Lighter side

CHICAGO (AP) — If the mere idea of doing trunk twists, jumping jacks or knee bends is exhausting, the Refrigerettes' exercise video is for you.

The hefty cheerleaders — named for the Chicago Bears' William "The Refrigerator" Perry — are planning a video to cater to the fitness needs of the "large individual," said group captain Desda Giuliani.

"There are all kinds of tapes out there for pregnant women, for skinny women who want to stay skinny," Mrs. Giuliani said recently. "But there's no one who's really concentrating on larger individuals."

She said the tape will target beginners, "keeping in mind that some of these people may not have exercised for awhile."

The video will feature the eight Refrigerettes performing various flexibility and muscle-toning exercises. Mrs. Giuliani said. And unlike the routines of exercise gurus such as Jane Fonda, overweight people won't find the Refrigerettes' exercises intimidating, she said.

The Refrigerettes hope the video will be available no later than Nov. 1, in time for Christmas, she said.

Identity sought of possible hit-run victim

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Law enforcement officials this morning were trying to determine the identity of a man found dead at 5:45 a.m. on the south service road of Interstate 20 near Sand Springs.

The man, described as a white male with blond curly hair, 20 to 25 years old, is suspected to be a victim of a hit-and-run driver, said sheriff's deputy Robert Stapp. His body was found about one block east of the Salem Road exit.

Justice of the Peace China Long pronounced the man dead at the scene at 6 a.m. and ordered an autopsy by Dr. Robert Rember, a local pathologist. Long said she will rule on cause of death after the autopsy is completed.

Sheriff A.N. Standard said fingerprints from the victim have been submitted to the FBI and the Department of Public Safety office in Austin for identification.

A DPS spokeswoman in the regional office in Midland said late this morning the victim's identity still was undetermined.

She would not disclose other information about the case.

DPS Trooper William Jennings, who Standard said is investigating the case, could not be reached for comment.

Justice of the Peace Long said she was notified by sheriff's department personnel after they had received a call 15 minutes earlier from a passer-by who reported a body on the roadway.

Stapp, who reached the scene first, said the telephone caller did not identify himself.

Long said the victim, clad in blue jeans and socks, was lying on his back in the eastbound lane with his head facing south. A pair of cowboy boots were at the scene, she said, but no shirt was discovered.

"There was no identification on him. No driver's license, no wallet," Long said.

Deputy Stapp and Trooper Jennings did find $1 to $2 in the victim's pants pocket, she said.

Long said the victim had "multiple bruises and abrasions" and it appeared one of his legs was broken. Also, there was blood on

Reply to Soviets says Reagan will negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is willing to negotiate on all aspects of nuclear arms control raised by recent Soviet proposals, according to published accounts of a draft reply the president has approved to Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

If Soviet reaction to the letter is favorable, administration officials believe it is likely a U.S.-Soviet summit could be held in Washington before the end of the year. The Washington Post says in today's editions.

In the draft letter, however, Reagan does not respond directly to Soviet proposals to ban deployment of space-based defensive weapons for 15 years to 20 years,

The New York Times, also in today's editions, quotes sources as saying.

That, along with the restriction of space weapons research to laboratory testing, has been a Soviet condition for agreeing to major cuts in intercontinental missiles and bombers.

The Times says the president has decided against including any explicit overall formula to limit defenses against missile attacks in return for deep cuts in offensive nuclear forces. The Post says the Pentagon and the State Department are still at odds on the subject.

New JP suffers heart attack

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Justice of the Peace William "Bill" Shankles was reported in critical but stable condition this morning after suffering a heart attack Sunday night, said Carmen Phillips, director of nursing services at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The 50-year-old former sheriff's deputy admitted himself to the emergency room at 5:40 p.m. Sunday, complaining of chest pains, Phillips said.

He suffered a cardiac arrest in the emergency room, Phillips said, and was administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation by the emergency room personnel.

"He responded very well to the treatment," Phillips said. His heart beat was revived, and he was transferred to the intensive care unit for further care, she said.

Shankles, who won the Democratic primary for Justice of the Peace Precinct 1 Place 2, was appointed to the position last month to fill a vacancy created by incumbent Lewis Heflin's death.

Shankles faces no Republican opposition in the November general election.

Howard County Judge Milton Kirby said this morning he will handle office operations while Shankles is hospitalized. He said he may refer Shankles' case load to Justice of the Peace China Long, who serves Precinct 1 Place 1.

Shankles won the Democratic primary runoff June 7, narrowly defeating his opponent, Stanley Bogard. The runoff was forced when 8 percent of the Democratic votes in the May 5 primary were cast for the late Heflin.

Shankles was appointed by Howard County commissioners to serve Heflin's vacated term, effective June 15.

Shankles previously served as a county sheriff's deputy for eight years and nine months.

House panel eyes budget cuts

AUSTIN (AP) — House budget writers have begun consideration of a long list of suggested solutions to the state's financial woes.

The House Appropriations Committee's decisions may have such far-reaching impact as to affect fire ants, sick cows and liquor imports from Mexico. Those matters were among proposals made to the committee at its first budget-cutting session Sunday.

"We know we have to cut probably $1 billion in our cash flow for the next five months," Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, told the committee.

"We got off to a slow start but I still think we can get through Thursday or Friday," Rudd said afterwards.

The billion-dollar search for budget cuts resumed today with an agency-by-agency examination, including state colleges and universities.

On Sunday the committee heard suggestions from the Legislative Budget Board on ways to trim the budgets of about 50 state agencies.

The committee's recommended spending cuts will be part of legislative leaders' plans for the special session that Gov. Mark White has called for Aug. 6.

Rudd said the panel would consider four levels of reductions in appropriations approved by the 1985 Legislature. Budget board staff members talked about what it would take to make a statewide 13 percent cut requested by White.

Monday and Tuesday the committee will hear LBB's estimates of how much each agency budget will have to be cut if the deficit is $2.3 billion, the current estimate, or if it reaches $3 billion as some predict. Jim Oliver, head of the LBB, Sondra, Jeanann and Jayson, relax in their high-rise condominium with a view overlooking the Greenway Plaza area in southwest Houston. The family went high rise because they like it, not because it was necessary.

High-rise life

Houston residents find extended family

HOUSTON (AP) — For Buffy and Jody, the adorable TV twins who kept life exciting for Brian "Uncle Bill" Keith on "Family Affair" years ago, high-rise living was a necessity. They had nowhere else to go. We Southerners, unused to such situations for children, sympathized.

At least two families of youngsters who live high above the Southwest Freeway, however, consider themselves lucky to have a life of elevators, doormen and spectacular views from their bedroom windows.

Sondra Seidman, 15, and her brother, Jayson, 7, and sister, Jeanann, 4, live on the fifth floor of a Greenway Plaza area condominium building. John Strohmeyer, 6, and sister, Sara, 4, live on the 28th floor of a nearby high rise.

For their mothers, Sandy Seidman and Linda Strohmeyer, high-rise living was a choice, not a necessity. Mrs. Seidman and her husband, Jeffrey, are from a small town outside Mobile, Ala. When he accepted a job here a year ago, they moved into the high rise as a temporary home while they looked for a house.

It took awhile, Seidman recalled, to get used to "the elevators and the parking garage and the feeling of going into a hotel every time we came home."

Once they did, however, they decided they liked it. And they stayed.

Linda Strohmeyer is a native Houstonian, raised in a traditional home in the Memorial area. Before she and her husband, James, started a family, they lived in one high rise and bought their current residence as an investment. When Mrs. Strohmeyer found out she was pregnant, they were asked to leave their all-adult setup.

Mrs. Strohmeyer assumed families lived in houses. It seemed radical at the time to move into their condominium instead. She even quizzed a friend from New York, who laughed at her fears.

"She said, 'Linda? Millions of children have been raised in high rises in New York. Don't be ridiculous!'"

Now Mrs. Strohmeyer wouldn't trade places with suburbanites for anything.

"It's such a supportive lifestyle," Mrs. Strohmeyer said. "Let's face it. The wife is mainly responsible for the house. Your life gets absorbed by this monster which demands most of your time."

Life can be relatively simple for those who can afford such quarters. When Mrs. Seidman drives into the garage from the grocery store, a valet unloads

Quake rocks California second time

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake that was felt from Los Angeles to the San Francisco Bay area rumbled through California today, the second quake in as many days.

The quake measured 6.0 on the Richter scale, according to the National Earthquake Center in Golden, Colo. It occurred at about 7:45 a.m., and was followed by at least four sharp, rolling aftershocks in the next 15 minutes.

It was reportedly felt from Los Angeles to Lake Tahoe and the San Francisco Bay area 400-450 miles north.

Reece B. Black, a warning control employee for the state Office of Emergency Services, said the quake's epicenter was not yet known.

People who felt today's quake in the San Joaquin Valley said it felt stronger than Sunday morning's quake, which was centered across the Sierra Nevada near Bishop. It was estimated at 5.5 on the Richter scale.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

An earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area, 4 moderate damage, 5 considerable damage, 6 severe damage. A 7 reading is a "major" earthquake, capable of widespread heavy damage. 8 is a "great" quake, capable of tremendous damage.

BURBANK, Calif. — GENE AURY, owner of the California Angels baseball team and a former singing cowboy, was resting comfortably following hip surgery.

Aury's right hip joint was replaced with a metal prosthesis. He broke his hip in a fall Thursday.

He is expected to be released from the hospital in 10 to 14 days, Ms. Griffin said.

LOS ANGELES — LUCILLE BALL, after a 14-year absence from series television, filmed her first new show for ABC with a "vintage Lucy" performance that brought the cheering audience to its feet, an ABC spokesman said.

"The last scene was vintage Lucy excitement," said Jasper

Vance, a publicist for ABC. "This is the first audience in a very long time. I appreciate your coming and I love you," said Miss Ball, 74, who is returning to series television for the first time since 1974 in a series called "Life With Lucy." The show is expected to begin in September.

CHICAGO — Britain's PRINCE CHARLES isn't arriving until September, but preparations already are under way for his one-day visit.

The Chicago media met organizers of the trip on Friday and were told by a representative of the British Consulate not to expect interviews, "so don't ask."

"And don't fear that anyone else will get an interview because they won't," Caroline Cracraft said.

The prince arrives in Chicago on Sept. 4 — without Princess Diana — and attends a benefit Polo Ball at a Marshall Field's store. The next day, he tours a promotion of British goods at Field's, visits a magnet school, attends a reception sponsored by the British consul general and plays a polo match.

her purchases. Dry cleaning is hung on a rack. If she likes, she can have everything delivered to her apartment. It's convenient for women with professional lifestyles such as Mrs. Seidman — she's a model/photographer who manages her children's modeling careers as well — and Mrs. Strohmeier, a marketing consultant. They enjoy their unusual mix of neighbors and their close proximity to work.

But what about the children? Both women are enthusiastic about their children's environment. The biggest bonus, they say, is the extended family they've acquired. Doormen and valets become like uncles; housekeepers are like aunts. While you do have to be cautious, they said, they have confidence in the management's selection of personnel.

Mrs. Seidman says she has noticed a definite expansion of her children's vocabularies since they moved into the high rise. The sights they see from on high, she said, stimulate conversations and questions she doubts they would have had had they lived in a conventional house.

Fire destroys storage shed

A storage shed at the home of Andrew Price, 206 N.E. Third St., was destroyed by fire Saturday night, according to a fire department report.

The department estimated damage to be $400.

Firefighters found the shed engulfed in flames when they arrived shortly after 10:15 p.m. Flames were threatening the house, according to the report.

Cause of the blaze was not indicated. However, it appeared someone had been barbecuing near the area earlier, according to the report.

Council will discuss revenue, right-of-way

City Council will conduct two public hearings Tuesday night, one on the proposed revenue-sharing budget.

The budget hearing will begin at 6 p.m. in the police department conference room. An ordinance adopting the proposed budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, will be considered on first reading by the council.

The second hearing, concerning the vacation of an alley easement of Block 3, Lots 1-21, Cedar Crest Addition, will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers at City Hall.

A report on the legal position with respect to acquisition of the right of way between Third and Fourth Streets, east of Harris Lumber, will be heard.

The council also will consider banning alcoholic beverages and glass beverage containers in city parks and Moss Creek Lake.

Other agenda items are:

- Considering removal of speed bumps and barricades at Comanche Trail Park.
- Awarding a bid on the siren system.

Board may approve preliminary budget

The Howard County Junior College District board of trustees is expected to approve a preliminary 1986-87 budget at its regular meeting Tuesday.

A public hearing will be conducted at the August meeting to discuss the budget, said Dr. Bob Riley, president of Howard College.

This year's budget has been the most difficult in memory to prepare, he said, both because of the county's assessed value has dropped, and because of possible budget cuts by the state.

In other business, the board will consider setting up a licensed vocational nursing program in Del Rio, where Howard College now has a registered nursing program, Riley said. The Del Rio public school district had a vocational nursing program for several years, but the state will no longer fund it, he said.

The board also will consider bids on a water piping system, and on floor tile and installation for the men's dormitory.

Also on the agenda are renewal of the basic health insurance plan; authorizing the director of the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf to negotiate a grant for federal surplus property, catalog and handbook changes; and personnel matters.

Arms

The draft letter deals with a wide range of issues, including nuclear arms, chemical weapons, the military balance in Europe and regional issues such as Central America and Afghanistan, the Times said.

Secretary of State George Shultz, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, National Security Adviser John Poindexter and White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan all helped author the draft, and trooper on the Parker County warrant.

A DPS trooper arrested Manuel Nabarette, 20, of Odessa, Saturday night on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested on Interstate 20, west of Big Spring.

Deputies arrested Guy John Seely, 33, 2310 Marshall Drive, Saturday night on two counts of driving while license suspended and possession of drug paraphernalia.

He was released on bonds totaling $2,000.

Reagan signed off on it Friday, according to the Post.

The letter is in reply to a message from Gorbachev on June 23, and also responds to proposals presented by the Soviets in the last round of the Geneva arms talks.

Meanwhile, Reagan has sent senior arms control adviser Paul H. Nitze to Europe to brief allied governments, an administration official said Sunday.

Reagan also assigned Edward L. Rowny, another arms control adviser, to Asia to brief friendly governments there, said the official, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

The president has sent the two advisers on similar missions before.

Nitze met with West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher in Bonn, according to West German officials who demanded anonymity.

Officials said Friday that Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze and Shultz were likely to meet at the special session of the U.N. General Assembly in late September to work on a summit agenda.

Car chase kills six

MOORESTOWN, N.J. — A man commandeered a state police cruiser Sunday and led authorities on a high-speed chase that ended when he ran a red light and rammed a car, killing all six of its occupants, police said.

The man, identified as Steven Bolling, 25, of Browns Mills, led police on a chase at speeds of up to 80 mph before running the light in this town about 10 miles east of Philadelphia, police said.

The man, who was suspected of kidnapping, suffered minor injuries, police said.

The identities of the victims were not immediately available.

The man accosted a family at a flower shop and ordered them to drive him around, said state police Col. Clinton Pagano.

USDA to tour Dixie

With little hope of relief from a blistering heat wave that has baked parts of Dixie under 100-degree temperatures for 15 days, federal officials moved in today to tour farms where drought has caused $700 million damage to crops.

A U.S. Department of Agriculture task force was scheduled to leave Atlanta this morning for a tour of farms in Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas to assess drought damage to crops and livestock.

The federal officials were to meet early today with Georgia farm leaders at a hotel near the Atlanta airport before heading into the parched fields.

City, union negotiate

DETROIT — A spokesman for 7,000 striking municipal workers said late Sunday his union and the city would bargain through the night if needed to end a walkout that has halted public services in the nation's sixth-largest city.

Michigan Employment Relations Commission mediator Charles Jamerson called the around-the-clock negotiations Sunday night, said Phil Sparks, a spokesman for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union.

Negotiators resumed talks at 2 p.m. Sunday after failing to reach agreement on a new contract during a six-hour session Saturday. The two sides were still at the bargaining table at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, 1½ hours past the minimum eight-hour bargaining period ordered by a judge Saturday.

Congress heats up

WASHINGTON — Congress' midsummer pace is heating up as legislators push on with an overhaul of the federal tax code, continue the battle against federal red ink and move toward a possible confrontation with President Reagan over U.S. policy toward South Africa.

Republican senators, wary of election-year fallout from Reagan's refusal to impose economic sanctions against the white minority government of South Africa, planned to meet with the president today to discuss the issue.

New York Times correspondent John Burns waves to reporters as he walks with security officials in Peking Monday. Burns was visited by embassy officials from the United States and Britain as well as his wife and children today.

Detained in China

Reporter says spy accusations are false

PEKING (AP) — New York Times correspondent John Burns, detained by Chinese authorities on suspicion of spying, is in good spirits and says the accusations against him are unfounded, his wife said after visiting him today.

It was the first time Burns' wife, Jane Scott-Long, was allowed to see him since he was taken to Peking's Paozhu Detention Center on Friday.

As reporters watched through a gate, Burns, wearing a tie, picked up his two young children and kissed his wife goodbye in the compound of a Peking Public Security Bureau branch office, where the meeting took place.

British and U.S. officials saw Burns, a 41-year-old Briton, in separate 30-minute meetings earlier in the day. Security officials were present.

New York Times Executive Editor A.M. Rosenthal and Foreign Editor Warren Hoge were scheduled to meet Burns in the afternoon. Rosenthal and Hoge waited with reporters while Mrs. Scott-Long met her husband.

"He's in very good spirits," she said after the meeting. "He's not sure how long he's going to be held."

"He says all the charges are unfounded and that he's in very good form," she added.

Chinese authorities say Burns is being investigated on suspicion of gathering intelligence while on a motorcycle trip through restricted areas of central China earlier this month.

Burns was traveling with a U.S. Justice Department lawyer, who has since left China, and a Chinese man, whose whereabouts are not known.

"He said he will not be purchasing any more motorcycles or going on any more motorcycle trips," Mrs. Scott-Long said.

She said a public security official named Zhang was present at the meeting, and she was told not to discuss the case with her husband. She said she would be allowed to see her husband again, but was not told when.

Burns is being treated "like a privileged prisoner," and has two exercise periods a day, his wife said. "He's not too uncomfortable," she said.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Lynn Noah said no formal charges had been filed and that Burns was confident he would be released soon.

Noah and British Embassy First Secretary Frank Savage, who both saw Burns, declined to provide details of the case.

"I can only say that the United States government has expressed its extreme concern about the case and has urged the Chinese government and the appropriate Chinese authorities to provide the fullest information at the earliest possible date," Noah said.

Police stopped Burns and his two traveling companions near the border of Shaanxi and Sichuan provinces and held them for two days in the Shaanxi village of Hanzhong. They were released and returned to Peking on July 7 after writing lengthy "self-criticisms."

On Thursday, Burns was stopped at Peking airport as he and his family prepared to leave the country for a vacation. He was questioned at the airport for 15 hours, his home was searched and he was escorted to the detention center at 4 a.m. the next day.

Washington unit focused on two types of recidivists: those wanted on one or more warrants who could be arrested on sight; and those believed to be criminally active, but not currently wanted.

It cost about $60,000 in direct expenses to equip the Washington unit.

The report warned the special unit could "pose dangers to civil liberties, especially because of the use of undercover tactics."

"A ... plainclothes unit using a variety of unorthodox tactics gives officers an enormous amount of discretion. Without careful supervision, there will be opportunity to harass, entrap and otherwise violate a citizen's rights," the study found.

The researchers on the study were Susan E. Martin, a project director at the Police Foundation, and Lawrence W. Sherman, former research director of the foundation and currently a professor of criminology at the University of Maryland.

Its conclusions were based on the Repeat Offender Project, set up in Washington in May 1982 and financed with a $216,000 Justice Department grant.

Apartheid discussed

BRUSSELS, Belgium — British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe met with his 11 Common Market colleagues today to discuss his efforts on the European trade bloc's behalf to urge change in South Africa's apartheid policies.

Last week, Howe visited Zambia, Zimbabwe, Mozambique and the United States. He is due to leave for South Africa on Tuesday for talks with President P.W. Botha and Foreign Minister R.F. Botha.

The meeting by the foreign ministers of the Common Market's 12 member nations comes three weeks after the trade bloc's government leaders sent Howe on his mission to urge dialogue and negotiations between South Africa's government and the country's black majority.

Labor heads detained

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Three Western labor leaders were surrounded in a black township for a half-hour before being allowed to leave, and one said the incident helped him understand "what it's like to be black and living in those places."

Reporters could not provide details of the incident Sunday in Johannesburg's Alexandra township because under the nationwide state of emergency declared June 12, they are barred from describing the actions of security forces.

The three labor leaders, including AFL-CIO president Lane Kirkland, are part of a delegation from the International Federation of Free Trade Unions visiting South Africa to seek the release of more than 200 black union leaders detained under the emergency.

Police crack drug ring

CIVITAVECCHIA, Italy (AP) — Police seized more than five tons of hashish and arrested 20 people in one of Italy's biggest anti-drug operations in recent years, officials said.

Deputy prosecutor Antonio Loiacono told a Sunday news conference in Civitavecchia, a port north of Rome, that the operation was a success not only because of the amount of drugs seized "but because we have succeeded in cracking an entire organization of traffickers."

Cocaine raid goes on

TRINIDAD, Bolivia — Police and U.S. support troops, who came up empty-handed in their most recent attempts to find and raid secret cocaine labs, will be reinforced today with 200 more officers from Bolivia's elite anti-drug squad, a source said.

Dense clouds and light rain swept over northern Bolivia's tropical Beni region Sunday, blocking further helicopter flights in the U.S.-backed campaign to smash this Latin American nation's giant cocaine industry.

The joint anti-drug force used the day to review intelligence reports in the operation, aimed at eradicating the clandestine processing centers that process the leaves of the coca plant, the source of cocaine.

Career crooks need added policing, study says

WASHINGTON (AP) — More career criminals could be kept off the streets if urban police departments set up special units to deal with them, a new study concludes, but it warns against potential problems such as high cost and threats to civil liberties.

The two-year study, based on a special police unit set up in Washington, D.C., said such units would result in the arrest, prosecution of more career criminals — defined as those who commit five or more serious crimes a week.

But the report, released Sunday, warned that undercover tactics used by such units could threaten civil liberties if they are not supervised carefully. And setting up and maintaining the unit was costly, it added.

"While it is premature to conclude that all police departments would benefit from a ... repeat offender unit, large departments should consider creating such units, given the magnitude of the repeat offender problem and the findings of this study," the report said.

The unit's resources included 20-year-old cars, surveillance equipment, and a computer terminal linked to the department's main computer. The unit routinely received copies of a daily major violators list, criminal histories of recent arrestees, daily crime reports from each district and printouts of all persons wanted on three or more felony warrants. Officers built informal "street" information networks.

"Officers sometimes placed the target's girlfriend or close associates under surveillance," the report said.

To find targets wanted on warrants, the officers sometimes resorted to trickery, such as telling a target's relative the suspect "had just won a contest or was being considered for a job and must be contacted."

The study, conducted by the Police Foundation, a non-profit research organization established by the Ford Foundation, found:

- The repeat offenders unit "substantially increased the likelihood of arrest of the persons it targeted."

- Those arrested by the unit had "longer and more serious" prior arrest records than those apprehended by officers not in the unit.

Established with 88 officers, a number later reduced to 60, the

Views of other papers in Texas

These are difficult times

It's coming as a shock for a lot of folks — many of whom should know better — but Texas is going to have to make some sacrifices. There simply isn't enough tax money for everything.

Those sacrifices may well take on rather large proportions.

Texas' economy is on the decline, soon to bottom out and head into an upturn, we hope. But anyone who has gotten used to an almost endless supply of state and federal funds for any and all possible projects — well, you'd better get unused to it.

—The Lufkin Daily News

Merit selection

Add at least two more prominent Texas politicians to the list of leaders who want to change the way the state chooses its judges.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis have endorsed a plan that would allow the governor to appoint judges, replacing the election system.

On balance, the merit selection system — used in several other states already — is a better idea than the partisan election method still used here.

With the weight of Lewis and Hobby, arguably the two most powerful political leaders in Texas, behind the reform movement, perhaps Texas now can wend its way toward a better judicial selection method.

A reasonable merit selection method, one that removes judges from the ranks of partisan politicians, is infinitely better than the current system.

Porns blamed for violence

(When the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography) pronounces that a direct link exists between sexually explicit materials and violent sexual crime, the tendency for us ordinary mortals is to question an important and hard-won conclusion. Rape is not the result of sexual desire but of a desire to inflict pain and injury. ... The glib placing of blame for violent sexual behavior on pornographic material is more than a mistaken notion. It could set back serious efforts to prevent and/or cure deviant behavior.

—The San Angelo Standard-Times

Hyman Rickover

Hyman Rickover weighed all of 125 pounds, even when wearing his numerous medals. But if there is one phrase that could summarize his spectacular, controversial career it was that he rocked the boat. The legendary father of the U.S. nuclear Navy was so tirelessly energetic that his associates said he was driven by nuclear power himself — a sort of critical mass.

The death of Admiral Rickover takes from us an illustrious American, a great patriot who made a crucial difference in the security of the United States. No one can argue that the Navy would have failed to achieve nuclear proficiency without Adm. Rickover, but no one can argue that it would have been the same without him. He is largely responsible for more than 160 nuclear power U.S. Navy vessels now operating independently of oil supplies.

Behind Adm. Rickover's tough demand for perfection lingered a little-known humility and reverence that found expression in an engraved plaque that he presented to Adm. Peet: "Oh God, Thy sea is so great and my boat is so small."

Turmoil in Chihuahua

The United States must hope that the change that must come in Mexico comes peacefully. The challenge posed to the PRI by the National Action Party appears to offer that possibility. But if PAN and other reformist elements are unable to gain power and influence in the government through the ballot box, the frustrated populace could resort to other means.

The danger of revolution in Mexico is such that this country cannot ignore it. The United States, however, cannot run the risk of appearing to be trying to interfere in Mexico's internal affairs. Somehow, this country must identify with the reform movement in Mexico without thoroughly alienating the powers that be there at present.

—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram

Terror in the market

First, Tylenol was the victim, then an array of capsule drug products and even baby food. The most recent targets have been Jell-O gelatin and puddings.

Who knows what will be next? It is a sad commentary on American society, indeed. And who can pretend to understand the warped mind of a person who would lace any product with cyanide and then put it back on the shelf for some unsuspecting supermarket customer to buy and consume?

The scope and nature of the problem defies a solution. Certainly, thorough investigation and stiff prosecution must be part of it. Better packaging and other precautions help, too, but is anything truly "tamper-proof?" Not likely. As the saying goes, what man can do he also can undo.

This American consumer terrorism apparently has no end except to satisfy the perversions of small individuals.

Conference has impact on oil industry

By JIM CRAIG Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — In looking at the legislative process, we often focus on a bill as it struggles to adoption or defeat in the House or the Senate.

That, of course, is crucial in the lawmaking process.

Just as crucial, maybe even more important, is what happens to the measure when it goes to the conference committee.

The conference committee is the all-powerful, carefully selected group of senators and House members whose job is to take versions of a bill passed in the Senate and the House and iron out the differences.

The bill, which sometimes emerges with little resemblance to the original measures, then is returned to each chamber for a vote.

House-Senate conferees were selected last week and began their work to negotiate differences between the House and Senate versions of sweeping tax reform law. A final version of the bill is expected by the end of the summer.

The oil and gas industry, which was not exactly a big winner in either the House or Senate versions of the tax reform bill, has a lot riding on the tax reform conference.

Since Texas has so much riding on the health of the oil and gas industry, what happens in the conference committee on tax reform is profoundly important to the state.

The make-up of the conference committee — who party leaders select — determines the outcome.

A look at the members of the 22-member House-Senate conference on tax reform suggests the odds are not good at all to expect significant tax breaks for the ailing oil and gas industry.

Of the 11 senators, there are four who are sympathetic to problems of energy producing states. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, is second-ranking member of the Senate Finance Committee, on which all of the Senate conferees are members. Bentsen, of course, is a strong supporter of the oil and gas industry and has sought tax relief to help stimulate a sagging economy in Texas caused by the dramatic drop in oil prices.

Other senators on the conference committee who are sympathetic to the oil and gas industry are Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Sen. Robert Dole, majority leader from Kansas, and Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo.

Of the 11 House members negotiating, only two are strong advocates of energy businesses — Rep. J. J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, and Rep. Bill Archer, R-Houston.

"Given the very severe crisis confronting the oil industry, the level of taxes for this industry is far more important to producing states like Texas than it might be under other circumstances and I anticipate some real confrontation on that one," said Bentsen.

Among other things, the Senate version of the tax bill knocks out a large amount of investment by small investors by eliminating limited partnerships, which put a limit on an investor's liability.

The House version would almost completely wipe out the longstanding percentage depletion allowance deduction for independent oil and gas operators and also would weaken the important deduction for intangible drilling costs.

It is, of course, uncertain how much, if any, of the tax breaks lost in the two tax bill versions soon to be reconciled by the conference committee can be recovered.

But just looking at the make-up of the conference committee (six of the 22 can be counted on for support for oil and gas tax breaks), the energy industry and states which count on it for economic growth can't be too optimistic about the outcome.

Japan is passing off fake steel bolts to Americans

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Why would anyone counterfeit steel bolts? The same reason someone counterfeits $100 bills: to make money by passing them off as the real thing.

Granted, you don't make as much money off a fake steel bolt as you do from a phony $100 bill, but the counterfeit bolt is a lot harder to detect. In fact, it costs about $200 — real dollars, that is — to determine the exact metallic content of a single bolt. For this reason, few tests are done unless a bolt fails, and then it's too late.

Why should you care whether a steel bolt isn't what it's supposed to be? Consider that there are about 3,000 bolts in the car you drive, 7,000 in every Army tank you see in some jet aircraft.

Consider also that alloy-steel bolts are reliable to 800 degrees Fahrenheit, while cheaper boron-steel bolts turn to putty at 500 degrees. Recent bolt failures in nuclear plants and military equipment suggest that fraudulent fasteners may already be screwed into America's vitals.

A study last April by the Industrial Fastener Institute concluded that 80 percent of Grade 8 bolts — supposedly the hardest and most durable on the market — were counterfeit. Some Japanese exporters have admitted using cheaper, boron steel on their Grade 8 bolts instead of the specified alloy steel.

What's worse is that some U.S. importers appear to be cooperating with the Japanese bolt counterfeiters — or even to be investigating the fraud. Our reporter Jim Lynch was slipped a letter to an American importer from a major Japanese fastener manufacturer. Dated June 10, 1985, the letter suggests that the Japanese firm was well aware of the U.S. alloy-steel requirement, "but that regrading the present orders we will ship Grade 8 boron ... using 60-degree equally spaced head-marking." That marking on the bolt is the officially recognized identification of Grade 8 alloy-steel bolts.

Some Japanese bolt manufacturers have apologized for the mismarkings when caught, but claimed that the U.S. importers requested them.

"I wouldn't put kids' swing sets together with some of the junk I get in here!" griped an angry distributor in Houston.

Unfortunately, it's more than swing sets that fail because of faulty bolts — and the injuries are far graver than a bump on the head for a 4-year-old. Here are some examples of what some industry insiders call "The Junking of America":

• Two military helicopters crashed in separate accidents on the West Coast last spring, killing six occupants. Both crashes were traced to faulty fasteners.

• A neighborhood in Texas had to be evacuated in 1984 when a bolt broke and 5,000 pounds of deadly phosgene gas spewed out of a petrochemical plant.

• Five ironworkers died when a television/radio antenna tower in Houston collapsed in 1982 because of a bolt failure.

• A 1984 study, costing $2 million, estimated that most half of the 67,000 bolts in a Midland, Mich., nuclear plant did not meet specifications. The failure of three main bolts anchoring two reactors had prompted the study. The plant is not in operation.

You suggested that she learn to maintain her car and her husband learn to iron his own shirts — that way, neither would be at the mercy of the other. Perhaps. But what is marriage if not the sharing of "mercies" for one's mate?

If more couples did for each other without keeping score tomak sure it was 50-50, there would be fewer divorces.

Baseline mammograms important

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Last year, at age 48, my doctor advised me to have my first mammogram as a "baseline." I had no history of cancer in my family and always had annual checkups. The mammogram showed only two pinhead-size tumors. This was completely removed with biopsy. No disfiguring surgery. I also had lymph gland biopsy to assure that it hadn't gotten into those areas. After radiation treatment, I was given a clean bill of health.

I recently had my first mammogram since that first one. I encourage women to have these tests done. Better safe than sorry. I thank my doctor for his good advice. — Mrs. R.H.

You've accomplished more in your brief letter than I might have in volumes.

Baseline tests establish the state of things when the person's anatomy is more or less normal. Everyone's anatomy is a bit different, so it is sometimes difficult to tell at any given time whether certain changes represent the normal situation or abnormalities. If you have had the baseline mammogram, for example, changes that appear on subsequent tests can raise suspicions or indicate definite changes in the status quo.

For this reason, sound preventive health demands that women have a baseline mammogram between ages 35 and 40. It serves as the comparison for later tests as the woman gets older and breast

Dr. Donohue

I live in agony every day that I might bleed to death. Can you discuss coughing up blood? — L.B.

Most often, coughing up blood means only that a bit of respiratory tract lining covering has been torn. However, it does demand that a search be made for a specific cause. You want to see if tumors, infections, or other serious disturbances lie behind this sign. When you get the reassurance you need, then you will be able to forget your fear of "bleeding to death."

Another reader expresses your concern — of bronchoscopy causing bleeding. It won't. And let me add for you and the other reader that use of the bronchoscope is not as unpleasant as you think. You are sedated and made comfortable. The scope is inserted into the nasal passage, and great improvements in design of the scope make things easier. You don't have to be ecstatic about bronchoscopy, but you may well wonder afterward what all the fuss was about.

cancer becomes more likely. In your case, there was double value, for cancer was detected quite early. Adding anything more to your letter would be gilding a lily.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I coughed up some blood about four months ago. My doctor couldn't tell me why. I had X-rays and they revealed nothing. One doctor wants me to have a bronchoscope exam. Won't this cause me to have blood again?

Backcourt too much for Soviets

MADRID, Spain (AP) — At home, they are rival point guards in one of the most competitive conferences in college basketball.

But in Madrid, Kenny Smith, Tyrone Bogues and Tommy Amaker formed an Atlantic Coast Conference backcourt that beat the Soviet Union for the World Basketball Championship.

The trio outscored the Soviet guards 32-19 and generally outplayed them in all phases as the Americans beat the Soviets 87-85 Sunday night. It was the first gold medal for the United States in the World Championships since 1954.

All three will be seniors when classes resume in the fall, all three are their team's point guard and all three are quick. But they each played different roles against the taller, older and more-seasoned Soviets.

The 6-foot-3 Smith from North Carolina, better known as a passer than as a scorer, scored a game-high 23 points Sunday on 10-for-15 shooting from the field.

Smith scored what proved to be the winning points when he drove past 7-1 Soviet center Arvidas Sabonis with 15 seconds left.

The Soviets had rallied from a 78-60 deficit and cut the lead to two on a three-point bomb by Valdemaras Khomicius.

"I felt we needed a basket and that was it," Smith said. "I went in there twice before and dished off. This time Sabonis hesitated and I went in hard."

If Smith starred in the second half, the first half belonged to Bogues, the 5-3 playmaker from Wake Forest. Throughout the two-week tournament,

Bogues was the darling of the Spanish fans who pronounced his name "Bo-gez."

Against the Soviets, he sprinted up court time after time, passing off for easy layups or dunks. Bogues, who led the ACC in both assists and steals the past two seasons, was credited with a game-high five assists and five steals.

Bogues did not score in the game, however, missing all eight of his shots from the field.

But the 6-0 Amaker from ACC champion Duke came off the bench to provide some clutch shooting in the second half.

Amaker, who played in the shadow last year of All-American guard Johnny Dawkins, scored nine points in a stretch of eight minutes, including seven in a row for the U.S. team. In that spree, he hit his first and only three-point attempt of the tournament.

Together, Smith and Amaker made up for the loss of Steve Kerr of Arizona, the team's best outside shooter who suffered a serious knee injury in the semifinal victory over Brazil.

In a few months, the three seniors will be battling each other again for ACC supremacy by the Blue Devils, Tar Heels or Deacons.

"We're still adversaries," said Smith, who is considered the best NBA prospect of the three. "But the games will be a little more fun now because we know each other better and have something in common."

"We already knew each other pretty well, but on this trip we spent a whole month together and became more close," Bogues said. "It's always a good rivalry but it should be more friendly now."

U.S. team captain Tyrone Bogues (4) and teammates celebrate their 87-85 win over the Soviet Union Sunday in the final game of the World Basketball Championship in Madrid.

Geddes wins second consecutive tourney

DANVERS, Mass. (AP) — Jane Geddes left her shaky nerves in Ohio last week when she won the U.S. Women's Open golf championship in an 18-hole playoff.

So, with her new nerves of steel, Geddes finished with birdies on the last two holes Sunday for a one-stroke victory over rookie professional Deb Richard in the $275,000 LPGA Boston Five Classic.

"The Open was my first victory on the tour and that took a lot of pressure off me," Geddes, who beat Sally Little last Monday for her first professional victory, said.

"I was relaxed, I wasn't as shaky as in the Open and I felt I had a good chance to win," Geddes, 26, said after mastering Tara Ferncroft's tight 6,008-yard course with a 4-under-par 68 Sunday for a 72-hole total of 281.

"This feels great, it's a great July," Geddes said. "Last week (at the Open), I didn't look at the scoreboard at all. Today I looked at it all day. I had a really good attitude."

"After I took the lead on the 17th hole with a good wedge shot and a 15-foot putt, I was surprised I wasn't nervous. My hands weren't even shaking."

Neither was Geddes' confidence as she approached the final tee.

"I hit a real good drive, right down the fairway, and I was more confident," Geddes said.

"As I approached the ball, I knew what I was going to do. I thought my 3-wood won the Open for me and I was determined to use it to try to win again. I hit the ball to within about 40 feet of the cup and two-putted for an easy birdie."

"I had only one bogey and missed just one green — on the fifth hole when my shot flew into a man's pocket. And I made the birdies when I had to, like on the last two holes. That was a fantastic finish."

Geddes' victory was worth $42,150. Richard, finishing second for the second time on the tour, won $25,437.

"I had every opportunity in the world to win it and I didn't — I'm a little disappointed," Richard, who was the 1985 NCAA runnerup while playing for Florida, said.

Richard took the lead with a hole-in-one on the 150-yard 12th, but lost the advantage with a bogey six on the 15th. Despite finishing with a birdie four on the last hole, Richard had to settle for a final-round 71 and a 282 total.

Pat Bradley, the only $2 million winner in LPGA history, finished with a 72 for 283 and a second-place tie with rookie Ok-Hee Ku of Korea, who overcame a triple bogey seven on the 14th hole by firing an eagle three on the next hole before ending with a 71.

Geddes shot rounds of 71, 70 and 72, but felt she hadn't had a "real good round" and was ready for one.

Starting two strokes off the lead, she moved quietly in the final round.

She went four under for the tournament with a birdie three on the third hole, then, after a bogey on the sixth, came back with a birdie on the seventh.

She moved within one stroke of the lead with a birdie three on the 14th, then tied for the lead as Richard faltered on the 15th.

Geddes nailed down the victory with the birdies on the last two holes.

Greg Norman of Australia hits a ball from a trap on his way to winning the British Open in Turnberry, Scotland Sunday. Norman won the tournament by five strokes.

Norman holds on for open victory

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — Greg Norman was on the 18th fairway at Turnberry, two shots away from a goal he had long sought, and which had kept him frustrated.

Two more shots and the British Open championship would be his. Two more shots and he would be rid of the questions about when he would win his first major tournament. Two more shots and the four-day trek through rain, cold and wind would end in dazzling sunshine by the Firth of Clyde.

With the end so near, Norman said he was in no hurry to end his fairway stroll with caddy Pete Bender.

"Walking down the 18th, I turned to Pete and said, 'Let's savor this,'" Norman said after completing a 1-under-par 69 Sunday for a total of 280 and a five-shot victory over Britain's Gordon Brand for the 115th Open Championship.

"I've always wanted to win my first major by a lot," Norman said. "I didn't want it to come down to having to make a four-footer at 18 to win. You can't savor that moment like you can when you're way ahead."

Brand's eagle three on the 17th hole allowed him to edge West Germany's Bernhard Langer and Britain's Ian Woosnam by one stroke for second.

Nick Faldo of Britain was next at 287, followed by Spain's Seve Ballesteros and American Gary Koch at eight-over 288. It was the worst American performance at the British Open since 1969, when Jack Nicklaus was the top U.S. finisher, also tied for sixth.

By winning, Norman became the Open's first Australian champion since left-hander Bob Charles in 1965.

Norman had opened the day one stroke ahead of Japan's Tommy Nakajima. It was the same position he held after three rounds at this year's first two majors, the Masters and the U.S. Open.

"In both of those he had faltered — at the Masters with a final-hole bogey, at the U.S. Open at Shinnecock Hills with an attitude that, he said, "left me flat."

The nervousness that accompanied those two final rounds was again present for Norman on Sunday.

"I got up nervous, and I told myself I'm going to stay nervous all day," he said. "I couldn't eat my whole breakfast. Laura (his wife) asked if I was nervous. I said 'No.' I didn't tell her I was nervous."

"The difference from Shinnecock Hills was that I decided to make this nervousness work for me. And Pete didn't let me get nervous about the majors. He said, 'We're going to win a golf tournament. Don't think of it as the British Open.'"

Norman parred the first two holes, while Nakajima, trying to become the first Japanese player to win a major, quickly succumbed to the jitters.

He double-bogeyed the first hole and bogeyed the third, rapidly falling out of contention. He finished at 289, tied for eighth.

"I feel very sad," Nakajima said through an interpreter. "I wanted very much to win, but I am ashamed of my score."

Norman, however, had nothing to be ashamed of. He birdied the Norman page 2B

McWilliams to highlight Texas Tech Day Tuesday

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

New Texas Tech head football coach David McWilliams will be the special guest in the first annual Texas Tech Day in Big Spring, which will be held Tuesday.

McWilliams and assistant coach Spike Dykes will be on hand to participate in a golf tournament held at the Big Spring Country Club golf course. The duo will also visit with the public from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Comanche Trail Old Settlers Pavilion. The golf tournament will begin at 1:30 p.m. Following the Tech coaches visit with the public, dinner will be served.

McWilliams became the 11th head football coach in the school's 60-year history.

McWilliams, 43, has served on the University of Texas staff for the past 16 seasons, including the last four as defensive coordinator. During that time he was known for his knowledge of the game and the great rapport he had with the players.

McWilliams' 1983 Texas defense lead the nation in total defense and finished second in pass defense and fourth against the rush. During his four years as defensive coordinator, he had five All-Americans and 10 All-Southwest Conference performers (not counting this season).

A native of Cleburne, McWilliams lettered three years at Texas as a center-linebacker. He was tri-captain of the 1963 national championship team that defeated Roger Staubach's Navy team in the 1964 Cotton Bowl game. He graduated in 1964 with a major in mathematics.

He started his coaching career as an assistant coach at Abilene High and after two seasons was elevated four years to run the program.

He came to Texas as assistant freshman coach in 1970 and after one season was elevated to defensive ends coach. He worked closely with Darrell Royal and Mike Campbell until Royal retired after the 1976 season.

David and his wife, Cindy, are the parents of three sons and one daughter — Dennis, Corby, Hunter and Summer.

Rahal wins Toronto-Indy

TORONTO (AP) — A stop-and-go penalty turned into a stop and wait as Bobby Rahal fumed.

But Rahal, winning for the first time since taking the Indianapolis 500 in May, overcame the controversial penalty Sunday to beat Danny Sullivan in the inaugural Molson Toronto-Indy race.

"It was a penalty, frankly, they (race officials) fouled up and made me pay for it," Rahal said. "If I hadn't won, I'd really be mad."

But the day quickly turned around for the 33-year-old driver from Dublin, Ohio, who came back from ninth place and wrestled the lead from Sullivan just 12 laps from the end of the 103-lap event.

Rahal was able to stay ahead the rest of the way on the twisting 1.78-mile circuit through the Exhibition Place fairgrounds and along Lakeshore Boulevard in downtown Toronto.

He earned $73,500 from the $500,000 purse for the 10th victory of his Indy-car career. And he said the triumph will make his scheduled meeting today in Washington, D.C., with President Reagan, even more special. The President will honor Rahal for his Indy 500 win.

Sunday's win came the hard way. Starting next to pole-winner Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil on the front row, Rahal appeared content to stay second early in the race. He took the lead on lap 33 when both he and Fittipaldi pitted and Rahal won the race back onto the track.

That stop was made under a caution flag brought out when rookie Mike Nish crashed hard in the first turn. Nish, who suffered a fractured left ankle, was trapped in the car for nearly 25 minutes before the safety crew was able to free him.

Meanwhile, the controversy boiled. Both Rahal and Fittipaldi were penalized for passing the pace car before pitting under the yellow flag. That automatically calls for a penalty in which the offending car must come back into the pits under the green flag and make a full stop before continuing.

Rahal, however, was additionally penalized by CART, the Indy-car sanctioning body, for allegedly "using the pits to gain a lap by beating the pace car" onto the track after his stop.

He came all the way around to the back of the field and, while the full-course caution continued for 22 laps while Nish was being freed from his car, Rahal was being listed by timing and scoring as holding leads of almost a complete lap.

He made a pit stop late in the caution period for fuel and still was shown ahead by 59 seconds when the green flag came out. But CART officials then burst his bubble, assessing the long penalty against him, holding Rahal in the pits for nearly 60 seconds and until the cars were charging past.

Meanwhile, Rahal, who was ninth when he came out of the pits on lap 57, began to whittle away at the lead.

Al Unser Jr. was leading when the green flag came back out on lap 54, but Michael Andretti, the CART-PPG season point leader, was right behind.

Andretti got past Unser in the first turn of lap 69, but moments later tangled with Johnny Rutherford, hitting one of the concrete barriers lining the course and going out of the race.

That left Unser and Sullivan battling for the top spot, with the fast-closing Rahal in third.

But Unser lost his right-front wing in a collision with Geoff Brabham on lap 86 and had his handling go away. He managed to hold off Sullivan until lap 90.

Then Rahal put the pressure on Sullivan, who had broken his transmission on his last pit stop, finally moving past and into the lead for good on the first turn of lap 92.

TBS: Goodwill Games a success

MOSCOW (AP) — Despite small crowds, low television ratings and a multi-million dollar loss, Turner Broadcasting System officials have billed the inaugural Goodwill Games a success. Athletically, they certainly were for the Soviet Union.

Cable broadcasting magnate Ted Turner, the games' chief sponsor, said organizers already are preparing for the next Goodwill Games, slated for Seattle, in 1990.

The inaugural games, which ended Sunday, did produce controversy in several events, but also provided some thrilling performances and six world records.

Most competitors and coaches praised the games, originally proposed by Turner to bring Soviet and American athletes together in summer Olympic events for the first time since the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

Although billed as a battle of the superpowers, the Soviet Union dominated the games.

The Soviets ended the competition with a total of 118 golds and 241 medals overall. The United States finished with 42 golds and 142 medals overall.

Several coaches said the games would help them better prepare for the 1988 Olympics, while others said it was healthy for Americans and Soviet athletes to meet in sporting competition.

"It's good to get our athletes over here and the Soviets back home," American boxing Coach Roosevelt Sanders said. "The more people get to know one another the better. It may not help anything, but it can't hurt."

Turner billed the games as a way of helping to improve superpower relations. The competition's motto, inscribed on giant banners hung at every venue around Moscow, was: "From friendship in sport to peace on Earth."

Although ranking Kremlin officials praised the 17-day festival as a way of breaking down barriers between the superpowers, they said the competition did not prompt a decision on Soviet participation in the 1988 Olympics in Seoul.

Throughout the games, the Soviet press carried lengthy commentaries praising the competition and touting the good relations between U.S. and Soviet athletes.

But Marat Gramov, the head of the Soviet sports committee, said he could not draw any parallel between the Olympics and the Goodwill Games.

The Soviet Union has indicated that its participation in the 1988

Games, would depend on whether the International Olympic Committee allows communist North Korea to serve as co-host. A ruling from the IOC is due later this summer on the subject of the two Koreas.

Turner, meanwhile, acknowledged American television ratings were so low for the Goodwill events that he would have to return money to some cable operators. Final ratings were not yet available.

Turner said if each station subscriber holding the so-called cash-back option demanded money, it could cost TBS "up to five million dollars."

Turner said he expected to lose between $10 million and $15 million on the games, more than his original estimate.

TBS officials said they expected to recoup their losses in Seattle, adding that they hoped to attract 5,000 athletes from more than 100 countries for the 1990 event.

Some 3,500 athletes from 76 countries competed in Moscow.

The Soviets ended the games with a flourish Sunday, winning nine of 11 head-to-head races in rowing, taking all three medals in super heavyweight weightlifting and capturing one of two possible golds in judo.

Norman

It was then that Norman knew the Open was his.

"At that point I said, 'Well, guys, I'm playing too good today,'" Norman said.

Norman's 69 was one of just seven sub-par rounds Sunday, by far the best weather of the tournament's four days. A total of 25 scores of 69 or better were recorded, 17 of them on Friday.

The course was criticized as being too tough, with narrow fairways and heavy rough.

"It takes something away from the people," Ballesteros said after a final-round 64, just one shot off the record for a major tied by Norman on Friday. "The people paid to see better than that. Seeing players coming in 18-20 strokes over par is not so nice."

"Somebody didn't use their head very properly over the fairways," five-time Open champion Tom Watson, who finished 71-296, said. "We did not have a good Turnberry this time."

The last time the Open was played at Turnberry was 1977, when Watson edged Nicklaus by one stroke in what generally is considered to be the most exciting British championship.

This year's finish lacked the drama of nine years ago. But Norman said it, too, included one of the principals of that tournament.

At dinner Saturday night, Nicklaus took Norman aside.

"He said, 'There's nobody in the world who wants you to win this tournament more than I do,'" Norman said. "I got choked up, coming from that man, the best player I've ever seen in my life."

Nicklaus also offered technical tips on grip pressure, as did another Australian, former tour member Bruce Devlin, in a call from London Saturday night.

"Fuzzy Zoeller and John Mahafey said they wanted me to win it, too," Norman said. "For your more may quickly follow. But, he added, there's another thought in his mind.

"Now I'm sad," he said with a smile. "I could've won three majors this year."

After the final putt went in and the Open victory was secure, one of the first people to congratulate Norman was his wife. Next was Nicklaus, at the 18th green doing TV commentary following a performance that left him at 298.

"We spent just 8-10 seconds together, but it was very nice," Norman said.

Now that his first major championship is won, Norman said,

Mariners throw roadblock at Red Sox

By The Associated Press
The Boston Red Sox, the powerhouse of the American League East before the All-Star break, are suddenly struggling.

Scott Bradley drove in five runs with a homer and single Sunday and the Seattle Mariners again dropped the Red Sox, 9-5.

Boston lost three times in the four-game series at the Kingdome after beating Seattle seven out of eight earlier this season.

The Red Sox still lead the AL East by six games over New York, with Cleveland and Baltimore eight back, but the state of Boston's pitching troubles McNamara.

Last week, starter Dennis Boyd was suspended and he is undergoing medical tests, including drug testing. Reliever Steve Crawford was put on the disabled list Friday and Sammy Stewart was scheduled to see a doctor today because of pain in his right arm.

"There's no question about it, we're hurting right now," McNamara said.

In other AL games, Chicago ripped New York 8-0, Detroit beat Texas 4-0, Toronto downed California 6-3 in 10 innings, Chicago trounced New York 8-0, Kansas City edged Cleveland 3-2, Baltimore defeated Minnesota 8-3 and Milwaukee split a doubleheader with Oakland, winning the opener 7-2 and losing the second game, 4-2.

The Red Sox took an early lead on a two-run single by Dwight Evans in the first inning and Rich Gedman's RBI groundout in the third.

But Seattle went ahead 4-3 in the fourth when Spike Owen singled home a run and Bradley followed with a three-run, pinch-homer.

Bradley's two-run single keyed a five-run sixth that knocked out rookie starter Jeff Sellers, 3-8.

White Sox 8, Yankees 0
Neil Allen pitched a two-hitter for his second straight shutout and Ron Kittle hit a pair of solo homers and drove in three runs, leading Chicago over New York.

Allen, 7-1, did not walk anyone and did not allow a runner until Dave Winfield singled with two outs in the fifth. After Rickey Henderson doubled with two outs in the sixth, Allen retired the final 10 batters.

Kittle homered in the second inning and hit his 15th in the seventh. He had an RBI single in the third as the visiting White Sox took a 7-0 lead after four innings.

Tigers 4, Rangers 0
Rookie Eric King threw a six-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Detroit got help from Texas mistakes.

The host Tigers swept the four-game series and extended their winning streak to five. Kirk Gibson has gotten the game-winning RBI in all five games, a major-league record.

The Rangers committed three errors. First baseman Pete O'Brien made a double-error on Gibson's grounder that allowed two runs to score and shortstop Scott Fletcher's throwing error produced another run.

King raised his record to 6-2. Jose Guzman, 9-9, tied a team record by hitting three batters and threw a wild pitch that allowed a run to score.

Blue Jays 6, Angels 3
Lloyd Moseby, who hit a solo home run in the ninth inning, broke a 10th-inning tie with an RBI single and George Bell followed with a three-run homer as Toronto beat California.

The Blue Jays took a 2-0 lead into the bottom of the ninth, but California tied the score against Tom Henke with one out on a run-scoring single by Rick Burleson and Rob Wilfong's RBI forceout.

Damaso Garcia led off the Toronto 10th with a single, took second on a sacrifice and was unable to advance on Garth Iorg's infield hit. Moseby then lined his tiebreaking single off Doug Corbett, 2-2, and Bell hit his 20th homer against Donnie Moore.

Henke, 7-3, got the victory despite his trouble. The host Angels scored in the 10th on George Hendrick's RBI single against Dennis Lamp, and Bill Caudill got the final out for his second save.

Royals 3, Indians 2
Frank White homered on the first pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning, lifting host Kansas City over Cleveland. White connected against Dickie Noles for his 12th home run of the season.

White had doubled in the seventh and scored on a double by Jamie Quirk, tying the score, 2-2.

Reliever Steve Farr, 7-1, got the victory. Noles fell to 2-2.

George Brett of the Royals, playing for the first time after missing 14 games with an injured right rotator, was hitless in four at-bats, including an RBI groundout.

Brewers 7, A's 2
A's 4, Brewers 2
Jose Rijo scattered seven hits and struck out 12 as Oakland beat Milwaukee to salvage a split of the West Coast doubleheader.

Rijo, 4-8, fanned the final five Brewers batters. One of the runs off Rijo was a home run by Gorman Thomas, who rejoined the team last week as a free agent.

In the first game, Ted Higuera pitched seven-hit ball for seven inings and raised his record to 11-7. Ernest Riles hit a three-run homer and Dale Sveum, who went 3-for-3, followed with another homer in the fourth as Milwaukee ended Oakland's four-game winning streak.

Dwayne Murphy and Tony Phillips homered for the A's in the first game and Dave Kingman hit his 21st in the second game.

Orioles 8, Twins 3
Rookie Jim Traber, filling in for injured first baseman Eddie Murray, hit a three-run homer and drove in four runs to power Baltimore over Minnesota.

Traber's first-inning homer was his first extra-base hit in the majors. Traber, who went 3-for-4, had an RBI single in the sixth and doubled in the eighth ahead of Larry Sheets' 10th homer.

Mike Boddicker, 12-5, gave up one run on four hits in eight innings.

The host Orioles scored four times in the first inning, the first they've scored a run in the opening inning in 26 games.

Astros win marathon game

By The Associated Press
It looked so easy for a while that maybe the Mets and Astros needed to be reminded of how hard scoring a run can be.

Three half-innings produced 10 runs and an 8-8 tie in the ninth, then New York and Houston played six scoreless innings before a ground ball ended the Astros' 9-8, 15-inning victory Sunday.

It was the longest-playing game in the majors this year: five hours and 29 minutes.

By the time the game ended 40 players had played, Mets starter Rick Aguilera was a pinch hitter, Houston starter Bob Knepper was a reliever, Houston Manager Hal Lanier was ejected and Frank DiPino was on the Chicago Cubs.

It finally ended on Kevin Bass' bases-loaded grounder in the 15th against Roger McDowell, New York's fifth pitcher.

Bass grounded to first, where Keith Hernandez was playing midway. Hernandez fielded the ball and threw home to Gary Carter, but too late. Bill Doran beat the throw. The Mets argued the call.

"I was trying to drive the ball," Bass said, "but McDowell had other ideas. Billy hustled his buns off. He had a great jump."

"I was just running, I didn't hear the ball hit Carter's glove," Doran said. "It's impossible for a runner to see a play like that, but the umpire said I was safe, so I guess I was."

"Some guys on the bench thought he was out," said Knepper, the Astros' seventh pitcher, who got the victory. "I know it was very close."

The chances of six scoreless innings seemed remote halfway through the ninth. New York scored three times in the top of the eighth for a 5-4 lead, the Astros scored four times in the bottom of the inning for an 8-5 lead, then the Mets tied the score in the ninth with three runs.

"There were so many turning points," Doran said. "We didn't quit and they didn't either. We kept them down a couple of times. But they kept coming back."

DiPino gave up the game-tying hit in the ninth. He was not charged with a run in 3 2-9 innings, but was nevertheless traded to the Chicago Cubs for veteran Davey Lopes before the game was over.

In other National League games, Philadelphia outscored Cincinnati 9-3, Pittsburgh downed San Diego 4-2, Los Angeles beat St. Louis 7-2 and San Francisco edged Chicago 5-4. The Atlanta at Montreal game was rained out.

It looked so hard for a while that maybe Knepper needed to be reminded of how easy getting a win can be.

After his 10-4 start, Knepper started seven games and went 0-3 despite some strong outings. Now he's won two games in three days. "The game is really funny," Knepper said. "It just goes to show you have to take this game with a grain of salt."

He had shut out the Mets Friday, but when the pitchers started running low Sunday Knepper went to pitching coach Les Moss. "I asked him if he wanted me to get my spikes on and get ready to throw," he said. "I could see what might happen."

Knepper's second straight victory was McDowell's fourth straight loss — three of them against Houston. The Astros' third straight triumph was the Mets' third straight loss — tying New York's season low.

The Astros stayed in a first-place tie with San Francisco in the NL West.

Bass homered in the sixth inning for Houston, and Alan Ashby had three hits and three RBI. Kevin Mitchell and Hernandez homered consecutively in New York's eighth-inning rally.

Hernandez was ruled hit by a pitch in the 11th inning, prompting Lanier's exit. The Astros manager argued that the pitch hit Hernandez's bat, not Hernandez.

Houston Astro Bill Doran beats the throw to New York Met Wally Blackman to successfully steal second base in the 12th inning of the game in Houston Sunday.

"The ball went past third base. If that hit his arm then he has harder bones than anybody I know," said Lanier after his ejection.

Phillies 9, Reds 3
Juan Samuel had four hits and scored four runs and Von Hayes keyed a four-run sixth inning with a two-run double. Philadelphia ended Cincinnati's five-game winning streak. Hayes also singled in a run in the seventh.

Charles Hudson, 5-9, ended a personal six-game losing streak as he allowed five hits in eight innings. Kent Tekulve got the last three outs.

Pirates 4, Padres 2
Johnny Ray singled in one run, Jim Morrison doubled a second and Junior Ortiz hit the second of his two sacrifice flies in Pittsburgh's three-run sixth inning. San Diego had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the sixth.

Dodgers 7, Cardinals 2
Franklin Stubbs hit his 17th homer of the year, with the bases empty, and added a two-run single in the ninth. Steve Sax tied his career high for homers in a season with his fifth. The Dodgers had 14 hits.

Rick Honeycutt, 6-5, combined with two relievers on a four-hitter. Honeycutt gave up all four hits as he pitched into the seventh. Tom Niedenfuer squelched St. Louis' two-on, none-out threat in the seventh, then Ken Howell pitched two innings for his seventh save.

Giants 5, Cubs 4
San Francisco rallied for two runs in the eighth for the victory. Jeffrey Leonard tied the game with an infield single and Chris Brown's sacrifice fly scored Rob Thompson.

Starter Dennis Eckersley, 3-6, began the eighth and took the loss. Scott Garrelts, 8-7, pitched three innings in relief for the victory.

Bob Brenly and Harry Spillman homered for the Giants.

U.S. advances in Davis Cup play

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The much-maligned U.S. Davis Cup team, playing without John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors this year, is still managing to win, but not without a struggle.

With the United States leading Mexico 2-1 going into Sunday's final two singles matches, Tim Mayotte rallied from a miserable stretch in mid-match to beat 19-year-old Leonardo Lavalle 7-5, 4-6, 0-6, 6-4, 9-7 and advance the U.S. team into the Davis Cup semifinals against Australia, which defeated Britain 4-1 in another weekend series.

"I've won some tournaments before, but to come back like that under these conditions and win for a team is the greatest thrill of my tennis life," Mayotte, 23, said.

The United States also won the meaningless final match when Brad Gilbert defeated Francisco Maciel 7-5, 1-6, 7-5.

The other semifinal has defending Davis Cup champion Sweden, a 5-0 winner over Italy, against Czechoslovakia, which blanked Yugoslavia, 5-0.

Service difficulties contubated heavily to Mayotte's earlier singles defeat to Maciel on Friday, and he had more on Sunday against Lavalle with a total of 18 double faults.

But despite five double-faults, Mayotte managed to win the first set when he broke Lavalle's service three times.

In the second set, the 8,000 mostly Mexican fans at the Sports Palace interrupted play so many times with cheering that referee Francis Patrick Loderop penalized Lavalle one point and threatened to disqualify the Mexican team.

Mayotte, visibly angry with the crowd behavior, argued with some fans in the front benches. Obviously distracted by the crowd, he took three more double-faults in losing the second set, then had three more while being blanked in the third set.

After clinching a semifinal berth by winning the first two singles matches and the doubles, Australia split Sunday's remaining singles against Britain. Pat Cash, who reached the Wimbledon quarterfinals last month, defeated Andrew Castle 8-6, 6-4 before Jeremy Bates posted Britain's lone victory, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 over Paul McNamee.

Sweden completed its sweep of Italy with Stefan Edberg and Mats Wilander posting singles victories. Edberg, winner of the Australian Open and ranked sixth in the world, defeated Davis Cup rookie Paolo Cane 6-3, 2-6, 6-0 and Wilander, second in the world, beat Claudio Panatta 6-4, 6-3.

The Czechs, playing without the world's No. 1 player, Ivan Lendl, eliminated Yugoslavia as Milan Srejber and Miroslav Mecir won singles. Srejber beat Wimbledon semifinalist Slobodan Zivojinovic 8-10, 6-2, 15-13 and Mecir defeated Igor Flego 6-2, 7-5.

France next faces either Austria or Romania, who were tied 2-2 after Romania's Florin Segarceanu defeated Alexander Anonitsch of Austria 4-6, 16-14, 6-8, 6-1, 7-5 in a match that lasted nearly six hours.

In European "B" action between Switzerland and Hungary, rain suspended play in the first singles with Swiss Roland Stadler leading 6-4, 5-7, 8-6, but trailing 7-6 in the fourth set against Balazs Taroczy. That match and the second singles was pushed back to Monday. The Swiss lead 2-1.

South Korea and Japan moved into the Eastern Zone finals.

South Korea completed a 5-0 sweep of Thailand with Yu Chinsun defeating Vithahaya Samrej 6-1, 6-2 and Roh Kap-taek beating Thanakorn Srtchaphan 6-3, 8-10, 6-2. Japan's Tsuyoshi Fukui beat China's Ma Keqin 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 and Eiji Takeuchi defeated Liu Shuhua 7-5, 12-10.

Met players face Houston judge

HOUSTON (AP) — New York Mets pitcher Ron Darling and second baseman Tim Teufel found themselves facing a Houston judge in a courtroom before they faced the Houston Astros at the Astrodome on the last day of a four-game series.

Darling and Teufel along with Mets pitchers Bob Ojeda and Rick Aguilera were arrested early Saturday after a disturbance at a single's bar. Darling and Teufel were charged with assaulting a police officer, while the two other players were charged with hindering arrest.

Darling, who was the losing pitcher in the Astros-Mets game Friday, and Teufel appeared before State District Judge Doug Shaver Sunday morning on a probable cause hearing.

Defense attorney Dick DeGuerin of Houston waived reading of the offense report by a prosecutor and instead read over it himself. DeGuerin scheduled a conference hearing with State District Judge Joe Kegans for today.

At the conference hearing a date for an examining trial will be set. At that proceeding the judge examines the evidence to determine if there is probable cause to submit the case to a grand jury.

Even if the judge rules there is not sufficient evidence, Texas district attorneys can still seek an indictment.

The players left with the team Sunday after a 9-8 loss to the Astros in 15 innings and will not appear in court today, DeGuerin said. The court proceedings are not expected to interrupt the players' baseball schedule, DeGuerin said.

Teufel and Darling were released Saturday afternoon on $2,000 bond each, while Ojeda and Aguilera were released on $800 bond each after the four spent the night in jail.

A hearing for Ojeda and Aguilera is tentatively scheduled for Friday, DeGuerin said.

According to Houston police Sgt. Daniel Moormon, Teufel was creating a disturbance at Cooter's nightclub and was asked to leave.

"On his way out, he attempted to carry the beer he was drinking outside," Moormon said. Texas law forbids leaving a club with a drink.

Instead of leaving, Teufel went outside and started another disturbance, Moormon said.

According to the charges filed, Teufel hit Officer D.L. Bristley in the chest with his elbow and kicked him in the groin. Darling is accused of grabbing Officer R.G. Gresham by the throat. Neither officer was seriously hurt.
