Shore raised to stem flood

By HANK MURPHY
 Staff Writer

County crews were busy this morning building up a 400-foot stretch of earthen dam to prevent a nearby lake from spilling over and flooding areas of Big Spring.

County engineer Bill Mims said this morning that county workers had added two feet to a low spot on the banks of Natural Dam Lake, a 32,000-acre-foot lake seven miles west of Big Spring, a mile north of Interstate 20.

Should the lake continue to rise and breach the natural dam, water would rush under the interstate, spill into a progression of four small lakes, and then swell Beal's Creek. The creek would then flood almost all low lying areas of Big Spring, said Public Works Director Tom Decell.

Decell said the county would have six to seven hours notice of an impending flood.

Wednesday the water level in the lake was 1.2 feet from breaching the low spot of the natural dam, Decell said.

With the raising of the dam by the county, however, Decell said he did not see any cause for alarm. "If we need to, we'll raise it some more," he said.

Contingency plans exist, Decell said, should water continue to rise faster than crews can build up the dam using trucks.

"If it continues to rise, we'll come out on the back side of the dam and ... start pushing up material from the bottom of the dam with bulldozers," Decell said.

The lake has swelled with rain water streaming in from the Lamesa area, which has had heavy rains lately, Decell said.

Mims said this morning the lake "didn't look like it was rising any" when he left the area Wednesday afternoon.

Decell, too, said this morning the situation has stabilized.

After the water level in the lake subsides, engineers may be able to develop a valve-like system to keep the danger of future floods in check, Decell said.

He said he will propose to City Council that two 30-inch pipes be pushed through the dam into the lake about 5 feet below the dam's surface.

Decell said the pipes would act as metering devices, assuring an easier, more predictable volume of water to handle should water rise to a dangerous level again.

In other water matters, engineering has begun by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper to correct the problems that led to the shutdown of the city's water supply in late May, Decell said.

The cost of the water plant breakdown was $34,431, according to a city memo.

"We got off easy," Decell said, adding that three of the city's motors had been "totally re-wound" and that one had been completely serviced. Because of

Parade gazers

Michael Hoolahan, 3, left, watches the rodeo parade on its route down Scurry Street Wednesday afternoon. Below, young clowns share a laugh while riding on a parade float. Winners of the parade were grand champion, Comanche Trail Muzzle Loaders; most original, Big Spring Restaurant Association, with Denny's, Wendy's and Rosita's Fajitas; most ugly with creativity, Highland Dodge; funniest, Jacob and Jarrett Hopper's "Texas Now and Then"; most beautiful, First Federal Savings; and longest distance traveled, Scurry County Sheriff's posse. The muzzle loaders also were cited for performing a "heroic deed" when they stopped a runaway horse trailer with a horse inside. The trailer broke loose from the vehicle pulling it at 10th and Main Streets, near the end of the parade.

Herald owners to buy Dallas paper

Staff and wire reports

The Dallas Times Herald will be purchased by Garden State Newspapers Inc., the company that owns the Big Spring Herald and three other Texas daily newspapers.

An announcement of the agreement came today from The Times Mirror Co. headquarters in Los Angeles. Times Mirror Co. has owned the afternoon Dallas newspaper since 1970.

Times Mirror Co. reported it has agreed in principle to sell the Times Herald to the company headed by William Dean Singleton for $110 million in cash and notes.

Singleton, president of Garden State, owns two companies that publish newspapers in six states, according to today's release from Times Mirror, whose flagship is the Los Angeles Times.

"Times Mirror is very proud of the achievements of the Dallas Times Herald, but we believe that its sale at this time is consistent with our corporate strategy and is in the best interest of the long-term future of the Times Herald," said Robert F. Erburu, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Times Mirror.

The purchase price is subject to negotiation of a definitive agreement and government approval, according to Times Mirror.

Times Mirror bought the newspaper and KDFW-TV, the local CBS-TV affiliate, in the 1970 transaction.

"This is a dream come true for me," Singleton said. "We will work hard to expand the tradition of the Dallas Times Herald as Texas' most honored newspaper."

Singleton's companies own 21

daily and 15 weekly newspapers in Texas, California, New Jersey, Washington, Ohio and Michigan.

He is partners with New Jersey newspaper publisher Richard B. Scudder and Ohio publisher John Buzzetta in the company that is buying the Dallas paper.

The three other Texas dailies owned by Garden State are the Del Rio News-Herald, Huntsville Item and Marshall News Messenger.

Hurricane Bonnie hits the Gulf Coast

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — Bonnie, the season's first hurricane, battered the Gulf Coast today with rain and winds up to 85 mph, killing at least two people, knocking out power and flooding low-lying areas before losing its punch over land.

Bonnie was downgraded to a tropical storm at midmorning, after thousands of beachfront residents along the Gulf Coast boarded up their homes and fled inland.

The storm, packing heavy rains and spawning at least three tornadoes, hit land about 4:45 a.m. south of Port Arthur and east of High Island, the National Weather Service said. It was the first June hurricane to strike Texas since 1957.

"The whole city is out of power," said Port Arthur Police Sgt. Robert Williamson. But he said he was not aware of any serious damage caused by the hurricane.

Laura Wagner, a dispatcher for the Jefferson County sheriff's department in nearby Beaumont, said she also had not received many reports of damage, though roads were covered with water throughout the area.

"It's raining right now and the winds are blowing. But I've seen it worse during regular thunderstorms," Ms. Wagner said.

One man was killed when his pickup truck was caught in a squall about 8:30 a.m. and went out of control on an Interstate 10 overpass near Vidor, said assistant police chief Sam Kittrell. A passenger received minor injuries, Kittrell said.

A partially paralyzed woman, Myrtle Williams, 55, died this morning in Port Arthur after being trapped inside a burning home by flames fueled by gusts from the hurricane, said Jefferson County Peace Justice Barbara Dorman. The cause of the fire was under investigation, Ms. Dorman said.

Four people were taken to Winnie Medical Center, southeast of Beaumont, after high winds flipped over a pickup truck on a remote section of Texas Highway 124, said paramedic Robbie Isaacks. The driver of the truck had been trying to avoid downed power lines, he said.

Hurricane Bonnie rolled ashore just west of Port Arthur today with winds up to 85 miles per hour, knocking out power and flooding low-lying areas.

A 20-year-old woman was being examined for possible shoulder and back injuries, but the other three suffered only minor injuries, Isaacks said.

The hurricane warnings posted for a 270-mile coastal strip from Morgan City, La., to Freeport were discontinued at 9 a.m., when Bonnie was downgraded to a tropical storm.

Bonnie's highest winds were 85 mph, with gale-force winds of 39-54 mph extending outward 75 miles

Foreign minister: Aid will cost lives

From wire reports
WASHINGTON — Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto said today congressional approval of $100 million for rebels fighting to overthrow his government will "cost many more deaths," and his government may respond by expanding its military arsenal.

"The number one priority of the country, as in any country, is going to continue to be the defense of our sovereignty and territorial integrity," he said on NBC-TV's "Today" show.

"We will continue ... to rely on our own people, but there is no doubt that when it comes to military equipment that we don't manufacture, we are open to all peace-loving countries of the world to give us the help that we need to defend our sovereignty and independence," he said.

D'Escoto refused to say whether Nicaragua would seek additional military aid from the Soviet Union, but said, "We won't reject any aid that comes from Latin America, Europe or from any country."

The House late Wednesday approved President Reagan's proposal for $100 million in aid to guerrillas fighting to oust the leftist Nicaraguan government. The House for two years had refused to authorize military aid for the rebels, although it approved $27 million in non-lethal logistical aid last year.

The Texas congressional delegation voted 16-11 in favor of the president's proposal.

The measure approved Wednesday allows the resumption of direct CIA and U.S. military involvement with the Contra rebels, banned two years ago amid revelations that the CIA directed the mining of Nicaragua's harbors.

Reagan, who calls the CIA-organized rebels "freedom fighters," said the aid is essential to stop Soviet expansionism in Latin America, and prevent the eventual introduction of American troops into the conflict.

But D'Escoto said the aid passage "makes greater ... the prospects of direct U.S. intervention."

"President Reagan has been saying for a long time that he would not desist from his intent to crush Nicaragua until we cried 'uncle,'" D'Escoto said in an interview from London.

"Well, what he did finally, he got the Congress of the United States to cry 'uncle.'"

Rep. Charles Stenholm, a Stamford Democrat who voted for the president's plan, expressed concern over how U.S. funds have been spent.

"But I'm satisfied that the appropriate people have a handle on it," Stenholm said. "That's an issue that should be solved, not used as an excuse not to help the freedom fighters."

Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega, in a nationally televised address Wednesday night, said the vote "is a ratification of the warlike policy of the U.S. government that brings it to the brink of direct intervention by its troops in Nicaragua."

Ortega accused President Reagan of "acting worse than Hitler with his terrorist and fascist policy against Nicaragua," and predicted the Reagan administration will soon break diplomatic relations with Nicaragua.

He said that "even though this approval will bring us more economic and material difficulties and more death, it does not terrify nor intimidate us."

Calling it "a vote against peace, in favor of death," D'Escoto said "It's going to cost many more deaths, and ... makes greater ... the prospects of direct U.S. intervention."

With the aid, "President Reagan has said that he would be committing U.S. military advisers to work shoulder-to-shoulder with the Contras. The greater the risk of U.S. people becoming involved and becoming killed in confrontations, the greater the risk of escalation," D'Escoto said.

City may receive grant for downtown project

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The city of Big Spring expects to receive a $20,000 grant for downtown development, said downtown coordinator Teri Quinones.

Big Spring has been recommended by the Texas Department of Community Affairs to receive a grant of $13,325, matched by $6,675 from the Downtown Steering Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce for a total of $20,000, Quinones said.

Big Spring's application ranks fifth among 38 others, all to be recommended to Gov. Mark White, she said.

White must give final approval of the grant, and the city can expect to receive word in two to three weeks, she said. The approval is a mere formality, though, she said, because White has never vetoed any TDCA recommendation.

John Clary, TDCA local government assistance director, told Quinones that Big Spring had a strong, well-written application.

The chamber grant, which matches the state grant by 50 percent, made Big Spring more competitive, Quinones said, because it showed community interest in the project.

The grant will be used to study the central business district and its attached corridors, 87 North and 80 West, with an emphasis on economic development, she said.

The goal of the project is to attract to downtown some of the 7½ million people that cross the freeways each year with a mixture of museums, restaurants and specialty retail shops, she said.

Robert Lima, a Lubbock city planner hired to design the downtown redevelopment, is working on the plan, Quinones said. Lima was in Big Spring last week to meet with local businessmen.

The Downtown Steering Committee is reviewing the grant to be sure that all the requirements can be met once the award is approved, she said. The committee and Lima will meet Monday to discuss requirements, she said.

A Port Arthur family rushes to an evacuation shelter through the pouring rain early this morning. Several hundred people took refuge from Hurricane Bonnie at the McQueen Elementary School facility. Bonnie came ashore just west of Port Arthur.

Tires stolen from 3-wheeler

Walter Brumley of 602 N. Birdwell told Howard County sheriff's deputies Wednesday that someone stole two rear tires from his Honda 3-wheeler parked at his residence sometime over the weekend.

The tires were valued at $170, according to a sheriff's report.

Carol Merri Davey of 2608 Larry told sheriff's deputies Thursday morning that a car window was broken Wednesday night when the vehicle was parked at the Brass Nail on S. Highway 87.

According to a sheriff's report, Davey said this was the second time this month the same window had been broken.

The window was broken the first time while the vehicle was parked at J.C. Penney's in the College Park Shopping Center.

Deputy Jack Howard said he is continuing an investigation of the incident.

Deputies arrested Thomas Edward Akin, 19, no address available, Wednesday morning for a $216 outstanding fine he owes the county from a prior driving while intoxicated judgment.

He remained in county jail this morning.

Deputies released John Keutz, 36, of 1200 Utah to Crane County law authorities Wednesday morning for a revocation of probation charge he faces in that county. He was arrested in Big Spring earlier this month and charged with delivery of a controlled substance.

Police transferred Thomas C. Bonilla, 24, of San Antonio to county jail Wednesday afternoon after he was arrested for a grand jury indictment charging him with sexual assault. He remained in jail this morning in lieu of $20,000 bond.

Department of Public Safety troopers arrested Charles Wesley Lewis, 45, of Meridian, Miss. Wednesday afternoon for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. He was stopped on Interstate 20 west of Big Spring. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, Fla., said, "This wasn't a severe hurricane, it wasn't a major hurricane, but it was a full-blown hurricane when it moved across the coastline this morning."

Two tornadoes touched down in Beaumont about 7:50 a.m. — one downtown — but caused only light damage, including knocking down the radio tower at the local Department of Public Safety office, said trooper Melvin Hughes.

A tornado blew off the roof of a mobile home about 7:30 a.m. in Winnie, 20 miles southwest of Beaumont, but no one was injured, said Mary Batiste, a dispatcher with the Chambers County sheriff's department.

 servicing the motors should be trouble-free for many years to come, he said.

Decell said work is being done on pump valves so the plant can be "isolated" from the rest of the water distribution system should problems there occur again.

The entire city distribution system had to be shutdown during the last emergency at the plant, Decell said.

Engineers also are working to get on line the 1967 backup pump system, long ignored until the recent emergency.

An Amarillo company, Triple F Controls, has proposed completely rebuilding the system for $70,000 or just making it operable for about $40,000, Decell said.

Longer range plans call for boosting the plant's filtering capacity and improving its ability to meter the filtered water.

Man arrested on warrant

Herbert R. Phillips of Route 2, P.O. Box 165 was arrested at municipal court Wednesday afternoon on a retaliation warrant.

Police said Phillips warned Cindy Phillips of 1207 Settles St. Wednesday morning that he would harm her if she testified against him in court. He was transferred to county jail and released on $5,000 bond.

Sam Robertson of 426 Hillside Drive told police early this morning that someone stole his $8,500 1984 Ford pickup from outside his home.

Darrin J. Crooks, 26, of 4200 Bilger St. was arrested late Wednesday night on suspicion of driving with a suspended license. He was transferred to county jail and released on $500 bond.

Curtis Doyle of 1101 E. Second St. told police Wednesday afternoon that someone he knows threatened to burn his moving business if the man was not paid for services rendered.

Police said the alleged threat stems from a business agreement that went awry.

Coby Kirk of 204 W. 12th St. told police Wednesday night that someone called him and threatened to kill him. The complainant states that Kirk had been having problems recently and feared some type of hostile action.

Bill McQueary, 2719 Ann Drive, told police Wednesday night that someone he knows struck him numerous times and kicked him in the chest at 10:20 p.m. Wednesday in the 2000 block of Birdwell Lane.

Wilma Pruitt of 105 N.W. Eighth St. told police Wednesday afternoon that her husband threatened to shoot her with a shotgun.

Bell rate hike OK'd

AUSTIN — The Public Utility Commission has voted final approval to a $35.4 million rate hike for Southwestern Bell, but that does not mark the end of the case.

Southwestern Bell's next move will be to ask for a rehearing. Then, the company — which wants a $277 million hike — can take the case to state court.

The commission Wednesday routinely approved its previous preliminary decisions which add up to no increase in monthly bills for basic local phone service.

Space probes delayed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Challenger space shuttle tragedy and reduction of the Centaur rocket program will cause a 3½-year delay in launching space probes to Jupiter and the sun, says the director of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Because the delay in launching the Galileo probe to Jupiter means the craft will take a longer route, actual exploration of the giant planet will be delayed at least 5½ years, Lew Allen said Wednesday.

While the delays are agonizing, "we can't accept the notion that this represents anything like a fatal blow to the long-term prospects for solar system exploration," he said in a speech to lab employees.

Budget works continue

WASHINGTON — House and Senate budget negotiators, working into the early-morning hours Thursday, agreed on a spending framework that could lead to passage of a fiscal 1987 budget before Congress' Fourth of July recess.

Details of the plan were not immediately available, but Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the House Budget Committee, said the Pentagon budget would be about $293 billion, with an additional $6 billion in a contingency fund if additional revenue could be raised.

Impeachment trial opens

WASHINGTON — Saying "no one stands above the law, not even the judges," the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee today opened an impeachment proceeding against Harry E. Claiborne, a federal judge imprisoned for not paying his taxes.

The proceeding against the chief U.S. district judge in Nevada began with the statement by Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J. It was the first impeachment session by the full panel since it voted to impeach then President Richard M. Nixon in 1974.

Claiborne, 68, is serving a two-year sentence at the minimum security prison camp in Montgomery, Ala. He will continue to collect his $7,400 pay unless Congress removes him from his lifetime job.

OPEC meeting

Cartel confronts production controls

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP) — OPEC oil ministers met today under a new president, with sources reporting a new determination to reverse the oil price plunge, but the session recessed without a new agreement.

"They are making some progress in the right direction," OPEC spokesman James Audu told reporters after today's three-hour session, which recessed until Friday. He refused to answer questions about the day's deliberations.

Fawzi Shakshuki, the Libyan oil minister, told reporters as he left the hotel meeting site that the ministers had discussed "prices, (production) ceiling, quotas, everything." Asked if any consensus had been reached on a new strategy, he replied, "We just started."

The officials' comments appeared to indicate that the meeting, in a hotel room overlooking the Fazaza Channel that separates Brioni island from the Yugoslav mainland, could last for at least a few more days.

The 13 oil ministers from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries voted Wednesday at the outset of their regular summer conference to oust OPEC's president, Arturo Hernandez Grisanti, the Venezuelan oil minister.

Grisanti, criticized in public by an influential Arab minister as a poor leader and a "weakening," was replaced by Nigeria's oil minister, Rilwanu Lukman.

Afterward, conference sources said the atmosphere inside the closed-door meeting had improved.

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said the ministers seemed more determined to resolve their differences.

OPEC failed in two drawn-out meetings in March and April to agree on a production-sharing system that would allot a quota to each of its members. The idea is to bring world oil supplies closer into line with demand, thus lifting prices from their current depressed levels.

The most widely traded grades of crude oil are currently selling for between $11 and $14 a barrel — less than half the level of last November.

There were no clear signs Wednesday that the ministers were close to any agreements, but there were fewer than the normal number of public confrontations.

"We are holding a very serious discussion which I am convinced will ultimately lead to a good step" toward an eventual agreement on production limits, Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani told reporters.

"All of them are now convinced that if they don't do something they all will collapse," one cartel source said.

The sources said one faction led by Yamani wanted to keep OPEC's production near 18 million barrels daily, which is the approximate average of its May and June output.

This group maintains that the mere act of reimposing production controls — which were abandoned last fall — would convince oil buyers that OPEC was once again capable of acting together. Thus oil prices would rise, they say.

A minority group of Libya, Iran and Algeria wants deep and immediate cuts in production in order to push prices sharply higher, to $28 a barrel.

Grisanti of Venezuela had failed to help OPEC bridge the gap between these two factions during his six months as president of the cartel.

Mana Saeed Oteiba, the oil minister of the United Arab Emirates and a former OPEC president, indirectly called for Grisanti's departure before Wednesday's opening session.

In his customary pre-meeting poem about OPEC's trials, Oteiba said it was time to "marry OPEC off" to a "husband" who is "none other than an able president. Not a weakening linked with her present qualities."

Several delegations in recent months had privately criticized Grisanti for lacking the leadership qualities to guide the cartel through one of its worst crises.

Iranians free prisoner

PARIS — An Air France employee held in Iran for more than a year on charges that he turned his home into a center of corruption has been freed, the French airline said today.

Jean-Yves Albertini, director in Tehran for France's state-run airline, was arrested on April 18, 1985, allegedly during a party at his home attended by some 50 Iranians.

Charged with "inciting Moslems to debauchery" and "forbidden sexual practices," he was sentenced July 9, 1985, to a year in prison.

The French government has been working for the release of Albertini, and in November the French Foreign Ministry indicated that he might benefit from a pardon.

Ireland votes on divorce

DUBLIN, Ireland — Torn between their allegiance to Roman Catholicism and a liberal democratic tradition, the Irish voted today in a bitterly contested referendum on whether to legalize divorce.

Polling stations opened for the 2.4 million eligible voters at 9 a.m. Voting ends at 10 p.m., with the first results due Friday.

With the latest poll predicting defeat for the proposed constitutional amendment by a 55 percent to 45 percent margin, Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald appealed Wednesday to voters to back the reform initiative he launched nine weeks ago.

Labor leaders released

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The government released at least a dozen labor leaders detained without charge under the 2-week-old nationwide state of emergency, union spokesmen said today.

The government gave no reason for freeing the union officials, including the head of one of the country's largest trade federations. However, dozens more labor leaders were among an estimated 1,800 emergency detainees still held, according to unofficial reports.

Explosion rocks airport

MADRID, Spain — An explosion occurred today in the international terminal of Madrid's Barajas Airport, injuring several people, the national news agency EFE said.

A police officer at the airport, speaking on condition of anonymity, said a bomb apparently caused the explosion at 3:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. EST).

EFE said the number of injured was not immediately known, but that they included a national police officer and several passengers who were standing in front of the Air France counter and other international airline counters.

Reagan breaks budget process

The Senate Budget Committee, in a final effort to reach agreement with the House on a budget resolution, suggested splitting the difference on military spending.

The senators would lower their Pentagon budget figure from $301 billion to $293 billion, which is still $8 billion more than the House's figure. (The president still wants $320 billion.)

Even if this compromise flies it won't be enough to secure a budget.

New tax revenues of about $7 billion still are needed to pay for even the compromise defense proposal, and the president refuses to consider them. The best offer to Mr. Reagan so far is for some defense money to be held in escrow contingent on his signing a tax bill that would provide the extra revenue to pay for that reserve.

But the House won't vote for a tax hike unless Mr. Reagan supports it first, and he still insists he won't.

Instead, he talks of selling government assets, which Congress won't accept. Hence, there isn't likely to be a budget resolution at all this year.

The probable alternative is that Congress will move directly to the appropriations process, developing spending numbers without regard to a defunct budget resolution.

That is what the House Appropriations Committee has begun to do, planning to wrap all 13 spending bills into an omnibus package to bargain with the president in the fall.

The midyear review of the deficit will be available by then, and is likely to show a major increase. This may shock everyone into searching for a compromise to avoid Gramm-Rudman's across-the-board cuts, which would cost the Pentagon far more than any legislative compromise.

The president shouldn't push Congress too hard. If he does, Gramm-Rudman may be triggered. Perhaps it should be.

It would finally expose the bankruptcy of his no-tax-increase, high-defense-spending policies for all to see, and so help to end them.

Teens not trying for summer jobs

The news from the youth front is that there are many more summer jobs this year than there are applicants. I decided to find out why. I asked three young men hanging out in front of the drugstore why they weren't working.

"We're not old enough," one of them said.

"You all look 17 and over."

"That's just the point. We can't get liability insurance if we commit malpractice in a McDonald's."

"You're putting me on. There are jobs galore out there, waiting for dedicated young people with ambition."

"There is no money in them," a boy said.

"I hear they're paying $5.50 an hour at the Junk Food Houses," I told him. "That's way over the minimum."

"It won't even buy you a Madonna tape. We'd ruin our innocence if we had to worry about how much we were going to take home at the end of each week."

"What are you going to do for money?"

"My dad will give it to me."

"Why should he give you money?"

"Because when he was young he worked so hard he vowed his kids would never have to suffer the way he did. If I don't take his dough all the sacrifices he made for me will have been in vain."

"You kids have it too good. When I was your age I worked for a dollar an hour."

"Is that what you stopped to tell us?"

"I don't like to see young people with time on their hands in the summer. All I'm trying to do is find out why, with so many jobs out there, you won't take any."

"If we take a summer job it could wind up to be something we hate," one young man said. "And then we'll turn against the work ethic, and become bums when we get out of school and disgrace our families."

"I don't accept that," I said. "Don't you get any satisfaction out of earning your own spending money?"

"The trouble with earning your own spending money in the summer is that your parents make you put it in the bank so you can't spend it."

Another young man said, "Don't get the wrong idea about us. If the right job come along we'd take it."

"What kind of job is that?"

"Something on Wall Street where you can get inside information on merges and make a killing in the stock market. You know, like those five guys just did."

"But they got caught," I said, "and have shamed their loved ones, and will have to live with a black mark against them for the rest of their lives."

"It's still better than making $5.50 an hour," he replied.

I made one more pitch. "Jobs don't just produce money — they also produce moral fiber."

"So does Shredded Wheat. Are you finished with us?"

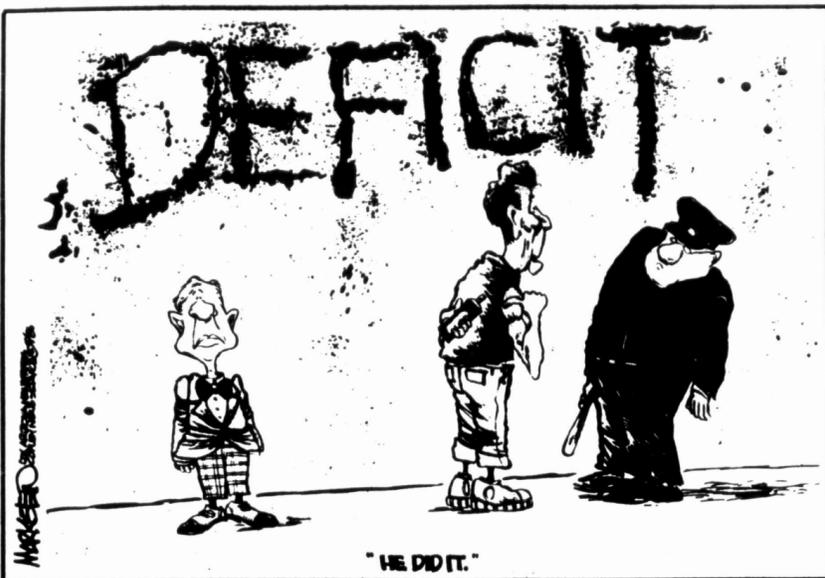

"In a minute. Do you realize as we are talking here Baskin and Robbins ice cream executives are on their knees begging for fine young men like you? Pizza Huts have Help Wanted pizzas on every highway, and every time Taco Bell rings another job is up for grabs."

A young man said, "You know why a lot of high school kids aren't applying for jobs this summer?"

"Why?" I asked.

"Because if you work this summer your parents will expect you to work the next summer and before you know if you'll have wasted your entire youth for a lousy $5.50 an hour."

Successful tell how to overcome failure

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Most Americans worry and fret, sometimes envying the famous whose success appears to be seamless. Why don't they ever fail? How can they be so confident? Why does their success seem so easy and effortless?

It's hard to imagine people like author Alex Haley, television's Barbara Walters, newspaper publisher Al Neuharth, Sen. John Glenn, comedian Jerry Lewis or actor Carroll O'Connor, being troubled by criticism or tortured with self-doubt. Yet each has struggled to overcome fear of failure. They are household names today because they were able to turn their worries into a healthy force for positive change, to direct the energy created by fear and anxiety into a productive force.

How they — and a host of other highly successful people — were able to transform worry into winning is the subject of a new book that will hit the bookstores next week. It is entitled "Courage Is a Three-Letter Word" and was written by Walter Anderson, editor of the big-circulation Sunday magazine Parade.

This stirring and stimulating book has all the ingredients to become a best seller. It shares many intimate reflections by Anderson's friends about how they conquered their private anxieties and darkest moments. It is also the brutal story of Anderson's own rise from the slums to success.

Alex Haley, for example, reveals that he came close to committing suicide on an ocean voyage from Africa to the United States during his research for "Roots," the monumental best-selling saga of his slave ancestors. The project had been dragging along for 12 years and he was stuck. Friends doubted his ability to complete the book; he was deep in debt; the book had become an albatross.

What kept him from flinging himself over the ship's stern rail into the water? "The voices of my ancestors," Haley recalls simply. "There was Kunta Kinte and his daughter Kizzy, her son 'Chicken George.' ... 'No, you mustn't stop, you finish writin' that book,'" the voice urged him.

Perhaps the lowest point in Barbara Walters' career came during her unhappy experience as co-anchor with Harry Reasoner on ABC-TV's evening news. The ratings were poor, and critics were scathing. She was a prima donna, they said, who demanded limousines, a pink typewriter and other trappings — all untrue. Strangers would smirk and mutter "Baba Wawa" within earshot, emulating the "Saturday Night Live" jokes.

"It hurt, and I would bleed over every word," she recalls. Sometimes she cried. But it wasn't all brickbats. One message of support came from the late John Wayne, whom she had never met. "Don't let the bastards get you down," read his telegram.

The Jerry Lewis telethon for muscular dystrophy has evolved into an American institution. Yet the comedian is regularly deplored by critics who charge him with personal aggrandizement and egotripping over "his kids."

In a poignant anecdote, the comedian describes how children close to death have often insisted on meeting him. "I've seen this happen now for 36 years: A child won't die until he meets me," Lewis says. "A young boy may have lived 15 more days because I was present. What does that mean? To the child and his family, that's a millennium. So every year I make what appears to be a self-indulgent remark, 'Please help my kids,' and I take some heat. So be it."

Before Archie Bunker became America's working class hero through 13 television seasons of "All In The Family," actor Carroll O'Connor went through almost six straight years of what he calls "total rejection" as a hopeful stage actor in New York. After landing a good role in his first professional audition, he then found himself unable to get even the most modest walk-on part, and he worked as a substitute teacher to make ends meet.

"It was devastating," O'Connor recalls. "I'd make every open casting call I could, try for every role, day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year. I nearly dropped out." The fear of failure haunts all of us, Anderson emphasizes. We worry; the creative juices dry up; projects get stalled; panic sets in. We may be successful, perhaps beyond our wildest dreams, and then the doubts may set in: "What will I do when they find out I'm me?"

State needs to reduce job deaths

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

It was bad enough learning several months ago that Texas has many more "hunger counties" than any other state. Now we learn that not only does our state top the national average in job-related deaths and accidents, but it is six times the national rate in construction deaths.

According to a study by the Dallas Times Herald, an average of one Texas construction worker died every 82 hours during the first half of the 1980s.

Texas reported 968 job-related deaths and 455,470 job-related accidents in 1985 to lead the nation in both categories.

In response to those revelations, state Rep. Lloyd Criss of LaMarque asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to review a 1973 law — a law that forces insurance companies to provide accident prevention programs for its workers compensation customers.

Criss said the State Board of Insurance has failed to enforce the rule. He also said the compensation premiums charged Texas business are too high.

The insurance board said its hands are tied because it has no authority to require employer safety programs, nor to conduct workplace safety inspections.

Criss thinks the board has all the authority it needs.

The buck goes back and forth.

The Texas AFL-CIO apparently agrees with Criss. That organization said Texas labor unions plan to push for the enactment of criminal penalties for construction site negligence.

Obviously, something needs to be done. The labor unions' solution, however, is not going to help.

Current laws are sufficient. The problem is a lack of enforcement.

The government's enforcement effort often is too small to be effective. We need many more government inspectors to assure compliance with standards. Yet taxpayers, including myself, have been unwilling to pay the additional costs.

We shouldn't have to. Employers should have the integrity to insure that safety is practiced, though many of them obviously don't.

Perhaps education is a part of the answer, too. But until employers are more conscientious about safety, or more money is available for enforcement, many more workers will die.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Star Wars is under budgetary attack

By TIM AHERN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress cut President Reagan's "Star Wars" budget last year by $1 billion, Sen. Sam Nunn explained the reductions in the previously popular program by saying Star Wars didn't pass the "sniff test."

The Georgia Democrat, one of Capitol Hill's most respected defense experts, explained that the phrase means "you just use your nose. And using my nose, Star Wars smells to me like it's in trouble around here."

Now, Congress is poised to cut even more deeply into the Strategic Defense Initiative, the formal name of the research program to develop a futuristic shield against nuclear attack.

For the current fiscal year, Reagan sought about $4 billion for SDI, but Congress reduced that to $3 billion. For the next year, starting Oct. 1, Reagan asked $5.4 billion, but the Republican-controlled Senate Armed Services Committee reduced the figure to $3.95 billion. The likelihood is that the figure will be trimmed again when the Pentagon budget reaches the floor next month.

Forty-eight senators — almost half the 100 members — have signed a letter urging that the SDI budget be held to only 3 percent above inflation next year.

Moreover, in the Democratic-controlled House, even greater cuts are in the offing. The House Armed Services Committee on Tuesday voted in a closed-door meeting to approve a $3.4 billion Star Wars budget for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, according to sources speaking only on condition of anonymity. Efforts likely will be made on the House floor to freeze the budget at current levels.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has accused legislators supporting SDI cuts of trying "to strangle the program in its cradle."

But the reasons for cutting SDI are varied, Nunn and Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine, explained after the Senate committee acted last week. In the past, they have supported the program.

The two senators sponsored the effort to cut SDI's next year budget and admitted their move was a pre-emptive strike to take the wind out of efforts to cut it deeper on the floor.

"We see our move as trying to save the program itself from the kind of attacks we expect later," explained Cohen.

The two legislators proposed several reasons for the cuts:

—Budgetary restrictions imposed by the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law. Those limits are leading to reductions in almost all federal programs and the Pentagon is not exempt.

—Arms control questions. The 1972 treaty limiting defenses against ballistic missiles could be breached by any SDI system, Star Wars opponents say. Administration defenders like Weinberger say Star Wars will be built within the ABM treaty limits, but Cohen, Nunn and other legislators have not been satisfied by those promises.

—A "growing perception in Congress that too much has been spent on SDI," said Cohen. He explained that SDI is taking up so much of the Pentagon's research budget that there are growing fears that equally worthy programs won't get the money they need.

"Missiles are not the only threat we face," Cohen said, with Nunn in agreement. "In fact, they are not even the most likely threat."

The pair explained that U.S. defenses also need to be improved to deal with threats posed by tanks, non-nuclear missiles, chemical weapons and the like.

—The fuzzy definition of just exactly what Star Wars is.

When Reagan announced the program three years ago, he spoke of a system that might make nuclear missiles obsolete. Just last week, in a speech to high school students in Glassboro, N.J., he spoke about SDI as "a shield that missiles could not penetrate — a shield that protect us from nuclear missiles just as a roof protects a family from rain."

But scientists and other administration officials say such a system is highly unlikely, if ever, to be achieved. Instead, they speak of a multilayered system of defending U.S. nuclear weapons from a pre-emptive strike. That defense would make nuclear war less likely, they say, because it would complicate a Soviet attack.

"The major reason SDI is under attack is because of the concept behind it," said Nunn. "No one can explain what the goal of SDI is. The president talks about a shield but the people working on the program don't talk like that."

Cohen agreed: "The program has never really been well-defined."

Nunn said the committee was trying to come up with a definition of SDI. "It's not easy to define. It is easy to define in bumper-sticker language," but that isn't enough, he said.

Man wants to be father without bother of wife

DEAR ABBY: I am the father of a son, age 32, who has found a novel way to become a father without any of the headaches of being a husband. "Doug" bought himself a disposable mother!

He put up a notice at a local college for a "surrogate mother" to bear his child for $10,000. He interviewed three women, selected his "mate," and had his lawyer draw up a contract. The girl agreed to carry the baby, deliver it, and then hand it over to him with no claim on it whatsoever. I was surprised to learn there were so many desperate college girls who would do this sort of thing for a price.

Doug's mother and I know him well, and we both agree that he would make a rotten father. (He's as selfish as they come.) I'd like to have a grandchild, but I think every child deserves a mother. Besides, this sounds like a crazy idea — lik "buying" a woman during slavery days. Women are more than just breeding machines. I think this world is going nuts and I am glad I lived in saner times.

HOLDING MY NOSE
DEAR HOLDING: Although Doug's motives may be pure, the realities of single parenthood could be a bigger headache than the marriage he seeks to avoid. If he had asked me (which he didn't), I would have advised him to borrow a baby for a week or two and find out if fatherhood is for him.

DEAR ABBY: Last year when several brothers and sisters were visiting our parents, I made a slip of the tongue and called my brother's third wife by his second wife's name. (She is well hated by the family.) I apologized immediately, but apparently my apology was not accepted.

My brother was not present to hear this, but he was told about it, and took it as evidence that I had probably been visiting with his second wife, which is not true. I haven't seen her since the divorce and have no desire to.

Since this slip of the tongue occurred, my brother and his wife have been very cool to me. I apologized once for what was a slip of the tongue, but I need to know how I can get them to believe me.

NO NAME OR TOWN
DEAR NO NAME: Please don't waste any more time and energy fretting about what could be in the minds of other people. If on your next meeting they are still "cool," ask them if something is bothering them. The burden of proof is on the accuser.

DEAR ABBY: Re "Forgotten Parents" who loaned their son $10,000 and never heard from him again: I myself had to borrow a similar amount from a family member and I've been unable to repay any of it. It's been over five years and I, too, have broken off almost all contact with the person who lent it to me. Why? I feel so guilty about not being able to repay any of it that I can't look him in the eye — so I avoid him.

Conversely, years ago, I loaned yet another family member a large sum of money. He was never in a position to repay me, and the same thing happened. (He avoided me.) However, I forgave him the debt entirely and told him that he didn't owe me a cent. After that, our relationship was fully restored and now we are close friends.

Can people put a monetary value on the friendship of family members? Sign me...

No. Can they? Many do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G.K. IN SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS: Finish college. You will be better equipped to keep the wolf from the door if you have a sheepskin.

Volunteers need donated items

Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services is in need of indoor/outdoor carpet, putters and golf balls for the campus's miniature golf course, said Kathy Viccinelli, volunteer coordinator.

Volunteer Services will sponsor an ice cream social for Big Spring State Hospital clients July 1 in celebration of Independence Day. There will be a need for many freezers of homemade ice cream, Viccinelli said.

Anyone who would like to donate ice cream, help serve or donate golf items may call 267-8216 ext. 534.

SWBT sponsors wagon train
Southwestern Bell Telephone is committed to preserving our state's rich history, because we're proud of Texas' distinctive roots. They're our roots, too.
Wagon trains, like telephones, have played a key role in Texas' development. And in keeping with our Texas commitments, we recently joined in the sponsorship of the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train, through proceeds from the sale of Sesquicentennial candles.
While we enjoy helping bring the past to life, we never lose sight of our most important job: providing Texans the best telephone service possible — advanced, futuristic telecommunications systems — today.
You might say we do just that on the wagon train. While today's wagon train riders are living a lifestyle reminiscent of the 1800's, they do have at least one edge over the pioneers who settled Texas. We've made sure today's adventurers enjoy the best of two worlds, if they want to, by providing portable payphones at campsites during their 6-month, 3,000-mile journey.
As the wagon train — longest and largest in American history — blazes a new trail across Texas, it's making modern-day history. The wagon train not only commemorates our state's 150th birthday and ancestors, but is a symbol of Texas to the world.
A festive journey's end
On July 3 the 4-mile-long convoy of 150 wagons, 800 horses and 300 horseback riders will roll into their final campsite, Fort Worth. Not only will the "eyes of Texas" be upon them, but millions of people from around the world will also be watching.
Reporters, newsmen and camera crews from across the U.S. and world will be on-hand to cover the Texas-sized celebration planned at the end of the trail.
And we're happy to be a partner in this historic event, sharing in Texas' past, present and future.
Teaching good phone usage
With the kids out of school for the summer, it's a good time to teach or review good phone usage, both for good manners and for security. Some of your personal emergency numbers for the youngsters during the school year will be changing now that school's out.
And we're here to help. We've got a free booklet, "Phone Use for Children," for youngsters and their parents. With a little help from Mom and Dad, this booklet can help even a pre-schooler understand the proper way to use the telephone.
The booklet shows children how to answer the telephone, what to say to callers and what to do in an emergency. It also talks about "calls that cost extra money" — like long distance or other toll calls. And it describes in words and pictures good phone manners to learn and remember.
Having good phone manners, well that's just one more thing about your children you can be proud of. But knowing they understand how to use the phone in an emergency will make your summer relaxation a lot more relaxing.
To order your free booklet, write to:
Southwestern Bell Telephone, Tele-Help, P.O. Box 225265, Dallas, Texas 75222. Or call toll-free 1-800-325-2686, ask for ext. 80. Please allow 3 weeks for delivery.

Skin bruises could mean a blood problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I notice ugly red, irregularly-shaped spots on my body. They appear immediately after a slight bump. At times they are an inch or more in diameter. I would like to pursue this on-going problem, but with so many specialists around today, I don't know which to see. I read a reference to "petechiae" in your column, which is a form of skin spots. Can you elucidate? I am an elderly man. — B.D.C.

Dr. Donohue

These spots are not petechiae (pet-ECK-ee-uh). Those are pinpoint dots on the skin. You describe purpura, large bruises. The most common cause of such bruising is loss of tissue support for the tiny, delicate blood vessels. They break easily and you bruise.

But I am not saying your bruising stems necessarily from aging. Either petechiae or purpura can reflect other non-age related conditions. And some can be serious. Inflammation of the tiny vessels, deficiency of clotting factors, or some other blood chemistry problem can cause minute or large spots.

The kind of spot, whether petechiae or purpura, does have specific importance in certain illnesses, however. For example, the pinpoint spots might suggest a bacterial infection, as of the heart lining. The large purpura spots might, on the other hand, make the doctor think about meningococcal infection (of the meninges, the brain covering).

These niceties aren't worth belaboring at this point. Even though your skin signs probably reflect only the aging scenario I mentioned above, they're worth reporting to your doctor. He knows enough to sift through the various causes and draw conclusions. If he needs help, he can consult a hematologist, a specialist in blood disorders.

DERA DR. DONOHUE: Just how does the nitroglycerine pill work in stopping an angina pectoris attack? — S.S.

As strange as it seems, I must say that we are not entirely sure just which one of nitro's many actions is the most important in easing the pain of angina pectoris. But at the heart of nitro is its ability to relax smooth muscles, specifically those that control blood vessels themselves.

I probably don't have to tell you the immediate cause of angina. But to review briefly for others, it happens when the heart is asked to perform extra work in the face of a deficient blood supply to it (because of clogged arteries).

One of the things that happens right away is dilation of both arteries and veins as their walls relax. That allows the heart to work more efficiently. With dilation of the arteries serving the heart, more blood gets to it, and the deficiency problem is alleviated temporarily, at least. Third, all of this dilating effectively lowers pressure in the circulatory system generally, again relieving pressure on the heart muscle.

It all adds up to an almost immediate end to the pain. Your other, related questions (another part of your letter) are covered in the booklet "You Can Control Angina," which other readers can order by writing me and enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.25.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Modest but steady inflow into Lake Spence seems to have stirred striped bass, and there were numerous catches in the intermediate to large range over the weekend.

Channel, blue and yellow catfish were biting there as well at Lake J.B. Thomas. The latter reservoir had some fair black bass fishing along weedy shoreline areas, and crappie fishing was fair in deep areas.

At Lake Thomas, Roy Biddle of Big Spring caught 10, 13 and two 16-pounds yellow catfish on a trotline.

Jennifer Francis of Andrews recently captured a gold medal and was crowned state champion in the tumbling competition at the Texas Acrogyrnastics State Meet in Levelland.

The five-year-old Francis, in her second year of tumbling, has earned nine first place medals in 10 meets.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fowler of Sand Springs.

Local golfers fared well Sunday at the Lamesa Couples Golf Tournament. In the first flight the team of Joe and Patsy Sharpnack placed third with a 141.

The National Little League will elect new officers tonight at 7 at the National League park. All parents are encouraged to attend.

DelVecchio sets early pace

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Editor

The 53rd Annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo officially opened last night at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl with lots of hard riding and roping and liberal helpings of grand entry rodeo pageantry.

A crowd of 4,000 came out to enjoy the competition under clear skies and excellent conditions.

Following the grand entry the bull riding event started off the action. The first section of bull riders didn't fare well. In fact, none of them placed in the top three in last night's performance.

The second section was a different story. Bobby DelVecchio was the first round pace-setter with a smooth 83, six points ahead of Cody Custer of Wickenburg, Ariz. DelVecchio, a former world champion from Bronx, N.Y., rode the turning, twisting 'Savage Seven' to the limit. Tom Wilson of Lampasas finished third with a 72.

The calf roping competition was another heated event. Favorite Roy Cooper took the early lead as he roped and tied his prey in 10.3 seconds. Cousin Jimmie Cooper followed with a time of 10.8. But Roy Cooper lost his lead when the last calf roper on the program performed.

That roper happened to be stock contractor Mack Altizer. Altizer, who's father Jim Bob Altizer was a champion roper, took the lead from Roy Cooper by roping the calf in a time of 9.3.

In bareback bronc competition Ray Taylor of Tulsa, Okla. took the opening night lead with a score of 78. Dave Appelton and Scott Gilbert followed with 76's.

Appelton, of Arlington, also tied for first in the saddle bronc competition. He and Jess Knight both recorded 75's.

Mitchell McMullen had the best time in the steer wrestling with a 4.6, but his time wasn't good enough to beat the 4.0 recorded by San Angelo's Steve Fryar in Tuesday night's slack round.

The only local contestants that fared well were the Big Spring duo of Bill Stockton and Kenny Ross in the team roping event. The duo scored a 17.4 for third place on the night. Charlie Price of Lovington, N.M. and Dan Fisher of Andrews had the best time of 6.7.

In Tuesday's slack competition, Mike Macy and Kelvin Sharp turned in a 6.6.

In a bit of a upset in the barrel racing, Jimmie Munroe, currently ranked sixth on the Women's Professional Rodeo Association, was third in a time of 17.15. Stephenville's Martha Wright turned in a top performance in 16.74.

Randy Taylor of Tulsa, Okla. hangs on in the bareback bronc competition last night in the 53rd Annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. Taylor scored a 78 on the ride to lead the competition.

The rodeo was highlighted by the wild and crazy antics of rodeo clowns Kirby Burney and Mike Horton. They kept them crowd in a uproar with acts like their imitation of the 'Blues Brothers'. They kept the crowd on its toes by occasionally spraying water into the stands.

Rodeo time will begin tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Lendl destroys American

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — From time to time, Ivan Lendl will argue with a line judge or even get testy with an opponent. But watch out when he gets mad at himself.

On a beautiful summer afternoon, the sky robin's-egg blue above the emerald green of Wimbledon's grass, Lendl was breezing along at far from full speed against Marcel Freeman, an American ranked 81st in the world.

Lendl had the first two sets in hand. He had just broken Freeman's serve for a 2-1 lead in the third set. His second victory in less than 24 hours and a berth in the third round of the men's singles were within reach.

And then something snapped. Freeman sent a forehand passing shot down the line. Lendl, the top seed from Czechoslovakia, leaned toward the ball, then pulled back. The shot stayed in and Freeman was back on serve and tied 2-2.

Lendl stared at the spot where the ball landed, raised his racket over his head and brought it rapidly toward the turf, stopping just above the ground.

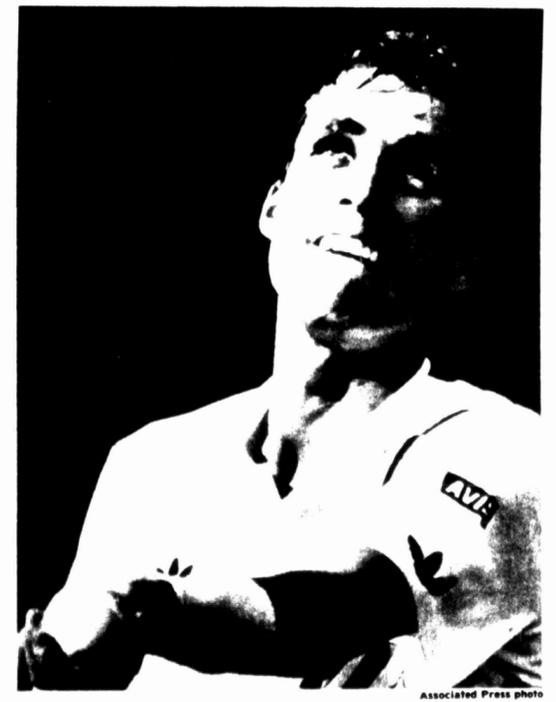

It was Freeman who felt the impact.

Suddenly playing with fire, Lendl broke Freeman in the fifth and seventh games to complete a 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 victory.

"You've got to be ready mentally for it. After two sets, it's not over," Lendl said. "You've got to be able to concentrate a little longer and try to keep it that way, even when you're winning 6-3, 6-2."

Falling out on the tournament's third day were eighth-seeded Anders Jarryd of Sweden, 14th-seeded Martin Jaite of Argentina and 16th-seeded Johan Kriek of the United States among the men, and sixth-seeded Kathy Rinaldi, 12th-seeded Stephanie Rehe and 13th-seeded Barbara Potter of the United States among the women.

Jarryd was so angered by his 3-6, 6-4, 7-6, 6-2 loss to South Africa's Ivan Lendl concentrates as he prepares to serve to Marcel Freeman during Wimbledon singles play Wednesday. Lendl won the match 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Eddie Edwards that he threw his racket, striking a teen-age spectator. Officials fined the Swede $1,000 for the outburst.

He was the third of last year's men's semifinalists to be eliminated in the first three days this year. Earlier victims were Americans Jimmy Connors and Kevin Curren.

Seeds advancing included men's No. 6 Joakim Nystrom and No. 13 Mikael Pernfors, both of Sweden, and No. 10 Tim Mayotte and No. 12 Brad Gilbert, both of the United States; and women's No. 4 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany, No. 8 Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria, No. 9 Zina Garrison of the United States, No. 10 Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina, No. 11 Carling Bassett of Canada and No. 15 Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden.

Today's schedule was full of highly seeded players, including defending champion Boris Becker of West Germany against Tom Gullikson of the United States, and the women's second seed, Chris Evert Lloyd vs. Pam Casale of the United States.

Kathy Jordan, the women's No. 16 seed from the United States, opened the fourth day with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over another American, Ann Henricksson, in the second round.

And in the men's second round, seventh-seeded Henri Leconte of France beat Britain's Colin Dowdeswell 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Robin White of the United States, a semifinalist at last week's Eastbourne tournament, beat Czechoslovakia's Andrea Holikova 6-1, 6-3, while another U.S. player, Betsy Nagelsen, defeated Lisa Short of the United States 6-1, 7-6.

Nagelsen ousted fifth-seeded Pam Lendl page 2B

Finals set in World Cup

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Move over, Larry Bird. Make room, Wayne Gretzky. You have company in Diego Maradona.

In much the same way Bird dominates the NBA and Gretzky rules the NHL, Maradona has made the 1986 World Cup his personal playground. The magic man of soccer scored a pair of sensational goals Wednesday, leading Argentina to a 2-0 victory over Belgium and into the championship game.

On Sunday, Maradona will try to carry Argentina to its second world title against West Germany, which eliminated France 2-0 Wednesday in the other semifinal. For the Germans, it is a record fifth trip to the World Cup final — they won in 1954 and '74, lost to England in 1966 and fell Italy four years ago.

"I believe we were defeated by the best player," Belgian Coach Guy Thys said. "The German victory over France wasn't expected. Germany showed its very good conditioning."

"However, Maradona is capable of being the decisive difference in the final."

Or anywhere else. The stocky 25-year-old striker has proven time and again in this tournament that he is soccer's best player.

On Wednesday, at Aztec Stadium — where the final will be held — Maradona was shut down in the first half by Belgium's shifting zone defense. But, just as against England in the quarterfinals, he needed little time to catch fire in the second half.

At 51 minutes, Maradona outraced a pair of defenders to a pass from Jorge Burruchaga and slipped the ball over charging goalkeeper Jean-Marie Pfaff. Twelve minutes later, he dribbled through four players before beating Pfaff to the far side.

"I am physically and psychologically at my best."

Seaver wants trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Tom Seaver 'is a very unhappy player who should get traded,' Chicago White Sox manager Jim Fregosi said Wednesday night.

"Tom and I had a meeting and there is no sense in his staying here, but we are doing our best to work out a deal," Fregosi said of Seaver, who failed to snap a four-game losing streak despite a 4-3 Chicago victory over Minnesota.

Fregosi took over as White Sox manager last Sunday, replacing the fired Tony LaRussa.

Seaver, who is 2-6 this season, left the game in the top of the sixth after giving up an RBI triple to Randy Bush, making the score 3-2. The Twins tied the score after Seaver left.

Seaver, who gave up just one hit through the first four innings, surrendered a leadoff homer to Gary Gaetti, his 17th, in the fifth.

McCaskill almost perfect against Rangers

By The Associated Press
Kirk McCaskill pitched a one-hitter Wednesday night to lead California to a 7-1 victory over Texas that moved the Angels into first place in the American League West.

Wally Joyner drove in two runs as the visiting Angels completed a sweep of the three-game series to move a game in front of the Rangers.

The only hit off McCaskill, 8-4, was Steve Buechele's home run leading off the third inning. The right-hander struck out 10 and walked two in winning for the fourth straight time. It was his fifth complete game of the season.

"I don't think it was as good as in some other games I've pitched this season," McCaskill said.

In addition to hitting his 11th homer, Buechele also walked twice. He was the only Ranger to reach base.

"It didn't feel like a one-hitter," McCaskill said. "I can't really explain why. Maybe it's because the one hit was a home run."

Joyner's two-run single was the key hit in California's four-run third inning against rookie Bobby Witt, 4-6.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Boston 5, New York 4; Toronto 5, Milwaukee 1; Seattle 6, Cleveland 1; Detroit 11, Baltimore 2; Kansas City 5, Oakland 4, and Chicago 4, Minnesota 3.

In the National League, it was New York 5, Montreal 2; San Diego 3, San Francisco 1; Chicago 10, Philadelphia 7; Pittsburgh 2, St. Louis 1 in 10 innings; Cincinnati 4, Houston 3 in 10 innings, and Atlanta 3, Los Angeles 2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Red Sox 5, Yankees 4
Al Nipper, 4-4, came off the disabled list with a strong performance as Boston salvaged the finale of a three-game series. Tony Armas highlighted a five-run first inning with a two-run single off loser Doug Drabek. Bill Buckner, Don Baylor and Rich Gedman also drove in runs for the Red Sox.

Tigers 11, Orioles 2

Kirk Gibson hit two homers and drove in five runs to back Jack Morris, 7-4 who pitched a seven-hitter and struck out nine. Darrell Evans and John Grubb also homered for Tigers. Baltimore's Mike Boddicker, 10-2, lasted only 2 2-3 innings, losing for the first time in eight decisions.

Royals 5, A's 4

Jorge Orta's single off Bill Mooneyham with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning scored Rudy Law from second base with an unearned that gave Kansas City the victory. Law singled and was safe at second when shortstop Alfredo Griffin muffed George Brett's potential double-play grounder.

Blue Jays 5, Brewers 1

Toronto homers by Jesse Barfield and Rance Mulliniks backed Jim Clancy, 7-5, and Dennis Lamp. Clancy had lost his last two starts and suffered a slight hamstring pull in his most recent outing. He allowed five hits over six innings. Lamp allowed one hit in recording his first save.

Mariners 6, Indians 1

Mark Langston pitched a three-hitter and struck out a club-record 15, and Danny Tartabull drove in three runs for Seattle. Langston, 8-5, won his fourth straight game. Cleveland's John Butcher, 0-4, started for the first time since his trade from Minnesota.

White Sox 4, Twins 3

Chicago's Bobby Bonilla scored a disputed run on a two-out double by Greg Walker in the sixth inning that broke a 3-3 tie. Minnesota Manager Ray Miller was then ejected for arguing that Bonilla never touched the plate. Bob James earned his 10th save for the White Sox.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Mets 5, Expos 2
Kevin Mitchell had three hits, Len Dykstra two doubles and George Foster his 12th homer as New York salvaged the finale of a three-game series to lead the East by nine games. Sid Fernandez, 9-2,

Oakland A's baserunner Ricky Peters tries to make his way back to third base as Kansas City Royals third baseman George Brett gets the out called by umpire Dale Ford. Peters was picked off by Royals catcher Jamie won with Roger McDowell getting his sixth save. Former Met Mike Fitzgerald drove in both Montreal runs.

Padres 3, Giants 1

San Diego's Dave Dravecky, 6-7, singled in two runs and ended a personal four-game losing streak. Rich Gossage got his 13th save. Kevin McReynolds hit a first-inning sacrifice fly off Vida Blue, 5-4, who had won his last four starts. Robbie Thomson hit his third homer in the ninth for San Francisco's only run.

Reds 4, Astros 3

Cincinnati's Dave Parker singled home the winning run as Houston remained a half game behind San Francisco in the West. John Franco, 1-4, was the winning pitcher with 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief. Parker's two-out hit pinned the loss on Astro reliever Aurelio Lopez.

Cubs 10, Phillies 7

Two-run doubles in the sixth inning by rookie Dave Martinez and Shawon Dunston highlighted a four-run Chicago rally as the Cubs snapped a three-game losing streak. Mike Schmidt hit his 14th homer to extend his hitting streak to 14 games. John Russell and Ron Roenicke also homered for the Phillies.

Cardinals 2, Pirates 1

Vince Coleman singled in the 10th inning, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Tom Herr's single combined with a Pittsburgh throwing error as St. Louis won its sixth straight game. Coleman scored when Pittsburgh right fielder Joe Orsulak's throw struck Herr.

Braves 3, Dodgers 2
Rick Mahler allowed one hit over the first seven innings, Bob Horner rapped a two-run double in the eighth and Atlanta held on to beat Los Angeles. Until the Dodgers broke through for two runs in the eighth, they had managed only one hit off Mahler, 9-5, a third-inning single by Franklin Stubbs.

Maradona said. "I feel as strong as a bull."

"I am always faced with different defenses but I know that when I have the ball below me, I can reach where I want to go. And when I get past people, I have the luck to score."

"The man stands alone up there, at the top of what soccer is all about," Belgian striker Philippe Desmet said.

Sweeper Michel Renquin, left flatfooted as the cat-quick Maradona swept past him for the first goal, said, "Maradona first beat the English on his own and now us. His talent made the difference."

"The way Maradona plays now, nobody can stop him," midfielder Frank Vercauteren added.

But West Germany must if it hopes to become the first European team to win a World Cup held in Latin America, and join Italy and Brazil as three-time winners. Argentina won the crown in 1978.

"Maradona has a clockwork in his legs and we need someone who can follow him around," German Coach Franz Beckenbauer said.

While Argentina was ending Belgium's stunning run to its first semifinal ever, the Germans once again proved to be the impenetrable barrier for the European champion French. In the 1982 tournament, West Germany won a semifinal penalty-kick shootout over France. This time, Andreas Brehme scored at nine minutes and the rugged German defense made it stand up until Rudi Voeller scored in the closing seconds.

The French could not get their flowing offense into gear, mainly because the aggressive Germans refused to let them.

"We do not have the individual players France has, but we sure can play as a team," captain Karl-Heinz Rummenigge said. "It was a super match and the win left us with a better feeling than in 1982."

Brehme scored with a curving left-footed shot that goalkeeper Joel Bats got his hands on but could not hold. The ball trickled into the net, and German goalie Harald Schumacher protected the slim margin.

"It is a huge disappointment for all the French people and for the players, some of whom have played the last big match of their careers," Coach Henri Michel said.

Argentina and West Germany tied 0-0 in 1966 and the Germans won 3-1 in 1958 in previous World Cup encounters.

Shriver in the first round.

Also advancing to the third round was American Lori McNeil, after her opponent, Marcella Mesker of the Netherlands, retired with an injury while leading the first set 5-4.

Fernfors, a two-time U.S. college champion at the University of Georgia, lost to Lendl in the clay-court finals of the French Open three weeks ago and was playing a rare match on grass.

Still, he had little trouble in beating American Mike DePalmer 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 in a match rained out on Monday, suspended by darkness Tuesday and hurriedly inserted on the Centre Court schedule Wednesday.

Kohde-Kilsch was awful in her first set against Etsuko Inoue of Japan, winning just 17 points. A dramatic reversal in the second set sent her easily into the second round 0-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Just the opposite was true for Kriek.

A surprise semifinalist at the French Open, the South African-born American was bombing John Sadri of the United States on the fast grass that Kriek loves, winning the first four games and holding serve for the first set. But Sadri came back strong, broke Kriek's service in the eighth game of the second set and went on to win 2-6, 6-3, 7-6, 6-3.

Maleeva won the first set from American Kate Gompert 6-2 and advanced when Gompert defaulted because of an injured thigh after losing the first game of the second set.

Potter also was a victim of injury, bowing out to a bad back before her scheduled first-round match against Britain's Amanda Brown. Her place was taken by another American, Ronnie Reis, who won 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good day to see the benefits that can accrue to you and others by a new attitude and by expanding and extending your interests. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan a new course of activity that can prove very profitable for you, so get busy early on that. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Contact acquaintances and they can become good and loyal friends, if you treat them nicely. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contact a bigwig who understands a field in which you are interested and get excellent advice you need. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Delve into new outlets that interest you and put aside antiquated ones for the present. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You see ways of adding to your present assets, so permit others to be helpful to you in this. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Come to a better understanding with associates and you can draw them closer to you. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) State your ideas to co-workers and listen to theirs and then come to a fine agreement. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) State your wishes to those who are compatible and gain their cooperation in helping you to gain them. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Home affairs should come first today, so get busy at them early. Be with fascinating persons tonight. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan how to get out of an annoying situation early, then you can be out in the world of activity. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use mature judgment and you can add much to your present abundance, but also get assistance from an influential person. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Think of your own wishes and desires, and then you can gain much. Join a group of influential persons. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may have to put up with rather unpleasant conditions, but only for a while, and then this can become a successful life, since the judgment is excellent and will gain the goodwill of important persons.
