Schools enrollment changes little

Cheryl Green, teacher at Coahoma High School discusses an economics assignment with her class during sessions this morning. The Coahoma district had 941 students the first day — down 5 percent. Big Spring district reported a 3 percent decline as most local districts said enrollment dropped only slightly.

Area public school enrollment figures for the first day of school are near those for the first day last year — despite expectations that it would decline considerably as a result of the slump in oil prices.

Big Spring public school enrollment is down approximately 3 percent, a surprisingly low percentage, said Bill McQueary, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction.

He said he expected enrollment to be down by as much as 10 percent.

Overall, the district had 4,192 students Tuesday, down from 4,320 the first day of school last year.

The biggest drop was in high school enrollment — 17 percent. It had 1,122 students Tuesday, down from 1,345 last year.

Runnels Junior High School and Goliad Middle School also were down slightly.

Elementary school enrollment, however, actually rose by 162 students. The same thing happened last year, McQueary said.

He said he doesn't know why elementary school enrollment is up, but that one explanation might be that parents are reluctant to move smaller children to another district.

Howard College enrollment figures are slightly down from last year, but Dan Shockey, administrative dean, believes they ultimately will be about the same.

Late registration at the college continues through Monday.

Although the number of students at the college in Big Spring is expected to be slightly less than last year, students in new programs in Del Rio, Lamesa and San Angelo should balance the enrollment, he said.

Enrollment at the South West Collegiate Institute for the Deaf will be about 90 to 95, registrar Pam Campbell estimated. The figure is up considerably from last year's enrollment "in the 70s."

The increase was anticipated, because SWCID's out-of-state tuition was decreased to be more in line with community colleges. Former director Sam Hill said last year he expected the lower tuition to spur a growth in enrollment.

The Coahoma school district had 941 students the first day — down 5

Dam repair could cost $1 million

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Rebuilding Comanche Lake Dam, which failed amid a 5½-inch downpour Saturday night, may cost the city as much as $1 million, Councilman Harold Hall said Tuesday.

Meanwhile, crews from the county, city and Colorado River Municipal Water District were busy Tuesday and this morning trying to remove a section of crushed culvert that poses a new flood hazard by blocking water channeled through Big Spring Draw.

Hall said the $1 million estimate was supplied by engineers and Texas Water Commission officials, who were in Big Spring Monday and Tuesday.

City Manager Mack Wofford said this morning the city is exploring federal and state financing to deal with flood damage. Moreover, Mayor Cotton Mize and County Judge Milton Kirby will ask that Big Spring be declared a disaster area, he said. Officials said Monday, however, that a disaster declaration is a long shot.

Public Works Director Tom Decell and Wofford said no plans have been drafted for reconstructing the dam, which must be built to new state standards.

Water continues to flow though a 7-foot breach in the dam, dropping the level of Comanche Lake still further. Ultimately, the lake may have to be drained, but nothing definite has been decided, Decell said.

Survey crews were at the site Tuesday, he said.

Comanche Lake and its dam were engineered in 1914 by the Texas Pacific Railroad, Hall said. The lake was made to supply water

White says first session not enough to solve crisis

By DANA PALMER
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — One 30-day special session won't be enough to solve the state's immediate budget crisis, the state's leadership said Tuesday.

After a luncheon meeting of top leaders at the Governor's Mansion, Gov. Mark White said he expects to call another special session sometime soon after the current one ends at midnight Thursday. Exactly when is uncertain, he said.

The current session began Aug. 6 to deal with a projected $3.5 billion shortfall in the state budget caused by falling oil prices and a resulting loss in sales tax collections as the economy worsened.

Despite the prospect of another session, White said, strides have been made in dealing with "the most radical loss of funds of any state in the history of the United States."

Most of that progress has been in the area of budget cuts and alternatives to a tax increase, White said, but everyone's proposal on how to solve the full problem still must be considered.

"The main thing that has happened during these past 20-some-odd days is that everyone recognizes that there is no simple answer to this problem," White told reporters during a hastily called backyard news conference.

Other states facing similar problems have needed more than one session to arrive at a solution, he said.

During the luncheon, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby pointed out the probable impact the financial crisis will have on the future of Texas, White said.

Also, House Speaker Gib Lewis reiterated his belief that a com-

Flood aid, lower losses reported

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The American Red Cross has revised its initial residential flood damage estimate while the agency and the local Salvation Army continue to provide aid to victims of Saturday night's flood.

Dave Clark, Red Cross Regional Field Manager, said this morning the amount of damage to residential property is closer to $35,000 — a $40,000 to $65,000 decrease from initial estimates.

Clark said in surveying homes, many were not damaged as badly as first thought. The bulk of damage, he said, was to carpeting and furniture — particularly mattresses.

The Red Cross has identified 66 families in the disaster area in need of assistance, Clark said. Thirty-four of them have applied for aid and 11 cases have been closed, he said. He added he expects 10 to 15 more families to ask for help.

The area that sustained the most intense flooding was Baylor Boulevard and Colby and Monmouth avenues.

Clark said today that no homes have been classified as destroyed, although one was severely damaged. The majority of homes, he said, did not have major structural failures.

The Red Cross has fed 749 people since arriving in Big Spring Sunday, Clark said. The agency will remain in the city through Saturday.

The area's other relief team, the Salvation Army, has been at the flood site around the clock since Monday, said Army Capt. Carroll Braun.

Braun said 22 army volunteers have put in more than 200 hours serving hot meals to victims and emergency personnel.

Also, workers have gone door-to-door with army vouchers for food, clothing, furniture, cleaning supplies and blankets, he said.

The army has mobile feeding units in Big Spring from Midland and San Angelo, Braun said.

Gambling bill veto expected

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White probably will veto the parimutuel gambling bill approved by lawmakers, the House sponsor of the measure said after meeting with White today.

Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, said White based his decision on "the fact that the Legislature has not done its work in dealing with the deficit and dealing with the crisis at hand."

Since the special session began Aug. 6, White has told lawmakers to cut spending and raise the sales tax before dealing with other subjects. The House has blocked a tax bill, and House and Senate conferees are dickering over budget cut proposals.

The House and Senate voted on the horse and dog race betting bills although White said he did not intend to open the session to the topic. Under the bill approved in both chambers, Texans would vote in November 1987 on whether to legalize parimutuel gambling.

"I think there's a good possibility it's dead," Berlanga said.

He said he asked the governor to delay his veto in order to see if there is any legislative movement on budget cuts. White is expected to call the Legislature back into special session shortly after the current session ends.

But Berlanga said he probably would not introduce another parimutuel bill in that session.

State Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, talks about the financial problems that face Texas as the special session of the legislature nears an end. He recently submitted a plan to transfer disabled inmates to Rusk State Hospital in east Texas.

Marie-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — State Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, outlined a plan Tuesday to transfer disabled inmates from the Texas Department of Corrections and place them in the Rusk State Hospital in East Texas. Farabee said his proposal would not affect other mental health hospitals, but added that state hospitals should be flexible in changing services since hospital populations have decreased. Gary Hughes, director of the Texas Public Employees Association, said state hospital employees in the Wichita Falls area had voiced concern earlier about such a proposal. He said those employees thought that maximum security patients from Rusk would be transferred to other facilities to make room for the TDC inmates. Lacking the training to handle maximum security patients, employees said they feared being edged out of their jobs. "I don't think those plans are there now," said Hughes. Farabee said there were enough empty beds at Rusk to handle about 500 disabled inmates from the prison system. "I have not heard the likelihood of that happening," said Farabee, when asked if Rusk patients would be transferred elsewhere to make room for the TDC inmates.

Forecast

By The Associated Press
WEST TEXAS: Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thunderstorms can be expected through Thursday. Rainfall will be heavy at times with possible flash flooding over the South Plains and Permian Basin tonight. Temperatures will be a little warmer in the far west Thursday. Lows tonight will be in the 60s except in the low 70s in the Concho and Big Bend valleys. Highs Thursday will be in the low 80s in the north to near 90 in the far west and mid 90s in the Big Bend valleys.

Nation

Drenching rain prompted high water warnings in Texas and New Mexico today while rain was scattered across the South and much of the East had fair skies. A storm over the northern Rockies scattered thunderstorms into South Dakota, Nebraska and western sections of Kansas and Texas. Heavy thunderstorms prompted flash flood watches for central, southwest and far west Texas as well as south central and southeastern New Mexico. Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the mid-Atlantic states through the Southeast, Florida and the lower Gulf Coast region. A high pressure caused fair skies across a large section of the West including the intermountain region, the Northwest and California. Skies were generally clear to partly cloudy from northern New England and New York across western Pennsylvania and the eastern Great Lakes through the Ohio Valley. Meanwhile, Utah received its first snow of the season, an inch at upper elevations of Snowbird on Tuesday. A weak cold front was magnified while passing over the warmer water of the Great Salt Lake, creating thundershowers at lower elevations and the snow in the high country, the National Weather Service said. Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms scattered across the Mississippi Valley and south Texas, the central Gulf Coast states and the southern Atlantic Coast states; showers and thunderstorms widely scattered across the Plains and southern Rockies; and rain lingering over the mid-Atlantic Coast region.

state sales tax. Also included is a permanent or temporary 5-cent hike in the gasoline tax; a four-month delay in state payments to employee and teacher retirement plans; a budget-cut compromise of about $600 million; and a series of "accounting tricks" that could cut another $300 million. "That would work. That makes the numbers work right," Hobby told reporters earlier. The proposal, he said, probably would relieve the state's cash flow problem through November 1987, but "does not balance the budget by any stretch of the imagination." A bigger tax increase would be needed from the Legislature when it begins meeting in regular session in January, the lieutenant governor said. Lewis said Monday he has asked state Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, to draft a bill that would allow the state to use short-term borrowing.

County hires nurse to serve indigents

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Dr. Jack Woodall, director of the Howard County/Big Spring Health Unit, today hired Claudia Turner, a registered nurse at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, to administer health care services to qualified indigent patients. County commissioners learned of the hiring this morning during an emergency meeting to discuss indigent health care personnel. Turner will begin her duties of evaluating patients and administering care at the health unit on Sept. 15. Commissioners Bill Crooker and O.L. Brown said a screening officer would be hired today to fulfill the vacancy created by Friday's resignation of County Welfare Director Kathryn Hise.

Turner, who lives in Forsan, will be paid $22,000 annually. Woodall told commissioners he hired her because she is from Big Spring and is committed to remaining in the area. Woodall said one person had applied for indigent health care services since it became effective Monday. When asked by Commissioner Brown to forecast the number of indigent health care patients the county will be responsible for, Woodall replied, "It's just a little early to tell you." "We haven't cranked up the operation yet," he said. "Lots of details need to be worked out." Kirby said the county will contract Sept. 8 with Scenic Mountain Medical Center for outpatient and inpatient hospital and emergency room services for indigents in addition to contracting with a pharmacist for prescription medicines.

Realtors who volunteered time at the pledge center were: Heather Farris, Brant Farris, Bill Estes, Ford Farris, Debney Farris and Lila Estes. Mike Barber of Fairchild Drive collected $19 door to door in his neighborhood, then donated $3 of his own, according to Estes.

Red meat up 7 percent

Texas red meat production totaled 384 million pounds during July, up 7 percent from the previous year and 8 percent from June, according to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service. Commercial cattle slaughter during July totaled 574,460 head, 9 percent above last year. Liveweight totaled 599 million pounds, compared with 550.2 million a year earlier. The monthly hog kill, at 60,800 head, had a total liveweight of 16.95 million pounds. The number of head slaughtered decreased 27 percent, and total liveweight was down 24 percent from 1985. State statistician Dennis Findley reported that the July calf slaughter totaled 24,000 head. Liveweight reached 11.14 million pounds. Commercial sheep and lamb slaughter, at 38,800 head, had liveweight totaling 4.29 million pounds. United States commercial red meat production was up slightly from a year earlier to 3.28 billion pounds. Commercial cattle slaughter totaled 3.32 million head, 6 percent above a year ago. Some 6.10 million head of hogs were slaughtered during the month, 8 percent below last year, Findley added.

students. High school and elementary school figures were about the same as last year, but the junior high figure was down slightly, a spokeswoman in the district office said. Final figures for the Glasscock County school district were not available, but were estimated at 390 total. Superintendent Don Stringer said it's about the same as last year. Stanton had a total of 835 where the draw flows under Goliad will have posts inserted and then filled with a sand/cement mix, called stabilized soil. Semi-permanent barriers will be placed along the damaged street area, narrowing it by about a third, he said. The temporary fix could be completed as early as Thursday, he said. But Decell could not say when the street and culvert will be restored to normal, nor how much it will cost. Rain again started falling on Big Spring early this morning, and a flash flood warning was in effect today for the entire Permian Basin. The Agricultural Research Service had measured .66 of an inch of rain as of 8 a.m. today, bringing this year's total rainfall to 20.32 inches, more than seven inches above normal for this time of year. Boyce Hale, Sterling City Route several miles south of Big Spring, recorded 24-hour rainfall ending at 6 a.m. at .77 of an inch. His total so far this year stands at 23.03 inches.

to feed the railroad's steam engines, he said. Later, the lake and dam were deemed to the city. Chances are, nature will be made responsible for refilling the lake, Hall said. Rebuilding the dam, however, is on the back burner of the city's repair plans, Decell said. The number one priority this morning was tearing loose a huge piece of culvert protruding beneath South Goliad Street and blocking Big Spring Draw. Assistant City Manager Hal Boyd said the 15-foot steel culvert was crushed when a torrent of flood water and debris slammed into it, folding it like cardboard. Wofford said this morning there is no immediate danger of flooding, unless rains again become torrential. A gapping section of Goliad also was dislodged when raging water gouged out the soil beneath it. Decell said a massive cavity

480 die in accidents

CHICAGO — Traffic accidents killed at least 480 people nationwide by the official end of the Labor Day weekend, with California and Texas reporting the largest numbers of deaths.

The holiday tally was well within estimates by the National Safety Council, which had predicted that at least 400 people would die on the nation's highways during the three-day period.

The total, based on traffic deaths occurring between 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight Monday, was 480 fatalities.

Performance ruined

NEW YORK — A Soviet dance troupe will perform tonight as planned, a spokeswoman said after a tear-gas bomb forced the evacuation of a sellout crowd of 4,000 people and caused minor injuries to 30.

Two telephone callers to The Associated Press claimed the Jewish Defense League was responsible for the Tuesday evening incident, which cut short the Metropolitan Opera House performance by the Moiseyev Dance Company. But the national chairman of the JDL condemned the incident.

Poverty record broken

WASHINGTON — A record 5.2 million Hispanic Americans lived in poverty last year as the median family income of the group fell $478, according to a study of Census Bureau data.

The analysis by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities also found that two out of five Hispanic children — or a record 2.6 million — lived below the poverty line last year.

The center, a non-profit, liberal-oriented research organization, also said that "if current trends continue, Hispanics will pass blacks in the next few years as the ethnic group with the highest poverty rate in the nation."

Controller warned crew

CERRITOS, Calif. — An air traffic controller warned the crew of a jetliner that an airplane was nearby about 75 seconds before the jet and a small plane collided, killing all 67 people on the planes and as many as 24 on the ground, officials said Tuesday.

However, investigators found that the aircraft was not the single-engine Piper involved in the accident with the Aeromexico DC-9, said John Lauber, the National Transportation Safety Board member in charge of the investigation of Sunday's crash. Evidence of the third plane was found Tuesday through a study of radar records, Lauber said at a news conference Tuesday night.

Boston fire Police rescue six from tenement

BOSTON (AP) — Police officers rescued six people, including two young children, early today from a flaming three-story tenement that authorities said was torched.

The six were injured, but officials said none of the injuries was life-threatening. One person suffered a broken leg.

Police charged a 29-year-old man with arson and attempted murder. No name was released immediately because officers were not certain of his identity, said Police Sgt. Robert Cunningham.

Cunningham said Patrolmen Dino Gonzalez and Kim Gaddy spotted the fire in the three-story, wooden tenement at about 2 a.m. The officers also saw the man later arrested throw something through a window, causing the flames to intensify.

The two officers called for help, and Patrolmen Leo Ronan, Jack Marotta and Martin Brooks arrived at the scene, Cunningham said. The five entered the building before firemen got to the scene and "were directly responsible for carrying and dragging at least six people to safety from the burning building," said Sgt. Paul Ferrahar.

"I reached the front staircase, and I was able to grab one young child, but I told the other people they weren't going to make it down the staircase," Marotta said.

"We sent them back up, and they had to come out the second floor landing onto the roof and had them jump. We were able to get a second child out of the back and the rest of the occupants out of there."

Police said the man suspected of starting the fire ran away as the officers went into the building to rescue the residents, but was arrested later when he was seen nearby.

The injured were taken to Beth Israel, Brigham & Women's and Children's hospitals. Fire officials estimated damage to the building at $100,000.

Soviet ship abducted

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iranian gunboats intercepted a Soviet ship in the Persian Gulf northwest of Dubai and Iranian marines boarded the freighter, gulf-based shipping executives reported today.

The 11,750-ton freighter, the Pyotr Yemtsov, was heading from a Black Sea port to Kuwait when it was intercepted Tuesday off the United Arab Emirates, said the executives, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The vessel first put out a mayday signal that it had been hit by a missile at 25.40 degrees latitude north and 55.40 degrees longitude east, but later "corrected" the signal, reporting that it was boarded by Iranian marines, the executives said.

Ancient relic stripped

SUYAPA, Honduras — Masses of thanksgiving were planned today to celebrate the recovery of the Virgin of Suyapa, a statue stolen but later found in a restaurant bathroom stripped of its silk clothes and jewels.

A nationwide search was launched Tuesday after the tiny cedarwood likeness of Honduras' patron saint was discovered missing from its shrine in the chapel of Suyapa, a town on the eastern edge of the Tegucigalpa metropolitan area.

Release demanded

MOSCOW — The chairman of U.S. News & World Report called Nicholas Daniloff's imprisonment "outrageous" and demanded the American reporter's immediate release from Lefortovo Prison, where he marked his fifth day today.

Daniloff, the magazine's Moscow correspondent for 5½ years, was arrested Saturday. The KGB secret police have accused him of spying, but American officials, his family and peers say Daniloff was framed.

Mortimer B. Zuckerman, the newsweekly's chairman, was scheduled to meet with senior Soviet officials today in his effort to free Daniloff, according to Jeff Trimble, another U.S. News reporter working in Moscow.

319 missing from ship

MOSCOW — Divers in the Black Sea searched the sunken wreck of a Soviet cruise ship that officials fear may now be the watery grave of hundreds of passengers, the official Pravda newspaper reported today.

Seventy-nine of the 1,234 people who were aboard the Admiral Nakhimov when it collided with a freighter and sank at about midnight Sunday are known to have died, but 319 people are still missing, according to official reports.

Asians promote American ideals

The top five prizes in last spring's Westinghouse Talent Search, the most prominent science award open to American high school students, went to Asian-Americans.

On the math section of the college-admissions Scholastic Aptitude Test, Asian-Americans typically score about 30 points higher than whites.

Though they account for only 2.1 percent of the population of the United States, Asian-Americans constituted 11 percent of the freshman class at Harvard last year.

In California, where the heaviest concentration of Asian-Americans lives, the college enrollment figures are even higher — one quarter of the undergraduates at UC Berkeley, for example, and one-third at UC Irvine.

As Fox Butterfield reported in the New York Times, the extraordinary academic performance of Asian-Americans has prompted numerous new studies to learn what lies behind their success.

Some scholars suggest that Asians are genetically superior, that they possess higher I.Q.s. Dr. T. Barry Brazelton, a pediatrician at Harvard, suggests that Chinese and Japanese babies are more alert and sensitive at birth, making them faster learners.

Others maintain that many of the Asian-American children doing so well today are the offspring of a unique group of immigrants, drawn largely from the intellectual and professional elite of their home countries.

Whatever the explanations, almost all the studies converge on one simple fact: Asian-American students work a great deal harder than other Americans.

A survey in the San Francisco area, for example, found that male Asian-Americans spend an average of 11.7 hours a week doing homework, compared with 8 hours for whites and 6.3 hours for blacks. Studies also indicate that Asian-American parents reinforce the notion that education is important and that hard work, not necessarily natural talent, pays off.

Perhaps it should come as no surprise that our newest Americans believe more strongly in the American dream, in the idea of making good by sheer hard work, than those of who who have been here awhile. They believe Horatio Alger.

Let's hope their energy and ambition, and their dreams, are contagious.

Wife protests ticketing of victims

To the editor: I would like to protest an action committed by Officer Goebble on Aug. 31.

My husband, Kenneth, was helping his parents move furniture out of their flooded house when this officer had the audacity to ticket my husband for parking in the median — not blocking traffic — and the only spot available on the southeast side of Baylor.

This action would have been understandable if my husband had been a sightseer. But even after Ken explained the situation to the officer, he had the nerve to say "it's only $20 — don't worry about it; it won't go on your insurance."

Our police department has never had a great reputation, and you can bet I won't be anxious to improve it.

Haiti's military junta leader has no political ambition

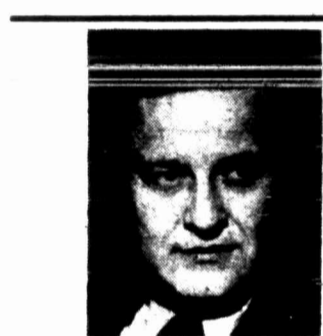

By JACK ANDERSON
PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI — On a small, dusty farm beside a gravel road on the outskirts of the city, I discovered the rarest of all political animals: a leader who doesn't want to lead, a ruler without a political ambition, a military strongman who wants to hand his power over to civilians.

State Department officials told me about this unique person; they said Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy didn't seek political power, doesn't want it and assumed it only out of a sense of duty. Our outgoing ambassador to Haiti, Clayton McManaway, confirmed that the chairman of Haiti's military junta is driven by duty, not ambition. Without exception, people who know Namphy describe him as a patriot of uncommon integrity, who is as honest as he is blunt.

Still, I didn't believe them until I met Namphy for myself. I found him still living on the modest farm he owned before he took over the Haitian government. He declined to move into the presidential palace; the opulence of its former occupant, ousted dictator Jean-Claude "Baby Doc" Duvalier, disgusted him. "I was aware of Duvalier's excesses," Namphy told me, "but it was much worse than I had imagined."

Face to face, the military strongman is disarming. Of medium physical proportions and stocky build, he seems through some knack of carriage to be larger and more powerful than he is. He has an arresting face, with pleasant, amiable lines yet an intimation of ruggedness. His whole personality lights up every time he smiles. He displays an athletic conditioning, yet he talks enthusiastically about books and asked knowledgeable questions about my own latest book.

I spent an evening with Namphy, three informal hours, while his small daughter tugged at him, struggled into his lap, hugged his neck and begged for snacks. I questioned him 10 different ways about his political ambitions. The answer was always the same; he had none. At last he became exasperated with the subject. "I am a military man, and I have no interest in civilian office," he said in his native French, speaking through an interpreter. "But even if I were a civilian and burned with political ambition, I would not want to be president of Haiti." The nation's problems, he explained, are too overwhelming.

He spoke gravely about Haiti's terrible misery. The treasury has been drained; the economy is close to collapse; the land has been sapped; the population is impoverished. He has made repeated trips into the hinterlands to visit with the people and find out for himself what their needs are. Once he drove a pickup truck, unaccompanied by aides, bodyguards and presidential trappings. He asked questions, without revealing his identity, until someone recognized him.

Clearly, Namphy is tormented by what he learned. As he talked about the needs of the people, he broke into English. "These are good people," he said. Then he turned to me, his eyes moist. "Yes," he repeated, "they are good people." Associates told me he anguishes over the plight of the people. Said Foreign Minister Jean-Baptist Hilaire: "I know this man. I know how he has suffered." The United States seems preoccupied, Namphy said, with elections. "Washington is in a hurry for us to become a democracy," he said. "The people don't want democracy. They want jobs."

He is eager, nevertheless, to turn the country over to civilian rule, but he is worried about the presidential candidates. Some are demagogues who might become dictators if they gain power; others are crooks who want to strip the treasury of what little is left, Namphy fears. He said most Haitians are naive, trusting people who can be fooled by a demagogue.

He has scheduled presidential elections in 1987. During the interim, he hopes to educate the people by introducing democracy at the local level. But he is willing to rush the process and hold earlier elections — if the United States will take responsibility for the consequences.

I never thought I would ever advocate keeping a military junta in power. But in my opinion, the longer Namphy can be persuaded to remain at the Haitian helm, the better off Haiti will be and the more likely he will be succeeded by a true democracy.

BABY DOC'S LEGACY: Before ex-dictator Jean-Claude "Baby Doc" Duvalier fled Haiti a few steps ahead of an angry mob, he turned over the government's bank account to his successor, Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy.

According to one report, there was less than $2 million left in the national treasury. After the book-keeping was straightened out, a source said, Namphy had only $500,000 to run the government. Duvalier and his cronies absconded with billions. Namphy has retained lawyers and accountants to figure out exactly how much, to trace where it has gone and to try to get it back.

News releases offer amusing information

By JIM CRAIG
WASHINGTON — Only a few years ago, before renovation brought carpeted hallways to the National Press Building (the Washington home for most of the national press corps), throughout the day you could sit in your office and hear loud thuds in the hallway. The thuds were produced by piles — some huge and some modest — of papers being dumped in front of each office.

The papers were the press releases, reporters often refer to them as "hand-outs," being delivered to offices of news organizations.

Every government agency spews press releases. Some are important and provide headlines across the country. Many are not-so-important bits of data which, when compiled, can provide background for news reporters. Most, however, are quickly tossed into the trash.

The news releases come from the administration, of course, but they also come from every lobby group, every special interest group in town. And there are hundreds of those. Most from Capitol Hill are old news by the time reporters get them since, if we are doing our job, we have put the news in the paper before a congressman's press secretary writes a release.

The releases are produced in such large quantities that companies have emerged to deliver them to news bureau offices.

Those delivery men are the ones making the thuds in the hallway. It's like a jungle drum message. Distant thuds slowly gaining strength until the messenger arrives at your door. Then the thud softens as the harbinger of official and unofficial verbiage steps into the elevator.

The piles at the door are but one — however tiny — way news reporters glean information to include in reports published in their newspapers.

While much of that pile at the door is trash, it all must be looked over just in case an important morsel of useful information is contained in the batch.

While all government agencies and departments crank out more than their share of news releases, the Agriculture Department probably deserves the award for spinning the most tales.

Here are some excerpts from a handful of literally dozens of releases which are produced daily from the Ag Department and delivered to my door (and most other news bureaus in Washington).

• "An electronic sensor that can automatically tell dairy farmers when cows are ready to mate is more than 90 percent accurate in preliminary tests..."

• "The U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service today announced changes in its release date calendar for filberts, lemons, navel oranges and pistachios..."

• "The U.S. Department of Agriculture today proposed setting grade limits for skinned lentils..."

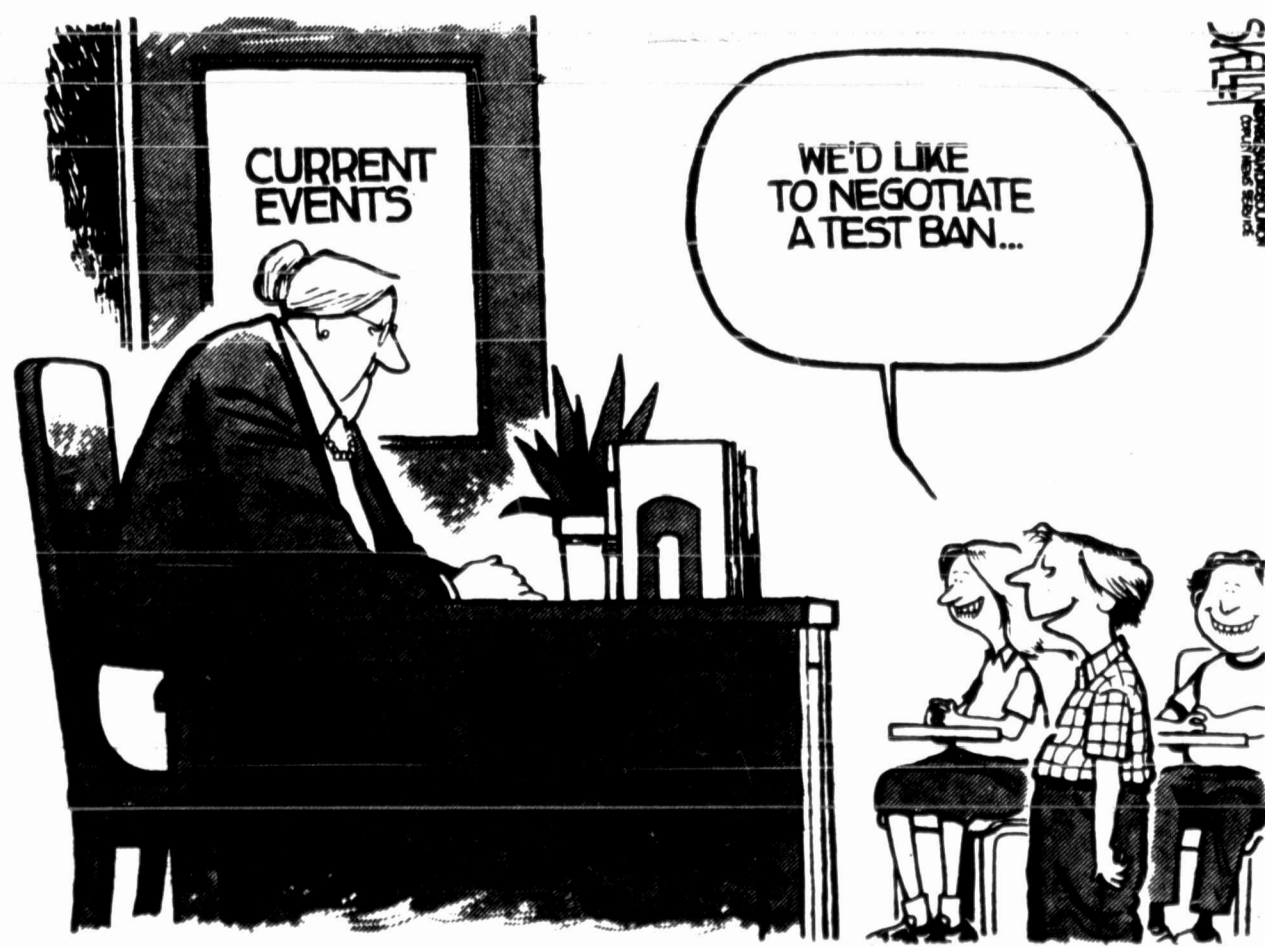

• "Insects zigzag through the air in a way that may be far more systematic and purposeful than previously recognized..."

• "Starch from the nation's surplus corn may be the key ingredient...to make a plastic mulch that degrades when no longer needed..."

• "The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued a final rule revising the voluntary U.S. grade standards for peeled potatoes..."

• "Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng today announced plans to carry out a $4 million program to expand dried prune exports..."

In all fairness, I should point out, I asked for this information. I asked for the daily hand-outs from the Agriculture Department. A reporter looks everywhere for news, even in reports of changing standards for peeled potatoes and dried prune exports.

Temple man tells true tale of flying car of 1945

John N. "Tommy" Thompson Jr. stands next to a photo of the Flying car, which he helped build in 1945. Thompson did the sheet metal work on the craft, which had a cruising air speed of 125 miles per hour and a top speed of 140 mph.

TEMPLE (AP) — It may sound like something out of the children's book "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," but the story a Temple man tells about a flying car is no fairy tale.

John N. "Tommy" Thompson Jr. is the only surviving member of the group of men who built the "flying car," designed by B-24 designer T.P. Hall in 1945.

Thompson did sheet metal work on the craft, which had a cruising air speed of 125 miles per hour and a top speed of 140 mph. The car weighed 575 pounds and had a top speed of 60 to 70 mph.

Unlike the novel by Ian Flemming about a magical flying car, the motive for builder of this car-plane was profit.

Hall had in mind selling his creation to businessmen who would use the car-plane on business trips. They could fly to small airports, remove the wing assembly and drive off in the car to conduct business.

After formulating his design plans, Hall rented space in a garage in San Diego and hired Thompson and two other former employees of Consolidated Vultee, now General Dynamics.

"After the war I wanted to rest, but five weeks after it ended I got the call from Mr. Hall," Thompson said.

Not everyone involved with the project was confident about its possibilities.

"I thought it was OK; of course, we all had our doubts, but we lived by faith and Mr. Hall believed in it," Thompson said.

The group started building the flying car in the fall of 1945. It was ready for its first flight July 2, 1946.

Consolidated-Vultee test pilot Russ Rogers took the plane on its maiden trip through the air, with Hall and workers watching in delight, Thompson said.

The plane climbed to about 2000 feet with no problem. When Rogers landed, he rolled down the window and said, "I like it."

A highway patrolman at Lindberg Field had watched in disbelief. He told the men it was time for him to get a new book for writing tickets for flying cars, or change his brand of liquor, Thompson said.

The prototype logged more than 100 hours of flying time. Hall's dream had come true, but there was one hitch — finding a market for the craft.

Hall decided to sell the car to Consolidated-Vultee. Another prototype, with improvements, was built by the company. Thompson also worked on that project.

The first plane was built of light-gauge aluminum, with fabric-covered wings, elevators and rudder assemblies. The car had a frame of welded steel tubing, and was equipped with a four-cylinder engine from a 1945 Crosley automobile. The wheels were mounted on hydraulic cylinders to take the shock of landing the plane.

The pilot sat in the car and the plane controls hung down, through the roof.

The second car was made of fiberglass. It could attain a speed of 68 mph, Thompson said.

Only test pilots and an authorized flight engineer were allowed to fly either plane. However, Thompson did get to try out the car.

"I was so low on the ground it felt strange to me," he said.

The second plane once had to make an emergency landing on the mud flats of Chula Vista, Calif., but not because of a mechanical failure.

"The pilot just ran out of gas," Thompson said.

It had flown 50 hours before the accident, and after being repaired, it went on to fly another 30.

Consolidated-Vultee was having financial problems at the time it bought Hall's design. Not long after building the second car-plane, company officials sold the idea back to Hall for about one-fourth the price they paid for it.

"Consolidated-Vultee was going to ask $5,000 for the planes, which was quite a sum in 1946. There just wasn't the market for it," he said.

Thompson worked for General Dynamics until his retirement in 1971. He and his wife moved to Temple in 1976.

Thompson isn't sure where the car-plane is parked these days. The last record he has of its location is a hanger in El Cajon, Calif.

"It was exciting and strange. People had disbelief. I'm just sorry it couldn't be developed any further," he said.

Women's baldness is beautiful to one man

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from the young woman who lost all her hair permanently due to a condition called alopecia. I also was surprised to learn there was an organization that gives help and support to such people.

That woman should know that not all men would find her unattractive when she removes her wig. There are men who think bald women beautiful! I am one.

I am a male, late 20s, normal in every way, and for some reason I find bald women attractive. So far my search for my dream girl has been unsuccessful, but I really would like to marry a girl who would keep her head shaved perfectly smooth. Since few would agree to do this (even if she'd agree to shave it once, she'd probably wind up growing it back sooner or later), I would love to meet a permanently bald woman with a pretty face and warm smile.

Remember, beauty is in the beholder's eye, and just because society set one standard of what is beautiful, that does not mean everyone has to conform to it. Smooth legs are sexy, so why shouldn't a smooth head be the same?

So, if any of you bald girls out there go shopping, or just out for a walk — leave your wig at home.

Dear Abby

How else are men like me going to know you have no hair? Of course, not all women look good bald, but if her face is pretty, and she has a nice smile, expressive eyes, and ears that don't stick out, she's my idea of a beauty.

BALD IS BEAUTIFUL IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR B IS B: What a refreshing attitude. Thank you for sharing it.

DEAR ABBY: My question is short and sweet. What are the chances for a 54-year-old woman who has not had a period in almost three years getting pregnant?

Please answer in the newspaper as I'd rather not have anyone in this small town know how concerned I am.

STILL WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The chances are very small, but if I were you, I would assume nothing and take no chances. Now I have a question: Why haven't you asked your family physician that question? A woman your age should have an annual Pap smear, which would be the ideal time to inquire. See your doctor at once.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you regarding a family matter. Recently I discovered that a maternal aunt married her uncle — her husband being the brother of her mother. This took place over 60 years ago. Everyone in the family tried to cover up this mess, but I am all for uncovering the truth.

Wouldn't such a marriage be outlawed today? What about their children who are my cousins? Wouldn't they be illegitimate if such a marriage is unlawful? And don't such close blood marriages breed idiots, blood diseases and the like? If my cousins are illegitimate, wouldn't any wills and trusts be declared null and void? Please print the facts.

CAN OF WORMS IN FLORIDA

DEAR CAN: You can judge for yourself whether or not your cousins are idiots. I urge you to consult a Florida lawyer for the answers to your questions concerning legitimacy and inheritance. Laws differ from state to state.

DEAR ABBY: I had a baby recently with natural childbirth. I went through several hours of hard labor with hardly a whimper or a frown on my face. My husband was with me in the delivery room the whole time. I was really proud of myself.

Needless to say, I was baffled when my husband told my visitors that I cursed and called him names "for what he did to me." I was so hurt when he made those smart-mouthed remarks about the delivery, instead of calling it "the greatest experience a father could ever witness" — like so many other fathers do.

When I confronted him about it afterward, he said he was just kidding, but to this day he still laughs and repeats that terrible lie when someone asks if he was in the delivery room.

Why should he do this? Your answer in the newspaper would be appreciated.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Because he's an insensitive clod with a warped sense of humor and little respect for your feelings.

Egg-ceptional recipes for egg lovers

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

If you have high blood cholesterol, the diet your doctor has advised you to follow is probably lower in total calories, fat, saturated fat and cholesterol and higher in complex carbohydrates and fiber than the typical 'American' diet.

If you're an egg lover, don't despair! These recipes were designed with you in mind. The amounts of fat, saturated fat and cholesterol fit into the strictest cholesterol-lowered diets.

1/2 cup each: sliced green and sweet red pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 1/4 cups skim milk

Czech ousts Wilander

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweden may be the current powerhouse nation in men's tennis, but Czechoslovakia has been more successful in the U.S. Open.

As for the United States? Don't ask.

While Swedes Joakim Nystrom and Stefan Edberg have advanced into the Open quarterfinals, Czechoslovakians Ivan Lendl, Miloslav Mecir and Milan Srejber also have reached the final eight.

The only American still playing is unseeded Tim Wilkison of Asheville, N.C.

Mecir recorded the biggest upset Tuesday, knocking off No. 2 Mats Wilander of Sweden 6-7, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. Srejber also was victorious, eliminating Todd Witsken of Carmel, Ind., 6-7, 7-6, 6-1, 6-4, while Lendl already had advanced to the quarterfinals. He played No. 8 Henri Leconte of France today.

Nystrom, who plays Mecir next, beat Matt Anger of Pleasanton, Calif., 7-6, 6-2, 6-2, while Edberg, the fourth seed, has a quarterfinal date tonight against Wilkison.

Two-time Wimbledon champion Boris Becker of West Germany ousted qualifier Gary Donnelly of Scottsdale, Ariz., 6-4, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4.

In women's play Tuesday, top-seeded Martina Navratilova moved into the semifinals with a 6-2, 6-4 triumph over her doubles partner, fifth-seeded Pam Shriver. Steffi Graf of West Germany, rated third, had no trouble with No. 8 Bonnie Gadusek, 6-3, 6-1.

Also in action today in women's quarterfinals were No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd, who played Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria, seeded ninth, and No. 7 Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia, who opposed Wendy Turnbull of Australia.

Mecir, a relative unknown in this country but the 16th seed here, beat Wilander for the third time in five meetings.

Czechoslovakia's Miloslav Mecir hits a forehand shot to Sweden's Mats Wilander Tuesday during play at the U.S. Open Championships at New York's National Tennis Center. Mecir upset the second-seeded Wilander 6-7, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 to advance to the quarterfinals.

"He makes you feel like you are playing bad but I think that actually he is playing too good," Wilander said. "When he's playing very good, I think he's just too good for me."

Mecir, Czechoslovakia's top Davis Cup player now that Lendl no longer represents the country in international play, could do well just facing Swedes.

"The Swedes have similar games and that's why I have success," Mecir said. He has beaten Wilander, Nystrom, Edberg, No. 11

Mikael Pernfors, No. 13 Anders Jarryd and Ulf Stenlund of Sweden this year. And now he gets Nystrom.

"I've lost the last three or four times (to Mecir)," Nystrom said. He had no problems with Anger after taking the opening-set tiebreaker 7-5.

Srejber and Witsken, conqueror of Jimmy Connors on Sunday, traded tiebreaker victories in the first two sets, then Srejber overpowered Witsken in the third set. But the 6-foot-8 Srejber got the decisive break in the ninth game of the fourth set.

Becker was up 3-0 in the third set and said he felt "the match was almost over."

"Then I had 40-15 at 3-1 and I served two double-faults. I still don't know why. And then he probably felt more confident and played a few good shots at that point."

But after Donnelly won the tiebreaker 7-4, Becker immediately broke serve and held his rest of the way.

"I just went on the court and said, 'I'm already in the fourth round, I'll just hit as hard as I can. When it's in, great. When it's not, bad luck.'"

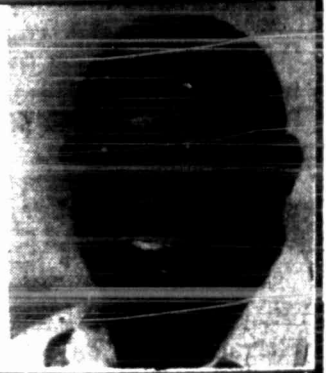

It was Shriver's bad luck to face Navratilova, whose forehand gave Shriver fits.

"On her forehand, I can't pick it up ... I don't know what she's doing," Shriver said. "I play six years of doubles with her, play her 8,000 times, and I still don't know what that forehand is going to do."

For Shriver, it was yet another Open disappointment. She made the finals here in 1978, losing to Lloyd, and has not seen success like that again.

It's in the personnel

It's the start of a new era for Big Spring High School athletics. For the first time in 30 years, Big Spring won't be competing in District 4-5A.

This will be especially interesting during the football season. The Steers have exited the dreaded District 4-5A, regarded by many football experts as the "Little Southwest Conference."

Granted, 4-5A was a tough district, and maybe the Steers didn't have enough team depth to win their share of games. But the thing I'm tired of hearing is that Big Spring will be successful this year just because it is dropping down a class.

That's the farthest from the truth. Big Spring will do well in its first year in the new district for the simple reason the Steers have the players that can do the job.

I don't know how a drop in classification can make a team a winner. You must have the personnel — that's the bottom line.

A lot of people don't realize just how tough this new district is. Year in and year out, it produces numerous major college football players. For each of the past two years, 2-4A has fielded a team in the state playoff semi-finals, and last year Sweetwater won it all. By no means did those teams have an easy time in league play.

To be truthful, there have been years in the past when Big Spring would've finished near the bottom in 2-4A also. Who says things will get easier with a drop in classification?

The Steers will do well because they have the personnel this year — try 36 seniors for openers. A lot of these 36 seniors have been through the 4-5A wars, most of which the Steers lost. But in losing came experience and pride, something that doesn't show up on black and white for the football prognosticators. Like Steers coach Quinn Eudy said, "These guys have payed the price to be winners."

Big Spring will be successful because in Charles White and Phillip Mathews, it will have two of the best running backs in the area. Better yet, they will be running behind an offensive line that worked hard during the summer months to get ready for the fall.

Big Spring will be successful because it returns a defense with eight players that either started or saw lots of action. With noseguard Todd Coker and tackle Jay Burcham up front, rushing yards will be hard to come by for Big Spring's foes. And experienced hands like Matt Garrett and Sean Jackson in the secondary won't make the opposition's passing yards come easy either.

But that all goes back to having the players to do the job. Last season the Steers proved they have the caliber of team that could beat the good teams. Good examples are a 34-16 win over No. 15 Odessa High and a 15-13 victory over No. 23 Abilene High.

As you will recall, the Steers were in most of their seven losses last year. If not for the dreaded "third quarter jinx", Big Spring might have done better than its 3-7 record. For some reason Big Spring played horrible in the third period. Last year opponents outscored them 67-12 in that period.

But that was last year and this is this year. All of that is water under the bridge. Look for the Big Spring Steers football team to fare well in 2-4A this season. Not because of realignment moves by the University Interscholastic League, but because of the personnel on this year's Black and Gold.

Bo debuts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Bo Jackson made his major league debut "not looking for anything spectacular to happen," but a few inches were all that kept him from a monster home run and an embarrassing triple play.

"A lot happened, but I'm just happy to be in the major leagues," said the 1985 Heisman Trophy winner.

Called up Monday when major league rosters expanded, Jackson was inserted in right field for the Kansas City Royals' game Tuesday night against the Chicago White Sox. He was 1-for-3, legging out an infield single off Steve Carlton in his first at-bat.

He had hammered the previous pitch 425 feet into the top of the left-field bleachers, but third base umpire John Hirschbeck ruled the ball foul.

Royals interim manager Mike Ferraro said Jackson will be in right field again tonight against the White Sox.

Jackson's first hit came on a 2-2 pitch which he bounced to the right side of the infield. Hulett fielded the ball and waited for Carlton to get to the bag. But the 23-year-old Jackson, who, as a football star, rushed for more than 1,500 yards his senior year at Auburn, easily outran the 41-year-old Carlton.

"One day he will look back and say he got his first hit off a Hall of Famer," Ferraro said. "He can be proud of that."

After a 4-for-45 start, Jackson hit .277 with seven home runs and 25 runs batted in in 53 games at Class AA Memphis of the Southern League. The Royals have insisted all summer that this is nothing more than a learning period for the muscular running back-turned-outfielder.

Hammer resigns as CC golf pro

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring Country Club golf pro Gary Hammer announced his resignation Monday, saying it was time to go home to Dallas.

Hammer came to Big Spring in January of 1982 from the Sherrill Park Golf Course near Dallas. He will continue as the country club's pro until Sept. 28.

"I just decided it was time to go home. I've been out here five years, and that's enough," Hammer said.

He said he had been considering the move for some time, and he wanted to return home before the winter.

"It's time to go home and start over again before I get too old to do so," he said.

"There is good and bad with everything, and I'll remember the good and forget the bad," Hammer said about his tenure in Big Spring.

Hammer graduated from West Texas State University in 1976. He played college golf for South Plains Junior College in Levelland, and at Hardin-Simmons University in

Red Sox get come-from-behind win

By The Associated Press

While the Toronto Blue Jays were losing their first game in 10 Tuesday night, the Boston Red Sox were taking care of business at home.

"It's a great come-from-behind win again," said Don Baylor after helping the Red Sox beat the Texas Rangers 8-6.

"This is like a never-die team," Baylor added. "We're winning in a lot of ways and it's a different character each day. Tonight, Wade Boggs set it up with a great at-bat and Marty followed with another great at-bat for the tie-breaking hit."

When word was received that Cleveland had beaten Toronto 9-5, hiking the Red Sox lead to 4½ games in the American League East, Baylor said:

"That makes our win so much better. It's another game they're (Blue Jays) going to have to try to make up."

With Texas ahead 5-3, Baylor hit a two-run homer to tie the score 5-5 in the sixth. Marty Barrett then won it for Boston with a two-run single in the seventh.

"You don't think of home run when you go to bat very often, but that was the exception," Baylor said. "I knew what I wanted to do — put the ball out of the park. I made up my mind as soon as Buck was out at third. I figured it was the right time to go for the long ball."

Indians 9, Blue Jays 5

TORONTO (AP) — Ken Schrom gained his first victory since July 23 as the Cleveland Indians turned back Toronto 9-5 and stopped the Blue Jays' winning streak at nine.

Andre Thornton had three RBI and Brett Butler two as the Indians snapped a three-game losing streak and won for just the second time in their last eight games.

Schrom, 12-6, a former Blue Jay, snapped a personal four game losing streak. He scattered six hits through six innings before being relieved by Brian Oelkers. Frank Wills got the final seven outs for his second save.

Twins 4, Brewers 0

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bert Blyleven pitched a five-hitter for his third shutout of the season and sixth straight victory as the Minnesota Twins beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-0. Kent Hrbek drove in two runs, and Kirby Puckett scored twice for Minnesota.

It was the 54th career shutout for Blyleven, 15-10, who was matched against another veteran, Pete Vuckovich, in Vuckovich's first major league appearance since last Sept. 4. Blyleven walked one and struck out eight.

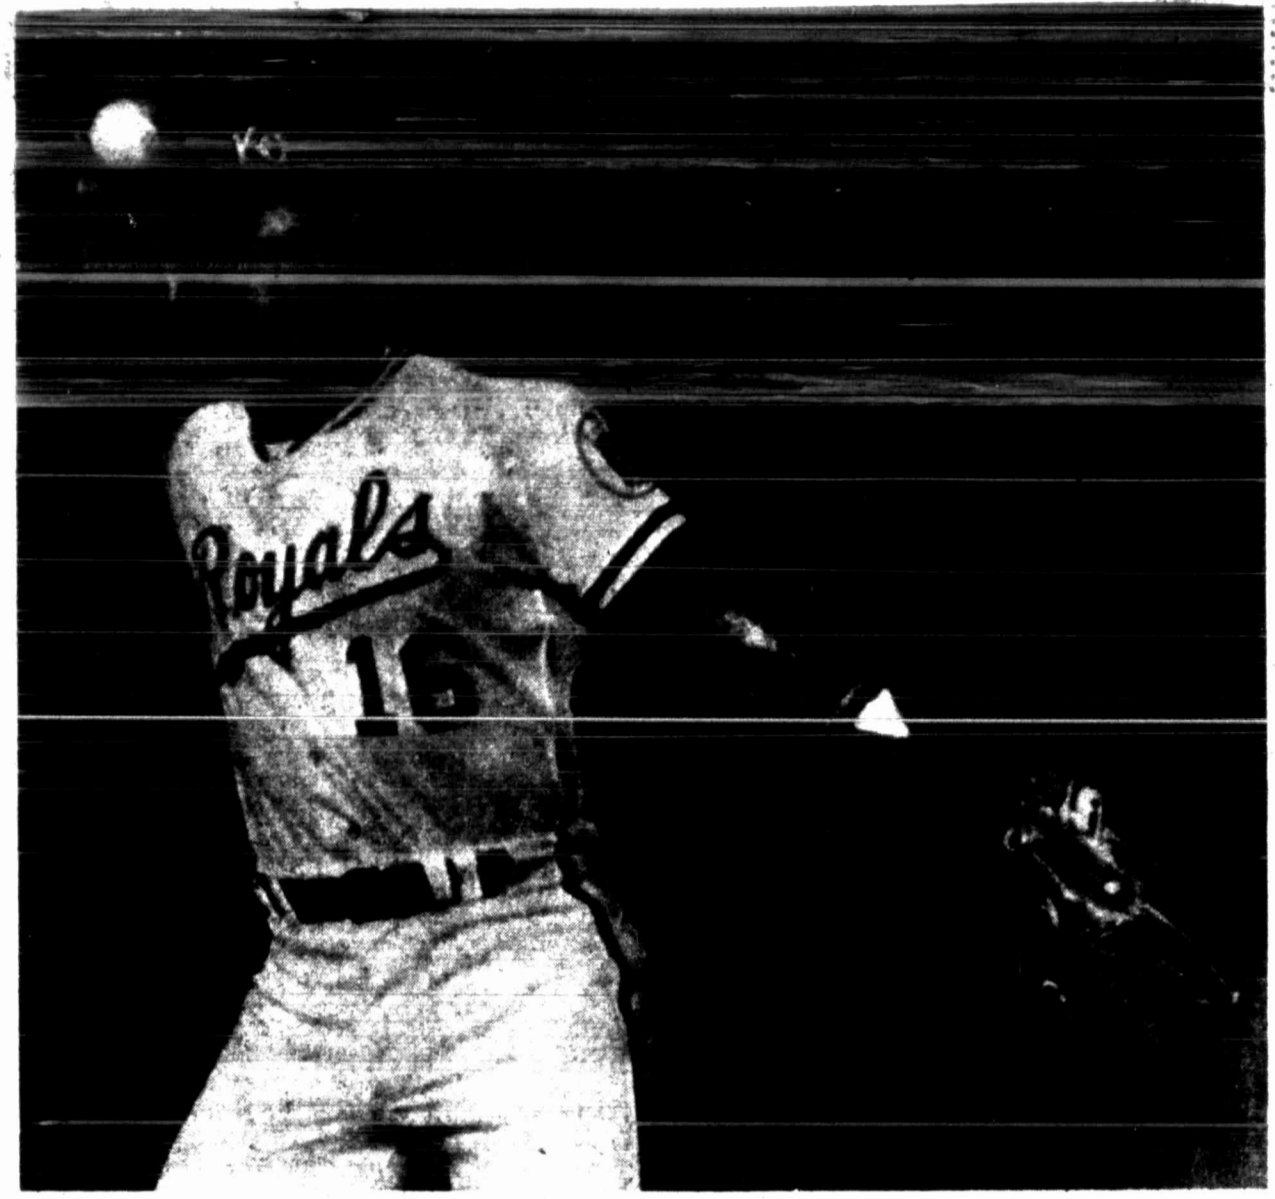

In pitching his American League-leading 13th complete game, Blyleven gave up just one extra-base hit, Robin Yount's one-out double in the first. Blyleven's last loss was July 27 to the New York Yankees.

White Sox 3, Royals 0

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Steve Carlton pitched a seven-hitter for eight innings and Ozzie Guillen went 4-for-4 Tuesday night to lead the Chicago White Sox past Kansas City 3-0 in a game that also saw the major league debut of the Royals' Bo Jackson.

The 41-year-old Carlton rang up victory No. 322 of his illustrious career by striking out three and not giving up a walk. One of the Royals' hits was a single to the right side of the infield which Jackson hit in his first major league at-bat in the second inning. On the previous pitch, Jackson hit a 425-foot shot that was foul by inches.

Danny Jackson, 9-10, gave up nine hits in 8 1/3 innings before giving way to Dan Quisenberry. Carlton, 3-2 since the White Sox claimed him on waivers from San Francisco Aug. 12, raised his season mark to 8-13.

Kansas City Royals right fielder Bo Jackson warms up between innings during Tuesday night's White Sox-Royals match up. Jack made his first major league appearance, hitting one-for-three.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Terry Kennedy and Kevin McReynolds hit two-run homers as San Diego defeated Philadelphia 6-2 Tuesday night, snapping the Phillies six-game winning streak.

Dave LaPoint, 1-1, making his second start for the Padres since he was acquired July 9 from Detroit, struck out seven and walked two over seven innings. Lance McCullers recorded his third save.

McReynolds also doubled and hit a drive to the wall for an out while advancing a runner in the first inning.

"I'm in a groove now that is a much better groove than I was in earlier in the year," said McReynolds, whose 21 homers is a career high. "I hit the ball hard three times tonight. I did what I wanted to do in the first inning, moving the runner to third."

San Diego scored three runs in the first inning off Phillies right-hander Jeff Bittiger, who was making his major league debut. Kennedy hit his 11th homer in the inning. And the Padres made it 5-0 in the fifth on McReynolds' homer.

ATLANTA (AP) — Dale Murphy hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning, backing right-hander Rick Mahler and the Atlanta Braves to a 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The score was tied 1-1 when Murphy connected against John Tudor, 13-7, sending an 0-1 pitch to center field for his 26th homer of the season.

The victory broke a three-game losing streak for Mahler, 12-14, who allowed seven hits in eight innings' work. Mahler left with none out in the ninth after giving up a home run to Andy Van Slyke, his ninth, and Gene Garber got the final three outs for his 22nd save.

Expos 1, Dodgers 0

MONTREAL (AP) — Vance Law hit a two-out homer in the ninth inning, and Floyd Youmans pitched a two-hitter to lead the Montreal Expos to a 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Law hit a 2-1 pitch from Bob Welch, 6-11, halfway up the lower deck in left field to give Montreal its fifth straight victory over the Dodgers at Olympic Stadium.

Youmans, 12-9, threw his second shutout and his fourth complete game of the season. He struck out seven and walked two. Welch, who escaped jinxes in the first and third, gave up six hits, struck out nine and walked one.

Reds 9, Pirates 1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Gullickson pitched a four-hitter for his sixth consecutive victory, and Nick Esasky homered to spark a six-run fifth inning that carried the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-1 victory Tuesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Gullickson, 13-8, held the Pirates hitless until U.L. Washington beat out a grounder over the mound for an infield single with one out in the sixth. Gullickson has allowed just six earned runs in his last eight starts covering 66 innings.

Cincinnati has won 12 of its last 15 games to move 6½ games behind the Houston Astros in the National League West.

Giants 4, Mets 3

NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco right-hander Mike Krukow continued his mastery over New York and Bob Brenly hit a three-run homer to lead the Giants to a 4-3 decision over the Mets. The victory was the fifth straight over the Mets for Krukow, who has a 17-6 career record against them.

Brenly sewed up the game for the Giants with a three-run homer with two out in the sixth, his 10th of the season. Brenly also singled in the fifth to go 2-for-3.

Krukow, 14-8, allowed five hits, struck out three and walked two in seven innings. Dwight Gooden, 13-5, was the loser, allowing the four San Francisco runs on six hits over seven innings. The Mets' right-hander struck out 10.

Astros 4, Cubs 4

CHICAGO (AP) — Jody Davis of Chicago hit a sacrifice fly that tied the score 4-4 in the ninth inning, and the Cubs and Houston Astros played 14 innings before the game was suspended because of darkness with the score still tied. The game will be resumed Wednesday at 12:05 p.m. CDT, prior to the start of the regularly scheduled game at 1:20 p.m.

Houston took a 4-3 lead in the ninth on Denny Walling's two-out, run-scoring double.

Moses posts 101st straight finals win

By The Associated Press

LAUSANNE Switzerland (AP) — Edwin Moses is in a class by himself in the 400-meter hurdles, even when there is no serious competition.

"It wasn't exactly the best field, but I don't need a good field to run good times," Moses, who won his 101st consecutive final in the event, said Tuesday after posting the best time in the world this year at an international track meet.

Moses posted a time of 47.38 seconds, not far off his world record of 47.02, but well ahead of 1 closest rivals, Meleje Dedjemel of the Ivory Coast, who was clocked at 49.03, and Nigerian Henri Amike, who ran 49.13.

Though the field might have been a negative for the two-time Olympic gold medalist, the track certainly wasn't.

"(Lausanne's Olympic Stadium track) is probably better than any because it has big turns," Moses, who ran by himself for the last two-thirds of the race, said.

Morocco's Said Aouita was furious after a botched world-record bid in the mile.

He blamed Mustapha Mbaye for the slow pace during the first two laps, when the Senegalese runner was the pacemaker, or rabbit.

Another rabbit in the race, Omer Khalifa of Sudan, speeded the race up in the third and final lap, but by then it was too late to get the record.

"I have no complaint about Khalifa, but you can't make up four or five seconds in the last lap," Aouita said.

He won the race with a time of 3:51.86, never within reach of British runner Steve Cram's world record of 3:46.32, set last year at Oslo.

Spanish runners Jose-Luis Gonzales and Jose-Manuel Abascal were second and third, at 3:52.03 and 3:52.92, respectively, while U.S. indoor mile champion Sydney Maree, who had requested the event, was fourth at 3:53.54.

Other winners included, Evelyn Ashford won the women's 100 with a time of 11.14; Ben Johnson, the owner of the year's best of 9.95 in the men's 100, won in 10.19; and Desai Williams won the 200 in 20.80.

Philippe Collet of France won the pole vault at 19-5 after Bulgaria's Atanas Tarev failed in three attempts at a world record of 19-9. Sergei Bubka of the Soviet Union holds the record at 19-8¾.

Several European champions repeated their winning performances from last week's European Championships in Stuttgart, West Germany.

Among them were Swiss shot putter Werner Guenthoer, who had a heave of 70 feet, 1 inch; 21-year-old Stephane Caristan of France, the winner of the men's 110-meter hurdles in 13.39; and European javelin champion Klaus Tafelmeier of West Germany dominated his event with a winning throw of 273-10.

Card of Thanks 115

I just want to take this opportunity to thank all the people who were involved in helping rescue me from the flood at Highway 87 Saturday night. The unidentified trucker whom I am deeply grateful to, without his help I fear that I would not be alive to write this. To officer Robert Fitzsimmons, who without his help I would have never have made it to the truck. Also to his wife, Tina who helped calm me down. The unidentified man, who works at the Brass Nail who brought me to my house. Thanks to the employees of the Branding Iron for their comforting words. Big Spring is lucky to have people like the ones I have mentioned. The police officers and Wrecking crew also deserve a word of thanks. I will always be grateful, words can't express my appreciation for everyone involved.

 Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said more than 3.4 million acres of land are available for leasing in Texas. The state is collecting information from landowners and leasing companies to help farmers find the land they need for leasing. That information will be matched with available land. Neither department will be involved with the financial negotiations.

 1983 season with a broken leg after being picked No. 1 by New England in 1982, was placed on injured reserve. He had hoped to develop into one of the NFL's top linemen this year after being named the Patriots' most valuable lineman in 1985, but he injured his lower back and hip during practice on Aug. 4.

The Browns waived Cousineau after trying unsuccessfully to trade him and his $500,000-a-year contract. Cousineau lost his starting job at inside linebacker to Anthony Griggs, obtained in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles. Former USFL player Mike Johnson will be Griggs' backup.

"I have no doubt Tom will play in the NFL and probably start," Cleveland Coach Marty Schottenheimer said. "We just had too many quality players at the position."

Cousineau's contract would have to be picked up by any team claiming him on waivers. As a vested veteran, however, he could also opt for free agency and work out his own deal.

Lions
 Coach Darryl Rogers announced that Eric Hipple had beaten out Joe Ferguson at quarterback for the second year in a row.

"I feel good about it, but I don't understand what the big deal is, to tell you the truth," Hipple said. "You know, I was the quarterback last year, so why wouldn't I be the quarterback again?"

Rogers left the door open for Ferguson or rookie Chuck Long to move into the starting job later.

Bills
 Coach Hank Bullough announced that first-round draft pick Will Wolford will start at guard against the New York Jets Sunday but refused to say whether Jim Kelly, who signed a five-year, $8 million contract, would start at quarterback.

"First of all, Jim Kelly is not our savior," he said. "He's our leader. He's not going to step on that field and everything is going to change, everything's over, now we're going to start winning."

The Bills also signed veteran linebacker George Cumby, released earlier by Green Bay, and Bullough said he would start at inside linebacker against the Jets.

49ers
 San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana threw only 11 passes in one game during the preseason before spraining his ankle, but he pronounced himself ready for the season opener.

"I thought it would be stiff, but it feels good right now," Montana said of his heavily taped right ankle.

Dolphins
 Defensive end Doug Betters ended his 39-day holdout and Miami replaced injured defensive back Glenn Blackwood with his brother, Lyle, who had been waived Monday.

Betters, who missed the entire training camp, was paid $260,000 last year and originally asked for a two-year contract for more than $700,000. He didn't give details of the contract he signed Tuesday, but said he didn't get what he wanted from owner Joe Robbie.

Rams
 Linebacker Steye Busick, a three-year starter for Denver, was acquired by Los Angeles to help fill a void left by an injury to Jim Collins.

The Rams also placed quarterback Dieter Brock on injured reserve, sidelining him for at least the first four games.

Brock, the starting quarterback last year, underwent arthroscopic knee surgery on Aug. 12. Since then, former Atlanta starter Steve Bartkowski, signed as a free agent during the off-season, has established himself as the team's No. 1 quarterback.

Vikings
 Wayne Wilson, who led the New Orleans Saints in rushing last year with 645 yards, was acquired by Minnesota for wide receiver Mike Jones. Jones was the Vikings' second-leading receiver last season with 46 catches.

Veteran running back Ted Brown and kicker Chuck Nelson were recalled from waivers.

Packers
 Veteran running back Eddie Lee Ivery was placed on injured reserve and Green Bay claimed wide receiver Phil McConkey on waivers from the New York Giants.

McConkey caught 24 passes for the Giants last season and also returned kickoffs and punts.

Eagles
 Coach Buddy Ryan said that Junior Tautalatasi and Mike Waters will be the starting running backs in Philadelphia's opener with Washington, leaving two veterans and a highly touted rookie on the sidelines.

Earnest Jackson, a 1,000-yard rusher the past two years; last year's fullback, Michael Haddix; and first-round draft pick Keith Byars will not start. Byars had off-season foot surgery.

City to probe water billings

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

City officials promised Friday to investigate reasons behind the wave of water bill complaints that continue to flood the municipal water office.

The city plans to talk with an engineer from the Dallas firm of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper about the situation early next week, Public Works Director Tom Decell said.

The engineer had been scheduled to be in Big Spring for consultations about a range of capital improvement projects, not specifically for examining water metering, Decell added.

Melva Cooper, customer service manager at the municipal water office, said Friday afternoon her office had received non-stop complaints all day from customers disturbed by bills they say are too high.

City officials said they had not tabulated the recent spate of complaints and meter reread requests. But City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said he received a thick stack of water meter reread requests today. By Wednesday, the city already had assigned more than 100 return meter reads, Cooper said. While Ferguson and Decell said they did not know why bills seemed outrageously high to so many people, they speculated customers simply used more water than they realized.

Decell suggested people "tried to play catch-up" on lawn watering after restrictions ended Aug. 5. He said a sprinkler operating eight to 10 hours can use 3,000 to 4,000 gallons of water.

The city had been bedeviled by a malfunctioning valve at the water plant that restricted water flow to its high-side reservoirs from July 12 to Aug. 5. During that time, city officials first had asked people to reduce outside water use, and later requested a ban on lawn watering.

Citizens say their cooperation with those requests was repaid with soaring water charges.

Records show that in July the city sold more water than in June. The city purchased 304,438,000 gallons of water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District in July, compared to 231,706,000 in June, according to city and water district reports.

Some citizens, however, say their water consumption jumped two-fold from their previous billing — while insisting they used less water.

Decell said the city isn't ignoring the possibility that something is askew. However, he said conjecture about what may be wrong, if anything, is futile.

"There are all kinds of possibilities," he said. "I'd just as soon not play what-if until we can sit down and (examine things)."

CHINA

The vastness of China challenges the claim of any traveler that he has seen it all. This ancient country, emerging from a generation and a half of seclusion, is now offering the personal thrill of discovery to anyone who visits. The residues of China's long history are exhilarating. There are the heavy walls, graceful roofs and pagodas of the Forbidden City in Beijing. There are the mist-enveloped limestone cliffs of Guilin. There is the majesty of the imperial army of clay soldiers parading through the 2,200-year-old tomb excavations of Xi'an. Shanghai and Canton cluster with commerce as the first cities to open to the west. After its beginnings in the fourth century B.C., there is still the Great Wall. No other destination offers so much.

China, as well as numerous other countries of interest, provide a travel destination for the vacationer as well as the business person. If you travel for business reasons, time is money. # Flooding yields much cleaning

One killed as homes damaged

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A Big Spring woman was drowned Saturday night when flood water swept her pickup off the road, and residents near Big Spring Draw were busy cleaning mud, water and damaged carpet and furniture from their houses this morning.

Mary Gutierrez, 43, address unknown, died when she was swept away by the strong current in the 2000 block of Birdwell Lane Saturday night, according to police reports.

A man and child, believed to be her husband and child, who also were in the pickup, were saved when they grabbed a tree branch, but Gutierrez was unable to hold on.

Rescue attempts were impossible because of the strong water force and the possibility of the dam breaking, the report said.

Gutierrez was found about 300 yards east of the road at approximately 7:40 a.m. Sunday after a search by hundreds of law enforcement officials and volunteers was organized earlier that day. She was pronounced dead at approximately 8 a.m. by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Also, Comanche Lake dam breached Saturday night, sending torrents of water through the area. Local law enforcement officials evacuated some areas near the draw.

According to figures from the American Red Cross, 15 single-family homes and one mobile home sustained major damage, and 49 houses sustained minor damage, the majority around Monmouth and Colby Avenues and Baylor Boulevard.

Damage to private property was estimated at $75,000 to $100,000. Cameo Homes, Highland Pontiac and the Spring City Do-It Center also suffered an unknown amount of damage.

The Red Cross provided help to 145 people Sunday, mainly in the form of meals. No injuries were reported.

Several auto accidents were reported in heavy rains Saturday night, but the only injury reported was a minor injury to a 12-year-old girl who refused medical treatment.

The lake at Comanche Trail Park lost about two-thirds of its water, said public works director Tom Decell.

He said Goliad Street and Birdwell Lane suffered significant damage.

Sheriff A.N. Standard said the terrain in Big Spring is not designed to handle torrential rains. Such rains cause great amounts of runoff from the high places, which travels into the populated areas and "creates problems," he said.

H.L. Rowden of 1307 Monmouth, stands in his den that still contained an inch of water on the floor Sunday after flooding Saturday night hit houses in the neighborhood, putting as much as three feet of water inside some homes.

Cleta Britton of 2300 Marshall Drive said she got about six inches of water in her house, but the water line on the door was near 18 inches.

Her carpet is ruined, she said, although she doesn't believe her furniture is damaged. And the insurance will not pay because they say the damage was by flood, she said.

She said she believes the city of Big Spring ought to pay for the damage.

"We left just before it hit" at about 8:30 p.m. Saturday, she said. She spent the night with relatives.

She said she is angry because Assistant City Manager Hal Boyd and police Lt. Jerry Edwards told her after she left that it was all right to go home, the dam wasn't broken.

But when she got back home, the street was blocked and "the whole area down here was full of water."

"One neighbor just threw everything away. They said their house was just floating," she said.

But some houses on her street had no water inside at all. "We can't figure out why," she said. "They may be blocked by other houses."

Britton said she had lived there more than 20 years, and never had any water damage to her house. Water has run over the spillway in the past, but no damage was sustained, she said.

Mrs. John Kennemur of 1306 Monmouth Ave. said she had about a foot of water in her house. Monmouth is further southwest than Marshall Drive.

"We have to replace everything we have," she said. She added that several neighbors were effected much worse than she.

Mrs. Lowell Jones of 1310 Monmouth Ave. said that "we were pretty fortunate" that the water was only baseboard-deep inside her house. She lost her carpet.

"Our house is pretty tight, or it would have been" worse, she said. She said pieces of lumber were floating all over, she believes from the nearby Spring City Do-It Center.

A neighbor's boat floated down the street, a car was turned over by the floods and a pickup was turned around nearby, she said.

Jones said water got into a car in her driveway, but "it's a matter of drying it out. It smells kind of bad," she added.

So far this year, Big Spring has received 19.66 inches of rain, significantly higher than the normal-to-date of 12.82 inches. Last year at this time, 15.79 inches had been recorded.

The high water flooded Highway 87 for several hours and up-rooted the guardrail (above) on the east side of the road. Big Spring Public Works Director Tom Decell said at a press conference this morning that the lake probably will have to be drained in order to build a new dam. He said engineers will be examining the dam on Tuesday.

Disaster aid unlikely in city's flood

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Government disaster funds are unlikely and city officials said at a news conference this morning that the city lacks sufficient money to repair all the structural damage left in the wake of Saturday night's storm.

Meanwhile, the Red Cross has established a relief shelter at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1005 Goliad St., to aid victims of the deluge.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said engineers will be in town Tuesday to examine Comanche Lake Dam, which was breached during Saturday's torrent, spilling massive amounts of water into Big Spring Draw.

Decell said the earthen dam, built in 1914 and later deeded to the city, may have to be rebuilt to new government standards. However, nothing definite will be determined until Comanche Lake is drained and the dam inspected, he said.

Should the dam need reconstructing, the city most likely will bear the brunt of the cost, he said, since it belongs to the Big Spring.

The job of draining the lake should be made easier as two-thirds of it emptied into Big Spring Draw after the 7-foot breach opened Saturday.

Decell added that surface damage was done to Birdwell Lane and major structural damage was done to Goliad Street, south of Farm Road 700. Parts of Goliad will have limited access for some time to come, Decell said.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the city does not have funds budgeted for the extensive repair work necessary.

"All the estimates are not in, but it appears we do not, (have money for the repairs)," he said. "It appears that we have no dollars dedicated to that sort of thing."

Wofford said it was premature to discuss the city's financial options until all engineering estimates are in.

Some citizens reported water gushing into their homes Saturday night from city sewage lines, and Wofford and Mayor Cotton Mize said they did not believe the city is liable for damages.

"This is considered an act of God," Mize said.

August G. Koenning, a DPS regional officer of emergency management, said the city may be able to secure funds from the Small Business Administration or the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

The TDCA, he said, "seems to have a lot of disaster money." Sweetwater received a great deal of TDCA money when a tornado devastated the town earlier this year, he said.

But Koenning said federal disaster funds probably won't be made available because the city's damage was not great enough.

Daughter changes minister's life

By CARIFFEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

The day Tony Jamar, new minister at Christ Fellowship Church, decided to take his 8-year-old daughter to church is the day his life changed, he said.

"Jennifer was dying of brain cancer. We had tried everything. My wife suggested we take her to church and pray for her. The Lord healed her of some of her problems, and on that day I turned my life over to the Lord."

Jenny wasn't supposed to live more than two years, but because of her "tremendous faith in the Lord," she lived for four and a half years, Jamar said.

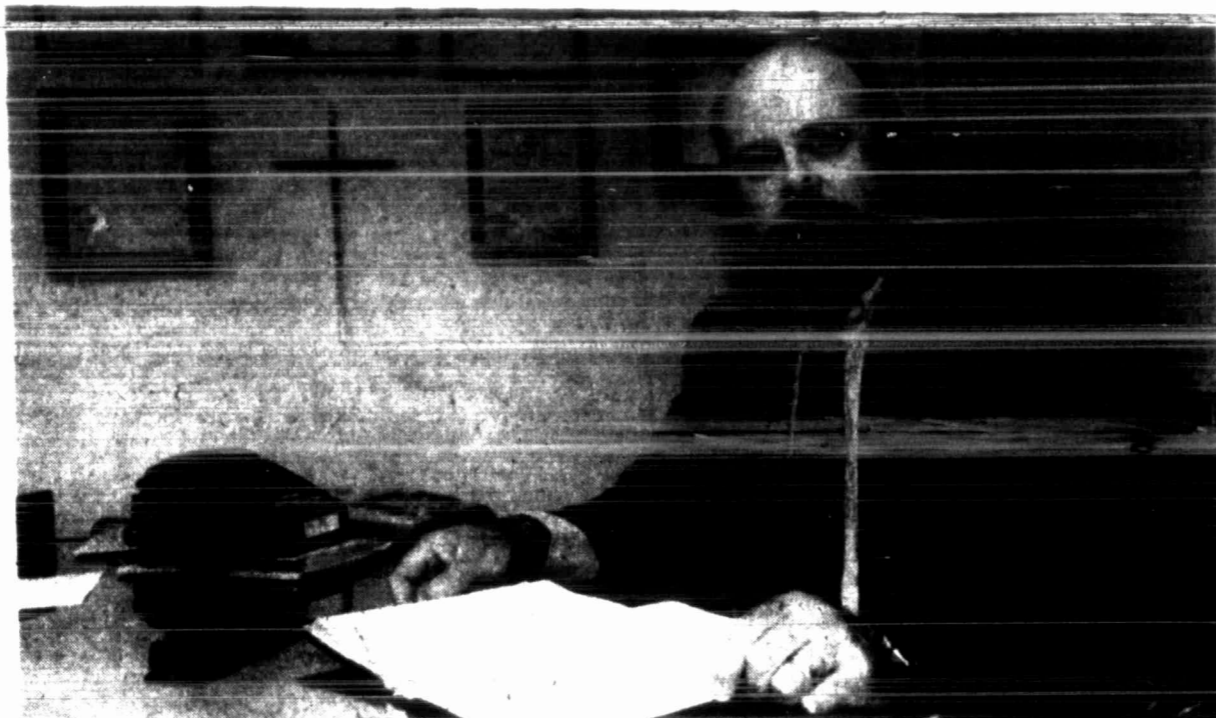

"Jenny's faith was strong throughout her sickness. As her faith increased so did ours. She died Oct. 4, 1983."

In 1981, Jamar was called to the ministry. He and his wife, Marilyn, began a ministry in Mexico and at churches in Texas.

He was associate pastor for In His Image World Outreach Center in Cleveland for two years, and recently was the pastor at Living Water Faith Center in Humble, north of Houston.

He also ministered through broadcasting.

"I worked as a director of special projects and as a broadcaster for KSBJ in Houston, a contemporary Christian music station, and as a broadcaster in Conroe for Jimmy Swaggard's gospel music station," he said.

Tony Jamar, new minister at Christ Fellowship Church, came to Big Spring for a weekend to fill in as preacher. "We fell in love with the people," he said. And they ended up moving here.

He recently signed a 13-week contract with KKIK (1270 AM) and is broadcasting a Christian contemporary music program in Big Spring. The program airs Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 6:30-8:30 p.m., Jamar said.

"We want to offer people an alternative — that alternative is Jesus. We're trying to offer Jesus as a friend." That's the main reason for the Christian station, he said.

Jamar says that he would like to see more Christian programming in Big Spring.

"Someday I'd like the church to own the station. If it's God's will, he'll make the way. It's a viable ministry to reach the people and get them into the kingdom of God."

He believes it's time to tear down the walls of denomination and believe in Jesus Christ, he said.

Jamar is joined by his wife, Marilyn, who co-pastors the church, and his daughter, Jana, 11.

Fear of having AIDS grips young wife

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am desperate for help. Please answer. My question concerns the AIDS screening test. How long from possible exposure does it take the test to show a positive result.

Here's the reason for my anxiety. I am a woman, 28, married, and the mother of one child. About a year ago I made an awful mistake of submitting to the advances of another man. It was not premeditated and I regretted it, even at the time. I have yet to forgive myself.

Dr. Donohue

We want to have another baby, so you can see where my fear of AIDS fits in. To allay fears, I had the antibody test done. It was 10 months after my stupid mistake. It was negative. I had it done again months later. Still negative. I had lymphocyte testing done. That turned out normal. I have no symptoms.

The "other man" was one I had known for years, not in any of the "high risk" groups. He has female friends. I refuse to become pregnant until I resolve this. Do you think I should believe the test results? I can hardly bear the pain I'm in. — Mrs. A.N.

Those are (at your request) some brand new initials for you. Now I want you to adopt a brand new attitude.

The time from exposure to AIDS virus to the appearance of the telltale antibodies in the blood is not known with absolute certainty. Antibodies may not appear for as long as nine months. You are well past that time. Most authorities would not think I was climbing out on any limb to tell you you are perfectly free of AIDS infection. The tests, perhaps not 100 percent certain (no test is), are good ones, and reliable.

You did not have relations with an at-risk man, so you were not courting exposure. But I can't let my answer stand there.

AIDS is a fatal illness, so your concern over exposure to an at-risk man would have been understandable. In these circumstances, I would have to call your fears irrational. I hope there are not a great many others like you. Hysteria over AIDS is not acceptable. Your chances of having caught AIDS is as close to nil as I can imagine. Yet because no one can with scientific precision tell you there is no chance at all, fear will grip your heart. I only ask you to consider all the other unlikely catastrophes we all face in ordinary life each day, and place your fears in that perspective.

Get this specter out of your mind. You are suffering from a "complication" of AIDS — unreasoned fear of it.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a woman of 70. I have arthritis and am now taking calcium supplements to hopefully ward off getting osteoporosis. My mother has it. My question is, is it harmful to take the calcium with my arthritis? — S.D.F.

No, it's not harmful. You may have heard that calcium goes into inflamed joints in an attempt by the body to protect the area. But that has nothing to do with the calcium you eat or take as supplement. The reason for the calcium in the joint is the inflammation there. It would get there whether you ate it or didn't. And taking calcium won't cause any further joint calcification if it's there already.

FOR A.L. — I cannot say. It is often difficult to separate symptoms of indigestion (heartburn) from those of angina pectoris, the heart circulation deficit problem. Because of this, you do not assume either as a cause of the pain without having an examination to determine the state of your coronary arteries. That gives you the answer.

"I was overweight for years, so . . ."

My Friends Were Amazed When I Lost 46 Lbs. In A Few Short Weeks!"

Elizabeth Jordan was a "fad diet junky." She tried everything she could find - the diets, the clinics, the drugstore drugs. Some of them even seemed to work - but never for long.

"Oh sure, I lost a few pounds here and there, but I always gained them right back. At one point I began to feel like an oversized grapefruit."

Then Elizabeth made a discovery that was to change her life and appearance forever. She explains, "One day I saw an article in my newspaper about a miracle new diet product called FIBRAGEN. I thought, 'Well, it probably won't work, but the manufacturer was willing to send it C.O.D. and offered a money-back guarantee as well, so I decided to try it anyway. To my amazement and delight the pounds began to drop away from the very first day. Since I had been overweight for 10 years my friends could hardly believe their eyes when they saw me lose 46 pounds in a few short weeks!"

What is this incredible product and why did it work so astonishingly well for Elizabeth when everything else had failed? It's an all natural diet pill which was developed based upon the results of the latest nutritional and dietary research. First, FIBRAGEN contains a natural plant extract that has been awarded a patent for weight loss by the U.S. Patent Authorities. In the Patent Study, with no dietary changes, the average weight loss for women over a fifteen week period was 37.5 lbs. and for men 42.5 lbs. The least amount of weight loss for anyone tested was 33 lbs. Second, FIBRAGEN is made from a specially developed blend of dietary fiber which was found to be "remarkable" in speeding weight loss in a "double blind" Scandinavian study. Upon review of the FIBRAGEN formula, Dr. J.B. Dorius of the Institute for Diet Research commented, "The importance of dietary fiber is one of the most significant discoveries in the treatment of obesity in this century. FIBRAGEN is the finest combination of fibers I have encountered in any weight loss product - particularly beneficial for promoting a natural feeling of fullness, preventing overeating and allowing the digestive tract to absorb only those nutrients actually needed by the body - a healthy and sure way to lose weight." Third, FIBRAGEN contains natural Papaya extract which aids effective digestion. And, finally, FIBRAGEN provides 100% of the daily vitamins recommended by the U.S. Government. (The vitamins in this product alone are worth the purchase price.)

EXTRAORDINARY GUARANTEE

Elizabeth has achieved nothing less than a new life. Not only does she look good, but she feels great. Because weight loss with FIBRAGEN is guaranteed, the manufacturers make this remarkable offer - one they wouldn't dare make if there were a single doubt. Place your order now and try FIBRAGEN as directed for 30 days. If you are not entirely satisfied simply return the empty container for a prompt refund of your purchase price - no questions asked. Is that fair? Try asking Jack LaLanne or Scarsdale or any of the other diet people for that kind of assurance. Not one of them will do it. FIBRAGEN will!

You can order a 30-day supply of these remarkable pills for $19.95 or a 60-day supply for $34.95 (plus $2.50 for postage and handling).

To order simply call FIBRAGEN, 24 hours a day 7 days a week - TOLL FREE 1-800-453-2100 and use your VISA or MasterCard. Or if you prefer FIBRAGEN will accept your C.O.D. order right over the phone! But please don't wait. Order today. You won't risk a thing. If you don't lose those unwanted pounds you'll get a full refund of your purchase price. One warning though, after trying FIBRAGEN you may need a seamstress to take in your clothes or better yet make you a whole new wardrobe!

Mexican vanilla may not be safe

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent

This summer more than ever tourists may be traveling to Mexico to take advantage of bargain prices. But one bargain may not be in your best interest. I am referring to vanilla purchasing in Mexico. The kind that is an extract of tonka beans or better known as coumarin is no bargain and may damage your health. This product smells like real vanilla and usually sells for $1.50-$2.00 a bottle.

The genuine vanilla bean, Vanilla fragrans, is a native of Mexico, but is not cheap, even where it is grown. The vanilla plant is an orchid in a vine form that grows in the subtropical areas of southeast Mexico and nearby countries.

The tonka bean, Dipteryx odorata, is a native of South America, but grows in Mexico. It is a tree that grows up to 150 feet tall that belongs to the pea family. It smells enough like vanilla to satisfy all but the experts. However, in 1954, this impostor was prohibited by FDA for use as a food or food additive because it was determined to be a poisonous and deleterious substance.

Focus on family

It is interesting to note that a derivative (dicumarol) of coumarin is used in certain blood thinning medicines (anticoagulants). This derivative also known as warfarin is used in rat poison as well, causing the rodent to die from hemorrhaging. There has been no evidence that coumarin itself has a blood thinning effect in humans.

The Food & Drug Administration (FDA) standards for vanilla extract specify that 13.35 to 15 ounces (depends on moisture content) of vanilla beans be used per gallon of extracting fluid. The extracting fluid consists of ethyl alcohol (35%) and water (65%). There are other standards for vanilla flavoring, (which is a more dilute solution); for mixtures with artificial vanilla (vanillin); and for concentrates and powders.

The chances for deception in buying vanilla would be lessened if everyone bought the whole bean. Vanilla beans are long (7-10 in.) and thin (1/4 in.) like a pencil. They turn dark brown to black when cured. The entire pod can be ground and used for flavoring, or the flavoring can be extracted with ethyl alcohol and water. Tonka beans, on the other hand are oval in shape, about 5 in. long by 3 in. wide. Only the seeds are used for flavoring. These are about 3/4 x 2 inches in size. The pod is not used at all.

Verifying the presence of coumarin in vanilla type products is relatively easy using a fairly simple laboratory procedure. FDA has tested many vanilla type products from Mexico and has found coumarin often and in varying amounts. But how does the average consumer know before they buy? There is no good way to tell. Stay away from the real cheap bottles of vanilla ($1.50-$2.00) is one suggestion. The best way to avoid coumarin in your vanilla is to not buy it in Mexico.

After Eddie Word and Bob Kinnan have completed the room preparations, the cabinets are delivered to the house and installed with a minimum disruption of the home. Room preparation includes any necessary wall removal, closing of doorways, changing window locations, floor repair and preparations by plumbers and electricians.

In bathrooms, Bob's Custom Woodwork provides and installs vanities, tubs and showers, plumbing fixtures, medicine cabinets, lights, heaters, fans and floor coverings. The firm can order and install custom-made cultured marble vanity tops, tubs, whirlpools made of 90 percent crushed Israel marble blended with polyester resin. These can be custom made as to the length and number of bowls desired.

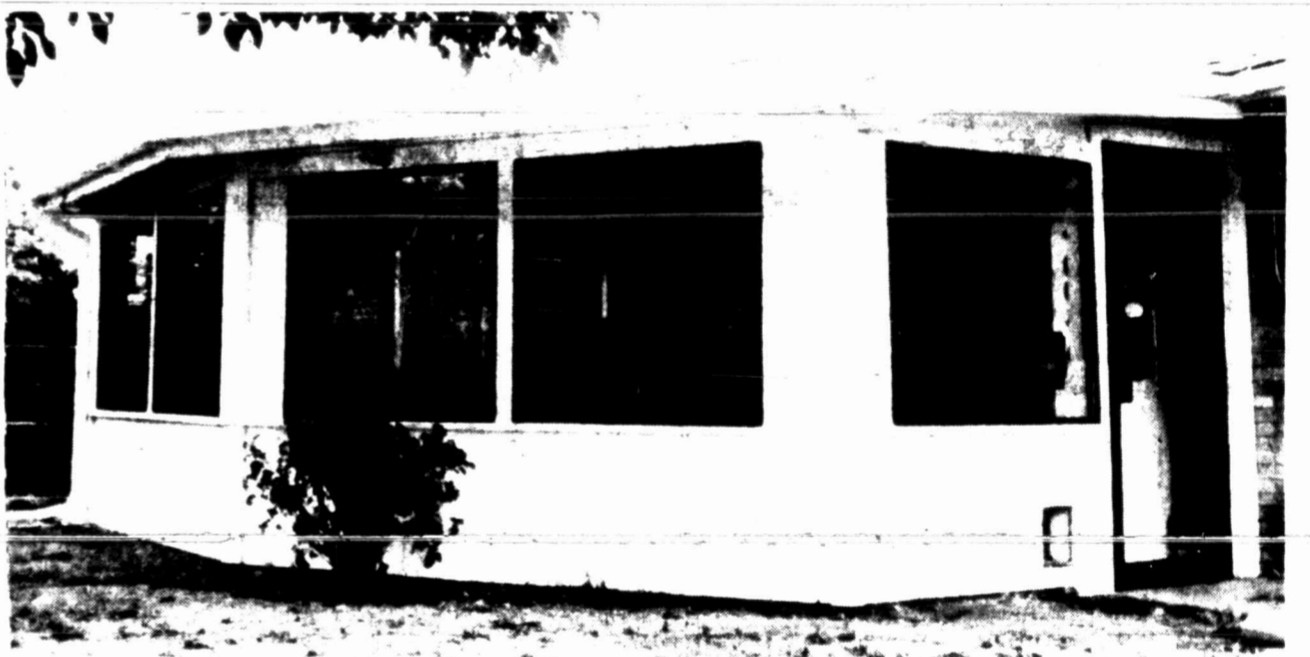

In the shop, Bob Kinnan is production supervisor in the manufacturing of expandable, affordable and versatile shelving for business display or home collectables. Shelving units are available through Bob's Custom Woodwork or at several locations including the Candle Shop in Big Spring and Antiques Haven in Stanton. Other staff members include: Elvin Bearden, furniture repair; and Jan Noyes, supervisor of the Strip Shop, bookkeeper and customer service representative.
