Spring board

How's that?

Cookoff

Q. When is the chicken fried steak cookoff going to be held this year?

A. The cookoff has been scheduled for Oct. 12 at Highland Mall, according to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Calendar

Model aircraft

TODAY

• The Big Spring Model Aircraft Association will have its annual Fun Fly-In for radio controlled model aircraft from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Moss Lake Model Airport. Spectators are welcome.

MONDAY

• A free blood pressure check will be given from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center.

TUESDAY

• A Texas Tech Day barbecue will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Old Settlers Pavilion in Comanche Trail Park. Tickets are $12.50 each, or $25 for a couple, available at the Chamber of Commerce.

WEDNESDAY

• A community blood drive will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

THURSDAY

• Films on stress and time management will be shown free at the Veterans Administration Medical Center at 7 p.m.

Tops on TV

Jaws

Roy Scheider and Robert Shaw star in "Jaws," based on Peter Benchley's novel. A great white shark terrorizes the waters off a coastal resort, though tourism-conscious town officials refuse to believe any danger exists. "Jaws" airs at 7 p.m. on channel 2.

Outside

Clear

Skies today are clear with southeasterly winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour and a high in the mid 90s. Tonight will be fair with a low in the lower 70s, and Monday will be sunny with a high in the mid to upper 90s.

Lighter side

ROCKPORT, Maine (AP) — Andre the seal, who each spring swam to this community from Massachusetts and who performed tricks for delighted tourists at feeding time every summer afternoon, was found dead Saturday at age 25, his trainer said.

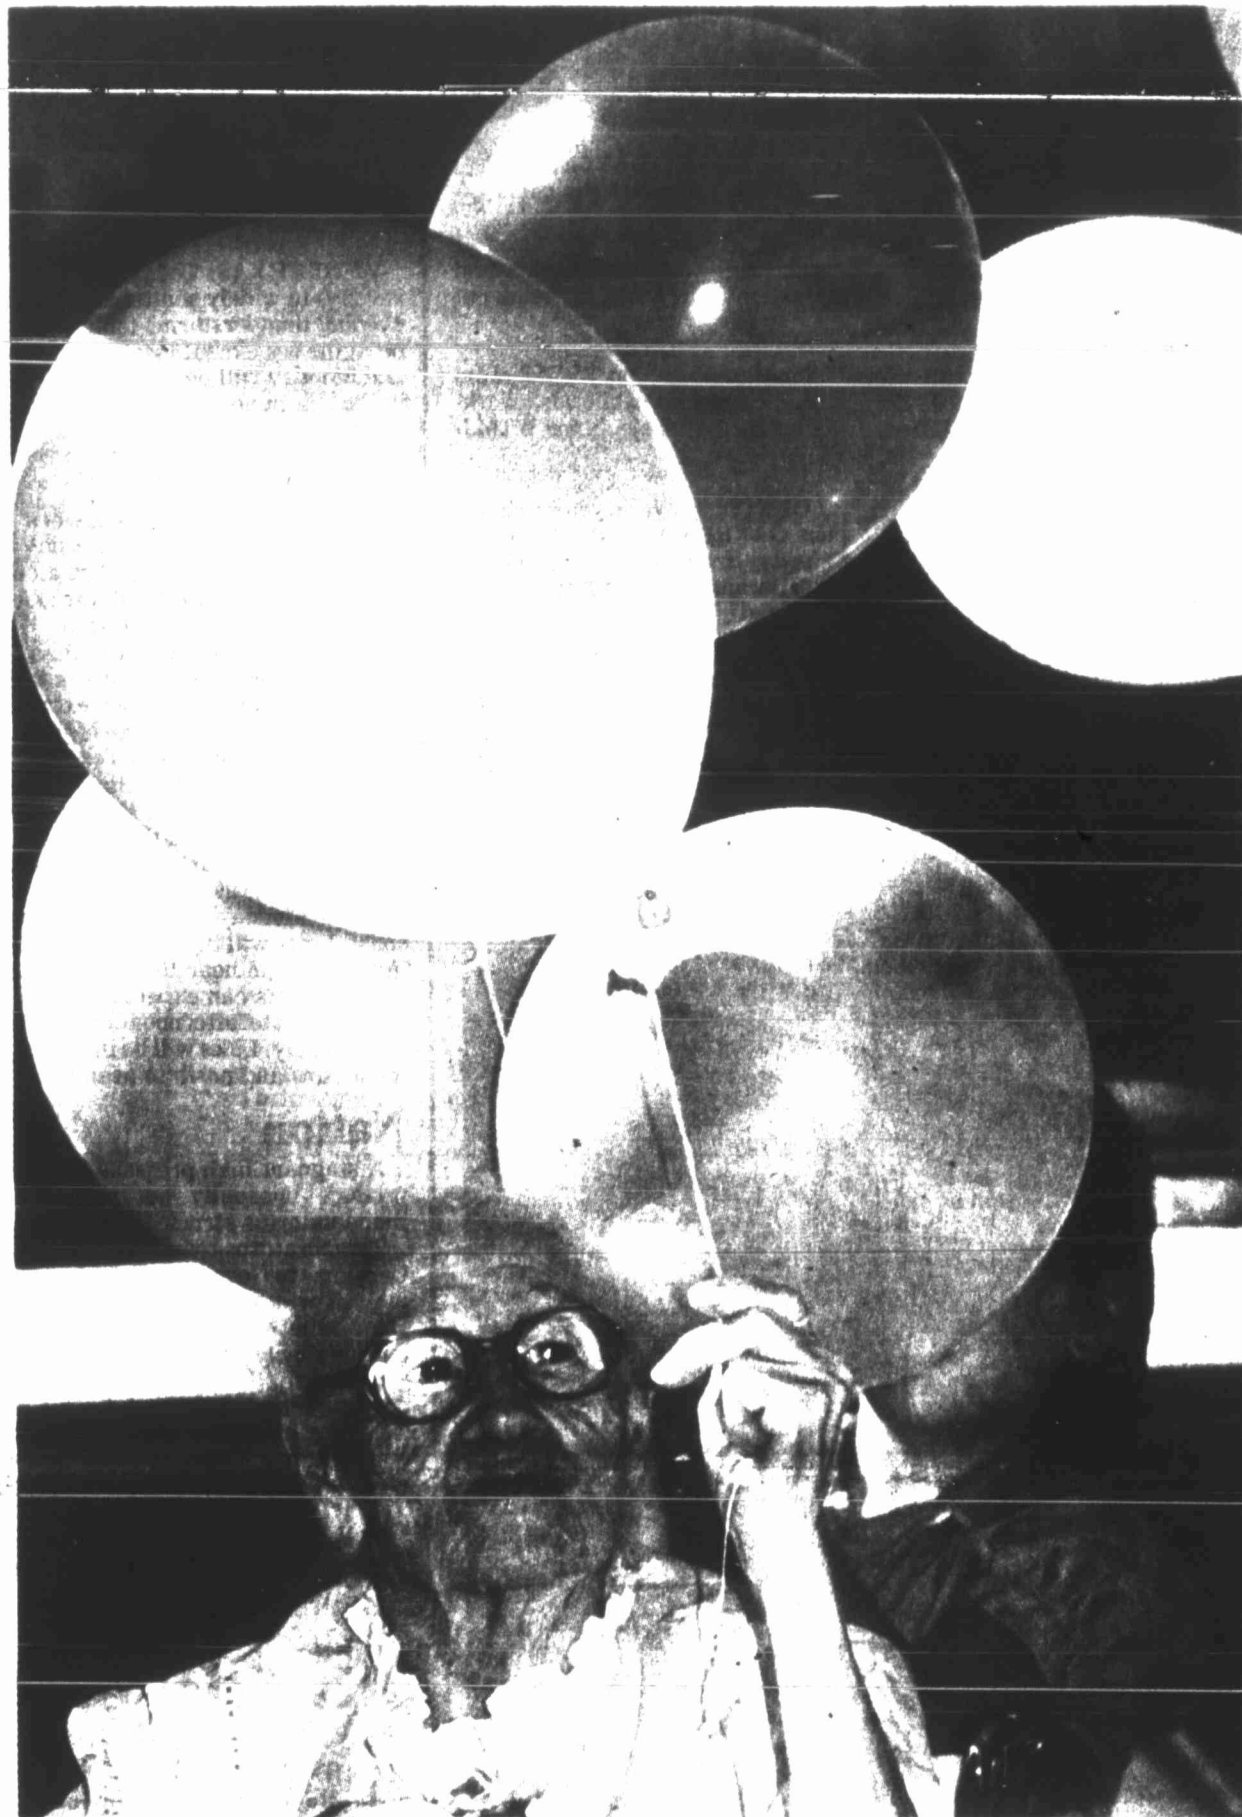

Andre's body was found on a deserted stretch of shore in Rockland, about eight miles from his summer home, a floating pen in the harbor here, said Harry Goodridge.

Goodridge had last seen the seal in June, when Andre seemed uncharacteristically sluggish after apparently losing a mating-season fight.

"He's lived a good life," said Goodridge, who raised Andre after finding him as an abandoned two-day-old pup in 1961.

Goodridge said he received a tip Saturday that the body of a seal resembling the 5-foot-long, 250-pound Andre had been spotted on shore. Goodridge said he and a veterinarian confirmed it was Andre by the seal's size and its teeth.

Andre spent his winters at the New England Aquarium in Boston, but was released each spring from Cape Cod or Massachusetts' North Shore to swim to his summer home.

Permian Bank in Odessa closes doors

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Permian Bank at Odessa failed Friday because of losses due to the decline in oil prices, the Texas Department of Banking said.

The state-chartered bank, with assets of $39 million including $34 million in deposits, was tendered by its board of directors for liquidation, Banking Commissioner James Sexton said.

Permian Bank became the 12th Texas bank to fail this year, equaling the number of bank failures in 1985, said a spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Following the bank's closing at 3 p.m., Sexton appointed the FDIC as the receiver.

Sexton, who was at the bank with a state banking examiner, said Permian had struggled for the last four years because of "liberal lending to energy-sector entities during the early 80s."

Sexton said repeated managerial and regulatory efforts to save the bank failed. "The recent decline in oil prices proved a factor of some consequence in that outcome," he said.

Falling oil prices endanger the ability of borrowers to repay loans, which in turn causes banks to set aside larger reserves. This drains bank earnings.

Ken Gorham, closing manager for the FDIC, said the failure took most bank employees by surprise, although he said many knew the bank was in trouble.

Gorham said he did not know how much of the bank's loans were related to energy, but said the oil and gas loans "were a substantial part of their portfolio."

He said many depositors had visited the bank to investigate the situation, but that by 7 p.m. most had gone home.

The FDIC guarantees payment of accounts up to $100,000, Gorham said.

He said depositors should be able to receive their money by Tuesday morning. There are approximately 7,000 depositors at the bank, he said.

Persons with accounts of more than $100,000, will receive a certificate that will allow them to be paid

Number of abandoned animals rising in city

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer
Summer brings barbecues, water sports and no school, but to Big Spring, it also brings a multitude of four-footed troubles.

The number of abandoned animals in Big Spring has increased dramatically with the warm weather, and it is worse this year than in the past, said city animal control officer Gary Snowden.

He said abandoned animals are often found in poor condition — covered with fleas and blood-sucking ticks, and poorly-fed.

In addition, the animals often break into people's garbage cans and destroy their newspapers, he said.

Margaret Lloyd, president of the Big Spring Humane Society, agrees many of the abandoned animals arrive in poor condition.

One dog she recalls was near death from ticks. It had been left alone in a tiny pen for three weeks while its owners went to look for a job.

Calls to catch abandoned animals have been keeping both Snowden and Lloyd busy lately. One day last week, Snowden received 28 calls. "That's a lot," he said.

Lloyd said she often receives 12-14 calls per day, not counting calls to other society members.

"I have too many (animals) in my yard," she said, "I have a terrible flea and tick problem." Even though Lloyd's animals are dipped against fleas and ticks, a new animal will bring them and re-infest all the others, she said.

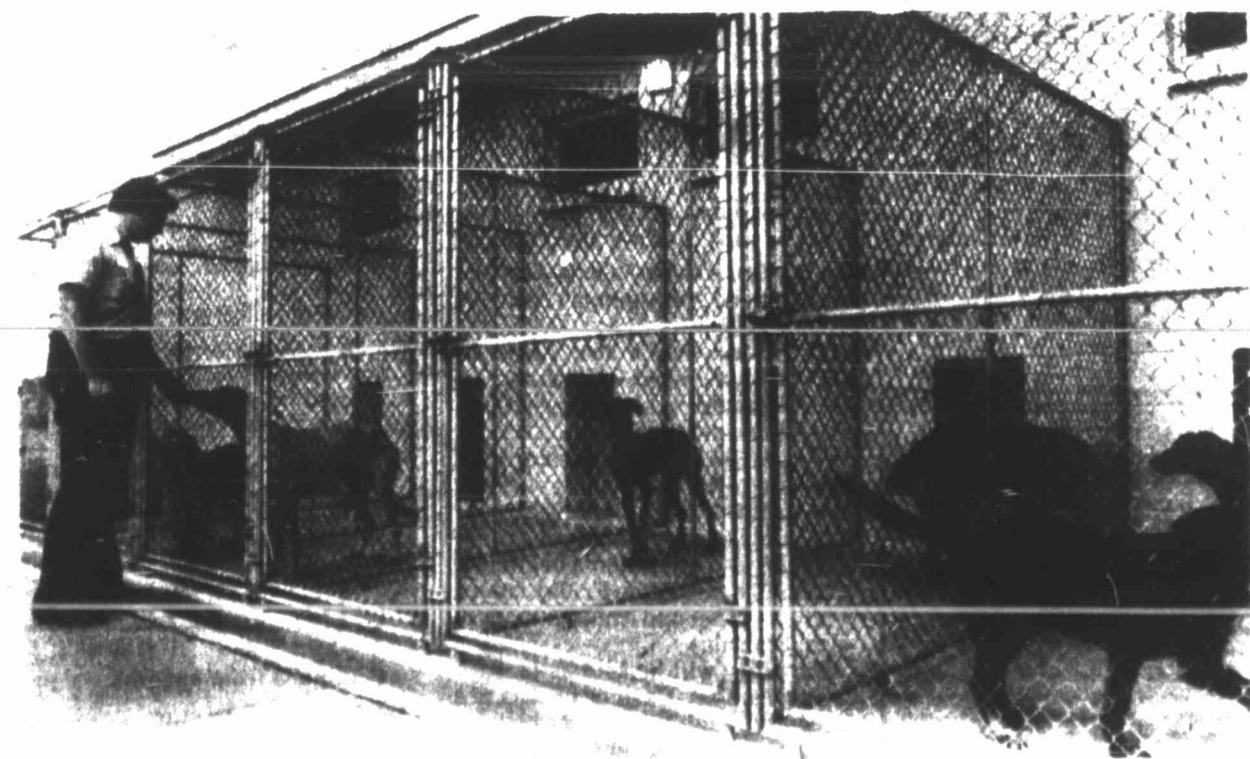

The problem comes when people leave town and don't take their dogs, Snowden said. Some even leave the dogs in the house or tied in the yard.

When an animal is left in a house, officials must find the owner to obtain entry, he said. If the owner could not be found, a warrant would probably have to be issued, Snowden said, but that has not yet happened.

Lloyd said the economy has been the main factor the numbers have increased this year. Divorce has also been a factor, she added.

When you lose your job, "the first thing you think of is not always your dog," she said. But "when people have money in their pocket and are feeling good, they usually take better care of their animals."

Many of the animals are hungry and infested with ticks and fleas, according to animal control officer Gary Snowden and Margaret Lloyd, president of the Big Spring Humane Society.

Candidates try to gain teacher votes

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White tried to re-form his alliance with the Texas State Teachers Association Saturday while his GOP opponent acknowledged he could not get the group's endorsement.

White and ex-Gov. Bill Clements each made 40-minute presentations to 700 TSTA leaders from across the state.

TSTA, the state's largest teacher group, endorsed White in his 1982 win over Clements. But the group is in court fighting the teacher literacy test that White pushed as part of the 1984 education reform bill.

He did not mention the test in his speech, but responded to a question about whether teachers would face testing in subject areas.

"There will be no more testing of our teachers," he said, drawing a partial standing ovation.

"Four years ago in this very room you and I formed a partnership," White told the teachers. "Partners may disagree on specifics, but unite on purposes. We've come a long way together and we need to keep going."

Both candidates were interrupted for applause about 20 times, but White drew a more enthusiastic overall response. Clements occasionally drew low-volume boos. White also drew some negative reaction.

TSTA will not decide on an endorsement until later this year.

White promised the teachers that education money would not be cut during the upcoming special

Tip takes deputies to marijuana patch

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

Staff Writer

Howard County sheriff's deputies, acting on a tip, confiscated approximately $1,200 to $1,500 worth of marijuana plants Saturday morning and arrested a 23-year-old man at his residence for possession.

Paul William Schlipf III, Route 2 Box 27, was arrested by deputies George Quintero and Bennie Green for possession of marijuana over four ounces. He was arraigned and released on $1,500 bond.

Quintero said he will transfer approximately 150 plants that he and Green pulled from the marijuana patch growing in Schlipf's backyard, to the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Midland to be weighed and analyzed.

Pending final lab results, Quintero said he will file formal charges sometime next week.

"The lab results will give us the exact weight for prosecution purposes," Quintero said.

If the plants are reported to weigh over four ounces, Schlipf could face a third-degree felony charge, Quintero said. According to the Texas Penal Code, a person convicted of a third-degree felony can be imprisoned for 15 to 99 years and fined a maximum amount of $250,000.

Quintero, who works as a criminal investigator for Sheriff A.N. Standard, said Schlipf gave Green and him consent to search the premises when they arrived this morning.

Schlipf's consent nullified securing a search warrant, Quintero said.

The plants that Quintero and Green pulled from the patch were growing in an open cesspool, Quintero said.

RAVENNA, Ohio — Actress MARTHA RAYE, suffering from a broken rib received in a fall earlier in the day, had to be helped off-stage from her performance of a new show, her producer said.

Miss Raye, 69, star of "Everybody Loves Opal" at the Carousel Dinner Theater "did three minutes of the show and could not continue because of the pain," producer Scott Griffith said after she left the stage Friday night.

Miss Raye was treated at Robinson Memorial Hospital and discharged, he said, and will probably miss about 10 days of the show's four-week run. "She's in good spirits and she hopes to complete the run," Griffith said.

Friday's show was to be the press opening, Griffith said. Two Saturday shows were canceled but an understudy would take over Sunday, he said.

GREENBRAE, Calif. — Grateful Dead founder and lead guitarist JERRY GARCIA was reported to be steadily improving at Marin General Hospital, where he was hospitalized after lapsing into a diabetic coma earlier this month.

Hospital spokesman Peter Evans said there was no decision on when Garcia, 43, would be released. The rock musician lapsed into coma July 10 at his Marin County home and was hospitalized in critical Evans said the hospital has been deluged with calls, flowers and letters since Garcia's admission. Publicist Dennis McNally said more than 15,000 callers have swamped the Dead's concert information hot line.

July concerts by the band have been canceled, and a Grateful Dead spokeswoman on the hot line said concert plans for August are on hold.

MILWAUKEE — Saying it's too risky to pursue a career while raising young children, former Miss America TERRY MEEUWSEN announced she will give up her radio talk show and TV job as of Aug. 8.

"If I make a mistake with my career, I get a second chance; if I make a mistake with my children, I'd be devastated," said Ms. Meeuwse, 37, Miss America in 1973.

Ms. Meeuwse and her husband, Andy Friedrich, 39, have two children, Drew, 3, and Tory, 11 months.

"Everyone says a woman can have it all if she's organized. I can't. I've been running around like a chicken with its head cut off."

She has hosted "The Terry Meeuwse Show" on WTMJ radio since September, while also working on special projects for WTMJ-TV.

LONDON — World chess champion GARRI KASPAROV arrived Saturday from Moscow to defend his title against ANATOLY KARPOV, and said he is prepared for a long match.

Forecast

By The Associated Press

WEST TEXAS: Today's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with isolated to widely scattered thunderstorms in the late afternoon and evening thunderstorms tonight and Monday. Lows Sunday night will be in the 60s except low 70s in the valleys of southwest. Highs today and Monday will be in the 60s in the mountains and north to near 100 in the Big Bend.

State

Thunderstorms and showers coupled with hot afternoon temperatures developed Saturday afternoon in Southeast Texas, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the Texas coast.

The rest of the state had fair skies as a result of high pressure, the National Weather Service said.

Winds were generally less than 10 mph and variable. Temperatures were mostly in the 90s, except for readings in the 80s in the mountains. Afternoon extremes were a low of 80 degrees at the Guadalupe Pass and a high of 101 degrees at Waco and Wichita Falls.

The forecast for North Texas calls for sunny and hot Sunday with isolated thunderstorms. Highs will be in the upper 90s to near 103, and in the mid- to upper 90s Monday. Lows will be in the upper 60s to low 70s. Widely scattered thunderstorms are expected Sunday night and Monday, particularly in the extreme southeast.

In South Texas, sunny, hot days and fair nights will be the norm through Monday. Isolated thunderstorms are expected along the coast. Lows will be in the 70s, except near 80 at the coast, with highs in the 90s, and near 100 to the southwest Sunday and Monday.

West Texas can expect partly cloudy skies with isolated to widely scattered late afternoon and evening thunderstorms Sunday night and Monday. Lows will be in the 60s and 70s, and highs in the 80s in the mountains and north to near 100 in the Big Bend.

Nation

A stagnant high-pressure system over the Southeast continued to produce unusually hot and dry weather Saturday, and heavy thunderstorms struck Pennsylvania.

Temperatures rose above 100 degrees at several locations from the Carolinas to Georgia. The National Weather Service said the heat and lack of widespread rain should continue into this week, although some relief was possible by Tuesday or Wednesday as a cold front pushes slowly across the region.

Columbia, S.C., hit a record 103 degrees by early afternoon Saturday, the 14th consecutive day the city has hit 100 or higher. Augusta, Ga., also hit a record 103 degrees, the 31st straight day of 90-plus temperatures in that eastern Georgia city.

Police beat

Buick Regal reported stolen

Someone stole a 1982 Buick Regal owned by Floyd McKinney of 2614 Hunter St. between 2 and 3 a.m. Saturday, McKinney told police.

Thieves broke into the residence of Moaica Lewis, 120 Airbase Road, building 30, between Sunday and Monday last week, Lewis told police Friday night. The thieves stole a color television, value unknown, and a portable television with AM/FM radio and cassette player, valued at $95.

Three men stole four six-packs of Budweiser beer, valued at $25, from the 7-Eleven at 2301 Wasson Drive early Saturday morning, according to police reports.

George Gonzales, 25, of 2211 Johnson St. was arrested at home

Friday night on a warrant for assault by threat.

Luis Hernandez Jr., 20, of 311 N. Aylford St. was arrested Friday afternoon at 200 Runnels St. on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, no drivers license and no liability insurance, second offense. He was taken to the county jail and released on $2,500 bond.

Jose Arispe Jr., 31, of 402 N.W. 11th St. was arrested Friday evening on a warrant for aggravated assault.

Reymundo Chavarria, 22, of 510 S. Abrams St. was arrested at 1200 S. Gregg St. Friday afternoon after an accident. He was arrested for no liability insurance, second offense. He was taken to the county jail and released on $500 bond.

Pilot safely lands jet after landing gear fails

MIAMI (AP) — The nose landing gear of an Eastern Airlines jet with 102 people aboard failed to drop in place Saturday, but the pilot landed the plane smoothly and nobody was injured, officials said.

"It looks like he's a bassett hound sniffing the runway," Bob Lawless, a manager of the control tower at Miami International Airport, said of the three-engine jet resting on the landing gear that deployed under each wing.

"Witness accounts say the aircraft landed very smoothly," said

Amaury Zuriarrain, a spokesman for the Dade County Aviation Department.

The pilot of the Boeing 727, arriving as Flight 182 from Kingston, Jamaica, was on his landing approach when he realized there was a problem, said Eastern spokesman Jerry Cosley.

"He did a good job," said Cosley, who wouldn't release the pilot's name.

There was no indication why the nose landing gear failed, said Cosley.

City having annual auction

MIDLAND — The City of Midland will hold its annual auction at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Municipal Service Center, 500 N. Carver St. in Midland, according to a news release.

Police cars, utility and dump trucks, vans, and various types of construction and street maintenance equipment will be sold.

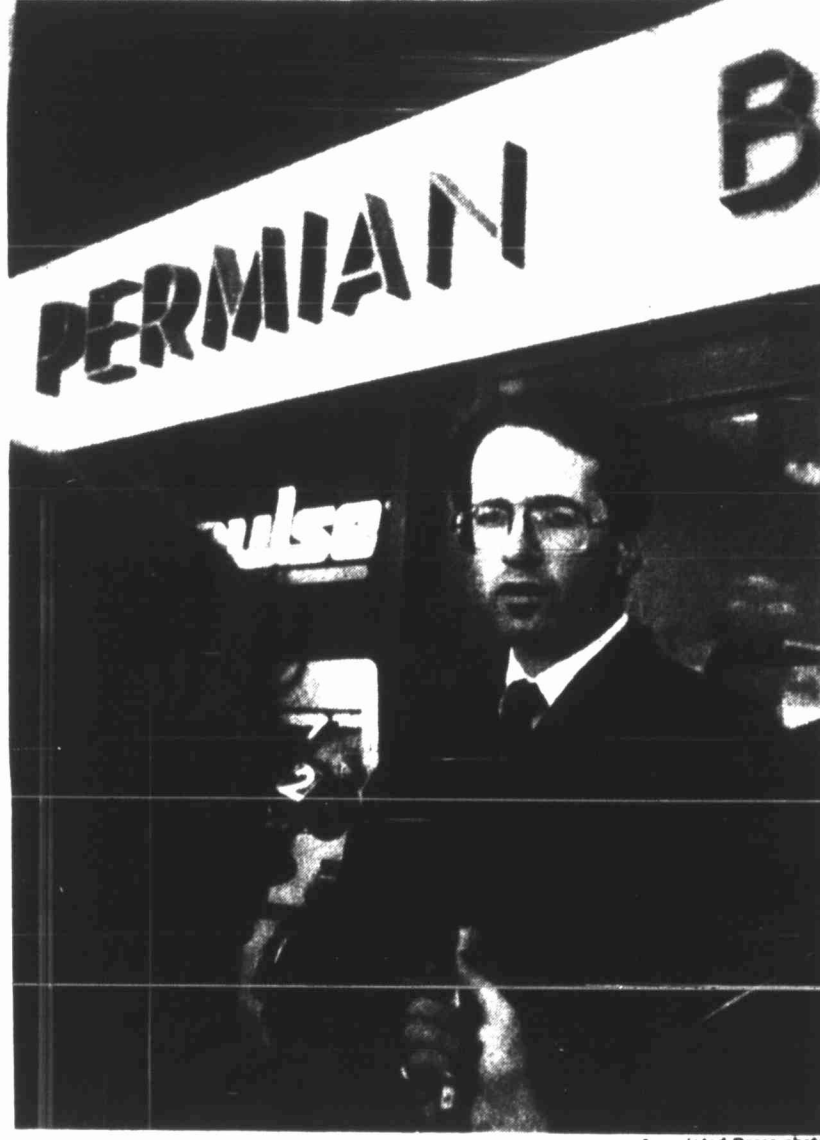

Also on auction are some 50 bicycles, assorted abandoned or confiscated property, office machines and furniture.

Rene Bates Auctioneers of McKinney will conduct the sale, for the 18th consecutive year.

Bidders may inspect most vehicles and other items beginning at noon Thursday, on Friday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. Saturday.

Property will be sold as is, with no guarantees. Cash or checks are accepted, and items must be paid for on the day of auction, before removal.

For more information, call the City of Midland Purchasing Division at 683-4281, Ext. 235.

Ken Gorham, closing manager for the FDIC Midland office, speaks to the press about what is in store for Permian Bank after the Texas State Banking Commission declared the bank insolvent and the FDIC took control.

once the bank's assets are liquidated, Gorham said.

Gorham asked merchants to be patient because "there are a lot of checks out there that aren't good."

Gorham stated: "The checks were good when they were written but the bank closing got in the way."

The 48 bank workers will be employed by the FDIC for a while, but after that they will be discharged, Gorham said. "Most of them are going to be in a tough situation," he said.

When the FDIC begins paying out accounts, Gorham said, depositors can either mail their requests or come by the bank.

legislative session.

"That money belongs to you. We raised it for you. Let's keep it for you," he said.

Clements spent part of his time defending his record and denying statements attributed to him. One questioner asked if he still believed teachers were "a bunch of whimpering malcontents."

"I deny ever having said that. I never said that," Clements said.

He also was placed on the defensive when he told the teachers their salaries increased 49 percent while he was in office.

Signa Segrest of Houston, TSTA's legislative chairwoman, told Clements, "I know math wasn't on the TECAT. But there are a lot of us in this group who do not recall that 49 percent."

Ms. Segrest drew enthusiastic applause with her comment.

The loudest positive response to Clements came when he said he would work to reduce teacher paperwork and increase teacher authority in the classroom.

Clements was mildly bowled when he said he opposed collective bargaining for teachers.

"Sorry about that," he said. Clements then echoed the boing sound that came from the audience.

White also said he opposed collective bargaining.

Clements told the crowd he supports the HB72 reforms in general, but called for some changes, including a three-week suspension from extracurricular activities for students who fail a course.

The current law mandates a six-week suspension. White opposes any change in the no-pass, no-play provision.

Clements said he opposed the literacy test administered to all teachers this year. He favors a college graduation test for people who want to teach.

After his appearance, Clements predicted neither he nor White would get TSTA's endorsement.

"I suspect this year they won't endorse. They'll sit it out," he said.

In response to the growing number of animals the society must deal with, it has purchased a house and two acres for a shelter. The shelter should be open for business next month, Lloyd said last week.

Lloyd said the society tries to encourage people to spay or neuter their animals, to diminish the population of unwanted animals. In the long run, the policy will pay off, she said.

Bentsen proposes bill on foreign oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has proposed legislation that would require the president to take "extraordinary measures" to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil if consumption of imports crossed the 50 percent mark.

Bentsen, D-Texas, said the Congressional Budget Office projects a possible 50 percent level of dependence on foreign oil as early as 1988 and the Department of Energy says it could come by 1990.

"I want to draw the line," said Bentsen, in a statement released Saturday. "I want to say that once we reach a point of 50 percent dependence on foreign oil, we've passed the point of no return."

"At that time we would mandate that the president take extraordinary measures to cut back on the dependence on foreign oil," Bentsen said.

Such measures would include imposing an oil import fee, offering incentives to spur domestic production or raising vehicle fuel-efficiency standards, Bentsen said.

He said the United States had been making progress in cutting dependence on foreign oil, which peaked at 47 percent in 1973, when long lines at gasoline pumps resulted from the OPEC oil embargo.

Last year, Bentsen said, foreign oil accounted for 27 percent of the oil consumed in the United States. As of July 7, he said, it had risen to 33 percent, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

Early this year, OPEC lifted production controls, and the price of oil plummeted, forcing some U.S. oil producers out of business and others to cut back.

"We've got to turn that around," Bentsen said.

Bentsen said his bill, called the Energy Policy and Security Act of 1986, would require the president to submit an annual report to Congress projecting the level of foreign oil dependence for the next three years. If that level was projected to exceed 50 percent, the president would be required to submit a plan for cutting it back.

Bentsen said he would introduce the measure this week.

Deaths

Harmon Hambrick

Services for Harmon Hambrick, 77, of Big Spring, will be Monday at 4 p.m. at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home with Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

He died Saturday morning in Dallas after a long illness. He was born Feb. 27, 1909, in Ranger and was a member of the Baptist church. He served in the Army during World War II. He had lived most of his life in Big Spring. He worked as a car salesman and owned and operated Hambrick Auto Sales for many years before retiring.

He is survived by a son, Bobby W. Hambrick of Euleless; a brother, Bill Hambrick of Ackerly; two sisters, Thelma Moore and Clarice Hambrick, both of Lamesa; and three grandchildren.

Quakes shake Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — A swarm of earthquakes shook the Aleutian Islands, punctuated by a stiff jolt Saturday that caused minor damage but no injuries on Unalaska Island at the tip of the chain, officials said.

The quake measuring 5.8 on the Richter scale struck at 2:33 p.m., knocking items off walls and shelves, shaking cars noticeably and knocking out the runway lights at the Dutch Harbor-Unalaska airport, said geophysicist George Carte.

The shock was centered in the Pacific Ocean about 40 miles southwest of Unalaska, a community of about 1,000 people nearly 900 miles southwest of Anchorage, said Carte, who is with the Alaska Tsunami Warning Center.

Party narrows sites

WASHINGTON — Democratic Party leaders chose three Southern cities among six finalists for their 1988 convention Saturday after hearing arguments the party needs to recapture the once-Democratic South to win the presidency.

Only two cities were eliminated from the party's preliminary list of eight possible sites — Detroit and the Cleveland suburb of Brook Park, Ohio, representing northern states that are bastions of organized labor, another traditional source of Democratic strength.

Still in the running, with the winner to be chosen by the end of the year, were Atlanta, Houston, New Orleans, Washington, New York and Kansas City, Mo.

Vets march for soldiers

NEW YORK — A ragtag group of Vietnam veterans dubbed "The Lost Patrol" arrived Saturday at Grant's Tomb after a 269-mile march from Washington for a vigil for 2,400 Americans still missing in Southeast Asia.

Less than three dozen veterans made the full march, and only about 100 people greeted them upon their arrival in Manhattan — far below the 1,000 organizers had hoped to draw.

Outside the huge monument, the marchers and their supporters gathered in sweltering heat a half-block from a row of tents where many planned to stay in a 24-hour vigil.

Volcano's activity ends

VOLCANO, Hawaii — Kilauea Volcano's latest activity sputtered to an end Saturday, 22 hours after two kilometer-long fissures opened up with low-level fountaining that caused a brush fire ignited by flowing lava.

The 48th phase of activity since the eruption began Jan. 3, 1983, was different from most. Instead of the usual spectacular fountain reaching some 1,000 feet to the Pu'u O'o vent, the lava spilled from the large cracks to the west and northeast of the vent, fountaining to heights of only 10 to 15 feet.

Walkout

3,000 workers at Ford Motor Co. strike

HAPEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Three thousand Ford Motor Co. employees went on strike today, claiming the automaker had accelerated the assembly line at its ultramodern plant here without hiring more workers.

The suburban Atlanta plant, which reopened in October following a five-month, $250 million retooling, is one of two in the country that makes the sleek and popular Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable automobiles.

Bargainers for Ford and United Auto Workers Local 882 held talks until the midnight Friday deadline, said Ron Parham, a union spokesman.

No new talks were scheduled, union and company officials said.

"We very much regret the work stoppage by members of UAW Local 882," Ford spokesman Richard Judy said in a statement from Detroit. "We hope for a quick resolution of the issues and will continue to work for an early settlement that is satisfactory to both parties."

Local 882 President Sid Hamby said the contract, which runs until September 1987, allows the union to strike over work standards that create a loss of jobs and health and safety concerns.

Hamby said Ford had increased the speed of the assembly line from 52 cars per hour during the last model year to 65½ this model year.

"They do not properly man the lines, and they've sped the lines up," Hamby said. "We're undermanned 50 to 75 employees. In order to produce what they want to produce they would need to hire 50 to 75 more people."

Because the company had refused to hire those extra workers, he said, the speed up in the line amounted to a loss in jobs.

Tom Boyle, a regional Ford spokesman, has said the plant produces about 1,000 cars per day, or 63 per hour.

Hamby also said temperatures have reached 110 degrees and higher in some places on the assembly line, despite fans near the ceiling. He said the fans must be lowered to provide better ventilation to work areas.

Georgia is in the grip of a heat wave and drought. Boyle declined to discuss details of the negotiations or the union's allegations. "We've found over the years the best way to resolve these things is face-to-face over the table, not reading about it in the morning," he said.

He said the supply of the two cars made in Hapeville is about one-half to two-thirds its usual size, "so there are not a large number of them at dealerships."

The $3 billion Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable project is the company's largest such effort in history.

Saudis boost output

NICOSIA, Cyprus — The authoritative Middle East Economic Survey said Saturday that Saudi Arabia has boosted its oil output to more than 5 million barrels a day, abandoning a self-imposed commitment to limit production.

Saudi production is expected to reach nearly 6 million barrels daily by the end of the month, the report said.

Saudi Arabia, the non-communist world's biggest oil producer, had been limiting output to 4.35 million barrels a day or less despite the collapse late last year of overall production limits set by OPEC, according to the publication.

It said Saudi Arabia began ignoring its own ceiling in early June, when it increased production to 4.6 million barrels a day. The average level for July is expected to be 5.7 to 5.8 million barrels a day, it said.

Church cancels Mass

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico — The Roman Catholic Church, in a daring protest over alleged vote fraud, canceled Sunday Mass in dozens of parishes here, marking the first time in 60 years the church in Mexico has suspended services for a political cause.

Archbishop Adalberto Almeida and 100 priests in the huge Chihuahua archdiocese, which has a Catholic population of 924,000, canceled services to protest government vote rigging in the July 6 statewide elections.

Tourist, guide kidnapped

ZAMBOANGA, Philippines — Armed men kidnapped a Swiss tourist and his Filipino woman guide as the two were picnicking Saturday on a pink sand beach in an area frequented by pirates and smugglers, police reported.

A military report identified the tourist as Hans Kunzli and the guide as Adelina Gamoa.

Police investigator Reynaldo Estrada, quoting a boatman hired by the victims, said three motor boats carrying 14 men arrived as the pair prepared to leave Santa Cruz Island, which lies across a narrow strait from Zamboanga. The island is popular with tourists for its rose-colored beaches.

Gunmen storm bus, kill 4

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Men with silenced submachine guns stopped an American University Hospital bus at Beirut's dividing Green Line Saturday, climbed aboard and raked the passengers with fire, killing three doctors and a hospital administrator, police said.

Police said three hospital personnel were wounded in the ambush at the midcity racetrack crossing between Moslem and Christian sectors of the capital. All the victims were Lebanese Christians, police said.

FINANCIAL PLANNING BY ACCOUNTANTS

Your accountant probably knows more about your financial matters than anyone else with whom you deal. Because of their extensive tax and business experience as well as their background in related financial matters, accountants are a logical source of financial planning information.

Your accountant has daily contact with other professionals in the business world on a great variety of financial matters. This makes him or her a valuable assistant for you in communicating with professionals in the areas of insurance, law, banking, real estate, and the stock market.

Your accountant can help you determine your current cash needs as well as your cash needs for retirement. If your assets will provide more cash than you need now or in the foreseeable future, your accountant can assist you in determining a gifting program and an estate planning program to minimize taxes.

How much financial planning is really needed? A brief discussion with your accountant should give you an idea of where you stand. Some people need to make little or no change in their current family financial program. Others may discover that they're on the track to retiring with too little money, and yet others may be creating unreasonably large estate taxes.

If you are not already doing so, make a personal balance sheet each year. This is simply a list of all your assets, at their approximate fair value, and all of your debt. Subtract debt from assets and you have your net worth. By doing this at the end of each year, you have comparative data to see if your net worth is growing or shrinking.

Any financial plan needs to be monitored. Your annual net worth computation will assist you and your accountant in determining what changes, if any, need to be made to reach your goals.

Financial planning is an area where a little time and money spent now can save a lot of time and money later.

Speed law adds hours to travel

Nevada's brief posting of a 70-mile-an-hour speed limit a few weeks ago wasn't genuine defiance, but a move to trigger a court challenge of the national 55-mile limit.

The action, however, emphasized the growing Western rancor over a speed law that can add hours to an obedient motorist's travel over the great distances between Western cities.

The resentment has reached the point — and everyone knows it — that it's a rare driver who keeps it at 55.

Nevada's is but the latest such protest. Other Western states have enacted symbolic 70-mile limits (usually, as in Nebraska, with prior assurance of a gubernatorial veto), and Western congressmen have repeatedly introduced bills to allow higher speed limits on rural sections of the interstate system.

Here in the West, the 55-mile limit is as popular as prohibition or cattle rustlers.

Twelve states have devised an ingenious way of discreetly ignoring the limit. Instead of stiff fines, drivers exceeding 55 on thinly traveled rural highways are given only mild citations for "energy wasting" that cost around $5 and aren't recorded against the driver's license or reported to his insurance company.

In California, the limit is so widely flouted that the Highway Patrol recommends boosting it to 65 on safe, lightly traveled rural stretches of the interstates. That would let the CHP concentrate its enforcement on highways with heavier traffic where the 55-mile limit should remain as an important safety factor.

Such flexibility is especially important in the West, where scofflaw motorists who habitually exceed the limit on safe stretches become menaces when they reflexively speed on heavier-traveled routes. Moreover, once half or more of a state's driving public is caught speeding, the state must forfeit millions of dollars in federal highway funds.

The growing erosion of respect for the 55-mile limit could be stemmed by letting the states make sensible exceptions on their safe, rural interstate routes. That might lead to a marginally higher accident rate on those highways, but it could well be offset by the ability to deploy scarce traffic officers more effectively on the hazardous routes and thereby better safety overall.

The 55-mile limit made sense as one of a package of stop-gap energy conservation measures when it was enacted nine years ago, and it still makes sense as a safety measure on crowded highways. But it's unnecessary restrictively in many parts of the wide-open West. It's time for Congress and the administration to acknowledge the need for fine-tuning.

Creation of world was not by chance

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do you think some people don't believe in God? I have a friend who is an atheist, and I don't understand why he feels that way. I'm not a very religious person myself, but I certainly think all the evidence points to some higher being who made the universe. — S.B.

DEAR S.B.: You are right — when we look at the intricate design of the world the evidence logically points to a Creator. To believe the world happened by chance is far more difficult than to believe in a sovereign God who designed and created it. A friend of mine once said that it takes a lot more faith to believe there is no God than it does to believe God exists! The Bible declares, "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities — his eternal power and divine nature — have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so men are without excuse" (Romans 1:20).

But if this is the case, why do some people refuse to believe in God? The real reason for most of them is that they do not want to believe in God, because they know if they did they would have to humble themselves before Him and follow His way of living. Instead, they want to be free to pursue life without regard to His laws. In their pride they want to put themselves at the center of their lives, instead of putting God at the center (which is where He rightfully belongs). In the end, however, living life without God is a dead end. That is why the Bible states, "The fool says in his heart, 'There is no God'" (Psalm 14:1).

But aren't you really living as if God did not exist? Don't be content with the mere vague belief that God exists. God loves you, and He wants you to know Him in a living, vital, personal relationship. He has made it possible through Christ. By faith turn to Christ and make Him the center of your life.

Things become important when shared with others

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER
Managing Editor

Today I've decided to share one of my favorite stories with you.

Although it's appeared in print before, at a couple of other newspapers, I consider it to be one of the best pieces I've ever written. I guess that's because it's the type of story that always seems to be pertinent.

It's about people and life in general. But I think it's particularly pertinent now after the warm reception I've received from the folks in Big Spring.

So here goes:

"Some people sure are lucky," I told the young mother as she walked near me for about the third time.

I was referring to the two little girls that she was carrying — one on each hip — as she was pacing by. They were looking back over her shoulders.

I looked at the one, winked at her, and she smiled.

The other, when I winked, wasn't sure what reaction she wanted to show.

The mother turned to me, after my comment, and said, "Yes..." But she said it rather slowly, drawing out the word, and with a puzzling, half-smile on her face.

I watched those two little girls as she walked by again. And I wondered: are they twins?

They both seemed to be about 1½ years old. So I studied their features, and then decided: no, they're not twins.

I was noticing all this while having a cup of coffee in the cafe of a big motel. It was during a springtime visit in Michigan.

Then the young mother came back, and said, "I guess you really don't realize what you said to me."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, last night," she explained, "we had a fire at our apartment

Berky's babblings

house, and we lost almost everything we own."

"I... I... I'm sorry," I stammered. "I didn't know. I only meant that... that... anyone who had such pretty little girls had to be lucky."

"I know. I knew what you meant. But I kinda acted oddly a bit ago when you said that. I thought I should come over and explain."

"Was it the fire I saw on TV last night... the cove fire?" I asked.

"Yes. It was the Schooner Cove fire. That's where we were living, in the Schooner Cove Apartments. You see, these two girls... Well, they might as well be twins, because they were born the same day to us and our friends who live in the same apartment house. We had to spend last night here in this motel. And I'm afraid we'll have to spend tonight here, too."

"But I wanted you to understand," she continued. "To understand that... yes, we are lucky. We're very lucky... because all we lost were things. We still have our lives, and especially these two little ones. And we have each other."

She said it with such genuine joy in her face, and in her eyes.

As she walked away, I had this dryness in my throat. And my heart felt squeezed.

In the news business, we're often expected to not become emotionally involved in human drama so we can concentrate on doing our job.

But I've come to realize that perhaps we need to pay more attention to feeling the emotion, and to pass on some of the drama and tragedy in the lives around us.

What we do, often, is work like robots. We mechanically gather the information, process it and then print it for you to read.

Most likely, then, our story won't involve you, either... unless it was one of your relatives, friends, someone you've worked with, or met, who suffered from the tragedy of that fire.

But what that young mother said to me really touched my heart. And I've thought about it many times since.

Her tragedy stressed to me what's really important in life. She taught me that the real important basic is not the things we have. The important basic in life is people.

Have you ever tried to go water skiing by yourself? That fast power boat isn't much good to you unless you have someone to share it with, is it?

And how much fun is it to go fishing, hunting, shopping, or almost anything else when you must do it alone.

How much fun is a car, a house, or a recreational vehicle, if we always have it to ourselves and never share it?

The young mother, through her tragedy, pointed out that things only become important in life as a result of the caring and sharing experiences we have with others.

And every so often, I believe it's necessary for me to remind myself of that. Perhaps you agree.

Barrera could surprise Mattox at polls

By JESSE TREVINO

Attorney General Jim Mattox, in releasing a list last week of 1,000 Mexican-American leaders who endorse his re-election, characterized it as "a devastating pre-emptive strike" against his Hispanic opponent, Republican nominee San Antonio District Judge Roy Barrera Jr.

It may be an early misfire instead.

My suspicion that such a list could automatically seal the Mexican-American camp for Mattox — or any other politician — lies in the changing demographic and economic features of the Hispanic population in Texas.

The Mexican-American population in West and South Texas appears to be at the same stage of political development as that of Eastern city ethnic wards of not too long ago, when endorsements by ethnic leaders could swing a whole election.

Only in modern times have Mexican-Americans, like the Italians and the Irish before them, made a serious entry into U.S. politics, and they've done so in solid Democratic blocs.

It is the height of arrogance to assume that Mexican-Americans, who are taking the route of assimilation as other minorities before them, are wedded to a particular political party, as if they had no minds or right of choice of their own.

While it is true Democratic Congressman Henry B. Gonzalez played a historic, pivotal role in opening the door of Texas politics for Mexican-Americans, I wonder what impact his appearance with Mattox could have on a Rio Grande Valley electorate that is, on the average, 50 years younger than Gonzalez.

The connection between Hispanic elected official and party worker can be tenuous.

I remember at the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco two years ago when the Valley's congressman, Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza, presumably the most influential Hispanic Democratic congressman in Washington, went unrecognized in a room packed with Hispanic delegates to the convention.

That de la Garza, chairman of a standing committee of the U.S. House of Representatives, went unrecognized by a majority of delegates — presumably Democratic Party activists — tells me that Mattox's move contains more symbolic significance and hype than substance.

The median income of Hispanics in Texas — while still anemic — is nevertheless climbing: from $6,500 in 1969 to more than $20,000 in 1980. Mexican-Americans may well feel less attached to the Democratic Party over a shorter period of time than the time it took the Italians and the Irish to break out of bloc voting.

If old-style politics do hold, however, Barrera may have a tough time. Mattox will try to nail him to the wall, especially on the Texas Republican Party's opposition to some of the ideas that have made Hispanic political participation possible — such as the Voting Rights Act.

As it turns out, however, the votes in the U.S. Senate that made the extension provisions of the Voting Rights Act possible came from moderate Republicans.

Unless Mattox can develop the kind of anti-Republican backlash he needs among Mexican-Americans, Barrera stands a strong chance of surprising the practitioners of traditional politics. It was, after all, a traditional politician, Mark White, who, as attorney general, spent a substantial amount of time fighting the application of the very same Voting Rights Act in Texas.

The attraction among Hispanics to a Barrera candidacy naturally is

City officials are deserting downtown

To the editor:

In reference to: City Hall May Move To Community Center. Has the City of Big Spring gone completely berserk? What has been the main topic of discussion in this town for at least the past year? Revitalizing Downtown Big Spring!

Now our elected officials want to desert downtown!

A quote from the Herald on Councilman Gary Don Carey: "I'd rather spend the money here (the Community Center) than downtown."

D.W. Overman said he feels the same way.

Our newly elected Mayor Mize: Well, he sees merit in it.

They're telling us (the citizens of Big Spring) that it is going to cost $80,000 to install an elevator in the present city offices. Are they going to tell us that it cost less than that to refurbish a building that was built for a country club into city offices?

As a regular old citizen, how much does it cost to move from one home to another? Nothing ever fits; you have to have telephones moved, new lines run and that cost a lot of money. You get into a new place, nothing ever fits, so you wind up redoing the whole thing.

Look at the old Woolworth building downtown. Remember, it was just the perfect place for new city offices. Well look at it now; it's completely gutted. They're starting all over with just the floor and some of the walls. Same thing will happen in moving the city offices.

Another point of view: Tell a new business that is looking into downtown Big Spring, "Oh, yes, we believe in downtown Big Spring, but it's just not good enough for our city offices or our city councilmen."

People of Big Spring, please pay heed — stand up for ourselves. This is our tax dollars that they are going to spend on the most ridiculous idea there ever was! Go to the council meeting; ask the mayor, the councilmen, how can we convince businesses to move downtown when the city itself won't even stay? Ask these same people why they are just now bringing this subject out. We know that if the deadline to find a solution to our problem is October that they have known for quite a while.

If they are not wanting to stay downtown, then why did they pay such good wages to a person to study how to revitalize downtown? They could have spent that money to fix our present offices to accommodate the handicapped people of our city.

Residents of Big Spring, we need to do something to stop this most foolish idea. Attend our council meeting. Speak to our councilmen in person if you cannot attend the meetings. That is what they and the mayor were elected for.

JOYCE RIDDLE

multi-faceted — an asset Mattox's one-dimensional, one-party appeal lacks.

Barrera attracts Hispanics conservative on social issues; Hispanics who resent the old political ploys, such as Mattox's list; Hispanics who want a South Texan in office; and Hispanics who may conclude — good heavens! — that Barrera may in fact be a competent attorney from a solid law firm and the best man for the job.

Why is it that Mattox and other establishment Democrats believe that Mexican-Americans, who apparently forgave Mark White for his opposition to the Voting Rights Act, will not vote for White again while at the same time voting for Barrera?

Mattox said in his whirlwind tour of South Texas last week that the 1000-name endorsement list was Step One in an aggressive effort to forge a winning organization not only for his campaign against Barrera but for White as well.

That is exactly what it will take, for an open door does exist for Barrera in Mexican-American precincts despite his Republican credentials.

With his announcement, Mattox has taken the offensive. But the odds on the attorney general's race in Texas among Hispanics are not exactly 1000-1.

Jesse Trevino writes on Hispanic social and political issues.

Terrorist training camps uncovered

MIDLAND (AP) — A West Texas sheriff says a four-month investigation by his office has produced hard evidence that at least five terrorist training camps are operating in Mexico.

However, Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter said in a news conference Friday he is becoming frustrated at the nonchalant manner with which his information has been received by federal authorities and their failure to follow up.

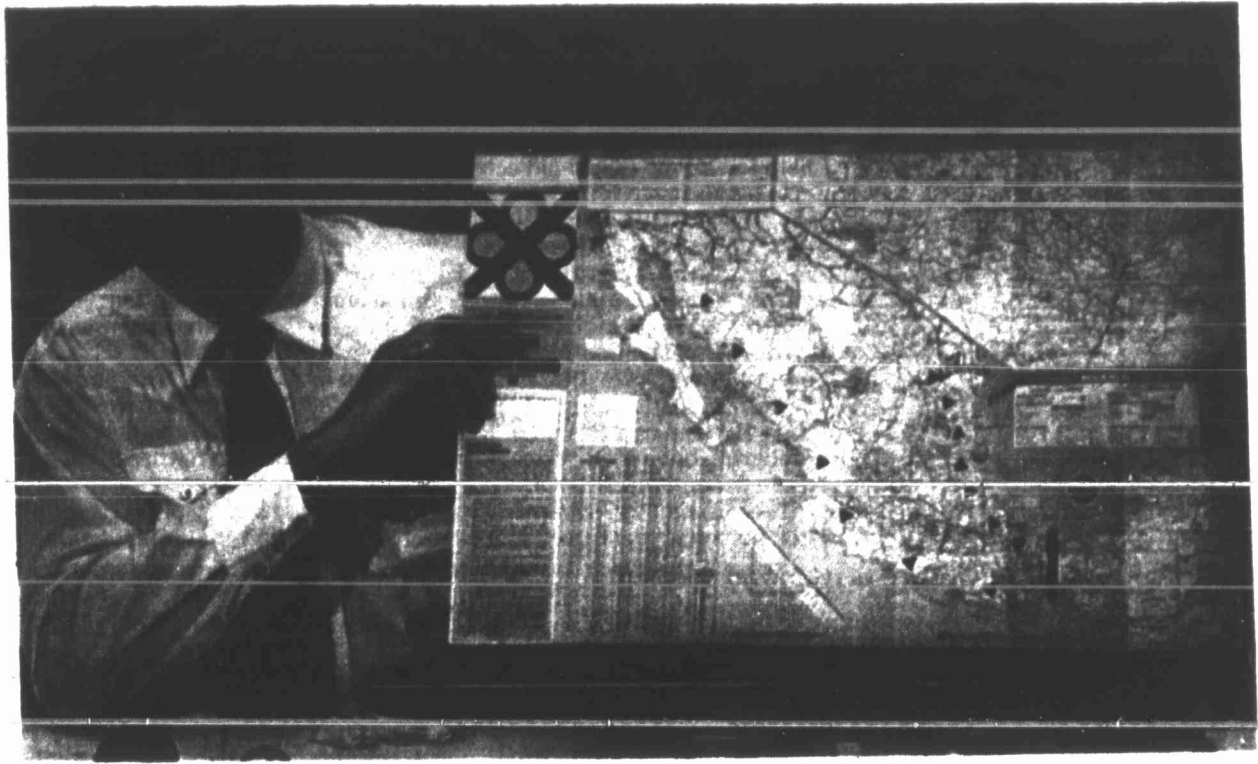

One of the terrorist training camps is in the Mexican state of Chihuahua, which borders Texas from El Paso to the Big Bend, Painter said.

Painter said he traveled to Washington D.C. June 10, 11 and 12, and met with Boyden Gray, chief counsel to Vice President George Bush, John Savercool, legislative aide to Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and officials of the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department and U.S. Customs.

According to Painter, the State Department checked his information and identified a former Midland resident as a known terrorist traveling with a Lebanese passport and identification papers.

At least eight other suspected terrorists, including some Midland College students, visited the known terrorist during the two years the man lived in Midland, Painter said.

The sheriff said his information was supplied by several Mexican

Vice President Bush to tour Middle East

GEORGE BUSH
...leaves Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush embarks this week on an 11-day, three-nation tour of the Middle East, hoping to rekindle interest in President Reagan's 1982 peace proposal and bring new help for Egypt's troubled economy.

In his second trip to the region in four months, Bush leaves Friday for Israel, Jordan and Egypt. He will return to Washington Aug. 5. From April 3-13, the vice president visited Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, Oman and North Yemen.

An administration official said Bush will carry letters from the president to Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres, Jordan's King Hussein and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, but added, "I would rule out grandiose peace proposals."

The official, briefing reporters on condition he not be identified, said Bush would be

"reiterating our interest in the peace process, reiterating our support for proposals put forward in the past." That includes Reagan's 4-year-old initiative calling for Palestinian self-government in Israeli-occupied territories in association with Jordan.

Although the Reagan proposal has failed to make significant headway, the official said, "We still feel that there is a lot to recommend that plan and that is one of the things the vice president will be talking with them about."

Asked whether there might be any "rethinking" of the Reagan initiative, he said, "I wouldn't rule that out, but this will be a trip where that sort of measurement is taken."

Referring to Egypt's staggering burden of debt, the official said, "We hope to resolve by the time the vice president goes what we are going to be able to do to help Egypt out of a very difficult economic situation at this point."

"It is a very difficult decision because it deals with the question of precedents," the administration official said. "Lots of other countries have heavy debt burdens."

After a visit to Washington by three Egyptian cabinet members several weeks ago, U.S. officials agreed to speed up payment of $110 million of foreign aid for Egypt.

One official, also speaking on condition he not be identified, said other steps being considered include giving Egypt a larger share of its aid in cash rather than assistance on projects such as road-building.

But he said the heavy debts of many Third World nations constitute "a global problem not peculiar to Egypt" and no quick solution is likely.

Aides to Bush said he has no plans to visit Syria, although a trip to the Syrian capital, Damascus, was originally considered.

"Syria certainly has to be dealt with in terms of any comprehensive peace in the region, but the timing for a visit by the vice president is not good," the briefing official said, citing alleged Syrian involvement in recent episodes of terrorism.

The official said that Bush's visit might "lead to some other initiatives," such as a trip to the region by Secretary of State George P. Shultz, but cautioned, "I don't want to raise expectations, because it is really a listening and an exploratory and a symbolic trip."

NAACP to have annual ball

The third annual National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Black & White Ball will be held Saturday at 9 p.m., according to Dock Voorhies, club spokesman.

The ball will be held at the Halliburton Building of the Homestead Inn. It is open to the public.

Music will be provided by "Poochie" of Sweetwater. Entertainment is coordinated by Debra Woods, Voorhies said.

Admission is $10 per couple or $7.50 per person. The fee includes a barbecue dinner with "all the trimmings," he said.

The ball is one of the NAACP's main fund-raising events, he said.

Jury's verdict in dispute

KERRVILLE — The full meaning of a jury's verdict in a sensational kidnapping-slavery trial remained shrouded in mystery here Saturday, hours after the panel meted out what prosecutors termed light sentences for three defendants.

The seven-woman, five-man jury deliberated a little more than six hours Friday before returning to the courtroom and assessing a 15-year prison term for Walter Wesley Ellebracht Jr., 33.

The jury ordered seven years probation for Ellebracht's father, Walter Wesley Ellebracht Sr., 54, and a 14-year term for Carlton Robert Caldwell, 21.

The three were convicted Wednesday under Texas' organized crime statute with conspiracy to commit aggravated kidnapping and murder.

They could have received life prison terms for a plot the state claimed led to the cattle prod torture death of Anthony Bates, 27, of Huntsville, Ala.

'Animal' escorted to TDC

GILMER — Murder suspect Jerry Walter McFadden, whose recent escape from Upshur County Jail sparked the largest manhunt in Texas history, was transferred to the state prison system without incident.

The 38-year-old convicted rapist, who calls himself "Animal," was taken to the Texas Department of Corrections diagnostic unit in Huntsville Friday.

He escaped from jail July 9, taking a pistol and jailer Rosalie Williams hostage and hiding out in a boxcar and vacant house before he was apprehended July 11 in Big Sandy.

Ms. Williams had escaped the night before when McFadden left the boxcar to go for water.

McFadden, of Ore City, was paroled from TDC in 1985 after serving part of a 15-year sentence for a 1979 sexual assault conviction. He had also been paroled in 1978 after serving 4 1/2 years of concurrent 15-year sentences for two 1973 sexual assault convictions.

Three inmates hurt in fight

MIDWAY — The throat of a Texas Department of Correction inmate was slashed and two other inmates were injured during a fight at the Ferguson Unit, a prison spokesman said.

The fight occurred about 3:15 p.m. Friday in the recreation yard of the unit, TDC spokesman Charles Brown said. He said two inmates left their assigned area, climbed a fence and began assaulting 30-year-old Albert Aguirre with a toothbrush with a razor on the end of it.

Aguirre, serving 20 years for a aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon in Bee County, received a cut to the throat and multiple abrasions. He was treated at the Huntsville Unit infirmary before being transported to the TDC hospital in Galveston by a Life Flight helicopter.

The inmate was listed in stable condition at the hospital Saturday, Brown said.

Public can view school films

Films and other audio-visual materials available to public schools through the Region 18 Education Service Center may be requested for preview during a one-day session Thursday, according to a news release.

The session is set for 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the center, located on LaForce Blvd., Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Citizens interested in requesting a preview of particular films should notify the center at least five days in advance, so equipment can be prepared. If a film is not available on the date requested, another viewing time will be given.

Anyone interested should call Shirley Higgins, media manager of the center, at 563-2380.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Chessie has slept through the Depression, world war and social unrest. But if she had been awake these 52 years, watching one railroad gobble up another, she might have known it would come to this.

Chessie, the cat whose sleeping silhouette on Chessie System locomotives and boxcars became one of the nation's best-known railroad symbols, is being dropped as the company's logo.

CSX Transportation Inc., which owns the Seaboard System and the Baltimore & Ohio as well as the Chessie System, is imposing an austere, geometric "CSX" logo on its railroad subsidiaries.

Caroline weds Edwin Schlossberg

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Caroline Kennedy, who captured America's heart as a little girl romping through the White House, on Saturday married Edwin Schlossberg, a New York businessman and artist.

Wearing a tulle veil and carrying a small bouquet of white orchids, Miss Kennedy waved shyly as she emerged with her husband from the Church of Our Lady of Victory, in Centerville, five miles from the Kennedy family compound here.

A crowd that started appearing at dawn and was estimated by police at more than 1,000 when the ceremony ended lined the long church driveway.

Caroline Kennedy holds her bouquet as she poses with her new husband Edwin Schlossberg Saturday outside Our Lady of Victory Church in Centerville, Mass.

At the Kennedy compound, a white tent big enough to accommodate a small circus covered a reception area for 400 guests.

The tent was decorated by New York florist Robert Isabell with the help of Rachel Lambert Mellon, who designed the White House Rose Garden and is a friend of Mrs. Onassis.

The guest list included Kennedys and old family friends, including Theodore Sorensen, a speech writer for Miss Kennedy's father, and McGeorge Bundy, the late president's national security adviser.

In Washington, Assistant White House Press Secretary Mark Weinberg said President and Mrs. Reagan sent a congratulatory telegram to the couple.

The bride's gown of white silk organza with a long waist, short sleeves, and plain organza skirt gathered into a long train, was designed by Carolina Herrera, said Delaney.

Schlossberg's blue linen suit, worn with a silver linen tie and stephanotis boutonniere, was designed by Willi Smith.

Two flower girls had white organza pinafore dresses with pale blue sashes. Seven bridesmaids, including cousins Sydney Lawford McKelvey and Courtney Kennedy Ruhe, wore two-piece ankle-length dresses of lavender and white silk, sashed at the hip. Cornflowers were in their hair and hands, Delaney said.

The 10 ushers wore blue linen blazers, white linen trousers, gray linen ties and cornflower boutonnieres.

Gray skies greeted Schlossberg, 41, and Miss Kennedy, 28, the only daughter of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and the late President John F. Kennedy.

The bride, guests and wedding party arrived in a stream of black, blue and silver limosines and a fleet of minibuses. They had no words entering or leaving the church for the spectators, but the crowd had plenty of enthusiasm for their favorites.

Best man John Kennedy Jr. and the bridegroom drew squeals of delight from women. When Mrs. Onassis appeared, spectators cried, "Jackie, Jackie."

Mrs. Onassis, who appeared to be biting her lower lip to hold back tears, left the church, hugging the arm of her brother-in-law, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who had given the bride away.

The senator said earlier the day was Miss Kennedy's.

"All the members of the family are delighted with that," he said after an hourlong rehearsal of the Roman Catholic ceremony Friday.

The wedding also is "a very lovely birthday present for my mother," Kennedy said.

Rose Kennedy, Miss Kennedy grandmother and matriarch of the clan who turns 96 on Tuesday, was too ill to attend the wedding.

The Rev. Donald MacMillan, who officiated at the wedding, said earlier that the bride was calm during the rehearsal and Schlossberg "was probably the most excited."

About two hours before the wedding, family spokesman Brian Delaney announced that Miss Kennedy planned to retain her current name after marriage. But after checking with her, he said, "She doesn't want to go into that."

MacMillan said Miss Kennedy selected "the vows that are printed in the Catholic ritual for weddings. The word 'obey' is not in the formula."

Cotton growers: save bucks and beneficials.

TEST RESULTS ARE IN:

In an overwhelming majority of tests conducted in the Cotton Belt, in which Dipel biological insecticide was applied before conventional insecticides became necessary, increased yields and greater profits resulted.

In 5 of the Texas tests, fields were sprayed twice and adjacent check fields remained untreated until it became necessary to go to a conventional schedule. Dipel treated fields yielded more cotton and greater profits than the fields that received only conventional treatment.

It makes sense because low cost Dipel gets to early cotton worms without harming helpful beneficials. Thus, applications of harsher chemicals can be delayed and reduced.

Dipel is a natural biological worm killer. One bite of treated foliage and worms stop feeding almost immediately and then die within a few days. Dipel has not shown resistance build-up, won't affect boll maturity, and is nonphytotoxic to cotton foliage. It's easy to use. In addition, Dipel has not shown harmful effects on man and his environment.

Dipel 4L and Cotton Seed Oil. The only microbial cotton insecticide that is compatible with cotton seed oil. Mix one pint Dipel 4L to one pint cotton seed oil and apply at one quart per acre total volume of spray.

*Rates, numbers of applications and methods of application varied. A grower's actual results may vary depending on use and conditions.

One test in Rio Grande Valley and two in the Black lands used Dipel alone at 1/2 lb per acre. In a Rolling Plains test applications of 1/2 lb Dipel and 1/2 lb chlordane per acre were made while 1/2 lb of Dipel combined with 1/2 lb chlordane per acre was applied in the Trans Pecos test. Aerial application was used for all tests except in the Rio Grande Valley.

Americans keep title hopes alive

By STEVE BELVIN

How do the Big Spring American League All-Stars spell relief? Last night they spelled it J-O-H-N K-E-N-N-E-D-Y.

Kennedy pulled off some last-inning pitching heroics as the Americans downed Odessa Jim Parker 5-3 in District III Little League Tournament action. The win forced a final game to see who will be the District III champions. The contest will be played Monday night at 8 at the American League field.

Kennedy was called upon to relieve starter Jonathan Downey in the bottom of the sixth with the game on the line. AL manager Johnnie Hobbs optioned to bring Kennedy in with the bases loaded and one out with the Americans leading 5-2. A tough situation for an 11-year old playing in his first Little League All-Star tournament.

But Kennedy handled it like an old pro. The curve ball specialist got the two outs without allowing a hit.

Downey, who pitched a four-hitter in five and one-third innings, ran into trouble at the start of the sixth. He walked Jay Johnson and hit Kenny Border with a pitch. He then got Jim Parker clean-up hitter Raul Samaniego, who had homered in the second inning, to hit a grounder back to the mound. Border was forced out at third base.

Next Downey loaded up the bases by walking Brian Tucker, prompting Hobbs to insert Kennedy. Kennedy got Mark Zembrowski to hit a grounder in the hole to short-stop Patrick Martinez. Martinez stepped on third to get Samaniego for the second out. Border scored on the play, cutting the margin to 5-3.

Kennedy then ended the game by fanning Jeremy Ash, forcing a final game on Monday.

The Americans struck first in the top of the first inning. Kennedy, batting in the second spot, walked. After Cort Petterson walked and Travis Sinclair fanned, Kennedy scored when Billy Bob Sumpter singled.

Sumpter continued to swing a hot bat as he went two-for-three, driving in three runs. He also made a diving catch from his center field position on a potential extra base hit in the fifth inning.

The Americans threatened to turn the contest into a blowout in the second inning by scoring four runs on four hits. Martinez, who had an excellent defensive game, singled, but was forced out at second by Jeremy Edens' grounder. Brian Gordon walked and Downey singled, driving in Edens with the first run of the inning.

Kennedy followed with an infield hit, loading up the bases for Petterson. Petterson walked, scoring Gordon. After Sinclair fanned again, the ever-present Sumpter singled to left field, scoring Downey and Kennedy with the Americans' final runs of the game.

Jim Parker scratched for two runs in the bottom of the second. Samaniego led off the inning by taking Downey's first pitch deep over the left field fence, just inside the foul line. The other Jim Parker run came when Zembrowski reached on a fielder's choice and scored. Hopes page 2B

Witherspoon retains crown with 11th round K-O

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — While British challenger Frank Bruno was too dazed to talk about his 11th-round loss to World Boxing Association champion Tim Witherspoon, the American titleholder spoke of a "dream come true" performance.

"All my career I have wanted a fight like this," the 28-year-old Philadelphia native said. "I came up, he came up and I knocked him out. It's my dream come true."

It was Witherspoon's first defense since taking the title from countryman Tony Tubbs in January. While nursing a swelling below his left eye, he admitted it was one of his toughest fights.

"In all my other fights, I haven't come out all bruised like this," he said.

"I thought I came back and had him going a bit, but then I thought funny things can happen over here, so I came back again and knocked him out."

The champion was critical of some of the tactics Bruno used during the fight.

"He hit the back of my neck at least 10 times. It happened around five times around."

"But he's a great fighter and I think he should come over to the States to fight. Maybe (promoter) Don King will give another shot in the future."

Witherspoon said he was puzzled over his announced weight for the fight, 234 pounds, some eight pounds more than he carried for the title bout against Tubbs.

"All week, I weighed around 225 pounds. I don't know if there was anything wrong with the scales," he said.

After the 11th-round pounding, Bruno failed to appear for interviews. His manager, Terry Lawless, sent a message from the dressing room that there would be no more interviews and that his statement would be circulated on Monday through the British domestic news agency, Press Association.

After Lawless' message, speculation abounded that Bruno, whose face was swollen after the bout, may have suffered a jaw injury.

Bruno's second defeat in 30 fights prompted some in the crowd to hurl chairs at Witherspoon and his followers as the champion left the ring.

It was a sign of frustration by the British that another heavyweight hope had failed.

Bruno was in no condition to explain his failure, but Witherspoon offered some encouragement.

"He made it hard and it was a tough fight," Witherspoon said. "He may not have the experience of big fights but he was very determined."

"He's up at the top of the biggest and he should get another chance," the champion said. "I hope his future is good."

Norman leading British Open play

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — Greg Norman slashed and thrashed his way to a 4-over-par 74 and salvaged a one-shot lead from wind, rain and cold Saturday in the third round of the 115th British Open golf championship.

"It was survival out there. You just want to get in the clubhouse without hurting yourself," Norman said of the dreadful playing conditions that, eventually, sent even the hardy Scots fleeing from the Ailsa course.

At the end, Norman had to drop a 3-foot bogey putt on the 18th to retain sole control of the top spot with a 54-hole score of one-over-par 211 going into Sunday's final round.

He ducked from beneath his umbrella long enough to accomplish the little chore that left Tommy Nakajima alone in second.

Nakajima, now Japan's leading player, performed a marvelous escape act on the 12th hole — coming from behind a monument, chipping and putting with a magic touch — to shoot 71.

Norman also led after the third round in both the Masters and U.S. Open earlier this season, but failed to win either.

Ian Woosnam of Wales and England's Gordon Brand, were tied at 214, four over par and three behind Norman.

The 5-foot-4 Woosnam was one of the few able to match par 70 Saturday in winds gusting to 35 miles per hour, in biting cold, and in rain that ranged from drizzle to downpour. Brand, a journeyman European tourist of no particular distinction, fought his way to a 75.

And those, said Norman, were the only ones realistically in contention with 18 holes to go.

From Woosnam and Brand, it was three strokes back to Gary Koch, the leading American, tied for fifth and six shots off the lead. Also at 217 were Spanish veteran Jose-Maria Canizares and Nick Faldo of England.

Koch had a 72, Canizares 73 and Faldo struggled to a 76.

U.S. Open champion Ray Floyd was another stroke back at 218 after a 73 and admitted he "is out of the championship."

He was tied with Australian David Graham, Sam Torrance of Scotland and Bernhard Langer of West Germany.

Graham got his 70 in the house before the worst of the weather slashed in from the Firth of Clyde.

Torrance shot 71, and Langer, the man deemed most likely to challenge Norman, spent most of the dreary day in knee-deep rough and walked away with a 76.

Masters champion Jack Nicklaus also had a 76 and was at 227, 17 over par. Lee Trevino was 75-226. Tom Watson, who won the second of his five British Open titles here nine years ago, was 77-225. PGA champion Hubert Green shot 81 and was at 231.

Any hopes Sandy Lyle may have had of a successful defense ended on the wet, clinging rough on the 17th hole. He played five shots out of it before stomping away with a 7.

Seve Ballesteros of Spain, the pre-tournament favorite, was 73-224.

Four-way deadlock in LPGA tourney

DANVERS, Mass. (AP) — Pat Bradley, rookie Deb Richard and hopefuls Cindy Hill and Val Skinner moved into a tie for the lead Saturday as scores soared in the third round of the $275,000 LPGA Boston Five Golf Classic.

Bradley, bidding for her first victory in seven visits to a hometown course, struggled to a 2-over-par 74 for a 54-hole score of 5-under 211, in windy, overcast weather at Tara Ferncroft's exacting 6,008-yard, par-72 course.

Bradley entered the weekend as the Tour's leading money winner with $314,497.

Richard, runner-up for the NCAA championship on Cape Cod last year while at the University of Florida, survived what she called "Bradley's Battalion" and took a 73 for 211.

Hill had the best score of the day among the leaders in the 72-hole tournament. However, her 71, built with the help of birdies on the 16th and 17th greens, was good enough for only a tie.

Skinner, who had a second-round 66 which left her just three strokes behind, equaled par 72 for her 211.

The four grabbed a share of the lead as Ok-Hee Ku, a 29-year rookie from Korea, slumped to a 76 after a pair of 68s enabled her to lead a U.S. tournament for the first time.

Ku, playing with Bradley and Richard, lost sole ownership of the lead when she hit into water and took a double bogey 6 on the first hole of the day. She battled desperately to hang tough and managed to hold a share of the lead until a bogey 4 on the 16th green dropped her one shot behind at 212 with 18 holes remaining.

Newly crowned U.S. Open champion Jane Geddes remained in contention with a 72 for 213. That left her in a tie with Penny Pulz, 74; Cathy Morse, 73, and Kathy Baker, 73.

Jane Blalock, who, liked Bradley, left the area as New England champion to become rich on the LPGA tour, fired a 70 for 214.

U.S.A., Russians set for gold medal game

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Navy's David Robinson figures to have some rough duty when the United States plays the Soviet Union Sunday for the title in the World Basketball championships.

The 6-foot-11 Robinson has the assignment, in the first major basketball showdown between the superpowers in four years, of containing Arvidas Sabonis, the Soviets' 7'1 center who was picked in the first round of the NBA draft by Portland.

"He's a frustrated point guard," U.S. Coach Lute Olson said of Sabonis. "He's potentially awesome but he's got a lot of bad habits."

Sabonis scored 25 points against Yugoslavia in the semifinals, hitting four-for-four from three-point range.

The battle of the two big men will be only one feature of the final.

"When you get these two countries together, there's always something extra on both sides," said Tommy Amaker, a reserve guard from Duke.

The Americans, with a 8-1 record in the two-week round-robin, beat Brazil 96-80 in the semifinals.

The defending champion Soviets, 9-0, beat Yugoslavia 91-90 in overtime after erasing a nine-point deficit with less than a minute to play.

The U.S. and the Soviets met in the final at the last championships four years ago in Cali, Colombia. The Soviets won that game by one point.

Soviets continue to dominate

MOSCOW (AP) — The awesome Soviet machine, led by its boxing and women's gymnastics teams, kept rolling through the Goodwill Games competition Saturday, amassing 26 gold medals to exceed the 100 mark in golds and 200 medals overall.

The smashing performances by the Soviets, in their most productive day of the games which they have dominated from the start, gave them 104 gold medals and 222 total medals.

The 17-day, 18-event competition, conceived by broadcasting magnate Ted Turner, president of Turner Broadcasting System, ends Sunday with competition in rowing, judo and weightlifting, with a total of 16 gold medals at stake.

Thirty-one events were contested Saturday, and the Soviets left little for anyone else. Only the United States, with five golds, and Canada and Poland with one each, could crack the Soviet domination. The two extra golds were because of first-place ties in yachting.

Howard coach in U.S. Festival

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

In what he calls one of his greatest coaching opportunities, new Howard College Hawks basketball coach Larry Brown will serve as assistant coach of the South basketball team at the U.S. Olympic Festival.

Brown will be coaching some of the nation's best college players when the South team competes against players from the North, East and West. Bill Foster, head coach at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. is head coach of the South squad and Brown and Ronnie Arrow of San Jacinto Junior College will serve as assistants.

"Coach Arrow (Ronnie, assistant coach) will have one group of players and I'll have the other. Coach Foster will be observing it all. We'll let them scrimmage and then we'll put them all together."

Brown and the other South coaches arrived in Houston Friday to start preparing for Monday's opening workouts. He says that the 12-member team will go through two workouts per day until the Olympic Festival begins July 27.

"I'm excited to say the least," said Howard College's new head coach of men's basketball. "It will be a great experience coaching those caliber of players. A lot of these players will be on the 1988 Olympic basketball team."

Brown and the other South coaches will have some excellent young players to work with. They were selected at the tryouts in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Parts of Olympic Festival basketball play will be televised on ESPN during the week. Brown says that most of the South's games will be played at 8 p.m. CST.

Brown was only one of two high school coaches to get selected by the Olympic Committee. When he was selected in March, he was still serving as head coach at Bryan High School.

"I remember the day very well," Brown said, "I was coaching off-season basketball and a young lady came and told me I had a phone call. "I told them to take a message and tell them I'd call them back. Then she told me it was from the Amateur Basketball Association."

"So I went and took the call. They told me I had been selected as one of the South coaches. I'm sure glad I took the call," he laughed.

Brown's record certainly indicates he's worthy of the job. He has compiled a 650 winning percentage in his 14-year high school coaching career. In his last seven seasons at Bryan High School Vikings, he registered a sparkling 185-71 at the AAAAA school.

He led the Vikings to the state playoffs in each of those years, including state championships in '83 and '84. He was named Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches.

Brown admits though he may have had some inside help with getting the selection. He speculated North Carolina University head coach Dean Smith put in a good word for Brown to the Olympic Committee.

"I think coach Smith had something to do with it because he brought up the subject after I had been selected — like he knew it all along," Brown said.

Brown has assisted in basketball camps around the country with such notable coaches as Smith, ex-UCLA coach John Wooden and Indiana mentor Bobby Knight. He attributes much of his coaching philosophy to those legendary coaches.

"I've known Dean Smith and Bobby Knight for about five years now. I've worked nine years in camps with John Wooden. So you see, I've been fortunate to be around the best and I worked and learned from them," he said.

Brown call Smith the "most innovative coach there is."

"He's always coming up with something new. He likes to run multiple offenses and defenses. I know in high school, we were doing some things that other schools hadn't seen or heard of. I learned a lot of it from Coach Smith," Brown said.

New Howard College Hawks basketball coach Larry Brown will be coaching the South team in the U.S. Olympic Festival in Houston next week.

On the other hand, Brown says Knight's philosophy is the opposite of Smith's.

"Bobby Knight is very simple with his game plan. He runs a hard-nosed system. He's one-minded. He likes a tough man-to-man defense and the passing game."

Brown says that Wooden stands head and shoulders above the rest.

"John Wooden is the most successful basketball coach there has been, or will be. Ten national championships, including seven in-a-row don't lie."

"He's a great fundamentalist. It's great to just sit down and talk to him about the game. He knows it better than anyone," Brown about Wooden.

Brown said he doesn't forecast major differences in coaching college players from high school players.

"I don't think there will be much difference because basically all kids are the same. They all want to give their best, be treated fair and have a good time," he said.

And it's a good bet that the new Howard College coach will have a good time with his latest coaching opportunity.

Here is the South team roster and a list of each player's college.

- Randy Anderson, 6-6 University of Florida
- Rex Chapman, 6-4 Kentucky

The 24 fighters in the finals, won 11 golds and nine silvers. The only fight they lost, other than matchups between themselves, came in the flyweight class, where Arthur Johnson of St. Louis, was awarded a 7-3 decision by the jury over Rinvidas Biljus.

Johnson's victory, along with four gold in yachting, left the U.S. a distant second with 40 golds and 129 medals.

Meanwhile, the Soviet women's gymnastics team, led by Yelena Shshunova, completed a sweep of the golds, finishing 1-2 in each of the four individual apparatus, after winning the team and all-around titles earlier.

In weightlifting, the Soviet's Yuri Zakharevich swept the golds in the snatch, the clean-and-jerk and the overall in the 110-kilogram class.

The Soviets also won the men's volleyball gold, rallying for an 8-15, 8-15, 15-11, 16-14, 15-10 victory over the U.S. Both teams had been unbeaten going into the championship match.

In yachting, the Soviets again led the gold collection, grabbing five, four for the U.S. and one apiece for Canada and Poland.

In boxing, all 12 fights went to decisions, with Johnson's triumph over Biljus extremely close. The judges ruled 3-2 against Johnson, but the jury overruled them 5-0.

After the decision was announced, the American amateur champion at 51 kilograms (112 pounds) danced happily around the ring.

"I wanted to do my best here, so I went all out, and overall, I've got to say it was a whale of a performance," Johnson said, adding that he was surprised to be the winner.

"I thought they were going to give it to him, because we have suffered in so many close decisions here."

One of those decisions involved middleweight Parker White of Richmond, Calif.

The Americans last won the world championships in 1964. But they have never placed much emphasis on the event, concentrating instead on the Olympics.

The Americans have lost only one Olympic basketball game. That was in 1972 in Munich when the Soviets won the gold, 51-50, on a controversial last-second shot.

Because of Olympic boycotts in 1980 and 1984, the United States and Soviets did not play each other in Moscow or Los Angeles.

The U.S. team, including superstars Patrick Ewing and Michael Jordan, swept to the gold in the 1984 Games.

There are no superstars on the U.S. team, which is led by Robinson and guard Kenny Smith of North Carolina.

Olson said he lost eight potential players to early entry in the NBA draft and two stars, Danny Manning of Kansas and Reggie Williams of Georgetown, to injuries.

Several others preferred to go to summer school.

Charles Smith of Pittsburgh, who leads the team in scoring with 133 points, said, "There's more hype about the Olympics. But we haven't won these games in years and we really want to beat the Russians."

Olson said the Soviets have the edge in shooting and height, but the Americans are quicker and better on defense.

The U.S. team will be missing its best outside shooter, Steve Kerr of Arizona, who suffered a serious knee injury against Brazil and was flown back to the United States for surgery.

He said the starting lineup would remain the same: Kenny Smith and 5-foot-3 Tyrone Bogues of Wake Forest at the guards, Charles Smith and Derrick McKey of Alabama at forwards and Robinson in the pivot.

Houston rallies for 5-4 win over New York

By The Associated Press
 Craig Reynolds' solo homer with two outs in the ninth, after the New York Mets had scored four runs in the top of the inning, gave Houston a 5-4 victory Saturday night and pulled the Astros into a first-place tie in the National League West.

Reynolds connected for his fourth homer of the season, off Roger McDowell, 7-3, who had not given up a home run in 72 innings of pitching.

"I was trying to get an extra-base hit, then a single would win the ball game," Reynolds said. "I'm glad I decided to go ahead and hit the ball where it was pitched."

The Mets still lead the NL East by 12 games over Montreal, while the Astros are tied with San Francisco in the West.

Mike Scott took a two-hitter and a 4-0 lead into the ninth, but Len Dykstra opened the inning with his fifth homer. The Mets, who were shut out for the first time in 111 games when Bob Knepper pitched a three-hitter Friday night, thus avoided consecutive shutout losses for the first time since May 12-13, 1981.

One out later, Keith Hernandez singled and Gary Carter followed with an RBI double, and Scott was replaced by Dave Smith, whose first pitch was hit for a game-tying two-run homer by Darryl Strawberry. Smith, 2-6, wound up the winner when Reynolds homered.

Mets starter Dwight Gooden, the loser in the All-Star game at Houston, pitched five innings and gave up four runs on nine hits, one of them a two-run homer by Denny Walling in the fifth.

In other NL games, Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 5-2, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 2-1, Chicago beat San Francisco 11-4, Pittsburgh beat San Diego 4-3 and Atlanta defeated Montreal 7-2.

In American League games, Oakland beat Milwaukee 3-2, California beat Toronto 9-3, Chicago downed New York 8-3, Baltimore blanked Minnesota 1-0, Detroit edged Texas 5-3 in 12 innings and Cleveland beat Kansas City 6-4. On the West Coast, Boston was at Seattle.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds 5, Phillies 2
 Dave Parker's two-run homer gave Cincinnati its season-high fifth straight triumph.

Parker's hit gave the Reds a 4-0 lead in the third inning and they went on to post their 13th victory in 16 games. They trail Houston and San Francisco by four games in the NL West.

Braves 7, Expos 2
 Andres Thomas hit a three-run homer and Ted Simmons had four hits and scored a pair of runs as Atlanta snapped a six-game losing streak by defeating Montreal.

David Palmer, 6-8, gave up five hits in 5 1-3 innings for the victory. Gene Garber pitched the last two innings for his 11th save.

Cardinals 2, Dodgers 1
 Andy Van Slyke homered in the bottom of the seventh inning, breaking a 1-1 tie. Bob Forsch, 8-6, allowed six hits over 7 1-3 innings in the 100-degree heat at Busch Memorial Stadium. Todd Worrell pitched the final inning for his 16th save.

The Dodgers' Bob Welch, 4-8, who has won just one of his last 16 starts, allowed just one unearned run and three hits before Van Slyke homered.

Pirates 4, Padres 3
 Tony Pena's single with two outs in the ninth inning tied the game and Jim Morrison followed with a game-winning single as Pittsburgh answered a three-run rally by San Diego in the ninth.

Johnny Ray and Mike Brown singled with one out in the ninth off Craig Lefferts, 6-4. Rich Gossage relieved and got an out, but Pena singled home Ray and Morrison singled home Brown.

Pittsburgh starter Bob Walk took a three-hit shutout into the ninth, but Marvell Wynne hit a solo homer and Steve Garvey hit a two-out, two-run homer, his first since June 18.

Chicago 11, San Francisco 6
 Gary Matthews and Shawn Dunston hit three-run homers and Dave Martinez hit his first career home run. The Cubs had 15 hits and tied a season high with four home runs.

With San Francisco leading 5-1, Matthews homered in the third, bringing the Cubs to within a run. Chicago took the lead when Dunston and Martinez homered on consecutive pitches with two out in the fifth. Ryne Sandberg added his ninth homer of the season in the eighth.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

A's 3, Brewers 2
 Carney Lansford hit a two-run triple to center field with two out in the eighth inning. Lansford delivered against reliever Mark Clear, 2-4. The ball got past center fielder Robin Yount, who tried to make a diving catch, and Dwayne Murphy and Bruce Bochte scored on the hit.

Angels 9, Blue Jays 3
 Ruppert Jones hit two homers and drove in four runs and John Candelaria pitched 5 1-3 innings for his third straight victory since coming off the disabled list.

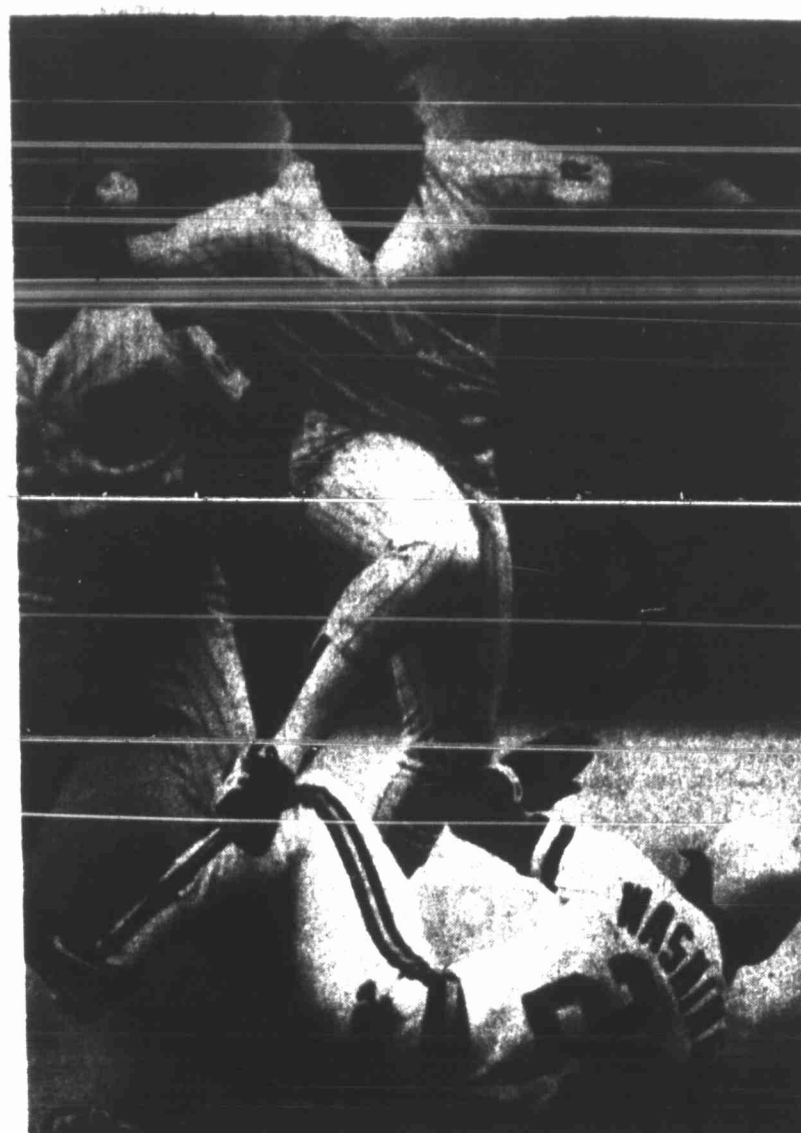

White Sox 8, Yankees 3
 Joel Skinner and Greg Walker homered and Wayne Tolleson knocked in two runs with three singles. Tolleson singled in the first run in Chicago's three-run second inning. Tolleson singled in another run in the sixth and Skinner followed with a two-run homer, breaking open the game.

Orioles 1, Twins 0
 Mike Flanagan and Don Aase combined on a six-hitter and Rick Dempsey hit his first home run since June 16 as Baltimore blanked Minnesota.

Dempsey hit his ninth homer in the second inning off Neal Heaton, 3-9. Flanagan, 4-6, allowed five hits in 6 1-3 innings while notching a second consecutive victory for the first time in 38 starts.

Tigers 5, Rangers 3
 Kirk Gibson hit a three-run homer in the 12th inning to give Detroit a comeback victory. The Rangers had grabbed a 3-2 lead in the top of the 12th on Don Slaught's eighth home run, a shot into the lower center-field seats.

Willie Hernandez, 5-4, the third Tiger pitcher, gave up Slaught's homer but got the victory.

Four Mets spend night in jail

HOUSTON (AP) — Four New York Mets — starting pitchers Ron Darling, Bob Ojeda and Rick Aguilera, and second baseman Tim Teufel — were arrested early Saturday after disturbance at a Houston disco.

Darling and Teufel were charged with aggravated assault on a policeman, and Ojeda and Aguilera with hindering an arrest.

All were released on bond each after spending the night at the Houston city jail.

The incident took place at about 2 a.m. in a disco called Cooter's after the Mets lost to the Houston Astros 3-0 Friday night. Darling was the losing pitcher for the Mets who have a 12-game lead in the National League East.

According to Houston police Sgt. Daniel Moormon, Teufel was creating a disturbance and was asked to leave by the club's management.

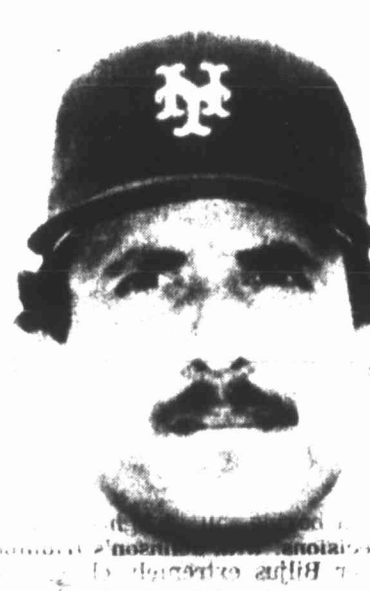

"On his way out, he attempted to carry the beer he was drinking outside," Moormon said. Texas law prohibits the drinking of alcoholic beverages outside public establishments.

Moormon said Teufel, who appeared to be intoxicated, was "released to his friends so they could take him home," Moormon said. Instead, Teufel went outside and started another disturbance, according to the police spokesman. When police tried to arrest him,

Martina returns to native land

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) - Martina Navratilova was hugged by her family and mobbed by newsmen and bystanders Saturday, as she ended an 11-year absence from her native Czechoslovakia and arrived for the Federation Cup tennis tournament.

It was the U.S. star's first visit to her home country since she defected in 1975, and American tennis officials had kept tight-lipped on when she would arrive, in an attempt to avoid crowds.

Their effort was in vain. On Friday, family members let the cat out of the bag, setting up the airport scene.

Photographers and reporters surged toward Navratilova as soon as she cleared the arrival hall. They were quickly joined by others in the airport, some holding aloft children for a glimpse of her.

Navratilova, dressed in a beige pantsuit, appeared overwhelmed by it all. She spoke in words of one syllable to reporters and family members who greeted her with gerberas and roses.

Asked by newsmen how it felt to be back, she told newsmen, "terrific." She and family members hugged and exchanged "ahoy's", a casual greeting here used normally by those trying to avoid sentimentality.

The 42-national competition formally opens late Sunday, after a preliminary round scheduled to pare the number of participating countries to 32. Play for the cup itself starts Monday.

Much of the interest focuses on how Navratilova, the world's top-ranked woman player, will perform in her first tourney in Prague since she fled, gave up Czechoslovakian citizenship and became an American.

"She is emotional," Chris Evert Lloyd said of Navratilova before her friend and teammate arrived. "But with me playing, it helps to take the pressure off her. And there's going to be pressure simply from her returning home to play."

The crush of people jostling for a glimpse of Navratilova allowed West German stars Steffi Graf and Bettina Bunge to slip through the crowd relatively unnoticed. The three arrived on the same Lufthansa flight.

Miroslav Navratil, her father, said before the plane landed that he hoped she would live with the family at their home in Revnice, near Prague.

But Cyril Suk, president of the National Tennis Federation said she would be staying with the American team, and Navratil drove her to the Intercontinental Hotel, home to the U.S. team during the week-long tourney.

Navratilova's parents have visited her in the United States. Her sister Jana defected to West Germany last year.

Despite the pressure, Navratil was confident that his daughter would do well.

"She is going to win," he told a reporter.

Martina Navratilova (right) is accompanied by her mother as she leaves Prague airport Saturday. Navratilova arrived here as a member of the U.S. tennis team taking part in Federation Cup play.

Whatever Happened to No Service Charge Checking?

At one time just about every financial institution offered no service charge checking accounts. Now, it's hard to find one that still does.

Well, we have them at First Federal Savings, and they're the genuine, old-fashioned, NO SERVICE CHARGE CHECKING accounts. You don't pay a dime for opening one... there's no minimum balance required to avoid service charges, and, you can open your account with only $100.

That's what happened to No Service Charge Checking... it's at First Federal Savings.

First Federal also has VISA and MASTER CARD accounts with NO ANNUAL FEE and low interest rates on outstanding balances.

Come to First Federal... where customers have come first since 1935.

*NO SERVICE CHARGE CHECKING applies to Regular Checking Only

U.S. takes Davis lead from Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Robert Seguso and Ken Flach teamed up to defeat Mexico's Jorge Lozano and Fernando Perez Pascal 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 on Saturday to give the United States a 2-1 lead in a Davis Cup quarterfinal series.

The United States can clinch the series, and semifinal berth against Australia, by winning either of Sunday's singles matches. Sunday's schedule has Tim Mayotte of the United States against Leonardo Lavalle and Brad Gilbert against Mexico's Francisco Maciel, a first-day winner over Mayotte.

Australia advanced by winning the doubles on Saturday to take an unbeatable 3-0 lead over Britain. The Americans were visibly superior throughout, although Lozano and Perez put up a hard fight through three sets.

The Mexicans broke the American team's service three times in the first set, with Perez playing aggressively close to the net. But Seguso and Flach rallied in the second set, taking command by twice breaking service.

Seguso's powerful serve in particular proved to be a telling factor, and a double-fault that cost the Mexicans a service break in the third set clearly demoralized the home team. After that, the Americans were in control.

A crowd of about 8,000 watched the match at the 19,000-seat Sports Palace, including Paloma Cordero de la Madrid, wife of the Mexican president.

"I am confident tomorrow we will win at least one of the two singles," American team captain Tom Gorman said.

Australia clinched its series against Britain behind another strong performance by Pat Cash, much to the disappointment of the crowd at Wimbledon, England.

Cash and John Fitzgerald beat Jeremy Bates and Colin Dowdeswell 6-1, 7-5, 6-4 in the deciding doubles match, which lasted 1 hour, 35 minutes. Bates was a late substitute for John Lloyd, who was sidelined by a nagging shoulder injury.

Cash, who had reached the last eight in the men's singles at the Wimbledon championships, had beaten Bates in Friday's singles and was just as strong Saturday.

In another World Group quarterfinal, defending champion Sweden wrapped up its series against Italy by winning the doubles for a 3-0 lead. Mats Wilander, the world's No. 2-ranked singles player, and Joakim Nystrom topped Paolo Canè and Claudia Panatta 6-4, 7-5, 6-2 at Bastad, Sweden.

In the semifinals, the Swedes, seeking their fourth straight Davis Cup title, will take on Czechoslovakia at Prague.

Czechoslovakia clinched its series over Yugoslavia as Miloslav Mecir and Tomas Smid beat the team of Slobodan Zivojinovic and Igor Flieger 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 for a 3-0 lead in the series being played at Sarajevo.

The Czechoslovaks advanced despite the absence of Ivan Lendl, the world's top-ranked player. He was criticized for unsportsmanlike play in last year's Davis Cup and was not placed on the squad this year.

Asked whether Lendl, who lives in the United States, would be invited to participate in the semifinals, Czechoslovak Coach Jan Kodes said, "We have not decided yet. I never said I would not like to have Lendl on the Czech team."

In Davis Cup zone play on Saturday, France took a 3-0 lead over Bulgaria as Henri Leconte and Guy Forget downed Kasimir Lazarov and Iulian Stamatova 6-2, 6-2, 6-4 at Moliets, France.

France next will play the Austria-Romania winner, which will be decided Sunday.

Romania cut Austria's lead to 2-1 Saturday at Bad Kleinkirchheim, Austria on Saturday by winning the doubles. Florin Segarceanu and Andrei Dirzu defeated Thomas Muster and Alexander Antonitsch 6-4, 9-7, 3-6.

BEFORE — Merri Smith prepares for her makeover. "I want something that looks more professional since I'm going into management," she said.

AFTER — After her makeover, Merri Smith looks quite different. She has a new hairstyle and makeup has been applied to give her a more sophisticated look. "I wanted a new image created for me, but I thought it would be a month long job. It's a drastic change," she said.

Jose Paredez, manager at Regis Hairstyles, cuts Merri Smith's hair into a layered bob hairstyle.

After cutting and blow drying Merri's hair, Jose curls the top to give her a softer look.

Applying Merri's makeup is the next step. Jose contours Merri's eyes with eyeliner and softens it with a brush.

The finishing touches. After Jose applied eye shadow, she adds blush to highlight Merri's high cheek bones.

Create a new image

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Are you tired of the same hairstyle? Do you wish you had the courage to try a new makeup technique?

Well...what's stopping you? Now is the time to be daring and become the new you. Now is the time to visit your local cosmetologist for a makeover.

Merri Smith, 30, wanted a change.

"I need something that looks more professional since I'm going into management," she told Jose Paredez, manager of Regis Hairstyles in the Big Spring Mall.

"Our slogan is that we always listen before we cut," Paredez said. "We always want to know what the customer likes and wants. We want to do something that will fit into their lifestyle."

Merri, who wore her hair long and straight and parted in the middle, said she wanted her hair cut on top so she could roll it.

After some discussion, Jose suggested a hairstyle that would complement Merri and give her a softer look. She wanted to get the hair off Merri's face and give her height. She decided a layered bob hairstyle would be the best.

"Today's women are always on the go. They need something that is easy and is less time consuming. This hairstyle doesn't take long to do," Jose said. "Perms are in," she said, but she decided in Merri's case one wouldn't be necessary.

"Since Merri has natural curl, she doesn't need a permanent. She just needs her hair cut to get some of the weight off," Jose explained.

The hair cut included texturizing — to give her a lift and get rid of her permanent part — and a stack cut, to make her hair look fuller in the back. Then, she used sculpting lotion for styling.

"Sculpting lotions and sprays are very important in styling hair," Jose said. "You can make your hair do anything by using these products."

She compared sculpting lotion to Dippity Doo, "like they used in the '50s," she said. "But it isn't as greasy and it doesn't flake."

Then she blow-dried Merri's hair to add volume. She wanted her hair to be full, with a bouncy feeling.

After completing her hair, Jose applied Merri's makeup.

"It's important to remember to use light makeup in the day and darker makeup at night. Especially if you go to a club where it's darker," Jose said.

She applied a light foundation to Merri's face and set it with loose powder. "This helps the makeup stay longer," she explained.

Next her cheekbones were contoured with blush and eyeliner, and eyeshadows were used to shape her eyes.

"You can do a lot of things with eyeshadows," Jose said. "Lots of colors are popular now. The main thing is to use the colors that look good with your skin."

The final touches were added and mascara was applied to bring out her eyelashes.

After her total makeover was completed, Merri looked more professional — the look she wanted.

"I wanted a new image created for me, but I thought it would be a month-long job to make me over," she said. "I look different — it's drastic.

But, I'll never be able to get it this way again."

Jose assured Merri she would show her how to use the tools to style her hair.

Merri, who was nervous about her husband's reaction to her hair being cut off, was relieved when her husband said, "She looks nice. It's a little bit too short for my taste, but it will help her in her job."

Jose said, "Many people fantasize about what they'd like to look like. The best thing to do is ask a hairstylist if it will work. We're ready to try anything."

Prices for a total makeover, consisting of a permanent, hair-cut and makeup application, range from $75-$100.

This year's queen contestants are, left to right, Tonya Bridge, Shauna Richardson, Carrie Bruton and Sandy Swafford. The girl who sells the most advance rodeo tickets will be crowned the 1986 Junior Rodeo Queen.

Contestants strive for queen title

Queen competitors for the 41st Annual Junior Rodeo are busy selling tickets, according to this year's queen contestants Tonya Bridge, Shanna Richardson, Sandy Swafford and Carrie Burton.

The girl who sells the most advance rodeo tickets will be crowned queen, said Ella Bridge, contest chairwoman. The queen will win a belt buckle, gift certificates and a $200 scholarship to Howard College, she said.

Each contestant must be a member of a 4-H club and be between 9 and 19 years old.

TONYA BRIDGE, daughter of Mikel and Ella Bridge of Sterling City Route, is an eighth-grader at Forsan. She is a member of Forsan 4-H Club and enjoys sewing, swimming and raising sheep.

SHANNA RICHARDSON, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Richardson, 516 Scott. Hobbies include tennis and showing steers. A Big Spring High School sophomore, she is a member of Lucky Acres

4-H Club. SANDY SWAFFORD, eighth-grade student at Forsan, is the daughter of Marvin and Patty Spivey of Sterling City Route. She is a member of the Forsan 4-H Club and enjoys swimming, camping and sports.

CARRIE BURTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnal Burton, is a freshman at Big Spring High School. She is a member and reporter of the Lucky Acres 4-H Club and enjoys rodeos and showing lambs and pigs.

Weddings

Stanford-Turner

CONCORD, N.C. — Alison Jeanette Stanford of Concord, N.C. and John Franklin Turner Jr. of Fremont, N.C., grandson of Mrs. Brandon Curry, 1206 Nolan St, exchanged wedding vows July 12 at the First Baptist Church in Concord.

Officiating the wedding were the Rev. J. Franklin Turner, father of the bridegroom, and Dr. Eugene Hunsinger of Concord.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stanford of Concord. Bridegroom's parents are Rev. and Mrs. J. Franklin Turner of Fremont.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with an open bible with a bouquet and a tiered candelabra accented with silk flowers.

Mrs. James Hinson was the pianist and Mrs. Jimmie Gulley was the handbell soloist.

Vocalist was Mrs. Patrick McCrory.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline overlaid in ruffled schiffli organza lace. The flowing A-line skirt had silk Venice lace motifs at the waistline. The chapel-length train was hemlined in silk Venice lace. The waltz-length veil was contoured with a wreath of pearls.

Venice appliques were attached to the headpiece of lilies of the valley and pearls.

She carried an armed bouquet of pink and white roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath tied with a satin bow with streamers.

Maid of honor was Patricia Stanford, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Allison Maynard of Cary, N.C., Kim Strickland of Elizabeth City, N.C., and Stacey Camp of Greensboro, N.C.

Best man and usher was Tim Turner, brother of the bridegroom, of Southport, N.C. Groomsmen and ushers were Hal Bain, brother of the bridegroom, of Buies Creek, N.C.; and Walter and Philip Stanford, brothers of the bride, both of Concord.

Candlelighters were Walter and Philip Stanford.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's cake was five-tiered and decorated with English ivy and silk flowers.

The bridegroom's cake featured a chocolate cake topped with a miniature handmade church.

The bride is a graduate of Northwest Cabarrus High School and Campbell University where she received a bachelor of arts degree in English and French.

MRS. JOHN TURNER
...formerly Allison Stanford

The bridegroom is a graduate of Charles B. Aycock High School and Campbell University. He is employed as a youth minister at First Baptist Church.

After a wedding trip to the North Carolina coast, the couple will make their home at Elizabethtown, N.C.

Hudgens-McDowell

AUSTIN — Leesa Rosine Hudgens of Austin became the bride of Lorin Sloan McDowell IV, Garden City Rt. at an evening ceremony July 19 at the First Methodist Church in Austin.

Parents of the bride are Anita McCann of Austin and Rodney Hudgens of Lubbock. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lorin McDowell III of Big Spring.

Maid of honor was Melissa Hudgens, sister of the bride, of Austin. Bridesmaids were Erin Killa of Houston, Mary Alice Ballard of Austin, Kerry Lynch of Dallas, Jane Harwood of Austin, Julie Flores of Houston and Laurel McDowell, sister of the bridegroom, of Big Spring.

Best man was Lorin McDowell III, father of the bridegroom, of Big Spring. Groomsmen were Allen McDowell, brother of the bridegroom, of Big Spring; Adron Welch, uncle of the bridegroom, of Big Spring; Craig McMahon of Dallas; David Jeffers of Dallas; Robert Bailey of Lubbock; and Dale Brown of Fort Worth.

Ushers were Mike Brooks of Austin, Jerry Price of Big Spring and Doug Archer of Fort Worth.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Driskill Hotel.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University and has a degree in education and a psychology specialization.

The bridegroom is finishing his studies at the University of Texas at Austin in international trade and is specializing in Russian.

After a three week wedding trip to Buzios Brasil and La Pas

Bolivia, the couple will make their home in Austin.

Patton-Murphy

Deneen Patton, 1705 Kentucky way, and Gregg Murphy of Louisville, Ky. exchanged wedding vows July 19 at Birdwell Lane Church of Christ with Billy Patton, father of the bride, and Anthony Patton, brother of the bride, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Billy and Linda Patton, 1705 Kentucky Way. Bridegroom's parents are Hale and Dollie Murphy of Louisville, Ky.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with candelabras and two peach gladiola arrangements trimmed with teal.

Vocalists were Dee Elrod and Karen Lee.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white organza and chantilly lace gown designed with a lace wedding band neckline with sheer schiffli lace yoke. A fitted elongated bodice, overlaid with chantilly lace and bridal pearls, was featured with sleeves that tapered to points. Motifs of lace accented the sleeves. The skirt was edged in lace and flowed into a cathedral-length train. She carried a cascading bouquet of white bride's roses with peach roses and white Stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Jane O'Pry of Fort Worth. Bridesmaids were Amy Norris and Rhonda Hullum of Odessa and Melia Rager of Fort Worth.

Flower girl was Natalie Thomas, cousin of the bride, of Savannah, Ga. Ring bearer was Heath Bailey of Big Spring.

Best man was Bryce Baxter of Abilene. Groomsmen were Shannon O'Pry of Fort Worth, John Mark Spradlin of Louisville, Ky. and Brent Culp of Stanton.

Ushers were Darrin Duzan of Odessa and Mike Griffith of Big Spring.

Candlelighters were Allison Thomas of Savannah, Ga. and Jennifer Rasmovich of Atlanta, Ga.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the church. The wedding cake was a three-tiered fresh floral cake. The bride's table was decorated with a heart shaped holder for the bride's and bridesmaid's bouquets.

The bride is a graduate of Ballinger High School and Abilene Christian University. She has a bachelor of science degree in home economics.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Louisville Christian Academy and Student exchange: a great experience

By DANA DOLAN
Forsan 4-H Club

If you missed hosting one of the Inter-State Student Exchange 4-Hers recently, you really missed a great experience.

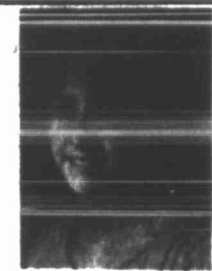

Fourteen 4-Hers, one adult leader, and one County Agent arrived in Big Spring and West Texas from Haywood, N.C. They came to learn and see the way we live in this desert of West Texas.

Some surprises that awaited our visiting 4-Hers were the land — flat with no mountains, more rolling plains, our abundance of fuzzy bushes, mesquite trees, the large size of farms and ranches here as compared to theirs, and the dialect we talk.

We all discovered we are basically pretty much alike as teen-agers. Our families and ways of life are all pretty much the same.

As part of the entertainment for our guests and host families, Skip, Wanda, and Dane Driver hosted a mini-rideo, Fajita cook-out, and ice cream supper at their home south of Big Spring.

On the following day, our visitors, along with their host families toured the Petroleum Museum and enjoyed the rest of the day at

Around the county

Water Wonderland in Midland.

When the group left to return home, there were a lot of tears and sad good-byes as everyone had formed really close relationships during their short stay in Big Spring. This will not be the end of this exchange as I'm sure many letters will be written and too our group of hosts will be looking forward to returning the visit next summer in Haywood, N.C., as guest of these same Exchange 4-Hers.

Coming up soon will be the annual Howard County 4-H Junior Rideo to be held July 30 & 31 and August 1 & 2. Running for Rodeo Queen is: Carrie Bruton, Sandy Swafford, Shauna Richardson, and Tonya Bridge. These girls will be out selling advance tickets. The candidate turning in the most money will win. Be sure to support the candidate of your choice by purchasing your tickets in advance. Then, by all means, attend the rodeo and support our youth as they perform for us. They are great kids and will put on a great show of riding and sportsmanship for you.

Robbie Dolan and Tonya Rock have just returned from Texas 4-H Congress held this year in Austin. While they were there, they were guest of the House of Representatives Committee and the Senate Committees and were able to attend some of the Committees meetings.

While attending these meetings, they learned about parliamentary procedures and various ways bills are presented to the committees. They also participated in some of the debates for the bills. Each county was asked to write a bill to be presented to one of the committees.

While in Austin, the girls also attended the State 4-H Fashion Review and see the results of how well the people did in their projects. They were also seen on television and were able to see themselves later in their hotel rooms.

Armchair exercises are questioned

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have in front of me this book. It touts arm exercises, and it says you can do them sitting in a chair to get aerobic benefits. What is this all about? The book says I can get more benefits than from my jogging. Please comment. — S.C.J.

I haven't seen the book, and I find the idea difficult to understand.

Let me say, though, that you can get exercise benefits from arm exercising. There's even a name for it — jarming. But this doesn't sound like the thesis of your book. And I should also note that for some people sitting in a wheelchair, exercising their arms may be the limit of their activity. That's fine.

But the business of armchair exercise being superior to full-body activity, like jogging, is patently ridiculous. You must know that it takes a lot more energy to propel the body off the ground with each stride than to sit in a chair and pump your arms.

There is another, less obvious point to bear in mind. Arm muscles are smaller than leg muscles. Exercising arm muscles excessively can cause a greater rise in blood pressure than utilizing the larger ones in the legs. So if you have a heart or blood pressure problem you have to be careful about devoting yourself solely to strenuous arm exercise.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is belly breathing? I started jogging and a friend said I should belly breathe. Why? — Mrs. L.P.

We're speaking here about making maximum use of the diaphragm. That, as you know, is the muscle partition between the chest and abdominal activities. When you breathe in, the diaphragm moves down.

You can feel this happen. Put your hand on your abdomen. Take a deep breath. Can you feel the abdomen stick out? You should.

When you breathe properly, the diaphragm pushes down into the abdomen, permitting the lungs room to inflate with air. What your friend is referring to is the fact that many joggers breathe too shallowly. The diaphragm doesn't push down sufficiently and air doesn't get to the deepest recesses of the lungs. They don't get all the oxygen they could and should be getting.

You might try diaphragm breathing a bit hard to get used to. When you run, once in a while put your hand on your abdomen, and when you inhale, see if you are getting the proper diaphragmatic action. That way you'll know you are belly breathing.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What would cause me to get rubber legs, tingling of the limbs, and lightheadedness when exercising?

I do aerobics three times a week and I run three times a week. I had a recent physical and was given a clean bill of health. It included a blood sugar test. I'm 5 feet, 6 inches and weigh 116 pounds. I've been doing aerobics for a long time, but just added the running the past month. — T.L.G.

The best I can do is guess. Your symptoms could come from overbreathing.

Now that might seem strange in the light of all I told another writer (above) about filling the lungs when breathing. What I mean there is that you may be breathing too rapidly and getting rid of too much carbon dioxide. Your symptoms do sound a bit like what happens to hyperventilators. For them, the reason is anxiety.

I suggest you try this: Take a breather (literally) when you exercise. Your breathing will slow. You will retain some carbon dioxide in that period, and if you do, and if my guess is right, you should do much better. Then you can tell me if I'm right or wrong.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is exercise as important as calcium for bone strength? — W.W.

Yes. Some say it's really essential for proper bone uptake of calcium. So exercise should be an important part of the picture when possible.

Millions of out-of-shape men and women desire fitness, but shy away from formal programs because they think it's all too complicated and difficult. Dr. Donohue's newest booklet, "Introduction to Fitness," puts the esoteric terminology of aerobics into plain language and offers a fitness program anyone, regardless of age, can adapt. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.50.

Wife knows husband's great gift to her was steady love

DEAR ABBY: For the 20 years of our marriage, "Ted" avoided showing emotion. Hed never gave gifts or learned how to accept one. (He said it made him feel uncomfortable.) I was never able to unlock the safe where he hid his feelings.

Last year, a few days before Ted's birthday, I read a letter in your column that described our marriage perfectly. It was from a wife signed "Loved in Montana." I clipped it out and saved it. I had bought Ted a much-needed bathrobe for his birthday, but I didn't have it gift-wrapped because I knew he'd never open the box, so I hung it in his closet with the letter signed "Loved in Montana" pinned to the robe.

When Ted discovered it, he came to me and hugged me with the clipping in his hand and tears in his eyes.

Eleven days later, with no previous symptoms, Ted suffered a massive heart attack; four hours later he was dead.

I want to thank "Loved in Montana" for writing that letter, and you, Abby, for printing it. Sign me...

LOVED IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR LOVED: For readers who want to know what "Loved in Montana's" letter contained, here's a recap: It was a very touching message from a woman whose husband never remembered her on special occasions. She said she nearly lost her wonderful man by her childish insistence that he give her a gift or send a card. She wrote: "A gift that's begged for is really not a gift." She then went on to enumerate the many loving and thoughtful things he did for her every day, which were more proof of his love than a gift on special occasions. She ended her letter with, "Now, after 24 years, I don't need cards or flowers or 'things' because I have precious memories that are always with me. Only a very insecure person like I once was needs tangible reminders. I am thankful that I am secure in his love. That's the greatest gift of all."

DEAR ABBY: A friend who I hang out with doesn't just "flash" — she wears miniskirts and sits cross-legged. It's warm outside, she fans herself with her skirt. I don't know if she's trying to be outrageous or trying to attract guys or what, but it really nauseas me out.

Abby, it's not like she's 12 years old. She's 22! Is this some form of exhibitionism? I know she's aware she's doing it.

Is it none of my business? Should I just look away when she is spread-eagled in a skirt? I've never thought of myself as old-fashioned, but this is too much. EMBARRASSED IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR EMBARRASSED: For goodness sake, tell this friend what you have told me. Regardless of whether her exhibitionism is unconscious or not, the view is the same and so is the impression she's making.

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to "Fat and Sassy" was unacceptable. She asked you what to say to a woman who walks up to an overweight woman and says, "My but you have a pretty face." You replied, "Say, 'Thank you.'"

Thank an insensitive stranger for minding your own business by suggesting that although your face is pretty, the rest of you leaves a lot to be desired? Never!

I can't tell you how many times friends, relatives — and strangers — have come up to me with a comment like this: "You would be beautiful if you'd just lose a little weight." They feel it's their job to startle me with this wonderful revelation. After having told me that they actually think I am ugly, they pause, obviously expecting thanks for the insult.

Well, the day I thank them for making me feel lousy about myself will be the day after never.

You may sign me with the reply I would like to make to such people. "DROP DEAD"

(Getting married? Send for Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (30 cents) envelope to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38823, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Sisters honored for their birthdays

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

A joint birthday celebration with a reception and buffet luncheon in Duncanville will honor two Big Spring residents on August 2 from 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

MRS. ESTHER HAWKINS, born July 20, 1897, will celebrate her 90th birthday and her sister MRS. OLLIE CHRISTENSEN, born August 31, 1899, will celebrate her 87th.

Hawkins has resided in Big Spring for eight years. Christensen, her late husband E.G. and their son J.L. operated a shoe repair and boot and western wear shops in Big Spring for 35 years.

All descendants of Molinda and M.T. Mitchell (Mummy and Daddy) are invited to the third annual MITCHELL FAMILY REUNION Saturday, July 26 from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. at the Lions Club Building, 9th and Main Streets, in Lamesa.

Children of the Molinda and M.T. Mitchell's bring vegetables and salads, grandchildren bring meats, great-grandchildren bring salads and cousins bring desserts.

For more information contact Audrey Schaefer, 2806 Prestwick, El Paso, Texas 79925 or call 915-588-5232.

THE ST. LAWRENCE VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT AND E.M.T.'s sponsored its 2nd Annual 4th of July Celebration Fund Raiser to help purchase an emergency rescue vehicle for their community and to set up a benefit fund for Jarrett Pike of Garden City, who is battling cancer.

The day was filled with activities such as a barbecue cook-off, a Little Miss 4th of July contest, a domino tournament, a Bridal Fair (wedding gowns 25 years and older were modeled), an auction and a dance.

The auction, held for Pike, raised almost $4,000.

THE BIG SPRING HIGH SCHOOL REUNION, CLASS OF 1961, will be October 17 and 18.

Tentative plans, made by the reunion committee, for the reunion include a float in the homecoming parade, a day for visiting and renewing old friendships, a dinner and a dance.

If anyone knows the whereabouts of the following 1961 classmates, contact Wanda Driver at 915-263-6528 or write to Big Spring Class of 1961, P.O. Box 145, Big Spring, Texas 79720:

Former Big Spring resident Lynn Thames, now of Brownfield, son of Kathleen Thames of Big Spring, was a recent topic for an article in the Brownfield News.

That article focused on Thames' insurance business, his philosophies on his work and his personal life.

A 20-year veteran in the insurance business, Thames said that the only difference between him and any other agent is service and his attitude of how he services his clients.

Thames said his golden rule is to "conduct the affairs of my client as I would want mine to be conducted."

GARRETT BURGESS, 24, who was in a car accident Jan. 15 in Big Spring and suffered massive head injuries, is currently rehabilitating at Brackenridge Hospital, 601 East 15th, 9th Floor Rehab, Room 917, Austin, Texas 78701.

All friends are encouraged to write and help support the morale of Burgess.

Weddings

Hatfield-Dickey

Starla Renea Hatfield became the bride of Lynn Lee Dickey, both of Big Spring, at an afternoon ceremony at the Barcelona Reception Room with Brother Craven of Trinity Baptist Church, officiating. Parents of the bride are Sybil Blackwood of Big Spring and Bruce Hatfield of Big Spring. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tehrmann of Madisonville.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with a brass arch featured with pink and peach roses and carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long, handmade, beige dress accented with light pink and peach roses.

She carried a bouquet of pink and peach roses.

Matron of honor was Sybil Blackwood, mother of the bride, of Big Spring.

Best man was Kenneth Conner, uncle of the bride, of Big Spring.

Usher was Tommy Kirpatrick of Big Spring. Hostesses were Kathy Hatfield, stepmother of the bride, and Ginger Cline Conner, aunt of the bride.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Barcelona Reception Room. The bride's table was accented with candles and a bouquet of three dozen pink and peach carnations. A two-tiered white cake was decorated with pink and peach roses.

MRS. LYNN DICKEY
...formerly Starla Hatfield

The bride attended school in Coahoma and recently graduated from the cosmetology department at Howard College. She is employed by Rumours Beauty Salon.

The bridegroom graduated from Dawson High School and attended Howard College.

After a wedding trip to Midland-Odessa, the couple has made their home in Big Spring at the Barcelona Apartments.

Smith-Deats

MIDLAND — Carol Jean Smith and John Wesley Deats, both of Midland, exchanged wedding vows June 21 at the First United Methodist Church Chapel in Midland.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith of Kingsport, Tenn. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Deats, 7 Coachman's Circle.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with two large vases of pink carnations with white gaisies and baby's breath. Instrumentalists were Michael Santorelli, trumpeter, and Brad Kisner, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white gown of embroidered organza and silk rolled flowers. The bodice was fitted with a V, dropped waist. The short sleeves were puffed. The A-line skirt had a small sweeping train edged in silk Venice lace. The two tiered waist-length veil of imported illusion featured a wreath of white silk flowers.

Matron of honor was Annabeth Miller, sister of the bridegroom, of Tampa, Fla. Bridesmaid was Camille Belling of Sioux City, Iowa.

Best man was Captain Drew Miller, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Tampa, Fla. Groomsman was Russell Smith Jr., brother of the bride, of Kingsport, Tenn.

Ushers were Bill Davis and Rob Sutphen, both of Midland.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the parlor of the First Methodist Church. The bride's table featured a three-tiered white cake decorated with pink roses. The bridegroom's table featured a devil's food cake.

The bride is a graduate of

MRS. JOHN DEATS
...formerly Carol Smith

Dobyns-Bennett High School in Kingsport, Tenn., Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts where she earned a bachelor of music and music education degree, Eastman School of Music where she earned her master of music degree and attended Memphis State University to work on her doctorate degree. She teaches private lessons for the trumpet and French horn and plays with the Big Spring Symphony.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School, University of Houston where he earned a bachelor of science degree and North Texas State University where he earned his master of library science degree. He is the director of Midland County Library.

After a wedding trip to Angel Fire, Taos and Santa Fe, N.M., the couple will make their home in Midland.

Important steps to follow to help prevent sunstroke

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
The combined effects of sun, exercise, heat and excessive perspiration can cause the loss of fluids and salts in the body. These conditions may, in turn, cause heat exhaustion, heatstroke and sunstroke.

To prevent these serious conditions, remain in the sun and excessively hot places for only short periods of time.

While working or playing outdoors, wear loose-fitting clothes, such as cotton t-shirts, to help the body perspire and keep it cool.

Drink sufficient amounts of liquids to help replace fluids lost in perspiration.

The body's normal reaction to high temperature is to pool blood near the surface of the skin so that sweat is formed and then evaporated into the air, releasing heat. This process works very well in most instances.

However, when a person is exposed to high temperatures combined with high humidity for a long period of time, the vessels deep in the body may lack sufficient blood and heat exhaustion may occur.

The symptoms of heat exhaustion include muscle cramps and weakness. The body temperature may remain normal, but the pulse may be weak. The skin is usually cool, but pale and moist.

Treatment consists of getting the person out of the sun immediately. Slowly sipping cool (not cold) water will help cool down the body.

Focus on family

Heatstroke, or sunstroke, is more serious than heat exhaustion. A breakdown of the cooling system of the body which causes the body temperature to rise uncontrollably causes heatstroke. Because the sweating mechanism is not working, there is very little perspiration. The skin is dry, red and hot. The pulse is fast and strong. There may be nausea and headaches. Collapse is possible.

As in the case of heat exhaustion, it's important to get the victim out of the sun and to lower the temperature. Sponge the person with water, especially around the head. If the person is unconscious, give no fluids. Seek treatment from a physician immediately.

Older persons and very young children should be watched carefully for signs of heat related illness. Help older persons schedule shopping trips and errands early in the day when it's coolest. Provide a shady place for outdoor play and provide indoor activities for children during the hottest part of the day.

WWI auxiliary drapes charter

The Veterans of World War I Auxiliary Barracks #1474 draped their charter recently in memory of Francis Averitte, long time member who passed away July 8.

Coffee and cakes were served to the patients of the Veteran Administration Medical Center in June by Myrtle Keele and Mary Waddall.

Maxie Irland, president, and Virginia Younger reported on the state convention that was in Abilene June 22-24.

Auxiliary #1474 received a first place award for 26 reinstated members and to Bernice, Irland and Younger for reinstated members.

Awards were also won for outstanding newspaper articles to Virginia Younger, legislation, Americanism, Veterans Administration voluntary service; publicity, hospital and community service.

Irland was elected department of Texas Commander at the convention.

Next meeting will be August 9 at 10:30 a.m.
