How's that?

Hail

Q. How can it hail on a warm spring day, like it did a couple of weeks ago?

A. Hail has nothing to do with the temperature on the ground, said Charles Yates, engineering technician at the U.S. Agricultural Research Service. Hail, a ball of ice formed in layers, forms higher up in the clouds where it's much cooler. It can be warm near the ground but freezing up in the clouds, he

Staff Writer Two Chamber of Commerce committees gave verbal support Thursday to the proposed construction of a multi-park raceway complex near Big Spring and began clearing the way for its developers to obtain a lease on county property.

The Industrial Foundation and Tourism Development committees met with representatives of Sun Star Raceway, an investment group that seeks to lease property in Howard County Industrial Park. The land, located near the old county airport about three miles north of Big Spring off Highway 350, is currently leased by the Industrial Foundation.

Charles Hays, who has been working with James and Dorothy Leffler, to attract investors to the plan, spoke to committee members from both groups before they gave their nod of approval to the plan.

He said the investment group had raised in excess of $500,000 in pledges from potential investors, but had not received nor deposited any money into an account. The investment group estimates conexpenses to cost $5.8 million — provided it can obtain a lease for Industrial Park property, Hays said. "On a normal weekend, it's projected that we could attract two or three thousand people into the area, and you know what people can do for business," Hays said.

In February, Hays asked county commissioners about purchasing or leasing the land. Commissioners told him the land was currently leased to the Industrial Foundation, which had the right to sublease it.

Hays proposed to committee members that if the project met their approval, he would seek a letter from the Industrial Foundation asking commisioners to given the lease agreement back to the

Hays said speedway investors would then obtain permission from commissioners to begin construction, provided certain contingen-

One of the contingencies, Hays said, would be the raising of $5.8 million before a lease with the county is sought.

The raceway complex would consist of a water track for speed boats, a drag strip and oval track for motor vehicles, and a truck and tractor pull strip.

Hays said plans also call for construction of a recreational vehicle park and grandstands with a seating capacity of 5,000.

The old county airport is an ideal site, he said, because of power and water availability, and the runway,

Big Spring schools will remain open

Holiday travelers shouldn't venture too far this weekend if they have children in the Big Spring or Forsan schools.

While everything else buttons up Monday for Memorial Day, it will be business as usual for these two Howard County school districts. Coahoma school children, however, will have Monday off.

City and county offices will be closed Monday as will banks and state offices.
The Howard County Library will be closed Saturday and Monday. City residents who would normally get trash collection service on Monday will get it on Tuesday instead. The baler, however, will be open Monday.

Spring Cleanup, a curbside collection of heavy items, will be on Tuesday instead of Monday next week. The targeted area is bounded by 11th Place on the north. FM 700 on the south and east, and Gregg Street on the west.

The Big Spring Herald will be open Monday morning for classified advertising customers. Deadline is 9 a.m. for "Too Late to Classify" for Monday's paper; deadline is 11:30 a.m. for regular classified advertising for Tuesday. HOLIDAY page 2A

Amanda's wish

Even junk mail brightens handicapped youngster's day

By JODY TAYLOR

Associated Press Writer GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — When the mailman snaps the metal flap on the mailbox at the Amanda Cooper's home, a pair of 4-year-old eyes light up.

Amanda can't get up to see what's in the mailbox, but her squeal of joy sends her mother or sister to have a look. Junk mail is as much of a delight to the little girl as a personally addressed note, her mother says.

Receiving mail is Amanda's wish, and the Make a Wish chapter in North Carolina is trying to grant it for her. The group attempts to fulfill desires of children who have life-threatening illnesses

Amanda has a genetic disease that causes her bones to fracture easily. She suffers from respiratory problems and cannot sit, stand or hold her head up. Dwarfism is another symptom of the disease - Amanda has grown only to the size of an 18-month-old child.

But to Barbara and Hubert Cooper, she is a happy child who has taught them lessons of patience and hope, a child who loves Kenny Rogers songs on the radio and thinks her daddy goes to work every day just towearn ice cream

The Coopers have four natural children who are now grown, and have cared for some 50 foster children over the past 18 years. Besides Amanda, they have adopted two other girls, one of them blind.

Mrs. Cooper said she first saw Amanda when the child was 5 weeks old. "I just fell in love with her," she recalled. "I love parenting and I'm good at parenting and I enjoy the child. My husband says I'm not happy if there isn't a baby better the in the house. I love proving give her.'

Local Boy Scouts, VFW members and their wives will sell poppies Saturday throughout Big Spring to benefit local veterans, She was indicted by a Howard said Don Brooks, commander of VFW Post 2013 in Big Spring.

Brooks said the making and selling of poppies is a VFW tradition of long standing. There are more than 8,000 Veterans of Foreign War members nationwide, he said.

As a method of therapy, many veterans in VFW hospitals in the United States make paper poppies throughout the year to sell as a fundraiser, Brooks said.

"The money we get will be kept in Big Spring for the veterans here We use it to buy the little extras they need but can't afford, like toothbrushes, chocolates, things of that nature," Brooks said.

He said veterans eligible for money are those who fought in overseas battles.

Brooks said he will be cooking breakfast for the veterans, wives and Boy Scouts who will sell the flowers. Breakfast will be served at 8 a.m. Saturday at the VFW headquarters on Driver Road.

President Reagan addresses the American Retail Federation Thursday at the White House where he denounced a trade bill calling for sharp import restrictions as "openly and rankly political." Treasury Secretary James Baker stands behind the president.

Trade Bill

Measure looms as a major campaign issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trade bill that sailed through the House, born of frustrations with soaring trade deficits, may live longer as a political statement than as a piece of legislation.

The measure, approved 295 to 115 in the Democraticcontrolled chamber Thursday, seems certain to be shot down, or at least heavily weakened, in the Republican-controlled Senate.

But it's already well on its way toward becoming a Democratic centerpiece in the upcoming November congressional elections.

As the House wound down its three days of debate on the measure, there was little administration allies could do to derail or even slow it. Warnings that the measure would violate international trading rules had "about as much impact as a cream puff falling on a Manhattan sidewalk," said Roy Denman, U.S. represenative of the 12-nation European Economic Community (Common Market).

The community already had been engaging in an escalating agricultural trade war with the United States over a Reagan administration trade policy congressional Democrats call too weak but which Europeans and many other trading partners already con-

The bill would force the president to retaliate presumably with quotas and tariffs - against countries that the independent U.S. International Trade Commission deemed to be engaging in unfair trading practices against U.S. sales abroad That would remove much of the discretion and negotiating flexibility the president now has on trade cases. Adminstration critics claim that the administration has been too slow in moving under powers it now has when it detects proof of such unfair

And the measure would require the president to take unspecified steps to lower by 10 percent a year the large trade surpluses of that some countries, including Japan, West Germany and Taiwan, have with the United States

The House legislation's emergence as a political document, a gesture of anger over job losses caused by imports in nearly every congressional district in the land, was not lost on either sponsors or on the administration. 'Congress has sent a historic message: that the people of the United States will no longer stand by and watch American industry be replaced by foreign industry," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill.

MEXICO CITY - A fire hot enough to melt metal raced through the passenger section of a Mexicana airlines Boeing 727 jetliner before the aircraft slammed into a mountain March 31, killing all 167 people aboard, government investigators said.

Investigators concluded that Mexico's worst aviation disaster began when a wheel in the landing gear overheated, causing the surrounding tire to overheat and explode.

The initial explosion touched off fires in the plane's fuel lines and its hydraulic, electric and air conditioning systems, and tore away pieces of the landing gear and left wing flaps, the investigators said in their report.

Libya faces asset loss in two ways

Somehwere in the U.S. government is an official who should be credited with a gem of an idea.

President Reagan was faced with what might have seemed to be a no-win situation. Whenever he sought support from the nation's European allies for action against Libya, he was reminded that five American oil companies continued to operate in Libya. How could the United States expect support for an economic boycott, the Europeans asked, if those companies were allowed to stay in Libya?

Ordering the companies out, however, would mean a substantial windfall for the government of Moammar Khadafy. A company trying to sell its assets doesn't have much bargaining leverage when the buyer — in this case, the Libyan government — knows a sale has been ordered.

Then came the proposal that some of the oil companies' losses be covered with Libyan funds frozen by the United States in an earlier round of sanctions against Libya.

It could be argued that the five American companies — Occidental, Amerada Hess, W.R. Grace, Conoco and Marathon don't deserve partial compensation. They took a risk when they went into business in Libya.

The heauty of the plan however is what it does to Khadafy Libya's assets in the United States have not only been frozen but also may be about to shrink.

It's perfect time to evaluate policy toward nuclear power

The meltdown of the Soviet nuclear reactor in Chernobyl threatens to do for nuclear power what Col. Khadafy has done for Europe's tourist trade: destroy it through mass panic. What it ought to do is force a sober examination of our mistaken and contradictory policies toward this source of energy.

The meltdown comes at a time when Congress is considering the renewal of a 1954 law that insulates utilities from financial liability for the hazards created by their nuclear facilities. Known as the Price-Anderson Act, it says that no matter how much harm to life and property may result from an accident, those hurt can collect no more than $640 million in damages. If a serious accident ever occurs, a lot of people will go uncompensated, unless taxpavers are forced to pay what the utilities are spared.

The result is to exempt these companies from the ordinary rigors of the marketplace. By reducing the amount of money utilities have to spend on insurance, notes economist Barry Brownstein in a recent study for the Cato Institute, the government effectively subsidizes nuclear power - as it does through a variety of programs, from underwriting the Clinch River Breeder Reactor to handling waste disposal. Price-Anderson also removes an incentive to make nuclear plants safer.

Normally, the competition of the market place weeds out firms and goods that pose excessive dangers. But in the case of nuclear power, the market has been overruled by the federal government.

A conservative estimate is that a reactor meltdown could kill, 3,300 people right away, besides producing 45,000 radiation injuries and 45,000 cases of cancer. The property damage alone, to say nothing of the money required to provide compensation for those killed or nurt, would be an estimated $14

Any other business creating a risk like that would have to take steps to protect itself against this financial risk - by taking measures to make its product safer, by purchsing liability insurance or both. The danger of such a catastrophe may be exceedingly small. If so, then private insurers ought to be willing to offer coverage at a reasonable price.

In the absence of Price-Anderson, they might or might not. (Some modest reforms in our tort system would help). In either case, the judgment — not clouded by political pressures but clarified by economic ones — would reflect a clearer assessment of the potential risks of nuclear power than that provided by the government.

Steve Chapman

The free market works fine for other types of energy, none of hich are risk-free and none of which enjoy this sort of shield. But for some reason, the avowed disciples of competition in the Reagan administration think nuclear power should be protected from competition - preferring a system, as Ralph Nader puts it, of "ctomic socialism."

But this law isn't the only impediment to a fair test of nuclear power. While the government has boosted it with one hand, it has used the other to hold it down. Nuclear power is obstructed by a vast array of regulations that add millions of dollars in costs, delay the licensing of new reactors for years and may not make power plants safer — quite possibly just the opposite. That's one reason the U.S. produces far less energy from nuclear plants than some other Western nations.

This practice of entangling nuclear power in regulations is partly the result of a woolly-headed fear of technological advancement. But it also serves, however clumsily, a more reasoable purpose: bolstering the concern for safety that the Price-Anderson act tends to undermine.

Unfortunately, our schizophrenic policies make it impossible to judge whether nuclear plants, competing on even terms with other forms of energy, would thrive or wither. They ought to be compelled to show whether, freed of unreasonable regulations but deprived of subsidies, they can generate electricity more cheaply than oil, coal or natural gas. The Chernobyl meltdown makes this a good time to find out.

Priest's secret keeps him young

By CARLEEN EVERETT Lifestyle Editor

The secret to staying young, according to Father James P. Delaney, is threefold: keep active; ignore aches and pains; and keep a positive mental outlook.

The old adage, 'you're only as, old as you feel,' is true, he says. Delaney, 76, is celebrating his 50th year as a Catholic priest. He ministers at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 509 Aylford.

He can retire anytime he wants to, he said. "I don't know when, it depends on the health situation. I can't hardly afford to retire," he says.

"Once you slow down, you stop," he said.

Delaney hasn't slowed down yet. Being the only priest at the church, he ministers at each of the four masses each weekend. He is also an avid golfer, he savs

A native Irishman, Delaney was born on April 16, 1910. He and his three brothers were born and raised in Belfast, Ireland,

In 1929, he decided to be a priest. It was like a calling, he said. "Over a period of years I thought I'd like to do it." He also made the decision because "of the need for priests all over the world," he added. Delaney became a priest in 1936 and finished seminary in Ireland in 1937, he said.

'My first assignment was in India," he said. Three weeks before he was to leave for India, his assignment was cancelled and he was called to Texas, he said.

He landed in San Antonio Oct. 2 1937, stayed three days and went to Eagle Pass and stayed there for five years, he said. Then Delaney went on to Houston for six years, Alvin (30 miles south of Houston) for eight years, Mission (down in the valley) for eight years, and came to Big Spring in 1964 where he has remained for the last 22 years, he said.

During those years, besides being a priest, Delaney's main occupation was "doing construction work," he said. He founded and built churches in Houston, Pearland, Texas City, Alvin and Mission. In Big Spring, he built the church, youth center and the parking lots and rebuilt the rectory, he said. "It was all done on my time." One of Delaneys biggest challenges has been "learning to speak Spanish," Delaney

In Houston, Delaney was told that he had to give a sermon in Spanish and he only had one week to prepare, he said. "I told them I didn't know how to speak Spanish and they told me 'that's your headache.

"Now, I can handle it," he says. He speaks Spanish fluently and holds a Spanish-speaking mass on Sundays.

There are lots of sacrifices that a priest makes that "people don't realize," Delaney says.

"I wasn't given permission to go to the bedside of my mother and father when they were dying" because of a certain rule, he said. That was a very difficult sacrifice to make, he said. Fortunately, that rule has been changed, he said.

But, Father Delaney has no regrets.

"I would do the same thing all over again and try to do it better," he says.

The least enjoyable aspect of being a priest was leaving his native country, Delaney said. But, now he says he couldn't live there anymore. "I'm a Texan now," he says. "The political turmoil in Northern Ireland turns me off."

"I love Big Spring. It grows on you," Delaney said. "Big Spring people are the friendliest people around. Not just the Catholics and Mexicans — everyone. I've really enjoyed working with these people."

In honor of his 50 years, the church is having a special mass and a banquet on May 31.

Father Delaney stands in front of Sacred Heart, a church he has built and pastored for 22 years. Delaney will celebrate his 50th year of priesthood May 31.

"Relatives, from London and New York, and friends from all over" are coming to join in the celebration, Delaney said. The Bishop of the Diocese is coming for the mass, he said.

Circle of wagging tongues puts man in the doghouse

DEAR ABBY: While my wife was away, I rented a nudie tape. When I returned it, to my horror I came face to face with a different clerk. She was the daughter of a friend of my wife - we used to go to the same church.

The girl told her mother, the mother told my wife, and I ended up in the doghouse. To make matters worse, I complained to the manager of the video store and he fired the girl. The girl told her mother, her mother told my wife, and now I'm in the doghouse onceremoved

Shouldn't the clerks in video stores be just as discreet with their information as doctors and lawyers? So who was in the wrong? The girl for blabbing to her mother? Or I for telling her boss and getting her fired?

ARF ARF IN ARKANSAS DEAR ARF: You were justified in reporting the girl to her boss. Your choice of tapes was none of her business, and for her to have blabbed to her mother was immature and inexcusable. Her mother was also out of line to have told your wife. And finally, an adult is free to choose his or her own entertainment. But if your wife was able to banish you to the doghouse twice, you'd better check your marriage license to make sure it's not a dog license.

*** so try to be

All the names are made up, of course, but I'm sure you get the idea. Abby, is it socially correct to issue an invitation in the name of a deceased person? How can a deceased person invite anyone anywhere? This is a first for me.

INVITED GUEST DEAR INVITED: Obviously, a deceased person cannot invite anyone anywhere, but whoever was responsible for wording the invitations wanted to give honorable mention to the widow's late husband.

It's too late to correct the error, so try to be more charitable and

Age a factor for medical opinion

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 48-year-old woman reader. I have before me a column you wrote back in 1982. It was from a woman with excessive perspiration.

At that time, I was at the point where I didn't want to live with that problem anymore. My hands dripped, my feet too. I couldn't wear certain shoes because they stayed wet and kept my feet cold in winter. I had to hold Kleenex in my hands when on the phone. As a secretary I couldn't handle papers confidently. After reading the article I found a surgeon who helped me. I had four sympathectomies in three months. I never regretted it. It changed my life.

I'm writing because recently you had a similar letter from a 16-yearold young lady who sounded like me. Yet, you never mentioned the surgery. Why? — L.A.N.

Many factors figure into medical advice, whether it emanates from a doctor's office or the ramblings of a medical column. Age is one of those factors.

I did not suggest the surgery you had (involving severing of nerves responsible for sweating), not because I feel it isn't effective, but because it is a radical solution and a 16-year-old girl should be looking for more conventional answers. For this young lady, things like a 20 percent aliminum chloride solution applied at night, or use of the devices to apply electric current to the key sweat areas seemed more appropriate.

It was also important to point out that such problems are very often subside with time.

But thank you for your letter. It points out the fact that medical advice must be very individualized both in the giving and in the receiving. I'm sure I mentioned earlier that such surgery is reserved only for the most serious of problems. You certainly fit that description.

4-Hers compete in fashion/textile show

By NAOMI HUNT

County Extension Agent The County 4-H Fashion Show and Textile Project Show will be held Saturday, May 24 at Coahoma Elementary School: The event is the climax of 4-H Clothing and Textiles projects. Each participant will model the garment they have constructed before a panel of jduges who will interview them. They will be asked about their projects and activities in 4-H. Judging will start at 1:30 p.m. The public awards program is at 5:00 p.m.

Youngsters compete in the fashion show in three age levels and five clothing categories. Age groups are 3rd graders - 11 years old, 12-13 year olds, and 14-19 year olds. Clothing categories are: daytime wear, active sportswear, evening and specialty wear, tailored daywear and historic clothing. The historic clothing category is a local contes for 1986, to honor the Texas' Sesquicentennial. 4-H members will model historic garments and prepare a description of the garment.

The winner of each age group in the other 4 categories will represent Howard County at the District VI 4-H Fashion Show in Midland on June 24. Par-

Sports BIG SPRING (TEXAS) HERALD, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1986 Canadiens take 3-1 lead over Flames

MONTREAL (AP) - The way the Montreal Canadiens and Calgary Flames were playing, it seemed as if one mistake could decide the game.

That's exactly what happened. "I thought it would be 0-0 and go into overtime, but then we made that mistake," Calgary coach Bob Johnson said following Thursday night's 1-0 loss to the Canadiens in Game 4 of the Stanley Cup Finals. The mistake that decided the game and gave the Canadiens a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series heading into Game 5 Saturday in Calgary happened midway through the third period after an evening of tough defensive hockey in the Montreal Forum.

Calgary center Doug Risebrough attempted a clearing pass from deep in the Flames' zone. But Montreal rookie Claude Lemieux stepped in front of the pass and blasted home the game-winning goal at "The pass was to the winger coming out," said Risebrough, thinking perhaps he might get the puck to Perry Berezan. "I guess the smarter play would have been to bank it off the boards to Jamie (Macoun) going up the side.

Lemieux said he was ready for the play from his position in the slot.

"I anticipated the pass from Risebrough," Lemieux said. "The puck came right on my stick. I guess he didn't know I was there. I have to thank

At first, Lemieux thought he was offside. "But I didn't hear anything, so I went ahead and shot," the Montreal rookie said. Calgary goaltender Mike Vernon said Lemieux was "just wide open in the slot. In that situation, you want your legs to go out, not in. He caught me inbetween, while I was moving my legs. The shot was about six inches off the ice. There might have been a breakdown (in coverage), but we can't give them any breakdowns. Before Lemieux's dramatic game-winner touched off a tremendous roar from the crowd of 18,076 at the Forum, Lemieux had visions of overtime. "But I still thought we would win. We've been doing well in overtime in the playoffs," Lemieux said, no doubt remembering Montreal's 3-2 overtime victory Sunday night in Calgary.

Lemieux' 10th goal of the playoffs is the secondhighest total ever recorded by a rookie in one playoff season. Minnesota's Dino Ciccarelli holds the playoff record with 14 in 1981.

For about 21/2 periods Thursday night, the Canadiens and Flames were like boxers trying to feel each other out.

"It was a cautious game, but that's the way we're used to playing in the Adams Division," said Montreal's Mats Naslund. "We didn't want to make any

No one did, until Risebrough let one slip, but Vernon also had some good fortune on his side.

Two Montreal shots hit goal posts — one by Serge Boisvert in the first period and another by Bob Gainey in the third.

"(Montreal goaltender Patrick) Roy talks to goalposts, but Vernon must feel blessed tonight," Montreal Coach Jean Perron said. "He should thank his goalposts for what happened."

And the Flames can thank Vernon for his performance Thursday night. The rookie made 23 saves, while Roy only faced 15 shots — including a mere eight in the last two periods.

Roy, meanwhile, posted his first playoff shutout with one of his least-strenuous efforts as the Canadiens tied a Stanley Cup record with their 10th homeice victory this playoff season. The Edmonton Oilers set the record with 10 wins at home last season.

"I had a shutout, but I only had to play really well in the first period," Roy said. "The rest wasn't easy, but the defense played really well, they always got the rebounds. They cleared the rebounds and didn't give the Flames any good chances."

Bad feelings, which were evident in earlier games, erupted after the final siren when a free-for-all broke out all over the ice. Fans stayed in their seats for 10 minutes after the game while the players battled. At the end, officials called nine players for penalties, including eight for game misconducts.

Halldorson had the lead, but host Jack Nicklaus had a warning.

"I feel like I'll probably play better as the week goes on," Nicklaus said after shooting a 66 to trail Halldorson by one stroke after the first round of the Memorial Tournament at Muirfield Village Golf Course Thursday.

Halldorson, who has experienced driving problems both off and on the course recently, was just one shot off the course record with his round that included nine birdies.

"I feel lucky I'm here this week," the 34-year-old Canadian said. "I was in an automobile accident last Sunday in Fort Worth after the final round of the Colonial. We were going back to the hotel when a car pulled out in front of the car I was a passenger in."

seven of the next 11 to take a oneshot advantage over Nicklaus, Peter Jacobsen and Doug Tewell.

About the only comparison that could ever be drawn between the careers of Halldorson and Nicklaus is that both won a tournament on April 13. Halldorson captured the Deposit Guaranty Classic while Nicklaus was staging his dramatic comeback to take his sixth Masters championship.

"I hit it close (to the pin) today. I put it in the right spots on the green. You're not going to do that every day. But when you do, you should score well," Halldorson, who corrected some driving difficulties by using a 2-wood off the tee, said.

Nicklaus, a two-time winner of the Memorial, gave a large gallery what it wanted when he eagled the 490-yard 15th hole to temporarily take the lead.

"I don't know if you heard the yell when I made eagle at 15, but it Pat McGowan and in the group at was a pretty good one. If you were 68 were Mac O'Grady, Mark someplace else on the course, I O'Meara, Tom Purtzer, John He bogeyed two of the first four think you knew what it was."

There were a record 37 subpar scores in the first round and 60 players met or broke par over the 7.106-yard layout. Nicklaus, who designed Muir-field Village, said he anticipated the low scores due to the wet and cool weather conditions "When I walked off the first green today, I told (playing partner) Denis Watson that the tournament record was going to be broken this week because the weather and the course were conducive to low scores," he said.

Crediting the soft greens and an accurate putter for his 66. Jacobsen said, "This place really turns me on. I've always played fairly well here.'

Tewell, winner of the Los Angeles Open earlier this year, played bogey-free golf.

At 67 were Lanny Wadkins and Mahaffey and Hal Sutton.

CHICAGO (AP) - Former source close to the team, who declined to be identified, said the hiring of Collins as Albeck's replacement would be announced

The 34-year-old Collins told reporters when he arrived in town Thursday that he didn't mind being expected to turn the hapless Bulls around even though he never has had any head coaching experience.

"I've been on the spot in everything I've done. I was the No. draft choice of the Philadeiphia 76ers in 1973 and they were 9-73 when I went to that ballclub. Three years later we were playing in the finals against Portland," he said.

Asked what he would use to turn the Bulls into winners. Collins said "work ethic and a very stable

"I would not have taken it (the job) if I didn't get a fair shake. I left a great job at CBS and with the Philadelphia 76ers," said Collins, a network television commentator for NBA games and an announcer

"I had to have a feeling from option the Bulls can exercise for a them there would be stability said Collins, who is the Bulls' ninth coach in 10 years. Albeck, 55, was fired Monday after only one season. With star Michael Jordan sidelined with an injury and high-scoring guard Quintin Dailey in drug-past season, the Bulls under Albeck were 30-52 and were eliminated in three straight games in the first round of the playoffs by the Boston Celtics

Although Collins has never been head coach, he was a volunteer assistant at Pennsylvania for a year and a full-fledged assistant at Arizona State University for two

Giants rock Dr. K, Mets 10-2; Astros' Knepper gets 8th win

By The Associated Press Could it be? Dwight Gooden is in

The New York Mets phenomenal right-hander lost his second straight decision Thursday, 10-2, to the San Francisco Giants. Gooden went into the game with the National League's best earned run average, 1.25. It jumped to 1.96 with a nine-hit battering, as he was charged with seven runs, six of them earned. It was Gooden's worst outing since his rookie year, when he allowed 10 hits and seven runs to St. Louis on Aug. 1, 1984.

Chili Davis paced the Giants with a 4-for-4 performance, three runs scored and four runs batted in. Davis had two hits off Gooden to raise his lifetime average against the pitcher to .563 (9-for-16).

'It felt strange leaving that early, and I was doing a lot of thinking about what I was doing wrong, Gooden said. "I feel like I'm throwing the ball as well as last year, but everything's going wrong."

Davis predicted, "He's not going to struggle for long, and he's not the type of pitcher who's going to get down on himself."

NATIONAL Astros 4, Pirates 0

Bob Knepper shut out Pittsburgh on seven hits to become the major league's first eight-game winner and drove in a run with a single, leading Houston past the visiting Knepper, 8-2, yielded hits to Bill Almon and Sammy Khalifa to start the game but then he took control, finishing with five strikeouts and one walk.

Braves 2, Cubs 0

Joe Johnson pitched a five-hitter over 8 1-3 innings and Bob Horner broke a scoreless tie with a double as host Atlanta extended the winning streak to seven games with a victory over Chicago.

Johnson, 6-3, struck out four and walked two. After he walked two batters in the ninth, Paul Assenmacher came on to record the final two outs and earn his fourth save. Reds 6, Cardinals 4 loaded double drove in three runs Gary Ward on a liner to short with to cap a four-run seventh-inning rally as visiting Cincinnati sent St. Louis to its 21st loss in 28 games.

Rookie Tracy Jones' bases-

Padres 6, Phillies 2 Kevin McReynolds, Tim Flannery and Steve Garvey each homered to power San Diego over visiting Philadelphia, sending the

Phillies to their fifth straight

Expos 5, Dodgers 2 Andre Dawson's two-run double highlighted a three-run seventh inning that lifted Montreal over Los Dawson's hit off Bob Welch, 3-3, was followed by Hubie Brooks' sacrifice fly. Joe Hesketh, 3-3, allowed just three hits and four walks while striking out two in six

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Blue Jays 5, White Sox 0 Jimmy Key, backed by Ernie Whitt's second career grand slam, pitched a one-hitter for his first major-league shutout, leading visiting Toronto over Chicago, snapping the White Sox' sevengame winning streak.

Key, who walked three, hit a batter and struck out eight, pitched the first one-hitter by a Toronto pitcher since Luis Leal and Roy Lee Jackson combined on a one-hitter against Cleveland on May 14, 1983.

Ozzie Guillen's fifth-inning infield single was the only hit off Key, whose previous best was a fourhitter against the White Sox on May 20, 1985. Key's late arrival covering first ended any chance of retiring Guillen.

Royals 5, Rangers 4 Jorge Orta drove in three runs with a solo homer and a two-run double, and Frank White also homered as Kansas City defeated host Texas.

Danny Jackson, 2-0, took a twohit shutout and a 4-0 lead into the seventh, but the Rangers got consecutive singles by Pete O'Brien, Pete Incaviglia, Tom Paciorek, Toby Harrah and Steve Buechele to cut the margin to 4-3. Dan Quisenberry came out of the bullpen to stop the rally, retiring two outs and the bases loaded.

Orioles 6, Angels 3 Fred Lynn, a .464 lifetime hitter against Jim Slaton, hit a three-run homer off the California pitcher in the first inning as Baltimore defeated the visiting Angels. Scott McGregor, 4-3, improved his career mark against California to 18-6, with relief help from Rich Bordi who fanned pinch-hitter Reggie Jackson with the bases loaded after the Angels had scored twice in the sixth. It was Bordi's second

Mariners 5, Tigers 3

Alvin Davis scored one run and drove in another as Seattle defeated host Detroit, snapping a four-game losing skid.

Matt Young, 4-3, worked 4 1-3 innings in relief of former Tiger Milt Wilcox. Pete Ladd came on with runners on second and third with two out in the ninth to earn his fourth save.

Indians 5, Brewers 4 Brett Butler's misjudged three-run triple to right field capped a four-run Cleveland sixth inning as the visiting Indians defeated Milwaukee. Cleveland starter Neal Heaton, 2-3, allowed five hits and three runs over 5 2-3 innings. Scott Bailes pitched the final 2 2-3 innings for Cleveland to record his fourth save.

Yankees 4, A's 3

Dan Pasqua's second home run and third in two games tied the score leading off the ninth inning, and Mike Pagliarulo's 400-foot single over a drawn-in outfield in the 11th gave New York the victory over visiting Oakland.

Slaught to undergo surgery today

ARLINGTON, (AP) - Texas Rangers' catcher Don Slaught. struck in the face by an 85 mph fastball thrown by Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd of the Boston Red Sox, says, "I was fortunate that I didn't lose my vision."

After undergoing a CAT scan Thursday of his fractured nose and cheekbone, doctors determined that Slaught will need reconstructive surgery., The surgery was to be performed this afternoon at Arlington Memorial Hospital by Dr. James Harrington. Slaught is expected to be hospitalized for two days.

"I feel I could go out there and hit right now," Slaught said before undergoing the CAT

Slaught doesn't remember Boyd's windup or much of what happened last Saturday.

"The most frustrating thing is wondering why," Slaught said. "I've seen the replays, seen myself stride, so I must have seen his windup and release. Then I see myself get hit and say, 'Geez, I didn't even try to get out of the way.

Slaught tried to jog Tuesday, but the pain in his face made him stop.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although today you are inclined to make abrupt changes and expand your activities, it is wise not to do so until you have looked at every facet of the conditions facing you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are tempted to seek a new environment and find a new way of life, but this is not a good day to do so.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to start a new method for handling your implied or actual agreements but this may have flaws in it that can't be seen.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are tempted to light into an outside partner, but this would only lead. to a big loss later, so calm down.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get busy at the tasks you must do today, and they will soon be behind you. Don't argue with one who wants to help. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Know what it is you would most like to do, but count the cost first and see if you can truly afford it. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to apply more effort if you are to keep things running smoothly at home, especially in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If shopping and other duties are a bit difficult today, blame it on the atmospheric conditions. Don't lose your temper.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You believe you can be add a primary to the statement of the state handle an important matter easily, but there are hidden factors to delay your progress. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try not to be overly optimistic and proceed with caution in whatever means the most to you. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A day when many a crass pressure could upset you, but be more objective and you will win out. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be more discriminating in the choice of friends you want to see today and hobbies to get into. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have civic duties to attend to, so don't neglect them. Take no risks where your credit and good name are concerned.
