How's that? Nuclear

Q. What is the possibility that terrorists will use nuclear weapons?

A. The probability of terrorists turning to nuclear forms of violence is low, but it is increasing, according to a report by the International Task Force on the Prevention of Nuclear Terrorism.

Danger includes terrorists not only commandeering nuclear weapons, but also sabotaging nuclear power plants, and creating homemade nuclear bombs, the report said.

The task force studied the issue for a year and issued a 30-page report, summarizing findings that were to be published later in two volumes, the Associated Press reported. The effort was launched by the Nuclear Control Institute in cooperation with the Institute for Studies in International Terrorism of the State University of New York.

In Bal Harbour, devoted owners can treat their pets to a delicious dog dinner at Coco's Sidewalk Cafe, where a menu exclusively for dogs was introduced Thursday.

Salvation Army board OKs bid

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The local Salvation Army 24-member advisory board recommended this morning that J.W. Little Construction Co. of Big Spring build the new Salvation Army building at a cost of $392,000.

J.W. Little was one of four local contractors to bid on the facility, which has an architect's price tag of $408,000.

Others who made bids were: Kenny Thompson Construction with a bid of $409,909; Johnson Construction Co., $394,902; and Lee George Construction Co., $391,600.

Salvation Army Capt. Carroll Braun said this morning the bid needs to be approved by Salvation Army offices in Dallas and Atlanta.

Little's bid includes all local subcontracting, which is a primary reason it was selected, Braun said.

The 8,000-square-foot building, composed of a large rectangular structure sandwiched by two smaller ones, was designed by Gary Architects Interiors Inc. It will be built at Fifth and San Antonio streets on property donated years ago by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

Construction will start in about 30 days and should be completed within seven months, Braun said.

The new building will let the Salvation Army streamline and expand a wide range of community services, Braun said.

The army provides a summer youth feeding program, disaster relief, holiday dinners for elderly people and toy donations for underprivileged children, Braun said. Perceived by many as a shelter for transients, the Salvation Army also gives energy assistance to low-income people, shelter for rape victims and battered woman and children, and sponsors a youth training program.

Moreover, with the addition of the new building, more shelter can be devoted to women traveling alone with small children, said local chapter vice-chairman G.C. Broughton.

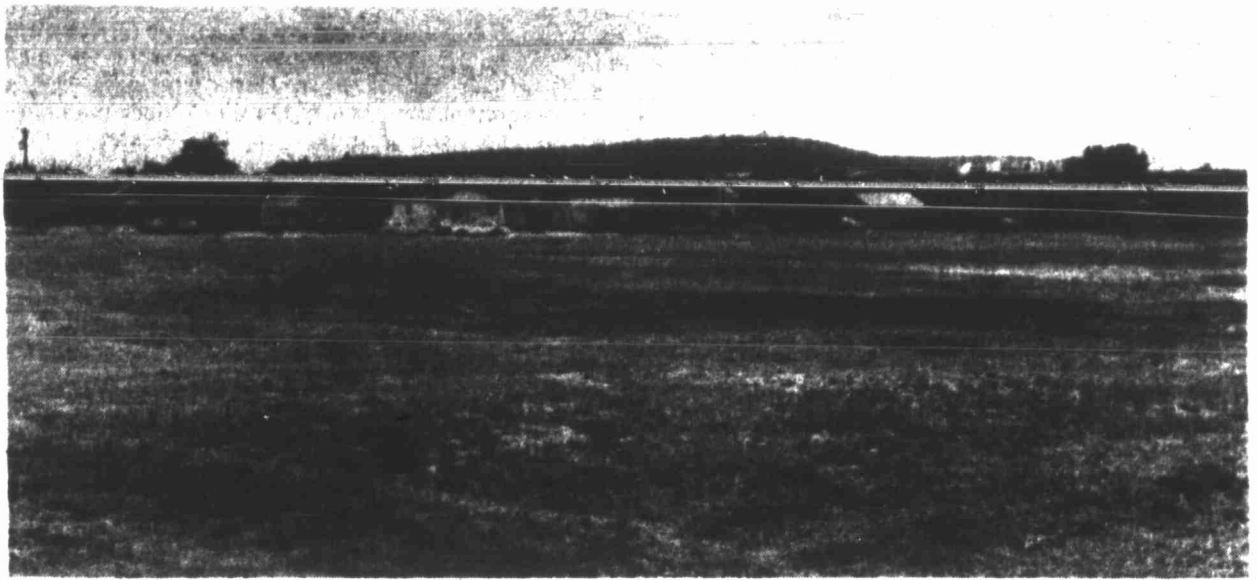

Broughton, who has been associated with the Salvation Army for little more than a year, said the organization "did many more things than I ever realized before."

He said he was impressed by how many local people donate time and effort to the various projects. "We've got a lot of dedicated people here," he said.

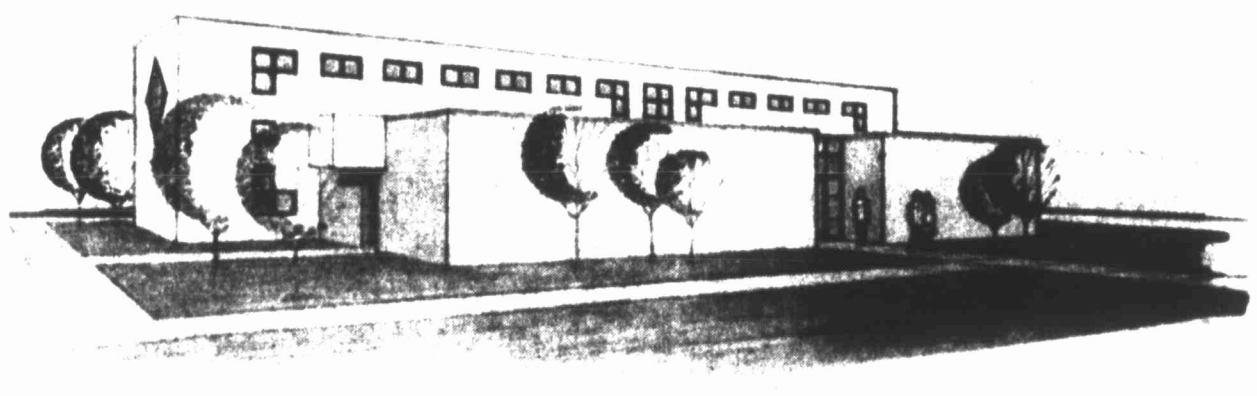

Braun said it was Broughton's persuasive power and dedication that pushed the new building from wish to reality. Broughton has "a way of getting things done," Braun said. "He knows who to talk to."

The building is funded by an Army fund-raising campaign drive that netted $840,000. About $400,000 was raised by Big Spring citizens, with another $100,000, $250,000 and $100,000 donated by the Dora Roberts Foundation, the Mabee Foundation of Tulsa, Okla., and the Meadows Foundation, respectively, Broughton said.

An $80,000 endowment fund also has been established for maintenance of Salvation Army property, Broughton said.

Committee votes to keep UTPB

Chairman Larry Temple of the Select Committee on Higher Education, right, listens to a point made by committee staff director Dr. Victor Arnold during public testimony Thursday concerning the possible closings of four Texas universities.

Sul Ross State also gets nod of approval

AUSTIN (AP) — The Select Committee on Higher Education today voted unanimously to recommend against closing East Texas State University, The University of Texas at the Permian Basin and Texas A&M University at Galveston.

The votes came a day after the panel voted unanimously to recommend to the 1987 Legislature that Sul Ross State University also remain open.

Committee members looked at the feasibility of closing the four schools to save state money. But the committee staff said shutting down the schools would do more harm than good.

The Sul Ross vote came Thursday after more than an hour of testimony from backers and school officials. The testimony drew cheers from the more than 1,000 Sul Ross State backers who packed the Senate gallery.

They also cheered when committee member Wades Madden Jr. of Amarillo moved that the school stay in business. They cheered again after the vote, and even cheered when one committee member talked about tax hikes.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, a committee member, told the audience that "none of the institutions of this state were ordained by the Almighty. They're not imbedded in stone and they're not there forever."

He said the Legislature faces "tough choices" in higher education funding. Parker drew applause when he said, "The battle's just started. It's not won. There's more at stake than Sul Ross."

Although the staff recommended keeping the schools open, Arnold said, "further analysis of these institutions, along with all other universities in the state ... may be useful."

After the packed gallery applauded Arnold's recommendation to keep the four schools open, Parker said, "While we've got a roll going maybe we could get an endorsement for a new tax bill."

That remark also drew applause.

The 1985 Legislature created the select committee to review public higher education in Texas. In a July 3 letter to Temple, Gov. Mark White said closing any of the four universities would be a "tragic mistake."

"These institutions offer unique access and programs that are unavailable anywhere else in the state, and to eliminate them would deny opportunities to a large

Local banks not affected by rate

Staff and wire reports

Several local financial officers said this morning the Federal Reserve Board's announcement that it was lowering its discount rate to 6 percent would not have an immediate effect on interest rates here.

The Reserve Board's announcement this morning was followed by an announcement from Chemical Bank of New York that it was cutting its prime interest rate to 8 percent from 8.5 percent. Other major banks were expected to follow suit. The prime rate is a benchmark used by banks in setting rates on loans to businesses.

James P. Taylor, president of First National Bank here, said small or "country" banks such as the ones in Big Spring do not borrow money from the Federal Reserve.

However, Taylor said if Chemical Bank's prime rate remains steady at 8 percent, the lower rate could "trickle" down to smaller financial institutions.

First National's lending rates are based on several factors including nature of the loan, the creditor and collateral, he said. The local bank bases its consumer rates on those quoted from Dallas banks.

Bruce Hogenmiller, western division manager at Big Spring Savings Association, said the lower discount rate would not impact lending rates for mortgages and automobile loans, because the present rates have basically "bottomed out."

However, the effect could be immediate on rates for certificates of deposit and treasury-bill notes, he said.

Hogenmiller said Big Spring Savings usually bases its prime rate on daily quotations published in the Wall Street Journal. He said the publication quotes a high and a low, and Big Spring Savings adjusts its rate around the high figure.

Larry Cotton, a loan officer at Citizens Federal Credit Union, said consumer rate loans are so low now, this morning's announcement would probably have no effect at all.

"Our consumer loan rates are holding where they are now and are about as low as we can go and still offer other services," Cotton said.

He said Citizens Federal Credit Union interest rates for automobile loans range from 9.75 to 13 percent depending on the year of the model.

He said the credit union charges the prime rate interest plus 1 percent on its mortgage loans.

In related news, the Labor Department said today that wholesale prices held steady in June, following a May gain and five months of falling costs.

Wholesale prices have dipped this year at an annual rate of 6.5 percent, the largest half-year decline since the government first started keeping such records in 1947. That compares to an overall 1.8 percent increase in the wholesale price inflation index for all of 1985.

The discount rate is the fee that the nation's central bank charges for loans to other banks and financial institutions. It is the most direct way that the Fed can affect interest rates in general, and a change in the discount rate usually heralds changes in other key rates.

Economists generally said the discount rate cut would only have modest impact on the nation's slowing economic growth.

"The problem is that the one sector of the economy that usually responds first to interest rate cuts, housing, has been benefitting already from the big drop in interest rates," said David Levy, head of a private forecasting service based in Chappaqua, N.Y.

"Overall, it's a help. But the economy has still got a risky path ahead of it, even with this cut," Levy added.

"I don't think it's a cure-all for all our economic problems, but it's a good, necessary step at this time," said David Wyss, senior financial economist for Data Resources Inc. of Lexington, Mass.

And Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., who had publicly urged the Fed to take such an action earlier this week, said in a statement: "It's the first step in stabilizing and hopefully stimulating today's sluggish economy."

In announcing the action, the Fed said the move was taken "within the framework of the generally accommodative stance of monetary policy that has prevailed for some time."

It also noted that prices for basic commodities have not changed much in recent months, reflecting a period of low inflation.

The Labor Department's Producer Price Index for June was also due out today, and analysts said they anticipated it would show only a modest increase in prices at the wholesale level from the month before.

In the past, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker had voiced some concern about reducing interest rates too sharply for fear of rekindling inflation.

Algae kills fish in area creek

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A Texas Water Commission official said this morning that about 60,000 fish died in Howard County's Beals Creek earlier this week, possibly because of high levels of algae in the water.

"The fish kill is from roughly Highway 821 in Howard County, downstream from Big Spring, all the way to the confluence with the Colorado River," said Max Woodfin, environmental coordinator for commission.

Woodfin said the fish kill stopped at the point the creek goes into the Colorado River.

A preliminary lab analysis shows some toxic algae in the creek water, Woodfin said.

"The water is real green and scummy looking and it shows every indication of having an awful lot of algae in it," Woodfin said. "These are the conditions that tend to produce naturally occurring fish kills."

Woodfin said that when the sun goes down, the algae causes the oxygen level in the water to drop sharply. "It puts the fish in stress and some of them can't handle it," he said.

The agency received its first

LOS ANGELES — Actress GOLDIE HAWN was feeling terrific after giving birth to an 8-pound, 4-ounce baby boy by Caesarean section, her publicist said.

Wyatt Russell, whose father is actor KURT RUSSELL, was delivered at 8:28 a.m. Thursday at a Los Angeles-area hospital, said publicist Heidi Schaeffer.

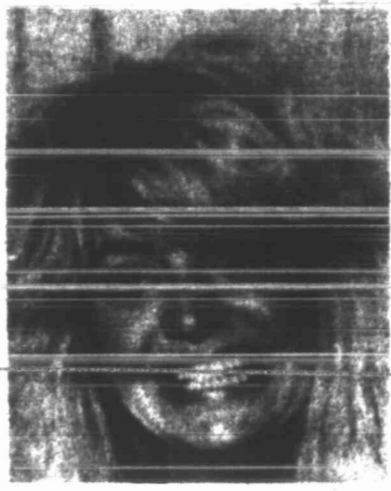

The family planned to return to their Aspen, Colo., home after Miss Hawn leaves the hospital, said Ms. Schaeffer.

Miss Hawn, who starred in the movie "Private Benjamin," has two other children — Oliver, 9, and Kate, 7. Their father is actor Bill Hudson. Russell has a son, Boston, 6, whose mother is actress Season Hubley.

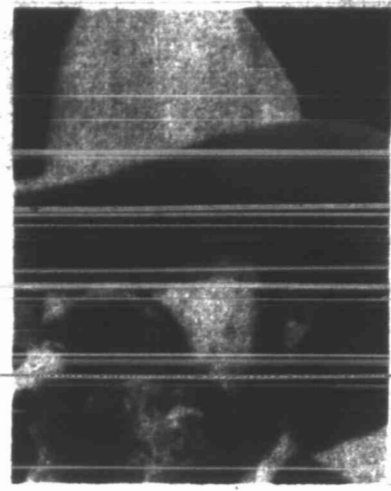

Russell stars in the recently released "Big Trouble in Little China."

CHARLIE DANIELS
...to give volunteer concert

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — "The Nashville Sound" goes global Saturday when the Voice of America broadcasts one hour of the CHARLIE DANIELS Band's 12th annual Volunteer Jam concert.

The VOA, the radio network of the United States Information Agency, will broadcast the country-rock concert starting at a potential audience of 120 million. Additional segments will be taped for later broadcast over several of VOA's 42 language service stations.

It'll be the third consecutive year that VOA will broadcast part of the concert.

Daniels, best known for his hit "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," says he's gratified but not intimidated by the potential size of the audience.

"I don't get nervous about performing," he said.

The 10-hour concert at the 17,000-seat Starwood Amphitheater will feature Daniels and his band, plus two dozen other performers whose names are not announced in advance. Word has slipped out, however, that the Allman Brothers Band plans to reunite at the concert, marking the first time they have played together in nearly 10 years.

NEW YORK — JULIE ANDREWS and KITTY CARLISLE HART helped Broadway take time out to remember composer-lyricist ALAN JAY LERNER, who created such classics as "Camelot," "My Fair Lady" and "Brigadoon."

"He was a consummate craftsman," Miss Andrews told 1,500 people Thursday at the Shubert Theater.

Lerner, an Oscar- and Tony-winning lyricist, playwright and composer who received the Kennedy Center's Lifetime Achievement Award earlier this year, died of lung cancer June 14. He was 67.

Miss Hart, who said she had known Lerner "longer than almost anybody in this theater — before most of you were born," read a letter from composer Frederick Loewe, Lerner's collaborator from 1946 to 1962.

"Ironically, it was Alan who was always wanting to know what I wanted him to say about me at my memorial. ... But fate changed all that," wrote Loewe, 85, who lives in Europe. "It won't be long, however, before we'll be writing together again. I just hope they have a decent piano up there."

LONDON — PRINCESS DIANA and THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH became godparents to PRINCE PHILIPPOS of Greece at a christening that drew royalty from all over Europe.

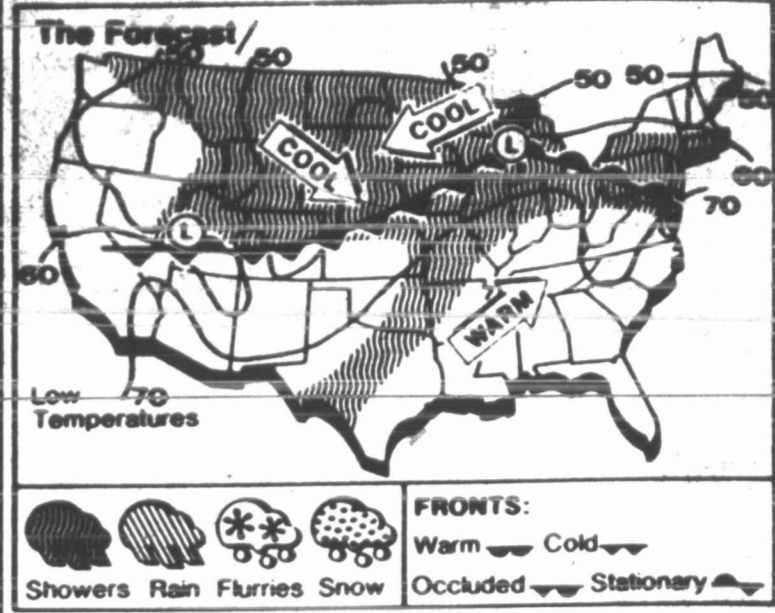

Philippos, born April 26, was christened Thursday at the Greek Orthodox Cathedral of St. Sophia in London.

NEW YORK — British Prime Minister MARGARET THATCHER credits good habits with keeping her life in order, and says she doesn't eat much before walking into the House of Commons to answer questions or give a speech.

"If you make a habit of perhaps working later, then you will need less sleep. You could not get through a very busy life unless a lot of things were routine and habit," the 60-year-old Thatcher told Prince Michael of Greece in an interview for Sunday's Parade magazine.

WEST TEXAS: The forecast calls for mainly isolated thunderstorms in the afternoon and nighttime through Saturday. No important temperature changes are predicted. Highs through Saturday will be mainly in the 90s, except mid 80s in the mountains and near 100 along the Rio Grande in the Big Bend. Lows tonight will be in the mid 60s in the mountains and Panhandle to mid 70s in the southeast and extreme south.

State

A weak low-pressure trough extending across West Texas triggered scattered showers and thunderstorms over much of the high and low plains today, and forecasters expected the precipitation to spread later.

The National Weather Service said strongest storms were located over the Panhandle northwest of Amarillo and over the low rolling plains east of Childress.

Other showers and thunderstorms occurred offshore along the upper Texas coast in the northwest Gulf of Mexico. Skies were mostly clear over North Central and East Texas as well as along the lower Rio Grande.

High, thin clouds veiled the coastal plains while partly cloudy to mostly cloudy skies covered the rest of the state.

Winds were south to southwest across most of the state at speeds generally in the 10 to 20 mph range. But gusty south winds between 25 and 30 mph were clocked over parts of North Texas.

Early-morning temperatures dropped into the 60s over the Panhandle and the mountainous southwest while readings in 70s and 80s were common across the rest of Texas. Extremes ranged from a mild 66 degrees at Marfa in the Davis Mountains to a warm 85 degrees at Galveston on the upper coast.

Scattered thunderstorms were expected in the Panhandle and eastern sections of the South Plains with the possibility of some locally heavy rain. Skies should be fair to partly cloudy through Saturday with a chance of isolated to widely scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Highs were expected to range from the mid 80s in the mountains to near 102 over the desert southwest.

Nation

A frontal system spread rain across the nation's midsection today while showers and thunderstorms ranged through the South and West.

The frontal system was from the lower Great Lakes and Ohio Valley across the middle Mississippi Valley to the lower Missouri Valley.

Thunderstorms, some with heavy rain, were widespread across the northern and central Plains and western sections of Oklahoma and Texas.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered across southern New Mexico, the central Gulf Coast, southern Florida and from central Georgia across the eastern Carolinas to eastern Virginia.

Rain dampened central and western Montana, northwest Wyoming, northern Idaho and the Pacific Northwest.

Today's forecast called for scattered showers and thunderstorms over much of the nation except for New England, northern New York, the Great Basin and the southern intermountain region through California and southern Oregon.

Highs will be in the 60s to 70s from coastal California across the Pacific Northwest through the northern Rockies as well as from Minnesota and the Great Lakes across New York to northern New England; 100 or higher from the desert Southwest through central California; and 80s to 90s across most of the rest of the nation.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 46 degrees at Watertown, N.Y., to 92 at Phoenix, Ariz.

report of the kill on Wednesday. The field experts said the fish appeared to have been dead for about three days.

The kill covers about 45 river miles, he said. There is no indication that the kill is in any way related to sewage spill problems in the creek earlier this year, he added.

"Nothing can be done about the cause of the fish kill, Woodfin said, since it seems to be naturally occurring. "As far as we can tell, there is nothing manmade causing it, so it is just nature running its course."

Police say heroin use is increasing in city

By HANK MURPHY
 Staff Writer

Heroin use in Big Spring "is really on the upswing" and is as prevalent here as cocaine, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning after conferring with a police narcotics officer.

Three men were arrested Thursday morning at 2005 Jennings St. on charges of possessing $200 worth of brown Mexican heroin and 71 grams of hashish with a street value of $1,065.

Arrested and charged with felony possession of a controlled substance and possession of marijuana under two ounces were:

- Scotty Murl Casselman, 26, of 1016 E. 21st St. His bond was set at $35,000 for heroin possession and $1,000 for possession of marijuana.
- Lynn Richard Raines, 26, of 504 1/2 S. Goliad St. Bond was set at $30,000 for the heroin charge and $1,000 for possessing marijuana.
- Rowland Danko, 25, of 504 1/2 S.

Goliad St. Danko's bond was set at $30,000 for heroin possession and $1,000 on the marijuana charge.

Danko is on parole from the Texas Department of Corrections for burglary. He was sentenced in January 1985 for a Howard County break-in and was paroled in September of 1985, said District Parole Officer David Harman. Danko also was wanted on a city warrant for driving without a license and failure to appear, said acting Municipal Judge Gwen Fair.

All three men remained in city jail this morning.

On July 3, five people were arrested for heroin possession at 1504B Lincoln St. They also were caught with Mexican brown heroin.

"Mexican brown is about all we see around here," Edwards said. The other type of heroin, China white, is rarely seen in Big Spring, he said.

number of citizens," White told his appointee.

Any talk of closing state universities usually includes Sul Ross because of its small enrollment — 2,126 total at its Alpine and Uvalde campuses — and remote location in West Texas.

"I'm hoping this committee will thoroughly look at what Sul Ross has done, is doing and will do in the future, and the threat will be over once and for all," said State Rep. Dudley Harrison, D-Sanderson. "This is a terrible threat to hang over a community every two years."

Sul Ross supporters, many of whom left Alpine at 3 a.m. Thursday, jammed the Senate gallery. More than 1,000 Sul Ross supporters came to Austin for the meeting.

Harrison said more than 40 Alpine businesses had closed for the day because of the meeting, which was carried live on KVLF.

Alpine's only radio station, Temple said the turnout was impressive and had an effect on the school's future.

"One of the factors is what the local support of an institution is," he said.

ETSU supporters also packed the gallery when their school came up for review. University President Charles Austin testifies his school has strengthened academic standards in recent years. Arnold agreed, calling the progress "remarkable."

Art Hobbs, an executive with E-Systems in Greenville, said ETSU plays a "key role in the efforts of industry in our area to attract and retain quality employees."

Sul Ross did not meet the standards for per student cost and enrollment, but Arnold said those factors were outweighed by the fact that there is no other state university within 200 miles.

Chains recall Jell-O

Two supermarket chains have pulled sugar-free Jell-O from stores in four states after someone claimed he poisoned three boxes with cyanide and placed the tainted products in Chicago and Detroit-area stores, officials said.

An anonymous caller made the claim Thursday afternoon on a toll-free consumer hotline of General Foods Corp., the company said.

The caller said in the tape-recorded message he put sodium cyanide in three boxes of sugar-free Jell-O and placed them on shelves in a Kroger store in the Detroit area and a Jewel Foods Store in the Chicago area, General Foods said.

The message did not identify the specific stores, but said the boxes were of the 0.6-ounce size and came from lot No. 4318D3.

Actor contracts AIDS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — AIDS, which has killed "Dynasty's" Rock Hudson, has afflicted a former member of the TV series' cast, actor Paul Francis Keenan.

Like Hudson, Keenan, 30, who appeared in five episodes in 1982 and eight in 1984, is speaking out strongly about the disease and the need to help victims. But going beyond Hudson's revelations, Keenan said he contracted the disease through sexual contact with another man.

"I don't believe that AIDS is something to be ashamed of, something that I should have to keep a secret," said Keenan, who found out he had AIDS about seven weeks ago.

Keenan, who played Todd Chandler on the daytime TV soap opera "Days of Our Lives," portrayed stable hand Tony Driscoll on the ABC-TV nighttime soap "Dynasty."

Union makes agreement

PHILADELPHIA — The smaller of two striking unions of municipal employees announced a tentative agreement today, and the mayor reported progress in talks with the other union whose members have left garbage uncollected for 11 days.

Thomas Paine Cronin, president of AFSCME District Council 47, announced the tentative agreement about 6 a.m. after talks that continued through the night. The union represents about 2,000 striking white-collar and professional employees.

Nun strip-searched

NEWARK, N.J. — A Roman Catholic nun who traveled to Austria to protest the inauguration of President Kurt Waldheim because of his World War II activities, said today she was strip-searched at the Vienna airport.

Sister Rose Thering, a professor of education at Seton Hall University in South Orange, said she was "embarrassed and humiliated" by the sudden search during her departure Wednesday.

East Texas law enforcement officials check a train for fugitive Jerry McFadden, as the train passed through Big Sandy early this morning. McFadden escaped from the Upshur County Jail Wednesday night, where he was being held in connection with the murder of an 18-year-old girl.

Jail break

Deputy hostage free; police close in

BIG SANDY — Law officers swarmed around this East Texas town early today after a female sheriff's deputy taken hostage by a murder suspect and convicted rapist known as "Animal" was freed unharmed, authorities said.

"She's all right. He's on the ground," Upshur County Chief Deputy James Beasley said after Rosalie Williams, 24, was freed late Thursday night.

Police armed with riot guns searched for jail escapee Jerry Walter McFadden, charged in the murder of one of three Hawkins youths slain in May. Authorities stopped a freight train today and searched boxcars but did not find the fugitive.

"Getting her back safe is the main thing," Sheriff Dale Jewkes said. "Next we have to get McFadden so he can pay for what he did."

Lawmen cordoned off a search area estimated by Jewkes at between 10 and 15 square miles as other officers and K-9 teams fanned out.

"We've got men on horseback in heavily wooded areas and we've still got the dogs here," said Jewkes.

Big Sandy Police Chief Richard Lingle said he received a telephone call about 9:45 p.m. Thursday from a resident who told him "there was a girl in the back room who fit the description of Rosalie Williams."

Lingle said he immediately contacted Eddie Williams, a state trooper and husband of the hostage, then went to the house.

Lingle said Mrs. Williams told him her 280ZX, which McFadden took when he abducted her as he fled the Upshur County Jail Wednesday night, overheated about four miles north of Big Sandy off a farm-to-market road about 6 a.m. Thursday and they abandoned the vehicle.

Mrs. Williams told Lingle they hid in a railroad boxcar for almost 16 hours. During that time, she told Lingle, McFadden did not harm her.

Lingle said Mrs. Williams told him McFadden, 38, took her to a street corner and said, "Go," and she fled to the nearest house, where an occupant called police.

The hulking, full-bearded McFadden, who bears the inscription "Death before dishonor for the Lonesome Loser" among numerous tattoos on his chest, was awaiting trial on charges of murder, robbery and assault when he escaped from the jail in Gilmer, about 15 miles to the northeast.

During the moonless early morning hours today, Big Sandy was surrounded by a double perimeter of roadblocks. Police had their cars parked along Texas Highway 155 and U.S. 80 facing into the densely wooded undergrowth, shining their spotlights and headlights into ditches and culverts.

Tracking dogs were being used and residents were asked to remain indoors.

Lingle said Mrs. Williams, the mother of a 4-year-old son, was taken to Baylor Hospital in Gilmer by her husband and she told him she was fine, but Lingle said she did appear to be "shaken and in mild shock."

About 200 state, local and federal officials joined the search Thursday.

Jewkes said McFadden was being taken to the lobby of the jail to make a telephone call when he struck Sgt. Kenneth Mayfield between the eyes with a sharp piece of L-shaped metal believed torn from a jail cell window. He then locked Mayfield and another deputy, Stacey Mullinix, in a cell and abducted Williams, armed with Mayfield's .38-caliber service revolver.

Marine copter crashes

TOKYO — Rescuers today searched for three U.S. Marines listed as missing after their helicopter crashed at sea while taking part in night flight operations off Japan, a military spokesman said.

The crash occurred about 300 miles east of Hokkaido early today.

Marine Master Gunnery Sgt. Dale Hunter in Tokyo said the pilot and crew of the Marine UH-1N helicopter were operating from the amphibious assault ship Tarawa and were attached to a unit stationed at Marine Air Station El Toro near Tustin, Calif.

The unit was taking part in maneuvers to deploy Marines in the Western Pacific, according to Joanne Schilling, a public affairs officer at El Toro, southeast of Los Angeles.

Terrorists are linked

ROME (AP) — Terrorist bombings this week in France and West Germany point to links between European and Middle Eastern extremist groups, and there are signs their collaboration is increasing, Italy's interior minister said.

The minister, Oscar Luigi Scalfaro, told reporters Thursday that recent investigations in Italy have shown that terrorists, such as Italy's Red Brigades, are increasingly seeking help from those in other countries with similar objectives.

Militants occupy town

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — About 3,000 Protestants, some wearing masks and military uniforms, occupied the village of Hillsborough for an hour today, sealing off roads and marching up and down the main street, police said.

The Rev. Ian Paisley, who led the group, said it was a protest against the Anglo-Irish accord signed in Hillsborough Nov. 15.

The agreement gives the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Irish Republic a formal consultative role in running the British-ruled province of Northern Ireland, where Protestants outnumber Catholics.

Seven killed in Soweto

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Police said they killed four men in a firefight in Cape province today, a day after they shot and killed six guerrillas in a gunbattle near the Botswana border.

In the black township of Soweto, hundreds of black migrant workers and black residents clashed in running street battles today, witnesses said, and seven people were believed killed.

A police statement issued in Pretoria said officers stopped a car outside King William's Town in Cape province at about 8:15 a.m. Four men came out firing guns and threw a hand grenade, which did not detonate, the statement said.

Handguns kill family members

Wondering how to protect your home against dangerous intruders? If handguns are being considered, it might be wise to think again.

A study published in the current issue of the New England Journal of Medicine warns that handguns kept in the home for protection are far more likely to kill a family member than to protect against intruders.

The study, "Protection or Peril? An Analysis of Firearm-Related Deaths in the Home," investigated 743 firearm fatalities in the Seattle area between 1979 and 1983.

More than half, 398, occurred inside homes where the firearm was kept; 332 were suicides. Of 50 homicides, 42 occurred during arguments. There were 12 accidental gunshot deaths.

In six years, meanwhile, homeowners with guns shot and killed only two intruders.

National data support the Seattle findings. According to the National Center for Health Statistics, more than 14,000 Americans killed themselves with handguns in 1983.

Data extrapolated from the National Safety Council shows that 12,000 Americans die every year in handgun accidents. Another 9,000 to 10,000 people are murdered with handguns in this country every year.

In 1983, according to the FBI, only 158 citizens justifiably used handguns to kill strangers.

So how should a home be protected? Why not with good, sturdy locks and a dependable dog?

Unlike guns, neither locks or dogs pose a threat to children; neither lend themselves to suicide, nor shooting accidents involving children or visitors.

Nation's currency needs overhauling

Last year, for my son's first Christmas, his paternal grandparents decided to make a contribution toward his college education. Like most people, they stash their pennies in a jar, rather than carry the little nuisances around. So on Christmas, they presented my wife and me with a cookie tin filled with pennies. This struck me as a thoughtful gift, and as a clever way to dispose of their pennies.

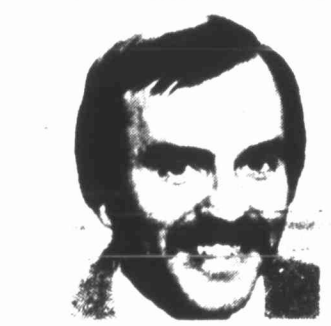

A few days later I loaded the tin into the car, along with a jar of pennies I had accumulated, and set out for a bank that could convert them into some usable form. Upon pulling into its parking lot, I placed my freight atop the trunk and closed the car door. At that moment, the containers slid off the car, fell to the asphalt and scattered the pennies to the four winds.

I spent the next half hour grinding my teeth and retrieving these miniature homages to Abraham Lincoln — all five thousands, two hundred and thirty-seven of them. Had a lawyer been handy at the time, I would have eagerly signed a document formally disowning my parents. Instead, I informed them that all future monetary gifts should be made in a form that will fit into a wallet.

Given this experience, readers will not be surprised to learn of my heartfelt support for a new campaign to overhaul the nation's currency. Step One is to stop minting pennies and allow merchants to round the price of a purchase up or down to the nearest nickel. Step Two is to eliminate the dollar bill and replace it with a coin. Result: Freedom from our enslavement to an outmoded currency.

The idea is being pushed by a coalition of groups — an anti-blindness foundation, convenience stores, vending machine operators and commercial parking lots. Each of them has a special motive. The blind can distinguish among coins but not among bills, so they would welcome a dollar coin. Convenience stores would be spared the cost of handling pennies. Vending machines would no longer lose purchases by people who have nothing smaller than a dollar. Parking lots could rely more on automated cashiers.

But the rest of us also stand to gain. No more pockets bulging with 1-cent pieces that won't buy anything. No more copper-filled jars on the dresser. No more swearing at balky dollar-bill changers.

The change also conforms to the demands of the Gramm-Rudman era. It would save the Treasury $50 million a year, Fortune magazine reports, since a dollar coin would outlast the paper version. The government would no longer have to replace the 1.4 billion pennies that vanish from circulation every year.

Other government units would also gain: Municipalities that provide mass transit, for instance, would be spared the expense of handling dollar bills. If the dollar bill had been replaced with a dollar coin before now, the Chicago Transit Authority wouldn't have had to spend $15 million to outfit buses with fare boxes that accept bills.

Of course, a dollar coin was introduced in 1979 — a smaller, more practical one than the clunky old silver dollar. But it was abandoned the following year for a disastrous lack of public acceptance. The Susan B. Anthony fell victim to two mistakes: the Treasury's failure to make it easy to distinguish, by sight and by feel, from the quarter, and the preservation of the dollar bill. The Dollar Penny Coalition recommends an 11-sided, smooth-edged, brass coin, to avoid confusion, with the dollar bill scrapped to encourage the coin's acceptance.

All this sounds fine until we get to rounding off prices, where the consumer's instinct is to expect the worst. But the change won't matter much, since the worst that can happen is a 2-cent price increase for an entire purchase — from, say, $23.78 for a bag of groceries to $23.80.

Supreme Court's decision on libel lets truth be told

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court handed down a landmark decision last week directing federal judges to throw out many frivolous libel suits before they go to trial.

The decision will save publishers and broadcasters millions of dollars in legal expenses, as potential plaintiffs think twice about filing suit in the heat of wounded pride. It will also thwart the more sinister elements that use libel suits or the threat of them to harass and intimidate the press.

But the ultimate winners are the American people, which is why the Supreme Court decision is a perfect gift to the nation in time for its 210th birthday party.

Once again, editors concerned about corruption, wrongdoing and general chicanery by public officials and figures will be able to print the sordid, embarrassing truth without fear of a libel suit that could bankrupt them even if they eventually win.

No longer will reporters and editors have to self-censor their investigative efforts to avoid trouble. The public will be better served now that the court has taken off our handcuffs.

We're pleased that we were directly involved in this significant victory for the press and the public. The decision last week came on a libel suit against us by the Liberty Lobby and its founder, Willis Carto. The Supreme Court ruled that a public figure plaintiff is not entitled to a trial unless he presents "clear and convincing evidence" that the defendants knowingly or recklessly published falsehoods about him.

Our attorney, David J. Branson of Kaye, Scholer, Fierman, Hays and Handler, said: "Jack Anderson acted courageously in telling his readers about the anti-Semitic, neo-Nazi, racist and fascist nature of the Liberty Lobby, and I'm delighted that the Supreme Court so strongly stated its rule to protect the press when it takes such stands."

Gratified as we are by the outcome of this case and its portent for the future, we are realistic enough to recognize that the decision will not discourage the most virulent opponents of a free press. To some groups and individuals, money is no consideration. These well-heeled litigants will continue to harass broadcasters and publishers who dare to cross them, for a suit that is thrown out before trial can still involve serious expenses for the media.

Indeed, even the big boys will feel the pinch of libel suits they win in the relatively early stages. CBS, for example, spent an average of $100,000 a month in the preliminary — that is, pre-trial — rounds of Gen. William Westmoreland's 1983 suit against the network. If the case had been thrown out under the new Supreme Court rule, the costs would still have been enormous.

But the court has at least reversed the trend toward frivolous litigation that was threatening to bankrupt the courageous members of the press and muzzle the rest.

We consider it a grand Fourth of July salute.

TAKING LIBERTIES: The Statue of Liberty doing a striptease? Hollywood showman David Wolper has been criticized by some for lack of taste in the extravaganza he prepared for the rededication of the statue in New York Harbor, but the strip was one of many he mixed on grounds of taste. A French couturier had suggested a huge gown be draped over Miss Liberty's ample frame from the shoulders, then dropped around her feet at the instant President Reagan pressed the button that lit the statue's torch.

Wolper and his crew sifted through more than 40,000 suggestions from all over the world, groaning and guffawing over the wackiest ones. For example:

- A tightrope artist wanted to string his high wire from the statue's torch to Ellis Island and walk it after the torch was lit.

- A group of Hawaiian merchants wanted to drop a gigantic lei around Liberty's neck from a helicopter while hula dancers shimmied at her feet.

- A minister volunteered to bring his congregation up from Georgia to walk on the water during the ceremonies.

- A cosmetics maker wanted to paint the statue's lips with a new lipstick shade specially designed for the occasion.

- A woman who claimed she was named Miss Liberty in 1917 called to say she was still in fine shape and would like to entertain.

- One ding-a-ling idea Wolper did agree to was for all the church and school bells in the country to ring 30 seconds before President Reagan lit the torch.

LIBERTY, NO LICENSE: The U.S. Postal Service has accused a Hollywood, Fla., company with mail fraud for falsely advertising its gold and silver Liberty trinkets as if they were official U.S. coins. The U.S. Mint did produce Statue of Liberty commemorative coins, but the $175 proof sets were sold out last December.

In its complaint, the postal service says the Federal Mint Corp. falsely claims to be affiliated with the government, falsely claims its coins are legal tender, falsely claims to be the official minter of Liberty commemorative coins and falsely states that the government limited the number of proof sets to 25,000.

Newspaper ads pictured the spurious Liberty coin between two authentic commemoratives, and stated: "New issue direct from mint ... 1986-D series Statue of Liberty gold and silver proof set." The price for the unofficial set is $345; the ads say the price will increase to $575 after July 4.

Federal Mint Corp. could not be reached for comment.

Library offers local children new frontiers

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

This week's report on the summer reading program at the Howard County Library reminded me of a passage written by sociologist Ernest Callenbach.

"... a library is just a good place to know about," he writes in "Living Poor With Style." "(The atmosphere created by a large collection of books is unique in the world.) And once you know how to find things in a library, you open gigantic new frontiers of both knowledge and feeling — for in books are distilled the whole mental and emotional history of the human race."

Our county librarian, Donna Jackson, reported the summer program has drawn 334 children so far this year.

The program is still open for interested children who can read 10 books or more to earn a certificate.

What's the value of offering a summer reading program to kids? I asked her.

"To familiarize children with the library," she said. "To make a library a more interesting and inviting place for kids in the community."

I also asked her what value a library has in a child's life. "It can expand their interest. They can become more aware of the world around them," she said.

But she gave another answer that I like best (keep in mind Callenbach's description).

"They can be more comfortable with their own experiences because of reading about other kids' similar experiences," she said.

Children who explore the library and what it has to offer will find they are not quite alone in the world, Jackson added.

She emphasized that a child who has never been away from Big Spring still can explore and learn what other parts of the world offer.

And maybe go there some day — who knows, I thought.

On Wednesday, I slipped into the county library — just to steal a peek.

At a table near the periodical lounge, I saw a few children sitting together, their eyes entrenched upon the pages as they thumbed through some magazines.

Callenbach and Jackson sing a similar song.

What an asset for Howard County.

Cocaine deaths, injuries climbing

By The Associated Press

Teen raped, stashed in trunk

DALLAS (AP) — A 30-year-old man was charged with rape after his teen-age victim poked out a taillight on his car and a truck driver saw her waving her arm through the hole, authorities say.

Walter Douglas Clark Sr. was charged Wednesday with aggravated sexual assault and was being held in Denton County Jail on $100,000 bond, authorities said. Clark also was charged with kidnapping in Dallas, said Sgt. Joe Murdock.

Clark kidnapped a 14-year-old girl in Dallas, forced her into the trunk of his car and drove her to Lewisville and raped her, police said. He was captured by a Carrollton officer who saw him trying to drag her to the Trinity River.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cocaine use among Americans may have peaked five years ago, but deaths from cocaine-related heart attacks and emergency room visits have roughly tripled since then, federal drug-abuse experts said Thursday.

"We're picking up the people who are falling off the cliff," said Dr. Donald Ian Macdonald, head of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

Macdonald said medical authorities have long been aware of the risk of sudden death from cocaine use, but that danger until recently was eclipsed in the debate over cocaine's addictiveness and its mind-altering characteristics.

That changed dramatically last month after University of Maryland basketball star Len Bias and Cleveland Browns defensive back Don Rogers died suddenly, both after using cocaine.

There are four documented ways cocaine can kill suddenly, Macdonald said:

- Cocaine's sudden stimulation of the central nervous system can send a person into convulsions, followed by collapse of the respiratory system.

- The drug can affect the nerves that regulate the heart-beat, leading to an irregular beat called arrhythmia. The most serious arrhythmia, ventricular fibrillation, can result in cardiac arrest and almost instantaneous death.

- Cocaine stimulates the heart to beat faster, requiring more oxygen, while at the same time narrowing the blood vessels that carry oxygen to the heart. A section of the heart muscle can be starved of oxygen and damaged, a situation known clinically as myocardial infarction or more commonly as a heart attack.

- The same stimulated heart-beat can rapidly increase blood pressure, and the rapid increase can burst a weak blood vessel in the brain that can handle the ordinary pressure. The result is intracranial hemorrhage, or a stroke.

Ironically, Macdonald said, the dangers are appearing as cocaine use may have leveled off. While anecdotes abound of soaring cocaine use, he said, "the data that we crank out don't show that."

Among people aged 18 to 25, the percentage using cocaine in the previous year rose from 8.1 percent in 1974 to 19.6 percent in 1979, but then dropped to 18.8 percent in 1982, according to government figures. Among high school seniors, past-year use of cocaine has varied only a little over the past six years, from 12.0 percent in 1979 to 13.1 percent in 1985, the government figures show. A University of Michigan study of college students showed past-year use of cocaine varying only from 16.9 percent in 1980 to 17.3 percent in 1985.

But the serious medical consequences of cocaine use are appearing in sharply rising numbers, officials said.

Reports from hospital emergency rooms in 26 metropolitan areas showed 3,296 visits due to cocaine in 1981, rising to 5,783 in 1983 to 9,946 in 1985. Current trends project a total of about 13,000 this year, Schuster said.

Concert draws horsey crowd

DALLAS (AP) — What with Wilbur, a mess of Edheads, groups and Nurse Goodbody's First Ed station all on hand to pay tribute to television's only talking horse, James Burnett happily declared his first "Live Ed" a success.

Of course, he was comparing Thursday night's shamelessly shallow benefit concert with "Edstock," the concert disaster that saddled his Mister Ed Fan Club with a $15,000 debt in the first place.

But more than 500 people hoofed it over to the Loews Anatole hotel to gawk at the man who played alongside Mister Ed for six television seasons from 1961-66 and beebop with an array of musicians.

Jury sentences one to prison

DALLAS (AP) — State District Judge Jack Hampton will decide whether a man convicted of kidnapping and raping his ex-girlfriend will serve his two 10-year prison sentences consecutively or concurrently.

A state district court jury convicted David Lloyd Cupples, 31, on Tuesday of attacking the woman and forcing her boyfriend to watch.

Four co-defendants have received probated sentences by the jury on Thursday.

Duncanville police arrested six men on Feb. 16 after receiving a phone call from a 20-year-old man who said he and his girlfriend had been abducted at knife-point.

Investigators said the woman, who was bound to a wooden chopping table with a coat hanger during her ordeal, freed herself moments before police arrived at the home in the suburb south of Dallas.

During two days of testimony, the woman testified the attack took place after she went to the home of Cupples, her former boyfriend, to pick up her clothing.

The woman said her current boyfriend, to whom she is now married, was tied up and forced to watch the attack.

Deputy uses God-given gift

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Bennie Green, who says he's the kid who played the piano at church with his feet dangling, has just cut his first cassette tape, titled "Bennie Green Plays."

"Several of my friends asked me to make a tape, so I did it for the fun of it," said Green, 33, a deputy sheriff in charge of the warrant division for Howard County.

Green said he made the tape to sell to friends and in his home town — Ackerly. He said he made 50 at a recording studio in Odessa and that almost all have been sold.

"But I'm going to order some more," he added.

The tape features Green playing old time country and gospel selections on the piano and organ.

"I play the piano every day," he said, explaining he began on his grandmother's pedal organ when he was three.

"I play by ear," Green said. He added he wishes he could read music, but he doesn't want to take lessons.

"Some people say if I'd learn to read music that I'd lose my feeling for the music. This way I have my own style," he said. Raised in a religious background of gospel music, Green says he enjoys gospel and old country music. "I've always had the desire to play the piano in a gospel quartet and travel," he said. "But it would be hard to give up my law enforcement and leave my family."

He limits his talent to playing at his church, East 4th Street Baptist, and charity-related events.

"I feel it (playing the piano) is a God-given gift and I want to use it for that," he said.

He said he also sings and plays the guitar, five-string banjo, mandolin, and the fiddle.

After graduating from high school, Green reported he played in a country and western band based at Ackerly.

"We played at talent shows, country and western jamborees, charity benefits, Lions Club events and the county fair," he said.

He also plays at weddings and other churches "when they need someone," Green says.

He anticipated his next tape will be "in the distant future" and might include a bass guitar, drums and vocals.

Green added his little boy, Coby, 2½, also may have the music in him. "He already bangs on the piano."

Loy leads prayer and poem

Renee Loy, spiritual life director, presented a prayer and read the poem "A Lover's Quarrel With the World," written by Robbie Judah Mintz at a recent meeting of the Women of the First Church of God.

Also presented was "Journey to Advocacy" by Frances Miller, unit vice president. She defined the Biblical background and understanding of advocacy.

The unit history book, which will be judged July 17 at the Texas Camp Meeting in Eastland, was presented by Kathryn Thomas, unit historian. A Prayer Retreat will be August 18 under the direction of the spiritual life department.

Concert slated for July 12

Wayne Watson In Concert will be shown via satellite at Baptist Temple, 11th and Goliad, July 12 at 7:30 p.m.

A vocalist, songwriter, producer and musician, Watson says he's trying to minister to the body of Christ — to point out things as he sees them in himself.

"And to bring people to a realization of Christ in their homes, problems and special circumstances," he said.

Since the beginning of his musical career in 1978, Watson has toured with The Imperials, Farrell & Farrell, The Cruse Family, Dion, Mike Warnke, Russell Taff and B.J. Thomas.

The church requests that everyone enter through the door on the south parking lot.

Cuban-born Jesuit is first to become Hispanic bishop in the Houston area

HOUSTON (AP) — A Cuban-born Jesuit who has become the first Hispanic bishop in the Roman Catholic diocese of Galveston-Houston had a special message for his Vietnamese parishioners — in Vietnamese.

"I told them I have sympathy with them and I am also a refugee," the Most Rev. Enrique San Pedro said after his two-hour ordination Sunday night. "I understand their suffering."

His audience, smiling with pride, rewarded his multi-lingual efforts with two standing ovations, although the former Vietnamese missionary who left Cuba in 1946 said his command of the Asiatic language was "rusty."

"I think he is great," said Linda Nguyen, 19, of Houston, who came to the United States in 1980.

About 7,000 Catholics — including visitors from Miami, Rome, Venezuela and Cuba — gathered in a downtown convention center to watch the Most Rev. Joseph A. Fiorenza, bishop of the Houston-based diocese, ordain the 60-year-old Jesuit as the diocese's new auxiliary bishop.

"Bishop San Pedro is a very special gift to our diocese," Fiorenza said.

San Pedro, who speaks seven languages and served as a missionary in China, the Philippines and Vietnam, is only the third Jesuit to be named bishop in the United States. One is an auxiliary in Washington, and the other is diocesan bishop in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Among his new duties, San Pedro will serve as a pastor of the Sacred Heart Co-Cathedral, where two Masses are spoken in Vietnamese each Sunday. He will also be vicar for Hispanic ministries and for the Central Vicariate, an area of 36 parishes in heavily Hispanic central Houston.

About 45 percent of the diocese's 600,000 members are Hispanic, and there is also a growing Vietnamese community.

San Pedro has a formidable task ahead of him as Houston, like other American cities, is beset with violence, drug and alcohol addiction, divorce, consumerism and racism, Archbishop Patrick Flores of San Antonio said.

"We are ready to stand by you at all times and support your ministry," Flores said.

Speaking gently to his new congregation in English, Spanish and Vietnamese, San Pedro assured his diverse audience he will try to do his best to help them.

"I have no plans. I can only promise I will try to be a good auxiliary bishop," he said.

His new congregation appeared enthusiastic — especially Hispanics who greeted his speech in Spanish with a loud burst of applause.

"He is the greatest they have ever brought to us," said Matilda Olive, 40, who came to the United States 25 years ago. "He is a very humble person, and he is very willing to help us."

San Pedro was in Miami as a parish priest, a theology teacher at local seminaries and a chaplain for the Dade County Detention Center when Pope John Paul II named him in April to take the place of the Most Rev. John E. McCarthy in Houston. McCarthy is now the senior bishop in Austin.

San Pedro was a professor in South Vietnam from 1965 to 1975. He speaks Italian, French, German and Latin in addition to the three languages he used Sunday. He studied Chinese for two years to become a missionary in China, he said.

"Now I have to get the Texas accent," he joked.

Methodists urged to stand by Bible on issues

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — United Methodists are "coming apart at the seams" because leaders don't follow the Bible on tough issues like abortion and homosexuality, a leading conservative Methodist says.

In a keynote address, the Rev. Ed Robb III told a meeting of the church's conservative Good News group that the "cannibalization of the gospel" has led the church's Rocky Mountain Annual conference to let gay minister Julian Rush of Denver continue work as a pastor.

Robb is pastor of the 1,400-member Woodlands United Methodist Church outside Houston.

"We have divorced ourselves from biblical truth and have jumped in bed with the secular humanists," said Robb, reading an address based on notes prepared by his father, evangelist and conservative political activist Eugene W. Robb.

The elder Robb could not attend because of health problems.

Nearly 2 million United Methodists have left the denomination in the last 20 years, Robb said. The church now has 9.5 million members.

In the Denver-based, Rocky Mountain Annual conference, records show membership was 106,241 in 1975 and 91,063 in 1985.

"There are some things that are non-negotiable for us evangelicals," said Robb in Monday night's speech. "We believe adultery is wrong, marriage is sacred, homosexuality is an abomination, human life from conception is sacred, abortion is evil, emancipation of women is right, working for the poor is a mandate, the suppression of liberty is diabolical... Why? Because the Bible tell us so."

Methodism, said Robb, "began as a mighty marching army," but has become "a tedious bureaucracy" that allows "a cafeteria-style approach" to the Bible in which members can "pick and choose what they wish."

Cause of skin white spots varies

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I clipped a letter from your column some time back that discussed tinea versicolor. You called it a fungus infection for which there were many lotions. Is the medication used for athlete's foot appropriate for it? My boyfriend is embarrassed by the white skin patches that appear on the backs of his hands and other parts of his body in the summer when he tans. We would appreciate your advice.

— K.B.

First, your friend has to determine whether this pigment loss is from a fungal infection. Tinea versicolor is only one of those, a problem encountered by many in Vietnam. He might have vitiligo, a rather common occurrence, for which anti-fungal medicine is of no help. Rarely, such depigmentation can reflect a thyroid gland disturbance or other underlying problems.

I'm not trying to upset you. I merely want to point out the hazards of trying to self-diagnose. If he has been told that this is tinea versicolor, then there are effective lotions to try. Unfortunately, the common anti-fungals sold over the counter for athlete's foot won't be helpful. There are medicines that are used for both conditions (miconazole and clotrimazole), but they are expensive, especially since you have to cover such a wide area of skin. So selenium sulfide is most commonly used for the versicolor problem.

I'd feel a lot more comfortable if I knew your friend was going to see a doctor to find out just what kind of a skin problem he does have before he starts medicating himself.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My

Anxiety and a new baby

NEW YORK (AP) — A new baby may upset your life, but don't despair, says Dr. Judith Kuriansky in Family Circle magazine.

Most first-time experiences naturally cause anxiety.

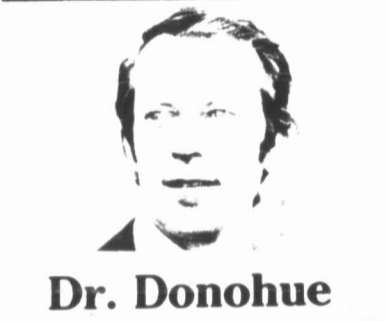

To a husband and wife in dispute over how to respond to a new baby, Kuriansky says: "If your worries are causing you to lose sleep and disrupting your marriage, you could be overreacting. Calm down. Discuss ways you both can assume responsibility for baby care with reasonable, shared concern."

How about the husband who suddenly acts like a stranger toward the new mother?

Says Kuriansky: "Tell him about your need to be close. Discuss ways to take a respite from parental roles. You both deserve to feel wanted and loved, now more than ever."

father contracted the rare muscle disorder known as Guillain-Barre syndrome seven months ago. We don't see much improvement. Could you give me some information about it and any medication he can take to improve his condition so he can walk again? How long does this condition last? — V.B.

Let me review this rather enigmatic illness briefly.

Guillain-Barre (GEE-an-bar-AY) syndrome is aneurial disorder that causes paralysis. Some (but not a lot) of the mystery surrounding it has been eliminated. We know that in it there is a crumbling of nerve-insulating material. Never transmission cannot take place, so muscles don't work.

It most often begins to happen after a seemingly innocent respiratory or digestive tract infection. The person first notices peculiar sensations in the feet and legs, then becomes weak. That weakness creeps upward in the body. If it rises to the lung level, breathing ability is impaired and a respirator is required.

In most cases, this ascending paralysis process stops in a few weeks. The convalescent period then begins, and recovery can be quite slow. For some, it may take a year or more to regain former muscle strength. Only a relative few have some permanent weakness (one or two out of 10). I hope your father is continuing with physical therapy in spite of the apparent discouraging results so far. There is no drug that stops the process.

We're not yet sure what causes the problem. The loss of nerve insulations seems to be a case of the body mounting an auto-immune attack on that tissue. That, in turn, may be triggered by the viral infection. I hope your father has a turn for the better soon.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our 12-year-old son has rashes. He's very healthy and all doctors can suggest is allergy. Short of going through the whole process of shots and tests, what can a parent do? — Mrs. R.O.

You may eventually have to endure the testing, but there are certain allergens that are more prominent among the host of possibilities. In one study, the most common causes of food reaction in children were found to be three — milk, peanuts and eggs. It would not be difficult to withdraw those foods for a trial period to see if he improves. That's not much for you to go on, I'll admit, but it is a start.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hial hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Hial Hernia, Heartburn and Acid Reflux." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Many heads are better than one when helping hair-loss victims

DEAR ABBY: I was deeply touched by the letter from the woman who had lost all her hair and asked you for something clever to say to her gentleman friend when she removed her wig in his presence for the first time.

Nearly 2 million people are affected by alopecia areata — a condition characterized by a permanent loss of hair.

The National Alopecia Areata Foundation is a resource for people like the woman who wrote to you. We have a bimonthly newsletter dealing with how to cope with that condition from a medical, emotional and cosmetic perspective. We also have support groups throughout the United States and Canada.

Please publish our address. It could benefit thousands of men and women who are hiding from society due to embarrassment. They need to know that they are not alone — that there is counseling and support as well as a safe place to share their feelings with others in the same boat.

Dear Abby

years of marriage, my parents were divorced. Father had someone else. They're not married, but they're living together. Mother is very bitter and I am angry.

What I want to know is, should I allow my father and his lady friend to pick up my young children and entertain them for a couple of hours? Dad even asked if he could take his grandchildren out of town for a weekend.

I prefer that my children see their grandfather alone. I still have a lot of bitterness and resentment toward his lady friend. She's everything he taught me I should not be while I was growing up.

STILL BITTER

DEAR BITTER: If you refuse to allow your children to spend time with your father unless he excludes his lady friend, you'll build walls between them and their grandfather when bridges would be to their benefit. If you want your children to grow up knowing their grandfather, you may have to do it on his terms. While your resentment toward his lady friend is understandable, for the sake of your children, give her a chance.

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for the father who tried to convince his family to settle for a less elaborate wedding for his eldest daughter. Happy wedding day memories are not dependent upon ruffled shirts and wear-once dresses. Those who can least afford it go into debt to put on showy weddings.

As a young girl, I recall how impressed I was to read about the simplicity of the Lindbergh-Morrow wedding. Despite the affluence of the Morrow family, Charles Lindbergh picked a bridal bouquet of larkspur and columbine for his Anne. How romantic!

My motto: Dare to be different on the side of simplicity.

IDA WOZNY, SEQUIM, WASH.

DEAR IDA: Read on for another wedding where simplicity prevailed:

DEAR ABBY: When my sister became engaged, she wanted our dad to spring for a big, expensive wedding, but Dad said, "Have a simple wedding in the rabbi's study, and if you're still married 36 months from now, I'll foot the bill for a big, fancy wedding and you can renew your vows."

Dad was smart. Twenty-two months later my sister filed for divorce. (Dad paid for that, too. And gladly.)

Thorns rips Internationals for four

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

Midland Tower catcher-pitcher extraordinaire Robert Thorns hit his second homer in two games and emerged as one of the leading players in the tournament as Midland Tower eliminated Big Spring International with a 12-3 win at National League park Thursday night.

Thorns drove in four runs, the first two on a second-inning triple to deep left that just missed the top of the fence. When the towering catcher came to the plate for the final time in the top of the fifth, he hammered a Mike Gamboa pitch so hard and high that no one at the park doubted it was a round-tripper.

Thorns walked in the first and fourth innings, scoring in the fourth.

He also played an aggressive game behind the plate, repeatedly scaring International League runners back to their bases by taking each pitch and running it halfway back to the mound, holding the ball high and daring the runners.

Midland pitcher Mark Pearson went the distance, giving up seven hits and striking out seven. He shut out the Big Spring team for the first five innings.

International League pitcher Mike Gamboa struck out nine and surrendered 14 hits in going the distance.

Midland Tower opened the top of the first by loading the bases on two walks and an error. Sean McIntosh singled Donnie Trentham home, but the Midland rally fizzled when Gamboa fanned two straight batters.

The Internationals threatened in their half of the first, loading the bases on two singles and a walk. A groundout ended the bid, and typified the International League's night — they would strand 12 runners in the game, and 10 before finally scoring in the sixth.

Midland Tower rocked the Big Spring team for five runs in the second. Johnny Vandever led off with a safe bunt, and advanced on a walk and a sacrifice.

Damien Lopez lined a double to left that scored Vandever. Thorns followed with his two-run triple, and Midland added one more on a Mark Seidenberger sacrifice.

Midland tallied four runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth. At the end of five, they led 12-0.

Big Spring International came to bat in the top of the sixth looking for nothing less than a miracle. They didn't get the miracle, but they showed heart by scoring three runs in avoiding the shutout.

Substitute Robert Ruiz opened the stanza by drawing a walk, and second man up Robert Lopez took first after getting nailed by a Pearson fastball. After Randy Hernandez singled to load the bases, Pearson walked Louis Bustamante, and Ruiz walked home for the International's first run.

Gamboa sacrificed Lopez home, and substitute Saul Burciaga lined a single to score Hernandez. A Zapata pop-out ended the inning, but the International League subs had proved their mettle. Two substitutes scored, and another drove in the final run.

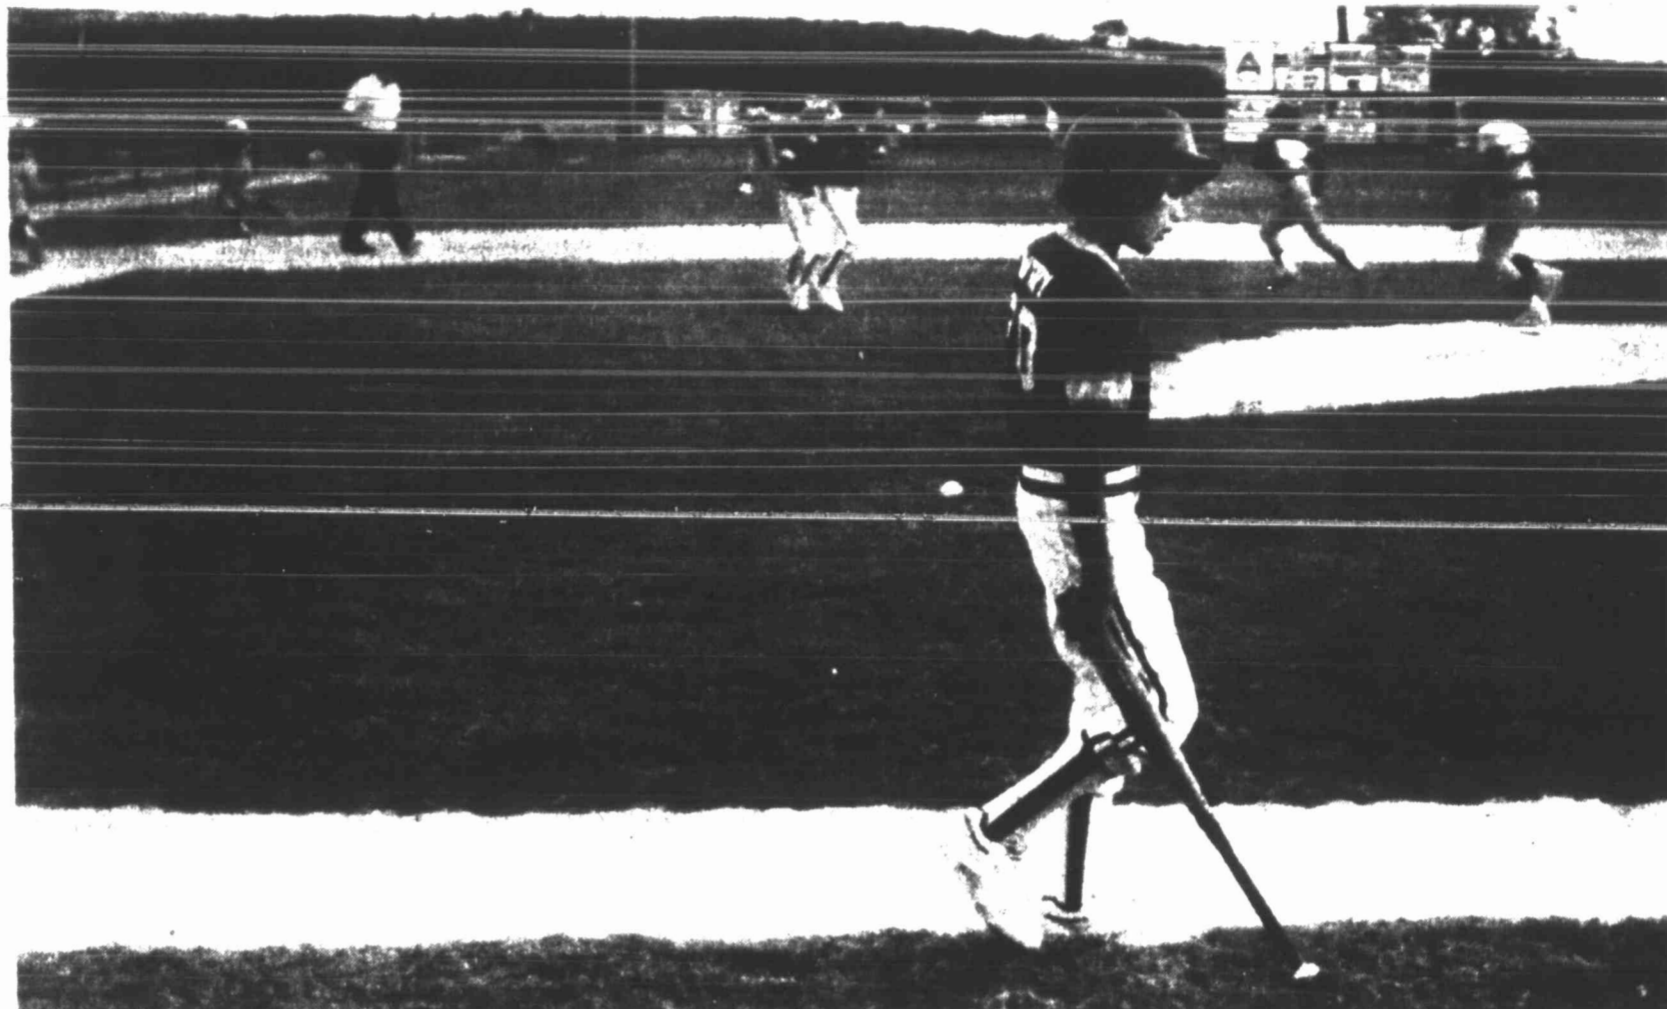

Midland Tower advanced to the second round of the loser's bracket, and will face the loser of tonight's Odessa Northeastern Texas-Midland Eastern game.

Odessa Southern 9

Midland Mid-City 6

Odessa Southern eliminated Midland Mid-City from the tournament by taking a 4-3 decision in seven innings at the American League field last night.

With the score tied 6-6 at the end of regulation play, Southern rallied for three runs in the top of the seventh. It then held Mid-City scoreless in the bottom half of the inning to win the game.

Midland Tower left fielder Aaron Awtrey walks dejectedly back to the dugout after Big Spring International League pitcher Mike Gamboa struck him out to end the second inning. Awtrey redeemed himself with a run scoring double in the fourth inning.

Lonnie Jones was the hero for Southern. Trailing 6-3 in the top of the sixth, Jones came up to bat against Steven Jeffcoat with one out and two men on base. Jones tied the contest with a three-run shot over the right center field fence.

Rudy Andrate was the winning pitcher for Southern, which is now 1-1 in tournament play.

Hits — Southern 5, Mid-City 7; Errors — Southern 4, Mid-City 3; 2B — Mid-City: Travis Baumgardner, Marty Erevia; HR — Southern: Lonnie Jones, WP — Rudy Andrate, LP — Steven Jeffcoat; Southern 010 023 3-9; Mid-City 202 200 0-6

Alamo jumped out to a 5-2 after the first two innings of play and never looked back. West scored both of its runs in the second inning, due to two balks by Ramirez and a passed ball. Ramirez went the distance while striking out seven and walking six. Nathan Bell took the loss for West.

Odessa Alamo 12

Odessa West 2

At the International League field, Odessa West exited from the tournament after taking a 12-2 licking from Odessa Alamo as Alamo hurler Sammy Ramirez fired a no-hitter.

Alamo is now 1-1 in tournament play.

The other AL pitchers will be Don Aase of Baltimore, Mike Witt of California, Ken Schrom of Cleveland, Willie Hernandez of Detroit, Ted Higuera of Milwaukee, Dave Righetti of New York and Charlie Hough of Texas. ### U.S. women whip Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — With Cheryl Miller leading the way with 18 points, the U.S. women's basketball team handed the Soviet Union its first major tournament defeat in 28 years, 83-60, and won a gold medal at the Goodwill Games. The last time the Soviet women's national team had lost in major international competition was 1958, against Bulgaria. Other than that, the only loss for the USSR women in 154 games was to the United States in 1957. A team of Soviet cyclists set a world record in the 4,000-meter pursuit for the second day in a row — their time of four minutes, 12.31 seconds also was good for a gold medal.

Rookie leading Bush golf

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. Stills, 28, and Mudd, a five-year tour veteran looking for his first victory, both played morning rounds over the 6,776-yard, par-71 Kingsmill Golf Club course. Local pro Tony DeLuca and Jeff Sluman were tied for second at 66.

Senior 'Stars' advance to sectionals

The Big Spring Senior League All-Stars (age 13) advanced to the sectional playoffs by sweeping the Coahoma All-Stars in the best two-of-three series at Roy Anderson Complex.

Big Spring won the first game 27-5 behind the five-hit pitching of Thomas Hernandez. Dutch Barr was the losing pitcher for the Coahoma All-Stars.

Coahoma scored two runs in the top of the first, but Big Spring exploded for 12 runs on six hits in its first at bat. In all, Big Spring hitters pounded out 18 hits.

Louis Soldan led the hitting parade with two doubles and two singles. Neal Mayfield collected two singles and a triple and Shannon Coots added a single and triple. Raymond Ramirez and Michael Schaeffer got two singles each.

For Coahoma, Rusty Ginnett led the way with two singles. Shane Kemper had a double.

Big Spring won the second game 17-2 as Coots got the win in four innings. Soldan came on in relief and pitched the final three innings. The duo combined for a one-hitter.

Soldan again led the Big Spring batting attack with two doubles and two singles. Freddie Rodriguez added three singles and Dimas Morales got two singles. Shane Kemper's single was Coahoma's lone hit in the game.

NCAA to investigate Houston Cougars

HOUSTON (AP) — The NCAA will investigate allegations of player play-offs and other irregularities at the University of Houston, officials say.

"I have received a call from them and they told me they would come down and do a review," interim Athletic Director Mike Johnson said Thursday. "They said they're up to their ears in investigations and they'd be down when they had someone free."

The school ordered its own investigation after two former Cougars said in March that coaches, including head coach Bill Yeoman, had paid them thousands of dollars while they were in school.

Wide receiver Lonell Phea said he was given about $18,000 over his four years, most of it in $200 and $300 increments. David Roberson, also a wide receiver, estimated his total between $8,000 and $10,000.

Johnson, who was named interim athletic director in June after former director Tom Ford resigned, said the NCAA gave no indication whether it would limit its study to the football program.

"I really don't think they're going to find much, if anything. If there's anything going on, I don't think it's a heck of a lot. Bill Yeoman is a fine man and a fine coach. I have a lot of confidence in him."

The in-house investigation, being conducted by the Houston law firm of Liddell, Sapp & Zivley, is expected to be completed in a week or two, said Houston Chancellor Richard Van Horn.

Van Horn said the firm had interviewed 40 to 50 former players. Yeoman was interviewed for the first time Thursday by attorney Walter P. Zivley, who is heading the investigation.

Yeoman declined comment, a stand he has taken since March. Van Horn said the investigation results would be made available to the NCAA.

Gwynn hits Padres past Cardinals, 4-3

By The Associated Press

In his first 3½ seasons, Tony Gwynn tattooed National League pitchers for a .325 average — including a batting title in 1984 — and 559 hits, only 13 of which were home runs. Suddenly, he's hitting long balls as well as short balls. The 26-year-old outfielder showed off his multi-talented bat Thursday with a double, an RBI single in the fifth inning that pulled San Diego within one run and his ninth home run in the eighth, tying the score 3-3. Kevin McReynolds followed Gwynn's homer with one of his own and the Padres beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3.

"I can't pinpoint why I have nine home runs," said the lefty-hitting Gwynn, whose previous single-season high was six. "For me, it's unbelievable. I've never hit this many since college. And five of them are off left-handers. It's been a strange season. I'm hitting close to .380 against lefties."

Thursday's victim was left-hander John Tudor, 6-5, who hasn't won since June 7. The three hits lifted Gwynn into the NL batting lead with a .340 mark.

In other NL games, Houston trounced Philadelphia 11-4 for Mark Knudson's first major-league victory and remained tied with San Francisco, a 6-3 winner over Pittsburgh, atop the West Division. Elsewhere, New York downed Atlanta 5-1. Montreal outlasted Cincinnati 8-6 and Los Angeles whipped Chicago 11-4.

While Gwynn has been on a hot streak, it was the first home run for McReynolds since June 14.

Astros 11, Phillies 4
Knudson, 1-3, overcame a rocky start as Houston ripped Philadelphia. He gave up two runs in the first inning but then retired 16 batters in a row before he gave up four consecutive singles in the seventh and was relieved. Knudson had plenty of support from Glenn Davis, who drove in four runs, and Denny Walling was 4-for-4, including a pair of doubles.

Giants 6, Pirates 3

Bob Brenly's three-run homer and rookie Randy Kutcher's solo shot highlighted a five-run fifth inning as San Francisco beat visiting Pittsburgh. Kutcher also doubled and scored in the third and his homer was his fifth in just 87 at-bats. Winning pitcher Vida Blue, 6-4, allowed one run and six hits in five innings.

Mets 5, Braves 1

George Foster hit a three-run double and Gary Carter homered, backing the seven-hit pitching of Bob Ojeda as the Mets ended a three-game losing streak, which matched their longest of the season, by beating Atlanta. Ojeda, 10-2, won his fourth straight decision, allowing only an unearned run. Only two batters gave him any trouble — Terry Harper was 4-for-4. Dale Murphy 3-for-3.

Expos 8, Reds 6

Vance Law's two-run triple highlighted a six-run fourth inning, all with two out, as Montreal outlasted Cincinnati. Winner Bryn Smith gave up four runs in seven innings and Jeff Reardon put down a Cincinnati rally in the ninth for his 20th save as the Expos snapped visiting Cincinnati's three-game winning streak.

Dodgers 11, Cubs 4

Ken Landreaux's two-run double keyed a five-run first inning and Reggie Williams collected three hits as Los Angeles overpowered Chicago.

The Dodgers knocked out rookie Jamie Moyer, 1-2, while equaling their most productive inning of the season. Landreaux extended his hitting streak to six games with his two-run double and scored on Williams' single. Mariano Duncan's sacrifice fly made it 4-0 before Hershiser greeted reliever Dave Gumpert with an infield hit that scored Williams from second.

Red Sox blunders give Angels game

By The Associated Press
A dropped fly, a bad throw, and a wrong move by a pitcher who never pitched — and Dwight Evans trotted home with the winning run.

AL

Thursday night's meeting of the American League's division leaders ended in the 12th inning with a balk by California pitcher Todd Fischer, enabling the Boston Red Sox to defeat the Angels 8-7.
The Red Sox undid a three-run rally by California in the top of the 12th by scoring three normal-looking runs ... and a weird one that surprised even themselves.

The normal part: The Red Sox fell behind 3-1 in the first three innings, then went ahead 4-3 in the sixth. The Angels tied the game in the eighth and it went into extra innings.

Then things began getting a little weird. Steve Crawford, Boston pitcher No. 4, got the first two batters out in the top of the 12th, hurt his shoulder and left the game.
Pitcher No. 5, Mike Brown, was allowed as many pitches as he wanted to warm up, but apparently not as many as he needed. Wally Joyner tripped on his second pitch. Brown's next delivery was a wild pitch and Joyner scored.

Two walks, a single and a double later, Brown was gone. Tim Lollar finished the inning and the Angels were three outs away from a 7-4 victory that never happened.

Mike Cook, California pitcher No. 5, started the bottom of the 12th. Marty Barrett singled, but Cook retired the next two batters before Jim Rice hit his ninth homer of the season to make the score 7-6.

Now for the really weird part: Don Baylor popped up for what looked like the last out of the game, but Rick Burleson dropped the ball. Evans walked and Gedman singled, tying the game, with the runners going to second and third on Joyner's throwing error.

On came Fischer, the last pitcher — who never pitched. He came set, then un-set. Home plate umpire Joe Brinkman called the balk, waved Evans home and game ended.
Yankees 11, Twins 1
New York scored nine runs in the sixth inning at the Metrodome to break open a 2-1 game. Thirteen batters went to the plate — and the first 10 reached base.

Orioles 5, White Sox 3
Baltimore's John Shelby broke a 1-1 ninth-inning tie with a bases-loaded triple, then scored on a fielder's choice, making a winner of Mike Flanagan, who gave up one run in eight innings.

Indians 9, Rangers 6
Cleveland rookies Cory Snyder and Andy Allanson hit consecutive two-run singles in a five-run fifth inning and Ken Schrom won his seventh straight game.

Schrom, named to the AL All-Star team earlier in the day, survived an early 4-0 deficit to improve to 10-2, despite allowing six runs on seven hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Mariners 4, Brewers 1
Seattle and Milwaukee actually finished their game — after three rain delays totaling three hours and 44 minutes. The game ended shortly after 1:30 a.m. CDT, six hours after the scheduled start. Fewer than 300 survivors from the official attendance of 8,963 remained after the third delay.

Chuckwagons wreck at Calgary Stampede

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) — Three chuckwagons collided in a rodeo race after one driver apparently lost control of his team of horses, track officials said. Three riders were injured and three horses had to be destroyed.
"This is the worst crash I've seen," said Norm Haynes, a rodeo judge for 20 years.
The Thursday night crash involved three of four wagons entered in the second heat at the Calgary Stampede, one of Canada's largest rodeos.

Track foreman Danny Jordens said the collision occurred at the top of the backstretch when one driver lost control of his team of horses and swerved into two others. Jordens said the driver apparently lost his balance and dropped his reins.
Each chuckwagon was followed by a horseman, called an outrider, who throws a tent and stove in the back of the wagon at the beginning of the race and then rides along with the wagon.

Each wagon has a driver and four horses. Both the wagon and the outrider must cross the finish line.
Two outriders were hospitalized. Randy Robinson suffered a fractured jaw and Grant Smith had a deep gash on his knee. The third outrider, Randy Evans, apparently dislocated his hand, but was not hospitalized.

The drivers escaped serious injury.
Jordens said one of the victims appeared badly hurt.
