Reagan orders disaster aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan approved federal disaster assistance for Nolan County, hard-hit by a tornado that killed an elderly man, injured 92 people and left as many as 1,500 residents homeless.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency was directed to provide eligible storm victims with temporary housing and grants from the president's disaster relief fund.

The assistance was approved

Wednesday.

FEMA officials also will coordinate other federal assistance, such as loans from the Small Business Administration and the Farmers Home Administration.

They will limit federal assistance to people and businesses in Nolan County affected by Saturday's tornado.

FEMA officials said the twister damaged 160 businesses and left 510 dwellings uninhabitable in Sweetwater. The mayor of the West Texas city, Rick Rhodes, has estimated damage at $15 million to $20 million.

Robert D. Broussard of the FEMA's regional office in Denton was designated as the federal coordinating officer. He said a disaster application center will be established in Sweetwater within four days. The center will provide advice and assistance on applying for aid from a number of federal, state and volunteer agencies.

Broussard said tornado victims should consult with their insurance agents and companies to determine the extent of their insurance protection since assistance in the disaster center will not duplicate insurance benefits.

The disaster declaration was requested Tuesday by Gov. Mark White.

Meanwhile, Big Spring chapters of the Red Cross and Salvation Army are still collecting money, but not goods, for Sweetwater tornado victims. Donations can be brought to either organization and should be earmarked for the Sweetwater tornado victims, said Marianne Brown of the Red Cross.

Donations can be mailed to the Salvation Army at P.O. Box 1248, Big Spring, or to the Red Cross at 110 N.E. Eighth St.

Volunteers with trailers, pickups and shovels are needed to help with Sweetwater Cleanup Day Saturday, Brown said. They should meet at 8 a.m. in front of the Pontiac Garage in Sweetwater.

Absentee ballots lagging

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Absentee voting for the May 3 state and county primaries is, in the words of County Clerk Margaret Ray, "way behind."

As of 10 a.m. this morning, her office had received 183 Democratic ballots and 14 Republican ballots. In 1984, she said 758 persons voted absentee, and 531 voted absentee in 1982.

Deadline for absentee voting is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

This year's ballot will have the names of two persons listed who are unable to hold office.

Lewis Heflin is on the ballot as a Democratic candidate for the Justice of the Peace Precinct 1 Place 2 race. Heflin died April 3 while holding the office.

The remaining candidates in the race are William H. "Bill" Shankles and Stanley "Bogie" Bogard.

G.C. (Dub) Clinton Jr. is listed as a Republican candidate for the House panel calls for tighter check on border drug traffic

By PHILLIP SWANN
Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Saying that Mexican drug smuggling into the United States is "totally out of control," a House committee Wednesday called for new, air-tight inspections at the U.S. border.

The U.S. Customs Service should immediately launch an intensified search operation at border ports of entry even if means long lines and traffic delays, committee members said.

"Every truck should be thoroughly searched even if it takes two weeks for it to come across the border," Rep. Duncan Hunter, a California Republican and member of the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, said at a Wednesday press conference.

But committee members acknowledged that budget restraints imposed by the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction bill dampens chances this year for increased funding for border patrol.

The narcotics panel, which held hearings on border trafficking last January in El Paso, San Diego and Tucson and two Mexican cities, released a 62-page report Wednesday on its findings and recommendations.

The report said that Mexico now supplies 42 percent of heroin consumed in the United States — a 12 percent increase since 1979 — and 30-35 percent of marijuana and cocaine.

"We have found that tens of thousands of people enter this country illegally every year and bring with them all kinds of drug and contraband," said Rep. Charles Rangel, the New York Democrat who chairs the committee.

To combat the growing influx of illegal drugs into the United States, the committee offered several recommendations:

• The U.S. Customs Service should develop a new search policy at Mexican ports of entry "without pressure to rapidly move people, cars and cargo across the border."

• All aircraft departing the United States should be required by law to file a flight plan. When returning to this country, the plane should be required to land back at the airport for inspection.

• The El Paso Intelligence Center should be established as a national intelligence center to coordinate

SWCID-Fest slated for May 2

By SPENCER SANDOW

Jimmy Turner, a deaf dancer, will perform May 2 for the beginning of this year's SWCID-Fest.

The performance will be at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal School. Admission is $3, or $2 for students and senior citizens, said Liz Wolter, drama instructor at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

Turner has appeared on "Sesame Street" and other television shows and has traveled with deaf performing troupes, she said.

His performance is "very energetic," she said.

SWCID-Fest will continue at 7 a.m. Saturday, May 3, with a fun run. Proceeds will go to SWCID in an account for purposes such as recruitment and student traveling, for which state funds cannot be used, said executive director Sam Hill.

The runs will be divided into 10-K and two mile, and by age and gender, he said. Trophies will be given for first through third places, and the first 100 people to register will get a free T-shirt, he said.

Registration is $7 before April 25, or $10 at the race. Registration will begin at 7 a.m. on the race day in the main building at SWCID.

That afternoon, after the fun run, a softball tournament will be held. No more registrants are being accepted for that, Hill said, because the limit has been reached. Spectators are invited to watch the five men's and four women's teams play at Johnny Stone Park.

The festival will conclude that night with a casino night, sponsored by the Highland Council for the Deaf, for SWCID faculty, staff and students.

Names in the news

By The Associated Press
LONDON — PRINCE ANDREW has chosen his younger brother, PRINCE EDWARD, to be best man at his wedding, Buckingham Palace announced.

A palace statement also said 3-year-old Prince William, the eldest son of Prince Charles, the heir to the throne, and Princess Diana, will be one of four pages to the bride, Sarah Ferguson. No maid of honor was mentioned.

The wedding will be July 23 at Westminster Abbey.

Andrew, third of Queen Elizabeth II's four children, was best man at his elder brother Charles' wedding in 1981. Andrew and his fiancée are both 26.

The other pages will be Princess Anne's son Peter, 8, Miss Ferguson's half-brother Andrew Ferguson, 7, and her nephew Seamus Makim, 5, the palace said Wednesday. Princess Anne is Andrew's sister.

The four bridesmaids will be Anne's daughter Zara, 4; Miss Ferguson's half-sister Alice, 5; Lady Rosanagh Innes-Ker, 7, eldest child of the Duke and Duchess of Roxbruge; and Laura Fellowes, 6, eldest child of Robert Fellowes, the queen's deputy private secretary, and Lady Jane

The palace also confirmed that the London-based, Polish-descended designer Lindka Cierach, 32, has been chosen by Miss Ferguson to make the wedding dress.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. GEORGE WALLACE has been confined to bed for three weeks because of a hip ulcer, aides said.

The 66-year-old governor would like to attend a ceremony at the Capitol on Saturday marking the 100th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Confederate Monument but will go only if doctors approve, press secretary Frank Mastin Jr. said Wednesday.

The last time Wallace got out of bed was April 3 for a 15-minute television interview, Mastin said. The day before, Wallace announced he would not seek a fifth term as governor.

Aides have described the hip ulcer as a sore above the buttocks that apparently was caused by the governor lying on a cigar holder in bed. Wallace was unable to detect it because of his paralysis resulting from a 1972 assassination attempt.

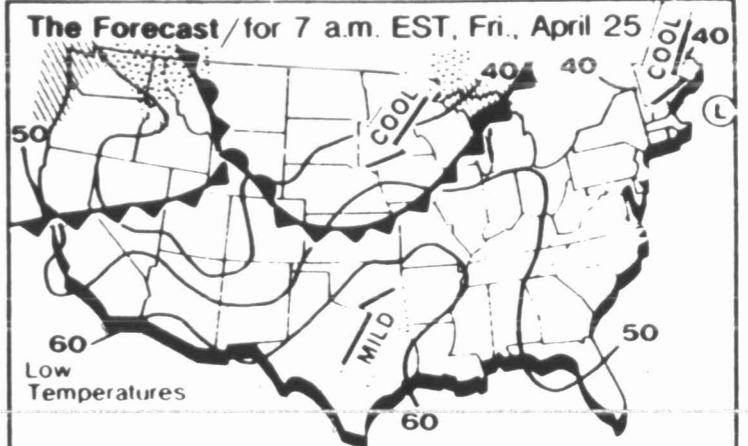

NEW YORK — Fashion designer CALVIN KLEIN will join actress ELIZABETH TAYLOR as hosts of a $150-a-ticket cocktail party to raise money for AIDS research.

Dozens of celebrities are expected to attend Tuesday's three-hour party at the new Jacob Javits Convention Center.

The highlight of the evening will be what sponsors are calling "the world's largest photo session" involving the celebrity participants.

The photographs will be used as a print campaign in national magazines and trade publications to help raise money for research toward finding a cure for acquired immune deficiency syndrome, said Susan Martin, a spokeswoman for the American Foundation for AIDS Research.

Forecast

West Texas: Partly cloudy through Friday with very warm afternoons. Scattered thunderstorms mountains eastward mainly during the afternoon and evening hours, a few possibly severe Panhandle and South Plains this evening. Lows tonight mid 50s Panhandle and far west to mid 60s Big Bend, except upper 40s mountains. Highs Friday mid 80s mountains and far west to near 90 elsewhere, except upper 90s along the Rio Grande in the Big Bend.

State

A low-pressure trough stretching through West Texas brought a chance of thunderstorms in the Panhandle and South Plains through Friday, and wind advisories were posted behind the front.

The low pressure stretched from a storm center over northern Kansas south through the Panhandle and South Plains into the Big Bend area. Brisk southerly winds gusted ahead of the front to around 30 mph across the Edwards Plateau and North Central Texas, the National Weather Service said.

A high-pressure system produced 5 to 15 mph southeast breezes over Northeast and South Texas. Winds were southwesterly at 5 to 15 mph behind the trough.

Skies were clear over far West Texas and the Panhandle, while mid and high level clouds dotted the rest of the state. A narrow band of low clouds extended inland from the lower coast into Central Texas with a small patch of fog noted in the College Station area.

Early-morning temperatures ranged in the 50s and 60s across most of Texas. Extremes were 46 degrees at Marfa and 71 degrees at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi.

It should be partly cloudy and warm statewide through Friday. A chance of thunderstorms Panhandle, South Plains was expected through tonight, along with the western part of North Texas.

The weather service said a few showers could be severe over the Panhandle and South Plains. Lake wind advisories were in effect for the central and western parts of North Texas and the Panhandle and South Plains.

Nation

By The Associated Press
 Unseasonably low temperatures prevailed across the East today while rain was scattered along the Atlantic Coast and in the West. High pressure systems over central Ohio and the northern Gulf of Mexico pushed early-morning temperatures in the East into the 30s to 40s. Temperatures dipped into the 50s to 60s in central and southern Florida.

Rain was scattered along the northern and middle Atlantic Coast while showers and thunderstorms were scattered across the Plains, southern Rockies and Great Basin.

Gusty southern winds blew across the central and southern Plains, where early-morning temperatures were in the 60s to low 70s. Strong winds lashed the Pacific Coast, prompting gale warnings for the coasts of Washington and northern and central California.

Today's forecast called for rain likely along the northern Pacific Coast and in northern California; rain scattered across Minnesota.

Police Beat

11 wedding rings stolen

Chris Chaney, manager of Chaney's Jewelry, told police Wednesday evening that someone stole 11 gold-plated wedding rings with large stones valued at $3,000.

According to the police report, Chaney noticed the rings missing at about 4 p.m. Wednesday just after two females had left the store.

Jo Ann Vallas of 3305 W. Highway 80 told police Wednesday morning that someone she knows kicked her in the face and body several times Sunday night in the 2600 block of Ann Street.

According to police, she suffered bruises to her body, legs, arms and above her right eye.

Vallas also told police someone caused $132 damage to the driver's side door of her car and the left front headlight during the same incident.

Frances Payne of the Safeway store at 1300 Gregg St. told police Wednesday afternoon that someone she knows forged a $50 check Sunday.

The College Park Safeway also reported to police Wednesday that a $50 check was forged at the business Friday.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning the incidents are not related.

Janie Martin of 1410 Harding St., rear apartment, told police Wednesday afternoon that someone broke into her home Wednesday morning. However, nothing was reported stolen, according to the complaint.

Frank Alcantar of 1605 Wren St. told police Wednesday evening that someone damaged the right door window of his car while it was parked at his residence between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Floyd A. Chapman, 50, no address given, was arrested Wednesday evening on suspicion of criminal trespassing.

Sheriff's Log

Burglar alarms for loan

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said this morning his department is loaning burglar alarms to county residents who will be away from home on vacation.

The limited number of alarms will be monitored at the sheriff's office at no expense, Standard said.

Deputies will also conduct a survey of households for crime preventative measures upon request and will speak about the neighborhood watch program, Standard said.

Persons interested should notify the sheriff's office.

Deputies released Elvin Greathouse, 39, last known address Thrifty Lodge, to Gonzales County sheriff's deputies Wednesday morning after he was credited with serving a four-month jail sentence for driving while intoxicated in Howard County.

He faces additional charges in Gonzales County.

Greathouse was arrested Feb. 4 by police after he was involved in a minor accident with a school bus at Randolph and Albrook streets.

He later pleaded guilty to DWI in the incident.

In addition to the jail sentence, County Judge Milton Kirby fined him $300 and $131 court costs.

Police transferred Glenda Faye Roberts, 20, of 2410 S. Runnels St. to county jail Wednesday morning after he was charged with criminal mischief. He was released on $2,500 bond.

Police transferred James Dean Moore, 23, of Alamogordo, N.M., to county jail Wednesday at noon after he was arrested on suspicion of theft.

Deputies released David B. Marquez, 22, of 610 N.W. Eighth St. from county jail Wednesday afternoon after he served two days in jail for fines he owes the county.

A Department of Public Safety trooper arrested Nathan Henry Baker, 31, of 407 Donley St. Wednesday night for driving with a suspended license and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

He was released on bonds totaling $1,000.

DWI probation is revoked

County Judge Milton Kirby on Wednesday revoked a man's probation for a previous driving while intoxicated conviction and sentenced him to 60 days in jail.

Ernesto Rodriguez, 27, of 2606 Langley was also fined $75 for three counts of driving while license suspended, $100 for unlawfully carrying a weapon and $200 for a subsequent offense of failure to maintain financial responsibility.

He is currently being held in county jail.

County Commissioner Precinct 2 race. He announced this morning that he is withdrawing from the race because of recent business developments that require him to spend time outside of Big Spring.

"I didn't think it would be fair to the voters if I couldn't devote full time to the job of commissioner," Clinton said about his decision.

His withdrawal leaves Leo Williams as an unopposed candidate in the race. Williams will face the Democratic ballot winner in November.

Ray said according to the state election code, if former candidates such as Heflin or Clinton receive enough votes for nomination, the appropriate executive committee would select the nominee for that particular race and certify the name for placement on the general election ballot.

The executive committee is composed of precinct chairmen, Ray said.

Registered voters wishing to vote absentee have until 5 p.m. Tuesday, Ray said. The county clerk's office will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. Saturday to receive absentee votes.

Written requests for mail-in ballots will not be accepted after today, she said.

inate efforts of all government agencies fighting narcotic trafficking.

The United States should pressure drug producing countries, especially Mexico, Columbia, Peru and Bolivia, to maintain effective illicit narcotic crop eradication programs.

Committee members said that Mexican police corruption and the heavy volume of traffic coming across the border has made it "virtually impossible" to inspect vehicles and pedestrians.

"The border is an open sieve," said Rep. Benjamin Gilman, a New York Republican and ranking minority member of the panel. Democratic members charged that President Reagan's cutback in funding for the U.S. Customs Service has made it more difficult for the federal agency to combat border trafficking.

"The president talks a good game," said Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso. "But his only response has been to recommend a cut in customs personnel."

Although Republicans agreed that increased funding is needed, they said the Mexican government must eliminate local police corruption before drug traffickers can be stopped.

"You could have people hold their hands together across the border and still not stop the flow of drugs as long as you have corruption," said Hunter.

Reagan warns Iran, Syria of retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, sketching more details of his plans for dealing with terrorism, said the United States might attack the capitals of Iran and Syria if there was "irrefutable evidence" that either country was behind a terrorist act.

Administration officials, in an effort to show increasing international unity, on Wednesday cited a West German decision to oust more Libyans as evidence of increasing Western European efforts to combat terrorism. They added that Reagan would keep the pressure on when he goes to the Tokyo summit next month by asking the leaders of the major democracies to do more.

The president made his comment about military retaliation when asked during a White House interview with a group of reporters and editors whether he would order raids on the capitals of Syria and Iran.

"Yes, if we had that kind of evidence," Reagan replied. "If we have irrefutable evidence, I think we should do that. We must have the same policy" against terrorism regardless of which state sponsors it.

"State-supported terrorism is a form of warfare and you just can't sit by and let somebody else declare war on you and pretend that you're still at peace," Reagan said.

But he added, "It's much more difficult to trace to the source terrorism sponsored by others than it is by Libya."

Later, an administration official said Reagan would use military force only as a last resort if other efforts, such as diplomatic and economic pressure, failed.

The official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, noted that Reagan did not make that point during the interview Wednesday. But he said the president has stated that position repeatedly, including at his most recent news conference.

Reagan repeated in the interview that the United States had proof Libya had planned 35 terrorist actions. In a similar interview Tuesday, Reagan said the actions were "particularly aimed at Americans, but they take place in all of the other countries."

He said, for example, that the U.S. Embassy in Paris was a target, and that an attack was planned on people as they lined up to obtain visas to visit the United States.

Reagan's comments were provided by The San Francisco Examiner.

In a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, the president threatened to "act again" if Libyan-sponsored terrorism against Americans continues. He said last week's air raid against Libya showed that "no one can kill Americans and brag about it."

Local students to compete in regional UIL competition

Four Big Spring high school students will compete in the regional University Interscholastic League competition Saturday at Texas Tech University.

Kassandra Keyes will represent the school in the typewriting contest. She placed third in typewriting at the district meet March 22. Contestants typed two five-minute writings, and the score was based on the speed and accuracy of the better one, said teacher Willene Humphrey.

Sam Gladden will compete Saturday in the ready writing contest. He placed third in ready writing at the district meet. Contestants submitted an expository essay on a topic given at the contest, within a two-hour time limit, Humphrey said.

Terry Lynch and Kevin McKeown will compete in journalism events. Lynch won third place in feature writing and second place in editorial writing at the district meet. McKeown will be an alternate in feature writing and headline writing.

Students placing first through third Saturday will advance to the state competition in Austin in May.

3 injured in 2-car wreck

A 31-year-old woman required medical treatment and two other persons suffered minor injuries in a traffic accident Wednesday morning.

Karen Kay Meyer, 31, of 2609 Wasson Road Apt. 43 was hurt when the car she was driving collided with an auto driven by Sarah Beasley Perry, 32, of 2720 Larry St. about 8 a.m.

Meyer was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where she was treated and released, said a hospital spokeswoman.

Perry and 3-year-old Sarah

Beth Perry Meyer were injured but did not require medical attention, according to the accident report. Another passenger, Michaela Perry, 6, was unhurt.

Meyer was attempting a left turn from Farm Road 700 onto Goliad Street when she drove into the path of Perry's car, according to the accident report.

Meyer was cited for failure to yield right of way, the report stated.

The occupants of both cars were wearing seatbelts, according to the report.

House reverses step

WASHINGTON — The House, wary of the election-year political consequences of a move to boost members' outside earnings capacity, has reversed itself and overwhelmingly reimposed the old limits.

Members said that while the issue of congressional salaries and earnings may arise again later this year as the subject of hearings, it is unlikely any meaningful effort will be made to change Congress' pay before the November elections.

On Wednesday, the lawmakers voted 333-66 to undo the quickie maneuver pulled just a day earlier that would have lifted a ceiling on members' outside incomes, boosting their annual earnings potential by at least $7,510. Wednesday's vote was far more than the two-thirds majority needed to pass.

Reagan faces challenge

WASHINGTON — The Republican-led Senate, in its first two votes on the fiscal 1987 budget, reasserted its view that domestic programs must be maintained even if that means challenging President Reagan's opposition to a tax increase.

By an 83-14 vote Wednesday, the lawmakers rejected an amendment to include in the Senate budget Reagan's proposal to terminate 44 domestic spending programs. The overwhelming majority refused to end the politically popular programs even though they will cost $4 billion in taxes next year.

Judges skeptical of law

WASHINGTON — The future of a law requiring a balanced federal budget by 1991 is in the hands of the Supreme Court, with at least some justices expressing doubts about its constitutionality.

During two hours of arguments Wednesday pitting the White House against Congress, some members of the court voiced skepticism about a key provision of the law, the Gramm-Rudman Act.

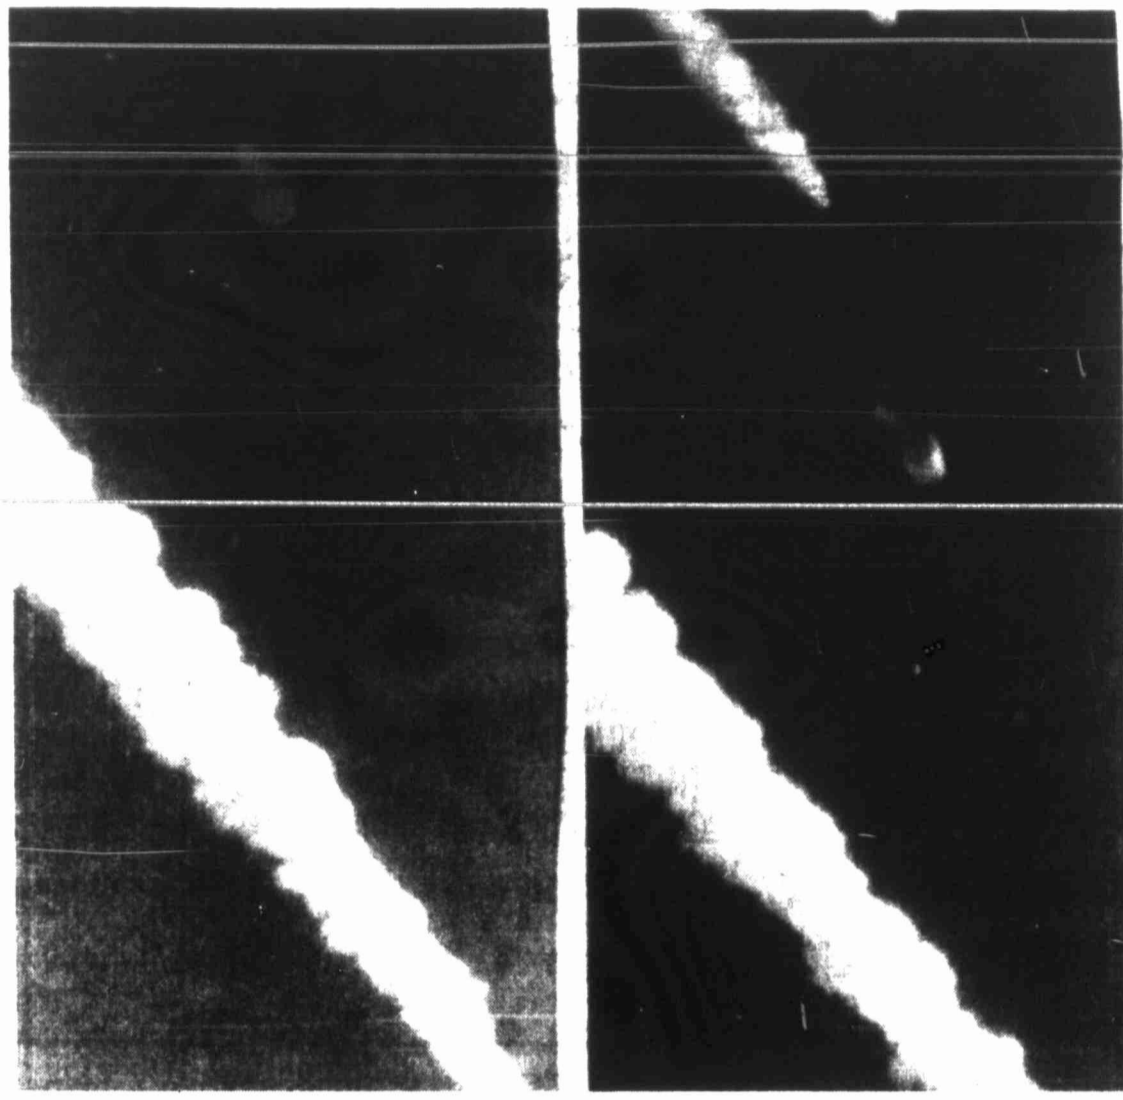

The confrontation focuses on the role of the comptroller general, until now an obscure official who heads the General Accounting Office, a congressional watchdog and auditing agency.

Under Gramm-Rudman, Comptroller General Charles Bowsher is assigned the task of determining deficit-reduction figures that must be implemented automatically.

Price of being celebrity

CORPUS CHRISTI — The son of British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has been asked to move from his Dallas apartment because of threats against him following the U.S. bombing of Libya, the Corpus Christi Caller reported today.

Mark Thatcher, whose mother was the only western European leader to support the U.S. raid, was asked to move out after State Department security officials requested the apartment management's permission to add closed-circuit television mini-cameras to the surveillance system at the complex, the newspaper said.

The crew cabin of the Space Shuttle Challenger, the police whistle-shaped object, is visible in this composite photo released by NASA Wednesday. NASA is not commenting on the structural integrity of the module pending further analysis. But The New York Times reports that NASA reduced spending on shuttle safety tests before the Challenger exploded due to budget problems arising out of alleged faulty management.

Shuttle tests

Paper says NASA cut spending on safety

NEW YORK (AP) — NASA reduced spending on shuttle safety tests before the Challenger exploded because it was suffering from budget problems linked to allegedly faulty management practices, The New York Times reported today.

The Times said its findings emerged from more than 500 audits, obtained through the Freedom of Information Act, which were conducted by the space agency's own Office of Inspector General, the General Accounting Office and the Pentagon's Defense Contract Audit Agency.

It said NASA cut or delayed $500 million in spending on safety testing, design and development from the time the shuttle program began to Jan. 28, when the Challenger exploded.

At about the same time, it said, government inspectors repeatedly warned the National Aeronautics and Space Administration that it was wasting large sums of money through faulty management. This waste, more than $3.5 billion in all, in turn helped create budget problems that resulted in the cuts, the Times said.

On the "CBS Morning News" today, Sen. Ernest

Hollings, D-S.C., and Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which oversees shuttle expenses, called for a more balanced view by the media of NASA's problems. Garn called constant reports on NASA's financial troubles "a feeding frenzy by sharks."

"It is obvious there is some waste in NASA," said Garn, who flew on the shuttle last year. "There is in every government agency. Look at the incredible spinoffs in health and safety and medications and navigations and communications. Let's have a balanced view of what NASA has achieved."

"What we really do is look at the attitudes and approach of the policy itself," said Hollings. "Whether this is a commercially profitable venture or a research or development program."

"No. 1 in priority is not cost overruns but responsibility underruns. What you have and that's most disturbing to me is an attitude that nothing went wrong ... that whatever we did, we'd do it over again."

"This was a preventable accident," he said of the Challenger explosion. "We've got to change that attitude over there."

Libya accuses U.S.

TRIPOLI, Libya — An official claims the United States and Israel are planning terror attacks in Europe similar to the bombing of a Berlin nightclub in order to justify new strikes at Libya. U.S. officials denied the charge as Libyan propaganda.

Libyan Information Minister Mohammed Sharafeddin told reporters Wednesday that Libya was told of the alleged plans for U.S.- and Israeli-backed terrorist attacks from "friendly states," presumably from the Soviet bloc.

Sharafeddin claimed the attacks were planned to influence European public opinion against Libya and "to create and find a justification for aggression, especially after the failure of the first aggression and the failure of America."

Bomb blasts in London

LONDON — A bomb exploded before dawn today outside the ground floor office of British Airways on Oxford Street, London's main shopping thoroughfare. The blast touched off a fire, but few people were in the area and only one passer-by was treated for shock.

There was no claim of responsibility for the bombing, the latest in a series of terrorist acts aimed at British targets since Britain supported the U.S. bombing raid on Libya.

The 4:50 a.m. blast and fire blew out one large window in the six-story building, and shattered and blackened others. Charred walls could be seen inside. The sidewalk was covered with glass shards, and there was some apparent structural damage.

Terrorism is topic

THE HAGUE, Netherlands — Common Market ministers met here today to discuss international terrorism and joint sanctions against Libya. U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese and FBI Director William Webster were in the Netherlands to press the U.S. viewpoint.

Britain is the sole member of the 12-nation Common Market to have publicly backed the April 15 U.S. bombing raids on Libya in retaliation for Libya's alleged support of terrorism.

But on Monday in Luxembourg, Common Market foreign ministers agreed on a package of diplomatic sanctions. They agreed to reduce Libyan diplomatic staff in their countries, curtail the remaining diplomats' freedom of movement, and examine whether the number of Libyan airline and trade officials can be reduced.

Briton claimed hanged

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A terror group that claims it hanged a kidnapped British journalist urged other extremist groups that hold Britons and Americans hostage to kill them in revenge for the U.S. air raids on Libya.

Meanwhile, seven French teachers left Moslem West Beirut today because of the fear of violence by Moslem extremists.

Duchess of Windsor dies at age 89

LONDON (AP) — The Duchess of Windsor, the American divorcee for whom King Edward VIII gave up the British throne, died today at her home near Paris, Buckingham Palace announced.

She was 89 years old. She had been in frail health and confined to her home for eight years.

Buckingham Palace said she will be buried at Windsor Castle's Frogmore Garden Cemetery alongside her husband, Queen Victoria and Prince Albert also are buried in that cemetery.

The announcement did not say when the funeral would be.

For a few short months in 1936, Edward had hoped to make the twice-divorced Wallis Warfield Spencer Simpson the Queen of England. But their romance proved to be an embarrassment to traditionalists and the Church of England hierarchy, and he was forced to give up his throne.

"I have found it impossible," Edward had said in a moving radio broadcast to his subjects throughout the world on Dec. 11, 1936, "to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as king as I would wish to do without the help and support of the woman I love."

After Edward abdicated, the couple went to live in exile in France. Edward, who became the Duke of Windsor when he abdicated, died of throat cancer at age 77 in 1972. His body was returned to Britain for burial.

The Windsors had been ostracized for decades by Buckingham Palace, but 10 days before Edward died, Queen Elizabeth II visited their home in the Bois de Boulogne.

The duchess stayed at the palace for the funeral but returned to Paris immediately and was not invited to the wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer in 1981.

Today's Buckingham Palace announcement said: "It is announced with deep regret that the Duchess of Windsor died at 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EST) today at her residence near Paris."

Unknown to the British public, the Pennsylvania-born Mrs. Simpson had been Edward's constant companion for the last two years before he took the throne on the death of his father, King George V, in January, 1936. He was 41 and unmarried. She was 39.

Less than a year later both were in exile. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin of Britain had given the king an ultimatum: give up Mrs. Simpson or abdicate. The handsome bachelor king chose abdication, relinquishing sovereignty over a quarter of the world's population.

Mrs. Simpson had slipped out of England a week before Edward announced his abdication. She listened to his broadcast in a friend's house in Cannes, on the French Riviera, weeping bitterly.

Money talks voters' lingo

The political action committees are starting to dispense money for the election primaries. Not only are the committees a source of funds, but without PACs few legislators would know which way to vote.

I came to this conclusion while walking past the National Association for True-Blue Government, the PAC for the Dynamite Users Industry.

The line of legislators wound around the block.

In front of the building was a wooden paymaster's table and behind the table was Shifty Diamond, chief paymaster for the PAC. A large pile of $20 and $50 bills was stacked in front of him.

Shifty was yelling. "Have your voting records available so we can look at them, please. Only incumbents in this line."

Congressman Damper presented his record to Shifty and waited nervously.

Shifty said, "It says on our computer readout you voted against dynamite being transported through school and hospital zones."

"What could I do? The mail from my constituents was heavily in favor of regulating dynamite trucks."

"Do you know how much it costs us to deliver dynamite under present regulations? I think we ought to make something perfectly clear. We don't care how you vote on other issues. When it comes to dynamite, you're either for your constituents or you're for us."

"But they elected me," Damper protested.

"They may have elected you, but they can't finance your campaign. Now the big vote on more liberalized dynamite sales comes up on Thursday. Which side are you on?"

"I'm not sure. Dynamite kills people."

Shifty got red in the face. "No, it doesn't. People kill people."

"Then in that case I'm for dealers selling dynamite over the counter without asking anyone for identification."

"Spoken like a good friend of our industry," Shifty said and counted out a bagful of money.

Following Damper was Sen. Tobacco Stain's campaign manager.

"Where's the senator?" Shifty wanted to know.

"He's up on Capitol Hill dispensing funds from his own political action committee."

"Why should we give him money if he has his own PAC?"

"Because you need his vote to permit dynamite to be sent by parcel post across state lines."

"That's true. But why does Sen. Stain need money?"

"Because he's greedy."

Shifty shook his head. "That's the only honest answer I've gotten today. How would the senator feel about a $2,500 contribution?"

"He'd feel better about a $5,000 one."

Shifty said, "The man talks our language. Here it is in fresh fifties."

"I must warn you. The senator will never say thank you."

"Why not?"

"Because we're doing you a big favor by accepting the money. Your PAC needs every vote it can get, particularly after the police chiefs came out against people making bombs in their own homes."

"The police are panicking. Dynamite is safe as long as it is kept out of the hands of children and criminals."

"Forget the party line. You still need the senator to keep the anti-dynamite wimps from bulldozing your bill."

A third person came up to the desks. "I'd like some PAC money. I'm challenging the incumbent congressman."

"How can we give you money when you don't even have a voting record?"

"I don't need one. I decided the only way to run for public office is to sell out."

Shifty handed the young man a stack of bills. "Welcome to the club."

Poise is name of game

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR WASHINGTON — For all the barbs we aim at federal bureaucrats, we'd be the first to acknowledge that most government officials are conscientious public servants who earn their pay. And some of them occupy positions of enormous stress, try to cope with situations that are beyond human control — and do it without public recognition or private reward.

One such dedicated government official is Alan Whitney, head of press relations at one of the least known but most important federal agencies, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. In fact, when he first took the job seven years ago, there was little reason to suspect that the FDIC would be anything but the quiet little bureaucratic backwater it had always been — an oasis of somnolent serenity in the swirling desert of Washington's frenetic federal agencies.

With an abruptness that jolted the quill pens out of their inkstands, the FDIC in 1982 suddenly became a center of feverish activity. Banks were collapsing at a rate reminiscent of the Great Depression, and the FDIC received more scrutiny from press and public than it had had during its first half-century of existence.

As the principal buffer between the public and the brass that makes the agency's decisions in closely guarded secrecy, Whitney has found himself at times catching flak from both directions. The public wants to know why it's not being told more about a situation that affects its savings and the economic life of its community; muckrakers in the banking community and even within the banking agencies firmly believe that successful public relations is keeping one's affairs out of the public prints entirely.

To his credit, Whitney came down on the side of the public, choosing to open a dialogue with the communities that were hit by bank failures. He has logged thousands of miles in the past two years, explaining to stunned — and sometimes resentful — citizens and media the FDIC's role following the collapse of a bank.

Probably his toughest chore has been to explain loan foreclosures, which some people seem to think should stop when a bank fails — even though bad loans may have been the cause of the collapse. In one Nebraska town, for example, an activist priest demanded that the FDIC forgive at least half of all the bad loans owed by local farmers to a bank that had just failed. He implied it was the agency's Christian responsibility.

When Whitney explained that the FDIC has a legal responsibility to collect on a failed bank's loans in an effort to help compensate for the guaranteed deposits the agency made good, the priest told the community: "The FDIC doesn't care if you live or die." After weeks of tension, the FDIC office in the town burned down; local authorities called it arson. The priest then accused the FDIC of torching its own office to get sympathy.

"You're up to your hip boots in alligators, trying to figure out how you're going to work your way through a particular crisis, and Alan always has a level head about him," one agency official said.

Last June, for example, Whitney and FDIC employees confronted an angry throng of Chinese-American depositors, few of whom spoke English, after the failure of the Golden Pacific National Bank in New York City. Rumors of fraud incited the crowd to a frenzy; the FDIC group was barely able to keep the people from forcing their way into the bank. Men and women were screaming and weeping.

Whitney defused the explosive situation by venturing into the hysterical crowd and singling out half a dozen relatively calm depositors, whom he invited into the bank. He explained to the delegation what was going on; they went out and explained it to the rest, and the crowd dispersed.

WATCH ON WASTE: The official line on the Statue of Liberty's 100th birthday party over the Fourth of July weekend is that the costs will be paid entirely by the sale of television rights and tickets to some events. But the Navy will be using a good chunk of the money from its own budget to send 11 warships and several aircraft, including the Blue Angels aerobatic team. Officials say they haven't added up the cost yet, but we have information showing the brass found more than $1.6 million lying around to pay for celebration-related expenses.

Around The Rim

Simpler time, simpler world

By SPENCER SANDOW When the end of civilization came, it was not like everyone had expected, with a burst of nuclear energy, great cities spiraling up into huge mushroom clouds and a handful of grim, bedraggled survivors trying to eke a pitiful living from a radioactive earth.

Instead, it came in the form of an unknown virus that spread, with the help of modern transportation, to the far corners of the earth within a few days. Medical science didn't know how to cure it, and everyone who caught the disease died.

That is the fascinating theory behind the obscure science fiction book Earth Abides, written by George R. Stewart in about 1950.

It was nature's way of balancing the population of species, like the strange force that impels lemmings to cast themselves into the sea every few years when their population becomes too great.

But a few lone human survivors remained, and the changes that occurred in Stewart's imaginary society reflect a great deal of insight into mankind.

The survivors were dwelling in a world full of manmade items to keep them comfortable for a while, but without the vast social structure or the expert knowledge to keep it going. As children born to the survivors grew up, they began doing away with the excess baggage that accompanied the old world.

One of the first things to go was government. The small tribe of less than 100 people, once average Americans, looked to one man as an unofficial leader, but no laws were made.

The practice of reading was abandoned. There was no more "information age" to contend with, no outside world to write to or read about.

The most interesting change, though, was the disappearance of measuring. We set a great store by measuring. We measure everything — time from nanoseconds to eons, size from atoms to the infinity, and distance from light years to less than an inch. But the few survivors had no need, and when measuring disappeared, numbers too began to go, except for the first ten.

Man had adapted, once again, to a new world.

150 people came, but only 22 stayed

To the editor:

I would like to thank the mayor and councilmen for the public hearing on Tuesday night. There were about 150 people there to discuss the user fees. The Council listened to everyone who had something to say about golf, softball, tennis etc.

The meeting lasted until 9 p.m. but there were only 22 people (more than half were city employees) who stayed past this discussion to continue the items on the agenda — seal coating of streets, burglar alarm system, heating and cooling system for one of the fire stations, helping a citizen with driveway problems and many more items. This part of the meeting lasted until 10:45 p.m.

What I am saying is why did you 128 people leave after you had your say? I think we as citizens of Big Spring need to be concerned about the total program — not just what interests us. To make Big Spring grow and be a quality of life place to live we are going to have to work together with our council and attend all meetings, not just the ones that affect us.

Remember these seven councilmen have jobs, families and other commitments the same as anyone of us. You say they get paid, you are right — $50 a month, that's about 18 cents an hour. So give these guys a break — make the meetings, give your input, they are willing to help, but we have to be willing also.

This looks like a hard year ahead so let's all tighten our belts and pull together. See you at the next council meeting May 13th.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, April 24, the 114th day of 1986. There are 251 days left in the year. The Jewish festival of Passover begins today.

Today's highlight in history:

On April 24, 1800, Congress approved a bill establishing the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., appropriating $5,000 "for the purchase of such books as may be necessary."

On this date:

In 1704, the first American newspaper printed on a regular basis, the Boston News Letter, published for the first time.

In 1792, the French national anthem "La Marseillaise" was composed by Claude-Joseph Rouget de Lisle.

In 1877, federal troops were ordered out of New Orleans, ending the North's post-Civil War rule in the South.

In 1898, Spain declared war on the United States after rejecting America's ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba.

In 1915, Turkey began the brutal mass deportation of Armenians during World War I. Hundreds of thousands of Armenians are believed to have died en route.

World War II still echoes around globe

By LARRY GERBER JASENOVAC, Yugoslavia (AP) — For many, the killing that raged across Yugoslavia during World War II was merely a sideshow to the great campaigns in the Pacific, Russia and western Europe.

But it still affects the lives of thousands, from a former United Nations secretary general to an old man on trial for his life.

Official documents say 1.7 million Yugoslavs, 10 percent of the population at the time, were killed after the German invasion on April 6, 1941. Many Yugoslavs fought Germans, Italians and each other until victory by the partisans under Josip Broz Tito, the communist leader.

Former U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, running for Austrian president in a May 4 election, has acknowledged serving in a German unit that carried out a merciless campaign against the partisans.

He has denied any wrongdoing, but Austria's election campaign has turned into a bitter debate about his role.

Many victims did not die fighting, but in retaliation massacres or concentration camps.

This quiet Croatian village was home to the country's biggest concentration camp, where, according to official estimates, 700,000 Serbs, Jews, Gypsies and political opponents were slaughtered by Croatian fascists known as the Ustasahas.

The technology of death was not as advanced here as in the larger German-run camps of northern Europe. People were killed by axes, knives, spikes, hammers, starvation and drowning in the nearby Sava River.

Corpses, bound together by wires, floated downstream more than 150 miles to Belgrade, where the Sava joins the Danube.

Little remains of the camp complex today. A hardwood forest across the river is dotted with 160 acres of mass graves holding an estimated 300,000 bodies.

A huge flower-shaped monument and a small museum mark the site of the main camp, which was razed by the Ustasahas to destroy evidence of it at the end of the war.

As interior minister of the Nazi puppet state of Croatia, Andrija Artukovic was nominal head of the police and camps.

He was extradited in February from the United States at age 86 and is on trial for war crimes in the Croatian capital of Zagreb. He faces the death penalty if convicted.

The government accuses him of taking part in four specific massacres of civilians and captured prisoners, but the indictment also says that he ordered people sent here and to other camps, and ordered the deaths of thousands.

Much of Croatia's Roman Catholic hierarchy supported the Ustasahas, and museum visitors here see photographs of priests taking part in mass forced conversions of Orthodox Serbs and Moslems.

That involvement poisoned relations between Yugoslavia and the church, and although the officially atheist government now has diplomatic relations with the Holy See, priests are sometimes detained or jailed for preaching Croatian nationalism.

The 4.5 million Croats, whose republic includes practically all of the Adriatic coast and much of north-central Yugoslavia, are overwhelmingly Catholic.

There are fears that Artukovic's trial could stir up the old ethnic hatreds between Croats and Serbs. Economic problems have already strained relations between the six Yugoslav republics, with richer ones such as Croatia reluctant to spread the wealth among their poorer partners in Serbia and elsewhere.

The World Jewish Congress and newspapers in Zagreb and Belgrade have published documents purporting to show that Waldheim was decorated by the Ustasha government and was active in anti-partisan operations.

Waldheim has acknowledged serving as a lieutenant in German Army Group E, commanded by Gen. Alexander Loehr, who was executed in 1947 for war crimes.

Waldheim has repeatedly said he did not know of deportations of Jews from Greece, where his unit also served. He has never been accused of involvement in concentration camps.

Vjesnik, a Zagreb newspaper, reported that Waldheim had received the Order of King Zvonimir, a Croatian decoration for gallantry against the enemy. Waldheim said the order was routinely given to German officers.

Vecernje Novosti, a Belgrade newspaper, published photostats of German Army documents purporting to show that Waldheim joined Loehr's headquarters on Dec. 12, 1942, and that he issued orders to army units and intelligence sections.

The newspaper also published part of a list compiled by Yugoslav investigators after the war and later passed on to the United Nations War Crimes Commission. In it, Waldheim is listed as being suspected of "murder ... putting to death of hostages."

Austrian President Rudolf Kirchschlaeger said Tuesday that United Nations documents included a statement that Waldheim, as counterintelligence officer in 1944 and '45, "was involved in revenge measures of the German army against the Yugoslav population."

Waldheim has asked the Yugoslav government to publish all available documents on his activities there, saying they would exonerate him.

Student wins oral contest

Karl Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer E. Wolfe of 2604 Cactus Drive, has won the Old Guard Contest for oral presentation at the regional American Society of Mechanical Engineers student section spring conference.

He will compete for the national title Dec. 9-10 in Anaheim, Calif.

Contestants made oral presentations on the results of engineering projects they had done in mechanical engineering courses. Wolfe's project was "Use of Flow Control to Generate Power."

The project analyzed the problem of valve deterioration in a 60-mile water pipeline between Lubbock and Muleshoe and proposed a solution that was accepted by the Lubbock water department on a trial basis, according to a news release.

Students competing were from a dozen universities in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mexico.

Building model contest set

The Heart of the City Festival and the Heritage Museum are sponsoring a downtown historic building model contest for children in grades 5-7.

Participants make a 3-D model replica of a downtown historic building. Clay, paper mache and plaster of paris are suggested materials. The model should be large enough to show architectural detail, such as cornices, arches, unique windows and window borders, roofs, chimneys and awnings, according to a news release.

Replicas should be based on historic photos, which are available at downtown coordinator Teri Quinones's office at the Municipal Annex, Room 106.

Entry deadline is May 12, and models should be turned in to the Heritage Museum.

First prize will be a weekend of four free video rentals from Winn Dixie. Second prize is two free passes to the Ritz Theater. Third prize is homemade brownies.

Neil Allen, museum curator, will judge the entries. Winners will be displayed at the Heart of the City Festival May 17.

University honors alumnus

G. Franklin Dillon of 706 W. 18th St. has been named a 1986 Friends University distinguished alumnus of the year.

The honor is given to alumni who have distinguished themselves in either professional or voluntary service, according to a university news release.

Dillon graduated from the university in 1936 with a biology major. He received his master's degree in 1938 from Kansas State University and his M.D. degree from the University of Tennessee.

He was a staff physician for Malone and Hogan Clinic and a specialist in urological surgery. He also has been involved in the oil industry and in developing a retirement center in Topeka, Kan.

Annual pre-school day set

LENORAH — Grady School will conduct its annual kindergarten pre-school day Friday for children beginning school next year.

The session will be from 8:20 a.m. to noon. Parents should accompany children to school and pick them up afterward. Lunch will be provided for the children in the school cafeteria.

Children should be 5 years old by Sept. 1 to attend. For more information, call the principal's office at 459-2445 or 459-2449.

Current kindergarten students will not attend school Friday.

Two voted Angus members

Chas and Marie Tomkins of Big Spring have been elected to membership in the American Angus Association, according to executive vice president Dick Spader.

The association, headquartered in St. Joseph, Mo., has more than 30,000 active adult and junior members and is the largest beef cattle registry in the world, according to Angus information.

Textbooks ready for review

State textbooks up for adoption will be available for public review at Region 18 Education Service Center, 2811 LaForce Blvd., at the Midland Regional Air Terminal.

The books can be reviewed from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Special hours will be maintained Saturdays, May 3 and 10 from 9:30 a.m. to noon, May 6 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., and May 17 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Farmers warned of wheat insect

Howard County wheat growers should be on the lookout for an aphid making its first United States appearance after plaguing small grain producers half way around the world for the past century.

Although the Russian Wheat Aphid has not been spotted yet in this county, the insect has been observed in Pecos, Midland, Glasscock, Scurry and El Paso Counties, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The infested area annually produces some 17 percent of the state's wheat, with a yield of about 26.4 million bushels on 1.3 planted acres, according to the extension service.

"This is no joke to our wheat farmers," extension entomologist Willia P. Morrison said at a press conference at Texas A&M University earlier this month. Morrison said serious yield reductions can result from infestations from the aphid.

Assistant extension agent Mike Bragg said even though the bug hasn't turned up in Howard County yet, there's no guarantee it won't. "It looks like it could be a problem," he said. (Farmers) don't see how serious this little rascal can be."

The aphid is indigenous to southern Russia, where it has been a pest of wheat and barley since the turn of the century. It has also been common in the Middle East and Mediterranean coastal regions of North Africa and Europe. In 1981 it was found throughout South Africa and also was identified in central Mexico. By 1983 it had spread to northern Mexico, according to the extension service.

The tiny, green creature is less than two millimeters long with an elongated, spindle-shaped body. According to Morrison, it is easily distinguished from other aphids by extremely short antennae, a characteristic projection above the tail, and, to the naked eye, the absence of dorsal tubes typical of other aphids.

The recommended control measures, at present, are treatment with a combination of a contact insecticide such as parathion, plus a systemic insecticide, Morrison said.

Local student wins president's award

Kimberly Beckham, a sophomore from Big Spring, was given the Presidential Award for Outstanding Student of the Year during the 1985-86 Howard College Awards Convocation.

The award is presented to the student who best exemplifies the personality, character and ability of an excellent leader and student for the college, said Dr. Bob Riley, Howard College president.

Mildred Hooser of Big Spring won the Wall Street Journal Award for outstanding business student. The American Legion Citizenship Awards went to Denia Pope, a sophomore from Bronte, and Charley Ragan, a sophomore from Big Spring.

Awards for academic excellence were given to Debbie Coffman, Janice Herrera, Ricky Moeller, Ping Liao, Kurt Biesemeyer, Perry Stegall, Lorri French, Lillian Johnson, Paul Kennemur, Virginia Hewett, Roger Gammons, Susan McLellan and Herbert Ashley.

Other recipients were Janet Reinert, Glen Carrigan, David Long, Renee Cooley, Gay Collinsworth, Sharon Brown, Patricia Craddock, Denia Pope, Patty Tonn, Tony Claxton, Madeline Boadle, Charlene Wooldridge, Mark Sanders, Ed Bell, Don Zant and Rose Dunn.

Outstanding members of various organizations were recognized: Lorri French, Phi Theta Kappa; Brande Moseley, S.G.A.; Debra Hill, Mistles; Karen Wody, S.A.D.H.A.; Raymond Garcia, Rodeo Club; Rose Dunn, O.E.A.; Glenn Mellinger, Color Guard; Julie Waid, B.S.U.; Dora Morales, Mark Guillen, Fernie Tercero and Anna Martinez, A.M.A.S.; and Mose Smith, A.B.S.

Outstanding performance awards for the cast of "Snow White" were presented, with Stephanie Dobbs receiving special recognition for outstanding stage management.

Awards also were presented for the fall 1985 honor roll, Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges, student government representatives, the Presidential Classics and art show winners.

Motorists urged to fight litter

AUSTIN (AP) — The "Great Texas Trash Off" will be Saturday, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has announced.

During that day Texas motorists will be urged to keep trash off the sides of the road and placed where it belongs — in litter bags.

"Littering is a habit," said Don Clark, spokesman for the state highway department. "If we can get Texans to break the habit for one day, we'll be able to demonstrate how easy it is to put that trash where it belongs."

One of the first volunteers was Linda Gale White, the governor's wife. She'll be sporting a "Don't Mess With Texas" bumper sticker on her personal car.

Big Spring is venue for literary contest

Some 480 high school kids plus parents, coaches, principals and other helpers are expected in Big Spring this week for the Region 1-AA UIL literary contest, hosted by Howard College.

The kids are winners of the district contest held earlier. Big Spring students will not be competing of the contest. Winners of the contests held Thursday through Saturday will go on to the state contest.

Region 1 covers an area extending north to the top of the Panhandle, west almost to El Paso, east to Abilene and south to the Big Lake area.

The contest begins Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Big Spring High School auditorium with six one-act plays. The plays run back-to-back about 45 minutes to an hour apart.

To be presented are "As You Like It," "Once Upon a Playground," and "Charlotte's Webb". After a dinner break, the next series will begin at 7:30 p.m. with "The Diviners," another version of "Once Upon a Playground" and "Flowers for Algernon."

Other contests to be held Friday and Saturday are in debate, writing, spelling, typing, shorthand, numbers, science and literature.

About 100 people around the town are involved in the competitions as judges and similar capacities, Woodley said.

The college also hosted the UIL volleyball competition in November, basketball at the end of February and will host golf, tennis and track meets this month and in May.

How can I be saved from the guilt of sin? How does a person come to receive forgiveness of sin? How does a person know for sure they have been forgiven of all past sin? First, let it be said that the book of Acts in the New Testament answers those questions plainly, for what those people did to be saved, we are to do. If it saved them, it will save us. The Bible does not give different methods of salvation for different people, it is the same for everyone. Secondly, LET THE BIBLE ANSWER THE QUESTIONS: Matthew 20:28 Jesus "gave his life a ransom for many". John 8:24 Jesus said "except you believe that I am he (the Son of God), you shall die in your sins". John 1:12 "as many as receive him, believe on his name, have the power (right and privilege) to become the child of God". Matthew 10:32 "whoever confesses Me (Jesus) before men, him will I confess before My Father". Mark 16:16 "he that believes and is baptized shall be saved". Acts 2:38 "repent and be baptized (immersed) and wash away your sin (Revelation 1:5 "the blood of Jesus washes away the sin"). Romans 12:1,2 "present your bodies a living sacrifice."

Lawmakers introduce legislation on Stacy

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Legislation was introduced Tuesday which, if enacted, will pave the way for the construction of Stacy Reservoir, sidestepping the potential threat of the Concho River water snake.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Rep. Charles Stenholm, would force the federal government to authorize a construction permit by Nov. 30.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service had indicated that the Stacy reservoir in Concho, Coleman and Runnels Counties might endanger the water snake found along 200 miles of the Concho and Colorado Rivers. The snake was listed this year as a candidate for the endangered species list.

However, if Congress approves the Bentsen-Stenholm legislation, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers would be authorized to issue a permit to go ahead with the construction and the federal government would be directed to accept the mitigation proposal by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which will build the $68 million project.

"The way the Wildlife Service sees it, Stacy would inundate about 48 miles of the snakes' habitat," Bentsen said. "They say that depending on circumstances, the dam could eliminate them all."

"Frankly, they don't know what will happen," the Texas Democrat said. "In fact, they say that planned discharges from the dam could actually maintain or enhance the downstream habitat," Bentsen said.

"In this entire issue, the only certainties are that water is a critical necessity to the people in the area and that delays are penalties in the form of extra expenditures of local funds as costs rise," Bentsen said.

COLIN KAUFMAN
 ...Supreme Court candidate

Candidate talks of money role

By HANK MURPHY
 Staff Writer

Texas Supreme Court candidate Colin Kelly Kaufman says two of his Democratic opponents are "plaintiff attorneys" cozy with the Texas Trial Lawyers Association.

"I don't think it's any secret" that both Jim Brady and incumbent Judge Robert Campbell are TTTA supported, he said.

"I heard Campbell speaking to the Texas Trial Lawyers Association and (say) that they had given him $500,000 in the previous race," he said.

A third opponent, Democrat Ted Akin is more business oriented, he said. But Akin has not received the kind of money from business that Campbell and Brady have been handed from the TTTA, he said.

Kaufman insists that trial lawyers and judges are not especially suited for serving on the State Supreme Court because their experience is in dealing with personalities, determining who is lying and who is not.

But an appellate court rules on civil matters and interprets laws enacted by the Legislature, he said.

Despite never being a judge, Kaufman says he's sure he has the right temperament for the job based on his years as a legal researcher and law professor.

"I'm somewhat of a super-judge," he said, basing his statement on his extensive work on the Uniform Commercial Code that he says has been adopted by 49 states.

Kaufman calls himself a law architect, while his opponents are carpenters "playing on peoples' ignorance" of the law.

He is currently a law professor at St. Mary's University Law School in San Antonio and has been on the faculty of Harvard where he holds a law degree.

Conservatives back candidate Anderson

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Young Conservatives of Texas endorsed 24 legislative candidates Tuesday for the May 3 primary elections, including John R. "Rich" Anderson in Texas House District 69.

Anderson, of Gail, faces Travis C. Floyd of Big Spring in the Republican primary. The winner will challenge the incumbent, Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring, in the Nov. 4 general election. Shaw has no Democratic primary opponent.

District 69 includes Howard and 12 other West Texas counties.

Richard A. Munisteri, YCT vice chairman for political affairs, said the endorsements are "in keeping with our tradition of informing Texans of candidates best able to preserve free enterprise and limited government in our state."

The endorsements apply only for the party primaries and do not necessarily infer support in the Nov. 4 general election, he said.

Thursday Notes

By Steve Belvin

Big Spring is fast becoming the gymnastics center of West Texas. Indicative of this is the Texas State YMCA Gymnastics Championship, which will be held May 10 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Hosting the event will be the Big Spring Sidewinders. Russ McEwen is the girls coach and Ken Werner coaches the boys. Assistants are Karen Gillespie and Gwen Nichols.

Competition will begin at 10 a.m. So far 12 teams have entered, ranging from Houston to San Angelo.

The Sidewinders are a "big time" team. It's only fitting they host a "big time" meet.

The Howard County Youth Horseman Club had their 3rd Annual Belt Buckle Playday last week and some riders had big days.

In the girls Six and Under division, Kim Green was top winner as she won two firsts and one second place. Tracy Green won three first places in the 7-9 division.

Tina Sherrod won three firsts and a third in the Girls 10-12 and Gina Jennings won two firsts in the 13-15 division.

Colleen Fowler took four first place wins in the 16-19 class while Liz Jennings won a first, second and third in the women's Novice division.

T.J. Green was a big winner in the Boys 7-9 division as he won four firsts. Jacson Jennings won two first places in the boys 10-12.

Chuck Coskey won three first places in the 16-19 class and Charlie Clark came away with two firsts in the Men's division.

Big Spring fisherman Dee Reid shows off the 43-pound yellow catfish he caught at Lake Spence.

For the local boxing enthusiasts, there will be a Get Acquainted Day held Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Howard County Park, located at 1004 N.W. Fourth Street. The event will honor local boxing clubs and Texas Little League members. But athletes representing other sports are encouraged to attend.

Refreshments will be served and door prizes will be given away at the get-together.

Now switching to softball. In Big Spring Fast-Pitch Softball League action, Coahoma downed the Chippers 11-8. Rodney Paige was the winning hurler for Coahoma. Ricky Stone had three hits, including a home run, to lead the winners. Ron Shornick paced the Chippers with four hits, which included a home run.

Gene Simpkins pitched the San Angelo Dusters to a 10-2 win over the Chippers. Dave Millsap got two hits and Mike Newsome had 3 RBI's in the winning cause.

Christian Temple Church of Colorado City will be sponsoring a 3-2 Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament May 2-3 at Hertenburger Field.

Entry fee is $85 for the first 12 teams entered. There will be team trophies for the first four finishers while the first three teams will also get individual trophies. There will also be a Sportsmanship and Most Valuable Player awards. Each team is guaranteed at least three games.

To enter call Gary Matlock at 728-3430 or Bobby Matlock at 728-3041.

Now moving on to baseball. The Big Spring Red Sox remained in first place of the Central Texas League by sweeping a double-header from the San Angelo Rangers, 13-2, 12-5.

Tony Ontiveros was the winning pitcher in the first game and Milo Solis was the winner in the second game. The second game was highlighted by a triple play pulled off by the Red Sox defense.

James Walker led the Red Sox bats' as he went 5-for-8 in the twinbill. Sammy Watson went 4-for-4 and Luis Rodriguez went 2-for-4. The Red Sox are now 6-0 in league play.

Dee Reid of Big Spring got the big catch at Lake Spence this past weekend. Reid hauled in a 43-pound yellow catfish off a trotline. He also snagged a 14-pound drum and 60 channel catfish.

Jazz prevent Mavs sweep

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Dallas Coach Dick Motta, whose team lost a 100-98 NBA playoff game Wednesday night, says his anxious moments didn't necessarily come in the final seconds.

"I was nervous in the first three minutes of the game," said Motta, whose team missed taking a clean sweep in the best-of-five series when Karl Malone scored with 50 seconds left and the Jazz held on as time ran out on the clock.

"I could see we were not starting as loose and free as I thought we would be," Motta said. "We didn't match their fire for fire in the first five minutes."

The Mavericks, who won the first two games of the series in Dallas, knew they were in for a long night when Utah scored 12 straight points before the first quarter was half over and took a 16-4 lead by the 6:40 mark.

Rickey Green, who scored 17 of his game-high 32 points in the first half, scored six of Utah's first 16 points and the near-capacity crowd of 11,635 was worked into a frenzy.

But it didn't last long. Dallas stormed back and tied the score at 35 with 7:29 left in the half when Mark Aguirre hit a turnaround jumper in the key, then the Mavericks went ahead on two straight baskets by Sam Perkins.

"We fell behind, then we caught up and I felt like we had control of the game," Motta said. "Basically we did."

The momentum swung back and forth and the score was tied 10 times before Malone knotted it at 96 when he stole the ball and hit a jumper with 2:30 left. Green scored on a 20-footer a minute later to put the Jazz, playing without the injured Adrian Dantley, ahead 98-96. But Rolando Blackman converted two free throws for the Mavericks with 1:10 left to tie the score a 12th time.

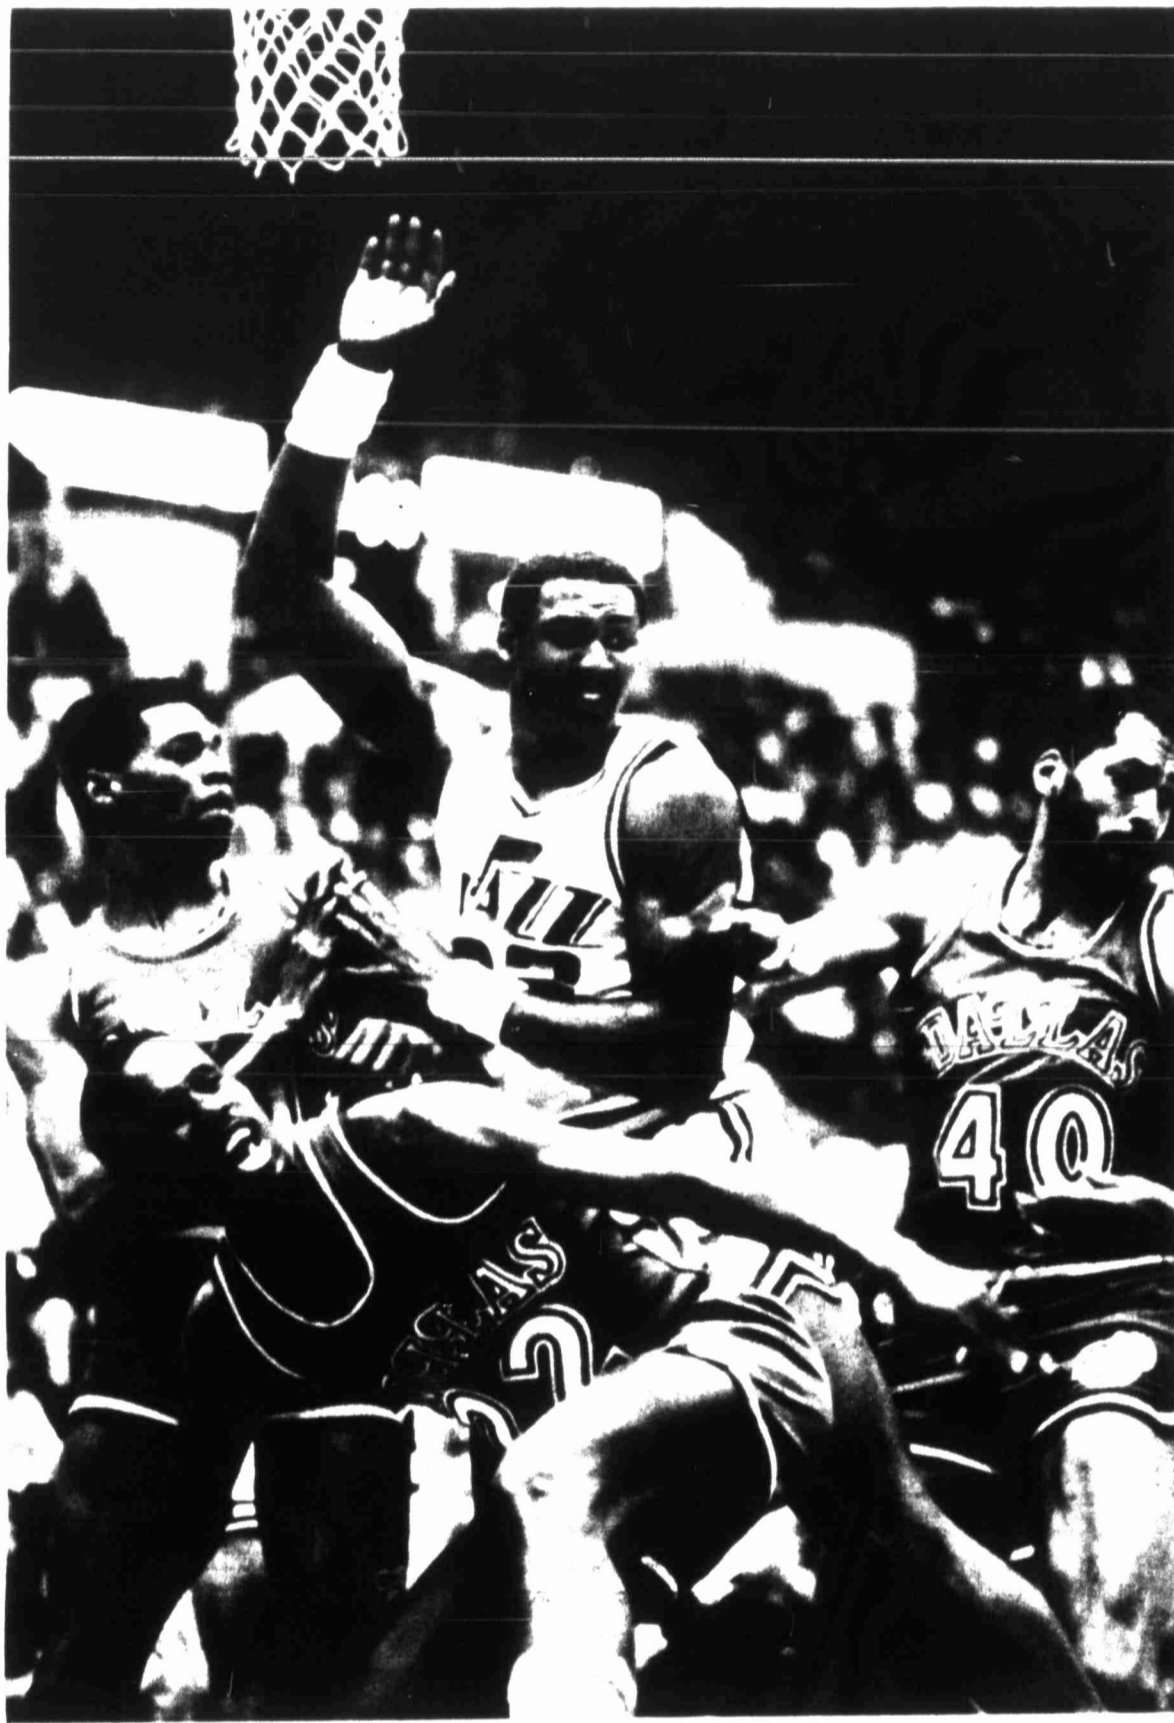

Malone hit the game-winner 20 seconds later, then ripped the rebound from James Donaldson at the other end of the court after Blackman's shot rolled off the rim. Utah failed to score on its possession when Green's shot missed the mark, and Dallas had one last shot at sending the game into overtime.

Dallas called time with six seconds left to talk about the final shot, but the Jazz felt they were in control at that point.

"I said if they score, if there's time left, we'll call time out and see if we can win it," said Utah Coach Frank Layden. "If not, we'll go into overtime at home."

Layden's comments to his players were moot. Dallas worked

Carlton back on winning track

By The Associated Press
Steve Carlton is back on track to the Hall of Fame.

Carlton, who was just 1-8 last year and spent most of the season on the disabled list with a strained rotator cuff, earned his first victory since last May 20 as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated Montreal 5-4 on Wednesday at Olympic Stadium.

It was the 315th victory of his career, 11th on the all-time victories list. The veteran left-hander struck out six batters and walked six over 5 1-3 innings. Carlton, 1-2, now has 3,940 career strikeouts, second to all-time leader Nolan Ryan.

"His stuff has been getting better each time out, and this win will mean a lot for him," Philadelphia pitching coach Claude Osteen said. "It will make him believe in himself again."

Steve Bedrosian worked the ninth inning for his first save, while Steve Jeltz had two hits, including a three-run triple, to pace the Phillies' offense.

Rangers nip Capitals in overtime

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Brooke literally stole the show for the New York Rangers in their NHL playoff game with the Washington Capitals.

"We realized how important it was to win this game," Brooke said after scoring the tying and winning goals in Wednesday night's 6-5 overtime victory over the Capitals that tied their best-of-seven

NHL

Patrick Division final at 2-2 and sent the series back to Washington for Game 5 on Friday night.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Padres 7, Reds 4

At Cincinnati, Andy Hawkins pitched 6 1-3 strong innings and singled twice as San Diego Padres overcame a grand-slam homer by Cincinnati's Dave Parker.

Dodgers 6, Giants 4

At San Francisco, Mike Marshall and Bill Madlock each homered and pitcher Fernando Valenzuela contributed with both his arm and his bat as Los Angeles beat the San Francisco, snapping the Giants' six-game winning streak.

Both Marshall and Madlock had three hits and Marshall had four runs for the Dodgers. Valenzuela, 2-1, went all the way, allowing eight hits, striking out 10 and walking three. He also drove in a run.

Astros 3, Braves 2

At Atlanta, Craig Reynolds two-run pinch-hit single capped a three-run Houston rally with two outs in the ninth inning. Atlanta starter Zane Smith was within one out of recording his second consecutive shutout when the Astros rallied to claim their seventh victory in eight games.

With two out, Glenn Davis singled to right, Kevin Bass drew a walk and Jose Cruz ended the shutout bid with an RBI single to right field, scoring Davis and sending Bass to third. Bruce Sutter then replaced Smith, and after pinch-runner Tony Walker stole second, Alan Ashby walked to load the bases. Reynolds then bounced his two-run single to center field.

Cubs 6, Cardinals 0

At Chicago, Scott Sanderson pitched a five-hitter and Ryne Sandberg paced a 12-hit Chicago attack with a pair of doubles and a run-scoring single as the Cubs blanked St. Louis.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Rangers 9, Blue Jays 8

At Toronto, Larry Parrish and George Wright each homered and had four hits apiece with a combined seven runs batted in, leading Texas over struggling Toronto.

Parrish drove in five runs and scored twice, while Wright had two RBIs and scored three times. The Rangers broke open a 5-5 tie with four runs in the seventh against reliever Dennis Lamp, 0-2.

"It's not just one or two guys, it's everybody in the lineup who's swinging the bat real well," Parrish said. "The other pitchers can't pitch around one guy because the next guy is just as capable."

George Bell hit a three-run homer in the ninth for the Jays. The victory gave Texas a record of 8-6 and dropped the defending AL East champion Blue Jays to 6-9.

Mariners 4, Twins 3

At Seattle, Dave Henderson's two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th inning lifted Seattle over Minnesota, snapping a six-game Mariners' losing streak.

White Sox 2, Brewers 1

At Milwaukee, pinch-hitter Reid Nichols hit a double down the right-field line in the ninth inning to score Bobby Bonilla with the winning run as Chicago defeated Milwaukee.

Indians 5, Orioles 1

At Cleveland, Brook Jacoby, Julio Franco and Carmen Castillo homered and Ken Schrom combined with Scott Bailes on a six-hitter as the Indians beat Baltimore. Schrom, 3-1, allowed three hits, struck out one and walked two in six innings.

Tigers 3, Red Sox 1

At Boston, Dave Collins and Darnell Coles keyed a decisive two-run fifth with RBI singles and Frank Tanana overcame wildness with a three-hitter over eight innings as Detroit defeated Boston. Tanana, 2-1, walked six and struck out one in the numbing 40-degree weather, but was tough in the clutch as the Tigers took the rubber of a three-game series.

Rangers seemed to be a lost cause.

Losing 5-3, the Rangers came within one on Willie Huber's power-play goal at 8:09.

Then Brooke tied it with a goal at 17:25.

Bobby Carpenter, who had a goal and two assists for Washington, set up Dave Christian's goal at 7:15 of the first period to tie the game at 1-1. Then he capped a three-goal burst by the Capitals with his fourth goal of the playoffs at 13:19 of the opening period with Washington on a power play to give the Capitals a 3-1 lead after one period.

After the Rangers rallied to tie the game at 3-3 on goals by Mike Ridley and Tomas Sandstrom in the second period, Carpenter set up Bob Gould with a goalmouth pass at 18:59 to give the Capitals a 4-3 lead after two periods.

Smith's 35-footer from the right faceoff circle with Washington playing shorthanded gave the Capitals a 5-3 lead 7:45 into the third period before Huber scored a goal for New York from the slot 24 seconds later.

for the last shot, but Green came up with the loose ball after a mad flurry under the basket as the buzzer sounded.

The Jazz victory leaves in doubt the opponent for the Los Angeles Lakers, who swept their series with San Antonio and will move to the second round against the winner of the Utah-Dallas series.

"We got to win," Layden said of Friday's game in Salt Lake City. "We'll just watch the films and, hopefully, just like in school, you try to correct your errors. Basketball is a game of mistakes. The team that makes the fewest mistakes wins."

Thurl Bailey and Bobby Hansen joined Malone with 16 points each for Utah, while Donaldson led the Mavericks with 17 points and 20 rebounds, a career playoff high for him.

Blackman finished with 16, including five during the final 3:35 as Dallas overcame a 94-89 deficit to tie the game at 94.

LAKERS 114, SPURS 94
SAN ANTONIO (AP) — For Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Los Angeles Lakers' easy three-game playoff sweep of the San Antonio Spurs is no mystery. "We are a better team than the Spurs. I think the series speaks for itself," said Abdul-Jabbar Wednesday after scoring 25 points and leading the Lakers to a 114-94 victory over the Spurs.

The win propelled the defending world champion Lakers into the second round of the playoffs with the winner of the Utah-Dallas series.

Spurs Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons had to agree with Abdul-Jabbar.

"I told our guys you just have to give the Lakers credit," Fitzsimmons said in the locker room. "They are the champions. I thought our guys did the best they could. LA just has a great team."

Ervin "Magic" Johnson, who finished the game with 14 points, 17 assists and 10 rebounds, said the Lakers will "take a 3-0 sweep any time we can get it."

"The Spurs just couldn't get it going in the three games and we really played well," he said.

Johnson's 48 assists for the three-game series is an NBA record.

The Lakers never trailed the entire game Wednesday.

The Spurs, who lost 21 of their last 26 regular season games, managed to pull to within 6 points at 48-42 in the second period. But they never moved that close again.

Jabbar's steady scoring in the third period set the final pace as the Lakers scored 28 points to the Spurs' 15.

The third period scoring barrage powered the Lakers from a 6-point advantage to a 21-point lead.

Spurs point guard Wes Matthews lead all scorers with 30. He was trailed by Mike Mitchell and Artis Gilmore, with 17 apiece.

Maurice Lucas put in 17 for the Lakers.

The visitors out-rebounded the home team 53-33 and led in field goal percentages 55 percent to 41 percent in the slow-moving contest.

The margin of victory was the smallest in the playoff series between the two teams. The Lakers won the first two 135-88 and 122-94.

 Blackman finished with 16, including five during the final 3:35 as Dallas overcame a 94-89 deficit to tie the game at 94.
LAKERS 114, SPURS 94
SAN ANTONIO (AP) — For Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Los Angeles Lakers' easy three-game playoff sweep of the San Antonio Spurs is no mystery.
 "We are a better team than the Spurs. I think the series speaks for itself," said Abdul-Jabbar Wednesday after scoring 25 points and leading the Lakers to a 114-94 victory over the Spurs.

 The win propelled the defending world champion Lakers into the second round of the playoffs with the winner of the Utah-Dallas series.
 Spurs Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons had to agree with Abdul-Jabbar. "I told our guys you just have to give the Lakers credit," Fitzsimmons said in the locker room. "They are the champions. I thought our guys did the best they could. LA just has a great team."
 Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who finished the game with 14 points, 17 assists and 10 rebounds, said the Lakers will "take a 3-0 sweep any time we can get it."
 "The Spurs just couldn't get it going in the three games and we really played well," he said.
 Johnson's 48 assists for the three-game series is an NBA record.
 The Lakers never trailed the entire game Wednesday.
 The Spurs, who lost 21 of their last 26 regular season games, managed to pull to within 6 points at 48-42 in the second period. But they never moved that close again.
 Jabbar's steady scoring in the third period set the final pace as the Lakers scored 28 points to the Spurs' 15.
 The third period scoring barrage powered the Lakers from a 6-point advantage to a 21-point lead.

 Spurs point guard Wes Matthews lead all scorers with 30. He was trailed by Mike Mitchell and Artis Gilmore, with 17 apiece.
 Maurice Lucas put in 17 for the Lakers.

The visitors out-rebounded the home team 53-33 and led in field goal percentages 55 percent to 47 percent in the slow-moving contest.
 The margin of victory was the smallest in the playoff series between the two teams. The Lakers won the first two 135-88 and 122-94.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day that can best be utilized for finding out the various aspects of your interests that seem to be obscure or that you really do not understand and need more information about.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your practical affairs from the right perspective and handle them efficiently. Get at the root of problems.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discuss with partners who are available just how to improve your joint interests, then get out to a new place with one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Analyze your job and gain views that you had never thought about before this and then you make big headway.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Early make good arrangements for the weekend and tonight be most affectionate with your mate.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you investigate more, you can handle the situation at home with kin wisely. Do some entertaining this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Go to the right sources for the data you need in order to make your daily work produce more and gain more.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your position in life carefully and then you know how to take care of pluses and minuses and add to possessions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can handle personal affairs well during the day and do very well, then be happy with your friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study whatever has been bothering you and you can be more objective and solve the matter well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go to the right places where you can obtain whatever you want the most and get them. Contact an expert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A day to handle some ticklish situation very carefully and get good results with it in the long run.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Good day to work on new aims and make big progress at this time. Gain more expertise and more understanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have much ability at discovering the truth about several situations, particularly where money is concerned. Be sure to slant the education along such lines. Your progeny will have much determination.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
