User fee hike will not mean better ballparks

Steep fees for city softball teams will not mean better ballparks in which to play — at least not this year, councilmen said at a work session Monday.

Consumer price dip sets record

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record plunge in gasoline costs last month pushed consumer prices down 0.4 percent, matching the February fall and the steepest back-to-back declines in more than 36 years, the government said today.

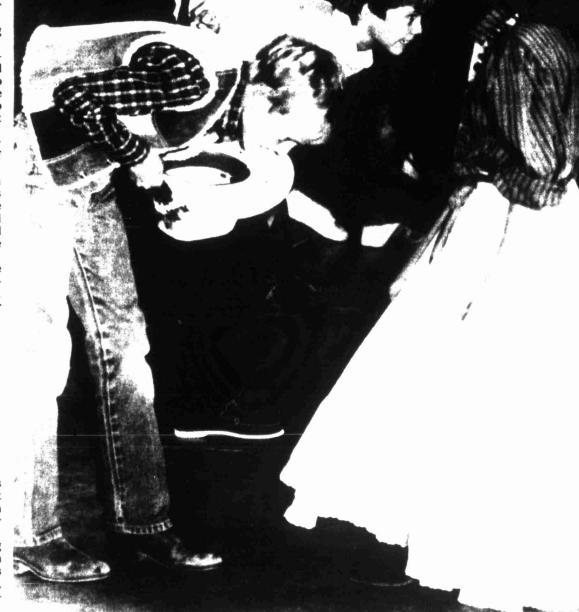

For the first three months of the year, consumer prices fell at an annual rate of 1.9 percent, the best quarterly performance since 1954.

Prices have not fallen for two months running since 1965 and have not fallen at such a steep pace since matching 0.4 percent declines in December 1949 and January

Most of the March decline was attributed to a record 12 percent fall in gasoline prices, more than double the 5.9 percent February

SAN JACINTO STATE PARK - About 100,000 people trooped to the San Jacinto Battleground over two days to join the festivities commemorating the 150th anniversary of Texas' independence from Mexico.

More than 21,000 people attended an afternoon ceremony Monday led by Vice President George Bush and Gov. Mark White. Standing in the shadow of the San Jacinto monument, they bowed their heads in tribute to the heroes who fought for freedom on the same land 150 years

"Freedom - that was what it was all about - freedom," said former congresswoman Barbara Jordan. "The battle marked the ending of an era of repression, and the beginning of a new friendship between Texans and Mexicans."

In 18 minutes the battle on April 21, 1836, was over. Gen. Sam Houston's troops had defeated the forces led by Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna — securing Texas' independence from Mexico. The fireworks Monday evening, culminating the end of the two-day party, also lasted 18 minutes.

The "Star of Light" fireworks display above the monument took place while simultaneous fireworks flared in Austin, Corpus Christi, Waco, Dallas, Lubbock, El Paso, Longview, Beaumont and Brownsville.

"It's a proud day to be a Texan," Bush said. "Today we remember when 150 years ago, 835 men in Sam Houston's army charged across the open field at San Jacinto and charged into history.'

Bush also honored present-day heroes Chris Sweet and Gilbert Chavez — the men who dove into Houston's Buffalo Bayou on Friday and rescued children police say were allegedly thrown into the water by their mother. Two of the children have since died.

The vice president told the crowd that the fight for freedom continues. Comparing the battle against Santa Anna to the struggle to stop terrorism, Bush said U.S. citizens must have the "courage and the will to win.

"Today I'm very pleased to announce that next October the U.S. Navy will christen a brand new San Jacinto," Bush said, adding the Aegis cruiser will join the Navy fleet in January 1988.

A 21-gun salute was fired as Texas Air National Guard jets flew in the missing man formation over the monument during the sunny afternoon ceremony. Afterward, cannon blasts echoed through the park as thousands of balloons were released into the blue sky.

White laid a wreath at one end of the monument, which on one side was draped with a huge flag that had a white "Lone Star.

"Texans are in the midst of trying times," White said, referring to the state's economic problems.

"Tough times never last, but tough people always do," he said. 'The people of Texas have never been stronger than they are today.

Some people wore period costumes complete with parasols and bonnets, while many others donned shorts and sandals and sat in the grass in front of the monument

'We're proud of the state, very proud," said Doris Williams, a Midland resident and descendant of a Texas army major. "We flew here this morning to watch the celebration down here.

"I'm not the emotional type, but this is great," Mrs. Williams said.

Man, four children injured when car hits utility pole

A man and his four children were injured Monday night after the car he was driving stuck a concrete utility pole head on.

The most seriously hurt, Reyes Castaneda Jr., 3, was listed in stable condition this morning at Malone-Hogan Hospital after undergoing surgery for a fractured leg, said a hospital spokeswoman.

Castaneda, 5, were treated and

The driver of the car, 27-year-old Reyes Galindo Castaneda of 1007 S. Main St. was injured but refused treatment, according to the police accident report. He was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and driving with a suspended license, police said.

According to withnesses, Castaneda was heading south in the 200 block of S. Benton Street just after 8 p.m. when he skidded past a stop sign and through an intersection. His car then jumped a curb and glanced off a chainlink fence before plowing into the side of a building.

Castaneda backed his car and Michelle Castaneda, 7, Melanie Castaneda, 1½, and Stephanie left the scene heading west on E. Third Street, swerved across the road and struck the concrete pole, snapping it off at its base. The pol fell and came to rest against the Tompkin Oil building. "He hit it solid," said police Howard College President Bob Riley said the board will advertise the open position and begin the interview process to replace Hill.

"We hope to find someone as qualified as Sam," Riley said. "We hate to see him go

Hill was SWCID's second director, replacing founder Doug Burke in the spring of 1982, said Mary Dudley, Riley's assistant. Hill was hired in 1980 as a counselor at SWCID when the college first opened its doors, she said.

Hill said among his accomplishments was his role in saving SWCID from legislative budget cuts that could have spelled the end of the college. The legislative budget committee had proposed giving no state funding to SWCID because, they said, the state was in financial bind and funding should be the responsibility of the Howard County taxpayers," Hill

Charles Hays, then president of Howard College, and Hill were able to persuade the state legislature to give them $3.9 million in funding.

"We were the only college to receive an increase in funding over the recommendations." Hill said.

Now SWCID is an institution established with the state legislature, he said

"I don't feel there's any concern (now) whether SWCID is a state responsibility or a local responsibility," he said. The new battle with the legislation will be over how much funding the college will

In his tenure at SWCID, Hill restructured the instructional arena, implementing a system of division heads that brought the infant college more in line with the way other community colleges were organized, he said.

"I became convinced the community college system, as it is set up, would work for the deaf," he said. "I had to put in faculty and staff experienced, trained and qualified to work with the deaf but also trained to teach in the postsecondary level

Hill said he and Riley persuaded the legislature to give them a fouryear waiver on state funds enabling them to use the funds for operation and maintenance of student residences

This will give SWCID enough time to make the residential program self-supporting, he said.

The legislature reduced SWCID's out-of-state tuition more in line with similar colleges, he said, and that should increase the student population beginning next fall.

In all, the future looks bright for SWCID, he said

Libyan claims doubted

WASHINGTON — If Libya gives the Soviet Union a downed U.S. F-111 bomber, as the North African nation says it has, the most valuable intelligence prizes for the Soviets will be the plane's radar and tracking systems, American officials say.

Pentagon officials, speaking on condition they not be identified, said Monday that they do not believe that the Libyans have found the wreckage of the plane. But they acknowledged that it would be a setback if the craft was 'Quite frankly, there's not much concern here because we think they're just blowing smoke," said one official of the Libyan claim. 'We have a lot of evidence suggesting that plane blew up before it hit the water.

U.S. to destroy 2 subs

WASHINGTON - President Reagan, in a complex decision, will order the destruction of two U.S. nuclear submarines to keep the United States within the limits of the controversial 1979 SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union, two U.S. officials said.

This will clear the way for a new Trident submarine with 24 missiles to begin sea trials next month without undercutting the unratified accord. "He's going that extra mile," an official, who demanded anonymity, said Monday

He said the two Poseidon submarines, with 16 multiple-warhead missiles each, would be taken out of the U.S. nuclear fleet promptly and then destroyed over the next six months.

Pact eludes OPEC cartel

GENEVA — OPEC failed during the longest series of meetings in its 25-year history to reach an agreement on a production policy to reverse the collapse of oil prices.

The cartel announced Monday that 10 of its 13 members favored a proposal to limit total production to 16.3 million barrels a day by summer and 17.3 million barrels daily by fall. Current OPEC output is 17 million barrels a

But Iran's oil minister, Gholamreza Aghazadeh, said the conclusion was meaningless and "not in the interest of OPEC member countries." He said his country, which has been fighting a costly war against Iraq since September 1980, had no intention of cutting production.

Colleges face cuts

AUSTIN - More than $86 million in proposed construction projects at the state's colleges and universities would be blocked under a resolution to be considered Friday by the board that regulates higher education.

New construction would be halted for more than a year under the proposal if it win support from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Gov. Mark White's request that state agencies trim expenditures by 13 percent because of the decreasing oil revenues prompted the resolution, said Ray Clymer, chairman of the board's campus planning committee.

Vengeance alarm

Abduction fears prompt U.S. evacuation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Ten Americans who stayed in west Beirut despite the threat of kidnapping by Islamic extremists fled the city's Moslem sector today under heavy guard. But many other Americans

The Americans who were evacuated today joined dozens of Britons and other Westerners who left west Beirut during the weekend for fear of being abducted by terrorists seeking to avenge the U.S. air strike on Libya a week ago.

Police said Christian and Moslem militia snipers held their fire as two buses carrying the Americans and six jeeploads of police rolled past the dividing Green Line and into Christian east Beirut.

The policemen escorted the Americans through east

Beirut to the U.S. Embassy in the Christian suburb of Aukar, 12 miles north. Druse militiamen escorted the convoy on the 15-minute drive through west Beirut. They kept the doors of their cars open during the trip, and kept their fingers ready on the triggers of the Kalashnikov rifles they thrust through the door opening. Drivers blared

But shortly after he spoke, a U.S. Navy helicopter was seen landing at the embassy courtyard and taking off 10 minutes later. It could not be determined whether any evacuees were aboard.

The embassy official said many Americans remained in west Beirut, "a lot of those who were born in Lebanon and with dual nationalities.

"There are also those who refused to leave for various reasons. I cannot give you an exact number. We did our job. We advised them to leave, but we cannot force them to leave.'

The evacuation began at first light today when the Americans, some of them in tears, began assembling at the former U.S. consulate in west Beirut's Ein Mreisseh seaside boulevard.

Sharpshooters from Walid Jumblatt's Druse militia manned rooftops overlooking approaches to the area, and Druse militia checkpoints were set up all around the former consulate and the American University of Beirut campus.

Reporters saw six men and four women arrive separately at the assembly spot, each carrying a medium-size suitcase.

At least three evacuees were professors at the American University. Others worked at the College Protestant Francais, the American International College, and the Rashideen International Language Center, a privately owned institute.

Khadafy's wife angry

TRIPOLI, Libya — The wife of Col. Moammar Khadafy wiped a tear from her eye and vowed that if she ever finds the American pilot who bombed her house, "I will kill him

Libyan authorities say the Khadafys' 15-month-old adopted daughter, Hana, was fatally injured in the bombing raid, and that two other sons — Kamis, age 3, and 4-year-old Seph al-Arab — were wounded.

U.K. arrests 21 Libyans

LONDON — Police arrested 21 Libyans in a series of raids early today, including a pilot who threatened to form an anti-American suicide squad. The Home Office said they would be expelled from the country as a matter of national security.

The Home Office said the Libyans were suspected of involvement in "student revolutionary activities," but did not elaborate.

The Libyans, almost all of whom are university students, were arrested in England, Wales and Scotland, said the Home Office, which is responsible for Britain's police. Five of them were arrested in London, it said.

All of the 21 detainees had been been under surveillance, said the British domestic news agency Press Association.

Motion vetoed at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS - A resolution condemning the United States for its air strike against Libya received nine of 15 votes in the U.N. Security Council, but was vetoed by three of the council's five permanent members.

The resolution condemned 'the armed attack by the United States of America in violation of the Charter of the United Nations and the norms of international conduct.'

It called on the United States to "refrain forthwith from any attacks or threats thereof."

The United States, Britain and France vetoed the resolution Monday. A veto by any one of the five permanent Security Council members would have been enough to kill the BANKOK, Thailand — A bomb tossed from a passing car exploded inside the compound of the U.S. Consulate in the southern Thai city of Songkhla early today, officials said. No injuries were reported.

Mayor Prachoti Ekuru said he suspected the bombers were a group of eight to 10 pro-Libyan Moslems who recently arrived in Songkhla "for sabotage."

The group, from nearby Narathiwat province, included Thais and foreigners, Prachoti said without giving details.

Authorities said the explosion shattered windows in the consulate, damaged a fence surrounding it as well as a nearby house, and ripped a small hole in the ground. There was no immediate claim of responsibility.

his fortune in oil, the prattle about protecting "national security" is special interest pleading. The theory presumably is that in time of war, the U.S. might need to rely on domestic sources of oil, and that the current troubles may eliminate those sources.

The Reagan administration, would in the "national security"

The administration would like to ease the suffering of oil states. But this makes no more sense than it once did to hold down prices for the benefit of New England. Propping up oil prices would impose a huge tax on the rest of the country simply to spare Texas and Oklahoma from adjusting to the new reality as the rest of the country had to adjust when prices rose.

Some people are fearful not that prices will stay down, but that they won't. This scenario envisions Americans going on an oil-guzzling binge that will produce a monumental hangover, reminiscent of the punishing oil shocks of the 1970s.

The fear is greatly exaggerated. One reason is that there are large sources of additional supply. Saudi Arabia's current output is still less than half what it supplied during the energy "crisis" and what it still could supply. Iran and Iraq are bound to conclude their war sooner or later, enabling them to produce and sell more oil.

Another is that this time, the American appetite for oil is not being whetted by price controls. If prices are free to rise in response to higher demand or lower supply, they will continually adjust to minimize the possibility of a sudden price explosion.

Decontrol of prices also reduces the chance that U.S. reserves will dry up. If, as this theory suggests, low prices now will lead to high prices later, entrepreneurs have good reason to spend money today to find new oil deposits - thus putting them in a position to take advantage of any future price in-

After the nightmarish instability of the 1970s, Americans may be forgiven for distrusting any drastic change in world oil markets. But they shouldn't let that distrust be used to justify expensive and harmful measures to reverse the decline in prices. This is one change that is not only healthy, but probably durable.

Dirty tricks by Libya's Khadafy are well-documented by U.S.

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Until very recently, the Reagan administration offered no hard evidence to back up its charge that Libyan dictator Muammar Khadafy is responsible for much of the random terrorism that has made Americans nervous about traveling abroad. Now the White House and the State Department are giving the public chapter and verse on Khadafy's involvement.

We can now disclose some of the past evidence against Khadafy found in State Department files. The cables from U.S. embassies to Foggy Bottom were recently declassified.

The cables, reviewed by our associate Lucette Lagnado, make clear Khadafy's willingness — nay, eagerness - to finance terrorism and subversion virtually anywhere in the world, from assassination of Libyan dissidents to coups against vulnerable governments. He has also provided generously from Libya's oil wealth to give training and refuge to various terrorist groups.

Here are some examples of Khadafy's mischief-

• Nigeria. In April 1983, the American ambassador in Lagos sent Washington a detailed report on an alleged plot to overthrow the Nigerian government. The plot was "personally approved" by Khadafy and bankrolled by him to the tune of $40

A Nigerian on trial for plotting the overthrow "had testified of several clandestine trips to Libya ... last year, and said he and seven other plotters had received cash payments of over a million dollars in Tripoli, Accra and Lagos," the cable stated. The ambassador added that the supposed plot may have been a scam "in which several Nigerians were able to con large sums out of the Libyans.'

The authenticity of the plot was largely irrelevant. In fact, if it had indeed been nothing more than a confidence game it demonstrated that Khadafy was so enthusiastic about aiding the overthrow of the Nigerian government that he hadn't made even a cursory check of the supposed plotters' credentials or chances of success.

Con men or coup plotters, the Nigerian group "met with Khadafy at a military farm on the outskirts of Tripoli," the ambassador reported. The Libyan leader "approved and encouraged their scheme. telling the Nigerians that he had two other groups in Nigeria, but they were ineffective." The next day, the visitors met with members of the Libyan revolutionary council and were given money.

• Egypt. In November 1984, Egyptian intelligence held Khadafy up to worldwide ridicule by announcing — falsely — that a Libyan opposition leader had been assassinated in Cairo. Khadafy immediately claimed credit, whereupon the Egyptians produced well. The Libyan hit squad assigned to the task had been captured by the Egyptians and persuaded to

Among other things, as the Cairo embassy reported to Foggy Bottom, the gang that couldn't shoot straight had confessed that Khadafy also had plans "to assassinate various heads of state, including (West German) Chancellor Helmut Kohl, Saudi Arabia's King Fahd, the United Arab Emirates Sheikh Zayed Bin Sultan and Pakistan President Zia ul-Haq.

• Tunisia. When Khadafy complained about a sabotage of the Algerian-Tunisian pipeline.

DEEP BACKGROUND: Eli Rosenbaum is the World Jewish Congress bloodhound who has been doggedly sniffing out the Nazi background of former U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim. Rosenbaum was amused recently when he came across a photograph Waldheim is using in his campaign for president of Austria. It shows a smiling Waldheim with the famous Manhattan skyline in the background. And there — right there, see? — Rosenbaum spotted his own apartment building. Unfortunately, Rosenbaum wasn't waving from his balcony when the picture was snapped.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We're not exactly enamored of our blow-dried rivals on the television news shows, but we're deeply disturbed about a White House plan to bypass the networks and feed unedited speeches, briefings, Rose Garden ceremonies and other White House media events directly to local TV stations. The idea of communications chief Patrick Buchanan seems to us one more step down the slippery road to Goebbelslike force-feeding of propaganda to the public. For all their faults, we trust the news judgment of TV broadcasters more than that of official government flacks.

supposed plot by Palestinians based in Tunis to assassinate Libyans working abroad, the U.S. ambassador in Tunisia reported: The Libyan charge might be "a response in kind to the Tunisian public statement implying Libyan responsibility for the GORGE ISSUE RISING: The 41,000 or so residents of the Columbia River Gorge area long the Oregon-Washington border are divided over legislation that would turn the spectacular section into a federally protected scenic area. Environmentalists and Oregon's two senators support the bill, which would put the gorge under federal management. They say it would protect the area from development. Not so, say many local critics, who fear that the scenic-area designation would only draw hordes of flatland tourists and lead to construction of resorts and hotels. And if anyone's going to mess with their land, they don't want Uncle Sam doing it.

On Night N

Solace comes from prayer

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I bave studied psychology a lot, and while I am not a religious person my studies have led me to the conclusion there actually is a lot of psychological value to prayer. I mean by this that people who pray a lot often are able to cope with problems better, because they have convinced themselves God is with them. - D.A.

DEAR D.A.A: Yes, it is certainly true that people who have a strong faith in God also experience inner peace. This, after all, is what Jesus promised His disciples when He said, "In me you may have peace. In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

But what is the reason for this inner peace? Contrary to your view, it is not just a psychological trick. The true reason is that God is real, and when we come to know Him personally He comes into our lives and gives us peace — peace with God, peace within our hearts and even peace in our relationships with other people. "Therefore, since we have been justified through faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Romans 5:1).

You see, the basic problem of the human race is that we are separated from God, who created us to have fellowship with Him. As long as we are separated from Him, we will never find lasting and true peace. Our greatest need is to be reconciled to God — and He has made that possible, because Jesus Christ came to remove the barrier between man and God. When we accept Christ, we no longer are at war with God but at peace. And that peace can be a reality in our hearts every day.

That can be true for you as well. I invite you to open your heart to Christ today and make the greatest that God is real and will come into your life and give you peace.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Tuesday, April 22, the 112th day of 1986. There are 253 days left in the year

Today's highlight in history: On April 22, 1864, Congress authorized the use of the phrase 'In God We Trust' on U.S. coins. On this date:

In 1509, Henry VIII ascended to the throne of England after the death of his father, Henry VII. In 1870, Russian revolutionary Vladimir I. Lenin was born.

In 1898, the first shot of the Spanish-American War rang out when the USS Nashville captured a Spanish merchant ship off Key West, Fla.

In 1915, the German army used poison gas for the first time in World War I. In 1954, the televised Senate

Army-McCarthy hearings began. In 1964, President Lyndon B. Johnson opened the New York World's Fair at Flushing Meadow-Corona Park

Ten years ago: Barbara Walters accepted an offer from ABC to coanchor the "ABC Evening News" with Harry Reasoner, becoming network television's first full-time evening anchorwoman at a reported salary of $1 million a

Five years ago: In his first interview since the attempt on his life, President Reagan told two wire service reporters he was still suffering pain from his gunshot wound, and that the entire episode seemed "kind of unreal."

One year ago: U.S. senators from both political parties and top White House aides failed to reach agreement after an all-day negotiating session on how to provide U.S. aid to Nicaraguan rebels.

Today's birthdays: Actor Eddie Albert is 78. Violinist Yehudi Menuhin is 70. Television producer Aaron Spelling is 61. Actress Charlotte Rae is 60. Actor Jack Nicholson is 49. Singer Glen Campbell is 48. Actor-writer Jason Miller is 47. Actor Joseph Bottoms is 32.

When the forces of supply and demand were bringing prosperity to oil companies and pain to consumers, free-market pricing seemed like a good idea. Today, as falling prices hurt producers and help consumers, Vice President George Bush says, "We recognize that, as we talk about national security interests, that that comes in conflict Riyadh, where he argued that the ty" - by which he means higher prices fall has boosted its daily output of crude oil from 2.2 million barrels to 3.9 million barrels, is indeed responsible for the carnage in world oil markets. By cutting back, the Saudis could at least marginally raise prices. But given their low production costs, they apparently can make more money with higher production. They aren't likely to pay any more attention to Bush's

In fact, the American Petroleum Institute estimates that U.S. production last month was nearly 9 higher than it was two years ago. Some wells have been shut down as unprofitable, but many of them can be reopened if prices rise — as they

against alcohol

To the editor: Now the time has come for us to stop this insidious "Liquor by the Drink!" We have all heard the justification "for" this issue and as yet the real issues have been excluded from the newspaper's front page. Except for two small letters on the editorial page — silence.

We hear that this will cause our town to grow and more tax money will be collected. What will grow is the number of drinking drivers and any extra tax money will be required to hire more policemen and/or support the jail population.

Letters

Letters to the editor should be 350 words or less. They are published at the discretion of the managing editor and are subject to simple editing for length, taste and libel. The essence of the writer's message will not be altered.

Address letters "To the editor," Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, TX 79720. Please write your name and address on the letter.

Another quotation among supporters is, "People are going to drink anyway so this will have no effect on them." Truly, people seem to have little concern for their health or families and do continue to consume alcoholic beverages (this is very evident in our local hospitals). However, the drinkers this will generally attract appear to be those stopping for a 'drink'' after work at "Happy Hour," then driving home. (It is of note that if a person wishes to drink this is their business — until they get into their car and drive - then it becomes our business!)

How could this possibly help our town when alcoholism begins with one drink (the first) and it only takes a minimal amount of alcohol to dull a person's senses? Thus, increased DWIs. I Thessalonians 5:22 says, "Abstain from all appearances of evil." If we say we are Christians, let's act like it! Let us combine our forces - go to the polls - take our friends and neighbors - and vote "against" liquor by the drink! Keep this in mind — if we don't vote against this issue we must assume the responsibility of supporting yet another source of deterioration of morality in our

Dear Abby

Cheating spouses mad at wives for snooping

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I became suspicious of our husbands' nights out. We thought they got too fancied up to go bowling and have a few beers with the guys, so we played "private eye" and followed them for three nights.

On Night No. 1, they took two young ladies to a movie. On Night No. 2, the same happy foursome went to a restaurant in Manhattan. On Night No. 3, they went to a St. Patrick's Day dinner dance in the Bronx. They always came home and said they had a lot of laughs with "the guys." Finally, we presented them with our findings of where they had been

They not only denied it, they got mad at us and called us liars and sneaks! Can you believe it? These two cheaters who had been sneaking around called us liars and sneaks!

They now say they will never be able to trust us again. We were made to feel like the guilty parties.

What is your answer to this? We read you daily in the New York Post, and so do they. Sign us, "Two Ex-Private Eyes," or

In one letter a couple was having trouble with their sex life. Of course you told them to see a marriage counselor. Come on, Abby, they wrote to you for advice. I'm sure anyone could have told them to go find a

Don't get me wrong, some of your answers are great, but when you say, "See a counselor," you are passing the buck.

I wouldn't presume to offer an instant solution to a problem that requires many sessions with a counselor or psychotherapist. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was refused permission to join a YMCA program by my doctor. His letter to the exercise program director stated that my problem was hypertrophic cardiomyopathy. What is that? How does my heart differ from those participating in the program? — H.C.

It is enlargement of heart muscle. Usually a reason can be found for such enlargement - chronic high blood pressure, for example In hypertrophic cardiomyopathy there is no known cause.

Unless you are looking for high blood pressure, it can be missed, since if oten will not produce symptoms. That fact makes it an insidious condition, indeed. It is one of the most common reasons for the sudden, unexpected death of young athletes during competition. We're lucky that does not happen

In the few instances of such death, the cause is the inability of the heart to empty itself with each beat. The bulky muscle impedes normal blood flow. If you were able to exercise, the chances are that with such a heart you would develop some of the potentially deadly kinds of beats typical of this

So your doctor had very cogent reasoning behind his action. Furthermore, H.C., I have to warn you that the condition often runs in

Rob de Castella had to fight off little more than a heavy-set young spectator who got in his way. Ingrid Kristiansen's biggest challenge came from a

If competition was absent from Monday's Boston Marathon, big names and big money made up for it. 'The tradition of Boston is still there,' said four-time winner Bill Rodgers, who, at age 38, finished a stunning fourth in his 14th Boston Marathon. "It's good to see it come back. The race has been raised to a new level. It's a spectacular event.

And de Castella and Kristiansen, the favorites and two of the greatest marathoners of the decade, ran spectacular races.

De Castella, an Australian with a drooping mustache, conquered the hills and valleys along the testing 26-mile, 385-yard route in a course record of 2 hours, 7 minutes and 51 seconds, the third-fastest marathon of all time

Kristiansen, a Norwegian, perservered despite a painful abdomen to post a time of 2:24:55, secondfastest Boston Marathon by a woman and the ninthbest ever by a woman.

They were rewarded handsomely for their Boston debuts. Attracted by the prize money awarded here for the first time since the initial Boston Marathon in 1897, de Castella hit a $60,000 jackpot and Kristiansen had a $35,000 payday.

Each earned $30,000 and a new luxury car for finishing first, de Castella picked up another $25,000 for breaking the course record of 2:08:52 set by Alberto Salazar in 1982, and each winner pocketed $5,000 for beating certain times

De Castella said this year's addition of John Hancock Financial Services as the major corporate sponsor of the race organized by the Boston Athletic Association influenced him to compete.

Ingrid Kristiansen of Norway breaks the tape to win the women's division of the 90th running of the Boston Marathon Monday.

"The prize money and John Hancock's supporting the BAA are the main reasons I decided to run here in Boston in preference to somewhere else," he said.

That attracted others to the 4,903-runner field, which had declined in quality in recent years as marathoners sought more lucrative prospects in other races. But this spring, Boston came back.

Rob de Castella of Australia runs through Newton, Mass. on his way to victory in the Boston Marathon.

It had Orlando Pizzolato, two-time winner of the New York City Marathon; Pete Pfitzinger, winner of the 1984 U.S. Olympic Trials; 1983 Boston champion Greg Meyer, Japanese star Kunimitsu Ito and highly regarded newcomer Arturo Barrios. The women's field featured Kristiansen, Lisa Martin of Australia, Carla Beurskens of The Netherlands and 1984 Boston winner Lorraine Moller.

On a good day for runners, with a temperature of 61 degrees shortly before the noon start and slightly overcast skies, the race had all the makings of a highly competitive event.

Then the starter fired his gun.

"With all the hig names, I thought more of them would be up there," said little-known Art Boileau of Canada, whose second-place time of 2:11:15 was 3:24 behind de Castella

Pizzolato, who made his name on the flatter New York course, was third in 2:11:43. Rodgers' fourthplace time of 2:13:36 was the fastest by an Beurskens was runnerup to Kristiansen in 2:27:35, 2:40 slower than the winning time. Lizanne Bussieres of Canada was a distant third among the women in 2:32:16.

'I know Ingrid's too fast for me,'' Beurskens said. "I knew I couldn't catch her."

Near the 20-mile mark, an unidentified man wasn't fast enough for de Castella. The overzealous intruder ran onto the course and was shoved aside by the male champion.

'Sometimes I get short-tempered,'' de Castella

Kristiansen's problems were internal. Her stomach began aching about halfway into the race. "I hoped to run around 2:19," she said, which would have beaten her own world-best of 2:21:06 set a year earlier in London. "The course was fine if my body had been with me.

Kristiansen still won for the ninth time in her 17 marathons. De Castella's victory was his seventh in

He led after all but two of the miles, trailing Ito at the four-mile mark and Pfitzinger two miles later.

Hayworth, Steers just taking care of business

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Editor In his own quiet way, Randy Hayworth has emerged as a leader for the Big Spring Steers baseball team

The senior third baseman has been the cornerstone on a team that started out the season with a lot of question marks. For openers he was only one of three lettermen returning from a team that finished with a 5-9 district mark.

There was the question of whether to play Hayworth, called by Coach John Velasques his best infielder, at shortstop or third base, the position he played last year. Then there was the problem of trying to hold together a very inexperienced team, during the rough times which included losing seven of their first nine games

Velasquez decided to keep Hayworth at third, where his leadership and experience paved the way for the younger players. In essence the Steers braved the rough times and are now locked in a race with Odessa Permian and Midland Lee for the runner-up playoff spot behind district champion Abilene Cooper.

The Steers, who have won seven of their last eight games, will try to remain in the playoff chase as they battle the Abilene High Eagles today at Steer Field at 4 p.m.

Midland High is currently in second with a 8-3 record. Permian and Big Spring are tied for third with a 7-5 district slate. Big Spring closes out its regular season Saturday against San Angelo Central. Without a doubt they must win today and Saturday to have a shot.

Midland High plays Permian today, has a makeup game with Cooper Wednesday and closes out its season Saturday against crosstown rival Midland Lee. Permian closes out its season against Odessa High Saturday.

Hayworth, who's .373 batting average ranks in the district's top twenty, says at the first of the season the team didn't realize how good it could be.

'We had a real young squad and a new coach. It took a while to get adjusted. We really didn't know the potential we had. But we never got down. Even when we lost our first four district games, we kept saying 10-in-arow will get us to the playoffs. We never gave up.

"Really we had more talent these next two games.

RANDY HAYWORTH ...Steers third baseman on last year's team. But we're much closer as a team this year I think that coach Velasquez has alot to do with that.

Being a leader has come natural to Hayworth, just like hard work. Extra work during the summer, for the athlete who spent his time catching passes for the Steers in the fall, helped improve his game tremendously. "I played alot of ball this summer and got me a hitting tee to work on my swing. I want to get better and play college

The hard work payed off. His .373 average is a big jump from the .280 he batted last season.

baseball somewhere next

"I've got a better pitch selection this season. I'm pretty happy with my batting but my fielding hasn't been as good as it was last season. I think I've been pressing too hard. Coach Doe (Bobby) and coach Anderson (Frank) have been working with me alot.

As far as being a leader, Hayworth insists he's one of a number on the team. "We have others who have stepped in a become leaders. I don't want to be a hot dog or anything. I just want to set a good example for the others.

Hayworth's logic is simple in the current playoff chase. "We can't worry about what the other teams do. We've got to take care of our own business. And that business is winning

Pirates file suit on Parker PITTSBURGH (AP)

Parker, whose weight ballooned and batting average dropped after he signed a record contract in 1979, is being sued by the Pittsburgh Pirates in a possibly precedentsetting court case resulting from his former use of cocaine.

The Pirates, who adopted the slogan "The New Bucs: We Play Hardball" when new owners took control this season, apparently believe the motto should fit the team off the field as well as on it.

Pirates President Malcolm 'Mac'' Prine, announcing the suit Monday in a brief news conference, charged the All-Star outfielder breached the five-year contract by failing to reveal his cocaine use.

The lawsuit attempts to block $5.3 million in deferred payments owed Parker, who is scheduled to receive a $944,445 payment in January 1988 and regular monthly payments of nearly $20,000 for the bsequent 20 years.

The first action of its kind filed by a major league baseball team against a player, the suit, if successful, could set a precedent in the future negotiating of contracts. Many players now have deferred payment clauses in their contracts.

The Pirates apparently are basing the suit on a clause in the 15-page contract in which Parker certified he had "no physical or mental defects known to him which would prevent or impair per formance of his services.

Parker, reached at his Cincinnati home shortly after the suit was announced, said: "I don't know anything about it. None of those people have called me, so I can't really comment until I know about

After a team workout Monday afternoon at Riverfront Stadium, Parker told the Pittsburgh Post Gazette: "Oh man, this is just another hurdle, another hurdle I've got to leap. Why don't they just leave me alone?'

Chuck Berry, a member the Pittsburgh law firm that fepresents Parker, said: "Obviously, our position is the money is still due.

"He has already played during the years in question and for each one of those years he played, a certain amount of dottars were credited to a deferred compensation fund. Yes, he played; yes, he earned that," said Berry

The lawsuit contends the Pirates were unaware of Parker's cocaine use until the trial of convicted cocaine dealer Curtis Strong last September. Parker, who admitted buying cocaine from Strong. testified he often used cocaine with other players because it once was "the 'in' thing to do.

After signing the contract, Parker "stole fewer bases, his fielding ability significantly deteriorated and he generally failed to perform up to the level achived by him prior to 1979," according to the suit. "Also of significance, he failed to keep himself in good physical condition, with his weight ballooning at times to in excess of 280 pounds, a result of which he became injuryprone. Parker's mediocre playing performance and lack of physical conditioning not only hurt the Pirates on the playing field but also led to the development of a very poor relationship between him and the Pittsburgh baseball fans and

The Pirates will make no effort to recover the estimated $2,125,000 already paid Parker. His base salary for each of the five seasons was $300,000 and he also was to receive a $625,000 signing bonus in a total package worth more than the Pirates said. The team is seeking a jury trial in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court Parker was coming off a National League Most Valuable Player season and a second consecutive batting title when he signed the contract, fulfilling a dream to become the major leagues' first $1 million a year player But as Parker's cocaine use accelerated, according to his Pittsburgh court testimony, his on-the-field production declined. As the Pirates slumped from world champions in 1979 to last place in the strike-shortened 1981 season, game'e premier player to

Parker hit a league-high .334 with 30 homers and 117 RBI in 1978 but had slumped to a .270 average with six homers and 29 RBI by 1982, his final season in Pittsburgh.

During his court testimony, Parker admitted to having shared cocaine with or arranging to have the drug supplied to major leaguers Manny Sarmiento, John Milner, Eddie Solomon, Al Holland, Lee Lacy, Dale Berra, Rod Scurry, Enos Cabell, J.R. Richard, Dusty Baker, Derrel Thomas and Steve Howe.

"I had friends who were out of control (because of cocaine)," said Parker, who added that he guit the drug without medical help because my game was slipping Parker plummeted from the and cocaine had played some part
