," Frey said after shortstop Shawn Dunston led off the 13th inning with a home run to give Chicago a 7-6 victory over the Montreal Expos on Thursday. "We think he'll hit a lot more some day, but right now we're not looking for the long ball from him."

Dunston, who hit only four homers in his rookie season in 1985, jumped on Jeff Reardon's first pitch and hit the ball over the left-deficit in the fifth inning to tie the game by the eighth.

The Cubs took advantage of some early wildness by Montreal starter Floyd Youmans to take the lead in the first inning.

Youmans walked three of the first four batters he faced before Leon Durham scored Bob Dernier with a sacrifice fly.

Chicago added to the lead with three runs in the third inning.

Ryne Sandberg drove a ball off the right-field wall and scooted around the bases for an inside-the-park home run when right fielder Andre Dawson fell.

Keith Moreland followed with a single and then Durham lifted an 0-2 pitch from Youmans over the right-field wall for a two-run homer.

"I just got on top of a high pitch," Durham said. "I've been swinging pretty good this year, but I've tended to be a little over-anxious at the plate."

Montreal got one back in their half of the third, but Chicago added a pair in the fourth on run-scoring singles by Sandberg and Moreland for a 6-1 lead.

Then the Expos began their comeback.

Relief pitcher Dan Schatzeder led off the fifth with a triple to right — his second hit of the game — and scored on Tim Raines's sacrifice fly.

One out later, Dawson and Hubie Brooks lofted back-to-back opposite-field homers to right.

The Expos narrowed the score when Mitch Webster doubled to lead off the sixth and moved to third as Moreland bobbled the ball in right field. He scored on a sacrifice fly by rookie Andres Galarraga.

Galarraga, whose poor spring cost him the regular first-base job, then tied the game with a towering homer to center field off Jay Baller in the eighth inning. It was Galarraga's second homer this season.

"I feel more comfortable now at the plate so I'm hitting the ball better," he said.

Giants 4, Padres 1

At San Francisco, Jeffrey Leonard's two-out, three-run double in the third inning backed Mike Krukow's five-hit pitching as the Giants beat San Diego to end the Padres' season-opening streak of one-run games at 10. The Padres and the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were idle Thursday, both had streaks of 10 one-run games after playing each other Wednesday night. The National League record for consecutive one-run games is 11.

The Giants, in winning at home for the first time this year, also snapped a four-game San Diego winning streak. San Francisco had lost three straight.

"I was looking for something I could drive and I was pretty confident he'd (Andy Hawkins) throw it in the strike zone," said Leonard, who swung at the first pitch. He raised his RBI total to nine in nine games with the double.

"We thought he'd be looking for a fastball, and that's why I threw the breaking pitch, a slider," Hawkins said.

Niekro wins number 301

By The Associated Press
Phil Niekro — banished from the Bronx as an old man of 47 — insists he isn't over hill.

And he proved it, appropriately enough against the team that didn't want him any more — the New York Yankees.

"It was their opinion that I was over the hill," Niekro said after tossing seven shutout innings Thursday night in pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 6-4 victory over the Yankees. "Maybe ... they underestimated my drive."

After winning the 300th game of his career in his final appearance last season against Toronto, the Yankees would not guarantee Niekro a roster spot. Despite winning 16 games the last two seasons in New York, the knuckleballer was cut.

Niekro pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and then dazzled his former mates.

The victory moved Niekro past Early Wynn and Lefty Grove on the all-time victory list. Just ahead is Tom Seaver with 304.

Rangers 7, Brewers 5

Bob Witt had a no-hitter going when Texas Manager Bobby Valentine removed the 21-year-old right-hander. Witt had thrown more than 100 pitches in striking out 10 and walking eight in five innings.

"I wish I could have left him in there," Valentine said. "But I know he's not going to get a complete game."

The three-hour, 27-minute game saw a total of 21 walks, 21 strikeouts and six wild pitches.

"That was bad," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger, whose Brewers lost their fifth straight. "That's a nightmare. Base on balls will kill you."

Texas took the lead when Pete O'Brien scored on Ray Searage's wild pitch with two out in the ninth inning.

Don Slaught had three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs. Steve Buechele also homered for the Rangers.

Tigers 10, White Sox 6

Chicago finished a poor homestand at 2-7 with its pitching staff allowing nearly seven runs per game.

A two-run single by Mike Laga and Alan Trammell's run-scoring double keyed Detroit's five-run eighth inning.

Jack Morris, 2-1, allowed seven hits in seven innings and struck out 10.

Twins 4, Angels 1

Left-hander Frank Viola figured he'd lost his concentration and his shutout, and was lucky not to have lost more.

Viola, 2-1, had a two-hit shutout until he walked George Hendrick with the bases loaded in the sixth. In going the route for the first time, he struck out eight and walked three.

The Twins reached Kirk McCaskill, 1-1, for seven hits and three runs in the first three innings. Minnesota got 12 hits in the game. Greg Gagne had two hits and drove in three runs for Minnesota.

Orioles 5, Blue Jays 3

Blue Jays 7, Orioles 4

Rookie Manager Jimmy Williams wasn't ready to claim he was ejected from the second game of a doubleheader to shake up his team. But the Blue Jays, trailing 2-1 when Williams and Garth Iorg were banished for arguing a call by umpire Joe Brinkman, rallied to salvage a split.

"Things happen and things are said in the course of a battle, so to speak, and I guess I said some things I shouldn't have," Williams said, shrugging off the ejection.

Cal Ripken's first home run of the season, a two-run shot in the first inning, and a strong performance by starter Mike Flanagan and three relievers led Baltimore in the opener.

The Orioles wasted a homer and three RBI by Eddie Murray in the nightcap. Toronto won on Cliff Johnson's RBI hit in the eighth.

Red Sox 6, Royals 2

If at first you don't succeed ... Don Baylor hasn't forgotten that. With the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, Boston's designated hitter leaned into a high inside fast ball and drove a tremendous shot far out of Fenway Park — foul.

One ball later, the veteran slugger got the good pitch and hit a grand slam, giving the victory to the Red Sox and Roger Clemens — who pitched a five-hitter.

dung with 7:56 to go in the third quarter. That rally put the Celtics ahead 77-65.

"I wasn't getting any shots they weren't giving me in the first half," Johnson said. "I was just making them in the second half."

The Celtics' starting front line also had big games. Larry Bird was 9-for-13 from the field and scored 30 points, Kevin McHale was 10-for-11 for 27 points and center Robert Parish scored 23.

Orlando Woolridge added 25 points for the Bulls.

Hawks 140, Pistons 122
Dominique Wilkins scored 28 points and Jon Koncak and Spud Webb made big contributions off the bench for Atlanta against Detroit.

The Hawks, trailing by 12 at one point in the first quarter, took control with a 41-27 second-period burst. Koncak, who was 4-for-4 from the field and 11-for-11 from the free-throw line in the game, scored 10 of his 19 points in the quarter.

Kevin Willis added 14 of his 22 points in the decisive second period, when Atlanta turned a 34-30 first-quarter deficit into a 71-61 halftime advantage.

As a measure of the Lakers' dominance, the Spurs had just four individual rebounds in the first half — and zero in the second quarter.

Mike Mitchell led the Spurs with 24 points. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who celebrated his 39th birthday Wednesday, added 16 points for Los Angeles.

Rockets 107, Kings 87
Akeem Olajuwon scored 29 points, including 10 in the first quarter as Houston took command against Sacramento.

Olajuwon dunked the first basket of the game and scored six of Houston's first seven points, giving the Rockets a lead they never lost. He finished with four blocked shots and 15 rebounds.

Rodney McCray scored 18 points for the Rockets and Ralph Sampson finished with 16 points and 13 rebounds. Reggie Theus led the Kings with 18 points and Mike Woodson added 16.

Olajuwon paced the Rockets to a 55-37 halftime lead with 16 points.

Lakers 135, Spurs 88
Byron Scott scored 24 points and Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 18 assists as defending champion Los Angeles manhandled San Antonio.

The Lakers led 33-23 after the opening 12 minutes and built a 67-45 advantage by halftime. At the end of the third period, they held a 97-76 margin.

record of 1:56.90. "I'd like to get that record Saturday. If I do it would be great, if I don't then I hope to get close to it."

While McCracken is a challenger to make it to regional, teammate Brian Mayfield is the favorite in the high jump. The sophomore has the fourth top jump in the state at 6-10. Last year he won the event as a freshman with a leap of 6-6.

Mayfield and junior Phillip Matthews also have outside chances in the long jump. The top jump in district is 22-7 by San Angelo Central's C.L. Bowman. Matthews has a best of 21-10 and Mayfield went 21-2 last week.

Another Steer that has a good chance is 300 intermediate hurdler Brian Reid. Last week his time of 39.40 was the first time he's dipped under the 40 second mark. Britton says he's capable of running in the 38's, which might get him to regionals.

Last but not least is the "up-and-down" Steer 400 and 1600 relay teams. Consistency hasn't been one of their trade marks. The Steers 400 foursome of Charles White, Reid, Matthews and Dewayne Sherman have the district's seventh fastest time of 42.90. Midland High, who has the seventh fastest time in the state, is the favorite with its 41.29. Britton says with good handoffs his foursome can go in the low 42's, which go lead to a regional berth.

The 1600 relay team has run everthing from a 3:30 to their season-best 3:22.51. Britton says the squad of Cedrick Banks, Matthews, Sean Jackson and

Sherman haven't run close to their potential. "If they all run what they are capable of running, they could run a 3:16 or 3:17."

Midland Lee, Midland High and Odessa High are the only three district schools who have dipped under the 3:20 mark. Lee has the best time of 3:16.52.

Britton's young Big Spring girls squad best chances rest with senior weight person Amanda Solis. Solis has the third best throw in the shot (35-8) and the fifth best throw in the discus (111-9). Last year she had a best of 38-1 in the shot.

Maria Sanchez has a outside shot in the discus (102-6) and distance runners Susan Garza and Manuela Bernal could score points in the metric mile and two mile runs. Garza has the fourth fastest district time in the 3200 (13:30.90).

Field events kick action off a noon on Saturday. Running prelims begin at 1 p.m. The 3200 runs will start at 3:20 p.m. and the remainder of the running finals start at 7 p.m.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is excellent for using your inspiration to put across the unusual ideas that you have. Later find ways to make such ideas come to fruition.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have fine ideas in the morning, and should put them in operation quickly and use them wisely.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how you would like to have home conditions in the future and later get the work started on this.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Sit down with partners and regular contacts to work out a course of activity that can be mutually profitable.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Go through with plans concerning co-workers, and all will turn out fine and the future will look brighter.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You have fine ideas for entertainment so carry through with them and gain much pleasure. Be more willing to accept help from others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can gain favors secretly from one who likes you very much, but go along with their ideas and gain added goodwill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to a generous friend for the assistance you need to gain some cherished goal, but show you appreciate the help given you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study well what you desire where career and public work is concerned, and then make a bit of headway.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine vision on how to gain more of the good things of life that you crave. Utilize it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are more concerned than most others to gain the approval of the public, so work at it today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Situations arise through which you can gain more of the good things of life, so be smart.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Convince a fellow worker to be more cooperative with you and the future becomes easier. Be happy tonight.

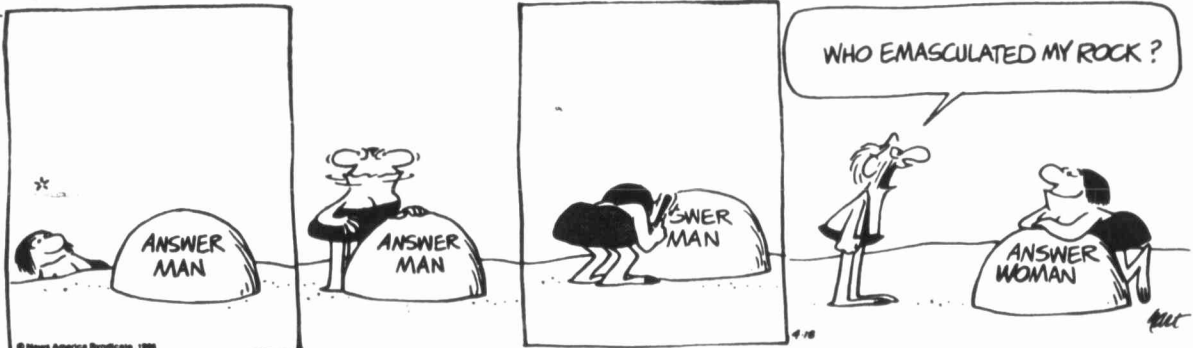

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be capable of quickly understanding the underlying principles of any undertaking and should have an education that is helpful with these natural talents. He or she will expand gradually and intelligently into a career and then will stick with it. Give encouragement and praise.

Baptists revivals spread 'good news'

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

In Texas, there are eight million people who are spiritually "lost." Accordingly, Howard County Southern Baptists are conducting simultaneous revivals to "win people to Jesus Christ," Rev. Bobby Fuller, coordinator of the countywide revivals, said.

"There are a lot of mixed feelings in the world today. The word 'lost' appears in the bible 24 times. This means that people are lost and separated from God. We want to bring the 'lost' to God," Fuller said.

Fifteen local churches are participating in the simultaneous revivals. Some churches in the agricultural areas had to change the dates because of the farmers, he said. "We have 80 percent cooperation."

Participating churches are College Baptist; East 4th Baptist; Baptist Temple; First Baptist; First Baptist, Stanton; Forsan Baptist; Midway Baptist; First Baptist, Coahoma; Hillcrest Baptist; Phillips Memorial Baptist; Primera Iglesia Bautista; Tarzan Baptist; Calvary Baptist; Iglesia Bautista Central; and Crestview Baptist.

The message of the revivals is that there is "Good News America, God Loves You," Fuller said. "People don't have to be lost, they can be saved and brought back into a relationship with God."

Southern Baptists had simultaneous revivals nation-wide during the month of March and are continuing through the month of April, Fuller said. Each state was allowed to pick their dates for their revivals: South Texas had its revivals in the middle of March, North Texas held its revivals last week and West Texas is having its revivals April 20-27, he said.

"It's a cooperative, evangelistic effort," Fuller said.

Each church has set a goal to "reach" a certain number of people and baptize them, Fuller said. "We, College Baptist Church, are praying for 25 people to be baptized," he said. During the revivals, the Baptist churches "reach and baptize more people for Christ," he said.

"Advance planning for the revivals began 14 months ago," Fuller said. Each church was given a revival preparation manual which outlined, in detail, how to organize and plan their revivals. This way each church would basically follow the same outline, he said.

Nightly activities will be held at the churches: Monday — Sunday School Night; Tuesday — Youth Encounter; Wednesday — Bring Your Friend Night; Thursday — Children's Corny Dog Supper; and Friday — God and Country Night.

Each night the revival speaker will lead the events. "We have men coming in from Arizona, Missouri, New Mexico and Virginia," Fuller said.

The churches plan to spread the word of the revivals, he said. "We're covering all the bases. We're using TV, newspaper and radio advertisement. But, the best way to reach people is one-on-one, personal contact."

"At the rate we're going if we don't change our method of getting the message out, less than three percent of the population will be Christians by the year 2000," Fuller said. "We've got to get to them," he said. "We have people hurting. Animals kill each other, but not themselves. Humans are killing themselves. There are a lot of hurting people out there."

McClendon leads revival services

Dr. Phillip McClendon, previous pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church, will lead its revival services April 20-25.

McClendon served as pastor of the church from 1977-'83. He is currently the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Joplin, Mo. and is a frequent speaker at revivals across the nation.

Along with revival services each evening, McClendon will speak at daily revival services at noon. A meal will be provided.

Car wash held by church teens

The teenagers of College Park Church of God, 603 Tulane, will have a car wash April 19 from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Cost of the car wash is $5 for wash, dry and vacuum. All proceeds go towards a summer trip for teenagers.

Skit is presented for friend day

A skit was presented to the First Church of God to demonstrate "Friend Day" which will be held May 4.

Jody Rivers played Ima Rascal and lassoed, gagged and bound a friend, Jeremy Loy, in her attempt to bring a friend to church. Pastor Loy explained the real meaning of bringing a friend to church.

Betty Reagan presented a lifetime membership card to Renee Loy for the Women of the Church of God organization.

Nazarenes convene in Lubbock

Dr. Carl Powers, of the Big Spring Church of the Nazarene, will speak at the Nazarene annual convention of the West Texas district in Lubbock next week.

Sunday school class for all ages are at the Church of the Nazarene at 9:45 a.m. with Pete Rosenbaum serving as director of Christian Life.

Services will be held at 10:50 a.m. Preschoolers and grades one through five will meet in Kid's Korner and adults and teens in the sanctuary. Music will be provided by the reJoice choir and Powers will lead the sermon.

At 6 p.m. a celebration of praise will be led by Powers with music, worship, testimonies and prayer.

Vera leads Iglesia Bautista revival

Richard Vera, evangelist consultant for ethnic congregations in Dallas, will lead the revivals at Iglesia Bautista Central, located at 22nd St. and Lancaster St.

Revival singer will be David Morin, of Belton, accompanied by his wife, Hope.

A nursery will be provided for children ages 0-3. For more information call the church at 267-3396 or 267-5026.

Kohl to attend chaplaincy seminar

Reverend Carroll C. Kohl, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church and part-time chaplain at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center, will attend the Veteran's Administration Chaplaincy Seminar for Lutherans at the International Center in St. Louis, Mo. April 21-24.

The seminar's theme will be the "40th anniversary of the VA Chaplaincy." Kohl will bring the devotional April 23. Other speakers will be Chaplain Herbert Cleveland, chief of the Protestant chaplaincy in Washington, D.C., Dr. Serge Castiglano, division of specialized pastoral care and clinical education of mission and ministry and Professor Charles T. Knippel, from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis.

Sixth annual walk-a-thon Sunday

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Church will sponsor its sixth annual Walk-a-Thon Sunday April 20. Sign-ins begin at 1 p.m. at the Highland Mall parking lot.

Prizes will be awarded to the fastest walker, most pledges (dollar amount), most pledges (number), oldest walker and youngest walker. Prizes will be: $40 gift certificate to House of Charm, $20 gift certificate to Bealls and to K.C.'s Steakhouse, $10 dinner for two at Rosita's Fajitas and four tickets to the Ritz.

Old-Fashioned Dress Tea Sunday

In observance of the 100th anniversary of the First Baptist Church, founded November 11, 1886, an Old-Fashioned Dress Tea will be held April 20 in the family life center from 3-5 p.m.

Everyone is invited to attend and asked to participate by wearing old-fashioned clothing from this era.

The Big Spring Board of Realtors CELEBRATES AMERICAN HOME WEEK

Our Constitution and Bill of Rights guarantee us many freedoms, among them the freedom of speech, religion and the press — as well as the freedom to live where we choose. In addition, our government guarantees and protects private property rights. In the United States, people needn't fear that their government will search or seize their property. It takes an effort for us to really imagine life in a country that does not guarantee these freedoms, unless you have seen it for yourself, or talked to someone who has fled a politically-oppressed nation.

The right to acquire real property is one of the most precious of our freedoms. By real property, we mean the land itself and all that is permanently attached to it, plus the intangible ownership rights that come with it. During American Home Week, REALTORS invite the people to reaffirm the fact that for more than 200 years Americans have enjoyed the right to own and use property without government interference. Freedom to own property has meant more opportunity for individuals to prosper from their efforts. People left free to engage in productive activity guided by self-interest will themselves become more productive, and the quality of their lives will keep improving.

Can We Talk?

But this time we want to hear your side of the story! What are your concerns and questions about buying or selling a home in the Big Spring market? If you'll tell us what you need and want, the payment or area you'd like to have, our staff of professional Realtors will enthusiastically work toward matching your family with the home of your dreams.

We have over 100 listings in all price ranges and locations and can show anything listed with the Big Spring Board of Realtors. Space does not permit us to tell you everything about each listing. That's why we want you to tell us. We also have up-to-date financing and re-location information. Won't you let us help you?
