Q. How much is paid in benefits to our three former presidents, including salaries and secret service protection?
A. The 1986 estimate for the former presidents and presidential survivors is $30.88 million, according to Congressman Charles Stenholm's office in Washington, D.C.
The figure includes $1.28 million in allowances and official staff for former presidents and presidential widows, $9.16 million in secret service protection to former presidents and their families, and $20.5 million to pay for presidential libraries. Each former president since George Washington has a library, an office spokesman said.

Accord reached on state spending

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The House and Senate conference committee will produce a compromise plan slashing state spending by $580 million, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Friday.
Such a move would be a key development in attempts by lawmakers to reach an agreement on solving the budget deficit, which is projected to reach $3.5 billion within one year.
Hobby also said a balanced-budget provision, endorsed by the Senate to pry a tax bill out of the House, will probably be dropped by the conference committee.
In a telephone interview, Hobby said he, Gov. Mark White and House Speaker Gib Lewis have agreed the $580 million figure is a fair compromise between the Senate and House budget cuts.

"The conferees are working toward that goal," Hobby said. A $580 million cut in spending for the fiscal year is approximately mid-way between the House and Senate budget reducing bills.
Hobby said he regretted sacrificing Sen. Ray Farabee's proposal, which would require the Legislature to make the necessary adjustments to balance the budget, but said, "It will be reintroduced in the next session."
In return for the compromise, Hobby said he hoped the House would initiate a tax proposal. Lewis has stated he would consider new taxes only if budget cuts and other fund proposals fail to keep the state solvent.

With a compromise budget cut on the horizon of the second special legislative session beginning Monday, lawmakers would be closer to solving the budget problem than they were during the entire 30-day session which ended Thursday.
At the close of the special session, the conference committee, composed of five senators and five House members, remained at odds over major items in reduction plans.
The committee had been unable to agree on cuts to higher education, the prison system and the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.
Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said Friday that the committee chairmen, Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, and Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, were working toward the goal of $580 million.

Neither Jones nor Rudd could be reached for comment, but Jones' aide Jim Yancy said the Senate conferees would meet at 9 a.m. Monday to prepare for the committee meeting.
The plan passed by the House would reduce spending by $739 million. Of that amount, higher education would lose 13 percent. Under the Senate's $418 million plan, higher education would be shaved by 6 percent.
Both sides of the conference committee have indicated they may meet halfway on the cuts to colleges and universities.
And Farabee said, both sides are not far apart on funding to prisons and health-related agencies.

Reagan talks tough about jet hijacking

By TERENCE HUNT

Associated Press Writer

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan declared Friday that the punishment is too severe for the "despicable and cowardly" seizure of a Pan Am jumbo jet in Pakistan. But his chief spokesman said the United States has been unable to link the captured captors to any specific group or government.
Larry Speakes read a statement on behalf of the president a few hours after the incident ended when the Arab gunmen opened fire on hostages who had been held in the plane nearly 17 hours.
Reports from the scene throughout the day had indicated there were four assailants, but a State Department official suggested there were five: two dead and three captured when Pakistani forces stormed the plane.
Speakes said Reagan had been kept apprised of the unfolding incident Thursday night and Friday and had made several decisions. The spokesman declined to be specific, but the administration ordered an aircraft carrier to sea and, according to sources, dispatched a team of FBI agents to investigate.
"Nothing can justify such barbarism," Reagan said in the statement read by Speakes. "We can think of no punishment too severe for the criminals responsible."
Speakes, responding to questions, said the United States was "unable at this time to make any connection with any government or any specific group."
Hospital officials in Pakistan said 15 passengers and two of the gunmen died in a shootout with security police who captured the plane. They estimated that as many as 127 of the approximately 400 people on board were wounded. Earlier, one American was killed when the gunmen boarded the plane.
Speakes said it was too early to give any information on casualties because the administration wanted to be sure "it had the correct numbers."
He said President and Mrs. Reagan offered their condolences to the families of those killed.
At the State Department, spokesman Charles Redman said late Friday: "It is my understanding that there were five hijackers — two killed, three captured."
Redman said the hijackers were "Arabic-speaking, either Palestinian or Lebanese." He said the United States had no information on any possible Libyan connection.
"At the moment we have reported the hijackers claimed to be members of the Arab Liberation Organization," he said. "That group was previously unknown to us."

White: Clements is unearthly

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White, launching an assault on former Gov. Bill Clements, says that for Clements to blame anything but the oil crisis for the state's budget dilemma indicates he has lost touch with reality.
"He must be on another planet," White told the Houston Chronicle in an interview published Friday.
White's comments come as Clements, the Republican candidate for governor, is stumping across the state and charging that White's mismanagement of state government — not the oil price slide — has caused the state budget deficit to balloon to $3.5 billion.
"Anybody that thinks the price of oil doesn't have anything to do with our economy is out of touch with reality," White told the newspaper.
"Every soul, from the lady that serves the Slurpee at the 7-Eleven to the CEO of LTV knows that the price of oil has created every single financial problem we face in Texas today," the governor said.

White, a Democrat, ousted Clements after a single term in 1982.
At campaign appearances around the state this week, Clements did not specifically charge that White caused the state's economic slump. But when asked what caused the state government's projected $3.5 billion deficit, Clements told reporters it was White's "mismanagement, absolute mismanagement, no fiscal responsibility."
Oil was selling for nearly $30 per barrel in November, but plunged to below $10 per barrel at one point during the summer. Comptroller Bob Bullock's deficit forecasts grew as the slide continued, from $1.3 billion in February to $3.5 billion by late July.
Clements said White should have acted sooner to call a special session to cut the budget. He also said state revenues have increased $11 billion since he left office, adding that "spending is out of control."

White shrugged off the criticism.
"The man doesn't know how to count," White said. "If he keeps talking like he did this week, I think the voters are going to understand that he is much like Alice in Wonderland. When you don't know where you're going, it doesn't matter which road you take."
White said the revenues that Clements is talking about "involve refunding of bonds, they involve some $400 million in Outer Continental Shelf (oil) funds I fought for and we got that he was unwilling to buck the (Reagan) administration for when he was governor."
"He's counting $200 million in oil overcharge refunds. He's counting everything that came into this state, including increases, apparently in the Permanent School Fund and the Permanent University Fund. That's not revenues," White said.

Prisoner level near limit, officials say

DALLAS (AP) — Texas prison officials say the inmate population level is within a fraction of a percentage point of triggering a court-ordered admissions shut-down plan to control overcrowding.
The Texas Department of Corrections' inmate population on Thursday was just 79 admissions short of exceeding the limit imposed in 1983 by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, despite addition of 75 beds this week.
Justice, to resolve an overcrowding complaint by prisoners, approved an agreement in which TDC officials would not accept more inmates if it reached 95 percent of its official capacity.
TDC spokesman David Nunnelee said the tally at midnight Wednesday was 38,255, or 94.80 percent of its 40,352-bed capacity.
The prison population on Tuesday came the closest ever to triggering the shutting of TDC's front doors. The inmate count of 38,226 PRISONERS page 2A

Fall clean-up set Sept. 20 at city park

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer
The Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee is sponsoring a Sept. 20 fall clean-up of Comanche Trail Park, left a big mess of mud and debris from the series of recent floods.
Committee chairman Hayes Stripling III said the clean-up will begin at 8 a.m. and last until 1 p.m. People should meet at the Old Settlers Pavilion with rakes and other tools, he said, noting that trashbags, some tools and refreshments are to be provided.
The city's public works department is expected to furnish a garbage truck and a massive trash container to aid the cleaning operation, Stripling said.
"The city can clean it, but if we can get a jump on it, it would help," he said.
"It's got debris hanging on everything," he said of the park. "Stone pillars have been washed over — it's really a disaster area."
Stripling said he thinks disasters can bring a community together, and he sees the clean-up as something positive — a way for citizens to help the city.
The Chamber sponsored a similar clean-up campaign in April, when an estimated 150 persons turned out to polish the city's sparkling namesake, the Big Spring at Comanche Park.
Although Stripling was pleased by participation in April, he says, "I'm kind of hoping it will turn out a little better this time."

Names in the news

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, Calif. — Mayor CLINT EASTWOOD wants to halt sales of T-shirts, bumper stickers, caps and other items that bear his face or name.

"To me, Carmel is not Clintsville," Eastwood said Thursday at a meeting of the Carmel Business Association.

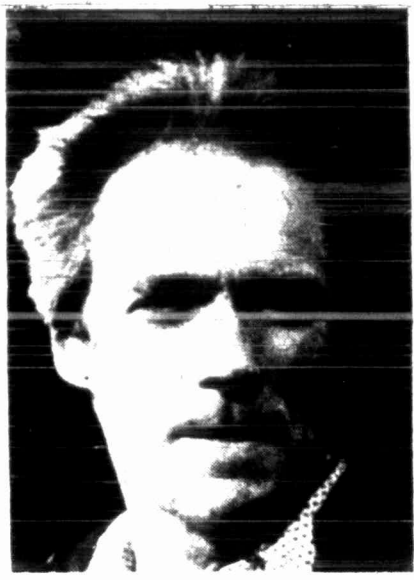

"This is something that has bothered me for some time," Eastwood said as he asked the audience of about 150 to help him find a solution.

Some people at the meeting wanted to know what would happen to the percentage of the Eastwood merchandise sales that has been going to the Carmel Youth Center. Eastwood said that he would find other funds for the youth center.

Probably the largest contributor of proceeds from T-shirt sales has been Paul Laub, who has said he has contributed $25,000 to the mayor's youth fund.

Laub said he has had an agreement with Eastwood for several months to market the T-shirts. The T-shirt sales, Laub said, are done in accordance with Mr. Eastwood's wishes.

MINNEAPOLIS — JAMIE FISKE, who became one of the nation's youngest liver transplant recipients four years ago, is in excellent health, doctors say.

CLINT EASTWOOD
...no Clintsville

Jamie, who will turn 5 in November, returned to the University of Minnesota Hospital on Thursday for a medical checkup, and doctors said they are not anticipating any problems.

"We can give her an A-OK all the way down the line as far as her liver is concerned," said Dr. John Najarian. "We think there's no reason Jamie can't live a normal life, go through school, have a profession and get married."

JAMIE FISKE
...still doing fine

Jamie underwent her transplant at the university hospital on Nov. 5, 1982, 21 days before her first birthday.

The girl lay dying before the transplant, which came only after her father, Charles, made a dramatic appeal for a donated organ at a convention of pediatri-cians in New York. The life-saving organ came from a person who died in an automobile accident in Utah.

Fiske said his daughter is adjusting well to normal life at their Massachusetts home.

"She does well in the family," he said. "She gets the same attention that our son Daren got, nothing more, nothing less."

Jamie had been diagnosed as having biliary atresia, a liver condition that strikes one child in 20,000.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand — Two New Zealand women lost appeals Friday against six-month jail terms for throwing eggs at Queen Elizabeth II during a visit here in February.

DEBORAH JANE LEYLAND, 22, and ANN MARIE THORBY, 21, were jailed in May after being found guilty of assault for the Feb. 24 incident.

In his ruling, Court of Appeal President Sir Robin Cooke said the women acted in an "unfair and intolerant way" toward the queen and would have been disappointed if their actions had been seen as ordinary and insignificant.

He said the attack was a crude insult which had brought discredit on them and New Zealand.

Forecast

By The Associated Press

The forecast called for widely scattered thunderstorms in West Texas east of the mountains, moving east Saturday evening. Temperatures in West Texas will range from the mid 70s in the Panhandle to lower 90s in the far west and in the Big Bend Saturday and Sunday, with lows Saturday night ranging from the low 50s to near 70, the weather service said.

There were showers and thunderstorms over a large portion of North and Central Texas Friday afternoon, as well as over gulf coastal waters, along the Rio Grande Plain and the Edwards Plateau. Skies were partly sunny in the deep south and far west, while there was also some sunshine over western portions of the High Plains, the National Weather Service said.

Variable winds breezed the state at speeds of 5 to 15 mph with gusts accompanying the scattered storms.

Temperatures during late afternoon were mainly in the 70s and 80s, with readings in the 90s in South Texas. At 3 p.m., highs ranged from a rain-cooled 71 degrees at Longview to 94 at Laredo and McAllen. In North Texas, it should be mostly cloudy with a chance of showers and thunderstorms through Sunday, with highs in the 80s and lows from the mid 60s to near 70.

South Texas also should be mostly cloudy with an increasing chance of storms, mainly in the north. Lows will be in the 70s, except 80s near the coast, while highs Saturday will be near 90 in the north and coastal areas to near 100 inland south, the weather service said.

Highs Sunday should be in the 80s and 90s.

'Red tide' kills fish near Gulf of Mexico

MATAGORDA (AP) — Workers in Brazoria and Matagorda counties dug trenches Friday to bury hundreds of thousands of fish killed by a "red tide" in the Gulf of Mexico, and state officials proclaimed a ban on shellfishing in the affected area.

The state health department said the toxin was traced to a marine microorganism that has caused serious illness in people in other states.

The microscopic organism continues to roll down the Texas coast, leaving dead fish and gagging fishermen and beachgoers, officials said.

The department said the organism, "Ptychodiscus brevis," produces several toxic substances that can be concentrated by filter-feeding shellfish, such as oysters and clams.

Fish have been piling up along the coast since Sunday.

About 270,000 dead fish washed onto Brazoria County beaches over the Labor Day Weekend, said Doyle Mosier, a fish biologist with the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Steven Indelicato, a University of Houston biologist, said the culprit was a microscopic marine algae.

"Under the right condition it germinates," he said. "It's a common organism."

Indelicato said he has tested several water samples and is convinced the organism is causing the deaths of fish that have washed up on 75 miles of beaches from Surfside to Port O'Connor.

Texas Parks and Wildlife officials agree the fish kill is being caused by a red tide, which occurs when microscopic organisms rob the water of oxygen and release a toxin deadly to fish.

But Indelicato's marine algae is not characteristic of organisms that cause red tide along the Texas coast, said Leland Roberts, parks and wildlife resource protection director.

Officials said coughing and eye irritations which many residents are complaining about are caused by a toxin that gets caught in the surf and released in the air.

The red tide extends from San Luis Pass south to Pass Cavallo but the health department said oyster season is closed until Nov. 1 in that area. Oysters already in the marketplace pose no problem to consumers, the department said in a statement.

There is no commercial clam production in Texas, the department said, but to prevent illness from potential recreational harvesting, state health commissioner Dr. Robert Bernstein has issued an order banning oyster, clam and mussel harvesting within the state's jurisdiction between San Luis Pass and the Port Mansfield Ship Channel.

The order is effective at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

The department said its information indicates that the toxins do not contaminate other shellfish, including shrimp and crabs.

The department said while there have been no illnesses related to the red tide in Texas, symptoms observed in victims of shellfish poisoning in other states include loss of coordination, gastrointestinal distress, numbness and tingling sensations in mouth, hands and feet.

There have been no deaths attributed to "P. brevis" although several individuals have become seriously ill, the department said.

represented 94.85 percent of capacity which was 40,302, without the 50 beds added Wednesday.

Officials said 25 beds already had been added on Monday.

"We've always said it was a matter of time before we reached the limit," said TDC spokesman Charles Brown. "We are doing all we can to comply" with the judge's order.

Officials said the population total has hovered above 94 percent for about a year, but the system had been working with a cushion of a couple of hundred beds.

In July and August, the system recorded record-high levels of new admissions, averaging more than 140 new admissions per day.

TDC officials avoided triggering a shutdown of admissions only through the state's liberal use of early-release programs and nearly non-stop sessions by the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

"If the county jails decide to send us a bunch of inmates all at once, we'd definitely hit the limit," said Nunnelee. "When we start getting more than we can release, inevitably we're going to hit the barrier — unless we add more beds."

"We deeply regret and condemn the brutal killing of this innocent American in this callous act of terrorism," the spokesman said.

Redman did not say whether any Americans other than Kumar had been killed or injured. And he declined to say whether American forces were involved in any way in the incident.

"We simply don't comment on that sort of question," he said. But Redman did say that the Pakistan government was in charge at the airport at all times.

Speakes, briefing reporters who accompanied Reagan on the president's vacation here, said: "We applaud Pakistan's exemplary resolve in handling this incident."

Of the three captured gunmen, he said, "We are confident the government of Pakistan will see that justice is done."

there were 65 American citizens, although Redman cautioned that some of them may not have been on the aircraft.

Martin R. Shugrue Jr., vice chairman of Pan American World Airways, told a news conference in New York that 44 Americans actually boarded the plane.

Pete Martinez, another State Department spokesman, earlier confirmed the shooting and death of Rajesh Kumar, 29, a native of Kenya of Indian descent and a naturalized American citizen who lived in Huntington Beach, California.

Martinez said the victim was identified by a U.S. consular official from a passport photograph. The spokesman said he did not know the details of how Kumar was killed.

Reagan firm on policy

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — President Reagan is standing pat with limited sanctions against South Africa, despite pressure in Congress for tougher steps and a White House admission that moderate action has not produced enough results.

Reagan sent a message to Congress on Thursday that left open the possibility of additional sanctions later against the white-ruled government in Pretoria after consultation with key allies.

For the time being, however, he renewed for another year a prohibition on the sale of Kruggerand gold coins, a ban on computer sales to the South African government, a moratorium on bank loans to the South African government and a ban on the export of U.S. nuclear technology to Pretoria.

US, Soviets open talks

WASHINGTON — As U.S. and Soviet experts open a new round of nuclear weapons talks, the Reagan administration is preparing to scale back its proposal for a 50 percent reduction in globe-girdling weapons, a U.S. official said.

The aim is to strike a deal with the Soviets, whose most recent position calls for more modest cutbacks. Even so, the two sides remain far apart on "Star Wars," the potential use of space to defend against attacking missiles.

The talks at the State Department over two days are designed to clarify the U.S. and Soviet positions before negotiations resume in Geneva on Sept. 18.

Police to trace poison

RUNNEMEDE, N.J. — Tests on a package of chicken noodle Cup-A-Soup could lead investigators to whoever laced the soup with the cyanide that killed a man, say authorities who have found no poison in hundreds of other boxes.

"Instead of chasing a criminal, we're going to trace a weapon — in this case, cyanide. Cyanide is not as accessible as a gun," Dennis Wixted, Camden County first assistant prosecutor, said Thursday.

The package of the contaminated Lipton product was to be tested today at the state medical examiner's lab, said Wixted. Investigators hoped tests would show the type and origin of the cyanide that killed Louis J. Denber, 27.

Drug speech planned

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — The White House is staging an extraordinary buildup for a speech on prime time television by President Reagan and his wife Nancy intended to mobilize Americans in a war against illegal drugs.

The Reagans will address the nation at 8 p.m. EDT on Sept. 14 from the family quarters of the White House.

17 killed when commandos storm jet

By MOHAMMED AFTAB
Associated Press Writer

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Four Arabs holding about 400 captives in a Pan Am jumbo jet panicked when the lights went out Friday and blasted the black interior with machine guns and grenades. Commandos stormed aboard and, in the end, at least 17 people were dead and 127 wounded.

An 18th victim, an American apparently singled out because of his nationality, was shot earlier and thrown onto the tarmac.

Two hijackers were among the dead and two others were captured. Terrified passengers streamed through hatches and down emergency chutes of the plane, which had been their prison for 17 hours.

Officials of four Karachi hospitals provided the hostage casualty figures.

"They opened fire wildly. Children were crying. The plane was a holocaust," Hussain Shaffi of Washington, D.C., said as he was being lifted into an ambulance.

The hijackers also tossed a hand grenade at the passengers, causing a "huge blast," said an American survivor, David Jodice of Vienna, Va.

"I have seen a lot of blood. I cannot guess how many people were killed or wounded. It was confusion all over, filled with panic and a state of terror," he said.

Pan Am officials in New York said 44 Americans were on the Boeing 747, which was bound for New York via Frankfurt, West Germany. Pan Am officials in Pakistan had earlier said 41 Americans were on board.

Airline officials in New York blamed airport security for allowing the hijackers onto the plane.

Mike Phexton, a Briton who boarded minutes before the Arabs took control, said: "I climbed out of the exit onto the wing and jumped down ... onto the tarmac and ran with everyone else. There was still gunfire and explosions going on in the plane ... but the terrorists didn't seem to follow us onto the tarmac."

At least 26 ambulances rushed to the scene. Many women and children were among the wounded.

Khurshid Anwar Mirza, Pakistan's civil aviation director, said two terrorists were killed and two captured, and two or three army commandos were wounded. A fifth hijacker may have been aboard posing as a passenger, Mirza said, but he was not certain.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Charles Redman said, "It is my understanding that there were five hijackers — two killed, three captured." He said they were Palestinian or Lebanese.

Conflicting claims made in Cyprus and Lebanon identified the hijackers as pro-Libyan or pro-Iranian.

As commandos led one of the gunmen away, he yelled to reporters that he was a "Palestinian commando."

"I am from Lebanon! I am a Palestinian!" he screamed. Pakistani officials said the gunman wanted to be flown to Cyprus and demanded that Palestinian hijackers imprisoned there be freed.

The lights on the plane went out because the jet fuel that powered an auxiliary generator ran out.

Floods hit Mexico

MONTERREY, Mexico — Nine people drowned and nine others, mostly children, were listed as missing Friday in the aftermath of rare heavy rains and flash flooding in this northern industrial city.

Officials said 3,500 people had been driven from their homes during Thursday's day-long downpour, which was described as the heaviest in at least 20 years.

"We lament what occurred. ... There were serious damages," Jorge Trevino, the governor of the state of Nuevo Leon, told a news conference. "There are many missing," he said. "Very probably, unfortunately, there will be more" deaths.

Raul Garza, director of the governor's press information office, said nine people had died.

Weapon talks end

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet officials ended two days of talks Friday on curbing the spread of chemical weapons, the U.S. Embassy announced. It was the second session this year.

Negotiators "reviewed technical and political steps to limit the dangerous spread of chemical weapons," the statement said. It did not say whether further meetings were planned.

The delegations were led by John Hawes, U.S. deputy assistant secretary of state, and Viktor Issraelyan, Soviet chief delegate to the 40-nation Geneva Conference on Disarmament.

Iran charges gas use

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iran accused Iraq on Friday of using poison gas in a desperate effort to stem advances by Iranian soldiers on the battlefield.

Iran also said it would launch its "decisive offensive" into Iraqi territory this month, and Iraq reported its warplanes made another long-range raid, striking Iran's Lavan Island in the southeastern Persian Gulf.

An Iraqi military statement said warplanes raided Lavan Island, about 420 miles southeast of the Iraqi coast, destroying loading jetties, refining facilities and an unspecified number of vessels anchored in the port.

1 killed in Peru blast

LIMA, Peru — A bomb in a building in Lima's Miraflores district exploded Friday when two watchmen picked it up, killing one of the men and wounding the other, police reported.

They said the bomb was concealed in a package that was left in the sixth-floor hallway of a 10-story office and apartment building. The structure houses a movie theater on the ground level.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility, but a policeman at the scene said a banner and pamphlets of the pro-Cuba Tupac Amaru Revolutionary Movement were found in the area.

Launch boosts SDI satellites into space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two "Star Wars" satellites reportedly intended to track a rocket and destroy one another were boosted into orbit Friday by a Delta rocket whose success brought cheer to a battered U.S. space program.

The operation was a major test of President Reagan's proposed missile defense system.

Within two hours after the launch, an Aries research rocket was launched from the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico, and the Strategic Defense Initiative Office said it was connected with the Delta payload.

Sources said one or both of the payloads was to try to track the Aries engine plume with infrared sensors.

The Delta, the first big American space rocket launched since all were grounded by a series of failures, blasted off at 11:08 a.m. and shot the payload into a 255-mile-high orbit after a secret countdown dictated by the SDIO.

"This is a much happier occasion than the last time we met," launch director Charles Gay told reporters, referring to a Delta failure in May.

"I think this success was very significant," he said. "The agency needed it, we needed it for morale purposes and the country needed it because we've had a string of failures."

SDIO, which manages the missile defense project, placed a secrecy lid on the operation, saying it would disclose details about the payload only if the experiment is a success.

Reporters were alerted at 7 a.m. that the launch would be attempted during the day and were escorted to a press viewing site at Cape Canaveral. They were informed of the progress of the countdown four minutes before liftoff.

Shortly after launch, the SDIO issued this statement:

"The SDIO will be conducting a classified experiment to obtain rocket signature data. ... This will comply with all treaty obligations, including the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty."

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said the payload consisted of two satellites that would separate in orbit and fly a series of tricky maneuvers using small jet thrusters as they tracked each other in a kind of orbital ballet.

Failed bank bid delayed

MIDLAND (AP) — Federal negotiators Friday tabled a bid from United Bank of Midland for the failed Western Bank, a bank official said.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. neither accepted nor rejected the bid, said Wayne Merritt, United's CEO and chairman of the board.

The FDIC was expected to tell United Friday whether it could buy the failed bank, Merritt said, but no official announcement had been made.

Western Bank, which is connected with Western National Bank of Odessa, was declared insolvent Thursday afternoon by State Banking Commissioner James Sexton. The FDIC was named receiver.

"If anything happens, it will happen this afternoon," Sexton said earlier Friday. "I would surmise that if nothing happens as far as a purchase of assumption today, the gears will be shifted to a payoff, and the first checks will be issued sometime Monday."

Anything's conceivable in Clive Barker's world

By LAURA CASTANEDA
 Associated Press Writer
 SAN FRANCISCO — In Clive Barker's world, anything is possible.

Hands that want to secede from their body chop themselves off and spark a revolution. Bad actors turn into talented zombies and roam the countryside to perform. The world's most powerful aphrodisiac brings death and depravity.

"I was bored," Barker said, explaining why he began writing such gruesome stories. "I never saw my pet dog run over. Nothing cruel or gory happened to me. That's just the way my imagination works."

Barker, 33, is a witty and animated native of London who burst onto the literary scene just two years ago with stories that mix humor with the supernatural and the erotic.

Since then, he's been hailed as "the future of horror" by the master himself, Stephen King, and has won the World Fantasy Award and the British Fantasy Award.

By his own account, Barker's upbringing in Liverpool was conventional. He studied English literature and philosophy in college. His mother worked in a school, his father is a personnel officer and his brother is a grocer.

"I think they're pleased," he said. "They've never had an author in the family before. They proudly display all the books, but insist that guests don't open them."

Three of the seven books he's published in England are now available in the United States: two of three volumes of "Books of Blood," and "The Inhuman Condition."

The others — the third volume of "Books of Blood," "In the Flesh," "The Life of Death," "The Weaveworld" and "The Damnation Game" — eventually will be published in the United States.

Barker also has written three screenplays. "Underworld" is a gangster versus mutants movie. "Rawhead Rex" is about a 9-foot-tall baby-eating monster and "Hellraisers" is a love story with monsters, he said.

In England, his first play is set to open. It's called "The Secret Life of Cartoons," a comedy about a cartoonist who comes home one day to find his greatest creation, Roscoe Rabbit, in bed with his wife.

Barker said he gets story ideas from his dreams and, although he has a weak stomach, he attends autopsies and views pictures of accidents so he can correctly describe mutilation.

When he writes, "The creature had taken hold of his bone, and pulled his muscle off his lip, as though removing a balaclava (a knitted helmet with an opening for eyes and nose)," he knows what he's talking about.

"They're part of the texture of Author Clive Barker, 33, poses with three of his books last month during a book stop in San Francisco. Barker, who has been hailed as "the future of horror," is a witty and animated native of London with stories that mix humor with supernatural and the erotic.

me," he said of his tales. "I'm not threatened by them. They excite me. They belong to me. I suppose I like being in the company of monsters. I find it very reassuring."

He said he's never been criticized for being too graphic. He finds horror healthy because, "in this kind of fiction, we are confronting fears which we feel very deeply, very intimately."

"I don't like to disgust. I like to disturb — to offer a little anarchistic free thought. I write to throw over the status quo. I try to avoid anything that is gratuitous."

Many of Barker's stories also are tinged with humor and sex, which he said is like horror fiction because it involves the body, control and extremes of feelings.

"I'm sure it happens to everybody. When something terrible happens to you and you think, 'This is absolutely absurd.' There's a line when horror becomes absurdity and to exploit that line is to call the bluff of the cynical reader," he said.

"I think sex is a component part of the lives of the characters I describe. There are very erotic, very powerful emotions in them."

He also tries to avoid religion, cliches, sexist stereotypes and such "old" monsters as vampires and werewolves.

"You won't find heroines running screaming into the arms of heroes in my stories! I try and avoid the cliches of boy meets girl while killer gorilla is on the rampage," Barker said.

"In none of my fiction will you find any religious solution to a problem. Nobody ever whips out a crucifix and expects to keep a monster at bay with it. Those are old solutions. We have to find new solutions," he said.

Barker, also an accomplished illustrator, writes all his stories in longhand and will soon direct the film version of "Hellraisers." He said the easiest part of writing for him is "the thrill of passing something that I imagine along to somebody else."

"There are a lot of writers who feel once they've written their piece, it's basically dead," Barker said. "I feel the reverse. Once it leaves me and moves onto the public domain, that's when it starts to live."

Cop arrested on drug rap

SAN ANTONIO — A 34-year veteran of the San Antonio police — who's the father of the patrolman assigned as the mayor's driver — has been arrested by federal agents on drug charges.

Mayor Henry Cisneros said the arrested officer had three sons who have served on the police force, including the mayor's driver, Ronnie Torres.

Challenger lawsuit filed

HOUSTON (AP) — The family of Challenger astronaut Ron McNair filed a lawsuit Friday against the maker of the solid rocket boosters blamed for the explosion that destroyed the spacecraft and killed seven crew members.

Krist said the company acted immorally when four vice presidents overrode engineers' recommendations not to launch the Challenger.

The suit, the first to be filed by a Challenger family member against the Chicago-based company, asks for unspecified damages.

NASA officials decided to launch the Challenger based on Morton executive's recommendations, the suit said.

"We'll let the jury decide that," said attorney Ronald D. Krist, who is representing the family.

"It was a foolish corporate risk," Krist said. "It was a stupid gamble."

Lucas recants confession

EL PASO (AP) — Attorneys for Henry Lee Lucas will seek Monday on the eve of his trial to have his confession to the ax murder of a 72-year-old woman thrown out.

Lucas, held at the El Paso County jail, confessed to and was charged with the May 27, 1983, murder of Librada Apodaca.

When it was proven that Lucas could not have committed most of the crimes, he recanted, saying police had coaxed the confessions from him because they wanted to clear their files of unsolved murders.

Rod Ponton, one of Lucas' two court-appointed attorneys, said Friday he expects the proceedings to dismiss his client's confession will take several weeks.

Insanity claimed in murder

AUSTIN (AP) — James C. Cross Jr. asked a judge today to overturn the life sentence given him for killing two University of Texas coeds in 1965.

he attacked the women after they came to his Austin apartment to use his shower. Cross and Miss Stark were acquaintances.

David Botsford, Cross' attorney, based his request largely on a U.S. Supreme Court decision in another case shortly after Cross' conviction.

Defense attorneys claimed Cross was insane when he killed the women and when he was tried. But jurors decided he was mentally competent to stand trial.

Cross, now 43, was convicted in the deaths of Susan Riggsby and Shirley Stark, University of Texas students from Dallas.

Several weeks after the trial, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in another case that the competency question should be answered before the trial, and should be answered by a different jury than the one asked to rule on guilt or innocence.

He was sent to prison in 1966 for life after a trial before District Judge Mace Thurman.

According to Cross' confession, admitted as evidence in the trial,

Jobless rate at 9.2 percent

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas job market remained relatively stagnant in August, despite a half-percentage-point increase in the state's unemployment rate, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Friday.

Jobs were lost over the last year in half of the eight industry groups that account for most of the state's labor force, Richey said.

Last month's jump to 9.2 percent was labeled "not significant" by BLS regional commissioner Bryan Richey.

"Nationwide, these industries have outperformed the same economic sectors here in Texas," he said.

"The forces which have been driving unemployment up very rapidly since early this year ... may not be getting any worse," Richey said.

As an example, Richey cited July figures, the most recent available, showing jobs in the state's trade sector grew 0.7 percent from July, 1985.

Still, the rate was more than two points higher than the 7.1 percent recorded in August, 1985. It also far exceeded the nationwide jobless rate of 6.8 percent.

The BLS estimates one of every four jobs in both Texas and the nation are part of the trade sector.

The Labor Department figures show 740,000 Texans couldn't find work last month, up from 707,000 in July, while the total number of jobholders fell to 7.328 million.

Richey also doubted Texas would benefit from a nationwide recovery in manufacturing, which helped trim another 0.1 percent from the country's civilian unemployment rate in August.

"One out of every 11 unemployed Americans is a Texan," said Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements, in a statement issued by his campaign.

"There's the added difficulty here in Texas of a decline in those support industries producing oilfield machinery, equipment and supplies, as well as the effect of imports, particularly in electronics," he said.

Clements cited the August increase as "further proof the policies of (Gov.) Mark White are costing the people of this state dearly."

Richey said only defense-related manufacturers in Texas have been keeping pace.

Comical pair

Two from Texas market funny page apparel

AUSTIN (AP) — Gary Shuster and Jim Teal are dressed for success.

They're sitting in the office they share at Lin-Tex marketing wearing shorts, Reebok athletic shoes and T-shirts.

Gary Shuster, left, and Jim Teal, owners of Lin-Tex Marketing, show off two of the T-shirts with comic designs they sell. Lin-Tex sells products from their companies licensed strips. The company sells mostly high-quality T-shirts, but also sells comic strip books and dolls.

Each is sipping a beer and taking turns tracing the five-year rise of their company into one of the nation's front-runners in selling products with licensed designs from comic strips.

June 30 were $1.55 million, Shuster said, a little more than double the previous year's level. Earnings for the year exceeded $200,000.

newspaper funny pages, saw "Bloom County" as a potential winner. The strip was carried in only about 40 newspapers at the time (it's grown since then to more than 800 papers), but Teal saw a following and devoted audience of readers that would be willing to spend money for "Bloom County" gifts.

These guys are definitely not all-work-and-no-play types. There is a comfortable couch in the office, which is located in a business park near Oak Hill. There's also a good-sized television, a well-stocked bar and a golf trophy Shuster won at a tournament put on by a local topless nightclub.

The two got in touch with Breathed, a former Austin cartoonist who had moved to Iowa, won him over to the idea of licensed T-shirts and then got a non-exclusive marketing agreement with the strip's syndicate.

Comic strips, particularly Berke Breathed's "Bloom County," have been good to Shuster and Teal, both 37, who trace their friendship back to elementary school in Columbus, Ohio.

They then arranged a co-op advertising program in the Chicago Sun-Times, featuring "Bloom County" T-shirt designs. The success of that ad led to similar agreements with other large newspapers carrying the strip.

But then, they've been good to the strips, carving out a new high-priced market for what had typically been lower-margin products.

The two also advertised regularly in Rolling Stone magazine to build up the mail order volume.

"They are very energetic, very principled and high-class guys to work with," said Al Leeds, sales manager for the Washington Post Writer's Group, the syndicate handling Breathed's strip. "I'm getting royalty checks of $15,000 a month or so (from the Austin company)."

Meanwhile, they were cultivating a growing network of product representatives to push the products to retailers. Typically, they aimed for gift stores rather than big apparel chains. More recently, they've come up with Comic Collectibles kiosks that can be set up in shopping malls. The kiosks do dynamite sales during the holiday season, they say.

Four percent of all Lin-Tex sales involving "Bloom County's" licensed works go to the artist and 4 percent go to the syndicate, Shuster said.

"We sell to adults," Teal said. "We don't sell a kid T-shirt. Kids don't read the comics." The com-

What Lin-Tex sells most is high-quality T-shirts imprinted with designs from their company's licensed strips. The shirt with "Bloom County's" "Opus character, entitled "Penguin Lust," has become a classic that still sells well after nearly four years.

Teal, a voracious reader of

But Lin-Tex doesn't sell its products like traditional T-shirts. It gets top dollar (as much as $6.25 wholesale) for its shirts while encouraging retailers to sell the shirts as Comic Collectibles — the company's brand name — aiming for the devoted readers of the strips they carry. The company also markets comic strip books and dolls made by other companies.

Walden had created some wildly funny armadillo drawings that seemed to fit right in the the era's rampant Texas chic promotions.

They've adroitly figured their market as affluent adult comic-strip aficionados who are willing to pay a premium price to proclaim their allegiance to "Bloom County," Jeff McNelly's "Shoe" or Mike Peter's "Mother Goose & Grimm."

The July 28 report said there had been an "excessive transfer" of $403,000 in federal grants into administrative uses.

Instead of selling only apparel through the major chains for a three-month selling season," Shuster said, "we've aimed our programs at comic strip readers who will buy these products consistently as long as they're available. Anyone who follows the strip will want one of everything (T-shirts, books and dolls)."

"Texas parents and their children can't afford another Mattox raid on child support funds to buy his office supplies," Barrera said.

Sales for the fiscal year ended

Mattox's staff, however, released a letter from State Comptroller Bob Bullock stating that "the state

Barrera attacks Mattox 'record'

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican attorney general candidate Roy Barrera Jr. said Friday the "real difference" between him and Democratic incumbent Jim Mattox is "I have no criminal arrest record."

Barrera is "getting away with a purely racial appeal to Hispanic voters."

Mattox was acquitted of a commercial bribery charge in March 1985 after a five-week trial.

Barrera was asked at a Capitol news conference about Mattox's recent comment that Barrera was running a "racist" campaign by appealing to Hispanic voters on the basis of his ethnic background.

"The remarks he made regarding my campaign are asinine, have absolutely no merit," Barrera said. "The statements were intentionally and deliberately made. They are untrue and they are deceitful but that's nothing new because his friends tell me that he feeds upon the carcass of intimidation and deceit and trickery."

"You didn't ask voters to vote for you because your Hispanic?" Barrera was asked.

"Words from the mouth of a wise man are gracious but a fool is consumed by his own lips," Barrera said.

"Never," he replied.

Barrera, on a five-day, 22-city campaign tour, said, "I ask all Texans to consider this fact. There is a very real difference between Joyce Ward, left, and Helen Bateman are the owners of Helen and Joyce's Coffee Shop at the Homestead Inn. Ward recently became a partner in the business.

Business briefs

• Joyce Ward, a former waitress at Helen's Coffee Shop at the Homestead Inn, has become a partner in the shop, which is changing its name to Helen and Joyce's Coffee Shop.

"I'm more or less just following the Lord's will," she said of her decision to become a partner. The Lord told her "that there's great plans in store for this place and for us," she said.

She said she and partner Helen Bateman hope to develop a Christian steak and seafood restaurant, "a good, Christian, family place for people to come and eat and enjoy others' company."

The two have made a start by removing alcohol from the menu, she said. Also, mayor's prayer breakfasts are planned there every month. The next one will be Sept. 13 at 8 a.m.

• Randy and Sharon Deubler of Big Spring received the Distributor of the Year award at the Wee Win Toy Co.'s annual distributors convention in Houston. The award denotes the Wee Win toy distributors' sales leadership.

• Philip Anderson of Colorado City was granted a national Award for Excellence from Chrysler Motors. This is the third year Anderson has been honored for outstanding performance in the management of his dealership, Philip Anderson Motor Co. Criteria evaluated were sales, facilities, customer service, administration and community relations.

• Fina Oil & Chemical Co. will begin selling detergent-enhanced gasolines and a detergent additive Sept. 10. The detergent-enhanced gasoline, marketed as Fina I, will clean fuel injectors, carburetors and fuel lines, and will help maintain EPA emission standards, company officials say.

A bottled detergent additive, Fina II, is designed to quickly clean fouled fuel injectors or clogged carburetors. The product is for use by car owners who haven't used detergent gasolines and need quick cleaning of the fuel system, or by those using detergent gasoline and want added protection from fouled systems.

• Halliburton Co. has consolidated management of all its wireline services in its Welex unit, which until now was responsible for wireline operations in the U.S. Operations elsewhere were directed by foreign affiliates.

The management change coincides with the introduction of Welex's new Precision Logging System open hole logging service outside the U.S., which the company says will assure rapid response to international customers.

• The Texas Water Resources

Institute's Water for Texas Conference will be Oct. 2-3 at Texas A&M University. This year's theme is urban water resources management, concentrating on management of urban water demand, supply and quality. For more information, contact the organization at 409-845-1851.

• The Texas Medical Record Association's fall workshop will be Sept. 20 in Midland. The workshop will be from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Medical Staff Conference Room at Midland Memorial Hospital.

The workshop is designed for personnel in medical records, doctors' offices, insurance companies, home health care agencies and company business offices that deal with medical terminology or coding.

Registration is $20, and must be mailed by Sept. 11 to Joyce Laub, P.O. Box 3585, Midland 79702.

American car dealership service still rated poor

By TOM PETERS

"We have a long way to go ... generally it all stinks." The opinion is that of E. Thomas Pappert, vice president for Chrysler's U.S. Automotive Sales. The "it" he claims stinks is not Chrysler cars, but dealer service.

During a radio interview, a Ford executive claimed that U.S. car makers pretty much have the auto quality issue knocked, but second-rate dealer service is doing us in vis-a-vis the imports.

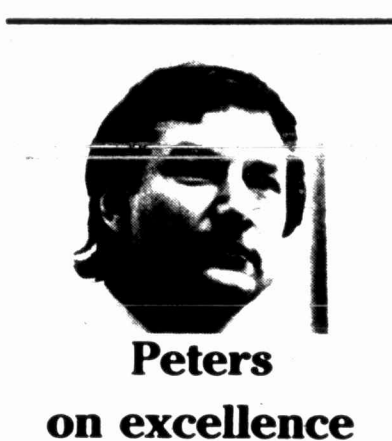

Essentially he implied that poor Ford, which at $53 billion sales is the world's second-largest non-oil company, has no ability to get nasty dealers to change their errant ways.

These remarks made me especially eager to receive this year's annual report on automobile customer satisfaction by premier pollster, J.D. Power and Associates. After I reported the results of last year's Power poll in this column, an executive at AMC/Renault, which trailed the pack in several categories, blasted me.

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," he sniped. He proceeded to inform me that the Power Report's Customer Satisfaction Index (CSI) puts heavy emphasis on customers' perceptions of dealers.

"Heaven forbid," I replied, "that ye should be judged by your dealers!" It's not my fault, I added, that I associate car makers' logos, so prominently displayed on dealership signs, with the companies themselves. It's like a McDonald's executive answering an angry customer by disavowing responsibility for a hypothetical franchisee's restaurant that looked like a pig sty. The point is that auto makers, for better or (usually) worse, are perceived by their customers to be responsible for every tiny element of the dealer and car ownership experience.

Meanwhile, the latest Power Report is out, after yet another 12-month "breathing space" for Detroit with semi-voluntary, semi-quotas on Japanese imports that cost you and me about 500 bucks per domestic or foreign car. And it turns out that not much has changed.

Last year's report dealt with 29 "automobile nameplates" (such as Mercury, Mercedes), whose customers were surveyed on their first-year's experience with 23 factors in two categories: "technical" (essentially quality); and "people" (the dealership). Power measures the factors in these two categories separately, and then averages each nameplate's two scores for an overall ranking. The average score, an index number, is 100.

The top half from last year included five of seven Japanese entrants, seven of the twelve European and two of the ten American nameplates. Lincoln, tied for tenth, was the top U.S. make.

This year, even after Detroit's fifth year of protection from foreign competition, American automakers' scores have hardly improved. In 1986, the list of thirteen nameplates that scored above average includes: five of Japan's seven entrants again, six of twelve European and two of eleven American nameplates.

Overall, Japanese cars scored 119; European cars came in at 106 and U.S. cars trailed, at 94 (that is, 6 percent BELOW average). The only two above-average American performers were Lincoln (up to fifth place) and Mercury (twelfth), with respective scores of 112 and 103. They still don't measure up to Japan's top two — first-place Honda came in at 132 and third-place Toyota scored 127. (Mercedes wedged into second place.)

But as the executives at Chrysler, Ford and AMC/Renault said, those abominable dealers are to blame. Or are they?

Sorry, fellas! Power reports that our dealers selling Japanese cars are about at parity with those peddling U.S. brands. Where Japan really nails us, once again, is on quality, with an overall score of 134, compared with our sorry 90.

Look a little closer at the U.S. quality component of the CSI and you'll find that Ford's quality rating of 107 bested the Europeans' 87. GM brought us down, finishing in last place with an 83 quality mark. They barely slipped in below Chrysler, at 85.

Look at lot closer and our American auto executives' claims simply are baloney. On dealer ratings, our only two above-average cars (Lincoln and Mercury, remember) did better on average than the top two Japanese performers. On quality ratings, though, the two top U.S. nameplates were barely average at 101, while the Japan's top two scored a whopping 152. (General Motors' best was Cadillac, whose 100 overall score consisted of a miserable 72 quality rating, bailed out by a top-drawer 128 dealer score.)

Statistics aside, I agree with our auto executives that dealer service stinks. But at least when it comes to American cars, quality seems to smell even worse. This is not idle nitpicking. The implications are quite serious — not just because of the continued importance of the auto industry and its vast infrastructure, but also because with the trade tom-toms sounding stronger every day, we are in a finger-pointing mood.

Detroit, dear legislators, is not losing its collective shirts because low Japanese prices and lousy dealer performance are masking superior product quality.

By ANNE REIFENBERG
The Dallas Morning News

DALLAS (AP) — Nineteen years ago, Garvin Senn ran a Shell service station at Abrams Road and Northwest Highway, an intersection he shared with three other stations flying the Mobil, Texaco and Exxon flags.

Today, Senn operates a Texaco station on a comparatively lonely stretch of Stemmons Freeway near the Market Center, and the outlets he considers his chief competitors are entire interstate exits away.

But he says he fears the competition more now than he did in 1967, even though his station and those up the interstate all sell the same brand of gasoline. The difference is that Senn leases his station from Texaco Inc., while the company owns and operates the competition.

"In 1967, I would lay awake at night and try to figure out how to put the Texaco man and the Mobil man and the Exxon man out of business," said Senn, one of 2,500 Texas dealers who are suing five major oil companies.

"Today the single most serious threat to my future is my own landlord. I lay awake nights trying to figure out how to put Texaco out of business, and Texaco is a lot bigger than me."

Senn and other direct-delivery dealers — who own their own stations or rent them from a major oil company and are obligated to buy that major's gasoline — operate more of the about 127,000 retail gasoline outlets in the country than do oil companies. The companies directly operate only an estimated 22,428 of the stations selling brand-name gasoline.

But as competition for the motorist's dollar has heightened in this decade, the dealers have grown worried that they are a dying breed. And they have complained that the very companies who supply them are helping to dig their graves.

"The companies are challenging the dealers on virtually every front," said Vic Rasheed, executive director of the Service Station Dealers of America. "They are putting the heat on the dealers to sell as much gas as possible ... and they might be forcing them closer and closer to bankruptcy."

The oil companies have heard such accusations before. "There is just not a concerted effort to eliminate them (direct-delivery dealers)," said Texaco spokesman Phil Blackburn. "We're all aware of that accusation, and it's not true."

But while dealers have long been suspicious of the prices the companies charge independents for wholesale gasoline, and of the prices they charge motorists for retail gasoline sold at company-owned and operated outlets, it took the crude oil price collapse of this year to bring the suspicions to court. Two lawsuits have been filed, in Texas and Connecticut, and Rasheed said investigations are under way in other states.

In Texas, the lawsuit filed in federal court in Houston by the Lone Star Service Station Association claims that Chevron Corp., Exxon Corp., Mobil Corp., Shell Oil Co. and Texaco conspired earlier this year to fix gasoline prices at "artificially high levels" in metropolitan areas, where direct-delivery dealers hold the majority of the market share.

The suit claims the companies took advantage of the free fall in crude oil prices during the first months of the year to make a windfall. The Connecticut attorney general makes similar accusations in a lawsuit he filed against Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Sun Co.

In the chaos surrounding the price collapse, both suits say, the companies charged dealers who can't shop around for better deals as much as 20 cents more a gallon than they charged independents who don't buy under contract. The traditional "functional discount" the independent wholesalers have enjoyed is four or five cents.

"The suit says they (the majors) all did the same thing at the same time, which is either an amazing coincidence or what we say it is — that there was the implication, if not express agreement, among the several defendants to engage in this kind of conduct," said Herbert Schwartz, the lawyer for the Lone Star Service Station Association. "The dealers were victimized, and the public was injured."

Spokesmen and lawyers for the major companies have denied the accusations of price-fixing and antitrust violations, calling them "groundless and without merit." But the companies agree with the dealers that conditions during the three months in question were unusual.

Crude oil prices were in a fast-paced tailspin in January, February and March, and wholesale spot market gasoline prices were tracking the dramatic plunging. The competition never had been tougher, said Bob Dietz, a spokesman for Sun Refining and Marketing Co. "If you want to stay in business, you have to be competitive."

Dietz said Sun — which directly operates 100 of the 6,200 retail outlets that sell its brand of gasoline — finds the lawsuit in which it is a defendant "totally without validity."

"Dealers see themselves as having a different agenda than the oil companies," he said. "They say the companies are trying to put them out of business. But we deal through dealers, and if they don't make money, we don't make money. We're in the business of selling gasoline, and we want to sell as much of it as we can. And if we could sell it cheaper and make money on it, we'd do it."

Whatever the outcome of the lawsuits — which say the companies reaped millions of dollars in unwarranted profit — the friction between dealers and oil companies is unlikely to diminish, just as the competition is likely to increase.

The number of outlets selling gasoline in the United States has been declining every year since 1972, when there were 226,459, and the face of the retail gasoline industry has changed as dramatically as the number of outlets has shrunk.

"I don't blame the oil companies for what they're doing," Senn said. "It's good economics ... But every morning when I wake up, I look in the mirror and see a dinosaur, and I wonder how much longer I'll be around."

Drilling report

These are the latest oil and gas activity reports filed with the Texas Railroad Commission for the five-county crossroads country.

Mobil Producing has filed first production figures on a new oil well in the Howard-Glasscock Field. The No. 70 Mary Chalk showed potential to pump 110 barrels of 28.8-gravity oil per day, plus 289 barrels of water.

The operator has 280 acres leased, with drillsite in Howard County's W&NW Survey, five miles northeast of Forsan.

The well will produce from a set of perforations in the Glorieta Formation, 2,690 to 2,945 feet into the wellbore. Bottomed at 3,200 feet, the well was plugged back to 2,145 feet.

A Forsan-based operator has staked location for the No. 8 Chalk "A," a developmental well to be located ten miles east of Forsan. With projected total depth of 3,100 feet, the well will be drilled in a 20-acre lease in the W&NW Survey, Howard-Glasscock Field, Howard County. The operator is Bob Calley.

An undrilled location has been abandoned in Howard County's Moore Field by Paragins Petroleum. The No. 3 Nevill was to have been located four miles northwest of Big Spring.

Pumping 200 barrels of 23-gravity crude daily along with 41,000 CF casinghead gas had 606 barrels of waste water, the No. 92 W.L. Foster "1" has been brought on line in Mitchell County's East Howard Iatan Field.

Drillsite was about 10 miles southwest of Westbrook.

With Chevron U.S.A. as the operator, the well probed to total depth of 2,990 feet and was plugged back to 2,896. Production will be from perforations in the Clear Fork Formation, 2,632 to 2,835 feet into the hole.

First production figures have been posted for the No. 16 J.D. Fuller in Mitchell County's Sharon Ridge Field, about three miles southeast of Ira.

Mrs. W.M. Keck Jr. is the operator. The well probed to total depth of 1,840 feet and was plugged back to 1,782. It will produce from a perforated interval in the San Andres Formation, 1,716 to 1,736 feet into the wellbore.

It showed ability to pump 26-gravity oil at the rate of 52 barrels per day plus 61 barrels of salt water on an open choke.

A 9,800-ft. developmental well is planned by Parker & Parsley Petroleum of Midland at a drillsite four miles northwest of Tarzan, Martin County. The location is in an 80-acre lease in the M. Curtis Survey.

Well's designation is the No. 1 Alco "A." It will be drilled in the Spraberry Trend Field.

The same operator has revealed plans to drill a 9,800-ft. developmental well nine miles west of Three Leguas. Drillsite is in a 100-acre lease in the Briscoe CSL Survey, Spraberry Trend Field. The well will be known as the No. 1 Breedlove.

Parker & Parsley Petroleum is planning to conduct a work-over operation at the No. 1 Caprock, a developmental well in the Spraberry Trend Field, Martin County. The well is located five miles north of Stanton in the T&P Survey.

Parker & Parsley originally completed the well May 31, 1983. It flowed 200 barrels of oil per day from Lower Wolfcamp Formation perforations at 9,268 to 9,282 feet. The original total depth was 11,520 feet.

The operator will be seeking production at approximately 8,525 feet.

The No. 3 Bigby, a 6,800-ft. developmental well, is scheduled to be drilled in Glasscock County's part of the Spraberry Trend Field. Trout Equipment of Midland is the operator.

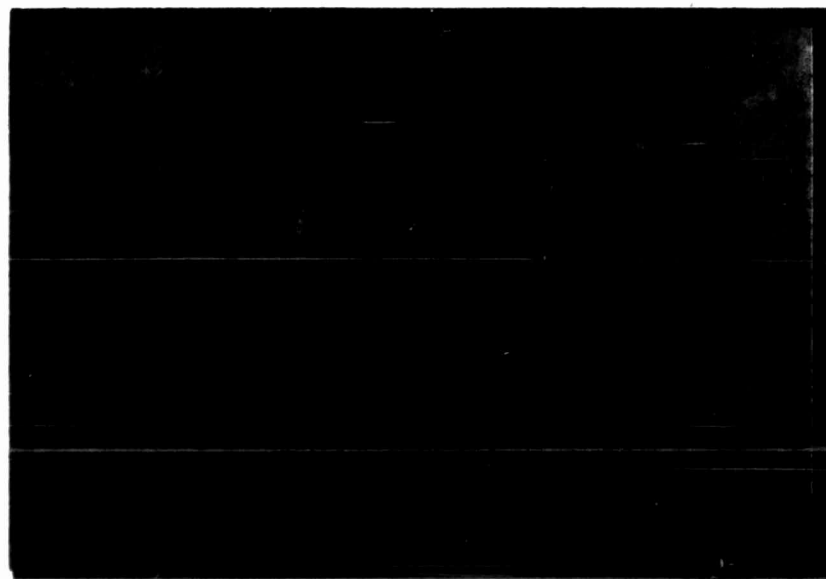

The well will be spudded in a 160-acre lease nine miles southwest of St. Lawrence in the T&P Survey.

BTA Oil Producers has hung the "dry hole" sign on the No. 5-8204 JV-P Elmer, a developmental try in Glasscock County's Blalock Lake Field. Drillsite was ten miles northwest of Garden City in the T&P Survey.

Drilling operations had commenced June 24. The well probed to a dry bottom at 8,210 feet.

The same operator has abandoned an undrilled location in the East Blalock Field, Glasscock County. The well had been designated as the No. 6-8102 JV-P Glass "C," and was to have been located six miles northwest of Garden City.

Steers beat Rangers in opener

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers survived eight fumbles and more than 100 yards in penalties to defeat the El Paso Riverside Rangers, 21-12, in the Steers football season opener Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

It wasn't what one could call a "pretty win," but just the same, the Steers played well enough to win.

On a soggy field, where traction was little for none, late in the game, the Steers mishandled the ball eight times, losing three of the fumbles.

Even worse, Coach Quinn Eudy's Steers were penalized 11 times for 125 yards, prompting Riverside coach Lou James to call Big Spring "the dirtiest team I've ever played."

James was referring to three late-hit penalties levied against the Steers — two made on Riverside's star running back David Samaniego.

The last of the three, late in the game, put Samaniego out for good. But the Riverside star still ended the contest with 166 yards on 31 carries before he was carried out on a stretcher.

He caught a pass out of the backfield and met Steer safety Brian Mayfield head on. The official ruled it a late hit in a very controversial call.

Samaniego apparently suffered a neck injury, according to coach James. Samaniego was taken to Scenic View Hospital. The extent of the injury wasn't known.

A very upset James said the call was justified. "It was an intentional late hit. They did it about five times throughout the game. I don't let my kids spear like that. I think it's a bad reflection on the coaches and the kids."

Steers coach Eudy viewed the injury hit call differently. "I'm sorry, but I disagree with him," Eudy said. "I think that's an excuse and shows no class. What the play amounted to was two kids busting their butts on a play."

"Brian (Mayfield) did a great job. Both players had their faces up. I didn't think it was a late hit."

"We teach our kids to play aggressive, but we've never taught them to play dirty," Eudy added.

The Steers controlled events in the first half. The Steer defense, led by noseguard Todd Coker, ends Victor Pruitt and Deeg Young and linebacker Mike Cahill, completely stifled the Ranger running attack.

Not once did the Rangers cross the midfield stripe during the first 24 minutes of play. Riverside had 46 yards total offense in the first half when Samaniego was held to 26 yards on 12 carries.

On the other hand, Big Spring moved the ball and took advantage of two Riverside mistakes to take a 13-0 halftime lead.

Twice the Riverside center snapped the ball over the punter's head. And the Steers converted both miscues into touchdowns.

But the Steers veer offense did drive the ball. It accumulated 122 yards total offense in the first half. If not for untimely penalties and five first half fumbles, the Steers might have turned the game into a rout.

Seven times the Steer offense marched the ball inside the Riverside 50-yard line — in the first half alone. Four drives were killed by two penalties and two fumbles.

Disaster struck Riverside on its first possession. After having its drive halted on its own 43-yard line. The Riverside center snapped the ball over the punter's head. The punter retrieved the ball, but was tackled by Young at the 19.

It took Big Spring three plays to score. Quarterback Paul Decker got the honors with a 10-yard scamper on a quarterback draw. Brian Mayfield kicked the point after, with 8:50 remaining in the first quarter.

On Riverside's next possession, Mayfield picked off the first of his two interceptions in the game. He returned it 15 yards to the Riverside 30. But play was called back because of a blocking-below-the-waist penalty against the Steers.

A few plays later, Charles White carried on a draw play, bolted up the middle, swung to the outside and ran for what appeared to be a 56-yard touchdown. But that play was called back because of a clipping penalty.

The drive finally ended at the Riverside 30, when Big Spring lost the ball on downs.

White became Big Spring's leading rusher with 70 yards in 12 carries. Mayfield's second interception came late in the first quarter at the Riverside 40. Big Spring drove to the Riverside 27-yard line and fumbled, squelching another possible scoring opportunity.

The second Big Spring score of the half came when the Riverside center snapped the ball over the punter and the ever-present Young made the tackle at the Riverside one.

Four plays later Phillip Mathews, following a good lead block by White, scored from the four. The try for two failed and Big Spring took a 13-0 halftime lead.

"We did make some clutch plays when we had to," said Eudy. "We took advantage of the two snaps over the punter's head and scored. I think we did more good than bad."

The second half was a different story, though. A once-dead Ranger offense came alive and started churning up yards on the Steers defense. The Riverside offensive line cleared the way for Samaniego to ramble for 122 yards.

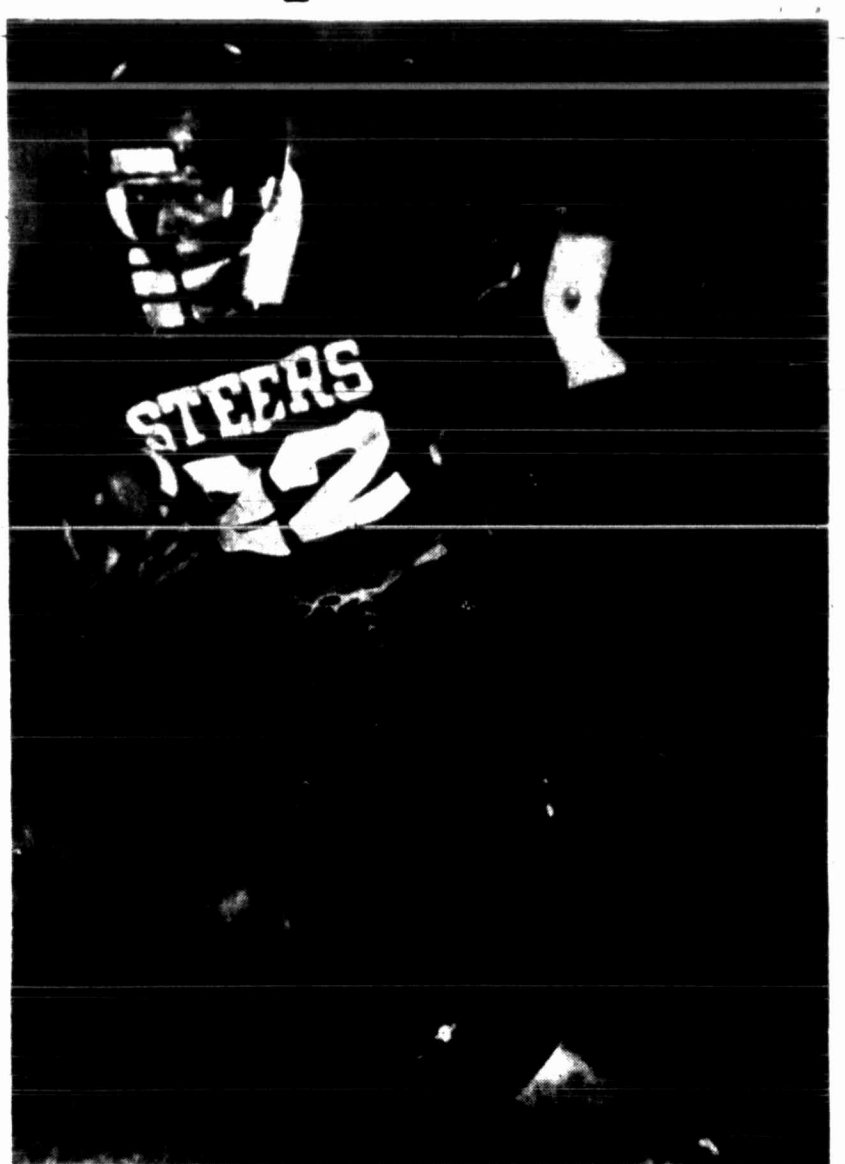

Steers linebacker Cahill was injured late in the second quarter and didn't return.

"All I know right now is that it was some kind of knee injury," Eudy said. "We really missed Cahill in the middle, but James Weaver did a good job for him."

Weaver intercepted a pass and deflected a couple of others.

Samaniego got the first Riverside touchdown after a Big Spring fumble at the Steer four-yard line. The hard-running senior scored with 6:29 left in the third quarter.

Forsan stomps Roscoe, 20-6

Strange punt keys Forsan

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

FORSAN — Three big plays, one of which surely belongs in any complete "Strange but True" collection, made the difference in an otherwise tightly contested ballgame as the Forsan Buffaloes defeated the Roscoe Plowboys 20-6 in non-district action Friday night in Forsan.

With 3:30 remaining in the first quarter, Roscoe punter Lee McFaul fielded a bad snap, eluded two Forsan defenders, and managed a short high punt that bounced to the Roscoe 48 yard line. Several Roscoe players surrounded the ball, but left the football on the ground without downing it and before hearing a whistle.

As the Roscoe players headed for their sideline, Forsan senior Lee Morris picked up the ball and ran untouched 48 yards for the touchdown.

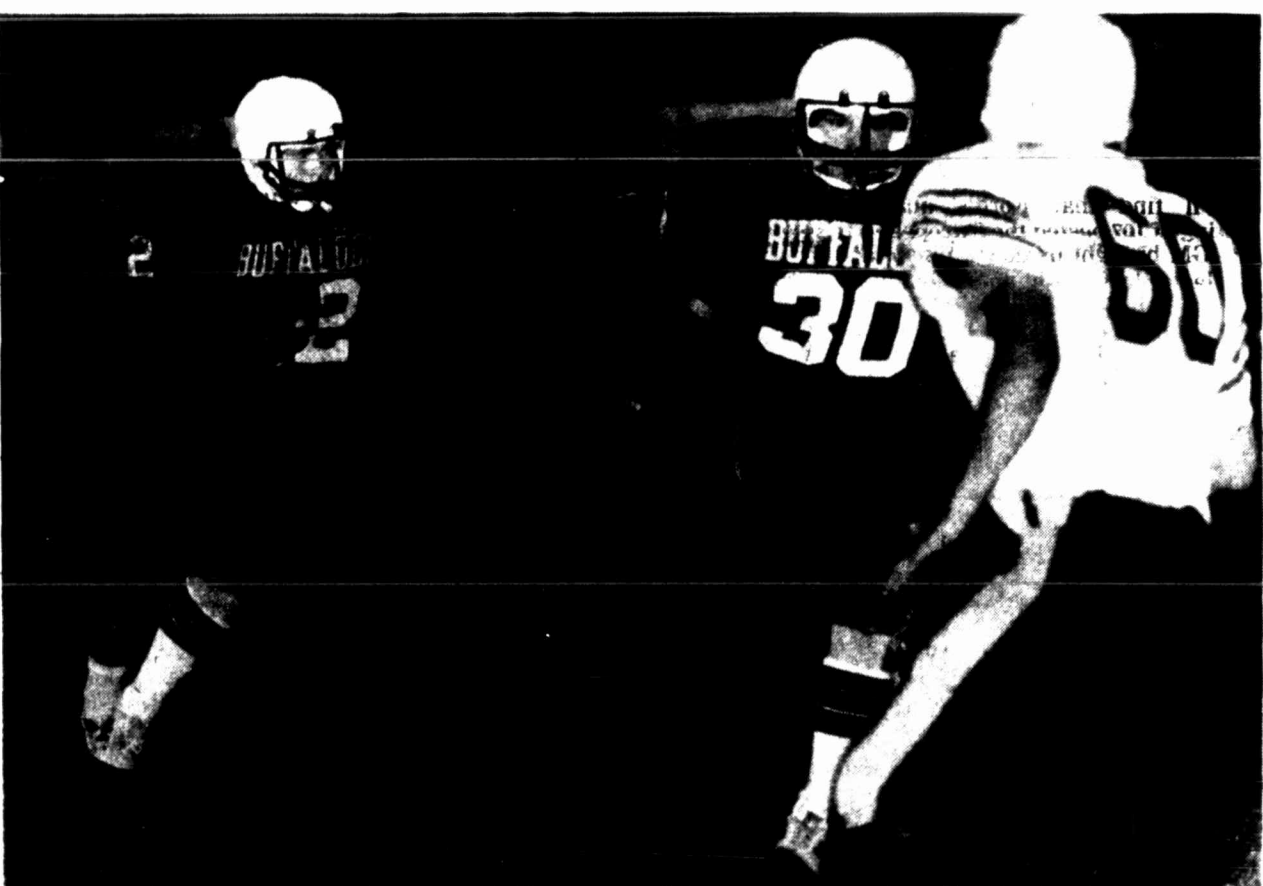

"I had turned my back to get the offense on the field, and I looked back and he was scoring," said Forsan head coach Jan East about the freak play. The point after touchdown failed, and the score remained 6-0 until the half.

East, however, was not happy with the Buffaloes opening game effort.

"We didn't look very good — not very impressive. About the only thing we got out of that was a win, an eye opener," East said.

East expressed concern about his pass defense, which allowed 114 yards in the air, including a last minute Roscoe touchdown, and his vaunted pass attack, which was held to 36 yards on three completions.

"I wasn't very pleased with either side, offense or defense. Wayne Wright did a good job running, but other than that, it wasn't what I hoped it would be," the coach said.

Forsan running back Wayne Wright follows his lead blocker and backfield mate John Roman (30) during first-half action of Forsan's 20-6 win over Roscoe Friday night. Defending is Plowboy linebacker Josh Boston (60). Wright finished with 114 yards on 14 carries, including two touchdowns.

Wright, the senior halfback who gained almost 1,400 yards last season, was nothing less than spectacular on both sides of the ball. Wright gained 114 yards on 14 carries, including two touchdowns, and two extra points. On defense, Wright led all tacklers with 18 stops, four of those behind the Plowboy line of scrimmage, and a blocked pass that led to a crucial Forsan interception.

Forsan's second big play came with seven minutes remaining in the third quarter, when Plowboy quarterback Sammy Herrera rolled to his right and fired a pass that hit Forsan defensive back David Henson on the numbers. Henson side-stepped two Roscoe defenders, and raced 56 yards before getting caught from behind at the two.

Two plays later, Wright swept right and dove in for the score. With 6:40 remaining in the third quarter, the Buffaloes led 13-0 after Wright's PAT.

With less than two minutes in the third quarter, Forsan stopped a Roscoe drive by recovering a Plowboy fumble on the 24 yard line.

On first down, Wright, who had so far carried the ball eight times for 32 yards, broke loose for a 20 yard gain to the 44. On the next play, the senior running back took a Brant Nichols hand-off and raced over right tackle for a 56 yard touchdown gallop. Wright caught his breath and booted the extra point, giving Forsan a 20-0 lead with 1:16 remaining in the third stanza.

Roscoe avoided a shutout by mounting a 52-yard drive in the final minutes. The key plays in the drive were a 17-yard completion from Herrera to Todd Snyder, and a 16-yard touchdown strike to Tec Ivy. The extra point failed.

Stanton overturns Seagraves, 26-6

STANTON — Stanton's Buffaloes capitalized on eight of 10 fumbles by the Seagraves Eagles Friday night, winning their non-league football opener, 26-6.

The maddy field contributed to 16 fumbles, but the Buffaloes recovered four of their six miscues.

After a 6-6 halftime tie, the Buffaloes took control of the game at the beginning of the third quarter when their kicker, Rafael Frausto, recovered an Eagles fumble by halfback Randy Cavazos at the end of a 19-yard return by Cavazos.

The Buffaloes failed to score on that fumble, but Seagraves gave them another chance 2½ minutes later when the Eagles fumbled away their second possession of the second half.

With 9:25 remaining in the third quarter, Buffalo halfback James Vidal scored from six yards out on a left end sweep.

The touchdown came after Stanton took possession on the Seagraves 26 where defensive tackle Reggie Franklin recovered the Eagles fumble. The score took only two plays, with the first a 20-yard pass from quarterback Skip Hopkins to split end Carlos Ortiz.

The Buffaloes added a two-point conversion with another pass from quarterback Hopkins to fullback Derek Sorley.

Stanton scored twice more in the fourth quarter — both as a result of Seagraves mistakes.

The first came when the Eagles had a bad snap from center and Stanton took over on the Eagles 12-yard line. Then, with 8:20 remaining in the game, Sorley scored on a 14-yard halfback-option pass from Greg Barnhill.

failed when the Buffaloes experienced a muffed snap from center themselves.

The final score came on another fumble by the Eagles on their own 20-yard line. It took five plays, but fullback Sorley scored with 6:22 remaining on an eight-yard run.

Quarterback Hopkins failed in his keeper attempt at the two-point conversion.

The two first-half scores both came in the second quarter when the Buffaloes drew first blood. With 9:02 left, fullback Sorley was successful with an eight-yard off-tackle run. That touchdown ended a 50-yard drive that took seven plays.

Frausto failed in the point-after kick.

The Eagles only score came with 3:39 remaining in the first half on a 39-yard sweep by quarterback Vince Sines. It ended a seven-play, 70-yard drive that began when the Eagles recovered a Stanton fumble on their own 30-yard line.

Although Stanton fumbled six times, they only lost two of those fumbles — both in the first half. Stanton will play its first District 5-2A game next week when the Buffaloes visit the Coahoma Bulldogs.

District 2-4A Roundup

Fort Stockton defeats Crane, 19-13
CRANE — Former Odessa Permian assistant football coach Ken Herring made his head coaching debut with Fort Stockton a success Friday night as the Panthers came back to defeat Crane, 19-13.

The Panthers battled back in the second quarter when fullback Mike Nix ran for a touchdown from 27 yards out with 10:58 remaining. Ramon Valerano's kick was good.

Valerano scored a touchdown before the half ended when he teamed up with quarterback Gillie Trevino on a 28-yard pass play. The kick attempt was unsuccessful.

After a scoreless third quarter, Mitchell again added another tally when he ran into the end zone from 6 yards out. Galindo's kick however was ruled no good.

Fort Stockton grabbed the lead and victory with 5:39 remaining when third-string fullback George Valerano ran for daylight from 40 yards out. The two-point pass attempt was no good.

Hereford rumbles Andrews, 28-0
HEREFORD — The District 1-4A Whitefaces used a balanced offensive attack and stingy defense to down Andrews Mustangs, 28-0, in a football contest Friday night.

Mistakes hurt the Mustangs as they coughed up the football twice to the Whitefaces and lost possession on an interception.

Hereford jumped ahead early in the first quarter when Marcus Brown ran 5 yards for a touchdown. Tim Long's kick attempt was good.

During the last minute of the first half, Hereford scored when Vincent Brown ran in from 8 yards out and scored again 14 seconds later when Kyle Streun caught an 11-yard scoring pass from quarterback Todd Shird.

Long's kick attempts after each tally were successful.

The game's final scoring occurred in the third quarter when Bobby Baker caught a 10-yard scoring pass from quarterback Shird. Long's kick was good.

The only bright spot for the Mustangs was running back David Criswell who rushed for 128 yards on 20 attempts.

San Angelo Lakeview tumbles Del Rio, 20-19
SAN ANGELO — The Chiefs of San Angelo Lakeview squeaked out a football win over the Del Rio Rams, 20-19 Friday night.

Coahoma falls to Seminole

SEMINOLE — Two touchdowns by Ty Bryson was all that was needed as the Seminole Indians wrestled in a defensive struggle with the Coahoma Bulldogs Friday night, defeating the visiting Bulldogs 13-0.

"The game was all defense," said Coahoma Assistant Coach Johnny Justice.

In the first quarter the Bulldogs, representing District 5-3A, fumbled on their own 26-yard line. The District 3-3A Indians recovered and quickly took advantage of the break, scoring six plays later with 9:25 left in the quarter. Bryson ran three yards for the touchdown with Shawn Hatchett kicking the extra point.

Until the fourth quarter, Coahoma and Seminole settled into a punter's duel.

The Indians drove 70 yards for the game's final touchdown, sealing the victory. Bryson ran 5 yards for the touchdown with 3:37 remaining in the contest. The point after touchdown was unsuccessful.

C-City battles to 13-13 tie

SLATON — Two District 3-A teams, the Slaton Tigers and Colorado City Wolves, battled to the end but to no avail. The game ended in a tie, 13-13.

The Tigers had the first opportunity to score, but missed a 32-yard field goal. The Wolves snatched the opportunity and got the ball back. Cary Ritchey, quarterback for the Wolves, was hit on the play and fumbled the ball at his own 11-yard line, with Chip Payne recovering the ball for the Tigers. Tiger runner James Cavanaugh broke several tackles, scoring for the Tigers. Jack Robertson kicked the extra point.

A 15-yard punt gave the Tigers control of the ball at the Wolves 40-yard line and in two plays the team scored again. Michael Cone, quarterback, passed to Jamie Chancellor for 33 yards.

Running back Steve Starkey ran for a 7-yard touchdown, but Robertson's attempted extra point failed.

Beau Rees recovered a Jackson fumble at the Slaton 1-yard line. The Wolves scored on a 1-yard play. The extra point by Ismael Silva was successful.

Terry Jackson made the next Wolves touchdown with a 3-yard run with 9:51 remaining in the third quarter.

The final quarter ended with neither team scoring.

Klondike crushes Amherst

AMHERST — The Klondike Cougars beat the Amherst Bulldogs 52-30 Friday night.

Klondike scored 19 points in the first period on a 1-yard run by Cisco Arredondo; a three yard pass by Kirk Tidwell to Jason Sutton; and a 16-yard pass from Tidwell to Wesley O'Brien.

Klondike scored 14 points in the second period on a 26-yard run by Freddie Guerra and a 30-yard pass from Tidwell to Nicky Hill.

Amherst added another touchdown on a 5-yard run by Danny Fluellen, and struck twice in the third quarter on a 16-yard pass from Michael Kidd to Arthur Price and a 6-yard run by Kidd. The Cougars scored on a 6-yard run by O'Brien.

In the fourth quarter the Bulldogs scored on passes of 16 and 12 yards from Kidd to Price. The Cougars closed the scoring on a 55-yard run by Aerredondo.

Gorillas pulverize Wildcats

GRADY — Grady was crushed by Trent Friday night in six-man football 52-6 on a wet field in Grady.

Grady's lone score came when Scott Glaze recovered a Trent fumble in its own end zone.

Trent carried a 40-6 lead into halftime.

"They were just stronger and more mature than our kids," said coach Mike Mathis of his youthful squad.

"Our kids hit hard," Mathis said, adding that his team will improve as the season wears on.

Louis Knipp got Trent on the board in the first quarter with a touchdown. Knipp was to score three more times before game's end.

Trent's Chris Simpson scored with 2:20 left in the first period with a 5-yard jaunt into the end zone. He later scored on a 14-yard run just before half.

Sam Jones scored the other touchdown for Trent.

Jaybirds soar by Mustangs

SANDS — The Sands Mustangs suffered a snap on their first play from scrimmage and the Jayton Jaybirds recovered the ball in the end zone on their way to whipping Sands 50-33.

The Mustangs came roaring back in the second half, but a 44-6 halftime lead by the Jaybirds was too much to overcome.

"Our mistakes killed us," said Sands coach John Blair, who said he was proud of the way his team came back after its horrendous first half.

Top scorers for the Jaybirds were Richard Boswell with four touchdowns, Steven Morales with two scores, and Frank Daugherty with six points.

Sands was led by Jay Fryar who caught two touchdown passes and gained 144 yards on the ground.

Jerry Long fired two touchdown passes and Lee Young hauled in a scoring throw and gained 73 yards for the Mustangs.

Paul Martin also caught two touchdown tosses and picked up 39 yards receiving.

LAVELAND — Levelland used a crumpling ground attack to level Lamesa, 42-18, at Lamesa Friday night.

After a scoreless first quarter, Levelland got on the scoreboard when Michael Sheppard sprinted 13 yards with 10:50 remaining in the stanza. Bennie Rodriguez's kick put Levelland out front 7-0.

At the 3:53 mark, Levelland scored again when Jeff James streaked 37 yards for another touchdown. Rodriguez again was true with his kick and Levelland led 14-0 at the half. Sheppard ran for another score with 9:03 remaining in the third period and Rodriguez's steady foot put Levelland up 21-0.

Lamesa finally got going with 3:44 left when quarterback Tim Berry hit Jim Horton with an 18-yard pass in the end zone. A two-point try failed and Levelland led 21-6.

Levelland struck back with 1:41 left the third quarter when Jeff James hurled a 47-yard pass to Jay Fortner. The extra point attempt was good and Levelland was on top 28-6 with a period left.

Lamesa refused to collapse, however, and they fought back with a 62-yard touchdown run by Gary Woodberry with 10:52 to play.

But Levelland stormed right back a minute later on an 80-yard scoring run by Matt Carbenas.

Another touchdown by Levelland's Fortner and a 12-yard scoring pass from Lamesa's Berry to Tim Demerson closed the scoring.

Buffaloes

The Plowboys threatened to score twice in the first half, as Forsan penalties and fumbles kept them on the defensive throughout the second quarter.

The first threat ended when Wright blocked a Herrera pass, deflecting it into the arms of linebacker Lance Soles at the 14 yard line. Forsan was unable to move the ball, and received a personal foul penalty on the ensuing punt, giving the Plowboys great field position at the Forsan 20.

Again, an interception stopped the Plowboys. This time, junior lineman Michael Self intercepted Herrera's pass at the 16.

For Roscoe, Hilly Williams was the work horse, carrying 21 times for 60 yards. Backfield mate Danny Herrera ran 16 times, also for 60 yards. The rest of the Roscoe runners combined to lose six yards, and the Plowboys ended with 114 yards on the ground.

For Forsan, John Roman finished second in tackles with 17, and Soles had nine stops.

"You better get better in a hurry, because you just played the easiest game you'll play all year," East told his players in the locker room after the game. But as he said earlier, "It's a win."

The try for two failed, but the Steers' lead was cut to 13-6.

The Steers came right back, reeling off a 45-yard scoring drive that took four plays. The big plays were a 17-yard pass from Decker to Shawn Shellman and a 23-yard run by White.

Mathews got the scoring honors from the nine. Mathews also scored on the two-point conversion, giving

Big Spring a 21-6 lead going into the final quarter.

The final score came when Samaniego booted 35 yards through the heart of the Steers defense with 10 minutes left in the game. The try for two failed, leaving Big Spring with a 21-13 win over the District 2-5A squad.

"It wasn't that pretty of a win, but we handled the ball fairly well for the conditions. We're just happy to get the win," Eudy said.

Donahue favors his Bruins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Football Writer

Top-ranked Oklahoma has the home field advantage but No. 4 UCLA has the historical edge when two of the nation's college football powerhouses meet for the first time Saturday.

It will mark the fourth time since the Associated Press poll began in 1936 that UCLA has opened a season against the defending national champions and the Bruins are 3-0 in those contests. They defeated Texas Christian in 1939, Nebraska in 1972 and Brigham Young last year. In addition, UCLA opened the 1962 season with a victory over Ohio State, which was No. 1 the previous year by the Football Writers Association of America.

"I would rather open with a lesser opponent, but I'm sure they feel the same way," says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "We obviously can't afford to start slow. We could be as good or better than last year's team (11-1) and still lose two or three times."

The nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 3 p.m., EDT) is one of three meetings between members of the AP's Top Twenty. Third-ranked Miami, Fla., visits No. 13 Florida while eighth-ranked Nebraska, thanks to a stay from the NCAA regarding the suspension of 60 players, entertains No. 11 Florida State in a prime-time TV game (ABC-TV, 8 p.m., EDT).

Elsewhere, fifth-ranked Alabama, a 16-10 winner over No. 9 Ohio State in the Kickoff Classic, hosts Vanderbilt, sixth-ranked Penn State entertains Temple at night, No. 10 Tennessee is at home against New Mexico under the lights, No. 12 Baylor visits Wyoming, No. 14 Auburn is home to Tennessee-Chattanooga and No. 18 Brigham Young entertains Utah State.

The rest of the Top Twenty — No. 2 Michigan, No. 7 Texas A&M, No. 15 LSU, tied for 16th Georgia and Washington, No. 19 Arkansas and No. 20 Michigan State — get under way next week.

Oklahoma and UCLA could produce offensive fireworks. Last year, the Sooners ranked third nationally in rushing offense, 10th in total offense and 11th in scoring. UCLA was 14th in scoring, 17th in total offense and tied for 17th in rushing offense.

Then again, it could be a defensive struggle. Oklahoma led the nation in total defense and pass defense and was second against rushing and scoring. The Bruins were No. 1 against the rush — Oklahoma's bread and butter — and seventh in total defense. UCLA surrendered only 70.3 yards a game on the ground while Oklahoma gave up 89.8.

"UCLA has excellent skill people with the kind of passing game that will give anyone trouble," Switzer says. "What makes them so tough, however, is the fine ground game they have to complement their passing."

UCLA Coach Terry Donahue says he is "very optimistic; I like our chances of winning."

But he also worries about Oklahoma's speed and size. "They will be able to match up speed-wise with anybody they play all year long," he says.

"The biggest problem we have is that we can't simulate the wishbone on the practice field. In trying to prepare for Oklahoma's offense, there's no way our scout team can look like Oklahoma. The speed we practice against in the wishbone is totally different than the speed we'll see in the game, and I think that's a major problem."

Unlike Oklahoma and UCLA, Miami and Florida each has played a game and won handily. Miami trounced South Carolina 34-14 while Florida beat up on Georgia Southern 38-14. Neither team expects it to be that easy this week in what is being billed as a shootout between two of the nation's top quarterbacks, Miami's Vinny Testaverde and Florida's Kerwin Bell.

"Year in and year out, they have as fine a team as anyone in the country," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson says of the Gators. "Florida plays extremely well at home; that is evident by their record (19-0-2 at Florida Field since a 24-13 loss to LSU in 1982 and 28-1-2 since the start of the 1981 season).

"Defensively, it is difficult to assess just how good Florida is because of the style of the game against Georgia Southern. We know they have outstanding talent and they have one of the better defenses we will face all year."

Florida's Galen Hall says the Gators "had our good moments and our bad moments against Georgia Southern and we will need to significantly reduce the bad moments to have a chance to beat Miami.

Sukova outs Lloyd in Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Helena Sukova ended Chris Evert Lloyd's dream of a seventh U.S. Open tennis championship with a 6-2, 6-4 victory today in the women's singles semifinals.

Lloyd, the No. 2 seed who reached the semifinals for a record 16th straight year, had trouble with her serve throughout the match. She was broken three times in the first set and twice in the second.

It was the first victory over Lloyd for Sukova, the No. 7 seed from Czechoslovakia. Lloyd, who won the Open from 1975-78, in 1980 and '82, had won all 14 of their meetings.

Thursday night, it took Boris Becker a lot longer to realize how badly he was routing Milan Srejber than it took the crowd at the U.S. Open.

Becker, the two-time Wimbledon champion and No. 3 seed here, surged into the semifinals with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 victory over the unseeded Srejber. The West German star dismantled the Czechoslovak's big serve, toying with his opponent in the last two sets.

But it was not until the 81-minute match was nearly over that Becker recognized how lopsided it was.

"I'm looking at the scoreboard when it is 6-3, 6-2, 4-0 and saying, 'What the hell is going on, and this is a quarterfinal match?'"

"Then I felt a little sorry for the crowd," Becker said.

There were 20,773 people in attendance and they took to cheering Srejber every time he won a point — which was 27 times in the last two sets.

Srejber hadn't met a seeded player en route to the quarterfinals.

"He is a strange guy off the court and I don't think many players talk to him," Becker said.

Helena Sukova, the seventh-seeded woman at the U.S. Open, chases a shot cross-court in her semi-final victory Friday afternoon. Sukova beat second seed Chris Evert-Lloyd 6-2, 6-4 at the National Tennis Center.

Red Sox pad lead in East

By The Associated Press
With Jim Rice leading the way, the Boston Red Sox rolled to their sixth straight victory Friday night and padded their lead in the American League East.

"It was a night for us to score some runs and make things easier for Roger," Rice said after driving in five runs to power Roger Clemens and the Red Sox to a 12-2 decision over the Minnesota Twins. Marty Barrett hit a three-run homer and Bill Buckner added a two-run shot as the Red Sox widened their lead in the AL East to 5 1/2 games over Toronto, a 5-0 loser to Chicago.

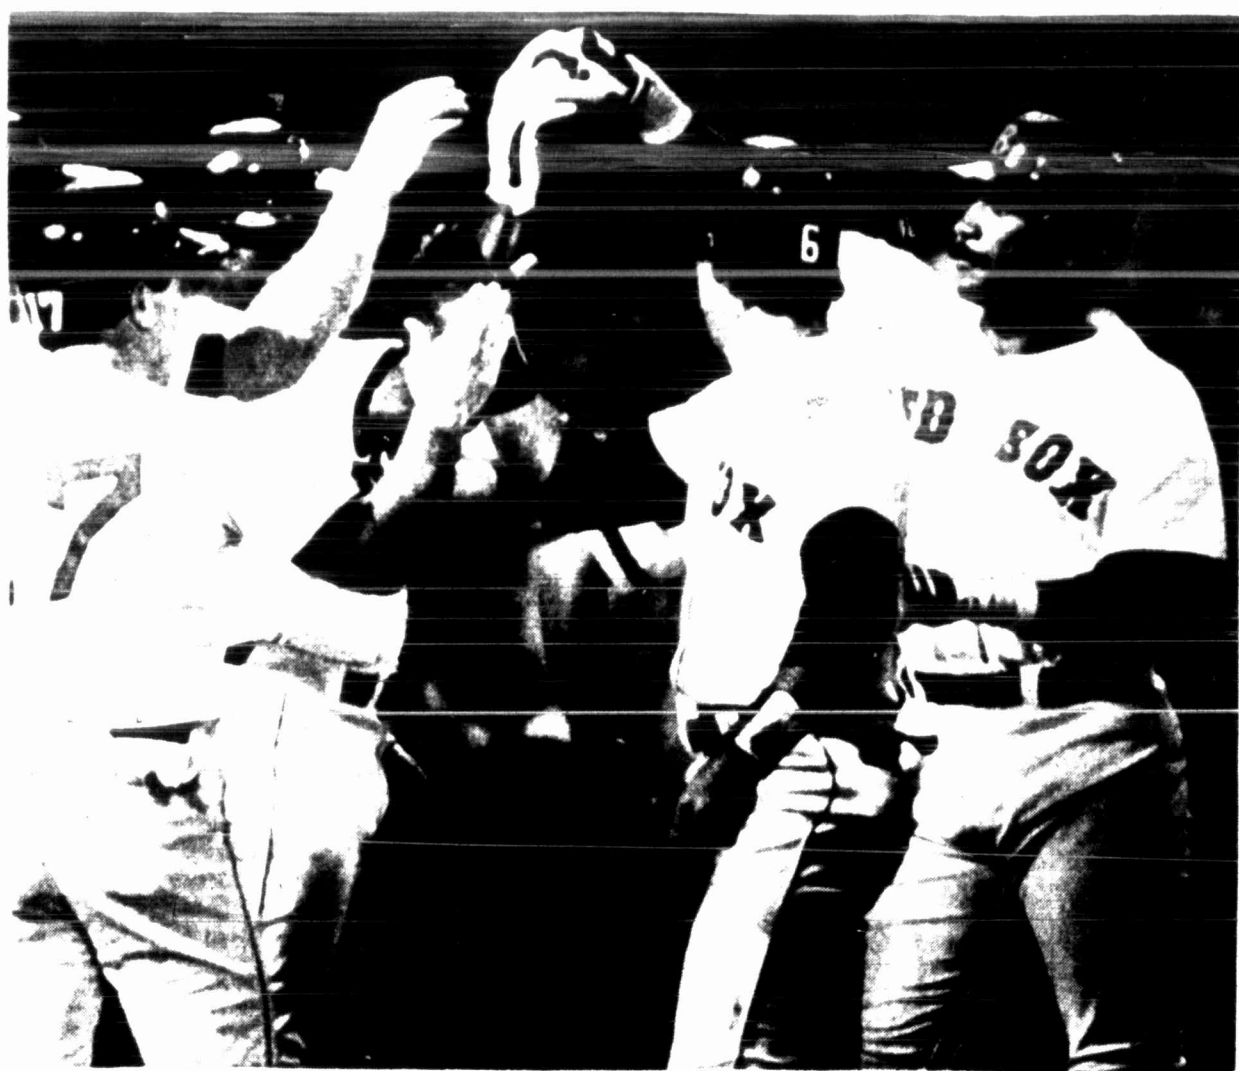

Rice hit a grand slam homer to pave the way for Clemens' 21st victory. The big Boston right-hander has only lost four times this year. "I just want to go out there and have a good September — and see what happens," said Rice, who usually has a strong September.

"I don't pay much attention to statistics, but I think I've always done pretty well in September," Rice added. "I want to do well again this year because we're in a pennant fight and I want to help the club."

White Sox 5, Blue Jays 0
CHICAGO (AP) — Rich Dotson pitched a four-hitter to earn his first shutout since May 20, 1984 as the Chicago White Sox beat the Toronto Blue Jays 5-0.

In becoming the team's first 10-game winner this season, Dotson, 10-13, dealt the Blue Jays only their second loss in their last 12 games.

Indians 13, Brewers 5
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Cory Snyder hit his 21st home run and added an RBI single to lead a 15-hit attack as the Cleveland Indians routed Milwaukee 13-5 and handed the Brewers their seventh straight loss.

Winner Phil Niekro, 11-10, scattered six hits over seven innings.

Milwaukee starter Bill Wegman, 4-11, gave up six runs and five hits in 3 1/3 innings, including the home runs to Snyder and Jacoby. Wegman, a rookie, has given up 27 home runs this season.

The seven consecutive losses matched the Brewers' longest losing streak of the season.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Presley and Scott Bradley drove in two runs apiece and Phil Bradley hit a solo home run as the Seattle Mariners, getting at least one hit from everyone in the lineup, whipped the Baltimore Orioles 8-2 on a six-hitter by Mike Moore.

The loss was the 11th in 13 games for the Orioles, who have gone 7-21 since pulling to within 2 1/2 games of first-place Boston in the AL East a month ago. They now trail by 14 games.

Cardinals get past Astros, 8-5

Cardinals 8, Astros 5
HOUSTON (AP) — Tommy Herr drove in four runs with three hits and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Houston Astros 8-5.

NL
Herr, who went 3-for-4 with a walk, had an RBI single in the third inning and singled home the tiebreaking run in the seventh. He added a two-run triple in the ninth.

With the score 4-4, Mike

LaValliere led off the St. Louis seventh with a single against Aurelio Lopez, 3-2. LaValliere was sacrificed to second, took third on a groundout and scored when Herr singled past shortstop Dickie Thon.

Pinch-hitter Curt Ford hit an RBI single in the ninth, and after Vince Coleman walked, Herr tripled off Charlie Kerfeld.

MONTREAL (AP) — Jose Uribe's RBI single broke an eighth-inning tie and pitcher Scott Garrelts hit a three-run homer in the ninth, leading the San Francisco Giants past the Montreal Expos 8-4.

Bob Melvin hit his second double of the game in the eighth and scored when Uribe lined his go-ahead hit off Tim Burke, 8-7.

Garrelts connected for his first major-league homer off Bert Moberge. Garrelts, 12-9, went four innings for the victory.

ATLANTA (AP) — Glenn Hubbard and Terry Harper hit consecutive doubles with two outs in the ninth inning, giving the Atlanta Braves a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Hubbard's double came on a drive that popped out of the outstretched glove of center fielder Barry Bonds. Harper followed with a drive down the left-field line off Rick Rhoden, 15-8.

Paul Assenmacher, 6-2, got the victory. He pitched two scoreless innings, allowing one hit.

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Diego Padres at New York Mets game scheduled for Friday night was rained out. It will be made up Sunday as part of a doubleheader.
