Shaw: Legislators are waking up

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Insisting the past 30-day special session was not in vain, Gov. Mark White Thursday called lawmakers back into a second special session to mend the state budget deficit.

At the same time, Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said that lawmakers are just beginning to wake up to how serious the state's budget problems are.

White set the same goals for the special session to begin Monday as he did in the past session: Budget cuts and a temporary one and one-eighth cent increase in the sales tax.

"We're not folding our tents and we're not going home," he said during a brief news conference after the House and Senate called it quits.

Shaw said he sensed a mood change among lawmakers in the last few days that they feel the problems can't be solved with a "shell game."

The cash-flow strain is projected to be so severe by December that even a tax bill won't help, Shaw said, possibly forcing lawmakers to take the politically unpopular step of delaying payments to the teacher and state employee retirement programs.

"I know of no other course," Shaw said. Although failing to solve the state's budget woes, lawmakers are quick to point to the success of a number of measures proponents say will help the ailing Texas economy.

These include a proposed constitutional amendment allowing branch banking and a bill allowing out-of-state banks to buy Texas banks.

The Legislature also decided to put the question of whether to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse and dog racing before the voters. Dog racing would be limited to Nueces, Cameron and Galveston Counties, which would not be allowed to have horse racing.

Sponsors of the bill reported earlier that White, unhappy with the budget deadlock, planned to veto the measure, but White said he hasn't decided.

"I have not reached a decision on that. I'm waiting to see the bill and its details and also assess the impact of that bill," White said.

Lawmakers also approved measures reducing teacher paperwork and refined a portion of the 1984 education reform act to give instructors more power in disciplining students.

"We have made a great deal of progress in the last 30 days," said Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth. "We passed some good laws. I can see a big spotlight SHAW page 2A

Manufacturer inspects water meters

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer
Big Spring officials have sent two water meters to the manufacturer for inspection, while continuing to investigate reasons behind a flood of protests over higher-than-expected water bills, City Manager Mack Wofford said Thursday.

Wofford said two meters were sent to the Dallas office of Neptune Manufacturing, the company that provides Big Spring its meters.

The city water office has been inundated recently with complaints and meter reread requests by citizens who claim they cut back drastically on water use during July and August city water plant problems, but still received statements far above previous billings.

City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said this morning the meters sent for inspection had high readings.

The company, he said, requested the meters after it was told by the city of the unusually high number of customer complaints. Although no figures are being maintained, more than 100 users had complained by midweek.

Neptune explained that air in water lines might create abnormally high readings, Ferguson said. However, the city has "pretty much discounted" ever having had a high and prolonged volume of air in its pipes, he added.

Moreover, Neptune said higher-than-average water pressure, a cause suggested by some citizens, would not make meters spin faster, Ferguson said.

The city is awaiting a meter evaluation from the company and will proceed from there, Ferguson said. If nothing is shown to be wrong, other avenues will be explored, he said.

Ferguson said the company has been cooperative with Big Spring and is expected to continue helping in the investigation.

State jobless rate to 9.2%; 7% last year

By BRAD KROHN
DALLAS (AP) — Unemployment in Texas rose to 9.2 percent in August, but officials of the Bureau of Labor Statistics today described the half-point increase as insignificant.

BLS regional commissioner Bryan Richey said the increase from July's 8.7 percent was within the possible sampling error for the government's figures.

The August rate, however, was well above the 7.1 percent of one year earlier and marked the seventh straight month joblessness has been above eight percent in Texas.

Labor department figures for last month show 740,000 Texans were out of work, up from 707,000 in July. At the same time, the total number of jobholders fell to 7.328 million.

Employment statistics were not available for Howard County, said John Eckley, office supervisor at the Big Spring Texas Employment Commission. He expected that information to be released within approximately two weeks.

Heavy and prolonged rain this week has created temporary streams rushing through city streets, causing extensive pavement damage in many areas of town. This cracked and crumbled surface is at the intersection of Eighth and Scurry streets.

City preparing relief requests

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer
City Hall expects to have a comprehensive city rain damage estimate by Monday — to accompany applications for state and federal relief funds, City Manager Mack Wofford said Thursday.

Meanwhile, rain continues to soak the Spring City as reports of another 4 of an inch fell on the city this morning — amid forecasts for still more.

The city's estimate will include a report on damage to private property as well as municipal, Wofford said.

When Comanche Lake Dam ruptured Saturday night, 68 homes in the city's east side sustained flood-related damage totaling about $35,000, according to the Red Cross.

Many businesses along raging Big Spring Draw also were casualties of high water — notably the Do-It Center, Highland Pontiac and Burger King.

Estimates for rebuilding the dam have been ranging to $1 million, Councilman Harold Hall said earlier this week.

Other damage Saturday night occurred at Goliad Street, south of Farm Road 700, and at the city's two treatment plants for water and wastewater, Wofford said.

Furthermore, since Saturday, rippling streams of rain water have gouged and crumbled streets at various locations throughout the city.

In requesting state help, the city will submit a broad-based proposal to the Governor's office, Wofford said.

While the rain has given city crews fits, it has benefited many of the area's farmers and ranchers, said County Extension Agent Don Richardson.

Richardson said the rain has been excellent for the county's pastures, ranges and grain crops. Fall gardens, he added, should yield abundant produce.

As for cotton, Richardson said the rain "started out helping, but now we need some sun-shiny weather." The crop has received all the rain it will need until harvest-time, he said.

Rain continues to boost levels at area lakes, while the Colorado River and Bull Creek are flowing well, said Joe Pickle, secretary/treasurer for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Pickle said Bull Creek is flowing for the first time in years, and will add significantly to the level of area lakes.

Lake Thomas has gained 5.34 vertical feet and 13,000 acre feet of water since rains began falling Saturday, he said.

Lake Spence is up 3.85 feet and has swelled by 31,000 acre feet, Pickle said.

Rain measured at 8 a.m. this morning by the Agricultural Research Service was .60 of an inch, bringing this year's total to 23.09 inches — almost 10 inches above normal.

Hijackers open fire in jetliner

By IQBAL JAFFERY
Associated Press Writer
KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Four Arab hijackers suddenly opened fire today inside a Pan Am jumbo jet with about 400 people aboard at Karachi airport. First estimates indicated at least 100 people were wounded.

An Associated Press reporter who was beside the plane said security forces were taken by surprise when the hijackers began firing inside the cabin with automatic weapons. A wounded passenger told The AP as he was being lifted into an ambulance, "All of a sudden they started firing. Nobody was expecting it."

There was no immediate word on any deaths.
At least 26 ambulances rushed to the Boeing 747 and terrified and wounded passengers streamed off the jumbo jet. The wounded included many women and children.

The hijackers, who security officials said were Palestinians, seized the New York-bound Boeing 747 at about 5 a.m. and demanded to be flown to Cyprus. Early in the day they killed an American passenger and wounded three airport workers, and told Pakistani authorities they planted explosives on the plane.

Pakistani army commandos who were on standby at the airport rushed to the plane after the shooting broke out, but it was not immediately clear if they clashed with the hijackers.

The gunmen had set a deadline of 11 p.m. (2 p.m. EDT) for an American flight crew to board the plane and fly them to Cyprus, where they said they wanted to free jailed Palestinian hijackers, according to Pakistani officials.

Shortly before the shooting began, Civil Aviation Administration director general Khurshid Manwar Mirza said a Pan Am flight crew was flying in from Frankfurt, West Germany. The plane's original three-member flight crew escaped through an emergency hatch when the gunmen seized the plane.

The hijackers had made no threats to shoot the passengers.

At one point, however, the hijack leader, identified only as Mustafa, told Pakistani officials in the airport control tower, "No American should approach the aircraft.

Otherwise we will give them a tough fight. We will not commit suicide."

In Cyprus and Lebanon, conflicting claims were made linking the gunmen to pro-Libyan and pro-Iranian groups.

The State Department in Washington confirmed that Rajesh Kumar of California was fatally shot by the hijackers several hours after the hijacking began. Pan Am said 41 other Americans were believed on the New York-bound Boeing 747.

In Washington, a Pentagon official said the aircraft carrier Forrestal and an unspecified number of smaller warships today cut short a port call in Naples, Italy, and set out for the central Mediterranean as a precaution in case the hijackers should fly to Cyprus.

Head 'em up: wagon train here Sept. 14

The Lone Star Wagon Train, scheduled to arrive in Big Spring at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 14, will leave Luther at 7:30 a.m. that day and travel the Andrews Highway into Howard County, according to a report from the Sesquicentennial Committee.

The committee met Thursday to discuss the wagon train and other Sesquicentennial events.

The wagon train will proceed down the north service road to be met by local riding groups and others who would like to join the procession south on Highway 87.

It will continue on Fourth Street to the Courthouse, north on Main Street, then west on Third Street.

The train will stop at the Howard County fairgrounds, where it will join the opening ceremonies of the Howard County Fair Sept. 15.

The wagon train will come through Andrews and Lenora Sept. 13.

Leaving Big Spring the morning of Sept. 16, it will proceed to Vincent, where participants will spend the night. The wagon train will be in Snyder Sept. 17, Colorado City Sept. 18, and arrive for the weekend in Sweetwater Sept. 19, said Morris Zawadzke, public relations for the wagon train.

Zawadzke has been in Big Spring the past few days coordinating the details of the train's stay here.

Anyone interested in joining the wagon train in Big Spring should contact Elizabeth Taylor at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Quilts entered in the contest at the fair this year must have either a Sesquicentennial theme or depict the history of Big Spring or Howard County, the committee reported.

Quilts should be taken to the fair barns Monday, Sept. 15, for the contest. First place will be awarded $100, second place $50, and third place $25.

The Sesquicentennial Auto Rally will have a breakfast stop in Big Spring Oct. 17.

The rally will spend seven days traveling through the major parts of Texas, expected to cover 300 to 500 miles a day.

Anyone interested may join the rally. Those planning to participate should contact Taylor at the Chamber of Commerce or Mel Prather at McMillan Printing.

Prison population near shutdown level

DALLAS (AP) — Texas prison officials say the inmate population level is within a fraction of a percentage point of triggering a court-ordered admissions shutdown plan to control overcrowding.

The Texas Department of Corrections' inmate population on Thursday was just 79 admissions short of exceeding the limit imposed in 1983 by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, despite the addition of 75 beds this week.

To resolve an overcrowding complaint by prisoners, Justice approved an agreement in which TDC officials would not accept more inmates if it reached 95 percent of its official capacity.

TDC spokesman David Nunnelee said the tally at midnight Wednesday was 38,255, or 94.80 percent of its 40,352-bed capacity.

The prison population on Tuesday came the closest ever to triggering the shutting of TDC's front doors. The inmate count of 38,226 represented 94.85 percent of capacity which was 40,302, without the 50 beds added Wednesday.

Officials said 25 beds already had been added on Monday.

"We've always said it was a matter of time before we reached the limit," said TDC spokesman Charles Brown. "We are doing all we can to comply" with the judge's order.

Officials said the population total has hovered above 94 percent for about a year, but the system had been working with a cushion of a couple of hundred beds.

In July and August, the system recorded record-high levels of new admissions, averaging more than 140 new admissions per day.

TDC officials avoided triggering a shutdown of admissions only through the state's liberal use of early-release programs and nearly non-stop sessions by the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

House leaders remained opposed to a tax increase, saying cuts, delaying payments to the state retirement system, moving a pay-day and other balancing measures will keep the state solvent until the Legislature meets in regular session in January.

Meanwhile, the 1986 fiscal year ended Sunday with the general revenue fund $231 million in the red. "This is the first time in 25 years that Texas has finished the year with a deficit," said State Treasurer Ann Richards.

Richards said the fund was in the red all year except for 21 days and the state had to juggle funds every day of the year to pay its bills.

While disappointed with the progress made on the budget problem, White suggested the challenge was too great to meet in one session.

"The budget is a time-consuming affair at any time. It took some 140 days (of the 1985 regular session) to craft this budget, and it's taking more than the 30 days to get it reduced," White said.

Pickup damaged by fire

A new pickup sustained damage of $21,000 when a welding spark ignited the truck's gas tank Wednesday afternoon, according to a fire department report.

Firefighters arrived shortly after 3 p.m. to find the pickup, owned by Construction Ahead, 118 W.

Second St., on fire inside Southwest Tool Co., 901 E. Second St.

The fire report did not indicate if the truck was insured.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton said the building sustained minor wiring damage. No injuries were reported.

Motorcyclist hit by motorist

Police said this morning they are looking for a person driving a tan station wagon who allegedly hit and injured a 31-year-old motorcyclist Thursday night, then fled the scene.

Raymond Lee Andrews Jr., Gail Route Box 13, was treated for minor injuries at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital Thursday night after he was hit by a car at the 1300 block of Gregg Street at 7:58 p.m.

According to police, Andrews was southbound on Gregg Street when a station wagon pulled out of the Safeway Store parking lot and cut across the south traffic lanes before striking him as the car turned left onto 14th Street.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said the police patrol division has the car's tag number and are pursuing the case.

Building expenditures drop

City building costs took a deep plunge in August, down dramatically from both July's expenditures and August of a year ago, according to city records.

City Hall issued 19 permits in August for $74,608 in construction, a drop of about $874,000 from July's costs and almost $950,000 off last August's pace.

Year-to-date costs stand at about $3.16 million, compared to $3.6 million for the same period last year.

The bulk of August's construction was for residential projects. But the most expensive project was a $25,000 alteration to the former Players Club, by owner E.L. Terry for a miniature golf course.

Other permits for work of more than $500 were issued to:

- Gayle Wiley, 4206 Parkway Road, for a storage room costing $874.

Bank franchise tax yields $6,188

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Howard County governmental taxing entities are receiving adjustment amounts totaling $6,188.04 from the state comptroller's office as their share of the state's franchise tax on banks.

A breakdown of the county tax entities receiving checks shows:

- Big Spring Independent School District is receiving a check for $2,686.55 — bringing the year-to-date total to $73,474.66, and exceeding last year's $66,079.03 total by 11.19 percent.

Forecast

Flash flood watch is in effect tonight in the Concho Valley and Big Bend. Scattered showers and a few thunderstorms are expected through tonight, numerous and with possibly heavy rainfall in the Permian Basin, Concho Valley and Big Bend. State

Storms that drowned two women in their 60s continued to pound West Texas, flooding streets from Lubbock to San Angelo and Midland-Odessa as they rumbled across the state, officials say.

The upper-level trough that has been moving across the South Plains all week wreaked havoc on Lubbock and the surrounding area Thursday as skies dumped up to 3 inches of rain on the city.

Although that trough appeared to have moved out of the area by late Thursday, the National Weather Service said another foul-weather front was expected to head that way today.

The new front, which drenched the Midland-Odessa area Thursday, was moving through the Wichita Falls area today, and the NWS said it will probably mean more rain for the South Plains during the next several days.

The National Weather Service posted flash flood watches for the Concho Valley, Permian Basin, most of the Southwest Texas mountains and the Big Bend country today and for the valley and the Big Bend tonight. A total of 30 counties were included in the watch.

Another flash flood watch covered most of North and Northeast Texas today. The watch area was generally north of a line from San Angelo to Shreveport, La. It also included Collin and Denton counties of North Central Texas.

Weather service radar at 6:15 a.m. showed an intense thunderstorm over the city of Denton, moving east at 15 mph. Police said some streets were flooded to the bottoms of cars.

The NWS said thunderstorms dumped heavy rains in the Wichita Falls area and high winds blew a roof off a building near Perry on Thursday evening.

In Odessa, where more than 3 inches of rain were reported Thursday, the Red Cross evacuated 120 families from the north side of town where up to 5 feet of water was reported standing in some homes.

Pep rally inspires 'spirit'

Over 500 students, cheerleaders, players and fans celebrated the start of the football season with a rousing pep rally Thursday night at Blankenship Field.

"We had so many cheerleaders it never got quiet," said Head Football Coach Quinn Eudy.

The freshman, junior varsity and varsity cheerleaders alternated routines, and created "a lot of spirit," Eudy said.

The football players introduced themselves, as did the volleyball team and student council.

The Steers face the El Paso Riverside Rangers tonight at 8 p.m. Memorial Stadium. The game begins the first season for the Steers in Division 4-A, though El Paso Riverside is a 5-A team.

Eudy said he expects tonight's game to be a defensive struggle, though both teams have excellent running backs.

Prior to the game, the Big Spring Lion's Club will serve barbecue plates at the high school cafeteria. The dinners will cost $4, and will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

Secret launch set

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two satellites scheduled for a secret launch here today are to engage in orbital pursuit, with one crashing into the other in a major test of "Star Wars" technology, sources report.

Neither the Strategic Defense Initiative Office nor the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would acknowledge the launch of the Delta booster rocket today.

Reporters were to be informed a few hours before liftoff and be escorted to a viewing site on Cape Canaveral.

Ballots investigated

MARSHALL — A big batch of absentee ballot applications arrived at county offices in alphabetical order, prompting an investigation that authorities say could result in misdemeanor forgery charges.

Harrison County District Attorney Bonnie Leggat said Thursday that local and state election officials found what appear to be forged applications for absentee ballots for a Texas Senate runoff.

Ms. Leggat said irregularities were found in about 150 applications for the mail ballots. The batch of applications for absentee ballots, in alphabetical order, was received in the mail Wednesday by the Harrison County elections office.

Inman to resign

AUSTIN (AP) — Bobby Ray Inman, a former Navy admiral and ex-deputy director of the CIA, says he will step down as chief of the MCC consortium of high-tech research firms at year's end.

Inman, 55, told The Associated Press Thursday night that he wants to switch from the research side of the high-tech fence to the manufacturing and marketing side.

Microelectronics and Computer Technology Corp. is "a healthy organization now, and I thought it was the right time to leave. I'm very eager to get on with doing other things," he said.

Seven women sue CBS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven women, who are current and former employees of the CBS "Nightwatch" program, are seeking $2 million apiece in a lawsuit in which they claim they faced sexual harassment.

The suit, filed Thursday in District of Columbia Superior Court, seeks $1 million in compensatory damages and $1 million in punitive damages for each plaintiff. It complains of sexual harassment by an executive of the show.

The women, alleging violations of the District of Columbia Human Rights Act, say that CBS "created and maintained a working environment in its 'Nightwatch' program that was offensive and hostile to women employees, including the plaintiffs."

Rev. Jenco

Describes life as political hostage

NEW YORK (AP) — For months, the Americans held hostage in Lebanon were confined to a 12-by-15-foot room. By day, they ate, exercised, played cards and sometimes argued; by night they slept on mats in the same room.

The Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco told that story of life as a hostage Thursday in his first news interview since being freed on July 26 after 19 months.

Boredom in captivity was one of the biggest problems for the hostages who lived together in close quarters since July 1985 and were moved around from time to time, always blindfolded so they didn't know where they were.

The hostages saw the outside only when they were taken to a rooftop to view the moon or put in a corridor to see sunlight streaming through a window, Jenco said.

The hostages sometimes irritated each other and differed on subjects ranging from politics to science. But Jenco said the group arrangement was better than the first few months he spent in isolation, chained.

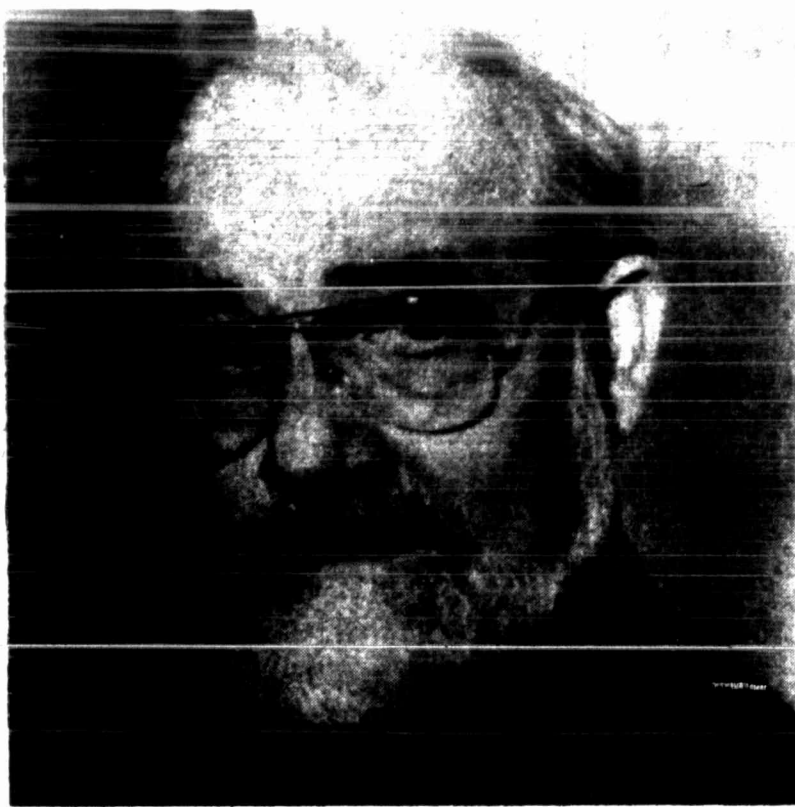

"It was a boring time, it was a day-by-day existence," said Jenco, whose companions for over a year were Terry Anderson, 38, the chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press; David Jacobson, 55, administrator of Beirut's American University Hospital; and Thomas Sutherland, 55, the university's acting dean of agriculture.

Despite the captivity, Jenco said he feels no animosity toward the kidnapers, who seized him on a street in Beirut three months after he arrived to work for the Catholic Relief Services.

"They are very religious people," Jenco said. He said the captors often showed the hostages great "kindnesses," such as providing them with cakes at Christmas, giving them popcorn and fanning them when electric fans failed.

The hostages were blindfolded when guards came into their room, and the two sides had difficulty communicating because of the language barrier; only Weir spoke Arabic fluently, Jenco said.

Jenco believes the captors are growing weary of holding the hostages and would like to release the remaining three. First, however, "they would like to get some benefits from this whole thing," he said.

Reverend Lawrence Martin Jenco talks about life as a hostage in Lebanon in his first news interview since his release July 26. Rev. Jenco was held hostage for 19 months.

"They felt badly about holding us," he said.

Islamic Jihad demanded the release of prisoners convicted in Kuwait of bombing the U.S. and French embassies there.

Jenco said his health has improved since he was freed. The captors said they released him because of his heart condition.

Jenco laughed when he recalled how the hostages grated on each other.

He said he once hissed at Anderson: "Don't bring your mat near me — you stink" — from hours of push-ups, sit-ups and other exercises.

The men were allowed to bathe occasionally, and they had to summon the guards to escort them to the toilet.

Each day, the men would try to exercise for two hours, mostly walking around the room. Even so, they all gained weight because they consumed hefty quantities of Middle Eastern bread, olives, cheese, fruit, vegetables and hummus, a regional specialty of mashed chickpeas.

To pass time, the men read the King James Bible, recited poetry — Sutherland's rendition of Robert Burns' poems were a favorite — and played cards, usually Hearts.

They were given occasional newspapers and a few scholarly books, such as Robin Wright's "Sacred Rage," a study of Islamic fundamentalists. For several months, they were provided a short-wave radio a few hours daily, which allowed them to hear American and British news broadcasts.

Another pastime, Jenco said, was writing. The men kept diaries and wrote letters. Anderson told of his dream of running a farm or a restaurant.

Jenco said his release was a surprise. The hostages were given new clothes, a sign they were to be moved again. The men were separated and taken down, one by one, in an elevator.

At that point, a guard approached Jenco, saying, "Father, sit down." Jenco feared the worst, but instead, the guard told him he would be freed.

"I started to cry," Jenco said. That emotion confused the captors.

"Are you crying because of happiness or sadness?" one asked.

Aquino meets rebel

JOLO, Philippines (AP) — President Corason Aquino and a Muslim leader who recently returned from exile agreed today to negotiate an end to a 14-year revolt in the south that has killed at least 50,000 people.

Mrs. Aquino and Nur Misuari, chairman of the separatist Moro National Liberation Front, said in a joint statement after a two-hour meeting in a Roman Catholic convent that they agreed "to support the continued cessation of hostilities" while holding further talks.

Chilean strike falls

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A Communist-led strike attempt failed to paralyze the country but erupted in scattered anti-government violence, leaving one demonstrator dead, four policemen wounded and more than 300 people arrested.

Army, navy and police patrols broke up street barricades and demonstrations in Santiago and five other cities, where the two-day protest against military rule was called to continue today. Scores of bombings were reported Thursday.

The Democratic Popular Movement, a Communist-Socialist coalition, organized the strike to try to wear down the 13-year-old government of President Augusto Pinochet.

But the main opposition Christian Democratic Party refused to support it, and most Chileans went about their business. The protest, aimed mainly at halting public transport by force, was far less disruptive than one backed by all opposition groups two months ago.

Monterrey flood kills 7

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Heavy rain pounded this normally arid northern metropolis, leaving at least seven people dead and more than 3,500 poor people homeless, the Nuevo Leon state government said.

Seven other people were reported missing on Thursday after nearly 6 inches of rain — more than one-third of Monterrey's average yearly total — fell in 15 hours before tapering off.

29 injured in training

BERLIN (AP) — Emergency destruction devices exploded today during a routine training exercise at a U.S. Air Force radar installation in West Berlin, injuring 29 Americans, an Air Force spokeswoman said.

The devices are designed to destroy secret documents and other confidential information during a sudden evacuation.

Air Force spokeswoman Staff Sgt. Mary Seller told The Associated Press in a telephone interview that the explosion was an accident, and no terrorists were involved.

Opinion

McCallum case has a bad smell

Although Navy Secretary John F. Lehman is an ardent proponent of home-porting, he has gone overboard in the case of Ensign Napoleon McCallum.

It was bad enough when the strapping superstar was assigned to the Long Beach (Calif.) Naval Station, making it convenient for him to work out with the Los Angeles Raiders at their nearby Oxnard summer camp. Now, the Navy has granted him permission to moonlight as a running back for the Raiders.

Mind you, Ensign McCallum received a $120,000 education from the Naval Academy at taxpayers' expense. And he is committed to five years of active duty as a Naval supply officer. As fate and the Navy brass would have it, he will be carrying the pigskin for Al Davis & Co. Sunday, when the 1986/87 NFL campaign begins.

The Navy tried to downplay the McCallum decision by emphasizing that it is consistent with the service's general policy on civilian employment. Which is to say the ensign can hold this second job "as long as there is no conflict with (his) military duties."

It should be noted that Roger Staubach and Joe Bellino, former academy graduates and Heisman Trophy winners, were required to serve their tours of duty before joining professional teams.

Presumably, Ensign McCallum will work for Uncle Sam from 5 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday — at which time he will be able to make the Raiders' afternoon practices and, of course, the games.

Trouble is, he's obliged to spend 24 hours on his ship every fifth day. Then again, there are those morning team meetings when the Raiders map out their strategy. But, not to worry. Mr. McCallum's commanding officer has complete discretion in determining the nature and the timing of his duties.

One wonders where the McCallum precedent finally will lead. For example, we expect basketball All-American David Robinson, who has one more season left at the academy, to be assigned to a coastal NBA city so he can slam dunk in his spare time. Perhaps there is a baseball prodigy in the academy pipeline who will find summer employment with a major-league team.

Apart from the obvious reasons, the McCallum matter is particularly galling because it places this talented young man in the service of a dangerous foreign power, namely the despicable ~~Los~~ Raiders.

Firefighter says thanks to citizens

To the editor:
The citizens of Big Spring often take the time to thank the Fire Department and Police Department for their services. Well, I work for the Fire Department and, after the events that happened on Saturday, Aug. 30th, I would like to thank the citizens of Big Spring. We were all thrown together in a terrible situation, and with one common goal in mind, we made it through conditions that were both life threatening and damaging to personal property. The help given by Carl Small, 1800 Brent Drive, in the rescue of the man and child, and later the search for the missing woman, was greatly appreciated. On a more personal note, I would like to extend my gratitude for the use of the shoes Mr. Small gave me after my bunker boots were lost in the rushing water. The cactus and mesquite thorns began to get very painful. In closing, I again would like to thank all of you involved for your help.

Time spent housesitting questioned

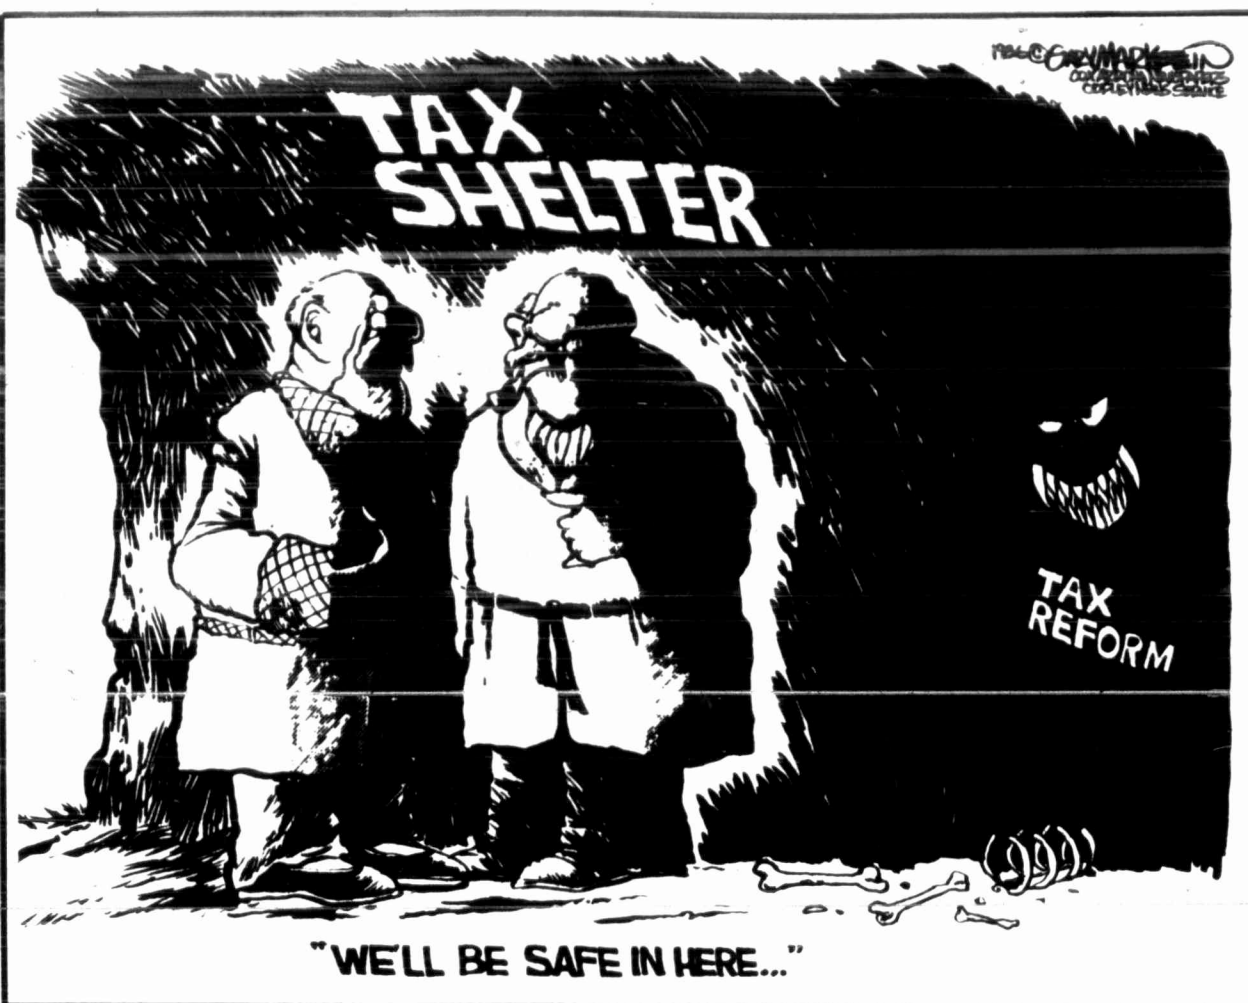

To the editor:
You know we have heard from many of our citizens during the past couple of months about what a good job our Police Department is doing in taking good care of your houses while on vacation for a couple of weeks, including checking it three or four times a day. If our officials didn't take so much time in taking care of everyone's house, maybe they could do their job properly by taking care of our citizens and our businesses. If this keeps up, what will happen to our fair city? Why can't these people hire someone to keep an eye on their house? Or better yet, just ask a friend. That way our officials can be on top of the crime going on in our city, instead of housesitting. Is this all we have to say about our Police Department?

Various powers touch local citizens

To the editor:
Water power? We have been seeing what it can do. It is essential that we do the best possible job of harnessing it. Man power? The Red Cross, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, and others are showing us how people can help people. Thought power? Howard College and all concerned had better be listening to what Bill Sprinkle is saying about the budget and related matters. Higher power? Dec. 31, 1986, is being proclaimed by many as a day for concerted prayer and meditation for world peace and healing.

Cambodian can't get paid for help at U.S. embassy

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — As American diplomats prepared to helicopter out of Phnom Penh in April 1975, barely ahead of invading guerrillas, a Cambodian contractor furiously erected barricades to protect the embassy compound against communist bullets.

Only after the Americans were safely gone did he gather his family and begin a brutal trek that would take him to safety in Saigon. Eleven years later, that Cambodian is trying to collect the modest sum that the U.S. government owes him for his labors.

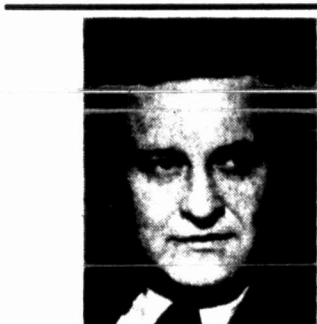

With our help, he is close to having his case documented. But there's a catch: Even if his claim is honored, he would have to be paid in a currency that no longer exists. The Cambodian's name is Chan Sambo.

Now 50, he lives with his wife and seven children in West Germany. He is looking for work, existing on his wife's salary and government assistance, and he is in sore need of the money — $3,000 to $4,000 — that he says the U.S. government owes him.

Chan began to get entangled in American red tape when Khmer Rouge guerrillas laid siege to Phnom Penh and U.S. diplomatic personnel scrambled to fortify the embassy compound with boxes and bags filled with sand. Among those hired to help was Chan Sambo.

The communists overran the city, Chan says, before he got paid. Fearful that he would be killed if it were known that he had worked for the Americans, he destroyed all his records. He then gathered his family and headed east on foot. Sixty arduous days later, they arrived in Saigon.

When Chan first requested payment from the U.S. government, the State Department passed the buck to the comptroller general who, in addition to being the head of the General Accounting Office, arbitrates financial claims. He refused Chan's appeal on the grounds that the Cambodian could not produce evidence.

Chan then reconstructed the documents from memory, but the comptroller general was unimpressed. He ruled in 1980 that the records were not "clear and satisfactory evidence of the validity of his claims."

But Chan persisted. Last year, he forwarded the names of several people he had worked with in the American Embassy. Two of them were located by an attorney in the comptroller general's office, but they could not verify Chan's claim. Again the Cambodian was turned down.

Our associate Stewart Harris saw some of the correspondence between Chan and the comptroller general and decided to investigate. He assembled a complete record of Foreign Service and military personnel who had been stationed in Phnom Penh when the city fell, and he began tracking them down.

The building and maintenance officer for the embassy, James Horn, was found in Bangladesh. Chan had indeed helped fill ammunition crates and bags with sand, he said.

"Our goal was to get a quarter of a million sandbags filled in a couple of days," Horn recalled. "I was involved in that round the clock."

The embassy had supplied the boxes and bags, Horn said, and the contractors had provided the sand and labor. Chan's request for 4.5 million Cambodian riel — between $3,000 and $4,000, depending on what the fluctuating exchange rate was at the time — was "feasible," Horn added.

Ray Johnson, a Foreign Service officer who served in Cambodia and now is assigned to Cairo, remembered the contractor called "Sambo." Johnson found it very believable that Chan would have destroyed his records to save his life.

Others who remembered Chan's association with the embassy — but who could not recall whether he was contracted to fill sandbags — included Ambassador Thomas Enders, recently retired from the Foreign Service; Gen. John Cleland, now living in retirement in Florida; and a general's wife who said Chan may have done carpentry work in her home.

Given the new information we have uncovered, Chan probably will ask the comptroller general to reopen the case. But even if the Cambodian wins, he'll probably lose.

The comptroller general already has stated that Chan would have to be paid in Cambodian riel, a currency that was abolished when the Khmer Rouge assumed power. The Khmer riel is not recognized by the United States.

The comptroller general said: "Since the Cambodian riel has no present value, even if Chan proved the existence of a contract, any judgment would have no monetary value."

Rudy will be missed

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The cheerful warrior is going home. It said so on a plaque posted in his casket.

Rudy Ramirez, 60, a maintenance man at the The Big Spring Herald, was buried this afternoon in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

He died Tuesday evening enroute to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, as a result of complications related to his bout with cancer.

He was cheerful to the end, a niece told me when I visited the family's home Thursday afternoon.

He looks peaceful, a co-worker said as we gave our farewells.

I fought back the tears. He looked dapper as he lied in state.

"Working hard, Scotty?" he frequently would ask. It would have been ridiculous to ask him that.

The Herald always was cleaner and had a semblance of neatness as result of Rudy's efforts.

"I like to work. That's what makes it fun here," he said. The most important thing to Rudy was having "enough work to stay busy," he said.

His special virtue, though, was "being around people," he remarked in April 1985.

Before beginning his nightly scrubbing duties, he always shared a few moments with us in the news room.

"If you don't talk to people, they're not going to know you're here. It shouldn't be that way," he said.

Rudy's way was to never complain.

He also went the extra mile for personal requests like fixing the chair or scrapping gunk off the floor.

I remember his humor. Always a smile. A reassuring presence.

Special qualities you don't find often in the workplace.

Rudy Ramirez is going home. Hasta luego hombre. Vaya con Dios.

I'm going to miss you, buddy. I already do.

'Arrest' scares children, angers parents

DEAR ABBY: Recently an incident occurred at my children's school that upset me. Two third-grade boys were caught stealing candy and money from a teacher's room. One boy did not show up for school for a few days. When he returned, he told the kids he had been away "camping." The other boy, however, received a different punishment. He had a history of causing trouble at school, so his father suggested (and the principal agreed) that the boy be given a good scare. The principal called the police, and two police officers came to the school and told the boy he was under arrest. This "arrest" took place in front of the other students. The boy was handcuffed and led to a police car, presumably to be taken to jail, although I doubt that the incident was carried that far.

No explanation was made to the children about the "arrest," but my children came home wide-eyed convinced that policemen do arrest little kids as they had seen it with their own eyes.

I was furious about the way the matter had been handled. When I spoke to the other parents, I was shocked to learn that many of them thought this type of scare was good for the children. I still disagree. What do you think?

ROSWELL, N.M., MOM

Dear Abby

DEAR MOM: I agree with you. The end does not justify the means. What will the children think when they learn — and they surely will — that policemen do not arrest little kids; that those whom they trusted and respected the most — their parents, teachers and officers of the law — lied to them and had staged a phony arrest to scare them? I think, in the end, that scheme will do more harm than good.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me why restaurant owners keep their restaurants so dark you need a flashlight or a match in order to read the menu? It's ridiculous. Most people would like to see what they're eating. At least I do.

Am I an oddball? Or do people really enjoy going to a restaurant and sitting in the dark?

NOT BAT IN PORTLAND

DEAR NO BAT: I speak only for myself, but I agree, when the waiter has to bring a flashlight to the table in order to read the menu, it's time to lighten up. Read on for another common complaint from a diner.

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many of the finer dining rooms have "background" music so loud that the customers have to shout in order to be heard? My wife and I were invited to one of the nicest restaurants in the city, and had a miserable time because we couldn't even carry on a conversation with the couple who treated us. It was our anniversary and we had looked forward to a nice visit, but it was impossible.

Please print this to let restaurant owners and managers know that most diners, especially the older ones, find it very difficult to converse with loud, so-called background music going on. If folks want to hear music, they will go to a concert. Good eating places do not need music at all. Thank you.

QUIET, PLEASE!

DEAR QUIET: You can say that again.

DEAR ABBY: I doubt whether there is any documentation on this, but what word do you think is more apt to be misspelled more than any other?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: "Hors d'oeuvre" gets my vote.

DEAR ABBY: For the benefit of your female readers who are concerned about their privacy in the dressing rooms of department stores, this simple test will quickly determine whether there are two-way mirrors installed.

Place the point of an ordinary pencil to the surface of the mirror, and observe the reflection. If the reflection of the pencil point "touches" the pencil, it's a two-way mirror through which you can be observed from the other side.

If there's a distance of approximately 1/8 to 1/4 of an inch between the actual point and the reflected image, it's proof that it's a one-way mirror, and privacy is assured.

J. LOGAN, LOUISVILLE, KY.

DEAR J.: A big thank-you for the privacy test. It's a citizen's right to know whether he or she is being observed.

Couple sent here by God

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Former residents Dalton and Janie Froman are thrilled about being back in Big Spring, Froman said.

"We have a special place in our hearts for Big Spring," said the new minister at Evangel Temple Church.

The couple hasn't lived in the area for 10 years and some real changes have taken place in the city, he said.

"So many of our families are hurting. They're having a real crisis economically. The size of the city has changed. You can see it is really hurting."

But spiritually, Froman added a positive side.

"The spring shall flow again," he said. "So many of our churches have dried up, like a well has dried up. But in the Old Testament, Isaac dug again. The Lord sent us here to help dig the well."

Froman says he also senses a real need for a strong church ministry. Another concern of his is the men's ministry, he added.

"It's one of the biggest neglected areas. Today we're seeing the families torn apart; there's a need to rebuild fathers with sons and daughters.

"I have this vision that if we have a strong men's ministry it will help our families. If we can build strong men, they'll build strong families and we'll have strong churches," he said.

He bases his opinion on the Book of Malachi, Chapter 4, Verse 6: "He will restore the hearts of the fathers to their children and the hearts of their children to their fathers."

Along with the men's ministry, Froman has set two other goals. He wants to make Sunday school a strong children's ministry and to build a strong ministry of the Word, he said.

The children's Sunday school format will be changed to children's church for ages 4-11 from 9:45-10:45 a.m., Froman said. It will be called the Super Gang Sunday School.

Froman says he grew up in the First Assembly of God Church, but didn't always serve the Lord.

"I was raised in a fabulous family home. I couldn't ask for better parents. In high school, because of peer pressure, I went with the crowd."

During his freshman year in college, "the Lord started dealing with my heart," he said. And he committed his life to Christ.

He attended Howard College for two years and worked at the Montgomery Ward store in Big Spring for a year.

"While I was working at Montgomery Ward, I felt a call to the ministry."

After Froman decided to serve the Lord, he transferred to South Western Assemblies of God Bible School. He married in 1977 and graduated in 1979.

He served as associate pastor at Trinity Temple Church in Dallas for two years, and at the First Assembly of God of Big Lake for 5 years.

"We had a successful ministry in Big Lake and a successful ministry with the men," he said.

"Women are the spiritual leaders. I'm not against that, but we need more men to hold those positions. The world has an image of what man should be — macho. But God also has an image of what man should be — gentle, have convictions in your life, be alert to spiritual danger and be a protector."

Froman says his wife, Janie, is active with the children of the congregation and children's church. She is a resource teacher at Washington Elementary School.

The couple has two children, Jonathon, 5, and Kara, 3.

Dallas man to lead revival

Revival services will be conducted at Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Frazier St., Sept. 7-11. Morning services will be from 12-1:00 with evening services at 7:30.

Dr. John Steep of Dallas, well-known for his knowledge on God's word, will be the evangelist and Rayford Dunigan, active in many of the local Baptist churches, will lead the music.

Pastor Bob Brown and members of Airport Baptist Church invite the public to attend their services and take part in the old time Gospel congregational singing.

Day of Prayer meeting set

A day of prayer, called "World Healing Day," "World Peace Day," and "Day of Prayer for World Peace," for Dec. 31, 1986 is being organized around the world.

Unity House of Prayer extends an open invitation to attend a meeting to plan the local promotion of this day. It will be Sept. 11 from 5:45-6:45 a.m. at 1104 S. Benton.

The early morning meetings have been specifically chosen to allow busy persons to attend.

Reagan directs fall study

Betty Reagan, missionary education director, directed the fall study "Is this our World?" written by Lucille Falling, at a recent meeting of the Women of the First Church of God.

Her objectives were to create an awareness of the ecosystem on which human life depends, to bring attention to the abuse of God's world and to strengthen awareness of Christian stewardship responsibilities toward the Earth's care.

Reagan presented slides of nature scenes, accompanied by soft music playing "This is My Father's World" to convey her message.

Renae Loy, spiritual life director, lead the worship using Genesis 1:1-31.

Next meeting will be Oct. 6 in the church sanctuary.

Kohl to lead Bible class

Rev. Carroll Kohl, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church, is beginning a 16-session Bible study class.

The organizational meeting will be Wed., Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall, 9th and Scurry.

Everyone is welcome to attend the Bible study class. Areas of study will include suffering, life, death, baptism, holy communion and prayer. Class members will be encouraged to participate in discussions and ask questions in an informal setting.

Anyone interested may enroll by calling the church office at 267-7163 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday or by calling the parsonage at 267-2764. Walk-ins are also welcome.

On Sun., Sept. 7 at 8:30 a.m., first communion will be given to Melissa Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Wright. Her sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Moises Vizcaino.

Mid-Week Classes begin on Sept. 10 at 6 p.m. The classes are for preschool aged children through eighth graders. Seventh and eighth grade confirmation classes will be included in these sessions. Mrs. Helen Crandall is supervisor of Mid-Week Classes.

Stake Conference is Sat.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will have a semi-annual Stake Conference in Odessa Sept. 6 from 7-9 p.m. for all adult members of the church. The public is also invited. Contact the Big Spring Church at 267-3408 for further information.

Church services will be conducted at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Odessa on Sept. 7 from 10 a.m.-12 noon. The service will conclude the semi-annual Stake Conference.

On Sept. 9 at 6:30 p.m. "Relief Society," a women's organization, will have a dinner and a meeting to discuss all phases of sewing. Ladies 18 and older are welcome to join the organization. For more information, contact Barbra Danley at 263-4754.

Mayor's Prayer Breakfast to be Sept. 13

Mayor Cotton Mize has announced plans for a Mayor's Prayer Breakfast in response to requests made at the recent Community Under God Rally.

"We will meet the second Saturday of each month, beginning the 13th of September from 8-9 a.m. at the Homestead Inn (South Service Rd. of I-20, one mile west of U.S.

87.)," Mize said.

Breakfast will be continental-style and will cost $2 per person, which will help cover the cost of publicity, he added.

"Our whole purpose of these breakfasts is two-fold. First, we want to unite or community in prayer for God to meet individual and community needs. And second, to inspire us all to go back into each of our own churches, homes and jobs to seek and work for the Lord in our own ways."

Each week a local individual will share his testimony of how God has moved in his life. Mayor Mize will be sharing his testimony at the first meeting. Daly Dailey, local evangelist, will provide the music.

"Each of the breakfasts will be run by laymen from various churches, so this is an opportunity for the ministers in the area to be refreshed and ministered to as well," Mize said.

Everyone is invited to attend. Reservations can be made by calling the Homestead Inn at 267-6303.

Priest brings word of God to carnival workers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — His house of prayer is covered with canvas and adorned with stuffed animals, velvet wall hangings and glass tumbler sets.

His pulpit is a stack of wooden platforms, his pews are vinyl-covered swivel seats.

To his Watertown congregation he is Monsignor R.J. McCarthy. To some of the 100,000 carnival workers in the United States, he is "Father Mac, the Carny Priest."

"My work is exactly the same as the local priest," said McCarthy, who gave a sermon Wednesday to about two dozen workers at the New York State Fair. "I give them comfort, support and help them stay in touch with the Lord."

He added, "The best comparison is an army or military chaplain."

McCarthy has a papal imprimatur, having been appointed by the Vatican's Pontifical Commission for the Pastoral Care of Itinerant People as the official chaplain of carnivals in the United States.

McCarthy is one of five clergymen who travel the country visiting traveling carnivals. He visits as many as 50 shows between July and September, and has been bringing the word of God to traveling showmen for 25 years.

"I'm in a different place every day or two," said McCarthy, who once had an audience with Pope John Paul II and once was profiled on Harry Reasoner's old television news show "The Reasoner Report."

"I think you're much more appreciated at a carnival than a local church," said McCarthy.

"The churches always have clergymen of their own. If he gets transferred, the church gets another one to replace him. At the carnival, they don't get the chance to attend church regularly and they know I'm doing what I do voluntarily, so they really appreciate it," said McCarthy.

Those who attended Wednesday's ecumenical service agreed. "I think it's a great thing," said

Tirza Boston, who runs the French Casino Revue burlesque show. "I don't get a chance to attend mass because we're on the road all the time. Even if I can get to one once a season, it feels good."

Last year, McCarthy used the Revue's tent for his 30-minute sermon.

"Yes, I have church service right on the same stage where hours later girls will be removing... with, ah, their vestments," said McCarthy, with his always-present grin.

His work doesn't stop with the end of the carnival season.

When he is not attending his flock at the Watertown Holy Family Church, he is busy at the Showmen's Chapel in the Precious Blood Monastery, which was built through his efforts, administering the Showmen's League of Prayer, or traveling to showmen's organizations around the country.

McCarthy's interest in carnivals goes back to his childhood, when he worked as a barker in shows that would stop near his hometown of

Marfan's Syndrome can be a problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am writing because I read your column and respect your medical integrity. Recently, someone inquired about the Marfan syndrome and your answer, although factually correct, left important things unsaid. You did not indicate what a potentially devastating illness this can be. Only when one recognizes this fact can expert medical advice and help be received. I am especially interested ... since my son died of Marfan syndrome ... and we had never heard of it. — A.C.B.

I shortened your letter. One of the failings of this form of medical communication is that sometimes completeness is sacrificed on the altar of brevity.

Marfan's is, in fact, one of the most common of genetic abnormalities, affecting as many as one in every 10,000 to 20,000 (depending on the study). It's easily diagnosed when all the features are present. Sometimes only some of the characteristics appear.

The person with Marfan's is usually quite thin and tall. Fingers are long and spidery. In fact, a study of the many photographs of President Lincoln is a study in Marfan syndrome. He is thought to have had it.

I suppose that this was the extent of my previous comment. However, as important as these externals may be, there are internal changes as well. Those can be troublesome, and so have to be carefully watched. Often, there is trouble with the aorta (main blood vessel) and its valve. There can be life-threatening bleeding from a weakened aorta. Likewise, certain lung changes can pose problems. And there may be eye lens disturbance in some patients.

Not everyone who is tall and thin has Marfan's syndrome, but, as you say, people who bear some of the characteristics should be aware of the possibility. I'm glad to give more space to the subject. I also want to provide the address of the National Marfan Foundation, which you so kindly sent along. The address is: 54 Irma Ave., Port Washington, N.Y. 11050.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You have never answered my question, so I am mad at you. However, answer now and all is forgiven. When I extend my right leg I feel a swelling behind the knee. It is not painful, but there are twinges in the leg. I am on my feet 10-12 hours a day and am a great walker, so my legs are important to me. Do you think the swelling is a cyst? —

I would put my money on a diagnosis of a cyst. The area behind the knee is rich in bursae, tiny lubricating sacs that facilitate joint movement. When fluid from within a joint seeps into a sac, a cyst forms. A common name for such a problem behind the knee is Baker's cyst.

Usually with Baker's cyst, inflammation of the joint is what prompts the fluid leakage. It might be some arthritis. For some, rest of the joint along with anti-inflammation medicine helps shrink the swelling. Sometimes steroid injections quiet the inflammation. If the cyst is large and very painful, surgery to remove it is in order.

Baker's cyst isn't the only cause of such swelling, however. Vein inflammation can be involved, for example. You'll have to be examined. Am I forgiven?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How many migraine headaches does the average sufferer get in a year? — S.I.

It can vary with the type of migraine. Classic migraine, the kind with the preceding aura (sight disturbance, etc.) may occur four to six times a year on average. Common migraine, the kind without the aura, may produce as many as three attacks a month. Thus, the use of preventive medicine might make more sense for common migraine than for the classic type, which might be best handled with drugs to abort an attack in progress.

FOR L.A. — Alcohol abuse has been associated with increased blood pressure. We are not certain why. It may be that it interferes with the body's conservation of certain minerals, such as calcium and phosphorus. Those minerals seem to play a role in blood pressure control.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am taking water pills daily to correct my blood pressure, which is high. I was interested in your discussion of low potassium sometimes being caused by water pills. Mine was low, so I was put on medicine to give me more potassium. Despite this, my potassium still measures low when I am checked. Why? — Mrs. W.Q.

I don't know. Sometimes, a deficiency of another mineral (magnesium) can perpetuate a low level of potassium. The magnesium lack can prevent proper utilization of potassium in the body. In fact, a magnesium deficiency might even cause a potassium decrease. When you get your answer let me know.

Millions of out-of-shape men and women desire fitness, but shy away from formal programs because they think it's all too complicated and difficult. Dr. Donohue's newest booklet, "Introduction to Fitness," puts the esoteric terminology of aerobics into plain language and offers a fitness program anyone, regardless of age, can adapt. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1120, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.50. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Offices can be unhealthy

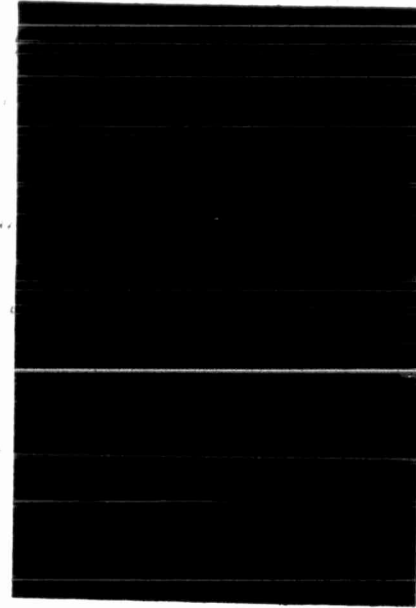

By BARBARA MAYER

That mid-afternoon tired feeling could be related to the office furniture, and not a heavy lunch or even boredom, according to interior designers at a recent national conference of the American Society of Interior Designers in Los Angeles.

"There is a growing body of research which shows our offices are unhealthy. The use of synthetic materials in offices may be responsible in part for a host of diseases linked to office work," said Dr. George Rand, a psychologist and professor at the UCLA's graduate school of architecture and urban planning.

EP Riverside (0-0) at Big Spring (0-0)

The Steer defense will get a stern test right off the bat against Riverside's run-oriented offense. Riverside will be led by "All-Everything" running back David Samaniego. Last year the 6-1, 190-pound All-City selection totaled over 1,500 yards in rushing and receiving.

To be successful, the Big Spring "D" must stop Samaniego. On the other hand, the Steers offensive line will have to prove itself in a hurry. The Steers have quality players at the skill positions, but the line is the question mark.

This is a good season-opening test for Big Spring in front of the home crowd. Look for Mr. Samaniego to run into a rough Steer defense led by Mike Cahill, Todd Coker and Matt Garrett. Samaniego will get some yards, but they'll be hard earned.

Look for the Steer offense to show signs of brilliance. Phillip Mathews and Charles White will break a few big ones and the Steers passing game will hook up for a long-gainer.

The Steers will whip the AAAAA playoff team.
Big Spring 21, Riverside 13

The C-City Wolves will be trying to get back into the playoff picture after suffering through a 4-6 mark last season. The Slaton Tigers return 21 lettermen from a team that took some hard knocks last season.

The Wolves will try their power running game against a Slaton defense which returns seven starters.

This will be a close one, though Slaton's finesse and home field advantage will overcome Colorado City's strength.
Slaton 20, Colorado City 17

Both of these teams suffered through 2-8 records last season. Both teams return a good nucleus and should turn it around this year. Coahoma will be a much improved team, with more aggressiveness, especially on offense. Coahoma always plays good defense.

Seminole is set in the backfield with fullback Ty Bryson and halfback Sidney Lopez returning.

Give this one to Seminole by a nose, because of seven returning defensive starters and an experienced backfield.
Seminole 14, Coahoma 8

An old rivalry. Although these two teams are in different classes, the fire still burns between these ex-district counterparts.

Just as in the past two seasons, the Buffaloes will be big, bad and tenacious. The Roscoe Plowboys will have 18 returning lettermen, but they won't be as tough as in the past.

Look for the Buffaloes to get their season off to a roaring start.
Forsan 28, Roscoe 13

This could turn out to be one of the exciting games of the week. The Seagraves Eagles return nine starters on a team that finished 7-3 last season. The Buffaloes return a host of starters from last season's 3-7 record.

Seagraves has a swift backfield with three experienced starters led by fullback Tracey Draughn. The Eagle offense will put some points on the board. This season Stanton will sport its new Wishbone attack. Look for it to be much improved with James Vidal and Derek Sorley in the backfield.

Some points will be scored at Buffalo Stadium.
Seagraves 27, Stanton 22

The Garden City Bearcats really picked a toughie for their season opener. The Paducah Dragons, down from Class AA, have a lot of firepower this season.

Led by quarterback Stan Burns and wingback Billy Hutchinson, the Dragons offense will be hard to contain. Will Flemonn, a 6-6 230-pound junior tackle, will make it hard for Garden City to run.

Garden City has some good players, but they're generally a slow starting team. If these two teams played near the end of the season, things would be different.
Paducah 31, Garden City 12

Klondike (0-0) at Amherst (0-0)

The Klondike Cougars will have their hands full with a very talented Amherst Bulldog squad. This game will be interesting for both teams, as both are moving down to 6-man this year. It's hard to know what to expect, but because the Bulldogs are coming off a 8-2-1 playoff season, they get the nod. Many experts are comparing Amherst with the Jayton Jaybirds dynasty of three years ago.

The Cougars will want to forget this game in a hurry.
Amherst 45, Klondike 27

This will be a good game. The Jayton Jaybirds are coming off a 14-0 state championship winning season. They'll have lots of tradition, but only five lettermen.

Meanwhile, the Sands Mustangs are new at this game. The Mustangs return 14 lettermen from a team that finished 3-7 in Class A.

In the upset special of the week and maybe the year, Sands' brusing attack and coach John Blair's six-man knowledge will end Jayton's 28-game winning streak.
Sands 35, Jayton 33

It will be an uphill battle for the Grady Wildcats all year long. The Wildcats will field one of the youngest six-man teams around. Meanwhile the Trent Gorillas return five quality starters.

Led by quarterback Dock Carriker, the Gorillas have a very good passing attack.

An inexperienced Grady defense will find how just how good.
Trent 52, Grady 13

B-County (0-0) at McCaulley (0-0)

The McCaulley Eagles are going to surprise a lot of teams this season. The Eagles will turn out to have one of the best balanced teams around.

Because of youth and inexperience, it will take the Borden County Coyotes a while to get started. On the other side of the line, McCaulley's 14 returning lettermen will be running in high gear. This is another game that would be different if played at the end of the season.
McCaulley 55, Borden County 20

Nebraska gains reprieve

LINCOLN, eb. (AP) — Nebraska football Coach Tom Osborne said he's pleased the NCAA delayed the suspension of 60 players but said the school may forfeit a game if its appeal of the penalties is denied.

The NCAA on Thursday said the players on the eighth-ranked Cornhuskers, 53 of whom were suspended for one game and seven others for two games, may compete in Saturday's nationally televised opener here against 11th-ranked Florida State.

Nebraska officials had asked that the suspensions be delayed until an NCAA subcommittee considers the appeal Tuesday.

"We're pleased with the stay in that it gives us all an opportunity to draw a breath," Osborne said. "Now we just have to go out and play well."

David Maggard, chairman of the NCAA Council Subcommittee on Eligibility Appeals, said denying a stay of the suspensions would have been unfair to the players if the appeal is upheld.

"We believe that the uniqueness of this case merits delaying the implementation," Maggard said in a statement released by the NCAA.

Osborne said that if the appeal of Wednesday's decision by the NCAA Eligibility Committee is denied, Nebraska might forfeit a game rather than field a team comprised mostly of freshmen and redshirt players. The team's second game is Sept. 20 at Illinois.

"We've had a very cooperative day with the NCAA," Chancellor Martin Massengale said. "We look forward now to playing the game Saturday under normal conditions with our players, and we think we'll have an exciting football game."

The Eligibility Committee gave Nebraska an option of suspending at least 10 players per game over a number of games, instead of holding all the players out of the Florida State game, NCAA spokesman Dave Cawood said.

"By being honest and trying to cooperate, here's what we've got," Osborne said. "You really kind of wonder what kind of business you're in."

Osborne declined to predict how the controversy would affect his team Saturday night.

Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden said he expects Nebraska to play an emotional game.

"They ought to be a hornet's nest now," he said. "If they did have to suspend somebody, they'd be mad as hornets. They're going to be mad as hornets anyway."

No Three For Three On Three

Arnold Palmer reacts to his tee shot which did not go in the hole on the third hole of the Chrysler Cup seniors golf tournament Thursday at the Tournament Players Club in Potomac, Maryland. Palmer fired holes-in-one on Tuesday and Wednesday on the par three, number three hole during preliminary rounds.

Becker cruises in easy win over listless Czech

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Boris Becker a lot longer to realize how badly he was routing Milan Srejber than it took the crowd at the U.S. Open.

Becker, the two-time Wimbledon champion and No. 3 seed here, surged into the semifinals Thursday with a 6-3, 6-2, 4-0 and saying, "What the hell is going on, this is a quarterfinal match?"

"Then I felt a little sorry for the crowd," Becker said.

There were 20,773 people in attendance and they booed Srejber repeatedly for his uninspired performance in which let passing shots sail by without lifting his racket. Then, the crowd took to sarcastically cheering Srejber every time he won a point — which was 27 times in the last two sets.

Srejber hadn't met a seeded player en route to the quarterfinals.

"He is a strange guy off the court and I don't think many players talk to him," Becker said.

In the other men's quarterfinal on Thursday, No. 16 Miloslav Mecir, Srejber's countryman, upended No. 7 Joakim Nystrom 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Becker meets Mecir, whom he has beaten three times in four matches — including the quarterfinals at Wimbledon this year — and top-seeded and defending champion Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia plays No. 4 Stefan Edberg of Sweden in Saturday's semifinals.

Today's women's semifinals featured the top three players and No. 7 Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia.

Chris Evert Lloyd, seeded second and seeking her seventh Open crown, faced Sukova in the first match. Top-seed Martina Navratilova, winner of two Opens, played No. 3 Steffi Graf of West Germany in the other semifinal.

The men's doubles final also was held today, with No. 3 seeds Mats Wilander and Nystrom of Sweden opposing No. 4 Andres Gomez of Ecuador and Sloba Zivojinovic of Yugoslavia.

Mecir is the most difficult guy on the tour to play, I think," Becker said. "One day he can't play, the next day he wakes up and is unbeatable."

Mecir is getting to be known as a Swede killer. In the fourth round, he eliminated Wilander, the second seed. On Thursday, he raised his record against Sweden's best players to 18-3 over the last two years by taking Nystrom.

Becker was a little surprised to see Mecir get so far. "I know him pretty well and I talked to him after his first match," Becker said. "He tells me he can't move on this court and he wants to go home."

"Now he is in the semifinals. Maybe all the Czechs are a little strange."

Navratilova kept alive hopes of a triple crown here as she and Peter Fleming, the top seeds, advanced to Sunday's mixed doubles final with a 7-5, 7-5 victory over Elizabeth Smylie and John Fitzgerald of Australia. They will face unseeded Raffaella Reggi of Italy and Sergio Casal of Spain.

Navratilova and Pam Shriver, the No. 1 seeds in women's doubles, routed the No. 4 team of Graf and Argentina's Gabriela Sabatini 6-4, 6-1 on Thursday.

Walls 'deserts' Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Everson Walls' abrupt walkout in a contract dispute only days before the Dallas Cowboys' season opener amounts to desertion and "it certainly doesn't sit well with me," team president Tex Schramm said.

The 26-year-old cornerback, whose nine interceptions last season led the National Football League, left the club after practice Thursday and said he would not return until the team renegotiated the last two years of his five-year contract.

Dallas opens the season Monday night in a nationally televised game at Texas Stadium against the New York Giants.

"I don't think we'll negotiate under blackmail conditions," Schramm said Thursday night.

Walls' agent, Steve Weinberg, told WFAA-TV Thursday night that the Cowboys promised in 1983 to renegotiate the final two years of Walls' contract if he had met certain performance standards by 1986.

Walls met those standards, but the Cowboys responded with an offer that would make the all-pro cornerback only the 12th-highest member of the Cowboys and only the 25th-highest paid defensive back in the league, Weinberg said.

The team was willing to offer more money only if Walls agreed on a new four-year contract, Weinberg said.

The Cowboys are reeling under the weight of an 0-5 record in exhibition play, and the defensive secondary was already one of the club's biggest question marks because of the holdout of 1985 starter Dexter Clinkscale and the release of Dennis Thurman.

Salem returns to Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Holdout Houston Oiler offensive tackle Harvey Salem is returning to the National Football League team after missing all of training camp and failing to get his wish to be traded to a West Coast team.

"Coach (Jerry) Glanville made it clear to me he doesn't really want me here, but at the same time, they've been unwilling to trade me," Salem said Thursday as he arrived at the Oiler practice facility. "When I arrived, I got a note saying if I said anything, I'd be suspended. I don't know if I can be suspended for telling the truth."

The holdout so far has cost Salem $44,000 in fines and Glanville says he'll keep adding $1,000 a day to that during the next two weeks when Salem is not officially on the roster so he can work himself into shape.

"If they try to do that, we'll immediately file a grievance and ask for Harvey to be declared a free agent," warned Mike Sullivan, Salem's agent.

Sooners face giant killing Bruins

By The Associated Press
One thing you can say about UCLA — the Bruins don't open the season with soft-touch opponents.

For the second year in a row, they'll be opening on the road against the defending national champion when they face the Oklahoma Sooners on Saturday. Last year, they defeated Brigham Young 27-24 on opening day.

The Bruins are no slouches themselves, starting the season ranked No. 4. UCLA is the highest-ranked team the Sooners have faced in an opener since 1968 when they lost to No. 3 Notre Dame 45-21.

Some other high-powered matchups will be featured in college football's first full weekend of play, including an intrastate battle between No. 3 Miami and No. 13 Florida.

In other games involving the Top Twenty teams, Vanderbilt will play at No. 5 Alabama, Temple visits No. 6 Penn State, No. 11 Florida

State is at No. 8 Nebraska, New Mexico travels to No. 10 Tennessee, No. 12 Baylor is at Wyoming, Tennessee-Chattanooga visits No. 14 Auburn and Utah State is at No. 18 Brigham Young.

Donahue feels that Oklahoma's ranking this year is well-founded. "You try to take away the best thing a wishbone team does," he said. "But when you take away (quarterback) Jamelle Holieway and (running back) Spencer Tillman, as Penn State did (in last January's Orange Bowl), then you have the fullback (Lydell Carr) rushing for 148 yards. The versatility of Oklahoma is what makes them different compared to others."

The Miami-Florida rivalry is one of the most intense in the country. The series, now in its 48th game, has been played in Orlando, Tampa and Jacksonville as well as Miami and Gainesville. Florida leads 25-22.

It began in 1938 and has been played every year except 1943.

Twenty-four games have been decided by less than a touchdown, but not the last three. Miami's last visit to Gainesville was a 28-3 loss in 1983, the only loss in the Hurricanes' national championship season.

"There will be nothing easy about the game with the Gators," said Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson. "It can be an intimidating crowd, their defense is familiar with our offensive style and they have great players. We'll have to play extremely well on offense and not turn the ball over."

Florida State will face a Nebraska team surrounded by controversy. Earlier in the week, the Cornhuskers had 60 players suspended by the NCAA for handing out game passes to people not eligible to use them. But on Thursday, the NCAA granted the university's request for a stay of the suspensions.

The game will be televised by ABC and will be the first night game at Nebraska's Memorial Stadium.

Hall of Famer Greenberg dies

(AP) — Hank Greenberg, a Detroit Tigers slugger of the 1930's and 40's and former owner of the Cleveland Indians and an executive of the Chicago White Sox, died Thursday at his Beverly Hill, Calif. home.

Greenberg, elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1956, hit 58 home runs in 1938 and was twice the American League's most valuable player.
