Negotiators OK radical tax plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional negotiators Saturday night approved the most radical income-tax overhaul in a half-century, a politically popular bill shaped around lower rates, fewer deductions and higher burden on corporations.

The plan would cut individual taxes by an average of 6.1 percent, but millions of people who gain most from targeted deductions would face tax increases.

The formal vote was taken in open session without a roll call. The only audible no votes were from Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, and Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo.

Earlier, in closed session, the informal Senate vote was 62, when Danforth was joined by Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., in opposition. The informal House vote, also behind closed doors, was not recorded.

"I am proud of the Congress and happy for the nation," said Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate bargainers.

"They said out there it couldn't be done," added Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., head of the House delegation and of the full conference. "Well, we did it."

The agreement now will be subject to votes by the House and Senate after they return Sept. 8 from a three-week recess. It would become law when signed by President Reagan.

The conference agreement came only a few hours after the bill — the top legislative initiative of Reagan's second term — appeared to have hit another in a long series of snags.

Several senators had shown a reluctance to sign their names to the voluminous package until they had a chance to analyze it. At one point, Packwood had the support of only two other senators in his bid to have the plan approved before September.

After that vote, Packwood was besieged once again with Rostenkowski and the two produced the final compromise. But some bitterness remained because of the rush to approve the plan.

Danforth, who had fought beside Packwood throughout the year, regretted his vote against the compromise but said the conference seemed to be moving to pass the bill quickly "or people are going to find out what's in it."

The bill would reduce the number of individual tax brackets from 14 or 15, depending on filing status, to two basic rates of 15 percent and 28 percent (although upper-income people would pay

Dallas may cut 1,000 jobs

DALLAS (AP) — As many as 1,047 full- and part-time city jobs will be cut at the beginning of the fiscal year on Oct. 1 if City Council adopts a $1 billion budget proposal, City Manager Charles Anderson said.

But 736 of the positions are vacant because of a hiring freeze imposed last May, and only 311 employees actually are subject to being laid off, Anderson said Friday.

Dallas has never had to lay off employees because of budget problems.

Of the 1,047 jobs that will be eliminated, 464 are seasonal jobs offered by the Parks and Recreation Department, 455 are full-time city jobs and 128 are administrative positions, Anderson said.

"We have notified the 311 employees ... that their positions are at risk," he said. "But this does not mean they will be laid off because we will be making every effort to place these employees in positions that we expect to become vacant through attrition between now and Oct. 1."

Anderson said city officials still estimate that between 100 and 150 employees will be laid off unless the council decides to restore some of the nearly $20 million in cuts in city services that he has proposed.

Juarez police put city in turmoil

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Police protesting the firing of six fellow officers blocked the entrance to their headquarters for a second day Saturday, trapping patrol cars and leaving this border city without patrols.

The department has been in turmoil since early July, when an official from the State Judicial Police was placed in charge of the city police.

Federal officials said the change of command, which angry city officials called a military coup, was to ensure that city police did not interfere in any of the political protesting taking place in Juarez.

City police are controlled by the Juarez city government, which is made up of members of the conservative National Action Party. The party, known as PAN, has repeatedly alleged election fraud since the July 6 balloting in Chihuahua.

On Thursday, however, state authorities returned control of the city police to Juarez officials. City police chief Rafael Gonzalez promptly fired a captain and five police agents, allegedly for cooperating too much with the state officials.

At 4 p.m. Friday, city police officers blockaded their headquarters, demanding that the six be reinstated.

ABERDEEN, Scotland — The newlywed DUCHESS OF YORK, who twisted her left knee while vacationing in Scotland with the royal family, toured this North Sea city Saturday, limping but wearing high heels.

The former SARAH FERGUSON appeared with her husband, the DUKE OF YORK, and her mother-in-law, QUEEN ELIZABETH II, wearing a long green two-piece dress which completely covered any bandage on her knee.

"I'm feeling fine," she told one well-wisher.

Buckingham Palace said Friday the duchess twisted her knee at a picnic during the royal family's cruise of Scotland's Western Isles and had been advised to keep her leg immobilized for three days.

It was the first official engagement by Sarah and Prince Andrew since their marriage at Westminster Abbey on July 23.

DAYTON, Ohio — The surviving members of GLEN MILLER'S wartime big band, holding their first reunion in 41 years, gathered here Saturday to receive the Air Force commendation medal.

"If they sat down, these members, without any rehearsal, just open the books so to speak, and started playing, you would hear the Glen Miller sound," said David Sackson, 74, violinist and one of the arrangers for the former Glen Miller Army Air Force Band.

Of the original contingent of more than 60 band members and crew, who entertained thousands of troops during World War II, 26 were attending the reunion, said Linda Smith, a spokeswoman for the Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. The museum is hosting the reunion.

Miller, declared dead after his plane disappeared over the English Channel in December 1944, was one of the most well-known band leaders of the era with standards such as "In the Mood," "Moonlight Serenade" and "Tuxedo Junction."

DULUTH, Minn. — When the lollipop-colored Fond-du-Luth Gaming Casino opens next month, TELLY SAVALAS, who starred on TV as the sucker-toting detective Theo Kojak, will be one of the early attractions, officials say. The bald-headed actor will make an appearance during the casino's grand opening Sept. 12-14, its operators say.

The announcement was made Friday when city officials and leaders of the Fond du Lac Indian Reservation gave reporters a glimpse of what the night spot will look like. The interior will be finished in purple, plum and pink colors, just like Kojak's lollipops.

The fancy bingo and pull-tab operation is being developed jointly by the city and the reservation.

LOS ANGELES — Director FRANCO ZEFFIRELLI says his recent run-in with Italian currency law is making him consider leaving Italy for good. "Perhaps it is time to put down roots somewhere else, but where would I go?" said Zeffirelli, director of "Romeo and Juliet" and "Taming of the Shrew," the latter starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton.

His film of Verdi's opera "Othello" with Placido Domingo opens Sept. 20.

Zeffirelli, 63, said he considered Los Angeles, "but my scene is great theater, so I would not be happy here. ... But Italy is giving me a terrible time. I have to do something."

Zeffirelli is appealing his May conviction for violating Italy's currency export laws by issuing three checks in the United States, totaling $37,000, off an Italian bank without proper approval.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. — Tennis star MARTINA NAVRATILOVA, a noted animal lover, has lost a dog and is offering a $1,000 reward for his return.

Navratilova, the top-seeded player at the $250,000 Virginia Slims of Los Angeles women's tennis tournament, said at a post-match press conference Friday that her pet was missing.

She appealed to the public to help her find 2½-year-old Shiba. The dog looks like a miniature Husky.

Shiba, one of the four dogs Navratilova brought with her, apparently escaped through a hole in a backyard fence at the house where the tennis star has been staying.

Forecast

By The Associated Press
West Texas — Widely scattered thunderstorms mainly in the afternoon and evening west of the Pecos through Monday. Isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms in the southeast through Monday. Sunny days and fair at night in the remainder of the area through Monday. Warmer weather for most sections Sunday, then a little cooler in the north Monday. ## State

A large area of scattered thunderstorms and showers developed over East and Southeast Texas Saturday as warm tropical Gulf air moved over sun-baked land.

Isolated thundershowers also popped up along the Davis Mountains in West Texas and near Wichita Falls in North Texas. Skies were partly cloudy over the rest of the state, the National Weather Service reported.

Afternoon temperatures were mainly in the 80s and 90s, with a few 100-degree readings to the south. The 3 p.m. extremes were 83 degrees at Guadalupe Pass and 101 at Brownsville.

The forecast for North Texas calls for very warm and humid weather through Monday with widely scattered thunderstorms particularly in the east. Highs should be in the middle 90s to 103 and lows in the 70s.

In West Texas, widely scattered thunderstorms are forecast west of the Pecos and to the southeast through Monday. Highs will range from the 90s to 107 in the Big Bend, while lows will be in the 60s and 70s.

Nation

Tropical storm Charley loitered off the South Carolina coast Saturday, while a line of showers and thunderstorms angled across the East and a chance of thunderstorms in the Northwest threatened more forest burning lightning.

The center of Charley moved slightly northward Saturday, but upper level steering currents were weak and the storm was expected to drift erratically into Sunday, while strengthening slowly through the night.

A few showers and thunderstorms from Charley were over the southern coast of North Carolina, but with the majority of the storm's precipitation falling offshore.

A weak weather disturbance caused clouds and a few showers and thunderstorms along a line from eastern New England and Pennsylvania across southern Ohio and sections of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

Most of the rainfall was light, but strong thunderstorms developed across parts of Mississippi, Kentucky and Tennessee. Wind gusted to 48 mph at Columbus, Miss., and to 42 mph at Tupelo, Miss. Bowling Green, Ky., got 1.9 inches of rain in the six hours up to 2 p.m. EDT.

A low pressure system off the northern California coast spread clouds and a risk of thundershowers to parts of Oregon and Idaho. Moisture in the weather system was limited so any lightning posed a threat of more forest fires.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 p.m. EDT ranged from 55 degrees at Crescent City, Calif., to 102 at both Palm Springs and Imperial, Calif. The low for the day was 34 degrees at Gunnison, Colo.

Motorcyclists sponsor fundraiser

A motorcycle "poker run" was held Saturday to benefit Danny and Lisa Fuller of Big Spring, whose son Matthew, 5, has terminal leukemia.

In a poker run, motorcyclists ride to five checkpoints in a 100-mile radius and collect a card at each point, said Howard Walker, owner of the Harley-Davidson shop at 908 W. Third St. The rider with the best hand wins.

A party with arm wrestling, beer and barbecue was held at the shop. Walker said he estimates the group raised $400 to $500 for the Fullers.

Medical expenses for a terminal illness are "tremendous," he said. The Fullers must also pay hotel bills and travel to and from Lubbock General Hospital, where Matthew Fuller is being treated, he said.

Tax plan

 more) and a maximum corporate rate of 34 percent. Both the maximum rates are one percentage point above the Senate-passed rates that Packwood had insisted could not be exceeded.

One last-minute change would delay until 1989 raising the personal exemption to a full $2,000; now $1,080, it would rise to $1,900 next year and $1,950 in 1988. As earnings of upper-income people increase, their exemptions would drop gradually to zero.

Standard deductions would increase significantly in 1988, to $3,000 for single people and $5,000 for couples. The special "marriage penalty" writeoff for two-earner couples would end. Deductions for consumer interest and state and local sales taxes would vanish.

The bill would scale back deductions for medical expenses and such miscellaneous expenses as union dues. It would significantly reduce the number of workers who could get fully deductible Individual Retirement Accounts.

Over-all, the package would cut taxes for about three-quarters of Americans; take 6 million of the poor off the tax rolls; shut down abusive shelters and boost taxes on corporations by about $120 billion over five years.

Oil tax reform bill draws agreement

WASHINGTON — Senate members of the House-Senate conference committee on tax reform have agreed to a compromise on oil and gas incentives that could lead to the final version of tax changes for the oil and gas industry.

The compromise would cost the industry $850 million over a five-year period, according to knowledgeable Senate and industry sources.

However, House and Senate conferees may have reached an impasse on the massive tax overhaul effort due to a new estimate Friday by the congressional Joint Committee on Taxation that estimated a $17 billion revenue gap under major provisions of the House-Senate compromise.

A Texas congressional aide Friday said House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., who heads up House conferees on the conference committee, is "probably leaning toward" accepting the compromise on oil and gas provisions.

Rostenkowski still was meeting Friday in a one-on-one session with Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and leader of Senate conferees. The two were trying to iron out final details of the tax package.

John Sherman, Rostenkowski's spokesman on the Ways and Means Committee, said Friday that he believed the chairmen had not yet formally discussed the Senate proposal on oil and gas.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said Friday that Senate members of the conference committee would not make further concessions on the oil and gas incentives. He said he believed that House members on the conference committee probably would go along with the compromise.

The Senate-backed compromise would:

- Change the deduction for intangible drilling costs only for major integrated oil companies, in part by lengthening the write-off period to five years for the portion of those costs that now are amortized over a 36-month period.

- Repeat the percentage depletion allowance for advance oil and gas royalty payments and lease bonus payments.

- Raise some foreign taxes for major oil companies.
- Raise the minimum tax for both independent and major oil companies by reducing the net income offset on intangible drilling costs from the current 100 percent of IDC's down to 65 percent.

- Karl Moody, tax specialist with the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said the last item would hit independent oil and gas producers the hardest.

In effect, the change in the provision would sharply reduce the amount that independents could write off on many drilling efforts for costs related to labor and items that could not be reused, such as drilling fluids and pipe.

Two die, two missing in boating accidents

By The Associated Press
A San Antonio man drowned when he was sucked under an oil tanker in a ship channel in Corpus Christi Saturday and a fishing accident near Waco killed a Waxahachie man. A third man was missing Saturday night in a third accident.

The 58-year-old San Antonio man, whose name was not released, disappeared in the wake of a tanker at about 2 p.m. in the Corpus Christi Ship Channel off Ingleside, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

Witnesses said the victim was knocked into the water when his outboard motorboat and a sailboat collided. Two boys, ages 11 and 12 and identified as the victim's sons, were rescued, officials said.

The sailboat turned around to help the victim, but the 869-foot Greek oil tanker Prometheus steamed between the man and the sailboat and the victim was sucked under, said Petty Officer John Wimmersberg of the Port Aransas Coast Guard station.

A fishing accident on Lake Aquilla, about 10 miles southwest of Hillsboro, took the life of Curtis Smith, 63, of Waxahachie, officials said. His nephew was still missing Saturday night.

Smith was pronounced dead about 9 a.m. by Justice of the Peace R.F. Wallace. Smith's wife was rescued after spending six hours in the water.

Rescue team perishes

Three members of a search and rescue team were killed Saturday in California when a sheriff's plane crashed near Bakersfield, and crashes of two small planes elsewhere killed four people.

The three rescue squadron members, a Kern County sheriff's deputy and two volunteers, were the only people aboard the Cessna 306 that went down near Mirror Lake in Hart Park Recreation Center, said sheriff's Sgt. Wim Leyder.

The park is just outside Bakersfield, about 100 miles north of Los Angeles.

The plane was recently deeded to the sheriff's department by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, which confiscated it in a drug raid.

Satellite to come down

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — A large Soviet satellite was expected to blaze into the atmosphere Saturday but military officials said they couldn't pinpoint the time and place until shortly before its re-entry.

"There are a lot of factors to be taken into account — size with speed and how fast it re-enters the atmosphere," Lt. Col. Chuck Wood, spokesman for the U.S. Space Command here, said Saturday.

It was expected to enter the atmosphere and burn up too early to produce a spectacular light show in the night sky over the United States, said Del Kindschi, another spokesman.

Jesuit priest resigns

LOS ANGELES — An Emmy-winning Roman Catholic priest has resigned from the Jesuit order rather than obey commands to destroy his survey of 145 U.S. bishops on the issues of celibacy and women priests.

The Rev. Terrance A. Sweeney, 41, signed papers Friday at Loyola Marymount University resigning from the Society of Jesus.

Beforehand, Sweeney spoke briefly outside the campus post office, where he mailed a copy of his research to Pope John Paul II. He said he'd rather leave the order than submit to "authority destructive of the very foundations of the church, and religious and academic freedom."

GROTON, Conn. — The Navy commissioned its eighth Trident nuclear submarine Saturday, and 12 people who participated in a nuclear arms protest near the ceremonies were arrested.

The 560-foot Nevada, launched in September 1985, was welcomed to the fleet by dignitaries from the Navy and the state of Nevada, including Gov. Richard Bryan and Sen. Paul Laxalt. The ceremonies were held at the Electric Boat shipyard.

Inauguration

Fifth time in 26 years for new president

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Vowing a fight against poverty, conservative Joaquin Balaguer was sworn in as president of this Caribbean nation on Saturday for the fifth time in 26 years.

"Thousands of Dominicans find themselves each day without food," Balaguer told the National Assembly and foreign representatives in a 45-minute speech. "We have the obligation to declare war on misery."

U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz was among the notables witnessing the inauguration.

Balaguer, who turns 79 on Sept. 1, is a noted historian and poet who gradually lost his eyesight to glaucoma during the 1970s and now cannot read.

Balaguer called on Saturday for conciliation among the main political parties in the Dominican Republic following the May 16 election, which was preceded by a violent campaign that left 15 people dead.

He is the country's 64th president. The nation's problems include a weak economy, unemployment of about 25 percent and a multibillion-dollar foreign debt. The country, with a population of 6.3 million, shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti.

The new president laid no specific blame on the outgoing president, Salvador Jorge Blanco of the Dominican Revolutionary Party, but Balaguer said his Reformist Party would not tolerate government waste or corruption.

"In the government that begins today, there will be no corruption without penalties," he said.

Among those viewing the ceremony were presidents Daniel Ortega of Nicaragua, Jose Napoleon Duarte of El Salvador, and Eric del Valle of Panama.

In brief remarks after the inauguration, Shultz said, "The United States wants to see the Dominican Republic flourish as a free and democratic society. We know full well of the economic problems and to the absolute maximum extent that we can do so, we will be wanting to help this wonderful country to succeed."

He was appointed president in 1960 by the late dictator Rafael Trujillo, and elected in his own right in 1966, 1970 and 1974.

Wreckage Investigated

BANGKOK, Thailand — U.S. experts trying to account for Americans reported missing in the Vietnam War investigated sites in Hanoi last week containing wreckage of U.S. B-52 bombers, the leader of the U.S. team said on his return here Saturday.

Lt. Col. Joe Harvey, commander of the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center in Honolulu, said the Vietnamese provided new information on missing Americans and a report of their continuing investigations during three days of talks in Hanoi. He declined to elaborate.

Harvey refused to say whether Vietnam would soon repatriate remains of some of the nearly 1,800 U.S. troops and civilians listed as missing from the war.

Private deserts to Cuba

MEXICO CITY — A U.S. Army private said he deserted his post in West Germany and fled to Cuba after he was told he would be assigned to Central America, the Cuban news agency Prensa Latina reported Saturday.

It said Hugo Romeu Almeida told a news conference in Havana Friday that he refused to serve in Central America.

Romeu, 31, of Glenview, Ill., was born in Cuba but was brought to the United States by his parents in 1960.

"He did not want to have anything to do with the policy that the Reagan administration is developing in Central America," Prensa Latina said in a dispatch monitored in Mexico City.

Israel-Soviets to talk

HELSINKI, Finland — Finnish officials said security will be very tight when Israeli and Soviet delegates meet on Monday for their first formal talks in 19 years.

The talks, expected to last two days, probably will begin by arguing over the agenda. Soviet officials want to focus on consular issues. The Israeli Cabinet has insisted that emigration of Soviet Jews top the agenda.

Finland's Foreign Ministry said Saturday the delegations will meet in the sprawling government compound on Senate Square in Helsinki's historic district.

Tourist borrows bath

BOLOGNA, Italy — Rosmilde Brasini returned home from an evening stroll, found her bathroom occupied and the water running and called police, thinking she'd surprised a thief.

However, what emerged from her tub Friday was a young tourist in need of a bath.

Police identified the dripping interloper only as a 17-year-old tourist named Laurent from the French city of Lyons, who said he had been seeking a way to beat the August heat.

IRS AUDITS & YOU

There are some steps you can take to make an audit of your tax return less likely and, in the event that you are audited, steps that you can take to make that experience less painful.

To avoid being audited, your best defense is a good offense. File an accurate, complete return, and keep good records and supporting documentation for income items and deductions that you claim. Keep your records long enough to meet the statute of limitations for the tax return related to them. The federal statute is three years from the later of the date the return is due or is actually filed. The statute is six years if over 25% of gross income is omitted from the return, and there is no time limit on fraudulent returns or where no return has been filed.

Two kinds of audits are conducted by the IRS. The first is the office audit, an examination done by correspondence or at an IRS office. The IRS will ask for information or documentation related to specific items on your return. These audits can often be concluded very quickly by providing the requested information. The second kind of audit is the field audit which is usually conducted at the taxpayer's home or place of business. Questionable items on the return have been identified by the IRS, but the agent is not limited to these in his examination.

The IRS uses a complex system to select returns for audit. In general, your return will be at higher risk for an audit if you take certain kinds of deductions (deductions for tax shelters, home office, or travel and entertainment, for example), if your occupation involves cash income, (taxi drivers and waiters, for example), or if your income is high.

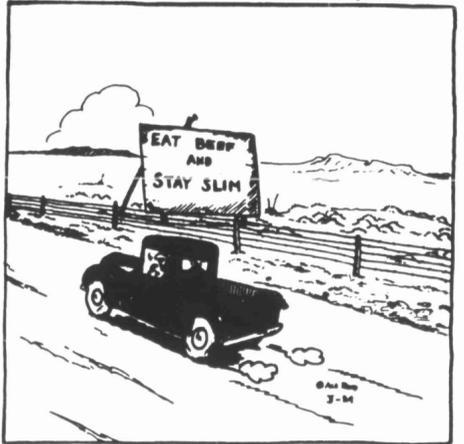

If your tax return is actually selected for audit, your best strategy is to be cooperative and provide the requested information promptly. Unless the problem is simple and routine, contact your accountant immediately. A professional can put your mind at ease and very likely save you time and money.

We do more than say, "We care." We show it. One way is by making sure the funeral service is meaningful and dignified. Another important consideration is cost. Certainly we understand the family's need to control cost. In caring concern, we offer every available option to do so. (The cost does not affect the dignified quality of our service.)

Patrolling key to park issues

What will a ban on alcohol at Comanche Trail Park solve? Will it control littering or public intoxication in the park? Will it control disorderly conduct or assaults in the park? Won't it inconvenience law-abiding families who like some beer at their picnics?

And how will it affect reunions and annual company and club outings that frequently include alcoholic beverages?

Should such a law allow exceptions for the golf course or through the issuance of special permits?

These are some of the questions that should be answered before any action is taken on the proposed ban.

In addition, let's consider: How good is any law unless it's enforced?

We already have both state and city laws against littering, but they haven't stopped the litter problem at the park.

We also have laws against disorderly conduct, public intoxication and assault, but the laws have not eliminated those problems, either.

Obviously, then, the key is enforcement.

Capt. Lonnie Smith, acting Big Spring police chief, explained that most violations like these must be witnessed by a police officer or a citizen willing to file a complaint before an arrest can be made.

That's the case, he said, with littering, disorderly conduct, public intoxication and simple assaults. In aggravated assault cases, "probable cause" usually is required before an arrest can be made, he said.

His statements reveal that the real issue is one of adequate patrolling.

Without sufficient patrolling — the key to enforcement — it doesn't matter how many laws are on the books.

The same problem with enforcement will exist if the proposed ban on alcohol is enacted.

We must point out, of course, that officials in some cities have said their park problems have been reduced as a result of alcohol bans. But that really raises the question of whether the reduction is a result of the law or of better enforcement.

Now let's consider the proposals to make exceptions for the golf course and organizations that get permits in advance.

Do we really approve of that kind of selective enforcement? Is it right to allow a reunion of 200 people to have booze, while the family at the picnic table across the parking lot is prohibited?

We have no reservations, however, about the proposal to ban alcohol from the swimming pool. That's a good plan for two reasons. First, mostly children and minors are involved. And secondly, enforcement is relatively easy because the area is small and fully enclosed.

Those same factors do not apply to the rest of the park.

The final question, then, is: Do we want to make all law-abiding park users, including those who wish to have a six-pack of beer with their picnic, suffer because of the actions of a few?

As a result of our answer to that question and the others, the Herald is against a ban on alcohol in Comanche Trail Park.

Instead, we believe that increased patrolling of the park and enforcement of laws already on the books are the real answers to the problems.

But if a ban is enacted, we believe it must be a total ban — not one that provides exceptions. Such laws spawn corruption and the potential for granting permits as a result of political pressure or favors.

White cited for his 'Alamo love'

To the editor:
Let's take a good look at the governor's race through the eyes of the Texas Voters. Most voters believe Mark White won the 1986 governor's race in 1982, when he ruptured Bill Clement's 14-million-dollar rubber duck. He still has its quacker in a showcase in his office to remind all Texans that our affairs belong in Texas, "Not Washington."
They also realize that Governor

Mark White's guts and Alamo love for better education for our students and Texas is a tough act for better men than "Uncle Bill" to follow.

Our forefathers built this great state to stand tall over all others. With guts and Alamo love we'll keep it that way. Vote for a better Texas. "Mark" November "White."

Workers receive SWCID praise

To the editor:
On behalf of the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, I want to commend the employees of Big Spring Savings Association who recently completed a beginning sign language course.

Initially, BSSA had considered enrolling one or two employees in a sign language course at SWCID. Interest grew, however, to include 14 members of the staff. These staff members attended class at their downtown office before office hours two mornings a week for six weeks.

It is heartening to see a business respond to those in our community who are hearing-impaired. This gesture toward bridging a communication gap deserves our praise. Big Spring Savings Association, SWCID salutes you.

It was just another move until the cat disappeared

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER
Boxes, boxes ... boxes, and more boxes.

As often as I've moved and helped others move, I guess I thought another one would be easy and routine.

But I've concluded none are routine because of the unforeseen little things that happen.

There we were, staring at boxes to empty in every room — each marked by the packers. I had just come home from work that Friday evening, knowing we would spend the entire weekend unpacking boxes.

My better half and daughter already had unpacked half of the wardrobe cartons and had started on some of the other boxes. That's when we learned they weren't marked as well as we thought.

One large box, marked "towels," did have about four or five of them on top. But the other contents proved to be a mixture from two bedrooms.

At least we could take showers — if we could find the washclothes.

We decided on soup for supper, and we found the pots and pans quickly enough. The bowls were another matter. So we settled on soup out of cups.

About midnight, wife Priscilla informed me she couldn't find the bedding. I marked that box myself, but I must have looked twice at all others of that size before finding the right one.

The next day we learned we don't have enough cupboard space. Stacking our dishes that high can only lead to unnecessary breakage, so we've agreed to buy a cupboard-type cabinet.

Berky's babblings

Then the one screw to the paper towel rack fell into the kitchen disposal. That was typical of the minor frustrations we experienced as we gripped, sniped and picked at each other as the day worn on.

About mid-afternoon, "E.T.," our cat, was missing. Yes, we named him after the main character in the well-known movie.

Each of us checked every hiding place in the house several times. We agreed he wasn't in the house, yet all of us were sure we hadn't left any doors open.

We combed the neighborhood — on foot and in two vehicles. We must have seen five dozen other cats, but no E.T.

Throughout the search, Priscilla repeated tales from friends about cats that never came back.

I wouldn't admit it, but I was worried, too.

I didn't like cats and successfully fought against having one for many years. E.T. was adopted while I was out elk hunting four years ago. That was the year I shot my first and only elk, so they caught me in a right mood.

Finally, we decided we'd go out for supper after it was suggested, with more hope than belief, that he might return while we're gone.

E.T. still was missing when we returned. So we kept busy emptying boxes to keep his disappearance off our minds.

I don't remember what took the three of us into my daughter's bedroom, but I caught a movement out of the corner of my eye. It came from beneath a chest of drawers.

E.T. was trapped there with only his nose showing. We could only see that he got in there when daughter April had the bottom drawers out to arrange her clothes.

By then, we were involved in a new search — for missing lamps and other bedroom items. We had the lampshades, but no lamps.

We went to bed without bedroom lamps, and blamed the movers for forgetting to unload one of our boxes.

It was not until the next day that the missing box was found in a closet. I think we all just assumed it had clothes in it.

Many unpacked boxes still clutter our garage, and other chores remain undone. Nevertheless, the house is becoming organized and the move hasn't been too bad.

Unfortunately, I suspect it will only be about a year before we'll be buying a house in Big Spring. Then we can go through it all over again.

Praise given to Bill Hobby

By JESSE TREVINO

In the past few weeks, editorials in newspapers throughout the state have showered Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby with praise for his plan to pry the state out of its budgetary pinch.

Despite the risk of proposing new taxes so close to an election, Hobby embarked on a journey across the state reviewing the state's commitment to its own future — a future he is almost alone in forging.

A political minefield awaits the soft-spoken Hobby. But history may record Hobby's persistence in saving the state from election-year shortsightedness as one of his finest hours.

While the House of Representatives moved quickly to reduce the state budget and cries of "No new taxes!" echoed through the House chamber, Hobby invited Dallas investor Peter O'Donnell and former CIA director and now research maven Bobby Ray Inmann of Austin onto the Senate floor to underscore the consequences of a decimated education budget to the state's future.

Hobby's concern with the future illustrates his understanding of the emerging Texas economy. Not one to belittle the importance of oil, he presses for new technologies for oil-based products — extracted, processed and produced in Texas for export.

In Hobby's view of the future, he makes room for agriculture and the need to engage farmers and ranchers — not only in producing but in processing and exporting.

Hobby understands the vital link between agricultural research and the biomedical and medical complexes the state already possesses — the foundations for new, diversified industry.

Jesse Trevino

But these opportunities cannot be created without the benefit of a solid educational system and a premier college and university system.

It is in this expensive line item by which Hobby is having his most lasting imprint on Texas' future. Yet, as fiercely as he believes the state's educational program should not be knifed, so should other programs — such as indigent health care — be maintained through adequate state support.

Hobby's view that education is the core of future economic gains is balanced by his belief that a state that spends billions of dollars on educational facilities to secure its economic future also should have enough money to take care of its less fortunate.

Hobby's refusal to dilute the search for a new Texas after the decline and fall of oil and gas and in light of changing demographics speaks to an unequalled personal commitment when men of his wealth and age sit back and spoil their grandchildren.

In understanding the state's challenges, he has opened a new vision of Texas. In it, he sees the grand possibility of providing the industrial and technological base for social progress along the cultural and ethnic fracture zone along the Texas-Mexico border.

Left unattended, Hobby understands, that region could endanger the future of his grandchildren and the future of the state. Thus he risks the indemnity of labor unions by supporting the so-called twin-plant system across the Rio Grande.

By the same token, he gallops across the state preaching the gospel to business groups that nervous budget-cutting hurts the state more than it helps when the convenient thing would be to give in to the passion of party politics.

The Hobby name can be found throughout the annals of the state's first 150 years of history.

Like his great uncle who contributed to the state's early days, and like his mother and father who blazed trails in education and woman's suffrage, Hobby will be remembered as the catalyst responsible for preserving our education system from pre-school to PhD programs.

With the change in economies and the beginning of our next 150 years, Bill Hobby can be considered one of the founding fathers of the new Texas.

Jesse Trevino writes on Hispanic social and political issues.

Legislature stuck in tax, no-tax show

By JIM DAVIS

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Police have used "good-guy, bad-guy" routines for years. They're prevalent on television crime shows, where one cop growls at the suspect while another cop smiles, speaks softly and convinces the suspect that confessing would be the best thing to do.

A version of that game is going on in the Texas Legislature's special session. Only the game players are working against each other instead of together.

For more than a week, state agency chiefs and workers have been parading from one side of the Capitol to the other to talk about budgets.

In the usual pattern, they started with appearances before the House Appropriations Committee, whose members came across as "the bad guys" from the standpoint of state employees.

Agency personnel heard questions about fat in their budgets and learned how much they would have to lose to ease the state's fiscal crisis. In many cases, the amounts were sufficiently large to require significant layoffs of employees.

Then, usually a day or so later, the same agency people marched before the Senate Finance Committee, again to talk about budgets. The reception was far different, however.

In the senators, they found much to know how badly their services to the public would be curtailed by proposed cuts.

Some agencies even got to plead their cases to all the senators (or at least all those present) in the large Senate chamber. And usually their warnings of diminished services fell on sympathetic ears.

The Senate is moving toward approving some budget cuts, but a majority of the 31 members favor some form of new taxation to make the belt-tightening as painless as possible. And they seem determined to hold to that course.

A majority of the House members, however, favor pressing to solve the budget shortfall by spending cuts alone, without a tax hike.

Therein lies the danger of a deadlock in the special session. Words like "deadlock" and "stalemate" were being heard more and more around the Capitol the past week as the "good-guy, bad-guy" routine continued.

State employees are worried and are rallying in support of a tax hike to save their jobs and perhaps save the pay hikes that legislative proposals would eliminate.

Many legislators are worried that they are in for a long, painful session that may be repeated in September.

"I hope you don't have any plans for October," one pessimistic House member told a reporter last week.

There were a few encouraging signs, however, that the two houses may eventually reach a compromise.

The major sign came when Speaker Gib Lewis and his obedient members of the Appropriations Committee retreated from a plan to grab some money that has been going into the dedicated funds for public education and the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

Without that plan, the House falls far short of the amount needed to meet the budget problem with spending cuts approved so far.

Lewis has agreed that the cuts already would cut meat as well as fat from the state budget. That forces the House to move closer to accepting a tax bill during the special session.

Each side wants its way, or at least to save face in the process. Compromise is the name of the game and sometimes desperation writes the rules.

Neither side wants to give in more than it must, but most of all no one wants to be blamed for causing the state's budget crisis to become a budget disaster.

Deaf actress finds roles scarce

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Actress Bobbie Beth Scoggins seems to have everything — beauty, talent, intelligence and even the critics on her side — but still she has difficulty finding the right roles.

Deaf at birth, born to deaf parents and educated at the Texas School for the Deaf, Ms. Scoggins grew up in a separate, silent world that paralleled the world most Americans live in.

Within that world, Ms. Scoggins excels in nearly everything she does.

Four years ago her performance on Broadway as Sarah Norman Leads in "Children of a Lesser God," won abundant praise from theater critics across the country, including a "New York Times" reviewer.

Nearly every producer Ms. Scoggins has spoken to has been enthusiastic about her work.

She has beauty — Ms. Scoggins was first runner-up in the Miss Deaf Texas beauty pageant; she has intelligence — at age 16 she graduated valedictorian of her high school class; she has talent — she is an expressive actress; she even has athletic ability — she was a member of the U.S. swimming team at the World Games of the Deaf in Malmö, Sweden.

Add to that list determination, and Ms. Scoggins is an individual who can be expected to make a mark. She doesn't expect a problem like a lack of roles to stop her.

Ms. Scoggins' entry into acting came when playwright Mark Medoff, author of "Children of a Lesser God," came to Dallas looking for a woman to play the role of Sarah, a beautiful, young deaf woman who refuses to learn to speak.

Ms. Scoggins was cast as Sarah, and her outstanding performance at Dallas Theater won her the role of understudy to the woman who was playing the part in the Broadway production.

Since that time, she has played Sarah in regional productions all over the country, always receiving effusive praise for her work. Her challenge is to create a career beyond that one role.

Said Ms. Scoggins in sign language interpreted by her husband, "Children of a Lesser God" was written to create more roles for deaf actors. For a while, we thought 'Children of a Lesser God' would demonstrate that deaf actors can work with hearing ones — but that has not been the case."

Actress Bobbie Beth Scoggins, right, as Sarah Norman, exchanges wedding vows with James Leeds, portrayed by Chuck Reasonow in a production of "Children of a Lesser God". Deaf at birth, born to deaf parents, she grew up in a separate silent world that paralleled the world of most Americans.

Cancer victim begins sidewalk reparations

EL PASO — Belle Cotsonis has dealt with handicapped people most of her life, but the barriers they often face never really hit home until this summer.

Belle, who was growing weaker and weaker from a cancer in her brain, was encouraged to get out of the house. Her husband, Denus, helped her into a wheelchair one May afternoon for a stroll through their quiet Central El Paso neighborhood.

"It was bone-jarring," Belle, 61, recalled this week. "It was terribly, terribly rough."

The wheelchair couldn't help but hit bump after crack after hole as Denus rolled her down the sidewalk.

"It was very revealing, the problems these people who are confined to wheelchairs have," she said. "I just felt I couldn't leave things that way."

So Belle contacted the West Texas Association for the Handicapped. A fund in her name was established to help people repair their sidewalks.

Money will come from tax-deductible donations. How the fund will be administered still is being discussed.

"She doesn't live her life for herself. It's always been for someone else," Belle's daughter, Carol, told the El Paso Times.

Belle has been active in scouting and she served as a volunteer in El Paso hospitals.

She gave up her nursing career in 1960 when she married Denus.

"I was just going to be a housewife, take care of the house and kids," Belle said. "Things came along. Something needed to be done. I tried to help until I got sick."

On May 1, her diagnosis was confirmed. She has modular melanoma, a cancer that started in her back and spread to her lymph system, her liver, and now to her brain.

Chemotherapy had no effect on Belle's condition, so she called Hospice of El Paso, a program that cares for and counsels the terminally ill and their families.

"This is a woman who was well until recently and suddenly she learned what it is like to be disabled," said Becky Horowitz, hospice coordinator for social services.

"From my knowledge of her, she is a person who has always enjoyed helping others. I think that her wanting to start the fund is a reflection of what her life has stood for."

Bob Geyer, a city transit planner and member of the Texas Association for the Handicapped, said the organization never has had such a fund before Belle proposed the idea.

Contributions to the fund can be mailed to Belle Cotsonis Architectural Barrier Removal Fund in care of the Texas Association for the Handicapped, P.O. Box 118, El Paso, 79925.

Leon Wynche of Wichita Falls displays some of his 3,000 novelty and "gimme" pens he has collected over the years.

Texan man proud of pen collection

By GRAHAM UNDERWOOD
Wichita Falls Times

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A golden board hanging on Leon and Ruth Wyche's kitchen wall typifies the rest of their home. Wyche calls it his "junk art" because he's glued years of trash there instead of throwing it away.

A briar root, the key to Room 401 at the Holiday Inn East, a cigar butt, a mousetrap, his father's glasses — all these are part of the collage.

"You name it," he said. "It's up there."

But, Wyche keeps his real prize in a spare bedroom. Pasted on about a dozen boards hanging on the walls are ball-point pens disguised as jack-o-lanterns, dollar signs, bass fish and thermometers. The last count showed about 3,000 pens in all, he said, but the collection has had time to grow.

"I had a cigar box full," Wyche said. "(and I) just decided to put them on a board, and I just got started."

That was 20 years ago, just after the Wyches moved to Wichita Falls from Azle. Since then, friends and relatives have kept the retired electrical wholesaler supplied with samples of "gimme" pens from wherever they've traveled. Danish and Dutch pens came to Wyche's collection from the most distant point, but his pride is a board of antique fountain pens.

"I guess that's my favorite because they're more valuable," he said.

Wyche said pen collecting is a rare pastime and it's tough to find someone to trade with.

State

248 teachers requested to resign

HOUSTON — Houston school board members asked 248 teachers who twice failed the state's basic competency test to resign as the board approved a $56 million budget designed at avoiding a tax increase.

The teachers had requested waivers and the opportunity to retain their jobs with the Houston Independent School District for one year.

Instead, the board voted late Friday to ask the instructors for their resignations but offer them a chance to be rehired in non-instructional jobs for less pay. They could become bus drivers, janitors or substitute teachers, trustee Cathy Mincberg said.

Trustee Bobby Peiffer said teachers who twice flunked the state-required tests had 15 chances to bone up through refresher courses.

"Nobody remembers that?" he asked. "I'm concerned that the public feels we're being cruel and inhumane."

"You are," shouted many teachers at the meeting.

The Houston Federation of Teachers plan to file a suit against HISD and the state over the terminations, union leader Gayle Fallon said.

"I don't write on the blackboard but I do write in the hearts and minds of boys and girls," said physical education teacher Bill Taylor, who failed the tests.

Town builds sawmill to have jobs

BESSMAY — A $30 million dollar sawmill could be an economic plum for East Texas, which has seen its economy fall along with the prices of oil and gas.

Temple-Eastex Inc. said Friday it will build the new sawmill in Bessmay, about 20 miles north of Beaumont.

"Back in 1981, when oil was booming, we were about the ninth-largest industry in the state," said Michael Holloway of the Texas Forestry Association in Lufkin. "Now, we're about the fourth."

Temple-Eastex has the largest operation in what is becoming an increasingly important industry to Texas — forest products.

The sawmill, which will employ about 180 people, is being located in a region that has one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation at about 18 percent.

MTV program wants its rattlesnake

SWEETWATER — The idea of being part of a rattlesnake roundup caught the fancy of the MTV music video network, which decided to include this West Texas city on its 41-day, coast-to-coast journey across the United States.

On Day 20 of MTV's celebration of five years in existence, an 11-member cast stopped here Friday afternoon as part of its "MTV's Amuck in America."

The "Amuckers" came to Sweetwater in response to Jerry Ransberger's postcard inviting them to see rattlers, up close and personal, in this West Texas city, which each year is host to a rattlesnake roundup.

"I told them we'd hold the First Annual MTV Roundup," said Ransberger, who has gone back to school at Texas State Technical Institute while waiting for the oil industry to steady itself.

Episcopal bishops consider women

SAN ANTONIO — The issue of electing women bishops is expected to highlight discussions among the nation's 250 Episcopal bishops when they meet next month in San Antonio.

The new primate of the 2.8 million-member church, the Most Rev. Edmond Lee Browning, is expected to introduce the topic for discussion during the annual meeting of the Episcopal House of Bishops Sept. 20-25.

The meeting is the first ever in San Antonio for the Episcopal bishops and coincides with the elevation of Browning, a native of the West Texas diocese who was elected last year to lead the church.

Rapist confesses crime

AUSTIN — About an hour after a woman was raped in her home, a man called the city's emergency 911 number to admit he committed the crime and to ask whether she had reported it, authorities said.

As a dispatcher talked to the caller on Thursday, deputies of the Travis County sheriff's department were at the woman's home talking to the victim, Lt. Jamie Page said.

The caller, after learning the rape he committed had been reported, said he would turn himself in shortly, then hung up, the dispatcher said.

However, the surrender never occurred, officials said. Page said the call was traced to a shopping mall in south Austin, and the phone booth was dusted for fingerprints.

Brad Schnitker has won more than $10,000 in college scholarships the old-fashioned way, he's earned them. Through 4-H work, Brad has received an $8,000 scholarship from the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, a $2,000 award from the Texas Independent Cattlemen's Association and another scholarship from the Grayson County Extension Homemakers.

Texas youth wins 4-H scholarships

DORCHESTER, Texas (AP) — Brad, who graduated from S&S High School in May, says he plans to attend Texas A&M University as a member of the Corps of Cadets this fall and major in agricultural journalism. He says he'd like to be a field representative for an agricultural or stock show journal, adding that modern agricultural technology particularly interests him.

"Most people when they consider ag, they think about farming," Brad says. But that's only part of the picture now, he says.

"I mean there's so many neat things going on now that people don't even understand about agriculture," he says. "A lot of it's more science than anything."

With an $8,000 4-H Club scholarship from the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, a $2,000 award from the Texas Independent Cattlemen's Association and another scholarship from the Grayson County Extension Homemakers, the 18-year-old's future looks bright. But that bright future and those impressive awards were earned through a long and distinguished 4-H career that Brad first embarked on at age 9.

He followed his older sister Becky, who established an outstanding 4-H career in her own right. Since then, he has amassed a slew of awards, including the top three 4-H county awards. In addition, Brad currently serves at the highest 4-H level in the state as one of 27 members on the state council. He represents an 18-county district.

But scholarships and recognition haven't been the only benefits Brad has received through 4-H.

"The things that you gain from 4-H that you really don't gain from other things are that you get a slice of everything, a cross-section of everything," he says. "You'll meet friends from all over — and close friends, ones that stay with you."

He adds that his 4-H experiences have aided him in communicating and in public speaking skills.

Texans laud hero

On Sunday — in Texas, Tennessee and Washington, D.C. — Americans will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birthday of Davy Crockett, a frontiersman best known as a defender of the Alamo.

At San Antonio's Witte Museum on Sunday there will be a "Grimm's" contest in celebration of Crockett, who once claimed to have killed 106 bears in eight or nine months.

The agenda includes a meal of rattlesnake suggests the Walt Disney film, "Davy Crockett and the River Pirates," tomahawk throwing and cannon firing.

Defeated for re-election as a Tennessee congressman in 1835, Crockett told his constituents, "You may all go to hell, and I will go to Texas."

Crockett and a few of his "Tennessee Boys," along with other defenders, died at the Alamo in San Antonio, Texas, when it was besieged by Mexican forces commanded by Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna on March 6, 1836.

Oilers speak A Texas World Series? their piece

Herald sports writer Eddie Curran visited the Houston Oilers training camp this past week in San Angelo. Here is the first of a four-part series from that visit. Part two on Monday will be the uphill battle a free agent has when trying to make the team.

"Most people feel a guy should get as much money as he can. It's the nature of the game, part of the business."

Oiler's backup quarterback Oliver Luck, when asked if the team feels resentment towards Oilers #1 draft pick Jim Everett for his contract holdout. Everett is a quarterback from Purdue, and was the third pick in the first round of the college draft.

"I don't play this game to be second fiddle to anybody." Offensive tackle Dean Steinkuhler, who missed last season with a knee injury, on whether he will be starting this year. In 1983, his senior year at Nebraska, Steinkuhler won the Outland and Lombardi trophies, symbolic of the best lineman in college football.

"A man dies without a beer every now and then." Steinkuhler, on whether or not players are allowed a beer during training camp.

"All I care about is wins and losses. I throw statistics in the garbage can. I've been in this league long enough to know that all that counts is W's."

First year head coach Jerry Glanville, commenting on what the Oilers will do to improve on their offense, which finished 24th in the league, and the defense, which finished 27th.

(Note: Glanville was interim head coach for the last two games of 1985, after Hugh Campbell was fired.)

"I don't think about it. I only worry about the people that are here. His name never comes up unless the news media brings it up."

Coach Glanville, when asked if he was concerned that Everett had yet to sign a contract, and had not yet appeared at training camp.

"They'll never go down with that coaching staff. They'll always be good."

Coach Glanville, when asked if he thought the Pittsburgh Steelers were beginning to eclipse.

JERRY GLANVILLE

"Being a defensive coach, his style has always been to be aggressive, and I think that'll carry over to the offense."

Tim Smith, the seven year wide receiver from Nebraska, who last year moved into third place on the Oilers' all-time reception list with 202 catches, on Coach Glanville's offensive philosophy.

"We'll be going for the deeper pass. I'm not interested in the dump off. He (quarterback Warren Moon) has an excellent arm."

Coach Glanville, commenting on his offensive philosophy.

"It depends on what they do to me after I get arrested for mass murder of the coaching staff."

Free-agent quarterback Ben Bennett, who graduated from Duke in 1983 as the all-time NCAA leader in passing attempts, completions and yardage, on what he'll do if the Oilers cut him. The Oilers plan to keep two quarterbacks; the other quarterbacks in camp are veterans Warren Moon and Oliver Luck.

"I'm not sure what he's doing, but whatever it is, I like it."

Bennett, commenting on the unsigned status of rookie quarterback Jim Everett.

"I put 400 players out of work. Obviously, some of those players are going to come here and put more players out of work."

Bennett, when asked how the NFL players reacted to the verdict in the recent USFL-NFL trial that virtually ended all hopes for the young league.

JOHN JEFFERSON

OLIVER LUCK

"He's trying to get down to negotiations. He would much prefer the Raiders, but if they bring their check books, he'll play with the Bills."

Bennett, on his friend, superstar quarterback Jim Kelly, and Kelly's plans for the 1986 season.

"I'm sure he can make it in this league. He's tough, and he takes charge."

Free-agent linebacker Larry James, who played for the USFL San Antonio Gunslingers, on Jim Kelly's chances in the NFL. James played against Kelly and the Houston Gamblers several times.

"As long as you never stop learning, you're gonna be all right."

Milt Jackson, receiver coach, to second round draft pick Ernest Givens from Louisville, as Jackson and Givens chatted before practice.

"I'm just going to be one of the five or six people they keep."

Former all-pro receiver John Jefferson, who had his best years with the San Diego Chargers and who held out last year rather than Oilers page 2B

An AP Sports Analysis
By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Dreams of a Texas Interstate 45 professional world championship collision haven't peppered these brainwaves since the 1978 NFL season.

As you recall, the brash Houston Oilers of Bum Phillips kicked and bullied their way into the AFC title game against the Pittsburgh Steelers. But on a cold, blustery Jan. 7, 1979, the Steelers held Earl Campbell to 62 yards on 22 carries and crushed the Oilers 34-5.

The Dallas Cowboys blanked the Los Angeles Rams 28-0 to win the NFC title and qualify for Super Bowl XII, losing to Pittsburgh 35-31.

Alas, no Oilers to complete the Texas doubleslam. The bigger-than-the-Alamo happening of an All-Texas Super Bowl wasn't to be. Seven years later, Texans have another fairy tale to chase.

Can the Houston Astros and Texas Rangers overcome the incalculable odds to please the Sesquicentennial Baseball Gods on the Lone Star State's 150th birthday with an I-45 World Series?

Before you fracture a rib laughing, consider the grit of the 1986 versions of the National League Astros and the American League Rangers.

Consider: In the second week of August, the Astros were leading the NL West with only two starters, Mike Scott and Bob Knepper, who have gone the full season without injury.

Ace Nolan Ryan has been on the disabled list not once, but twice, yet the relief corps of Dave Smith, Charlie Kerfield and Aurelio Lopez has kept the Astros in almost every game, despite a team batting average in the lower half of the league.

Also, consider that something must be going the Astros' way if Glenn Davis can hit 13 of his 24 home runs in the Astrodome, the hardest place to crank a ball over the fence in the NL.

Consider: the Rangers have come from behind to win 30 games after the seventh inning. No Texas team in history has shown such an ability to handle adversity in the late innings.

The Rangers' bullpen is nine victories over .500 for the season. Last season, it was six victories under .500, a bonus of 15 victories in a most critical department.

Texas' starting pitching has been atrocious yet, in the second week of August, the Rangers were trailing the AL West-leading California Angels by only two games.

The Astros and the Rangers have excellent schedules in the last two months of the season.

Houston doesn't play any more of the power teams in the East, and has 18 games remaining with Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago, the bottom three teams in the East.

While Houston has a 50-50 balance in road and home game victories, the Astros are the best of the contending teams on the road. Their excellent pitching and strong defense makes them a tough team to handle even away from the Astrodome, where they are 10 games over .500.

The Rangers have been amazingly resilient on the road, but are dead in Arlington Stadium, where they don't believe they can Texas page 3B

Only survivors left in International golf

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) — Now, said Howard Twitty, the golf tournament takes on a different look.

"It's a tournament where 12 guys are tied for the lead," Twitty said after leading 11 other qualifiers through the third round Saturday in the new, controversial, $1 million International tournament.

Up until this point, Twitty said, "it was a do-or-die situation. Either you do well or you're gone."

Among those gone after Saturday's play are such figures as Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson and PGA champion Bob Tway.

They were among the third-round casualties, when 39 players competed for 12 spots in the final round, where the prizes will range from $180,000 to the winner down to $28,000 for 12th.

Scoring is based on a modified Stableford system, in which points are awarded for the score on each hole — 5 for an eagle, 2 for a birdie, 0 for par, -1 for a bogey and -3 for a double bogey or higher. Medal points do not count, and points are not carried over from one round to another — so, up to this point, there were no actual leaders, only survivors.

In Sunday's final round, however, it is no longer qualifying. It will be a fight for position, similar to that in any other tournament.

He will be joined in the final round by Tom Kite, West German star Bernhard Langer, Bruce Liet-zke, South African Nick Price, Joey Sindelar, Ken Green, J.C. Snead, Donnie Hammond, Andy Dillard, T.C. Chen of Taiwan and Kenny Knox.

Knox and Lietzke each had 5 points and avoided a playoff for the final two places only when Lon Hinkle stumbled on the 18th hole, playing one shot left-handed and eventually making the double bogey that dropped him out of it.

In addition to Nicklaus, Watson and Tway, other casualties included Hal Sutton, John Mahaffey and Corey Pavin.

They, along with all other non-qualifiers in action Saturday, received $6,000 each.

Kite made Sunday's final on the strength of a birdie-birdie finish that got him in with 7 points and a medal score of 69, which, of course does not count.

Since points are not carried over, and, at this point, there are no leaders — only survivors — the unique scoring system prompted some bizarre thoughts on the part of players, the top point getter for the day.

He had a spot in the final 12 locked up when he was playing the 18th hole.

Langer, with a medal score of 68, four under par, had 10 points for the No. 2 position.

He was followed by Price at 68 and 9 points, and Sindelar with 8 points and a score of 70.

Nicklaus, Watson and Tway weren't even close.

Tigers get 21 hits; pound Red Sox, 12-6

By The Associated Press

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Whitaker led a 21-hit attack with a double and two singles, and pinch-hitter Larry Herndon hit a grand slam in a five-run eighth inning Saturday, helping Jack Morris and the Detroit Tigers to a 12-6 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Nursing a 7-5 lead, the Tigers loaded the bases with one out in the eighth inning against reliever Sammy Stewart, then scored five times on a bases-loaded walk by reliever Joe Sambito and Herndon's grand slam on the next pitch.

AL

Morris, 15-7, allowed nine hits in seven innings, including three by Tony Armas and homers to Dwight Evans and Don Baylor. The Tigers chased Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 11-9, with none out in the fifth. Boyd gave up 11 hits.

The Red Sox held onto their four-game lead in the American League East over New York.

Royals 4, Yankees 2
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Hal McRae's two-run double capped a three-run sixth inning, and Danny Jackson pitched a five-hitter through seven innings to propel the Kansas City Royals to a 4-2 victory over the Yankees.

The victory snapped a three-game losing skid for the Royals and halted the Yankees' winning streak at four.

McRae's double came off Dennis Rasmussen, 12-4, and gave him 1,000 RBI in the American League. Steve Balboni homered for the Royals, and Dave Winfield hit one for New York.

Blue Jays 13, Rangers 1

TORONTO (AP) — Ernie Whitt drove in four runs with two doubles and a single, leading Jimmy Key and the Toronto Blue Jays to a 13-1 drubbing of the Texas Rangers. Key allowed five hits over seven innings, and Damaso Garcia and Tony Fernandez each homered for Toronto.

The Blue Jays scored four runs in the first inning against knuckleballer Charlie Hough, 9-8, and put the game away with a six-run fifth inning. Hough, who hasn't won since July 12, is 0-4 in his last seven starts.

Key, 11-8, allowed only two hits going into the sixth, but the Rangers ruined his shutout bid with a one-out single by Oddibe McDowell and a run-scoring double by Scott Fletcher. Steve Lamp and Bill Caudill each pitched an inning in relief.

Indians 2, Orioles 1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Phil Niekro won the 309th game of his career, losing his shutout in the ninth inning on an Eddie Murray homer, and the Cleveland Indians defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 Saturday.

Niekro, now 47, became the oldest pitcher to throw a shutout when he won his 300th on the final day of last season, beating Toronto 8-0 with a four-hitter. He took a six-hitter into the ninth inning of this game in search of his first shutout since No. 300, when Murray hit a one-out homer, his 12th.

The Indians scored one run each in the first and second innings. Andre Thornton had an RBI single in the first, and Tony Bernazard drove in a second-inning run with a single.

Oilers edge Bills

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Tony Zendejas kicked three field goals and cornerback Steve Brown returned an interception 25 yards for a touchdown to fuel the Oilers to a 23-20 NFL exhibition victory over Buffalo Saturday night.

Houston improved its exhibition record to 2-0 and the Bills dropped to 0-2.

Trailing 23-3 at the half, Buffalo rallied in the fourth quarter behind rookie quarterback Brian McClure. Scott Norwood kicked a 36-yard field goal and McClure hit Walter Broughton with a 6-yard touchdown pass with 1:51 to go in the game.

Zendejas kicked field goals of 32, 24 and 23 yards for a 9-3 second-quarter lead before Larry Moriarty ran 4 yards for a touchdown late in the second quarter for a 16-3 lead.

Brown picked off Art Schlichter's first pass on the next drive and ran untouched 25 yards into the end zone.

Norwood kicked a 37-yard field goal for Buffalo's only first-half scoring.

Buffalo's Anthony Hutchison scored on a 2-yard run late in the third quarter, capitalizing on a bobbled punt attempt by the Oilers.

A quick rush by cornerback Rod Hill forced Lee Johnson into evasive action and he was tackled before he could punt.

Football players collapses, dies

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — University of Southern Mississippi fullback Eric Sorey of Campbellton, Fla., collapsed with leg cramps in Saturday morning practices and died several hours later at Methodist Hospital here.

University clinic Director Boyd Kellett said that Sorey was treated at the practice field and taken to the university clinic, where he was evaluated and treatment began.

When his condition did not improve, he was taken to the hospital. On the way, Sorey collapsed. Kellett said that he was found to be in cardiac arrest and treatment was started at the hospital's emergency room. A medical team spent more than two hours trying to revive him.

Cardinals take Mets in extra innings

NEW YORK (AP) — John Morris tripled to score Terry Pendleton and break a 1-1 tie in the 11th inning Saturday after rookie left-hander Greg Matthews had held the New York Mets to five hits over the first 10 in a 3-1 victory by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Mathews, 9-3, won his third straight game and fifth in his last six decisions as the Cardinals beat the Mets for the third time in a row. He struck out five and walked one.

NL

Rookie Todd Worrell, the third St. Louis pitcher, came on with Mets runners on first and second to get the last three outs for his 27th save. Darryl Strawberry was called out on strikes to end the game.

With one out in the 11th, Pendleton singled off Roger McDowell, 12-7, and stole second. Morris tripled down the right-field line to score Pendleton and Vince Coleman followed with a run-scoring grounder.

Mike LaValliere had doubled in the seventh to score pinch runner Coleman to give the Cardinals a 1-0 lead against Dwight Gooden. Coleman came on for Clint Hurdle, who was hit in the head by Gooden and taken to a hospital for x-rays. Coleman then stole second and scored on LaValliere's double to center.

Gooden allowed four hits, struck out two and walked five in eight innings.

Dodgers 6, Giants 5
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Steve Sax keyed a five-run fourth inning with a two-run single, and pitcher Bob Welch continued his mastery over San Francisco on Saturday as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Giants 6-5.

Pirates 6, Phillies 1
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sid Bream drove in four runs with a homer and three singles, and Rick Rhoden pitched a five-hitter as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 6-1 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Rhoden, 13-7, struck out seven and walked two in pitching his seventh complete game. He lowered his earned run average to 2.35, second-best in the major leagues to Houston's Mike Scott, who has a 2.32 ERA.

With the score tied 1-1 in the eighth, Kevin Gross, 8-10, walked Barry Bonds and Bobby Bonilla to open the inning. Dan Schatzeder relieved and retired Johnny Ray on a fly to center, but Bream lined a single to right to score Bonds with Bonilla moving to third.

Reds 4, Padres 1
CINCINNATI (AP) — Buddy Bell hit a three-run homer, his third in two days, and Bill Gullickson pitched into the ninth inning Saturday night to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-1 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Bell's fifth-inning homer gave him a 14-game hitting streak, his longest since being dealt to the Reds by Texas last July. He hit a pair of homers in the first game of a doubleheader Friday, and now has five in the last eight days.

Gullickson, 9-8, allowed at least one baserunner in six of the first seven innings, but used a pair of double plays to escape harm. He gave up 10 hits in 9 1-3 innings, struck out four and walked two. John Franco got the last two outs for his 19th save.

Astros 7, Braves 4
ATLANTA (AP) — Kevin Bass drove in three runs and Matt Keough and Charlie Kerfeld combined on a five-hitter as the Houston Astros beat the Atlanta Braves 7-4 Saturday night.

Keough, 3-3, winning his first game as a starter in more than two years, allowed two runs on three hits in 5 2-3 innings, striking out five and walking two. Kerfeld earned his sixth save by pitching the final 3 1-3 innings.

Loser Rich Mahler, 11-12, gave up five runs on seven hits, walking one and striking out four in five innings. The Astros broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the fifth. Jose Cruz led off by reaching first on second baseman Glenn Hubbard's error, and took third on Alan Ashby's double. Both scored on Reynolds' single.

Houston added three runs in the sixth. Bass tripled home Denny Walling and Glenn Davis, knocking out Mahler, and scored himself when Cruz singled.

The Braves, who made the score 5-2 on Dale Murphy's 22nd home run with Ken Oberkfell on base in the sixth inning, came within 5-4 with two runs in the seventh. Rafael Ramirez scored on pinch hitter Chris Chambliss' sacrifice fly and Ozzie Virgil came home on Kerfeld's wild pitch.

Bass hit his 17th home run in the eighth to put Houston ahead 6-4.

Diver gives China first gold

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Min Gao gave China its first-ever gold medal of the World Swimming Championships as she won the women's springboard diving competition Saturday.

The 15-year-old schoolgirl posted what officials said was the highest score in any major competition by winning the gold with almost a dive to spare.

In other events Saturday, Canada's Carolyn Waldo collected her second gold medal of the championships when she won the synchronized duet in partnership with countrywoman Michelle Cameron, and the U.S. men's water polo team defeated the defending champion Soviet Union 10-8.

China had won only two bronze medals in previous World Championships, both in women's diving events.

But Gao's 21-year-old countrywoman, Li Yihua, collected its first-ever silver by finishing second, ahead of Marina Bobkova of the Soviet Union.

Gao led from the second round of the 10-dive springboard final and finished almost a full round ahead of her countrywoman.

Through an interpreter, the teen-ager said she was not slated to take part in the highboard event and would take time off to enjoy her first visit to Europe.

Gao added she also enjoyed race swimming although had no plans to compete.

Of her performance, she said, "I made a few mistakes, but I'm happy."

By the end of the competition, the 15-year-old had amassed 582.90 points to Li's 549.42.

Bobkova collected 525.21 points to beat the Netherlands' Daphne Jongejans for the bronze.

The 21-year-old Waldo, who won the solo goal medal Friday, again produced an immaculate performance in partnership with the 23-year-old Cameron.

The seven judges awarded them six scores of 9.9 out of 10.00 and a 9.8 as they edged out the American twins, Sarah and Karen Josephson.

The Canadians totaled 196.267 for the figures and free routine, to the Americans' 193.401.

The Japanese duo of Megumi Itoh and Mikako Kotani took the bronze with 185.467.

The American men's water polo team trailed twice in the first quarter, but gained a victory that enabled them to top their first-round group.

Terry Schroeder scored three times for the U.S. team, whose other scorers were Mike Evans (two), Greg Boyer, Jeff Campbell, Kevin Robertson, James Berguson and Alan Mouchamar.

Mouchamar's clincher with 1:33 to go foiled a late Soviet comeback late in the game in which Giorgi Mshvenieradze scored twice to cut the deficit from 9-6 to 9-8.

Bill Barnett, coach of the American team, described the result as a great confidence booster, but cautioned that his squad still had to beat the powerful West Germans to gain the medal round.

Tomczak leads Bears over Colts

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterback Mike Tomczak passed for three second-half touchdowns Saturday night and the Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears rolled to a 38-21 preseason victory over the Indianapolis Colts.

NFL

Tomczak directed an 81-yard drive capped with a 12-yard touchdown to rookie David Williams to open the second half. He also hit Dennis Gentry with a 1-yard scoring pass and E.J. Jones with an 11-yard touchdown pass.

Tomczak, who also passed for three touchdowns last week against Pittsburgh, completed 9 of 11 for 115 yards.

The victory was the third straight for the Bears, while the Colts suffered their second defeat in as many starts.

The Bears broke the game open late in the first half when they scored 10 points in a span of 46 seconds.

Kevin Butler booted a 44-yard field to snap a 7-7 tie with 1:18 left in the half and moments later rookie Vestee Jackson intercepted a pass to set up a 9-yard touchdown pass from Steve Fuller to Keith Ortego for a 17-7 halftime lead.

The Colts scored a touchdown with 1:12 left in the game on a 1-yard run by Owen Gill, set up by a 21-yard pass from Jack Trudeau to Tim Sherwin. The Colts then recovered an onside kick, and Trudeau capped a 49-yard drive with a 20-yard touchdown pass to James Harbour with 16 seconds remaining.

Falcons 20, Bucs 17
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Veteran kicker Mick Luckhurst, entering the game for the first time with only three seconds left, booted a 29-yard field goal to give Atlanta a 20-17 victory over Tampa Bay Saturday night.

Luckhurst made his lone appearance of the night a minute after second-year kicker Mike Prindle blew a chance to win the game when he was wide left on a 34-yard attempt.

playing with the Green Bay Packers, when asked if he would be one of the Oilers starting receivers.

*****
"He can pick a defense apart. He's the best there is — he can read a defense so fast. Marino does the same thing. Sometimes he (Marino) throws the ball to the covered man, but he's so strong he gets it there."

Jefferson, commenting on Dan Fouts, his teammate and quarterback with the Chargers, and Miami Dolphins star quarterback Dan Marino.

*****
"Football owners work together. Why, when Walter Payton — the best player in football — became a free agent, nobody wanted him."

Jefferson, on the relationship between NFL owners and players.

*****

"Yeah, I heard of the single wing. Old time stuff. It never worked."

Jefferson, kidding with rookie receiver Givens before practice after Givens told Jefferson he ran the single wing as a high school quarterback.

*****
"I'm not really disappointed, because I know God has a plan for me, and I took it in stride."

Offensive tackle Pete Catan, who last played for the Houston Gamblers, on his reaction to the verdict in the USFL trial. Catan flew that day for a physical, with the hopes that the Oilers will be interested in him. He had already made similar trips to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and Atlanta Falcons training camps.

*****
"We'll win it."

Coach Glanville, on who will win the AFC Central Division, which includes the Pittsburgh Steelers, Cleveland Browns and Cincinnati Bengals.

Texas

lose. The Rangers recently came from behind to win three straight games at home.

Texas closes the season with seven straight games at home, with the final four against the California Angels. The Rangers figure if they can just stay close to their fans, they can handle the Angels, who have been living off the stingiest starting pitching in the AL.

For the Rangers to win their first division title in history, something must be done about a starting pitching staff that went 13 straight games without finishing a game.

Of course, winning the division is only the start.

The Astros would likely have to beat the New York Mets, baseball's best team, in the NL championship series.

The Rangers probably would be pitted against the Boston Red Sox in the AL title match.

Granted an I-45 Series sounds a little daffy — but not much more loony than an All-Missouri World Series, which took place last year.

Mother vetoes reception plans of daughter Newcomers

DEAR ABBY: My daughter just hung up on me, and I need to run this by you to find out if you think I did the right thing.

A little background: Our daughter eloped last week with the man she's been living with for 12 years. When they returned from their elopement, they called and asked her father and me to have dinner with them to celebrate. The other guests were the parents of the groom and another couple — their good friends who were their witnesses. We went to dinner with them and offered to pick up the tab, but they refused.

Just now this daughter called me to say that since we were spared the expense of a big wedding, she thinks it's our duty to give them a wedding reception! She said they would select the time, the place, plan the menu, invite all the guests and all we would have to do was pay for it.

I told her that if she wanted a reception she would have to pay for it — that I was not interested in inviting our family and friends to a wedding reception that was 12 years too late. That's when she hung up on me. Abby, this girl is 39 years old. How do you feel about this?

HAD ENOUGH IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR HAD ENOUGH: My feel-

Dear Abby

argument, saying, "Since no one else has ever mentioned it, I assume it is OK." He said he had attended tea-tasting ceremonies in London, and "they" all make noise when they sip tea.

I have tried to find some reading material on how to drink tea, but could not come up with anything. I would like something in writing to show this gentleman. Even a word from you might convince him. Please don't mention my name, his name or the city this is from. Thank you.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If your charming, world-traveled, well-educated friend needs something in writing to convince him that making a slurping noise while drinking tea is not socially acceptable, I submit this: Slurping may be OK at a tea-tasting ceremony in London, but it's considered bad taste here.

DEAR ABBY: As a father, I made a lot of mistakes (my son is now 14), but I know I did at least one thing right, and I'd like to share it with you.

When my son was 3 years old, I started giving him an allowance of 50 cents a week. There was one catch — he could spend 25 cents on anything he wanted, but the other 25 cents he had to put in his piggy bank. He could spend his piggy bank savings any way he wanted, but only after it reached $10.

Each week he spent his 25 cents on candy and gum, but he never really thought much about his savings — until he got his first $10. When he realized what he could get if he saved up his money, he began saving all his allowance.

Every year on his birthday, his allowance was increased 50 cents, so he had 25 cents more to save. Also the amount he had to save increased $10.

He now has his first after-school job, and he's saving for a set of drums and a school trip to France.

I have never talked to him directly about the virtues of saving, but he saves money like no other teenager I know.

PROUD SEATTLE POPPA
DEAR POPPA: You have a right to be proud — of yourself, as well as your son.

You gave your son a gift that will last him a lifetime: a lesson in the value of saving.

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about sex, drugs and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Weight program needn't be fancy

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I can't afford to join a gym, so I've made my own in my basement. The only equipment (all I can afford) is barbells and some dumb bells. I envy the ones who get to use the machines, and I wonder if I am really losing out with my simple program. — L.A.

Machines are nice. They're easy to use, and you can accomplish much with proper utilization. But don't feel cheated. There is a lot to be said for free weights, too. Those are the barbells and dumb bells.

With free weights you can perform whole body lifts. In other words, when you use a barbell, you involve all of your body, all the joints, from the ankles up to the shoulders. Seated at a machine you don't get that benefit.

Another advantage is that you are learning muscular coordination. You have to balance your whole body when using a barbell. That's something you don't do seated at the machines. In short, L.A., you are utilizing the best machine going, your own body, and using it to the fullest in your simple program.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How much fluid should a person drink during a golf game (18 holes) on a very hot day? — F.F.

The short answer: lots. In such situations, especially if you are an older golfer not using a cart, you actually might do well to superhydrate yourself a half hour or an hour before starting. You can take a pint of water.

Normally, hydration needs can be filled by drinking about six ounces of fluid every half hour during a round. But don't, as I've seen many golfers do, carry along a portable bar of beer and cocktails for on-the-course hydration. Alcohol increases urine production, compounding the body-heat problem.

Food may last longer in near future

From BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS A Meredith Magazine

Within the next few years, you may be able to buy produce that stays fresh in your refrigerator for weeks on end, according to Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

Before the year 2000, meats that keep for extended periods could be available, too. These foods will owe their longer shelf life to a preservation process called irradiation.

Food irradiation has been approved for use in more than 20 countries. In the U.S., irradiation has been permitted for several years on some foods, but there has never been any commercial use of the process.

Unlike canning or pasteurization in which heat is used to preserve the food, irradiation is a process that does not noticeably affect a food's natural color, taste or texture.

During irradiation, foods are exposed to gamma rays (similar to X-rays) which — depending on the dose — can kill insects, bacteria, yeasts, molds and other food contaminants. For more than 40 years, FDA scientists have reviewed tests that indicate this process poses no danger to our health.

Presently, the FDA allows low-dose irradiation of some spices and grains to control insects and bacteria. The process also is used to control sprouting in potatoes. Recently, the FDA proposed that higher levels of irradiation be used to control insects and bacteria in a variety of foods.

Additionally, irradiation of foods cannot be detected by appearance, so consumer groups advocate this preservation process be labeled on retail foods.

H&R Block Tax Course Could Be Ticket To Extra Income

Thousands of people are finding that learning income tax preparation is the perfect way to supplement their incomes.

Many people use the tax preparation skills they learn in H&R Block's Income Tax Course to add to their incomes. H&R Block is now offering its basic income tax course starting September 2. Morning and evening classes are available. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

During the 13 week course, students will study various phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach tax law, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and many practice problems. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Because tax preparation is needed during the months of January through April, you can put your skills to use immediately during the winter months and may be able to make enough extra money to pay off Christmas bills or make money for that summer vacation.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the course. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at 1512 Gregg, Big Spring, 263-1981. We are open Monday and Friday, 9 to 4 p.m.

County Fair to feature a new Country Store

By DON RICHARDSON
 County Extension Agent

The Annual Howard County Fair will be Sept. 15-20 and that's right around the corner.
 A new feature this year will be the Country Store, which is aimed at county gardeners, farmers, homemakers, etc. in allowing them to have an opportunity to sell their garden produce, eggs, canned goods, handwork, etc. and at the same time add a new attraction to our fair.

Mrs. Zula Rhodes is our fair board director coordinating this event and Mrs. Helen Larson will be in charge of the store. Everyone is very excited about this new fair attraction and we encourage everyone's participation in it. We want to be of assistance in helping interested persons prepare for it and to do so, we will be having an informational meeting for all interested persons at 7:30 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Fair Building on Wednesday, Aug. 20. Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Larson will both be on hand to answer questions about the store and Dr. Austin Stockton, our Extension Horticulturist, will be here to offer assistance in helping to prepare produce for a market such as this.

If you need more information on this Country Store, please contact the Howard County Extension Office at (915) 267-7761 or 267-1821 for more information.

Speaking of the fair, don't forget about the usual attractions. All of these will be offered once again. Our horticultural show, which features beautiful house and garden plants plus very attractive arrangements will again be featured. Mrs. Edna Womack is in charge of this event. The Agricultural Products Division will be hosted this year by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Perry. Such entries as garden produce, field crops, etc. will be featured in this division. Agricultural Appreciation Day will be Wednesday, September 17. A community Bar-b-que will be featured at noon plus other attractions, spot-lighting the cotton industry in Howard County. Contact the Chamber of Commerce for tickets to this. The annual Sew-It-With Cotton Contest will be held that evening.

For your garden

The annual Goat Show, a popular attraction for the younger set, will be Monday evening, September 15. Contact Mike Bragg for more information on this. The Queen's Contest is also Monday evening. All young ladies in the county are encouraged to participate. Ann Weaver should be contacted about this event. Clyde Foley Cummins, the very personable entertainer from last year's fair is back by popular demand plus the James & Michael Younger Show.

The 4-H Omelet event will again be held on Tuesday, September 16. For more ticket information please contact the County Extension Office.

The Children's Barnyard will be another feature as will County Steer, Calf Ropings, and Barrel Racing. Open junior lamb, steer and barrow shows will be held again plus a big rabbit show.

Many other events are featured at this year's fair and we hope you can come out each night. Something different and exciting is scheduled each day and evening. Catalogs are limited in number but some are still available at the County Extension Office.

Control health care costs by being aware

By NAOMI HUNT
 County Extension Agent
Controlling Health Care Costs
 It's no secret that hospital care is expensive. Patients complain about the high price of medical care and pay the bill. But they should also check the bill carefully before paying.

Although all efforts are made for accuracy, mistakes in hospital bills can occur. For example, one woman whose operation was canceled, later received a bill for anesthesia. And such examples are not isolated.

Equifax Services, an Atlanta company that checks hospital bills for insurance companies, reported that 97% of 13,000 bills they audited had errors. Because of figures like these, some insurance companies offer incentives to people who spot faulty bills.

Here are four errors to check for:

- that the length of the hospital stay as shown on the bill and the type of room are correct.
- that services are not listed twice.
- that the price of service is correct.
- that the services listed on the bill were actually performed.

Other Care Options
 Try a clinic run by a group of doctors with shared facilities. This could cost less than one doctor with private facilities. When visiting a clinic, you might not see the same doctor every time you visit but your records would be stored by the clinic for use by any doctor treating you. In some cases for minor surgery you can go home right after the surgery without being hospitalized.

Focus on family

Short stay surgery is another cost cutting measure used by some hospitals. Patients and families are instructed in how to care for the patient at home. A visiting nurse or sitter may be used to provide trained assistance.

Home Health Care is another option. Depending on need, a nurse visits the patient up to twice a day during recuperation. Check with your doctor about the advisability of home health care. The doctor has to order it.

Control Drug Costs
 Take medications as directed. About half of the medicines prescribed are not taken correctly or not taken at all. Medicine in the bottle doesn't do you any good until you swallow it.

Ask your doctor about generic substitutions for brand name drugs. This can save at least 30%. The prescription form has two places for the doctor to sign. One line says "dispense as written". If the doctor signs here, the pharmacist must sell you the brand name drug. The other line says "product selection permitted." If the doctor signs here, the pharmacist is allowed to sell you the generic form of the drug which can be much cheaper.

Some people are concerned that although the chemical is the same, the inert ingredients (binders, etc.) make the generic form act differently in your body than the brand name. The term for this is "bio-equivalency." I have not found evidence that generic drugs are any less effective than brand names.

Compare pharmacies. Find one that suits your needs and your budget! Don't be afraid to compare prices. Expect to pay more for the privilege of charge accounts, delivery and other services. These services may be worth it to you.

In some cases a drug may be available in over-the-counter form which will cost less than a prescription drug. Ask your doctor. I learned about this when I had a cracked ankle and the doctor prescribed something for pain. Then he said "no wait, get a bottle of — and take 2, it's the same thing but will cost you less."
