Trash

Q. If there is a trash problem all over the city, why doesn't the city go back to twice weekly trash pickup, and why doesn't it pick up dead limbs when they're stacked by the side of the street?

A. Public works director Tom Decell said he doesn't know that there's a trash problem all over town. Trash is picked up according to need, he said. Also, the city picks up dead limbs and other objects too big for a dumpster twice a year, he said.

Briscoe may face new trial

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

Statt Writer Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby said he's planning a second trial for Charles Briscoe after a mistrial was declared in the marijuana distribution charge against the former coach and teacher.

A 12-member jury failed to reach the required unanimous decision in three hours of deliberating that ended shortly after midnight to-My. Seven favored a guilty verdict

That failure prompted 118th District Judge James Gregg to declare a mistrial after two days of testimony was presented to the seven-man, five-woman jury. The 26-year-old former employee at Big Spring High School was tried for participating in an alleged marijuana purchase last November.

Edwin Vela, 2003 S. Monticello dissenters could not find the defen-drug purchase.

Gregg instructed jurors to base their decision on whether they believe Briscoe "knowingly or intentionally" participated in the marijuana sale.

"They failed to prove that he actually knew what was going on," ela said this morning.

Vela said the dissenting jurors St. said he and the four other felt that testimoney from undercover agent Kimberley Phillips

"She couldn't seem to recall anything," Vela said about Phillips' answers under crossexamination by Briscoe's defense attorney, Alex LeFevre. "You need to document evidence and her little calendar didn't do a heap of good. It was too vague,"

During testimony Tuesday morning, Phillips produced a calendar containing three notations on contacts with Briscoe prior to his November arrest.

Another juror, Barbara Morris, a department manager at Wal Mart, said she believed the defendant was guilty. "From the time he made that call to the time he carried her over to that apartment, he broke the law. He was aiding her," Morris

Two teachers contest career ladder policy

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

Two Big Spring Independent School District teachers are contesting the district's career ladder placement policy.

Marianne Heffington and Gwendolyn "Susie" Craig, both special education teachers, have asked the school board for a hearing to appeal their ladder placement. The two have another career ladderrelated case before the Texas Education Association in Austin filed last year.

Heffington teaches at Marcy Elementary School and Craig is a teacher at Washington Elementary

Superintendent Lynn Hise said this morning a hearing has not been set because he has not determined whether the appeal is warranted. The case will not come before the school board's next meeting, July 17, because Hise said he doesn't think he will be finished studying it by then.

School policy states a teacher's placement appeal can be made ony if the school board acted in 'capricious or arbitrary manner or in bad faith," he said.

If a hearing is not granted, the teachers can go before the board as citizens to air their complaints, but the board doesn't have to take action, he said.

Alma Marshall of the Texas State Teachers Association, who is representing the teachers, said the disagreement was over a curve system the district employs.

The system was employed this year to assure fairness in evaluation, taking into consideration that some appraisers are naturally more lenient than others, Hise said when the policy was accepted in

"It's an erroneous assumption," Marshall said. "I think if there's a problem with the principals doing the evaluation, it ought to be straightened out by the school board.'

Hise said the TEA has cases before it now in which school boards had not considered the possible differences in evaluators.

Heffington said she wasn't evaluated in the proper manner, and that if she had been, she might have been placed on the ladder Level II. She was evaluated as a Marcy teacher rather than a special education teacher, she said. Points were subtracted from Marcy but added to special education under the curve system.

Craig said she was penalized for wearing pants instead of dresses, as well as missing work days because of illness; items which Marshall contends are not supposed to be evaluated for the ladder.

"That's illegal." Marshall said. adding the TEA ruled last year that evaluations are to be made in instructional areas only.

Craig said she wears pants because in dealing with special education adolescents she sometimes has to physically restrain students.

Hise said he doesn't know about Craig's evaluation because the board considered career ladder TEACHERS page 2A

Settlers reunion back by demand

The 62nd Annual Howard County Old Settlers Reunion will not be canceled this year after all, the organization's vice-president Mac Underwood said this morning.

The reunion will be held August 1 at the Old Settlers Pavilion in Comanche Trail Park.

Underwood said his phone has been "ringing off the hook" with calls urging the reunion not be allowed to die. Several donations have been pledged to keep the reunion alive, Underwood said. He said he'll release a list of contributors at a

Reunion president Pat McNew said Saturday the popular get together would be called off this year because the reunion organization lacked $3,500 to fund the event. McNew said the poor local economy had caused a lot of past contributors, especially oil companies, to hold back on donations this year.

Underwood's statement today is welcome news to the 800 to 1,500 people who usually attend the reunion.

The reunion normally serves dinners to 600 to 800 people, 350 to 400 of which go free to senior citizens. said secretary/treasurer Gertrude McCann.

Underwood said a number of reunion details still need to be ironed out, such as where this year's dance will be.

Names in the news

By The Associated Press LOS ANGELES - The Pentagon will seek a name change for CLINT EASTWOOD'S upcoming film "Heartbreak Ridge" because it wrongly credits the Marines for one of the Army's bloodiest Korean

War battles, an official says. "They can come up with another title," said Donald Baruch, a special assistant to the assistant secretary of defense for public

'We're waiting to talk with them. I believe it is appropriate we should ask them," Baruch said Tuesday during a telephone interview from Washington. "The title is not appropriate for the script that they have.'

"It's a pretty rotten deal" because the script depicts Eastwood's character as a modern-day Marine Corps sergeant who won a medal during the battle at Heartbreak Ridge, said Seymour "Hoppy" Harris of Macedon, N.Y., a member of the Army's 23rd Infantry Regiment which captured the ridge.

"The Army fought very valiantly for that ridge and lost a lot of men," while only a few Marines were involved indirectly during the battle that raged in North Korean territory from Sept. 13 to Oct. 13, 1951, said one of the Marines, Edward L. Barker, of Crockett,

Project money wasted

AUSTIN - More than $1 billion has been wasted on the South Texas Nuclear Project because of bad management by Houston Lighting & Power Co., according to auditors hired by the Public Utility Commission.

The firm of Lubow, McKay, Stevens and Lewis was paid $2 million for a 3,000-page report that will be part of the PUC's review of the nuclear plant under construction near Bay

"Under certain sets of assumptions, the cancellation of STNP could be a lower cost alternative than completion," the auditors said of the $5.5 billion project.

The PUC is studying the economic viability of STNP's second unit. The auditors recommended that the economic viability of the entire plant be reviewed.

The first unit is scheduled to be in commercial operation in December 1987.

Killer gains 24 hours

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Attorneys for killer Theodore R. Bundy took their pleas to halt his execution to an Atlanta court after a week of legal rejections in Florida that gained him another 24 hours of life.

"Something has to happen before 7 a.m. Thursday," attorney Polly Nelson said Tuesday evening as Bundy's bleary-eyed lawyers worked in Miami on arguments to present to the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. District Judge William Zloch rejected their request for an indefinite stay. Instead, he delayed the execution originally set for 7 a.m. today, giving lawyers time to plead for their client's life in higher courts.

FmHA disputes claims

LUBBOCK - Lawyers for the Farmers Home Administration say there is no proof that the agency took longer than the allowed time to make loan determinations and issue checks to Texas farmers.

The lawyers made the statement in a posthearing brief filed in U.S. District Court here Tuesday

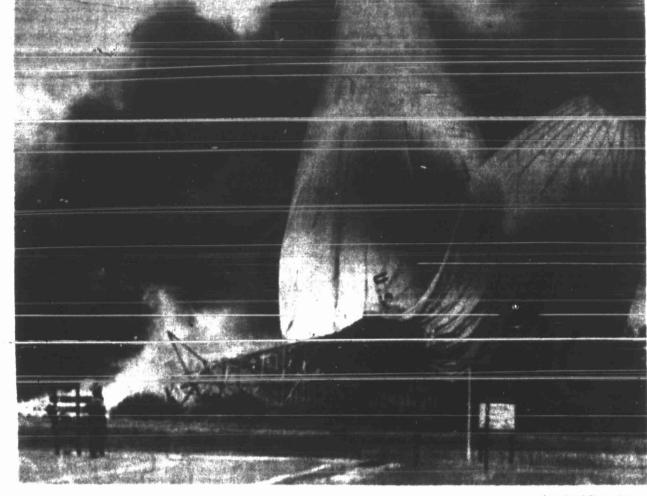

They said they had studied volumes of data and about 25 affidavits from farmers in their attempt to determine if the claims were legitimate.

Jackson to give speech

AUSTIN - Besides drawing some 75 musical acts, the Farm Aid II concert Friday will feature a former presidential candidate the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Jackson, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1984 and a leading spokesman for black Americans, will make a speech to the Farm Aid crowd sometime Friday evening, said Andy Welch, spokesman for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The department is co-hosting the concert organized by singer Wiffie Nelson. Welch said Jackson was invited to Farm Aid by Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

An experimental 343 foot-long airship made from a blimp and parts of four helicopters lies in a field after crashing shortly after takeoff on Tuesday, killing one of five crew members aboard.

Heli-Stat crash

Mammoth airship destroyed; one dead

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP) — A massive experimental airship built from a blimp and four helicopters crashed after one copter malfunctioned, killing a crewman during a test flight near where the Hindenburg exploded 49

Four other crewmen and a firefighter on the ground sustained only cuts and bruises when the 343-foot-long. 10-story Heli-Stat crashed Tuesday night at the U.S. Naval Air Engineering Station, authorities said.

The craft, sponsored by the U.S. Forest Service, was designed for logging remote areas with a minimum of environmental damage. But some federal agencies criticized it for structural problems and for running behind schedule at a cost of $34 million, more than three times the original projection of $10.7 million.

The Heli-Stat, which had never flown horizontally, was hovering at about 40 feet when one of the four helicopters malfunctioned and lost power, said Nick Grand, a U.S. Naval Air Engineering Center

A fire caused by ruptured fuel tanks in the Heli-Stat's helicopters was quickly extinguished, but the airship was destroyed, Grand said. "It looked like it just tilted and caught on fire," said

Mike DeStanko, a civilian employee. The Heli-Stat "just burst right in the air," said Petty Officer Chuck Peterson. "I couldn't believe it. Flames

Gary Oleshfski, of Bordentown, who was alone in one of the helicopters, was killed in the crash, Grand said.

Tuesday was Oleshfski's 39th birthday

The craft crashed about three-quarters of a mile from where the German dirigible Hindenburg blew up in May 1937, killing 36 people, he said.

The craft was comprised of four tailless helicopters mounted on an aluminum frame that supported the blimp. The pilot, who survived, sits in the left rear copter and flight engineers in the other three.

Unlike the Hindenburg, which was filled with highly explosive hydrogen, the Heli-Stat's blimp was filled with helium, a non-explosive gas.

The craft, which was 43 feet longer than a football field, was designed by Frank N. Piasecki, a helicopter pioneer who began its assembly in 1979 under a Forest The Navy was monitoring the experiment by the Piasecki Aircraft Corp. of Sharon Hill, Pa., Grand The airship, estimated by Piasecki last year to cost $24 million in federal funds and $10 million in private investment, was designed to lift 24 tons. It was based on the principle that once filled with helium, its resultant buoyancy made the craft almost weightless, so that the thrust generated by the copters' combined 6,100 horsepower could be directed toward lifting the

Tutu appeals for talks

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa -Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu today condemned the outbreak of bombings in South Africa and appealed for talks to ease the country's racial conflict.

"I am deeply distressed at the recent spate of bombings and condemn such acts of terrorism vehemently and unequivocally," the black Nobel Peace Prize winner said.

His statement came a day after a bombing in downtown Johannesburg injured eight people. Three of them remained in Johannesburg General Hospital, including a 2-week-old baby who was reported in stable condition with a lacerated ear.

American hostage freed

BEIRUT, Lebanon - An American held captive for 22 months by Lebanese drug traffickers has been freed unharmed and delivered to the U.S. Embassy, Lebanese officials said today.

The former captive was identified as Steven John Donahue, 32, of Hollywood, Fla., who claims to have been an informant for the U.S.

Drug Enforcement Agency. The DEA has denied he was a drug agent without specifying whether he worked for the agency In an interview today, Donahue told ABC-TV he was released because "money exchanged hands, about $400,000."

Lebanese officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Donahue was kidnapped 22 months ago by Shiite Moslem drug dealers for "poking his nose into the business.

Pope decries violence

BOGOTA, Colombia — Pope John Paul II told Colombian leaders in an unusually harsh address that violence, crime and an unjust distribution of wealth hindered development of this overwhelmingly Roman Catholic country.

The pontiff, beginning a weeklong trip that will take him through areas rife with guerrillas and right-wing death squads, arrived Tuesday from Rome on his first visit to Colombia. It is his seventh to Latin America since becoming pope in 1978.

Chileans stock goods

SANTIAGO, Chile - Chileans crowded markets to stock candles, heating gas and food before a national work stoppage called by foes of their country's military government

People in long checkout lines said the buying spree was a precaution against violence that could keep them home, whether or not they supported the two-day strike.

Food stores around the capital's vast bluecollar perimeter reported sales up by as much as half Tuesday as workers spent end-of-themonth paychecks to stockpile large quantities of flour, cooking oil and tea.

Ban could hurt African nation

South African blacks could hardly have worse enemies than some well-meaning members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

There is no quick-fix solution to South Africa's racial problems. The only thing that can be accomplished quickly is to push the nation once and for all into an economic and social abyss.

That is exactly what House members who advocate a ban on the United States doing business with South Africa are likely to achieve if they have their way.

The House actually passed legislation calling for the withdrawal of U.S. businesses from South Africa and an allout trade embargo. Many Republicans who cast "aye" votes, however, were gambling that because the measure was so ridiculous, it would result in sanctions being thwarted.

Many people might wonder what is wrong with emphasizing U.S. displeasure with Pretoria's policy of racial separation, or apartheid, by imposing the harsh sanctions proposed by Rev. Ronald Dellums, D-Ca. After all, apartheid has been roundly denounced by virtually all American politicians.

The problem with the Dellums approach is that it would immediately penalize black South Africans and make it perhaps impossibly difficult for true democracy to evolve in that

As the U.S. experience has demonstrated, it takes time for racial justice to evolve. One need not be an advocate of South Africa's policies to recognize that it has made progress toward quality and that destroying the nation's economy will toss it into that abyss that can lead only to immediate anarchy and, quite possibly, permanent totalitarianship.

In South Africa today there are extremists — both white and black — who would unleash much more evil than the current government has wrought.

Mr. Reagan knows that encouraging radicals to wash South Africa in blood is not the answer for blacks or whites. It is conservatively estimated that 85,000 South African jobs would be lost if U.S. firms pulled out.

Taking black residents' jobs away from them would be a relatively mild impact of the Dellums "solution," considering what would follow.

The framers of the U.S. Constituion showed remarkable foresight when they placed the responsibility for foreign policy in the hands of the executive rather than the legislative branch of government.

One might even suspect that those founding fathers who parceled out responsibilities for running the government had today's president and today's Congress in mind.

Columnists views spark controversy

Joseph Sobran is a rising star in the constellation of conservative intellectuals. An editor of William F. Buckley Jr.'s National Review, he also writes a column which appears in some 60 newspapers. His stature on the Right is undisputed. One conservative journalist has called him "a contemporary Chesterton." A profile in the Heritage Foundation's Policy Review compared him to Samuel Johnson. But Sobran apparently is very different from what his admirers assume Lately, some of his views have sparked controversy among conservatives. Midge Decter, the head of the Committee for the Free World and a contributor to Commentary, was so incensed by some columns critical of Israel that she wrote him a letter calling him "a crude and naked anti-Semite."

Buckley, who was sent a copy of the letter, denied in National Review that Sobran is anti-Semitic but conceded that a reader "might reasonably conclude that those columns were written by a writer inclined to anti-Semitism." In a letter to Decter, he said, "If I thought him an anti-Semite, I would ask for his resignation from National Review.

But another of his syndicated columns, overlooked by Buckley and Decter, makes it impossible to escape the conclusion that Sobran is an anti-Semite and a racist. Published in the New York Tribune on May 13, it praised a magazine called Instauration that, he said. "faces the harder facts about race." The piece was brought to my attention by Alexander Cockburn in a column in the Instauration, Sobran wrote, "is an often brilliant magazine, covering a beat nobody else will touch, and doing so with intelligence, wide-ranging observation and bitter wit. It is openly and almost unremittingly hostile to blacks, Jews, and Mexican and Oriental immigrants.

Did Sobran repudiate that hostility? No. His only caveat was that 'sheer antagonism'' toward other races is nearly as hard as the 'altruistic benevolence'' advocated by liberals. Not evil merely "hard."

Instauration is not brilliant, intelligent or witty. It is a vulgar hate sheet that reveres Nazi Germany, preaches the superiority of the white race and relentlessly disparages Jews, non-whites and homosexuals. Nearly every article is filled with racist venom.

In a telephone interview, Sobran conceded that Instauration is 'racist'' and insisted his praise of it was not "unqualified." But he declined to recant the complimentary words he wrote about the magazine. His only violation, he, said, is one of "etiquette."

Steve Chapman is a member of the Chicago Tribune editorial board. His commentary is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

WASHINGTON - Congressional investigators will report today on the undercover evidence they gathered on fast-talking health insurance hucksters who take advantage of fearful elderly Americans and sell them "Medigap" policies they don't need.

About 75 percent of all Americans over 65 buy these policies to cover the "gap" between Medicare benefits and actual health costs

The investigators were working for a subcommittee chaired by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., the 85-year-old guardian of senior citizens' rights who sits on the Select Committee on Aging. We've been given an advance look at some of the horror stories they'll tell about the strong-arm tactics used to sell Medigap policies. For

 A 77-year-old Washington state woman paid $700 for supplementary health insurance from a man who identified himself as a Social Security representative. He was in fact a marketing agent for 14 insurance companies, seven of which sold Medigap policies.

• An 83-year-old Wisconsin widow living on $8,000 a year was persuaded to pay $800 a year for health insurance by a woman who claimed to be a Medicare worker. The saleswoman said that after three months of serious illness the widow might run up medical fees of $20,000 that Medicare wouldn't pay, and that she ran the risk of losing her home to pay the medical

• An elderly Michigan couple paid $4,000 a year for 13 separate supplemental policies — which didn't cover eye, ear, dental or nursing home care. State insurance officials stepped in, but too late to stop the first $4,000 payment.

• A 76-year-old North Carolina woman was scared into believing that Medicare wouldn't cover the high costs of hospital care unless she supplemented it with several additional policies. She bought 13 in two years; the premiums amounted to half her total income.

In 1978 we reported that the health insurance industry grossed about $1 billion in premiums. That

To keep the cost under a $4 billion budget, the Air Force has had to slash the number of antisatellite weapons by two-thirds: from 100 to 33. Austin gets: building scars break

It's a vigorous city, a city blessed with both natural beauty and manmade splendor; a city where people have a million and one things to do: a city where people said mostly good things about it.

With its great university, Austin is a befitting capitol of a great

But one thing disturbed me. Austin's frantic rate of growth. Snarled traffic, a skyline of steel cranes, subdivisons carving and gouging the green hills and swallowing the countryside, property costs zooming out of control and exorbitant rent beyond the means of low- to 'middle-income people - all of which seemed to be wringing the charm from the city. In the back of my mind I saw the highrollers from Houston and Dallas - the guys who orchestrated the feverish growth of those cities — doing the same to the capitol. Now, according to the Dallas Morning News, the building boom has slowed considerably. Good. Maybe the city will have time to catch its breath and preserve it aesthetic integrity as well as deal with its horrendous traffic problem. Moreover, perhaps the cost of renting an apartment or buying a house will sink to more earthly levels affordable to the average

Meanwhile, Austin will struggle with a glut of office space that could spawn a vacancy rate of 40 percent by the year's end, according to the newspaper.

It also will endure higher unemployment, a climbing rate of bank foreclosures and a shrinking

Nonetheless, those problems seem like a fair trade for keeping Texas' prize jewel from becoming just another cement jungle.

Buttermilk and its history

By COUNTRY HOME Churning butter was a monotonous, arm-aching job. The task was often assigned to a child or the hired girl. Cream, cooled in the springhouse or cellar, was agitated in a deep wooden tub or crockery churn by plunges of a long-handled

On hot days it sometimes seemed the butter would never come, but finally the flecks of pale yellow butter separated from the fluid part of the milk. The watery liquid — the buttermilk — was drained off and used as a beverage or ingredient in cakes, biscuits, Boston brown bread, and pancakes. Although factory production of butter began about 1860, many farm homemakers with an ample supply of cream continued making butter and buttermilk at home until the 1920s. according to Country Home magazine.

During the 1940s, creameries began to dry the buttermilk left from their butter production for more efficient shipping to com-mercial makers of baked goods, candy, and ice cream. Milk processors then began producing cultured buttermilk.

Wherever you live there are people with problems to be solved.

Your United Way volunteers include resourceful leaders uniquely qualified to deal with community problems, however complex. But if, for some reason, they come up against a situation they're not equipped to handle, they are also adept at finding the best help possible.

With your support we'll continue to find the right people with the right answers. So that more people who really need help will get it. For which we say, "Thanks to you, it works for all of us."

DEAR ABBY: I was invited to a baby shower and decided not to go because I hardly know the girl it

I was severely criticized because I didn't call to say I wasn't going to attend. (To tell you the truth, I forgot.) I was also criticized because I didn't send a gift.

Abby, is a person supposed to send a gift whether she attends or not? I was told that is what people with good manners do. Clue me in. NO-SHOW AND NO GIFT

DEAR NO-SHOW: The definition of a "gift" is: "Something voluntarily transferred from one person to another without compensation," so obviously you were not obligated to send a gift. But you should have acknowledged the invitation, with thanks, and declined. That is a matter of common courtesy.

Hydrocephalus: A threat to infant children

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our son had hydrocephalus in infancy, and the doctors did not hold out a bright future for him. I know from my research that some of these children are blind or have mental or physical handicaps, But not our son. He had a shunt inserted when he was two days old. We are so lucky. He is now two and is a sweet, loving child, and a real joy to our lives. In fact he is especially bright. Please find it in your heart to devote space in your column to make people more aware of this. -

I'm glad to. This is one of the most common birth defects, one marked by an enlargement of the cranium.

The brain is not the solid tissue many think it is. In fact, it has hollow chambers filled with a clear fluid, the cerebrospinal fluid. This fluid fills the chambers and oozes out to bathe and nourish the rest of the brain via networks of channels that extgend to the outer brain and spinal cord surfaces.

If the channels are blocked, fluid pressure builds, exerting force on the brain itself. In infants, because their skulls are not completely "knit" together, the result is head enlargement

Doctors look for signs of hydrocephalus. That's why they check head dimensions at every visit, and why regular infant checkups are so important - to monitor this along with countless other landmarks of normal development. Eventually, if the fluid pressure is not relieved, the brain can be damaged and the head distorted. The kinds of results you mention can then occur.

I'm so happy your son emerged in such fine shape. The treatment is to insert a tiny tube into the area to drain the fluid and to shunt it elsewhere. From the rest of your letter (edited) I gather what your son had was the peritoneal shunt, where the fluid was drained into the abdominal cavity. You have more reason than most to appreciate the joys of having a bright and healthy child.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: 1 started one of the diet plans. It was sensible enough (about 1.500 calories) and was laid out in dayto-day, meal-by-meal fashion. On my own. I decided to switch meals within days, leaving the heavy one for noon. The diet had the heavy meal set for dinner. It suited me fine. Now, my question: Did my changing the timing of the heaviest meal change anything, so far as results. It worked for me, no matter, and I am continuing with the diet on a reduced intensity. Sign me "Slim"

Timing calorie intake, although not considered of prime importance' is getting some attention these days. I personally don't believe you altered the weight-loss factor very much by doing what you did. You may find some who would argue with that statement.

Perhaps among those who would say timing food intake does matter would be the researcher who recently completed a study keyed to meal timing. They assembled a large group of overweight people and subdivided them into two groups. One group was to continue their current practice of eating a large evening meal, the other to change habits to favor a heavy breakfast, a moderate lunch, and a light evening meal. For them, the late meal was not to come after 3 p.m., in fact. The ones who followed the light last meal routine lost weight on the same number of calories as before. The other group did not lose

It's an interesting idea, but such studies are admittedly far from conclusive, even among those who did this one. More attention may be paid to this proposition in the future if more experiments bear out the results of the first.

FOR T.L. — Attend the clinic. It will not waste your time. A diabetic clinic, like the one offered by your hospital, is valuable, especially for one dependent on insulin injection for control. It will go far in giving you an understanding of control and ways to measure your progress. Those who have studied this subject conclude that people who have attended such formal clinics achieve much better control.

older women, say those over 30, more likely to have difficulty in pregnancies than youngers ones? — S.Y.

MedicaLly, the statistics have always favored younger women, which really shouldn't surprise anyone. Added years always bring some degree of increased risk in just about any area of health.

However true this may be with regard pregnancy, modern medical advances seem to be closing the health gap between pre- and post-30-year-old mothers. In one study conducted at a large modern woman's hospital, thousands of pregnant women 35 and older were followed along with thousands of others between 20 and 25 years. There were few differences in pregnancy outcomes or difficulties noted in the groups.

It should be stressed that all enjoyed excellent care during their pregnancies. And, in fact, more concern is expressed today for the very pregnant women, the teenagers, where risk to health is quite high.

i'm a Giants fan

I'm on top of the world and it's all because of the noise some men on the West Coast are making.

It started out as a gentle rumble and has grown into a steady roar. At first, people took little notice. Now they stop and listen.

I'm talking about the San Francisco Giants. In case you are hard of hearing, the team that lived in the shadow of the 49ers are now making their presence known in the National League West. As long as I can remember I've been a Giants fan. No offense intended, Houston Astros and Texas Rangers, but the Giants captured my heart long before you came along.

My facination with the Giants started back in the late 60's and early 70's when the boys in the black and orange were one of the best team in the majors. How I remember the bat tles they staged with the Dodgers and Braves. San Francisco didn't win very many pennants back then, but they were a team one could stick out his chest and say, "I'm a Giants fan.'

But over the past decade, the Giants haven't had me telling everyone that I am a Giants fan. Over the past 10 seasons, the Giants have kept a consistant medium of Alot of it was a losing attitude and poor transactions. It seemed the organization always found a way to unload the good ball players. Back in the mid 70's, the Giants had an outfield managers dream of: Bobby Bonds in center, Garry Maddox in right and Garry Matthews in left. The San Francisco front office managed to trade all three away.

Last season my team hit an all-time low, finishing 62-100, 34 games out of first. You had to pry it out when inquiring about my favorite team.

But this season, general manager Al Roson's smart negotiating and second year manager Roger Craig's pitching experience has led to a 360-degree turnaround. Who would have ever thought the boys on the Bay would be leading the NL West, sporting a 42-34 record?

Roson has grabbed supposedly washed-up pitchers like Vida Blue and Mike Lacross to give the team experience. He has also brought up a host of talented young players from the farm system like third baseman Chris Brown and

Jose Uribe at shortstop. In the infield they have two rookies, and two two-year players. Sometimes Craig will play as many as six rookies in the lineup, prompting the West Coast media to name them the "Whiz Kids" Craig, who pitched for 12 years in the majors himself, has given the pitching staff new life by teaching them the split finger fastball. The beauty of the split finger fastball is that the pitch appears to the batter as a regular fast ball, until the bottom suddenly drops out. Craig believes in this pitch the way the United States and the Soviet Union believe in nuclear warfare — as the ultimate defensive weapon. Ten members on the Giants pitching staff use this effective weapon. Last year the Giants were last on the earned run list, this year they are fourth.

I know it's a little early to compare the Giants to the Miracle Mets of '69, but it makes you think. For all of the trivia buffs out there, when was the last time a team lost 100 games and finished in the cellar one year, and then bounced back to win the pennant the next?

The Giants are believing in miracles these days, and so are their fans. Giants supporters don't worry about the wind and the cold at Candlestick Park as before. They've got a winner now. Home attendance average has jumped from 13,000 to 20,000 per game...

Old Giant heroes like Juan Marichal, Willie McCovey, Willie Mays and Dick Deitz are now being compared to Mike Kurkow, Jeff Leonard and Chili Davis.

San Francisco is now a happy city and I'm a happy man. Once again I can stick my chest out and say "I'm proud to be a Giants fan."

Duo on collision course

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) Chris Evert Lloyd got the test she wanted as she stayed on course for yet another Grand Slam final clash with Martina Navratilova.

Lloyd, the No. 2 seed and threetime champion, wanted a tough match to prepare herself for a possible third straight Wimbledon championship meeting with her archrival

And on Centre Court, with temperatures reaching 110 degrees, Lloyd had to draw on all her years of experience to subdue a determined quarterfinal challenge from seventh-seeded Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia.

Lloyd surrendered a set before she triumphed 7-6, 4-6, 6-4 to set up a semifinal on Thursday against No. 3 seed Hana Mandlikova, the reigning U.S. Open champion.

In the other women's semifinal, Navratilova, who is aiming for a fifth straight title, meets No. 10 seed Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina.

If Lloyd and Navratilova win Thursday, they would meet for the 70th time in their careers, the 15th in a Grand Slam title match. Lloyd won the last meeting in the final of the French Open last month.

In today's men's quarterfinals, No. 1 seed Ivan Lendl was to meet Tim Mayotte, the No. 10 seed and the only American left in the competition, while defending champion Boris Becker, seeded No. 4, was to face Czechoslovakia's Miloslav Mecir

Pat Cash, who accepted a wildcard entry for the tournament, was to play No. 7 seed Henri Leconte of France, and two unseeded players. Yugoslavia's Slobodan Zivojinovic and India's Ramesh Krishnan were to close out the quarterfinal action.

Lendl finished the quarterfinal draw Tuesday with a 6-7, 7-6, 6-4, 7-6 victory over American Matt Anger. The match had begun Monday but was called because of darkness at 2-2 of the third set.

Lloyd's quarterfinal against Sukova on the center court lasted just over two hours as the Czechoslovak used her serve-andvolley game against the American.

After Lloyd won the first set on a 10# tiebreaker, she engineered the first service break midway through the second to lead 4-2.

But Sukova blasted back to take the next four games and square the match.

Just as the 21-year-old Sukova looked set to create an upset, she lost her composure and a series of Collision page 2B

As part of the deal announced Tuesday, the Sonics also will receive Milwaukee's first-round choices in the 1987 and 1989 National Basketball Association draft, while the Bucks will receive Seattle's second-round draft picks in those two years.

The trade assures the Sonics of five first-round draft picks over the next three years, said Bob Whitsitt, Sonics president.

Whitsitt called the trade for the 7-foot, 240-pound Lister "the first move in rebuilding the team."

Sikma was not present at a news conference to announce the trade. He had asked two months ago to be traded, saying he wanted to play on a team with a chance to win an NBA championship.

The Bucks, who have not had an All-Star quality center since Bob Lanier retired in 1984, were 57-25 last year, while the Sonics had records of 31-51 the past two seasons. Whitsitt said the Sonics were happy to accommodate

Bettina Bunge certainly didn't catch Navratilova on a bad day. The reigning champion and world's No. 1-ranked player almost was faultless in her 6-1, 6-3 demolitiebreaker after once trailing 5-2. But the 24-year-old Czechoslovak stormed back to take the second set 6-0 and the third 6-2.

Lendl had not been in a tiebreaker since the opening set of his first-round victory over 18-year-old Leonardo Lavalle of Mexico; he had to go through three of them to beat Anger.

Lendl had been able to beat previous opponents simply by cranking his game up a notch. Every time he did that in the fourth round, Anger seemed to respond in Lendl took a 4-1 lead in the fourth set. But Anger, behind a series of great service returns, pulled even at 4-4. They held serve to force the final tiebreaker, and that produced more of the same.

Lendl and Anger, ranked No. 29 in the world, traded srvice winners and volleys, lobs and groundstrokes. Both players extended themselves fully, whether reaching for a scorching cross-court tournament until he met Anger, forehand or trying to find a way to and the unseeded American gave outmaneuver the opponent.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds some delays or obstacles, while the afternoon and evening finds strange situation happening, causing a change of activities to your liking.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Business matters are slow in the morning. Study bills closely before paying them. Drive carefully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have a plan of personal nature that runs into trouble. Use care in handling money matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Tackle a difficult problem, you will solve it quickly. You have a chance to push personal affairs, also.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Steer clear of a disturbed friend since you cannot be of help. Try to understand your mate instead.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure the facts and figures are right if you want to gain outside support. Avoid strange acquaintances.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may find it hard to get a new plan to work properly. Avoid scheming person who disturbs your day. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't be hard on a debtor or the matter may become worse. Do more for your mate. Stay at home. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study well how best to deal with an associate. Forget business tonight after a successful day of it. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get right to the work you have promised to perform. Take things in stride. Improve health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may find it difficult to emphasize your creative side, so wait. Encourage your mate. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not a good day to handle problems at home. Don't spend too much money for evening entertainment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be steadfast at your duties during the daytime. Guard against nervousness if evening argument ensues. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be very conscientious early in life but might seem to take longer to learn lessons than others. They will, however, retain the knowledge for a lifetime. Upon reaching adulthood your progeny will become very speedy and

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) -Former University of Miami footbal star Willie Smith claims the cocaine and handgun found in his car belonged to a woman he had given a ride to only minutes before his arrest The 21-year-old All-American tight end and 10th-round draft pick of the NFL's Cleveland Browns was arrested early Monday in the parking lot of a motel near the Miami campus. He was charged with possession of cocaine and possession of a handgun, and released on $10,000 bond.

Smith made a brief statement on his arrest at a news conference Tuesday in the office of his agent, lawyer Jim Ferraro.

"If you have any other questions. 1978 34 FOOT 5th WHEEL- Self contained, air conditioned, furnished, call 263-3370 for more information.

you'll have to ask my lawyer." Ferraro echoed Smith's denial of guilt.

'Number one, Willie didn't know this girl up to five minutes before the arrest," Ferraro said. "The cocaine and gun didn't belong to Willie. He didn't even know they were in the car until after the arrest.

"I'm confident that Willie will be cleared. I'd be very surprised if the charges are not dropped in this case.

The woman involved in the case, Denise Gray of Fort Lauderdale, also was arrested on a cocaine possession charge and released on bond. Her phone number is unpublished and she couldn't be reached for comment.

Metro-Dade Police spokesman Jim Hutton said Smith was arrested after Ms. Gray called police to the motel parking lot. She told police she had dropped her purse while a man was chasing her, and the man had picked it up. Ferraro said Smith told him he had given the woman a ride in his car and within minutes she became angry and started dumping the contents of her purse in the car. When the car stopped at the motel, Smith told Ferraro, the woman jumped out and began screaming. Metro Cpl. Juan Odio said he found Smith sitting in his car, which had a plastic bag containing one gram of cocaine on the front seat and a .857 magnum between the two front seats. Smith was described by police as very cooperative. Ms. Gray, 25, was charged because her purse contained a straw and pipe with cocaine residue. Metro officer Walter Hopwood said Ms. Gray initially told him she was at the motel visiting friends. but she couldn't remember their room number. He said the woman appeared to be intoxicated.

The arrest is not the first time Smith's name has been connected with drug use. Disappointed about his late selection in the college draft, Smith blamed Miami Head Coach Jimmy Johnson for leaking information that he had failed a drug test administered by the school last year. Johnson denied the allegations and Smith later apologized. Johnson said Smith, who faced suspension if he failed another test, passed several subsequent drug tests. "Willie does not do cocaine," Ferraro said. "I'm not being naive. I know Willie Smith. He does not do cocaine. He may have made mistakes in the past, but he wasn't under the influence (Tuesday night). He is willing to take drug

Prospective jurors fail to appear today

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

Staff Writer More than 70 percent of the 140 prospective jurors summoned to district court this morning failed to show, prompting the judge to order that they be contacted.

District Clerk Peggy Crittenden said 140 jury notices were mailed last week from her office, but only 40 persons responded.

Two 12-member juries were to be selected from the panel — one to hear a marijuana distribution charge brought against a former high school teacher. The other jury will hear a traffic accident civil

District Judge James Gregg ordered the sheriff's department to contact by telephone those who failed to show.

Daylight savings

Q. How did daylight savings time get started?

A. The daylight savings move-ment began in England in 1907, with the publication of a booklet titled "The Waste of Daylight" by William Willett, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Willett observed that in summer, morning daylight hours were wasted in sleep, while fuel was burned in the dark of the evening to light houses. He suggested turning the clocks back an hour in the summer as a remedy.

The movement was controversial, and England didn't go on daylight savings time until 1916. In the United States, a bill passed the Senate June 27, 1917, and went into offeet the last Dan day of April 1918.

Funds needed for fireworks

The fireworks display is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. at Comanche Trail Park as the climax to the Big Spring Symphony concert.

Donations can be mailed to the chamber at Box 1391, Big Spring, 79721-1391, or people can call 263-7641 and an Ambassador will Summertime drought is a sure bet every year, and pecans will suffer if they do not receive at least one inch of water per week from June through September.

Actually, two inches is optimum. A mature pecan tree will use more than 100 gallons of water per day. If trees go more than three weeks without water, serious crop loss can occur.

Weeds and grass also use soil moisture, so keep competitive vegetation to a minimum under pecan tress. With shallow soil and vegetation under treesz, a weekly irrigationi will be needed.

On young pecan trees, weeds show down growth more than anythingelse, so use a contact herbicide such as Roundup to keep the limb spread area weed-free.

Some Big Spring residents have been unable to receive the signal of the new KPEJ Channel 24 on their televisions

Michael Walenta, operations manager at KPEJ, which broadcasts from Odessa, said the station has received calls from Big Spring residents who are unable to receive the channel or do not get a clear

"We are having a slight signal problem" in Big Spring, he said, adding that Big Spring is the only area town that has the problem.

Walenta said station officials don't know yet what is causing the disruptions. He said he planned to bring electronic testing equipment into Big Spring today to determine where the signal is not coming

"It's one of those things you have to check after (instead of before) you get on the air," he said.

The signal problem should be fixed by the middle of this week, he predicted.

In an informal poll taken at the post office last week, five local residents said they haven't been able to receive the UHF channel, while three said they have been receiving it.

Both Jim Hamilton, 1905 Wasson Road, and Johnnie Lou Avery, 4 Bennett Circle, reported they have not been able to pick up the signal. Rosaleen Hector, of the Oasis Addition, said, "Out where we live, we wouldn't (receive it) anyway." She explained she lives just off FM 700, behind the old airport Winnie Ansley of W. Fourth Street said she doesn't get the channel at all, and Jerry Myrick, 1703 Jennings St., said he doesn't,

In contrast, Pearl Wells of Hilltop Birdwell Lane said her television picks up the signal quite Joan Haynie of Lomax said the reception is "almost good" at her home. "It's just not real clear, like you're used to when you have the satellite," she said. Frank Wentz, who lives in the 1600 block of Runnels Street, said he can get the channel with a special attachment, a small round

KPEJ, which began broadcasting several weeks ago, is based in Odessa. The signal is directed north as far as Seagraves, south to Crane and west to Kermit, according to a station map.

Shading the house can be effective

By NAOMI HUNT

County Extension Agent Controlling cooling costs this summer really means controlling the effects of sunshine on your

How much the sun heats your house depends on your home's shape, orientation, insulation, color, matrials, landscaping, and most important, - the shade it receives.

Trees, shrubs, trellises with climbing vines and landscaping cut cooling costs by keeping the sun's heat off your walls, windows and roof. So you might consider planting more trees and shrubs as an energy-saving investment as well as a way to beautify your yard.

Building overhangs, awnings, shutters, screens, reflective films, drapes, blinds and shades will also help reduce cooling costs

How much of an impact these devices have depends on their shape and form, location near a window, color and the reflectivity of the materials used.

A "shading coefficient" is used to compare different shading options. It is a ratio of the total solar heat gain through a shading device or window combination compared with the total solar heat gain through a single-glazed, unshaded window.

A single-glazed, unshaded window has the highest value of one. The lower the ratio, the more effective the shading device.

The most effective shading devices are outside louvers, with a ratio of .10-.15 and outside overhangs or louvered shade screens at .25. Properly angled, long roof over-hangs can reduce in-

Focus on family door temperatures from 8-15 degrees and lighten the airconditioning load by 25%

Trees that cast a shadow across walls and roof can provide shading coefficients from .20-.70, depending on density and position.

Exterior shading devices tend to be more effective than interior devices. For example, inside dark shades or blinds have a shading coefficient of .60-.80. So before you start your air conditioner and send the electric meter soaring, think about some ways to add shade to your home and lot. BEFORE YOU BUY A ROOM AIR CONDITIONER If a new room air conditioner is on this summer's shopping list, carefully consider your home's

cooling needs before you buy. Correctly sizing the unit to the area to be cooled is very important. Remember that an air conditioner not only cools the air but dehumidifies it as well, and the humidity of the air has a large bearing on your comfort level.

Midland Mayor Carroll Thomas, right, is welcomed home after a 16-day trip to the Peoples Republic of China by members of the Chamber of Commerce at the Midland Regional Airport. The trip was an endeavor to establish diplomatic relations with Midland's sister city Dengying, Peoples Republic of China. A delegation of 29 Midlanders made the trip in order to sign economic, educational and cultural

Midland group signs pact with sister city

MIDLAND (AP) - A business delegation from this West Texas oil town, where the slump in oil prices has ground the economy to a crawl, has returned from a trip to Midland's Chinese sister city hopeful that an outlet has been found for Midland's under-used petroleum expertise.

Dongying, with a population of 1.6 million, is about 15 times the size of Midland and lies near the Shengli oil field, the second largest in the People's Republic of China.

The Shengli field accounts for nearly a fourth of that country's oil production, said Richard Dunbar, who markets oil and heads the Midland Chamber of Commerce's International Affairs Committee.

The business leaders are hoping an agreement signed by Midland Mayor Carroll Thomas and his Dongying counterpart, Tang Shenghai, will be the boost Midland's petroleum industry needs. The pact calls for an exchange of technological data in oil and gas production, distribution and equipment.

'We have invited them to the oil show in October and we hope they come to see the cutting edge of oil technology," said Joan Baskin, president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Thirty Midland representatives, including Thomas and Ms. Baskin, went to China June 13. Dunbar was on hand to greet Thomas, who arrived in Midland late Sunday night with part of the group. Othes are due to return Tuesday.

Although the travelers did not strike any firm business deals with their Chinese hosts, friendships were established and "the stage is set for future trade," said Roger Dameron of Dameron Petroleum Corp.

"It was a landmark trip in that we came to understand what the Chinese do in their oil fields," said Dameron. "They have a different approach to production because it's all under one ownership. Their technology needs improving. I'd say they're roughly 15 years behind. The Permian Basin, of which Midland has been the financial center, currently produces about four to five times as much oil as the Shengli oilfield, said Dameron. "I don't believe we're in competition with them," he said, adding that two large refineries are being planned in the Dongying area.

The people of Dongying also want to sell their wares to the West, including textiles and agricultural products, Dameron said.

'We were really impressed with the pragmatism of the government, who has decided to get joint ventures, foreign money, into China," said Ms. Baskin. "They're not doctrinaire communists.

The mayor talked with Chinese officials about sharing technology for shrimp farming and said a similar operation could be set up in Midland using brackish water.

"They work in five-year plans. Their goal by the 1990s is to increase oil production by 50 percent," said Thomas. "They now have 52 producing areas (in the Shengli field). They have some areas that need development, so they'll be a market for oil equipment.

Incorporated in 1983, Dongying is about 200 miles south of Beijing in eastern China, near the Yellow River and about 50 miles from the coast.

"It's very flat and very dusty, somewhat like Midland might have been in the 1930s," said Ms. Baskin. "Everything is being built and developed. It is not by any means a garden spot.

The two cities agreed to exchange by September a list of products and services each

Woman thinks vacationing parents should stay in hotels

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing to you, but I just had to after reading the letter from the mother who wanted to know how long was too long for a visit with her children. She kept saying how she was no trouble - she didn't need her own room, and liked to spend the day watching game shows, having morning coffee, reading, and going to movie and playing cards. Abby, she may think that is no trouble, but please read

My husband and I live in a small two-bedroom apartment, 3,000 miles from my in-laws. They stayed with us for two weeks, and it was the worst two weeks of my life. They acted like they were on vacation and I was the note! maid. I'm sure they felt that they were perfect houseguests, but that was not the case.

They stayed in the second bedroom and had the TV on constantly (and loudly), which almost drove me crazy, especially when I was trying to work or sleep. When they were not watching TV, they wanted us to go with them to places I had no interest in going to. If I said I did not want to go, they tried to make me feel guilty about it. Cooking for four is much more work than cooking for two. They offered to help after all the work was done. Let's not forget the digs about my working instead of staving home to clean, cook and raise a

Please, Abby, tell parents that if they want a vacation, the best place for them to stay is in a hotel.

THE REST OF THE STORY

DEAR ABBY: This is for 'Perplexed Mother" who heard through the grapevine that some of her children think she overstays her welcome in their homes: She should ask herself these questions, and be completely honest when answering them:

1. Does Mother invite herself? (It's natural to resent houseguests who come to visit when it's convenient for them without considering their hosts.)

2. Is Mother critical of her married children and their spouses? (Some mothers assume they have a right to criticize their children's cooking, housekeeping, childrearing, clothing, friends, habits, etc. They refuse to accept their children as the adults they are.)

Dear Abby

2. Is Mother inflexible in her habits? (If she cannot tolerate changes in her daily routine, she should stay home. It's unreasonable and rude to expect a whole family to alter its routines to accommodate her. By the way, this applies equally to children visiting their parents.)

4. Does Mother disappear once in a while to allow her children some private time together?

Please print this, Abby. I want to send it to my mother-in-law. She also insists that she's "really no trouble at all." If that were true, it wouldn't take us weeks to get over one of her "short" visits: So, "Perplexed Mother" - clean up your act, and your children will welcome you with open arms.

NOT PERPLEXED AT ALL

DEAR NOT PERPLEXED: Read on for the slip side of that problem:

DEAR ABBY: For many years our family has used a code word to alert someone that his fly was open. Someone, my mother perhaps, had heard that Professor Finetein was notoriously absentminded and had to be told that his zipper was open. Therefore, whenever a male in the family needed to be told to zip up his zipper, Mom would say "Einstein."

One day, at a family wedding. I noticed my husband's zipper was open. He was about 20 feet away so I said "Einstein" in a rather loud stage whisper. At least 10 men in his vicinity automatically looked down to check their zippers. Apparently, our "code word" had

Settlers reunion cancelled

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The 62nd annual Howard County Old Settlers Reunion scheduled for Aug. 1. has been cancelled because of a lack of money, reunion president Pat McNew said Saturday. "If something would come up" the reunion could still be held, but "right now I don't see any way," she said. The group needs $3,500 to pay for food, the band, the dance hall and hired help, McNew said.

The funds for holding the reunion have in the past come from private donations, she said. But big contributors, especially oil companies, say the economy is too sour this year to donate any money to the reunion, she said.

"I sure hate to see it not go on," she said. "It just won't seem right." McNew said she has been involved with the reunions since she was a young girl.

But the group's vice president,

Mac Underwood, is not giving up. "I'm going to do my best to save it," he said. "I'm going to see how many people I can find that think it can still be done in time. We still own a lot of the equipment.

"I've heard people say, for goodness sakes, don't let it drop. It's the longest-running thing in hope for next year, McNew said. Howard County. Most of the money donated buys some 200 meals, given away free to people over 70, he said. Some 250-300 people usually attend the reunions, he said. The food used to be cooked by volunteers, who would stay up all night to prepare it. But most of them died, he said, and the group had trouble finding new cooks.

So three to four years ago, organizers began having it catered, which added to the cost.

A lot of the settlers have been in the county since the 1890s, Under wood said. Prizes are given for the oldest native at the reunion and the one that has travelled the furthest

Underwood remembers the first reunion, held in 1924. He was 10 years old, and he helped serve tea. He has been vice president for five
