A. You can register a complaint with code enforcement officer/fire marshal Jim Ryals at City Hall, who investigates and acts on code violation complaints, he said.

Manager applicant to visit

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The former city manager of Pampa, one of three top applicants for Big Spring's city manager slot, was invited to Big Spring this morning by Mayor Cotton Mize to meet with councilmen at a work session Monday. Mack B. Wofford is expected to arrive at 4:30 p.m. and then travel to the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark to meet city councilmen. He'll stay the night at the Park Inn.

Mize said the council will go behind closed doors to interview Wofford. Mize and Councilmen Harold Hall and Russ McEwen were in Pampa Wednesday to interview Wofford. Earlier this week, the three went to Longview to interview City Manager James Mullins and to Port Neches to talk with Charles Norwood, city manager there. Although Wofford has been invited to meet with the council Monday, it does not mean he has a lock on the job, Mize said.

The mayor said the whole council will decide on Big Spring's next city manager. It's possible, he said, other councilmen will want to keep interviewing candidates.

Wofford, 50, has a wife, Loyce, and two children and is a self-employed contract service consultant for marketing, land acquisition and construction management since 1984.

He was city manager of Pampa for 14 years and before that utility superintendent there. Before going to Pampa, he was city manager of Hillsboro.

Wofford has a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from Texas A&M University earned in 1958.

He is a member of the International City Manager Association, Texas City Management Association and American Society of Civil Engineers.

Tale of two twisters

Severe weather shortly after noon Wednesday resulted in a tornado touching down, top right, about 25 miles northwest of Big Spring. Left, a funnel descends from the clouds about 20 miles northwest of town but does not touch down, and police officer Fred Brown tracks the tail of a twister on the Cauble Road overpass just west of Big Spring.

Republicans hope sanctions bill is dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The surprising House approval of a bill calling for a total prohibition on U.S. companies from doing business with South Africa was supported by Republicans who hope they have made the sanctions so tough they stand no chance of becoming law.

"This whole bill is dead. Sanctions are dead," said Rep. Mark Siljander, R-Mich., moments after the House approved the anti-apartheid sanctions in a surprising voice vote Wednesday afternoon.

The strict sanctions were proposed by Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., who said he was stunned that they were easily adopted to replace milder anti-apartheid restrictions that were part of the original proposal.

"I'm going to have a heart attack," said Dellums as he and other anti-apartheid leaders in the Democratic-controlled House celebrated their win.

Dellums' proposal would require all U.S. businesses to leave South Africa 180 days after it became law. It would also halt all trade between the two nations.

It replaced proposals for a graduated series of sanctions, measures Siljander said might have won approval in an election year.

But the sanctions won't become law unless they are also approved by the Republican-run Senate and then signed into law by President Reagan, who has opposed sanctions against the white minority-Pretoria government. The Senate is unlikely to consider the bill until later in the summer.

The original bill "would have sailed through the House and the Senate, would have been forced in

Area farmers market home-grown produce

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

A new marketing approach will let area consumers buy vine-ripened tomatoes, fresh onions, squash, fruits and other produce directly from Permian Basin growers.

The region's first Farmers Market, an application of a centuries-old idea, cuts out wholesalers and retailers, allowing producers a better price and consumers a fresher product, said Joe Hollingshead, president of Permian Basin Farmers Market Association Inc.

"The whole idea is to bypass the middle man and maximize your profits," said Hollingshead, who farms 30 acres about 5 miles south of Big Spring.

Hollingshead said each farmer will set the price of his produce as free market dynamics control the price and quality of the fruits and vegetables.

With some items, consumers will get a price break, he said.

"In some cases he's not getting a better price; that's up to the farmer," Hollingshead said. "But he's getting a better product because it's fresher."

"Take a tomato you buy in a store and one you pick fresh, and there's no comparison," Hollingshead said. "Most of us don't have cold storage so it's going to have to be picked that day."

In Midland, the market will open Friday at the Wild River Canyon located at Princeton and Loop 250. Markets there will be every Tuesday and Friday from noon until dark or until produce is sold out.

The market opens Saturday in Odessa at the Ector County Coliseum. The Odessa markets are set for Thursdays from noon to dark and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to dark, or until the produce is sold out.

Big Springers, though, will have to trek along the interstate to buy market produce.

"It's not centrally located to the producers in the area, and there's not the population here," Hollingshead said explaining why the Spring City was left out.

"Long range plans are to get enough producers here to justify (opening a market in Big Spring)."

Ninety-five planters in the 12-county area are growing squash, cucumbers, peas, beans, okra, egg plant, tomatoes, cantaloupe, watermelon, sweet corn, peaches, apricots, plums, apples, pears and more, Hollingshead said.

Howard County has five planters working about 80 acres, he said.

Officials back down on oil aid

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration appears on the verge of killing one major option for helping the nation's almost half-million "stripper wells," which are highly threatened by low oil prices, according to an administration official.

The Domestic Policy Council, consisting of several members of the administration's cabinet, is expected to recommend to President Reagan within two weeks that the Strategic Petroleum Reserve be filled with oil from sources other than stripper properties, said the official, who did not want to be identified.

Filling the reserve with oil from stripper wells, which produce less than 10 barrels of oil per day, is considered too costly for serious consideration, he said.

The council met in a closed meeting on Monday to discuss the recommendation to Reagan on future policy for the reserve, which is close to being filled under guidelines set by the budget recon-

Chamber may add more Beauty Spots

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce may begin choosing additional Beauty Spots of the Month because there have been so many applicants, said Community Development vice president Bruce Hogenmiller.

"We're booked up through October," he said at the Chamber board of directors meeting Wednesday.

The program began this year to encourage residents to clean and beautify their property. One resident and one business is chosen as a beauty spot each month.

Hogenmiller also noted that citizens may cite city code violations, and the city must take action on them. He encouraged people to pick up code violation complaint forms at the chamber office to use in the fight against litter.

Code enforcement officer/fire marshal Jim Ryals confirmed that the city would respond to code violation complaints. He said many complaints have been registered recently, due in part to heavy rains making grass and weeds grow.

In other business, chamber directors:

- Voted to oppose House Bill 4300, which would force employers to rehire employees to their old position after leaves of absence of six months or less for parental or disability reasons.

- Appointed Bob Coltrane chairman of the leadership committee for next year. Participants are being recruited for the next leadership program, which will begin in September.

- Announced that the Lone Star Wagon Train is due in Big Spring Sept. 15. There will be a parade as the train enters town.

- Announced that anyone who reserved Big Spring belt buckle No. 3 must claim their buckle by July 1 or it will go on sale to the public.

an election year to mark something up," explained Siljander, one of the tacticians behind the Republican move.

Opponents of sanctions argue that ordering U.S. businesses out of South Africa would mean the United States would have no leverage over the white government.

Adm. John Poindexter, Reagan's national security adviser, opposed sanctions in a letter distributed Wednesday by Republicans. Poindexter said sanctions "will erode our capacity to promote negotiations" and would "further separate an already divided society."

Siljander was one of only a handful of the 435 House members who were on the floor at the time of the vote. The action capped a day-long series of speeches condemning South Africa.

After approving Dellums' amendment on a voice vote, the House then passed the bill on a similar vote. That means no legislators are individually recorded as being for or against the measure.

Market

Assistant county extension agent Mike Bragg said the relatively small number of county participants reflects the vast difference between raising cotton and grain and growing market crops.

"Any time you get involved in horticulture it takes more tender loving care," he said. "You're going to have to have water. Many folks don't have water."

Also, growing fruits and vegetables presents a new range of pest problems, Bragg said.

"Insects and disease are prevalent and serious in horticulture," he explained. In cotton farming "you don't see these things; it's a whole new experience for a bunch of them."

Bragg said he hopes more county farmers will join the market association next year.

"If folks could just see this thing do well, more farmers would think seriously about it," he said.

One goal of the area market is for West Texas farmers to diversify crops.

Bragg said things are tough right now for the area farm community. "We feel like diversification will help relieve some pressure there."

"Sure, that's the idea," Hollingshead agreed. The goal is for farmers plant "more high dollar crops."

Bragg said vegetable and fruit production takes more water at more frequent intervals than cotton and grain farming. But he said new irrigation methods makes vegetable growing here practical.

"With the new irrigation practices that we have, it doesn't take near the volume of water that it once did. The extension service does a lot of work with varieties of (produce) that are more conducive to this area," Hollingshead said.

Any county producers who are not members of the Farmers Market Association may sell their produce by contacting Hollingshead at 267-1429 or County Extension Agent Don Richardson at 267-6671.

Artificial heart recipient dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Murray Haydon, the world's second longest-living recipient of a permanent artificial heart, died today without ever having been able to live outside the hospital, a spokesman said.

Haydon died at 10:45 a.m., said Tom Noland, a spokesman for Humana Hospital Audubon. He declined to release further details pending a news conference late this afternoon.

The 59-year-old retired auto assembly line worker became the world's third recipient of an artificial heart on Feb. 17, 1985. His death means that only one such patient still lives.

Haydon had required a respirator to assist his breathing much of the time he was on the artificial heart and he had been in the intensive care unit at Audubon almost the whole time after his implant surgery.

The official, who refused to be identified, said the discussion dwelled primarily on whether to increase the amount of oil put into the reserve over the level of 502 million barrels that was established by the 1985 law. The reserve should reach that level by early July.

The council, which includes the secretaries of energy and interior, briefly discussed the source of oil for the petroleum reserve, mentioning oil from the Elk Hills Petroleum Reserve as a possible option, the official said.

The administration has been urged by oil producer groups, including the National Stripper Well Association based in Abilene, to help save stripper wells by using the production for the petroleum reserve.

The official said he would "steer away from raising expectations of stripper well oil going into the Strategic Petroleum Reserve." He said he "just wouldn't go that direction" in suggesting what might be recommended by the domestic council.

"Is there a practical way of doing anything for them (stripper wells)?" the official asked. "If there is, I don't think that buying for the petroleum reserve is it," he said.

He noted that the reserve currently is filled with oil from Mexico purchased for about $12 a barrel. To help the stripper wells, the administration would have to buy the stripper well oil at a higher cost and then deal with transportation problems of delivering the oil to the reserve.

The Interior Department recently announced that it would extend the leases of stripper wells on federal lands even if the wells did not meet minimum requirements for production to keep the leases in effect. The action was intended to keep the stripper wells from being permanently plugged.

Interior Secretary Donald P. Hodel told independent oil and gas producers in Nashville last month that he would not recommend against filling the reserve with oil from stripper well properties. He cited the higher expense of using oil from that source.

The most recent data on stripper wells, compiled by the Stripper Well Association and the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, showed that there were 126,202 stripper wells in Texas at the end of 1984, more than any other state.

Sheriff's log

Vandals strike motorcycle

Michael D. Tucker of 1002 E. 19th St. told Howard County sheriff's deputies Thursday morning that someone vandalized his 1974 Honda motorcycle after he ran out of gas and left the vehicle at Anderson Road and N. Birdwell Lane.

The windshield and lights were broken, and a large instrument was used to smash the gas tank, according to a sheriff's report.

Damage was estimated at $500. Vandals struck between 3 and 3:30 a.m. according to the sheriff's report.

- Deputies arrested Herbert Randall Phillips, 26, of Route 2 Box 165 Wednesday night on suspicion of criminal trespass and making terroristic threats. He was released on bonds totaling $1,000.

- Deputies arrested David Leon Humphrey, 22, of 1607 Lark St. for fines he owes the county. He was released after paying $196 and court costs.

Man to serve 15 years

A Big Spring man will serve 15 years in prison after pleading guilty Wednesday to a May 29 aggravated robbery of the Town & Country convenience store, 1101 Lamesa Drive.

Lorenzo Junior Jackson, 22, of 906 N.W. Second St., who was on parole at the time of his arrest, will return to the Texas Department of Corrections. He was sentenced by 118th District Judge James Gregg.

After his arrest June 6, he also gave statements to police about the June 2 robbery of Pizza Inn, 1702 Gregg, and the June 5 attempted robbery of Decker's Liquor Store.

District parole officer David Harman, who requested an emergency parole violation warrant for Jackson's arrest, said Jackson gave police names of alleged accomplices in the robberies.

However, District Attorney Rick

Hamby said police would need more evidence than Jackson's statement to get a warrant for the partners' arrest.

"We already know he (Jackson) is a liar," Hamby said. "You don't arrest somebody because a co-defendant said he was the one who did it."

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning, "We'll have to dig a little harder to see what we can come up with" concerning accomplices.

Jackson was paroled in April after serving about one year of a six-year sentence for the Jan. 31, 1985, robbery of Al's Grocery on Third and Runnels streets.

Harman said Jackson would serve at least a third of his 15-year sentence because "a finding of the weapon" used in the robberies was included in the charge. Harman said the weapon was a pellet rifle.

Three men plead guilty

Three men pleaded guilty in county court yesterday, one to driving while intoxicated, one to criminal trespass and one to driving with a suspended license.

Maurice G. Bennett, 45, of 2501 W. Highway 80 was fined $400 and ordered to pay $131 court costs by County Judge Milton Kirby. Kirby also placed him to a 60-day jail sentence probated for two years.

Bennett was arrested by Texas Department of Public Safety troopers May 15 at the intersection of FM 700 and Highway 87.

David Brito Garza, 21, of Route 2 Box 146 pleaded guilty to criminal trespass on someone's property May 13.

He remained in county jail this morning after failing to pay a $100 fine and $96 court costs.

David Leon Humphrey, 22, of 1607 Lark St. pleaded guilty to driving with a suspended license. He paid a $100 fine and $96 court costs and was released from county jail.

- Ronald Ralph Lee, 39, of Big Spring was arrested at the Lamplighter Club early this morning on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon that police say was a pistol. Lee also was arrested on suspicion of making retaliatory threats to a police officer and for disorderly conduct.

Killer dies by injection

HUNTSVILLE — A 37-year-old convicted killer was put to death by injection early today for the 1974 shooting death of a Houston convenience store clerk despite pleas from the victim's father and a prosecutor.

Doctors pronounced him dead at 12:18 a.m., eight minutes after the last lethal solution was injected into his right arm.

Brock was convicted in the May 21, 1974, shooting death of 31-year-old Michael Sedita, a manager of a northeast Houston 7-Eleven convenience store.

The Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles on Tuesday refused to commute Brock's death penalty to life imprisonment.

Boy gets 2nd transplant

LOMA LINDA, Calif. — A 3-year-old Texas boy today underwent his second heart transplant 28 hours after a Colorado couple agreed to donate the heart of their son, who was fatally shot by a playmate.

The operation on Nicky Carrizales began around midnight, and his new heart was beating by 1:05 a.m., said Anita Rockwell, spokeswoman for Loma Linda University Medical Center.

Nicky, of San Antonio, had received the heart of a 2-year-old late Tuesday, but the organ began to fail almost immediately.

At 4 a.m. Wednesday he was returned to the operating room.

White House may ax bill

WASHINGTON — The White House already is threatening to veto a Senate-House compromise that would spend roughly $4 billion to keep several federal agencies running through the end of the fiscal year.

The agreement, reached late Wednesday in conference committee, still must be endorsed by the House and Senate before being sent to the White House. That action is expected next week.

The bill is designed to fill the coffers of several agencies and programs that have run out, or will run out of money before the fiscal year ends Sept. 30.

Senate adopts proposal

WASHINGTON — Texans who itemize on their federal returns would be able to deduct 60 percent of their state sales taxes under a compromise amendment adopted by the Senate today.

The Senate version of the tax overhaul legislation would have allowed continued deduction of state income and property taxes, but eliminated deduction of state sales taxes.

The compromise, sponsored by Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and others, would allow itemizing taxpayers to deduct 60 percent of sales taxes in excess of state income taxes.

The charred remains of a Twin Otter airplane lie on Tonto Plateau in the Grand Canyon after it and a helicopter collided Wednesday while giving scenic flights. There were no survivors. The wreckage lies about 2,000 feet above the river and 4,000 feet below the rim of the canyon.

Canyon collision

Crash may help end unregulated flights

GRAND CANYON VILLAGE, Ariz. (AP) — The collision of a helicopter and a twin-engine sightseeing plane over the Grand Canyon that killed 25 people may help end unregulated flights over national parks, a congressman says.

"As is so often the case, it takes a sad tragedy like this to point out the need for some reasonable safeguards," Rep. Richard Lehman, D-Calif., a member of the House Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation, said of the collision Wednesday morning.

Emergency crews reached the crash site on a sloping shelf one mile from the Colorado River and 2,000 feet above it, and were to begin removing bodies today to a temporary morgue and then to Flagstaff 130 miles away.

The plane's tail section was found roughly one-quarter of a mile away from the rest of the wreckage and probably was sheared off in the collision, said Park Ranger Charlie Peterson, the first to reach the crash site.

The pilots of both craft had been keeping track of other aircraft visually and neither was being tracked by FAA radar, said Larry Bjork of the Federal Aviation Administration's flight service at Prescott.

Those aboard the Grand Canyon Airlines plane included 11 Dutch, two Swiss, one South African and six Americans, said Charles Farrabe, a National Park Service management assistant.

Authorities said the four passengers aboard the helicopter and the pilot were Americans.

Authorities released only the names of the airplane crew — James Ingraham and Bruce Grubb — and helicopter pilot John Thybony. There were no survivors.

Helitech Inc., which owned the five-person Bell 206 helicopter, was new to the area, said Grand Canyon

National Park Superintendent Dick Marks.

"They've been open a matter of three weeks, but the pilots have all flown in the area for many years," he said.

Grand Canyon Airlines spokeswoman Mary Donaldson and a spokesman for Helitech both declined comment.

Environmentalists have opposed the more than 50,000 low-level flights over the canyon each year, saying they keep hikers and backpackers from enjoying the grandeur of the park amid natural sights and sounds. Tourism companies counter that mechanized transportation is the only way the infirm and handicapped can experience the same sights.

But Lehman said the crash raises another question, one of public safety.

"It is clear ... that the days of voluntary supervision and self-regulation of these flights are over," said Lehman, whose district includes Yosemite National Park.

He said he wants federal law to prohibit flights over the canyon below a certain altitude. The FAA and the park service have set a floor of 2,000 feet above the canyon rims, but park veterans say it is not enforced.

The park service has rejected proposed limits on days and times of flights around the canyon but is studying proposals to ban planes below the canyon's rim in an effort to reduce noise.

"The rapid expansion of lightly regulated air tour operations over the canyon has been a matter of considerable concern to many people for some time," said Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz.

The crash came almost 30 years after an air collision over the canyon in which 128 people died. The June 30, 1956, accident was at the time the worst airline disaster in history. It involved a United DC-7 with 58 people aboard and a TWA Super Constellation carrying 70 people, both flying out of Los Angeles.

Referendum rejected

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Several thousand black workers went on strike today at dozens of branches of major chain stores in renewed protests over the detentions of labor leaders under the week-old nationwide state of emergency.

In Port Elizabeth, a vote tally announced today showed whites rejected a referendum to desegregate beaches. The defeat embarrassed business leaders battling a black consumer boycott in the Eastern Cape industrial city, headquarters of South Africa's auto industry. It also was seen as a setback for the government, which says apartheid is being dismantled.

Testimony begins today

GENOVA, Italy — A judge ordered testimony to begin today in the trial of 14 people charged with the hijacking of the Achille Lauro luxury liner and the slaying of a crippled American passenger.

Only five defendants, including three Arabs accused of the actual piracy, were in the heavily guarded courtroom when Judge Lino Monteverde read the list of charges at the trial's opening session on Wednesday.

The other defendants are considered fugitives and are being tried in absentia, including Mohammed Abbas, the Palestinian guerrilla leader also known as Abul Abbas, who is accused of masterminding the hijacking.

Mexican publisher slain

REYNOSA, Mexico — A newspaper publisher who told friends he had received death threats was buried Wednesday, a day after an assailant entered his home and unloaded four .38-caliber rounds into his upper torso.

Dr. Jorge Brennes — publisher of El Rio in Rio Bravo, Mexico, and Frontera in Reynosa, Mexico — died Tuesday afternoon at McAllen Medical Center, about two hours after the shooting at his home in Reynosa.

Brennes — the former director of the government hospital here — had told friends about the death threats he had received, but many thought it was just harassment.

Farming resumes in area

MOSCOW — Six farming enterprises that shut down after the nuclear accident at the Chernobyl power plant have resumed work because officials have determined there is no danger, the official Tass news agency said today.

Tass gave no indication in its brief dispatch from Kiev, the Ukrainian capital 80 miles south of the atomic power station, of the exact location of the farms or the number of people working there.

Most farming in the Soviet Union is done on large-scale collective or state farms.

Dog bites must be kept a rarity

No amount of legislation ever will stop dogs from running loose in a community. But their owners can reduce the problem by conscientiously controlling the animals.

Only when pet owners fail to control their animals is legislation and enforcement necessary.

Nevertheless, accidents will occur. Dogs sometimes will find a way to get loose, and occasionally one or more will attack a human.

That situation is a part of life — a part that can be eliminated only by eliminating dogs.

Because few people, if anybody, really want to take such drastic action, we will continue to have the problem from time to time.

Such was the case when a pit bull and another dog attacked Big Spring residents Eugene and Kathy Yen and their 2-year-old son, Andrew, on June 6.

They were saved from serious injury when passing motorists pulled the family into a car. The parents were treated for dog bites at Malone-Hogan Hospital, but their son was not injured.

The city of Big Spring has a leash law, requiring that dogs be kept on a leash, contained in an enclosure or be within voice control of the owner.

Howard County, however, does not have a leash law. But the county does have an animal nuisance law, according to County Attorney Tim Yeats.

Yeats reported the nuisance law allows for law enforcement officers to order an animal contained or kept on a leash only after it has caused a problem. Otherwise, dogs are allowed to run freely throughout the county.

We think that may be an unfortunate circumstance and that perhaps county commissioners should examine or review the lack of a leash law. Certainly dogs have no respect for where the city-county boundary is located.

Yeats noted that the county has had cases of dogs running loose and causing damage, including packs of dogs that have attacked other animals.

Even the most docile pet to the members of one family can become vicious with strangers, particularly as they grow older. In addition, free roaming dogs are more likely to transmit infectious diseases.

The attack on the Yen family should serve to stress the need for more care on the part of citizens to control their pets, and it should emphasize the need for law officers to enforce the leash law.

Dog bites and damages must be kept to a rarity — the rarer the better.

President builds barrier on trade

"The way to promote worldwide prosperity is not to erect barriers, but to bring them down. Not to decrease international trade, but to expand it. And we're working to do just that."

So spoke President Reagan at a World Trade Week ceremony at the White House May 19.

Three days later, he authorized exactly the kind of protectionist trade action he criticized. And it is having exactly the predictable effect.

The action was the approval of a stiff tariff against red cedar shakes and shingles, used for roofing and siding on houses. Almost all imported shakes and shingles come into the United States from Canada.

Finding that the imports are threatening our own lumber industry in the Pacific Northwest, the White House authorized a 35 percent tariff that started June 6.

The effect was to cause anger in Canada, our northern neighbor, most important trading partner and closest ally.

Now, predictably, the Canadian government has retaliated, raising tariffs on a number of products imported into Canada from the United States.

A mini-trade-war has begun. It will cost at least 35 percent more to buy cedar shingles.

No one wins, except perhaps some Northwest shingle mills. Everyone else loses, on both sides of the Canadian border. And the world champion of free trade has taken a dive into the protectionist cellar.

Weapon buying system complicated by Congress

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — While the $640 toilet seats and $7,400 coffee makers rile the public, the really serious waste in the Pentagon is in the less dramatic area of multibillion-dollar weapon systems. As the late Sen. Everett Dirksen observed sardonically, "A billion here, a billion there, and pretty soon you're talking about real money."

As part of our continuing watch on government waste, we have worked with Sen. William Roth, R-Del., exposing extravagance and incompetence in the Defense Department. At Roth's request, the General Accounting Office conducted a three-year study of 17 major weapon systems. Our associate Lucette Lagnado has reviewed the unreleased, 150-page findings.

The magnitude of the problem of Pentagon procurement is laid out at the start. Nearly 100 major weapon systems are in various stages of development and production. Notes the report: "The costs to acquire them may exceed $750 billion. Operating costs during their useful life will be considerably more. Most of these future costs are predetermined by basic design decisions made during early program phases."

The GAO auditors concluded, essentially, that the system itself is at fault for extravagant weapon programs. The report cites inadequate direction from the top; lack of accountability; poorly trained and motivated personnel in key positions — and counterproductive "external influences" like Congress.

The report devotes much of its criticism toward the "program managers" — usually military officers of middle rank. The GAO investigators found that many of them are simply not equipped by background, training or incentive to tackle the intricate problems of weapons procurement. By contrast, of course, the defense contractors they're up against assign their best people to the negotiations, so the Pentagon's program managers are often badly overmatched.

The report quotes former Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard, head of a commission that made a recent study of Pentagon procurement: "Major weapon systems are complex. They require advanced technology. We unfortunately have a system where we do not train and put the best management people in charge of these programs."

The GAO auditors agreed, saying: "Qualified program managers require appropriate experience, training and education," and many do not have it. In its examination of 34 recently appointed program managers, the GAO found that "few possessed the desired mix of experience and training."

Another reason that the best and the brightest may not wind up in procurement is that "promotion opportunities in acquisition (are) not as great as in operational fields." The perception among career military officers is that "advancement potential is limited" in procurement, compared to command positions in operational units.

The GAO report cited an earlier study that described the Pentagon's contracting officers generally as "overloaded, untrained and inexperienced."

Somewhat surprisingly, the GAO auditors named their own boss — Congress — as one of the "external influences" that complicates the system. After citing specific instances in which "Congress ... provided design direction," "Congress cut funds" and "Congress limited the weight of the missile," the GAO report observes: "When external management directs a specific design solution to meet a military capability, the program manager cannot be held accountable if that design solution does not work."

The GAO auditors asked Pentagon and industry officials about the problem of external influences. "Generally, they believe that the conditions ... will get worse," the report states.

SCANDAL OF THE WEEK:

While their colleagues in control towers were sweating bullets trying to land the nation's airplanes safely, Federal Aviation Administration workers in the research and development branch were whiling away their time copying video games onto government computers. The computer chips of such popular games as "Donkey Kong" and "Space Invaders" — nearly 100 different ones — were then extracted for use at home by the employees. An unpublished inspector general's report revealed that one worker was fired and 18 others suspended or reprimanded.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The insurance industry must be patting its bloated corporated belly with satisfaction, after devouring the West Virginia legislature in one gulp. Unhappy over a new law that they considered too restrictive, the insurance moguls strongarmed the legislature by notifying about 5,000 doctors, lawyers and other professionals that their liability policies were being canceled. The lawmakers quickly caved in. But we predict that it is precisely this sort of outrageous behavior — by an industry that has paid no taxes on billions of dollars in profits — that will lead to the very government control the greedy insurance companies abhor.

Bible Study is top priority

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I hate to say it but our Sunday School class is dull. We have talked about changing it and using the time to study the Bible, although we really don't know how to go about that. Do you have any suggestions about how to make a group Bible study interesting? — Mrs. C.F.

DEAR MRS. C.F.: Have you ever asked yourself what the purpose of your class ought to be? It ought to help you grow closer to God — and we do that best as we come to understand the truth of His Word, the Bible, more clearly, and apply it to our lives. I don't know what you are doing in your class right now, but I would encourage you to make the study of the Bible your priority.

How can you study the Bible as a group? First, select a book of the Bible that you can go through chapter by chapter. Choose a book that will help you understand some of the basic truths of the Gospel — a book like the little letter of First John, for example, which speaks about God's love for us, or the book of Romans, which sets forth in logical form those basic truths.

Then as you study each week, make it your goal to discover what is actually being said. That sounds simple, but I am amazed how often some people jump to conclusions or try to make the Bible agree with their own opinions — instead of reading it carefully to discern its message. In addition, take time to reflect on what difference that particular passage should make in your daily life. Encourage everyone to participate — although the discussion leader must not let anyone dominate the discussion.

There is nothing dull about God's Word! Embarking on a study of the Bible could not only make your class interesting, but could change lives. "The entrance of your words gives light ... give me understanding that I may live" (Psalm 119:130, 144).

Father, son apart because of lawyer

To the editor:
I find it so hard to believe how attorneys can demand and receive good hard earned money before any action is taken for "supposedly" an individual's best interest. Yet they fail to really do all that is possible and in the best interest of their client.

Here is just one example of the many reasons I have been given for writing this letter:

I was denied the right of spending this Father's day with my 2½-year-old son.

My ex-attorney approved the final decree of my divorce by my ex-wife's attorney without my knowledge of the contents that should have stated that my visitation should have included Father's Day in my visitation rights as per an outline given by the local presiding judge.

Since the decree did not specifically state that visitation period, I am left without any recourse legal action for this injustice.

The anger I feel inside I can never put on paper. I can only hope and pray that lawyers will start and remember that a child is given to two people, and that lawyers should do their best to maintain that right for both parents.

Wasted pills make wasted pennies, doctors

DEAR ABBY: You seem to have a lot of compassion for us senior citizens, so maybe you can do something about this problem.

I am not the only one this has happened to; many of my friends complain of the same situation: The doctor writes a prescription for $80 worth of medicine. You take four of one kind, two of another kind and three of the third kind every day. You get all kinds of bad reactions from the pills, so the doctor changes your medication, leaving you with about $80 worth of pills you can't use. "Flush them down the toilet," he says, "so you won't take them by mistake!"

Why can't the doctor prescribe a small amount to begin with? You can always get a refill if the medication works, and if it doesn't, you won't be stuck with a lot of pills you can't use.

The druggist says it's against the law for him to take back pills once they are out of the store. Too bad I don't know another poor person who could use these useless pills prescribed for me. I would be glad to give them mine. I have a medicine cabinet full of them.

FIXED INCOME IN KENTUCKY

DEAR FIXED: You make an excellent point. Physicians, please take note, and consider the patient's pocketbook PRN.

DEAR ABBY: Rita (not her real name) and I just split up after a three-year relationship. She's 25 and I am 28. During the time we went together, I gave Rita many gifts. Some were expensive and others were not, but I asked her to return all my gifts. (She had given me some gifts, too, which I returned, although she told me she didn't want them.)

Well, last Sunday morning I found all the gifts I had given her dumped on my front lawn! Of course my neighbors saw this stuff on my lawn, and now I'm the laughing stock of the neighborhood.

How would you handle this? I had given Rita a three-piece set of patio furniture, a microwave oven, a stereo, and about 20 stuffed animals. And to think I almost married her!

BURNED UP IN ALABAMA

DEAR BURNED: A gift is a gift — not a loan. True, Rita was spiteful to have dumped your gifts on the lawn for all to see, but it was tacky of you to ask her to return them. The exception would have been an engagement ring, which carries with it a promise to marry, in which case if she broke that promise, the gift should have been returned, quietly.

DEAR ABBY: I've been living with a man for nine years. We have a 7-year-old son together, and I now feel as though it is important for us to get married and become a real family.

Whenever I bring this up, my boyfriend gives me a lot of excuses why he can't marry me. None are legitimate. This does not leave me feeling very good about myself. How can I get him to marry me?

DEAD END

DEAR DEAD END: You can't force a man to marry you if he doesn't want to. If you are concerned about your "rights," see a lawyer and find out if you are living in a state that recognizes common-law marriages. You may have all the legal rights of a wife, although what you really want is a ring on your finger, a certificate of marriage and a "Mrs." in front of your name.

Reiter's syndrome and symptoms reexamined

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Your column on Reiter's syndrome left questions in my mind. I had not heard of such a connection between three separate inflammations until you mentioned it. Is Reiter's diagnosed from these symptoms or is there a series of tests to confirm it? What kind of doctor can best make this diagnosis? — L.C.S.

I guess I have to go back to the drawing board on this one.

Reiter's is a form of arthritis. When Dr. Reiter first described it he listed three elements — joint inflammation (arthritis), urethral discharge (urethritis) and eye inflammation. The urethra is the urinary tube from the bladder.

Today, we add certain skin signs to those and apply the term Reiter's if all or some of those signs or combinations of them are present along with joint inflammation. We're not sure of the cause of this strange collection of signs and symptoms, but we think that an infection triggers the inflammatory responses.

Often, it begins with a sexually-transmitted urinary tract infection. Here's a typical scenario. The person develops a urethral discharge that is from an organism other than gonorrhea. A few weeks later, the joints begin to swell and pain. Knees, heels and toes are common sites. The other symptoms listed may follow later.

As the doctor follows this progress he can begin to suspect that he is dealing with Reiter's. But before he can do that he first must rule out other known causes of joint inflammation, which is the key finding, of course.

Dr. Donohue

Here is where the tests come into the picture. These help exclude non-Reiter's causes for the various signs. There is no single test that confirms Reiter's syndrome.

Your family doctor knows enough about Reiter's to diagnose it. If he has to he can consult a rheumatologist, a specialist in joint diseases. As promised, I have included a section on Reiter's in a revision of my booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which is now available. Readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the danger point of eyeball pressure so far as the danger of glaucoma is concerned? — I.B.

The danger point is that at which the pressure threatens the health of the optic nerve at the back of the eyeball. I don't offer that as a vague generality. Many people whose pressure may be within normal range can be in the danger category. For them, the pressure is too great. What is normal for one may be abnormal for others.

This seeming contradiction is another reason why glaucoma earns its description as an insidious illness. For it may be present and produce no symptoms or warning test readings. Most often, however, the glaucoma (tonometer) test is a reliable indicator of the health of the eye so far as pressure is concerned. The lesson to be drawn from this is that one should not allow a normal tonometer reading lead to neglect of other signs of glaucoma — sight disturbance, frequent need for corrective lens changes, etc.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My medical report includes the term, "accentuated 'lordosis.'" I hate to guess what that means, but maybe you know. — Mrs. T.L.

That's a new medical malapropism, and whoever wrote it ranks up there with the literary character who described her leg vessel protrusions as "very close" veins (for varicose veins, of course).

The reference on your report was really to accentuated "lordosis." Everyone has some lordosis, which is the inward curvature of the lower back. If it's accentuated, you can have an abdomen that protrudes. It's a postural problem. With a bit of imagination, I supposed you could describe the abdominal protrusion as "lordosis," at that, but I'm sure that's not what the transcriber of your report meant. Lordosis is a Greek word meaning "leaning forward."

Unless properly treated, both glaucoma and cataracts can lead to blindness. If you are afflicted with either of these ailments, or know someone who is, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1210, Chicago, IL 60611, for his booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Cardinals pound Ponies

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The National League Cardinals broke open a close game in their last turn at bat to drum the Texas League Ponys 12-4 last night in city Little League playoff action.

What was for awhile a pitcher's duel turned into a Cardinals batting show as the Cards, the fourth place finisher in the National League, scored eight runs against the second place finisher in the Texas League in the top of the sixth inning. The outburst turned a 4-2 contest into a rout.

The first five innings boiled down to a duel between the Cardinals' Abel Hilario and the Ponys' Adrian Zarate. Both pitchers went the distance, but it was Hilario's mixture of fast balls and curves that won out over Zarate's sweeping curve.

Zarate didn't have the best of backup. His team committed eight errors, many in the outfield, thus giving the Cardinals extra bases. On the other hand, Hilario had good defense behind him. Third baseman Rocky Ortega and shortstop Ross Roberts turned in strong games.

Hilario surrendered eight, while the Cardinals banged out 14 hits against Zarate.

The Cardinals collected eight hits in their sixth inning. Ortega and Ramirez both singled and doubled in the inning. Roberts added another double and Mauricio Terros, Sammy Viera and Lorenzo Yanez all singled.

Ortega and Ramirez led the winners with three hits apiece. Viera and Roberts accounted for two hits each.

The Cardinals drew first blood in the third by scoring three runs. Chris Alaxander, Viera and Hilario each got run scoring hits.

The Ponys cut the lead to 3-2 in the fourth when Patrick Nichols' single scored Clint Kemper, who went three-for-three in the game. Nichols scored on a sacrifice fly by Jason Hodnett.

The Cardinals padded their lead to 4-2 in the fifth when Viera singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Hilario.

Then the Cardinals big, eight run, sixth inning spelled doom for the Ponys.

The Ponys got their last two runs in the bottom of the sixth. Owen Smith's single scored Zarate and Kemper's single scored Smith. The Cardinals will face the first place National League Lions tonight at 7:30 at the National League park.

Hits — Cardinals 14, Ponys 8; LOB — Cardinals 4, Ponys 4; Errors — Cardinals: Hilario, Fierro, Terros, Martinez, Ponys — P. Grigg, S. Grigg, Nichols (3); Hodnett (3); 3B — Cardinals: Viera, Ponys: Kemper, 2B — Cardinals: Roberts (2); Ortega, Ramirez, Ponys: Smith, WP — Hilario; LP — Zarate, Time: 1:20; Cardinals 003 018-12; Ponys 000 202-4

Yankees 18, Royals 8

The National League Yankees used good defense and a heavy bat to record their second win, an 18-8 thrashing of the International League Royals.

The Royals sealed their own fate by making eight errors, thus allowing 18 Yankees to cross the plate on only seven hits. Jay Gresset pitched a four-hitter for the win, and Robert Lopez took the loss for the home-team Royals.

The Yankees will face the American League Colts Thursday night in quarterfinal play.

Rangers 6, Pirates 3

Pat Chavvaria recorded eight strike-outs and gave up but one walk to get the win for the Rangers. He was backed up by six runs on six hits, two hits apiece coming off the bats of Clay Klatt and Andy Carmichael.

Greg Skelton walked six and struck out one in taking the loss. Travis Sinclair hit three singles in the losing effort.

The Rangers will face the Texas League Tigers at six tonight at Texas League Park.

Cubs 22, Astros 6

The American League Astros pounded out 16 hits and played error-free ball to whip the Texas League Cubs.

The Astros took charge early as the order went around twice in the Astros' 10-run first inning. That proved to be all the cushion winning pitcher Kevin Rogers would need on his way to a two-hitter. Gloria Munoz took the loss for the Cubs.

Brant Laster's two first-inning RBIs and three hits apiece from Brandon Rogers, Adrian Calvio and Ricky Grimsley led the production.

Texas League Ponies' pitcher Adrian Zarate huris it home in Wednesday night Little League championship action against the National League Cardinals. Zarate held the Cardinals in check until the sixth inning, when eight Cardinal runs ended Zarate's and the Ponies' chances for the title.

Eight left in World Cup

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The second round of the World Cup started with a Mexican fiesta and a Belgian shocker. It ended with the defending champions ousted, the Brazilians perfect and Emilio "The Vulture" Butragueno reaching stardom.

Eight teams — Mexico, Belgium, Brazil, France, West Germany, England, Argentina and Spain — advanced into the world soccer championship quarterfinals this weekend.

Others also are smiling, like Butragueno, the Spanish striker who led his team to a 5-1 rout of Denmark. He scored four goals, equalling a World Cup record last accomplished 20 years ago, as Spain ended the Danes' hopes for a World Cup title in their first appearance.

Belgium, which plays Spain on Sunday, registered the biggest upset of the tournament in the World Cup's best game so far. The vaunted Soviet Union, which outscored opponents 9-1 in the first round, twice took a one-goal lead over Belgium, a third-place qualifier. But, each time, the Belgians rallied.

Brazil next plays France, which sent 1982 champion Italy home early with a 2-0 victory. The French had not beaten Italy in an international tournament game since 1920.

But led by Michel Platini, considered by many the world's best midfielder, the European champions dominated the Italians.

West Germany ended the World Cup dreams of Morocco, which was the first African team every to make the second round. The Germans had trouble with Morocco's staunch defense and needed 88 minutes before Lothar Matthaeus scored on a free kick.

Sutton wins 300!

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Don Sutton, who says he's a man of little outward emotion, joyously thrust his right arm into the air and suddenly was hugging his teammates, his manager, his family.

As a backdrop, an Anaheim Stadium crowd of 37,044 continued a roaring ovation that had begun with the start of the ninth inning.

Wednesday night, the California Angels' right-hander became just the 19th player in baseball history to win 300 games.

He did it in grand fashion, with a three-hit, no-walk, complete-game performance in the Angels' 5-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"That was the nicest, sweetest roar I've ever heard."

Sutton smiled as he recalled a brief conversation with California Manager Gene Mauch just after the game.

"Gene said, 'Nice going. I got a thrill out of that, too,'" Sutton related. "I said, 'I know you're against this kind of thing, but you can bug me if you want.'"

"He said, 'This one time and this one time only.'"

His 300th win was vintage Sutton, as he got the Rangers 14 times on flies, nine times on grounders including one double play while facing just two batters over the minimum.

The only hits by the Rangers — who lost their fifth straight and saw their American League West lead over the Angels dwindle to a half-game — were singles by Ruben Sierra in the second and eighth innings, and Pete Incaviglia's 12th homer, a solo shot in the seventh.

The Angels staked Sutton, who now has a 300-233 career record and 5-5 mark this year, to a 3-0 lead in the first inning.

Sutton, who describes himself as a "mechanic, an unspectacular grinder," said it would take him some time to really digest what reaching the milestone means to him.

But he did say: "I've been trying legally ... and illegally ... to get here for years. What it means is that I just stayed around 21 years to win 300. You have to sacrifice, you have to discipline yourself."

Asked what his goals are now, he answered: "Seven hundred starts, 5,000 innings ... and 301 wins."

Len Bias dead from heart attack

RIVERDALE, Md. (AP) — Len Bias, the 22-year-old Maryland All-American picked No. 2 in the National Basketball Association draft Tuesday, died suddenly early today after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Bias was brought to Leland Memorial Hospital, outside Washington, at 6:50 a.m. after suffering cardio-respiratory arrest, hospital spokesman Frank Berry said. Berry said Bias was unconscious and in critical condition when he arrived by ambulance.

Bias was pronounced dead at 8:50 a.m., Berry said.

Jack Zane, University of Maryland sports information officer, said Bias was stricken at his campus dormitory, and his teammates summoned help. Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell and members of the team also went to the hospital, Zane said.

Bias was drafted by the NBA Champion Boston Celtics, and afterward said: "It has always been my dream to play in the NBA. Now I have a present within the dream, to play with the Celtics."

"Without a doubt, I'll be part of the Celtics tradition." Celtics' star Larry Bird, who urged the team to pick Bias, said, "It's horrible. I am too shocked to respond. It's the cruelest thing I ever heard. I was really looking forward to coming to rookie camp to play with him."

Red Auerbach, Celtics' president, said, "We'll always consider him a member of the Celtics family."

"He's a kid ... who just had his main goal in life, which was to be drafted by the Celtics and high by the Celtics ... He was one of the most happy people."

"He had the tools and the attitude and the work habits to be a great player."

Celtics' Coach K.C. Jones said Bias had been through physical exams and "came out perfect."

Bias, Maryland's all-time leading scorer, was a two-time

Len Bias, 22-year old University of Maryland basketball star drafted Tuesday by the Boston Celtics, died suddenly in Maryland early Thursday.

Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year. The 6-foot-8, 210-pound forward averaged 23.2 points as a senior and was named to the All-America team.

Only one Maryland basketball player had ever been drafted higher than Bias. John Lucas was the No. 1 player taken in 1976 by the Houston Rockets.

Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Cremins, whose team also plays in the ACC, called Bias one of the greatest players ever to play in the league.

"This totally shocks me. I think Red Auerbach said it best when he said they had drafted the best athlete in the NBA draft."

"Len Bias was the best athlete in the draft. He was a great, great player. It's such a shame. In all my years in the ACC, as a player and a coach, he's as good as anyone who came through the league," Cremins said.

NBA president David Stern, who had dinner with Bias and other prospective high picks the night before the draft, called Bias "a poised, good natured and friendly young man with a wonderful future. We join his family, friends and fans in mourning his tragic death," he said.

ACC Commissioner Bob James called it "a terrible, terrible loss."

"Here's a young man who obviously was a tremendous physical specimen," he said. "No one would ever believe he could have any problems like that."

California Angels' pitcher Don Sutton raises his arms in jubilation as he gets the final out against the Texas Rangers to record his 300th career victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium. Sutton's 3-hit pitching paced the Angels to a 5-1 victory.

Red Sox take big AL east lead

By The Associated Press AMERICAN LEAGUE Red Sox 5, Yankees 2

Don Baylor ripped a three-run double with one out in the ninth inning to give Boston a three-game sweep behind Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd's eight-hit pitching. Baylor's double came on a 3-2 pitch from Brian Fisher, who relieved loser Bob Shirley with runners on second and third and one out. Boston leads the second-place Yankees by 6½ games in the AL East.

New York's Ken Griffey, who was fined $10,000 earlier in the day for missing Tuesday night's game, homered in the sixth to tie the game.

Tigers 6, Orioles 1

Rookie Eric King pitched a five-hitter for the first complete game of his major-league career and Larry Herndon hit a two-run homer. King walked two and struck out nine in his third major-league start.

Loser Scott McGregor was working on a one-hitter when a throwing error by second baseman Alan Wiggins allowed Tom Brookens to reach base with one out in the fifth. Herndon followed with a home run over the center-field fence, his fourth of the season. Lou Whitaker and Lance Parrish added RBI singles for the Tigers.

A's 1, Royals 0

Dave Kingman's 15th home run of the season, one of just four hits off Bret Saberhagen, provided the only run in the second inning. Winner Curt Young also pitched a four-hitter and recorded the second shutout of his major league career. He struck out two and walked two.

Brewers 3, Blue Jays 1

Rookie Mike Felder drove in two runs with his first major-league homer and Teddy Higuera scattered eight hits. Higuera, 9-5, struck out eight to give him 98, second in the AL. His eighth complete game leads the league. He gave up a run in the first inning on Cliff Johnson's double.

Felder put the Brewers ahead in the third when he homered off Jim Clancy after Charlie Moore walked.

Twins 10, White Sox 9

Minnesota tied the game with four runs in the bottom of the ninth on Kent Hrbek's second homer of the game, a two-run shot, and Mickey Hatcher's two-run pinch single and won on Steve Lombardozzi's 10th-inning triple. Kirby Puckett opened the 10th with a single off Gene Nelson and Lombardozzi followed with a hard grounder down the third-base line that rolled into the left-field corner.

The White Sox had built a 9-5 lead as Ron Kittle homered twice and stole home on the front end of a double steal.

Indians 5, Mariners 1

Ken Schrom allowed three hits in seven innings and Brett Butler doubled, tripled and scored twice as Cleveland snapped Seattle's four-game winning streak. Schrom, who left the game because of a strained Achilles tendon, allowed a homer by Phil Bradley and singles by John Moses and Danny Tartabull. Loser Jim Beattie gave up four runs on nine hits in 6-2-3 innings in only his second appearance of the season after recuperating from shoulder surgery.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Expos 7, Mets 4

Montreal's Tim Wallach, who entered the game 1-for-19 with 11 strikeouts against Dwight Gooden, tagged his nemesis for two homers and drove in five runs. Wallach became the first player to homer twice in a game against Gooden, 8-3, in the 21-year-old right-hander's three-year major-league career.

The victory went to Floyd Youmans, a one-time high school teammate of Gooden's in Tampa, Fla. Youmans pitched 5-1-3 innings and gave up five hits, including Darryl Strawberry's solo homer.

Gooden went 6-1-3 innings and gave up seven runs, six of them earned, on six hits. He walked six and struck out just one. Wallach hit a sacrifice fly in the first inning, a solo home run in the third and a three-run shot in the seventh that made the score 7-1 and chased Gooden.

Montreal won twice in the three-game series with the NL East-leading Mets but New York still leads the second-place Expos by 9½ games.

Reds 3, Astros 2

Eric Davis hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning off Houston relief ace Dave Smith. Houston starter Mike Scott took a three-hitter and 2-1 lead into the ninth but was replaced after striking out leadoff batter Pete Rose. Frank DiPino allowed a single to Dave Parker and Smith, who has 16 saves, was brought in to face Davis, who drove a 1-0 pitch far over the left-field fence for his sixth Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd reacts after striking out the New York Yankees pinch hitter Dan Pasqua to end the seventh inning Wednesday night for the Boston Red Sox. The Sox broke a 2-2 tie in the ninth to win 5-2 and give "Oil Can" his ninth win. The Sox swept the three game series from the Yankees.

home run of the season. Cincinnati's Eddie Milner and Houston's Glenn Davis hit solo homers.

Giants 6, Padres 3

Chris Brown, Bob Melvin, and Jose Uribe homered and San Francisco battered Mark Thurmond for five hits and three runs in 1-1-3 innings. The homers by Brown and Melvin came in the second inning while Uribe hit a two-run shot off Gene Walter in eighth. Mike LaCoss pitched 6-1-3 innings for the victory.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2

Franklin Stubbs homered and drove in three runs while Fernando Valenzuela gave up six hits in 6-2-3 innings, including consecutive home runs to Dale Murphy and Bob Horner in the fourth inning, and became the NL's second 10-game winner. Stubbs keyed a three-run third inning with a two-run single and hit his 12th home run in the ninth.

Cubs 5, Phillies 4

Ron Cey scored from third base on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Philadelphia reliever Don Carman in the bottom of the 10th inning. Earlier in the inning, pinch runner Dave Martinez stole second but was thrown out at the plate on Cey's single.

Leon Durham started the Cubs back from a 4-1 deficit with a two-run double in the eighth. Shawn Dunston led off the ninth with his eighth homer, knocking out Shane Rawley and tying the game.

Cardinals 4-1, Pirates 2-2

Bill Almon's sacrifice fly in the 12th inning scored Joe Orsulak with the winning run as Pittsburgh snapped a six-game losing streak. Earlier, the Cardinals completed a 4-2 victory that was improperly halted in the sixth inning Monday night on account of rain.

In the suspended game, Jack Clark homered and Danny Cox beat the Pirates for the eighth time in nine lifetime decisions by scattering four hits over five innings Monday night.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
CITY OF STANTON
STANTON MUNICIPAL AIRPORT
AIRPORT IMPROVEMENTS
NOTICE TO BIDDERS
 Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Stanton, Texas, will be received at the office of the City Manager, City Hall, Stanton, Texas, until 2:00 P.M., July 7, 1986, for furnishing all necessary materials, machinery, equipment, superintendence, and labor for constructing certain improvements at the Stanton Municipal Airport.
 Immediately following the closing time for receipt of bids, proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud. Any bid received after closing time will be returned unopened.
 The Project consists principally of seal coating approximately 36,500 square yards of runway, taxiway and apron pavement by one of two methods: (1) uncoated, Type D, Grade 5 aggregate or (2) pre-coated, Type PD, Grade 5 aggregate. The project also includes marking and herbicidal treatment.
 A bid proposal guaranty is to accompany the bid, thereby guaranteeing the good faith of the bidder and that the bidder will enter into the written contract. The guaranty is to amount to five percent (5%) of the total bid and must be in the form of cash or certified check, issued by a bank satisfactory to the City of Stanton, Texas, or a bid bond. If in the form of cash or certified check, it is hereby expressly understood and agreed that the City of Stanton, Texas, is given the right to retain such as liquidated damages if such bidder withdraws its bid anytime after such bid is opened and before official rejection of such bid, or, if successful in securing the award thereof, such bidder fails to enter into the contract and furnish satisfactory performance bond and payment bond. If a bid bond is submitted, it shall be executed on forms contained in these contract documents by a corporate surety authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and acceptable to the City of Stanton, Texas.
 The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond in the amount of the contract, if the contract is in excess of $25,000. The bonds shall be written by a responsible Surety Company authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Owner, as required by Articles 2368a and 5160, V.A.T.C.S., and all related amendments.
 All lump sum and unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the prices in the bids, the Owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. Unreasonable (or "unbalanced") unit prices will authorize the Owner to reject the bid.
 Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions under which the work is to be done.
 Attention is called to the fact that there must be paid on the project not less than the general prevailing rates of wages as set out in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS. However, the inclusion of such minimum schedule of wages does not release the Contractor from compliance with any State Wage Law that may be applicable. The Contractor must abide by the Wage and Hour Laws of the State of Texas and must pay not less than the rates legally prescribed or as set forth in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS, whichever is higher.
 Information for bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file in the office of the City Manager, Stanton, Texas, and at the office of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 5214 Thomason Drive, Midland, Texas 79703.
 Copies of the Plans and Specifications may be secured from Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 5214 Thomason Drive, Midland, Texas 79703, upon a deposit of FIFTY DOLLARS ($50.00) as a guarantee of the safe return of the plans and specifications. The entire deposit will be refunded, provided all documents are returned within thirty days after the date for receiving bids. However, it is requested that all documents be returned prior to the bid date, for immediate refund of deposit, if the same are no longer required. No refund of deposit will be made on documents returned later than thirty days after the date for receiving bids.
