Tax package nears final OK

Tax overhaul plan at a glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tax cut for millions of Americans is one step away after a near-unanimous Senate approved the most sweeping tax-overhaul legislation in a generation.

Congressional bargainers will begin meeting in mid-July to draft a compromise between the bill the Senate passed Tuesday on 97-3 vote and a less dramatic version the House approved last December.

"I don't see anything stopping a tax reform bill being on the president's desk this year," Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, predicted.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and the prime architect of the Senate package, said that with the Senate vote, Congress is "two-thirds of the way there" to revising the tax code.

Nonetheless, Rostenkowski said there will be "long discussions" between the House and Senate on some of the most sensitive differences between the two bills, particularly the treatment of middle-income taxpayers.

The Senate bill compresses more than a dozen existing individual tax brackets — ranging from 11 percent to 50 percent — into two brackets of 15 percent and 27 percent.

The House bill has individual rates of 15 percent, 25 percent, 35 percent and 38 percent.

Democrats in both chambers have said that under the Senate bill, the wealthy would not pay their fair share of taxes while middle-income people would not get enough of a break.

Congressional tax experts have estimated that under the Senate bill, the after-tax income of people earning $30,000 to $40,000 a year would be raised by 0.4 percent, compared with 1.4 percent for those making more than $200,000. Roughly one in four people earning between $20,000 and $50,000 would face a tax increase.

Packwood has said repeatedly the rates in the Senate bill are in violation and the "glue" that holds it together.

He also has dismissed arguments that the middle class would not get a fair shake.

"There's no question the average middle-income Jane and Joe work-

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of the tax-overhaul plan passed by the Senate. The figures assume the bill is fully in effect.

INDIVIDUALS

TAX CUTS: Three-quarters of taxpayers would get tax cuts averaging 6.4 percent. About 25 million people would pay more, including one-third of those with income between $30,000 and $40,000. More than 4 million lower-income couples and individuals now on the tax rolls would pay no tax.

RATES: Sponsors say 80 percent of taxpayers would pay only the bottom rate of 15 percent. Most others would pay a maximum of 27 percent on part of their earnings. Some earnings of upper-income people could be taxed at up to 32.4 percent.

EXEMPTIONS: $2,000 per taxpayer, spouse and dependent; once adjusted gross income exceeds $145,320 for a couple ($87,240 for a single person), the exemption begins phasing out.

STANDARD DEDUCTIONS: $5,000 for couples, $3,000 for singles.

ITEMIZED DEDUCTIONS: Ends deduction for consumer interest, such as credit cards and car loans, and the special writeoff for two-earner couples. Severely restricts deductions for medical expenses and sales taxes. Eliminates charitable deduction for non-itemizers.

RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS: Workers eligible for company pensions could no longer take a deduction for annual contributions to Individual Retirement Accounts; interest buildup would remain tax-free until withdrawn.

TAX SHELTERS: Bill should make it more difficult to invest in ventures that are designed to cut taxes, not make profits. Except for some oil and gas investors, it would restrict use of "passive" losses from such ventures to shield wages and fees from taxation.

CAPITAL GAINS: Taxed as ordinary income.

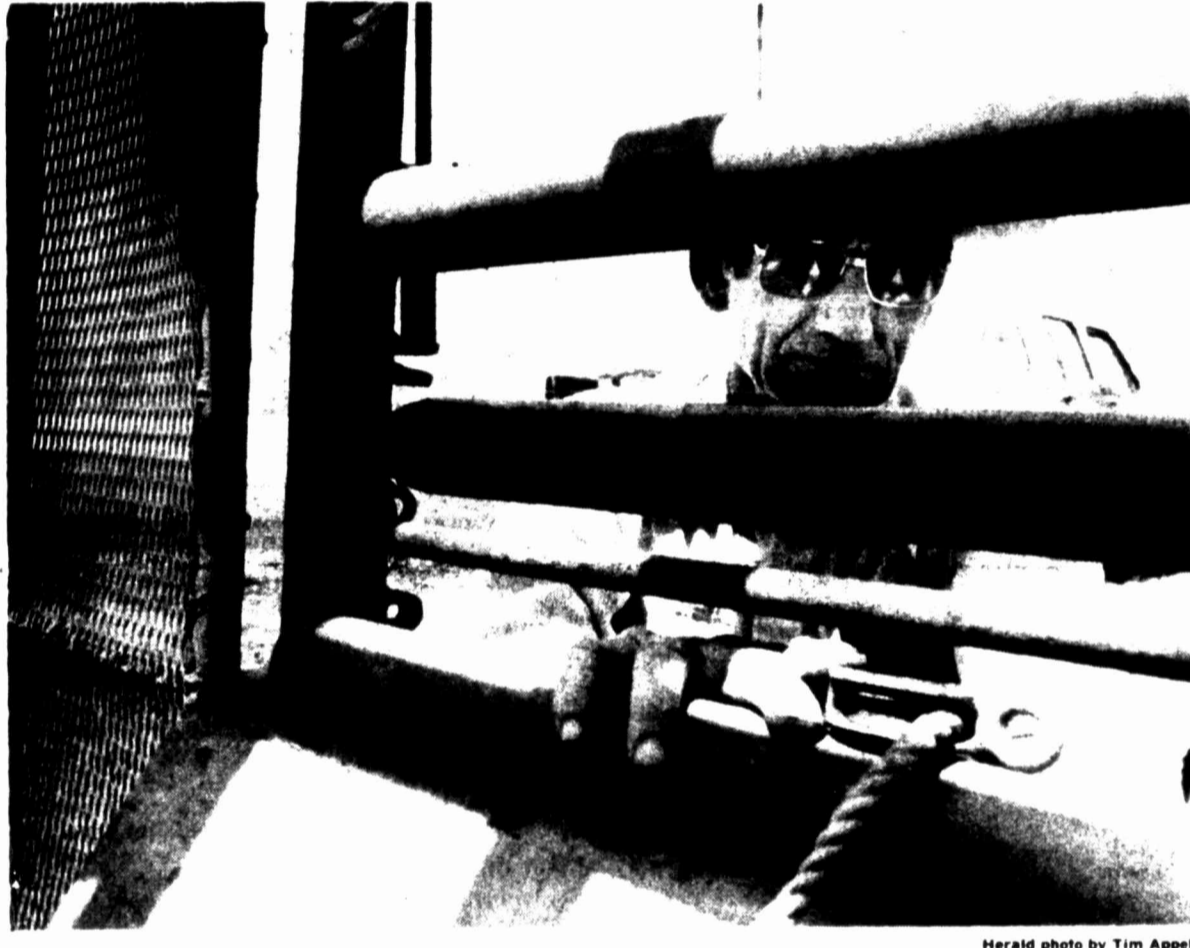

BUSINESSES

TAX INCREASES: Taxes on corporations would be increased by about $18 billion over five years, with burden falling hardest on profitable companies that have been able to escape taxes because of large legal deductions; they would be subject to stiffened minimum tax of 20 percent.

TAX RATES: Top corporate rate would drop to 33 percent. Small businesses would pay as little as 15 percent.

INVESTMENTS: Credit for investment repealed. Depreciation similar to present law but more generous for equipment and less generous for real estate.

SPECIAL BREAKS: Many would go, many would stay. Oil and gas, banking and timber industries are winners; real estate a loser. Few changes in the treatment of tax-exempt bonds. Special provisions, some benefiting only one company or project, are scattered throughout the bill.

Chamber requests more tax money

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The city's tight general fund budget would be squeezed even tighter if a Chamber of Commerce request for more motel tax revenue is adopted by City Council, city finance director Tom Ferguson said this morning.

The request was made at a public budget hearing at Tuesday night's council meeting.

Also, the closing of a street that a man says belongs to him sparked some heated discussion among councilmen.

The money the chamber wants is $210,000 the city expects to collect next fiscal year through the motel occupancy tax. Already, the city shares half its tax money with the chamber for funding the chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Fattening the chamber budget would speed development of a range of projects designed to stimulate tourism here, chamber president Arrick said.

"I think a lot of good things could come from this," he said.

The council is developing a map of Howard County highlighting many points of interest and will soon have a cassette tape to accompany the map so that visitors can listen to Bob "Tumbleweed Smith" Lewis narrate the history, he told councilmen.

Also in the works are expansion of nature trails and the park area around the Big Spring; a bus tour for people staying in Big Spring motels; enlarging the July 4 fireworks display; and hiring an advertising agency to promote tourism in Howard County.

"When you fill motel rooms, you help everyone in town," Arrick said.

Councilman Russ McEwen said he agreed the chamber's goals are worthwhile. However, he wondered out loud if the city would not be better served by "enhancing facilities around town."

Mayor Cotton Mize said after the meeting. "I think we need to explore it a little bit further. I think basically we're both trying to do the same thing."

Mize said he thinks the chamber and city can "reach a happy medium."

Mother awaits Christi's return

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The problem now is patience.

Support and effort to spread 10-year-old Christi Proctor's picture and information about her disappearance is a time-consuming process, says her mother, Laura Proctor.

"Everything takes so much time," she said during a recent visit to Big Spring. "I'm waiting for that day when I have Christi back."

Christi, a Big Spring native and granddaughter of Ralph and Lynette Brooks, owners of Blum's Jewelers here, disappeared Feb. 15 in Dallas while walking a few blocks to her apartment complex from a friend's house.

Laura Proctor, who moved to Dallas from Big Spring with her children in November 1985, said several leads are being pursued by members of the FBI in Dallas and a private investigator the family has hired.

She could not disclose the nature of the leads, she said, but "ultimately, something will take us to Christi."

The initial shock of Christi's disappearance took about two months to recover from, Proctor said. She then busily engaged herself in an effort to spread word throughout the country about her daughter's disappearance.

"We've developed contact with missing children organizations throughout the country," she said. The organizations work in conjunction with the National Child Safety Council to help spread the word.

It is done by advertising on milk cartons, inserting flyers about missing children in customer utility bills, and working with the television media who regularly provide public service messages about missing children, Proctor said.

Christi's case was mentioned April 23 on a special NBC broadcast about missing children.

"I'm very determined I'm going to find Christi," Proctor said. "The public has to be made aware these kids are out there."

Other organizations Proctor has contacted are the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in Washington, D.C., Find the Children in Los Angeles, and the Kevin Collins Foundation in San Francisco.

Money donated in Big Spring and Dallas has been used to print more than 60,000 poster flyers about Christi, which have been distributed throughout the country, Proctor said. She and other organization members distribute posters by purchasing different types of mailing lists.

"We (parents of missing children) shouldn't do it alone. It sure would take a whole lot longer, and time is important," she said.

Family support has been important during the search for Christi, said Proctor, and "the support from people in Big Spring has been very overwhelming."

She said a feeling of reinforcement has come from her contact with other parents of missing children.

"We share something pretty unique. It's such an incomprehensible situation," Proctor said. "The comradeship keeps my sanity."

The positive attitude has been helpful with Christi's 5-year-old brother Adam, Proctor said.

"It's such a tough, tough thing," she said, referring to Adam's initial reaction when he learned of Christi's disappearance.

"We are going to find her. There's no doubt in my mind she's alive," Proctor said. "We'll never give up."

Laura Proctor, whose 10-year-old daughter Christi disappeared while walking home from a friend's house Feb. 15, looks at a poster offering a reward for the girl's return.

Committee to ask for ban on bottles

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The city may have an ordinance prohibiting all glass containers from municipal property within 30 days, Councilman Johnny Rutherford said Tuesday night.

Rutherford and Councilman Gary Don Carey met with local beer distributors as well as representatives from Coca Cola and Dr Pepper companies Monday morning to discuss the problem of glass litter in the city.

Carey said Monday the bottlers and distributors agreed that a problem exists and were congenial in finding a solution during the two-hour meeting.

"We're going to propose to the council an outright ban of glass beverage containers on municipal property," Rutherford said. "Then we're going to propose that certain areas be designated for non-alcoholic beverages in our parks."

He said he would ask the Parks and Recreation Board to move drinking areas away from the swimming pool and areas where children congregate.

Hayes Stripling, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce beautification committee and an advocate of removing glass from the streets, said the idea of restricting glass beverage containers was a "step in the right direction."

Rutherford said the distributors "were very receptive almost to the point of supporting an outright ban of glass bottles."

The distributors did say, however, that such a ban would hurt their businesses, Rutherford said.

Education is the key to cutting down on litter, Rutherford said.

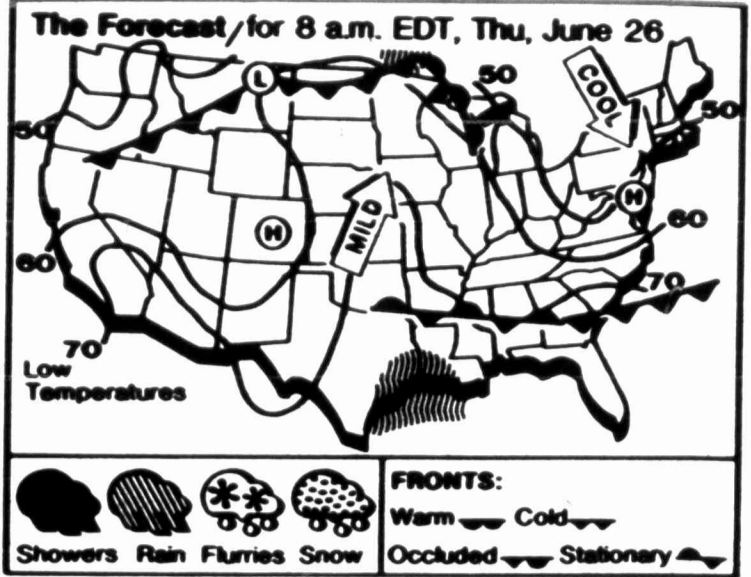

"The two beer distributors said they would make contributions towards an education program," the councilman said.

Also, Rutherford said there may be increased enforcement of the city's litter laws, especially at Comanche Trail Park.

Broken bottles and other refuse litter the ground in Big Spring. A City Council committee is readying a proposal to ban glass beverage containers on municipal property in an attempt to lessen the problem.

Second hepatitis case reported in Big Spring

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A second case of hepatitis in Big Spring was confirmed today by the Howard County Health Department.

An Abilene laboratory report received by the County Health Department this morning confirmed that an employee at Furr's Cafeteria has contracted hepatitis.

The second case, however, involves a different strain of the disease — a "noncontagious" one, said Dr. Jack Woodall, director of the health department.

Woodall explained the second case is transferable only through transfusions and "the use of dirty needles."

"Furr's is in the clear," Woodall said in responding to a question about the restaurant facility posing a risk to the public.

The first Big Spring hepatitis case was reported about two weeks ago when a 7-Eleven employee at the 902 Willa St. store was given a two-week leave of absence after a local doctor confirmed he had contracted hepatitis.

Customers of the 7-Eleven store, however, need not worry about contracting the viral disease, County Sanitarian James Luck said, after inspecting the store.

Woodall said the Furr's employee is not at work only because he or she doesn't feel well. He said the restaurant was inspected a week ago by Luck who determined the cafeteria poses no risk to patrons.

"No further investigation needs to be done," Woodall said.

He said even if the individual was on the job, the public would not be at risk of contracting the disease because it is a noncontagious virus.

A lab technician at Hall-Bennett Hospital, who requested anonymity, said a person who contracts hepatitis generally feels weak and tired. Symptoms appear about two weeks after contraction, the technician said.

The most visible symptom of the disease is a yellowing of the skin complexion and whites of the eyes, the technician said.

Council

"Whichever way we think will benefit the city the most is the route we'll go," he said.

In another matter, Corky Harris, president of Harris Lumber and Hardware presented the council with a 494-signature petition seeking council action to re-open a street between Third and Fourth Streets that had been used by the public for more than 20 years.

The road, a continuation of Franklin Street, stretches across private property owned by L.B. Anderson, who insists the road is his to do with as he pleases. Anderson has erected a fence across the road.

Anderson said he bought the 1.89 acres of land the street is on as an investment with plans to eventually build a motel there. But the plans did not materialize, and Anderson said he will probably sell the property.

Meanwhile, he said he doesn't want people "driving over my property."

Harris, whose lumber yard is near the street, said closing the road is an inconvenience to people wanting access between Third and Fourth Streets on the east end of town.

"I'm of the opinion we need to do something," McEwen said. "We need that street."

Councilman Gary Don Carey said, "At the same time, the man bought and paid for that land."

Carey said he was "against the city taking land from private land."

"I'm against a citizen closing a road," countered McEwen.

Anderson said he needs full control of the land "until the time someone buys it so they'll know what they're up against."

Councilman Harold Hall said, "I think it needs to be thrashed out at the courthouse."

In other business the council:

Civil suit filed against Basin Construction

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Problems continue to mount for Basin Construction Co. of Big Spring as the company faces a civil suit filed last week in 118th District Court.

A local property firm requested the court on Friday to order company owner Charles S. "Chris" Christopher to pay a $182,009.67 debt in addition to accrued interest fees, attorney fees and court costs.

The petition names Ann Garrett Property Inc. as plaintiff.

Basin Construction is in the midst of a Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding as a result of a petition filed early last month.

The Garrett suit also comes in the wake of an accident earlier last week when an unmanned Mack truck owned by Basin Construction broke from its bearings, rolled down South Mountain and crashed into a home on Goliad Street. A tractor was mounted on the back of the truck.

The accident caused an estimated $25,000 damage to the garage of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Shroyer of 2910 Goliad.

According to the civil suit petition, Basin Construction Inc. executed and delivered a promissory note in April 1984 to the late Ann Garrett promising to pay her a $235,000 loan plus interest in quarterly annual installments.

The petition also alleges that Christopher executed a separate guaranty agreement promising punctual payment of the debt.

The suit further alleges that within the guaranty agreement, payment was secured by a collateral pledge agreement consisting of issued and outstanding stock of Basin Construction Inc. in addition to certain vehicles and equipment.

According to the petition, the unpaid balance has existed since March 17.

Christopher was out of town today and Tuesday, and attempts to contact him by telephone were unsuccessful.

Basin Construction filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy May 7 in a Dallas district court after losing a civil suit in 118th District Court in April. According to the bankruptcy petition, Christopher is an 80 percent shareholder of Basin.

The company was ordered by District Judge James Gregg to pay an outstanding principal amount of $3,000 to Big Spring Automotive for services rendered.

ing in the shoe store, working in the lumber and feed chain (store) come out better under this bill," Packwood said.

Rostenkowski, though, left no doubt about his position, saying, "I'm going to be as interested as many of the senators were ... in how this affects the middle-income family. That, I think, is the true glue that would keep reform together."

He also recommended a compromise, noting the Senate bill has two brackets while the House bill has four. "There's a number someplace in the middle," Rostenkowski said.

The bargainers also face tough arguments over a Senate move to reduce the deductibility of contributions to Individual Retirement Accounts.

Rostenkowski said he would seek to retain that deduction.

There also are differences on provisions to eliminate the deduction for state and local taxes and the elimination of the deduction for interest on consumer credit as well as Senate provisions that reduce the value of tax shelters and capital gains.

But, for now, the emphasis is on the prospect of enactment of a tax bill.

"The Senate has voted on tax reform and the score is: taxpayers 1, special interests, nothing," President Reagan said in a written statement as he watched tax overhaul — his No. 1 domestic priority for his second term — take on new life with the Senate vote.

Just before the vote, Packwood emotionally told his colleagues they were about to deliver "a great victory for America." Choking back tears, he told senators, "This country is in your debt."

The Senate bill would reduce taxes for most individuals, by an average of 6.4 percent — about $215; raise taxes for 25 million people and shift $105 billion of the federal tax burden to corporations over the next five years.

More than 6 million working poor would be taken off the income-tax rolls, while some rich investors and profitable companies making big use of legal deductions would become taxpayers for the first time in years.

The $1,080 personal exemption would rise to $2,000 for all but the wealthiest taxpayers. Standard deductions would be increased, to $3,000 for singles and $5,000 for joint returns.

Deductions for consumer interest, such as for credit cards and car loans, and miscellaneous expenses, including union dues, would be repealed. The writeoff for medical expense and sales taxes would be slashed. Income averaging would be repealed for all but farmers. Capital gains would lose their long-held preferential treatment.

The top corporate tax rate of 46 percent would be cut to 33 percent, with lower rates for small business.

driver's license was suspended for six months.

All capsules removed

AUBURN, Wash. — Store shelves in southern King County were bare today of over-the-counter medications in capsule form after authorities investigating two poisoning deaths discovered cyanide in a second brand of headache remedy.

Residents were urged not to take any over-the-counter medication in capsules, and stores were ordered to remove such products, after a random check Tuesday turned up tainted Anacin-3 in this Seattle suburb where two deaths have been blamed on cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Excedrin capsules.

Congress extends time

WASHINGTON — Let there be light, sayeth the Lord. And let there be more of it in the evening, addeth the Congress, which passed legislation to lengthen daylight-saving time by three weeks.

The action came on a voice vote Tuesday as the House sent the proposal, which has the support of the Reagan administration, to the president's desk.

Under the plan, beginning next year people would set their clocks ahead an hour on the first Sunday in April. Under a 1966 law, daylight-saving time has begun on the last Sunday in April.

No change would be made in the ending day for daylight-saving time, the final Sunday in October.

Hunt brothers file suit

DALLAS — Three sons of the late oil tycoon H.L. Hunt and two of their oil companies are seeking more than $3.6 billion from 23 major banks for alleged violations of antitrust and banking laws.

The plaintiffs claimed in a suit filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court here that the banks made a "concerted and vindictive effort ... to force several of the individual plaintiffs to 'make good' on the more than $1.5 billion in loans outstanding to Placid Oil Co. and Penrod Drilling Co. and to dismantle and to ultimately destroy those companies."

Placid Oil, Penrod Drilling, the three Hunt family trusts that own the businesses and Nelson Bunker Hunt, William Herbert Hunt and Lamar Hunt asked for more than $1.2 billion in actual damages.

Deputy may have shot man

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — One of the three hostages who died during a 13½-hour siege in an exclusive Rodeo Drive jewelry store was probably killed by a deputy as the gunman used hostages as a shield in an escape attempt, officials say.

Steven Livaditis, who faces arraignment Thursday on murder and robbery charges, did not fire the .357-caliber Magnum revolver he brandished at the hostages as he tried to escape before midnight Monday, Sheriff Sherman Block said Tuesday.

"To the best of our ability to determine at this time, it (the shot that killed the jewelry store manager Hugh Skinner) was fired by a sheriff's deputy," Beverly Hills Police Chief Marvin Iannone told reporters Tuesday.

U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz (right) congratulates Philippine Vice President and Foreign Minister Salvador Laurel shortly after signing an agreement Wednesday in Manila on the immediate release of $200 million in U.S. aid to help the Philippines' struggling economy.

Aid agreement

Shultz grants $200 million to Philippines

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today signed an agreement providing the Philippines with $200 million to aid its struggling economy, and expressed confidence Congress would approve a request for $150 million more.

Shultz, who signed the agreement at the Foreign Ministry with Vice President Salvador Laurel, said the money would be used "to support the Philippines government budget at a time when the country is confronting a severe fiscal crisis."

He met later with President Corazon Aquino at her official residence, a tightly guarded government guest house across a street from the Malacanang Palace.

More than 250 demonstrators protested the meeting, but dispersed 30 minutes before Shultz arrived after being told by police they could not stay.

"Down with imperialism, military bases are a curse," the demonstrators chanted in Tagalog as they marched away carrying signs saying, "Shultz go home" and "No to U.S. Imperialism."

When he was in Manila in late April, the secretary of state promised to speed up delivery of the money, which normally would have been provided in smaller payments over a longer period of time.

He met over breakfast with armed forces chief Gen. Fidel Ramos and Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, a session Ramos described as "a reunion of old friends. We didn't ask or request anything."

His also was to meet with Roman Catholic Cardinal Jaime Sin, one of the most influential figures in the Philippines.

The $200 million grant is part of a $505 million aid package the Reagan administration says is the most it can provide the hard-pressed country in the fiscal year that ends Sept. 30.

The only money in the package that had not been earmarked for the Philippines before Mrs. Aquino took over as president from Ferdinand E. Marcos in February is $150 million now being considered by Congress.

"We are taking the necessary measures to make available remaining portions of the assistance," Shultz told reporters. "And I think I can say to you that the $150 million pledge the president made to Mrs. Aquino is well received in our Congress and I am even more confident than I was a month or so ago, when I talked about it, that it will pass."

Shultz's optimism is based on support of the appropriation by key leaders in both parties and statements by Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., influential chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that he would like to provide the Philippines with even more aid.

"I'm here to sign this agreement, but really to say how firmly we support the new government of President Aquino and the things that you are doing to revitalize the political, economic and security processes here in the Philippines," Shultz said.

In summary, he said the money will provide "breathing room" for the economy, which is weighted down by high unemployment, low growth and a $26 billion foreign debt.

Other aid yet to be provided includes loans at relatively low interest rates, and funds for food imports and a program that aids Philippine ability to export sugar.

Philippine newspapers continued to print reminders that the bulk of the aid has long been promised.

The Manila Daily Inquirer and News Herald reprinted comments by Mrs. Aquino's executive secretary, Joker Arroyo, that "before we react with joy like jumping chimpanzees we should know that what Secretary Shultz is bringing is rental money ... not aid money as people would make it appear."

17 killed by bombs

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — Police said Tamil separatist guerrillas set off three explosions today, killing 17 people and wounding more than 50 others only hours before the opening of a national political conference on the Tamil ethnic crisis.

Police and the government's Joint Operations Command reported the three almost simultaneous explosions. They said two blasts occurred on government-run buses, and a third hit a police jeep escorting a third bus, injuring eight policemen.

The joint Operations Command said 17 people were killed in the most devastating explosion, at Kantalai, 22 miles southwest of Trincomalee.

Guerrilla meets official

LONDON — The head of South Africa's outlawed black guerrilla movement said today his meeting with a minister in the British Foreign Office demonstrates the African National Congress must be part of a solution to strife in South Africa.

Oliver Tambo met Tuesday with Lynda Chalker, a junior minister in the Foreign Office, in the first contact at such a high level between an ANC leader and the British government. Both termed the talks useful but could not agree on how to end apartheid, South Africa's system of racial separation.

OPEC has new president

BRIONI, Yugoslavia — OPEC's outgoing president today predicted a quick reversal of the world oil market slump, which he said was threatening to become a "price disaster."

Arturo Hernandez Grisanti of Venezuela addressed the opening session of OPEC's regular summer conference and then was replaced as president by Nigerian Oil Minister Rilwanu Lukman. The position of president is rotated regularly.

The switch in leadership was the only decision made in the 90-minute session, said OPEC spokesman James Audu. He said the talks would resume in the late afternoon.

Hernandez Grisanti called on non-OPEC oil producers to follow Norway's example of pledging to cooperate in efforts to push up oil prices.

Secret service head quits

JERUSALEM — The head of Israel's secret service resigned today because of the controversy over the beating deaths of two Palestinian bus hijackers and was granted immunity from prosecution in the case, the Cabinet secretary announced.

Shin Bet chief Avraham Shalom and three other security agents were granted presidential clemency and cannot be prosecuted in the case, Cabinet secretary Yossi Beilin said. The other three agents have not resigned, he said.

The resignation appeared to preclude any full-scale investigation into allegations that Shalom ordered the Palestinians killed and then covered it up, and was an apparent victory for Prime Minister Shimon Peres and Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir, who opposed an inquiry.

Organ network needs enforcing

A dying patient, whose only hope is an organ transplant, needs more than a good surgeon these days. He needs a hospital with a good public relations department.

Baby Jesse is only the latest example.

Loma Linda University Medical Center, one of the most adept at capturing the national eye with its infant heart-transplant program, unfolded Jesse's saga for us on prime time.

First, the hospital rejected the defective newborn as a heart-transplant candidate because it felt his unwed parents couldn't care for him after the operation.

Then Jesse seemed to dodge nature's death sentence when his grandparents took custody of him and the hospital relented, giving the green light for surgery.

As millions of television viewers watched, Jesse's parents learned on the Phil Donahue talk show that a Michigan couple had donated the heart of its brain-dead baby to Jesse.

Then Baby Calvin made his public debut. He had been on the waiting list for a heart transplant a week longer than Jesse, and his condition was rapidly deteriorating.

Because his parents chose anonymity and the Kosair Children's Hospital in Kentucky relied on a standard organ-procurement network, Calvin was passed over. Fortunately, his plight was soon remedied with a press conference. A donor heart was quickly located.

As it was with a handful of other infants and children needing organ transplants, the media became the patients' best advocate.

That's not all bad, of course. The hitch is that newspapers and television only focus on a few patients, whose surgery usually involves the riskiest, most experimental forms of organ transplants.

Thousands of others, the more routine cases, never attract media attention. They and their families suffer no less anguish. It's just that we don't know about them.

Congress knows about them. Two years ago, it mandated a computerized national network for matching donor organs.

But Sens. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., have complained that the Reagan administration has been slow in implementing the law.

It's time to do better.

Federal health officials have received a proposal from an agency willing to establish a national organ-donor information system and, barring any glaring problems, it should be accepted. Lives have been needlessly lost because existing organ-donor lists are only regional.

The administration also should move more quickly to distribute the $2.5 million that Congress earmarked for local agencies to improve assistance to patients seeking donated organs.

Since many severe handicaps among newborns result from low birth weights and premature delivery, health officials should strongly support prenatal care programs for all pregnant women. That could reduce the demand for infant organ transplants.

We're happy for Baby Jesse and Baby Calvin, but we're unhappy with a system that relies on Phil Donahue to find an organ donor. America can do better.

Father is son's first model of manhood

All parents must eventually acknowledge their children's approaching maturity and surrender them forever to the uncertainty of the outer world. I am now steeling myself for that unhappy day. Ross Chapman, a strapping youth whose capacity for mirth is exceeded only by his ambition for destruction, is just 10 months old. But he has produced his first tooth, and with this milestone, I see my firstborn's childhood flashing by.

Steve Chapman

The evolution of an infant from a squalling, insensible bundle of demands into a squalling, reasoning bundle of demands concentrates the mind. By now I have gotten acquainted with the imposing responsibilities of fatherhood — from daily obligations, like changing diapers, to long-term ones, like saving for his college education. Give or take a few hours' lost sleep, I have adapted.

Other burdens, however, weigh more heavily. It occurred to me the other day, as Ross lay gurgling merrily on my chest, that his first model of manhood will be his father. This is not my preference: I can think of dozens of people I would prefer him to emulate. It certainly won't be his preference: In a few years he will take his inspiration from professional athletes, TV cops and rock stars.

Right now, though, I'm the only full-time male in his life, except a couple of four-legged ones, and for the next couple of decades I intend to be the most intrusive one. It is a relief to know that he will also have the example of his mother. The potency of chromosomes, which can override the best or worst of parental efforts, is another consolation.

But a father serves a fateful function. Most of my son's formative notions of what a man is will come from me — less from my instruction, I fear, than from my example. When he gets old enough, he may choose to accept those notions or to rebel against them. But they already will have made their imprint.

CIA lauds Mexico's push toward fighting corruption

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., has taken a lot of heat for his hearings on corruption in Mexico. But while he may be faulted for lack of tact, there is no denying the seriousness of the problem. In past columns, we have exposed massive, top-to-bottom corruption.

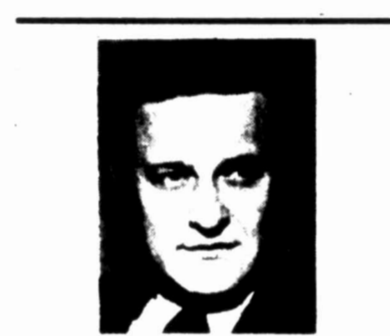

Privately, the Mexicans themselves acknowledge this. The same high Mexican officials who complain about the indignity of the Senate disclosures readily admitted to Dale Van Atta on his three recent visits to Mexico that corruption is a critical problem that must be curbed.

The CIA and other U.S. intelligence agencies recognize this as well. But in their latest National Intelligence Estimate on Mexico, they give President Miguel de la Madrid credit for doing more than his predecessors to fight corruption.

"In particular," the secret report states, "he has worked to distance himself from the egregious corruption and failures of President Lopez Portillo (1976-1982) and other senior officials of the previous government by pursuing an anti-corruption campaign that has included the imprisonment of at least one former high official and revelations of abuses by others, and by projecting an image of fairness, competence and probity the president so far has provided generally effective and popular leadership."

In fact, the secret report suggests that the most serious threat to de la Madrid's government would be the popular perception that he is not living up to his campaign promise of "moral renovation."

Eight out of 10 Mexicans in a recent poll said they believed "that the country's current crisis is the fault of corrupt or inept officials who enriched themselves while in office," the intelligence report states. It adds:

"Though bribery, influence peddling and nepotism and illegal profiting have historically been accepted elements of the political and social systems, corruption reached such excessive and conspicuous levels during the oil boom years that senior party and government officials as well as some labor leaders are apparently blamed by many for most of the country's current problems."

The report predicted that de la Madrid will persist in his anti-corruption campaign, at least for a while, but added this warning: "There are dangers in his proceeding too quickly or casting the net too widely."

As we pointed out two years ago in a series on the high-level corruption and profiteering that were bringing the country to its knees, Mexico's problems have a far more direct and important effect on the United States than those of Nicaragua and El Salvador combined.

Actually, the Helms Foreign Relations subcommittee that deals with Mexico had planned to hold hearings last fall. A key Helms aide wrote a memo to the senator listing the topics for the hearing: "U.S. economic aid to Mexico; 'Mexican crimes against Americans' (Like the murder of a U.S. narcotics agent in February 1985); 'corruption in Mexico'; 'fraud in Mexican elections'; 'failure of land reform'; and 'religious persecution'."

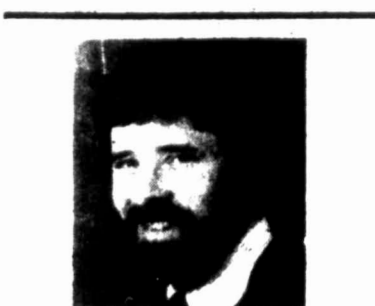

Helms staffers sardonically refer to it as "The Earth Shattering Memo." It was dated Sept. 18, and in the next two days earthquakes devastated Mexico City, killing thousands.

The tragedy led to postponement of the hearings until the first of the year, and then they were delayed further by other foreign-policy crises: the fall of Haitian dictator Baby Doc Duvalier and the ouster of Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos.

Interestingly, one reasonable criticism that Helms' critics have failed to raise is that his hearings on the left-of-center Mexican government's sins have helped to keep the right-wing dictatorship in Chile out of the media spotlight.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS: Imelda Marcos can be forgiven if she looks back with nostalgia on her first visit to the United States as the Philippines' first lady. Recently released State Department cables list the following items on the agenda of her two-day visit to New York City in 1966: a fashion show, a musical comedy, supper at Sardi's West, the late show at the Copacabana on the first day, then a shopping excursion and a visit to a fashionable discotheque the second day.

Around the rim

Tunnel vision not limited to the Capital

By HANK MURPHY
It seems a lot of people become involved in city affairs when city action has impact on their interests.

And that's OK. That's a basic feature of democracy.

But it's also a feature of selfishness and apathy when people show concern only when their self-interest is at stake.

In his last speech as president, Jimmy Carter warned of the constant pressure placed on government by special interest groups. Groups with tunnel vision, who gum the mechanics of government with intense and oft times unethical lobbying practices — including campaign contributions, outright bribes or threats.

In their zeal to address their own narrow interests, they lose sight of government's responsibility to all citizens — be it defense contractors or the tobacco industry, gay rights activists or the Moral Majority.

Of course, Big Spring, Texas, is nothing like Washington, D.C. But doesn't a parallel exist when softball players and golfers attend city council meetings, make their point against stiffer recreation fees, and then leave — ignoring the full agenda of the council business?

Aren't they interested in the other actions council members are taking to improve their city?

Another example occurred last summer, when taxpayers attended en masse to berate city council for a proposal to raise taxes.

Then there are the homeowners who attend meetings only when something's askew in their little corner of the world.

Of course there's nothing wrong with stating grievances; that's what representative government is all about. But Big Spring can no longer afford for its people to snipe at the city in cynical whispers, then scream thunder when number one is harmed.

Big Spring would be better served if more of its citizens made sincere proposals to improve the whole town and worried a little less about how the city can make things better for them.

Today

Today in History
By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, June 25, the 176th day of 1986. There are 189 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On June 25, 1876, Lt. Col. George A. Custer and his 7th Cavalry were wiped out by Sioux and Cheyenne Indians in the Battle of Little Big Horn in Montana.

On this date:
In 1788, the state of Virginia ratified the U.S. Constitution.

In 1906, in New York, architect Stanford White was shot to death atop the original Madison Square Garden, which he had designed, by Harry Thaw, the jealous husband of Evelyn Nesbit.

In 1942, the British air force staged a thousand-bomb raid on Bremen, Germany, during World War II.

In 1950, war broke out as North Korea invaded South Korea. The United Nations Security Council, meeting in emergency session, called for a cease-fire. The call went unheeded.

In 1962, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the use of an unofficial, non-denominational prayer in New York state public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1973, former White House Counsel John Dean began testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee.

Ten years ago: The Supreme Court ruled that private, non-sectarian schools may not exclude black children because of race.

Five years ago: The Supreme Court ruled that male-only draft registration is constitutional.

One year ago: The White House threatened economic sanctions against Lebanon and military reprisals unless the 40 American hostages from a hijacked TWA plane were released in the next few days.

Family, lawyers thanked for support and help

To the editor:

I would like to take this time to thank a few of the people who have been my strength over the past nine years. Being in the public eye is not an easy thing to go through and I would have given up if it hadn't been for these people.

First, I would like to thank my mom. She was my key witness. Without her help, I wouldn't have had a case at all. She has gone through a lot of humiliation because of it. She married my father and did not know he was still married to someone else at the time.

When we filed this suit, we didn't know I was "illegitimate." It was when the attorneys began to check the records that we found out. For 20 years, mother never knew her marriage was invalid. My father was married to someone else while he was still married to my mother. Someone should write a book about this. Maybe I will someday.

Secondly, I would like to thank my "Daddy." He loved mother and I enough to "take up" where my biological father left off. And for that I am very grateful.

My childhood years were better than any my brothers and sisters had. Creating a life was the easy part, but being a daddy for your children is by far the most rewarding.

My "daddy" loved me enough to adopt me, which meant taking full responsibility for me, both financially and legally. Anyone can be a father, but it takes someone special to be a "daddy."

To my husband and my children I owe a lot of thanks and love. They have stuck by me through thick and thin. Without them to share it with me, none of this would even be important anymore.

Although my girls are a little too young to understand, I think 20 years from now they'll look back and realize how important this was, and maybe the precedent we set will benefit some other children in the same situation.

I would also like to thank Ben Bancroft and Bob Miller for their help and friendship. We all shared something in Washington, D.C. that we'll remember for years to come. Special thanks for your support.

Thanks too, to all those who called, both friends and family, to congratulate me.

Last, but not least, a special thanks to God for his constant control over the situation. I am living proof that miracles still happen in the lives of believers, and I pray that He will continue to be with all of us as this case finally comes to a close.

May God richly bless this community.

Contras are a wise investment

To the editor:
I'm responding to the cartoon in Friday's Herald. This cartoon showed the Contra soldier picking the pocket of President Reagan.

I know that our President and legislators such as our Charles Stenholm do not agree with the implications of this cartoon. Rather, they believe that the amount of military and humanitarian aid given to the Contras is a wise investment in the freedom of our Nation. (And is it not humanitarian, as well as military, to provide a man with weapons to protect his country from foreign invasion?)

When Cuba fell to the Communists, one million Cubans fled to our country. The conservative estimate of the State Department is that it would cost the U.S. $40 billion a year to assist the refugees from Nicaragua if the Contras lose this war.

Jean Kirkpatrick, surely a knowledgeable person, said at a rally on June 9th: "The security, independence and freedom of the United States is riding on Congress' next vote on aid to the fighters." She surely referred to the Contras, since the Sandanistas are getting plenty of help from Communist countries.

Teacher's trial, civil suit set for next week

A 26-year-old Big Spring High School teacher will be tried Monday in 118th District Court on a felony charge of delivering marijuana.

Also set for trial next week is a civil suit stemming from a 1980 traffic accident.

Charles Briscoe of 1906 Wasson Drive was indicted by a grand jury in April for "intentionally and knowingly" delivering less than four ounces but more than 1/4-ounce of marijuana to police undercover agent Kimberley Phillips.

Briscoe, who was released on $10,000 bond, pleaded not guilty to the charge last month. Lubbock attorney Alex LeFevre will defend him.

District Judge James Gregg denied a motion May 23 requesting the grand jury indictment be set aside because an examining trial was not granted.

However, Gregg granted various motions made on Briscoe's behalf for inspection of physical evidence, the submission of physical evidence for laboratory testing, and a requirement that the prosecution reveal any agreement with a witness that could influence his or her testimony.

Another motion requesting a separate hearing on entrapment as a matter of law was waived by Briscoe.

At the time of his arrest, Briscoe was a history teacher, and assistant football and track coach.

The civil case involves a Sept. 2, 1980, truck accident on Interstate 20, which caused $6,728.79 damage to the roadway, according to the petition. The state of Texas is named as plaintiff in the case, and Ennis Transportation Inc. is defendant.

The suit claims a truck owned by Ennis and negligently driven by one of its employees was the proximate cause of the roadway damage.

According to the petition, the state paid for clearing debris off the roadway and repairing a guardrail and bridge rail allegedly damaged by the truck.

Rodeo queen to be named

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

For the first time since 1983, a queen will reign over the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo this year.

Two 16-year-old Howard County girls are competing to become queen: Shawn Davies of Big Spring and Colleen Fowler of Coahoma.

The winner will be announced Saturday evening at the rodeo.

Fowler was the first runner-up in the contest three years ago, at the rodeo's 50th anniversary, she said.

In 1983, the contest was affiliated with the Miss Rodeo Texas contest, and the winner went to the state contest, Fowler said.

But a rodeo queen hasn't been elected for the past two years because of the lack of interest and participation, said Dr. John Key, Cowboy Reunion board member.

The winner of this year's contest will be determined by who sells the most rodeo tickets, Key said.

Fowler said it has been difficult selling tickets because "times are hard."

"It's so discouraging," she said, adding that it requires perseverance for her to make sales.

Davies said she is not having trouble selling tickets, though her mother, Phyllis Edds of Big Spring, said people weren't buying many.

Both girls plan to ride in the rodeo, and both said they plan to enter the queen contest next year, too. Fowler said next year's contest probably would be her last, because she will be away at college after that.

More than $900 in prizes had been pledged by local merchants, but the prize package was canceled by the rodeo board because only two contestants entered, Key said.

"It wasn't fair to the merchants," he said. "It wasn't doing (them) right."

The contestants still will receive recognition and an award, he said.

Annette Clendenen, Park Inn community relations director and a 1976 Ardmore, Okla., world champion bull riding queen, initiated the effort to gain merchants' support. She said she was interested in preserving a part of American tradition that had been dying in Big Spring.

Keys said he and other board members were surprised by the merchant interest.

Davies said she was disappointed the prizes were canceled, but added that competing in the contest was "just what I wanted to do," regardless of prizes. "It's a goal, and I intend to reach it," she said.

Fowler said the lack of prizes doesn't bother her; she didn't know about them when she entered the contest, anyway.

Key said the prizes weren't announced until the Wednesday meeting for queen contestants and their parents, because the amount of merchant support wasn't known until a day or two before then.

Next year, Key said, the contest will be "much bigger and better." The merchant interest has prompted reunion board members to consider changing rules and begin working on the contest much earlier — perhaps in January, he said.

A nice package of prizes will provide an incentive for more contestants next year, he said.

Borden County to have a settlers reunion

GAIL — Borden County will celebrate the Sesquicentennial with an Old Settlers Reunion Sunday at the Gail School.

New settlers, families, descendants and current residents are invited, as well as old settlers, according to a news release.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., with a church service at 10, followed by a recognition and awards program. Lunch will be served at noon.

The Bicentennial Park will be dedicated during the afternoon, with music by local musicians. Quilts, early-day handcrafts and old pictures will be displayed.

Children can participate in a stick horse rodeo, and other contests will be held, according to a news release.

A hand-pieced quilt embroidered with the names of many Borden County personalities will be given away, as will a bronze piece, a hand-tooled purse, a hand-tooled belt and a clock made of Borden County wood.

The Borden County Museum also will be open.

Shadow of mental illness never leaves woman's side

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column ever since you started, 30 years ago. In May 1956 I had what was then known as a "nervous breakdown." I was a successful young businesswoman at the time. I spent only six weeks in a hospital where I received shock treatments.

I regained my mental health and raised four children. Many years later, one of my sons was arrested on a drug-related charge and was sent to prison. I was informed that because of my history of "mental illness" I could not visit my son. I was dumbfounded! I went to the prison anyway and asked to see the warden. When he saw that I was a neatly dressed, calm, rational, middle-aged woman, he allowed me to visit my son. Abby, it has been 31 years since my mental illness, but my "record" followed me!

Dear Abby

I am attaching a letter a reader sent to you many years ago. I didn't write it, but I could have. I carried it in my wallet for years. Please run it again:

DEAR ABBY: You are to be commended for the letters on mental illness you ran in your column. In those letters I saw clearly the attitude of society, which makes it so difficult for the emotionally disturbed to recover:

I had 10 years of emotional trouble and was one of the lucky ones whose family stood by me. I wonder how many people know anything of the dark and horrible world a mentally ill person lives in. There are no words to describe the fear and terror. And then the hurt they receive when trying to recover and they become aware of the strange things they did during their illness.

An ignorant society has done a good job in making the mental patient feel ashamed. Too much cannot be said about the uncaring attitude of the public concerning mental illness. If ever a human needs understanding and patience, it is the one who is in the dark and lonely world of mental illness. I lived there — and I know. But with God's help, I am...

RECOVERED

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married in four months and I'm very excited. Now for the problem: My parents were divorced three years ago after fighting like cats and dogs for 25 years, and they are still very, very bitter — especially my mother.

Anyway, my father is paying for the wedding and his name as well as my mother's will be on the invitation, but he will not allow my mother to attend the reception.

No matter what has happened between the two of them, I love them equally and could not enjoy my wedding reception knowing my mother was sitting at home.

This is my big day, Abby, and I think my parents could bury the hatchet for four hours max. My fiancé tells me not to worry — that this will blow over before the wedding — but knowing my parents, it will not. How would you handle this?

BAFFLED BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: I would thank my father for offering to pay for the reception, and tell him that there will be no reception unless my mother is invited. Period.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IN DOUBT IN NEW BRITAIN, CONN.: You are wise to have your doubts. The person who is constantly talking about what a super lover he is, is probably doing what he does best. Talking.

(Every teenager should know the truth about sex, drugs and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (30 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38823, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Common heart finding raises fears

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son has mitral valve prolapse and I worry when he wants to do exercises, because I have heard of sudden death occurring from this problem. His doctors tell him that everything is fine and his heart functions properly, yet I am fearful. I am writing for your view of this condition. — Mrs. V.L.

The mitral valve regulates blood flow from the upper left heart chamber to the lower left chamber. In some people, there is a rubberiness to this valve and it bulges up into the upper chamber when the heart beats; the laxness is referred to as prolapse.

Doctors have seen a lot of this irregularity over the years. In fact, you can find it in 15 percent of all women and 4 percent of all men. Letters I get on this often cite the matter of sudden death from it. Of the millions upon millions of prolapsed mitral valves seen over the years, 60 have been reported as the cause of such deaths.

Most people don't even know they have this condition, although some few may, indeed, have chest pain or erratic heartbeats. For them, medicine may be needed to control those problems. Some may have a bit of blood leakage into the upper chamber, and may be advised to receive antibiotics before having dental work done. That is to avoid possible migration of mouth germs to the rubbery valve.

The doctor knows a person has mitral valve prolapse by a peculiar heart noise heard through his stethoscope. He can evaluate its significance, if any, from what he knows about the patient. There are clues that tell if the patient is one of those rare few who may encounter trouble. One is a family history of unexpected death, perhaps at a young age. An ECG will reveal any unusual heart changes.

In the very few cases where death has been directly attributed to this situation, it usually has happened because of sudden, sustained, erratic heart rhythm. And such individuals can be identified before such a catastrophe arises.

I need to add another point about exercise, which is your immediate concern. Exercise is usually part of treatment for mitral valve prolapse. That lessens the potential for abnormal rhythm.

If your son's doctor told you he has mitral valve prolapse and has given him a clean bill of health, you can believe that. A great deal of unwarranted terror is being spread with this finding of mitral valve prolapse.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have heard that steroids are good to stop the shingles pain. My physician doesn't believe in it. Why not? It seems to be the only thing that can help, from what I hear. — A.A.

A doctor might use steroid drugs if the shingles virus infection is recognized very early, before pain raises. In that event, it might stop the pain. But even in such cases, the steroids won't work for everyone. It's not always wise to use such drugs for conditions like shingles, where pain can be very prolonged, over months or years. You don't want to use steroids for such lengthy periods without good reason.

No, I'm afraid we have to be satisfied with conventional pain relievers, sometimes with combinations of various drugs which have been found to help from time to time in certain patients. There is, alas, no sovereign reliever of shingles pain. I can only promise my readers that on the very first hint I get about a cure for shingles that really works for every case, I will write about it — and probably for weeks and weeks, given the great amount of mail I receive from shingles pain sufferers.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is it important, in your view, for a person to know for certain whether or not he or she has AIDS? Or rather, is it important to know if one doesn't have it? — M.E.

Let me put it another way. It's important for a person in one of the high-risk categories to find out if he or she has been exposed to the AIDS virus. And I am referring specifically to male homosexuals, prostitutes and intravenous drug abusers. The test does not tell if the person has AIDS. It tells only that the person has been exposed to the virus.

Nevertheless, even though only a small percentage of those showing exposure eventually get AIDS, knowing of exposure can guide them in curtailing sexual activity to avoid possible spread.

Shingles can be a painful disease! For a copy of the booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Humane Society meeting slated

The Big Spring Humane Society will meet June 26 at 7 p.m. in the Howard County Library. Plans for a new Humane Society Animal Shelter will be discussed. Assignments will be made for the June 28 flea and tick dip that will be held at Highland Pontiac on FM 700.

National League power

What a difference a year makes. Last year the Little League city playoffs were dominated by the Texas League. This season, a new league power emerged. This past week the National League teams left no doubt which league is king of the hill.

Yes, the National Leaguers flexed their muscles by finishing first and second in the single elimination city tournament. In fact, of the last eight teams left in the tournament, half came from the National League.

It was just like last season when Texas League teams dominated the scene. Last year, the Texas League teams fielded average pitching and strong hitting. The Texas League Tigers downed the American League Colts 4-0 in the title game. The Texas League Red Sox edged the International League Pirates 5-3 for third place.

This year the national leaguers took control with excellent pitching. Hurlers like the Lions' Joe Conaway, Rangers' Shane Myrick and the Cardinals' Mike Ramirez, who all tossed four-hitters or better, kept the National League a step ahead of the rest.

It's not that the NL doesn't have any hitters, because the do. Hitters like Pat Chavvaria of the Rangers, the Cards' Abel Hilario and Conaway can bang the ball with the best of them.

But in the end it was the NL's pitching prowess and ability to play good defensive ball that made the difference.

As it should have been, the title game between the Rangers and Lions turned out to be a pitcher's game. Both the Lions' Conaway and the Rangers' Myrick did all that was expected of them on the mound.

Each gave up four hits in the Lions 3-2 win. But it was the Lions who won by playing errorless ball. Meanwhile, two Ranger miscues and two costly misjudgements on fly balls cost the Rangers dearly. Otherwise, it might have been a 2-1 Ranger win.

But the game was a jewel to watch. It was well played, well coached, and best of all, the stands were without turbulent fans. It's good to know that there are coaches out there who are teaching the kids the right way to play the game, and parents who realize that the game is for the kids, and not themselves.

In fact, the entire tournament was enlightening, starting from day one when the Texas League Dodgers' Steven Robles set the tempo by hurling a no-hitter against the heavily favored American League Hawks. Even more amazing was that he fanned 16 of the 18 possible outs.

It was a far cry from last year when Robles and the Dodgers got shellacked 14-3 by the Cardinals in the first round.

The Lions' pitching staff proved it has come a long way since last year. In the second round last year, four Lion pitchers walked 27 batters as the Pirates got an easy 24-11 win.

This year the Lions' staff didn't walk that many the entire tournament.

The best rally in the tournament belonged to the Cardinals. Facing the Texas League Ponys, the big boppers in the city, the underdog Cards blew a close game wide open on the Ponys' home field.

Holding a 4-2 lead, the Cards banged out eight hits and scored eighth runs to outscore their much larger opponents.

The most exciting game was a semi-final tilt between the Rangers and Colts. Trailing 9-7 in their last at bat, the Rangers rallied for three runs to take a 10-9 win.

All in all the city tournament proved that Big Spring isn't short on good players. And the strength lies in the National League.

Rodeo begins tonight

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The 53rd Annual Cowboy and Reunion Rodeo will kick off tonight at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl.

It will be one of four nights of fun-filled rodeo action that will bring some of the top names in professional rodeo to the Spring City. Performances begin at 8:30 every night at the rodeo bowl, located at the Howard County fairgrounds west of Big Spring near West Highway 90.

The rodeo parade starts off the action at 4 p.m. today. More than 30 entries will participate in the float competition, including sheriff posses from the surrounding area. The parade will start on 10th and Main Street and go north on Main to Second Street. It will then go west on Scurry Street, back to 10th Street.

After the parade, the Kiwanis Club will serve a barbecue dinner at the fair barn near the rodeo bowl. Cost will be $4 per plate.

For the third consecutive year, livestock will be provided by Mack Altizer and Bad Company Rodeo Co. of Sonora. Rodeo announcer will be Randy Corley of North Platte, Nebraska.

Along with some top notch local competitors, some of the top cowboys and cowgirls in the world will be on hand to compete for over $10,000 in cash.

Leading the locals will be the team roping duo of Toots Mansfield and Kenny Thompson. Monty Smith and Shannon Boyles will also compete in the team roping. The brother duo of Jesse and James Doss will compete in calf roping.

In the barrel racing, Kristy Taylor and Dawn Waggoner will represent Howard County.

Heading the list of visiting cowboys will be the 1985 team roping World Champions Jake Barnes, of Chandler, Ariz. and Clay O'Brien Cooper of Bloomfield, N.M. Last year the duo set a record by earning $200,000. They are currently tied for third place on this year's Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association tour.

Also on hand will be eight-time world calf roping champion Roy Cooper and his cousin Jimmie Cooper.

Roy, who finished third in the standings last year with $112,000, hails from Durrant, Oklahoma. Jimmie, from Mounment, N.M., was the All-Around World Champion in 1981.

Coming back for his second consecutive Big Spring rodeo will be bull rider Charles Sampson of Chandler, Arizona. Sampson is the 1981

World Champion and last year placed third in the PRCA. This season he is currently ranked seventh. Sampson is married to former Big Spring resident Marilyn Casmon.

Last but not least is Howard County bull rider Wacey Cathey, who's been one of the tops in bull riding over the past five years. Last year Cathey, who resides in Coahoma, finished third in the standings. This season he's currently ranked fourth in the world.

Local clown favorite Quail Dobbs and his exploding car is the featured entertainer at the rodeo. In addition to his exploding car act, he will go against some mean bulls. Rick Young, the "Ragin Cajun" from Tickfaw, La., will be assisting Dobbs with his specialty clown acts.

Also on hand to protect the riders will be bull fighters Kirby Burney and Mike Horton.

After performances on Friday and Saturday, a dance will follow at the fair barn. The Bob Blanford Band from Sonora will be performing. Admission will be $5 per person.

In conjunction with the rodeo, fast draw artist Bob Dudley of Deming, N.M. will give a shooting demonstration on the parking lot of K-Mart Thursday.

Tickets for the rodeo can be purchased at the gate for $3 for children under 12 and $5 for adults.

Upsets rule Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Fourth-seeded Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany reversed form dramatically after a first-set shutout to beat Japan's Etsuko Inoue 0-6, 6-1, 6-2, and advance to the second round of the women's singles at Wimbledon.

Eighth-seeded Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria also advanced when her first-round foe, American Kate Gompert, retired with a thigh injury. Maleeva was leading 6-2, 1-0 at the time. And 10th-seeded Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina beat Christine Jolissaint of Switzerland 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

In other first-round matches, the women's 10th seed, Zina Garrison of the United States, breezed past another American, Beverly Bowes, 6-1, 6-4, while men's 12th seed Brad Gilbert of the United States beat Australia's Mark Woodforde 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

But the upsets that ousted five seeded players on Tuesday, including third-seeded Jimmy Connors, continued.

The men's eighth seed, Anders Jarryd of Sweden, lost to South Africa's Eddie Edwards 3-6, 6-4, 7-6, 6-2 in a second-round match. Jarryd reached the semifinals at Wimbledon a year ago.

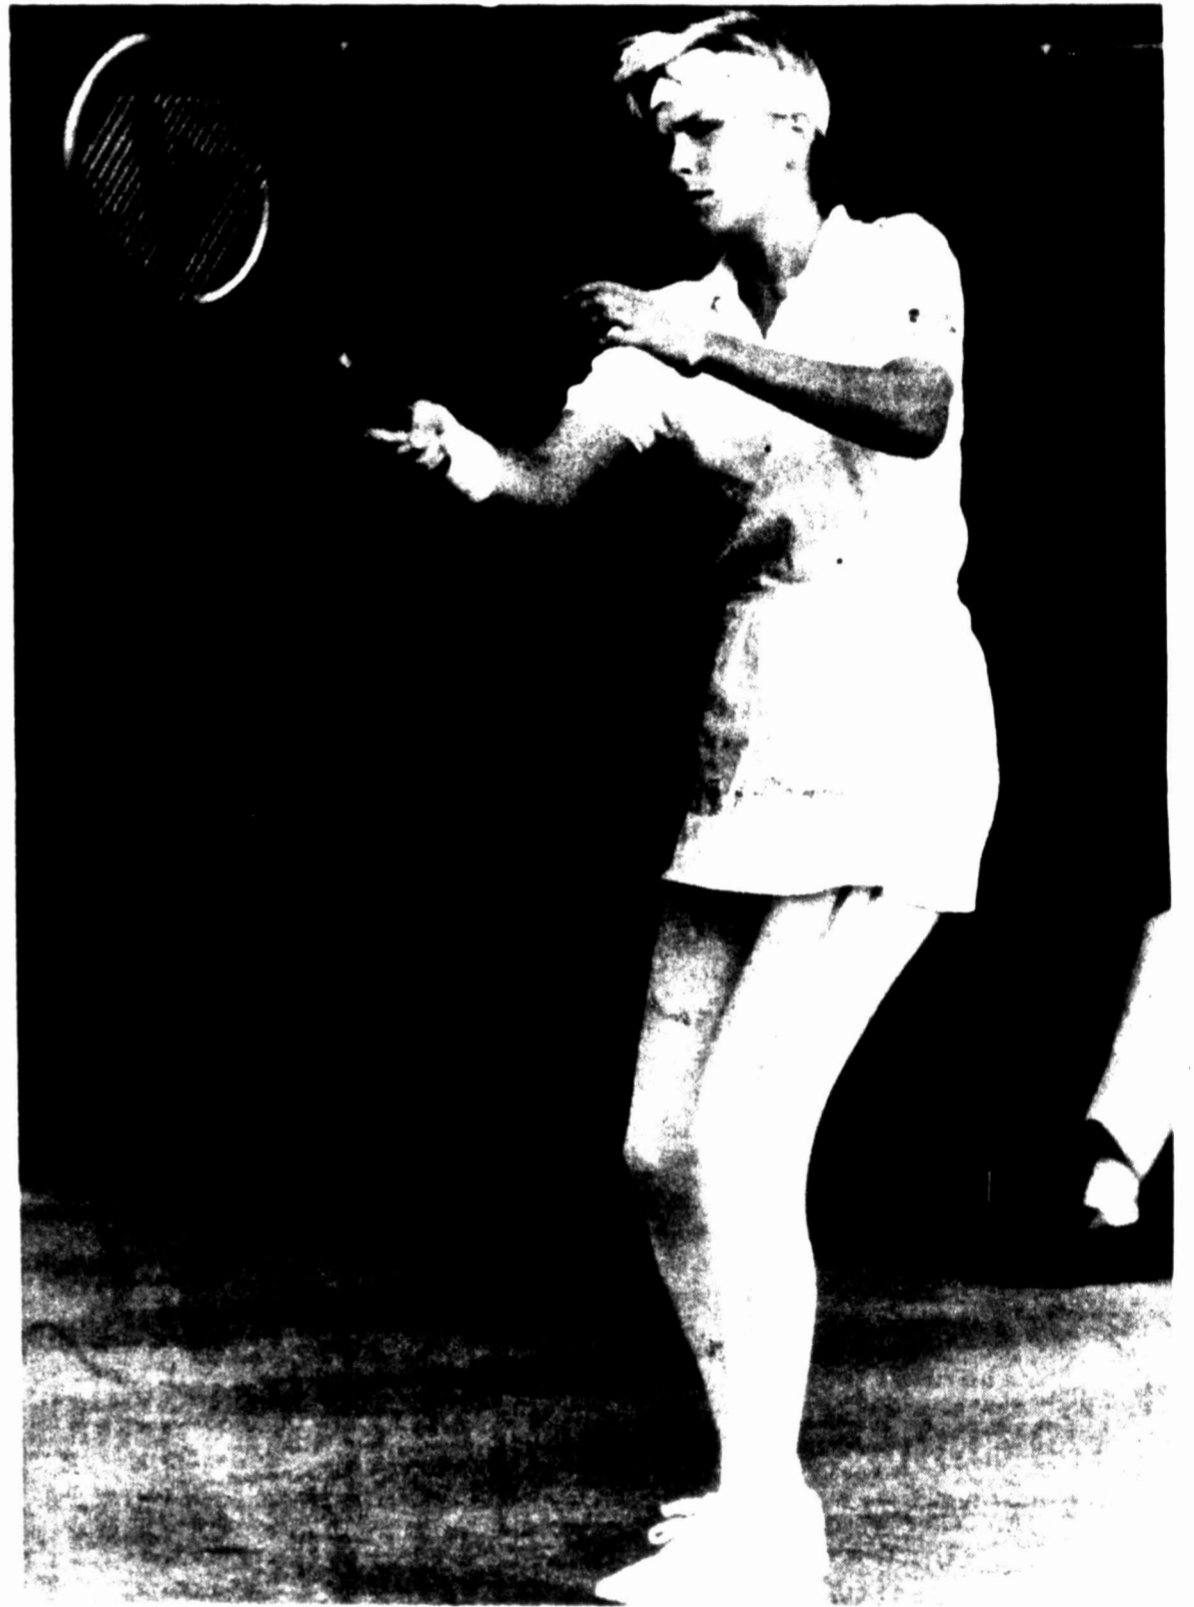

It was the third consecutive early exit for Jarryd. He was eliminated in the third round at the French Open by Ulf Stenlund and in the first round of the Queen Club Wimbledon warmup tournament by Glenn Layendecker.

Kohde-Kilsch looked awful in the first set, winning just 17 points as she lost her serve in the first, third and fifth games. But the second set was all hers.

She broke Inoue in the second, fourth and six sets and served out the set to even the match at 1-1, then broke Inoue again in the first, third and fifth games of the final set. She served out the match at love with the help of her fifth ace.

Maleeva took just 28 minutes to win the first set. Then Gompert, her left thigh heavily taped, called it off after losing the first game of the second set.

Connors was by far the biggest surprise in Tuesday's upsets and — with John McEnroe not playing here this year — left Wimbledon without two of the players who have helped dominate the men's field in the last decade.

Anne White of the United States, wears a two piece body stocking as she warms up for her Wimbledon match against Britain's Sara Gomer. White was ordered to shed the body stocking by officials. She lost the match to Gomer 6-4, 5-7, 4-6.

Seguso's booming serve was the final obstacle. The Floridian beat the 33-year-old two-time Wimbledon champ and No. 3 seed this year 6-3, 3-6, 7-6, 7-6 to advance to the second round.

"He was kind of unconscious,"

Connors said. "He was serving bomb after bomb after bomb. I was waiting for him to falter just one inch, and I was going to be all over him. But he just kept going 'boom, boom, boom.'"

Seguso, who served 14 aces and won on his third match point, said the victory "is my best — Connors at Wimbledon. He's one of the greatest ever."

Connors was one of five seeds to be eliminated in first-round matches Tuesday, a day jammed with make-ups from the rain-plagued opening-day card.

Phils release Carlton

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton, the only four-time Cy Young winner as his league's best pitcher, has been released by the Philadelphia Phillies, the team announced today.

Carlton has given up 25 earned runs and 37 hits through 20 1-3 in his last five starts, and the Phillies have had several meetings over the last 10 days to discuss his status.

The decision to release him, however, was a surprise since club President Bill Giles in the last week steadfastly insisted that the Phillies intended to go along with Carlton without a timetable.

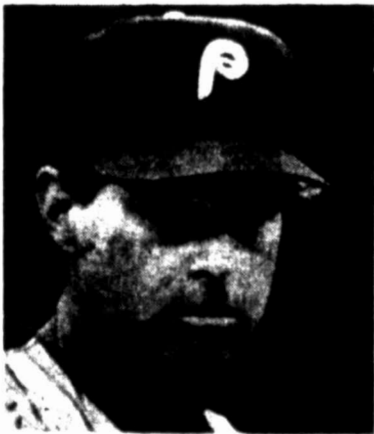

In his last start against St. Louis Saturday, Carlton failed to hold a 4-0 lead, leaving after giving up six hits, six walks and six earned runs in five innings. He had a 4-8 record this season and a 6.18 earned run average.

"We have three choices," Giles said Sunday. "We can release Steve, we can convince him to retire or we can keep pitching him."

Last Friday, the Phillies announced that Carlton, who had missed most of the 1985 season with a shoulder injury, had assured the team he was healthy and that his pitching problems were mechanical. He said he would solve them and win again.

Pitching coach Claude Osteen said Carlton's problem is control, unlike the pinpoint pitcher of the past.

One of the top 10 all-time career

STEVE CARLTON gets walking papers

leaders in complete games, Carlton has not been around for the finish of any this season. He walked 45 batters and struck out 62 in 83 innings this season. In the last five games, he has not lasted more than five innings.

Carlton was in the last of a four-year, million dollar per season contract. After this year, the Phillies had the option on whether to sign him.

In 21 seasons, Carlton, 318-223, ranks among the top 20 in six all-time pitching categories.

Besides being 10th in career victories, he is second in all-time major league strikeouts with 3,976, sixth in games started, 10th in innings pitched, 13th in shutouts and 14th in earned run average.

Examiner: Cocaine caused Bias' death

BALTIMORE (AP) — University of Maryland basketball star Len Bias died from a jolt of cocaine that he had probably snorted only minutes before he collapsed in his dorm room, the state medical examiner said Tuesday.

Dr. John Smialek said the cocaine interrupted the electrical activity in the brain, causing the heart to begin to beat irregularly. "This resulted in the sudden onset of seizures and cardiac arrest," he said at a news conference where he released the findings of an autopsy on the 22-year-old All American who died Thursday, only two days after being made the No. 2 pick in the NBA draft by the Boston Celtics.

The autopsy report was turned over to Arthur A. Marshall Jr., the prosecutor who is investigating events surrounding Bias' death.

Marshall said after receiving the report that he will look into the possibility of bringing a manslaughter charge against the person who provided the cocaine to Bias.

The autopsy, Marshall said, showed that "nothing but the cocaine killed him. The reason he died was cocaine."

"Manslaughter is not an easy thing to develop, but we're sure going to look at it," he very healthy individual" with no heart disease or damage.

"Len Bias had a large heart, but that was not unexpected considering his superb athletic condition," Smialek said.

He said there was no evidence that Bias was allergic to cocaine, but that he exhibited a sensitivity to the drug.

"This particular concentration might not have killed another individual. On the other hand, some might have been killed by lesser concentrations," Smialek said.

The 'lood cocaine level was 6.5 milligrams per liter, about average for the 16 deaths from cocaine use recorded in Maryland over the last three years, he said. The autopsy turned up no evidence of alcohol or other drugs.

No adulterants were found in the blood, indicating that Bias had ingested a pure form of cocaine, the medical examiner said. He said it appeared that Bias had snorted the cocaine, but that he could not be certain.

There had been reports of a delay of as much as 30 minutes before Bias' roommates summoned an ambulance to the University of Maryland dormitory where he collapsed. Smialek said Bias would have required medical care within four or five minutes of the time his heart stopped to save his life.

The necessary medical care would have been use of life support equipment or cardiopulmonary resuscitation administered by a professional, he said.

A teammate gave Bias cardiopulmonary resuscitation before the ambulance arrived.

Smialek said there was "no evidence that there was previous use (of cocaine) by Mr. Bias, but that he couldn't be certain of that."

"There could be evidence of changes in mucous membranes (resulting from cocaine use). I did not find that in Mr. Bias," he said.

Smialek ruled that the manner of death was undetermined, meaning there is no finding whether it was a homicide or accident. He said that question will be left up to Marshall and the grand jury.

Marshall said he wants to know "who brought them (drugs) in" and who was involved in drug use during the early morning hours last Thursday as Bias, some teammates and friends celebrated his selection by the Celtics. 2 pick in the NBA draft.

He said he will try to avoid having the grand jury question the teammates who were with Bias when he died, because such testimony automatically provides immunity from prosecution.

Ryan notches win as Astros down Reds

By The Associated Press
Nolan Ryan, just off the disabled list, won his first game since April 25 and Glenn Davis hit a two-run homer Tuesday night to lead the Houston Astros over the Cincinnati Reds 8-4.

Ryan, 4-6, had been on the disabled list with an elbow problem. He pitched five innings and gave up one earned run, one unearned run and two hits while walking four and base error, allowing two runs to score. Hatcher came home on a single by Phil Garner and Davis followed with his homer.

Houston's victory, coupled with San Francisco's 3-0 loss to San Diego, put the Astros one-half game behind the Giants in the National League West.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Padres 3, Giants 6
 Eric Show and two relievers combined on a four-hitter against the Giants, who scored 18 runs a day earlier. In breaking the Giants' five-game winning streak, the Padres scored off rookie Terry Mulholland in the fourth inning when Tony Gwynn tripled and Kevin McReynolds singled. McReynolds and Tim Flannery singled home insurance runs.

Dodgers 6, Braves 2
 Franklin Stubbs hit two home runs and Len Matuszek also homered, backing Orel Hershiser's three-hitter as Los Angeles broke a four-game losing streak. Stubbs, who went 3-for-3 with a walk, homered in the first inning off David Palmer and then hit his 15th homer in the fourth for a 2-2 tie. Matuszek connected two outs later. Palmer had allowed just five homers in 95 1-3 innings this season.

Expos 6, Mets 2

Tim Wallach drove in two runs, Mitch Webster went 3-for-5 and scored twice and Mike Fitzgerald hit a two-run homer, giving the Expos their fourth victory in five games with the Mets, whose lead in the NL East was reduced to eight games.

Phillies 7, Cubs 6

John Russell, who drove in two earlier runs, led off the bottom of the 10th with a home run against Chicago relief ace Lee Smith. The Cubs had tied the score 6-6 on Ryne Sandberg's two-out, two-run double off Steve Bedrosian in the ninth. Russell had an RBI double off Steve Trout in the second inning and an RBI single in the fifth.

Cardinals 5, Pirates 2

Ray Burris pitched one-hit ball for six innings before needing relief help as St. Louis won its fifth straight game, its longest winning streak of the season. The Cardinals, showing the style that won them the 1985 pennant, stole five bases and scored three runs without hitting a ball out of the infield. Ken Dayley, the fifth St. Louis pitcher, struck out Barry Bonds with the bases loaded to end the game.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Angels 12, Rangers 3
 Rob Wilfong drove in four runs, three with a double in California's six-run third inning, as the Angels defeated Texas for the fifth consecutive time this season. Ron Romanick allowed two runs in seven innings and benefited from a 13-hit California attack against Edwin Correa and three relievers. Correa, who lasted only three innings, gave up seven hits and eight runs.

California's big third inning including RBI singles by Ruppert Jones and Reggie Jackson and a sacrifice fly by Wally Joyner.

A's 8, Royals 4
 Eric Plunk and Steve Ontiveros combined on a six-hitter as Oakland won away from home for the first time since May 23. The A's jumped on Bret Saberhagen, 4-8, for three runs in the third inning and two in the fourth.

Yankees 8, Red Sox 1
 Ron Hassey equaled his career high with four hits — a home run, double and two singles — and drove in three runs while Dennis Rasmussen allowed six hits in 7-2-3 innings as the Yankees moved within four games of first-place

Boston in the AL East. They have amassed 19 runs and 31 hits in winning the first two games of the three-game series.

Orioles 2, Tigers 1

Baltimore managed only two hits off rookie Eric King through nine innings. But Bill Campbell relieved at the start of the 10th. With two out, Lee Lacy doubled and scored on a single by Tom O'Malley. Baltimore's Scott McGregor allowed three hits in 8 2-3 innings while relief ace Don Aase pitched the last 1 1-3 innings for the victory.

Blue Jays 8, Brewers 0
 Rookie left-hander John Cerutt pitched a six-hitter for his first major-league shutout and complete game. George Bell, one of five Blue Jays to collect two hits, hit a two-run homer. Davis had three of Houston's 12 hits. His 16th homer and second in two days capped a five-run fifth inning. Tom Browning was the loser, allowing six runs — all unearned — and six hits in five innings.

New champ gets big welcome

FORT WORTH (AP) — Steve Cruz grew up in Fort Worth's Diamond Hill neighborhood. And when he arrived at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Tuesday, it was the people of Diamond Hill who turned out to give a hero's welcome to the fighter who defeated Barry McGuigan Monday night for the World Boxing Association featherweight title. Some of the crowd had gone to Las Vegas for the fight, but many had paid $26 to watch it on closed-circuit TV at the Tarrant County Convention Center. For them, this was their moment when their conquering hero returned home.

County awards bid for annex

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Johnston Construction of Big Spring was awarded a contract this morning to renovate the Howard County courthouse annex building.

Commissioners voted to award the job to the local firm at a cost of $662,104 plus an additional $26,000 for a polyurethane roof.

"We decided to go ahead" and include roof work in the contract, Commissioner Bill Crooker said.

All 12 construction bids commissioners reviewed during a June 12 special meeting included estimates for optional work on the roof.

The contract stipulates that

Johnston complete the work within 220 days.

Architect John Gary said the contractors would be responsible for restoring the exterior of the building to its original condition and renovating the interior to contain new offices.

Commissioners this morning also heard an updated report from Dr. Jack Woodall of the Howard County Health Clinic about the proposed indigent health care program.

The county will be responsible as of Sept. 1 for assuming medical costs up to $30,000 per patient for those who qualify as indigents.

Woodall said a 12-member investigative committee established by commissioners in May was still waiting for a proposal of services from Wayne Brannon, head administrator at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

They already have received proposals from Hall-Bennett Hospital and the Howard County Health Clinic.

At the conclusion of Woodall's report, Micki Potter, a registered nurse at Big Spring State Hospital, told commissioners she thinks the investigative committee is not being adequately represented by the nursing profession.

Potter is president of the District 24 Texas Nurses Association.

Crooker told Potter that Carmen Phillips, director of nursing at Malone-Hogan, was a member of the committee and that commissioners believed "this would suffice" for representation of nursing services.

However, Potter told commissioners that Phillips practiced more in an administrative level rather than a clinical setting.

"We are the ones who will deliver and implement care to the indigent," Potter said later, "and we should have a say. We've been excluded."

Teens injured in accident

Two Big Spring teen-agers were injured, one seriously, in a two-car accident Saturday night on Wasson Road.

Amy Elizabeth Reese, 18, of 2704 Rebecca Drive was in stable condition this morning in the intensive care unit of Malone-Hogan Hospital, a spokesman there said. She was hurt when the car she was driving collided with another car at 1800 Wasson Road and Parkway Road.

A passenger in the car, Kimberly Whitter of 2713 Central Drive, was treated and released from the hospital, the spokesman said.

The driver of the other vehicle, Ismael Holguin, 17, of 3260 Calvin St., suffered minor injuries but refused medical treatment, according to police reports.

Reese was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way, according to the accident report.

Jackie Martinez of the Big Spring Bluebirds rounds third base and heads for home as her coach Dewey McSwain yells out instructions. Checking out the action is Coahoma Eagles third baseman Jennifer Metcalf. The two teams were playing the Coahoma United Girls Softball Association Division I tournament Saturday.

BIG SPRING TRAVEL TALK

BACK TO THE PAST

If you want to visit the past, the way life used to be, take a trip to Williamsburg, Virginia. Colonial Williamsburg's historical area comprises almost 100 gardens and greens amid 88 original buildings. Each has been authentically restored. There are also several hundred reconstructed buildings. Within 45 of the most historically important buildings, there are more than 200 exhibition rooms furnished with antiques or reproductions. Stroll down Duke of Gloucester Street and you will meet craftsmen, militia, fifers, or local residents attired in period costumes. Howard names assistant Storkclub

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

For the first time in three years there will be more than one coach directing the Howard College Hawks basketball squad. The Howard College board of trustees recently hired Steven Boyd Sylestine as assistant basketball coach for the 1986-87 season.

The 27-year-old Houston native will assist new Howard College mentor Larry Brown, who comes to Howard from Bryan High School. Sylestine is leaving a head coaching job at John Marshall High School in San Antonio. This past season his team finished as district co-champs in District 28-AAAAA with a 19-13 record.

He was head basketball coach at Killeen High School, in District 14-AAAAA, for two years before coming to John Marshall. He has posted a 68-35 record in three seasons as a head coach.

Howard College president Bob Riley said Sylestine was selected over six other applicants.

"Coach Brown was impressed with Sylestine and we took his recommendation," said Riley. "I've met with him (Sylestine) and he's a terrific young man. I'm satisfied with the choice."

Riley said the acquisition of another coach will benefit the program. "When we hired coach Brown we told him we would get him an assistant. He knew we had to compete against teams with assistant coaches. All the successful teams in our conference have assistant coaches." In addition to his basketball duties, Sylestine will also serve as athletic counselor and help with the intramural program. He will live in the dorm and earn $12,000 a year.

Sylestine graduated from Clear Lake High School and then played basketball at Texas A&M University, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree. At A&M he played forward and was a four-year letterman. In 1980 he helped lead the Aggies to the Southwest Conference championship.

Leaky roof ruffles feathers

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A Highland South Shopping Center roof drain that clogged during Saturday afternoon's torrential rain caused an undetermined amount of damage in Joy's Hallmark Card Shop and increased the anger of some mall leaseholders towards the building's owner.

"The roof has collected water over the years, and they (the building owners) have never done anything about it," said Joyce Crooker of Mr. G's Garden Center.

The building is owned by Tom Mackie of Strathmaver Industries in Fort Worth. When told about the leaking roof Saturday night, Mackie said from Fort Worth that he was "unaware of any water collecting on the roof." "I don't know of the mall having any recurrent leakage problems," he said.

He said opportunities for water to seep into the mall would result from an overabundance of water collecting on a flat roof like Highland's.

Acting City Manager Hal Boyd, who owns and operates Joy's Hallmark with his wife, Joy, said at about 5 p.m. water began seeping into where the ceiling meets the wall on the southeast section of the mall. The seepage was caused by the heavy volume of rain collecting on the roof, Boyd said.

"We were afraid of water getting into the electrical outlets," Boyd said, as he and other mall merchants attempted to evacuate patrons. Bill Crooker, who owns and operates Mr. G's Garden Center, said mall maintenance men climbed to the rooftop and attempted to unclog the drain.

"They tried to fill the drain and poked a hole through the roof," Crooker said.

The water then came pouring through a paneled section of the ceiling above the entrance area in Joy's Hallmark shop shortly before Big Spring firemen and Public Works Director Tom Decell arrived.

Joyce Crooker said she was called to her store, and "We covered everything with plastic."

Boyd said he could not determine the amount of damage in his store.

City deluged by more rain

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Skies opened again over Big Spring Saturday, dumping more than 2 inches of rain, flooding roads, stranding motorists and causing power outages to more than 300 electrical customers.

The National Weather Service in Midland reported a flash flood watch at 4:55 p.m. that was in effect until 9 p.m. in Borden, Howard and Martin counties.

According to a 3:25 p.m. weather report, showers and thunderstorms were in a 210-mile area extending from the Big Bend region northeasterly to Lubbock.

Division manager Hooper Sanders of Texas Electric Company said about 300 customers in the Wasson Road area were without electricity for about an hour because a power line was down in the old golf course at the Industrial Park.

He said power was knocked out temporarily in a few places throughout the city, but no other major outages occurred.

There were numerous police reports of vehicles stranded in high water in several locations throughout the city.

Police got a report from the sheriff's office around 5 p.m. about stranded motorists in Comanche Trail Park.

Among the motorists was Phillip E. Manns of B&H Cleaners at 2601 Wasson Drive. He said he and his wife, May, were driving around the park in his van when he attempted to cross a dip in the west roadway. The water rose over the vehicle's tailpipe, killing the engine, Manns said. Both he and his wife remained in the van for more than an hour before a local wrecker towed them out.

"It wasn't anything to be scared of," Manns said after his rescue.

The rain pattern extended over the Permian Basin, South Plains, Concho Valley and other portions of the Trans-Pecos region and was moving in a northerly direction at 10 miles per hour, according to a 3:30 p.m. National Weather Service report.

Bill Fryrear of the Agricultural Research Service in Big Spring said a gauge at the station measured 2.68 inches of rain as of 9 p.m. Saturday.

That raises the year's rainfall to 12.58 inches, about 3 inches higher than normal, Fryrear said.

Other persons who recorded rainfall Saturday were: Chuck Benz of 2807 Apache St., who measured 3.1 inches; Tommy Hart of 1750 Purdue St., 2.1 inches; Ruth Couch of Luther, 0.8 inches.

Water pours through the ceiling of Highland South Shopping Center Saturday, the result of a clogged drain. The shopping center's walkway flooded, and items in Joy's Hallmark Card Shop were damaged, causing the store to close early.

Man saves centennial envelope

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The faded, yellow envelope is postmarked April 21, 1936, San Jacinto Day, and is stamped "San Jacinto Battlegrounds Centennial Celebration." It bears a purple Texas Centennial stamp, priced 3 cents, with pictures of Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin.

For Reginald H. Castle of Big Spring, it is a memento of the day 50 years ago he attended a celebration marking the 100th anniversary of the famous battle for Texas independence.

"I was 32 then; I'm 82 now," he says. Castle, who worked for the Houston post office then, went to the celebration with a handful of co-workers to process San Jacinto Day mail.

"I'm the only one left" of that group, he says.

Thousands of stamp collectors bought stamps that day, and letters and cards went to every state in the Union and to numerous foreign countries, the clipping says.

AIDS education to begin in schools

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Public schools will begin teaching students about AIDS through health classes, as required by a new state law, said Tommy Langham, disease intervention specialist with the Texas Department of Health.

The requirement is part of a massive public education attempt by health officials to inform the public of the truths about AIDS, or Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, he said.

Langham was in Big Spring Friday, speaking at an AIDS workshop at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. About 77 people attended the workshop, mainly workers in health care and other professions that work with people.

The public better understands now that AIDS is not spread through casual contact, but is transmitted sexually and through the blood, Langham said, and the panic is decreasing.

West Texans seem to react with more compassion than others when dealing with someone with AIDS, he said.

"Our attitudes have changed totally since 1984," he said.

Education is the best — and only — way to stop the transmission of the deadly disease at this point, he told the group. The West Texas AIDS Foundation of Lubbock will probably open a branch in Midland soon, he said, as will SHANTI, an organization that works with terminally ill patients and their families. Six people have been diagnosed as having AIDS in the Permian Basin, which is "about what you'd expect with this population," he said. At least one was in Howard County, and the others were in Midland and Ector counties, he said. Statistics are broken down by county when a county has more than 10 cases, he said. But, he added, "There will be a point in three or four years where there will be no one in this room who doesn't know someone personally that has AIDS." He estimated 300 to 400 people in the Permian Basin will have died of the disease by that time. The spread of AIDS brings a host of community and social problems, not the least of which is the cost of treatment. The average cost of treatment for AIDS is $147,000 per person, Langham said.

Insurance companies, to protect themselves from monetary loss, have tried to refuse insurance to people who test positive for the AIDS antibody, which usually means they have been exposed to the virus. That would place the burden of paying for health care on the counties.

Most states are making it illegal to refuse someone insurance because they test positive, Langham said, and Texas is considering such a proposal.

Insurance companies also have butted heads with health departments over the release of names of those with AIDS. Identities of AIDS patients are kept strictly confidential, Langham said, and are now protected by law even from subpoena by court.

However, screening for the AIDS antibody is becoming more common. The military screens everyone who enters it and everyone who goes overseas, he said.

Also, blood donors are routinely tested, he said.

Rodeo parade

Posse queen to be honored

A rodeo parade Wednesday featuring Tonja Honeycutt, this year's queen of the American Association of Sheriff Poses and Riding Clubs, will kick off the 1986 Big Spring Cowboy Reunion & Rodeo.

The parade begins at 4 p.m. at the intersection of 10th and S. Main Streets.

The parade, which Saturday had 33 entries, will head north on Main before turning west on Second Street. The parade will proceed one block on Second before turning south on S. Scurry Street to 10th.

Ruby Alred, reporter of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse, said Honeycutt is a guest of the county sheriff's posse and will ride a horse in the parade to represent the organization.

Annette Clendenen, community relations director at the Park Inn, said parade participants can enter six different categories to compete for trophy prizes.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Bob's Custom Woodwork can remodel your home, business

It's hard to think of any residential or commercial remodeling or repair job that Bob's Custom Woodwork can't handle.

As a general contractor, Bob's provides turnkey construction on major remodeling including room additions, full kitchen and bath renovations, and everything from slab to roof including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

Their specialty, remodeling include's owner Bob Noyes' advice and counsel to the homeowner who is in a quandry about where to begin. In kitchens, Bob's Custom Woodwork handles everything from the little jobs of installing microwave ovens and dishwashers to replacing laminated countertops to full replacement of the kitchen.

The staff designs, estimates, and constructs the cabinets in their shop in the Industrial Park. The cabinets are designed by Bob Noyes with many options. The options include: six door styles, lazy Susans, roll-out shelves, Amerock kitchen aids (including sink front drawers, cook book racks, spice racks, and other special storage products). Once designed, Rod Zapata builds the cabinets. After the cabinets are built, they are finished in the finish shop under the supervision of Craig Neighbors and by Burke Bristow and Robert Loveless. After Eddie Word, Bob Kinnan and Nate King have completed the room preparations, the cabinets are delivered to the house and installed with a minimum disruption of the home. Room preparation includes any necessary wall removal, closing of doorways, changing window locations, floor repair and preparations by plumbers and electricians.

In bathrooms, Bob's Custom Woodwork provides and installs vanities, tubs and showers, plumbing fixtures, medicine cabinets, lights, heaters, fans and floor coverings. The firm can order and install custom-made cultured marble vanity tops, tubs and whirlpools made of 90 percent crushed Israel marble blended with polyester resin. These can be custom made as to the length and number of bowls desired.

In the shop, Bob Kinnan is production supervisor in the manufacturing of expandable, affordable and versatile shelving for business display or home collectables. Shelving units are available through Bob's Custom Woodwork or at several locations including the Candle Shop in Big Spring and Antiques Haven in Stanton. Other staff members include: Elvin Bearden, furniture repair; and Jan Noyes, supervisor of the Strip Shop, bookkeeper and customer service representative. She is the voice on the phone.
