Company agrees to buy Malone-Hogan Hospital

DOTHAN, Ala. — National Health Care Inc. has signed a letter of intent to acquire Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring along with five other hospitals in four states from Hospital Corporation of America.

According to a National Health Care press release, the transaction, which also includes seven medical office buildings and one home health agency, will be worth $41 million, plus working capital.

Malone-Hogan officials declined comment on the press release today. A news conference has been called for Monday by executives of National Health Care Inc.

This agreement is in addition to three Alabama hospitals previously acquired from HCA.

Steve L. Phelps, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said that the company has signed a letter of intent to acquire two hospitals in Tennessee, two in Texas and one each in Alabama and Kentucky.

In addition to the 153-bed Malone-Hogan Hospital, the agreement includes the 100-bed Cleveland Community Hospital in Cleveland, Tenn.; the 60-bed White County Community Hospital in Sparta, Tenn.; and the 92-bed Grant Buie Hospital in Hillsboro, Texas.

The agreement also includes the 74-bed L.V. Stabler Memorial Hospital in Greenville, Ala., and the 64-bed Valley View Medical Center in Morgansfield, Ky., for a total of 633 beds.

Phelps said, "These hospitals and the additional assets included in the agreement all meet our criteria for rural health systems in communities where we can be the major provider of health care services. We are confident that our management practices will continue to maintain the high quality of health care in these communities."

This transaction marks National Health Care's first entry into the states of Texas and Kentucky and will bring the total number of rural health care systems the company presently owns, leases, manages or has agreements to purchase to 36 hospitals in 13 states with 3,400 total beds, according to the press release.

The company also operates seven nursing homes with 396 total beds as well as emergency medical

Kindergarten center gets board's nod

By SPENCER SANDOW

School board members decided Tuesday to consolidate local kindergartens into one center at Airport School this fall.

Action on the kindergarten plan had been postponed from the regular May 8 meeting after about 30 parents showed up in protest.

Board member Dan Wise, who made the motion to delay a decision May 8, initiated the vote Tuesday to consolidate kindergarten classes, with Billy Pineda seconding it.

Kindergarten classes are now conducted at Lakeview, Kentwood and Marcy elementary schools.

The consolidation will enable the district to comply with House Bill 72 teacher-student ratios and will benefit teachers and kindergarten students, Superintendent Lynn Hise said earlier.

New state regulations lengthen the kindergarten day to three hours and require 22 students per teacher in kindergarten through second grade.

The consolidated kindergarten would also free classrooms in Kentwood and Marcy schools, which are now full, Hise said.

Douglas Morris, president of the Kentwood PTA and spokesman for the opposition, said after the meeting, "We are going to do whatever we can to make the transition to the Airport School as smoothly as possible."

He said he is satisfied with Hise's recommendation in favor of the center.

Morris had voiced concerns of Kentwood parents at the board's last meeting and had asked Hise to check into several questions. He argued that the transition to first grade would be easier if students

City hires lawyer for police case

The City Council Tuesday appointed an attorney to represent the city in a lawsuit and passed on first reading an ordinance boosting recreational fees.

Jack Little of the local law firm Little, Palmer and Williams was selected to represent police officer Rick Burt in a suit filed against the city in February by Jackie and Phillip McClendon.

The suit contends that Burt acted improperly by insisting Jackie McClendon be taken to the police station for a traffic warrant she had already paid.

She also claims she suffered humiliation and a setback in a battle with influenza when forced to disrobe at the police station.

Her husband Phillip, a former minister, said it was necessary for him to move his family from Big Spring because of the way his wife was treated by police. The suit is seeking $70,000 in damages.

The council also unanimously passed the long-awaited recreational fee boost package. The ordinance was sidetracked in April when a number of ballplayers and golfers complained about the package during a public hearing.

The council also heard a presentation by Hayes Stripling III, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee, on the problem of litter in the city.

Stripling told the council the Howard County Strategic Planning Commission identified litter and unsightly buildings as major detriments to the city's quality of life.

He urged the council to adopt an

The men in blue will put their limbs on the line for Big Spring's first Texas Police Association Rodeo Saturday and Sunday in the Rodeo Bowl at the Howard County Fairgrounds.

About 250 Texas police officers, including four of Big Spring's finest, will take the chance of getting busted — busted-up that is — in a series of 10 events ranging from bull riding to wild horse racing.

The action starts at 7 p.m. Saturday and again at 2 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $4 per day for adults, $3 for children 7 to 12, and free for kids under 7.

Big Spring officer Bruce Morgan will perform in the bull riding event. Morgan said he is still feeling the effects of an injury he suffered last year while riding a bull.

"I have a small hernia right now from last year."

LONDON — Actress JUDY CARNE, known for her role in the 1950s television series "Laugh-In," has lost an appeal against a three-month jail sentence for drug possession.

Miss Carne, 46, former wife of actor Burt Reynolds, dabbed tears from her eyes when a judge announced the decision Tuesday in the Court of Appeal.

She has been in jail since April 23, when she started serving the sentence handed down in Northampton Crown Court for two drug charges. The court suspended an additional six-month sentence.

Miss Carne pleaded guilty to possessing cocaine and amphetamines at her home in the village of Church Brampton last October and to trying to bring cocaine and marijuana through London's Heathrow Airport in December.

LITTLE COMPTON, R.I. — Deacons of the United Congregational Church made it clear they frown on witches, but say they won't stand in the way of JACK NICHOLSON making a movie about them.

In a letter to congregants, the deacons said Warner Bros. would be allowed to use the white-steeped church as a backdrop for the filming of John Updike's racy novel "The Witches of Eastwick," starring Nicholson.

But they said the movie company first must get approval from the Town Council, which has scheduled a May 22 vote on whether to allow the filming in the picturesque town of 3,200 this summer.

Petitions for and against the filming are circulating. Supporters say Little Compton would benefit from the influx of attention and tourists, but opponents say the quiet town could be overrun by the movie-makers.

HONOLULU — Ice skating queen DOROTHY HAMILL says that after 10 years on the road she's tired of touring.

"I don't want to say I'm retiring, because I might change my mind," said the 29-year-old former Olympic gold medalist. "I'm just tired of touring, of living out of suitcases."

Hamill, who is engaged to Los Angeles fitness expert Ken Forsythe, is giving her final tour performances here in "Festival on Ice." The show opened Tuesday night and continues through May 18.

Hamill said she hopes to conduct skating clinics, and wants to teach blind people how to skate.

"I'll always skate, because it's therapy for me. I can get away from everything, from home problems, professional hassles," she said.

NEW YORK — Comedian JOAN RIVERS, who had canceled an appearance on NBC-TV's "Late Night With David Letterman," burst onto the set during taping and drew loud applause from the audience.

Miss Rivers on Monday canceled an appearance on the show because it is co-produced by Johnny Carson's production company, and Miss Rivers is planning her own late-night show to compete with Carson.

On Tuesday, while "Letterman" was being taped, Miss Rivers suddenly walked onto the set and stayed about 90 seconds, said NBC spokeswoman Virginia Holden. "I was in the control room and I assure you this was not expected."

"Letterman, of course, was real cool, but the audience was hysterical — hooting, clapping."

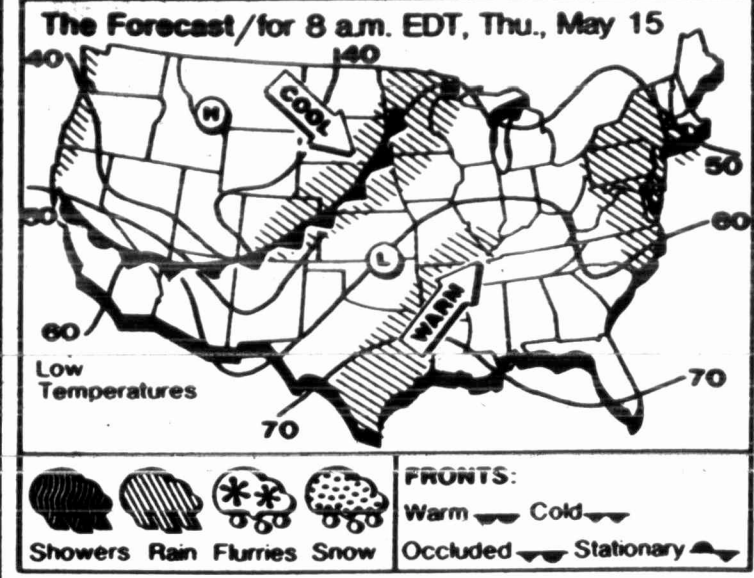

Miss Rivers explained to Letterman: "I just wanted to invite you to the NBC employee party because I don't think I will be going. Bring me back a sandwich."

Just before she appeared on the "Letterman" set, Miss Rivers had been interviewed by a news program in the same building about her new talk show.

BOSTON — Apple Computer co-founder STEVE WOZNIAC says the development of personal computers has become less rewarding for inventors since the industry moved from the garage to the corporate laboratory.

"It's so planned now and structured that the feeling you get out of it isn't the same," Wozniak said Tuesday. Wozniak, who now runs his own small computer company, left Apple last year, saying it had lost its soul.

 could remain at the same campus and expressed concern about busing kindergarten students.

He also said he had gotten the impression from state officials that the state may never enforce rules regulating length of school day and student-to-teacher ratios.

Hise said Tuesday he spoke with several experts, including a Texas Education Association spokesman, officials from other districts with similar programs and County Judge Milton Kirby.

The TEA spokesman said the board has no intention of backing down on the three-hour-day requirement for kindergartners. Hise said, and the student-teacher ratio is mandated by state law and would require legislative action to change.

Nancy Ballard, head of a similar kindergarten center in Longview, indicated the strengths of the system far outweigh the weaknesses, Hise said. Strengths include providing the children with a stronger academic base and having teachers together on one campus, Hise said.

The only weakness Ballard cited, he said, was "over a period of time, there was a feeling of isolation among teachers," but that could be fought through in-service instruction.

Board member Dock Voorhies said he had spoken with "as many parents as I could" on the subject, and only one opposed the center. Registration for next year's kindergarten will be Thursday, May 22, and will take place at current kindergarten campuses, said Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator.

Registration and kindergarten round-up for Marcy and Kentwood elementary schools will be at 2 p.m. Registration for full-day kindergarten at Lakeview Elementary School will be come-and-go from 1 to 3 p.m. in the gym.

Parents should bring immunization records and birth certificates. Lakeview parents should also bring current income verification, Gladden said.

The board also heard Mark Butcher, head nurse of the operating room at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, who voiced concern over enforcement of vaccine requirements.

"If the kindergarten center is voted on, this should be enforced," he said. Children up to age 6 are more likely to catch the diseases if not immunized, Butcher said.

Hise said the district's current policy requires all state-mandated vaccines, and most children have the shots before they enter school. Immunization records are required at registration.

But the district doesn't like to keep children out of school, even if they have not had the required shots, he said.

"It's a no-win situation," Hise said.

Trustee Wise said he would like the board to consider having a nurse at the kindergarten center.

Pension fund feud heats up

By HANK MURPHY
 Staff Writer

The lingering dispute between City Council and firemen over pension fund contributions is at a head with both sides charging "bad faith" bargaining and bracing for litigation.

Tuesday, members of the firemen's retirement plan voted to put 3 percent of their salary into the pension fund, boosting their contribution to 9 percent of their earnings. Retirement board vice president Paul Brown said 60 percent of the members voted in favor of the measure.

Under state law, the city must match the contribution up to 9 percent, meaning the council will have to appropriate additional monies "immediately" to cover the pension fund increase.

During the mid-year budget revision this spring, the council said it could not afford any increase into the fireman's pension plan beyond the 3 percent salary jump granted all city employees. The council offered to put 3 percent into the pension fund, raise salaries that much or split the money between the retirement kitty and the pay raise.

The firemen elected to take a 3 percent pay hike, and are now seeking an additional 3 percent for their retirement fund.

When the budget revision ordinance was passed by the council in April, it contained a clause whereby any increase to the firemen's retirement fund would be drawn from the 3 percent budgeted for firemen's pay raise. City Secretary Tom Ferguson said Tuesday night he expects to begin next week trimming firemen's salaries by 3 percent of match the retirement obligation.

Most councilmen appeared annoyed when informed of the firefighter's decision at the tail end of their meeting Tuesday night.

"They've backed us into a corner," said Harold Hall, adding the matter will probably be settled in court.

"They've crossed a line," said Councilman Johnny Rutherford. Councilman Russ McEwen said, "They voted to take in increase in salary (instead of a contribution to the pension fund) and now they turn around and want to boost (the pension) 3 percent and are asking us to match it."

Big Spring Fire Association president John Branham said this morning that members of the retirement plan asked in September for an increase into their pension plan which the city denied for want of funds.

"They say that every time," Branham said.

Branham said he talked with the State Retirement Board in Austin and was told the city must match the additional increase and should not cut salaries to do so.

The added contribution to the pension fund would cost the city $27,000 a year, Branham said.

Budget director Tom Ferguson was out of town this morning and unavailable for comment on Branham's estimate.

The fire association looked at 20 West Texas cities, Branham said, and discovered that all were contributing 9 percent or more to their firemen's pension fund.

Branham said pension members have elected to appropriate $11,000 from the retirement pool for legal expenses. He said the San Antonio law firm of Van-Oss will handle any litigation.

Anderson said 10 Texas Police Officers Association Rodeos are conducted each year in the state. "They're for a good cause," he said. "Each rodeo contributes to a different charity." All proceeds from Big Spring's rodeo will benefit the Northside Community Center and the Rainbow Project.

Along with Morgan and Anderson, officers Danny Crawford and Phillip Buys will perform in the calf tie event.

After the rodeo Saturday night, a dance will take place at the rodeo bowl, featuring county-western singer Joe Stampey.

Refreshment will be served at the rodeo.

Events are scheduled in the following order: bareback riding, calf roping, chute dogging, ribbon roping, barrel racing, two-man calf tie, wild horse race, team roping, goat tie and bull riding.

Coahoma seeks waterline fund

By EDDIE CURRAN
 Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council Tuesday night unanimously passed a resolution authorizing a request for state funds to pay for new waterline construction.

The construction is needed in several areas of the city, including the Saunders addition, said city secretary Karen Bell.

Mayor Eleanor Garrett said the Texas Community Development Program will decide the grant based on a point system, which takes into account need and the proposed contribution of the community towards completion of the project. Garrett recommended that Coahoma propose to contribute four city employees and use of city equipment, rather than a cash contribution. The council agreed.

The resolution approved by the council included a request for $300,000 and gave Garrett authority to act as the city's representative in all matters pertaining to the grant request.

In other business, the council: • Voted unanimously to accept a new 25-year contract with Energas, under which Coahoma will receive 3 percent of gross receipts rather than 2 percent provided under the old contract. Coahoma also will receive checks from Energas quarterly rather than monthly.

• Passed a motion to hire Melva Swinney to clean City Hall once a week and the Community Center once a month for $65.

• Accepted a motion to pay the bills, and instructed Secretary Karen Bell to take money out of the general fund if necessary, because of an unusually large water bill.

Bell said Coahoma was billed by Howard County Water Control for 3 million gallons of water more than they billed out to Coahoma residents.

Councilman Charles Seals said the city put in five bailparks this year, which accounted for some of the missing water, but he said at least 1 million gallons was unaccounted for. Council member Barbara Robertson said about 30 water meters were inoperative, and Councilman Billy Sullivan agreed that the broken meters and illegal taps were responsible for the rest of the missing water.

Defense contract denied

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger has made "a political judgment" that the Pentagon will not award a contract for combat bulldozers to the Fiat-Allis Co. because it is partially owned by Libya, Pentagon sources say.

Defense Department attorneys are still investigating how to deny the contract to Fiat-Allis since it was the low bidder on the program. But Weinberger has personally intervened in the case and is now "taking a real hard line," the sources added.

Reagan meets students

WASHINGTON — President Reagan says the United States will never shoot first in a nuclear war and describes the decades-old doctrine of nuclear deterrence between the United States and Soviet Union as "the most stupid policy."

Reagan, answering a high school student's question Tuesday, said the best way to avert nuclear war is to work toward the total elimination of nuclear weapons. Beyond that, he said, "Let's get rid of the mistrust between the East bloc and the West bloc so that there's no need for any war."

Reagan fielded questions about war, taxes, Social Security, the financial struggle of farmers and other subjects during a half-hour meeting with seniors from John A. Holmes High School in Edenton, N.C.

Parents sue state school

ABILENE — The parents of a 33-year-old Abilene State School resident who drowned in the school's swimming pool are suing for $10 million, claiming their daughter was treated inadequately and denied her rights.

James Wilburn Feagley and Billie Jean Feagley, parents of Ellen Darlene Feagley, filed suit in federal court against the school and several staff members, including Superintendent Bill Waddill.

They claim that their daughter was denied her constitutional freedom from harm, from unsafe conditions and undue restraint, and from unnecessary institutionalization, as well as her rights to minimally adequate treatment and training in an appropriate setting, as determined by professional judgment.

PINE SPRINGS — Federal investigators surveying the wreckage of a Dallas television station's helicopter said an equipment malfunction could have occurred before a crash that killed two people.

The malfunction and gusty winds have been mentioned as possible causes of the crash on Monday in the Guadalupe Mountains National Park.

Two women vie for Nebraska governor

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraskans guaranteed themselves their first female governor while "creating a little history" by setting the stage for the first woman-against-woman gubernatorial campaign ever in the United States.

Republican state Treasurer Kay Orr and former Lincoln Mayor Helen Boosalis, a Democrat and the first female mayor of a U.S. city of more than 100,000, were picked Tuesday from the state's largest gubernatorial primary slate ever.

"We're creating a little history," said Mrs. Orr, 47. "It's an exciting opportunity for us to make people aware of what Nebraska's all about."

"That has never happened in the history of our country, and I think that says something for Nebraskans," said Mrs. Boosalis, 66.

In other elections Tuesday, Kenneth Gibson — the first black mayor of a major Northeastern city — lost a bid for an unprecedented fifth term in Newark, N.J., to Councilman Sharpe James, also black and a former Gibson supporter. In Atlantic City, N.J., Mayor James L. Usry failed to win his first full, four-year term, and will face Assemblywoman Dolores Cooper in a June 10 runoff.

In West Virginia, U.S. Rep. Harley O. Staggers swept the Democratic primary, defeating Charles Wood, a coal miner and Lyndon LaRouche supporter who doesn't live in the district, and former state Rep. D.P. "Sheriff" Given.

There were seven Democrats and eight Republicans on the Nebraska gubernatorial primary ballot Tuesday, all vying to succeed Gov. Bob Kerrey, a Democrat whose style and long-time relationship with actress Debra Winger kept Nebraskans captivated for four years. Kerrey didn't seek re-nomination.

Both Mrs. Orr and Mrs. Boosalis grabbed early leads Tuesday and never trailed on the way to victories that were easier and more substantial than newspaper polls or party regulars had predicted.

On the Democratic side, with 1,837 of 1,910 precincts reporting, Mrs. Boosalis had 61,921 votes or 44 percent, compared with attorney David Domina of Norfolk with 37,053 or 26 percent, and former state Sen. Chris Beutler with 30,513 or 22 percent.

Trailing were state Sen. Marge Higgins of Omaha, Robert Prokop of Wilber and Mina Dillingham of Omaha.

Mrs. Orr had 73,008 votes or 40 percent of the Republican votes. Next were Omaha attorney Kermit Brashear with 57,797 votes or 31 percent and Nancy Hoch of Nebraska City with 40,659 or 22 percent.

Trailing were Paul Rosberg of Wausa, the Rev. Everett Sileven of Louisville, Monte Taylor of Omaha, and Roger Yant and Chuck Loos of Lincoln.

The two winners said issues, rather than having two women involved, would decide the outcome of the November general election.

The race "is going to get a lot of attention at first blush ... but I don't think that will be a sustained thing," said Mrs. Orr, who was the first woman elected to statewide office in Nebraska, in 1982. She had been appointed to fill a vacancy in 1981.

"I am proud for Nebraska and for my party, much more so than personally," she said.

Radiation plays politics

FRANKFURT, West Germany — Anxiety about the Chernobyl nuclear power disaster has played into the hands of left-wing political parties seeking to upset a backer of Chancellor Helmut Kohl in a key governor's race leading to general election next January. Opinion polls indicate a sudden surge in opposition to nuclear power that has brightened prospects for the Social Democrats and Greens Party, both of which have long opposed nuclear power.

"Not even the NATO nuclear missile deployment decision (in 1983) so emotionalized the German people," Walter Tacke, director of the respected Emnid Institute which conducted one of the polls, said Tuesday.

Poland's pique baseless

WARSAW, Poland — Piqued by conditions imposed by the U.S. Senate on distribution of powdered milk to Poles affected by the Soviet nuclear accident, Poland says it is giving 5,000 sleeping bags and blankets to New York City's homeless.

And the communist government stipulated Tuesday that given "the antipathy of President Ronald Reagan's administration" toward helping the poor, the blankets and sleeping bags are to be distributed by a non-governmental charity.

In New York, Mayor Edward I. Koch called the Polish offer foolish and said the city's homeless are provided with shelter, food and medical service.

Suspect held in blast

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Police said bombs exploded today at a national monument and outside an office building, but that three primitive projectiles fired at the Japanese and American embassies failed to blow up.

No casualties were reported in any of the incidents.

Police said a Japanese suspect was arrested, and that they also were seeking three Libyans.

Intelligence sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the attacks appeared to be the work of a small extremist group with possible support from Libyans.

Ex-Nazi found guilty

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia — The 86-year-old former interior minister of the Nazi puppet state of Croatia was found guilty today of ordering the massacres of hundreds of thousands of people during World War II, and sentenced to death by firing squad.

Andrija Artukovic, who was extradited from the United States on Feb. 2, was convicted by a five-judge panel of ordering the killings of 231,000 Jews, Gypsies, Serbs and political prisoners.

Big Government has winning edge

David Stockman came to Washington to bury the welfare state but left praising it. His new memoir, "The Triumph of Politics," tells how this fire-breathing zealot, who became director of Ronald Reagan's Office of Management and Budget in the hope of fomenting a "revolution," ended up searching for ways to pay for programs he opposed.

Despite six years as a congressional aide and four years as a congressman from Michigan, Stockman was in Washington but never of it. An ideological libertarian who profoundly distrusted government power wherever it reached, he was the antithesis of the mainstream politician.

Whatever his rhetoric, Democrats and Republicans in the capital are largely satisfied with the status quo. Stockman was not, scorning the federal government as "a lavish giveaway" that protected itself by buying off special interests with money taken from hard-working citizens.

What he proposed was "minimalist government — a spare and stingy creature which offered even-handed public justice, but no more. Its vision of the good society rested on the strength and productive potential of free men in free markets."

Stockman's efforts to achieve his vision were heroic. He assaulted a host of programs helping those who ought to help themselves — synthetic fuel subsidies, student loans, urban development grants, farm price supports, mass transit aid. He lobbied to restrain the growth of Social Security spending. He pushed to dismantle poverty programs that had failed. He even tried to slow Reagan's military buildup.

In the end, he got only a small share of what he wanted, defeated by a president whose words were fiercer than his deeds, by Cabinet officers protecting their domains and by congressional Republicans opposed to any change that might anger voters.

But in most grand dramas, the hero has at least one grave flaw, and Stockman's was hubris. His single measure of the Reagan administration's performance became the bottom line on his budget: A surplus represented success, a deficit failure.

His central theme is that the administration is "holding the American economy hostage to a reckless, unstable fiscal policy based on the politics of high spending and the doctrine of low taxes," and that higher taxes are urgently needed.

But it was not the administration's tax cut that produced these deficits. It did little more than offset inflation and higher Social Security payroll taxes. Federal taxes, in fact, took a bigger share of national income in the last five years than in the previous five.

The real culprit was something Stockman carefully ignores — the recession of 1981-82. His own 1986 budget was more honest: It estimated the effect of that slump on this year's deficit at $252.3 billion. This year's deficit, absent the cuts required by Gramm-Rudman, is projected to be $202.8 billion.

In other words, if not for a recession caused by the excessively tight monetary policy of Stockman's hero, Paul Volcker, the budget — defense buildup, domestic pork, tax cuts and all — would be in surplus. The deficit is shrinking now because of economic growth and lower interest rates that defy Stockman's warnings. They are accompanied not by inflation but by deflation.

Worse than Stockman's deception is his surrender in the war on Leviathan. "We have had a tumultuous national referendum on everything in our half-trillion-dollar welfare state budget," he says, and Big Government won. What exists is what the people want.

Maybe so. But that is no reason to give up trying to change their minds. Revolutions, even peaceful ones, are rarely made overnight. Stockman's conceit is that if he alone couldn't repeal the Great Society and the New Deal in a single stint at OMB, no one can do it, ever. So he has taken a job on Wall Street, abandoning public life with "no intention of going back."

That is a shame. Stockman had no business trying to remake Reagan's economic policy, but no one ever did more to reverse the malignant expansion of the federal government. Those who share Stockman's old vision can only keep working for it, however long it takes. Come back, Dave. We need you.

CIA reveals Kremlin's germ weapons program

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — The nuclear catastrophe in the Soviet Union dramatizes the risks involved when dangerous equipment is operated by a government that places little value on human safety. The world can only hope the Soviet bureaucracy will improve its nuclear safeguards as fast as possible.

One thing is crystal clear, however: The Kremlin isn't about to scale down its nuclear power industry, no matter how serious the accident turns out to have been. Nuclear power is too important to the Soviet economy.

A similar, potentially cataclysmic situation exists in another field of reckless Soviet technology: the biological warfare program. Accidental release of deadly anthrax bacilli following an explosion at a germ weapons plant in Sverdlovsk in 1979 killed hundreds of Soviet citizens — but it didn't stop the Kremlin from forging ahead with its biological warfare program in defiance of a 1972 international treaty outlawing the development of such weapons.

Presumably the Soviets learned something from that disaster. But as their scientists tinker with unimaginably awful germ weapons, there is always the possibility of an accident that could dwarf last month's nuclear meltdown. If Soviet scientists didn't know how to contain their burning graphite reactor, there's little reason to expect they'd know how to counteract the accidental release of some newly developed bacterial agent.

We've reported in the past on the Soviets' growing biological warfare capabilities, including a story last year that identified nine locations where the research is going on. Now we've seen the most recent CIA intelligence report on the subject, classified Secret. It concludes:

"We believe the Soviets are using recent advances in biotechnology, such as genetic engineering, to develop a new class of BW and toxin agents that can be rapidly produced for deployment." The time for deployment was estimated at five years.

Farmers forced to stay on food stamps

By SHARON COHEN
For about a year, shame rode with Denise O'Brien every time she went to the market. They traveled together under cover of night hiding a secret — her farm family was on food stamps.

"It was just humiliating," Ms. O'Brien recalled. "I'd look around in the store and if I saw anyone I knew, I'd write a check."

Today, she has dismissed her fears of discovery; she shops by day and greets neighbors without shame. Ms. O'Brien realizes that $300 a month in food stamps is helping her family of five dig out from debt on their rented Atlantic, Iowa, farm.

Their plight has become common these days in the Midwest, where thousands who feed the world now feel the bitter irony of needing help to feed themselves.

"We raise the crops, but we can't feed our family," Ms. O'Brien said. "It's a sad commentary."

In Iowa, which accounts for about a fourth of America's hog production and more than 12 percent of its red meat, state officials say the number of farm families on food stamps jumped from about 400 in the summer of 1984 to 2,000 this spring.

The U.S. Agriculture Department doesn't keep records of food stamp recipients by occupation, but Iowa and several other struggling Farm Belt states have compiled their own numbers, showing sharp increases:

- South Dakota never had more than 350 families on food stamps, but this spring, when times started getting tough, last fall, 630 families were receiving stamps; that number jumped 88 percent to 1,200 families this spring.
- In North Dakota, 656 farmers got food stamps in March, up 46 percent from 447 in October 1985.

• In Minnesota's 10 most heavily agricultural counties, the number of households on food stamps rose about 25 percent from April 1980 to April 1985 — to a total of 1,187.

• And in Nebraska, the number of food stamp recipients hit record levels three straight months — in December, January and February — with a greater increase in rural communities.

Although the number of farmers on food stamps is small, farm groups say many more in need don't apply because they want to avoid the stigma of welfare.

Pride and fear of small-town gossip keep some farmers away; others feel an application for food stamps is an admission of failure. "a public declaration they're not a good manager ... or a hard worker," said Delores Swoboda, a leader of Groundswell, a Minnesota farm-help group.

What many urban people don't understand, he added, is while a farmer may have cows and hogs, he can't use them for his own food if creditors have a lien on them.

"The vast majority of people assume a farmer eats well," he said. "That's just not the case."

A recent report by Harvard's School of Public Health and the Physicians Task Force On Hunger in America, while criticized for its methodology, listed 150 "hunger" counties, half of them in the Midwest and Great Plains.

The study concluded the problem was largely due to the failure of federal assistance programs. Food stamps, it said, serve "just over half the poorest citizens for whom benefits are intended." It said 688,000 people were eligible for stamps but weren't receiving them.

Some also say eligibility requirements disqualify some farmers from getting aid.

To be eligible for food stamps, a family of three must have a gross income of $959 a month or less; for a family of four it's $1,154 or less.

Aware of increasing numbers of farmers turning to food stamps, lawmakers who put together the farm bill passed last year provided some changes to ease eligibility rules, said Robert Fersh, former staff director of the House subcommittee on nutrition.

For example, the limit on liquid assets, excluding home and household goods, was raised from $1,500 to $2,000, said Fersh, now director of the Food Research and Action Center in Washington.

Those changes may help, but some state officials say more efforts should be made to convince farmers that food stamps aren't bad and to make those in isolated areas aware of the program.

South Dakota is promoting food stamps as a Department of Agriculture program. "This is much more palatable to them so they don't automatically think of it as welfare," said Julie Osnes, administrator of South Dakota's food stamp program.

She said the state was also using the services of a dairy farmer who voluntarily appears on public television to talk about the program and encourage other farmers to call him with questions about food stamps.

Rural help groups are doing their part, too. The Iowa Farm Union, for example, has a statewide food stamp drives in the last two years.

Observations on West Texas

By HANK MURPHY
It has been almost six months now that I've been in West Texas, leaving the cool, green North behind to practice journalism on the South Plains.

Journalists, like scientists, are trained to be good observers. And though it has been just a short time, I've made some observations about West Texas:

- It doesn't rain in West Texas. No, I take that back. It rained once since I've been here — for about 3 minutes. Yet almost every afternoon the skies cloud-up with towering silver thunderheads, many booming with their namesake and flashing with lightning. But does it rain? Noooooooooo.

- The wind never stops blowing in West Texas. If there were lakes here, it would be a sailors' paradise. A day without wind here is about as common as a snake without a rattle.

- That's another thing. Rattlesnakes and rattlesnake round-ups. Talk about bizarre.

- Then there's the dust storms. I read about such things in history of the great depression. I had no idea they still existed, depositing dirt in your eyes, mouth and nose. Neat things — dust storms.

- Also, houses don't have basements in West Texas. I wonder why not. Basements are cool in the summer and excellent protection against tornados. Must be too rocky.

- Some other things I've learned here are never touch a cactus with bare hands, always buy drinking water, never buy a car without air conditioning, say "fahn" instead of "fine" and "rot" instead of "right."

- I would be remiss if I didn't mention the fascinating animal life found here: things like walking armored cars, animals that look like pigs but aren't pigs, tiny lizards with inch-long legs that dart with incredible speed, birds that would rather run along roads than fly and insects too weird and numerous to list. Strange creatures have evolved here.

Ah but the sunsets here are beautiful, the winters are warm and the people are warmer. The sky is big and the air is clean and there is some fantastic breed of cactus producing the most amazing purple flowers.

Yes sir, West Texas. It's a most interesting place.

Dallas, Fort Worth lead in crime ratio

DALLAS (AP) — Although Dallas and Fort Worth lead a 33-city survey in crimes per 1,000 residents, the cities are below other large cities in the number of law enforcement personnel, according to a new survey.

Dallas residents had 131.16 major crime offenses per 1,000 residents in 1985, while Fort Worth had 131.97, according to the survey conducted by the Dallas Police Department.

Other large cities with high crime averages include Atlanta, with 129.82 per 1,000 people, New York City with 76.38, and Indianapolis, with 61.83, the survey said.

The "index crimes" included in the study are murder, rape, robbery, assaults, burglaries and auto thefts. About 90 percent of all index crimes reported in Dallas were crimes against property rather than persons, analysts said.

The survey showed the police average response time in Dallas to priority calls was 8.7 minutes, compared with one minute in Washington, D.C., 2.7 in New York City and eight in Houston. Fort Worth had one of the worst response times with 12.3 minutes.

Dallas Assistant Police Chief Leslie Sweet said various factors make it difficult to draw statistical comparisons.

"It's nice to compare them, but you can't draw conclusions," he said. "There's too many variables — how many suburbs there are, how many vehicles are used."

Response-time figures, for example, must take into account Dallas' sprawling size, Sweet said.

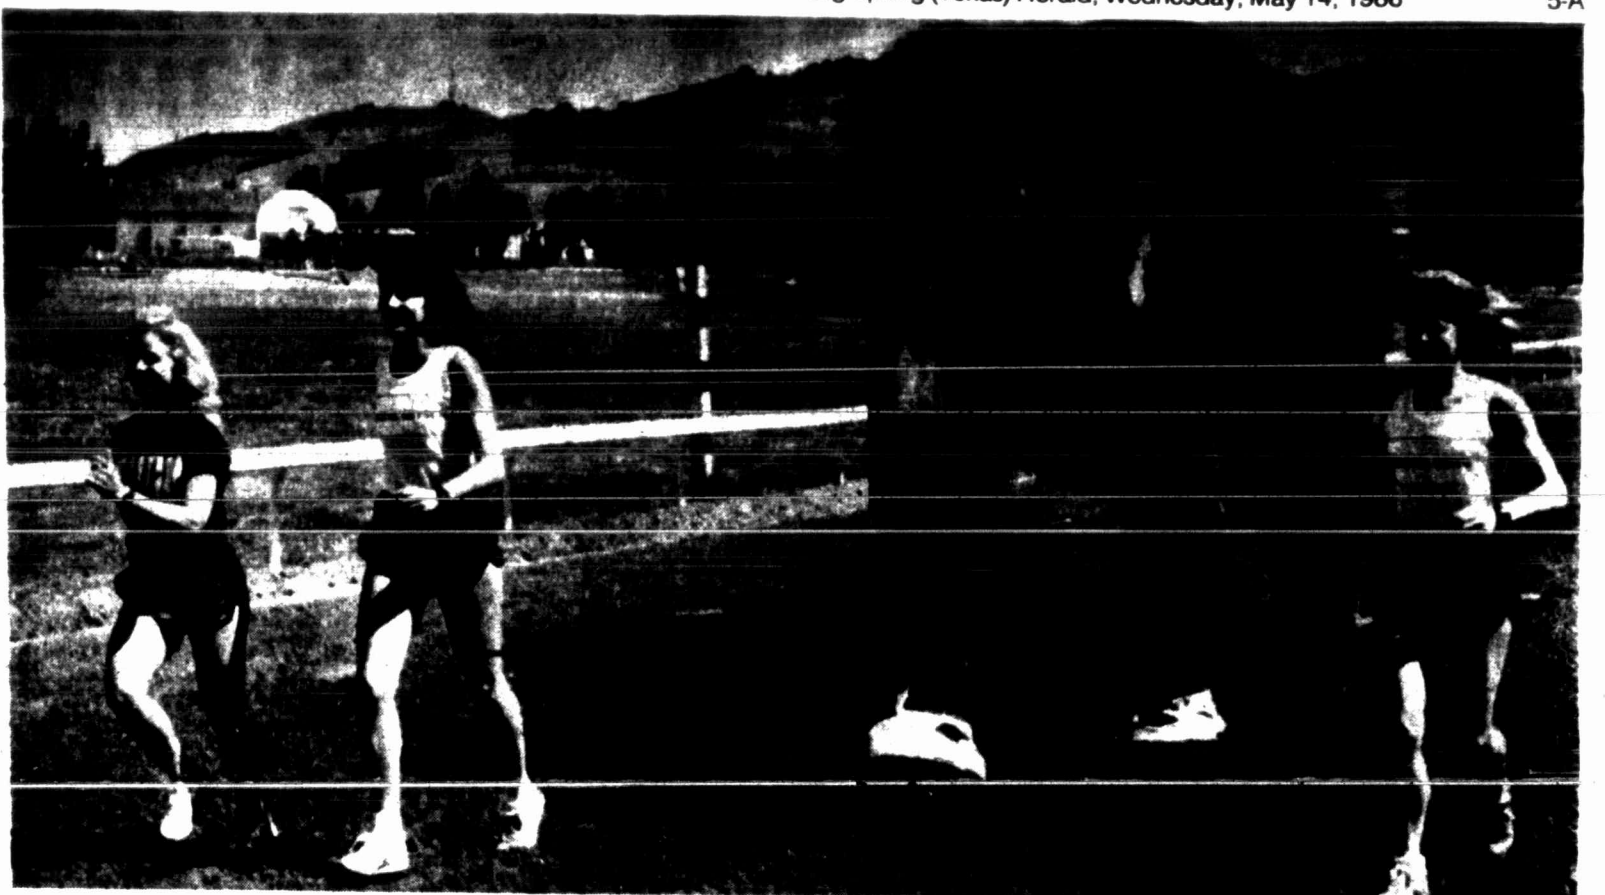

"Just sheer mileage would cause Dallas to have a longer response time than some of these smaller cities, even though their population is higher," he said.

The study also showed Dallas has 2.22 sworn police personnel per 1,000 population, compared with 6.11 in Washington, D.C., 4.02 in New York, 2.51 in Houston, 1.8 in Fort Worth and 1.37 in El Paso.

Personnel-to-population ratio may be misleading because of the large suburban residents who come into Dallas for work and leisure, Sweet said.

In a salary comparison, the Dallas police chief ranked second among the 33 cities surveyed. The Los Angeles police chief made $118,788, compared to $88,296 for Dallas.

Dallas patrol officers' monthly salaries start at $1,976 and peak at $2,404, compared to Los Angeles' $2,205 and $2,894. Fort Worth's salaries were $1,895 and $2,195.

Pope to visit San Antonio

AUSTIN (AP) — Pope John Paul II will visit San Antonio in September 1987 during a trip to the southern and western United States, according to Bishop John McCarthy of the Austin Diocese.

It will be the first time the pope has visited Texas.

The pontiff will celebrate a public mass and meet with the U.S. directors of Catholic Charities while in San Antonio, but other details of his Texas visit have not been worked out, McCarthy said Monday.

Catholic leaders were told of the pontiff's decision to visit Texas during a meeting last week, he said.

Monsignor Louis Wozniak, pastor of St. Louis Catholic Church in Austin, said a fraternal organization of priests of Polish descent will try to arrange a papal trip to Panna Maria, a small town about 50 miles southeast of San Antonio.

Panna Maria is the oldest Polish settlement in the United States, Wozniak said.

Wozniak also said the pope might visit low-income neighborhoods of San Antonio.

In addition to Texas, the pontiff will visit Florida, California and possibly Arizona during the trip, he said.

McCarthy said San Antonio is an appropriate city for the pontiff to visit because of the large number of Hispanic Catholics in South Central Texas and because the area represents "the roots of Catholicism in Texas."

He said the papal visit will be the culmination of a period of spiritual renewal by the state's Catholics.

"There will be a long period of preparation. It's not a one-day event," the bishop said.

Wozniak said the papal visit will be an "uplifting moment" for many Catholics in Texas.

"He seems to be a charismatic figure who draws people," he said of the pontiff.

It will be Pope John Paul's second visit to the United States. He traveled to New York, Pennsylvania, Washington D.C., Iowa and Illinois in October 1979.

Council appoints Ringener municipal judge

STANTON — The City Council Monday night appointed W.A. Ringener as municipal court judge after considering the applications of Ringener and Sherri Sebastian, the only other applicant.

Ringener replaces F.E. Kennedy, who was municipal judge and justice of the peace. Kennedy resigned because of a law change that prohibits a person from holding a city and county office simultaneously.

In other business, the council:
 • Voted to freeze hiring and salary increases for city employees because of the sizeable projected loss in 1987 tax revenues.

• Deferred action on a park board recommendation to build a girls softball diamond in the southeast corner of City Park after citizens expressed opposition to the site. Gayle Wheeler, spokesman for the opposition, cited alternate locations the group felt would better serve the community. Mayor Danny Fryar suggested the council discuss the site further. "I think we can come up with more property for a baseball diamond," he said.

City Secretary Jimmy Mathis read the ordinance after a request from Darryl Sisson for clarification. Police Chief Mike Adams said 50 to 60 cars had been voluntarily removed since the requests had been issued. Owners who want exemption will have 10 days to make a written appeal. The date for appeal hearings will be set later.

• Voted to hire an engineer to make recommendations concerning a new cover on the water storage in City Park.

• Decided to make repairs at the wastewater treatment plant.

• Set Thursday, May 29, as the date for a public hearing on the community development grant.

• Agreed to accept written appeals from owners of junk cars requesting exemption from a 1987 ordinance requiring the cars to be moved out of sight.

School trustees hire four new teachers

STANTON — The Stanton Independent School District board of trustees hired four new teachers and elected a delegate to the Texas Association of School Board Meetings at their meeting Monday. Bob Atkins was elected delegate and Dr. W.R. Moore was elected alternate to the TASB meeting, scheduled for Sept. 27-29 in San Antonio.

Hired as teachers for next fall were Shelia Schup of West Texas State University, Nancy Pittman of Lamesa, John Duncan of Meadow and Brent Pool of Miles. They will be assigned to specific positions by Superintendent Wayne Mitchell.

Jo Yater reported on the students minimum skills test. Some grades are being tested for the first time, she said. Also, the format has changed for this year, and the name of test changed from Texas Association of Basic Skills to Texas Association of Minimum Skills. The school board also:

• Discussed appropriate uses of Chapter 2 and Title 2 federal funds. Chapter 2 funds total about $8,000 and Title 2 funds $490.

• Discussed the 1986-87 budget, focusing primarily on salaries for personnel.

• Accepted the resignation of school board member Charles Elmore.

Crews will collect trash items such as tree branches, furniture pieces and appliances that are too large to place in dumpsters. Items to be discarded should be placed at the curb in front of residences and not in alleys.

The citywide cleanup is done in coordination with the city of Big Spring and will continue on Mondays until all seven areas are covered.

The schedule for pick-up is:
 • Area 6 — North 11th Place, south and east Farm Road 700 and west Gregg Street, May 26.

• Area 7 — Coronado Avenue, Highland Drive, Capehart, Douglas Street, north Farm Road 700, south city limits, west city limits and east Highway 87, June 2.

Royalties on uneconomical offshore oil leases to be cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is willing to reduce royalties on offshore oil tracts that may become uneconomical in view of low prices, an Interior Department official told Congress on Tuesday.

Such reductions have been granted for onshore leases from time to time, but never offshore, said William Bettenberg, director of the Minerals Management Service.

The department already has eased requirements that will permit operators of stripper wells on federal lands to stop production without relinquishing their leases. Stripper wells are those which produce more than 10 barrels a day.

At a House Merchant Marine and Fisheries subcommittee hearing, Bettenberg was asked whether the Interior Department was considering other steps to help the oil industry, which is reeling under an almost 50 percent nosedive in prices since December.

"We are, in fact, willing to consider reduced royalties if a company can demonstrate the property is otherwise uneconomic," Bettenberg replied. "The figures they furnish in support of that will be subject to being audited. We are not going to take their word for it. The last thing we want to do is abandon areas prematurely."

Offshore oil companies normally pay the federal government a royalty of 16.67 percent on the proceeds of every barrel, which can be 12.5 percent for certain deepwater areas.

Bettenberg said a royalty reduction might be sought "on a field that has been producing in the past but is in its declining years," or an area "that's discovered but is just not quite economical to produce."

Successful bidders at lease offerings must pay the government, in addition to the royalty production and a bonus up front, $150 an acre every year, or $864,000 for a single tract of nine square miles.

Bettenberg said the department had "considered very seriously" lowering the acreage rental for

Gulf of Mexico offerings but "concluded in fact we should not do it."

But a reduced rental might be offered for Atlantic and Alaska offerings, he said.

"I submit that it is in the national interest to have some level of exploration going on in these areas," he said. Atlantic and Alaska exploration has proven totally unproductive so far.

Bettenberg told the subcommittee that new estimates of offshore reserves under the assumption that crude oil costs $14 a barrel — $5 below the department's lowest previous price scenario — showed that California and the Gulf of Mexico continued to have "leasable resources."

But potential oil finds in the Atlantic areas, off Washington and Oregon and in the Navarin Basin and Beaufort Sea off Alaska, he said, were marginal.

A price of $15 per barrel would mean royalty receipts of about $2.3 billion a year, compared with $3.6 billion in 1985, Bettenberg said.

Volcker backs banks rescue bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker endorsed emergency legislation that would allow out-of-state purchase of failing banks, especially in economically troubled oil and farm states.

Volcker told the Senate Banking Committee Tuesday that prompt congressional approval of the bill would minimize costly intervention by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. That's the government institution which insures bank deposits up to $100,000.

Avoiding intervention by the FDIC, he said, would "avoid a potentially contagious and debilitating loss of confidence within a state."

"We want to forestall a crisis, not to pick up the pieces after the damage has been done," said Volcker, who was backed by FDIC Chairman L. William Seidman and Comptroller of the Currency Robert L. Clarke.

Under sharp questioning by committee members, the three officials denied that the bill represented a major step toward interstate banking or that it threatened to undermine state banking regulatory powers.

Instead, they said, it was an emergency measure aimed at forestalling a rising tide of bank failures in recent years, prompting FDIC intervention in 120 cases last year.

"We expect a similar volume in 1986, possibly including some institutions that are larger than those which failed last year," Seidman said.

Clarke said there are nearly 300 national banks on his "problem list," an increase of nearly 400 percent over the end of 1983, and that nearly 75 percent of them are situated in areas of the Midwest and Southwest that have been hard hit by falling energy and agricultural prices.

"It is an unfortunate fact that the current high rate of bank failures is expected to be with us for some time, at least under our present system of dealing with bank failures," Clarke said.

The bill sought by the Reagan administration would expand existing law to allow out-of-state commercial banks to acquire troubled banks before they fail, rather than only after they have closed, and would extend the threshold for emergency acquisitions to failing banks with at least $250 million instead of $500 million in assets.

Existing law permits an out-of-state bank to acquire only a bank holding company's subsidiary that already has failed. The bill would allow interstate acquisition of an entire bank holding company, or some or all of its banks, if the assets of its banks in danger of closing total at least $250 million and account for at least one-third of the total banking assets of the holding company.

Louisiana leads country in unemployment rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Hampshire had the nation's lowest unemployment rate in March while Louisiana, battered by bad times in the petroleum industry, maintained its spot as the state with the most joblessness, government figures showed.

New England continued to lead the nation in providing jobs for its residents. New Hampshire had the lowest unemployment rate of 3.8 percent, followed by Connecticut at 4.0 percent and Massachusetts at 4.3 percent.

Louisiana saw its unemployment rate drop 0.3 percent from February. But the state still managed a joblessness rate of 13.1 percent, well above the 7.5 percent rate nationwide, the Labor Department said Tuesday.

West Virginia had the second highest unemployment rate, 11.7 percent. Until February, West Virginia had led the joblessness charts for nearly 3½ years. Just a year ago, when West Virginia's unemployment rate was 15 percent, joblessness in Louisiana was 11.7 percent.

Besides West Virginia, the drop was 1 percentage point or more in Arkansas, Indiana, New Jersey, Ohio, Rhode Island and Utah.

City approves two zoning changes

COLORADO CITY — The City Council approved two zoning changes from single family residential to local retail at a meeting Tuesday night.

City manager Brenda Tarter said the first change, requested by Dr. Thomas Aguillon, was for 9.52 acres at 10th Street and Highway 208 near the Colorado High School. Aguillon "plans to extend city ser-VICES and do some prospecting with business building in that area," Tarter said.

The second change, at the corner of Fifth and Hickory, was made for Lee Sneed and Roy Sloan, who plan to build an osmosis plant on the site.

In other business, the council approved a contract with Freese and Nichols, a Fort Worth company, to work on the sanitary landfill. The landfill is being expanded, said city secretary Tina Raschke.

Also, Herzog Co. will do some more repair on Second Street. The company recently repaved the street, but a waterline under the street broke because of the weight of the company's heavy equipment, Raschke said. In order to repair the waterline, the street had to be torn up again.

Dear Abby

No smell is good smell for this man's sniffer

DEAR ABBY: A reader named "Audrey" wrote: "When you can smoke and keep all the smoke inside yourself and not blow it into the air I must breathe, then you have the right to smoke, but you don't have the right to decide that I must breathe in your smoke."

Now, please quote me: "When you can wear perfume, cologne and after-shave and keep all the aroma inside yourself and not fill the air I must breathe, then you have the right to wear it, but you don't have the right to decide that I must breathe in your perfume, cologne and after-shave."

Let's hear it for signs that read: "Thank You for Not Wearing Perfume, Cologne or After-Shave."

FRANK IN PHOENIX
DEAR FRANK: Now that fragrances have come big business, one enters a crowded elevator without a gas mask at his/her own risk. The problem is not actually perfume, cologne or after-shave — it's the "smell-goods" who drench themselves in it.

Let's be fair, Frank. While too much can be merely annoying, it's life-threatening only to those who are highly allergic. The solution: All fragrances should be labeled: "Warning: Use sparingly. Excessive amounts may render you friendless."

LISTEN, ABBY: I'm sick and tired of reading about the "rights" of non-smokers to shove smokers around and make them feel guilty. My wife has now begun to threaten me, saying she just might go back to work, move out and live by herself where she won't have to breathe my cigarette smoke.

Well, that's OK by me. There are plenty of women who would be glad to have a good provider, like me and the smoke wouldn't bother them too much. Or, I'm sure, I wouldn't have any trouble finding a woman who smokes and who won't bellyache about my smoking.

I work hard, and when I get home I enjoy my smokes. What does the wife do but stay home all day, clean the house and look after our two kids? She says my heavy smoking will hurt the kids. Well, they can get out, too. I'm the breadwinner in this family and I have my rights. If she's afraid of getting lung cancer because I smoke a couple of packs a day, she can just hold her breath.

I'll bet I don't see this in your column, but I'm mailing it anyway.

SMOKEY SAM
FROM DELAWARE

LISTEN, SAM: You lose.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your response that a "thank-you" scribbled on the back of a check (given as gift) is better than no thank-you at all: Not in our case. My husband and I have checking accounts in three separate financial institutions, none of which return the original checks with their statements. So a thank-you would never be seen by either one of us. So, for those who are too lazy to write a thank-you note for a check, a telephone thank-you would be better than none at all.

The common courtesy of a thank-you note is a combination of personal caring for the feelings of others, sincere gratitude and parental teaching. I have a 12-year-old niece who still does not write a thank-you note unless I made a federal case out of it. For her 13th birthday, instead of a gift, I plan to write her a letter explaining that I am tired of having to ask for a thank-you, so I'm not sending her anything. Think she'll get the message? (Her mother is just as bad.)

CHRIS P.

DEAR CHRIS: Most parents have had to remind, nag, threaten or bribe their children to write thank-you notes. Some parents are so embarrassed or impatient, they write the notes themselves and beg the child to "copy it." I believe that children learn responsibility from having to bear the consequences of their own actions.

Dr. Donohue

Common fungus can turn killer

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: When my sister died, the post-mortem report stated, "aspergillosis." I haven't been able to find an explanation, only that it is a fungus that is breathed in. Where would this come from? How does one know if it is in the air around us? I and our family are very confused and really need some answers. — M.L.

Aspergillosis is infection with the very common fungus, aspergillus. I can understand how the death of a loved one from what might appear to be a mysterious illness can be so very distressing. No mystery surrounds aspergillosis.

But you must now wonder why if the fungus that causes it is so widespread most people are not affected by it. It seems around us, on us, in us. We don't fall prey to it because our immune systems are geared to mount a counterattack at a moment's notice of its presence. Only in very rare instances does the fungus make us ill, much less kill. And at such times the larger problem of weakened immunity system is to blame. When this happens, many normally innocuous organisms become lethal enemies.

Why your sister's immune system became this way, I cannot say. Or perhaps that was not the basic problem. Perhaps she happened somehow to become exposed to massive quantities of the fungus at once and her immune system was overwhelmed that way, permitting massive growth of the fungus, perhaps in her respiratory tract. I am only guessing to give you some understanding of how such deaths occur.

You or your family need not fear for your own health. A lifetime of exposure to this little organism has left you unscathed so far and it's unlikely to cause you harm in the future.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Women are told to examine their breasts about a week after menstruation ends to get a better reading. What about after menopause? — Mrs. U.

When women reach menopause and are no longer menstruating, they should select a particular day of the month (like the first) for breast examination and stick to it.

I've been asked if the time of day makes a difference. Medically, it makes no differences at all. Psychologically, early morning is best.

Why? It might save the woman a sleepless night of worry if an evening examination revealed suspicious lumps. Also, a morning finding of lumps allows the woman a full day to follow through on her resolve to see a physician (or make the appointment).

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Donohue's booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and one dollar.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Say ole: the barbeque way!

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Barbeque! Many claim the word comes from the Spanish "barbacoa," meaning a framework of sticks on which food could be roasted over an open fire. Paying homage to the Spanish origin of the barbeque is a fiesta of food, an outdoor ole, a budget-stretching meal of simple fare prepared with party flair.

Many men claim to be masters of the barbeque, so let your man prevail! Fajitas are a diner-preparation food. Simply provide the makings and step back and relax.

CHICKEN FAJITAS

- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1/2 cup lime juice
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. dried oregano
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. ground cumin
- 3 whole chicken breasts, halved, skinned and boned
- Flour tortillas

Combine first ten ingredients in a shallow non-metal container, mix well. Add chicken breasts to marinade, turning to coat each side. Cover and marinate chicken for four hours, in refrigerator, turning occasionally. Remove chicken from marinade, grill eight minutes; turn and continue cooking five to seven minutes or until cooked through. Slice chicken breasts into thin slices. Place slices of chicken and garnishes in a warm flour tortilla and roll up.

Suggested garnishes: chopped tomatoes, chopped onion, sliced avocado and salsa.

WARM TORTILLAS: Wrap tortillas in extra heavy duty aluminum foil and place on outside edge of grill. Heat about 15 minutes turning package over once.

Note: Always place cover on grill while cooking. Covering helps to eliminate flare-ups.

MEXICAN RICE

- 1 1/2 cups regular long grain rice
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 2 3/4 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 cup mild salsa

In large saucepan over low heat, cook rice, onion, green pepper and garlic in oil until rice is lightly browned, stirring frequently. Stir in chicken broth and salsa; bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until all liquid is absorbed, about 20 minutes.

Makes 6 servings.

HOT 'N SPICY SHRIMP DIP

- 1 can (14 ounces) artichoke hearts
- 1 can (4 1/4 ounces) shrimp, rinsed and drained
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup Pace picante sauce
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Short, finely julienned red pepper strips (optional)
- Thinly sliced green onion tops (optional)

Drain artichoke hearts; dice. Add shrimp, cream cheese, mayonnaise, picante sauce and Parmesan cheese; mix well. Spoon into 9-inch round pie plate or shallow baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees about 20 minutes or until heated through. Garnish with red pepper and green onion, if desired. Serve with chips and assorted vegetable dippers.

Makes about 2 1/2 cups dip.
Microwave oven directions: Cook in microwave oven at HIGH for about three minutes or until hot, stirring after each minute of cooking.

CHICKEN FLAUTAS APPETIZERS

- 2 cups finely shredded or chopped cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup Pace picante sauce

- 3/4 tsp. ground cumin
- 32 corn tortillas (6-inch diameter)
- Vegetable oil
- 2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
- Guacamole (recipe follows)

Combine chicken, picante sauce, onion and cumin; mix well. Heat about 1/2 inch oil in small skillet until hot but not smoking. Quickly fry each tortilla in oil to soften, about five seconds on each side. Drain on paper towels. Spoon one tablespoon chicken mixture and one tablespoon cheese down center of each tortilla. Roll tightly; secure with wooden pick. Place seam side down on baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven at 400 degrees about 18 to 20 minutes or until crisp. Serve warm with Guacamole and additional picante sauce.

Makes 32 appetizers.

GUACAMOLE

RULES OF THE GLASSCOCK COUNTY UNDERGROUND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT
RULE MAKING PROCEDURE
Both the enabling legislation creating the Glasscock County Underground Water Conservation District and the Texas Water Code Provide that the District "may make and enforce rules to provide for conserving, preserving, protecting, recharging, controlling subsidence, and preventing waste of the underground water reservoir or its subdivisions and to carry out the powers and duties" provided by the Water Code and the enabling legislation.
GENERAL DISCUSSION OF RULES
A. Rule 1 - Rule 1 contains definitions that apply throughout the rules of the District. The following explanations may help clarify those rules.
1) A well or water well is one which produces more than 25,000 gallons of water per day.
2) The definition of waste which is contained in the rules is that which is contained in the Texas Water Code passed by Texas Legislature.
B. Rule 2 - Rule 2 concerns waste of water. This rule represents the heart of the purpose of the District in that it provides for controlling the waste of one of our most precious resources.
C. Rule 3 - Rule 3 requires that a permit be obtained for any well that could reasonably be expected to produce or a pump designed to produce in excess of 25,000 gallons of water per day.
D. Rule 4 - Deposits - The first step in the permitting process is for the applicant to file an application for permit with the District accompanied by a $50.00 deposit. Rule 4 sets out the terms under which these deposits will be returned to the applicant.
E. Rule 5 - Issuance of permits - Rule 5 sets forth the method for applying for permits as well as the information required on those permits. The District will provide forms for completion of the permits and will assist the applicant in filling out the permits.
F. Rule 6 - Requirement of Driller's Log, Casing and Pump Data - This rule requires that the Driller's Log, any electric log, and all additional data concerning the well be turned over to the District.
G. Rule 7 - Minimum Spacing of Wells. This rule provides for wells to be placed no closer than 600 feet from a property line and no more than 16 wells per section or 2 gallons per minute per acre whichever is greater. This is to be adjusted for acreage, e.g. 8 wells 1/4 sec. - 4 wells/quarter section etc.
H. Rule 8 - Exceptions to Spacing Rule - Rule 8 provides discretion in the Board in granting exceptions to the spacing rule in order to "protect vested property rights, prevent waste, prevent confiscation of property, or protect correlative rights to water."
I. Rule 9 - Place of Drilling of Well - Rule 9 simply requires that if a permit is granted the well must be drilled within ten yards of the location specified on the permit and not elsewhere.
J. Rule 10 - Rerworking or Replacing of Well - This rule provides for conditions in which a replacement well or rerworking of a well would constitute a new well requiring a permit.
K. Rules 11, 12, and 13 - Rules 11, 12 and 13 provide general requirements concerning permits, changed conditions in the right of the District to inspect wells.
L. Rule 14 - Rule 14 provides that the owner or operator must close or cap wells permanently that are not in operation. This is already a State Law requiring such capping of wells. Also, if the owner or operator does not cap the wells, then the District may do so and have a lien against the owners property for the cost of capping up to $100.00.
M. Rules 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19 - Rules 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19 provide general procedural rules for the District including the method of appeal or hearings allowed to persons affected by the rules.
N. Rule 20 - Rule 20 concerns the Board validating existing wells.
O. Rule 21 - Transportation of Water from the District - This rule gives the District authority to obtain records for any water that is being transported from the District. Anyone wishing to transfer water either by pipeline, channel, ditch, water course, or other natural or artificial facilities from wells located within the District to areas outside the District must receive a permit from the District.
ENFORCEMENT OF RULES
The District may enforce the rules adopted by the District through injunction or other appropriate remedy in the courts.
Copies of the rules will be posted at the courthouses and various locations throughout the County for your review. Copies will, also, be available in the Water District Office.
The effective date of these rules will be fourteen days from the date of the first publication.

Twin Towers lean on Lakers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — While Kareem Abdul-Jabbar has shown no sign of slowing down on offense in recent years, he has been especially effective against the Houston Rockets since the "Twin Towers" came into being.

But the NBA's all-time leading scorer was anything but effective Tuesday night as Akeem Olajuwon and Ralph Sampson combined to limit him to only nine field goals in 26 attempts and a total of 21 points and four rebounds.

Meanwhile, guard Lewis Lloyd of the Rockets scored 10 of his 24 points in the fourth quarter and Olajuwon and Sampson combined for 46 more points along with 29 rebounds and 11 blocked shots against the defending NBA champions.

The result was a 112-102 victory by the Rockets, which evened the Western Conference finals at 1-1.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson has been in the NBA for three years and the 7-0 Olajuwon for two seasons. Before Tuesday night, Abdul-Jabbar had averaged 32 points per game in leading the Lakers to nine victories in 11 games against Houston since the beginning of the 1984-85 season.

That includes the 31 points the 39-year-old center scored in the Lakers' 119-107 series-opening victory over the Rockets last Saturday.

"The big guys (Sampson and Olajuwon) created a lot of havoc," Lakers Coach Pat Riley said. "We're going to have to be stronger with our moves to the basket. You can't be tentative with these guys."

Sampson had 24 points, 16 rebounds and five blocked shots while Olajuwon had 22 points, 13 rebounds and six blocked shots. Many of those blocks were on shots taken by the 7-2 Abdul-Jabbar.

"One time I thought they dropped someone out of the ceiling to block my shot," Abdul-Jabbar said. "They had me hitching on my shot and looking for people. The ball just would not go down for me. It was a rough night."

The best-of-seven series now shifts to the Summit in Houston for the third game Friday night and the fourth game Sunday. The Rockets are 41-5 at home this season, including a perfect 5-0 during the playoffs.

"This game gives us a lot of confidence going back to Houston because we can't lose there," Olajuwon said. "We'll do whatever it takes to win. It's going to be tough, but I know we can do it."

Lloyd scored only four points in the series opener and got off to a slow start in Game 2, missing several times early in the game.

"The first game I had a slight cold, it kind of slowed me up," he said. "When it's money time like it was tonight, I feel like I'm at my best. They were giving me the outside shot the whole game and I

Boston muscles Milwaukee

BOSTON (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks won the opening tap. They scored the first two points. Unfortunately, they still had to play 46 minutes and 40 seconds of basketball against the Boston Celtics.

"No one has said that they are not the best team," Bucks' Coach Don Nelson said. "They pretty much prove it every night."

The latest bit of overwhelming evidence was presented Tuesday night. The Celtics charged into a 29-point lead with less than five minutes gone in the second quarter and blasted the Bucks 128-96 in the opener of their NBA Eastern Conference final series.

"After a week off, we needed to come out and get a good tempo going and put in a strong performance," Boston forward Kevin McHale said. "I think we did that tonight. We did everything we wanted to do."

The Celtics led 29-12 after one quarter as Milwaukee tied six other teams for the fewest points scored in the first quarter of an NBA playoff game. The Bucks hit just 29.8 percent of their field goal attempts in the first half, which ended with Boston in front 60-38.

The Celtics outrebounded the Bucks 67-51. They outpassed the Bucks, 39 assists to 17. Milwaukee's top regular-season scorer, Sidney Moncrief, was sidelined, but the next three on the list — Terry Cummings, Paul Pressey and Ricky Pierce — hit just 8-of-34 field goal attempts for 23 points.

"We did a lot of good things on defense," said Larry Bird, who led Boston with 26 points. "Robert (Parish) and Kevin did a good job on Terry and when he would make a move, we would help pick him up."

"They were bigger, but we were quicker," said Cummings, who sank 3-of-13 shots and scored eight points. "We could get by the first man so easily but once we were in the paint they collapsed on us."

Moncrief has missed five of Milwaukee's last eight playoff games with an injured left heel. Nelson said he may be able to play when the best-of-seven series resumes here Thursday night.

Milwaukee Bucks Alton Lister (left) and Ricky Pierce look dejectedly as their team gets overpowered by the Boston Celtics last night in Boston.

The victory was the Celtics' 25th in their last 28 games. It was their 37th in a row at home where they are 46-1 this season. They are 6-0 against the Bucks this season.

The Celtics had been idle for six days after wrapping up their conference semifinal series with Atlanta in five games. They were concerned about being stale and they started slowly on offense.

"The defense kept us in it," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said.

The Celtics led 3-2 before Dennis Johnson hit the first of his two consecutive jumpers with 8:36 left in the first quarter. With Boston leading 7-6, the

Sprinter seeking elusive state gold

By STEVE BELVIN

COLORADO CITY — Sandra Williams has had a banner prep track career. In her four years of competing for the Red and Black at Colorado City, she has lost only of handful of races while qualifying for the state meet three seasons. Still there is something missing from her trophy case.

A gold medal from the state track meet.

The Colorado City senior will get her final chance for some state gold this weekend when she competes in the state meet in the 100 meters and triple jump. Not many athletes can boast of making it to state all through their high school careers. But Williams stays away from that conversation. Her main thoughts are on the elusive gold medal.

The closest she came to the gold was her freshman year in the 100, a race she has been beaten in only four times in her career. That season she finished third by running a blazing 11.80. Though she has come close to the time, including a 11.96 this season, she has never bettered the mark.

"I try not to think about it," she says of not being able to able to match her freshman time. "But I do give it some thought and it bothers me. I have ulcers and I try not to let it worry me. But it's always in the back of my mind."

Her sophomore season Williams again qualified for state in the 100 and the 400 meter relay. She finished fifth in the 100 (12.10). Last season she again qualified in the 400 relay. But in a rare loss, she finished third in the 100 in regionals, thus marking the first time she hadn't been to Austin in a individual event.

She anchored the relay to a school-record 48.53 for a sixth place finish. Not a small feat when one considers she got the baton in eighth place.

This year Williams breezed through another successful regular season, going undefeated in the 100, long jump and triple jump. She even showed dominance while anchoring the 800 relay, where she had been clocked in 23.5 with a running start. "I get too tight in the 200 though, when I get to the final curve I get tense and tighten up. But I hoped my teammates and I could make it to state in the 800 relay."

Her first loss came at the District 6-3A meet when Crane's Jackie Drones beat her in the triple jump. At the regional meet Williams avenged the loss by jumping a career-best 37-3, getting second and qualifying her to state. Dalhart's Sharon Hudson, a sprinter-jumper who Williams has competed against in Austin the past three years, won the event with a 40-plus jump.

Williams was also nipped at the tape in the 100 by Breckenridge's Shirley Ray. "I cruised in the last 10 meters and she came and beat me," she said of the loss to Ray. "It's the part of the race I've been working on, finishing the last 10 meters strong. Up until that time I hadn't really been pushed and I was used to just striding across the finish line."

Colorado City High School sprinter Sandra Williams works on coming out of the blocks as she prepares for the state track meet this weekend in Austin.

But the fire starts to show in her eyes when the subject is switched to Hudson, who owns some of the state's top marks in the triple jump, long jump and

200 meters. "I've been going against her for four years now and we know each other pretty well."

"I beat her at state our freshman and sophomore year and she beat me in the triple jump this year. We're more rivals than good friends. We respect each other's ability."

So now it all boils down to one

Attention doesn't affect Ferdinand's veteran trainer

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a lifetime of competition in the nation's top horse races, Charlie Whittingham is well prepared to withstand the pressure of chasing the Triple Crown.

"If you can't handle the attention," the 73-year-old Hall of Fame trainer said, "you might as well have a few horses and just try to win the last race (on the card) each day."

Whittingham has been the center of attention since he saddled 17-1 shot Ferdinand, the winner of the Kentucky Derby. The media onslaught has continued this week at Pimlico Race Course.

"It hasn't upset me yet," Whittingham said as he prepared Ferdinand for Saturday's 111th running of the 13-16-mile Preakness Stakes, the second leg in thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Six rivals, including four he defeated in the Derby, will try to end Ferdinand's bid to become the 12th Triple Crown champion and first since Affirmed in 1978.

The Derby competitors making another run at Ferdinand are Broad Brush, Badger Land, Snow Chief and Groovy. They will be joined by Clear Choice, winner of the Withers Mile last Wednesday, and the locally based Miracle Wood.

Clear Choice and Badger Land are both trained by D. Wayne Lukas, and will run as an entry for the $534,000 purse which includes $411,900 for the winner.

Although he has saddled more stakes winners than any trainer in history, Whittingham admits that his first venture into the Triple Crown competition since 1960 has been eye-opening.

"Before the Derby, nobody bothered me," he said. "After winning most any other race — and I've won about half of them — you just forget about it. But after the Derby, everybody was congratulating me."

It didn't escape Whittingham's notice, either, that the media quickly abandoned trainer Mel Stute after his favored Snow Chief finished 11th in the Derby.

"You know how the rats leave a sinking ship?" Whittingham said. "You couldn't find one guy over there, even feeling sorry for him (Stute)."

At Churchill Downs, Whittingham said, "there must have been 1,000 reporters, and many don't go to another race all year."

The media blitz continued when Whittingham showed up at Pimlico about dawn on Tuesday. It was on a much smaller scale, but Whittingham still had few minutes to himself.

Most questioners wanted to know if Whittingham thought Ferdinand had a chance to win Saturday.

"Barring the unforeseen, and that gets in the way sometimes, I think he'll win the Preakness," Whittingham said. "Right now, he's the best horse. He beat them in Kentucky, and didn't have a smooth trip. He should keep improving."

Because of the hard campaign leading to the Derby, plus the brief two-week layoff between races and the shorter distance, Whittingham said he rated the Preakness the toughest of the Triple Crown races to win.

Although he feels the Triple Crown races should be a month apart, Whittingham said he couldn't back down from a chance to try for the Preakness.

John wins No. 261 as Yankees drop Twins

By The Associated Press
Tommy John, who will celebrate his 43rd birthday next week, is still winning in his 23rd major-league season, although that may come as a surprise to many.

"I really didn't have anything to lose," John said after collecting his 261st career triumph in a 6-4 New York Yankees victory Tuesday over the Minnesota Twins. "Probably, you wouldn't have given me two cents at making the ballclub in spring training."

Baseball

He didn't, but was signed May 2 as a free agent just 20 days prior to his birthday. And it has worked out.

John came out a winner after Ken Griffey's RBI double snapped a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Cleveland 3, Texas 2 in 10 innings; Baltimore 3, Chicago 1; Kansas City 4, Detroit 2 in 11 innings; Seattle 8, Milwaukee 5;

California 5, Boston 4, and Toronto was tied 3-3 with Oakland after nine innings.

In the National League, it was Montreal 4, Cincinnati 2; Chicago 6, San Francisco 5; San Diego 4, Pittsburgh 2; Atlanta 6, New York 3; Houston 3, Philadelphia 2, and Los Angeles 6, St. Louis 5 in 13 innings.

John, 2-0, pitched seven strong innings, allowing only five hits.

Minnesota scored all of its runs on home runs. Steve Lombardozzi hit a three-run homer and Ron Washington a solo shot.

The Yankees got homers from Dave Winfield, Don Mattingly and Rickey Henderson.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Orioles 3, White Sox 1
Chicago first baseman Bobby Bonilla bobbled a dribbler by pinch-hitter Larry Sheets, then made a wild underhand toss, allowing John Shelby to score the winning run in the eighth inning. Baltimore got another run in the inning on Eddie Murray's run-scoring single to deep shortstop.

Shelby, in a 3-for-25 slump, singled in the third and stole second and third, making him 9-for-9 this season. He scored on a high hopper to shortstop, sliding under the tag by catcher Joel Skinner.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Orioles, a season high, while the White Sox lost for the eighth time in 11 games.

Indians 3, Rangers 2

Pat Tabler's solo home run off reliever Greg Harris with two outs in the 10th inning won it for Cleveland, snapping a four-game losing streak. The loss snapped the Rangers' three-game winning streak.

Cleveland starter Don Schulze carried a one-hitter and a 2-1 lead into the eighth inning, but he was replaced by reliever Scott Bailes after issuing two walks. Pete O'Brien's RBI single then tied the game.

Joe Carter had a two-run homer for Cleveland.

Royals 4, Tigers 2

Hal McRae's two-run homer off Willie Hernandez with one out in the 11th inning won it. Steve Balboni had lifted the Royals into a 2-2 tie with a homer off Hernandez in the ninth.

Morris allowed only four hits in eight innings, striking out nine and giving up four walks. Saberhagen gave up eight hits and struck out seven while walking two through nine innings.

Mariners 8, Brewers 5

Danny Tartabull had four hits, including two triples, and drove in two runs for Seattle, which turned the first triple play of the year. Tartabull tripled and scored in the first inning. He also tripled in the eighth to drive in two runs but was thrown out trying for an inside-the-park home run.

Bill Schroeder contributed a three-run homer for Milwaukee.

Seattle pulled off the triple play in the first inning after Randy Ready and Ernie Riles walked to start the game. Cecil Cooper grounded to first baseman Alvin Davis, who threw to Domingo Ramos at second to force Riles. Ramos' relay to first was too late to get Cooper but Ready strayed off third and was tagged out by catcher Bob Kearney in a run down.

Kearney then threw to second baseman Tartabull, who tagged out Cooper.

Angels 5, Red Sox 4
Doug DeCinces drove in two runs and rookie Wally Joyner hit his major league-leading 13th homer for California. Joyner also leads the majors with 35 RBI.

A's 6, Blue Jays 3

Dave Kingman hit a three-run homer with one out in the 10th inning, capping Oakland's comeback. Trailing 3-0, Oakland got a home run from Bruce Bochte in the seventh. In the eighth, Damaso Garcia's throwing error with men on first and second let in a run. Oakland tied it in the ninth as Dusty Baker singled and, with two outs, was doubled home by Alfredo Griffin.

Bill Mooneyham, 1-0, threw three innings to pick up his first major-league victory.

Lloyd Moseby continued a hot hitting streak with a homer and two singles for Toronto. Moseby raised his batting average to .346 with a 3-for-4 game and is 13-for-23 over the last six games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Expos 4, Reds 2

Surging Montreal won for the 11th time in 13 games, with Andre Dawson two-run single in the bottom of the fifth inning the decisive hit off Mario Soto, 2-5. Floyd Youmans, 2-3, was the winner. Jeff Reardon got his 10th save. Montreal's Tim Lincecum extended the year's longest hitting streak to 17 games.

Giants 6, Cubs 5

Pinch-hitter Candy Maldonado's two-run homer off Lee Smith with two outs in the ninth inning rallied San Francisco, which had blown a 4-0 lead in the eighth. The Cubs' five-run rally in the eighth was highlighted by a two-run homer by

Oilers sign free agents

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Duke quarterback Ben Bennett and five other players have signed free agent contracts with the Houston Oilers, the NFL club announced Tuesday. Bennett, 6-1, 200, was a sixth round draft choice by the Atlanta Falcons in 1984, but opted for the USFL Jacksonville Bulls. He went to training camp again with the Falcons in 1985 and was released at the end of the preseason. Other signees are: linebackers Mike Kinsey, 6-2, 235, Texas Tech and Mike Knox, 6-2, 237, Nebraska; wide receiver William McCrary, 6-0, 170, Georgetown College; nose guard Tim Roth, 6-0, 260, Nebraska and defensive end Derek Turner, 6-2, 258, Baylor.

New kicker motivates Septien

IRVING (AP) Rafael Septien is almost 100 per cent healed from the 1985 NFL season but isn't rushing out to practice 50 field goals a day because the Dallas Cowboys' drafted prolific Max Zendejas of Arizona. "I never start kicking until mid-June," said Septien. "I would be burned out quickly if I kicked during the off-season." Zendejas was drafted in the fourth round and was seen as a message to Septien, who had an injury-plagued 1985 season. "Septien hurt his back in the offseason and never really got over it," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It kept plaguing him all the way to the playoff game where he pulled a leg muscle." Septien has received some criticism for being too active in such sports as racquet ball and kick boxing. "The problem with Septien is he thinks he can do everything," said Landry. "He thinks he can kick box with Randy White. That's how he hurt his back. He needs to lay off those things." Septien said he is "motivated" by the drafting of Zendejas.

 meet for the C-City flash to get same state gold. She admits her best shot is in the 100. "The 100 is my pride and joy. With a strong finish I think I can run a 11.6. I'm shooting from at least 37 feet in the triple jump, although that probably won't be good enough to beat Sharon Hudson." But she insists she's ready for the challenge. "My first year I was a scared freshman at state. My sophomore year I was scared but I had my teammates with me. My junior year I was getting use to it and this year I'm not scared. I know what I capable of and I'm just going to go for it." If I do good or do bad I'm not going to worry about it because I'll know I've tried my best. I just thank God, my coaches and my mother for putting up with me," she concluded. What will she remember most about her high school track career? "Going to state four times, and hopefully crossing the finish line first in the 100 this weekend."

 think I proved it was a mistake." Los Angeles, which had beaten Houston in 22 of the last 25 games between the teams before Tuesday night, is now 6-1 in playoff games at the Forum this spring. "I think it (the win) gives us some confidence, but they've been through this before," Houston Coach Bill Fitch said. "Hopefully, we'll go home and not tighten up... I don't think we will." Rodney McCray added 16 points and 11 assists for the Rockets. Earvin "Magic" Johnson led the Lakers with 24 points, 19 assists and eight rebounds. The Rockets outscored the Lakers 10-4 in the final 2:18 of the second quarter to take a 54-53 lead at halftime, and they were on top the rest of the way. Los Angeles led 25-18 after the first quarter and 34-20 early in the second period before Houston got its game together. The Rockets extended their advantage to 83-69 late in the third quarter, but the Lakers narrowed the gap to 87-77 entering the final period, and closed to within two points at 92-90 with 8:47 left to play. But the Rockets were equal to the challenge and held Los Angeles to only 10 points after Maurice Lucas' layup with 8:14 to go made it 94-92. Led by Lloyd and a tough defense, the Rockets pulled away steadily in the closing moments. A jumper by Lloyd with 1:59 left made it 108-99. "They definitely have the advantage now," Lakers forward Kurt Rambis said. "We have to get at least one win down there (at Houston). Our work is definitely cut out for us."

 Celtics got the next eight points, six by McHale. Bird's layup made the score 19-9 with 2:52 remaining in the period and the lead stayed in double figures the rest of the game. That shot came in the midst of a 16-3 run that put the Celtics on top 33-12 in the opening minute of the second quarter. "Before you knew it, they had us in a running game and we began taking chances," Pressey said. "When you take chances against Boston, you're going to pay." Kenny Fields scored 18 points and Craig Hodges 14 to lead Milwaukee. In the first quarter, Bird had 10 points and McHale had nine of his 17. When Parish picked up his third foul with 4:05 left in the period, Bill Walton took over at center and scored 11 first-half points. He finished with 15. "We've been moving the ball. We've been finding the cut," said Bird. "We present problems for the other teams when they double-team down low because we have good passing centers. ... We are able to get the ball to the open man." To try and counter Boston's inside strength, centers Randy Breuer and Alton Lister both started for Milwaukee. That didn't work. Nelson later shifted to a smaller lineup. That didn't work either. "Milwaukee can put the big lineup in, but I don't know if they have the strength or the maneuverability to stop Robert," Bird said. "And no one has been able to stop Kevin yet." The Bucks made one run at the Celtics, outscoring them 16-4 to cut the lead to 68-54 with 7:51 to play in the third quarter. But Boston battled right back with nine straight points and stayed ahead by from 21 to 34 points for the final 17 minutes. Milwaukee was coming off a seven-game series against Philadelphia that didn't end until Sunday. "We were probably tired," Pierce said. "But you can't take anything away from the way the Celtics played. They played great."

McEnroe may miss Wimbledon

NEW YORK (AP) — John McEnroe, who has both awed and upset Wimbledon fans in recent years, will not likely do either this year. When the Grand Slam tournament is played June 23-July 6, it probably will be without the tempestuous, talented left-hander from New York, according to his father.

The 27-year-old McEnroe, suffering from physical and mental exhaustion, has not played in a major tournament since January. "It's unlikely (he will play at Wimbledon) ... for the same reason he won't play in the French (Open) and for the same reason he hasn't played for the last four months," John McEnroe Sr. said of his son, who has won Wimbledon three times. "There are a lot of things going on in his life. Wimbledon is a major tournament, with a tremendous amount of pressure," McEnroe Sr. said. "For anyone who has been off the way John has, it would not make sense that his first event to come back would be Wimbledon. As a matter of timing, it just wouldn't work."

McEnroe and his girlfriend, actress Tatum O'Neal, are expecting their first child within a month. "I don't know what he said," the younger McEnroe said Tuesday night when asked about his father's comments. The player, who was at the Forum in Inglewood, Calif., for the Los Angeles Lakers' NBA playoff game against the Houston Rockets, refused further comment.

 Gary Matthews and two-run single by Ron Cey. Chili Davis homered earlier for the Giants. Padres 4, Pirates 2
 Dane Iorg's three-run homer in the second inning led San Diego. Kevin McReynolds walked and Graig Nettles singled before Iorg hit Mike Bielecki's first pitch over the right field wall for his first homer. Iorg was hitting .190 entering the game. Braves 6, Mets 3
 Claudell Washington hit a two-run homer and Dale Murphy lined an RBI single in a three-run seventh for Atlanta. Pinch-hitter Chris Chambliss drew a leadoff walk in the inning, took second on a sacrifice and was balked to third. Washington jumped on Rick Aguilera's next pitch, sending the ball over the right-center field fence for his fifth home run of the season and a 4-3 lead. The home run was the ninth allowed by Aguilera in 17 2-3 innings this season. The loss was the third in the last 22 games for the Mets, whose 21-6 record is the best in the major leagues. Astros 3, Phillies 2

Denny Walling's single in the 11th inning knocked in Phil Garner from second base with the decisive run. Garner doubled with one out off loser Dave Rucker, 0-1. After an intentional walk to Glenn Davis, Walling bounced a game-winning single against the right-field wall. Julio Solano, 2-0, pitched a hitless 11th inning to win it. Solano combined with starter Mike Scott, Charlie Kerfeld and Frank DiPino to hold the Phillies to five hits. Dodgers 6, Cardinals 5
 Mike Marshall hit a two-run homer, his eighth of the season, with one out in the 13th inning.

Marshall's homer following Ken Landreaux's single also gave him 25 RBI — he leads the NL in homers and RBI. In the bottom of the 12th, Jerry White's pinch-hit homer tied the score 4-4. The Cardinals rallied again in the 13th but fell short after a run-scoring double by Andy Van Slyke. Dodgers reliever Tom Niedenfuer had singled and Dave Anderson doubled him home in the 12th to make it 4-3. Rain delays of 26 and 42 minutes stalled the game in the third inning.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have some very good, creative ideas today and although there are some obstacles connected with them, you would be wise to strive valiantly to make them work to your benefit.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go ahead with the big plans you have made regardless of the negativity you meet from a friend.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have a good idea how to improve conditions at home, though it may be a little costly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't permit a worldly, tense condition interfere with important duties connected with associates.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get busy at practical matters and forget a private anxiety. Try to increase your income and assets.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Go after personal desires that mean a great deal to you and avoid one who is endeavoring to force you to do something you do not approve of.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have private aims that can help you to advance your career and steer clear of a bigwig who is irate and could take it out on you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be with a generous friend who can be of great assistance to you and forget about going off on some silly tangent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get right at civic duties you have to attend to and don't let a boring person waste your time. Concentrate on organization.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get away from home early and pursue advanced ideas through which you can make big headway.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study how to get your practical affairs operating more efficiently and profitably. Have more faith in your mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your partner wants to have an important discussion with you so put aside your desire for recreation now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure to listen to what a co-worker has to suggest, since you are not so full of good ideas right now.

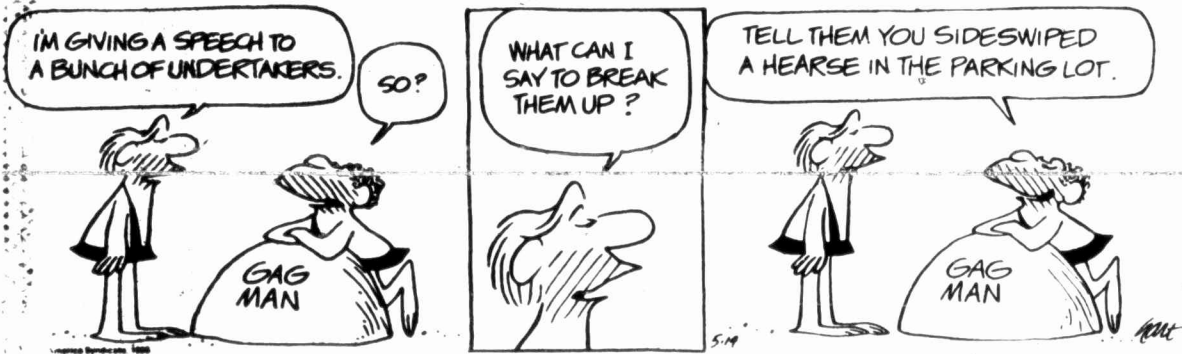

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can understand any plan from its broadest scope and should have the praise that is needed in order to raise the incentive after doing some especially good work, and then much success can be achieved. Teach to be more objective in dealings with others.

CARING is helping control costs.

We do more than say, "We care." We show it. One way is by making sure the funeral service is meaningful and dignified. Another important consideration is cost. Certainly we understand the family's need to control cost. In caring concern, we offer every available option to do so. (The cost does not affect the dignified quality of our service.)

Hospital plans lecture series

Malone-Hogan Hospital will sponsor a series of lectures this week as part of the May 11-17 celebration of National Hospital Week, which honors the nation's 6,000 hospitals.

"Hospitals Make Healthy Neighbors" is the theme for the week.

The three 40-minute lectures will be presented at noon in the hospital classroom on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, said hospital spokeswoman Emily Ward. The public is invited, and those attending may bring a sack lunch. Free beverages will be provided, she said.

Speaking on Tuesday and Thursday will be Dr. George Rosenberg, obstetrician and gynecologist, on "PMS — the Raging Hormones." PMS stands for pre-menstrual syndrome, a term describing a group of physical or behavioral changes some women go through before their menstrual periods begin each month.

Speaking on Friday will be Charlie Voight, patient counselor at the Crossroads Recovery Program, on "Drug Dependency — a Sobering Disease."

Lectures will begin at 12:10 p.m. and end at 12:50 p.m., and time will be allowed for questions.

To preregister, call 263-1211, Ext. 110. Groups will be limited to 35 people, because of space limitations.

County to set liquor election

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners are expected to set an election date Monday for Precinct 1 residents to vote on the law that prohibits sale of mixed drinks.

Commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. Monday on the second floor of the county courthouse.

Other items they will discuss include indigent health care and renovation of the former Woolworth's building now owned by the county.

A liquor-by-the-drink petition drive last month calling for an independent election garnered the required number of signatures by registered voters.

Howard County tax assessor-collector Dorothy Moore said the 2,604 signatures validated by her office in April more than met the minimum 2,421-signature requirement.

The drive was organized and spearheaded by Citizens for Choice, who had seen two previous petition drives shot down in 1985 because of invalid signatures.

The group seeks to change a law that allows liquor by the drink to be sold only in private clubs within the county's Precinct 1, which includes Big Spring.

According to the state election code, commissioners must formally approve the signatures and call for an election within 21 to 30 days from Monday's meeting.

State law requires that the election be independent, meaning no other issues or candidates can be included on the ballot. This rules out the possibility of holding a joint election on June 7 when Precincts 1, 2, and 4 residents will cast votes in runoff elections forced by the May 3 primaries.

Runoff elections will determine the Democratic nominations for county commissioners in Precincts 2 and 4 and Justice

BIG SPRING TRAVEL TALK

by Mary Valli

MORE THAN YOU BARGAINED FOR

Think of a cruise ship as a self-contained resort that floats. It provides the added bonus of transporting its passengers from one port to another, often while they sleep. While the initial cost of a cruise vacation is approximately the same as a stay at a land-based resort, cruise passengers get a lot more for their money. A cruise entitles them to three full meals a day at their assigned table in the dining room, plus additional snacks and a midnight buffet. There generally is terrific live entertainment and dancing every evening, with no cover or minimum drink charge. The captain usually hosts at least two cocktail parties. Cruise passengers have the run of the ship's facilities which are too numerous to mention. They generally visit at least three ports of call on a week's cruise and more on longer sailings.

Discover your own "Love Boat" and the vacation that will be the highlight of your dreams. A cruise is fast becoming a most popular choice of vacation for more and more people. With your hotel at hand at all times, you can enjoy the pleasure and relaxation of sailing the high seas, on board dining, entertainment and activities as well as visiting and shopping in some most interesting ports. So for the vacation of a lifetime, set sail for BIG SPRING TRAVEL, 608 Scurry, and let us provide you with the cruise you will always remember. Tel. 263-0225. Open 8:30-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

— HINT —
Cruise passengers often get a free or discounted round-trip airfare between their home and the embarkation point.

Diet Pill System Sweeping U.S.

Super Dream Pill Guaranteed Weight Loss

Eat Your Favorite Foods

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH — According to the latest review of customers' files, here's what some people are saying about the remarkable Dream Pill System for guaranteed weight loss:

"I lost 25 lbs. with a 30 day supply."
Mrs. J.N.S., Ft. Payne, Alabama
"Losing 1 lb. per day."

Mr. J.G., Pineville, Kentucky
"Your Dream Pill is working for me... ordering another supply."

Mrs. G.W., Fort Gay, West Virginia
"I have been on Dream Pill for one month and feel great... have lost 27 lbs."

Mr. A.D., Anadarko, Oklahoma
The System's Dream Pill combines the natural substances L-arginine and L-ornithine which can stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat [their favorite foods] — and still be thin and wiry."

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known healing qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Lose Weight 24 Hours A Day

One beautiful thing about the Dream Pill System is the ease with which it works. The pounds melt away 24 hours a day. You wake up every morning, slimmer, happier and feeling younger. The best time to take the pills is just before you go to bed at night. That way, the pounds melt away even as you sleep. You wake up every morning, slimmer, happier and feeling younger!

The super Dream Pill System is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again. Naturally, individual weight loss results (like those above) may vary depending upon initial weight, metabolic differences and adherence to the Dream Pill System.

Place your order now. If you are not completely satisfied with the thinner "new you" simply return the empty container for a full refund of your entire purchase price. No questions asked. Now what could be fairer than that?

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Green Acres can help with your planting needs

Many people do not realize they can plant any other time of the year other than springtime. But they can, says Debra Lusk of Green Acres Nursery.

"We have a large selection of containerized shrubs which can better be transplanted at all times of the year," she said. They can be planted throughout the summer months, and the only thing they need is water.

The staff at Green Acres Nursery provides helpful services to its customers. They offer free delivery of plants to hospitals, funerals and special occasions. Green Acres' gift items include silks, brass, baskets and pottery.

They also can help you select fertilizer, insecticide and herbicides, as well as certain plants for special locales. In the nursery's back yard, customers can find a large selection of bedding plants, trees, shrubs and roses. Being a full-service nursery, the staff can do landscaping, yard maintenance, tree trimming, and plant leasing.

Green Acres may be hard to find, but it's worth the trip. The nursery is located at 700 E. 17th Street. Debra says it is three blocks east of Goliad. It's also at the corner of Benton and 17th. The nursery is open seven days a week.

"If you come, it's a pretty pleasant experience," Debra says.
