The estimated population for 1990, according to the study, is 2,000, and for the year 2000 is 22,600.

TESCO may give refunds

The average Texas Utilities Electric Co. customer would get a $10.50 refund if the company's plan to refund $64.8 million in overcharges to customers is approved.

An application is to be sent to the Public Utility Commission, asking authorization for the refund, the company announced today.

The money has been saved because of lowered fuel costs, according to a news release.

The company will ask the PUC to authorize the refund "at the earliest possible date," which probably will be in October, through a credit to customers' bills.

The refund will be made in accordance with the new permanent fuel rule recently adopted by the PUC. The rule requires that refunds be made if amounts overcharged customers exceed 4 percent of the company's annual fuel costs, or $46 million, whichever is lower.

White calls for sales tax hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White, saying low oil prices are a "shadow darkening our economy," today asked lawmakers to temporarily raise the sales tax from 4 1/2 percent to 5 1/2 percent to help close the $3.5 billion budget deficit.

"Tough times call for tough choices," White told a joint session of the House and Senate. "We need this emergency tax for one year. We need it for Texas."

White, who faces Republican former Gov. Bill Clements in the November election, told lawmakers he knows the political consequences of proposing a tax hike three months before an election.

"Some say this may cost us our jobs. And it might. I know what I am asking you to do," White said.

The governor also proposed cutting the state budget by $1.4 billion, reductions he said would be painful but unavoidable.

"These cuts are deep and painful. I know what they mean in human terms. They are devastating," White said.

Among the cuts he proposed were $10 million from his own office, $17 million from the Department of Health, $64 million from three dozen state universities, $78 million from junior colleges and $86 million from the Department of Human Services.

He also said some state government employees may have to be laid off, although he said that would be "the very last resort."

However, White proposed denying state workers the 3 percent pay raise they are due Sept. 1 and rolling back their salaries another 3 percent.

White also vowed to preserve the increased spending for public education that was part of the school reform bill passed in 1984.

"We didn't build public education in 1964 to tear it down in 1988," he said. The governor also supported a three-year, $4.8 billion tax increase for those reforms and highway improvements.

Under White's proposal, the sales tax increase would take effect Sept. 1 and expire automatically on Aug. 31, 1987, the end of the current two-year budget cycle.

Experts estimated it would raise about $800 million during the year it is in force.

If oil prices — and state oil tax revenues — increase enough before that time, White said he would support early abolition of the increase.

Likening the dilemma facing lawmakers now to the situation faced by Texas' founders during the 1836 revolution against Mexico, White said, "Let's do right. This will not be our Alamo. This will be our San Jacinto."

The governor's plan was presented at a time when Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis favor markedly different approaches to solving the budget crisis.

Hobby has insisted the only responsible solution includes a tax hike to avoid cuts in crucial services.

But Lewis, in whose chamber any tax bill must originate, vowed Tuesday to block any tax hike.

Lewis said he would fight a tax hike, even if pushed by White.

"Give us time to plan our way out of this crisis, not tax our way out," he said Tuesday as he announced his plan to eliminate 8,000 state jobs, reduce state salaries by 3 percent and make other cuts that could save $1.2 billion.

Water situation back to normal

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

City Hall this morning encouraged residents to water lawns with abandon, as crews Tuesday finally got the best of a pesky gate valve that had bewildered the city for nearly a month.

The success in removing the crippled valve coincides with work begun Tuesday on bypassing it with 12-inch line.

"We might start giving Green Stamps for people to start watering lawns," said Mayor Cotton Mize, who was obviously pleased by Tuesday's developments.

There is no need, he said, for residents to abide by the previous even/odd watering scheme.

Mize said installing the crossover pipe to bypass the valve, at a cost of $5,000, will enhance the distribution system by allowing water to flow around the valve should problems there arise again.

The 20-inch valve, which had restricted water flow to high-side reservoirs, had been impossible to repair because it could not be isolated from intense and constant water pressure.

Inaccurate and incomplete records of the water system's valve and pipe configurations had hampered efforts to block the pressure.

But a valve at Johnson and 12th streets, unnoticed in earlier efforts to depressurize the troublesome unit, was closed Tuesday, sharply reducing pressure and prompting a sigh of relief from city officials.

"We about wore the pressure gauge out by staring at it," joked Mize.

With reduced pressure, crews were able to remove the broken mechanism and seal the base.

Public Works Director Tom Decell saw a bright side to the malingering problems at the water plant.

OPEC

Oil cut may not affect economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The OPEC agreement to temporarily cut oil production to boost prices should not have much impact on the U.S. economy, but could give breathing room to troubled U.S. producers, government and private economists say.

If the agreement holds, it also could help ease the Reagan administration out of what had become a thorny election-year political dilemma: whether to help ailing Southwestern energy companies at the expense of American energy consumers.

Administration officials, while publicly reiterating that free market forces should determine oil prices, privately expressed guarded satisfaction over the agreement that broke a long OPEC deadlock.

"It takes a little heat off what had become a very nasty situation," said one administration official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity.

The drop in world petroleum prices has produced a serious economic slump throughout the oil-producing Southwest — while the rest of the nation has been reaping the benefits of lower costs.

"Somebody has tossed the U.S. oil industry a life preserver, but it's a tenuous one at this point," said Stephen A. Smith, an energy economist with Data Resources Inc., a Lexington, Mass., economic forecasting service. "It may be leaky. But it looks like something they can hold on to a little longer."

Analysts generally suggested that Tuesday's action by the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to reduce production from the current level of 20.5 million barrels a day to 16.7 million could cause about a dime-a-gallon increase in U.S. gasoline prices at the pump over the next few months.

In Tuesday's volatile market, the price of a 42-gallon barrel of U.S. crude oil closed at $15.02, up from Monday's $13.29 closing price.

The collapse in world oil prices earlier this year gave the United States its sharpest price declines in more than three decades, pointing toward an inflation rate of near 2.0 percent or less for all of 1986 — even with the anticipated new oil price increases.

"It is good for the economy to have lower inflation. But there was an additional long term problem. At $10 a barrel, the oil companies virtually had stopped exploration," Ortnor said.

Stacy Dam faces new difficulties

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Outcry from a federal environmental agency and a property owner dissatisfied with purchasing bids from the Colorado Water River Municipal District are the most recent obstacles facing the construction of Stacy Dam Reservoir.

John Fitzgerald of the Defenders of Wildlife in Washington, D.C., said this morning if the Army Corps of Engineers issues a building permit for construction of Stacy, the conservation group may file suit to request that possible endangerment of the Concho water snake be put to the Endangered Species Committee in Washington.

The snake's habitat is where the Concho and Colorado rivers join. Some environmentalists say the species would become extinct if the reservoir is constructed at its proposed site.

Sen. Lloyd Benson said Thursday he was told by Corps officials that they will approve the permit if the Fish and Wildlife Service does.

ROSEBURG, Ore. — Country and western singer MERLE HAGGARD abruptly canceled a show opening the Douglas County Fair, saying sudden illness prompted him to go home.

Tuesday's cancellation came a day after Haggard disappointed 10,000 fans at the Clark County Fair in Richfield, Wash., by leaving without performing his evening show.

Dennis Bottomley, Haggard's director of business affairs, said the singer returned to his home outside Redding, Calif., where he was recovering from dysentery and planned to see a physician.

Clark County Sheriff's Department spokesman Gary Lucas said he was told Haggard left the fairgrounds after some sort of misunderstanding with his wife.

TORONTO — Would you believe DON ADAMS was to tape a scene this week in which he was to portray a man going into hospital for a hernia operation?

Well, would you believe the taping had to be postponed because Adams had his appendix removed Tuesday at Toronto General Hospital?

Adams, 60, was preparing to tape the hospital scene for his weekly CTV comedy series "Check It Out" when he had a pain in his side Monday. The house doctor at his hotel diagnosed appendicitis, the news agency Canadian Press reported.

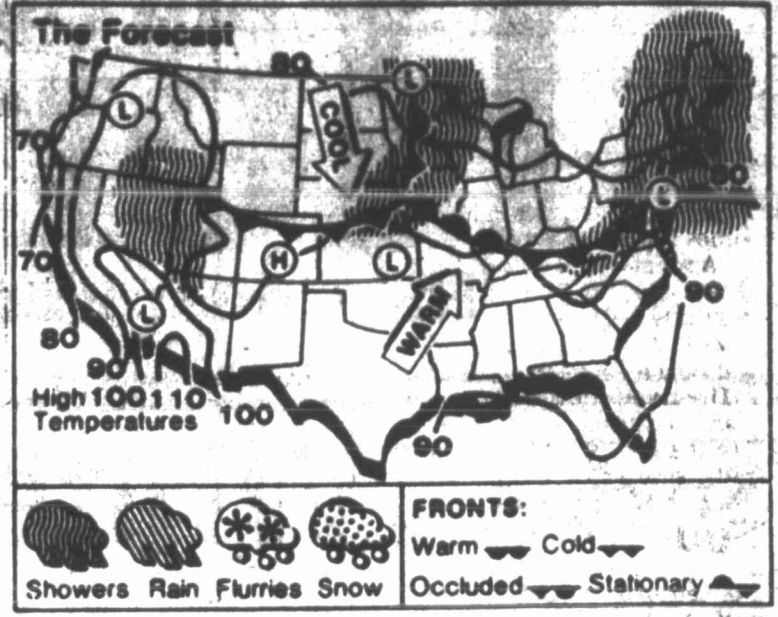

A hospital spokesman said Adams was in good condition after undergoing the appendectomy Tuesday.

OMAHA, Neb. — Chief Justice WARREN BURGER received a standing ovation in absentia as justices and court administrators from about 40 states opened a conference here.

The retiring U.S. Supreme Court chief justice was hailed Tuesday at the meeting of the Conferences of Chief Justices and State Court Administrators.

Edward Hennessey, chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court and president of the conference, said Burger is responsible for a new spirit of cooperation between federal and state judiciaries.

UTPB begins research center campaign

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A campaign for the University of Texas at the Permian Basin Center for Energy and Economic Diversification began this morning at the university.

Big Spring businesswoman Johnnie Lou Avery, one of five campaign leaders, was scheduled to speak at the ceremony. She is the owner of Avery & Associates, a business, education and government consulting firm.

UTPB is trying to raise a total of $15 million by 1991 to build the center, $5 million of that by the end of this year, said Ellen Sawyer, executive director of university relations.

The center is an applied research facility, she said. It will work with regional businesses, the UT system, and state and federal governments to create opportunities to help diversify the region's economy.

Dr. Duane Leach, president of UTPB, announced the campaign.

The center is vital to this region as it seeks to grow in scope and benefit people and businesses, Leach said.

Sawyer said the center is working on numerous major projects to benefit the Permian Basin economy, including the creation of a National Center for Excellence, which would represent 23 national companies involved in the specialized manufacture of materials for worldwide use.

Leach discussed one project under negotiation, which would attract a large manufacturing project to the area by gathering local business owners into a consortium.

Sawyer said the center also is being considered as one of two universities in the nation to work in cooperation with the federal government to license patents and technology. The project would provide a broad base for delivering technical and managerial support services to industry in the region, she said.

She said land has been donated for the project, to be built between Midland and Odessa, on Highways 191 and 178.

The first building will encompass about 30,000 square feet and will house offices, laboratories, a library, computer facilities and other work space, she said.

Other buildings may be constructed later, but no number has been planned, Sawyer said.

Odessa man stable after tractor accident

A 34-year-old Odessa man was listed in stable condition this morning at Lubbock Methodist Hospital after he apparently was run over by a tractor Monday morning in Martin County.

Jerry Wayne Henderson underwent surgery Tuesday afternoon after he was transferred from Scenic Mountain Medical Center in Big Spring, said a Lubbock hospital nurse.

He was being treated for multiple facial injuries, a Scenic Mountain hospital spokeswoman said.

According to the sheriff's log, deputies were notified by citizen's band radio of the accident on a dirt road north of Interstate 20 in Martin County.

Deputies then notified the Department of Public Safety in Martin County, according to the log, and Henderson was taken to the Big Spring hospital by ambulance.

Investigating DPS trooper Victor Taylor refused to give details of the accident, saying only that it occurred on private property and involved "a person on a farm tractor."

Sheriff's deputy Robert Stapp said he understood that Henderson had been run over by the tractor on private property.

Man enters guilty plea

A 31-year-old Los Angeles man pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon in 118th District Court to biting a police officer on July 26.

Armando Joseph Smith was placed on five years probation by District Judge James Gregg.

According to a police complaint, three officers were attempting to restrain Smith in the booking room when he bit officer Drew Bavin on the forearm. Bavin was treated for the wound at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Smith initially was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication.

Sheriff's log

Local man released on bonds

Sheriff's deputies released Raymond Roland Anglin, 35, of Apache Bend Apartments, Building 28, Apt. 4, from county jail Tuesday night on bonds totaling $3,500.

He was arrested Sunday morning at a rest stop on Highway 87 south of Big Spring on an assault warrant issued by County Judge Milton Kirby.

In addition to suspicion of assault, Anglin is charged with possession of drug paraphernalia and carrying a prohibited weapon.

Police transferred Santos J. Lopez, 21, of 1111 W. Seventh St. to county jail Tuesday afternoon after his bondsman withdrew his bonds. Lopez is charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon and assault. He was released on new bonds totaling $1,000.

Police transferred Robert Johnson, 23, of Brookport, Ill., to county jail Tuesday night after he was arrested on suspicion of burglarizing a motor vehicle. He was released on $2,000 bond.

For the record

Saturday's story about reorganization at the former

Malone-Hogan Hospital contained an error in the list of persons who lost their jobs.

Emily Ward, director of public relations at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, said this morning that Dr. Max Wolf is still chief of radiology. No discharges were made in the radiology department, she said.

She and acting administrator Keith R. King had told the Herald Friday that an employee in the radiology department was among those dismissed.

Malone-Hogan Hospital officially changed its name Tuesday to Scenic Mountain Medical Center after National Healthcare Inc. became the new owners.

 been higher, he said, adding that he's anxious for residents to use water to "show them how much I can pump."

Moreover, Decell said the public works department "learned more in the past two weeks under a lot of duress about the system" than had ever been known before.

The water distribution system remains plagued by faulty components, he said, including a large number of inoperative valves.

Community support in conserving water was a major factor in enabling the repairs to be made, Decell said. With full reservoirs, "we could safely afford to shut the system down," he said.

Mize said he appreciates the efforts of all city employees during the extended repair operation. "We had a lot of people putting in extra hours and busting their rear ends," he said.

The cost of correcting the valve problem and the limited city water sales has not been calculated, Decell said.

not object. Frank Dunkle, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, said last week his agency would drop its objection to Stacy Dam if the water district takes steps to protect the snake.

One of the steps proposed by the district would be to relocate the snake.

Owen Ivie, director of the water district, said last week the district would hire a herpetologist to determine ways to preserve the snake.

But Fitzgerald said this morning he understood a study by biologists and herpetologists of the Fish and Wildlife Service concluded that 75 percent of the snakes would be "wiped out" even if their habitat was relocated.

"Extinction is one mistake you can't correct," he said.

He said a decision by a higher authority such as the Endangered Species Committee is a more honest way to resolve the issue "than pretending that Stacy Dam will protect the species."

Joe Pickle, water district secretary-treasurer, said, "The irony of it is, the environmentalists say the snake is going to die. We're saying why not do something to get the snake to survive."

The water district also entered its second day of condemnation hearings this morning in the Coleman County District courtroom. "Under the right of eminent domain, we filed for a condemnation hearing," Pickle said. He said the legal process provides a right for certain public agencies to acquire private property for public good.

Pickle said the water district is trying to reach a purchase agreement with owners of the Miller Ranch Estate for properties that would comprise the immediate dam site.

Mack Sampson, Coleman County State Bank vice president who manages finances of the Miller Estate, said estate owners met with district officials previously but could not reach a settlement.

Both he and Pickle said they did not know what terms of the purchase were discussed. Sampson said price differences arose over certain portions of the property, such as land that will compose the riverfront.

Testimony from district and estate surveyors and from appraisers hired by the district was expected to continue through Thursday afternoon, Sampson said.

Following the testimony, a three-person commissioners' board will decide a fair market price for the 4,100 to 5,200 requested acreage, Pickle said.

All three commissioners are from Coleman, Sampson said. Pickle said if either side is dissatisfied with the determined amount, they have the right to appeal the decision to district court.

Furr's Supermarket reported Tuesday that someone forged a company payroll check July 9.

Kenneth Kirk Kirkham, 18, 1404 Nolan St., was arrested early this morning on a traffic warrant and violating his driver's license restriction. He was released on bond.

Judge revokes probation

Howard County Judge Milton Kirby revoked a 29-year-old Big Spring man's probation Tuesday morning and ordered him to serve a 30-day jail term.

Randy Carl Wilbert of 2902 Cherokee admitted violating two conditions of his probation received from a driving while intoxicated conviction. According to county clerk files, he failed to avoid injurious or vicious habits and was delinquent in paying his probation fees.

He was arrested by sheriff's deputies on Kirby's order and confined in county jail.

Maltese warned Libya

NEW YORK — Malta warned Libya that planes were heading its way as U.S. planes flew toward the North African country on their April bombing raids, The New York Times reported today.

"Any information that might be beneficial to our allies we pass on to them. We do that regularly and systematically and will continue to do so," Prime Minister Karmenu Mizzi said in a statement.

The prime minister said that Maltese air traffic controllers had not been able to identify the planes that were picked up on their radar screens 30 to 45 minutes before the raid.

Four die on way to fire

A helicopter crashed, killing four people en route to a Colorado brush fire that proved to be a false alarm, as 2,700 firefighters from six states headed to Oregon and Washington to battle wilderness blazes covering 57,000 acres.

Four wildfires also continued to rage in Idaho after charring 43,000 acres.

In western Colorado, three firefighters were being flown Tuesday from a blaze near Delta to Hotchkiss, where a fire had been reported, when the copter crashed in the rugged Gunnison Gorge. The three and the pilot died.

Schroeder has setback

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The family of the world's longest-living artificial-heart recipient, William J. Schroeder, kept a bedside vigil today after he took a turn for the worse, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Schroeder's condition stabilized Tuesday night after deteriorating sharply earlier in the day, said Donna Hazle, spokeswoman for Humana Hospital-Audubon.

"We don't know for sure what's happened, we just know that it is serious and that it was important for them to come to the hospital," said Patti Schroeder.

Escapee remains at large

BRECKENRIDGE — Authorities entering their third day of searching for fugitive death row inmate Richard Donald "Stony" Foster said they had few leads to the jail escapee.

Law enforcement officials plan to keep combing through the Possum Kingdom Lake area in north central Texas, said Texas Ranger Billy Peterson.

"We'll search 'til that sucker's caught," he said.

Meanwhile the Vietnam veteran's former lawyers warned Foster would not give up easily and said he is suffering from post-traumatic stress.

Foster, 33, escaped from the Stephens County Jail Sunday night with another inmate, Cindy Davis, 27. Ms. Davis was captured at about 8 a.m. Monday on the east side of Possum Kingdom Lake, about 25 miles southeast of Breckenridge.

Since then, few leads have turned up, authorities said Tuesday.

Rehnquist memos

Democrats reviewing Nixon-era documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, looking for new ammunition to challenge William H. Rehnquist's nomination to be chief justice, are reviewing documents Rehnquist wrote as a Nixon administration lawyer.

The Reagan administration, hoping to keep Rehnquist's Senate confirmation on track, agreed to show the Senate Judiciary Committee memos dealing with Rehnquist's role in controversial Nixon administration policies.

Meanwhile, on another touchy issue, Rehnquist acknowledged in a letter to the committee that, contrary to his testimony, he had been informed in writing of language in the deed of his summer home in Greensboro, Vt., that bars Jews from owning the property.

Rehnquist testified last week that he had just learned about the covenant and about a similar deed for his former home in Phoenix, Ariz., which contained language barring non-whites from owning that property.

The memos from Rehnquist's stint in the Justice Department were written from 1969 to 1971 when he was chief legal adviser to then-Attorney General John Mitchell under President Nixon. They involve domestic wiretapping and the administration's plans for dealing with Vietnam War protesters.

All 18 senators on the committee and six staff aides — three Republicans and three Democrats — were permitted to look at the documents but not to copy them.

Democrats scaled down their original demand but said Tuesday they were satisfied they received all relevant documents. They expected to complete the review today.

The agreement to provide the material headed off a possible constitutional confrontation that threatened to delay action on President Reagan's nomination of Supreme Court Justice Rehnquist to succeed the retiring Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

The White House and Justice Department balked last week at providing the memos but relented when two Republicans said they would vote with committee Democrats to subpoena them.

"We are getting access to all we asked for," said Sen. Joseph Biden of Delaware, the ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee. "The administration is not holding back anything."

Justice Department spokesman Patrick Korten said the number of documents to be shown the committee "represents a drastic narrowing of the material sought from the original request. It is a relatively small number of documents."

Women's groups oppose Scalia nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antonin Scalia's appointment to the Supreme Court appears to be sailing smoothly toward Senate confirmation but an array of women's groups still hopes to sink his nomination.

Representatives of groups including the National Organization for Women and the National Abortion Rights Action League were prepared to testify today in opposition to Scalia's nomination.

Testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee over a nine-hour stretch Tuesday, a confident glib Scalia was spared the rancor Chief Justice-designate William H. Rehnquist confronted when appearing before the same panel last week.

One of the few negative moments for Scalia on Tuesday came when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., asserted that the nominee is insensitive to "the right of women to escape their second-class status under the law."

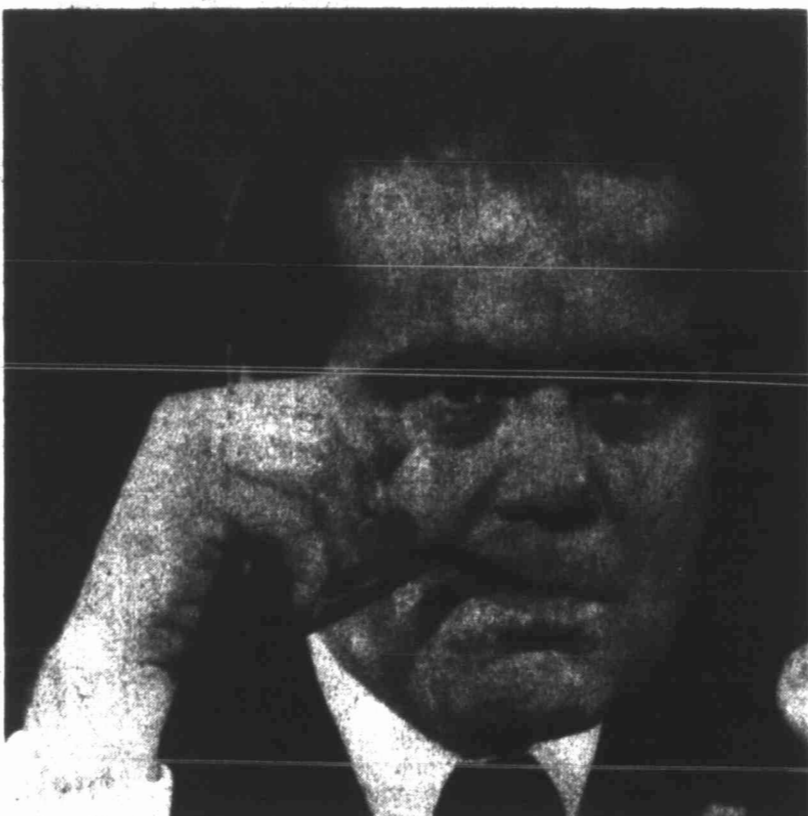

Kennedy offered no specifics in elaboration of the assertion.

Scalia, 50, told the committee, "I assure you I have no agenda. My only agenda is to be a good judge."

He said he is not joining the court to overturn past rulings, including the landmark 1973 decision legalizing abortion.

"I am not comfortable in imposing my moral view on society," he said.

Songwriter found dead

LONDON — Police said an American songwriter was found dead today in a London mansion owned by pop singer Boy George, who pleaded guilty last week to heroin possession.

Boy George was not at the house when the body was found shortly before dawn, and Scotland Yard spokesman Nick Jordan said the singer "was not involved at all."

Police identified the dead man as Michael Rudetsky, 27, of New York, who had flown to London Tuesday to work with the flamboyant British singer, whose real name is George O'Dowd.

"It is not being treated as a suspicious death," said Jordan, who would not rule out the possibility of a drug overdose.

The Scotland Yard spokesman said that neither drugs nor drug paraphernalia were found near the body, and said there was no evidence "to suggest violence or criminal activity."

32 die in train crash

NEW DELHI, India — A cross-country express train today crashed into a freight train in northern India, sending some coaches tumbling into a monsoon-swollen river and killing at least 32 passengers, authorities said.

The United News of India news agency quoted local officials in Bihar state as saying that more than 100 people were feared killed in the crash on a railroad bridge.

Government officials told Parliament that the exact number of casualties was not immediately known. Some of the bodies were reported to have washed downstream.

Hiroshima anniversary

HIROSHIMA, Japan — Hiroshima fell silent this morning as thousands recalled the horrifying moment 41 years ago when the world's first atomic bomb attack devastated their city in a flash of heat and blinding light.

In a humid summer swelter, thousands of people crowded into Peace Memorial Park to offer prayers for the estimated 78,000 to 140,000 people who died when the 20-kiloton bomb was dropped on Aug. 6, 1945 by a U.S. B-29 bomber, the Enola Gay.

The hour-long ceremony opened with the sprinkling of a memorial cenotaph with water, the last wish of many of those who died from the bomb's intense heat and the fires it ignited.

Locusts plague Africa

NAIROBI, Kenya — The rains that brought relief to drought- and famine-plagued Africa have spawned swarms of locusts so thick that five countries' crops are now in serious danger, a United Nations agency says.

For the first time in a half-century, an infestation of four types of locusts has occurred at the same time in Africa, and the plague could last five years, the U. N. Food and Agriculture Organization said in a statement Tuesday.

USFL gains a hollow victory

How many United States Football League games did you watch last year? Do you care if you never see one again? If you don't care — and that's a strong possibility if you're not a USFL player or team owner — then you'll be glad to hear that a New York jury did nothing to help the young league survive.

The jurors handed the USFL a moral victory in its antitrust lawsuit against the National Football League. Yes, the NFL is a monopoly, they said. And the NFL unfairly tried to gain a competitive edge over the USFL. But for the life of them, they couldn't see how the USFL suffered damages.

The struggling league, which has lost nearly $200 million since it started three years ago, wound up with a $3 award. That may be its death sentence.

The USFL had asked for $1.69 billion or, at the least, a chance to air their games on one of the major networks. They certainly had a reason to believe they might prevail.

This is a country with a historic hatred of business monopolies. Our courts did, after all, break up Ma Bell.

But the jurors apparently didn't see the USFL as real competition. When its teams flopped, they refused to rescue the league with court action. The ruling made the NFL look bad. It also confirmed that the USFL is irrelevant.

American biker is world's best

They played "The Star Spangled Banner" on the Champs-Elysees in Paris recently, not for a visiting statesman but for a shy young man who achieved what no American — indeed, no non-European — had ever done.

Greg LeMond, who lives part of the year in Rancho Murieta in California, won the Tour de France, the grueling competition that is to bicycling what Wimbledon is to tennis and the Super Bowl is to American football.

It was an astonishing feat, as much psychological as physical. Over 23 days and more than 2,500 miles, LeMond had to compete not only against other cyclists but also the opposition of nearly everyone else, especially the hostile news media, in a country that regards the Tour's coveted yellow jersey as permanent French property.

LeMond's victory over teammate and five-time Tour winner Bernard Hinault is a climax to a career he stumbled into only as a means of strengthening his legs for skiing.

At 25, fame and fortune are his, and anyone who knows how punishing the sport can be knows he has earned it.

Ironically, LeMond's fame is far greater in Europe, where cycling is almost a way of life for millions, than in his own country, where few people had even heard of him. If the sport now becomes more popular here, Greg LeMond will deserve much of the credit.

In either case, his victory in France is a stunning personal achievement, and proof that talent and grit were universal and speak no language but their own.

Mexican 'president-to-be' is advisor to de la Madrid

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The man who could become the next president of Mexico is the kind of quiet revolutionary who bears close scrutiny north of the border. Carlos Salinas de Gortari seems to aim at nothing less than weaning his country away from a pervasive, socialist economy to a dynamic partnership between government and free enterprise.

If he succeeds — in winning the presidency two years from now and transforming the Mexican economy — it could have enormous consequences for the United States. An expanding economy could provide jobs for the nearly 1 million Mexicans who enter the job market each year, relieving the unemployment pressures that now drive thousands of desperate peasants to enter the United States illegally seeking jobs.

Politically, Salinas is well-positioned. As President Miguel de la Madrid's programming and budget secretary, he "has become one of the president's most trusted advisers on domestic economic issues," according to a secret CIA profile. It adds that "he has good family connections, became active in the PRI (the ruling party) early on and has excellent academic credentials."

Described by the CIA analysts as "an ambitious technocrat and an expert economist," the slightly built, 38-year-old Salinas invites comparison to one of the early stalwarts of the "Reagan revolution." But when we asked him flat out whether he considered himself the David Stockman of Mexico, he replied with a firm "No."

He went on to explain: "I would never write a book like that. I have a very deep respect for politics." The reference was to Stockman's memoir, "The Triumph of Politics," which is popular among English-reading members of Mexico's elite, including the president.

There's an obvious reason, of course, why Salinas would never undercut his president, Stockman style: He needs de la Madrid's backing if he wants to become president. So he takes great pains to explain that his policy of dismantling the state economy monopoly originated with de la Madrid. This makes Salinas a loyalist instead of an apostate.

"We have been cutting many, many dogmas in the last three years," Salinas told us. The de la Madrid administration inherited 1,150 state enterprises, he noted. "And we have been selling, liquidating. ... Never in this country had a public sector enterprise been sold in the past."

As a result of this wholesale divestiture, the government now has only 690 state enterprises left. And Salinas said he wants to unload even more, including Mexican Airlines.

The daunting enormity of Mexico's financial problems was tacitly acknowledged by Salinas as he illustrated the impact of the fall in oil prices from $25 a barrel to about $12. This, he said, cost Mexico $7 billion in foreign exchange revenues, which today are equal to only half the interest payments Mexico makes on its nearly $100 billion foreign debt.

Salinas' evident pride in one achievement was almost poignant. He pointed out that Mexico "actually reduced its foreign debt by $300 million" last year. At that rate, the debt could be paid off in roughly 350 years.

Though he favors moderating Mexico's protectionist trade policies, Salinas has no overwhelming desire to encourage foreign investment. The CIA profile noted that Salinas was considered favorable to free enterprise, but added that "more recent reporting from reliable sources indicates that he belongs to the left wing of the PRI, and he may favor greater state domination of corporations that are now owned mostly by U.S. and multinational firms."

BUREAUCRATIC BOOKIE: From 1981 until earlier this year, a computer programmer at the Environmental Protection Agency ran a sophisticated sports gambling ring through an EPA main terminal computer. Vast amounts of information on baseball, golf, horse racing and other sports were stored in government disks. One program, for example, kept statistics on every college basketball player in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Eight employees were assigned particular ACC teams.

The computer bookie told the EPA inspector general the basketball betting pool was conducted "for the morale" of employees, the baseball program was to develop his programming skills and the golf program was testing a randomization theory. He was charged with embezzlement and pleaded guilty.

Around the rim

Education, not betting, is the answer

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

With its monster deficit, reeling oil industry and depressed farm economy, Texas soon must make painful decisions about its economic future.

To hold state revenues hostage to the wild fluctuations of the world oil market is dangerous and irresponsible. Furthermore, even if oil prices eventually stabilize above $20 a barrel in years to come, the future does not belong to fossil fuels.

Ironically, the Superconducting Super Collider atom smasher the area so feverishly courts is the very thing that could help usher out man's reliance on oil and gas to drive power plants.

The SSC's promise to the future is to facilitate the development of fusion energy — the same type produced by the sun. The perfection of this relatively safe, clean form of nuclear energy would help render fossil fuels obsolete in decades to come, scientists say.

In addition to fusion energy, geothermal, solar, wind and alcohol-related power are steadily making inroads to the energy field.

Because petroleum now is relatively cheap and plentiful, the engineering of these alternate sources has been slowed. But should prices climb to $30 a barrel again, northern states most assuredly will speed the pace of development.

In addition to the oil glut, state agriculture is taking a terrible beating. Cotton, grain and beef prices are depressed worldwide. With the emergence of China and India in the market, prospects for a quick rebound of world cotton prices seem remote.

To think the state can close the revenue gap by initiating a state lottery and parimutuel betting is a pipe dream. The lottery may bring in $90 million annually, according to State Rep. Larry Don Shaw. Parimutuel betting would earn less for the state, bringing with it a host of enforcement headaches and an infusion of mob-like elements to the state.

To pin hopes of a healthy budget on gambling is folly.

Texas' hope for sustained economic recovery and growth lies with educated people working to diversify its economy. That will take a strong commitment to education — not horse racing.

Repeal labor laws that help unions

A few months ago, a team of federal agents swooped down on a rural area of North Carolina and put some dangerous lawbreakers out of business. Marijuana growing? Cocaine smuggling? Moonshine stills? None of these. The offense was sewing gloves.

Since when, you may ask, is it illegal to sew gloves? Silly question. The law forbids glove-sewing only when it is done for money in the home. The Tom Thumb Glove Company had 85 women in and near Taylorville, N.C., doing just that. The federal agents weren't from the Drug Enforcement Administration but the Labor Department. The enforcement of these antiquated regulations only dramatizes the need for their repeal, a step that reportedly will be taken soon by Labor Secretary William Brock.

The ban on industrial homework was imposed in 1943 and applies, with no logical consistency, to several goods — women's apparel, jewelry, buttons and buckles, handkerchiefs, gloves and embroidery. A seventh category, knitted outerwear, was excluded in 1964 after a legal fight by several Vermont women who worked illegally out of their homes.

The ostensible purpose of the rules was to protect workers from unscrupulous employers. Their chief effects have been to harm people who prefer to work at home and to strengthen labor unions.

The opposition to the prohibition comes mainly from workers who prefer the convenience of home to the supposed protections of a centralized factory. Parents of small children, disabled or elderly people, workers without access to cars or public transportation — all have strong reasons to work from home. They are being "protected" not from heartless corporations but from their own choices.

Take, for example, Virginia Deal, one of the Tom Thumb workers targeted by the Labor Department. She prefers working at home because "you have more freedom and you can take care of your family." It also allowed her to help her husband run their farm, to be home when her daughter gets out of school and to drive her father on trips to the doctor. If she had to commute to the main plant, says Deal, she'd have to quit.

The support for the ban comes from organized labor. If the rules are lifted, says a lawyer for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, "it will return the worst sweatshop conditions to this industry on a wholesale basis."

The basis for the charge is flimsy. In the case of the North Carolina glove-sewers, as with the Vermont knitters, other labor laws weren't being violated.

Nor should the legalization of homework lead to abuses. Employers would still have to provide reams of information to document their compliance with other labor laws. From the perspective of unions, the real advantage of a factory setting is that it makes it easier to organize workers.

The ILGWU showed its sympathy for exploited workers in the case of the Vermont knitters. At a Labor Department hearing, one woman testified that her arthritis made it impossible for her to get to and from a factory every day. Retorted a kindly ILGWU official: "If she can work at home, she can work in a factory."

If that woman or anyone else is put out of work by enforcement of the law, no one at the ILGWU will shed a tear. The concern of the labor movement for homeworkers is the same they feel for other non-union workers: If they can't be persuaded or coerced to join a union, they should be prevented from working. Non-union employees are a perpetual threat to the inflated wages of unionized workers.

Keeping the rules won't be good for workers or the economy. If companies producing apparel or gloves have to raise wages to lure reluctant workers to a factory, they will find it harder to compete with foreign firms that rely on cheap labor.

Tom Thumb, for instance, has said that if the ban is upheld, it may have to close its North Carolina operations, which employ 250 people, and move its production abroad. Instead of supposedly exploitative jobs, these women will have no jobs at all. And the U.S. will lose another domestic manufacturer.

If the workers in these industries don't want to work at home, it is in the interest of employers to offer them factory jobs, or else to pay them enough to compensate for their dislike of being housebound — lest they find jobs elsewhere. But if the workers want to work at home, who is organized labor or the federal government or anyone else to stand in the way?

Kelly's itching to play... and, knock on wood, so is Big Herschel

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An agent for star quarterback Jim Kelly says he will be ready to instantly negotiate with the Buffalo Bills if the USFL releases its players, but a Bills official says it won't be that easy.

Kelly, of the New Jersey Generals and other players are freed by the USFL later this week, Ken Weinberger said, negotiators for Kelly will phone the Bills, who hold his NFL rights.

Bills General Manager Bill Polian said, however, that NFL teams are under league orders to not negotiate with a USFL player unless written permission is received from the USFL team holding the player's contract.

If the USFL, hampered by an unfavorable decision last week in its billion-dollar suit against the NFL, decides to release all players from their contracts, Weinberger said discussions with the Bills "will be instantaneous."

Weinberger confirmed comments Kelly made Monday following word from USFL Commissioner Harry Usher that the league would suspend operations until the fall of 1987.

Kelly, a former USFL MVP, said that a clause in his contract allows him to negotiate with other teams if the USFL does not play in 1986.

"If the league does not proceed this year, Jim has the opportunity to negotiate with the Buffalo Bills," Weinberger said. "Jim has to play this year for the contract to be in effect, but he's paid whether or not they play."

The snag, he said, could come if the Generals, with which Kelly was to play this season, decide to hold the quarterback to his contract until the end of the year.

"It could be interpreted that 'We'll wait until Dec. 31 and if we don't play, then you're free,'" Weinberger said. But he said there is "veritably no chance they're going to play this year" and that in fact he feels the USFL is dead.

"Turn out the lights, the party's over," he said.

In a statement released by the Bills, Polian said "the Buffalo Bills will not initiate any contact or conduct any negotiations with any player having a USFL contract."

"The Bills must receive written permission from the USFL club holding contractual rights to a player before negotiations can commence," Polian said.

"Full and unequivocal written releases from both the player's USFL team and the USFL league office must be obtained and reviewed by NFL legal counsel before the execution of any contract," he said.

Weinberger said the Bills "are just following very wise legal counsel."

It appeared that the earliest any could sign with the NFL would be Friday, the day after the meeting. The players and agents worried that the three weeks of training camp lost could never be made up.

"It's a matter of time," said Steinberg. "We're already into the exhibition season and every day is critical. Anybody who goes into camp now is at a real disadvantage."

DALLAS (AP) — Running back Herschel Walker says he no longer has USFL contractual obligations and will decide by early next week whether to sign with the Dallas Cowboys or pursue other interests.

According to Walker, he has the right under a four-year, $6 million guaranteed contract to leave the United States Football League and still draw a salary from New Jersey Generals' owner Donald Trump.

The league announced Monday it has indefinitely suspended operations pending further legal action against the NFL.

"It's possible they will play again (as early as fall 1987)," Walker told The Dallas Morning News. "But I'm not looking at that."

Walker said he would meet with his agent, Peter Johnson, today in New York and with Trump within the next few days. A decision will follow the meetings.

Although he said he hasn't decided whether to play for the Cowboys, Walker said he is excited about the prospect of playing in the same backfield with Tony Dorsett.

"We can be very good together," he said. "We can be great together."

Walker, who spoke Monday night with Trump, said he didn't expect the Generals' owner to block his signing with the Cowboys.

"But I may not even want to do that. That's what is strange," Walker said. "It's a big decision if I'm going to give up football. My mind is not really made up. I'm still thinking about real estate, and with Renaldo Nehemiah getting his (amateur) status back in track, I'm thinking about doing that, too."

Big plays key Oilers

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Linebacker Avon Riley knew a lot of acreage lay ahead of him the instant he made the interception near his own goal line.

Riley, a 6-foot-3, 236-pounder out of UCLA, had only one obstacle between him and a touchdown, and that was Ram quarterback Steve Bartkowski, who proved not to be a problem.

Riley lumbered into the end zone for the touchdown that wound up making the difference Monday night in the Oilers' 17-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in an exhibition opener for both teams.

The Oilers rode to victory behind quarterback Warren Moon, who was very sharp, completing 8-of-12 passes for 130 yards and a touchdown.

The touchdown was a 61-yarder to Drew Hill in the first quarter that gave the Oilers a 7-0 lead.

"We played a good, hard-hitting game," Oilers first-year Coach Jerry Glanville said. "We came up with the big plays, which will be evident for the season, because we will be a big-play team."

The Rams, who rolled up 341 yards in total offense, showed a propensity for advancing the football without getting it into the end zone.

Reserve running back Charles White scored twice and ran for 95 yards on 24 carries to lead the Rams' attack.

Bartkowski, in his first game since being released early last year by the Atlanta Falcons, was successful on 5-of-14 pass attempts for 47 yards. He threw for one touchdown and was intercepted once.

Houston, which finished 5-11 a year ago, next plays the Buffalo Bills in Houston on Aug. 16.

Strickland moves in Forsan's Bruce Strickland converges on the play in the Whataburger Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game in the Houston Astrodome last Thursday night. Strickland, an all-district linebacker from Forsan, played defensive back for the North squad. Strickland broke up two passes, made one unassisted tackle, and was credited with several assisted tackles. The South won 17-13.

Marino warns Dolphins he may sit out

Dupard and Patriots near agreement, and Ryan teaches Eagles defense

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Dan Marino said he is considering sitting out the season because of the lack of movement toward negotiating a new contract.

"If you don't get offers from other teams and you don't get what you want here, you might have to sit out," Marino said Tuesday.

Marino walked out of training camp for 37 days last year to show his disapproval of renegotiation offers by Dolphins owner Joe Robbie.

Marino, whose original four-year, $2-million contract expires at the end of this season, has insisted he has no plans to walk out again. But he's unhappy that his agent and Robbie haven't had any negotiating sessions recently. Last year, Marino asked for a multi-year contract worth $1.3 million a year.

Colts
Offensive line coach Tom Lovat has noticed marked improvement in his unit this summer.

"If they don't get complacent, they can be as good a line as there is in the league," Lovat said.

Two years ago, a line plagued by injuries and inexperience permitted 58 quarterback sacks. Last year, the sacks dropped to 35, third-lowest in the NFL, while the Colt running game led the league with a 5-yards-per-carry average.

Eagles
Coach Buddy Ryan has begun teaching the "46 defense" to the Eagles, but he isn't excited by the early returns.

"We don't know what we're doing yet," Ryan, the former defensive mastermind of the Chicago Bears, said. "We've put the whole defense in by now and we're hoping things will mesh. Maybe we'll have it down by the middle of the season."

Chargers
Top draft pick Leslie O'Neal ended a 17-day holdout by signing a four-year contract worth $1.7 million. The All-American defensive lineman from Oklahoma State was San Diego's last unsigned draft choice. He took part in his first practice after signing.

Raiders
Marc Wilson will be the starting quarterback when the Raiders play the 49ers on Sunday, Coach Tom Flores said.

Jim Plunkett will be No. 2 man, leaving second-year quarterback Rusty Hilger with just two games and little chance to move into one of the top spots, Flores said.

Browns
Linebacker Eddie Johnson sat out the first two weeks Cleveland's training camp to make some extra money and to make a point.

"Originally, they felt I didn't deserve the kind of money that (teammates) Chip Banks and Clay Matthews and Tom Cousineau are making because those guys are considered Pro Bowl players," Johnson said Tuesday.

"I've never doubted that those guys are three of the best linebackers playing, but then, so am I. All I ever asked for was to be compensated for what I've done for the Cleveland Browns."

Johnson has averaged 10 tackles a game since becoming a starter in

Saints
Herbert Harris, a promising free agent from the USFL, apparently re-injured a hamstring pull and sidelined himself for several days of practice.

"Herbert was a player we had hoped would make a real run for this team," Coach Jim Mora said. "If he did re-injure it, it would be a real blow. A hamstring is a serious injury."

49ers
San Francisco's top draft pick, Larry Roberts, and veteran linebacker Riki Ellison signed contracts.

Coach Bill Walsh said that Joe Montana, showing no problems after off-season shoulder surgery and a recent bout with back spasms, will start against the Los Angeles Raiders on Sunday, followed by Jeff Kemp and possibly Mike Moroski.

Cardinals
Receivers Jay Novacek and Clyde Duncan, linebacker Bob Harris, running back Randy Love and defensive lineman Scott Bergold are questionable because of injuries for Saturday's exhibition game against Tampa Bay, a team spokesman said. The final decision on lineups will be made later this week.

Astros halt Dodger streak at eight

By The Associated Press
The leak was stopped, and the Houston Astros were happy they didn't have to listen to the dripping any more.

Denny Walling hit two home runs, and Billy Hatcher added a grand slam as Houston scored nine runs in the final two innings to stop the Los Angeles Dodgers' eight-game winning streak with a 10-2 victory Tuesday night.

The victory avenged a loss to the Dodgers Monday and moved the Astros five games ahead of San Francisco and 6½ in front of the Dodgers in the National League West.

"It's important not to give a psychological advantage to any team," Walling said. "We're beginning to believe in ourselves. After the All-Star break, we won five straight games in our last at-bat. If that doesn't breed confidence, I don't know what does."

Walling hit a solo homer to tie the score 2-2 and ignite a four-run eighth inning. He hit another solo shot in the ninth before Hatcher hit his grand slam.

Bob Knepper started for Houston, but reliever Aurelio Lopez got the victory. Still, Knepper has not lost a game since July 9.

Braves 3, Padres 2
Cliff Speck won his first major league game in an emergency start, and Ed Olwine earned his first big league save with 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief as Atlanta held on to win in San Diego. Andres Thomas had three hits, scored a run and drove in a run for the Braves.

Speck, who had to start when Zane Smith aggravated an injured finger on his pitching hand, gave up just five hits in 5 2-3 innings. Olwine then set down nine in a row before giving up a two-out homer to Carmelo Martinez in the ninth.

Thomas singled, stole second and scored on a single by Glenn Hubbard to give the Braves a 1-0 lead in the fourth, breaking up a scoreless duel between Speck and Padres right-hander Ed Whitson. Thomas singled in a run in the sixth.

Cincinnati 11, Giants 6
Dave Parker and Bo Diaz each had three RBI, and Buddy Bell scored four runs to spoil a milestone evening for San Francisco's Steve Carlton.

With his third strikeout of the game in the third inning, Carlton became only the second pitcher to reach the 4,000-strikeout plateau. Nolan Ryan of Houston is the all-time leader with 4,209 strikeouts.

Carlton, however, left in the fourth inning, having given up seven runs on seven hits, three walks, a wild pitch and a balk.

Cubs 8, Mets 5
Jerry Mumphrey hit a three-run pinch homer in the eighth inning to break a 5-5 tie and give Chicago its fourth straight victory over the Mets. The Cubs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth against reliever Roger McDowell. Terry Francona then hit into a home-to-first double play before Mumphrey hit his third homer of the season.

Expos 3, Pirates 6
Dennis Martinez pitched a four-hitter for his first shutout in more than a year. In fact, Martinez, acquired from Baltimore on June 16, had not won a game since last September.

Martinez didn't walk a hitter and struck two. His last shutout was a 1-0 one-hitter against California on June 5, 1985.

The Expos scored two runs in the fourth inning on a bases-loaded double play grounder by Tom Nieto and shortstop Sammy Khalifa's wild throw.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 4
Bob Forsch matched the longest winning streak of his career with his fifth straight victory, and Tommy Herr drove in three runs to give the Cardinals their 13th victory in 18 games since the All-Star break.

Forsch, 11-6, allowed six hits and needed two-out relief help in the ninth from Todd Worrell. Forsch had a double to ignite St. Louis' four-run fifth inning, and Terry Pendleton drove in two runs in the inning with a double.

Forsch had retired nine in a row and took a four-hitter into the ninth before running into trouble. Worrell gave up a two-run single by Von Hayes before pitching out of the jam.

San Francisco Giants' pitcher Steve Carlton tips his hat to the fans after he recorded his 4,000 career strikeout Tuesday night against the Cincinnati Reds in San Francisco. Carlton struck out Reds' batter Eric Davis in the third inning to gain the milestone.

Boyd returns, pitches well, and loses

By The Associated Press
AP Baseball Writer
The Boston Red Sox were hoping Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd could give them a quick lift, the same thing that Jim Traber is doing for the Baltimore Orioles.

Boyd pitched well Tuesday night but lost to the Chicago White Sox 3-1. At the same time, Traber was hitting a two-run homer that led the Orioles past the Texas Rangers 9-2.

As a result, Baltimore closed within 2½ games of the American League East-leading Red Sox — their slimmest lead since June 1. Boston has lost 14 of its last 19 games while the Orioles have won nine of 12.

"You couldn't ask for anything more than we got. He pitched good enough to win," Boston Manager John McNamara said after Boyd, working for the first time since July 8, gave up eight hits over 7 2-3 innings. Two of the hits at Fenway Park were home runs by Carlton Fisk and Harold Baines.

Boyd, 11-7, whose suspension was lifted by the Red Sox last Friday, did not talk with reporters after the game.

Chicago's Richard Dotson pitched seven innings of three-hit ball and Gene Nelson closed with hitless relief.

Angels 13, Twins 1
Mike Witt threw a three-hitter and California rapped 18 hits and drew 11 walks from five Minnesota pitchers in breaking a three-game losing streak.

Bob Boone drove in four runs, Wally Joyner hit a two-run homer and Brian Downing and Gary Pettis rapped four hits apiece for the visiting Angels.

Royals 8, Blue Jays 6
George Brett hit a two-run homer and Angel Salazar went 3-for-4, including an RBI single during a five-run third inning as Kansas City beat Toronto.

Rookie Scott Bankhead, 5-5, got the victory after losing five of his previous six decisions. Steve Farr got the final out for his sixth save.

The host Blue Jays scored all of their runs on homers. Lloyd Moseby hit a pair of solo home runs, George Bell added a solo shot and Rick Leach hit a three-run homer.

A's 10, Mariners 4
Dave Kingman hit two solo home runs, Jose Canseco powered a three-run homer and Mickey Tettleton added an inside-the-park shot as Oakland beat Seattle.

Kingman went 3-for-4 and drove in three runs. He homered in the fourth inning and again in the ninth, giving him 26 this season.

Canseco's homer, his 25th, keyed a six-run seventh inning that made it 9-2. Canseco leads the majors with 90 RBI.

Tettleton's two-run homer came on a drive that sailed over the head of center fielder John Moses and caromed off the Kingdome wall.

Brewers 2, Yankees 1
Paul Molitor doubled with one out in the 10th inning and scored on Cecil Cooper's single, giving Milwaukee its victory in New York. The Brewers won their fifth straight game against the Yankees, who have lost nine of their last 12 games.

Cooper singled off Dave Righetti, 7-6. Reliever Dan Plesac, 7-6, got the victory and Mark Clear worked the 10th for his 10th save.

Tigers 6, Indians 5
Tigers 11, Indians 9

Darrell Evans' three-run homer powered Detroit to victory in the first game and the Tigers completed their doubleheader sweep over Cleveland as Lou Whitaker homered twice in the nightcap. Whitaker and Alan Trammell hit consecutive home runs leading off the first inning against John Butcher, 1-8. Whitaker and Brooks both hit two-run homers in the third.

Frank Tanana, 9-4, won his fifth straight game and Randy O'Neal picked up his first save. Carmen Castillo and Cory Snyder homered for the visiting Indians.

In the first game, Evans connected for his 17th homer with two outs in the seventh inning, rallying Detroit from a 5-3 deficit against Scott Bailes, 8-7.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees' season ended in disappointment as they were eliminated from the playoffs by the Toronto Blue Jays in the American League Division Series. The Yankees lost Game 5 of the series 1-0 on Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium. The Blue Jays won the series 3-2. Toronto's victory ends the Yankees' 11-year streak of consecutive World Series appearances. The Yankees' season was marked by several key moments, including the home run by George Brett in Game 7 of the American League Championship Series, which secured the Yankees' spot in the World Series. However, their performance in the playoffs was less than stellar, as they were unable to overcome the Blue Jays' strong pitching and timely hitting.

Winners named at reunion

Fiddle and dance contest winners at the Old Settlers Reunion have been announced, said reunion secretary/treasurer Gertrude McCann.

Sarana Kingsley of San Angelo is the No. 1 fiddler, with Jody Nix of Big Spring coming in second.

Since only two people entered the contest, third and fourth cash prizes were divided evenly among the winners, McCann said. First prize was $100, second $75, third $50 and fourth $25.

Watson and Jackie Pickett of Big Spring captured first place in the dance contest, with Bill and Betty Bain winning second, and J.C. and Ethlyn Yarbough of 602 Highland taking third.

Ruth McNew of Box 107 Vealmore Route won the Winchester rifle. Other contest winners were announced in Saturday's issue.

BIG SPRING TRAVEL TALK

by Mary Valli

MOLOKAI
Molokai was once the dreaded outcast among the Hawaiian islands. It now beckons travelers who want to experience the old
Hawaii. The flight from Honolulu Airport to Molokai takes approximately 20 minutes. However, it transports one decades back to the chief town of Kaunakakai with its old wooden-fronted buildings and air of falling asleep. There also are 260 square miles of nearly untouched cliffs and valleys, waterfalls and forests, beaches and bluffs. The top island trip is the Molokai Mule Ride. It takes the saddle-smart from the Kaulapuu corral down the 1,600-foot, three-mile, 26-switchback
Kaleupapa Trail. Rewarding as well is the Molokai Ranch Wildlife Safari, a pastureland reserve stocked with African animals.
From safaris in Africa to cruises to exotic ports to comfortable, enjoyable and quick getaways, BIG SPRING TRAVEL, 606 Scurry, offers the travel professionals who will make it all come true. We are familiar with rates, routes and other travel details so that we can make the plans for you that will take out the headaches and put in the time for you to enjoy your adventure.

Volunteers spread love

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

It's the answer to the dilemma of the elderly — an answer that provides them food and companionship almost daily.

Every week eight to 15 volunteers deliver meals to elderly Big Spring residents who are unable to prepare their own meals.

"The volunteers put in about one to two and a half hours a week," said Don R. Brooks, chairman of the Howard County Council on Aging.

One couple, Thomas and Gwen Evans of Big Spring, noted they deliver every day, and have been serving the same route since 1977.

"We stay and visit for a minute while delivering the food," she said.

For some old folks, the volunteers are the only visitor they get for the day,

Brooks said. "I get involved with them," Gwen Evans said. "They're all senior citizens and some of them live by themselves."

The greatest satisfaction the Evans receive, she says, is knowing they're being cared for. "It helps them and they depend on it. If it wasn't for Mobile Meals, they wouldn't get their meals," she said.

"I think it's the only meal some of them get," Thomas Evans said.

The appreciation of the service provided by the Evans was evident in the face of Josephine Dutchover, 406 N.W. 5th St. "They sure are good," the 82-year-old said, with a big smile. "I like it."

She's been receiving the hot meals since 1979, Gwen Evans said.

"Sometimes she (Dut-chover) feels sorry for me — when it's too cold to get out of the truck and deliver," Gwen Evans added. She said she and her husband sometimes take the meal in to Mrs. Dutchover's home when she can't get up.

On weekends, when the meals aren't delivered, Dutchover said her daughter-in-law fixes her meals.

"Sometimes they ask what happened to us when we don't deliver over the weekends," Thomas Evans said.

Holidays and days of bad weather are the only other days the food isn't delivered, Gwen Evans said.

Mobile Meals is not to be confused with Meals on Wheels, Brooks said. Meals on Wheels is federally financed and has certain restrictions while Mobile Meals is privately financed by the Dora Roberts Foundation, he said.

Mobile Meals first was organized in Howard County in 1975 when it began with two recipients. The service was organized by the Council on Aging because the group served by Mobile Meals had been rejected for Meals on Wheels and couldn't receive federal aid, he said.

So Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, the volunteer drivers donate their time and use their own vehicles to drive around Big Spring and deliver the meals.

"For the past 10 years, the meals have varied from 70 to 100 per day," Brooks said. Cost of each meal was 60 cents in 1975 and is now $1.80, he added.

Brooks said the service accepts donations from private parties and meal recipients, "if they can afford it. If they can't, they get their meal anyways."

Brooks reported several women, including Bessie Love, Jewel Hire and Katherine Crawford, began efforts in 1968 to organize Mobile Meals. That was after the Federal Old Age Act of 1965 was passed, Brooks said.

Later, Bill Dawes, retired principal from Marcy Elementary School, and R.H. Weaver, legal consultant for the Dora Roberts Foundation, became involved, Brooks said.

"Dorothy Garrett (who married Dora Robert's grandson, Horace Garrett) donated the first money in 1974 to get this started," he said. "This is her number one local project. She told me: 'Don't turn anyone down. Call me if you need more money.'"

Brooks says $35,000 a year is spent for Mobile Meals.

"We have the money, our only problem is we need more volunteers. Over 90 meals per day will put a strain on us," he said.

Eligibility requirements to receive Mobile Meals are: minimum age of 60 with physical incapacities to prepare their own meals, Brooks said.

"We have recipients as old as 97," he added.

The meals are prepared and packaged in the kitchen of Runnels Junior High School five days a week, 12 months a year, he said.

They're well-balanced. Each meal consists of a meat, two vegetables, salad, dessert, a hot roll and a half pint of milk, Brooks explained.

New Grapefruit Super Pill 'II' Gives Faster Weight Loss

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S. No Dieting — Eat Normally

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) — Good news for people who want to lose weight. According to the results of a recent medical study, you can easily lose up to "14 pounds in 14 days" with an amazing, vastly improved "new version" of the world famous grapefruit "super pill" diet called Super Pill II.

Best of all, the pills allow you to "continue to eat all of your favorite foods without changing your normal eating or exercising habits and still lose weight, starting immediately, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire. "It's guaranteed!"

The new diet pills have been successfully clinically tested on groups of overweight people by a panel of doctors in Beverly Hills.

All Lost up to 14 lbs. in 14 Days

"Remarkably, ALL people in the Super Pill II test group showed dramatic weight loss over 14 days," stated Dr. Steve Sachs, who compiled and analyzed the data in the study. It also proved conclusively that the powerful new ingredients combined with the placebo effect will enable you to lose weight "over 3 times faster" with this new version compared to the previously popular and successful original version.

"Pills Do All the Work"

According to the clinical study, "Super Pill II itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO special exercise, NO hunger pangs, and NO messy fresh half grapefruit to eat at every meal." You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

Pills Contain ALL Daily Vitamins

No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy because Super Pill II is fortified with all (100%) of the U.S. Government USFDA recommended daily vitamin requirements.

Super Pill II is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Local girls lose in softball finals

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

MONAHANS — The Big Spring Division I and II All-Stars both advanced to Saturday's championship round at the United States Girls Softball Association's national championships, and both fell to tough Mount Vernon teams.

The Division IV squad pushed Mount Vernon to a third game in Saturday's best of three championship, but Mount Vernon won the deciding game after two Big Spring girls were forced from the game because of injury and the heat with the score tied at four apiece.

Catcher Debra Rubio, clad in full gear under the 9 p.m. sun in the third game of the day, collapsed from dehydration. Outfielder Katrina Thompson soon followed Rubio to the hospital when she sprained her knee going for a fly ball. Both are doing "just fine," according to coach Dickie Thompson.

The losses proved to be Big Spring's undoing, as Mount Vernon pulled away to enjoy a six-run cushion for most of the way. They won 19-6 to take the championship.

In the first game, Jancy Cunningham notched the win for Big Spring, as they beat Mount Vernon 23-17 to put themselves one win away from the title. Amanda Solis hit her fourth home run of the tournament in the win. But in the second game, Mount Vernon built up a 20-5 lead, and the 15-run rule was invoked in the top of the sixth to force the deciding third game.

Solis and Jancy Cunningham were named to the Division IV all-tournament team.

The Division II girls earned their way into Saturday's championship clash with Mount Vernon by whipping Lovington 19-13 and Monahans 16-0 on Friday for a 6-0 record in the first three days of the tournament.

But against Mount Vernon, the Big Spring Division II team, that made it look almost too easy in the last two weeks, met their match. In the Saturday morning opener of the two-out-of-three championship series, Mount Vernon capitalized on Big Spring errors to win 19-4 going away.

In the second contest, the Big Spring girls' bid for the USGA national championship came to an end when the 15-run rule was invoked. The game and Division II tournament ended when Mount Vernon built a 23-5 lead.

Four Big Spring girls played sick on Saturday, with E.D. Barnett and Cindy Garza playing only sporadically because of illness.

"We're very, very proud of these girls," said Division II manager Barbara Morrow. "They gave it their all."

The second place finishers also placed two players on the Division II all-tournament team. Pitcher Karma Morrow and catcher Kayl Roberts were honored. Both hit the ball well during the week.

Big Spring, Forsan athletes — read this

The Big Spring I.S.D. sponsored athletic physicals will be held in a two part series, with the first session scheduled for Wednesday, August 6 at the Malone-Hogan Hospital at 5 p.m.

Big Spring and Forsan athletes are instructed to use the "Emergency Room Entrance" on the south side of the building. This session will involve height-weight measurements, blood pressure, blood and urine laboratory analysis, EKG, and a respiratory test.

The second part of the physical which will be the physicians examination is scheduled for August 9, beginning at 8:45. The location of this examination will be announced at a later date. Students must be present for both sessions to have a valid physical.

Cost of the physical is $8, which must be paid in cash. Bus transportation will be available for both sessions, and departure locations and times will be published in the Herald starting tomorrow.

Trainer Everett Blackburn will be in front of the following locations to hand out physical forms and other necessary material for the first session. Athletes may also stop by the training room starting Monday, August 4 after 10 a.m. to pick up these materials. The training room is located on the east side of Steer Gym just off the east parking lot of the high school.

Here is Coach Blackburn's time schedule and locations for picking up physical materials and supplies.

Baver School — August 4, 12 noon; and August 5, 5 p.m.

Lakeview School — August 4, 12:20 p.m.; and August 5, 5:15 p.m.

Moss School — August 4, 5:15 p.m.; and August 5, 12 noon.

Washington School — August 4, 5:30 p.m.; and August 5, 12:20 p.m.

Marcy School — August 4, 5:50 p.m.; and August 5, 8:30 a.m.

Goliad Middle School — August 4, 6:20 p.m.; and August 5, 8 p.m.

Only the following groups of students are required to have athletic physicals this year: all seventh grade students; all ninth grade students; all transfer students in grades 9-12; and all previous Big Spring I.S.D. students who not competed in athletics in the Big Spring I.S.D. system before.

The Big Spring I.S.D. recommends that all athletes have a yearly physical before participating in athletics. Students not required to have their physicals during these sessions may go wherever they wish to have their physicals.

Physical forms may be picked up at Goliad, Runnels, and Big Spring High School offices for those who do not wish to use the school sponsored athletic physical.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Buyers, sellers use Home Realtors

"Now's the time to buy a home with interest rates down. It's a buyer's market," says Kay Moore, owner of Home Realtors. Home is exclusive local agent for RELO Relocation Service, the nation's largest referral network of independent real estate brokers, headquartered in Chicago. As a result, the company is actively involved in providing tips and advice to home owners, buyers and sellers. No one enjoys the potential trauma associated with the prospect of moving, but with careful planning one can avoid or at least minimize unnecessary frustration and aggravation.

isn't a newcomer. In other words, select a firm who has served the Big Spring market for many years and has a thorough knowledge of the real estate market here.

Kay points out that many things are easily overlooked, which could prove disastrous and expensive if not accomplished in time. This is where a good realtor and a service like RELO is very helpful.

The sales associates at Home Realtors never "rest on their laurels." Each one continues to develop expertise in the field through the firm's own training programs as well as industry seminars.

When you need a realtor, drop by Home's office at Coronado Plaza and get acquainted.
