Gonzales murder

Q. Has the murderer of Albert Gonzales Jr. been caught?

A. Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning police have suspects in the case but not enough evidence for an arrest. An unidentified 16-year-old boy arrested in March was released for lack of evidence, police said at the time.

Gonzales, 23, of 1205 Mulberry St. was found March 22 lying outside a car at 610 N.W. Eighth St. with gunshot wounds to the face. Edwards said the investigation is still open.

Calendar

Rodeo

TODAY

• The Howard County 4-H Junior Rodeo will open tonight and continue through Aug. 2 at the rodeo arena. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children. Performances begin at 7:30 nightly.

THURSDAY

• The film "Vietnam Memorial" will be shown free at 7 p.m. at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. • State Rep. Larry Don Shav will conduct a town meeting to review issues facing the 69th Legislature. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the county courtroom. A similar meeting will be held at 5 p.m. at the Coahoma State Bank.

• County extension agent Don Richardson will hold a training meeting on cotton insect control at 1 p.m. at Lomax Farmers Gin. Sessions also will be conducted Tuesday at Big Spring Coop Gin at 9 a.m. and at Fairview Gin at 1 p.m.

FRIDAY

• The Old Settlers Reunion will take place at the Howard County fair barn, with barbecue and a fiddlers' contest. Election of reunion officers will take place after lunch. The dance will take place from 8 p.m. to midnight.

• Friday is work day at the new Big Spring Humane Society property on Wasson Drive at Granada. Volunteers should bring rakes, hoes, shovels and hammers. Rolled fencing is also needed. Work will begin at 8:30 a.m.

• The senior citizens dance will begin at 8 p.m. in Industrial Park Building No. 487. The Country Jammers band will play, and guests are welcome.

Skies today are sunny with a high near 102 and southerly winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour. Tonight will be clear with a low in the upper 60s. Thursday, look for continued sunny skies, with a high near 100.

Water conservation crucial

Mayor Cotton Mize, left, and City Manager Mack Wofford explain the city's precarious water situation Tuesday. Mize strongly urged citizens to refrain from watering lawns, washing cars and using large volumes of water for other purposes. Plans call for removing the workings of a valve after reservoirs become full.

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Even with last night's gain of about 300,000 gallons into city reservoirs, Big Spring's water situation remains precarious, and Mayor Cotton Mize has requested citizens to refrain from all outside water use.

"If they'll do that for a couple of days, and our reservoirs can gain, then we can shut the water off some night ... and spend four hours replacing the valve," Mize explained at a news conference Tuesday afternoon.

The 20-inch valve, frozen partially open, is restricting the city's ability to pump water to its distribution system.

Councilman Harold Hall said Tuesday the city's distribution system — a vast network of pumps, pipes, valves and seven reservoirs — had been losing about 200,000 gallons a day.

"If people won't go ahead and conserve some water, we'll make it compulsory," Mize said. "We've got to maintain enough water to fight fires and keep our hospitals going."

"Some people have been taking this a little light, but it's a serious problem," Mize said.

Normally, the water plant can pump 12 million gallons of water daily to the reservoirs. But the half-open valve, designed to isolate the plant's pump station, restricts the city's pumping capacity to 9 million gallons daily, Hall said.

In this time of peak water demand, water is being consumed faster than it can be pumped, Mize said.

When reservoirs contain enough water so the system's pumps can shut down, the "guts" of the valve can be pulled and a bonnet placed over it, Hall said.

This will allow a free-flow of water through the valve opening, he said. Meanwhile, the valve mechanism will be sent away to be rebuilt, he said.

Mize said it may cost $15,000 to refurbish the valve.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the city will attempt to use another valve to isolate the water plant, so planned renovation can proceed.

Besides restricting water flow, the stuck valve is causing a 20-pound boost in water pressure in city lines that normally run about 90 pounds per square inch, Hall said. The added pressure increases the possibility of lines rupturing, WATER page 2A

Water director: Build Stacy soon

Action needed to prevent water shortage

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Stacy Reservoir should be built as soon as possible to head off water shortages, a state water official said last week in a letter to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Charles E. Nemir, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, made the statement in response to a draft of a federal Environmental Impact Statement for the project.

Nemir said he expects his written remarks to be taken into consideration by the Corps as part of the record of testimony from a hearing in San Angelo last week.

"I would think they would have to listen to people's statements or the hearings would be a farce. That is one of the things they weigh together with the technical evidence," Nemir said.

Reservoir construction is being delayed because of the proposed listing of the Concho water snake as a threatened species with a critical habitat in the reservoir area.

As proposed, the project would be built near Ballinger by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. It would provide drinking water to Abilene, San Angelo, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and Snyder.

The state agency supports federal efforts to protect wildlife but does not condone the continued holdup of the Stacy Reservoir because of the proposed listing of the snake, Nemir said in the letter released Tuesday.

Also, Nemir said the project is the most practical way to meet future water demands in the upper Colorado River Basin. He disagreed with remarks in the draft environmental statement that other water supplies are available and that water supplies will be adequate without the reservoir.

"The alternatives are more expensive than the Stacy Project," Nemir said. The Colorado River Municipal Water District does not have water rights for any of the alternative supply sources, he added.

"The administrative and judicial process necessary to obtain such water rights is lengthy. At best, the alternatives identified would likely not provide water to the water district customers until after water shortages begin to occur," he said.

By the year 2000, the Big Spring-based water district will have an annual water shortage of 8.1 billion gallons, according to the Texas Water Plan adopted by the board in 1984.

The draft statement, Nemir said, misinterprets the Texas Water

Plan concerning water availability. Instead of using the data for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the draft refers to a project water surplus in the entire upper Colorado River basin, Nemir said.

"However, much of that projected surplus is already committed to other uses under existing water use permits and contracts and will not be available" to the water district, Nemir said.

The Texas Water Development Board is responsible for water resource planning and state financial assistance programs for water and wastewater facilities.

Also, the board is charged with planning water resources to ensure that future needs of each Texas region are met.

Proposal may raise local school taxes

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Poorer school districts would be hit hardest under budget cuts proposed recently to lawmakers wrestling with an expected $3.5 billion state deficit, a Legislative Budget Board staff member said Tuesday.

Homer Scace, assistant director of estimates for the LBB, said the poorer school districts would suffer under proposals to decrease the state's share or eliminate programs funded through the Foundation School Program.

Under the $3.5 billion budget reduction measure, $1.2 billion would be cut from the program. Under the $1.3 billion cuts, about $200 million would be stricken from the program, according to LBB estimates.

If either proposal is approved, most local school districts, including Big Spring, would have to raise taxes in order to maintain current programs, Scace said.

However many state leaders, including Gov. Mark White, have said they would oppose cutting programs in the public school system.

"The commissioner of education and the board (State Board of Education) are on record opposing any cuts in public education," said Terry Anderson, spokeswoman for the Texas Education Agency.

"We can't afford any cuts in education. If you're going to change our economic base then you have to change the education system to prepare the kids to meet those challenges," she said.

LBB estimates show that with cuts designed to erase the entire deficit, certain school districts would have to increase local taxes from 300 to 600 percent to make up for the loss of state funds.

Even under a less severe budget cut of $1.3 billion, $200 million would come from the Foundation School Program, which would prompt tax increases of more than 60 percent in some districts in order to make up the difference.

Under the $3.5 billion budget cut proposal, the Big Spring Independent School District would have to increase its taxes by 24 percent under an option that provides for raising the local fund assignment.

Under another option which leaves unchanged the local assignment, but eliminates state aid adjustments made for small or poor school districts, the Big Spring school district would have to raise taxes by 26 percent.

Increases for Big Spring area districts are as follows with the second option hike listed in parenthesis:

Coahoma 15 percent (10 percent) and Forsan 0 percent (0 percent).

Clements to visit Big Spring

Former Gov. Bill Clements, Republican candidate for reelection to the office, will be in Big Spring Thursday.

A reception will take place at the Howard County Airport from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., followed by a question-and-answer session until noon at the First United Methodist Church.

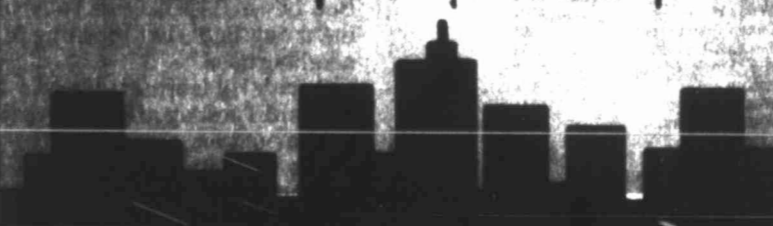

Clements' Democratic opponent, Gov. Mark White, had earlier announced that he will be in Big Spring for a rally Aug. 21.

The rally and ice cream supper, organized by the Howard County Democratic Club, will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School cafeteria. Tickets are $3.

San Francisco becomes 4th largest city

WASHINGTON (AP) — Houston and Dallas surpassed the nation's capital, while San Francisco edged Philadelphia in the latest ranking of the nation's most populated urban areas.

The Census Bureau report on the nation's 281 metropolitan areas shows that New York remains well ahead of all other metropolitan areas in size, with Los Angeles and Chicago following to make up the Big Three urban areas.

The new estimates are for 1985, and show that much of the nation's metropolitan growth continues to occur in southern and western cities.

While New York has reversed the population losses reported in the 1970s to begin growing again, some other large northern communities continue to report population declines — notably Buffalo, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Milwaukee, the Census Bureau said Tuesday.

The highest-ranking change on the metropolitan area list was San Francisco's move into fourth place nationally to displace Philadelphia.

San Francisco's metropolitan area — technically known as San Francisco-Oakland-San Jose — encompasses the region around San Francisco Bay. It grew 8.2 percent to 5,809,300 people between 1980 and 1985, the Census Bureau reported.

During the same period, the Philadelphia-Wilmington-Trenton metropolitan area, including portions of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, grew only 1.7 percent to 5,776,500 and slipped to fifth place.

Of the nation's 281 metropolitan areas, Naples, Fla., proved to be the fastest-growing, jumping 36 percent to 116,900 people. POPULATION page 2A

Rodeo riders

Members of the West Texas Boys Ranch ride into Big Spring this morning along south Highway 87. The boys left Monday from the ranch, located about 10 miles southwest of San Angelo, to compete in the 41st Annual Howard County 4-H Rodeo, which opens tonight at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl. The rodeo, affiliated with the American Junior Rodeo Association, will continue through Aug. 2 with performances beginning at 7:30 nightly.

Police beat

Police make heroin arrest

Carol Ann Skaggs, 38, of 1319 Mobile St. was arrested Tuesday morning on a warrant charging her with delivering $25 worth of heroin April 7 to police narcotics officer Kimberly Phillips. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Skaggs was hospitalized Tuesday for acute heroin withdrawal and was to be placed in city jail today, according to police. No bond had been set this morning.

David Parker of 2610 Ann St. told police Tuesday morning that someone stole two $50 gasoline tanks and a $174 ski from his boat behind his residence between August 1985 and Sunday.

Mike Murphy of 1309 Colby Ave. told police Tuesday morning that someone he knows left town May 30 with $1,500 belonging to Murphy.

Lee M. Chandler of Tacoma, Wash., told police Tuesday morning that someone broke into a trailer and stole a $1,000 trombone, a $40 camera, luggage, clothing, and $250 in cash while the trailer was in the parking lot of the Best Western/Mid Continent Inn between 11:30 p.m. Monday and 7:20 a.m. Tuesday.

John Elliot and Kerry Allen of J&K Custom, 700 E. Second St., told police Tuesday morning that someone stole two $400 air compressors from the business between 10 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Jim Stewart of 2717 Ann St. told police Tuesday afternoon that someone stole eight spark plug wires valued at $100 from a car parked at Cross Roads Auto Sales, 500 E. Fourth St., between July 23 and 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Craig Richardson of 1200 E. 15th St. told police Tuesday night that someone stole a $300 radar detector and an $85 pool cue from his car while it was parked at 1309 Lincoln St. between 10:15 p.m. and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Hubert Williams, 36, of 707 Wyoming St. was arrested at his home Tuesday on DPS warrants and for being away without leave from the Army, according to police.

Symphony to increase prices

The Big Spring Symphony Association board of directors will increase the price of season tickets effective Sept. 1, said association president Suzanne Haney.

The increased prices will be $20 for adults and $10 for students or senior citizens.

Until Sept. 1, symphony patrons may purchase season tickets at the current prices: three adult tickets for $15, and three student or senior citizens tickets for $7.50.

This is the first time prices have increased since the association was incorporated in 1980, said Haney. Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office or by writing the association at P.O. Box 682, Big Spring, 79720.

For the record

A story in Tuesday's Herald about Howard County commissioners attempting to trim expenses described the Children's Trust Fund as a preventive and educational program focusing on child incest. Cecilia McKenzie, executive director of Rape Crisis, said this morning the program is broader, encompassing all types of child abuse and neglect, not just incest.

But that may be misleading, since a community beginning with a relatively small population can show a significant percentage increase with a comparatively modest addition in total numbers.

The fastest-growing metropolitan area that had more than a million people to begin with was Phoenix, Ariz., jumping 22.4 percent to 1,846,600 as of last year. That moved Phoenix up from 24th to 21st in the population rankings.

Dallas-Fort Worth wasn't far behind, with 19.8 percent growth to climb to 3,511,600 people, moving from 10th to ninth.

Houston, where the slump in the energy industry has slowed growth, is no longer the fastest-growing large metro area, as it had been early in this decade.

Nonetheless, the Houston-Galveston-Brazoria metro area increased by 16.9 percent to 3,623,300 people. That allowed Houston to climb from ninth to eighth in the rankings, staying slightly ahead of Lone Star rival Dallas.

Both those cities edged past the nation's capital, though, as the Washington, D.C.-Maryland-Virginia metro area slipped from eighth to 10th in the rankings, growing only 7.3 percent to 3,489,500 people.

Although New York grew only 2.2 percent in the five years, it remained first with 17,931,100 people in the consolidated metropolitan area, which also includes Long Island and large portions of northern New Jersey and southwestern Connecticut.

The No. 2 metro area remains Los Angeles-Anaheim-Riverside, which grew 10.8 percent to 12,738,200 people. And Chicago is still third, having grown 1.9 percent to 8,085,200. The Chicago metro area extends into parts of Indiana and Wisconsin.

Rounding out the Top 10 metro areas in the nation are Detroit-Ann Arbor, Mich., down 3.6 percent to 4,581,200, and Boston-Lawrence-Salem, Mass., which gained 2 percent to 4,051,400.

Besides Detroit, other million-plus metro areas that lost population over the five-year period were Buffalo-Niagara Falls, N.Y., down 4.4 percent to 1,187,900 people, falling from 29th to 33rd; and Pittsburgh-Beaver Valley, Pa., down 3.5 percent to 2,337,400, falling from 13th to 15th.

Also, Cleveland-Akron-Lorain, Ohio, down 2.0 percent to 2,776,400, falling from 11th to 12th; and Milwaukee-Racine, Wis., down 1.3 percent to 1,550,300, falling from 23rd to 24th.

Turning to the full list of 281 metro areas, the fastest growing after Naples, Fla., were Anchorage, Alaska, up 35.3 percent to 235,900; Ocala, Fla., up 32.3 percent to 162,100; Midland, Texas, up 32.1 percent to 109,200; and Fort Pierce, Fla., up 31.4 percent to 198,700.

This year's list adds four new metro areas to previous totals. The newest is Merced, Calif., officially designated on June 30 and ranked 178th in size.

Added on June 30, 1985 were Jackson, Tenn., ranked 274th; Rapid City, S.D., ranked 275th; and Cheyenne, Wyo., ranked 277th.

Metropolitan Statistical Areas are designated by the federal Office of Management and Budget for use in government programs, and generally they contain at least one central city of 50,000 people or more plus economically related surrounding communities.

In the case of the largest communities, several metropolitan areas are grouped together into so-called consolidated metropolitan statistical areas.

Thus, New York includes Nassau-Suffolk, N.Y.; Newark, Bergen and other New Jersey communities and places in Connecticut. Other examples include Chicago, with a consolidated area stretching into Indiana and Wisconsin, and San Francisco, which includes Oakland, San Jose, Vallejo and Santa Cruz, among others.

Owner denies his dog bit man's hand

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

The owner of a mixed pit bull/German shepherd has denied a report Tuesday that his dog bit Bob Lewis, 1508 Dayton Road, during a dog fight that morning in the neighborhood.

David Hildebrand, 805 W. 17th St., said Tuesday afternoon that his 13-year-old son, Gary, told him that Lewis was bitten by one of his own dogs when Lewis attempted to end a fight between the Hildebrands' dog and two of Lewis's dogs.

Lewis told the Herald Tuesday morning he was bitten on the hand by the Hildebrands' dog when he tried to separate the fighting animals. Lewis also said his two pet dogs, one a border collie and the other a mixed breed, received three to four bites each from the Hildebrands' dog.

Police Sgt. Fred Pace said today police were continuing to investigate the incident, but he declined to give further details.

The Hildebrands' dog was ordered quarantined for 10 days, Pace said.

Hildebrand said he put his dog in the Highland Animal Hospital for the required quarantine period. He said his dog was not injured.

Lewis said Tuesday morning he plans legal action as a result of the biting incident.

"He (Lewis) got bit by his own dog — a black and white dog," Gary Hildebrand told the Herald this morning. "A pit would have ripped his hand off," he said.

The youth said the incident began when the Hildebrands' dog, named Jack, chased a black and white collie after being let out of the house.

Gary said that he followed the dogs to Lewis's driveway where the dogs already were fighting, and where he saw Lewis kicking the Hildebrands' dog when he arrived.

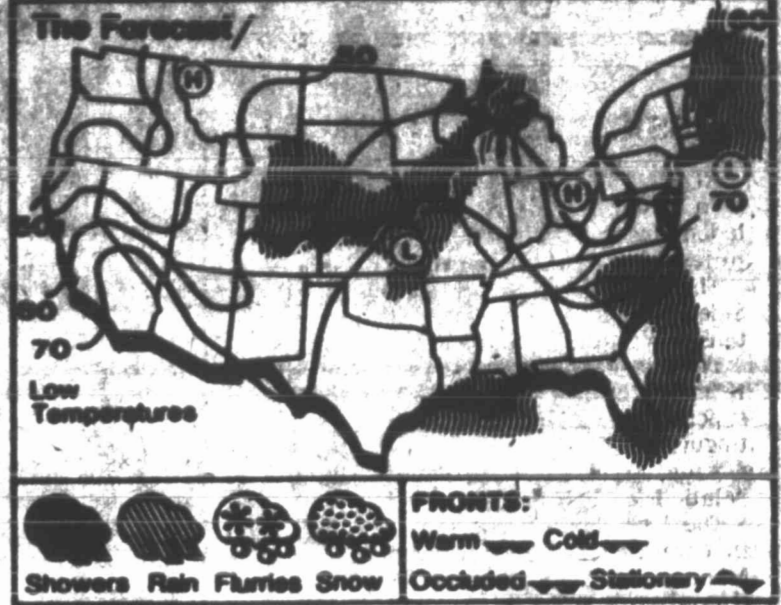

"Gary finally got Jack off. Lewis was hollering and screaming," David Hildebrand said his son told him after the incident. "He (Lewis) said he'd take a shotgun and shoot him (the dog). He said he'd blow his head off the next time he saw him down there."

Hildebrand said, when animal control warden Chuck Smith arrived at their home and knocked on the door, Gary Hildebrand said. They did respond, however, when a police officer arrived and ordered them to impound the dog, the boy said.

According to the dog bite report released by police, the Hildebrands' dog was reported to have been vaccinated and had no record of previous bite episodes.

The report also said that the Hildebrands' dog had attacked other dogs before.

Weather

Forecast

By The Associated Press
WEST TEXAS - The forecast calls for clear skies tonight and sunny skies Thursday. Temperatures will turn a little cooler in the Panhandle Thursday afternoon. Otherwise, there will be no important change in temperatures Thursday. Lows tonight will be in the 60s in the southwest mountains, otherwise in the upper 60s to mid 70s. Highs Thursday will be 90 to 103 in most sections, near 107 in the Big Bend valleys, lowering to the mid 90s in the Panhandle.

State

The National Weather Service today warned resident of North Central Texas and Northeast Texas that a combination of hot afternoon temperatures and relatively high humidities pose a health threat over the area through Thursday.

The heat index, a measure of the effect of temperature and humidity on the human body, will again range between 105 and 112 over much of North Central Texas and Northeast Texas through Thursday, forecasters say.

The risk of heat exhaustion, cramps and heatstroke increase as the heat index moves above 105 degrees, forecasters warned.

The heat index values are computed for shady conditions and forecasters say that exposure to full sunshine can increase heat index values by up to 15 degrees.

There is possibly some good news on the horizon. Forecasters say the heat may let up a little around the weekend. The upper air high pressure system that has been partly responsible for the 100-degree-plus temperatures across the area is expected to weaken and some slightly cooler air in the Central Plains will be moving south towards Texas.

Another hot day was in store for all of Texas today.

Nation

A blanket of hot air fueled a record-breaking heat wave from the Southeast to the southern Plains, while rain was scattered today from the East to the nation's midsection.

Severe thunderstorms rumbled ahead of a cold front moving across the northern Plains while showers and thunderstorms were scattered along the northern and mid-Atlantic Coast and across New York, Pennsylvania and the Mississippi Valley.

Hot and humid conditions prevailed across the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley, with early morning temperatures in the 80s.

The mass of hot air from the Southeast coast to Kansas led to high temperature records in 16 cities Tuesday, including Tulsa, Okla., 110 degrees, and Dodge City, Kan., where the 100-degree reading broke a 110-year-old record by one degree.

Temperatures were on the low side in much of New England, the Great Lakes region and from the northwest Plains to the Pacific Northwest, with early-morning readings in the 50s to 60s.

Water

Mize added.

Early this morning, city crews shut down a 400-horsepower motor and replaced it with a 150-horsepower motor to drive a pump in the main pump station.

There was concern Tuesday that water pushed by a newly installed turbine pump was running counter to the flow of water moved by the 400-horsepower driven pump, Wofford said. He speculated that opposing currents could impede further the amount of water moving through the frozen valve.

But he said buried piping configurations at the plant are not known well enough to pinpoint the problem.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said this morning that interchanging the two motors had made little difference in water flow.

Deaths

Ruth Land

Services for Mrs. Garland (Ruth) Land, 62, of 2510 Rebecca Drive will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home with the Rev. Eldon Cook, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Sand Springs, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Logan Peterson, pastor of Baptist Temple Church. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

She died Tuesday afternoon, July 29, 1986, at Malone-Hogan Hospital after a six-month illness. She was born Oct. 30, 1923, in Rule and married Garland Land in 1949 in Roscoe. She was a member of Baptist Temple Church and Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. She grew up in Snyder and moved to Big Spring in 1955 from Loraine. She had worked as a dietitian at Big Spring Independent School District, Malone-Hogan Hospital and

Cowper Hospital,

She is survived by her husband, Garland of Big Spring; two sons, Thomas Land of San Antonio and Jeff Land of Big Spring; two daughters, Terry Vigus of Big Spring and Jolene Dement of Austin; her mother, Ethel Harrington of Snyder; two sisters, Mary Cunningham of Pecos and Johnnie Molinare of Snyder; a brother, Kenneth Lynch of Snyder; and nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Ricky Cunningham, Terry Cunningham, Billy Breiten, Bill Land, Joe Land and Frank Brooks.

The family suggests memorials go to the Wadley Institute of Dallas or the American Cancer Society.

Missile hits oil tanker

NOFOLK, Va. — An armed missile fired by a Navy F-14 fighter slammed into an oil-laden tanker 80 miles off the coast, but no injuries or leaks were reported.

The Navy was investigating why the Sidewinder air-to-air missile hit the 600-foot tanker Western Sun on Tuesday.

The missile, which has a range of more than 10 miles, caused a small fire in the ship's superstructure, but the crew quickly extinguished it and the vessel continued its voyage, said Lt. Cmdr. Bill Sonntag, an Atlantic Fleet spokesman.

The Navy had warned shippers on July 24 that week-long training flights were to begin Monday, said Lt. Peter Virok of the 5th Coast Guard District Operations Center in Portsmouth.

Train falls from bridge

BOONE, Iowa — Toxic chemicals seeping into the Des Moines River after spilling from a derailed freight train pose no threat to public health, state disaster officials said as the cleanup began today.

The chemicals were aboard 16 truck trailers on flat-bed train cars that were blown off a bridge by storm winds and fell 185 feet into the river valley near Boone on Monday night.

Small amounts of the chemicals — sulfuric and hydrochloric acids, an alkaline corrosive and coal tar dye — seeped into the river but have been diluted, said Al Farris of the state Department of Natural Resources.

NASA: Escape unlikely

SPACE CENTER, Houston — The Challenger astronauts probably would not have survived even if the space shuttle had been equipped with an escape system, NASA experts say.

"I doubt very seriously that a bail-out system would have had any chance of working," Tommy W. Holloway, chief of the Johnson Space Center flight directors office, said Tuesday.

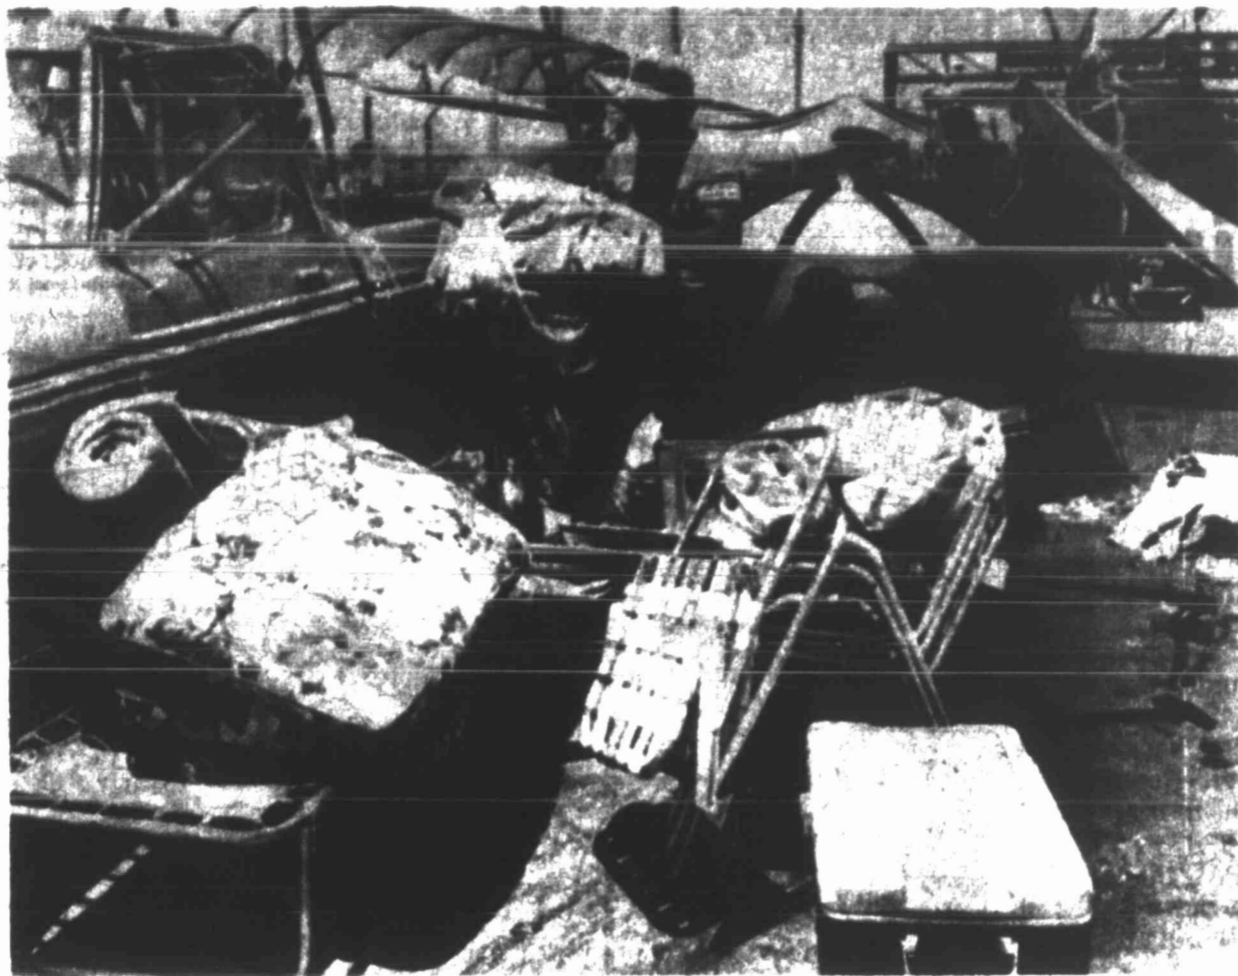

Flight director John Cox said the survival chances with parachutes would have been "improbable."

Report centers on heater

WASHINGTON — A federal report on the fiery airplane crash that killed singer Rick Nelson and six others centers on a faulty cabin heater and fails to mention earlier speculation that free-basing cocaine may have caused the blaze.

The report, released Tuesday by the National Transportation Safety Board, drew no conclusions about the New Year's Eve crash, but included the co-pilot's assertions that the plane's cabin heater was "acting up" during the flight.

Pilot Bradley Rank, 33, and co-pilot Kenneth Ferguson, 45, escaped through the cockpit windows of Nelson's DC-3 after crash-landing in a farmer's field near DeKalb, Texas. They suffered second- and third-degree burns.

A PAN supporter loads a pickup truck with blankets used during the almost four days of the blockade of the International Bridge of America Tuesday afternoon. The end of the blockade came on the heels of rumors of troops flown into Juarez to force the PAN supporters off the bridge. The blockade, in which 2,000 to 3,000 people participated daily, was in protest of July 7 election frauds by PRI party.

Reagan asked to urge new elections

AUSTIN (AP) — Unrest in the Mexican border state of Chihuahua will escalate into revolution unless recent elections are voided, says the chairman of the National Hispanic Leadership Conference.

"I see a revolution resulting from it. Hopefully, if a revolution were to come, it would be a peaceful one. I don't know how realistic that is," Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi said at a Tuesday news conference.

Bonilla urged President Ronald Reagan to call on Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid to annul the July 6 election results in the states of Chihuahua, Durango and Baja California Norte. Supporters of Mexico's opposition party claim the elections were tainted by irregularity.

The protest led to a five-day blockade of the Juarez-El Paso international bridge. The protestors ended their blockade Tuesday.

"Already we see a mini-revolution taking place along the U.S.-Mexico border," Bonilla said in a letter to Reagan. "These actions requesting justice, unless resolved, will have a profound impact on both nations."

"We as a nation have spoken out against voting irregularities and fraud in elections in the Philippines and we have condemned apartheid in South Africa. Now, we as a nation should address irregularities in Mexico because it affects the destiny of the Americas," he told Reagan.

New elections in the three Mexican states should be held after voting laws are reformed and foreign observers are invited to observe the balloting, Bonilla said.

He said he was not calling for economic sanctions against Mexico, but predicted such sanctions could happen when Mexico seeks additional loans to deal with its economic problems.

"Certainly that could be used for leverage if it becomes necessary," he said.

The Chihuahua situation could be the spark that touches off a revolt that would be fueled by "the huge unemployment rate, the huge inflation rate, the huge number of poor in that country, the huge debt that Mexico owes that has mortgaged the future of their unborn children," Bonilla said.

It adds up to revolution, he said.

"If it's not resolved by their own officials through responsible leadership, I suspect that's the next step for these people, out of hopelessness," Bonilla said.

Jenco gives message

VATICAN CITY — The Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco today delivered a private message from his former Lebanese Moslem kidnappers to Pope John Paul II, and appealed for prayers on behalf of the remaining American hostages.

"To keep my promise, I have given a confidential message from my captors to the Holy Father," Jenco told reporters after a 15-minute audience with the pope.

He said he would give the same message Thursday to the head of the Anglican Church, the archbishop of Canterbury, who sent an envoy to Beirut several times last year in an effort to negotiate freedom for the hostages.

SALT II session ends

GENEVA — Special superpower talks on SALT II ended today after the Soviets rejected a U.S. proposal to observe temporary restraints pending a new accord to reduce strategic weapons, a U.S. statement said.

President Reagan announced May 27 that the United States would not be bound by the unratified Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty by the end of the year because of alleged Soviet violations.

The Soviets requested the special talks, which began July 22, after Reagan's announcement. The United States reluctantly agreed, on condition that they also cover the alleged Soviet violations, including the deployment of a new long-range missile and supposed measures to obstruct monitoring by U.S. satellites.

OPEC working on cuts

GENEVA — More than half of OPEC's members pledged to make voluntary cuts totaling 1.6 million barrels a day, but no agreement was reached on binding quotas to lower the cartel's overall oil production, OPEC's president said today.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has been struggling for months to resolve a dispute over production quotas and reach an agreement on a lower output ceiling that would reverse this year's drastic fall in oil prices.

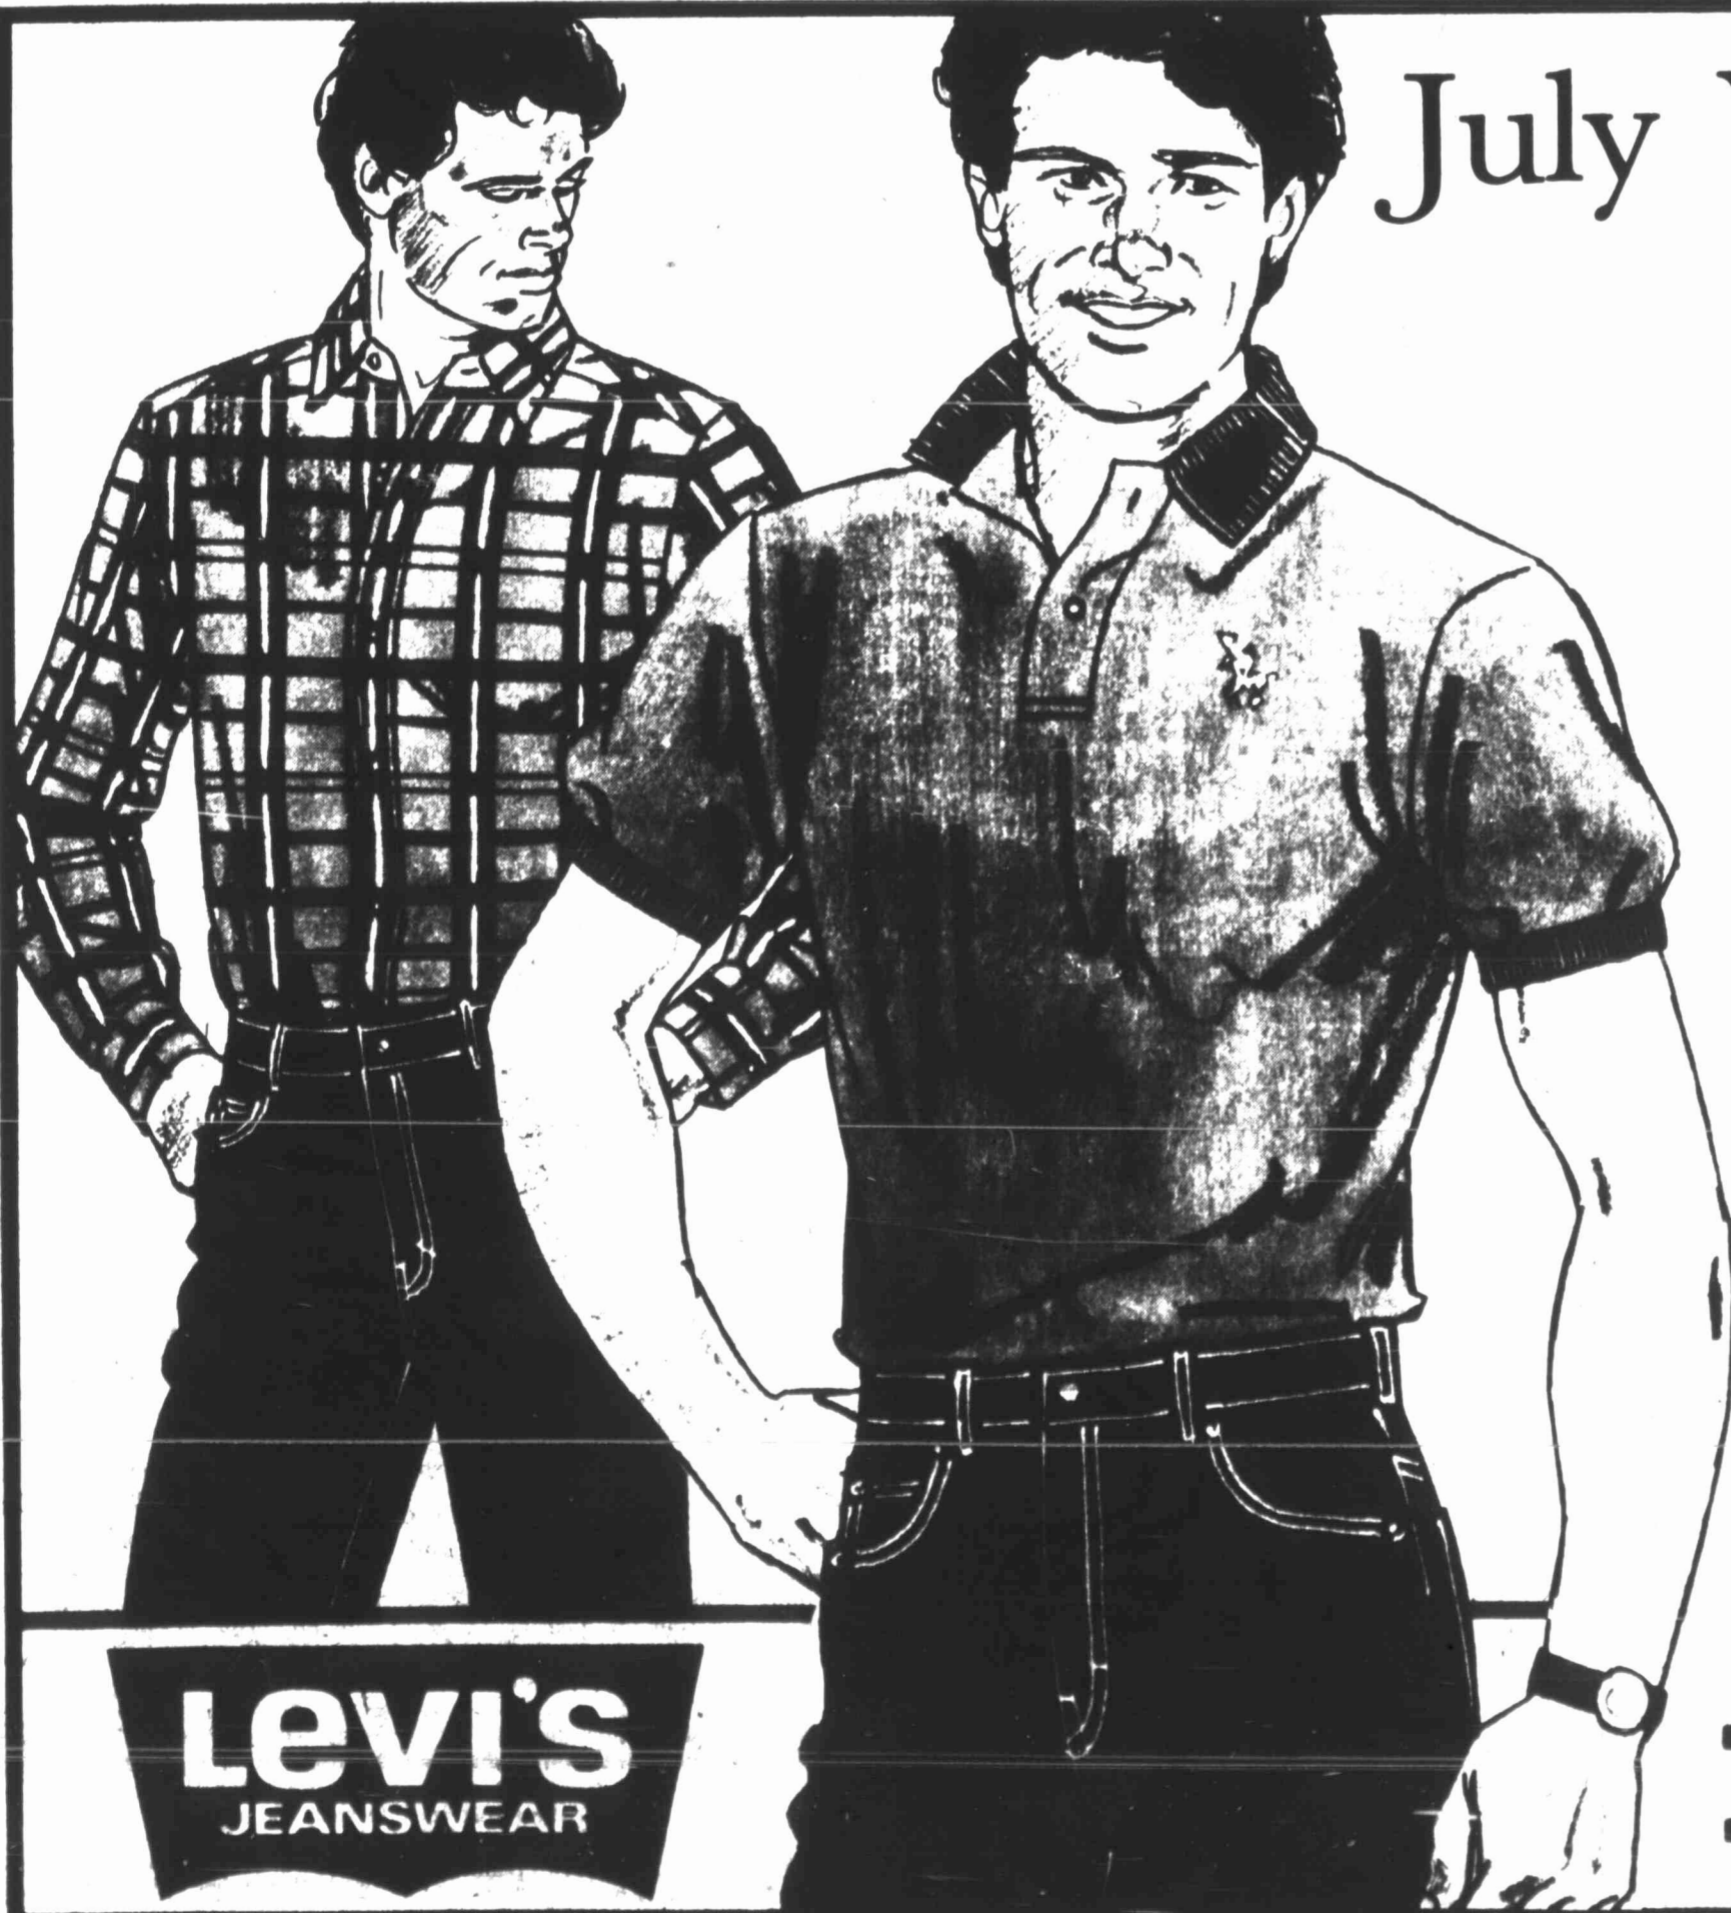

Guru returns to India

BOMBAY, India — Guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh returned to his homeland today complaining that Indian immigration officials treated him like a tourist after his failed worldwide seven-month search for a new place to live.

The self-described "rich man's guru" was taken out of his private aircraft in a wheelchair, complaining of a back problem. He was wearing a diamond-studded cap and a glittering green robe.

Customs officials grilled him for almost two hours before granting him an entry permit, airport sources said.

"I was treated like a tourist despite having an Indian passport," Rajneesh, 54, said. "This is not a country to be in for good."

Senator trying to limit power

During his long political career, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater has never gone meekly with the crowd. He has been an independent and outspoken leader who marched to his own drummer.

Often Goldwater startled and annoyed his Republican colleagues by his independence. But it has been a quality that has won him public support.

As his final term in the U.S. Senate nears the end, he is making a fight for political reform. With Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., Goldwater has introduced an amendment to limit the power of political action committees.

In introducing the bill, Goldwater said, "...PAC money is destroying the election process. It is breaking down public confidence in free elections and it is ruining the quality of campaigns."

Political experts had expected the measure to die quickly because members of Congress depend on PACs for financial support. But the Senate rejected a motion to table. Apparently it was aware of growing public criticism of PAC power.

Statistics revealed by Common Cause have shown how special interest groups influence elections through large contributions, and how recipients vote in support of their contributors.

The Goldwater-Boren measure is an idea whose time has come. It is scheduled for a vote within the next few weeks, and it has a good chance for approval.

As a legacy to its senior senator, Arizona's congressional delegation should get behind the amendment. He deserves the support, and the American political system needs to have it passed.

Around the rim Water sense preferred to wallet cents

Obviously many people in Big Spring remain oblivious to the city's water crisis — or they just don't care. Why else would they drench lawns until the soil no longer can absorb the water, causing spillage over curbs as the water flows along the street?

"They don't need to water the streets," said Public Works Director Tom Decell, who voiced his dismay Monday at citizens wasting water while reservoir levels continue to drop.

In dry West Texas, it's unwise to water the streets with or without problems in the city's distributor system. Most citizens are aware of the problem and have been conscientious in conserving water, city officials say. And I salute them for showing responsibility and community spirit.

But the city may have to play its trump card in dealing with the others — those who thumb their noses at the city's conservation request.

The city's strong suit is its police powers with authority to impose mandatory water conservation — complete with fines. If those who waste water don't stop the foolish practice by appeals to common sense, perhaps a stiff fine will.

Not only is excess watering a waste, it slowly damages road surfaces by gradually loosening pavement when it moves in a constant stream.

Just this week, Midland passed an ordinance providing for fines as high as $200 when residents are found guilty of allowing water to flow along streets indefinitely.

The public works department there cited both street damage and waste as reasons for enacting the ordinance.

Big Spring is asking people to restrict water use to the essentials — cooking, cleaning and hygiene. If all comply voluntarily, the water system can be repaired swiftly and the city need not resort to fines.

Israeli's have developed cluster-bomb technology

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The Jonathan Pollard spy case has apparently inspired a series of leaks by government officials who don't subscribe wholeheartedly to President Reagan's staunch support of Israel.

The latest of these stories involved cluster bombs. U.S. Customs officials leaked word that Israel is suspected of trying to obtain U.S. technology on the grisly bomb.

We wrote about Israel's use of U.S.-made cluster bombs in Lebanon four years ago. Ariel Sharon, Israeli defense minister at the time of the 1982 invasion, admitted to us that he had authorized use of the bombs, despite Israel's 1978 pledge to use them only in the event of an attack by more than one Arab country.

Now our associate Donald Goldberg has obtained a secret Defense Department document that shows U.S. intelligence agencies have known for at least four years about Israel's development of its own cluster-bomb technology. The project was designed specifically to give Israel cluster bombs it can use without restrictions.

"Both Israeli- and U.S.-made cluster bombs have probably been used by the Israeli Air Force in the conflict in Lebanon," the Defense Intelligence Agency report concluded. It was dated July 16, 1982, the very day that President Reagan stopped the shipment of new cluster bombs to Israel because of the controversy surrounding their use in the Lebanon invasion.

This allowed the White House to avoid an investigation into Israel's use of the U.S.-supplied bombs. If such an investigation had established that Israel had broken the 1978 agreement on cluster-bomb restrictions — and it undoubtedly would have — then sale of all military items to Israel would have been stopped by law.

The secret DIA report explained that Israel's development of its own cluster bombs was "undoubtedly spurred" by the widespread criticism of their use in Lebanon, and Jerusalem's concern that the United States "might cut off supplies."

But the point is that even in 1981, Israel had a well-established capability to produce cluster bombs and was "no longer completely dependent upon U.S. supplies of such munitions," the report says.

The report goes into some detail: "Israeli-made cluster bombs include the TAC-A, B, C, D and apparently also the TAL-1. These bombs were developed in the 1970s at the Rafael Armament Development Authority north of Haifa and are probably made there. Production of these munitions reflects Israel's desire not to be completely dependent on the U.S. for defense material."

Sharon's disclosure to us in 1982 was the first public acknowledgment by an Israeli official that the cluster bombs were being used in Lebanon. The bombs are canisters full of golf ball-sized pellets that explode like grenades on contact with a hard surface. But when they land on soft ground, the pellets often fail to detonate; they become alluring toys for children, who are then cruelly maimed or killed when the balls explode.

The secret Pentagon report raises an interesting question: If Israel has been developing its own cluster bombs since the 1970s, why would it need American technology, stolen or not? Yet this is what Customs Service officials have charged.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Administration officials are quietly seething over the publicity surrounding U.S. military assistance to Bolivia in its battle against cocaine producers. The operation was supposed to be a deep, dark secret, but Bolivian officials leaked it. One reason the White House wanted the operation kept under wraps is because Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger opposed the plan, arguing that it would use Pentagon resources in a non-military venture. But Vice President Bush got President Reagan to overrule Weinberger, and the White House wanted to hush up the disagreement.

WATER, WATER...Drought is the big problem in some areas of the country, but not in Durango, Colo. There the big dust-up is over the proposed Animas-La Plata irrigation project, which will cost at least $550 million. The federal government wants farmers and other local residents to pay a bigger share of the cost; they say they can't afford it. Environmentalists are worried about the threat to wildlife. But Indian tribes in the area say the government is obligated to provide them with water, and they'll sue if the dam isn't built. Looks like a long hot summer in Durango.

Alcohol should be banned in park

To the editor: This is in regard to the proposed ban of alcohol in the city park, now being considered by the City Council.

Public records show that I was one of 10 people to sign the initial petition for liquor by the drink. I supported the issue openly. There is a difference, however, in serving drinks in public bars (where state law prohibits a person from carrying open containers in and out) and allowing open public consumption.

Allowing open consumption in our parks has led to situations that cause many citizens to feel uneasy about using our parks. There are other solutions to the problem. However, in my opinion, these solutions place a burden on the public as a whole, whereas the ban would only affect a few.

The Council would be able to issue permits for special functions upon application by the sponsors. This would allow us to fortify police efforts for specific days.

Please also consider that Midland, Lubbock and Odessa have ordinances which do not allow alcohol consumption in their parks, and they are considered progressive communities.

No paper reports more than the highlights of a public meeting. Therefore, to understand an issue, people must avail themselves of the information. Please make an effort to attend council meetings and/or work sessions. That is the only way the public can have all the facts with and understand the Council's intentions and decisions.

Today

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, July 30, the 211th day of 1986. There are 154 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On July 30, 1792, the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was first sung in Paris.

On this date: In 1619, the first representative assembly in America convened in Jamestown, Va.

In 1729, Baltimore was founded. In 1864, during the Civil War, Union forces tried to take Petersburg, Va., by first exploding a mine under Confederate defense lines that left a huge crater. The attack failed.

In 1916, German saboteurs blew up a munitions plant on Black Tom Island near Jersey City, N.J.

In 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill creating a women's auxiliary agency in the navy. The legislation was called Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service, or WAVES.

In 1965, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed Medicare into law.

In 1975, former Teamsters President Jimmy Hoffa disappeared as he was trying to recapture control of the union he once headed. His exact fate remains a mystery.

Ten years ago: Bruce Jenner won the gold medal in the decathlon at the Montreal Summer Olympics, beating out Guido Kratschmer of West Germany and Nikolai Avilov of the Soviet Union.

Five years ago: In Poland, thousands of women and children marched through Lodz, the nation's second-largest city, protesting food shortages.

One year ago: Herbert Beukes, South Africa's ambassador-designate to the United States, was recalled to Pretoria for consultations.

Today's birthdays: Actor Edd Byrnes is 53. Movie director Peter Bogdanovich is 47. Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women, is 47. Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Col., is 46. Singer Paul Anka is 45. Actor Arnold Schwarzenegger is 39.

Reagan escalates dubious drug war

The Reagan administration's dispatch of American troops to Bolivia may be interpreted as a bold new blow against international drug trafficking. It really is an admission of failure that betrays the futility of the war on illicit drugs. Only by steadily expanding the war, both at home and abroad, can the administration hope to have much effect on Americans' drug use.

The expedition launched recently shows how far President Reagan is willing to go in his dubious crusade. Some 100 U.S. Army personnel were sent to Bolivia with six helicopters to transport Bolivian forces in an attack on drug laboratories in a major cocaine-producing area. The operation could last as long as two months, and the administration, according to the New York Times, "acknowledged that Americans could be wounded or killed."

This is the first action taken by the administration since Reagan signed a directive declaring drug trafficking to be a threat to national security. Well, anything can be pushed under that umbrella. It is not as if Bolivians are threatening us with military attack or anything comparable. They are only doing the same thing as

Steve Chapman

Japanese automakers, Saudi oil producers and Taiwanese textile manufacturers — supplying Americans with a product they want.

The U.S. government may not want Bolivian cocaine coming onto our shores, but the danger it presents is of a wholly different character and magnitude from that posed by Soviet troops or Libyan terrorists. Despite ambitious law enforcement efforts, cocaine is in great demand. As long as Americans are willing to pay foreigners for cocaine and other drugs, some foreigners will be willing to take whatever risks are necessary to provide them.

That is what makes the use of American military forces such a bad idea. The lives of our soldiers should be risked only to protect us from our enemies — not to protect us from ourselves. Americans may think it sounds great to use our soldiers against foreign drug producers. They will probably feel differently when the first coffin comes home.

Mass raids like the one envisioned here rarely work. When the Bolivian government has tried it before, the culprits have mostly escaped into the jungle. But even if it does capture a lot of drug producers and destroy a lot of cocaine, the operation won't accomplish much.

If it substantially reduces the available supply of cocaine in the world, prices will rise, attracting more suppliers elsewhere. The more vigorous the government efforts to eradicate drug trafficking, the more financially lucrative it becomes for those traffickers who can elude the authorities.

To the extent it accomplishes its immediate objective, the raid finances the frustration of its ultimate purpose. Only through grotesquely excessive penalties and draconian invasions of citizens' liberties could Washington hope to dry up the demand that calls forth the supply.

The ultimate purpose, stamping out illicit drug use, is a mistaken one. Cocaine and other drugs may be dangerous, but the risk lies with those who choose to use them. It is not the proper role of the government to protect adults from the consequences of hazardous choices — whether they involve cocaine, cigarettes, overeating or mountain climbing. It ought to concentrate on the more realistic and worthy task of trying to keep these drugs out of the hands of minors.

When the effort to interfere with voluntary transactions among adults goes beyond prosecution of dealers and users to landing American soldiers in foreign lands, our anti-drug policies cry out for revision. The commitment required to enforce them in their current form will only continue to grow, demanding more money, manpower and risk. The Reagan administration may be willing to pay any price, but the price is already too high.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans surveyed in a poll favored rather than tax balance the state budget.

The survey was conducted by J. Finkelstein of Irvington, N.Y., for the National Education Association, which made the poll available Tuesday.

The poll, conducted by 53 percent favoring spending 10.4 percent cut taxes.

Another 27.9 percent favored a combination of cuts and poll found, while the budget should be cut 6.6 percent or declined to zero.

Foundation's Wyatt, a former congressman, said the survey interviewed voters. Its accuracy plus or minus 4 percent.

Poll: Most favor spending cuts

AUSTIN (AP) — A majority of Texans surveyed in a recent opinion poll favored spending cuts rather than tax increases to balance the state government budget.

The survey was conducted by Arthur J. Finkelstein and Associates of Irvington, N.Y., for the Foundation for Education on Free Enterprise, which made a copy available to The Associated Press on Tuesday.

The poll, conducted June 14-19, found 53 percent of respondents favoring spending cuts, while only 10.4 percent called for higher taxes.

Another 27.9 percent favored a combination of cuts and taxes, the poll found, while 2.1 percent said the budget shouldn't be balanced and 6.6 percent either didn't know or declined to answer.

Foundation spokesman Joe Wyatt, a former Texas congressman, said the telephone survey interviewed 606 Texas voters. Its accuracy was pegged at plus or minus 4 percent.

The foundation is a recently established, tax-exempt organization that says its activities include research and publication of information on how the free enterprise system relates to Texas.

"Most Texans would cut state spending to balance the budget," said an analysis that accompanied the poll results.

"Spending cuts were favored over tax hikes by Texans who vote for Democrats as well as by those who vote for Republicans," the analysis added.

The poll was conducted when the state's budget deficit was about $2.3 billion. Last week, Comptroller Bob Bullock said the deficit had ballooned to $3.5 billion, and a special session of the Legislature begins Aug. 6 to try to balance the books.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby launched a statewide tour Tuesday to call for a combination of about $650 million in budget cuts and a sales tax increase to eliminate the problem. House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, repeatedly has voiced opposition to a tax increase.

The poll also found respondents saying state government's workforce is too large.

"When it comes to the size of state government, a majority of Texans say the Texas state government has too many people working in it," Finkelstein reported.

Two questions were asked about the size of the state workforce.

Asked whether they agreed with a statement that "state government has too many employees," 58.3 percent agreed and 24.9 percent disagreed, while 16.8 percent didn't know or didn't answer.

Asked which statement came closest to their opinion, 56.1 percent preferred the statement, "There are too many state employees," while 29.4 percent preferred, "There are not too many state employees."

Thayer, Harris go to halfway house

DALLAS (AP) — Former U.S. Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Thayer and stockbroker Billy Bob Harris, both imprisoned for the past 13 months, have been transferred to a halfway house, a U.S. Bureau of Prisons spokesman said Tuesday.

Thayer, the former chairman of Dallas-based LTV Corp., and Harris, a friend of Thayer's, were transported to the Volunteers of America halfway house on Monday, prison agency spokesman Joe Van Kempen said.

Thayer, who pleaded guilty in March 1985 to charges of concealing illegal insider stock deals, was sentenced to four years in federal prison. Harris was convicted and sentenced to four years in the same case.

Both have been serving their sentences at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp.

Sherri Shaw, a spokeswoman at the halfway house, refused to confirm or deny whether the two men were admitted.

"Our policy is we don't tell whether they are or not," she said. "We leave it up to the residents to contact someone — whether it's relatives or the media — trying to get in touch."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Charles Roistacher of Washington, D.C., who prosecuted the case, said the two men will serve 140 days before becoming eligible for parole. Both could be released by Dec. 12, Van Kempen said.

David Chevallier, president of Volunteers of America in Dallas-Fort Worth, said, "Our purpose is to prepare individuals for a successful transition back into the community."

He said residents are required to find jobs, attend counseling sessions as often as three times a week, take random drug tests and open savings accounts.

The house can hold more than 80 state and federal prisoners nearing their release dates. Residents share hotel-size rooms and are expected to help clean the building, Chevallier said.

The Bureau of Prisons must order a federal prisoner's release and residents who break house rules usually are returned to prison, he said.

Thayer and Harris were charged with using inside tips on corporate movements to make $1.9 million in stock trading profits.

AIDS research center established

HOUSTON — A new effort to combat AIDS is getting under way in Houston with the nation's first hospital established solely to research and treat the deadly disease.

Officials of American Medical International Inc. and the University of Texas System capped two years of negotiations Tuesday by signing a working agreement to create the hospital, to be known as the Institute for Immunological Disorders.

Richard R. D'Antoni, group vice president of American Medical International, called the creation of the Houston facility a milestone.

The 150-bed Citizens General Hospital is being converted from a general care facility to a research and treatment center for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, better known as AIDS.

Under the agreement, American Medical International provides the hospital, management and staff of 100 to 150 people, while the University of Texas System supplies faculty and direction for medical and research activities.

Unpublished Copland songs found

AUSTIN — The University of Texas has discovered three original, unpublished songs written by noted American composer Aaron Copland while he was still a teen-ager.

The songs, written by Copland when he was 17, were found in a collection of uncatalogued manuscripts, the university said.

Karl Korte, a music composition professor at UT, said the manuscripts were written before Copland began his years of formal study.

Olga Butch, a music librarian at the university, and Don Tharp, who works in the performance music library, discovered the Copland works while going through a large box of uncatalogued manuscripts that had been stored in UT's music library for some time.

Cast-off junk is material used for tinkerer's toys

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Santa Claus needed a helper in the Dade-Broward area of Florida, he'd probably select Pat DiStasi, a little old toymaker with an artistic touch and an innovative mind.

With bits of wood, plastic, wire — even with worn-out disposable pens — this 85-year-old cherub labors day and night among toys, knickknacks and trinkets that delight young and old alike.

When not making toys, DiStasi uses a rare artistic talent by converting throwaway beer and soda cans into decorative miniature chairs.

And, with a perennial spirit of Christmas, DiStasi gives it all away.

"The world needs more like him," says Metro-Dade Mayor Steve Clark, a longtime friend. "He's kept a lot of people happy ... he's a tremendous guy."

"I can make anything," says the affable DiStasi as he wields a heavy pair of cutting pliers to sever the miniature spring in a used disposable pen. The spring halves will help a miniature plastic monkey shimmy down a tensile piece of wire mounted in a decorative wooden base.

"What I make you'll never see on the market," he adds, using a lit candle to heat the spring end so it will adhere to a tiny plastic washer he got somewhere. Much of the material he works with has been discarded by others, donated by friends and acquaintances, or is something he's traded for.

Waiting for glue to dry on some toys he's making, DiStasi takes an empty beer can, cuts the top off with a power saw and, using tin shears, cuts the can into a ribbon of aluminum 25 feet long.

With some 30 special tools he's made for his hobby, he bends, cuts and shapes the metal band into a tiny chair, complete with star designs. Clips holding the pieces together are also made from the can.

DiStasi's workshop is wherever he happens to be. His two-bedroom home looks like Santa's summer factory.

Partially constructed toys line the living room floor; the kitchen table is covered with boxes and jars filled with things most visitors would describe as useless; a small table near the stove is crammed with tools; drawers in the kitchen area hold more toy parts than cooking utensils and an attached one-car garage hasn't held a vehicle in years. It's so packed, the pull-down door won't close.

New ideas sometimes come to DiStasi while he's asleep. "When I dream of something to make, I get up and do it before I forget," he says. He's particularly proud of a ferris wheel he's made from cans. Another choice piece is a Renaissance chair that was a two-gallon automobile oil can.

DiStasi has no plans to quit the hobby he began after retiring in 1961. The Hackensack, N.J., native had spent his working career designing patterns for neckties.

"When I die, the toymaker dies," he said. After a moment, he adds, "It's a shame for me to do all this and not teach somebody."

Felty's patients can be helped

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a female, 58, with Felty's syndrome. I develop bad infections because of the low white cell count. My doctors are advising removal of my spleen as treatment. It is enlarged. Yet, I understand that without a spleen I would be more infection-prone. I am confused. What would be the advantage of removing the spleen if I already get these infections? — Mrs. E.D.

Felty's syndrome (for other readers) is a combination of rheumatoid arthritis, spleen enlargement and reduced white blood cells. We don't know why these problems occur in a group this way, but the person with Felty's has more frequent or more serious infections. The usual recommendation is spleen removal.

Your confusion is understandable, given the fact that people without spleens are at higher risk for getting infections. The spleen is one of our infection-fighting organs. But it has to be seen in the context of your special problem, one in which your white blood cells, the first line of defense against infection, are already compromised. The reason their numbers are low is because your enlarged spleen is gobbling them up, for that is another function of that organ.

In short, it is much more important for you to have normal numbers of white blood cells than it is to have your spleen in place. In fact, people without spleens are only at slighter greater risk of infection. As an infection fighter, the spleen is miles away from the frontlines, which are manned by the white cells.

Spleens are nice to have. Adequate white cells are vital to health.

I don't intend to lessen the importance of advice given to people who have had their spleens removed. Because of the slight, but very real threat of infection, those people are among the ones who need vaccination with the pneumococcal vaccine, the one that protects against the most common type of pneumonia.

In your situation, spleen removal should result in a desired rise in the important white cell count.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've read many articles on the AIDS virus, but none seems to tell the symptoms. I'm scared that I may have it, but I am afraid to confront anyone about it, even my doctor. My symptoms are pain and swelling of the glands in my neck and jaw, canker sores on my tongue, and a tendency to bruise easily. I've also been having many infections of all kinds. I would like to know if these resemble AIDS symptoms. — D.B.

You must see your doctor. You really must. All the symptoms you mention do suggest a defect in your ability to fight infections. AIDS, as you know, is an acronym for acquired immuno-deficiency syndrome.

It is possible, certainly, that all your symptoms are occurring coincidentally and do not bode AIDS. But you owe it to yourself to find out. You could have an entirely different illness that is treatable.

There is no medicine to kill the AIDS virus, but there are drugs to treat the various infections that AIDS allows to occur. I wish I could help you from here, but I cannot. See your doctor promptly.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How effective is monthly self breast examination in catching breast cancer? I have heard that it is not that great. — Mrs. R.O.

Self examination is good, but it is far from foolproof, and it should not be relied on totally to the exclusion of other methods. I'm referring to mammograms specifically.

Studies have been undertaken. It is estimated that self examination detects less than half the number of breast lumps found by mammogram. The doctor's physical palpation of the breast turns up a slightly higher percentage of lumps. In the opinion of breast cancer authorities, regular mammogram of the breasts is essential to rule out the presence of small, non-obvious tumors as early as possible.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: A writer asked you the source of the quote, "You can never be too rich or too thin." That was said by the late Wallis Warfield Simpson, the duchess of Windsor. I've never known of anyone who was so obsessed with being skinny.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Cool out with ice cream

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Don't let the heat get you down. Cool out with homemade ice cream.

In this week's recipe exchange, I have included some authentic homemade ice cream recipes created by Texans. So, kick back and be cool the Texan way. These refreshing ice cream recipes will help.

Stay tuned for next week's recipe exchange. I will feature more creative homemade ice cream recipes.

Recipe exchange

REAL STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

2 cups crushed strawberries
1/2 cup sugar
1 pint heavy cream

Place strawberries and sugar in blender or food processor. Blend well. Mix with cream. Pour mixture into electric ice cream maker or hand crank unit and follow manufacturer's directions.

RICH CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

2 cups rich milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, grated
1 cup sugar
3 tbsp. flour
4 egg yolks
2 cups heavy cream
2 tsp. vanilla

Place milk and grated chocolate in the top section of a double boiler. Stir well over hot, but not boiling water until chocolate is melted. Sift together sugar and flour and blend into the chocolate mixture. Cover pan, and cook slowly for ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Beat egg yolks slightly and add slowly to the chocolate mixture. Scald, but do not boil the cream, and stir into the mixture. Cook it until it coats the back of spoon. Add vanilla and place in ice cream maker. Follow manufacturer's directions.

PECOS CANTALOUPE ICE CREAM

6 eggs
2 cups sugar
3 cups fresh whole milk
1 (13 oz.) can evaporated milk
2 (14 oz.) cans sweetened condensed milk
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 ripe Pecos cantaloupe, cut in half, seeded, trimmed of rind and cut into bite sized pieces
Fresh whole milk

Beat together eggs, sugar and whole milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Cool. Add evaporated milk, sweetened condensed milk, vanilla and can-

BLUEBERRY NUT ICE CREAM

5 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 quarts half and half cream
1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
2 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
3/4 cups pecans
1 1/2 cups blueberries

Mix well: eggs, sugar and half and half. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Cool. Add the sweetened condensed milk and vanilla. Fold in nuts and blueberries very gently. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Let ripen in freezer for one hour.

taloupe. Pour into freezer container. Add whole milk to freezer line. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Makes one gallon.

HOMEMADE FREEZER ICE CREAM

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
4 cups scalded milk
4 eggs, beaten
4 tsp. vanilla extract
2 cups thick cream
2 cups milk, not scalded

Sift together sugar, flour and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk. Cook, stirring often, until thick, about 5-7 minutes. Stir a little of hot mixture into beaten eggs. Then stir eggs into the remaining hot mixture. Cook 2 minutes longer. Add vanilla. When cool, add the cream and the rest of the milk. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

Variations: For chocolate ice cream, sift 6 tablespoons cocoa with the other dry ingredients. For peach ice cream, add 2 cups fresh blended peaches to mixture before freezing.

COTTONUT ICE CREAM

6 cups half and half cream

1/2 cups cottonseed powder
2 egg yolks
2 1/2 cups sugar, divided
3 cups whipping cream
1 cup butter
2 tsp. vanilla extract
1/4 cup cottonseeds

In small saucepan, bring half and half and cottonseed powder slowly to a boil. Chill in ice water bath. Cream egg yolks and 1 1/2 cups sugar. Set aside.

In double boiler, bring whipping cream and 1 1/2 cups sugar to a slow boil, stirring often. Add 1/2 of cream mixture to yolks, stirring constantly. Add to remaining cream mixture (keep whisking) and bring to just under boil. Remove from heat and whisk in butter. Immediately place in ice water and stir often until cool. Beat in chilled half and half mixture and vanilla. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Add cottonseeds before sold. Serve with hot fudge syrup and cottonnuts, if desired.

Cottonnuts are glandless cottonseeds developed by Texas A&M University. They are the only edible cottonseed in the world and are produced locally in Waco. Cottonnuts contain over 90% protein.

DEWBERRY ICE CREAM

2 quarts dewberries
2 cups sugar
4 egg yolks
3 pints half and half cream
1 pint heavy whipping cream
5 tsp. real vanilla extract

Mash and sieve dewberries to obtain juice. Add sugar and chill. Beat egg yolks and mix with half and half in a large saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, just until thick and heated through. Cool. Add heavy cream, vanilla, and the chilled dewberry juice. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

HOMEMADE PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE ICE CREAM

6 eggs
1 cup sugar
6 cups fresh whole milk
1 1/2 cups creamy peanut butter
1 (13 oz.) can evaporated milk
1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
2 cups chopped roasted peanuts
1 cup chocolate syrup
Fresh whole milk

Mix well: eggs, sugar and whole milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Add peanut butter and mix well. Cool. Add evaporated milk, sweetened condensed milk and chopped peanuts.

Fold in chocolate syrup. Pour into freezer container and add whole milk to fill line. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

JALAPENO ICE CREAM

4 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup heavy
4 cups scalded milk
4 canned, peeled jalapeno pepper, or to taste
1 (16 oz.) carton sour cream
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Combine eggs and honey in top of double boiler. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a spoon. Cool. Remove and discard cores of peppers, including all seeds. Puree the peppers in a blender, sieve, or food processor and add to custard mixture. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Makes 2 quarts.

ORANGE PECAN ICE CREAM

2 cups milk
4 eggs
2 pints heavy cream
2 cups sugar
4 oranges, peeled and seeded
1 cup pecans
1 tsp. vanilla extract
Dash of salt

Combine milk and eggs in blender container; blend until well mixed. Cook over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken and coats spoon. Cool. Pour into freezer container.

Mix 1/2 of cream and sugar at a time. Blend at high speed until cream is almost whipped, but will still pour from blender. Pour into ice cream freezer. After the three mixings have been poured into freezer, blend the peeled and seeded oranges until smooth. Add pecans and process until broken up. Add vanilla and dash of salt. Pour orange-pecan mixture into the freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Makes one gallon.

STRAWBERRY CHEESECAKE ICE CREAM

2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
1 egg

3 cups quartered strawberries, divided
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese

3-4 cup finely chopped pecans (optional)
Fresh whole milk

Combine granulated sugar, salt and milk in food processor or blender container; blend until sugar is dissolved. Add eggs; blend until well-mixed. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken (about 10 minutes). Refrigerate 4 hours or overnight.

Add the brown sugar to the quartered strawberries. Stir well to dissolve the sugar. Set aside.

When ready to freeze; combine half of base mixture and cream cheese in food processor or blender container; process until smooth. Pour into chilled freezer container.

YUMMY YAMMY ICE CREAM

3 eggs
1 1/2 cup light brown sugar, packed
3 cups milk
3 cups whipping cream
1 1/2 cups sweet potatoes, baked, peeled and processed in blender
1 tsp. grated orange rind
1 cup finely chopped pecans, lightly toasted

Beat eggs until thickened. Gradually add brown sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Cool. Combine sweet potatoes, orange rind and pecans; add to custard. Pour into freezer container. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Makes approximately 3 quarts.

Grandmother wonders how close is coed's close friend

DEAR ABBY: My granddaughter, "Annette," 18, just graduated from high school. She was a straight-A student. She's been accepted by the college of her choice for pre-med and plans to pursue a medical career. In filling out the form for a roommate, she wrote the following: "I would like very much to share my room with 'Cecille,' as we are close friends and have been cohabitating."

Dear Abby

I'm sure she didn't mean for me to see it, but I am paying for her housing and the form was with the housing contract. I told her I thought she had made a poor choice of words as someone might think that she and Cecille were lesbians. I received no answer. I don't know whether she changed the wording on the form, but when her father reached for it, she grabbed it and informed him that it was "personal."

Abby, these two girls have been close friends through grammar and high school. Annette has never been involved with any boy, but I assumed it was because her father was so strict he scared them away. I wouldn't be surprised if there is something between these girls. Neither looks the part, but who can tell? I want to warn my granddaughter about the dangers of this sort of relationship. Please give me some idea of how to approach it.

ANONYMOUS, PLEASE
 DEAR ANONYMOUS: I don't know what kind of "dangers" you foresee, but I think it would be inappropriate for you to approach the subject of your granddaughter's sexuality. She's 18, and is entitled to privacy. Furthermore, she's asked for no discussion, so "if it ain't broke, don't fix it."

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about my pet peeve, which I have never seen aired in your column. It's people (usually senior citizens) who talk to bank cashiers, grocery clerks, salespeople, etc. about their aches and pains, the weather, etc., while others are lined up waiting to be helped.

I am often in a hurry because I am on my lunch hour or have an appointment, and when I am held up by one of these characters, I could scream. Yesterday I stood in line behind a woman at a busy supermarket checkout counter while she showed the cashier pictures of her grandchild!

Please print this for people who don't know how frustrating this can be.

UP TO HERE IN DOWNER'S GROVE
 DEAR UP: Most people who serve the public know a variety of ways to get such folks to move along. It takes only a moment to acknowledge a proud grandmother with a kind word and a smile. Slow down.

DEAR ABBY: I've wanted to do this for years. I should have written long ago to compliment you, rather than waiting until criticism was the order of the day.

However, "Confused" wrote to say that when her 3-year-old child was killed by a hit-and-run driver, she donated the child's organs without the consent of the baby's father. She asked if she was wrong, and you said "No."

Abby, you missed the point entirely. No matter how commendable her desire to save lives by such a generous gesture, she had no right to do this without the consent of the baby's father. This was his child, too. Giving such consent without his permission was inexcusable. Doing so surreptitiously and against his forcefully expressed wishes was probably actionable by law.

Once again, I agree with her idea, but the way she accomplished it was fraudulent and borders on the criminal. Sign me...

A FATHER IN BAYTOWN, TEXAS

DEAR FATHER: You might be interested in knowing that my mail is running 3-to-1 in your favor.

DEAR ABBY: As the activity director of the Hillcrest Nursing Home in Twin Lakes, Wis., it's my responsibility to provide our 84 residents with entertainment and activities to make their golden years more enjoyable.

Two years ago I started what we call the Dear Abby Hour. It is very popular among our residents since many can no longer read. I turn to your column in the Kenosha (Wis.) News, and first I read about the "problem" that was written in. Then the residents take turns supplying the advice.

We discuss all the subjects that come up in your column — politics, sex, marriage, free love, child abuse and whether or not there is a left sock and a right sock. Some of the answers are 30- and 50-year-olds think up are better than yours, and funnier, too.

I thought you might like to know that the attendance at our Dear Abby Hour is higher than our current events sessions.

So thank you, from all of us, for the fun and entertainment your column provides.

K.I. IN TWIN LAKES, WIS.

DEAR K.I.: Thank you, K.I., and all the residents at Hillcrest. I just hope some of you decide to start a new career in your golden years.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago, a prominent Louisiana physician checked to death while dining — in a room filled with physicians! It was the third such tragedy in as many years, all involving persons I had known well.

In all three cases, the victims, programmed since childhood not to show distress in the presence of other diners, left the table without giving the slightest indication that there was a serious problem.

One simple gesture — grasping the throat with both hands — might have saved them. I cannot think of a better medium than your column to spread the vital word that this means, "Help! I'm choking!" I hope you feel that this is worth space in your column.

CONCERNED
 DEAR CONCERNED: With the space? Yours may be a life-saving contribution, and I thank you for it.

DEAR ABBY: You'd better tell "Corney Venhemann" that Dizzy Dean must have been listening to radio when he "originated" that line, "Let's of people who don't say ain't, ain't working."

Will Rogers said it first. But, on the other hand, it was a laid-back zany football player named Joe Don Looney who first said: "I never met a man I didn't like — except Will Rogers."

Reception honors Williams

A reception honoring Dana Leigh Williams of Dallas, bride-elect of Troy Jon Tompkins of Big Spring was held July 26 at the home of Charles and Marie Tompkins, Todd Road.

The brunch for the bride-elect was hosted by Marie Tompkins and Kate Irons. Guests were present from Abilene, Midland, Forsan and Big Spring.

Two serving tables were draped with handmade cloths of tan with green vines and light maroon flowers. Fresh old maids, from the Tompkins' gardens, were used as centerpieces.

Fresh fruit, quiche, cinnamon rolls, fruit and nut muffins, pigs in a blanket, and rolls filled with bacon, sausage, cheese and eggs were served.

The couple will wed in Big Spring September 6.

Bridal shower held July 26

Marianne Boehm, bride-elect of Mike Eckley, was honored with a bridal shower July 26 at the home of Elizabeth Childress.

Hostesses, Ann Couvillon, Elizabeth Crenwick, Yvonne Miller, Lupe Miranda and Eyvette Grimes, presented Boehm with a comforter, toaster, coffee pot and electric can opener.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Boehm of Lewisville. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Eckley, 4052 Vicky.

The couple will exchange wedding vows August 16 in Denton at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church with Father Bill Brooks, officiating.

USFL wins, but loses with $3 award

NEW YORK (AP) — The jury has delivered its verdict in the battle of the football leagues. Now the USFL must deliver its own — whether to live or die.

The four-year-old league's owners will meet in New York a week from today to decide their future following a hollow victory Tuesday over the NFL in their 11-week court battle. The jurors found that the NFL had violated the antitrust laws, but rather than the $1.99 billion it had sought, the USFL was awarded the nominal sum of $1 — $3 when tried under antitrust law, which works out to about 11 cents a team if each member of the NFL is levied for damages.

USFL counsel Harvey Myerson said the league would appeal. Myerson was also prepared to argue that the verdict should be amended because the jurors were confused over how to determine damages. He cited statements by one juror, a schoolteacher named Miriam Sanchez, who said that she was prepared to award substantial damages but compromised to avoid a hung jury.

"It was very difficult," said one juror, Margaret Lillienfeld, of what others called a compromise decision. "We decided that there was a monopoly and that the NFL had tried to maintain it, but that the USFL had damaged itself."

But if the five women and one man, none of them football fans, thought they were giving a little to each side, the net effect was to push the USFL close to extinction. And that would presumably send into the NFL stars like Herschel

Walker, Jim Kelly, Doug Flutie and Kevin Bryant.

"It's going to be very tough," Commissioner Harry Usher said. "It's like a death in the family."

The biggest victory for the NFL was on the essence of the case — television.

The USFL had argued that the older league's contracts with the three major networks, all of them signed before the USFL came into existence, were illegal. And it contended that the NFL had pressured the networks to deny the USFL a contract when it decided to switch to the fall after three seasons in the spring. "Pressure, pressure, pressure," Myerson emphasized in his closing argument to the jury.

But the jury eliminated the television question when it found that the market for football goes beyond just ABC, CBS and NBC into cable television, specifically ESPN. In effect, that said that the NFL had not shut off the newer league from all access to television.

It also appeared to be saying in dismissing eight of the nine counts against the NFL that it could not substantiate most of the USFL's case.

The heart of that case was the "Porter Presentation," a study by Harvard Business School professor Michael Porter entitled, "How to Conquer the USFL." It was presented to 65 NFL executives in February 1984. The NFL argued that the study wasn't authorized by the league, was never implemented and that most of its recommendations were nonsense. The reaction of the two sides was National League Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle speaks with newsmen after the U.S. District Court decided Tuesday that the NFL was nominally liable for one antitrust violation against the rival United States Football League and ordered the NFL to pay the USFL token damages of $3.

predictable. "The USFL shot themselves in the foot," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was also found personally not liable in the case. "I tried to explain during the trial that I viewed the NFL as a natural monopoly and if I understand the attorneys, they (the jury) viewed it that way too." "Justice is wonderful," said Frank Rothman, who with NFL co-counsel Robert Fiske was sometimes criticized for his quiet demeanor in the face of Myerson's theatrics. "The jury was very, very astute. They saw through a case built on nothing but smoke, and not very good smoke at that. The $1 is an insult to the USFL."

"It's difficult to reconcile the finding that the NFL acted in a monopolistic, predatory fashion but that we weren't damaged except to the extent of $1," Usher said.

"They have given a monopolist who has been proven to be a monopolist a license to continue being a monopolist," Myerson said.

There were, however, USFL people who remained upbeat.

Donald Trump, owner of the New Jersey Generals and the man the NFL portrayed as the architect of the fall switch and the lawsuit, said the verdict was "a great moral victory."

"Now, with the confusion and what seems to be a hung jury, we expect to be a total victory," Trump said in a statement read over the phone by his secretary.

And Tony Cunningham, co-owner of the Tampa Bay Bandits, said: "Based on the information we heard from a juror, the jury felt the NFL was guilty of violating the antitrust laws of the United States."

But the chances of that one juror overturning the case seemed about as remote as the USFL's chances for long-term survival.

"If you had a new trial every time a juror came back and said he was misunderstood," Fiske said, "you'd be having a new trial on almost every one that's held."

BSHS athletes need to get their physicals

With the start of school nearing it's time for Big Spring athletes to get their physicals. The physicals are sponsored by the Big Spring Independent School District and will cost $8. The physicals will be held at the Malone-Hogan Clinic at 5 p.m. The first session is Wednesday, August 6 at the Malone-Hogan Clinic at 5 p.m. The second session will be Saturday, August 9 at 8:45 a.m.

Athletes to receive their physicals at this time are: all seventh and ninth grade students; all transfer students in grades nine through 12; and all previous B.S.I.S.D. students who have not completed their athletics in the B.S.I.S.D. system before. There will be more information coming in the Sunday, August 3 edition of the Herald.

Theismann will work the booth this year

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Anyone looking for an extreme longshot should take the odds Joe Theismann is laying on whether he can return to play in the National Football League. Theismann, 36, said Tuesday that he let the Washington Redskins put him on waivers last week because any announcement regarding his retirement at this time would be "premature."

Yet Theismann, who holds eight Redskins passing records, claimed the odds of him ever playing again are "greater than a million to one."

With his NFL career seemingly behind him, Theismann will now make a living doing what some people say he does best: talking.

The 12-year veteran said he is looking forward to his new occupation as an analyst with CBS-TV this fall.

"I feel very fortunate to be able to stay close to the game of football," Theismann said in a telephone interview. "I think I can provide experience and enthusiasm, and I'm excited about working with Jack Buck."

Theismann's tenure in the NFL ended Nov. 18 when he fractured his leg under the weight of two New York Giants.

"Everyone has to step down sometime," said Theismann. "What makes it easy is that physically, I can't play. It's got nothing to do with (lack of) talent." By being put on the waived/injured list, Theismann will receive $65,000 from the NFL and will have his medical bills paid for one year.

In addition, two years ago Theismann took out a $1.4 million insurance policy with Lloyd's of London in the event of a career-ending injury.

"I never, ever thought something like this would happen," he said. "But if you're Juliet Prowse you insure your legs and if you're Jimmy Durante you insure your nose."

Although he would not verify it, under the terms of the policy Theismann reportedly must make every effort to return to football. He cannot begin collecting on the policy until he fails a physical in November 1987 or passes that examination and is not selected by any NFL team.

The former Notre Dame star has been religiously exercising his fragile right leg, which forever will be shorter than his left leg, but he longs for the day when he can run and pivot or even walk without a limp.

No. 9 seed Aaron Krickstein narrowly beat Carlos DiLaura of Peru, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

Junior rodeo starts tonight at rodeo bowl

Once again, it's rodeo time in Big Spring. This time, it will be the youngsters turn to conquer the livestock and beat the clock in the 41st Annual Howard County 4-H Club Junior Rodeo that starts tonight at 7:30 at the Rodeo Bowl. Boys and girls 19 and younger from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma will compete in the four day event that will conclude on Saturday. The junior rodeo will follow the same format as the big rodeo, though some of the events will be different. The 16-19 year old boys will compete in the calf roping, ribbon roping, bull riding, team roping, and bareback competition. The 16-19 year old girls will vie in the barrel racing, polebending, breakaway calf roping and goat tying events. The younger kids will compete in other traditional rodeo events, some of which are altered because of their age. For instance, 12 and under boys will ride steers rather than bulls.

Big Spring girls head for Monahans

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer
Three teams of Big Spring girls and their coaches, parents and fans will form a motorcade late this afternoon and head to Monahans for the United Girls Softball Association's national championships. The local All-Star teams from Divisions I (age 7-9), II (10-12), and IV (16-19) qualified for the national championships at the West Texas Area State Regional Tournament last week in Andrews by finishing in the top two in the double elimination tournament. The Big Spring Division I All-Stars finished second in Monahans after losing an extra-inning squeaker to the Lovington, N.M. team. The Division IV team lost their championship playoff to Andrews 9-8.

The Division II girls, led by tournament Most Valuable Player Kristin Payer's awesome hitting displays, went undefeated for the championship. Barbara Morrow managed the team to one convincing win after another.

As Coach Neal Roberts said, going undefeated was "no problem."

Gladys Custer, the coach of the Division I team, explained that the national tournament is as yet still a state tournament. She said the USGA includes teams from Oklahoma, West Virginia and New Mexico, but that the Oklahoma and West Virginia teams will not attend this year for financial reasons.

Custer said 31 teams from the West Texas, East Texas, North Texas and Central Texas regions will compete in the four divisions at Monahans, and that all the teams qualified at their regional tournaments last weekend.

She stressed that the girls play fast-pitch softball. "We have some fantastic pitchers in this league. We kind of fight the idea that we're slow pitch — it's a fast paced game."

The big group will stay in Odessa, due to a shortage of hotel rooms in Monahans. The tournament begins early Wednesday evening, and will conclude with the finals on Saturday night.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 31, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Changes, changes, changes are in the works today. Be alive, alert and active to new beginnings as these can be important in your life and in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Whatever you had thought was well arranged may require some revision now. Go along with it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your financial affairs seem to be fluctuating so handle them carefully. Be smart today!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An associate could do something unexpected but you can soon solve this new problem. Avoid trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Remain adamant if arguments ensue between home ties and out-siders. Show dependability.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be more charming with your friends and acquaintances. Come to a far better understanding with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have made an agreement with partners and should do your best to keep your end of the bargain.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get your regular duties handled more efficiently and then you can study into new outlets that are emerging.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You had better study your assets well before you make a business arrangement with another.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may think a partner is not business-like enough, but say nothing. Look to home ties for advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Bring your good ideas to the attention of influential people. Enjoy the evening quietly with your mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to enjoy recreation with friends but they are too busy, so postpone.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have excellent judgment and know who to go to for support you need for a fine project, and you get it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be able to see the finest points and potentials of anything that comes to his or her attention, but at the same time is apt to become so interested in so many things that little is ever accomplished unless the lesson of perseverance is learned early.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Kittle homer helps both his teams

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Hours before joining the New York Yankees, Ron Kittle was already helping his new team.

Kittle hit a two-run homer Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox ended an eight-game losing streak by beating the Boston Red Sox 4-1.

Minutes later, it was announced that Kittle, Wayne Tolleson and Joel Skinner had been traded to the Yankees for Ron Hassey, minor league prospect Carlos Martinez and a player to be named later.

Kittle's homer enabled the second-place Yankees to remain four games behind the American League East-leading Red Sox. Kittle, who has hit 17 home runs this season and 111 homers in 3 1/2 seasons with Chicago, said the trade did not surprise him because rumors that he would be dealt had been floating around.

"I knew I was gonzo," he said. "I have no control over the matter. I'll go to the Yankees and do the best I can. At least the Yankees have a better-looking uniform."

"There's a lot of happiness and a lot of sorrow. I can hit home runs anywhere. When you hit 31 a year, you can hit them anywhere."

Joe Cawley, 6-6, checked the visiting Red Sox on two hits over 8 2-3 innings and Bob James recorded a final out for his 14th save.

Jim Rice had both Boston hits, singling in the second inning and then singling home an unearned run in the fourth.

Cowley retired 13 straight batters after Rice's RBI single until pinch-hitter Mike Greenwell walked leading off the ninth. When Bill Buckner walked with two outs, James entered and retired Rice on a grounder.

The White Sox ended their longest losing streak since 1978, when they dropped nine straight. Boston has now lost 10 of its last 12 games.

Tim Lincecum hit a sacrifice fly in the second inning and Kittle's homer capped a three-run third against Jeff Sellers, 3-6.

Blue Jays 5, Royals 2
Dave Stieb, struggling through the worst season of his career, checked Kansas City on four hits over 6 2-3 innings as Toronto beat the host Royals.

Stieb, the AL earned run average leader last year, raised his record to 3-10. Tom Henke recorded the final out for his 15th save.

The Blue Jays scored in the second inning on Ernie Whitt's RBI grounder and added two in the fourth on a run-scoring double by Whitt and an error by right fielder Mike Kingsry on the play.

Damazo Garcia hit a two-run homer in the Toronto seventh.

A's 4, Angels 2
Jose Canseco singled home the tiebreaking run during a three-run rally in the seventh inning, sending Oakland past California.

Angels starter Ray Chadwick, making his major-league debut, took a two-hitter and 3-1 lead into the seventh. But Oakland pinned him with the loss as Tony Phillips tied it with an RBI forceout off Gary Lucas, Canseco rapped a run-scoring single against Doug Corbett and Carney Lansford drew a bases-loaded walk from Chuck Finley.

A's starter Dave Stewart, 4-0, pitched four-hit ball for seven innings and won his fifth career decision against California without a loss. Jay Howell got his sixth save.

Rangers 6, Orioles 5
Scott Fletcher doubled home Oddibe McDowell from first base with two outs in the 12th inning and Texas broke Baltimore's five-game winning streak.

McDowell singled with two outs off Odell Jones, 1-1, and Fletcher followed with a drive off the left-field wall.

Reliever Greg Harris, 5-0, shut out the Orioles for four innings for the victory.

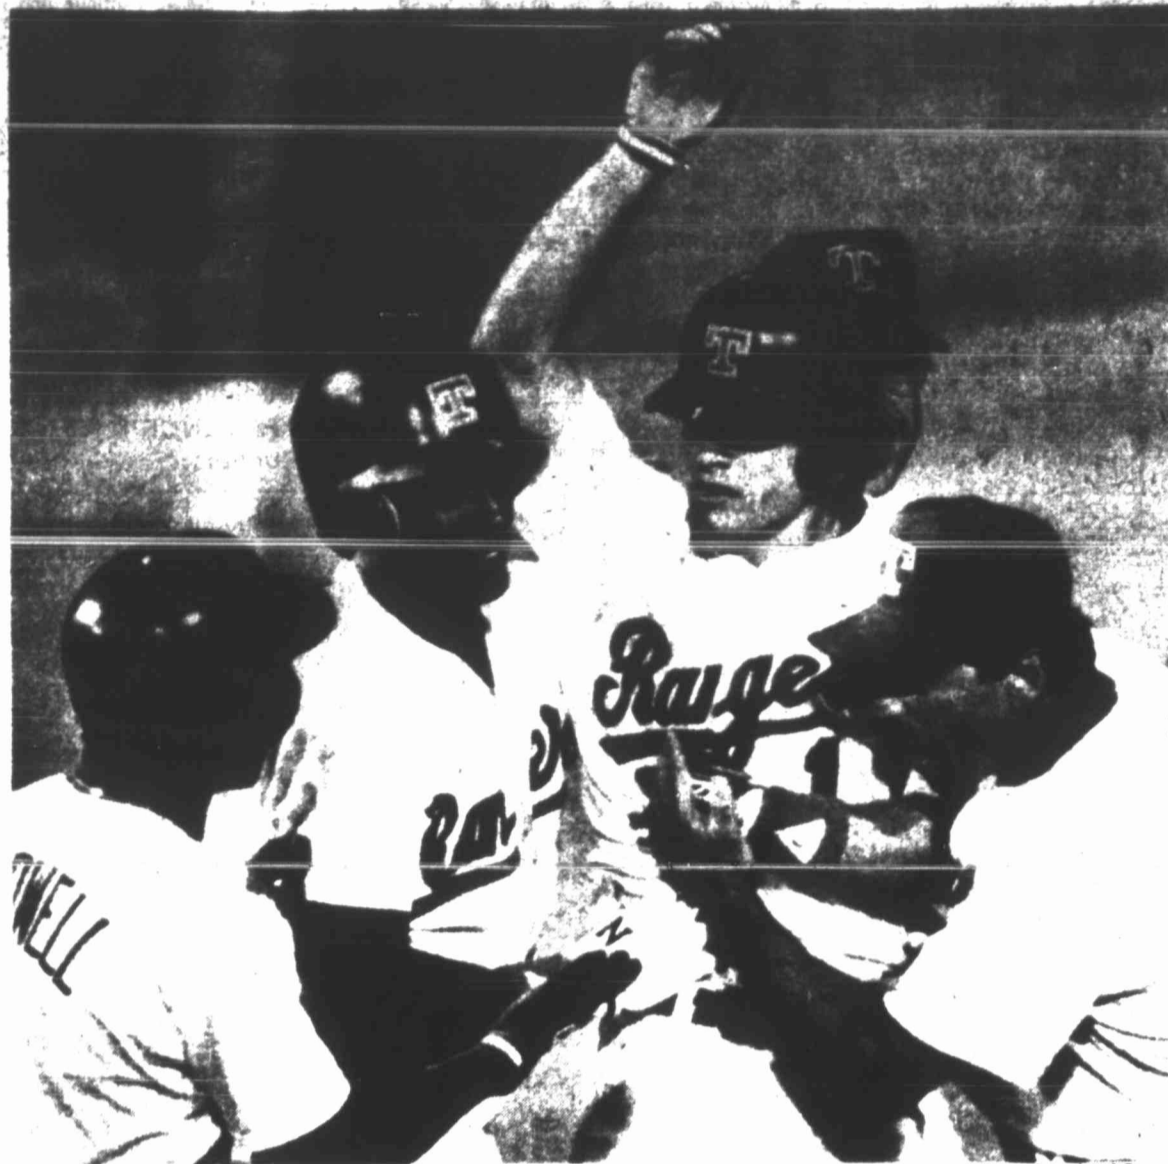

Rangers starter Mike Loynd, making his second major-league appearance, and Mike Flanagan each had two-hit shutouts through five innings.

Lee Lacy's two-run homer put visiting Baltimore ahead in the sixth before Texas scored five times in its half of the inning, highlighted by Pete Incaviglia's RBI double and Larry Parrish's two-run single.

Juan Beniquez hit a two-run homer in the seventh for the Orioles and they tied it in the ninth on pinch-hitter Jim Dwyer's sacrifice fly.

Tigers 6, Indians 3
Pinch-hitter Dave Bergman's infield single with the bases loaded and two outs in the 12th inning sparked Detroit over Cleveland.

Dwight Lowry drew a one-out walk from Bryan Oelkers, 1-2, and took second on a groundout. Alan Trammell, who had homered earlier, was intentionally walked and Chet Lemon's infield hit off

Dickie Noles loaded the bases.

Bergman followed with a slow grounder to third baseman Brook Jacoby, whose throw bounced past first baseman Joe Carter.

Bergman was credited with a single that scored Lowry, and Trammell also scored on the play as Jacoby was charged with an error. Darrell Evans then got his third hit of the game, an RBI single.

Willie Hernandez, 7-5, pitched three scoreless innings for the victory.

Rookie Cory Snyder drove in all three runs for the host Indians. He hit a two-run homer, his ninth, and an RBI double.

Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson and outfielder Kirk Gibson were ejected in the third inning for arguing after right fielder Snyder threw out Gibson at the plate.

Brewers 6, Yankees 4
Rob Deer's two-run homer capped a five-run first inning and Gorman Thomas added a solo home run that powered Milwaukee past visiting New York.

The Brewers sent 10 batters to the plate in the first inning, knocking out rookie Scott Nielsen, 2-3. Cecil Cooper singled home the first run, Ernest Riles delivered a two-run single and Deer hit his 19th homer.

Thomas connected in the second for his 12th homer, his second since rejoining Milwaukee as a free agent at the All-Star break.

Danny Darwin, 6-6, got the victory and Mark Clear picked up his seventh save. Dave Winfield homered for the Yankees.

Twins 4, Mariners 2
Kent Hrbek hit a two-run homer and Kirby Puckett tripled, doubled and singled as Minnesota downed Seattle.

Hrbek's 424-foot homer, his 23rd, gave the host Twins a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Puckett had led off with a single, starting him off in his second consecutive three-hit game.

Frank Viola, 11-8, allowed two runs on six hits in 6 2-3 innings. Roy Lee Jackson held the Mariners to two hits the rest of the way for his first save.

Usher says USFL is 'not dead'

NEW YORK (AP) — USFL Commissioner Harry Usher said today that his league "is not dead" and plans to go back to court to seek more damages from the National Football League.

Speaking on ABC's "Good Morning America," Usher said the USFL "won a verdict which said the NFL was responsible for antitrust violations, intended to injure the USFL, and, in fact, did injure the USFL."

A jury in New York decided Tuesday that the NFL had violated antitrust laws, but awarded the younger league $1 in damages, tripled under federal law to $3, instead of the $1.66 billion the USFL was seeking.

Usher said he "can't put the blame anywhere" for the minimal award by the jury, but added that confusion among the jurors may have contributed to the small award.

According to Usher, the USFL "is not dead. We're going to be back in court seeking to find out what's going on. The jury unanimously found liability on the part of the NFL. We haven't lost this one."

But Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell, interviewed after Usher, saw things differently.

Modell admitted the jury found that the NFL was a monopoly, but said it was "a natural monopoly, no different than baseball, basketball and hockey," he also said the jury "found that we did not injure the USFL; that the USFL injuries were self-inflicted."

Modell said if the USFL were interested in competing in the fall with the older league, it could have waited one more year, when the NFL's network television contracts expired. He said the USFL owners' intent "was to force their way into NFL through some kind of business accommodation or merger. They had no intention to compete with us. We did nothing wrong toward the USFL in the spring or the fall," he added.

According to Modell, the question of whether the USFL operates this fall "depends on what (New Jersey Generals' owner) Donald Trump wants to do. He's the leader. He's led the fight in court."

Brits and Yanks share first fan swap

CHICAGO (AP) — Two couples each from Chicago and Dallas will be at Wembley Stadium on Sunday while four Londoners watch the Bears-Cowboys game from the United States in a Texas-sized publicity stunt.

The Britons will munch barbecued beef while they watch the exhibition football game on television at Southfork Ranch of "Dallas" television fame, said Ludwell Denny, a partner in Trade Wind Industries Inc.

The Britons, who will arrive in Dallas on Friday, will be taken for a shopping spree to buy cowboy clothes and will be the guests of honor at Billy Bob's, a Fort Worth honky-tonk.

Denny takes credit for dreaming up the international fan exchange to promote one of his company's products — a game predicting plays called in a football game.

The Americans, who will arrive in London on Friday, also will celebrate — as guests at a U.S. Embassy party.

The Americans also will enjoy a Texas-style barbecue Saturday, but not before they lunch at London's Chicago Pizza Factory restaurant, Denny said in a telephone interview Tuesday night from Dallas.

"It'll be a lot of fun," Denny said. "It'll be the first time I know of that there'll be an international fan swap."

Along with a taste of Texas cooking, the Britons will watch the football game "the way Americans do — on television," Denny said, estimating the event will cost $250,000.

"We can't wait," said William Martin, a Chicago winner from suburban Elk Grove Village. "I've only been a Bears fan for about 50 years."

The Americans will be flown to England and the English winners flown to Texas by American Airlines, which sponsored the contest along with Trade Wind Industries and Budweiser beer, Denny said.

"It's not very loyal," he said, "but I think the Chicago Bears will eat them alive."

Chicago Bears tackle Keith Van Horne and his fiancée, Eleanor Mendate (daughter of Walter Mendate), sightsee outside Buckingham Palace in London Tuesday evening. The Bears play the Dallas Cowboys in Sunday's American Bowl '86 in London's Wembley Stadium.

Who's Who?

Los Angeles Dodgers Manager Tommy Lasorda, left, comes face-to-face and belly-to-belly with comedian Don Rickles recently in Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles during taping of the Showtime program "Don Rickles on the Loose." Rickles, in a Dodger uniform, taunts a contingent of Dodger players during one segment of the program.

County asks revisions on budget projections

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners tabled discussions on county jail personnel and indigent health care this morning, and resumed working with County auditor Jackie Olson on the 1986-1987 budget.

The jail personnel and indigent health care topics will be included on the next meeting's agenda, said Commissioner David Barr.

County judge Milton Kirby told commissioners that County Sanitarian James Luck and Dr. Jack Woodall, director of the Howard County Health Clinic, were out of town, necessitating the delay on the indigent care discussion.

The budget workshop was to continue this afternoon, Olson said, after commissioners requested that County Tax Assessor and Collector Dorothy Moore recalculate projected revenues for 1986.

"She determined there was an error and thought there was too much discrepancy between last year's estimated projections and this year's," Olson said.

In other morning action, commissioners approved the hiring of Marilyn Carson as secretary in the Precinct 1 Place 2 Justice of the Peace office.

Carson has worked as a secretary in Texas Ranger Charles Brune's office, which will be eliminated Aug. 1. She will assume secretarial duties in William Shankles' office beginning Monday.

Softball teams request donations

The Big Spring United Girls Softball Association is requesting donations to help pay for last week's trip to Andrews and this week's trip to Monahans for the National Championships, said Kay Barnett.

Three of the four Big Spring teams qualified for the National Championships and will travel to Monahans where they will stay from Wednesday to Sunday. Barnett said that last week's trip to Andrews cost $2,000, and that expense money for this week's trip is badly needed.

Donations are being taken at Neil's Pharmacy on 600 Gregg Street from now until noon Wednesday. For more information, call Kay Barnett at 267-8963.

50 attend NAACP annual ball

Cyneather Woodruff, chairman of the annual Big Spring Black and White Ball, and Dock Voorhies, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which sponsors the ball, share a humorous moment during the annual event Saturday night in the Halliburton Room of the Homestead Inn.

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

About 50 people attended the annual National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Black and White Ball Saturday night.

The ball, one of the NAACP's main fundraising events for the year, was in the Halliburton Room of the Homestead Inn where a barbecue dinner was served.

Couples wore evening dress and danced to popular music.

Fantasies lingerie shop of Midland presented a fashion show with eight female and four male models.

Dock Voorhies, NAACP president, said the organization broke even on the ball. "We had hoped for more" people to attend, he said. He pointed out, however, that this year's turnout was better than last year's.

Voorhies said the local chapter raises funds to support "as many youth activities," including sending young people to the NAACP national youth convention.

In addition, the organization has eight standing committees, such as the youth committee, the education committee, and the political action committee, which develop a yearly program of action, he said.

"We think it's important to have an organization that involves as many people from as many segments of the community as possible," he said.

The group can thus become more involved in local government and the PTA, better serve the community and develop minority pride, he said.

"We have had all ethnic groups take an active part in our group," he said, noting the chapter has about 200 members.

The NAACP's main annual fundraiser is the Parade of Stars baby contest in November, he said. The organization also has a barbecue and the yearly Heart of the City festival.

"We depend on fundraisers to support our organization" because most of the $10 yearly dues per person goes to the national organization, Voorhies said.

The dues are minimal, he said, because "we wanted to be affordable for all."

How's that?

Mayor's office

Q. Why doesn't Mayor Cotton Mize have an office at City Hall?
A. Under the city manager form of government, an office for the mayor at City Hall is not needed. His "office" is more or less the council chambers, said City Secretary Tom Ferguson.

Police beat

Video equipment stolen

Mike Shankles of 3617 Hamilton St. told police Saturday night that someone stole $1,498 in video equipment and a $350 8-track stereo from his residence between 7:10 p.m. and 9:05 p.m. Saturday night.

• Ray DeLeon of 1100 N. Main St. told police Sunday night someone stole a $1,000 VCR from his residence between 5:30 p.m. and 7:55 p.m. Sunday.

• Police told Mary Pena of 605 Johnson St. Sunday morning that someone punctured tires on a pickup truck parked in front of her residence. The vandalism took place between 11 p.m. Saturday and 7:55 a.m. Sunday, according to the complaint.

• David Ray Wayman of the Homestead Inn No. 235 told police Saturday night that someone stole a $423 VCR, a $100 bow and $80 in coins from his residence Friday or Saturday.

• Weldon McAdams of Howard College told police Sunday night that someone caused $260 damage to lights at the college between 9 p.m. Friday and 6 a.m. Sunday.

• Tom Ferguson of 1304 Virginia St. told police Sunday night that someone stole a $100 10-speed bicycle and a $100 minibike from outside his home between 5:30 p.m. Friday and 8:10 p.m. Sunday.

• Armando J. Smith Jr., 31, no address given, was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication Saturday night and was later arrested for assaulting a police officer.

According to the police complaint, three police officers were attempting to restrain Smith in the police booking room when he allegedly bit officer Drew Bavin. The officer was treated for a bite wound to his forearm at Malone-Hogan Hospital, the complaint indicated.

• Oscar Hernandez, 25, of 1317 Sycamore St. was arrested on traffic and failure to appear warrants following a domestic disturbance at his home Sunday.

• Joanna Valles, 19, of 410 E. 18th St. was arrested late Sunday night on traffic warrants. She was later released on bond.

• Thomas Edward Harthan, 27, of 428 Ryon St. was arrested Sunday night on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon. The weapon was an illegal club, according to police.

Sheriff's log

Man kicks out window

A 31-year-old man currently on probation from 118th District Court was arrested early Sunday morning following a fracas with two Howard County sheriff's deputies.

Deputy Carl Thurman responded to a call from Dogwood Lane and found Tommie Leo Freeman, 31, Gail Route Box 64-A, intoxicated and passed out behind the wheel of a parked car.

Freeman kicked out a rear window of the deputy's patrol car and attempted to climb out while being transported from the scene to county jail.

Thurman notified Deputy Jimmie Wallace for assistance and both deputies had to subdue the defendant before they reached the courthouse. Freeman kicked Thurman in the face when both deputies attempted to calm him down, according to the sheriff's report.

The defendant remained in jail this morning. District Judge James Gregg ordered no bond be set for Freeman's release.

Freeman was arrested for public intoxication, criminal mischief and assault of a peace officer.

• John Nobles told sheriff's deputies Sunday morning someone opened up a Coke machine without his consent and stole $92.40 in change. The machine was located at the Midway Shamrock Service Station on the north service road of Interstate 20 at Moss Lake Road. The theft occurred Saturday night.

• Charles Huber of Coahoma told sheriff's deputies Sunday night someone entered his residence at 301 N. 1st. St. and stole $403 worth of household items.

The theft occurred between Tuesday and Sunday, according to a sheriff's report.

• Jimmy Binion of P.O. Box 886 in Coahoma told sheriff's deputies Sunday afternoon that sometime between Friday and Saturday, someone stole a digital clock and factory stereo from his 1986 Ford pickup parked at his residence on Walter Road.

Drug isn't always the answer for sleep apnea

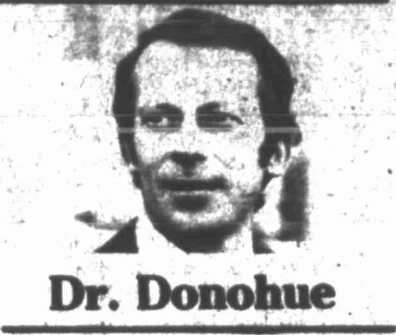

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you please recommend drugs to alleviate sleep apnea occurrences? I have been examined and it is definite—sleep apnea. —M.K.

Let's familiarize other readers with sleep apnea first, M.K. Typically, the story is of a person who is a snorer, and whose snoring builds up to a crescendo followed by a long pause of stillness. In that still period, he is not breathing, is apneic. The breathless period is followed by tossing and turning, part of the attempt to restore respiration. He is aroused or semi-aroused. This may happen many times in a night, so there are complaints of daytime fatigue or sleepiness.

Now, you were asking about medicines used in treatment. I can mention two drugs when the apnea is caused by obstruction of upper airways. They are protriptyline and medroxyprogesterone.

But this may be getting ahead of our story. We have to get a few things straight. Apnea is treated in many other ways than with drugs. The first and most important treatment often is losing weight when one is overweight. A 10 to 15 percent reduction may be the only thing needed. Or sometimes surgery to remove excess obstructing tissue at the back of the throat is the answer. Also, creation of a new airway into the windpipe may bring relief. Sometimes, a combination of approaches works best.

Since often the apneic person is not really awakened from sleep, he may never realize why he is so sleepy during the day. An observant spouse or relative often is the one who notes the sleep phenomenon. Still, for accurate documentation, the person usually must be tested in a sleep laboratory, where a record can be made of breathing, of heart action, and other body behavior during episodes.

You need more than a casual observation of an occasional snoring episode for clear diagnosis. I hope you plan to pursue this, for when properly diagnosed, most sleep apnea can be treated successfully.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: A couple of months ago I had hepatitis (Type A). Now when I do certain activities, like housework or jogging, my lower right side hurts. I have started back slowly, with only walking the past couple of weeks. Should I stop my activities? Could I have damaged my liver, or am I pushing myself too much? I am 28 years old and in otherwise good health. Hope you can help. —K.S.

The matters of bedrest and of exercise after hepatitis are debatable. Many say the person can be as active as he feels up to and that if a person is quite ill with hepatitis, he will want to stay in bed anyway.

Generally, doctors allow hepatitis patients to resume activity up to their tolerance level at the moment. Your kind of hepatitis (A) is the milder type, and almost invariably there is full recovery from it.

So what should your course of action be? My best advice is to have your blood tested for liver enzymes. Hepatitis means liver damage, after all, and that is what occurs. If the enzymes are elevated, then it means liver Hepatitis means liver damage, after all, and that is what occurs. If the enzymes are elevated, then it means liver damage may be occurring. Then you would have to cut back on your activity. But I can give you pretty good assurance that you will get full recovery from your illness in time. I hope it's sooner than later.

Having trouble getting to sleep at night? In his new booklet Dr. Donohue examines the insomnia problem and offers some ways to help you get your needed rest. For a copy of "Why Can't You Sleep?", send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

Proper lawn maintenance helps to control weeds

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent
One of the best means for controlling weeds in a home lawn is to maintain a dense, vigorous growing stand of turfgrass through proper fertilization, irrigation and mowing.

Thin, weak turf encourages the invasion of weeds. However, even the best kept lawns will have some weeds. To effectively control "problem" weeds in a lawn, herbicides can be used.

Effective use of chemicals (herbicides or weed killers) to control weeds in a lawn depends upon: proper weed identification, selecting the right herbicide, treating weeds when they are immature and actively growing, applying herbicides at proper rates, and observing labels for proper precautions.

It is very important that only specific herbicides labeled for use on home lawns be used to control weeds in lawns. Some herbicides come in many trade names, and not all trade names carry a label for home lawn use. Indiscriminate use of industrial strength weed killers often results in tree and shrub damage or death.

Herbicides used to control weeds in lawns can be grouped into three categories: nonselective contact sprays, selective postemergent sprays or granules and selective preemergent sprays and granules.

Glyphosate herbicides are an example of nonselective contact spray vegetation killers. Round

Up, Doomsday and Kleenup contain varying amounts of the active ingredient glyphosate. These herbicides are slow acting and require patience on the applicators part. Two to three weeks may be required to root kill some stubborn perennials.

Hoing or mowing top portions of the weed after applying glyphosate will negate the effectiveness of the product. Ironic as it may seem, the healthier the target weed the better the kill from glyphosate. Complete root kill also depends on the material being applied to healthy leaves for translocation to the rootzone.

Postemergent selective materials are applied shortly after the weeds are visible and when used according to the label will not damage turf. Weeds such as henbit, chickweed, dandelion, wild onion and garlic, and platinain can be controlled by postemergent treatment with 2,4-D, MCPP, dicamba or a combination of these herbicides.

Remember, for best results treat only when weeds are immature and/or actively growing. Do not use 2,4-D, MCPP or dicamba on St. Augustine in hot weather (above 85 degrees F). Dicamba should not be sprayed next to shrubs or under the drip line of trees. Some caution should also be used when using these chemicals on hybrid bermudagrass such as Tigreen and Tidwarf.

Soldier socks it to Abby for wedding advice

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter signed "Not Sure in Louisiana," and I can't believe you took that letter seriously. I don't know what the socks smelled like, but that letter sure smelled like a phony to me.

I've been reading your column for at least 20 years in the St. Louis Globe Democrat, and if you believe that letter was for real, there's a bridge in Brooklyn I'd like to sell you.

FROM MISSOURI: SHOW ME DEAR FROM: The following letter was received the same day yours arrived. I telephoned the sender to verify it, and he gave me permission to use his letter and his name:

DEAR ABBY: I think you owe me an apology for having caused the postponement of my marriage.

I am in the U.S. Army and just returned from two years in England to learn that my fiancée refuses to marry me until I receive some professional counseling. It seems that she wrote to you for advice after having received 203 pairs of dirty socks that I had shipped to her with the rest of my belongings. She wondered if she would be expected to do all the dirty work.

Let me explain: When I shipped the socks, they were clean. As cartons pass through certain countries, the customs people spray them with pesticides. This makes them smell "funny" and sometimes ruins the contents — an accepted hazard to us in the military. I had so many pairs of socks because when a foot soldier spends months at a time in the field, fresh socks are the only way to save his feet.

It was a great hardship being separated from those I love for such a long time. I served my country faithfully, and now I return home to find that you have alluded to me as a male chauvinist in need of counseling.

Having been raised by a divorced, struggling mother and three older sisters, I am well aware that every man must pull his own weight in order to have a successful home. Now I must wait even longer for happiness because of your support of my fiancée's misunderstanding. I am hurt!

GLEN SCOTT, HAUGHTON, LA.

P.S. Please respond quickly as I may be sent overseas again soon. I might even volunteer.

DEAR GLENN: Please accept my apologies for any distress I might have caused you, but it's not every day I receive a letter from a woman asking if she should marry a man who ships her 203 pairs of dirty socks to launder. But be fair, Glen — I did not say you were a "male chauvinist"; neither did I suggest that you need counseling. My answer to your fiancée's letter was as follows:

"Dear Not Sure: I advise you to cancel the wedding plans until you know him better. Maybe your fiancée just doesn't like to wash his socks, which is evidence that he's lazy — or a bit of a slob. But to assume that he's a male chauvinist who will expect you to do all the dirty work may be unfair. So don't sock it to him until you're sure."

Please write again, Glen, and let me know how you and your fiancée have resolved your problem, and thank you for allowing me to reveal your name in order to set the record straight.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can help me. I have been married for 10 months and am pregnant. This baby is wanted by both of us. The problem is, my husband has forbidden me to go to a doctor. I have already gone twice. Tomorrow will be my third visit. I was only able to go because I lied to my husband about where I was going.

I knew when we married that he had a hang-up about doctors, but I didn't think it would extend to me and our baby. I tried to explain to him that out of concern for my health and our baby's, I should see a doctor, but he refused to even listen to me.

He has no confidence in doctors. He even threw away my vitamin pills. I don't know where to turn. We both have jobs, and I have an excellent insurance plan, so it's not the money. I hate to keep lying to him. When he finds out I've been to a doctor — and I know he will — it will be the end of our marriage.

I am 33 years old and don't want anything to go wrong with this pregnancy. I want my husband to be part of it, but I don't know how to get through to him. Don't suggest counseling. He has no confidence in counselors either.

ME IN MARYLAND

DEAR ME: You should not have to lie to your husband about receiving prenatal care. He has all the makings of a tyrant, and you are being emotionally battered. Please see a counselor and learn how to deal with a domineering, possessive husband. If he leaves you because you are consulting a doctor to ensure your health and the health of your expected child, you might be better off without him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "Hurt Grandma" whose grandchildren neglect to write thank-you notes when she sends them generous checks for special occasions.

On a grandchild's special occasion, send a generous check to St. Jude's Children's Hospital for Cancer Research in Memphis in that person's honor. You will receive a lovely, heartwarming thank-you from the grateful people at St. Jude's. And so will the honoree.

DEAR R.G.: I know you're right. I just received one.

Whether you're in need of a phone for your home or business, a pay phone or servicing, Circle C Communications can help you with your telephone needs.

The independently-owned business offers a variety of telephones for sale.

For businesses needing a written up-to-date record of phone calls, Circle C offers the Privette made by International Communications Company (ICI). This telephone system combines a call-monitoring computer/printer with a cordless telephone. It provides the owner or vendor with a unique profit center while customers enjoy privacy, convenience and ease of use.

The Privette has a paper printout that records the information the owner wants, such as time and date the call was made, rates and how long the call lasted. "You program in there what you want it to do," says Travis Crow, owner of Circle C.

The Privette is great for restaurants, doctors, traveling salesmen, motels, beauty salons and many more businesses, he said. Any business that wants to keep an accurate, first-hand record of calls, whether for tax purposes or charging customers using the phone, can benefit from this telephone system. The Privette can be connected to a standard pulse or touch-tone line.

Circle C also sells and leases pay phones to anyone desiring one. They offer the Smart Set III by ICI, which can be programmed with the owner's own rates. It is a profit-making item, Crow says.

If you have a lot of people using the telephone to make local calls, you can set your own charge rate on it for the calls. It can be 20 cents a call if you want, instead of the 25 cents that Southwestern Bell pay telephones charge, he adds.

In addition to these two telephone systems, Circle C offers all types of telephones for residential and business use, including single-line residential telephones, cordless telephones and decorator sets. Telephone jacks, wires and accessories also are available.

The firm installs and services their own telephones, as well as provides maintenance to customers' existing equipment. Crow has 35 years of experience in installing and servicing telephones, key systems and PBXs.

For all your telephone needs, contact the family-owned and operated Circle C Communications at 267-2423 or 1002-B 11th Place. It is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For after-hours emergencies, call the business number 267-2423.
