How's that?

Raiders

Q. When was the last time the Los Angeles-Oakland Raiders started the football season 0-2?
A. The Raiders began the season 0-2 last in 1964, according to the Associated Press.

Calendar

Senior day

TODAY

- Senior citizens are admitted for half price to the fair.
- Myrtle Joiner of Snyder will give an oil painting demonstration at the Big Spring Art Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard College Art Building which is located across the street from the college library. Guests are welcomed. No admission.
- The Colorado City Dancers will host a dance from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Colorado City Civic Center. The Porky Proctor band will play.

WEDNESDAY

- The annual Red Cross luncheon, set for noon Wednesday, has been postponed until further notice because of involvement with the flood.
- The Preston E. Harrison Award will be presented at 3:00 p.m. at the Big Spring State Hospital. The public is invited.

THURSDAY

- Clyde Foley Cummins performs at 7 and 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at the fair.

FRIDAY

- The fiddlers' contest begins at 4 p.m. at the fair.
- The George Carden Circus will perform at 5:30, after being rained out Monday evening.

SATURDAY

- The barbecue cookoff begins at 3 p.m. on the last day of the fair.
- The Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee is sponsoring a clean-up of Comanche Trail Park Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Interested people should meet at the Old Settlers Pavilion with rakes and other cleaning tools if they have them. A lunch will be served at the park. The city will provide heavy equipment.

Tops on TV

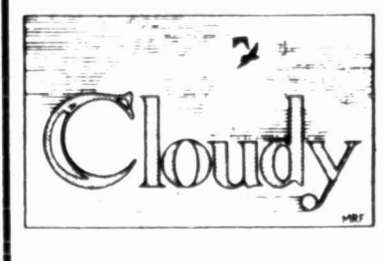

Oceans of Fire

Tensions flare between the construction supervisor on an offshore oil rig and the documentary film-maker sent by the company to paint a rosy picture of their progress in "Oceans of Fire" at 8 p.m. on Channel 7. The premiere stars Gregory Harrison and Cynthia Sykes.

Outside

Cloudy

Skies today are cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms, a high in the mid 80s and southerly winds at 10 to 15 miles per hour. Tonight and Wednesday will be partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of rain, a low tonight in the mid 60s and a high Wednesday in the upper 80s.

The 1986 Howard County Fair opened Monday and judging of exhibits was a major part of it. In the horticulture division, the big winners were, from left, Mrs. Adele Tibbs of 1606 Wood St., who won 20 awards, Mrs.

Edna Womack of 1601 Tucson St., winner of 10 awards, and Mrs. Clyde Angel of 706 Hillside Dr., who won 14 awards. The fair continues daily through Saturday.

County fair fun continues

Bring your appetite to the Howard County Fair tonight and enjoy an omelet cooked and served by a 4-H club member.

Tuesday is Senior Citizen Day with admission half-price to those qualifying as seniors.

The price per omelet supper is $3 and the festivity will be held in the Show Arena.

Geraldine Posey, this year's county fair president, said 4-H children serve the omelets after you pick out what ingredients you want cooked.

The 4-H Omelet Supper is one of many events scheduled tonight and Wednesday as the fair continues through Saturday night.

This afternoon's activities included a pie judging contest held in the east end of the Dora Roberts Building at the fairgrounds.

Tonight's activities in the rodeo arena will be calf roping and barrel racing.

Country western musicians

James and Michael Younger will perform two shows, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the entertainment tent located on the south side of the Dora Roberts building.

Wednesday activities will include a 9 a.m. agriculture tour conducted by county extension agent

Revenue lost in district

COAHOMA — The School Board Monday night raised the tax rate ten cents from $1.22 to the 1986-87 rate of $1.32, although Superintendent Jerry Doyle said the district will collect $300,000 fewer dollars than last year.

Doyle said Coahoma lost $43 million from its tax roll as of Aug. 1, and he warned that if the price of oil remains at $15 a barrel, the Coahoma school district may be the first in Texas to declare bankruptcy.

"One of the things that concerns me, and the board members, is the 1987-88 school year. If oil does not rebound to the $20 range, the Coahoma I.S.D. is in serious financial trouble. In fact, this school may become the first school in the state of Texas to declare bankruptcy," Doyle said.

He added that a report from the Texas Education Agency stated that 350 of 1,063 Texas schools are in similar financial situations.

"To put this in perspective, in the three years since I've been in Coahoma, we've lost one-third of our tax roll. If oil stays at $15, we could lose one-half of what's left," Doyle said.

SHANNA FOWLER
... 1986 County Fair Queen

Fair queen crowned

The stage was filled with tension minutes Monday night before the judges turned in their ballots with the final decision on the 1986 Miss Howard County Fair Queen.

Shanna Fowler, a Coahoma High School senior, was crowned queen of the fair and received a $300 scholarship to Howard College.

The 17-year-old was recently crowned Coahoma Homecoming Queen, is active in student council, vice-president of her class, a cheerleader for five years, a runner and a basketball player.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Brown.

Second runner-up, Amy Burgess, 17, received a $200 scholarship to Howard College. Rebecca Reed, 16, was named Miss Congeniality.

Other contestants were Betty Ballard, 17; Tanya Rock, 16; and Michelle Fortune, 16.

The queen's role in the fair is to assist at the fair, help present ribbons to winners and welcome guests.

Judges for the event were Dagny Hultgreen, reporter for Channel 9, KTPX; Lynn Hayes of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Bee Haley, lead singer for The Heart of Texas Band; and Carleen Everett, lifestyle editor for the Herald.

Search committee named

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Seven local citizens have been recommended by City Council to serve as a screening committee to help select the Big Spring's next police chief, City Manager Mark Wofford said Monday.

The seven are: Pat Poole, Dub Bryant, Cecilia McKenzie, William B. Allensworth, Tim Blackshear, Jaime Baldwin and Steve Morgan.

They have been contacted about serving, although not all have confirmed their participation, Wofford said.

As of this morning, Personnel

Director Emma Lee Bogard had received 29 resumes for the position. Friday is the deadline for accepting applications.

Wofford said he'll meet with the citizen committee Sept. 24 at the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark to seek its input on how best to narrow the 29-man field to three. After three finalists are chosen, Wofford and Bogard will conduct interviews, he said. The ultimate hiring decision will be Wofford's, he added.

The committee members, he said, will be encouraged to think independently. Wofford, however, said he hopes the committee will reach unanimous agreement on which three deserve final consideration.

Education and experience are key factors in rating applicants, Wofford said. It's really a matter of who can write the best resume, he added.

Applicants for police chief (and their age where available) in addition to those listed in the July 25 edition of the Herald are:

- John Scott of McKinney.
- Wayne T. Parsons, 39, of Temple.
- Bruce Gene Stewart, 39, of Temple.

- G.L. Godsey, 45, of Dallas.
- Joe E. Cook of Georgetown.
- David M. Mullican, 47, Pasadena.
- Marvin L. Ivy, 35, of Mansfield.
- Owen R. Arnold of Magnolia.
- Travis L. Thomas of Luling.
- George M. Baucum, 54, of Gladewater.
- Bruce Simpson, 43, of Orange.
- Walter C. Yergler Jr., 40, of Amarillo.
- W. Patrick Fuller, 36, of Midland.
- Charles Oliphant of Marshall.
- Larry E. Busch of Amarillo.

Energy study wins committee approval

AUSTIN — A proposal for a special study of ways to bring the Texas energy industry out of the economic doldrums won the unanimous approval of the Texas Senate Natural Resources Committee on Monday.

The study, provided in a resolution sponsored by Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria, would be conducted by a special 18-member interim committee composed of the land commissioner, comptroller, a Railroad Commission member and five members each appointed by the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker.

Sharp said he expects the Senate to approve the resolution and send it to the House, where Rep. Ed Emmett, R-Kingswood, will be the sponsor.

"The problem I think we have is that for too long we've treated the energy industry from the legislative point of view by taking it for granted," Sharp, the Democratic nominee for a Railroad Commission seat, told the Senate committee.

He said the proposed interim committee would look at all phases of the industry, including taxes, incentives for exploration and ways for research and drilling advancements to better tap oil and gas resources.

The study could aim at coordinating energy industry research among universities, such as the University of Texas and Texas A&M University, Sharp said.

"We could put all this research under one roof," he said.

If the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker moved quickly to make their appointments once the resolution passes, Sharp said, some recommendations could be made to the 1987 Legislature that meets in January.

But the major part of the report probably would not be ready until the 1989 session, he said.

Store gives plans

Wonder World variety store, which will open in the old TG&Y location in College Park, will initially hire 50 to 60 people, manager Robert Shattuck said today.

Applications are being accepted at the local Texas Employment Commission, he said, and application deadline is whenever all the positions are filled.

"We hope to be in the interview stage next week," he added.

He said he hopes to be able to have an employee orientation about Sept. 29, and for employees to begin work about Oct. 3. He isn't sure yet just when the store will open.

The store's annual payroll hasn't yet been computed, he said.

In addition to clerks, stockers and cashiers, Wonder World will hire three local management personnel, he said.

Three store employees were transferred: Shattuck from Oregon, assistant manager Glenn Zeman from Indiana, and a floor supervisor from Chicago, who will arrive later, Shattuck said.

Everyone employed will be trained as a cashier in addition to their

Forsan board sets dates for appraisals

FORSAN — The School Board Monday night set dates for the teacher appraisal periods and named its appraisers for the 1986-87 school year.

According to state regulations, every teacher must be observed by an appraiser twice during each period. The first period will be from Sept. 16 to Jan. 9, and the second period will begin Jan. 20 and end May 22, the board was informed.

The board appointed elementary school principal Bill W.R. Cregar, junior high principal George White, high school principal Jack Woodley, Co-op Director Gary Allen, and Superintendent J.F. Poiner as the appraisers.

In other business, the board instructed Poiner to clarify the board's options for the purchase of a school bus. A new bus is budgeted for this year, and Poiner recommended the board buy one. However, he said the bus probably would not be ready until next year.

LULAC observes Dieciseis

A queen was crowned and numerous parade awards were presented during the annual observance of Diez y Seis de Septiembre, sponsored by the local chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

This year's LULAC events to commemorate Sept. 16, 1810 — Mexico's Independence Day — were conducted on Saturday rather than during today's work day.

Linsa Rodriguez, 15, daughter of Salvador and Linda Rodriguez, Gail Rt. Box 303, was named queen during Saturday night's activities. She raised $2,203 from merchants and contributors since the end of school last spring.

Honored as runner-up was Lizzie Yanez, 18, daughter of Jimmy and Lydia Yanez, 1604 Benton St.

Raul Marquez, president of the local LULAC chapter, explained the queen winners are those who earn the most for the chapter through the sale of baked goods, car washes, dances and donations.

He reported the parade Saturday morning included 37 entries and lasted about 45 minutes.

Parade winners were:
Best cars: Billy Yanez, first; Raul Hernandez, second; and Tony Gonzales, third.

Lower rider bikes, with decorations and dress: Valerio Garcia, first; Vernor Garcia, second; and Virgil Garcia, third.

Floats: Cano's Cosina, first; and Jimmy Paredes, second.

Best dressed: Belen Garcia, first; Frank Mier, second; and Victor Garcia, third.

Washer tournament: Jimmy Yanez and Raul Hernandez, first; Kenny Guzman and Ben Garcia Jr., second; and Popo Hilario and Manuel Ontiveros, third.

The Lone Star Wagon Train passed through downtown Big Spring this morning, shown near the Howard County Courthouse. After visiting the Howard County Fair last night, the procession was on the move toward Vincent today where participants will spend the night. It will be in Snyder tomorrow, Colorado City Sept. 18 and spend the weekend in Sweetwater, officials reported.

Texas MHMR to close offices if client decline continues

AUSTIN — At least one institution operated by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will have to be closed if the number of clients in those facilities continues to decline, a Sunset Advisory Commission staff report said.

The report was made as part of a regular review of state agencies to see if they should be abolished or changed. The Sunset Advisory Commission will take testimony on the MHMR report later this month.

The Sunset staff, despite recommending several changes, said the mental health-retardation agency is needed and should be continued for 12 more years.

An agency spokesman said written replies to each of the Sunset staff's 91 recommendations should be filed by the agency within a week.

The 1985 Texas Legislature directed the agency to come up with a plan to phase out "uneconomical and unneeded" beds. But no plan has been developed so far because of tremendous political difficulties associated with proposing closure of a facility, according to the report.

However, as mentally ill and retarded clients are moved to community facilities, it appears likely at some point the depopulation of state facilities will render one or more of them economically unfeasible, the report said.

In light of that movement, the department should establish objective criteria for facility closings, the report said.

Also, money saved from the waning institution populations should be used for community programs, the report said.

In addition, the report suggested the agency actively seek nursing home placement for its long-term elderly population in state hospitals, which could save up to $8.4 million a year.

The Kerrville State Hospital and the San Angelo State School have largest number of elderly residents among the agency's institutions, according to agency officials. Although the report did not appear to address the subject of elderly clients at state schools, agency officials have discussed the transfer of the elderly at schools and hospitals to nursing homes as a money-saving measure.

In addition, the agency should seek community providers to open residential units for mental patients that have little chance of recovery, saving about $3.3 million a year, the report said.

Also, the agency should be required every two years to examine whether services it provides are available through community providers at a similar or reduced cost and submit its findings with its budget request, the report said.

Such a policy could produce "very significant savings" if many functions now performed by the agency were contracted to the private sector, the report said. Functions that are commercially available include data processing, food services, laundry, warehousing, claims, mail and maintenance, the report said.

Also, the department should be authorized to sell, lease, transfer or dispose of its assets and keep the money to restructure the system of its facilities.

In another proposal, the Sunset staff said local mental health and mental retardation authorities should be authorized to regulate boarding homes for the retarded and mentally ill.

"Local mental health and mental retardation authorities currently have only informal methods of regulating the quality of these homes. This change would build on the existing information network between clients and staff and use local technical resources such as the local fire marshal and local health authority to ensure that the regulation is sensitive to local needs and resources," the report said.

Youths enjoy Jaycee picnic

More than 100 handicapped youngsters went to Comanche Trail Park Saturday to compete in races and games, eat barbecue and watermelon, and ogle at new toys at the "Donate for a Smile" picnic sponsored by the Howard County Jaycees.

Local Jaycees Lilia Hinojos, Les McMullen and Pat Klein initiated and organized the event — which saw kids win free pizzas from Pizza Hut, and take home $500 worth of toys donated by WeeWin Toys.

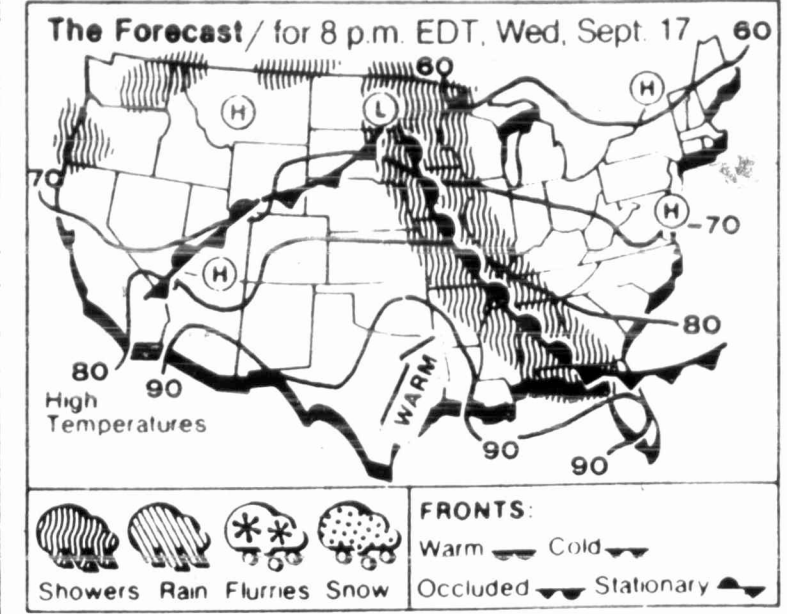

Top cop Lonnie Smith, Shriners and Masons, Tommy Tillery and Gordon Myrick slaved over a hot, four-wheel grill donated by Winn-Dixie to provide a sumptuous lunch.

Later, some of the kids teamed with parents in a series of olympic events such as the "water carried by spoons" relay race and the watermelon eating contest.

Each child received a Certificate of Award from Mayor Cotton Mize, printed courtesy of McMillian Printing. Picnic invitations to the counties handicapped children were printed free by Big Spring Printing.

Donation jars at several area businesses collected enough cash to finance the festivities, according to the Jaycees, which the organization hopes will become an annual event.

Weather

Forecast

Partly cloudy skies are expected to day with scattered to widely scattered thunderstorms areawide. Lows tonight will be in the middle to upper 60s. Highs Wednesday will be in the middle 80s in the mountains, Panhandle and South Plains, near 90 in the Concho Valley, and in the lower 90s in the far west. Temperatures will get in to the middle 90s in the Big Bend valleys.

State

Moist, unstable air near the Gulf of Mexico brought showers and thunderstorms today over parts of the Texas middle coastal plains while other rainfall along the Caprock area dissipated.

The National Weather Service said thunderstorms that drenched the western part of North Texas have moved into Oklahoma. Skies were cloudy across nearly the entire state today. Clear conditions were reported in some areas in the lower Rio Grande valley and North Texas.

Winds were south at 5 to 10 mph in the Lone Star State, with a light northeast breeze in the Trans Pecos.

Morning readings were in the 70s over much of the state, with 60s observed in the High Plains and the Trans Pecos. Extreme state temperatures were a low of 59 degrees at Marfa and a high of 82 degrees at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station and Galveston.

Nation

Showers and thunderstorms spread across broad sections of the nation today and temperatures dipped across the upper Great Lakes region.

Frost and below-freezing temperatures extended across northeast Minnesota early today and Neganue, Mich., tied its low temperature record at 34 degrees, matching a low set in 1976 and tied in 1984.

Showers and thunderstorms stretched from central New England across New York and Pennsylvania.

Another group of showers and thunderstorms ranged from New Mexico across northwest Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, southwest Missouri and northwest Arkansas.

Zeman said the store will occupy 52,000 square feet of floor space and 7,000 square feet of stock room space.

Fixtures from the TG&Y store will be sold "at a very low price" Thursday through Saturday, Shattuck said.

Shelving, counters, book racks and other fixtures will be sold, but clothing fixtures and office supplies will not.

"We need to get it out of here to get our supplies in," he said.

Casino union strikes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Union leaders vowed to shut down eight of this resort city's 11 casinos as 13,000 workers demanding a bigger share of the take today staged their first strike since the gaming halls were built.

Thousands of pickets marched outside the casinos and blocked some entrances as the walkout began shortly after midnight. Police said rocks and bottles were thrown at officers trying to keep order, and three arrests and some minor injuries were reported.

The strike by waitresses, bartenders, chambermaids and messengers forced all but three of Caesars Atlantic City's 10 restaurants to close and left only one restaurant and one lounge open at Baily's Park Place Casino Hotel.

Drug testing opposed

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities disagree over whether widespread screening will help prevent illegal drug use, and some say alcohol abuse is a far more important and widespread problem.

On Monday, President Reagan ordered the heads of federal agencies to establish mandatory drug testing for employees in sensitive positions as part of a national crusade against drug abuse.

The action was criticized by Arthur McBay, chief toxicologist in the North Carolina medical examiner's office, who said he has just completed a study of drug testing and found it isn't cost effective.

CBS alliance forged

NEW YORK — William Paley, the insider, and Laurence Tisch, the outsider, have forged an alliance aimed at raising the quality of CBS' programs and, in the words of Paley, getting "us back the kind of respect we had."

Paley, 84, the returning CBS chairman, said he would lend his programming expertise in an advisory role. Tisch, 63, the chairman of Loews Corp. and CBS' biggest stockholder, said he had no expertise in programs, but would lend moral support to those who do to get "the best possible product on the screen."

Man robbed of tooth

CRANSTON, R.I. — A man's gold tooth was yanked out with pliers during a beating and robbery after he lost control of his car and smashed into another vehicle in a park, police said.

Carlos Infante, 29, of Yonkers, N.Y., was "showboating" Sunday in Roger Williams Park when he lost control and rammed a car, police said.

Several bystanders, not including the driver of the other car, jumped Infante, beat him, pulled several gold chains from his neck, took his watch, money from his pocket and a ring from his finger, then used pliers to pull the tooth, police said.

Joseph P. Kennedy II yells at center as he makes his way through unidentified campaign workers at a meeting last night, election eve, in the East Boston section of Boston. The Massachusetts primary election was today.

Kennedy II

New generation heads for Congress

Joseph P. Kennedy II tried today to extend his family's political dynasty into another generation and move a step closer to Congress as voters went to the polls in Massachusetts, Washington and Oklahoma.

At age 33, the oldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was considered the favorite to win the Democratic nomination in the crowded race to succeed U.S. House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr.

Massachusetts' secretary of state predicted Monday that a turnout as high as 75 percent of the registered Democrats in the state's 8th Congressional District, which Kennedy's uncle, John F. Kennedy, represented in Congress before O'Neill.

Kennedy spent more than $1 million to fend off 10 other candidates. He faced his strongest challenge on his left in three-term state Sen. George Bachrach, who in the closing hours of the campaign tried to portray himself as the little guy up against the political establishment.

"Clearly, the million-dollar man has spent a lot of money, and it's been effective," Bachrach said.

But Kennedy did not express certainty of victory. "There have been jitters for a year," he said late Monday.

The winner of the Democratic primary is expected to have little trouble defeating the Republican nominee in November. The district includes the western edge of Boston, Cambridge and some western suburbs.

Bachrach scrambled to offset the impact of a last-minute statement by O'Neill saying he would vote for Kennedy, whose forces plastered the statement in local newspapers and on television.

The latest poll, a Boston Herald-WBZ-TV survey released on Friday, had Kennedy leading Bachrach by 40 percent to 26 percent.

Kennedy has enjoyed financial support from his wealthy family in the campaign, and his relatives have played key roles at campaign headquarters.

But Kennedy has shunned public appearances with some of the best-known members of the clan. He has not campaigned with his uncle, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who easily won the 8th District in his most recent election to the Senate in 1982.

Among the other candidates on the ballot, former state Rep. Melvin King, a leader of Boston's black community, predicted he would stage "the greatest political upset in Massachusetts history."

Trade ministers clash

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay — Trade ministers with clashing national interests are giving little ground as they battle over reshaping the rules of world commerce, agreeing only that change is crucial to avert all-out trade wars.

Without an agreement, "We run the risk of causing definite damage to the trade system itself," said Uruguayan Foreign Minister Enrique Iglesias, chairman of the week-long meeting of the 92-nation General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs.

In opening the talks Monday at this posh Atlantic resort, Iglesias called on delegates to lay aside domestic political and economic interests in order to revitalize GATT, the principal legal framework governing world commerce.

Soviets leave for U.S.

MOSCOW — Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze left today for the United States, where he is scheduled to attend the 41st U.N. General Assembly and hold a pre-summit meeting with Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

Shevardnadze's trip and the meeting with Shultz come at a time of strained relations, with Moscow accusing Washington of failing to respond to Kremlin arms control initiatives and Americans angry about the detention of a U.S. newsman on charges of spying.

The official news agency Tass, in adherence to strict protocol, said only that Shevardnadze was leaving Moscow to attend the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

Soviet missile strays

WASHINGTON — An unarmed Soviet ballistic missile test-fired from a submarine above the Arctic Circle strayed 1,400 miles off course and landed near the Sino-Soviet border, according to Defense Department sources.

The misfiring of the SSN8 missile on Sept. 11 was almost immediately detected by U.S. intelligence agencies, according to the sources, who spoke Monday night on condition of anonymity.

The missile, which was carrying a dummy warhead, was fired from a Delta-class submarine in the Barents Sea, the sources said.

Soviet discuss Daniloff

JURMALA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet official attending a private conference aimed at improving superpower relations said American reporter Nicholas Daniloff was a spy, and that his arrest should not harm U.S.-Soviet ties.

"I regret the bad attempts made in bad conscience to include the Daniloff case in Soviet-American relations," said Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Petrovsky, speaking to journalists at Monday's opening of the five-day Chautauque Jurmala conference.

Islamic Jihad releases letter claims written by hostage

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Islamic Jihad today released a letter it claimed was written by American hostage David Jacobsen, accusing President Reagan of caring more about a U.S. newsman arrested in Moscow than for American captives in Lebanon.

The three-page handwritten letter included numerous grammatical errors and misspellings, and read as if it had been translated into English from another language. There was no way to confirm its authenticity, although Jacobsen's signature appeared identical to that on an earlier letter, and there were similarities between the signature and the writing in the body of the letter.

The entire text of the letter is printed at right of this story.

Jacobsen, the director of the American University Hospital in Beirut, was kidnapped May 28, 1985. The letter, accompanied by a photo of Jacobsen and a statement from Islamic Jihad, was left in an envelope on the doorstep of a Western news agency in Moslem Beirut.

Islamic Jihad, a Shiite Moslem extremist group believed linked to Iran, claims it holds three of the six Americans missing in Lebanon and that it has killed a fourth.

The letter referred to U.S. News & World Report correspondent Nicholas Daniloff, who was arrested in Moscow on Aug. 30, charged with spying and released Friday into the custody of the U.S. Embassy pending trial. The United States, which negotiated for his release, and Daniloff deny Soviet claims that the reporter was a spy.

Today's letter misspelled Daniloff's name and referred to him as a "spy." Numerous other words were misspelled.

Dr. Ahmed Nasrallah, acting head of the American University Hospital, said there was "a resemblance" between the handwriting in the letter and that in a note written by Jacobsen before his abduction. But Nasrallah also said there were dissimilarities.

Professor Lutfi Diab, acting president of the American University, said: "Maybe the guy was under pressure when he wrote the letter. Maybe he was afraid and made some mistakes."

The snapshot of Jacobsen, 55, wearing beige pajamas, was almost identical to a picture of him released with an Islamic Jihad statement last week.

Islamic Jihad has said statements claiming to be from the organization could be considered authentic if accompanied by a snapshot of one of the hostages.

The letter warned against "gambling on time" and asked the Reagan administration to abandon its policy of not negotiating with the kidnapers.

Text of hostage letter

Here is the text of a letter released today by Islamic Jihad purporting to be from American hostage David Jacobsen. Spellings are as given in the letter, which was handwritten in English.

September 15, 1986

475 days and I David Jacobsen and my friends Anderson and Sutherland we feel homesick and our bodies are sick and our psychological state is bad. Also we fear the possible ending of our story. From this big and bad situation which we feel but Reagan and the officials are free and happy with their families. We would like to put our voice with our friends Weir, Jenko and Levine and Peggy Say and we want from them to continue their efforts because you are our only hope and you know our sufferings very much. We want from you more efforts and don't lay down. Don't get trapped by our government and don't believe their lies and don't believe their promises. We want to tell Reagan and his government some points.

1. Why was Reagan interested minute by minute with spy journalist Daneloff but he is not interested one minute in our story and he didn't do anything to solve it? Are we citizens from tenth degree? Are not we Americans?

2. The price which Reagan and his government paid to release Daneloff was the release of the Russian spy who was working against the American people and that was clear. This price was great compared with the price that the American government will have to pay to release us.

3. Why doesn't the Congress act and request to solve our problem which has been for more than 17 months? Why has the Congress kept silent about the bad problems like Daneloff?

4. Why does Reagan and his government request from the European and Arab governments not to agree to the fair demands, but he and his government did negotiate with the Russian government at a definite loss?

5. The answer of the American government always is requesting the captors to release us immediately and the captors have full responsibility for our lives. That answer is so silly. If our captors were to listen to your call and were to release us, why did they take us? You the government can not do anything to rescue us and you can not do any action. What are you waiting for? For us to die one by one?

6. Your gambling on time is the death for us and will not make our captors be less in their demands but they will be increased. That would be a big danger — (half a line deleted in ink)

7. What Oakley said lately was the correct point and you must listen to him and you can make a good for us as you did with Daneloff.

8. My greetings to my family and the families of Tom Sutherland and Terry Anderson and a special hello to Peggy Say. The more you act the more our story is solved. We want from you common action with Weir, Jenko and Levine. You are our only hope.

Best regards, David Jacobsen

Opinion

President's policy lacks consistency

If consistency is the hobgoblin of small minds, credit President Reagan with broad-mindedness about what states must do in order to receive federal highway money.

One federal requirement, for example, is state speed limits no higher than 55 miles per hour. The president thinks that's too restrictive and should be relaxed — say to 65 m.p.h. on some rural roads. The idea has merit.

But Mr. Reagan goes further. He also thinks that any federally set limit infringes on states' rights and therefore would return to the pre-1974 days when legislatures could set any limits without risking the loss of federal money.

Though that position might also have merit, it clashes with Mr. Reagan's 1984 position on another safety-related highway-funding issue — that states raise their drinking ages to 21 if they are to continue getting their full shares of federal aid.

The president attempted to explain the difference by arguing that "where the problem is so clear-cut and the benefits are so clear-cut I have no misgivings about judicious use of federal inducements to encourage the state to get moving, raise the drinking age and save precious lives."

The long-term safety effects of raising the drinking age are not at all clear. But the record shows that the 55 m.p.h. speed limit can save 2,000 to 4,000 lives a year, according to the National Research Council.

And then there is the newest federal requirement — that states require automobile seat-belt usage, even if their laws to that effect lack teeth, as is the case of Minnesota.

The speed limit, however, bites back. This year at least three states — Maryland, Vermont and Nevada — have been threatened with loss of federal highway aid for failing to enforce the 55-m.p.h. maximum.

Perhaps therein lies the president's consistency: 21-year drinking ages and semi-voluntary seat-belt usage are good politics, taking away federal highway aid is bad politics. Credit Mr. Reagan with knowing the difference.

Beer wholesale lobbyists try interesting maneuver

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — The rule among Capitol Hill lobbyists is this: If at first you don't succeed, try something really bizarre.

The nation's beer wholesalers failed to get a Senate vote on legislation to exempt them from antitrust laws — thanks to opponents' threat of a filibuster and our embarrassing disclosure that the beer barons had raised $25,000 for Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., at a bash in February. So their lobbyists tried a new tack: They got a friendly member of the Senate to add their amendment to an appropriations bill.

What makes this peculiar is that it was the Treasury's appropriations bill. And while the senators behind the beer bill note that the Treasury Department does include the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, ATF would have nothing to do with enforcement of the antitrust amendment. That chore would be handled by the Justice Department, like all other antitrust actions.

But it seemed like a good idea at the time to the beer lobbyists. The plan was perfected in "strict confidence," according to a memo the National Beer Wholesalers Association sent to distributors nationwide.

The memo, dated Aug. 15, was obtained by our associate Stewart Harris. It describes proudly the pressure brought to bear on Sen. James Abdnor, R-S.D., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that oversees the Treasury. "Wholesalers in South Dakota were instrumental in obtaining Sen. Abdnor's agreement" to tack the legislation onto the Treasury bill, the memo explained.

With Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., a subcommittee member who also happened to have introduced the original beer bill, Abdnor was able to ramrod the amendment through the subcommittee.

Caught off guard, the beer bill's opponents had little time to challenge it when it wound up before the Appropriations Committee in its new form as a Treasury amendment. Meanwhile, according to the industry memo, beer wholesalers mounted a nationwide telephone campaign to persuade members of the full committee, while the lobbyists did their own number in person.

The Treasury bill passed the Appropriations Committee with the beer language intact.

"This entire process once again demonstrated the effectiveness and viability of the National Beer Wholesalers Association's greatest asset, its 'grassroots network' ... you, the beer wholesaler," gushed the memo.

"It was a damn slick maneuver," conceded one opponent.

But the beer lobbyists may have slipped on their own suds. The opposition has now been alerted. When the Senate takes up the Treasury bill sometime after it returns from summer vacation today, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, has threatened "extended debate" if the beer rider isn't deleted — not idle threat coming from the Senate's current filibuster king.

Even more formidable is the opposition of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., chairman of the Judiciary Committee. In addition to his distaste for any industry's exemption from antitrust laws, Thurmond complained that the beer legislation had no business in an appropriations bill.

"The Treasury Department appropriations bill, which contains funding for many important agencies and functions, should not be hopelessly tied up," he explained.

But time is on the side of the beer barons. In the crush of last-minute activity as Congress rushes to adjourn for the fall political campaigns, Senate leaders may feel pressured to pass the Treasury appropriations bill by a continuing resolution. This would leave the language intact and short-circuit any chance for floor debate.

TIPPING THE SCALES: Twenty-one Navy employees almost beat the rap in a 6-year-old case involving alleged tips to hotel maids in Philadelphia. One of the Navy's big butter-and-egg men claimed to have tipped maids $70 during the group's 19-day stay, but Navy investigators said the maids told them they had actually been stiffed.

That employee was ordered to pay the Navy the entire cost of his trip: $1,401. The other employees were also charged with claiming phony tip reimbursement. But the comptroller general has now overturned the Navy's decision and ordered the employees to pay their trip expenses.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: When American troops invaded Grenada in October 1983, among the booty they seized were huge quantities of documents that established the island government's close links to Cuba and the Soviet Union.

The documents were handed away to Washington for study. Now the communist former leaders of Grenada, on trial for the murder of their onetime colleague, Prime Minister Maurice Bishop, have demanded return of the documents and tapes they were seized. The material would exonerate them, they claim. They'd also like to subpoena President Reagan.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We've commented before on the disgraceful (and certainly un-Christian) practice of praying for the death of public figures — like Supreme Court justices — with whose decisions one disagrees.

Now it seems there's a trend in this direction among the religious right-wing fringe. That's what is reported in a study by People for the American Way, a liberal group that monitors political and religious extremism.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Billy Graham

God can help get rid of bitterness

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have had to face the fact that I have a lot of anger inside me, and I don't know what to do about it. I guess it all comes from a very difficult childhood. Now I find myself hurting even the people I love because I can't control my anger. Must I always bear this problem or can God help me get rid of it? — F.P.

DEAR F.P.: As with so many problems, the first step is to admit there is one — which you have done. I stress this because all too often we deny we have a problem, or else we try to blame it on other people or on our circumstances and refuse to face our responsibility to combat it.

Yes, God can help you get rid of this problem — and you need His help. The most important step you can take, therefore, is to confess your problem — as well as all your sins — to God and invite Jesus Christ to come into your heart by faith.

When you do, God will not only forgive you for the past but His Holy Spirit will be present in your life to help you in the future. "Hatred" and "fits of rage" are among the "acts of the sinful nature" listed in Galatians 5:19-20; but "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control" (Galatians 5:22-23).

How will Christ help you? First, He will forgive you — and in turn, He will help you ask others to forgive you when you get angry and do wrong to them.

He also will help you forgive those who made your childhood difficult; if there is bitterness in your heart it is hurting you, and He can take it away. Also, He will help you become more patient. Right now you want your own way, and when you are frustrated and can't get your own way you become angry. But when Christ is at the center of your life, He will help you realize that getting your own way is not always best. Instead, you will want to seek His will.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Somehow I have allowed myself to get buried under a mountain of debts. I don't know what went wrong, but now I can't see any hope for it and it is making me very depressed. Does the Bible say anything about getting out of debt? — S.U.

DEAR S.U.: The Bible says a great deal about money — although, frankly, much of it would have been especially helpful to you before you began to get in debt because it would have helped you think more carefully about your money and how you should use it. But the Bible also says much that can help you right now.

First, you need to devise a practical plan for getting out of debt. That may seem impossible right now — but it probably is not. Don't do this on your own; you need the help of someone who can give you sound advice.

Your pastor may be able to suggest someone who is trustworthy and skilled in financial matters and can give you practical counsel — matters such as consolidating your debts and cutting down interest payments, planning a careful and realistic budget so you can live within your means and have some left over to reduce your debt, and so forth.

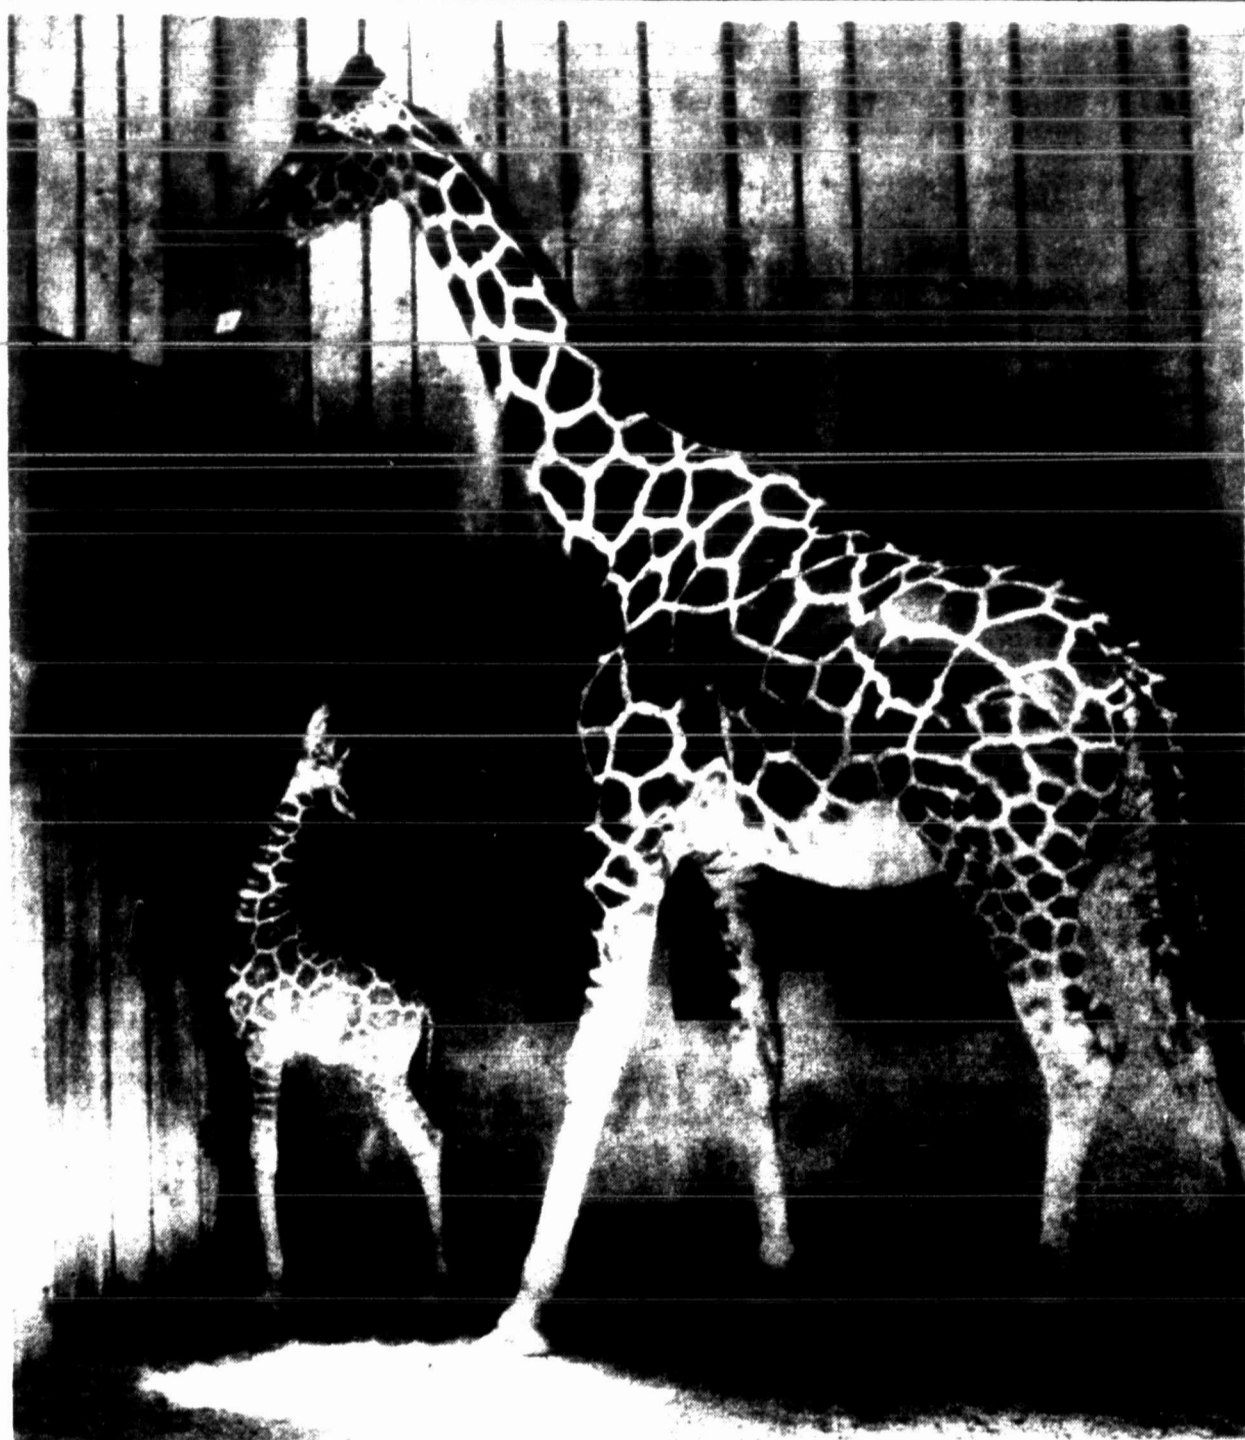

Second, you need to examine why you got into this mess in the first place. And that means you need to examine your priorities.

For example, have you over-extended yourself because you feel a need to impress other people, or make yourself feel that you are better than they are? Or have you become overly preoccupied with material things, somehow hoping you would find happiness through your possessions?

Whatever the reason, let Christ readjust your priorities, so you begin to seek what is really important in life. Money and possessions should never be first in our lives — only God deserves that place. "But seek first the kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well" (Matthew 6:33).

Lifestyle

Lookin' up

Malignant hyperthermia is unique

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Have you discussed malignant hyperthermia yet? My wife finds out that she has it. It was in her family, she says. She has to be super careful about anesthetics in the hospital. Please explain it. Is it really inherited, as she says? — S.V.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Could you please send me printed material on malignant hyperthermia. I have four children and five grandchildren. I have it, and I need the information so I can explain to them. — M.H.

Malignant hyperthermia is an inherited condition that almost always poses its problems only when the person has to take certain anesthetic gases for surgery. I have no printed material on the subject. I have discussed it, but I can briefly recap what I have said. For the prone individual, those gases I mentioned spark a metabolic inferno in the body. Temperatures shoot up to extremely high levels. That's why hyperthermia means — high temperature.

If the emergency condition isn't treated, death can result. And there is a drug that effectively puts out the body conflagration. It's Dantrolene.

All hospitals are quite familiar with the problem and are prepared to respond to any crisis. Both of you should be sure blood relatives of the one with hyperthermia are informed of the inheritance factor. And all concerned must inform their doctors so that prudent steps can be taken in any surgery plans.

I cannot answer the jackpot question on everyone's mind concerning malignant hyperthermia: What causes it? We don't know what sets off the great temperature rise.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you please give me a good definition of "benign prostatic hypertrophy?"

Dr. Donohue

How serious is it? — Mrs. H.W.

Benign prostatic hypertrophy means enlargement of the prostate gland that is non-malignant.

It is to some degree the fate of most men as they grow older. The seriousness of the enlargement (hypertrophy) depends on its extent. For most, it is mild. Yet, because of the prostate's anatomical location in relationship to the rest of the urinary tract, it can cause its problems. For example, if the enlarged tissue impinges upon free passage of the urethra (the urinary outlet from the bladder) urinary distress may result. The tube passes through the prostate.

So with benign prostatic hypertrophy, you look for symptoms. Urinary outlets problems, if untreated, can lead to serious infections of the urinary tract.

The almost universal occurrence of some degree of prostatic enlargement is a compelling reason why men should have routine prostate exams after age 50. For it is then that significant enlargement occurs if it is to happen. You will find this discussed in greater detail in the booklet "The Pesky Prostate," which other readers may obtain by writing me enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: After reading about the lady who has never had a period and is 20 years old, I thought I would write and tell you that I am 74 years old and never had a period in my life. I went to doctors when I was young, but couldn't find out what was wrong. I never got pregnant, but I was always pretty healthy. — E.D.

For you, an investigation is a bit late. Medical progress came late for you.

In your younger days relatively little was known about such things. Today, a woman who has never had a period or whose periods have suddenly stopped has a good chance of having a diagnosis made and appropriate treatment given to start or reinstitute them. We have come a long way. Many of those women, in fact, go on to bear children.

I wouldn't want young women with such problems to think they should ignore them. Sometimes serious problems can be associated with total absence of periods.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is it possible for an adult male to have bleeding from the penis? If so, what could be the cause? Thank you. Please hurry! — J.K.

You asked me to hurry. I hope that your good sense has taken you to your doctor, if this is happening to you.

Certain, it can happen, and at any age. I don't think I'd be doing anyone a great favor by listing all the possible causes. And cause depends on a lot of factors — type of bleeding, when, how long, etc.

Causes can be innocent or very serious. The best advice I can give you or other males with this sign is to see your doctor and let him track down the cause.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Woman unsure where to go for AIDS test

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old woman engaged to marry a fine man. I just received a telephone call from the man I went with three years ago. We were lovers for nearly two years. He told me that he was advised by his doctor to inform me that he is bisexual, and had several male lovers during our relationship. He said he had been tested for AIDS and the results were positive! He told me not to panic — that it didn't mean he has AIDS; it means he has been exposed to the virus, and I should be tested.

Abby, I am terrified! I'm too embarrassed to ask my doctor for such a test. There are absolutely no secrets in that office, and I don't want anyone to know I requested a blood test for AIDS.

Must I tell my fiancé? We have been intimate, and I suppose he should be tested, too. Please, please help me. I can't eat. I can't sleep. I am...

TERRIFIED IN HOUSTON
DEAR TERRIFIED: Your fiancé must be told, and you both should be tested. Please don't panic. It's true: A positive result does not mean you have AIDS; it means you have been exposed to the virus and you could transmit it through unsafe sex practices.

If you can't bring yourself to go to your physician, call your nearest gay and lesbian community services center and ask where you can get a blood test with the utmost of confidentiality. Good luck.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: After dating through four years of college, Betty and I are getting married in December. Both our families are thrilled, but there's a potential problem. Betty smokes at least a pack of cigarettes a day. She enjoys it and doesn't plan to quit anytime soon. But since my parents are very opposed to smoking, she's never smoked in their presence, so they have no idea that Betty smokes.

Now that we're engaged, however, I'm worried that they will eventually find out. We will be living near them and they will be visiting sooner or later and are bound to find out. Betty has even suggested that she may as well smoke in front of them now since they'll learn the truth soon anyway.

She has a point, but I know it would break my parents' hearts to see her light a cigarette. On the other hand, I won't be able to tell my wife she can't smoke in her own home. Help!

CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR CAUGHT: For you and Betty to hide from your parents the fact that she smokes is childish. As for smoking in your own home, smokers with good manners refrain from smoking in the presence of those who find it offensive, regardless of where they are.

DEAR ABBY: Mary (not her real name) and I have been living together for 10 years. I'm on friendly terms with her parents. Last month they invited us to their 40th wedding anniversary dinner to be held at a fancy place. They said all the men would have to wear suits and ties. Well, I don't even own a suit because I wear only jeans, so I went out and bought a suit. It set me back $128, which is a lot of money for me, considering I'll probably never wear the suit again.

Yesterday, they told Mary they changed their plans, and instead of throwing the party, they decided to take a trip. I am steamed and think they should reimburse me for the suit. I would like your opinion. I hope you decide in my favor because I would like to show it to them.

STEAMED
DEAR STEAMED: Sorry, I don't agree with you. You never know what the future holds, so if another fancy occasion comes up, you'll be well suited.

DEAR ABBY: Here is one older widow who elects to be called by her Christian name. I deplore being called "Mrs." anybody. How can "Missus" be abbreviated Mrs.? There is no "r" in Missus. I can only presume we get a Mrs. when we marry because we become a plural of a Mr. Or perhaps in some bygone era the apostrophe was deleted and we then belonged to a Mr., as in Mr.'s.

I will accept the unpronounceable "Ms." (Mizz) when men are addressed as Mrr. with no vowel sound or as Merr — since we really can't pronounce either without a vowel. When will we delete the absurd labels, which mean nothing?

I am even occasionally addressed as "Miss" — with three children, 13 grandchildren and a great-grandchild! Considering that record, "Miss" is absurd. With no husband, "Mrs." is absurd. And "Ms." is the most absurd of all!

When John Doe can be just that, and no one asks if he is single or married, why do women clamor to have their status cluttered with some meaningless title? I like my name, and I want to be called...

New plan first of its kind

DALLAS (AP) — A plan by school administrators for learning-handicapped students groups them by ability rather than by grade level in a pilot program that would be the only one of its kind in Texas.

Dallas Superintendent Linus Wright said the program would try to "mainstream" special education students into regular classes at their level of ability rather than by their age group.

Officials said on Monday the pilot program would eliminate special education programs such as the Chapter I remedial plan and use the money from those programs to reduce class sizes and train teachers to work better with slow learners.

Gold plates may aid state

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston foundry owner is pushing a plan to help balance the state budget by selling gold-plated license plates to the ultra-vain for $500 a year.

"It's the ultimate, the gold card in license plates for the people who still have a couple of dollars to spend to help the state," said Roy Champiomont.

The solid bronze tag weighs two pounds and bears raised letters and numbers that are gold-plated. Under Champiomont's plan, the state would get $300 of the $500 annual fee for the plate. He would keep the rest.

For a second year, the plates would cost only $300. The price would go down to $200 for the third year. The purchaser would own and keep the plate after it expired.

Moody to be jailed

HOUSTON (AP) — An attorney for millionaire Shearn Moody Jr. is asking the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to overturn a federal judge's decision to jail the Galveston businessman on a civil contempt charge.

An appeal has been sent to the federal court in New Orleans requesting the federal court to overturn U.S. District Judge Carl Bue's decision to jail Moody without bond, attorney Marian Rosen said Monday.

A writ of habeas corpus filed with Bue was denied Monday, she said, and that decision also is being appealed to the federal court.

Bue ordered Moody and his assistant Norman Revie jailed Friday because they refused to cooperate with a federal grand jury.

Ranger doubts Lucas tale

EL PASO — A Texas Ranger testified that it was doubtful that Henry Lee Lucas, a self-proclaimed serial killer who recanted his confessions, was in El Paso when a woman was slain in her home.

Ranger Phil Ryan said Monday it's unlikely that Lucas left the Stoneburg, Texas, area until June 4, 1983, about 10 days after Librada Apodaca's death. Ryan and a Montague County district attorney's investigator were interested in Lucas and kept an informal watch on him during that time because he was a prime suspect in the disappearances of two women in the North Texas county, testimony showed.

Couple's slaying tried

MANSFIELD — Two men have been charged with capital murder against two men in the slayings of an engaged couple killed in a $15 robbery, police said.

Janet Louise Hancock, 21, and her fiance, Army Lt. Daniel Brennon Meyer Jr., 22, were shot several times after Miss Hancock apparently recognized one of the assailants, investigators said. Miss Hancock was a student at the University of Texas at Arlington. Meyer expected to graduate in December from Texas A&M.

The shootings took place about 1:30 a.m. Sunday in a field where a housing subdivision is under construction.

Southland to sell stock

DALLAS — The Southland Corp. signed an agreement to sell half of its stock in Citgo Petroleum Corp. to a subsidiary of Venezuela's state-owned oil company for $290 million, officials said.

The agreement, signed Monday in Caracas, calls for Petroleo de Venezuela, S.A., to pay cash for the stock on Sept. 30.

Southland officials said the agreement would enable Citgo to take advantage of PDVSA's exploration and production facilities, while the head of the Venezuelan company said it would ensure a market for the country's crude oil.

Part of Venezuela's cash will be generated by Citgo's payment for crude delivered since a letter of intent was signed Feb. 5. Southland officials said.

Union dispute resolved

PHOENIX, Ariz. — A union victory in a contract dispute at Greyhound Lines Inc. is putting unionized drivers behind the wheels on about 1,000 miles of bus routes in the Southwest and New England, it was reported today.

Arbitration on the Greyhound Lines labor contract followed an apparent attempt by the company during the spring to replace more than 100 Amalgamated Transit Union drivers with lower-paid drivers by discontinuing routes that could be served by two smaller bus companies, according to documents cited by a newspaper.

Those smaller lines — Texas, New Mexico, & Oklahoma Coaches Inc. and Vermont Transit — were owned by Greyhound Lines' parent company, the Phoenix-based Greyhound Corp.

Chemicals spill at dock

HOUSTON — Hazardous chemicals spilled into the water after a ship slammed into a dock, prompting the Houston Ship Channel near the San Jacinto Battleground to be closed temporarily, officials say.

Coast Guard Commander Alan Dujenski said the tanker Vardass, out of Hong Kong, severed 12 pipelines when it struck the Pak Tank dock in Deer Park about 3:40 a.m. Monday.

The dock was destroyed and about 1,600 gallons of chemicals spilled into the channel, he said.

Minister commits suicide in Abilene

ABILENE — In his last sermon, the Rev. Dr. David Ray used humor to exhort churchgoers to attend an evening service.

"But if He tells you it's all right to stay home and watch TV, I want you to know I'm going to pray that your TV tube blows up," Ray told the congregation at South Side Baptist Church.

After they laughed, he added, "I did that in another city once and between 7 and 8 p.m. that night, the cable went out and no TV in town worked. You think the church wasn't packed Monday night?"

Those who heard the sermon Sunday morning said there was no indication of internal turmoil that would cause Ray to take his life a few hours later.

Friends said, however, that the 53-year-old evangelist had been depressed by the death of two close relatives in the past two weeks, and that he expressed dissatisfaction with his own preaching that morning.

"But it was a marvelous sermon. My kids (ages 5 and 10) even came home talking about it, and they're not always that attentive in 'big church,'" one distraught member said.

Ray, a former Hardin-Simmons University official who had been a fulltime evangelist since 1978, was found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the driveway of his parents' home near the Wylie community in south Abilene shortly after 4 p.m.

Justice of the Peace Clarence Collins ruled the death a suicide. He said Ray placed a 12-gauge shotgun under his chin and pulled the trigger.

Ray had opened a four-day revival Sunday morning and was scheduled to preach at the church again at 7 p.m.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

Crossroads Country football teams suffered through a tough weekend against non-district foes, finishing with a 3-6 record. Stanton, Forsan and Sands were victorious, while Coahoma, Grady, Klondike, Garden City, Colorado City and Borden County lost. Here is what area coaches had to say about last week's encounters.

Billy Kidd, whose Coahoma team fell to 0-2 with a 20-4 loss to Stanton.

"I thought we played pretty well offensively. We messed around at the first of the game, and let them block a punt on us that set up their first touchdown. That was a crucial mistake.

"And just before the half, we drove the ball the length of the field to the one-yard line and fumbled. That's two crucial mistakes that gave them a score and kept us from scoring.

"I think that turned the game around — third down on the one with 30 seconds in the half and we didn't score. But Stanton has a good football team.

"Up 'till then we were playing tough defense. We didn't want to have to throw the ball, but they forced us, and we threw the ball pretty good."

Tom Ham, Klondike, on the Cougars 62-13 loss to Jayton.

"I was impressed. Until somebody proves different, Jayton has the best six-man football team in Texas — by far.

"We did well — we really did. They're (Jayton) going to be head and shoulders above everybody. They're big, strong, and they have excellent speed. They could play Class A 11-man, I guarantee you.

"I'm proud of our team. This is our second game with six-man, and most of our kids had never seen it before we started playing it.

"We're still just trying to do the same things, just better, so we can be more like Jayton."

JOE BOND
...Borden County

Dale Ruth, on Stanton's 20-6 win over Coahoma.

"We were pretty happy about it. Our kids played real well. Our kids got after it and Coahoma's kids got after it — I feel like it was a real good game.

"We made 289 yards and I feel like our kids are really coming along. Derek Sorley had 100 yards, and James Vidal had 90. Greg Barnhill had 50.

"We had a very good workout on the option. In our first game we couldn't run it because it was too wet. Against Coahoma we got the hang of it."

"On defense, Sorley had 18 tackles and Vidal and defensive end Stan Young played well.

Tony Stricklin, whose Garden City Bearcats fell to 0-2 with a 20-7 loss to Grand Falls.

"We moved the ball a lot better, but we made some mental mistakes. We have some young players playing new positions and it hurt us.

"I was real pleased with the reception Doyle Shaefer made on the touchdown. It was a real good catch and a good run. Kenny Bennett, our quarterback, did a good job reading the secondary and finding the open man. Sergio Rosas whipped his man all night long.

"We've had some of our best workouts, but we realize our limits. We're going to take our lumps, but we're going to come on."

Jan East, on Forsan's 20-6 win over Plains that upped the Buffaloes record to 2-0.

"We played a lot better. Defensively we played a pretty good ballgame. Wayne (Wright) had another good game — he had 16 tackles and an interception. In all, we picked off three passes. Lee Morris and Brant Nichols both had interceptions, and Brant returned his back for a touchdown.

"Offensively, Wayne had 103 yards and a touchdown. We're still not where we want to be on our passing game. We scored once on a pass, but we had three interceptions.

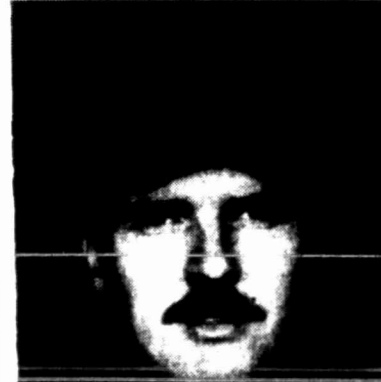

"Next week we play Coahoma for the first time, and I think it will be pretty interesting."

Tom Ramsey, Colorado City, on his team's 34-18 loss to Seminole.

"When it was 27-18, we made some mistakes that put us out of the ballgame. We had a blocked punt, two fumbles and two interceptions.

"We were able to throw for 200 yards and two touchdowns. Quarterbacks Cary Ritchey and Ismael Silva threw it pretty well, and Michael Swann caught five passes for 104 yards.

"Gerry Hulme led the team in tackles, and Kerry and Ricky Arispe each had interceptions."

MIKE MATHIS

TONY STRICKLIN

Joe Bond, on Borden County's 41-26 loss to Sands.

"I was pretty well pleased with our overall performance. It was a seven point game and they threw a long pass and scored with four seconds. I really wasn't anticipating that kind've play. I wouldn't have done it — I'll put it that way.

"They only scored six points in the second half up until then. We had made adjustments at halftime, and I thought we did well in holding them to six.

"Mickey Burkett was the leading tackler with 18, and 11 of those were unassisted.

"Offensively, Brice Key scored on a 36 yard run, and he had one pass reception for 60 yards and one for ten. He also had a fumble recovery."

Mike Mathis, on Grady's 74-32 loss to Blackwell, which dropped the Wildcats to 0-2.

"We played pretty good. In the first quarter, we were pretty flat, but in the third and fourth quarters we threw the ball real well this time, which was a bright spot.

"We had some breakdowns, which let them score most of their points. But we're young, and that's going to happen.

"Walt Stone threw the ball well, and played his best game so far. Scott Terrell played well on offense and defense."

Broncos buck Steelers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Denver Broncos are discovering that help can sometimes come from the most unlikely sources. Like the Pittsburgh Steelers' fans.

The Broncos improved their record to 2-0 Monday night by beating the Steelers 21-10 in a game that may have turned on a touchdown the crowd helped them get.

It came late in the third quarter with Denver holding a 7-3 lead. But Pittsburgh was coming on — Gary Anderson had just kicked a 42-yard field goal to give the Steelers their first points in seven quarters dating back to last season, and the always noisy crowd was aroused.

On a third down and one from the Pittsburgh 34, quarterback John Elway faked to Sammy Winder who dove high into the line. Then Elway, who threw for 243 yards and three touchdowns, faded back, hiding the ball on his hip, holding it ... holding it ... holding it ... then flicking it finally over the defense to a wide open Steve Sewell who scooted into the end zone.

"Steve was covered all the way," Elway said later, "and I was about to look for my secondary receiver. Then I heard the crowd roar and the defensive back seemed to let up and Steve was all alone."

"I knew the guy was with me," Sewell said of Harvey Clayton, the Pittsburgh cornerback who was covering him. "But as I looked back, I saw a Pittsburgh guy throw up his hands like he had stopped Sammy and the crowd roared and then I was all alone. All I had to do was wait for the ball come down."

The Pittsburgh loss — the Steelers' second straight loss following a 7-9 1985, their first losing season in 15 years — followed a week of harsh criticism in Pittsburgh following a season-opening 30-0 loss in Seattle.

The criticism continued in the form of continuous boos from the fans during the first half, when Denver took a 7-0 lead on 21-yard second-quarter pass from Elway to Steve Watson.

The boos were particularly loud

Pittsburgh Steelers John Rienstra (79) moves in on a ball fumbled by Denver Broncos Louis Wright (20) during fourth quarter action in Pittsburgh Monday night. Also going for the loose ball is Pittsburgh's Tunch Ilkin.

for quarterback Mark Malone and the offense, which managed only 68 yards in the first half.

But after Rich Karlis missed a 27-yard field goal attempt on Denver's first possession of the second half, Malone finally got hot, completing five straight passes in a drive that set up Anderson's field goal. And after Sewell's touchdown, the Steelers came back again on a 73-yard drive culminated by Rich Erenberg's 7-yard touchdown run.

Then came the game's most controversial play.

From his own 21, Elway pitched over-handed to Gerald Willhite, who appeared to be well behind him. Willhite ran a few steps forward, then threw the ball downfield to Steve Watson, who took it all alone and waltzed in for the end zone.

Redskins back will miss six weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems that no matter what Kelvin Bryant does, he can't get a career going in the National Football League.

Earlier this year, an arbitrator shot down Bryant's attempt to leave the USFL for the NFL. Bryant eventually got his chance to join the Washington Redskins last month shortly after the USFL suspended operations, but now a knee injury has once again short-circuited his quest to excel in the NFL.

The star running back, injured in Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Raiders, underwent arthroscopic surgery on two stretched ligaments in his left knee Monday night. He will be out for at least six weeks, team officials said.

Bryant, the second-leading rusher in USFL history, had immediately become a key contributor to the Redskins. After scoring two touchdowns in his debut Sept. 7, Bryant injured the knee with 18 seconds to play in the first half of Washington's 10-6 victory.

Team trainer Bubba Tyer said Bryant stretched the knee's anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments. Tyer said the fragile joint will be immobilized for three weeks and Bryant will then undergo three weeks of "aggressive rehabilitation."

Bryant injured the knee and sprained his left ankle when he was tackled by two Raiders on a trap play. After being stopped by defensive end Sean Jones, Bryant had his leg folded under him when linebacker Jerry Robinson hit him head on.

Bryant, Washington's 7th-round draft pick in the 1983 NFL draft, came to the Redskins soon after the USFL freed its players to participate in the NFL. Months earlier, Bryant had sued the USFL's Baltimore Stars for breach of contract, but an arbitrator ruled against him.

Bryant, used in Washington's one-back offense primarily on passing plays, made a fine over the shoulder 24-yard catch against Los Angeles Sunday to set up the Redskins' first score. But after his injury, he was forced to watch the rest of the game in street clothes on the sideline.

Bryant's injury was initially diagnosed as a sprained knee, but Tyer said the joint was more swollen on Monday morning than on Sunday, prompting the decision to probe the knee.

Jets lose star player

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — It is difficult for Freeman McNeil not to think about wasted time, lost opportunity, freak accidents.

The injury jinx has struck him again and, this time, all of the hard work and extra conditioning he put himself through in the offseason meant nothing.

"The hardest part of all this is knowing I was in as good shape as

I've ever been and I was really raring to go," McNeil says. "But now

Now he will sit on the sidelines for at least four weeks with a dislocated elbow. McNeil has managed only one full season in his five-year professional career with the New York Jets — and that was in 1982, a season which was cut to nine games by the players' strike.

Aging catcher shows speed; Angels edge White Sox, 7-6

By The Associated Press
Perhaps Bob Boone will never be known as "Lightning" or "Speedy," but how many of his California Angels teammates can say they scored from second base on a fly ball?
"We'll never hear the end of it," California Manager Gene Mauch said after his 38-year-old catcher did just that in the Angels' 6-5 victory Monday night over the Chicago White Sox. "I've been telling Boone, to keep thinking he can act like a kid, and he keeps trying to show me up."

Yankees 5, Orioles 3
Don Mattingly knew what to look for and what to do when he got it.
"When Don Aase gets behind in the count, you know you're going to get a fastball," said Mattingly, who hit a 2-1 pitch into the right-centerfield seats for a decisive three-run homer in the seventh inning.

The homer, Mattingly's 26th, but first since Aug. 30, made a loser of Orioles right-hander Mike Boddicker, 14-11. Boddicker, who struck out 10, is 0-6 in his last nine starts and has not won since Aug. 4.
Dave Righetti finished up for his major-league leading 40th save. He has converted 23 consecutive save opportunities.

Blue Jays 5, Brewers 2
Toronto's Willie Upshaw, with just 10 hits in his last 44 at-bats, knew it was time to make some changes.
"The changes I made (in his batting stance) felt good," said Upshaw, who went 3-for-4 and hit a decisive three-run homer in the fifth inning for Toronto.

Rookie left-hander John Cerutti, 9-3, pitched seven strong innings as the Blue Jays remained in a second-place tie with the Yankees. Both trail idle Boston by 8 1/2 games in the East.
Cerutti gave up six hits, walked four and struck out two in seven innings plus. Tom Henke recorded his 21st save.

Indians 4, Twins 0
When Phil Niekro talks, fellow knuckleballers listen.

"Phil Niekro told me that what I have to do is start the game with command of just one of my knucklers," Tom Candiotti said after pitching a seven-hitter for Cleveland's fourth consecutive victory.

Niekro, 47 and a lifetime 311-game winner, has helped Candiotti, 29, master the knuckleball. Candiotti, 14-11, throws the floater at various speeds.

In pitching his third shutout, Candiotti tied Minnesota's Bert Blyleven for the league lead with 14 complete games.

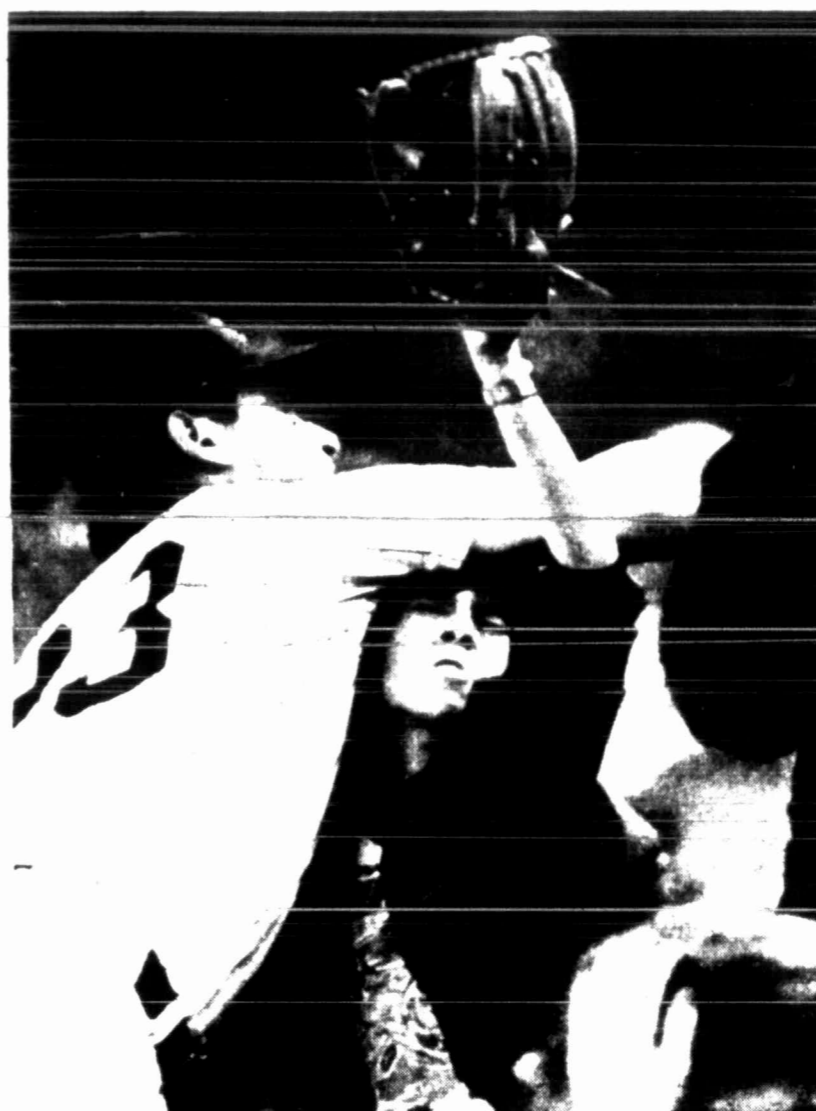

Tony Bernazard broke a scoreless tie with a fifth-inning homer.

Frank Viola, 14-12, took the loss, Minnesota's ninth straight on the road.

Rangers 6, A's 2
There are times when a knuckleballer has no idea where his pitch is heading. It was one of those nights for Charlie Hough, whose first pitch of the game sailed six feet behind Oakland leadoff hitter Donnie Hill.
"At one point, I was even aiming at the hitters and hoping the ball would break over the plate," Hough explained.

But he hung on, pitching five innings to improve his record to 13-10. Dale Mohorcic pitched the last three innings for his seventh save.

A two-run double by Pete O'Brien triggered a four-run third that made Hough a winner despite allowing solo homers to Mickey Tettleton and Carney Lansford.

New York Yankees first baseman Don Mattingly reaches over a young fan to try to snare a foul ball that landed out of his reach in the stands at Yankee Stadium.

Broncos

But line judge Boyce Smith ruled that Elway had passed the ball forward to Willhite and the play was nullified, although the instant replay in the press box showed it appeared to be a lateral.

"I thought it was a terrible call," said Elway. "My only job on the play is to make sure it's a lateral and it was. I asked the referee to ask for a replay and he said 'we can't ask for a replay unless they call us from the booth.'"

Bob McElwee, the referee told a pool reporter afterwards: "We don't think about consulting the replay."

It turned out to have no effect.

Pittsburgh got the ball back, but Denver's Tony Lilly picked off a pass by Malone, who finished with 22 completions in 48 attempts for 216 yards and was almost the entire offense, since the Steelers gained just 30 yards on the ground.

From there the Broncos took six plays to go 31 yards for the clinching touchdown, a 13-yard pass from Elway to Winder.

For Denver, it's now a matter of building on a 2-0 record. For Pittsburgh, it's a matter of rebuilding.

"We have some young people in there and we've got to hang with them," said Coach Chuck Noll. "I think they'll come around if we do that. They need my support and they're going to get it."

AL

Boone's dash — on a deep fly to Chicago left fielder John Cangelosi — highlighted a five-run seventh inning the Angels rode to a victory that reduced to 11 their magic number for clinching the American League West title.
Cangelosi, who made an over-the-shoulder catch on the warning track in left-center, stumbled and was carried to the wall by his own momentum.
Urbano Lugo, making his first start in more than a year, scattered four hits over 6 2/3 innings, and Gary Pettis and Jones drove in two runs apiece for California. Donnie Moore pitched the final 1 2/3 innings for his 19th save.
Any combination of California victories and Texas defeats totaling 11 would give the Angels the crown.

Mets lose fourth straight

By The Associated Press
How long is it going to take? This magic number business is a little trickier than the New York Mets thought at first.
The Mets lost a fourth straight game for only the second time this season, on a bases-loaded walk in the 13th inning Monday night. Curt Ford drew ball four from Roger McDowell and Willie McGee was waved home, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory.

NL

The Mets' magic number stayed at two since Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-0 after completing a three-game weekend sweep of the Mets. New York — still — needs any combination of Mets wins and Phillies losses adding to two in order to win the National League East.

New York's Ron Darling gave up four hits and four walks in his nine shutout innings.
Each team lost several scoring chances. The Mets hit into three double plays, the Cardinals into two.

St. Louis, in its best opportunity, missed scoring after having runners on second and third with none out in the second.

Phillies 5, Pirates 0
John Russell drove Philadelphia's first four runs with a double and triple, and Mike Schmidt passed another milestone with a solo homer. Schmidt's 36th home run of the season — best in the majors — was the 494th of his career, and moved him past Lou Gehrig into 14th place on the all-time list.

Don Carman, 9-5, pitched a four-hitter for his first major-league shutout, though he did throw nine shutout innings in his perfect-game bid last month.

Cubs 7, Expos 3
Rafael Palmeiro hit a two-run double and Chico Walker had four hits, scored two runs and drove in one, as Chicago pounded out 15 hits to beat Montreal.

"I prefer batting either first or second," said Walker, who hit leadoff Monday. "I've been in different spots in the order, but I like it at the top because that's where I feel I can make things happen."

Jamie Moyer, 6-4, gave up two runs in five innings. Scott Sanderson pitched the final four innings for his first save since 1983.

Sub varsity roundup

Runnels Red 14, Sweetwater White 0
Raul Castillo led the Runnels attack Saturday in Sweetwater with 69 yards on 14 carries, including one touchdown and a two-point conversion. Johnny Lozano scored the other Runnels touchdown.
Shane Myrick, Robbie Dennis and Thomas Sanchez also played well in the win.
In the other game, Sweetwater Red defeated Runnels White 20-0.
Goliad A team 20, Snyder A team 0
The A team shutout Snyder Saturday at Blankenship Field. Coach Ben Neal cited the play of Ralph Labrew, Nick Roberson, Fernando Alvarez, Shannon Crenshaw, and Paul Ustead as being instrumental in the win.

Kevin Rogers scored on runs of two and six for Goliad. Travis Sinclair scored on a 60-yard run.
Goliad B team 28, Snyder B team 0
Jerry Thomas scored twice in leading the B-team to a shutout win over Snyder. Gerald Cobos, Rocky Ortega and Candy Perez played well in the win.

Big Spring JV 12, Pecos 7
For the first time since the two teams have been playing, the Big Spring junior varsity defeated

Pecos by a 12-7 margin.
It was a game of big plays for Big Spring. Fred Reid scored on a 75-yard yard play and Dennis Hartfield returned a kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown.

Coach Jack Dorsett credited the entire Steer defense with playing a good game. Big Spring is 1-0 for the season.

In other area games, Pecos downed the Big Spring freshmen 18-6, Forsan Jayvee lost 28-6 to Irion County. They play Coahoma Thursday in Coahoma.
Colorado City lost 19-14 to Seminole.

FSU linemen eulogized by coach

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Pablo Lopez was the least likely player on the Florida State football team to die a violent death, but he also was the one best prepared to meet his maker, according to Coach Bobby Bowden.

"I've been in coaching for about 34 years and in those 34 years I've had about three boys called," Bowden said Monday at a graveside ceremony for Lopez. "It seems to me sometimes that God seems to call the ones that are ready."

"Have you ever noticed, he doesn't seem to take the bad, he takes the good. They're the best prepared for it. If God had asked me which one on my team was most prepared, I'd have told him Pablo."

Lopez, 21, of South Miami, was shot to death during an altercation outside a fraternity dance on the school's Tallahassee campus at 1:40 a.m. Saturday.

Bowden was joined at the funeral ceremony by several hundred of Lopez' family members and friends, including at least a dozen University of Miami football players. Lopez became close to the Hurricanes players when he worked out with them during summer vacation.

"You and I do the grieving," Bowden said. "Pablo ain't going to suffer no more. I thank God for that. My football team will remember him until we die."

The coach's remarks were met with howls of grief and shouts of "Amen."

The congregation at an earlier church service included a varied mix of races and nationalities. Friends said that was a tribute to Lopez, whose parents came here from Puerto Rico.

"Everybody who met Pablo, loved him," said University of Miami running back Alonzo Highsmith.

Only three Florida State players were able to make the long trip from Tallahassee. Defensive lineman Fred Jones, Lopez's roommate, was a pall bearer. Inside linebacker John Eaford and wide receiver Randy White also attended the ceremony.

During the service at St. Raymond's Catholic Church, Leo Armbrust, the team chaplain for the University of Miami, spoke against violence and asked the worshippers to find it within themselves to forgive the man accused of shooting Lopez.

"We can only slap back so many times before we ourselves become victims," the Catholic priest said. "I'm going to ask you to pray for the man who killed Pablo. Furthermore, I'm going to ask you to forgive him. If we cannot do that, what have we become?"

Byron C. Johnson, 20, a non-student from Tallahassee, was jailed without bond on a charge of first-degree murder for the shooting of Lopez. Chevalle Leopolden Bennett, 21, a student at Tallahassee Community College, was charged as an accessory because he went with Johnson to get the gun used in the shooting, police said.

Edward Clark, another Florida State football player from Miami who was with Lopez during the shooting, was charged with aggravated assault and discharging a weapon in public.

According to police reports, Clark drove a car at a high rate of speed toward a crowd assembled outside the dance. The crowd scattered and no one was hurt. When the car stopped, Johnson began beating on it.

Clark and Lopez, who was a passenger in the car, left the dance but eventually returned. Johnson also left and returned with a shotgun, police reported.

When Lopez and Johnson began to argue again at the dance, Johnson shot him. Clark then fired a handgun toward the crowd, but the shot didn't hit anyone, according to the police report.

Lopez, 6-foot-4, 281 pounds, had been a starter for two years for the Seminoles. Bowden said Lopez had all the physical tools for a career in professional football.

The Florida State football team didn't have a game scheduled last weekend. They are scheduled to play North Carolina Saturday in Tallahassee.

"The kids will probably be a lot more serious for a while," Bowden said. "But his mother told us: 'Don't miss a lick. That's the way Pablo would have wanted it.'"

Lopez is survived by his mother Blanca Lopez, his father Benito Lopez Arzuaga and his wife of less than a week, Malverse Gamble.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A new idea can have expansive results for you. Before gaining a worthwhile goal, make some surprising changes if it is to be a successful venture.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Quietly handle whatever chances to advance come your way. You can benefit greatly from them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how to assist a good friend who has a strange problem and you get fine cooperation from this person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can express your finest talents in the business world. Be careful in handling credit matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Handling new interests is fine provided you plan wisely how best to proceed first.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You may have to make changes in whatever you are doing for your mate, so go along with them cheerfully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You get more data about pending projects and can become more successful with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to brighten up your surroundings and be more comfortable. Listen to suggestions from associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your plans with your mate may have to be revised in the evening, but this happens for the best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to make your home more charming and harmonious. Have a dinner party tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study correspondence well before you answer them and be inspired by wise thoughts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You see ways of adding to present assets and income. Wait until later for the best possible results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have a good idea for gaining your cherished wishes. This idea will snowball for great results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she should be taught how to be successful in the future by using practical and logical methods. The right kind of education and proper schools are important here. Teach the importance of objectivity and not to be influenced by the wrong people.

Lillie Gonzalez poses with one of her El Pato restaurants in McAllen. Mrs. Gonzalez, 71, opened her first restaurant in 1974. She cooked all day and made $32.

Restaurateur uses creativity

McALLEN — Lillie Gonzalez has rolled her tortillas, eggs and beans into millions of dollars in the past decade and she had done it with the tasty combination she calls "patos," not the customary burritos.

Mrs. Gonzalez, 71, is owner of El Pato, a chain of seven Mexican fast food restaurants stretching from Brownsville to Mission in the Rio Grande Valley.

She advertises her restaurants as "The Valley's Amigo."

"Mexican food is very tasty and I think people want to try something different. They've had enough of pizzas. They want to try something new," she said.

Her restaurants are popular for their breakfast tacos or "patos," which are white flour tortillas stuffed with a combination of scrambled eggs, bacon, potatoes, cheese and vegetables.

There is also the traditional Mexican lunch plates featuring crispy corn tacos with rice and beans, among others.

In 1974, when Mrs. Gonzalez opened her first restaurant, she cooked all day.

"I made $32 that day. I made the flour tortillas myself, everything myself because I wanted to see what I was getting into," she said.

"My husband said, 'Lillie, I'll give you 10 times that every day if you just quit and go traveling with me.' But I said, 'No, I saw the potential,'" Mrs. Gonzalez said.

Her restaurants were designed for carry-out orders, but some do have dining rooms.

In an area where Mexican food is plentiful, Mrs. Gonzalez said two things attract customers to El Pato — good food at a reasonable price.

"They're really nothing different than anybody else's, but it's my own recipe," she said.

Mrs. Gonzalez said she began calling her flour tacos "patos" because she wanted to use the name El Pato, the name of her late husband's Mexican food distributorship.

Burrito is Spanish for donkey and pato is Spanish for duck.

"When I first started, nobody knew what it was. I had to train them. It took a few months before it caught on," Mrs. Gonzalez said. "Now, if anybody says they're selling white patos, they'd better have ducks."

Mrs. Gonzalez, already wealthy before she opened her restaurants, said she has added to her bank account.

"I'm not going to tell you how much I've made," she said at her home. "But as you can see, I'm very comfortable."

Mrs. Gonzalez was born in La Coste, outside of San Antonio, but her parents and two sisters made their home in East Chicago.

Then in 1974, she pleaded with her husband to let her open a restaurant.

"He was completely against it," Mrs. Gonzalez said. "I always felt I wanted to do this and use some of my own home recipes."

"To me, I didn't feel (discouraged) because I believe if you have an idea you have to proceed with it," she said. "I'm a great believer in advertising and I established my own credit and I just perceived there would be no problems."

Although she started her restaurant career late in life, she doesn't think about age and said she might open more restaurants.

"I don't intend to stop," she said. "I don't think it makes any difference if you're young or old."

'National Make Fun of Congress' bill defeated

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virtually every day one member or another of the House of Representatives sends out letters — seeking support for a position or a bill — which are dubbed collectively "Dear Colleagues."

One such letter circulated to congressional offices last week on the letterhead of Rep. Robert Dornan, R-Calif., stood out from the rest.

In it, Dornan was represented as appealing for help in securing passage of a resolution designating a "National Make Fun of Congress Week," something said to happen from time to time but not generally advocated by sitting members of the House.

"Constituents do it; the media does it; even my mother does it; and now you can too," the letter opened. "Congressmen do funny things. It's time they got the recognition they have earned."

The missive declared that there were ample reasons for creating such a make-fun week: Such as members of Congress who make long speeches to a large and completely empty room; members who call their most bitter enemies "esteemed" and "distinguished" and "honorable"; those who wear dark conservative business suits while trying to cultivate a populist image.

"It's time we all had a good laugh at our own expense," the letter said.

But wait. Other congressional offices began calling Dornan's office asking about the let's-make-fun-of-ourselves letter.

"What letter?" Dornan staff members inquired, and started an investigation.

The letter, Dornan spokesman Paul Morell said, was bogus, a fake, a fraud, a hoax, a put-on.

Told that a copy had arrived just two minutes earlier in the office of Rep. Richard Arney, R-Texas, Morell gave chase and found a Harvard University student delivering the lets-make-fun-of-Congress letters in the Longworth House Office Building.

Morell said the letter writer, a Washington, D.C. resident, claimed the stunt was "only a joke, nothing more."

Morell declined to identify the perpetrator. But he said there was a penalty involved. The student agreed to deliver a genuine Dornan letter to House office declaring that the first one was a fake.

Making fun of Congress may remain a national pastime. But few on Capitol Hill are endorsing the idea.

And certainly not in a "Dear Colleague."

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

JOB SEARCH — Ruby Taroni, owner of Big Spring Employment Agency, helps people find employment and employers find qualified applicants.

Employment agency helps job hunters

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by consulting a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located with Home Real Estate at 2600 Gregg.

Finding the right person for the job is the duty of Ruby Taroni, experienced personnel counselor at Big Spring Employment. Mrs. Taroni joined the firm in 1961 and has 24 years of experience in the local market. Today she owns the firm.

Throughout the years, Mrs. Taroni has developed many contacts at Big Spring business firms and has her finger on current openings in temporary, part-time and full-time positions of all kinds. Her knowledge of local companies is of great help in placing applicants — bringing together qualified applicants with compatible companies.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluates each applicant before he or she is sent for an interview.

She spends many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements. Thus, fewer rejections make for better public relations. There also is a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tend to rise.

Many highly-qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity. All services at Big Spring Employment are handled on a confidential basis.

Big Spring Employment carries an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.
