Lewis: tax hike needed

From wire and Bureau reports
AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gib Lewis says a tax hike has become inevitable and he will recommend one during the current special session.

The speaker, who had been the prime opponent to a tax hike, said Tuesday it has become obvious that his efforts to solve the budget crisis through spending cuts will fall short.

"It's not a question of whether we will have one," he said of a tax bill. "I think it's a question of how much we will have. I think it's probably necessary, and I'll probably be recommending a tax increase to the members."

But House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Stan Schlueter said Tuesday that Lewis faces a tough battle in winning House backing for any type of tax increase. Schlueter's committee planned to hold a hearing on taxes today, but he said no specific bill would be considered.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said he probably would push a temporary increase in the state sales tax, but he did not know how much of a hike would be needed. Gov. Mark White wants the state sales tax raised from the current 4½ percent to 5½ percent, with the increase expiring next September.

Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, was not surprised to hear of Lewis' remarks to reporters because Lewis told him virtually the same thing Tuesday morning, he said.

"He felt like we had pretty much exhausted all the alternatives we had to avoid a tax bill before the regular session. He feels like, and I tend to agree that, if we cannot come to an agreement that gets us through until January, it would be highly irresponsible to start bouncing checks in December."

Shaw said it appears that a temporary sales tax hike may be necessary, but he said he would reserve support for a tax bill until he could look at the specifics.

The Senate has been ready to approve a tax hike for several weeks, but Lewis has pushed a plan he said could solve the state cash-flow problem without higher taxes.

But the speaker acknowledged Tuesday that not enough of his plan will win legislative approval to avoid a tax hike.

"I think what you'll see is once we've been able to agree on a bottom line on the budget reductions (and cash management proposals), I think at this point you'll see us fall short," he said.

Schlueter, D-Killeen, said opposition to a tax bill remains strong in the House.

"I still say the vote in Ways and Means is still 10-3 (against a tax bill). There are not adequate votes on the floor to pass a tax bill," he said.

"There are a lot of different agendas moving around on the floor, and finding the necessary votes to pass a tax bill is going to be a very difficult job. I think the speaker is going to have to be very persuasive. I think it's going to be an uphill battle," he said.

Schlueter said if a tax bill proves necessary, he would favor removing exemptions to the sales tax, rather than increasing the rate.

Lewis said House members will find a tax bill increasingly attractive when it is compared with the alternative.

Fiberflex replaces Christopher

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Charles "Chris" Christopher has been replaced at the helm of Fiberflex, Mike Barker, vice-president of personnel said this morning.

The firm has brought in Pete Sanger, considered a top trouble shooter for Abercrombie Mineral Co. of Houston, majority partner of the fiber products company.

Christopher has retained interest in the company, Barker said, but his role in a managerial capacity is unclear, he added.

Christopher, according to Barker, has been in Dallas for several days and has been unavailable for comment.

"It's not as if he (Christopher) is not involved — he still has his interest," he said, adding that Christopher is "still friendly with us."

As of Aug. 21, Christopher said he owned 35 percent of the company and intended to stay on as managing partner.

Barker declined to say specifically when Sanger was handed the company reins, but said the change "was not as sudden as people think."

Sanger has acted as a major company advisor for more than a year, Barker said. Abercrombie made him chief executive officer because Sanger has an "excellent history of turning companies around," Barker said.

Fiberflex, as with many oil-related companies, had sustained losses because of sagging oil prices, Christopher said in August.

Sanger is a seasoned businessman with a knack for making acquisitions and joining several companies' resources to strengthen a financially weaker one, Barker said.

Barker said he could not say what, if any, deals Sanger has in mind to bolster Fiberflex.

The ailing company has laid off scores of employees over the past months, but Barker said he does not anticipate more layoffs.

In fact, the firm has just hired five people, he said, to help with manufacturing of non-oil related products that have been selling well.

He said agricultural T-posts and electrical insulators "are really starting to move."

The company has had large orders from the insulators from companies in Ohio and Alabama, he said.

New Medicare tax law on school board agenda

The new Medicare tax law is on the agenda for consideration by the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees at its regular meeting at 5:15 p.m. Thursday in the high school board room.

The law requires all governmental agencies whose employees don't pay Social Security to pay a Medicare tax, said Superintendent Lynn Hise. Only new employees are charged the tax, 0.45 percent of salary, and the district must match the amount, he said.

The tax would be $9 a month for a teacher earning near the average salary, $24,000 a year, he said. The district would have to match the $9.

Although the district has 45 new employees, "over a period of time, everybody would be paying that," Hise said.

The board also will consider approval of teacher appraisers. Hise said 22 appraisers were trained this summer, mostly principals and assistant principals, and two teachers. The board must approve the appraisers, who then must be certified by the state.

Budget amendments for consideration regard 1985-86 contract and purchase order balances, computer printers, copier machines, workbooks and kindergarten equipment.

Also on the agenda are employment and resignation of personnel, disposition of South Ward School.

Reagan threatens to veto big bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he is ready to shut down the federal government rather than agree to a nearly $570 billion omnibus spending bill pending in the House — the largest such measure Congress has ever considered.

By voice vote on Tuesday, the Democratic-controlled House Appropriations Committee approved the package that is necessary to finance most government operations and programs for the entire fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The full House is due to consider the legislation later this week.

However, the president wants more for the military and foreign aid and less for domestic programs than is included in the package, called a continuing resolution.

"I simply cannot agree to these provisions if they survive House and Senate action and reach my desk as part of a continuing resolution," Reagan told Republican congressional leaders at the White House on Tuesday.

1987 budget may be ready by end of week

AUSTIN (AP) — House and Senate negotiators say they hope to have an agreement on budget cuts for 1987 before the end of the week.

Rep. James Rudd, D-Brownfield, House chairman, said cuts for state colleges and universities was the only major roadblock remaining.

"I think we are almost there," Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, chief Senate negotiator, said after a surprisingly amicable session of the 10-member conference committee on Tuesday.

The Sunday and Monday sessions had been marked by bitter arguments over how much to cut from appropriations made by the 1985 Legislature, when the state was not in a dire financial crisis.

Rudd estimated it would take about two more days of discussions.

Speaker Gib Lewis and other House leaders have said the House, where all tax bills must originate, will not debate new taxes until legislators have agreed on budget cuts.

Both Jones and Rudd agreed at Tuesday's meeting that $505 million in cuts from 1987 appropriations was the "middleground" for a possible compromise. Originally the House made $739 million in reductions and the Senate $413 million.

The House conferees made a compromise proposal Tuesday morning that Rudd said was 9 percent lower than the money originally appropriated for state colleges and universities. Originally the House proposed 1987 budget cuts of 13 percent for higher education.

The Senate made 2.5 percent cuts in higher education funds.

"We are looking at that (the House compromise offer)," said Jones. "and at the next meeting will probably make our proposal, something more than $505 million."

"These cuts average 4 percent (down) from our original positions and we think this is a fair and reasonable cut to take over the biennium," Rudd said about the new House offer.

Rudd noted that the 9 percent average cut would mean only 3.6 percent reduction in total operating funds for the University of Texas at Austin and 4.2 percent overall for Texas A&M. Both schools have additional sources of income besides the state's general revenue spending.

The House compromise offer would make a $123 million reduction in general revenue funds in 1987 appropriations for general academic purposes, compared to $168.3 million in the original House bill and $103.8 in the Senate bill.

A special $15 million fund would be set up to cover expected shortages resulting from increased tuition rates. The Senate set aside $20 million.

Plan band workshop

The Big Spring High School Steer Band will attend a motivational workshop presented by Dr. Tim Lautzenheiser Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

The workshop will "get the kids' energy focused more in the direction we want," said band director Ricky Mitchell. It will "get them to want to work toward" band goals.

Lautzenheiser will spend three hours Thursday afternoon with all members of the Steer Band, followed by another 90 minutes with band student leaders and officers, Mitchell said.

Lautzenheiser will acquaint band leaders and officers with their responsibilities and goals as leaders, the band director said.

A similar workshop was conducted last year, and proved both popular among students and beneficial for them, he said.

Lautzenheiser is president of Attitude Concepts for Today, Inc. of Bluffton, Ind. He is a former band director at New Mexico State University.

Arms reduction asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, in a move to bridge differences with the Soviets despite the arrest of an American reporter, is instructing U.S. negotiators to modify his demand for a 50 percent reduction in long-range nuclear weapons on both sides, a U.S. official said.

The plan, reducing a projected ceiling on strategic bombers and missiles, will be presented by Ambassador Max M. Kampelman at the negotiating table in Geneva when the new round of talks resume in the Swiss city on Thursday.

NASA to send satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — NASA and military officials hoped to bolster America's troubled space program today by launching a $37.3 million weather satellite atop a leftover missile after 16 delays.

"It's important because of the problems the NASA launch capability has experienced" since the shuttle Challenger exploded Jan. 28, killing seven crew members, said Jerry Longanecker, weather satellite manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The vehicle was built by General Dynamics in 1961 as a nuclear weapons-bearing intercontinental ballistic missile.

Plane lands in pool

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A small plane plunged into a backyard swimming pool, but its two occupants escaped injury, authorities said.

The single-engine Cessna went down Tuesday afternoon in a San Fernando Valley residential area 25 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles, said fire dispatcher John Patchett.

"There were two occupants and both of them are out of the airplane with no apparent injuries," he said. "The plane is sitting in a swimming pool."

Patchett said there were no injuries on the ground and the house apparently suffered no damage.

The identities of those involved were not immediately released.

Flight to be recreated

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — An aviation buff who plans to fly a biplane across the country to re-create the first transcontinental flight says he wants to remind people about the feat and to have fun for himself.

Calbraith P. Rodgers took off 75 years ago today, and to mark the occasion, Jim Lloyd, a 38-year-old metallurgist, planned to take off this morning from Frank Sinatra Drive here.

Although Rodgers left from across New York Harbor in Brooklyn, Lloyd plans to stop in many of the same towns. He even has lined up the same sponsor for the flight he hopes will end in Long Beach, Calif., by Halloween.

25 Soviets may go home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department, in an effort to pressure the Soviets to release U.S. journalist Nicholas Daniloff, will announce the names of 25 Soviet mission employees at the United Nations who must be sent home by Oct. 1, The Washington Post said in Wednesday's editions.

The announcement was tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, the newspaper said, and would comply with an earlier Reagan administration directive that ordered that the Soviets reduce their U.N. mission staff to 218 from 243 by Oct. 1, and further cut it back to 170 within three years.

State Department and White House spokesmen said they could not confirm the report Tuesday night.

Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, one of three generals accused in the Aug. 21, 1983, Manila airport assassination of Benigno Aquino, talks to reporters as he voluntarily surrendered along with 18 other military men at a suburban Manila military base Wednesday. Gen. Custodio was the head of the Manila airport security when Benigno Aquino, husband of President Corazon Aquino, was murdered upon arrival from an exile in the U.S.

20 military men voluntarily surrender

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Two generals and 18 other soldiers charged in the assassination of President Corazon Aquino's husband surrendered today. Prosecutors said they will review evidence to see if Ferdinand E. Marcos will also be charged.

The surrenders brought to 22 the number of military men taken into custody since a judge on Tuesday ordered the arrest of 26 defendants whose acquittals in the 1983 slaying of former Sen. Benigno Aquino were overturned by the Supreme Court last week.

The high court said the previous trial, which ended Dec. 2, was a "sham" orchestrated by Marcos, then Philippine president. Asked whether Marcos might now face charges in the case, prosecutor Francisco Villa replied, "Yes, of course, if the evidence so warrants."

"Whether he will be tried is another story," Villa added.

Marcos fled to Hawaii after a military-civilian revolt this February that was the culmination of 2½ years of protest set in motion by Aquino's slaying Aug. 21, 1983, when he landed at Manila airport after three years of voluntary exile in the United States.

There is no extradition treaty between the Philippines and the United States, and the Philippine constitution forbids trials in absentia.

In Washington, the man who will prosecute the Aquino case, Raul Gonzales, told The Associated Press Tuesday that he has evidence to indict up to five more people, including two unidentified former Cabinet ministers.

However, Gonzales, who is in the United States to address a group of American lawyers, said he has no evidence at present to show that Marcos himself was involved, as Mrs. Aquino has alleged.

Gonzales said he had also found two more witnesses to testify that a soldier, and not an alleged communist agent as had been claimed by the Marcos government, was Aquino's killer. Businesswoman Rewbecca Quijano testified at the trial that she saw a soldier fire on the opposition leader.

Those still sought in the case include Gen. Fabian C. Ver, the former armed forces chief of staff, who fled with Marcos to Hawaii. An air force captain charged in the slaying is also believed to be in the United States, military officials said.

A colonel and a civilian businessman believed to be in the Philippines have also been charged, but there was no word of their whereabouts.

Military spokesmen said the soldiers now in custody had been disarmed and their pay withheld.

Officials said the 22 so far accounted for, including two arrested Tuesday night, remained in custody except Prospero Olivas, a retired National Constabulary major general and former commander of the Manila area.

Court clerk Luisabel Alfonso Cortez said Olivas turned himself in to authorities today, posted $1,500 in bail and was released. Nine of the original 26 defendants are entitled to bail.

Nineteen of the 22, all air force personnel, appeared today before reporters at a suburban military base. Air force chief Maj. Gen. Ramon Farolan said they would be held at the base prison pending a court order on where they should be detained.

The 19 included Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, chief of the Aviation Security Command which handled security for Aquino when he returned from the United States.

"When the boys heard they were going to be arrested, they willingly surrendered," Air Force spokesman Col. Pablo Gonzales told reporters.

He initially refused to allow reporters to see the soldiers or interview them, saying, "We will not treat them like animals in the zoo." Later, Gonzales brought the 19 before reporters.

"After three years of suffering, here comes another suffering," he said. Marcos and the military claimed Aquino was killed by Rolando Galman, who they said was a communist agent. Galman was immediately gunned down by soldiers following Aquino's assassination.

Mrs. Aquino is on a visit to the United States.

Mine fire claims 184

EVANDER, South Africa (AP) — A raging fire one mile underground sent deadly chemical fumes billowing through a mine shaft, and officials said today as many as 184 miners died and 235 were injured in South Africa's worst gold mine disaster.

Patrick Njokwane, steward at the Kinross mine's No. 2 shaft 82 miles east of Johannesburg, said eight miners remained missing more than 24 hours after the fire broke out Tuesday morning in a welding accident.

Mine officials said there was little chance the missing workers survived.

Njokwane said six more bodies were brought up from the mine at 8 a.m. today, raising the death toll from the 170 given by officials at an early-morning news conference at the site.

14 killed in prison riot

BRASILIA, Brazil — Inmates at a prison outside Brasilia today threatened to kill hostages unless provided machine guns and getaway cars. Police said the death toll in a rebellion quelled by troops at another penitentiary rose to 14 prisoners.

The riot at the maximum security prison in the city of Presidente Venceslau began Monday when 17 inmates armed with homemade switchblades threatened to kill 14 prison employees unless provided machine guns and safe conduct, police inspector Robert Jose Escudeiro said.

After 19 hours of negotiations failed, about 600 riot troopers stormed the prison, about 500 miles south of Brasilia, the capital. All the hostages were freed, including seven who suffered minor knife wounds, Escudeiro said.

Greek quake toll at 20

KALAMATA, Greece (AP) — Officials said Tuesday that a 65-year-old woman had died of injuries suffered in an earthquake three days ago, bringing the toll to 20. Rescue workers continued to clear rubble and inspect buildings.

Authorities said 117 quake victims remained hospitalized here and in three other cities, and that building inspectors had so far declared 1,500 homes uninhabitable in this port city of 42,000.

DEA arrests witness

SAN DIEGO — A former Mexican police officer has been jailed as a material witness in the torture-slaying of American drug agent Enrique Camarena Salazar, authorities said Tuesday.

Carlos Mario Herrera-Martinez, a former Jalisco State police officer, was arrested by Drug Enforcement Administration agents Monday night in a restaurant in suburban Chula Vista, KFMB-TV reported Tuesday, quoting DEA officials.

Herrera-Martinez is being held at the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center, according to prison spokeswoman Linda Washington, who said she could provide no further details about him.

101-year-old gets ticket

WIMBORNE, England (AP) — John Meldrum, 101, was fined $50 for careless driving. He said it was his first offense in 71 years on the road, but that he wouldn't be getting behind a steering wheel again.

"When you are over 100 years old and your eyesight is not what it used to be, and your legs not as strong, it's time to give up," Meldrum, a retired factory owner, said Tuesday.

Magistrates at Wimborne in southwest England imposed the fine after police said Meldrum's Triumph sedan ran into the rear of another car that was turning.

No easy solution to space problem

Doubling the budget will not necessarily solve the problems the United States has with its space program. Spending twice as much is how the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics proposes to solve the problem, but the solution isn't that simple.

For one thing, the government doesn't have the money to double the $7.5 billion-a-year budget of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

For another, the Challenger investigation has brought to light a number of questions about the agency's management procedures, as well as its mission and goals. These questions need to be answered before decisions are made about what level of financing will be necessary.

The country can't afford too much delay. Without the ability to replace its space satellites as they wear out, the country eventually could find itself at a severe disadvantage in the areas of communications, weather forecasting and military surveillance. The Soviet Union isn't the only competitor. Space programs also are emerging in Europe, Japan and China.

Last April, federal audits indicated that NASA and its contractors wasted billions of dollars on the shuttle and other space programs. The New York Times reported that the audits reflected "a far different picture from that widely held before the Challenger catastrophe of an essentially smoothly running, trouble-free agency."

A higher level of spending may become necessary to restore the nation's satellite-launching capability and pursue whatever other goals Congress and the White House has set for NASA. The time to increase the spending, however, is when the goals have been set and NASA has demonstrated that it is able to pursue them efficiently.

Water meter tests thought invalid

To the editor:
It is convenient that we live in an area that has an abundance of sheep; so that the city managers have a supply of wool to pull over citizens' eyes.

Recent tests of water meters prove another attempt at deception. Tests on meters prove nothing unless the same conditions exist during the test as were present during the period of erroneous readings, and we all should be aware that the conditions were not the same because the system had a chance to stabilize.

My meter and neighbors' meters (not tested or changed) registered reductions from 5 to 11 thousand gallons from the previous month readings, and we all returned to our normal water uses.

With more than 300 complaints reported and an undetermined number of high billings that did not register a complaint, it appears that city officials have taken the position that the citizens do not know the expected results of their own actions and, if ignored, the citizens will go away.

If the computer system was worth its salt, it would be possible to prove that the city billed out more water than it purchased during the questionable period. If this were done, we would not have 300-plus grouches; rather 300-plus customers that were not happy with an injustice and subsequent buck-passing by the city.

Let's go to the facts and eliminate the fiction. We have all paid for enough air and it is about time the citizens got some straight answers.

Disagreement with letter expressed

To the editor:
This is in response to the letter by Vickie Logsdon, concerning the great job of house watching our Police Dept. is doing.

A few days ago a friend on Johnson Street was hospitalized and notified the Police Dept. to have her house patrolled. After coming home, she received a letter from the acting chief of police, in which was recorded the various times each officer patrolled her house.

Two friends and myself were overhauling her car during three days of this period. For two nights we worked on the car until after 1 a.m. and no police car ever did drive by on those nights. Who is pulling the wool over whose eyes?

I suggest Miss Logsdon go by any of our all-night restaurants, after midnight, and she can always find a policeman, because they gather for their coffee breaks.

If this housesitting is doing so much good, why are so many thefts and robberies taking place each night? Most thieves are too alert to even let a neighbor know they are there.

Sorry, Miss Logsdon; you have a lot to learn about our local Police Department. One gets the feeling that they collect their brownie points for DWI (drinking while intoxicated) citations, because this is where the heavy arrest items are. I think they should stay in their vehicles, stop house watching and stop socializing in cafes while on duty.

Let them buckle down, and patrol all of Big Spring, businesses and homes alike, regardless of whether a person is out for the evening or away for a week.

Air controllers' drug use shouldn't be a surprise

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The shocking allegations of illicit drug use by Los Angeles air traffic controllers shouldn't have surprised the Federal Aviation Administration. The agency was warned two years ago that drug abuse could be high among the 12,000 controllers who were hired to replace strikers fired in 1981.

The warning came from the Transportation Department's inspector general, who said: "Many of the newly hired individuals have prior records of involvement with civilian or military police involving drugs."

The inspector general's investigators found that 80 out of 2,108 controllers they checked had been implicated with drugs before joining the FAA, a spokesman told our associate Stewart Harris. Those studied were employed in the FAA's New England, Great Lakes and Northwest Mountain regions.

But none of the arrests prevented the FAA from hiring the desperately needed controllers. Federal law forbids discrimination against job applicants because of past histories of alcohol or drug abuse.

If the three regions studied by the inspector general's investigators are typical, there could be 450 air traffic controllers nationwide with drug records.

The inspector general noted that the number of such prior offenders could be higher than normal because most of the striker replacements grew up at a time when drug abuse was widespread.

Last year the inspector general's investigators found that three controllers at Scranton (Pa.) International Airport used marijuana. After a urinalysis exposed him, one controller confessed that his addiction was so strong that he smoked pot while traveling to and from work. The others admitted smoking marijuana as often as three times a month. None admitted using the perception-altering drug while actually working in the control tower.

The inspector general's report estimated that, all told, at least 1,500 FAA employees — controllers and others — should be enrolled in some kind of alcohol or drug rehabilitation program. Yet in fiscal 1985, only 262 FAA employees were actually enrolled in these programs.

FAA Administrator Donald Engen minimized the problem in an appearance on network television a few days ago. "We do not have a lot of drug abusers in the FAA," he asserted.

The agency did not take kindly to the inspector general's report, complaining that it didn't identify a single actual drug abuser who was on the FAA payroll. The agency insisted it has relatively few drug-related incidents considering the large number of employees.

In an internal memo, the FAA warned that the report could "severely damage public confidence in the air transportation system." Still, the fact remains that there's no way to know if control tower personnel are taking drugs, because the FAA doesn't require controllers to be tested for drug use.

While refusing to acknowledge that it has a problem, the FAA has dawdled for nearly two years over a program to test controllers for drug abuse before they are hired, then once a year after that. At first, the $700,000 drug testing program was postponed while the FAA tried to find funds. Then the program was delayed by the search for a laboratory to handle the testing.

The result is that actual drug testing for traffic controllers won't start until this December — 26 months after the inspector general warned the FAA brass that there might be junkies in their control towers.

The relaxed attitude toward drug and alcohol abuse among those on whom the safety of millions of air travelers depends is not limited to top officials in Washington, apparently. The 1984 inspector general report said: "We found that (control tower) supervisors are often reluctant to take necessary action against a drug or alcohol abuser before a serious conduct event (i.e., a safety violation, civil arrest) has occurred."

At one airport, for example, the report said, it wasn't until a "serious safety event occurred" that an FAA worker who was drinking on the job finally was ordered into rehabilitation. This was despite the fact that a concerned co-worker had warned the supervisor about the boozer on three separate occasions.

The inspector general urged a uniform agency policy for dealing with controllers who abuse drugs and alcohol. He also recommended hiring a full-time coordinator to run a nationwide rehabilitation program, training supervisors to refer workers with problems to the program and monitoring the workers' performance after they complete it. The full-time coordinator has not yet been hired.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Reactions to AIDS illogical

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, better known as AIDS, is one of the most deadly and baffling diseases of modern times. But nothing about it is as extraordinary as the reactions it evokes among people who by any reasonable judgment are not at risk. In many cases, the response is not prudent caution, but irrational panic.

The phenomenon is so bizarre that it probably deserves to be classified as a new mental illness. One company had its phone system sterilized after discovering that an employee had AIDS.

Another firm's fears led it to fire a man — not because he had the disease or its antibody (which many people develop without ever getting the disease), but because he told a co-worker that he knew someone with AIDS.

A telephone installer who disclosed his illness was put on disability leave after co-workers, as Time magazine reported, "refused to use the truck he had driven, demanded that the bathroom be used be disinfected and threatened to kill (him) if he returned to work."

The phobias go beyond the workplace. Parents have withdrawn their children from public schools rather than expose them to AIDS victims.

The reactions fly in the face of all medical evidence about the malady. AIDS is known to be transmitted only by sexual contact, sharing of hypodermic needles and transfusions of contaminated blood. There are no recorded cases of anyone getting it from casual contact.

The federal Centers for Disease Control says the "non-sexual person-to-person contact that generally occurs among workers and clients or consumers in the workplace does not pose a risk for transmission."

The implications of all this are plain. If you share your hypodermic needle or your body with an AIDS victim, you're in danger; if you share an office or restroom, you're not.

Why do many people, despite the evidence, react so violently to this disease? It isn't simply the fear of dying. We all do things every day that pose a far higher risk of death than being in the same room with an AIDS victim — taking a shower, driving to work, eating fat-laden foods. Nor is it simply the normal fear of a deadly plague, which is generated largely by the random impact of most plagues.

I suspect three factors are at work. One of them is simple homophobia. AIDS is primarily a disease of homosexual men, who evoke disgust and hatred among many Americans. The reactions of some people to AIDS victims aren't much different from the reactions that homosexuality itself once evoked.

For closet homophobes, fear of AIDS is a convenient tool. And AIDS itself tends to strengthen retrograde attitudes by providing "evidence" that God or nature is punishing homosexuality.

Another is the stigma attached to AIDS because it is perceived as a gay disease.

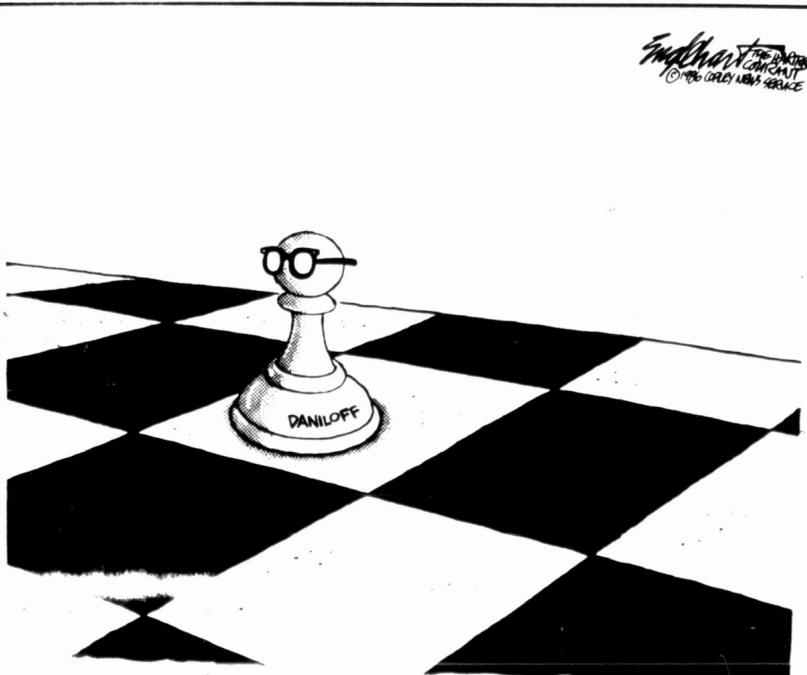

To be dead is no fun, but to be dead and suspected of homosexuality — well, now that's really intolerable.

A third is more complicated. All of us recognize that certain activities are risky, but we accept the risks because the activities are necessary (driving) or enjoyable (eating cheeseburgers). But for many people, there's no such trade-off involved in working with an AIDS victim.

They perceive, inaccurately, a risk, but they see no benefit. Only if they are personally close to the AIDS victim are they likely to accept voluntarily the supposed risk of contact.

With a little knowledge and a little sympathy, we all can learn to accommodate the unfortunate victims of AIDS.

Female roommates resent 'lesbian' label

DEAR ABBY: All this talk we're hearing about passing bills to ban homosexuals from housing and jobs leaves me wondering. Who is to decide who is gay and who isn't? Why does everyone assume that if a woman is not having sex with a man, she's gay? This has been a problem for me for a very long time. I'm 38, and for the last 12 years, I've shared a home with another single woman. I am not gay and neither is she, but society has automatically labeled us "lesbians" because neither of us has ever been married and we have lived together for so long.

This woman and I have no obligations or commitments to each other. If I could find a man with whom I could have the same arrangement, I wouldn't mind living with him. It would be more acceptable in our society for me to live with a man than a woman.

Abby, if any kind of measures are to be taken against homosexuals, will all married people be excluded? What about married folks who get their little kicks on the side with people of their own sex? Will sanctions apply only to those who admit they are gay, and exclude those who remain in the closet? What about those of us who are not gay, but are assumed to be because of our lifestyle?

I've often wondered if there are other single straight people who have been labeled gay because society has decided they are.

NOT GAY IN THE U.S.A.

DR. JOHN MONEY: According to Dr. John Money, noted sexologist and gender identification specialist at Johns Hopkins, no human can be labeled "100 percent" male or female. We are all capable of bisexuality. Some act out. Others never do.

Is one sexual encounter with a person of the same sex sufficient to label that person gay? (No.) Six encounters? "Maybe." Is age a factor? (Yes.) Would a few same-sex encounters in boarding school make one gay? (Probably not.) How about men or women who have been incarcerated in prisons for many years? (Any port in a storm!)

Are you beginning to get the idea? So, unless a person discloses his or her sexual history, there is no way of "knowing." And, if the government demands an accounting of our bedroom behavior, we can kiss goodbye our right to privacy guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

***

DEAR ABBY: How petty can a person be? A woman wrote complaining that the gentleman she had been seeing is charming, world-traveled and well-educated, but he "slurps" his tea. Oh, he's 60 plus — just the right age for me. How many well-educated (I hold two degrees) single females would be simply thrilled to have the company of such a gentleman? Please tell the slurper that there's a woman in Wichita, Kan., who would be delighted to meet him. My teapot is on, and I am waiting.

NOT PICKY IN KANSAS

DEAR NOT PICKY: As I have always said, "One woman's leftovers are another woman's banquet."

DEAR ABBY: Last week I attended a luncheon for a departing boss. There were about 10 of us there and we each paid for our own lunch. I noticed that we were also charged a "gratuity." It wasn't much, and I didn't want to make a scene, so I paid it.

I thought tipping was up to the person dining out. This is the second time this has happened and I probably will always keep quiet and pay. I just want to know if this is common practice in restaurants or what?

NORFOLK, VA.

DEAR NORFOLK: Gratuities are ordinarily optional, but when there's a large party with separate checks, unless a gratuity is added, the waiter or waitress tends to be forgotten.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I work very hard at high-pressure jobs, and one of our pleasures is eating out in the evening, trying to unwind and relax.

Lately, more often than not, our meals have been ruined by noisy, screaming, bratty kids whose parents have no business dragging them to nice restaurants in the first place. These kids are either too young to understand, or too poorly behaved to be out in public. Why do parents bring them along?

Recently, printed on a menu in a Southern restaurant was this message: "Please keep your children quiet and in their seats." I wish all restaurants would print that on their menus.

SICK OF BRATS

DEAR SICK: Don't blame the kids. They cannot know what they have not been taught.

DEAR ABBY: Seven years ago I had an abortion. At the time it was the only way out of a very bad situation. (It was either that or suicide.) I am a baptized Catholic, so I know that I was automatically excommunicated from the Catholic Church when I had the abortion. I haven't been to church since.

I want so much to confess and receive some kind of absolution, but I can't face going to the confessional. I'm afraid the priest will throw me out and ask me not to return.

Will you please ask one of your priest friends if there is some way to return to the church after excommunication? I am sure there are other Catholics who would like to know.

TORMENTED SOUL

DEAR TORMENTED: Go to confession. The priest will not throw you out. A Catholic is forgiven the sin when he or she truly repents. If you lack the courage to face your own parish priest, go to another parish.

Judges halt murderer's execution

HUNTSVILLE — Just two hours before he was to be given a lethal injection early today, federal judges halted the scheduled execution of Raymond Riles, a Texas inmate who insisted he wanted to die.

Riles, 36, who was known to bay at the moon and who once set himself on fire in his death row cell, received the news late Tuesday.

Attorneys contended Riles was insane and should not be put to death for shooting Houston used car dealer John Thomas Henry during a $42 robbery in 1974. They also contended the death penalty discriminates against blacks convicted of killing whites. Riles is black. Henry was white.

Judge rejects inmate transferral

TYLER — Attorney General Jim Mattox and state prison officials are looking for new ways to avoid triggering a state law that could free hundreds of inmates.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice on Tuesday rejected state efforts to move 300 low-risk inmates to a National Guard barracks near Mineral Wells.

Justice wrapped up a two-day hearing by saying the Fort Worth facility does not meet the standards he set for prisons in his Texas Department of Corrections reform order.

The judge's decision left state officials frustrated in their attempt to avoid early release of inmates because of prison crowding.

State says finders, keepers to feds

SAN ANGELO — More than $600,000 found in stacks of $20, $50 and $100 bills in the trunk of a car stopped for speeding has pitted government against government over who gets to keep the suspected drug-money stash.

The first round was won by Crockett County Tuesday, when Judge Halbert O. Woodward in San Angelo denied the U.S. government's motion to dismiss the county's claim on that money.

Texas highway patrol officers discovered the cash on May 11 after stopping a rental car for speeding on Interstate 10 three miles east of Ozona in West Texas.

Crockett County officials maintain the money — the largest amount ever seized in a routine traffic stop in these parts — should go to the county because the owners have not laid claim to it and it was abandoned in their county.

Slain patrolman was murderer

SAN ANTONIO — A special panel of investigators says slain police officer Stephen R. Smith apparently was the gunman in a 1982 slaying and is a suspect in two more ambush killings.

The panel identified Smith as the gunman in the killing of suspected auto burglar Ternel R. Folsom, 22, who was shot outside a San Antonio apartment on Dec. 28, 1982, police said.

"The Folsom murder, we feel like he did commit the murder himself. We have substantial evidence to that effect," Capt. James Despres said Monday.

Despres said Smith was linked to that slaying by "statements from people who are knowledgeable about the incident and have given us that information."

According to authorities, Smith was shot to death on Aug. 18 by fellow police officer Farrell Tucker.

Computers pinpoint morning heart attacks

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you explain why they are telling us that mornings are worse for heart attacks? It would seem the opposite is true — after a hectic day, etc. My husband's heart attack did occur in the morning, about mid morning as he was getting into the car to go late to work. — Mrs. H.F.K.

Dr. Donohue

If you believe the computers, most heart attacks do occur in the morning hours. And a quite large study was done to show this fact.

Researchers are not really sure why, but several follow-up studies are being undertaken to try and find out. In fact, the initial study that turned up this apparent circadian rhythm of myocardial infarction is an interesting example of how much serendipity can direct the course of medical research.

The initial study (by a group of Harvard doctors) was not aimed at learning the timing of heart attacks at all. It was being done to determine the effects of certain therapy in reducing the severity of a heart attack.

In selecting patients to study, the researchers noted, first of all, noticeably fewer heart attacks in summer compared to winter. They decided to look into that.

By an extension of that curiosity, the researchers decided to pinpoint not only the date of the attacks but the day of the week, and if that, why not the time of the day?

When all the data were digested by their computers, the most interesting correlation noted was that of the time of the day of the attacks. Most occurred between 6 a.m. and noon, with a peak hour of 9 a.m.

While no rational explanation for this has yet been offered, many avenues are being explored. For example, there appears to be a correlation of attack timing with a corresponding rise in the blood's clotting ability. Eventually, it's hoped that by analyzing more data, facts might be uncovered to help patients at risk of heart attack avoid the problem.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Recently, I had a cholesterol test at the Health-O-Rama. The report came back with a reading of 300. I have just been put on a low cholesterol diet. How long should it take to know if it is working? I am in my early 60s and would like to be in a good cholesterol range. — E.H.

You should be able to get a measurable difference in six weeks. In three months of the low cholesterol diet you should notice a great difference. If by three or four months your new diet hasn't altered your cholesterol levels, then a stricter diet will be given to you or you'll be started on medicines to reduce the level. A level of 300 needs lowering.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Red Sox and Cowboys

Ron Finnell is definitely saving his best for last. Finnell, who pitches and plays centerfield for our local semi-pro baseball team, the Big Spring Red Sox, had a very good weekend on the baseball diamond. He hit and pitched his team to the Central Texas League finals. The Red Sox defeated the Ozona Royals in a best two-of-three series this past weekend. Finnell had the hot hand, winning the championship game in relief while blasting three homers in the series. The series started Saturday in Ozona and the Royals won a 7-6 extra inning affair. Incidentally, Finnell was losing pitcher in relief in that game. In Sunday's first game Finnell blasted two homers and Luis Rodriguez went the distance as the Red Sox won 7-1, forcing a rubber-match. The Red Sox took the final game by a 2-1 margin. In the bottom of the seventh, James Walker's single drove in Lupe Ontiveros with the winning run. The Red Sox will go after the CTL championship when they engage in a two-of-three series with the San Angelo Brewers this weekend. The first game is Saturday at 2 p.m. in San Angelo and the a double-header will be played if necessary at Roy Anderson Complex. The first game will start at 1:30 p.m. Red Sox coach Bill Diaz feels good about his team's chance of winning the league title in its first year in the league. "We beat them four games in the regular season, but that really doesn't mean anything now. They are a better team now but I think we can beat them. We're really looking forward to getting the season over with." And what better way to end it than with a league title under your belt?

Let's hear it for Tony Dorsett and the Dallas Cowboys. After their horrendous preseason, I had some serious doubts about them being able to defeat the New York Giants and Detroit Lions. But the Pokes came through like champs. I'm especially happy for Tony Dorsett. Three weeks ago he was coming off like a $500,000 a year crybaby. Last week he came across like a man. Things didn't look good for Tony when he severely twisted his ankle in the Giants game. He was on crutches early in the week. By Wednesday he was hobbling around on both feet. By Friday he was running plays in practice. By Sunday he claimed he was ready to go. And go he did. He ripped the Lions defense for 117 yards on 23 carries. "The way I see it," he said after the game Sunday, "is that I'm a football player and I want to play when the game starts. It's me. I have something to bring to the game. I've had a broken hand, I've had a cracked backbone and I've had ankle sprains, but I've played. That's just me." A lot of people, including myself, have called Dorsett a lot of things. But I seriously doubt that "tough" has been one of the labels. Well Touchdown Tony, I'm proud of you. You showed a lot of pride and courage. In fact, I think you're one of the toughest 190-pounders I've ever seen. From now on, I dub thee "Tough Tony".

Estacado moves into number one position

Lubbock Estacado, a state quarter-finalist last year and a preseason pick to reach the finals this season, has moved into the No. 1 spot in Class 4A of The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll. The Matadors, who have outscored two opponents 82-6, moved up from the No. 2 ranking after West Orange-Stark lost was shut out by Aldine MacArthur, 14-0. The other top ranked teams from last week held onto their No. 1 billings including San Antonio Holmes in 5A, Daingerfield in 3A, Refugio in 2A and Wheeler in 4A. Estacado defeated Big Spring 56-6 last week and shut out 5A Plainview 26-0 in its opener. West Orange-Stark played without running back Brian Cleveland and was shut out for the first time since the opening game of the 1983 season. San Antonio Holmes defeated Del Rio 47-7 and maintained a comfortable edge over runnerup Odessa Permian, which beat El Paso Ysleta 28-0. Holmes received 17 of the 28 first place votes, cast and had a 255-228 point margin over the Panthers. McKinney moved up to the No. 2 spot in 4A following a 27-21 victory over Sulphur Springs, which dropped from sixth to eighth in the rankings. Jasper, 2-0, and Denison, 2-0, moved into the Nos. 9 and 10 positions in 4A, replacing No. 9 Wharton, and Dickinson and Brownwood, tied for 10th last week. Wharton and Brenham played to a 21-21 tie while Dickinson lost for the second week in a row and Weatherford edged Brownwood 9-7. Denison blanked rival Sherman 31-0 and Jasper defeated Smiley 20-6. Daingerfield continued to dominate 3A, receiving 27 of 28 first place votes and a 279-252 point margin over No. 2 Cuero. Ballinger beat Hamlin 22-0 to retain its No. 3 rank and Kirbyville held fourth with a 37-3 victory over Orangefield. Medina Valley, ranked fifth last week, dropped to No. 7 after a scoreless tie with Floresville and Mexia jumped from ninth to fifth. Sixth ranked Hempstead and No. 7 Gladewater dropped out of the top 10 with losses. Huffman Hargrave and Tulia are the 3A newcomers. Four teams ranked in 2A last week suffered losses and No. 5 Pilot Point dropped from fifth to seventh after a 7-7 tie with Sanger. Abernathy dropped from No. 6 to No. 8 after a 28-0 loss to 3A Littlefield and East Bernard held onto 10th place despite a 21-19 loss to third ranked Shiner. Carlisle, Irion County and Nazareth, ranked Nos. 8, 9, and 10 last week, dropped from the A rankings after losses.

Lady Steers upset Snyder

Defending state champs fall

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor
When Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball coach Elaine Stone woke up Tuesday morning she knew it was going to be a bad day. First of all she was feeling weak and running a fever. To make matters worse, her team had to play the Snyder Tigers, the defending Class AAAA state champions. What's a coach to do? Simple, you fight off the flu bug all day and coach your team to an upset win over the defending champs. After that you savor the victory for a few minutes, take two aspirins and get in bed. In its biggest win of the season, Big Spring swept the Tigers in two straight matches, 15-10, 16-14. A worn out Stone even managed a smile after the game. "I feel a little better now. When I got to the gym I thought I was going to pass out. It's the first time I ever had the gym spin on me," she joked. But it was the Tigers who were doing the real spinning as they met up with a group of fiery Lady Steers that kept the pressure on them until the final point. A Lady Steer team that caused the Tigers to commit numerous mishits and violations. "I told the girls I wouldn't even have shown up tonight if I thought they couldn't win," Stone said. The way the Lady Steers played, there was never any doubt in their minds they could whip the Tigers, who returned two starters from last year's team. The Lady Steers took control from the outset of the first match, taking a 4-2 lead and stretching it to 9-3. Lisa Hale served three points and Cary Brooks and Nikki Rodriguez served two points each in the spree. Behind the hitting of sophomore Melody Pickering, Snyder crept back into the match, cutting the margin to 12-10. But Brooks caged the Tigers from that point on. Stepping to the service line, she served an ace, and scored point number 14 when Hale set Sheri Myrick, who lined out a hard kill. Brooks ended the match with another ace, her third of the match. Led by Myrick and Katrina Thompson, who combined for five kill shots, the Lady Steers made good on 7 of 14 kill attempts in the match. Myrick was Big Spring's leading spiker in the game, hitting winners on six of 11 tries. Pickering led Snyder with five kills in seven tries. Stone said her team's performance was a 100 percent turnaround from last Saturday's loss to Ft. Stockton. "We just didn't play well against Ft. Stockton. All season long we've had problems with girls quitting and lack of setters. Tonight was the first time we played as a total team. For once we got great hits and were on the offensive and not the defensive all the time." Big Spring also jumped out to an early lead in the second match. Hale served the first three points of the game. In a rare Big Spring dry spell, Snyder scored the next five points of the match, taking a 5-3 lead. Rodriguez then stepped to the line and rallied Big Spring by serving nine consecutive points. The rally was a combination of Brooks and Myrick dominating net play and several Snyder mishits. Trailing 12-5, Snyder rallied back to tie the game at 14-14. Allison Adams, who started on last year's state championship team, served five points in the surge. Again it was Brooks who stepped to the service line to put the Tigers back into their cages. With the score tied at 14-all, Brooks got point number 15 when Stacy Dunk mishandled her serve. The game ended with Ida Montez making a great save on a Snyder hit, followed by Myrick blocking Pickering's dink attempt. Thus giving Big Spring a big upset win. "The main key is we were not intimidated by them. If we were going to be intimidated by anybody, you would think it would be the defending state champs. This win will be really good for our morale. It gives us that added confidence. I think you'll see an increase in the win department." The win was the Lady Steers first in four district games. They are 5-9 overall. Snyder falls to 3-2 in district play and 12-8 overall. SNYDER DROPS JV'S AND FROSH The Tigers won the junior varsity contest, downing Big Spring 15-3, 4-15, 15-5. Big Spring's record is now 6-6 overall and 2-2 in league play. Snyder swept the freshmen contest 15-8, 15-12.

Stanton churned up 289 yards on the ground in last Friday's 20-6 win over Coahoma. Derek Sorley had 100 of those yards, and James Vidal added 90, but neither would have approached those lofty numbers without the great game turned in by the Stanton offensive line. For this reason, the entire Stanton offensive front is the recipient of the Offensive 'Player' of the Week Award. On the defensive side of the line of scrimmage, many of the Crossroad County teams had a tough week. Though Borden County lost 41-26 to Sands, linebacker Mickey Burkett turned in his second big game of the young season. Burkett had 16 tackles in Borden County's opening win over McCaulley. Against Sands he notched 18 tackles, 11 of those unassisted, to win the Defensive Player of the Week. The members of the Stanton offensive line are senior tight end Stan Young, junior left tackle Billy Don Cox, senior left guard Tommy Smith, junior center Robert Schoolcraft, senior right guard Joe Flores, and senior right tackle Steve Villa. "I feel like all of them did a fantastic job. They were young last year, and played a lot, but they were inexperienced. Of course, it's paid off this year. It's like the difference between night and day," said Stanton head coach Dale Ruth about his men up front. Last week's defensive player of the week Wayne Wright of Forsan turned in another great game, both offensively and defensively. For Wright's 103 yard, one touchdown performance, he gets honorable mention for offense. For his 16 tackle, one interception defensive performance, Wright receives honorable mention there as well. Also notable in Forsan's 20-6 win over Plains was Brant Nichols, who returned an interception for a touchdown. Other defensive stars of the week include Stanton's Sorley, who made 18 tackles in addition to gaining 100 yards. Sands' Jay Fryar blocked an extra point and made 12 tackles in the Mustangs 41-26 win over Borden County. Fryar, who was named the offensive player of the week last week, turned in another stellar performance in six-man competition this week. The Mustang quarterback-rudder back gained 212 yards on 23 carries, passed for 108 yards and three touchdowns, kicked an extra point, and passed for two more extra points. Here's hoping he had a good night's sleep. Fryar's teammate, Chad Nichols, also had a big game, with three touchdowns and 84 yards on six receptions. After Coahoma's loss to Stanton, Coahoma head coach Billy Kidd said Stanton forced his team to throw the ball more than he'd like. Judging from the way Coahoma threw the ball, maybe Stanton did the Bulldogs a favor. James Wallace completed eight passes for 136 yards, 126 of which were gained by sure handed tight end Jimmy King. King averaged 31 yards per catch on four receptions, including a 27-yard touchdown grab. Don't be surprised if Coahoma turns into an 'air force'. Though Garden City lost 20-7 to Grandfalls, head coach Tony Stricklin was pleased with several performances on his young team. Stricklin said his center Sergio Rosas "whipped his man all night long." Stricklin also cited quarterback Kenny Bennett and receiver Doyle Shaefer, who hooked up on a touchdown pass. In Colorado City's 34-18 loss to Seminole, the Wolves managed over 200 yards in the air. Michael Swann led the way with 104 yards on five catches, including a 62-yard grab from quarterback Ismel Silva for a touchdown. terception for a touchdown. ### Officials admit mistake in Monday's NFL game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Denver Broncos say game officials told them they made a mistake on an illegal forward pass call that nullified a 79-yard touchdown pass play in the team's 21-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers. With Denver holding a 14-10 lead and just more than nine minutes to play Monday night, quarterback John Elway lateraled the ball to running back Gerald Willhite, who lofted a pass down the left sideline to a wide-open Steve Watson for an apparent touchdown. The play was negated when line judge Boyce Smith ruled Elway's toss was a forward lateral. NFL rules prohibit two forward passes on the same play. Although television replays showed that Willhite was about two yards behind Elway when he caught the ball, a snafu prevented the instant replay official in the press box from overruling the call. The field officials apparently did not know that the play was being reviewed. By the time the replay official had reviewed the play, the Broncos had run off another play, meaning it was too late for the error to be corrected. "I guess the guy (official) in the press box couldn't get anybody's attention out on the field," Elway said. "The referee (Bob McElwee) didn't make the call, the line judge did. He was standing seven yards in front of the play and I said, 'There's no way you could see it.'" "My one job on the play is to make sure I throw a lateral, because I know we can't throw two forward passes."

Willhite said, "They (officials) said, 'We blew the call. We made a mistake.' But they said since we'd already run another play, they couldn't take it back. I'm just glad it didn't cost us the game." Coach Dan Reeves complained the Broncos were unfairly stripped of a legitimate touchdown. "It was tough to see that kind of play go to waste. I was so upset. There was a replay... but they didn't change it because one play was run. I think the replay is good, it's new and we'll have problems at it. It will get better." When questioned afterward by a pool reporter, McElwee would not admit an error had been made. He referred questions about the apparent snafu to Art McNally, the NFL's supervisor of officials.

Mathews remains upbeat

Steers runner says team will benefit from whipping

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

There aren't many positive things that could come out of a 56-6 loss, such as the licking the Steers received from the Lubbock Estacado Matadors.

But Steers running back Phillip Mathews said there was one huge positive affect the loss had on the team — humility.

"I'd say it was a good lesson for the team," said the 5-7, 160-pound senior. "After those two scrimmage wins and the win in the season opener, we were getting overconfident. We really weren't sticking together as a team."

"It showed in the game. It seemed the harder we tried, the worse things got. We tried to pull together but we just couldn't get anything going. Everyone started to get down on each other."

It was an extremely physical game for Mathews. "Early in the game a linebacker shot the gap and hit me right in the stomach and knocked the wind out of me. After that it seemed every time I got hit, it was in that same place. Later on in the game I sprained my wrist. I was hurting," he said with a half-hearted laugh.

But Mathews is quick to give credit where credit is due. "Estacado is a very good team. They executed well and played as a team. Their team speed was unbelievable. Their linemen were just as quick as their secondary. They made it hard to turn the corner."

Mathews did a lot of corner-turning last year on his way to leading the Steers in rushing. The shifty scatback, who has 4.5 forty-yard dash speed, rushed for 669 yards. He also caught 15 passes for 308 yards. In addition, he was one of the leading return men in District 4-5A.

"Statistically I'd like to beat my numbers last year. Team-wise I just want us to win."

Last season Mathews had a seasoned veteran line to run

Big Spring Steers running back Phillip Mathews tries to cut the corner in Friday's 56-6 loss to Lubbock Estacado. Mathews said the Steers learned some valuable lessons in the loss.

behind. This season he has four new faces in front of him. "Last year we had a super good line. They were experienced. This year our line is intense, they love to play ball. Charley Ogle (center) and John Moore (tackle) are experienced leaders."

"Give them a couple more games and they'll really be good. I think they've got the potential to be better than the one last year."

Mathews says you try to put games like Estacado out of your mind as quickly as possible. "It's one you forget pretty fast. But it did help us set a goal. That Saturday after the game, we set a goal to make the playoffs so we could get another shot at Estacado. We have to play them again because we're a much better team than we showed last Friday night."

"Like coach Eudy (head coach Quinn) says, from now on each game is for the world championship. That's the way we'll play."

Miami doesn't love Sooners

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson doesn't want to start a war of words with the Oklahoma Sooners, but he's not going to take any special measures to insure his players don't stir up controversy.

The second-ranked Hurricanes, 3-0, have two weeks to think, and talk, about their Sept. 27 matchup with the top-ranked Sooners in the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma, 1-0, still must beat Minnesota Saturday to make it a battle of unbeaten.

Outspoken Oklahoma linebacker Brian Bosworth, in an article in Sports Illustrated, questioned Johnson's class for passing late in a lopsided victory over Notre Dame last year. The All-American linebacker also said last week that Miami quarterback Vinny Testaverde won't have as much time to throw Sept. 27 as he did last year when the Hurricanes beat the Sooners 27-14.

In response to that, Miami defensive tackle Dan Sileo said, "Oklahoma has the most overrated player in the country, and the most overrated defense. It's going to take a team like ours to shut him up."

That's not what Johnson wants to hear from his players, but he's not going to try to stop them from saying what they feel.

"I wouldn't want our players to make negative statements," Johnson said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "But I'm not going to gag our players, although some of them may not be the most mature in the world. I'd rather they learn from their mistakes."

Testaverde learned early. He predicted a victory over Florida in his first collegiate start last year, and the Hurricanes lost 35-23.

Testaverde was confident, not controversial in his comments.

"We did a lot of good things before that game (against Oklahoma) last year and our confidence was high," Testaverde said. "We felt like we were a better team than Oklahoma, and we feel the same way this season. A game like we had last week is a great confidence booster."

Testaverde passed for 330 yards and ran for another 41 yards Saturday in a 61-11 victory over Texas Tech. He has completed 55 percent of his passes for 724 yards in three games this season.

Johnson said that having an extra week to prepare for the clash of the collegiate football titans could be a disadvantage.

"The big concern that I do have is having a layoff and losing our timing," Johnson said. "The way our offense was performing Saturday night, I would just as soon play the game the next couple of days because they were really on schedule and really clicking."

Instead of having the normal day-after-the-game team meeting Sunday and practicing Monday, Johnson gave the Hurricanes two days off. But he won't give them the weekend off between games as he did in the past.

Oklahoma sent a scout to the Miami-Texas Tech game. "At least I think he was there," Johnson said. "He picked up stats at the end of the game, but he didn't sit in his seat in the press box. Maybe he was on the sidelines. I'll have to look in the films and see if we had an extra guy in the huddle."

Mets break losing streak

By The Associated Press
The New York Mets, after bringing to an end the frustration of a four-game losing streak that has kept the cork in their champagne since last Friday, are heading home with the bubbly they hope to consume tonight.

And should they beat the Chicago Cubs to win the National League East — they clinched at least a tie with a 4-2 victory Tuesday night in St. Louis — at least one key operative, Manager Dave Johnson, won't be among the celebrants on the field at Shea Stadium.

The next Met victory, or a loss tonight by Philadelphia against St. Louis, would give New York its first division crown since 1973.

The Astros got three runs on seven hits off Bill Gullickson, 13-11, who lost his third straight decision.

Phillies 9, Pirates 5
Kent Tekulve, at 39, credited consistency for making him the busiest pitcher in league history.

Tekulve, appearing in his 847th game — breaking a tie with Elroy Face of Pittsburgh — raised his record to 11-4 with 2 2-3 hitless innings.

Glenn Wilson had four hits and drove in two runs the Phillies won their fifth straight game.

Pittsburgh's Tony Pena had a single and a run-scoring double to extend his hitting streak to 16 games.

single by Gerald Perry that bounced over the head of Los Angeles shortstop Dave Anderson.

With the score tied 1-1 in the sixth inning, Ken Griffey singled and took second against Orel Hershiser, 13-12. After a hit batsman, a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Perry hit what should have been an inning-ending grounder, but it hopped past Anderson as the go-ahead runs scored.

Doyle Alexander, 5-5, allowed six hits in seven innings. Gene Garber pitched two innings of one-hit relief for his 23rd save.

Giants 4, Padres 1
Mike Krukow, the first San Francisco pitcher to win 17 games in a season since 1978, doesn't intend to stop there.

"I want to get 20 wins, but I have four tough starts left," said Krukow, 17-8, who shut out the Padres through eight innings but needed relief from Mark Davis in the ninth. "I'm now pitching with the most confidence I've ever had in my life," said the 34-year-old Krukow.

Harry Spilman hit a two-run, pinch-hit bases-loaded double in the sixth, when the Giants sent nine men to the plate and scored three runs to extend their lead to 4-0.

The Padres became the third team in major league history to use six pinch hitters in an inning in the ninth, when they scored their only run.

Batting race heats up in AL

By The Associated Press
There's still some suspense in the American League East, but it has nothing to do with the teams. It's the sizzling race between Boston's Wade Boggs and New York's Don Mattingly for the league batting title.

"This is as good as I've felt at the plate as far as knowing myself, knowing the pitchers and making small adjustments," Mattingly said Tuesday night after going 3-for-5 and boosting his batting average to .350 in an 8-1 victory ed in the third inning and doubled and scored in front of Dave Winfield's three-run homer in the seventh. The Yankee first baseman added an RBI on a forceout in the eighth for the Yankees' final run.

The two RBI in the first inning gave Mattingly 100 for the season and the 213 hits, which lead the major leagues, were two more than the career mark he set last season.

Rookie Doug Drabek, 6-7, won his third game in a row, allowing one run on seven hits in five innings. Bob Shirley pitched the last four innings for his third save. Scott McGregor, 10-13, was the loser.

AL

Red Sox 2, Brewers 1
Red Sox 9, Brewers 3
Dwight Evans led off the seventh inning with a tie-breaking homer and Roger Clemens scattered six hits for his 23rd victory as Boston beat Milwaukee in the first game of their doubleheader.

Clemens, 23-4, walked one and struck out 10, raising his league-leading total to 227. He has struck out 10 or more in a game eight times this season, tying the club record set by Jim Lonborg in 1967, and 12 times in his brief career.

Evans' 23rd homer in the seventh broke a 1-1 tie off rookie Juan Nieves, 10-10.

Evans also figured in the Red Sox's nightcap victory, scoring once and forcing in a run with a bases-loaded walk in a six-run eighth that snapped a 3-3 tie. Evans first scored the tie-breaker on an error by shortstop Edgar Diaz, playing in his first major league game, then walked with the bases loaded later in the inning.

Twins 7, Indians 3
Billy Beane hit a three-run homer and Mark Portugal pitched 6 2-3 innings of one-run relief as Minnesota ended its nine-game road losing streak with a victory in Cleveland.

Blue Jays 6, Tigers 4
Jimmy Key won his first game at home in a month and Ernie Whitt hit a solo homer to pace Toronto over Detroit, snapping the Tigers' five-game winning streak.

Mariners 7, White Sox 0
Mike Morgan hurled a four-hit shutout, the first of his major league career, and Scott Bradley and Harold Reynolds homered as Seattle beat Chicago.

Angels 6, Royals 5
Bob Boone's single in the eighth inning snapped a 5-5 tie as California beat Kansas City in a seesaw game.

Rangers 10, A's 6
Larry Parrish hit two homers and had four RBI and Geno Petralli knocked in two runs, one of them with a single that broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh inning, as Texas defeated Oakland.

Parrish hit his first homer of the game in the fourth and his second in the ninth, giving him 26 for the season.

Petralli tripled home a run in the sixth and scored the tying run on a single by Parrish. Petralli singled in the tie-breaking run in the seventh and Parrish followed with an RBI groundout.

Oddibe McDowell and Pete O'Brien also homered for Texas, while Dwayne Murphy and Mickey Tettleton homered for the A's, who lost their fifth straight game.

NL

Right-hander Rick Aguilera, 8-6, combined with reliever Jesse Orosco on an eight-hitter for the Mets, who had lost six of their previous seven games for their worst slump of the season.

Astros 6, Reds 1
Time is running out on Cincinnati, now eight games behind Houston in the West with 18 remaining for both teams.

Bob Knepper, 16-11, and Larry Andersen, who got his first save, combined on a four-hitter.

Glenn Davis drove in two runs and Billy Hatcher hit a tie-breaking homer to lead a 12-hit attack as Houston beat Cincinnati for the 12th time in 16 games.

Expos 4, Cubs 1
Montreal pitcher Jay Tibbs, like a schoolboy getting bad grades, decided it was time to hit the books.

Tibbs, who won for the first time since Aug. 4, struck out four and walked three for his third complete game of the season. He beat Rick Sutcliffe, 4-14, who has not won since June 2. Sutcliffe allowed only four hits in six innings, struck out nine and walked four.

Andres Galarraga gave Tibbs all the support he needed with a three-run double to break a 1-1 tie in the sixth.

Braves 3, Dodgers 1
The Atlanta Falcons of the NFL — who played at Atlanta Stadium on Sunday — will have to be given an assist for a decisive bad-hop

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURS., SEPT. 18, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much confusion can be in effect for you until noon, so be sure to be on the lookout for any condition that you do not entirely understand or are not familiar with.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't let a private worry confuse you. Your mate may not be very helpful during the daytime.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you have doubts about a desire, don't pursue it. Find better ways of gaining private pleasures.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be careful in motion when handling outside affairs and avoid trouble. Handle things quietly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Plan how to handle a new interest instead of putting it aside. Be cautious of newcomers.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be precise in handling your responsibilities and then study some new venture carefully before you get in.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try to help a partner who is disturbed. Keep promises that you have made. Avoid new enterprises.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep rooted systems you have used that are satisfactory in business matters and be safe.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show more devotion for the one you love and later you can plan how to make your work load easier.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not criticize or argue at home. Later you can seek the pleasure you need and desire.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take care of your correspondence with grace instead of annoyance. Study how to make improvements.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get rid of a financial problem. Listen to the advice of experts, but use your own judgment as well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't vent your fire on a friend because you are upset. Find a better way to get your property improved.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have many problems to solve and a good education is needed here that will teach how to complete any projects once started. Upon reaching adulthood your progeny will be interested in ultra-modern ways and can do very well with this fascination.

Howard College to honor alumni

Howard College will honor a former president of Getty Oil with its first Distinguished Alumni Award Sept. 27 at its 40th Reunion Banquet in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Robert Miller, president of Getty Oil from 1977 to 1984, is now part owner of an oil and gas exploration and production company. He began school at Howard College in Sept. 1946 when it was located at the old bombardier school, now site of the city industrial park.

"I took pre-engineering," Miller said from his home in Bastrop, near Austin. A lot has changed since the college conducted classes at the bombardier school, he added.

Miller said he occasionally visits Big Spring to see relatives. He graduated from Big Spring High School, Howard College and the University of Texas at Austin.

The weekend's events begin with a spaghetti supper at 6 p.m. on Sept. 26. The District board of trustees hosts a brunch at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 27 in the Cactus Room, followed by a bus tour of the original campus at 3 p.m.

A wine and cheese reception at 7 p.m. in the coliseum foyer will honor Dr. and Mrs. R.B. Cowper, who have been named to the Coliseum Hall of Honor for donors to the college. In addition, a perpetual Honor Roll of Exes will be unveiled, honoring alumni who have donated to the Howard College Foundation.

Reservations are required for the reunion events no later than Sept. 22. Anyone who has attended Howard College is eligible to attend. For reservations and information call 267-6311, extension 313.

BIG SPRING TRAVEL TALK

by Mary Valli

THE PASSPORT DEFINED

Even the most seasoned travelers know very little about passports. Most travelers know only that a passport must be presented when leaving or entering countries. They know it sometimes gets stamped but, many times, it is merely looked over. It establishes who one is. It also identifies one as an American citizen. Having been identified as an citizen allows one to enter and to pass freely and safely through their domain. One also is afforded the protection of American diplomatic and consular officers. In effect, it is the American government's permission for one to travel.

Now that you have "permission" come to BIG SPRING TRAVEL, 608 Scurry, for the people who can help you get wherever you want to go. Let us make your wildest travel fantasies come true. From around the world to around the corner, we have the people and resources to make all the arrangements you need to have an enjoyable and memorable journey. For a weekend getaway as well as month-long vacation or more, BIG SPRING TRAVEL is your first step to travel pleasure. Tel. 263-0225. Open 8:30-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

Developer decries planning

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
A San Antonio investor's skepticism and opinionated position concerning the redevelopment of downtown Big Spring has annoyed a local coordinator and the chamber's director of tourism.

Gil Cuadra, owner of eight downtown buildings including the Settles Hotel, said earlier this week he questions whether Big Spring residents support the Main Street Inc. redevelopment plan the Downtown Steering Committee endorsed in July.

"To me it's unfair they (Cuadra Associates) go to the media and say they disagree with our plans," said Downtown Development Coordinator Teri Quinones. "If they have criticisms, they should come directly to us," she added.

The source of disagreement lies in attracting tourists downtown. Cuadra proposes a total commitment from the community to work toward the development of tourism as Big Spring's primary industry.

"The real issue before Big Spring right now," Cuadra said about the master plan being developed by city planner Robert Lima, "is whether that is what we really want to accomplish." Elizabeth Taylor, the Chamber of Commerce's director of tourism, said in response to Cuadra's zeal for tourism that it has created "a standoff situation" between him and the downtown steering committee.

"I studied the master plan and it does follow a control plan to promote tourism.

"The idea behind the plan is to build up the retail economy so they, themselves become attractions," Taylor said.

Cuadra said small Main Street cities such as Kerrville "are limited in what they can do."

Big Spring's unique location as the crossroads of West Texas could spur tourism, pour thousands of dollars into the local economy and create jobs, he said.

Cuadra seeks commitments from county government to purchase buildings that would be remodeled into museums and from city government to provide additional services promoting and facilitating tourism.

He said city officials should agree to sponsor all types of state government grants that Big Spring is in excellent position to receive because of its high unemployment rate. Cuadra said traffic counts he received from the Texas Department of Highways and statistics from the state's Parks and Wildlife Department, lead him to project 1,000 additional cars could be lured to downtown tourist attractions.

"I can see where he (Cuadra) has investors and they're looking at high money from quick attractions," Taylor said, "but a city this size can only handle so much."

The master plan is "controlled enough not to distort or interrupt the city," she added.

Implementation strategies concerning the master plan should be completed around the first part of January, Quinones said.

The goal is to establish a prototype for the "incubator zone," a large commercial space that could house small specialty shops or professional offices.

Quinones said she is looking for a downtown building requiring minimal interior renovation that could serve the purpose.

"I wish he (Cuadra) would give more credit to the master plan.

"He sounds antagonistic towards the whole thing," she said.

Lady Steers miss setters in loss

Storkclub

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

In Saturday afternoon's game against the Fort Stockton Panthers, the Big Spring Lady Steers could have used some setters to pave the way for their spikers.

As it was, the lack of good sets spelled doom for the Lady Steers, with Fort Stockton taking the match by a 15-8, 15-9 score.

"We lost our setters, and we're trying to use two hitters as setters," explained Lady Steers coach Elaine Stone.

Four Big Spring girls combined for just 17 sets, not all of which were good enough for strong spikes. Sheri Myrick led the way with 10 sets, followed by Lisa Hale with five. Myrick is the tallest player on the team, and ideally should be on the receiving end of the sets.

"We didn't execute at all today. We didn't execute what we've been practicing. There were just a lot of mistakes on everyone's part," Stone said, though she did cite Katrina Thompson for her alert play.

In both games the Lady Steers started well, swapping leads with the Panthers until the five and six point stages in both games.

In the first game, the Lady Steers took a 6-5 lead, with Cary Brooks and Kathryn Burrows nailing winners on spikes. A Panther burst, however, soon had the home girls trailing at 11-7. Though Myrick made a great block to temporarily stave off the Panther rally, the Lady Steers lost the opener 15-8.

Myrick opened game two with a dink for the first score, and the teams battled to 5-5 before the Panthers broke to a 9-7 lead. At 9-7, the Panthers broke the Lady Steers backs by winning the play of the match.

Twice, Lady Steers went wide out of bounds to retrieve errant balls on the point, and the two teams hooked up for the longest rally of the day, reminiscent of a Chris Evert point on a clay court. But the Panther's big hitter Kim Payne ended things suddenly with a vicious slam to put Fort Stockton ahead 10-7. The game ended soon after at 15-9.

The Lady Steers next game will be at home against Snyder, which won state last year, but which graduated its two big hitters.

In jaycee action, the Lady Steers fell to Fort Stockton in overtime in the third game. The score was 17-5, 15-15, 18-16.

Low-impact aerobics save tension on legs

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was discouraged from aerobic dancing because of leg pains. All that jumping and hopping was too much for my middle-aged body, I guess. Why does it have to entail such jouncing? I understand the idea of aerobic exercise is to build up heart and lung strength, not muscles as such. Now my girlfriend wants me to go with her to a low-impact aerobics class. Is that my answer? If it isn't, I'll go back to my specialty — aerobic sleeping. — K.M.B.

It's probably your answer. Many aerobic dance enthusiasts got turned off by leg pain from jumping on hard floor. So someone came up with low-impact aerobics. The hallmark is non-bouncing movement. Usually, one foot is kept planted on the floor at all times.

I've said this before, but it bears repetition. You don't have to devote yourself to one form of exercise to make aerobic gains. Any exercise you can manage that gets the heart pumping to your target rate serves the purpose. Jogging, swimming, rowing — whatever suits your fancy. I rule out aerobic sleeping, even if you snore.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am on Inderal, and since going on it (for blood pressure) I don't get my pulse up the levels I'm supposed to for heart conditioning. Why is this? My other question is, do I get aerobic benefits at the lower rates? — A.J.

Inderal is one of the beta blocker drugs. It is supposed to slow the pulse rate, so it's not at all surprising that you should find your exercise heart rate below what the tables say it ought to be for you.

Do you benefit at the lower rates? The short answer is yes. So many people are taking the kind of drugs you are and so many of them are into exercise programs that your question comes up frequently.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am doing weightlifting. After 10 months I find that my biceps are not improving. I do five sets of 10 reps bar bell curls with 30 pounds. I exercise three times a week. I am 19. Can you help me? — K.S.

I think what you're really concerned about is that the circumference of your upper arms is not increasing the way you want. You're concentrating entirely on your biceps muscles, the ones at the front. You have to work on your triceps, the back ones. The triceps constitute 60 percent of the arm's girth.

Good triceps exercises include are extensions, dips on parallel bars, and pushups from the floor.

Are you using the overload principle, adding new challenges in the form of increased weight? Add five or 10 more pounds of weight and drop the reps back to six or eight. When you can comfortably curl this weight 10 or 12 times, add more weight and drop back the reps again.

I urge you to look at your diet, something many body builders neglect in their programs. You'll find many good references to carbohydrate, protein and fat balances for bodybuilding in the library. I can recommend a good book to give you a better idea of exercises for various muscle groups. It's "Sports Conditioning and Weight Training," by Stone and Kroll (Allyn and Bacon, publishers).

JOB SEARCH — Ruby Taroni, owner of Big Spring Employment Agency, helps people find employment and employers find qualified applicants.

Employment agency helps job hunters

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by consulting a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located with Home Reel Estate at 2600 Gregg.

Finding the right person for the job is the duty of Ruby Taroni, experienced personnel counselor at Big Spring Employment. Mrs. Taroni joined the firm in 1961 and has 24 years of experience in the local market. Today she owns the firm.

Throughout the years, Mrs. Taroni has developed many contacts at Big Spring business firms and has her finger on current openings in temporary, part-time and full-time positions of all kinds. Her knowledge of local companies is of great help in placing applicants — bringing together qualified applicants with compatible companies.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluates each applicant before he or she is sent for an interview.

She spends many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements. Thus, fewer rejections make for better public relations. There also is a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tend to rise.

Many highly-qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity. All services at Big Spring Employment are handled on a confidential basis.

Big Spring Employment carries an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.
