Q. What can I do to get fireworks banned from the county, as they are in the city?

A. The state Legislature controls that issue, said County Judge Milton Kirby. You can write to state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, Representative, 69th District, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, TX 78769; or to state Sen. John T. Montford, Senator, 28th District, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, TX 78711.

Congress approves budget

Deficit size may prompt Gramm-Rudman spending cuts nearly $1 trillion fiscal 1987 budget approved by Congress early today may not reduce the deficit enough to avoid automatic spending cuts of the Gramm-Rudman law, lawmakers say.

The plan restrains both military and domestic spending and officially meets next year's $144 billion deficit target with $1.4 billion to spare. But lawmakers said it contains optimistic assumptions about strong economic growth, and weak provisions to enforce the cuts, that could drive the deficit estimate billions of dollars higher.

"It's phony as a $3 bill," said Rep. Silvio Conte of WASHINGTON (AP) - The Republican on the House Ap- too limiting" for future years, Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M. propriations Committee. Still, Conte was one of 333 House members who voted for the budget, with only 43 against.

Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., said, 'At least there is a modicum of outlay reductions.'

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where President Reagan is vacationing, White House spokesman Larry Speakes issued a statement saying the president found the overall conference agreement "generally acceptable" but said the budget resolution "would alter the president's priorities."

Speakes said.

The spokesman said the resolution increases domestic spending by more than the president recommended, but he welcomed the fact that the conference report did not call for a tax increase and met Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction

The legislators, rushing out of town for the Fourth of July recess, approved the $995 billion plan overwhelmingly. It was given final passage by the Senate by voice vote early today soon after the lopsided approval vote in the House on Thursday night.

Before the Senate voted, its budget committee chairman, Sen.

predicted a tax increase still would

"I'm not here tonight extremely proud of this product," Domenici said. "Basically, I've concluded after looking at it, (it was better than) no budget resolution at all,'

Domenici said the $292.15 billion in military spending in the budget was inadequate, and President Reagan would have to ask Congress for an increase. The budget includes a $4.8 billion contingency fund, and part of that could help boost Pentagon spending — but Reagan would have to propose an acceptable way to fill

Administration officials have pressed Congress to sell more government assets and raise user fees, but lawmakers said many of those were politically impossible and a tax increase was the only way to give Reagan anywhere close to the $320 billion he originally requested for the military.

The Senate had endorsed a $10.7 billion tax boost, but House Democratic leaders refused to go along unless Reagan dropped his opposition. The contingency fund for "unmet critical needs" helped lead to the House-Senate compromise.

Phone strike is over

WASHINGTON (AP) Members of AT&T's largest union returned to work today with job security guarantees they consider vital in an industry in which American workers are being replaced by automation and overseas labor

In one New York office, long distance workers were greeted with balloons.

Based on "a spot check of key locations, in the east coast, in the South and the Midwest, it appears virtually all locations - that includes factories, operator services, sales offices and the like - have returned to normal operations. said Walter Murphy, director of corporate information for AT&T in

"In general," he said, "it appears the vast majority scheduled to work are back on the job."

But, he said, in some scattered sales offices in the northeast and southeast the number of people returning appeared to be less than half "for some reason.

He said he did not know imediately what the reason was.

A spokeswoman at union headquarters said she was unaware of any refusals to return to work.

At AT&T's long distance operators' office in midtown Manhattan, as former strikers returned to work carrying headsets, they passed management people leaving with suit The returning operators found balloons tied to each console and signs welcoming them back.

The 155,000 long-distance operators, installers, sales personnel and equipment plant workers also got an 8 percent pay raise, spread over three years.

The package will be sent to workers for a secret ratification vote, which is expected to be completed Aug. 4, but workers were told to report for work at the start of the midnight shift today.

U-Haul: Texans are leaving

Staff and wire reports DALLAS - More U-Haul trucks and trailers are leaving Texas than are coming in. That bit of information comes from U-Haul company officials who say it's a sign of the state's economy - people leaving Texas for jobs elsewhere.

Bob Barr, head of truck and trailer operations for U-Haul, said the demand for Texas rentals began rising in January when oil prices dropped.

In recent months, he said, Texas has edged past the farm states in terms of emigration. Lots of Texas oil workers idled by the slump are moving to Florida, Arizona and Southern California, he said.

Many Texans surveyed by U-Haul said they were leaving for states that are not dependent on oil,

Barr said. It used to be the opposite during the oil boom days. Texas cities, especially Dallas and Houston, experienced a glut of trucks and trailers, Barr said.

Now, the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex and San Antonio are the only two healthy areas in Texas in truck rentals. "All the others are experiencing a tremendous outward migration," Barr said.

The emigration is most noticeable in West Texas, the U-Haul spokesmen say

In Big Spring, five U-Haul trucks have been rented so far this month and four have come in, said Robbie Baird, office manager of Lee's Rental Center, which serves as the local U-Haul dealer.

In May, six trucks were leased and none were received, she said. Normally, the ratio of trucks going out and coming in is 50-50 here, she said.

Baird said several customers who recently rented trucks here told her they were going home to areas such as North Carolina, Virginia and Georgia because "the job market opened up back there." Some of those leaving Big Spring were part of an influx of persons who moved here three years ago when the local area was experiencing an oil boom, she said. In Midland, U-Haul has organiz-

Midland U-Haul manager Billy ago, U-Haul spent $114,000 flying people to Orlando and paying them to drive about 450 trucks and 1,100 trailers back to Houston and New country

In Texas, U-Haul has raised its prices to help slow the exodus. The rental fee for a 6-by-12-foot trailer from Dallas to Orlando is $836. The price for the same trailer going to Chicago, about the same distance, is $391. The trailer costs only $130 going from Florida to Dallas.

Board ready to pick new SCWID director

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The Howard County Community College District is nearing a decision on who will be the next director of the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. A final meeting of the fivemember selection committee is set for Monday, said Dr. Bob Riley, committee chairman and president of Howard College.

The committee will recommend a new director to the Howard College board of trustees July 22, the body's next regular meeting, he said. The seven-man board has the final say on who will be hired, he Riley said 10 applications had been submitted to the college since advertising for the position began earlier this spring.

One of three top applicants, Dr.

Steven Ray, who is with the Oklahoma School for the Deaf in Sulphur, Okla., met with the committee Wednesday.

Last week, Carl Earwood of Salem, Ore., state coordinator of the deaf and hearing impaired program there, was interviewed by the committee. Ron Brasel of Washington, D.C., coordinator of the sign communications program at Gallaudet College for the Deaf, was here about two weeks ago, Riley said. "We feel real fortunate to have had three individuals as qualified to select a very good replacement for Sam Hill.' Hill, former SWCID director, resigned June 1 to become associate dean of instruction at South Plains College in Lubbock.

The new director should begin before Aug. 1, Riley said.

Trade deficit up as farm imports exceed exports

TO THE STATE OF

WASHINGTON (AP) - For the economists and politicians has yet first time in at least two decades. the United States in May imported more farm goods than it exported as the nation's trade deficit surged to $14.2 billion, up from $12.1 billion in April, the government reported today

The Commerce Department said that agricultural imports amounted to $2.2 billion in May, compared to exports of $1.9 billion for a deficit of $348.7 million.

In April, farm exports had totaled $2.1 billion and imports $1.9 billion.

The figures showed once again that the turnaround in the trade balance long awaited by to materialize - despite lower oil prices and a weakening U.S. dollar. The May figures showed the same pattern of shrinking exports and expanding imports that has prevailed for many months. The Commerce Department report said that May imports totaled $31.6 billion, up from $30 billion imported the month before. Exports were $17.4 billion in May, down from $18 billion in April. Analysts said that a sluggish world economy had much to do with the continued imbalance. 'There's nobody to sell to. Our economy is doing better than the Staff Writer Shelly Burmeister, Miss Coors Rodeo, stands out as much as the cowboys and bucking bulls to many Big Spring rodeo-goers.

She's the beautiful girl on the white horse who glides around the arena with the ease and assurance of an Annie Oakley. In the Grand Entry, she bolts from the gate holding high the Coors banner. And rather than hanging up the spurs and hitting the hay after the ceremonies, Shelly rides on through the night, rounding up the stray calves and steers the Shelly, who is 28 and from Fort Worth, will have been Miss Coors Rodeo seven years this July. She's quick to point out that she's spent the last seven years as more than just a pretty girl on a horse.

"I'm not a queen, although I get called a queen a lot," Shelly says, adding she prefers to be thought of as a businesswoman.

"Eighty percent of my time is spent creating marketing tools and promotions designed to maintain high visibility for Coors rodeos and to establish Coors as the number one beer of rodeo," she explains.

Shelly works about 100 rodeo performances and travels about 100,000 air-miles a year. She worked a rodeo in North Platte, Neb., before coming to Big Spring, and she will be bound for Vernal, Utah, after leaving Texas.

"This is not a job for everyone. ly serves as a director of the Miss Shelly finds time to be a parttime actress as well. She has worked with Victoria Principal on an episode of "Dallas," and with the late Slim Pickens in the documentary, "Cowboys and Buckaroos."

"I've just finished a feature film to be released in September called 'Shadows on the Wall,' starring Wilfred Brimley. It's a western whodunit, and I'm in about five scenes," she says.

Several scenes for the movie were filmed at the historic Baker Hotel in Colorado City in December.

"But I'm not trying to make it big," Shelly says. "It's just something I enjoy. If I wanted to make it big, I would have to be in Los Angeles hustling."

A relaxing moment for the pretty Miss Coors is climbing on a cutting horse. "It may not sound relaxing, but it's a great feeling being on top of a well-bred horse with a natural instinct for cutting cattle. When you see me in the arena, that's really my free time," Shelly says.

This is Shelly's second trip to the Big Spring Rodeo, and she enjoys her stay here for several reasons.

"There's prestige here. It says a lot that the rodeo is 53 years old. It's tough now for a new rodeo to get started. What helps in Big Spring is the support from the community.

'You can't compare it to Dallas or Houston. The bigger the market the more I work," she says.

quirements won't be determined until August, when the Congressional Budget Office and the president's Office of Management and Budget make a revised deficit estimate.

If the deficit for fiscal 1987 misses the $144 billion target by more than $10 billion, automatic spending cuts would be ordered in military and domestic programs to make up the difference. Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., an original sponsor of the Gramm-Rudman law, predicted the deficit would approach $165 billion because of "the soft numbers." Approval of the spending plan came more than two months after Congress' self-imposed deadline of April 15. But it was still well in advance of last year, when the budget wasn't approved until Aug. 1. The budget is a congressional resolution that does not require President Reagan's signature, but his approval would be needed to enact the budget's proposals, which include:

 A 3 percent pay raise for military and civilian federal

· A cost-of-living increase for Social Security, retired civil servants and veterans, estimated at 2

 Foreign aid programs 10 percent below current levels.

• Trimming slightly a wide range of domestic programs and freezing others, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. No money was provided for replacing the space shuttle Challenger, pending further review by the administration and Congress

• Cutting the federal highway program by 7.5 percent and federal mass transit assistance by about 10 percent, but slighly increasing Amtrak's budget.

 Cutting several development programs by 10 percent, including Urban Development Action Grants, the Economic Development Administration, Appalachian Regional Commission and subsidized rental housing.

· Sell government assets, including the Small Business Administration Disaster Loan portfolio.

• Increase spending for education and training programs by about $1.7 billion.

• Phasing out the $4 billion a year revenue-sharing with local governments. House Budget Committee Chairman William H. Gray III, D-Pa.,

said the budget "achieves responsible deficit reduction without placing that burden unfairly on any one area of the budget.' He said the overwhelming House approval showed there was little support for Reagan's plan to cut more domestic programs and spend more on the Pentagon. "I think it (the vote) says, bipartisanly, the House is unified in repudiating the priorities of the president " he said

Arrest of robbery suspect is in doubt

A possible suspect in a recent string of aggravated robberies remains at large while local law enforcement authorities squabble over the possibility of having him

The individual, who police say is on probation, is one of two persons suspected of assisting 22-year-old Lorenzo Jackson during a string of robberies that began with the May 29 holdup of a store clerk at a Town & Country convenience store on the Lamesa highway.

Jackson, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced for one of the robberies June 18, named the man as an accomplice. However, Edwards said police did not have enough evidence yet to obtain a warrant for the man's arrest.

Edwards said Jackson told police two other individuals had assisted him with the holdups. The other incidents were a robbery June 2 at the Pizza Inn, 1702 Gregg St., and an attempted robbery June 5 at Decker's Liquor Store on W. Highway 80.

The situation is kind of stalemated unless the probation people decide to revoke his probation," police Lt. Jerry Edwards said Thursday morning. In response to Edwards' state-

Reagan may sign bill

WASHINGTON — President Reagan is expected to sign a $1.7 billion catchall spending bill that includes money to keep several government agencies and programs running for the next three months.

Congress, which had begun work on the "urgent" legislation more than two months ago, gave final approval late Thursday to the package, which runs the gamut from farm subsidies to foreign aid.

As they worked through a pile of disagreements over various spending provisions, lawmakers restored $55.6 million in non-competitive university research money that critics had labeled "pork-barrel science" and rejected a last-ditch effort to broaden a program of job retraining to include unemployed oil-field workers.

Court exempts airlines

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court ruled today that airlines may discriminate against the disabled in a 6-3 finding that a federal law protecting the rights of the handicapped does not apply to air travelers.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, writing for the court, said airlines are exempt from a provision of federal law that revokes federal aid to those who discriminate against the handicapped.

Commercial airlines do not receive federal aid directly, Powell said, although they may benefit indirectly from aid to airports.

Benefits short of goals

LOS ANGELES — Sport Aid and Hands Across America, two benefits for the poor held the same day, have netted $15 million to $20 million each, considerably less than the amounts projected, organizers say.

"We have a bit of a problem," said Kristina Schellinski, spokeswoman for the United Nations Children's Fund, which is to share in the money raised by the global run Sport Aid. "We had expectations that were as high as $100 million and subsequently we have counted $15 million to $20 million that we have in hand"

Murder suspect charged

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — The man accused in the 13½-hour siege on exclusive Rodeo Drive has been charged with three counts of murder, including the death of a sales manager who was killed mistakenly by a police marksman.

The three murder counts against Steven Livaditis, 22, were approved Thursday by the district attorney's office to file in Beverly Hills Municipal Court, said spokesman Al Albergate.

Hurricane hits

Bonnie causes flooding, tornadoes, deaths

PORT ARTHUR — Hurricane Bonnie struck the Gulf Coast before dawn Thursday with fleeting fury, killing two people with its 85 mph winds and heavy rain that spun off tornadoes, destroyed homes and knocked out power to thousands.

Thousands of beachfront residents had boarded up their homes and fled inland to escape the storm, the season's first hurricane, which formed in the Gulf on Monday

Bonnie was not a major hurricane but still managed to terrify residents when it hit land at 4:45 a.m. south of Port Arthur.

"I sure enough thought we weren't going to live through it," said Nancy Morrell, who huddled in her Port Arthur home with her 83-year-old sister because they couldn't walk to a shelter. "It held us in fear. We were two scared old ladies."

One man was killed when his pickup truck was caught in a squall and went out of control on a roadway in Vidor, northwest of Port Arthur, and a partially paralyzed woman died after being trapped inside her burning Port Arthur home by flames fueled by gusts from the hurricane, officials said.

At least a dozen people were injured.

U.S. 59 between Livingston and Shepherd near Lake Livingston, was covered with water and closed about 8:30 p.m. because of floodwaters from Big Creek, said Don Clark, a spokesman for the state Highway Department. Several farm-to-market roads also were closed, he said.

"Reports from our people in the area are that they just had a deluge," Clark said.

About 20 miles to the southeast of the closed highway, water spilled over a dam at Big Thicket Lake just above the Menard Creek Acres subdivision after 13 inches of rain had fallen, Liberty County deputy George Addington said. The area was evacuated of its small number of residents, said Mike Cox, a spokesman for the Department of Public Safety.

"There have been no injuries and no deaths. Apparently, it is a very small lake," Cox said about 10 p.m., two hours after the evacuation began. "It is already receding."

There were reports of marinas and boats at Lake Sam Rayburn being damaged. Bill Webb, owner of the Shirley Creek Marina near Etoile, estimated wind damage from $750,000 to $1 million.

Bridge City, just north of Port Arthur, recorded 7½ inches of rain Thursday, and several places northwest of Beaumont reported over 5 inches.

The entire city of Port Arthur was without power until about noon Thursday, said Police Sgt. Robert Williamson.

Among the European leaders attending the summit meeting are British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and French President Francois Mitterrand.

Amendment defeated

DUBLIN, Ireland — Ireland's governing Fine Gael party today conceded defeat for the government proposal to scrap the country's ban on divorce in a national referendum.

Party spokesman Peter White told ssociated Press: "Fine Gael concedes defeat. We expect a final outcome of 60-40 against the amendment."

The referendum Thursday would have overturned Ireland's 49-year-old constitutional ban on divorce.

White said the voting was about evenly divided in the Greater Dublin area, "but it was against the (constitutional) amendment pretty much everywhere else."

Smith deserves Lord's blessing

When she died recently at age 79, Kate Smith was an invalid who weighed less than 140 pounds. But millions of fans recall her as the large, lively woman with an even larger-heart, who epitomized the spirit of patriotism during the Great Depression and World War II.

Her tireless efforts led her around the globe to entertain troops and sell a record $600 million in war bonds.

Thus, it was fitting that when President Franklin Roosevelt introduced her to visiting King Geroge VI of England, he said: "This is Kate Smith — this is America."

She will ever be remembered because of her stirring rendition of "God Bless America," which was her stylistic signature for nearly half a century.

The immensely popular radio and television performer had no formal musical training. Nevertheless, her vibrant voice mesmerized network audiences during three decades and brought goose bumps to battle-hardened GIs.

This marvelous singer was truly an American institution; a unifying thread that helped the nation through some of its darkest days. To the very end, she remained the unassuming Southern songbird beloved by millions of music lovers.

Kate Smith surely is deserving of the Lord's blessing, which she invoked with such eloquence on behalf of her beloved country.

Reagan gives court a push to the right

One reasonable criticism of President Reagan's choice of Antonin Scalia to the Supreme Court is that he didn't give him the chief justice job vacated by Warren Burger. The task of managing a group of strong-willed, independent and often quarrelsome personalities would be easy for any man who has raised nine children.

Most of the attention here has been focused on the elevation of Justice William Rehnquist to the top post. Rehnquist may prove to be a stronger leader and a more adept coalition-builder than his predecessor. But the power of the chief justice lies more in his skill at persuasion than in any inherent Rehnquist may be better liked and respected by his colleagues than Burger, but in judicial matters that hasn't gotten him very far. In an uncommonly high number of decisions, he has been a minority of one

The impact of the new member of the court is more certain. Scalia is appreciably more conservative than the departing chief justice. It is inconceivable, for example, that he would have voted with the majority, as Burger did, in the 1973 decision that discovered the constitutional right to abortion. At the age of 50, he can expect to serve on the court until sometime after President Caroline Kennedy finishes her term in the White

Perhaps more significant is that Scalia promises to provide a consistent vote for a three-member conservative bloc, the other members being Rehnquist and Sandra Day O'Connor. What may fall to him is the task, in important cases, of coaxing two more votes out of the remaining five justices. His unassuming charm, combined with intellectual powers that will be the most formidable on the court, make him a natural for that role, which may amplify his voice considerably.

For Reagan, who hopes to permanently alter the direction of the court, all this is good news. Scalia is a conservative's conservative, who can be expected to oppose most attempts to expand constitutional rights and to roll back some of those recognized by past ruling.

He takes a skeptical view of the landmark decisions protecting criminal suspects, thinks the press has been granted excessive freedom by judicial readings of the First Amendment and gives a wide berth to executive actions taken in the name of national security. (credited to him, though written anonymously) struck down the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction act, which shows that Scalia can be provoked to exercise the propertof judicial review. But he believes the judiciary, being undernocratic by nature, should overrule the choices of democratically elected officials only in extreme cases, when the Constitution gives it no alternative.

The judge's role, Scalia said once, is "certainly not to lead the society forward.'' Leadership belongs to people accountable to the voters.

That is a principled approach — Scalia is as hostile to conservatives who want judges to take a more active role as protectors of economic freedom as he is to liberals who want the Court to intervene on behalf of civil liberties — but an unsatisfying one. A passive, deferential judiciary is as much a threat to liberty as an arrogant, aggressive

Scalia sees the genuine danger to democracy from letting judges strike down legislative actions. What he overlooks is the risk to liberty of placing too much power in the hands of the majority. The Bill of Rights, after all, was put in the Constitution precisely for the purpose of shielding minorities from untrammeled democracy. Judicial activism in the defense of liberties explicitly or implicitly protected by the Constitution is no

The danger is that the revamped court will ignore the legitimate conservative argument to limit government interference in economic affairs, while accepting its demand to expand state power in the realm of civil liberties. Conservatives are supposed to stand for limited government. But a conservative court will probably expand the government's authority over the lives of its citizens, particularly those given short shrift by the democratic process.

None of this is any reason for the Senate to block the nomination. The President was elected to put his stamp on the Supreme Court, His most famous opinion and Scalia will do that with grace, integrity and intellectual force. For better or worse, this is a big step toward a Reagan court.

Default on Mexican loans could be disaster for U.S.

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON - Reagan administration officials have been painting rosy assurances that a default by Mexico on its foreign loans would not be disastrous for U.S. banks. Internal figures we've obtained from Treasury sources tell a different story. Most of the $24.4 billion, which Mexico owes U.S. banks, is held by the 10 biggest financial institutions in this country. They have so much money tied up in Mexico that a default by the Mexican government would have a serious, possibly catastrophic effect on the U.S. banking industry.

The alarming 1985 figures reveal, which have since shown some improvement, that eight of the Top Ten have sunk more than one third of their primary capital in Mexican loans, carelessly granted in the palmy days of Mexico's all-too-brief oil bonanza. One bank, First Chicago, is carrying $1 billion in Mexican paper — almost two-thirds of its capital.

President Reagan gave a broad hint that the White House takes the Mexican debt situation seriously when he told the press last week about Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker's secret. apparently unprecedented trip to Mexico to help negotiate a new settlement with international

But earlier, Assistant Treasury Secretary David C. Mulford offered a remarkably confident view of the crisis when he testified before a Senate subcommittee. Rescue packages would forestall a Mexican default, he indicated, and besides, default would not be the end of the world for U.S. banks.

This breezy attitude was echoed by William Seidman, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance

Jack Anderson

Corp., in an interview with our associate Michael Binstein last week. He acknowledged that the crash of world oil prices had hurt Mexico. And he admitted that 'some kind of special ar rangements will have to be made" for Mexico to meet its interest payments

But Seidman then offered an intriguing observation: "The only kind of default that might bring real challenge to the (U.S. banking) system would be a change (in Mexico) to a communist government that renounced all debt and borrowed money from the Russians." A default by the present non-communist government would have no more than a manageably adverse effect on U.S. banks, Seidman indicated.

Here are the 1985 Treasury

First Chicago, the ninth largest bank in the country, had more than $1 billion worth of Mexican loans outstanding. That's 63.7 percent of the bank's primary capital.

Two other big banks had more than half their capital tied up in Mexican paper. Bankers Trust held $1.3 billion in loans to Mexico. or 55.5 percent of its capital. Manufacturers Hanover had $1.6

billion, or 54.8 percent exposure. The rest of the Top Ten, in order of their percentile exposure in Mexican loans are: Chemical Bank, $1.4 billion (48.6 percent); Bank of America (second largest bank in the country), $2.5 billion (48 percent); Citibank (largest), $2.9 billion (43.5 percent); Morgan Guaranty, $1.4 billion $37.6 percent); Chase Manhattan, $1.4 billion (34.8 percent); Continental Illinois, $585 million (25.9 percent), and Security Pacific, $500 million (23.9 percent).

WHITE HOUSE PIPELINE:

Some of President Reagan's most militant supporters are old-timers from the Office of Strategic Services, the World War II predecessor of the CIA. But they were miffed at Reagan's recent mini-appearance at the annual banquet of Veterans of the OSS, where the president received the organization's William J. Donovan Award. Not only did Reagan show up in a business suit at the black-tie affair, but he accepted the award, made his speech and left to see his old Hollywood pal, Charlton Heston, at the Kennedy Center in "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial." The aging ex-spooks thought he should have stuck FORGOTTEN CHILDREN: One dubious legacy of American involvement in Vietnam was the thousands of children fathered by GIs with Vietnamese women. The estimates run as high as 15,000, and the children, known as Amerasians, are despised by the Hanoio government and the Vietnamese people generally. Since 1982, the United States has brought about 3,600 to this country. They're trickling in now at a rate of about 100 a month.

I was disappointed to learn that Heritage Museum curator Neil Allen is leaving Big Spring. Neil is a very imaginative and creative young man who, in his brief 14 months in Big Spring, has made the museum a more exciting place of history for our town.

Because of his interest in education and his ability to relate well to children, he has made Big Spring children feel very much at home in our museum.

Last summer Neil initiated a four-part adventure program at the museum that enrolled eight students. This summer the program was expanded to six sessions, and 23 young people took the class. I see that as a mark of genuine

Neil is intuitive in that he realizes that in order to garner more adult support for the Heritage Museum, he must first market it to our young people. This he has done quite well.

I'm sorry to see Neil leave Big Spring, but I wish him well. The directors of the museum are met with a challenge in replacing him with someone of equal qualifications.

Contra aid is long-term commitment

By R. GEGORY NOKES AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — By openly approving military aid for the Contra guerrillas in Nicaragua, Congress is making a downpayment on a long-term commitment to the success of the insurgency that could extend far beyond the end of the Reagan administration.

It takes one more big chunk out of the post-Vietnam American reluctance to become involved in foreign conflicts.

After considerable anguish, the House came to the same conclusion Wednesday night that the Senate and White House reached earlier: that the United States cannot live in peace with a Marxist-led government in Managua. The House vote was 221-209 in favor of military

The House ignored the latest public opinion polls showing the American people still opposing military aid to the Contras by a margin of more than 2-to-1. It also ignored cautions that the American action flouts international law.

Never before in recent history has the United States openly armed rebels waging war against a nation with which it is technically at peace and has diplomatic relations.

The World Court in The Hague is expected to rule Friday that American support for the Contras violates the charters of the United Nations and the Organization of American States, both of which the United States helped create. But the administration said in advance it wouldn't be bound by the ruling.

The House legislation still has to be reconciled with a Senate version before it becomes law. But that is viewed as largely a formality, since both versions include $70 million in military aid and $30 million in other In addition, the House approved $300 million in new economic aid for four other Central American countries The end price of the American commitment to the Contras could be very high. The administration has not laid out publicly a strategy for victory, and Congress has voted the money without being certain there is one. The administration's goal, as spelled out by President Reagan on Tuesday, is to use the Contras to force the Sandinistas to accept "real democracy" for Nicaragua. But as no one expects the Sandinistas voluntarily to transform their authoritarian government into a democracy, a fight to the finish is likely, with heavy casualties on both sides. An aid opponent, Rep. Thomas Foley, D-

Wash. the Democratic House whip, said the nation has embarked on a "proxy war ... to undertake to overthrow that government." He said he has "the dread belief" American troops eventually will join the fight.

One unknown factor that could be crucial to the outcome is whether the Soviet Union and Cuba will increase their military commitment to the Sandinistas to offset U.S. support for the Contras, igniting a steady escalation of the conflict. This kind of escalation has occurred in past conflicts. At a minimum, the commitment to the Contras will mean more money for arms and equipment in future years, as not even the most enthusiastic supporter expects an easy victory. The five-year-old insurgency has had scant success against the Sandinista army so far despite more than $100 million in past American aid.

But a majority in the Congress has accepted the administration's assurances that the American goals can be achieved without a commitment of American armed forces. Indeed, the vote appears to have been influenced by the suggestion from Reagan administration officials that failure to back the Contras now could require American forces later on.

Some opponents agreed with Foley, however, that supporting the Contras sets the stage for American troops to intervene to save them from defeat. Their position was that the Contras can never win on their own — both because they are an ineffective fighting force and because they lack domestic support within Nicaragua. Rep. David R. Obey, D-Mich, another leading opponent of aid, revealed during the House debate that he had seen a classified annex to the administration's aid request that pointed to much greater American involvement. "If members think it will only be a tidy little war in Nicaragua, I urge again to look at the classified annex to see what the administration has in store if they win this vote here today.'

While details of the annex haven't been made public, it is known that it includes U.S. training for the Contras at bases in Honduras and will involve the CIA and the Pentagon in overseeing the insurgency.

But the majority of the members accepted the challenge of Rep. Bob Michel, R-Ill, the minority leader, to "have the guts to nurture democracy and fight communism in our hemisphere today, not tomorrow."

The vitamin craze was born of man's search for the magic elixer of eternal youth. Well, not really, since the story begins in the 18th century when the British navy was convinced to supply its vessels with lime juice to end the plague of scurvy on long voyages. The magic substance, unknown at the time, was vitamin C

Today, 200 years later, we know a lot more about vitamins — that there are 13 of them recognized, that they fall into categories of water soluble or fat soluble and, most important of all, that most people get sufficient amounts from a reasonably balanced diet.

Along the way, we seem to have lost sight of the fact that vitamins are plentiful in nature, but that's practically impossible to overdose on them when we limit intake to food sources.

The recent warnings about vitamins reflect concern over the megavitamin craze you mention. I must say that there is very little new in the warnings. We used to think that the only dangerous vitamins were the fat-soluble ones, because they are more easily stored in the body to dangerous levels. Those are A, D, E and K.

Now we feel that even the watersoluble ones (B and C) can be harmful in large amounts. We used to think their only action was to create very expensive sewerage, so easily are they excreted from the body.

We know now that B-6, for example, in large amounts can cause numbness, and that even C can have deleterious effects in very large doses. I'm sure I don't have partner?

We must take a common-sense approach to vitamin supplementation. For many, it is a good idea. Elderly people withless-than-ideal diets need supplements. So do pregnant and lactating women. So do people with illnesses that prevent their bodies from absorbing foods propertly. The need for B-12 in pernicious anemia is well-

These are things doctors have been saying for years. No, the recent well-publicized warnings about dangers of megadosing vitamins only fortifies my views on the subject. And perhaps we all can hope that the megavitamin craze has worn itself out.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: All of my doctors have left me behind. Two of them saved my life during my 80 years. My oldest grandson is in his third year of medical school. At the present time I see a doctor two or three times a year. He is a surgeon, but I wouldn't want surgery at my age. Should I try to find a general family doctor? -

Some doctors surgeons. All surgeons are doctors. Yours sounds like he's doing the job for you. You can stick with him, at least 'til your grandson gets out of medical school. Does he need a

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My 13-year-old son has shin splints. What can we do for him? - C.C. If I may say so, C.C., the very best thing you can do right away is banish the term, shin splints, from your lexicon, and begin looking for the cause of your son's leg pains.

Your son may have pain from simple overuse of the leg muscles. That's relieved by rest. He may be wearing a shoe that causes abnormal twisting of the legs when his feet strike the ground. For that, try a shoe change. He may have tiny breaks inthe surface of the shinbone (stress fracture). Again, that's from overuse or incorrect use of the legs and their muscles. They take two or three months to heal. He may have swollen leg muscles, i.e., muscles trapped in their wrappings (compartmental syndrome). This is why I think you should abandon the all-purpose shin splint diagnosis and have his legs looked at by a doctor.

What can vitamins really do for you — and what can't they do? In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the common sense from the nonsense about this controversial health aid. Doll doctor restores old friendships

By CONNOISSEUR Irving Chais is a plastic surgeon — for dolls.

Chais is the best plastic surgeon in the business for dolls and toy animals, according to an article in the June issue of Connoisseur — a "third generation doll doctor" and the proprietor of the 86-year-old New York Doll Hospital.

The hospital repairs, restores, buys and sells dolls and animals, antique and new.

"I've worked on every doll ever made," Chais said. "I average 50 to 100 clients in the hospital at any given time, and yet I've never lost a patient. The only thing I can't do is bring a doll to life.

The doll doctor's clients leave their "children" in his care perhaps a threadbare Raggedy Andy or speechless Chatty Cathy — often the last remaining vestige of a long ago childhood. For them, no price is too high.

"A few years ago an old Polish woman brought in a doll with half its face missing and no body," Chais said. "She asked if I could fix it."

It took Chais months to finish the complicated job, and when the woman returned to claim her "child," she began to cry.

"She told me she'd been in a concentration camp," Chais said, "and that when the Allies freed her all she had left was her doll - she had lost her parents and brothers and sisters.

"Her 'Poopski' was the only thing she had managed to hold on to. Having her doll restored was like a reunion with a friend unseen for 40 years.'

Chais said a doll is brought in for restoration "because the doll is of either tremendous financial or emotional value." Most dolls. he said, are cherished for their emotional associations

Some of the dolls Chais repairs are 30 or more years old, but his paramount idea is to refurbish them so the replacement parts don't betray their newness.

Chais derives most of his income from repair work, but he also is a broker of antique and one-of-a-kind dolls — including early 18th century dolls that sell for as much as $15,000.

Romance on wheels is no handicap for happy wife

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to say a few words to all the single women looking for an honest, happy, rewarding relationship with a decent man. Please don't overlook a man with a physical handicap. I'm glad I didn't.

Thirteen years ago I met an in-teresting man. He was a veteran of the Vietnam War and was paralyzed from the waist down. He was permanently confined to a wheelchair, but could do almost everything an able-bodied man could do. We dated for several years in spite of the mixed feelings of my family, friends and sometimes myself.

Eight years ago we were married, and this man has given me two beautiful children, a wonderful life and a thousand other reasons for being alive.

As far as I'm concenred, my husband is the warmest, kindest, sexiest (yes, sexiest!) man in the world. Since our marriage, he has taught me more about courage, love and values than most people learn in a lifetime

I am glad I focused on all the positive aspects of our relationship rather than the few minor inconveniences of living with a handicapped person.

LUCKY DEAR LUCKY: Thank you for a dandy upper. He's lucky, too.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that lately all the lovers on think the wider they open their mouths when they kiss, the sexier they are? It never used to be that way.

my favorite "soaps," I've turned to reading instead. It got to be too nauseating to watch those open mouths, chewing on each other's lips and slobbering all over each other. What people want to do in private is their own business, but do they have to do it on TV? It's revolting.

I've tried to ignore it, but yesterday my 5-year-old grandson greeted me with his mouth wide open, and a very wet kiss! When I told him that was not the way to kiss - he should keep his mouth closed — he said, "That's not the way they do it on TV, Grandma." Now what?

off a letter of complaint to the sponsors of the program, then write the producer. Meanwhile, tell the child that the people on television kiss

After many years of watching their grandmothers with their ding season is uponus, please remark favorite "soaps." I've turned to mouths shut. mouths shut.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning our wedding and we've hit a snag. He is going to have six ushers and I am going to have six bridesmaids.

All of his best friends are within an inch of being 6 feet tall, with the exception of this one guy he's known since first grade. "Shorty"

We're afraid he will feel embarrassed standing with all those taller guys. Should "Shorty" be asked?

CHRISTMAS WEDDING

DEAR WEDDING: Yes. Let DEAR YUCK: To protest Shorty decide whether he wants to anything you see on TV, write to be included. Some short guys are the head of the network, then fire long on self-confidence. He might surprise you.

If an invitation is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, it does not mean Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and their three children. (Even if the John Smiths live 2,000 miles away, the invitation does not include their children.)

If the invitation is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and family — and only then — are their children included.

Delegate: District 28 needs organization

By DANA PALMER and JANET WARREN Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Harmony may be the unofficial theme of this weekend's state Democratic convention.

An almost uneventful reelection of Sherman attorney Bob Slagle as state chairman is expected, despite one challenger backed by Lyndon LaRouche's ultra right-wing Democratic splinter group.

A Mexican-American woman, as yet undetermined, is likely to be tapped to take the vice chairwoman spot from Judith Zaffirini of Laredo, who is running for the Texas Senate.

After that, party hopes are that the Democrats' usual share of internal fighting will be left to the Republicans this go-around, says Ed Martin, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party.

"I don't see any major problems at the convention," Martin says.

D.A. Brazel of Big Spring, who is a delegate to the convention, said he is unhappy that District 28 leaders have not created an organization of the 28th District Democrats.

Currently, similar Democratic organizations meet in Lubbock at inconvenient hours for the long drive from Big Spring, he said.

It creates a lack of cohesiveness in the district, he

When Howard County was in the 30th District, representatives attended meetings held after lunch on Saturdays in various locatioins so that people could travel to the meetings.

"I intend to stir up a little stink if I can about that," he A harmonious meeting could do the Democrats a world of good, Martin says, unlike the GOP's expected showdown in Dallas this weekend with leaders and delegates from the Religious Right. A party being dictated to by religious leaders, Martin says, reminds him of the 16th century practice of the pope naming the king. For that matter, previous state Democratic conventions haven't always been peaceful, acknowledges Dwayne Holman, Gov. Mark White's campaign manager.

"It'll be great for a change," he says.

However, Democrats are such a diverse group, Holman says, that disagreements always crop

Shrine Motor Patrol takes state honor

The Big Spring Shrine Motor Patrol has won first place in state competition for the third consecutive year and will go to the international competition in Los Angeles next week.

Gordon Myrick, past Shrine colonel and member of the organization, said the patrol won the Texas Shrine Association motorcycle competition out of about 80 other participants

The eight-cycle patrol performs intricate and precise maneuvers within a 125-foot square, he said, adding that "it's a lot of fun."

Cyclists are Myrick, Howard Walker, Coleman Nalls, Richard Knous, Bob Miller, Arvin Henry, Bud Summers and Charlie Lewis. Joe Matthews and Roger Blossom ride with the flags.

The patrol will go to Los Angeles Monday and compete Wednesday in the international competition, which is composed of the United States and three or four other countries, he said. From 3,000 to 5,000 Shriners are expected to enter, he

The Big Spring group has won state competition three years in a row now, he said. For 12 years before that, it came within a point of winning, he said.

In the state competition, the Big Spring group competed against Dallas, Fort Worth and other major metropolitan groups, Myrick said, adding that Big Spring is the smallest city to have won so many

Champion barrel racer steals show

Everman bull rider Bubba Monkres dismounts his bull, 'Indian Killer' after scoring a 72 in last night's bull riding coompetition at the 53rd Annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

World champion Charmayne James whipped her horse around the barrels and across the finish line in 17.01 seconds to win the barrel racing in last night's rodeo competition that also featured a wild, hat waving bull ride by super clown Michael Horton.

Last night's action also included some excellent bareback riding and continued tough times for the team ropers and calf ropers.

After the grand entry, the bull riders fought what was for most a losing battle. Kyle Whiting of Greenwell Springs, Louisiana stayed aboard Traveler long enough and fancy enough to score a 74, the highest of the night. The judges gave Bubba Monkres of Everman a 72 for a spectacular ride on a high flying bull that did all it could to lose its rider.

Philip Graf of Vernon tied for second on the night with a 72, and was the only bull rider from the night's second go 'round to place. Bobby Del Vecchio's opening night 83 remains atop the overall standings.

For an indication of how tough the night was on the team ropers, consider that the winning team of Curtis Evans and Will Black of Marfa won with a 13.2 second run, and that included a five second penalty for a one-legged heel rope.

Max Schneeman of Big Lake and Bobby Zesch of San Angelo actually had the quickest time of 5.9 seconds, but a premature start added 10 seconds. Still, because the headers and particularly the heelers on the other teams could not get it together, the Scheenman team still managed second when no

After clown Rick Young sang an impassioned, anonymous phone call to his beloved Margrett, the bareback riders put on quite a show, with every cowboy surviving to the buzzer. Mike Carillo, fresh off his recent successes with the Snyder Junior College, had the winning ride. Carillo leaned far back on Shoe Lace and kept the spurs running up and down his sides for a 76.

Shawn Frey of Eunice, Louisiana finished second with a 74, and Todd Little from Huckberry, Louisiana scored a 73, good for third. Randy Little's 81 remained atop the bareback riding.

The calf ropers found the going tough, but not as bad as John Tibbets' calf, which took a nasty jerk and had to be trucked out. Phillip Berry of Lovington, New Mexico won with a 11.6 run. San Antonio's Nathan Williams finished second with a 15.9, and Craig Griffin of Eldorado third with a 17.8.

All but two survived the saddle bronc riding as the cowboys had the better of the bucking horses. Herman Brune of Columbus rode Mr. Bartender for a top score of 74, and Arlington's Bob Wilfong tied for second with Skeeter Thurston of Hyannis, Nebraska.

Quail Dobbs then rode into center stage in his old jalopy. After a tough bout of car trouble, Quail repaired an explosive transmission, lost a wheel, but managed to drive off in a cloud of smoke, once again delighting the crowd with his antics.

The big men were up next in the steer wrestling, and three sub-five second times highlighted the event. Prosper's Danny Williams won it in a quick 4.1, and New Yorker Donnie Yorks' 4.4 was good for second. Butch Myers of Welda, Kansas placed third with a 4.9 second run.

World champion Charmayne James, who already has over $60,000 in winnings this year, added to the total by winning the go 'round with a blazing 17.01. Tracy Lynn Cates on Pomona, California rode around the barrels in 17.27 for second place, and Dermott's Sherry Johnson's time of 17.57 was good for

Following the second bull riding section, Announcer Randy Corley informed the crowd that clown Michael Horton had been bragging all day about his bull riding prowess. With music blaring and the crowd waiting anxiously, the gate flew open with Horton atop a wild bull.

Horton hung tough, and as soon as he knew he wasn't going anywhere, he started slapping the bull with his hat and yahoooing. It was another great performance from the crowd-pleasing Horton who is proving to be one of this rodeo's highlights.

Moss Lake Big Spring's ignored recreational gold mine

By EDDIE CURRAN

Staff Writer visitor's come There may be no prettier site. Big Spring: in dry West Texas than that of the sun shining on the rippling water of a big, wet lake.

On this clear day at Moss Creek Lake, the lake and shores are lonely and peaceful, with but a few scattered parties of house, the only buildings, a young couple enjoys a picnic in the shade. On the far shore, a retired man and his wife struggle to untangle a backlash so they can resume a lazy day's

Two miles away, at the end of the lake where it gets thin and the banks hover like a canyon's walls, a lone angler sits reclined on the center seat of his bass boat. With his line in the water, he doesn't move a muscle.

It appears he's asleep. If so, he could be dreaming that the trophy bass swimming in his head will attack his lure and wake him up. At last sight, he still had not moved, and on waking, he won't know he was watched. He'll just see trees, still water, a blue sky, and his watch to see what time it's gotten to

This peaceful oasis that is Moss Creek Lake is owned by the city of Big Spring, and managed, maintained, patrolled, etc. by Ron and Sherry Roby, who live on the lake with their kids. Though the lake is less than 15 miles from Big Spring, the Roby's say that approximately 70% of the lake's visitor's come from farther than

"So many people — in Big Spring - don't even know this lake exists," Ron says. "Most of our people aren't from Big Spring. Midland, Odessa and Andrews are our big ones, and we get quite a few from Kermit (New Mexico) and Dallas. Last weekend two families from El Paso and Dallas met here.

"Big Spring has got, literally, recreational gold mine. Midland and Odessa would beg for a place like this," he says. "This place should be the pride of Big Spring." Moss Lake is about 15 minutes from Big Spring, and the best way is to take 11th Place (off FM 700 next to Cameo Homes) and take a right at the first stop sign on Moss Creek Lake Road. The lake is approximately five miles down that road.

The lake stretches two miles long and is a half-mile wide at most parts. A smooth dirt road that circles the lake provides easy access to any one of a hundred fishing holes. And with 21 shelters on the site, a lucky fisherman can have his catch over a fire that will be within rock-throwing distance of where he caught it. With a Texas Fishing License, the cost for a day on the lake is a $1.50, with free admittance for children under six and senior citizens. There's no extra charge for overnight camping, and the lake stays open 24 hours-

A fisherman sits in his boat while trying his luck in the waters of Moss Lake, Moss Lake, which is stocked with walleye, is one of Big Spring's a-day, seven days-a-week, 11 months a year. It closes down between December 15 and January 15 when the Roby's take their vacation

In the words of Sherry Roby, there is "a ton of catfish out there." She says that catfish is the lake's mainstay, but that the black bass, white bass, crappie and the hybrid stripper bass also roam the lake in big numbers.

In 1985, Ron says, the state stocked the lake with 980,000 baby Walleys, and those baby's just recently have begun showing up as adults at the end of hooks. According to the Texas

Parks and Wildlife Department, Moss Creek Lake ranks third among Texas' lakes for walleye fishing. But the walleye, he says, are tough to catch, especially in the summer months. "We also have alot of carp, and they're a blast to catch,' Sherry says. "Last Thursday somebody caught a 30-pounder.

Despite the good fishing, Ron says that one of the reasons for the low turn out by Big Springers is a misunderstanding brought about by an old rule.

"Many people don't come because they think they can't bring their big boats. Their used to be a 12 horsepower limit, but best kept fishing secrets.

The Roby's will have been living and working the lake for three years come September. and it's obvious they love what they're doing. It's also clear that a lot of work is involved in maintaining a tract of land this now you can put any size boat or motor on the lake. You just have to ride at idle speed only," he

"It's a full time job. We sell permits, maintain the cleanliness of the lake, patrol it, and take care of any emergencies. A few weeks ago a State Hospital group was out here camping out when that big storm hit. We bedded 25 in our house. I went to bed at four that night and got up at five," Ron Ron stresses that the lake store has bait, lures, hooks, hamburgers, and cane poles, and just about anything else you might need for a day's fishing. Sherry adds that they are there to help the visitors, and that they're more than willing to provide novices with a little direction.

"We try to tell them where to go fishing, and we help them get Moss page 2B

Veteran grabs Canadian lead

OAKVILLE, Ontario (AP) — Without question, it has been the worst slump of Hale Irwin's a little thing there, and I've turn-19-year PGA Tour career.

"It has been a long dry spell. It sudden I'm struggling. has not been a lot of fun," said Irwin, who once went almost four seasons without missing a cut but this year has missed seven times in 15 starts.

"It was time for me to relax and play the kind of golf I'm capable of," Irwin said.

And that's what the 41-year-old veteran did on Thursday. He relaxed, had a little fun and walked off the Glen Abbey Golf Club course with a solid, 4-underpar 68 and the first-round lead in the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

"I haven't been playing that badly, I really haven't," said Irwin, who counts two U.S. Open titles among his 17 career

"It was just a little thing here, ed a 68 into a 72 or 73 and all of a

"It's been a matter of concentration and the level of intensity," he said. "I haven't been playing all that poorly, but the results have been terrible." Irwin, one of golf's most respected performers, missed only two fairways and three greens on a sunny, breezy day in the Toronto suburbs.

"I did everything very well. It wasn't perfect, but compared with what I've been posting, I played very well."

Big Andy Bean, a two-time winner this season, led a large group at 69, a single shot back in this national championship that offers about $600,000 in U.S.

Also at that figure were Mike Donald, Brad Fabel, Clarence Rose, Denny Hepler and Dan Halldorson, seeking to become the first Canadian to win this title in 32 years.

Bob Tway, who leads the PGA Tour with three victories, was another shot back at 70.

Australian Greg Norman, third or better in five of his last seven starts, matched par 72. Defending champion Curtis Stohigfer. Masters champion Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, a three-time Canadian Open winner, each had 74s. Irwin hit a 5-iron to within three feet on his first hole and dropped a 25-footer on the next for a birdie-birdie start. He made birdie putts of about 10 feet on his seventh and eighth, was four under par at the turn and brought it home in par, matching two birdies against as many bogeys.

Swedes roll in Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) -Mats Wilander and Stefan Edberg called on their experience and staying power as the Swedish seeds began to look menacing at Wimbledon.

After laboring against tough opponents for four sets, both the No. 2-seeded Wilander and No. 5 Edberg ripped through the final sets by 6-0 scores Thursday.

Meanwhile, reigning men's champion Boris Becker was unable to finish his third-round match, which was called by darkness. He was leading American Tom Gullickson 6-4, 6-3, 2-2.

The match resumes today, when top-seeded Ivan Lendl and Martina Navratilova also will be in action. Lendl, who has never reached the Wimbledon final, is slated to meet Amos Mansdorf of Israel, while Navratilova, who is going for a fifth straight title, takes on Australian Jane Forman.

Seven other men's seeds, including Sweden's Anders Jarryd, have tumbled out of the tourney But Wilander and Edberg are still there, along with fellow Swedes Joakim Nystrom and Mike Pernfors.

Wilander beat Britain's Andrew Castle 4-6, 7-6, 6-7, 6-4, 6-0 and only got in front in the final set. Edberg, the reigning Australian Open champion, trailed 2-1 in sets in a see-saw second-round match before edging American Paul Annacone 6-4, 6-7, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Wilander was at the point of a gun as thousands of British fans cheered on a native son who was a virtual unknown to most of them.

Castle is the product of the American college system and his only claim to fame back home was winning the British Under-12 title

But the 22-year-old Briton played the game of his brief career to stretch the two-time French and Australian champion almost to the Castle was given a standing ovation by the sun-baked Wimbledon crowd, a salute Castle accepted with some reserve.

Of the four Swedish seeds still in the tourney, Edberg probably has the toughest third-round match. He faces Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia, whom he can't recall ever having beaten.

Wilander will meet 20-year-old Australian Mark Kratzmann, No. 6 seed Nystrom will play India's Ramesh Krishnan, while Pernfors, who was Castle's college partner at the University of Georgia, faces American Sammy Giammalva.

Pernfors earned his third-round spot Thursday by beating West Germany's Andreas Maurer 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

The women's No. 2 seed and three-time champion, Chris Evert Lloyd, had a second-round scare against American Pam Casale, who had taken only 16 games off her in five previous meetings.

Troubled A's lose again; Rangers break losing skid

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Amouse that cost Dave Kingman-$3,502. A baserunning blunder that cost Jackie Moore a job.

All things considered, this was one of the more eventful fourgame series in Oakland baseball history. It seemed almost fitting for the A's to cap their zany trip to mid-America Thursday night by taking it on the chin, 9-2, as the Kansas City Royals thoroughly spoiled Jeff Newman's managerial debut.

With Jorge Orta hitting an inside-the-park home run, the Royals scored four runs in the first inning and four more in the Newman, converted from bullpen coach to interim manager when Moore was fired Thursday morning, had hoped for something better.

Kingman's practical joke during Monday night's game, in which he had "a $2 rat" delivered to a female sportswriter, backfired in his face.

The moody slugger was fined $3,500 and told he would be fired if it ever happened again. and Scott Fletcher had three, Moreover, the incident seemed to indicate that morale and discipline among the boys from the East Bay had sunk to a new low, and probably did nothing to strengthen Moore's tenuous hold on his job.

But with Newman at the controls and Moore flying home to Arlington, Texas, Thursday night, the A's went back to business as usual. They loaded the bases in the first and fifth but failed to score.

Oakland manager gets canned

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — assume anything. I'm not going to record 15-game road losing streak. Jacke Moore, the fourth major- say they're interested in me if I league manager fired this year, beat a dignified retreat.

"I know this is a first-class organization," Moore said after he was dismissed Thursday as field boss of the Oakland A's. "I will always appreciate their giving me an opportunity to be their manager.

The injury-wracked A's were 29-44 under Moore this season, tied with Seattle for last place in the American League West.

Coach Jeff Newman was named interim manager prior to Thursday's 9-2 loss to Kansas City, but speculation about a permanent replacement centered on Tony LaRussa, fired earlier this month by the Chicago White Sox.

'We'd like to have someone in place within 7-10 days," said Sandy Alderson, the A's vice president for baseball operations. "We have not speculated at all on who that might be. We've got some names in mind, but no one has been contacted." LaRussa said he has not been contacted.

"I haven't heard anything, other than I'm being mentioned (as a possible successor) in the press." Sarasota, Fla. "I've learned not to Tuesday night snapped a team-don't know they are. But I will say that I'd like to manage in the major leagues again someday.

Newman said he had no interest in the position.

"In no way am I in the running for the job," said Newman, who has been the A's bullpen coach. "I don't want to be considered."

Moore, a popular figure with players, fans and media, said he has not decided whether to take the A's up on an offer of an unspecified job in the organization, but said he would like to manage again.

"I sure would," he said. "I know it's in my blood. But right now, I just need to sit back and think about everything that's happened."

Moore joins Chuck Cottier of Seattle, Jim Frey of the Chicago Cubs and LaRussa on the list of managers who've been axed this

The A's began the season well and were tied for first in the American League West on May 10. But injuries to pitchers Joaquin Andujar, Moose Haas and Jay Howell as well as center fielder Dwayne Murphy contributed to a LaRussa said from his home in nosedive. A victory over the Royals Alderson said dismissing Moore as a difficult choice to make.

'The most important goal for today is to make sure Jackie's departure is done in a way that he deserves," Alderson said. "He's a . first-class guy and a tremendous gentleman. We want to make sure his dignity and pride are intact. Very soon, we'll turn our thoughts to finding a successor.

Moore spoke briefly with the players, who were not surprised at his ouster.

Moore and Alderson both said the manner in which the A's dropped a 5-4 decision to the Royals Wednesday night had much to do with his dismissal

The game was tied 4-4 in the ninth inning when Ricky Peters, inserted as a pinch runner, started jogging home from third base after Jose Canseco walked with two out.

Peters, who thought the bases were loaded, was thrown out, denying the A's a chance to have home run specialist Dave Kingman come to the plate with the bases loaded.

The Royals won in the bottom of the ninth on Jorge Orta's RBI single after shortstop Alfredo Griffin bobbled George Brett's potential double play grounder.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Janocik of Odessa untangle a backlash on their fishing line during their recent fishing trip to Moss Lake. The Janociks are typical Moss Lake anglers who come from surrounding towns.

Both Roby's credit the city of Big Spring and Public Works Director Tom Decell for allowing them to make needed improvements on the grounds, and for helping to improve the atmosphere at the lake. With a nice home overlooking the lake, the Roby's are, as Ron says, "very happy, very satisfied."

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon, you find it possible to make some long-range plans for the future by accepting proven methods, while at the same time confusion exists if you are in any way sloppy ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into a new situation that can influence your method of operating. Older persons can help to place you on the road to success.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get that new idea studied further before trying to get it operating and don't give up something already well established. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen to the sugges tions of an outside partner who has your welfare at heart. Sidestep a new acquaintance who is self-seeking.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Continue with that talent that is working well and don't try to get into something you know little about. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Place your efforts in the home today and make needed improvements there, but don't take any foolish risks. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Choose which partner is best able to help you in some quandary and be sure he thinks in a practical way. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Garner the knowledge from one you know is familiar with your type of work, and get it quickly. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If there is something unusual you want to do, make it around lunchtime; the rest of the day if not so good for you. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study the situation at home, which may seem rather hard to handle, but which can be easily solved in the afternoon. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Tonight, take no risks where your money is concerned. Use your better judgment today. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be confident and go after what you most want and you can gain it easily. Take it easy tonight. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make appointments for amusements with pals who are most compatible. You may find a friend to be difficult to handle later.

Lifestyle Editor "Growth is the key word," says Greg Taylor, the new minister of New Life Chapel.

"The church is geared towards growth. We want to grow with the church and make it a growing experience," he added.

Taylor, his wife Jean and daughters Kami, 11, and Michelle, 13, came from Childress two weeks ago. There he was pastor of a church for seven and a half years, he said. Leaving Childress was a traumatic experience, the Taylors said.

"We built the church in Childress. We began with two families and built it into a congregation," he said.

Although it was difficult to leave there, the Taylors noted they are excited about the move to Big Spring.

"The first thing that caught our eye were the hills and the trees," said Mrs. Taylor. "Com-

They're also enjoying the shopping facilities.

They had just built a Wal-Mart in Childress (population 6,000) and we were excited about that," said Mrs. Taylor.

"The church has a great group of people," Taylor said. "It's family oriented. They have made us feel right at home. They're anxious to back me and make me feel great."

Taylor says he'd like to meet the people in the town and get settled in.

"I want to feel like a part of the community," he said. "We like to get close to people." Before serving in Childress, Taylor had been assigned to churches in Amarillo and Oklahoma. "I wanted to stay up north where my roots are, but it never seemed to be the Lord's will," Taylor said. Raised in a Christian home of the Youth for Christ Club in High school, Taylor said he always felt religious, but didn't feel a calling for the ministry until he was 18.

and having served as president

He went to Apostolic Bible Institute at St. Paul to learn about God and the Bible. There he met his wife and they "fell in love," he said.

Mrs. Taylor also is active in the church.

"I'm the musician. I'm the organist and I sing," she said, adding she plans to direct the choir.

Their children, too, are excited about the move, the Taylors said.

"We thought we'd never leave Childress. We moved because I wanted to grow and stretch myself and improve my ministry," he added.

"We want to make this our home," Taylor continued. "After the last move, I'd be happy to be here until Jesus

Decision to be nun is made at house

By DOUG HOAGLAND Fresno Bee

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Sister Celia Ann Cavazos oversees a 'house of discernment," a new technique to help women decide whether to become Roman Catholic nuns.

Such facilities are becoming more common because nuns and women considering becoming nuns "both have a sense that this is a decision that is not entered into lightly," said Sister Sarah Marie Sherman, executive director of the National Sister Vocation Conference.

Residents must agree to live in the house for six months to a year. Rent is $200 a month.

They must participate in a discernment process aimed at increasing their perception. It includes counseling sessions with a spiritual adviser, weekend retreats ministry, they need to have a comand twice-a-week prayer meetings

The Fresno house has had three residents since it opened in September. Only one, Suzanne Price, remains, and she moved in knowing she wanted to be a nun.

"You can think straight here." said the 23-year-old Fresno State University student, a convert to Catholicism. "You don't have people shoving down your throat what you're supposed to do."

Sister Cavazos said most women came "not saying yes or no, but asking questions. They're talking about what they want to be."

She must gingerly walk the line between parents who are concerned about their daughters choosing a non-traditional lifestyle and the daughters' interest in full-time religious service.

"Once they have a call to munity to support them," she said.

"You need to have friends with the same questions," Ms. Price

Some of the questions are individual. Gail White, 36, a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employee, is thinking about moving into the house and beginning the formal discernment She wonders, though, if she could give up her privacy and total independence in becoming a nun. 'I'm so used to coming and going when I please. I'm old and set in Sister Cavazos advised her to "live with this group and see if you Other questions are more universal — like how a nun deals with her sexuality and her commitment to a Sister Cavazos' response: Nuns those relationships aren't ex- young women that it's still valid."

Women who live in the house are allowed to date. "I think that's healthy. It's part of the discernment," she said

After a woman has lived at the house for at least six months, she may be ready to begin several years of study leading to final vows as a nun.

But if she is undecided. Sister Cavazos counsels independent living someplace else. "We have to give room for the girls to have other experiences. That's OK."

Sister Cavazos says the house of discernment helps educate women about the greater options available to nuns today in everything from choosing clothes to suggesting where they want to serve.

'If we think religious life is important," she said, "we have to have relationships with men, but make the investment to convince

Publications says that Baptist bookstore employees have indicated an "unofficial boycott" is going on against a new book about current controversy in the Southern Baptist Convention.

Its Sunday School Board has decided not to offer the book, "The Truth in Crisis," by the Rev. James C. Hefley of Hannibal-LaGrange College in Missouri, at the denomination's convention June 10-12 in Atlanta, the publisher

The firm also says steps apparently are being taken to limit access to the book at many of the denomination's 60 book retail

"I am appalled," says Hefley, who terms the book an evenhanded account of the controvery over Bible interpretation that has torn the denomination into battling fundamentalist and moderate

NEW YORK (AP) - The executive committee of the Reformed Church in America says that Alfred Nzo, secretary general of the African National Congress, is to address the denomination's general synod June 14-20 in Garden rove, Calif.

The scheduled appearance of a leader of the militant organization, outlawed in South Africa, has caused some controversy, but a denominational spokesman says it was relevant to the church's key role in opposing the apartheid system of racial separation in that Nzo is chief executive of the organization's central headquarters in Zambia. He was arrested in 1963 in South Africa and tortured for involvement in underground activities. Released in 1965, he fled the country and in 1969 was elected the organization's secretary general.

citation, by filing a written answer to Plaintiff's First Amended Original Petition that was filed in the court on June 24, 1986, numbered 31,464 on the docket of the court, and entitled BOBBY S. WASH, Plaintiff, v. HELEN MILLER, ET AL, WASH, Plaintiff, v. HELEN MILLER, ET AL, Defendants.

The nature of this suit, briefly stated, is one of trespass to try title, in which Plaintiff, for cause of action, would show the court that:

(1) On or about January 1, 1950, he was lawfully, in fee simple, seized and possessed of realty situated in Howard County, Texas, and legally described as Lots Nos. 6, 10 and 11, in Block No. 28 of the ORIGINAL TOWN of Forsan, Howard County, Texas. County, Texas.

(2) Defendants unlawfully entered on the above described premises and ejected Plaintiff from those premises. Defendants unlawfully withhold from Plaintiff the possession of those premises to his damage in excess of the minimum jurisdictional limits of the court. Plaintiff requests judgment for title to and possession of the land and for such other and further relief to which he is entitled, as is more fully shown by Plaintiffs' First Amended Original Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served without 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved. (2) Defendants unlawfully entered on the above ADVERTISING AFFIDAVIT
