Heat relief Rain drops mercury down to 73 degrees

From staff and wire reports
Temperatures dropped to 73 degrees Saturday evening from a high of 102, after Big Spring received its first rain in more than a month.

A shower began about 4:30 p.m. and continued for nearly 1½ hours, bringing thunder and lightning.

Chuck Benz of 3807 Apache Dr. reported 1.65 inches of rain. Boyce Hale of Sterling City Route said he measured 1.15 inches, bringing the yearly total to 13.1 inches.

B.G. Barber of 1409 Settles St. reported 0.7 inches.

However, Wendell Shive of Coahoma said at 6 p.m. Saturday that he had received no rain.

Saturday marks the 10th day in a row that Big Spring temperatures hit the three-digit mark, said Ted Zobeck, soil scientist at the U.S. Agricultural Research Service field station.

The high Saturday was 102, he said, and Friday's high was 101. Normal temperatures for this time of year are in the mid to upper 90s, a field station report shows.

Although Big Spring has had less than the two inches normal rainfall for July, the 12.85 inches of rainfall accumulated before Saturday are still ahead of the 10.71 inches normal-to-date, the report shows.

In spite of the hot temperatures, evaporation has been just slightly above normal for July, Zobeck said. He measured 11 inches evaporation, compared to the 10.7 inches normally recorded.

Cotton planted in May would be "at peak bloom," he said, and it's water needs would be highest. Cotton at first bloom uses only half as much water, he said.

Scorching temperatures have been blamed for six deaths in Texas, but forecasters were predicting some slight relief Sunday as readings drop a few degrees from the century mark reached for over a week.

In Navasota, about 120 Texas prison inmates refused to work Friday in protest over the heat-related death of an inmate earlier this week, prison officials said.

The heat was also blamed for deaths in Austin, Dallas, San Antonio and Magnolia.

Charles Weaver, an Austin construction worker, collapsed at a city electrical substation in a record-

City water gate remains stuck

Another attempt to repair the malfunctioning gate valve on the city water system failed to restore the valve to normal Saturday.

Raymond Phillips Machine Shop workers hollowed a valve stem at the crippled valve, rethreaded the stem and inserted the rethreaded rod.

The gates, however, failed to raise.

Water flow is still restricted, and citizens are urged to continue conserving.

The valve has been giving the city trouble for more than two weeks. The trouble comes after water to most of the city was cut off because of a faulty pump, following heavy Memorial Day weekend storms.

Attempts to rectify the valve problems Thursday night and early Friday morning failed because the valve could not be depressurized, Councilman Harold Hall said.

The economy: Things could be worse

By DANA PALMER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas "Can Do" philosophy appears for some to be crumbling to a "We Can't Take It" attitude as the recession worsens.

But predictions of gloom and doom can do more harm than the economic decline, warns Rand Evans, a Texas A&M University psychology professor.

In the Bryan-College Station area, the number of people going out to movies and restaurants "has dropped like a rock," Evans says. Other areas heavily dependent on the oil and gas industry report similar problems, a number Texas economists say.

Unfortunately, Evans says, those reports indicate the average Texan's reaction to the bad economic news may be a bit extreme.

"It's almost a siege kind of mentality. I guess they're huddled in their houses around the TV sets," Evans adds.

Younger native Texans who have seen only the good times probably are the ones overreacting most, he notes.

Others may take the bad news better, especially those who have weathered a previous bad recession or depression, says Sue Greninger, an associate professor in family economics at the University of Texas at Austin.

"People have weathered it before. This is not the first time the oil and gas industry has been down," Greninger says. "But that's kind of irrelevant if it's your first time to go through it."

Some method of maintaining a positive attitude may be the way to go, Evans says.

"During the Great Depression, we had the 'fireside chats,'" he says, referring to the weekly radio talks given by President Franklin Roosevelt to boost American morale.

"That sounds corny, but that's really what we need now in Texas," Evans adds.

Despite urgings by all the experts to keep a positive outlook, Texans shouldn't minimize the problems a recession can cause, says Bryan Jones, a Texas A&M political science professor and veteran of the severe Michigan recession of the late 1970s and early 1980s.

"Texas has reason to worry — there's going to be some rough times ahead," he says, while

Hostage negotiations rejected

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A statement delivered Sunday and signed by the terrorist organization believed to hold at least three American hostages rejected any negotiations with the Reagan administration.

The type-written message, in Arabic, also said the Islamic Jihad extremist group would not negotiate with Pope John Paul II or the archbishop of Canterbury for the release of the Americans.

It again threatened to kill the hostages if its demands were not met, but did not state the demands. Islamic Jihad has said previously the Americans would be freed in exchange for the release of 17 prisoners held in Kuwait for bombings at the U.S. and French embassies there in December 1983.

There was no way to determine immediately if the statement carrying the Islamic Jihad signature was authentic.

The message said, "Regarding the concept of the great satan, Reagan and his administration, about resolving this issue through prayers, we counsel them to begin praying for their souls and those of the American corpses that will reach the Black (White) House one after another unless our demands are met."

It was delivered to the independent Beirut newspaper an-Nahar in the Moslem sector of the Lebanese capital shortly after midnight.

With the message was a black-and-white photograph of a person that resembled David Jacobsen, director of the American University Hospital in Beirut who was kidnapped May 28, 1985.

The statement said Islamic Jihad — Islamic Holy War — had given a freed hostage, the Rev. Lawrence

Martin Jenco, a videotape in which Jacobsen, 55, of Huntington Beach, Calif., appealed to the American public to pressure Washington to negotiate for the remaining captives.

But it said the seven-minute videotape given to Jenco, a Roman Catholic priest from Joliet, Ill., when he was freed July 26, was the only message it had provided.

It denied that the kidnapers gave Jenco, 51, messages to deliver to Reagan, the pope and the archbishop of Canterbury, Robert Runcie.

Jenco said after he was released in eastern Lebanon that he had been in contact with three other Americans still held by Islamic Jihad. They are Jacobsen; Terry A. Anderson, 38, of Lorain, Ohio, the chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press who was kidnapped March 16, 1985, and Thomas Sutherland, 55, of Fort Collins, Colo., acting dean of Agriculture at the American University of Beirut. He was abducted June 9, 1985.

If the note is authentic, it could block a new round of negotiations with the kidnapers by Runcie's personal envoy Terry Waite.

Waite, who made three negotiating trips to Beirut last year, told a news conference in London Friday that the pope and Runcie have asked him to return to Lebanon.

He said he would undertake the new mission soon as he received positive word from the Islamic Jihad kidnapers, believed to be Shiite Moslem extremists loyal to Iran.

The statement delivered to the newspaper said, "We haven't given Father Jenco any messages, openly or secretly. What they are attempting to imp-

POCA, W.Va. — GEORGE "SPANKY" MCFARLAND, the chubby leader from the "Our Gang" films, says he hasn't received a penny in residuals on reruns since filming ended in 1944, but he doesn't mind.

"I don't worry about it. I try not to worry about things I never had," McFarland, of Dallas, said Friday after practice for the annual Celebrity Golf Classic at the Scarlet Oaks Country Club. "It would be nice to have."

Since the "Our Gang" era, contracts between actors and producers, such as the tentative agreement reached Saturday, have provided for residual payments.

Reruns of "Our Gang," also known as "The Little Rascals," remain standard children's television fare.

"There's nothing that's been written since that approaches it," he said.

PRINCE CHARLES ...has holiday plans

JERRY GARCIA ...out of the hospital

The Grateful Dead's West Coast hot line received 65,000 calls from fans, known as "Deadheads," after Garcia was stricken July 10.

"I wouldn't be out of the hospital this soon if it weren't for the thoughts, healing help and all the stuff people sent," said a recorded message on the hot line from Garcia, who was released from Marin General Hospital on Friday, his 44th birthday.

MADRID, Spain — Britain's PRINCE CHARLES and his family are expected to spend a week on the island of Majorca as guests of King Juan Carlos and Queen Sofia, newspaper reports said Saturday.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Grand Ole Opry singer STU PHILLIPS, ordained as an Episcopal priest in 1980, has been appointed priest-in-charge of Grace Episcopal Church in Spring Hill.

Phillips, 53, has been a member of the official cast of the 60-year-old live country music show since 1967. His hits include "The Great El Tigre" and "Bracero."

Spring Hill, 30 miles south of Nashville, is the site of General Motors Corp.'s new $3.5 billion Saturn plant, which will build a new small car.

MEL FISHER, who founded Treasure Salvors when he set out to find the Atocha, said the company will liquidate Dec. 31 and divide the treasure among stockholders. He said stockholders voted for the move in June on the advice of tax attorneys.

Fisher said his divers have brought up treasure worth at least $130 million from the site off Key West, and he intends to sell the salvage rights to what remains.

"We found the greatest treasure the world has ever seen. It's time to move on," said senior vice president Bleth McHaley.

SEELEY SWAN, Mont. — A luxurious retreat at Lindbergh Lake in the Swan Valley of western Montana has been sold to New York fashion designer ELIZABETH ORTENBERG, better known as Liz Claiborne, and her husband, Arthur.

The sale of Tranquility Lodge ends a long-standing zoning dispute about the commercial use of the lodge and a 6-month-old lawsuit against Missoula County filed by a former co-owner. A zoning ordinance prohibits commercial development of any Lindbergh Lake property.

Documents recorded Friday in the Missoula County clerk and recorder's office did not disclose the selling price.

Mrs. Ortenberg, 57, is president of Liz Claiborne Inc. of New York City, a successful and widely known women's wear design firm. She has won numerous honors for her work, including a Designer of the Year Award in 1976.

Man in intensive care after throat is slashed

A Big Spring man was in stable condition in the intensive care unit of Malone-Hogan Hospital Saturday night after someone slashed his throat with a knife, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Theodore Diaz Sr., of 610 N.W. Eighth St. was taken to the hospital about 1 a.m. Saturday morning after the assault occurred at his home, police reports say.

Martin Diaz, 32, of that address was arrested at 4:21 a.m. Saturday at 3100 W. Ninth St. on suspicion of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. He was taken to the county jail and released on $3,000 bond, according to sheriff's reports.

Police reports said the incident occurred after an argument.

Local man hospitalized following car accident

A Big Spring man was hospitalized after he was hurt in a one-car accident at Comanche Trail Park Friday night.

Thomas Parras of 409 Benton St. was in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital Saturday night, a hospital spokeswoman said.

He was a passenger in a 1976 gray Oldsmobile Cutlass driven and owned by Adalberto Eddie DeLeon Jr., 24, of 312 N.E. Eighth St., according to police reports.

The car ran off the right side of the Wasson Drive entrance road at the park, the reports say. It was then overcorrected, causing it to travel back across to the left side of the road.

The car struck a tree stump, spun to the right, struck another tree, spun to the left and slid into a ditch, where it stopped, the reports say.

DeLeon was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

John DeLeon, also of 312 N.E. Eighth St., was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital, the spokeswoman said.

Police beat

Man kicked, hit with fists

Someone assaulted 72-year-old Jesus Jimenez of 704 E. 15th St. by kicking and hitting with fists. Jimenez told police his assailant is someone he doesn't know, and the person entered his residence.

A spokesman at Malone-Hogan Hospital said he was treated and released.

Someone stole a wallet with $130 cash from Thomas Green of 2606 Barksdale St. Friday night. The theft took place at 2605 Hunter.

Sandra Lozano of 1600 Oriole St. told police someone caused an unknown amount of damage to four tires on her 1975 Oldsmobile sedan early Saturday morning at the El San Luis Club.

Three juveniles caused $403.66 damage to the rear windshield of a car owned by Elida Rodriguez of 503 Donley St. Friday afternoon, Rodriguez told police.

Someone stole a $500 videocassette recorder and five video tapes, valued at $60 each, from Parks Convenience Store at 311 Gregg St. The items were rented Monday afternoon and not returned.

Lewis Tino Hinojos, 35, of P.O. Box 1722 was arrested at 1000 S. Goliad Friday evening for unlawfully carrying a weapon, resisting arrest, assault by threats, four traffic warrants, and four failure to appear in court warrants, according to police reports. He was taken to the county jail and released on $1,000 bond for each charge.

Mark Robert Smith, 26, no permanent Big Spring address, was arrested on a sexual battery warrant from Palm Beach, Fla. He was arrested Saturday morning at 110 N. Lamesa Highway.

Simon Silva, 65, of Coahoma was arrested at 800 State St. Friday night on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. He was transferred to the county jail and released on $1,000 bond.

Yolanda Gloria Perez, 36, of 3907 Wasson Dr. was arrested at 2000 W. FM 700 early Saturday morning on suspicion of DWI and driving without a license. She was transferred to the county jail and released on $1,000 bond.

Although there was no official confirmation, it was believed Charles, his wife, Diana, and their two sons would arrive in Palma de Majorca on Wednesday or Thursday.

A spokeswoman for Buckingham Palace said the couple's holiday plans were "entirely private."

Newspapers said the British royal couple would also watch a regatta in which the Spanish monarch was expected to take part and probably tour on the Spanish royal yacht Fortuna.

Austin also broke a 19-year-old record Friday with 102 degrees, the ninth consecutive day of 100-plus temperatures in the capital city.

On Wednesday, heat was blamed for the death of 41-year-old Steve Tisdale, found along a roadside in Dallas.

The Texas Department of Corrections inmate also died Wednesday. Adolfo Banda, 30, collapsed while working in a field.

The inmates at the TDC Pack I Unit in Navasota remained in their cells when they were called for work duty about 11 a.m. Friday, TDC spokesman David Nunnelee said.

The inmates normally begin their outdoor work duty at noon, according to Warden Bobby D. Morgan. Morgan said he talked to the inmates and they agreed to work between 7 a.m. and noon to avoid the scorching summer weather.

ly and publicize is false and baseless. We have declared, and still declare, that we harbor constant animosity to the great satan, Reagan and his administration, and will never deal with them.

"The silence of the pope about the crimes of America and its collaborators as well as his support of their criminal actions, makes him an accomplice. Therefore any correspondence with him is impossible. So is the case with Archbishop Robert Runcie."

Jenco had met with the pope in the Vatican, Runcie in London and Reagan in Washington and said he was delivering messages from the kidnapers.

"We wish to tell Father Jenco that he is the first to know that we did not give him any messages to anyone," the statement attributed to Islamic Jihad said. "So do not let the CIA dictate on you, or make you fabricate lies that will do more harm than good to this issue."

"If you want your colleagues (hostages) to join you and Father (Benjamin) Weir, you both know from where the solution begins," the statement added.

Weir, 61, a Presbyterian minister kidnapped by Islamic Jihad May 8, 1984, was freed last September 14.

Islamic Jihad had claimed responsibility for kidnapping another American, U.S. Embassy political officer William Buckley, March 16, 1984. But it said he was killed last Oct. 4 in reprisal for alleged U.S. complicity in Israel's air raid on the Tunisian headquarters of Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization Oct. 1. No body has been found, however.

15-year-old youth dies after inhaling freon

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A 15-year-old youth died after inhaling freon, a legal but poisonous substance that has become popular among teen-agers in this West Texas town, authorities said.

George Clements "Ty" Taylor III died Friday at a San Angelo hospital. Justice of the Peace Jerry Jennison ruled the death accidental cardiac arrest due to inhaling freon. An autopsy has been ordered.

Witnesses said Taylor and several other youths were inhaling freon at a parking lot. Freon is a fluorocarbon used in refrigeration and as an aerosol propellant.

A youth, who was with the unconscious boy when the ambulance arrived, said several people had been inhaling freon, police said.

A hose to a freon can was found behind the front seat of a pickup truck parked in the lot, police said. Taylor had graduated from Heat also was believed to be a contributing factor in the death of a 75-year-old San Antonio man found dead Thursday in his fourth-floor apartment at a low-income complex without air conditioning.

Last Sunday, a 2-year-old boy died at Magnolia after spending more than an hour locked in his father's car. The boy's father and grandfather were attending a baseball game and said they did not realize the child was in the car.

San Antonio officials are investigating a sixth death — that of a 58-year-old man who died Saturday while working in his yard.

The extended heat wave has put a strain on many water and electric systems. In Irving, city officials Friday declared a crisis situation and told residents to stop all outside watering until further notice.

Water consumption Thursday reached 57.8 million gallons, an all-time high for the Dallas suburb. The city purchases only 45 million gallons a day from the city of Dallas, said deputy city manager Steve McCullough.

Weather

Forecast

WEST TEXAS — The extended forecast calls for partly cloudy skies Tuesday through Thursday with isolated to widely scattered late afternoon and evening thunderstorms. In the Panhandle and South Plains, lows will be in the upper 60s and highs in the low to mid 90s. Far West and Permian Basin lows will be around 70 and highs in the mid 90s. Concho Valley lows will be in the low 70s and highs in the upper 90s. Big Bend lows will be in the mid-60s mountains to mid-70s lowlands. Highs will be in the mid-80s in the mountains to near 100 in the valleys of Big Bend.

State

Thunderstorms rumbled over broad areas of the nation's eastern half Saturday, pounding Michigan with tornadoes that injured at least two people in Detroit.

Hail fell at Grand Rapids, Mich.; Brodheads, Pa.; Reading, Pa.; Medford, Wis.; Nashville, Tenn.; Magnolia, Miss.; Tallahassee, Fla.; and near Pensacola, Fla.

A tornado touched down in downtown Detroit, overturning two cars on Interstate 96 and damaging an abandoned vehicle, police said. Two people were hospitalized, but their condition was not immediately known.

Two tornadoes were reported in Macomb County, just north of Detroit, damaging trees but causing no injuries. Three-quarter-inch hail was reported in Grand Rapids.

In northern Michigan, a National Guardsman suffered minor injuries when he was struck by lightning at Camp Grayling, authorities said.

Afternoon thunderstorms drenched western and southern New York into southwest New England, over Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, the Virginias and North Carolina.

Thunderstorms also reached over southern and northwest Florida and across Mississippi and northern Alabama, and showers and thunderstorms dampened lower Michigan, east-central Minnesota and from north-central Texas into south-central Oklahoma.

A low of 39 degrees at Alamosa, Colo., broke a 13-year-old record of 41, while the reading of 96 at Apalachicola, Fla., was a record high, passing the old mark of 95, set in 1978.

Temperatures at 3 p.m. EDT ranged from 54 at Arcata, Calif., to 103 at Needles, Calif. The morning low was 38 degrees at West Yellowstone, Mont.

Sunday's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms from New England across the northern Appalachians and the central Atlantic Coast, over Florida and the eastern Gulf Coast through the Mississippi Delta.

Highs should reach the 60s and 70s over upper-Michigan, the 70s over northern New England, the remainder of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and the upper Mississippi Valley and scattered areas along the Pacific Coast, the upper 80s and the 90s along the central Atlantic Coast, over the southern Atlantic states, the central Gulf Coast, the lower Mississippi Valley, the southern Plains and the Plateau and near 115 over the desert Southwest.

Economy

noting that the state's diverse economy should cushion the shock somewhat.

"You'll see a rise in family problems because of job insecurity and problems for those who don't have jobs any more," Jones says. And far too many people won't be able to admit that they can't do much about their economic plight, he says. "There'll be lots of self-blame and social problems as a result."

Foreclosures are likely to skyrocket, Greninger says, especially since many Texans have taken on such high mortgage payments in recent years.

"The divorce rate usually goes up," she says. "And there will be a lot more quarrels and discipline problems with children. The kids will want to go to movies, and it's hard for parents not to let them."

Greninger adds that the rugged Texas individualist approach may hurt people more than they think. "People need to help each other, if not in a material way in an emotional sense."

Also, remember that the economy could be worse, Jones said. In Oklahoma and Louisiana, two states that are much more dependent on the oil and gas industry, "they have a lot tougher row to hoe," he says.

Jenco returns home

JOLIET, Ill. — The Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco returned to his hometown Saturday after 19 months of captivity in Lebanon and was greeted by thousands of cheering well-wishers.

The Roman Catholic priest, looking frail but pleased, sat on the back of an open convertible as he rode through the city in a motorcade to a reception at the Rialto Square Theater. The crowd waved American flags and showered Jenco with yellow flowers.

Roy Cohn dead at 59

WASHINGTON — Roy Cohn, the flack-boy New York lawyer who catapulted to public prominence in the 1950s as the grand inquisitor of Sen. Joseph McCarthy's communist-hunting congressional panel, died Saturday at the age of 59.

Irene Haske, a spokeswoman at the National Institutes of Health, said the primary cause of Cohn's death at 8 a.m. EDT was cardio-pulmonary arrest, with "dementia" and "underlying HTLV III infections" listed as secondary causes.

The HTLV-III virus is believed to cause AIDS, the fatal illness that most often strikes homosexuals and intravenous drug users. Cohn, a lifelong bachelor, repeatedly denied rumors that he suffered from acquired immune deficiency syndrome. He said he had liver cancer.

Seven hurt in landing

COLUMBIA, S.C. — A Boeing 727 with 150 people aboard made an emergency landing on Saturday, injuring seven passengers, officials said.

People Express flight 147 from Jacksonville, Fla., to Newark, N.J., landed at Columbia Metropolitan Airport after the crew noticed a warning light indicating a fire in the auxiliary power unit, said airport manager Bob Waddle.

The plane was being inspected, but the light apparently malfunctioned, he said.

Judge jails attorney

MIAMI — A judge jailed a defense lawyer who disregarded warnings during a trial not to dwell on the sex life of an alleged rape victim.

Florida law prohibits references during sexual battery trials to a victim's sexual history. Assistant Public Defender Carl Vizzi won an acquittal for his client Friday, then was led away by bailiffs to spend five days in jail for his conduct during the trial.

During cross-examination of the alleged victim on Wednesday, Vizzi called her an exhibitionist and her husband a voyeur, adding, "You turn tricks, don't you?" The woman charged that the defendant kidnapped and raped her, but the man claimed he had paid the woman for sex.

Daniel Ortega, right, the President of Nicaragua, was greeted by the Rev. Jesse Jackson of the Rainbow Coalition as he arrived in Chicago Saturday. Ortega addressed the regular meeting of Operation PUSH on the city's southside.

Peace proposals

Nicaraguan president wants to negotiate

CHICAGO (AP) — Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega said Saturday he wants to negotiate a peace treaty with the United States, begin talks with the Vatican and invite President Reagan to his country.

Ortega, appearing in Chicago at the invitation of Rev. Jesse Jackson, proposed an eight-point peace plan during a speech at the headquarters of Operation PUSH, the civil rights group founded by Jackson.

"Nicaragua is under attack by a foreign power called the United States," Ortega said through an interpreter at a news conference after his speech.

The United States supports the Contra rebels who are fighting Ortega's leftist government.

Ortega's proposals, which he said would be delivered to the U.S. government soon, were reached in part after recent discussions with Jackson, according to the civil rights leader and unsuccessful 1984 Democratic presidential candidate.

"While there has been a shift in our foreign policy to South Africa, much killing is going on in the dark in Central America," said Jackson.

Ortega has been in the United States for a week making appearances in New York City and Denver to advance the cause of his Sandinista regime and to call for an end to U.S. support of the Contras.

In New York, he addressed the United Nations, where non-aligned members of the 15-nation Security Council introduced a resolution which did not mention the United States by name but called for full compliance with the World Court's ruling against the United States in a case brought by Nicaragua. The United States vetoed the resolution.

In his speech, translated by his wife, Rosario Murillo, Ortega also argued that his government had not discriminated against the Roman Catholic Church, or tried to stifle criticism by closing down the daily newspaper La Prensa.

Ortega said the newspaper was aligning itself with the nation's enemies in a time of war, and had been temporarily shut down because of that.

Ortega said religion is thriving in his country, although there have been "legal problems with some Catholic bishops." Those bishops went outside the "institutional framework" of the nation's laws and were punished, he said.

Roman Catholic Bishop Pablo Antonio Vega was expelled from the country.

"If a person in Nicaragua is an ally of whoever is making war in Nicaragua, it is an act of treason," Ortega said.

Four killed by bombs

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — A bomb planted in a bag of meat exploded Saturday in a butcher shop in Walvis Bay, killing four people and wounding 24, the government said. Another bomb at a post office near Cape Town injured one person.

Walvis Bay is a South African enclave in the territory of South-West Africa, also called Namibia.

There was no immediate indication who carried out the attacks.

The explosions broke a three-week lull that followed 13 bombings across South Africa from June 14 to July 10. Those blasts killed three people and injured 120, and were blamed by the government on the African National Congress black guerrilla group. The ANC neither claimed nor denied responsibility.

Ministers weigh summit

GENEVA — OPEC oil ministers, unable to agree on a lower production ceiling that would raise oil prices, on Saturday were considering a summit conference to try to resolve wide differences among the 13 member nations.

In four meetings since December, the ministers tried to reach a binding agreement on lower oil production quotas for each member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Lower production is widely considered the only long-term means of raising oil prices, which have dropped from $32 per 42-gallon barrel last November to between $8 and $12 — and sometimes lower — on world markets.

2 victims' graves found

MITINO, U.S.S.R. — Two more Chernobyl victims, whose graves bear dates after the announcement of the last official death toll, have been buried in a heroes' plot near Moscow with most of the others killed by the nuclear disaster.

The deaths in late July apparently raise to 30 the toll from history's worst nuclear power accident, but no official confirmation was available Saturday.

Picasso paintings stolen

OLDENBURG, West Germany — Thieves carried off 25 oil paintings, including works by Pablo Picasso, and other objects worth nearly $2 million from an office building in Oldenburg, police said Saturday.

They took the paintings, silverware and a valuable rug from the fourth and fifth floors before dawn Friday after disconnecting an alarm system, said an Oldenburg police spokesman, who refused to be identified.

Oldenburg is about 30 miles east of Kiel in northern West Germany.

The spokesman said titles of the paintings were not immediately available, but that originals by German expressionist Max Beckmann and Austrian painter Friedensreich Hundertwasser were also stolen.

It's time to end water problem

It's been more than three weeks since city officials first called on residents to conserve water because of a stuck valve that's restricted the city's pumping capacity. But by this weekend the problem remained unresolved.

The longer the problem drags on, the more serious it becomes. And this is beginning to smack of incompetence, either on the part of the current city administration, or former administrations, or both.

The problem has been aggravated in recent days with the intense heat, as temperatures have climbed to 100 degrees and higher for the past 10 days. It's a time when residents desire to use more water rather than less.

Community lawns are withering and burning away while community fire protection rates are in danger of being increased.

City officials are to be commended, however, for their efforts to resolve the problem with a minimum amount of inconvenience to city water users — by calling for voluntary conservation rather than adopting mandatory measures.

In addition, both the city and news media, including the Herald, have done an appropriate job of disseminating information on the problem and explaining why conservation has been necessary.

Although many residents, probably most, patiently have complied with the voluntary conservation requests, some failures have been noticed. For instance, the sprinklers were observed on all day at one of the schools.

But now, the time has come to resolve the situation and resolve it quickly. The time has come to assign the highest priority to the problem and to do whatever it takes, in manpower and money, to end it.

It's one thing to have too small a water supply, and another to have enough water but a system that's incapable of getting it to the customers. No city should be in that situation for very long — particularly in dry West Texas, where everyone knows the importance of water.

Appreciates Little League support

To the editor:

On behalf of the American Little League and Little League Baseball of Big Spring, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Big Spring, the Big Spring Police Department and the news media, both the Big Spring Herald and KBST radio, for their support of boys baseball.

The recently concluded District 3 Little League tournament received almost unprecedented news coverage, attendance and city support, and that support was reflected in the enthusiasm of the players.

Many comments were heard regarding how well Big Spring supported its youth baseball program, and those comments made me feel proud of my city. Thanks, Big Spring!

Wants alcohol banned from park

To the editor:

I am writing in regards to Mike Craddock's letter to the editor last Sunday. He said banning booze in the park was not the answer.

I take exception to his opinion. First, Mr. Craddock is the same fellow who helped with the petition to keep Players from going in beside his business. Does this mean it's OK to have booze in a public park, but it's not OK to have it next to his business? I think anyone could understand his concerns because of vandalism, litter, etc.

I hope in the future Mr. Craddock will take the time to talk to our City Council members and find out the facts before making rash judgments. I have always found them to be informative, concerned and very interested in the public's view. I appreciate the job they are doing.

After speaking to the Odessa and Midland park and recreation and police departments, I am convinced that bans on booze and glass containers will and do work.

Police Chief Stewart of Odessa said he saw problems with young people and alcohol in the park "decrease rapidly." He also stated: "People that were afraid to use the park were now able to utilize it." There also were reports of less litter and broken glass.

A ban on alcohol in the park is not prohibition. You would still be able to have alcohol for parties and special events by obtaining a permit.

The public intoxication law we have now states that before an officer can arrest someone, he has to prove that, in this opinion, the intoxicated person is a danger to himself or others. It is an opinion type of arrest.

Why waste taxpayers money having two officers baby-sit the drunks every weekend? The ban on alcohol is an effective law, and has had no problems with enforcement, according to acting Chief of Police Lonnie Smith, who has done his own research on the matter.

I say ban the alcohol. I would enjoy going on a picnic with my family and friends.

Texas banking laws seem to hamper diversification

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER

Texas banks continue to go bankrupt, with the Permian Bank of Odessa the last to fold.

I guess that's not too surprising, given how strongly the Texas economy is tied to the oil industry and agriculture.

It appears, however, that Texas banking laws may be a part of the problem.

A banker friend and I were discussing the West Texas economy several weeks ago when I made a similar remark to him.

"What do you mean?" he asked. "It appears to me," I said, "that a part of the problem is the regulations against Texas banks being affiliated with banks in other states."

"Those regulations have the effect of limiting the resources available to banks in Texas communities — by curtailing their ability to serve large investors and borrowers."

I've been told that even large banking holding companies in Texas lack the resources to compete with national banking operations in other states.

In many states, regional banks tend not to be as affected by asset "losers" or failures because they usually have more varied investments.

Basically, that means Texas banks aren't as diversified as multi-state banks. And local one-community banks lack the resources of banks in other states that are allowed to have offices or branches in several communities.

"Isn't that true of West Texas

Berky's babblings

banks?" I asked my banker friend.

"Aw, what do you mean?" he said again. "Our banks are very diversified. We have oil, and oil, with a little more oil, and some agriculture," he added sardonically.

"Actually, your observations are rather astute," he finally said. He also noted that the Permian Basin has two major exports — oil and young professionals.

He said: "We raise our children, educate them as best we can, and then many of them are forced to go elsewhere to get jobs in their chosen fields."

But that's another story. My banker buddy noted that Texas bankers and lawmakers historically have opposed any involvement by Texas banks in multi-state operations.

He cited two major reasons. Texas investors jealously wanted to hang onto the wealth from the state's underground resources.

Secondly, lawmakers wanted to protect that wealth so that it remained available for in-state investments and growth, he added.

Such thinking may have appeared appropriate as long as the oil economy was booming. But my banker friend and I agreed that it has dire consequences during lengthy slumps in the oil industry.

Since talking to that particular banker, however, I've learned that holding companies in recent years have favored legislation allowing multi-state banking operations in Texas.

Independent banks, meanwhile, have continued to battle such legislation. At least they did during the 1985 Legislature, when the independents successfully opposed an interstate banking measure.

I've been told that a similar measure is expected to be introduced in the 1987 Legislature and that it might be gaining more support from some independents.

I don't pretend to be an economic genius or expert, but it appears that the trend is toward national banks, which some bankers consider inevitable.

If so, the Texas Legislature should review banking regulations with an eye toward allowing interstate banking and branch banks in different communities — if Texas banks are to remain viable and competitive.

Until that happens, Texas banks probably will continue to suffer from a high degree of vulnerability.

Too much heat in Austin

By JIM DAVIS

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Austin is not a place to come to in August. It is a place to leave.

Austin in August is high heat and high humidity at the same time.

Austin in August is a strange atmospheric pressure on every living thing, creating the same sort of physical state they used to show in the old Geritol commercials on TV. You know, the ones that asked the provocative question: "Have you got iron-poor tired blood?"

Well, Texas legislators are going to feel like the "before" actors in those commercials by the time they're finished with Austin this August. Not only will they have to deal with the heat outside the Capitol but also they'll feel some political heat inside.

Special sessions seldom are fun. They usually are called to fix some problem that everyone wishes would just go away. Legislators hate them because they've usually had little opportunity to plan for them.

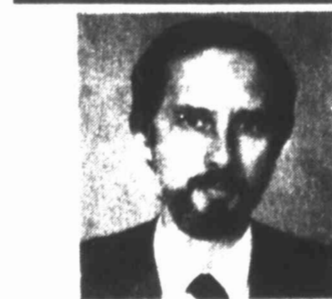

Vacations must be canceled. Business is interrupted. Families must be left behind.

The idea in the mind of a legislator at the start of a special session usually is: "Let's get this over with so I can go home."

The session that starts Wednesday is unlikely to be any happier than most. In fact, all the ingredients are there for a truly miserable little get-together.

Chances are extremely remote that the legislators will reach a quick agreement on handling the state budget crisis and go home. There's not even an agreement on a general concept of how to keep the state out of red ink.

LT. Gov. Bill Hobby was off this past week stumping the state for increasing and broadening the state sales tax. He says trying to solve the state's budget deficit by simply cutting spending would be disastrous to state services for the public. And a majority of the members of the Texas Senate, over which Hobby presides, seem to agree with his assessment.

The lieutenant governor and most senators have viewed with disdain the crusade by House Speaker Gib Lewis and other House leaders to cut the budget in the special session just enough to get by until the regular 1987 session starts in January.

Those on the Senate side can afford to be brave, of course, since only about half of them are facing re-election this year and few of those have an opponent.

Hobby is opposed in the Nov. 4 election, but by a political unknown who filed and is running without the moral or financial support of his party. Republican leaders would have preferred leaving Hobby alone this time for fear that any campaigning by him will only help re-elect Gov. Mark White.

It's still brave of Hobby to put himself on the line in an election year with a pro-tax stand, but there really is little he could do to put his re-election in danger.

Lewis, on the other hand, is facing a tough re-election fight against a Republican in his Fort Worth district. His is in a conservative district that went in a landslide for President Reagan two years ago. It's hard to blame him for wanting to get through the election without being tagged with supporting a tax increase.

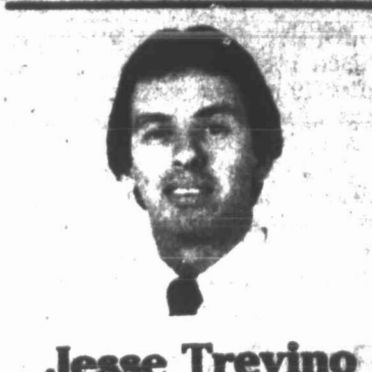

Some other House members are facing re-election battles this year, and they're in no mood for doing any boat rocking at this point. Doing just enough budget cutting to allow the state to meet its debts until after the election sounds real good to them.

But Comptroller Bob Bullock keeps increasing the amount of money he sees the state needing to balance the books, and we're already past the point where mass firings of state employees, abolishing some agencies and major cutbacks in services of others would be needed to avoid a tax increase.

Another wrinkle to the problem was thrown in a couple weeks ago when it was revealed that Bullock announced the deficit estimate at a higher amount than his financial experts recommended.

Some legislators are grumbling that Bullock's political ambitions and dislike for White are coloring his forecasts. Bullock denies all the allegations, but that doesn't stop them.

By last week some legislators were using the word "impasse" as a likely prospect for the special session. That would make for a very hot, long and unhappy August in Austin.

Armed group can only hurt border efforts

By JESSE TREVINO

At a recent hearing in Austin, a spokesman for a group of Sul Ross State University supporters — fighting to keep their school open in the face of budget cuts — said West Texas had not been as riled since Pancho Villa raided the state.

The remark got a big laugh and broke the tension generated by a meeting of the Select Committee on Higher Education.

Every Texan should follow the committee closely and ponder the larger issues caused by the state's tail-spinning economy. But all Texans should be as riled by another matter: That of a group of modern-day Pancho Villas known as the Civilian Material Assistance.

According to a spokesman, the Memphis-based group plans an armed patrol of the Texas-Mexico border — similar to the excursion it conducted in Arizona in July to arrest illegal aliens and cut the flow of drugs from Mexico.

While the U.S. Border Patrol has not been fully successful interdicting either aliens or drugs, it is plainly doubtful vigilantes can be of any help.

Like the Villa raids in the days of the Mexican Revolution, the proposed patrol violates proper law and order.

In those days, the Villa raids were highly publicized international incidents, even though the border was less populated than it is now and did not have the amalgam of problems it does today.

While it may seem otherwise to many Texans, efforts are being made to deal with some of those problems, so that individuals are not compelled to personal action.

In Congress, a complex immigration bill four years in the making hangs delicately in the House. Planning continues for an August meeting between President Reagan and Mexican President de la Madrid to undo some of the damage caused recently to U.S.-Mexico relations.

Mexico is moving forward to industrialize its northern border area — a move that will help Texas as its economy suffers.

But along comes the Civilian Material Assistance, adding another wrench into the works.

The U.S. State Department, members of Congress and almost every responsible elected official have decried the group's activities.

While Washington and Austin have spoken against the self-appointed border defenders, individual Texans should examine the consequences of allowing armed civilians to ride out on their own to uphold their own sense of law and order.

A larger issue is at stake: The shifting of the public's attention from constructive approaches to the problem.

Just in the past few weeks, a debate arose in banking and government circles on reducing the Mexican international debt, which threatens our national security as well as Mexico's economy.

The debate focuses on whether more money should be poured into Mexico to help it meet its interest payments or if a reduction of its foreign obligations can be achieved.

I doubt if the Civilian Material Assistance knows about the new Mexican debt discussions. I doubt if the average Texan knows. What I do know is that precious newspaper space and scarce radio and television time are being taken away from reasonable men and women involved in Mexico and border issues.

If we violate the border — as the group reportedly may have done in Arizona by crossing illegally into Mexico — we sanction the very violations being committed by the drug runner and the alien smuggler.

And, in the end, we have no border.

Jesse Trevino writes in Hispanic social and political issues.

Davis settles suit out of court

DALLAS (AP) — Millionaire Cullen Davis says he has settled a lawsuit filed by a victim of a 1976 shooting spree at his mansion to save time and money, not because he was involved in the attack.

Davis was acquitted of murder and murder-for-hire charges in the late 1970s.

In an interview published Saturday in The Dallas Morning News, Davis said money was a key factor in his decision to avoid a trial in the suit filed by Gus Gavrel Jr., who was partially paralyzed by a bullet.

"I didn't want to spend as much money as it would take to try it," said Davis, whose business empire is involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

Gavrel, who had asked for $15 million in damages, agreed to a settlement that will eventually be worth more than $1 million, said one individual familiar with the arrangement, the News reported.

Records of the settlement are sealed, and Gavrel refused to comment on the case. Davis said he did not know how much the settlement is worth.

A gunman at the Davis mansion in southwest Fort Worth crippled Gavrel and wounded Davis' from an alleged plot to have his divorce trial judge killed. The first trial ended with a hung jury and he was acquitted during a second trial.

Davis said he doesn't "dwell on that period of my life," and that his religious beliefs have made him a new man.

Ms. Davis, 45, still contends her ex-husband was "the man in black" who invaded the mansion. She and Jack Wilborn, her husband before marrying Davis, are seeking damages for the death of their daughter. Their claims, along with a separate suit filed by Ms. Davis for injuries she suffered in the shooting, are set for trial Sept. 8, a court clerk said.

A third case, seeking damages for the death of Farr, also is awaiting trial.

Davis declined comment on the possibility of settling these lawsuits.

Davis, who was charged in the shootings, was acquitted of killing his stepdaughter. Prosecutors later dismissed charges from the other shootings.

He also was tried twice on a murder-for-hire charge stemming

Lawmakers' dilemma: To fee or not to fee

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans today are paying the state more to drive a car, hunt and fish, go to college, put something clever on auto license plates and get a wrestler's license.

But it's not enough. Comptroller Bob Bullock says the state will be $3.5 billion short of covering its $37.2 billion two-year budget through August 1987.

The Legislature comes to town Wednesday, at Gov. Mark White's behest, to try to balance the books. White and some legislative leaders say it is just a matter of making budget cuts.

Others are not convinced. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby says it will take spending cuts and tax hikes.

In the 1985 legislative session — when the now red-inked stained budget was approved — lawmakers banked on fee hikes to bring in more money.

Fees usually get the first look. To many lawmakers' ears, "fees" sounds better than "taxes."

Although fees seem politically more palatable than taxes, House Appropriations Committee Chairman Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, acknowledged that many Texans probably would not have noticed the 0.125 percent sales tax hike in 1984 had they not been told about it.

They do notice when the price of registering their vehicle goes up.

"Folks are saying, 'We are reading all this about bad financial conditions. Didn't you guys just raise fees and taxes over the last two years to an unheard of degree?'" said Rep. Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, and an appropriations committee member.

Yes, taxes and fees have gone up in recent years.

The Legislature, in a 1984 special session for roads and schools, ended a 13-year streak of no new Texas taxes by raising the state sales tax from 4 percent to 4.125 percent. The motor fuels tax went from 5 cents per gallon to 10 cents.

Some fees are still increasing as a result of the 1984 special session. The price of registering a vehicle for a year was increased by $25, phased in over three years. The final $6.25 chunk goes into effect Aug. 1.

Before the 1984 special session, the registration fees for passenger cars ranged from $15.50 to $33.50. As of Aug. 1, the range will be $40.50 to $68.50.

The $25 increase also covers trailers, motorcycles and buses. Before the 1984 changes, it cost $5.75 a year to register a motorcycle or moped. As of Aug. 1, it will be $31.05.

The 1985 Legislature, as part of a $146 million fee hike bill, raised the price of driving by increasing the price of a four-year drivers license from $12 to $16. They also increased the fee for having your vehicle checked, raising the annual vehicle inspection fee from $5.25 to $7.75.

That fee hike package also included a $50 hike — from $25 to $75 — in the annual price of personalized license plates. That has not worked out very well. The highway department has found out that many Texans are not willing to put their money where their eggs are.

The hike was projected to mean about $6 million more a year for the state. Instead, it scared off 84,000 people who had bought the plates in previous years. The net increase was only $40,000.

Those who do not pay the annual fees cannot use the personalized plates on their vehicles.

Also wrapped into the 1985 fee bill was a 50 percent increase in the price of a boxing or wrestling license, up to $15.

The Parks and Wildlife Department raised the price of a combination hunting and fishing license from $12 to $15, effective Aug. 1.

State college tuition for Texans was tripled to $12 per credit hour in 1985. It will go up to $16 per hour in 1986.

It all adds up to a lot of money that is too little. The 1986-87 budget, which totals $37.2 billion, was painfully crafted in 1985 by lawmakers who said it could not be any tighter.

Now, they've got to carve from the budget or ask taxpayers for more money.

The state comptroller's office earlier this year gave lawmakers a look at how and where they can get more money. For example, raising the state sales tax to 5 percent would bring in an additional $390 million in 1987. That figure could prove high because of the state's economic slowdown.

Bullock and Hobby have recommended broadening the tax base by getting rid of some exemptions.

Andrews man preparing for legislature

Forest C. Scott of Andrews, a newly elected Silver Haired Legislator, attended a three-day training session in Austin to prepare for the first Texas Silver Haired Legislature, which will convene at the Capitol Sept. 29-Oct. 1.

Scott was elected chairman of the Insurance Committee and will serve on the Rules Committee, which is composed of committee chairpersons.

The legislature is a representative, nonpartisan body of citizens age 60 and over, elected by their peers. It was created by the 69th Texas Legislature last session.

This fall, the organization will meet to consider and propose legislation that concerns older Texans. The legislation will be forwarded to the Texas Legislature and the governor.

Presentations at the seminar were heard from key legislators and government officials on how laws are made and the present and future of the Texas financial picture, as it relates to state government.

Scott was elected May 30 to represent the counties of Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Glasscock, Howard and Martin.

Bell to charge for late phone payments

Southwestern Bell Telephone has begun assessing a late payment charge of 2.5 percent for business customers on payments not received by the next bill date.

The charge, authorized by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, is effective with bills dated by Aug. 1, and will be reflected on bills by Sept. 1, according to a letter from the company.

Late payments cause an additional expense to the company, according to the letter.

Report: Hospital mishandled ferry slasher

NEW YORK (AP) — A hospital mishandled the case of a man accused of killing two people in a slashing rampage aboard the Staten Island ferry, a state commission said Saturday.

Juan Gonzalez, 43, a homeless Cuban refugee was hospitalized July 3 after he was overheard saying Jesus had told him to kill, but was released July 5. Two days later he allegedly used a short sword to attack 11 people on the ferry in New York Harbor.

He killed two people and injured nine others before being subdued by a retired police officer.

Pilot's daughter outraged at NTSB findings

DALLAS (AP) — The daughter of the pilot of the Delta jet that crashed here a year ago angrily claimed Saturday her father is being used as a scapegoat by officials to avoid improving safety measures.

"All I've seen done this year is the effort of the investigators to cover the government's mistakes," said Susan Connors DeCosta, daughter of Delta Air Lines Capt. Edward Connors.

Connors was killed in the Aug. 2, 1985 crash along with 136 others when he attempted to land the plane at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. Twenty-seven people survived.

In Dallas to visit her mother, Ms. DeCosta said in an interview she was outraged when she heard the National Transportation and Safety Board's findings that pilot error, as well as bad weather, were contributing factors to the crash.

"I think they're using my father as a scapegoat.

I'm not a technician, I'm a postal worker. But when this happened, I did research on my own to find out more about it, to find out why," she said.

Ms. DeCosta said she believes there were problems in communications between the National Weather Service and air traffic controllers.

"I'm sorry to see all of the attention and blame put on the crew, because, first of all, I believe the crew did everything possible to recover from the wind shear that they had no warning about," she said.

She said Congress, the airline industry, crew organizations and air passengers also should question the findings to force action on the problem of wind shear.

Microbursts, the most severe form of wind shear was cited by the board as a factor in the crash. Wind shear is a rapid change in the speed and direction of wind associated with thunderstorms.

Ms. DeCosta said it is unlikely that any crew action can counter a microburst and added that airplanes routinely take off and land during thunderstorms.

"I want to suggest that the true responsibility for this accident belongs to those who still deny the existence of technology, Doppler Radar, that has long been available," she said.

She said Federal Aviation Administration officials should install wind shear detection radar at air terminals. The FAA has chosen to adopt its own Doppler system, and most airports won't receive the new radar until at least 1990.

In the meantime, the safety board recommended increasing the number of wind sensors at airports, but the FAA is still conducting tests to determine how many additional sensors should be installed.

Ms. DeCosta said the safety measures should not be delayed. "Wasn't my father's life and the lives of the 136 people important enough? I know that all of the loved ones today will say they were."

The NTSB cleared air traffic controllers of blame, but recommended some changes, including installing a meteorologist or an employee trained in meteorology in airport towers to pass on weather information to pilots.

Ms. DeCosta said that since the crash, she has worked to improve air safety and intends to continue.

She said Congress should draw on air safety funds to pay for the installation of equipment such as Doppler Radar, which would alert pilots to the presence of wind shear.

"Wind shear is nature and that's something that's always going to be there. Until we implement safety equipment in the airport, we're going to lose more lives," she said.

Borden County Range Tour set for Aug. 12

The Borden County Range and Livestock Committee will host the Borden County Range Tour Aug. 12.

The tour occurs once every two years. It will include demonstrations and conservation practices applied by local producers.

In the itinerary are: prescribed burning to control cholla cactus, test plots to control mesquite and prickly pear, control of Tarbrush brush, control of broom snakeweed, and implant test results.

Registration begins at 7:45 a.m. in the Borden County Show Barn, located north of the Gail school grounds. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Buses will leave the show barn at 8:15 a.m. and return at 12:15 p.m. Lunch will be furnished by the Upper Colorado Soil & Water Conservation District.

After lunch, Dr. Ron Sosebee, professor of range management at Texas Tech University, will discuss the increasing broom snakeweed problem on native rangeland.

Range specialist Dr. J.F. Cadenhead of Vernon and beef cattle specialist Dr. John McNeill of Amarillo will be tour moderators and will answer range and livestock questions. The program will adjourn at 1:30 p.m.

Viewers shopping by television

NEW YORK (AP) — Shopping shows are cable television's newest sensation, and they're stirring up excitement on Wall Street as well as in American living rooms.

No fewer than five cable networks already are carrying home shopping programs nationwide, peddling everything from air fresheners and home pest repellents to zirconia rings and electronics systems at bargain prices. More are planned.

Network executives describe their programs as televised shopping malls or video catalogues, with companionable hosts serving as guides.

Impulse clearly is the chief motivator as the hosts mix live phone calls from customers, prizes and games with their descriptions of the merchandise.

"I don't think anyone wakes up in the morning, decides to buy such-and-such today and turns us on," said Bob Circosta, who is the early afternoon host at the Home Shopping Network. "It's all impulse buying."

Viewers act on those impulses by ordering via toll-free telephone lines.

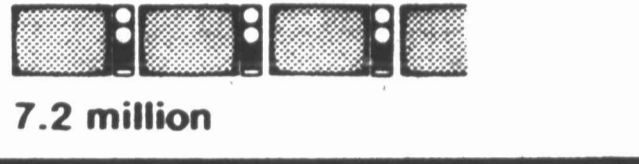

Analysts say the home shopping market could reach $1 billion in annual sales, but they're raising questions about whether the public fascination with them is only a passing fad.

"How many ice sets or can openers or record cleaners are customers going to buy before their enthusiasm runs out?" asked Jeffrey Russell, who follows the media business for the investment firm Drexel Burnham Lambert.

Some analysts speculate that it is mostly housewives and affluent retired folks who buy from the shopping services.

But Roger Blackwell, professor of marketing at Ohio State University, said home shopping suits working people as well, giving them the flexibility to fit shopping into their schedules.

"They get some of the excitement of going to the mall without having to go there," he said.

The Home Shopping Network has been on the air nationally for more than a year, reaching 7.2 million of the estimated 40 million homes which get television programs by cable or satellite. It operates two networks, 24 hours a day.

Cable Value Network, which went on the air May 1, is carried on cable systems reaching about 13 million viewers, according to Peter Barton, co-chairman of the network. Cable Value Network programs about 110 hours a week and plans to expand to continuous service starting Aug. 23.

The Video Shopping Mall Inc., based in Jenkintown, Pa., runs a shopping network 12 hours a day, seven days a week. It made its debut June 10 and is available to about 7.1 million households, according to spokesman Jeffrey Friedland.

To entice cable systems to carry the programs, the networks generally offer them up to 5 percent of the revenue produced by sales generated in their areas.

Shopping programs also are being carried on a fifth network, Tempo Television of Tulsa, Okla., which reaches about 13.1 million homes, according to Ray Klinge, Tempo's vice president for sales and programming. Unlike the others, Tempo simply distributes programs produced elsewhere and carries non-shopping shows, such as movies, as well.

Man robs service station for eighth time since March

DALLAS (AP) — The clerk at a Dallas service station had no problem giving police a good description of the bandit who robbed him of about $40 at gunpoint.

It was the robber's eighth holdup of the station since March 23. "He just keeps going back," said police robbery investigator B.J. Hamby. "He never has any trouble. Just walk in, get the money and walk out.

All eight robberies, including one that took only 30 seconds, have been videotaped by a hidden camera, Hamby said. The tapes have been shown to patrol officers who work the urban area in hopes that someone might see the man.

Count on our caring, competent people.

We care enough to ask the family, patiently, for each important detail and instruction... and to explain, and help control, funeral costs. Competence joins caring to assure a serene funeral service, one which reflects personal warmth and dignity.

10 indicted on conspiracy, mail fraud

DALLAS (AP) — Ten people have been indicted on conspiracy and mail fraud charges alleging they defrauded British Caledonian Airways Ltd. of nearly $2 million, federal prosecutors say.

The defendants, including six former employees of the airline, allegedly added inflated or false cargo charges to existing revenue-sharing agreements with other international airlines from April 1977 to August 1981, authorities said.

The indictments, returned Thursday by a federal grand jury, were the result of an investigation that coincided with an internal audit by British Caledonian, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Terry K. Ray.

According to the indictments, the group rented post office boxes and dummy offices, as well as setting up checking accounts in the names of other airlines. The government charged that the group channeled payments on the false invoices to the checking accounts.

Members of the group later withdrew the funds and distributed the money among themselves, according to the indictments.

Texans send hay to drought-stricken areas

VICTORIA — Ranchers and other volunteers braved the sweltering sun to help load thousands of pounds of donated hay onto railroad cars for the drought-stricken Southeast.

"It makes the ranchers here in Victoria feel good to know that they're helping other people," Texas A&M agricultural extension agent Joe Janak said Friday.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. donated eight rail cars to deliver the goods to parched farms and ranches in South Carolina, Janak said.

One rail car left on Victoria Thursday, and another three were scheduled to leave Saturday. The four remaining cars are scheduled to be loaded this week and delivered in about two weeks, Janak said.

About 30 people, including loan officers from local banks and unemployed men and woman, helped load the cars.

The Southeast is suffering from the worst drought in more than a century as normal summertime dryness compounds last winter's lack of moisture. Other states also have donated hay to send to the Southeast.

Health organization drops state workers

AUSTIN — A financially troubled health maintenance organization will stop offering coverage to state employees Sept. 1.

Friday's announcement by the Central Texas Health Plan means that 16,000 state workers will have to find new health insurance coverage for themselves and their families.

CTHP lost $3.1 million between January 1985 and April of this year, according to officials of the physician-owned organization.

Dr. Noble Doss, vice chairman of CTHP's board of directors, said the decision to drop the state employees was difficult, but necessary.

"From a business standpoint, we have no choice. From a physicians' standpoint, we're very sad this has happened," he said Friday.

CTHP estimated it is losing about $500,000 a month on the state contract and could, at best, cut the losses to $250,000 a month under changes made in June.

When the state workers are dropped, CTHP enrollment will fall to 50,000.

Thousands cheer evangelist at tycoon's ranch

FORT WORTH — Christian evangelist Pat Robertson continued to test the waters for a presidential candidacy before thousands of cheering supporters at the sprawling ranch of Texas oil tycoon Nelson Bunker Hunt.

More than 4,000 people at Friday night's rally urged Robertson, head of the Christian Broadcast Network, to run for president. Robertson said he had formed an exploratory committee for the purpose.

Robertson said it is time to return America to "traditional values."

"I dream of a time when we are one nation, under God," Robertson said.

Local girls lose in softball finals

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

MONAHANS — The Big Spring Division I and II All-Stars both advanced to Saturday's championship round at the United States Girls Softball Association's national championships, and both fell to tough Mount Vernon teams.

The Division IV squad pushed Mount Vernon to a third game in Saturday's best of three championship, but Mount Vernon won the deciding game after two Big Spring girls were forced from the game because of injury and the best with the score tied at four apiece.

Catcher Debra Rubio, clad in full gear under the 3 p.m. sun in the third game of the day, collapsed from dehydration. Outfielder Katrina Thompson soon followed Rubio to the hospital when she sprained her knee going for a fly ball. Both are doing "just fine," according to coach Dickie Thompson.

The losses proved to be Big Spring's undoing, as Mount Vernon pulled away to enjoy a six-run cushion for most of the way. They won 19-6 to take the championship.

In the first game, Jancy Cunningham notched the win for Big Spring, as they beat Mount Vernon 23-17 to put themselves one win away from the title. Amanda Solis hit her fourth home run of the tournament in the win. But in the second game, Mount Vernon built up a 20-5 lead, and the 15-run rule was invoked in the top of the sixth to force the deciding third game.

Solis and Jancy Cunningham were named to the Division IV all-tournament team.

The Division II girls earned their way into Saturday's championship clash with Mount Vernon by whipping Lovington 19-13 and Monahans 16-0 on Friday for a 6-0 record in the first three days of the tournament.

But against Mount Vernon, the Big Spring Division II team, that made it look almost too easy in the last two weeks, met their match. In the Saturday morning opener of the two-out-of-three championship series, Mount Vernon capitalized on Big Spring errors to win 19-4 going away.

In the second contest, the Big Spring girls' bid for the USGA national championship came to an end when the 15-run rule was invoked. The game and Division II tournament ended when Mount Vernon built a 23-5 lead.

Four Big Spring girls played sick on Saturday, with E.D. Barnett and Cindy Garza playing only sporadically because of illness.

"We're very, very proud of these girls," said Division II manager Barbara Morrow. "They gave it their all."

The second place finishers also placed two players on the Division II all-tournament team. Pitcher Karma Morrow and catcher Kayla Roberts were honored. Both hit the ball well during the week.

Cowboys and Bears set to play for Brits

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Far from the shores of Lake Michigan and the plains of central Texas, the Chicago Bears and the Dallas Cowboys open their NFL preseason schedule Sunday in a setting more often associated with another brand of football.

Wembley Stadium, centerpiece of the 1948 Olympics and the site of the World Cup soccer championships 20 years ago, will be packed for the game, billed as "American Bowl '86" — 80,000 fans, half of them seated, half of them standing.

All of them will be out for a glimpse of the sport that in recent years has taken England by storm.

They will see two of the NFL's best teams, although probably not much of the best players. The out-of-the-ordinary venue doesn't change the fact that this is the preseason opener, a time for coaches to look at rookies and protect veterans from injury.

Coaches Tom Landry of the Cowboys and Mike Ditka of the defending Super Bowl-champion

Bears both say they will start their first-string players but go to the bench after about the first quarter.

Jim McMahon, the spark of the Bears' offense, will open at quarterback despite a slight groin pull, matched in the backfield with Walter Payton and Matt Suhey.

For the Cowboys, the game marks the start of the first season in a while without a controversy over who is the No. 1 quarterback.

Danny White has that position to himself, following the off-season move of his prime rival, Gary Hogeboom, to Indianapolis. He will be directing a new offense installed by passing coordinator Paul Hackett, who helped make Joe Montana among the league's most explosive quarterbacks with the San Francisco 49ers. Tony Dorsett and Timmy Newsome will be in the backfield with White to open the game.

The game will be televised live in the United States on NBC, with a 6 p.m. London time kickoff (1 p.m. EDT)

USFL-NFL battle will continue into the fall

NEW YORK (AP) — The antitrust battle between the United States Football League and the NFL could wind up in the appeals courts, the commissioners of both leagues said.

USFL Commissioner Harry Usher said if his league is not successful in its bid to increase the damage award it received from a jury last Tuesday, the case will be appealed.

"We will take it the limit," Usher said in an ABC Sports interview show Saturday.

"But we are not there yet. We are looking at a hearing in September which could affect the outcome of the case," Usher said.

Rozelle said his league was "somewhat concerned" that the jury in the trial of the USFL's antitrust suit had found the NFL had monopolized pro football.

"We do intend to appeal," Rozelle said on the same ABC show at halftime of the exhibition game between the New England Patriots and St. Louis Cardinals. Both interviews were taped on Thursday.

A hearing will be held Sept. 3 in U.S. District Court on post-trial motions made by the USFL. Harvey Myerson, the league's attorney, said he was considering four means of improving the jury's award of $1 in damages, which under antitrust regulations would be tripled.

It is the USFL's contention that the jury was confused about the amount it could award in damages. The league, whose existence is threatened by its precarious financial position, could have received as much as $1.69 billion.

Big Spring, Forsan athletes — read this

The Big Spring I.S.D. sponsored athletic physicals will be held in a two part series, with the first session scheduled for Wednesday, August 6 at the Malone-Hogan Hospital at 5 p.m.

Big Spring and Forsan athletes are instructed to use the "Emergency Room Entrance" on the south side of the building. This session will involve height-weight measurements, blood pressure, blood and urine laboratory analysis, EKG, and a respiratory test.

The second part of the physical which will be the physicians examination is scheduled for August 9, beginning at 8:45. The location of this examination will be announced at a later date. Students must be present for both sessions to have a valid physical.

Cost of the physical is $8, which must be paid in cash. Bus transportation will be available for both sessions, and departure locations and times will be published in the Herald starting tomorrow.

Trainer Everett Blackburn will be in front of the following locations to hand out physical forms and other necessary material for the first session. Athletes may also stop by the training room starting Monday, August 4 after 10 a.m. to pick up these materials. The training room is located on the east side of Steer Gym just off the east parking lot of the high school.

Here is Coach Blackburn's time schedule and locations for picking up physical materials and supplies.

Baver School — August 4, 12 noon; and August 5, 5 p.m.

Lakeview School — August 4, 12:20 p.m.; and August 5, 5:15 p.m.

Moss School — August 4, 5:15 p.m.; and August 5, 12 noon.

Washington School — August 4, 5:30 p.m.; and August 5, 12:20 p.m.

Marcy School — August 4, 5:50 p.m.; and August 5, 8:30 a.m.

Goliad Middle School — August 4, 6:20 p.m.; and August 5, 8 p.m.

Only the following groups of students are required to have athletic physicals this year: all seventh grade students; all ninth grade students; all transfer students in grades 9-12; and all previous Big Spring I.S.D. students who did not compete in athletics in the Big Spring I.S.D. system before.

The Big Spring I.S.D. recommends that all athletes have a yearly physical before participating in athletics. Students not required to have their physicals during these sessions may go wherever they wish to have their physicals.

Physical forms may be picked up at Goliad, Runnels, and Big Spring High School offices for those who do not wish to use the school sponsored athletic physical.

Ramsey leads second half surge to lift Pats over Cards

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Quarterback Tom Ramsey led a second-half charge that resulted in two touchdowns as the defending AFC champion New England Patriots defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 21-16 in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition football game Saturday at Fawcett Stadium.

Ramsey, listed as the third-string quarterback on the Patriot roster behind Tony Eason and Steve Grogan, completed 17 of 23 passes for 254 yards. The second-year player from UCLA completed 7 of 8 passes for 144 yards and one touchdown in the third quarter to help the Patriots overcome a 13-7 halftime deficit.

The Patriots took the lead early, just when it appeared that the Cardinals were moving in for a score.

Quarterback Neil Lomax guided the Cardinals to three first downs on a 46-yard drive after the opening kickoff. But on first down at the Patriot 25, Lomax threw behind Roy Green in the right flat and Ronnie Lippett stepped in front of Green at the Patriot 7. He streaked down the left sideline, picked up a block near the Cardinal 35 and went untouched the rest of the way for a 93-yard return with the interception.

But the Cardinals wasted little time in marching back into scoring position. This time Lomax hit Green with a 32-yard completion to help set up a 28-yard field goal by rookie John Lee at the 4:03 mark of the first period.

Rich Camarillo, punting from his own 30-yard line on the Pats' first possession, kicked 53 yards to Brigham Young rookie Vai Sikahema at the St. Louis 9.

Sikahema broke one tackle at the 15 and then had clear sailing, helped along by a block at midfield by Freddie Joe Nunn.

Lee made it 13-7 with 4:23 remaining in the opening half when he converted a 39-yard field goal to complete a 12-play, 59-yard drive.

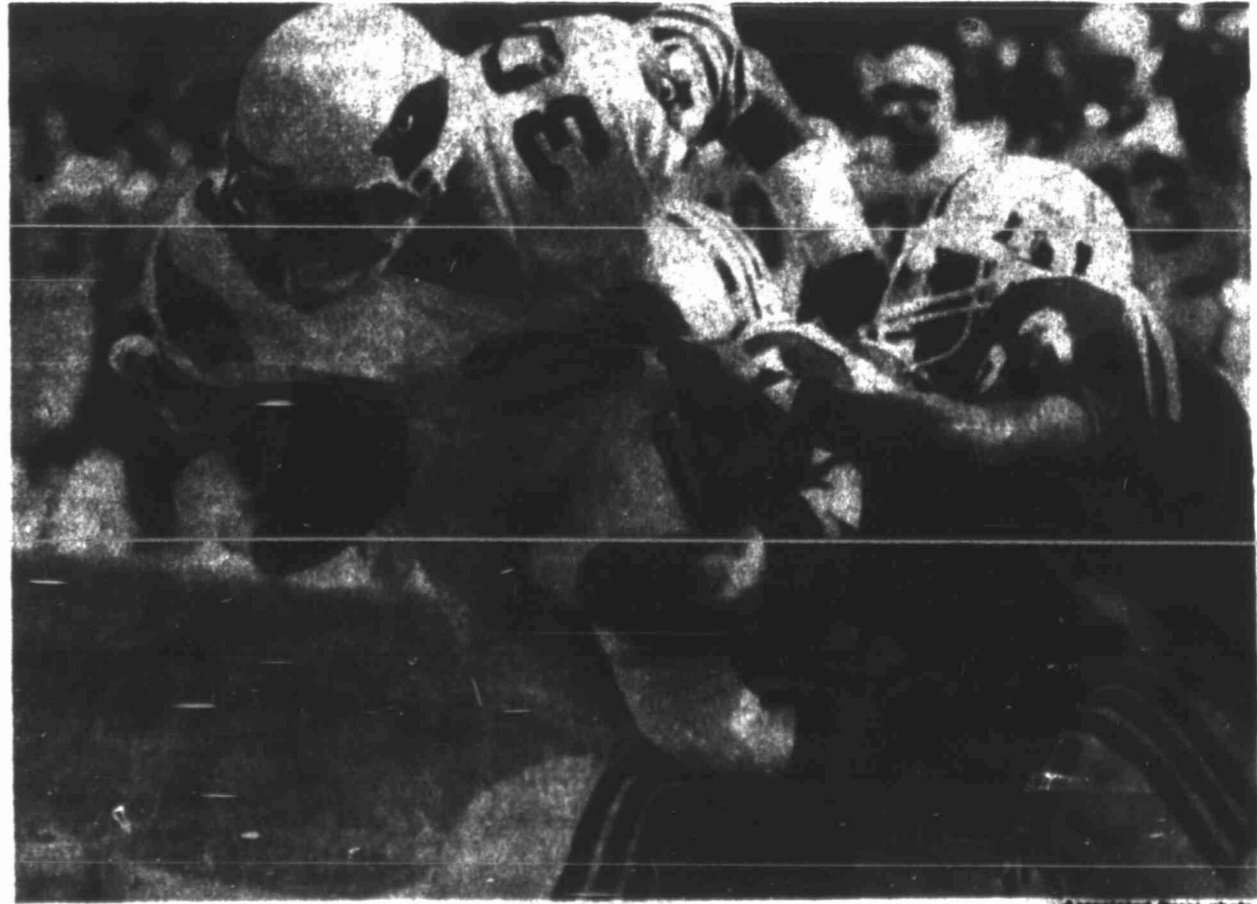

But on their first possession of the second half, the Pats took the lead for good. Ramsey hit wide receiver Cedric Jones on a 48-yard pass play that helped set up a 4-yard Ramsey-to-Jones scoring pass at the 9:44 mark. Donald McAulay added the extra-point for a 14-13 Patriot lead.

On the Pats' next possession, Ramsey completed passes of 32 yards to tight end Greg Hawthorne and 24 yards to Derwin Williams, leading to a 1-yard scoring run by Mosei Tatupu. Paul Drain kicked the extra-point at the 1:25 mark of the third period for a 21-13 New England advantage.

Lee closed the scoring with a 25-yard field goal with 1:01 remaining.

St. Louis Cardinals running back Stump Mitchell (30) is stopped short of a first down by New England Patriot defenders Ed Williams and Roc McSwain during the first quarter of Saturday's Hall of Fame game in Canton. The Cardinals settled for a field goal.

Cabell slam propels Dodgers to seventh win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Enos Cabell's grand slam snapped an eighth-inning tie and Alejandro Pena and Tom Niedenfuer combined on a one-hitter Saturday, giving the Los Angeles Dodgers their seventh straight victory, 7-1 over the Cincinnati Reds.

Pena pitched seven innings and allowed only Eddie Milner's leadoff home run in the sixth. Niedenfuer, 6-4, held the Reds hitless the rest of the way and got the victory.

Cabell connected against reliever John Franco for his first career slam and his first home run since last Aug. 12. With the score 1-1, the Dodgers loaded the bases with no outs against Ron Robinson, 8-3, on singles by Steve Sax and Bill Russell and walk to Bill Madlock.

After Franco struck out pinch-hitter Pedro Guerrero, Cabell hit a 2-1 pitch into the left-field seats. Winning pitcher Tom Niedenfuer, 6-4, delivered a two-run single off Franco later in the eighth, Niedenfuer's first two major-league RBIs.

Pena, making only his sixth start since his rehabilitation from shoulder surgery 18 months ago, held the Reds hitless until Milner connected on the first pitch of the sixth for his career-high 10th home run.

Cardinals 7, Pirates 3
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ozzie Smith drove in three runs and John Tudor won his fourth straight decision as St. Louis defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 Saturday night for the Cardinals' ninth win in 11 games.

St. Louis trailed 2-1 in the fifth when Terry Pendleton, who had three hits, led off with a triple into the right-field corner. Two outs later, Vince Coleman walked and stole his 70th base. Both runners scored when Smith lined a single to right off Pirates starter Larry McWilliams, 2-7, who allowed four hits and three runs in six innings.

Smith later singled home a run for the Cardinals in a four-run eighth inning which also featured a two-run double by Clint Hurdle.

Tudor, 10-5, raised his career record against Pittsburgh to 4-0. He didn't walk a batter, struck out two and scattered nine hits in 8 1-3 innings.

White Sox 5, Tigers 3
CHICAGO (AP) — John Cangelosi tripled and scored the go-ahead run on a sacrifice fly as the Chicago White Sox beat the Detroit Tigers and pitching ace Jack Morris 5-3 Saturday night.

With the game tied at 3-3, Cangelosi tripled down the right-field line leading off the fifth inning and came home on Daryl Boston's second RBI of the night.

Harold Baines, who had homered earlier, added an RBI single in the Chicago seventh to make it 5-3.

Morris, 12-7, named American League Player of the Month in July for his five wins and three shutouts, gave up five runs and seven hits.

On Wednesday night, Chicago beat Boston's ace, 17-game winner Roger Clemens, 7-2.

Starter Floyd Bannister, 6-8, got the win Saturday night, scattering seven hits and striking out eight in his second complete game of the season.

Royals 13, Red Sox 2
BOSTON (AP) — George Brett drove in three runs with a double and a single and Steve Balboni hit a three-run homer during an 11-run seventh inning Saturday as the Kansas City Royals snapped a four-game losing streak with a 13-2 rout of the Boston Red Sox.

Blanked on four hits for six innings by Tom Seaver, the Royals jumped on the 41-year-old veteran and relievers Bob Stanley, Tim Lollar and Sammy Stewart in the seventh.

Kansas City set team records for runs and hits, 11, in an inning. The Royals rallied from a 2-0 deficit and handed Seaver, 4-10, his fourth consecutive loss.

The first 12 batters reached base, 10 on hits and two with walks, before Stewart struck out Lonnie Smith for the first out in the seventh. The American League record for the most consecutive batters to reach base is 13, set by the old Kansas City A's against the Chicago White Sox in 1956.

Brett, Mike Kingery and Angel Salazar had two hits apiece in the big inning. The Royals finished with 17 hits, four by Kingery.

Seaver, who had a season high of eight strikeouts in raising his career total to 3,597, wilted in the seventh as Kingery led off with a triple off the wall at the 379-foot mark in left-center.

Orioles 5, Blue Jays 2
TORONTO (AP) — Cal Ripken's three-run homer broke a sixth-inning tie Saturday and powered the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Scott McGregor, 8-10, gave up two runs on four hits in six-plus innings, and Don Aase pitched the final two innings for his 28th save. Jim Clancy, 12-6, took the loss, ending his six-game winning streak.

Juan Bonilla drew Clancy's first walk of the game leading off the sixth and Fred Lynn walked with one out. Ripken followed with his 17th home run of the season, a drive over the left-field fence.

Indians 6, Yankees 5
CLEVELAND (AP) — Cory Snyder singled home Joe Carter from second base with one out in the 10th inning Saturday to give the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees.

The loss was the fifth in six games for New York, which had two solo home runs from Mike Pagliarulo.

Dickie Noles, 3-2, pitched one inning for the victory, escaping a bases-loaded jam in the top of the 10th by striking out pinch-hitter Juan Espino.

New York Yankees manager Lou Piniella is thrown out of the Yankees-Indians game after disputing a call made by home plate umpire Rocky Roe in the eighth inning. At right is third base umpire Nick Bremigan.

Hornung, Tarkenton, Lanier enter Hall of Fame

The five inductees into the Pro Football Hall of Fame pose with their bronze busts after ceremonies Saturday morning in Canton, Ohio. From left: Paul Hornung, Ken Houston, Willie Lanier, Fran Tarkenton and Doak Walker.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The long wait was finally over for Paul Hornung, but Fran Tarkenton lamented that time was still standing still for the Minnesota Vikings.

Hornung and Tarkenton were inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame Saturday with defensive back Ken Houston, middle linebacker Willie Lanier and halfback Doak Walker. The five increased the number of enshrinees to 133.

Twenty years passed from the time Hornung retired from the Green Bay Packers in 1966 until his induction. Despite holding the National Football League single-season scoring record of 176 points and being named the league's Most Valuable Player twice, his reputation was tainted by his one-year suspension in 1963 for gambling. "Let's put it this way, I didn't have a hit," said Hornung. "But it was a long time in coming... I thought I might have been used somewhat like a political football, because the story was, why wasn't Paul Hornung getting into the Hall of Fame rather than most of the people who were getting in?"

"I was really getting kind of peeved and worried. But, naturally, I'm happy to be in it now." Tarkenton bemoaned the lack of recognition given to his Minnesota teammates of the 1960s and '70s, who regularly won NFC Central titles but are remembered for losing four Super Bowls.

"People have not taken our players as seriously as if we had won those four games," said Tarkenton, who became only the second former Viking player, joining Hugh McElhenny, to make it to the Hall in 26 years. "I think those great players may have been forgotten because we lost four Super Bowls."

Hornung was an All-America and a Heisman Trophy at Notre Dame, and subsequently was named to the College Football Hall of Fame. The Louisville, Ky., native played quarterback and was a place-kicker in college, but did not find his niche in the pros until Packers coach Vince Lombardi took over in 1959 and installed him at halfback.

The change had immediate results. Hornung led the NFL in scoring the next three seasons, including a record 176 points in 1960. He scored 760 points in his nine professional seasons on 62 touchdowns, 190 conversions and 66 field goals.

Tarkenton, the prototype scrambling quarterback during his career for the Vikings and New York Giants, holds the NFL records for pass completions (3,686), passing yards (47,003) and passing touchdowns (342). He rushed for 3,674 yards and combined with his passing yardage he accounted for almost 29 miles of total offense during his career in the pros.

Houston started from 1967 to 1980 with the Houston Oilers and Washington Redskins. He intercepted 49 passes and played in 12 all-star games in his 14-year career.

His coach with the Redskins, George Allen, called him "the greatest strong safety ever to play the game." But Houston said he never mastered the position.

"I started off as an offensive center and a middle linebacker. All my years, I was just learning to play (free safety)," said the graduate of Prairie View A&M. "I was a working man's player. And I still felt, after 14 years, there was a lot yet to learn about the position."

Lanier played for the Kansas City Chiefs from 1967-1977 and was an major part of the Chief's defense,

Couples, Frost share Western Open lead

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Fred Couples, a day closer to victory, changed his mind about quitting for the year if he wins the Western Open Golf Tournament.

"I lie a lot," Couples said Saturday after a hard-won, 1-over-par 73 had left him in a tie for the lead going into Sunday's final round of the chase for a $90,000 first prize.

He shared the top spot, at 211, five under par after 54 holes over the wind-raked Butler National Golf Club course, with South African David Frost.

Frost, now in his second season on the American Tour after two years in Europe, had a 71 despite gusty winds and hard, crusty greens.

Shortly after he'd finished play, a PGA Tour official announced that Frost had been fined $1,000 for slow play.

The action came after Bobby

Wadkins — who played in the group immediately behind Frost's threesome — publicly criticized the slow pace of play. Saturday's play required almost five hours to complete 18 holes and ran beyond the scheduled time for national television coverage.

"Ridiculous," said Wadkins, a 12-year Tour veteran, whose 74 left him a single shot off the lead.

Asked for his solution, he responded:

"Shoot the slow players." Wadkins was tied at 212 with rookie Tom Byrum and veteran George Burns. Byrum matched par 72 with five birdies and as many bogeys and Burns had a 71 in the difficult conditions.

"Under these conditions, anybody can win," Wadkins said. And that, suggested Couples, still includes British Open champion Greg Norman, who is six shots back at 217.

TAX REFORM (The Work Continues)

The tax conference committee is at work reconciling the differences between the House and Senate tax bills. The result of the committee's work is likely to become law sometime in September.

The House and Senate bills already agree in a number of areas, and these provisions are likely to appear in the final bill. The two agree on provisions that would:

- Eliminate investment tax credit
 - Eliminate the working couple's deduction
 - Eliminate income averaging for non-farmers
 - Fully tax unemployment benefits
 - Reduced to 80% the deductibility of business meals and entertainment
 - Repeal the $100 single, $200 joint, dividend exclusion
 - Increase the earned income credit
- Some of the main areas where the two bills disagree include the following:
- Deductibility of IRA contributions (House keeps the deduction; Senate eliminates it for individuals covered by employee pension plans)
 - Top individual tax rate (38% in House bill; 27% in Senate)
 - Top corporate tax rate (36% in House bill; 33% in Senate bill)
 - Capital gains (House top rate is 22%; Senate treats capital gains as ordinary income, so top rate is 27%)
 - Sales tax (fully deductible in House plan; limited deduction in Senate plan)
 - Effective date for law (House January 1, 1986; Senate January 1, 1987. Major exception is that both bills repeal investment tax credit effective January 1, 1986)
- The final bill agreed upon by the tax committee conferees must be approved by both the House and Senate and signed by President Reagan before it becomes law.

BUSINESS APPEALS TO EYES AND EARS OF BIG SPRING

How long has it been since you've seen "The African Queen" or "Giant" or maybe even "Gone With The Wind"? P&P Stereo has these sentimental favorites as well as new releases including "Back to the Future" and "Rambo." They have over 1100 titles for you to choose from, both in VHS and Beta.

However, P&P doesn't stop there. They also carry Kenwood stereos for your car and home, Sharp televisions, Fisher VCRs, and Panasonic Jam Boxes. Also, they have Coit CBs, Whistler radar detectors, and Panasonic telephones and answering machines.

Six months ago Terry Jenkins and his mother Shirley decided to build a business for themselves. Terry, who had been the service manager for a tire company, liked the idea of the electronics field. They purchased P&P Stereo and began adding their own touch to an already established business. Terry and Shirley feel that experience as consumers of video and stereo products help them see what the customer needs and wants.

The Kenwood line of stereos, displayed by P&P, offers the great sounds that you would want in your car as well as your home. Terry and Shirley feel the flexibility of the Kenwood line helps them give you the customer what you really want to hear. Sharp televisions give you that picture you want to see and combine that with stereo equipped VCRs you get the excellent sound you wish.

The video tape rentals are also a major attraction at P&P. Terry and Shirley have tried to stock the titles people are interested in seeing, not just tapes that are blockbuster hits. With the span of sentimental favorites to the latest releases, the Jenkins have tried to provide what you want to see. Also, if they don't have a title you would really like to see they will help you try and find it. Come in and get one of the number of John Wayne movies, or one of several Meryl Streep pictures, or Charles Bronson or ———.

Volunteers spread love

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

It's the answer to the dilemma of the elderly — an answer that provides them food and companionship almost daily.

Every week eight to 15 volunteers deliver meals to elderly Big Spring residents who are unable to prepare their own meals.

"The volunteers put in about one to two and a half hours a week," said Don R. Brooks, chairman of the Howard County Council on Aging.

One couple, Thomas and Gwen Evans of Big Spring, noted they deliver every day, and have been serving the same route since 1977.

"We stay and visit for a minute while delivering the food," she said.

For some old folks, the volunteers are the only visitor they get for the day, Brooks said.

"I get involved with them," Gwen Evans said. "They're all senior citizens and some of them live by themselves."

The greatest satisfaction the Evans receive, she says, is knowing they're being cared for. "It helps them and they depend on it. If it wasn't for Mobile Meals, they wouldn't get their meals," she said.

"I think it's the only meal some of them get," Thomas Evans said.

The appreciation of the service provided by the Evans was evident in the face of Josephine Dutchover, 406 N.W. 5th St. "They sure are good," the 82-year-old said, with a big smile. "I like it."

She's been receiving the hot meals since 1979, Gwen Evans said.

"Sometimes she (Dut-chover) feels sorry for me — when it's too cold to get out of the truck and deliver," Gwen Evans added. She said she and her husband sometimes take the meal into Mrs. Dutchover's home when she can't get up.

On weekends, when the meals aren't delivered, Dutchover said her daughter-in-law fixes her meals.

"Sometimes they ask what happened to us when we don't deliver over the weekends," Thomas Evans said.

Holidays and days of bad weather are the only other days the food isn't delivered, Gwen Evans said.

Mobile Meals is not to be confused with Meals on Wheels, Brooks said. Meals on Wheels is federally financed and has certain restrictions, while Mobile Meals is privately financed by the Dora Roberts Foundation, he said.

Mobile Meals first was organized in Howard County in 1975 when it began with two recipients. The service was organized by the Council on Aging because the group served by Mobile Meals had been rejected for Meals on Wheels and couldn't receive federal aid, he said.

So Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, the volunteer drivers donate their time and use their own vehicles to drive around Big Spring and deliver the meals.

"For the past 10 years, the meals have varied from 70 to 100 per day," Brooks said.

Cost of each meal was 60 cents in 1975 and is now $1.80, he added.

Brooks said the service accepts donations from private parties and meal recipients, "if they can afford it. If they can't, they get their meal

It's dinner time for Josephine Dutchover who is receiving her daily meal from Thomas and Gwen Evans, volunteers for Mobile

Meals. The Evans have been servicing the same route since 1977. "Oh, they sure are good," said Dutchover. "I like it."

anyways."

Brooks reported several women, including Bessie Lee, Jewel Rice and Katherine Crawford, began efforts in 1968 to organize Mobile Meals. That was after the Federal Old Age Act of 1965 was passed, Brooks said.

Later, Bill Dawes, retired principal from Marcy Elementary School, and R.H. Weaver, legal consultant for the Dora Roberts Foundation, became involved, Brooks said.

"Dorothy Garrett (who married Dora Robert's grandson, Horace Garrett) donated the first money in 1974 to get this started," he said. "This is her number one local project. She told me: 'Don't turn anyone down. Call me if you need more money.'"

Brooks says $35,000 a year is spent for Mobile Meals.

"We have the money, our only problem is we need more volunteers. Over 90 meals per day will put a strain on us," he said.

Eligibility requirements to receive Mobile Meals are: minimum age of 60 with physical incapacities to prepare their own meals, Brooks said.

"We have recipients as old as 97," he added.

The meals are prepared and packaged in the kitchen of Runnels Junior High School five days a week, 12 months a year, he said.

They're well-balanced. Each meal consists of a meat, two vegetables, salad, dessert, a hot roll and a half pint of milk, Brooks explained.

Man claims he's the biggest liar in Hamilton County

Myrtle Hodges and her husband, J.A. "Flintrock" Hodges sit in Hamilton, a town about 40 miles west of Waco. Hodges is the biggest liar in Hamilton County, if not the Lone Star State. And he's darn proud of it. As president of Liar's Branch over the past 38 years, Hodges claims to have lived up to the club's only motto — "Don't ever be caught telling the truth."

By MARY ANN KREPS
Waco Tribune Herald
HAMILTON, Texas (AP) — J.A. "Flintrock" Hodges is the biggest liar in Hamilton County, if not the Lone Star State. And he's darn proud of it.

As president of Liar's Branch over the past 38 years, Hodges claims to have lived up easily to the club's only motto — "Don't ever be caught telling the truth."

And it's hard not to, er, believe him.

Liar's Branch consists of two members — "Just me and the public," Hodges said. It was a legacy handed down to Hodges from a man he leased land from in 1948. The land contained a creek called Liar's Branch.

Hodges and his wife, Myrtle, live in a big, white farmhouse with a huge front porch just right for sittin' and rockin' while listening to Hodges' yarns.

In his faded overalls, the Hodges' bright blue eyes shine as he launches into one of his favorite tales, followed every time by a big toothless grin. Mrs. Hodges, who has heard each tale more times than she can count during their 51 years of marriage, still laughs heartily at every punch line.

"Right there, east of where I used to live, that was a rough country. What I mean, it was noted for its flintrock, ya know,"

Hodges says in his country twang.

"Another boy asks me, he says, 'Hey, how in the world did y'all keep shoes up there in those flintrocks?' I said, 'Well, we didn't have no shoes. We was so poor we couldn't buy 'em.'"

"He says 'Well, how in the world did you get along?'"

"Well, our old feet got so tough the flintrocks didn't bother us a bit," Hodges said.

"He said, 'Well, did you ever get caught out after night? Did you ever have a light? How in the world did you see your way to get out of there?'"

"I said, 'Well, when it come night on me I just struck up a trot and kicked the tar out of them rocks and just lit up the field and went right on in home.'"

"So that's where I got the name Flintrock."

Hodges acknowledges that a few of his tall tales have been stolen from others during yarn-swapping sessions, but he says most are originals he thought up while working on his farm.

"I'd just be riding that tractor and the idea would hit. For years I'd be riding that old tractor, you know, and get to thinking about things like that and I'd even get tickled at myself," Hodges said.

Hodges' fame has been confined mostly to Hamilton-area locals although radio personality Tumbleweed Smith visited about six years ago with a recorder and taped some of his tall tales.

Occasionally, Flintrock Hodges' yarns can still be heard on the radio although Hodges has never heard himself.

He has confined his storytelling to sitting around the front porch or the domino parlor with his friends and has never spoken in public. He says he couldn't do it. "I'd get excited and couldn't think of a thing," he said.

The 74-year-old quit farming last year after he figured out one day that his farm was gobbling up more money than it was earning him. Now, although suffering from arthritis, Hodges mows lawns to make ends meet.

"I farmed for 52 years and never had $100 in my pocket. I've been mowing lawns for six months and now I've got $100 in my pocket. Of course now, that's a pretty big yarn," he said with a grin.

Another of his tales goes like this:

"Up here on the cowhouse west of Hamilton way back there — must have been about 1935, dry and hot — there was some cattle froze to death in August.

"That old boy had four rows of popcorn planted along the fence, and the wind was blowing out of the south real hard. It got so hot the corn went to poppin' and them cows though it was snowin'."

But there was the time he almost lost his title as president of Liar's Branch.

A group of men were sitting around discussing the tough chores their parents assigned them when they were young when one of the men piped up with a story. "He said, 'Boys, I'll admit y'all had some pretty tough chores assigned to you. But the toughest one Pa ever assigned me was when we moved from Oklahoma to Texas in covered wagons. Pa had me drive a swarm of bees across the Red River.'"

Hodges was called upon to top that one, and he failed. "That's the nearest I come to losing my office. The only thing that saved me there was my seniority," Hodges said.

Mrs. Hodges said when Hodges' friends see him, the first thing they want is a story.

"If I'm in a hurry, I tell 'em I quit," Hodges said. "And then they know that's the biggest lie of all."

Weddings

Halfmann-Schefer

ST. LAWRENCE — Karen Gerise Halfmann and Douglas Joseph Schefer, both of St. Lawrence, exchanged wedding vows August 2 at St. Lawrence Catholic Church with Rev. Frank Beasley, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Halfmann of St. Lawrence. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schaefer of St. Lawrence.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with large pipe candles and two tree candelabras decorated with greens, rubrum lillies and ferns.

Organist was Diane Eggemeyer and the vocalist was Bonnie Bell.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length gown of embroidered organza. The bodice was beaded with seed pearls and sequins featured with a high neckline and off-the-shoulder bishop sleeves. The full skirt featured a long train and sheer organza ruffles circling the bottom of the skirt. A short puffed veil was attached to her beaded caplet.

She carried a free flowing bouquet of orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Daria Plagens of Stephenville. Matron of honor was Mary Kaye Lee, sister of the bride, of Stillwater, Okla.

Bridesmaids were Gena Schaefer, sister of the bridegroom, Brenda Havlak, Marianne Hirt, all of St. Lawrence and Lisa Halfmann of San Angelo.

Flower girl was Jill Hoelscher of St. Lawrence and Brianne Lee of Stillwater, Okla. Ring bearer was Craig Hoelscher, nephew of the bride, of St. Lawrence and Timmy Wheeler of Ballinger.

Best man was Douglas Hoelscher of St. Lawrence. Groomsmen were Mark Halfmann, brother of the bride; Doyle Schaefer, brother of the bridegroom; Douglas Jost; Scotty Halfmann; and Nathan Halfmann, all of St. Lawrence.

Ushers were Doug Jansa and Paul Kalina, both of Miles; Brian Thompson of Garden City; Tommy Hoelscher, brother-in-law of the bride, of St. Lawrence; Larry Halfmann, brother-in-law of the bride, of St. Lawrence; and Melvin Halfmann Jr. of Eola.

Candlelighters were Karla Hoelscher, sister of the bride, and Kim Halfmann, sister-in-law of the bride, both of St. Lawrence.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at St. Lawrence Parish Church. The bride's cake was shaped in a royal cathedral and featured angels, cherubs and lattice work, accented by two silver candelabras.

The bridegroom's table was

MRS. DOUGLAS SCHEFER
...formerly Karen Halfmann

decorated with off white table cloth, with natural lattice work over a teal underlay and scattered with pourporri. Bridegroom's cake was chocolate decorated with live flowers and votive candles.

The bride is a graduate of Garden City High School and attended Howard College.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Garden City High School and attended Angelo State University. He is self-employed.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will make their home in Miles.

Thompson-Williams

FORT WORTH — Lisa Ann Thompson of Benbrook, formerly of Big Spring, and Anthony Wayne Williams of Little Rock, Ark. exchanged wedding vows July 26 at the Salvation Army Northside Corp. of Fort Worth with Major James Jay, general secretary, Carolina division, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Eugene and Ann Thompson of Benbrook. Bridegroom's parents are Billy and Lee Williams of Fort Worth.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with three fan candelabras and two large baskets of flowers.

Instrumentalist was Antoine Spencer. Vocalists were Kenny Hornsby and Angie Stevens.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white crystalline organza. The bodice was beaded and the sleeves and back of bodice featured embroidered roses. The cathedral-length train was highlighted with a tear shaped panel of white lace and embroidered roses.

She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and a large white rubrum lily.

Maid of honor was Michelle Yeaman of Benbrook. Bridesmaids were Keren Hornsby of Arlington; Carla Landerman, sister of the bridegroom; and Delene Mills of Weatherford.

Flower girls were Staci Landerman, niece of the bridegroom, and Samantha Myrick and Kimberly Tubbs, cousins of the bride. Ring bearer was Chad Armstrong.

Best man was Lance Thomas. Groomsmen were John Tu, Clair Kesner and Brian Williams.

Ushers and candlelighters were Dennis Williams and Michael Thompson.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Salvation Army Northside Corp youth fellowship hall. The wedding cake featured a fountain decorated with stairways that connected satellite cakes.

The bride is a graduate of Western Hills High School and Texas Wesleyan College. She is employed by Wal-Mart.

MRS. ANTHONY WILLIAMS
...formerly Lisa Thompson

The bridegroom is a graduate of Leilehua High School and is serving in the United States Air Force.

After a wedding trip to Jacksonville, Ark., the couple will make their home at Little Rock Air Force Base in Jacksonville.

Washington-Marshall

Cynthia Jean Washington, 4006 Dixon, and Todd Allen Marshall of Abilene exchanged wedding vows August 2 at Mt. Bethel Baptist Church with Rev. Karl Hockenull, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Conner, 4006 Dixon. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. John C. Marshall Jr. and Janie Marshall, both of Hamlin.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with pink and blue carnations and roses with doves. Two winding candelabras were featured on each side of the arch.

Instrumentalist was Darrell Williams of Abilene and Lawrence Byrd of Dallas. Vocalists were Darrell Williams, Lawrence Byrd, Denise Dotson of Dallas and Shawn Wrights of Big Spring.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white gown accented with pearls and a Queen Victoria neckline enhanced with lace. Silk roses decorated the bottom of the dress.

She carried a nosegay bouquet with carnations, daisies, tulips and roses.

Matron of honor was Evelyn Smith, sister of the bride, of Midland. Bridesmaids were Teresa Butler, sister of the bride, of Big Spring; Gina Marshall, sister of the bridegroom, of Hamlin; Jackie Tilley of Tyler; and Michelle Ivory of San Antonio.

Flower girls were Tiffany Smith and Tawana Harris of Midland, nieces of the bride, and Camille and Kim Marshall, nieces of the bridegroom, of Hamlin.

Ring bearer was Jeffrey Willis, nephew of the bridegroom, of Brackenridge.

Best man was Oscar Marshall, brother of the bridegroom, of Colorado City. Groomsmen were Willie Williams, brother of the bride, of Port Arthur; Carl Hayes, Earnest Merritt and Dennis Bradford, all of Abilene.

Ushers were Marvin Williams and Darrell Johnson, both of Abilene. Candlelighter was Chris Cole, cousin of the bride, of Big Spring.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Park Inn. The bride's table featured a three-tiered cake with a flowing fountain, accented with pink and blue carnations topped with white doves.

The bridegroom's table featured a chocolate sheet cake decorated with double wedding bands.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Tyler Junior College. She is employed with Community National Bank in Midland.

MRS. TODD MARSHALL

Color is first consideration of clothes on Storkclub

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
Textile and apparel imports compete directly with similar products produced in the United States.

Estimates are that imports of clothing and textiles will increase, while the domestic industry's share of the American market will decrease 17 percent by 1990.

When American consumers buy clothing imports, their actions affect the domestic industry. But do consumers consider that an issue?

One recent study was conducted with college students and members of women's clubs to determine their preferences for either imported or domestic blouses. The study revealed that whether a blouse was produced at home or abroad apparently had little influence on purchase considerations.

The students in the study ranked color first, coordination with their existing wardrobe second, and unusual detail, such as trim or styling, along with attractive price as next in importance in their purchase decision.

Focus on family

The women's club members selected their blouses according to coordination with their existing wardrobes, color, attractive price and fabric quality.

For both groups, apparent durability and design, label or brand name were the lowest ranked purchase motives.

This study may not be representative of all college students or of all consumers. The fact that color and wardrobe coordination were major purchase considerations for these women may reflect the influence of fashion on buying behavior or even the popularity of "color analysis." But the study does tend to show that the question of imports versus domestic products is evidently not on the minds of many consumers.

Are you a "winter," "spring," "summer," or "fall"? No, this isn't a question asking for your favorite season. It's the categories. Some color consultants use to describe your complexion and the color of clothes that will look good on you.

The problem is that shoppers are passing up styles that are right for them because the garment is not in "their" color. Retailers are trying to solve the problem by offering blouses and shirts a range of 32 colors selected from among the 1,000 hues used by color consultants.

The bottom line in the style-versus-color controversy is that you want to look your best.

Doctors Say:

New Grapefruit Super Pill 'II' Gives Faster Weight Loss

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S. No Dieting — Eat Normally

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) — Good news for people who want to lose weight. According to the results of a recent medical study, you can easily lose up to "14 pounds in 14 days" with an amazing, vastly improved "new version" of the world famous grapefruit "super pill" diet called Super Pill II.

Best of all, the pills allow you to "continue to eat all of your favorite foods without changing your normal eating or exercising habits and still lose weight, starting immediately, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire. "It's guaranteed!"

The new diet pills have been successfully clinically tested on groups of overweight people by a panel of doctors in Beverly Hills.

All Lost up to 14 lbs. in 14 Days

"Remarkably, ALL people in the Super Pill II test group showed dramatic weight loss over 14 days," stated Dr. Steve Sachs, who compiled and analyzed the data in the study. It also proved conclusively that the powerful new ingredients combined with the placebo effect will enable you to lose weight "over 3 times faster" with this new version compared to the previously popular and successful original version.

"Pills Do All the Work"

According to the clinical study, "Super Pill II itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO special exercise, NO hunger pangs, and NO messy fresh half grapefruit to eat at every meal." You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

Pills Contain ALL Daily Vitamins

No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy because Super Pill II is fortified with all (100%) of the U.S. Government USRDA recommended daily vitamin requirements.

Super Pill II is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these new highly successful Grapefruit Super Pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $14 for a 15-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check or money order to: Super Pill II, 279 S. Beverly Dr., Dept. 842, Beverly Hills, CA 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, Mastercard, and Amer. Express OK. Weddings

Herm-Zant

ACKERLY — Michelle Renae Herm became the bride of Gerald Scott Zant, both of Ackerly, at an evening ceremony August 1 at Ackerly Church of Christ with Dub Clark, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Eddy and Don Nell Herm of Ackerly. Bridegroom's parents are Rex and Patsy Zant of Ackerly.

The couple stood before a large archway accented with stands holding large urns with an arrangement of mauve azaleas. Two fifteen-branch candelabras decorated the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a re-embroidered alencon lace dress featured with a Queen-Ann neckline, capped sleeves and a fitted bodice decorated with sequins and seed pearls. A full shimmering chiffon skirt featured a flowing court-length train.

She carried a bouquet of burgandy, mauve and white azaleas with baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Deanna Herm, sister of the bride, of Ackerly. Bridesmaid was Kris Marshall of Lubbock and junior bridesmaid was Michelle Howard of Ackerly.

Flower girl was Hollie Zant, niece of the bridegroom, of Ackerly.

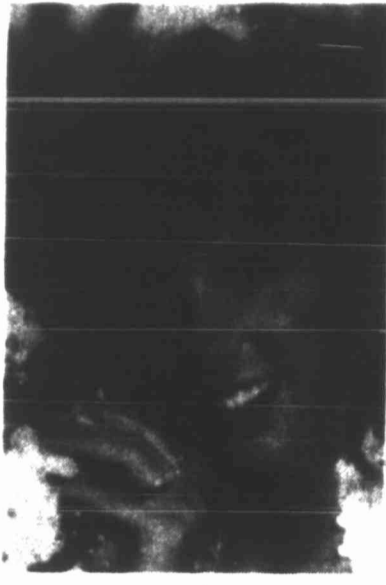

Best man was David Zant, brother of the bridegroom, of Ackerly. Groomsmen was Tommy Staggs and junior groomsmen was Eric Herm, brother of the bride, both of Ackerly.

Ushers were Nathan Zant, brother of the bridegroom, and Leland Bearden, both of Ackerly. Candelighters were Michelle Howard and Eric Herm.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Ackerly Fellowship Room. The bride's table featured a three-tiered cake decorated with bouquets of flowers with satin streamers draped from the top of the cake. A white lace tablecloth with a brass punch bowl and candlesticks holding long mauve tapers were placed around the bride's bouquet.

The bridegroom's table, draped with an overlay of burgandy moire, featured a chocolate fudge cake.

The bride is a graduate of Sands High School and is employed by Connies in Big Spring.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Sands High School and attended Vernon Regional Junior College and Howard College. He is employed by Steere Tank Lines.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will make their home in Ackerly.

Mother receives daughter's love

DEAR ABBY: I want you to know that the column you wrote for Mother's Day made me the happiest mother on earth. I had not heard from my daughter for nine years. The Red Cross tried to find her, the police tried to find her, but to no avail. I was so worried about her I nearly went out of my mind.

Yesterday I received a letter that I want to share with you. May God bless you and make his face shine upon you today, tomorrow and forever.

My most humble thanks.

POLLY FROM NORTH CAROLINA
DEAR MOM: Ever since reading Dear Abby's Mother's Day column, I've been feeling guilty. Abby said children should honor their mothers, and I know that God will not be happy with me until I try once again to honor mine, so I'm taking Abby's suggestion and putting all this in a letter for you to keep.

Mom: Thank you for reading to me and teaching me to read at a very early age. You taught me how to teach my children.

Thank you for exposing me to good music as a child. You made it possible for me to appreciate Bach, Beethoven and Mozart.

Thank you for taking me to church. Putting on a pretty dress and white socks on Sundays is one of my fondest memories as a 4-year-old.

Thank you, Mom, for always being so well-groomed and immaculate. You were always the prettiest mother at school, and I was always so proud when you came to visit.

Thank you for keeping a neat house and teaching me how to make a bed. I once won a contest in throughout my life.

Dear Abby

I thank you. I love you. I admire you. And I'm very proud of you. And from this day onward, I'll try to show you respect and honor.

YOUR LONG-LOST DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: When using seat belts became the law here, I tried to buckle myself up in one and couldn't get it around me because I was too fat. I realized the time had come to go on a diet, so that's what I did. Abby, I lost 40 pounds, and now I can buckle up comfortably. But listen to this. When I went for my annual checkup, my doctor took my blood pressure and told me that it had gone down to normal! (It had always been too high.)

Pass this along to folks who are in the shape I was in and need a couple of good reasons for shaping up.

BUCKLED UP IN OHIO
DEAR BUCKLED UP: Hooray for you. By slimming down and bucklin' up, you've increased your chances for a longer life twofold.

(Is your social life in a slump? Lonely? Get Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (30 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.)

Calhoun-Walker

MIDLAND — Debra R. "Rainy" Calhoun of Midland and Gary Mark Walker, formerly of Big Spring, now of Midland, were united in marriage July 12 at the First United Methodist Church in Midland with Dr. Charles Lutrick, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. C. Rayford Calhoun of Midland. Bridegroom's parents are G.N. Walker of Big Spring and Loreine Chamberlin of Granbury. Matron of honor was Mrs. Randy head of Midland. Flower girl was Jessica Radford, niece of the bride, of Midland.

Best man was Jim Bob Owens of Lockhart. Ushers were Steve Lawlis of Midland and Jimmy Honea of Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School and Tarleton State University. She is employed by Sproles-Woodard and Co., certified public accountants.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and San Angelo State University. He is the assistant vice president with Interfirst Bank of Odessa.

After a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple will make their home in Midland.

H&R Block Tax Course Could Be Ticket To Extra Income

Thousands of people are finding that learning income tax preparation is the perfect way to supplement their incomes.

Many people use the tax preparation skills they learn in H&R Block's Income Tax Course to add to their incomes. H&R Block is now offering its basic income tax course starting September 2. Morning and evening classes are available. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

During the 13 week course, students will study various phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach tax law, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and many practice problems. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Because tax preparation is needed during the months of January through April, you can put your skills to use immediately during the winter months and may be able to make enough extra money to pay off Christmas bills or make money for that summer vacation.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the course. Certificates and 75 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at 1512 Gregg, Big Spring, 263-1891. We are open Monday and Friday, 9 to 4 p.m.

Tomatoes can have many problems

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

By far the most popular garden vegetable grown in Howard County is the tomato, but they are not grown without some problems. And this summer appears to have more than its usual share.

The most prevalent problem, at least based on the calls to the local county extension office, is Curly Top.

This disease is primarily a problem in West Texas. Upper leaves first turn grayish-green. Soon leaves become crisp, brittle, and roll upward. Leaves turn light green to yellow with swollen wine colored veins on the lower sides. Plants stop growing, fail to ripen fruit, and die within a few weeks.

The beet leaf hopper is the cause of this problem and is difficult to control. The principal control method is by planting thick stands of plants, 6-12 inches apart, which help to provide enough plants to escape. No cure is available for Curly Top. Removal of infected plants is one suggested method of control before the beet leaf hopper can spread the virus to other uninfected ones.

In terms of office calls, Blossom-end Rot is the next prevalent problem.

Dark, sunken, leathery spots appear on the blossom-end of green fruits. The spots vary in size, sometimes affecting half the fruit. This is a physiological disease caused by fluctuating moisture supplies and lack of available calcium. Certain varieties appear to be more susceptible to this problem. Use adapted, proven varieties, such as Early Girl or

For your garden

Celebrity for more success with tomatoes. Adding calcium chloride to the spray or the use of calcium nitrate as a side dressing may be beneficial. Maintaining uniform soil moisture supply will prove most successful in combating this problem, however.

Root knot nematodes continue to plague Howard County gardeners. Severely affected plants are stunted and sickly; they wilt in dry weather but may recover at night for a time, then die. Roots of such plants may have swellings or galls. Root Knot is caused by several species of nematodes.

Control nematodes by using disease-free transplants. Avoid soil that is infested with them. Soil fumigation is practical when nematodes are the limiting factor. The Nemared variety is resistant to common species of the root-knot nematode.

Fusarium wilt is common in some local gardens. Lower leaves turn yellow to brown and the plant may wilt first on only one side. The entire plant gradually turns yellow or brown, withers and dies. Cut stems show dark brown streaks on the inside. The disease is most serious during warm weather and usually appears shortly before the first fruits ripen. Use disease resistant, adapted varieties. This disease will not damage other crops.

Gray leaf spot is also common this year in our gardens. Many grayish-brown shiny spots 1/8 to 1/8 inches wide appear on the leaves in warm, wet weather. Later, the leaves may turn yellow beginning with the lower leaves, wither and drop, almost defoliating the plants. The use of disease-free plants is important. Practice rotation, apply regular spray schedule in the plant bed and field. Well-fertilized soils usually have less damage.

We have seen other problems with tomatoes. If you are experiencing tomato problems or any other plant problems, please feel free to call our office at 267-6671 and we will be happy to assist you.

The following information was written by Charles Allen, Extension Entomologist, Ft. Stockton, Texas and shares it with us this week.

Tomato Pests

This year has been an excellent year for tomatoes. The cool wet weather has been just what the plants needed to set a large number of blooms. Many tomato growers will undoubtedly lose a large number of fruit to worms. Pinworms, fruit worms and hornworms destroy many tomato fruits and vines each year.

Pinworms are small but destructive worms which feed on the fruit underneath the "cap" where the stem is attached. They generally cause superficial damage at the stem end, but can tunnel into the middle ruining the entire fruit. Their damage often opens the fruit to fungus and bacterial invaders which leave it inedible.

Fruit worms (or corn earworms) are larger worms which eat holes into the sides of tomatoes. A few fruitworms can damage a lot of fruit since they eat into a tomatoe and then, after feeding for a short time, move to an undamaged tomato, and then another. One fruit worm destroys an average of 5-7 tomatoes (if they are available) during its life.

Horn worms are larger than fruitworms, bright green in color with white markings on the side and they have a distinct sharp pointed horn at the posterior end of the body. These worms are generally more interested in the tomato plant than in the fruit. When they get large, they can be very destructive in a short time.

Insecticides can be used to protect tomato plants and fruit, but it is important to choose the right insecticide for the job. Many people use Sevin® dust. This product will provide good control of hornworms, fair control of fruit worms and almost no control of pinworms. Liquid diazinon (Spectracide®), malathion or pyrethrin are excellent choices.

Engagements

HOUSTON — COUPLE TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vitelli of Youngstown, Ohio announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Corrine of Houston, to Joey Shaw, formerly of Big Spring, now of Houston. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James W. Shaw of Big Spring. The couple will wed October 11 at the Memorial Drive United Methodist Church in Houston with Doug Meyer, officiating.

COAHOMA — DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. Rick Eddins, Rt. 1 Box 359A, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lisa Marie, to James Dewayne Isaac of Cherry Point, N.C. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Isaac of Deane, Kent. The couple will wed September 6 at the First Presbyterian Church in Coahoma with Minister Ray Bell, officiating.

Finally. Some good news from the Third World.

What's the news? Through CCF, hundreds of thousands of needy Third World children now have food, clothing, medical care, a chance to go to school or whatever is needed most to improve their lives.

You can become a part of this heartwarming story by sponsoring a poor child yourself. It costs just $18 a month — only 60¢ a day. All you need to do is call this toll-free number. It will mean so much to one girl or boy. Being sponsored can really make a difference for one child. And that's the kind of news everyone likes to hear.
