Disaster money

A Texas Department of Community Affairs official has shown flood-damaged areas of town this morning by City Manager Mack Wofford, Public Works Director Tom Decell and Councilman Harold Hall.

Bill Pluta, director of the community development and housing division of the TDCA, said the agency has slightly more than $1 million available in emergency funds for assisting disaster-stricken cities.

He said representatives from his division will work with the city in days to come to explore the possibility of a TDCA grant. If money is released to Big Spring, it will likely be applied to funding repairs to Goliad Street and Comanche Lake Dam, he said.

Should a TDCA grant be approved, money would be made available in a matter weeks, he added.

Red tape may delay Stacy project

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

Water district general manager Owen Ivie met this morning in Austin with U.S. Fish and Wildlife officials in an attempt to resolve a land issue that threatens to sidetrack the Stacy Reservoir project for another 120 days.

Also, an encouraging report has emerged on the volume of water spilling from Natural Dam Lake, which has contributed to flooding in parts of Big Spring.

Colorado River Municipal Water District Board of Directors met in Big Spring Thursday and authorized Ivie to negotiate with the Wildlife Service — which wants the district to provide 14,000 acres as compensation for 190 acres of wild life domain to be swallowed by the Stacy project. "We can ill-afford 120 days," said district vice president John Currie of the possible delay in attaining a permit crucial to the start of the project. "We have an obligation in our rating process and to our people, and we can ill-afford several million dollars for this."

"It's blackmail," Ivie said of the agency's demand. "It's being used against every reservoir being built in the state."

Despite resentment of the agency demand, directors gave Ivie the go-ahead to spend up to $1.3 million to strike a land deal.

Before the Stacy permit was granted five years ago, the Wildlife Service offered to accept 3,700 acres as compensation for the land the district planned to inundate, according to the district.

District president John Taylor was adamant the CRMWD not spend more than $1.3 million for land. The district has shown resolve in the Stacy project for nine years, he said. "I'm not ready to give up," he remarked.

On the matter of Natural Dam Lake, Ivie told directors that overflow from the dam spillway has dropped from an initial peak of 2,200 acre feet of water per day to 600 acre feet.

Taylor read a resolution lauding district employees for their work at the dam, saying that had the dam not been raised five feet by district personnel and the spillway not cut in June, a "flood of unprecedented magnitude" would have been unleashed on Big Spring, causing considerable loss of life and millions of dollars in damage.

In other district business, directors heard reports stating:

• The engineering firm of Freese and Nichols are ahead of schedule on plans and specifications for building Stacy Dam.

• The district is close to attaining the final 1,600 acres needed for construction of the dam.

• The Texas Department of Highways and Transportation has in hand proposals for rerouting roads and highways around the reservoir.

• More than 75,000 acre feet of water was caught in Lake Thomas and Lake Spence.

Fund for victims opened

A fund has been established for the Dennis and Donna Richardson family, whose 13-month-old baby son, Nicholas, died and a large portion of their uninsured belongings were lost in a Wednesday house fire.

David Pappajohn, 2512 Chanute St., said the Richardsons lost more than half of their belongings in the blaze and are unable financially to replace the items. Moreover, many of the items salvaged from the house have been damaged beyond use, he said.

Pappajohn, who says he's a close friend of the family, suggests friends and well-wishers make a contribution to the fund established at the State National Bank, in lieu of sending flowers. A donation card can be made by asking any teller.

The Richardsons and their three surviving children, Joshua, 10; Dennis, 3; and Desiree, 2 are staying with Pappajohn, he said.

No picnic

Chamber of Commerce Beautification Chairman Hayes Strippling III, shows some of the devastation at Comanche Trail Park unleashed by Aug. 30 flood waters. The Beautification Committee is sponsoring a fall clean-up of the park Saturday from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. People are encouraged to bring rakes and other tools to help restore the park to its pre-flood condition. Citizens should meet at the Old Settlers' Pavilion ready to work. Trash bags and some tools will be available. Also, a lunch will be served. City equipment will be there to assist in the effort.

School board adopts policy changes

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees adopted several policy changes, recommended by the state, at its regular meeting Thursday evening.

One policy change allows the board to enter into a contract with a business in which a board member has an interest. However, the member must inform the board of his interest beforehand, and abstain from voting on the matter.

Another policy eliminates much of the procedural steps and written documentation required before an employee can air a grievance before the board, according to Superintendent Lynn Hise.

The policy doesn't apply, however, in cases of termination of an employee's contract, appeal of career ladder placement, or demotion of a contracted employee, he said.

Another policy adopts behavior examples and explanations for Domain V of the Texas Teacher Appraisal System.

Although the statewide system lists examples and explanations for all other areas, districts must adopt their own in Domain V. The adopted policy was recommended by the Texas Association of School Boards, Hise said.

Another policy the board adopted, Domain VI of the appraisal system, regards professional conduct, student progress and extracurricular activities for teachers.

Domain VI, recommended by the state association, was not required by law. It will not be considered in career ladder placement decisions, Hise said.

The board tabled for further study a proposed policy giving employees leave of absence when they adopt a child.

Board members Dock Voorhies and Dan Wise, with Hise, developed the policy in response to a request earlier this year by an employee who was adopting a child.

In other business, the board:
• Approved a required 1.45 percent Medicare tax rate for new employees. The federal government requires that governmental agencies whose employees don't pay Social Security pay the new tax, Hise said.

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, estimated school employees this year would pay a total of $14,946 for the tax, which the district is required to match.

• Approved 22 teacher appraisers, including school officials, principals and two teachers. The appraisers completed the required training this summer and must now be certified by the state, Hise said.

• Employed two Kindergarten Center teachers, Sharon Starr Dolan of Denver City and Barbara Ball, local resident.

Bill McQueary, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction, said the two were needed to meet state-required student-teacher ratios at the center. It had more students than were expected to enroll, he said.

The higher enrollment "points to the tremendous success" of the center, he said, adding that enrollment is 387, up from a projected 350, and would probably top 400 by November.

• Employed Sheryl Monger of Vealmore to teach at Marcy Elementary School. She replaces Elizabeth Collins, who is leaving Big Spring to be married.

• Granted a fee discount to the Big Spring Humane Society for the SCHOOL BOARD page 2A

Offenders to aid cleanup

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Misdemeanor offenders are now being ordered to perform community service work as an added condition of their probation, County Attorney Tim Yeats said this morning.

The remedial labor projects will consist of cleanup efforts throughout the county on the second Saturday of each month, Yeats said.

According to Downtown Development Coordinator Teri Quinones, who is responsible for selecting work sites and acquiring supplies and equipment, the first project will be cleaning the alley streets of downtown Big Spring on Oct. 11.

"It's basically a volunteer program. They (offenders) can go to jail instead of volunteering to participate in the clean-up effort," Yeats said.

An offender who does not abide by the terms of his probation runs the risk of having probation revoked, which can include a jail sentence.

"We get so many people now who say they don't work and lack the money to pay their fines," Yeats said about his assigned defendants. "Okay, we'll tell them — you can go out and pick up trash."

Probationers will be supervised on the job by members of the Beautification Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and members of the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club.

The cleanup will begin at 9 a.m. and run through the afternoon,

Quinones said. Her selection of work sites will depend on a priority list provided by Jim Ryals, a city code enforcement officer, she said.

"We're getting a pretty good work force," Yeats said about the projected number of those who will be ordered to perform community service work.

Approximately 30 guilty pleas are entered in county court each month, Yeats said. Out of that number, 20 are usually given probation sentences, he said.

The bulk of the offenders are charged with driving while intoxicated, Yeats said.

Records of community service hours performed by offenders will be kept in the county attorney's office, Yeats said.

Lawmakers near agreement

AUSTIN — House and Senate budget writers are meeting again today after they appeared to be nearing an agreement on cuts to higher education yesterday.

Earlier, House Speaker Gib Lewis said legislative action on a tax bill would await the outcome of the budget conference committee's appropriations bill. A possible compromise on higher education would involve cuts of 10 or 10.5 percent to colleges and universities and about $20 million to $25 million set aside to help schools with dwindling enrollment, according to Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls.

But discussion on the proposal never occurred as Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, canceled the meeting, saying, "There are variations of figures we feel we have to reconcile."

The committee became snagged on the amount of total budget cuts. EDUCATION CUTS page 2A

Car chase leads to arrest

Police arrested a 25-year-old Big Spring man late Thursday night after a high-speed car chase ended in a wreck at 18th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Gilbert Monchada Sanchez, 1011 N.W. Eighth St., was treated for minor injuries and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center, police said this morning.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said an officer observed Sanchez running a stop sign, and Sanchez refused to pull over. He led police on a chase along Farm Road 700 to Highway 80, then along Fourth Street to Aylford Street to point where it becomes Pennsylvania Avenue. Finally, he crashed his 1966 Pontiac GTO at a dead end.

He was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, fleeing and eluding arrest, and possession of a controlled substance.

Brenda Sandrider, 2604 Ent Drive, told police Thursday afternoon that someone stole her 1979 Ford pickup valued at $2,500. The vehicle was taken from outside her residence between 12:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. Thursday, according to the complaint.

Carroll Osburn, 2116 Warren St., told police Thursday afternoon that someone broke into the mailboxes at the West Highway 80 Apartments and stole an unknown amount of mail between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 11 a.m. Thursday.

Lorenzo Coronado Delacruz, 28, no address given, was arrested at the Howard County Fairgrounds early this morning on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon, which police say was a .22 caliber handgun. He also was arrested on suspicion of discharging a firearm within city limits.

John E. Clovis, 36, 705 Creighton St., was arrested Thursday morning on traffic warrants. He was released on bond.

Sheriff's log

Guns, coins, jewelry stolen

Doyle Parks of Gail Route Box 412 told Howard County sheriff's deputies Thursday night that someone burglarized his residence sometime between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. and stole $2,472 worth of personal items.

The items stolen were three shotguns, a box of shells, a coin collection in a tan brief case, two jewelry boxes, two watches and three rings.

The sheriff's department is investigating the burglary.

Deputies released Albert Edward Aken, 32, 2205 Johnson St., from county jail Thursday morning after he served 10 days for a driving while intoxicated judgment.

Education cuts

Farabee, pushing for about $505 million in cuts, said there may have been miscalculations about where the committee stands right now.

Lewis said the House must receive the appropriations bill before it would start considering a tax increase.

The Fort Worth Democrat said he expected the House to pass a temporary sales tax increase of 1 1/2 cents, as proposed by Gov. Mark White.

But the chairman of the tax-writing committee said he wasn't sure what kind of tax bill would emerge.

Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, said of Lewis, "I don't think he's saying that that's the only thing he will pass. When you're in a situation where you don't have the votes now, I don't think you start saying that this is the only thing (that will) pass."

Schlueter said nearly 80 of the 150 House members currently are opposed to a tax increase.

ing students may be allowed excused absence for participation in the organizations.

Renewed the lease agreement with the Howard County Commissioners' Court concerning the Lakeview YMCA property.

Approved a plan to raze the South Ward school building. After receiving no bids for the sale of the property, Crockett recommended the plan. He said the building is deteriorating and added the plan would make maintenance of the site more economical.

Approved a lease of Lakeview School property with Greater Opportunities of the Permian Basin, which administers the Headstart program.

Planned a meeting for noon Sept. 25 to set the tax rate and review a district health insurance policy proposal.

House OKs payment delay

AUSTIN (AP) - Senators have approved a bill to postpone until February the first payment this fiscal year of $860.5 million to the state employee and teacher retirement systems.

The vote Thursday was 21-5, just enough to put the measure into immediate effect if it also clears the House by a two-thirds margin.

"Without 21 votes, this bill is worthless," said bill sponsor John Traeger, D-Seguin.

The measure would become effective only if the current special legislative session enacts a tax bill. "That is one of the most important facets of the bill," Traeger said.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said, "Not that I think it's the best solution ... but I think it may be the only one of the major solutions we have at hand that will work and get (us) out of this rather serious trap we're in."

State payments from February through August 1987 would be prorated for a 12-month period. At the end of that period, the state also would pay a minimum of 1 percent of the payments would have earned in interest had they not been deferred.

Delaying retirement payments is one of several measures designed to avoid state checks bouncing later this year as lawmakers try to cope with a projected budget deficit of $2.8 billion.

Earlier, Traeger said the bill would not have any effect on current retirement benefits or benefits for employees thinking about retiring.

In other action Thursday, the Senate:

Approved 27-0, and sent to the governor, a bill that would require payment of a 25-cent fee each time a person brings beer and liquor into the state. The Legislative Budget Board estimated the bill would raise $600,000 to $750,000 a year, with the money going for state enforcement of import restrictions.

Approved on voice vote a resolution directing the Senate Committee on Health and Human Resources to hold hearings at least every six months to make sure the State Board of Medical Examiners is promptly disciplining physicians "who pose a danger to the public."

Approved on voice vote, and sent to the House, a resolution urging the Texas congressional delegation "to use every means" to change a federal tax proposal that would eliminate the deduction of the state sales tax.

Sponsor Cyndi Krier, R-San Antonio, said for every $1 Texas sends to Washington it only gets 63 cents back. "It's not that Texas isn't already paying more than its fair share of taxes ... and it's not a Democrat issue, it's not a Republican issue, it's a Texas issue and a fairness issue," she said.

She said if the provision remains in the proposed tax reform legislation, the total tax deduction loss to Texas would be $600 million a year.

Get into job creation conferees informed

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - A "super conference" that drew participants from two dozen counties addressed an issue close to the heart of its host city - how to put people to work.

The conference's subject was matching the workforce to the workplace.

But for Odessa and other cities battered by the depressed oil industry, there is a more pressing issue.

The problem becomes "training people for jobs when there aren't any jobs to train for," said Dave Cox, chairman of the State Association of Private Industry Councils.

"We're not going to change anything but ourselves," said businessman Clayton Williams of Midland. "I'm going to try to do my job faster, do it cheaper."

Business, civic and education leaders attended the conference Wednesday at the University of Texas-Permian Basin.

Sponsored by the Permian Basin Private Industry Council, the meeting attracted 327 people representing 27 counties, organizers said.

Cox, who chairs the Permian Basin PIC as well as the state organization, said it was clear the participants will have to get into the job creation business.

"We all suffer the same problems, the same pain, here in the Basin" and solutions will have to be regional, he said.

After the conference Cox said local task forces will be formed in many of the communities represented to study the problem of putting West Texas back to work.

Williams, who was luncheon speaker, said staying in business is the first priority for area businessmen. He said it may be too late to transform Texas into a high-tech haven like Massachusetts or California because high-tech industry already has begun to mature.

The Permian Basin will continue to produce 75 percent of the state's oil, he said, and the traditional industries eventually will get better.

"We've got to keep our best people, keep our spirit," he said.

He said he cut his oil and gas operations from their boomtime peak of 900 employees to 112, and has taken other cost-saving measures.

"I'm drilling wells for in some cases 20 cents on the dollar," Williams said. Cutting back created rumors that he was going broke, but the cuts kept him afloat, he said.

He said his own involvement in teaching a class at Texas A&M is part of the reason he entered the high-tech field of communications with a company called ClayDesta Communications.

Man executed in N.C.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A white man who raped and slashed a white nurse, then left her to bleed to death in a field was executed by injection today after the Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal based on racial discrimination.

John William Rook, 27, said, "Freedom, freedom at last, man! It's been a good one," and died at 2:11 a.m., said Correction Department spokeswoman Renee McCoy. He was allowed to wear western boots and a Harley-Davidson T-shirt.

Rook confessed three times to police that he raped, beat and slashed Ann Marie Roche, 25, then ran her over in May 1980, and left her to bleed to death in a field at a mental institution less than a mile from the death chamber.

Toxic chemicals spilt

FLORA, Miss. (AP) — About 1,500 people remained away from home today after a freight train carrying toxic chemicals derailed, setting one car ablaze, officials said.

About 20 of the 68 cars on the New Orleans-to-Chicago Illinois Central Gulf train derailed Thursday morning when the train was broad-sided by a recreational vehicle, said Jim Maher, director of the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency.

The blaze that began in a virtually empty propane tanker was out by noon, officials said.

Parenthood files suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The local Planned Parenthood chapter filed a lawsuit against the Reagan administration Thursday, alleging it was unfairly denied participation in a federal employee charity drive because of its philosophy.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court against the Office of Personnel Management, Planned Parenthood of Metropolitan Washington asked the court to block the government from denying the group admission to the Combined Federal Campaign.

Meese to go to Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese is serving notice to Mexico that U.S. officials still want answers in the slaying of a Drug Enforcement Administration agent and the detention of another DEA agent by Mexican police.

Meese announced Thursday he would meet with Mexican officials next month and discuss the status of both cases.

The main purpose of the Mexico meeting will be to discuss coordinated steps that can be taken against drug trafficking with law enforcement officials from the U.S. and Mexico, Peru, Columbia and possibly other nations where drugs are a problem.

Tornado hits Nebraska

HARDY, Neb. (AP) — Authorities sealed off this southern Nebraska village after a tornado rolled through, destroying several buildings, knocking down phone and power lines and injuring at least seven people.

None of the injuries from Thursday evening's tornado were serious, said Mike Oglevie, administrator of the Brodstone Memorial Nuckolls Co. Hospital in Superior.

President Aquino

Leaves with $20 million for country

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration and a private relief agency today gave Philippine President Corazon Aquino a $20 million sendoff from her four-day trip to Washington: a plane-load of medical supplies for soldiers fighting communist guerrillas.

"I know that the Filipino people who will be receiving this will know what a true friend America is," Mrs. Aquino said as she stood at Andrews Air Force Base before a U.S. military transport plane that will fly the supplies to the Philippines.

Moments later, Mrs. Aquino departed for New York on a U.S. presidential jet to continue a nine-day trip designed to win support for her government.

The medical supplies, which will also be used to help Filipino civilians who can't afford their own health care, was purchased with a $10 million U.S. government grant and an equal sum from the relief group AmeriCare. President Reagan announced the gift on Tuesday after the two leaders met at the White House.

Earlier today, thousands of former Peace Corps volunteers holding a 25th anniversary celebration gave Mrs. Aquino an enthusiastic reception.

"Peace has a chance in our country," she told a cheering audience in a huge circus tent on the Mall. The crowd of about 4,000 was the largest single gathering of former Peace Corps workers since the agency was founded in 1961.

Mrs. Aquino said her efforts to improve the lives of Filipinos through rural development are "using methods the Peace Corps is most familiar with."

"You are fortunate indeed, because peace is a great and worthy cause," she said.

It was her last public appearance in Washington before heading for New York and continuing a nine-day trip designed to win support for her government.

That support was shown by the House on Thursday, when it voted to give the Philippines an additional $200 million for her debt reduction. Sen. Richard Lugar, however, said the measure faces tougher going in the deficit-conscious Senate.

The House, by a 203-197 margin, voted the new money shortly after Mrs. Aquino went before a joint meeting of Congress to deliver a speech that sparked accolades, cries of "Cory, Cory, Cory," and a rare salute from House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass. He declared: "That's the finest speech I've heard in 34 years in Congress."

No vote on the aid package was scheduled in the Senate, however, and Lugar, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said passage might be difficult because of the continuing ardor for budget cutting.

The Philippines have received more than $500 million in U.S. aid this fiscal year.

In her speech to Congress, Mrs. Aquino said her country deserved U.S. help because it had become — through a predominantly peaceful revolution — a bastion of democracy and peace in Asia after 20 years of authoritarian rule by former President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

"You have spent many lives and much treasure to bring freedom to many lands that were reluctant to receive it," she said. "And here you have a people who won it by themselves and need only the help to preserve it."

She said a communist insurgency was trying to destroy her country's freedom, but that she also was concerned about "that other slavery: our $26 billion foreign debt."

In dealing with the communists, she said, her government through negotiations is trying to emulate Abraham Lincoln, who pleaded for reconciliation between the American North and South, but was willing to use "the sword of war" to save the country.

Japan adds sanctions

TOKYO (AP) — Japan, South Africa's No. 2 trading partner, today announced additional sanctions against the white-led Pretoria government, including a ban on iron and steel imports.

Japan had previously restricted the sale of computers to South Africa to protest that nation's apartheid racial segregation system. "The situation in South Africa, which shows no sign of improvement, has led to such a serious stage that some steps must be taken," Chief Cabinet Secretary Masaharu Gotoda said after the Cabinet approved the sanctions.

But the new measures do not affect Japanese imports of South African coal or iron ore, and were viewed as limited. There was no immediate reaction from South African government officials in Pretoria.

France compromises

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — France made a major concession on farm subsidies at a world trade conference, and delegates quietly buried a Soviet bid to take part in new talks on changing the rules of global commerce.

After years of stubborn opposition, France on Thursday agreed to put agricultural subsidies on the agenda for world trade negotiations within the framework of the 92-nation General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Sixty-one of the group's trade and commerce ministers have met all week in this seaside resort 75 miles east of Montevideo to reach agreement on the agenda for the talks, which are expected to last several years.

The Punta del Este conference is scheduled to end today.

Soviet to visit Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze will make an official visit to Mexico Oct. 3-7, the Foreign Ministry announced.

In a statement issued Thursday night, the ministry said Shevardnadze will discuss Mexican-Soviet relations and international issues with Bernardo Sepulveda, Mexico's foreign minister.

Shevardnadze also will meet with other high-level government officials and members of the Senate, the statement said.

The Soviet foreign minister is now in the United States, and has scheduled a meeting with Secretary of State George P. Shultz in Washington today.

Nuclear arms opposed

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — A government commission today unanimously accepted an article opposing nuclear weapons on Philippine soil as part of a new constitution being drafted for ratification this year.

The Constitutional Commission, 26-0, accepted a proposal stating that the Philippines, "consistent with the national interest, adopts and pursues a policy of freedom from nuclear weapons in the (national) territory."

The other 21 members of the commission were not present at the meeting. Manila newspapers had reported broad support on the panel for a declaration opposing nuclear weapons here.

Federal agents may testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry E. Claiborne's lawyers are calling government agents to testify at his Senate impeachment trial in a climactic attempt to show that the jurist's tax fraud conviction was tainted by intimidation of prosecution witnesses.

Defense lawyer Oscar Goodman said he also plans to wind up his case against impeachment by putting Claiborne himself on the witness stand. Claiborne, who is serving a two-year sentence in a federal prison camp in Alabama, is attending the trial in the Senate Caucus Room in the custody of two U.S. marshals. There may also be a return appearance by Jerry Watson, the Las Vegas, Nev., entrepreneur who is engaged in a finger-pointing battle with his former tax preparer, Charlotte Travaglia, over who bungled Claiborne's 1980 income tax return.

Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., said Thursday he wants to recall Watson because of an "outrageous conflict" in their testimony, with Watson and Mrs. Travaglia blaming each other for a tax return that both disowned.

Claiborne was convicted in August 1984 on two counts of tax evasion, including failure to report $87,911 in legal fees as income on his 1980 return. He claims his tax preparers made the mistake. Claiborne refuses to resign as chief U.S. district judge in Nevada and is still drawing his $78,700 salary while imprisoned.

The 12-member Senate Impeachment Committee had hoped to finish hearing testimony and receiving evidence today, but sources close to the panel said the initial phase of the trial may spill over into Saturday or Monday.

Merchant Marine imperiled by act

Nothing less than national security is involved in the Navy's misguided proposal to ship military cargo on foreign vessels, thus imperiling the survival of the already moribund U.S. Merchant Marine.

Ever since the Cargo Preference Act of 1904, domestic shippers have had priority in carrying military cargo. This measure has assured the availability of a viable merchant-marine fleet to supply and sustain American forces fighting abroad during the four big wars of this century.

Granted, U.S. shipping lines today charge 10 to 30 percent more than foreign carriers. Why? Because American labor costs, both in ship construction and on-board staffing, are double those of most nations. Moreover, foreign ships don't have to conform to exacting U.S. shipbuilding standards.

But the Navy is being penny wise and pound foolish in proposing to weaken the 82-year-old act so that its supplies can be carried more cheaply by foreign ships. The savings don't justify the price of abandoning U.S. commercial carriers.

The Navy is the leading client of domestic shippers, and cancellation of their contracts could doom the dwindling fleet.

The U.S. Merchant Marine has shrunk from 5,000 at the end of World War II to approximately 120 today. Since 1970, the number of U.S. shipping companies has fallen from 23 to 8, and most have reported significant losses in recent years.

The absence of an adequate number of American domestic carriers is one of this nation's largest military liabilities as a world power. In the event of war, it would be costly and time-consuming for the Navy to recreate a fleet of commercial carriers.

The Navy should scuttle its proposal to allow foreign ships to carry military cargo. Even in its weakened condition, the U.S. Merchant Marine is simply too valuable a resource to lose.

Your donations at work remodeling state offices

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — A tipster on Capitol Hill telephoned the other day with a real shocker: Secretary of State George Shultz had spent $2 million on a rug for his office. It wasn't true.

But in checking out the astonishing allegation, we turned up some fascinating information on life at the top — the top two floors of the State Department building, that is.

A lot of money has indeed been spent recently for improvements and fancy furnishings in 10 suites on the seventh floor — including Shultz's office — and on the eighth floor, which is used for diplomatic receptions, banquets, tea parties and other high-toned affairs. Another $2 million will be spent on antique furniture.

But the money is being donated, and the only really valuable rug in Shultz's private office is an Oriental worth about $20,000 — a pittance by Washington carpeting standards.

How did Foggy Bottom acquire all this for nothing? It was accomplished by Clement Conger, 73, a smooth-talking, arm-twisting Virginia gentleman. A newspaperman in his youth, he turned to a higher calling as a Foreign Service officer and then curator of the State Department's diplomatic reception rooms (and later of the White House).

"The Grand Acquisitor" specializes in persuading millionaires, corporations and assorted patriotic patrons of the arts to donate Federal Period antiques or ante up the money he needs to buy them. Among the donors is Shultz himself, who has kicked in $10,000 a year ever since he became secretary ("I didn't ask him, either," said Conger), and Shultz's deputy, John C. Whitehead.

Though he derides the original decor of the top floors as Airport Lounge Modern, Conger is both a pragmatist and an eclectic. As a result, Shultz's office is a mixture of old and new. Mahogany floors (and the Oriental rug) replaced the institutional wall-to-wall carpeting. Cherry paneling covers the walls and the rec-room acoustical-tile ceiling has been redone.

In Shultz's study, family pictures share space with portraits of James Madison and John Quincy Adams. The leather-covered phone (with direct line to the White House) sits on an 18th century Pembroke table. A personal computer is hidden in an antique desk.

But the rug, you say: What about the rug and the $2 million? Was it all a figment of imagination? Not exactly. Conger's redecoration of the enormous Ben Franklin Dining Room on the eighth floor cost $2.5 million, and it did include a huge, expensive rug.

"Nobody's ever had a rug this big," Conger proudly told our reporter David Davis. It's 90 feet long and 36 feet wide and cost $253,000, plus $25,000 to lay it. There are 50 stars woven into the background, American eagles at each end and part of the Great Seal of the Republic in the center, exactly beneath the Great Seal in the ceiling.

One of the biggest problems with the rug was getting rid of it. Despite the celebrity feet that had trod upon the old rug, Conger's assistant, Gail Serfaty, found there were no takers. She couldn't even give it away to the Salvation Army, Goodwill or Mitch Schneider's homeless shelter. Finally, a group in Virginia that cares for the homeless took it off her hands.

Incidentally, not everything in Conger's kingdom is real. The Corinthian columns in the Franklin Dining Room are faked to look like red French marble. The genuine articles would have gone crashing through all eight floors.

AIRWAVE ANXIETIES: The federal government has belatedly decided to stop releasing lists of the radio frequencies used by various government agencies, declaring them classified.

But Bob Grove, a communications enthusiast and publisher in North Carolina, has been selling a list of the 160,000 frequencies since 1982. Grove says he's sure the government knows he's offering the now-classified list for sale, but no one has complained to him. Soviet embassy officials regularly obtained the list of frequencies, which are now no longer available to the public.

Around the rim

Though not successful, heroes still

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

When Mother Divine swooped down to remove 13-month-old Nicholas Richardson from our world Wednesday during the noon hour, she encountered resistance.

The transition was to the hereafter — somewhere far away from a scouring smoke and a deadening heat.

Valiant efforts by Big Spring Firefighters Ronnie Gaskins and James Dubose interrupted her for a brief moment as they attempted to rescue and revive the infant.

Gaskins emerged from the southwest corner of the smouldering structure at 1014 S. Runnels St. about 12:45 p.m. with the toddler in his arms.

He laid the infant on the ground and Dubose reacted quickly. The firefighter administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in an attempt to revive the infant, but it was too late.

Mother Divine had arrived and departed before we knew it.

"You do what you can, and they both felt bad because the little baby died," said Fire Chief Carl Dorton after he received reports on the actions of the two men.

If they had been there two minutes earlier, there might have been a chance Dorton said.

"I didn't do enough," each man told the chief.

They did what they could. Their gallantry was an attempt to turn a nightmare into a dream.

The actions of Gaskins and Dubose draw attention to the subtleties of someone's desire to serve as a public safety official — a person who reveres life for his fellow citizen.

Both risked their lives as they worked amidst the threat of a gas explosion.

"A baby is in the house," shouted a bystander when they arrived at the scene. The flames erupted and the heat intensified.

But Nicholas was swooped away.

A couple of would-be life savers in Big Spring preferred it otherwise, and so would I.

Gaskins and Dubose: You're a couple of heroes fit for me.

Shaw vote brings disagreement

To the editor: Larry Don Shaw, the representative for our district, voted against House Bill 20 during the regular session of the Legislature.

If that bill had passed, there would have been a 2 percent reduction in all state appropriations, ex-

Dam cost considered too high

To the editor: Soon all the sheep will be bold because of all the wool the city and city fathers and some more weevils are putting over the people eyes.

A million ($1,000,000.00) dollars for the T&P dam? Bull! Any idiot can plainly see the washout in the dam can be repaired by a few dumptruck loads of dirt because the thing is made of dirt anyway.

If they're so worried and don't want the dam to wash-out again, they should put in a 36-inch "riser" with a few sacks of gel so the "riser" can be lowered and not washout the reserve again. Maybe they can get the "Three Roughnecks" that's in the paper to do it. They give a discount to Senior Citizens; maybe they'll give the people a discount, too, and save $995,350.00 unless that means some people want get a big slice of that Federal Fund Pie!

Hostility a factor in U.S.-Soviet issues

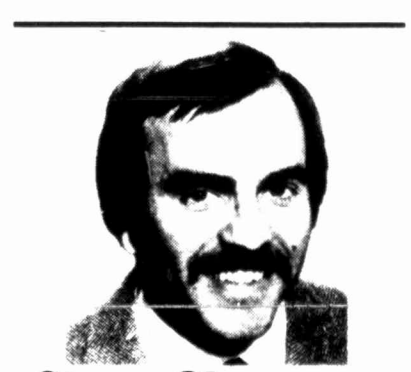

The arrest and indictment of Nicholas Daniloff by the Soviets is one of those events that should no longer surprise us but does.

Nor should we be surprised that when our enemy does something barbaric but not truly threatening, we can't do much to guarantee it won't happen again. To pretend otherwise, as many people are now doing, is wishful thinking.

The Daniloff episode evokes two common responses: a yearning for detente from liberals and a rattle of sabers from conservatives. If only we could remove unnecessary misunderstandings and hostility, we would dry up the source of such nastiness, says one side. If only we would get tough, we could force the Soviets to behave, says the other. Talking reasonably with the other side is either the cure for Soviet misbehavior or its cause.

Neither view is credible. Liberals are mistaken to think that the Soviets, whatever their willingness to negotiate on arms or to engage in commerce, will forget that the relationship with the United States is fundamentally hostile. When two extraordinarily powerful nations with radically divergent interests and ideologies are competing for dominance in the world, they cannot help but be enemies.

A brutal regime, facing an enemy, often will act brutally — even when, as in this case, it has nothing to gain by doing so. Confronted with the arrest of Gennadiy Zakharov, a Soviet employee of the United Nations, on spying charges, the Soviets seized Daniloff, presumably as a bargaining chip. But in doing so they only dramatized the savagery of their system.

Recognizing the character of the Soviet regime, though, doesn't simplify the task of dealing with it, as conservatives imagine. The Soviets can indulge in petty outrages like this one, or greater ones like the colonization of Eastern Europe, because of their military power, underscored by a nuclear arsenal.

It is a fantasy to assume that a bigger U.S. defense budget or a refusal to have anything to do with the Soviets would force them to change.

Canceling arms control talks, as has been suggested, would be showy but self-defeating. The point of those negotiations is not to promote goodwill but to limit our enemy's ability to harm us and to minimize its incentives to do so.

The unfortunate fact, however, is that the negotiations have shown no prospect of going anywhere, and there was no guarantee that the prospective Reagan-Gorbachev summit would take place. This affair will provide the president a neat excuse for that failure.

But scuttling the summit wouldn't solve the immediate problem. In disputes like this, the Soviets enjoy an advantage: a confidence in our moral standards. They know we won't respond to the framing of an innocent American journalist by framing an innocent Soviet journalist, even if such a creature could be found, or to the murder of an American soldier (Arthur Nicholson, in 1965) by murdering a Soviet counterpart. The most effective answers are the least thinkable.

Some actions can be taken, like expelling Soviet diplomats, but their purpose is more symbolic than practical, and the symbolism is less than satisfying. The Soviets, in any event, can expel ours as quickly as we expel theirs.

If Moscow is determined to pursue the murky purpose it had in mind when it seized Daniloff, a blow against its diplomatic corps isn't likely to turn it around — any more than the U.S. grain embargo forced a withdrawal from Afghanistan.

So that leaves us with highly distasteful options. One is to strike a deal with the devil, trading a Soviet spy for an American journalist. The other is to sacrifice Daniloff to high principle, leaving him to whatever unhappy fate the Kremlin decrees.

The former is infuriating, but not so awful as might be thought. It's rare for the U.S. government to try a suspected Soviet spy anyway — the usual procedure is simply to kick out the alleged spy. Why that policy was ignored or changed in this case, particularly with a summit conference in sight, isn't known. But it's difficult to imagine a reason powerful enough to justify abandoning Daniloff so we can send a low-level intelligence operative to jail.

As long as the U.S. is confronted with enemies who are willing to use innocent people as hostages, we are obliged to protect those innocent people unless the costs of doing so are much higher than in this case. And given the necessity of coexisting with the Soviets, we are obliged to keep looking for ways to reduce the risk of war. We may be frustrated by such compromises, but we shouldn't pretend they are avoidable.

Members join efforts to serve church

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is unique.

Unlike many churches, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has no paid clergy, says Bishop DeWayne Wallace.

"Members are asked, or called, to positions," he said.

Wallace is taking his turn "overseeing the spiritual and temporal needs of the ward" at 1803 Wasson Dr. He says he has committed to approximately five years.

His favorite part of being the bishop of the ward is meeting and dealing with the members, he said.

Beyond his call of duty at the church, Wallace makes his living teaching seventh grade social studies at Goliad Middle School.

After school, he's back at the church.

When asked what he does in his spare time, the 34-year-old said, he stays at home with his wife, Elaine, and six children, Kay, 9; Jessica, 8; Jeremy, 6; Troy, 5; Eric, 2; and Cory, 3-months.

Wallace has been a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, commonly known as the Mormons, since he was baptized in 1961.

DEWAYNE WALLACE
...New Bishop
at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints

His parents, Elton and Jeanette Wallace, were converted in 1958 when missionaries came to their home, shared the Word and the couple accepted it, he said.

Although Wallace is a West Texas native, it's surprising to hear him talk.

"I don't have the West Texas twang," he said. Maybe his college years at Brigham Young University or travels to other countries have subsided the drawl.

He served a mission for the church in 1971-1973 in Uruguay, South America.

"It was enjoyable. The country was having political difficulties. The people didn't like Americans — I had to run for my life a few times."

But, some of the people were nice, he added, and were receptive to his teaching.

"We start very young, preparing for the missionary. It's an important part of the church."

There are approximately 25,000 to 30,000 missionaries from throughout the world who pay their own expenses during the experience. Males begin missionary work when they're 19-years-old, while females begin when they're 21, he noted.

Some people are confused by the name Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and what it represents, Wallace said.

"The name 'saints' doesn't mean a perfect person and 'latter day' means that these are the last days compared to the beginning of time. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is a Christian religion. We worship Jesus Christ, that he is the son of God, he died on the cross and he was resurrected."

Wallace explained.

Members of the church work together, he said.

"Individuals and families give the sermons. Children take part and read scriptures and couples speak. It helps people learn to speak in front of crowds. Most of our members could speak in front of crowds of 100 to 1,000 people without worrying about it. About once every two months the bishop speaks."

Each of the Churches of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is structured alike, Wallace said. Programs offered at the church include Sunday school for all ages; Primary for three to 12-year-olds; Release Society, a compassionate service for families who need aid, for women age 18 and older; Priesthood Quorums, for males ages 12 and older, who receive the power and authority to act in God's name and are assigned to visit families; Young Men, Young Women, a youth group that gets involved in dances and other activities for ages 12-18; and Seminary for high school students.

Sunday services begin at 9 a.m. followed by Sunday school for adults and Primary for children at 10:10 a.m. Release Society and Priesthood Quorums meet at 11:10 a.m.

New minister brings growth to fading church

DENTON (AP) — Cooper Creek United Methodist Church is making a comeback, again.

Eighteen years ago, the congregation brought the church back to life from a pile of ashes. Today, the church is going through another rebirth, this time with the help of an 80-year-old "retired" Methodist minister who has thrown heart and soul into the revitalization of the modest white church on an oak-shaded hill.

In August, Bishop John W. Russell came from Dallas to bless the church that sits at the corner of Cooper Creek and Mingo roads. The tiny church has tripled its attendance in the past year under the direction of the Rev. Ray McCleskey.

The bishop spoke to 100 people who crowded onto the 15 pews. The sanctuary may be small, but it boasts new colonial white chancel furnishings through a $10,000 gift from a woman whose family has been connected with the church since its beginning.

The church's history begins at the turn of the century, when three families donated a plot of land for the purpose of worship. Dora Lee May Reese of Palestine, whose parents gave part of the five-acre church site, donated the money for the new platform, carpeting, pulpit, choir seats, baptismal font and other chancel furniture, as well as pew cushions.

But the recent history of the church has included few such acts of generosity or incidents of good fortune. In 1968, the church was gutted in a fire ruled arson. A series of vandalism incidents further damaged the hull of its contents.

The spirit that led the church to rebuild remained in a small congregation that made it through the next few years with a series of circuit preachers. The part-time preachers typically gave an 8:30 a.m. sermon so they could move on to a larger church for the more popular 11 a.m. time slot. By last summer, the regulars had dwindled to about 23 at Sunday morning services. Then, they found out they were going to lose their part-time preacher. Methodist ministers are assigned to churches during an annual conference. Irene Wilson said each year brought the dread of having the church close.

"We were about to give up," said Mrs. Wilson, who has belonged to the church since 1953. "For years, we've been thinking, 'They're going to close us up this time.' But we kept hanging on, hoping for a full-time minister at the 11 a.m. service."

Their prayers were answered when the Rev. William Crouch of First United Methodist Church suggested McCleskey take on the struggling congregation. McCleskey, who lives at Good Samaritan Village and works in the ministry there, had also been helping Crouch with visitation duties. It seemed like a perfect match.

Brother Ray, as McCleskey has asked the congregation to call him, established a children's sermon during each worship service. He appealed to older church members as well as young families who have begun to attend the church in larger and larger numbers. Best of all, he preached an 11 a.m. service that attracted higher attendance than the early bird services of the past.

"Brother Ray's sermons are very inspirational," Mrs. Wilson said. "And he's not long-winded. You don't have to stay well past lunch."

Bible class begins at 9:45 a.m. Worship services are "Hope Regardless of What You Are" at 10:45 a.m. and "Hope Regardless of What You Have Done" at 6 p.m. After the morning service, a pot luck lunch will be served with singing afterward.

While living in Nashville, Grein experienced a promising future as a writer. In a recent interview, she explained that she left the secular music business of Nashville because "I found a better way."

Grein has traveled with her Celebration of Life Team to Central America, Mexico, South Africa, Sweden, Norway and Poland.

Tony Jamar, minister at Christ Fellowship, invites the public to attend. Admission is free.

Five named to 1986 Honor Society

The Society of Distinguished American High School Students announced recently that five students from East Fourth Street Baptist Church have been selected as members of its honor society for 1986.

They are Kristie West, Tommie Woodall, Sonya G. Evans, Larrie Jean Norman and Jason Donghue.

Membership in this national honorary is designed to be not only an honor but also an incentive for those exhibiting top performance while in high school. To be accepted, students must have excelled in academics, extracurricular or civic activities.

As members, these students will have the opportunity to compete for college scholarships through The Society's National Awards Program. This scholarship program, now in its 17th year, is funded by 140 colleges and universities across the nation. To preserve the honor, these members' names and their accomplishments will be listed in The Society's 1986 Membership Registry.

Gospel Award winners to perform

David and Lisa Binion, 1985 and '86 winners of the Gospel Music Dove Award for their original songs "Oh for a Thousand Tongues" and "Allude to the Lamb," will sing at College Park Church of God Sunday.

The couple will sing at the church, 603 Tulane Ave., for the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services. They have traveled across the United States singing in churches, camp meetings and general assemblies.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Guy White to lead revival services

Coahoma — The Reverend Guy White will be the evangelist for the fall revival at the First Baptist Church of Coahoma.

Revival services will be at 11 a.m. Sunday and will continue each evening through Wednesday at 7.

White is a former pastor of the church of Coahoma and was the pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist Church in Big Spring. He is now the pastor of Scotsdale Baptist Church in El Paso.

Music will be led by Rev. Kevin Warner, associate pastor for missions at East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

The church plans to have a ground-breaking service for their new auditorium Sunday at 1 p.m. The service will follow dinner-on-the-grounds and the first service of the fall revival.

Church to show movie Sept. 28

"By Love Set Free," a feature motion picture based on the true story of a young American's imprisonment in a South American country, will be shown on Sept. 28 at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, 401 E. 4th St., at 6 p.m.

Gwynn Lewis will narrate his story. "I was searching for a simpler life, cheaper drugs and, if possible, the chance for happiness," he said.

Lewis and his girlfriend, Pooka, left their comfortable, middle-class lives in the United States to adopt a poverty-level existence in South America. There they met their goal of a simpler life and cheaper drugs.

Arrested on a drug charge, Lewis was thrown into an overcrowded prison where he underwent severe and inhuman tortures.

A missionary in the area, who had learned of the plight of Lewis and his girlfriend, stepped into the picture and began working with them, giving of his time, friendship and prayers. "By Love Set Free" is a story of an entire family affected by one man's Christian commitment.

Reverend Richard Roney, interim pastor of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, invites the public to attend.

Good people are wrapped in all kinds of packages

DEAR ABBY: Why all this commotion about being too fat or too thin? Ten or even 20 pounds one way or the other shouldn't make that much difference. It seems foolish to worry, even for reasons of health. There are no guarantees how long we'll endure in spite of determined efforts to keep fit. Perhaps it's just as well that we don't know when we are going to be physically challenged.

I am 60 pounds underweight due to a terminal illness. When I was healthy, I was a beautiful, shapely, well-proportioned young woman with extraordinary legs that caused men to walk into parking meters. At first I was devastated to consider that people would react with horror on seeing my skinny, meatless, bony legs. Actually no one noticed. I keep repeating a quotation of unknown origin that I would like to share with you: Each day is made special

Dear Abby

By what we can give it
By how we accept it
Then how we live it.

ACCEPTING IT

DEAR ACCEPTING: A sobering thought. Sometimes being reminded of our mortality can cause us to re-examine our priorities, and possibly rearrange them. Thank you for sharing.

DEAR ABBY: Breast surgery is a bust indeed! I submit one man's observations for what they're worth: I am over 60, and during my lifetime I have made love to a number of women whose breasts have ranged in size from Dolly Parton look-alikes to "eggs over easy." One woman had a pair of 38s obtained by implants. Unfortunately, they were hard as rocks, and caressing a rock during lovemaking is a big turnoff.

Ladies, your reaction to being caressed is vastly more important than your shape. Satisfying sex has nothing to do with your measurements. If you don't leave your breasts alone, I will.

ONCE UPON A ROCK, SEABROOK, N.H.

DEAR ONCE: I am sure many of more modestly endowed women readers will find your candid observations both enlightening and encouraging. Women considering breast augmentation surgery should be advised of all possible negative results.

DEAR READERS: "Puzzled in Carmichael" complained about shoppers who pulled back the corn husks looking for "I don't know what." Although I was born and bred in Iowa, I admitted that I didn't know what the shoppers were looking for either.

Did I get letters? Shucks, I'm up to my ears in corny comments.

Dr. L. Lamoreaux of Portland, Ore., said: "Fresh corn is the sweetest. The only way you can test the freshness is by stripping back the husk and piercing a kernel with your thumbnail. If it squirts juice, it's young and tender. If it doesn't, leave it for the livestock. It's old."

Rosemary Polgar of Lomita, Calif., said: "You have to pull the husks back and look at the corn. If the kernels are large and yellow, the corn is tough. Smaller pale yellow or whitish kernels mean the corn is sweet."

From Edmonton (Canada): "The best corn is fresh picked, so if it's possible, buy it from the farmer. Old corn is gummy and sticks to the teeth because the sugar has already turned to starch, which also makes it higher in calories. Younger corn has fewer calories."

Mrs. A.L. Latta of Fort Worth, Texas (age 75), said: "I grow my own corn, so I know how fresh it is. And, by the way, it's refreshing to see questions about corn rather than so many sex-related letters." So, Dear Readers, it's OK to pull back the husks to take a peek. It will not devalue the corn.

Under 50 Reunion slated

LUBBOCK — An "under 50" Class Reunion for members of Lubbock High School graduating classes of 1938, '39 and '40 will be Nov. 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the Lubbock Civic Center.

Approximately 900 class members are unable to locate, according to the reunion chairpersons.

Lost class members are encouraged to contact Ewell Booker, 4215 University, Lubbock, Texas 79413 or call 806-795-4802.

Cholesterol can be good and bad

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am rather worried because in reading your column, which I enjoy, incidentally, you indicated there is a good and bad cholesterol. They were HDL and LDL. Could my own doctor find out what cholesterol I have? — M.T.

Dr. Donohue

Certainly, he can send your blood sample to almost any major lab in town. They'll do the HDL test for you. They'll do the LDL, too, if you want it. But they can get a good estimate of the LDL by knowing the level of HDL cholesterol and triglycerides levels.

we're talking about. HDL stands for high-density lipoproteins and LDL for low-density lipoproteins.

Both are proteins carriers of cholesterol molecules. Because of the way they act in getting rid of cholesterol, the HDL kind is considered the "good" cholesterol, while the LDL type is "bad." That's why you have to know which cholesterol dominates in the total blood cholesterol picture.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The NBA in Big Spring

Dawkins, Gilmore among stars playing Tuesday

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

The Quiz Question: Why, on Tuesday night, will carloads of Midlanders, San Angeloes, Abilines, and Hobbobians be converging on Big Spring? I mean, what's the big deal?

The Answer: Because, sports fans, some of the greatest athletes in the world will be on hand to do what they do best, which is twist, sky and slam at heights normal humans don't aspire to without stairs. Oh, there's one other thing. Over on the sidelines, cheering on the skywalkers, will be three of the prettiest women in history.

Outrageous as these claims may seem now, Tuesday night may render them short of the mark.

Pro basketball players have been called the greatest athletes in the world because of the rare combination of strength, speed, grace and precision necessary to succeed at the top level. Some of the best are coming to Big Spring Tuesday.

The NBA Shootout in Big Spring, as it's being called, is the brainchild of first year Howard College men's basketball coach Larry Brown. He said he conceived the Shootout as a way to provide money for Howard College athletics, the Special Olympics, and also as a way to bring big time entertainment to Big Spring.

Tip-off for the game is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, and judging from the players who have committed, it should be quite a show.

Los Angeles Lakers shooting guard supreme Byron Scott is the latest superstar to confirm for Big Spring. According to Brown, Lakers guard Michael Cooper, who for months has been committed to Big Spring, talked his teammate into coming. Two years ago, Cooper and Scott played instrumental roles in the Lakers win over the Celtics in the NBA finals.

Other NBA stars who will be showing off their wares Tuesday night include:

Veteran seven-foot plus center Artis Gilmore of the San Antonio Spurs; and Gilmore's new teammate, Johnny Dawkins. Dawkins led the Duke Blue Devils into the NCAA final game last year, and who was named the top college basketball player in the country.

Larry Nance of the Phoenix Suns, who won the first NBA dunking contest three years ago, and who can hold a basketball as easy as others hold a golf ball; Nance's teammate Walter Davis, a prolific scorer and former all-American at North Carolina; and Robert Reid and Alan Leavell from the Houston Rockets, both of whom will likely be proud owners of an NBA championship ring by the end of next season.

These three members of the Los Angeles Raiders cheerleaders will be encouraging the crowd Tuesday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum as part of the NBA Shootout. They are, clockwise from the front, Janet Wilson, Eryn Krueger and Bonnie Cordobes. The cheerleaders will also model swimsuits during the players autograph session at the Park Inn pool Tuesday afternoon from 3-4 p.m.

Other players who will be here are Spurs Mike Mitchell, Mike Gale, and Jeff Taylor. Taylor may be remembered by Big Spring fans for his outstanding career at Hobbs, NM High School and Texas Tech.

Last but not least, the inimitable George Gervin — the Iceman, will display his legendary offensive magic for the Big Spring crowd.

Coach Brown said the preliminary ticket sales have been good, thus allowing the possibility of financing more players. Annette Clendenen, the promotions director for the Shootout, said there's a strong possibility more superstars may show up Tuesday.

"Some of the teams are going to bring some other players, but they're not saying who. They want it to be a surprise. We have no earthly idea. For all we know, Magic (Johnson) may come — Cooper's been trying to sweet talk him into it," Clendenen said.

Clendenen also said Janet Wilson, Eryn Krueger and Bonnie

Cordobes are coming. They, by the way, are Los Angeles Raider cheerleaders. For more information on Janet, Eryn and Bonnie, see adjoining picture.

Tickets for the shootout are $8 in advance and $10 at the door. 4,500 tickets are available, and are being sold at Rositas Fajitas, Cafe in the Park (the Park Inn), Denny's, K-Mart, Wendy's, the Chamber of Commerce, and Big Spring Country Club. Clendenen said Monday morning will be the last time to purchase tickets at outlets.

Big Spring (1-1) at Lake View (2-0)

This is it. The Steers finally get their chance to show what they can do in a new district. They start off the season against a very good team. After a long absence from the state playoffs, the Chiefs made it last year, now they are itching to make a return trip.

Big Spring is supposed to make a run for a playoff berth itself. So what you have here is a playoff setting in the district opener.

Lake View has not been overpowering, but impressive in wins over Del Rio and Lubbock High. The Chiefs sport a consistent defense. The offense, though not consistent, can be very explosive.

On the other hand, the Steers are coming off a humiliating 56-6 loss to Lubbock Estacado. They have something to prove, they are a better team than they showed last Friday and that they can compete in District 2-4A.

Look for the Steers to be fired up. The defense, especially the special teams will be ready to play. Paul Decker will regain his confidence in his passing and either Philip Mathews or Charles White will go over the 100-yard barrier.

The Steers will enter their new district with a bang.
Big Spring 28, Lake View 21

Colorado City (0-1-1) at Post (2-0)

The C-City Wolves need a win here badly, unfortunately they have one of the best teams in the area to try to get it against.

The Post Antelopes are accustomed to getting into the state playoffs, this year probably won't be any different. The Antelopes have only four starters each way coming back from last year's 11-3 team. But they still have a strong winning tradition.

The Wolves will give it one heck-of-a-try, but they'll come up short.
Post 27, Colorado City 20

Coahoma (0-2) at Forsan (2-0)

This is the first annual Howard County Bowl. It promises to be a highly competitive, hard-hitting affair.

The Bulldogs from Coahoma are hungry for a victory. The Buffaloes from Forsan want to keep their slate perfect and make the homecoming fans happy.

The Coahoma passing combination of quarterback James White and tight end Jimmy King will give the Buffalo secondary a good workout, but hard-running Wayne Wright and the Forsan defense will win out in the end.

Forsan 21, Coahoma 12

Greenwood (0-2) at Stanton (2-0)

The Stanton Buffaloes are on a roll. They've always had a pretty good defense, but their offense was lacking. This year they've got a good offense to go along with that defense.

The Greenwood Rangers are stumbling a little this season. It's not that they have a bad team, it's just that they've lost two close games. This game is always a rough and tumble affair.

For the first time in three years, the Buffaloes will defeat the Rangers.
Stanton 21, Greenwood 14

Irion County (0-2) at Garden City (0-2)

The Irion County Hornets return seven offensive and five defensive starters from a team that went 10-1-1 last year. Something, however, must have gone wrong, because the Hornets are off to a slow 0-2 start.

Garden City, a young team with nowhere to go but up, is also 0-2, but they seem to be improving. Quarterback Kenny Bennett hooked up with Doyle Shafer for a touchdown pass to even things at halftime against Grandfalls last week.

This week, coach Tony Stricklin's Bearkats will find a second half to match a good first half. Call it the upset special.

Garden City 14, Irion County 8

Klondike (1-1) at Ira (0-2)

Tonight against Ira, the Klondike Cougars return to competition against fellow mortals after suffering a 62-13 licking at the hands of Jayton's super men.

Ira returns eleven lettermen from last season's 6-5 team, but they've found the early going tough this year.

The Cougars are still learning the do's and don'ts of six-man football, and there's every reason to think this team will improve as the season progresses and the kids learn their lessons.

Against Jayton, the Cougars learned a big lesson, and they're going to turn around tonight and teach it to Ira.

Klondike 48, Ira 32

Grady (0-2) at Highland (1-1)

Poor Grady. With but one senior and not a junior to speak of, this team is young, young, and YOUNG.

In two games this season, the young (it can't be avoided) Wildcat defense has surrendered 126 points. Granted, this is six-man, and the Wilcats are...ah...young, but you just can't expect to win when your defense allows 63 points a game.

In a year or two, when the three sophomores and eleven freshmen grow a few inches, add a few pounds, and earn the right to call themselves juniors and seniors, this team may well frighten the likes of Jayton.

But until then, they'll take their lumps. Here's hoping they're a tough, resilient bunch.

Highland 52, Grady 36

Blackwell (1-1) at Sands (1-1)

In its opening game, Sands outscored the Darth Vadars of six-man football, Jayton, by 27-8 in the second half. Unfortunately, they lost the first half 42-6. Still, that's not a bad showing against the otherworldly Jaybirds.

Last week, Sands beat a fine young Borden County team (which, by the way, is idle this week) by 41-26. Blackwell, on the other hand, whipped a youthful Grady team 74-32.

The teams appear evenly matched, but there's a hitch. Sands head coach John Blair is in the hospital with what is believed to be kidney stones. The Mustangs may miss their mentor, or they may play with added emotion.

Let's be optimistic. The Mustangs, breathing fire, will 'win one for the Gipper'.

Bengals run over Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fullback Larry Kinnebrew's performance reminded Cincinnati General Manager Paul Brown of another era, 500 games ago, when Brown was coaching his first professional football game.

(fullback) Marion Motley. He looked like Marion," Brown said Thursday night after the 258-pound Kinnebrew powered for 94 yards and three touchdowns to give the Bengals a 30-13 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

Howard College hosting coaching clinic

Howard College Hawks head basketball coach Larry Brown and Hawk-Queens coach Don Stevens are hosting the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches West Texas Clinic at the college this weekend.

The clinic, which begins at 7 p.m. tonight with a skull session, will feature a sampling of the best high school coaches in the state. The cost for the three day clinic is $25 for members of the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches. For non-members, the cost is $35, which includes membership in the TABC.

The boys coaches who will lecture are Tony Mauldin, who coached Morton to the AA state championship last year, and South Garland coach Garland Nichols, who formerly coached 5-A powerhouse Pampa.

Coach Brown said two of the top three womens coaches in the state are scheduled to lecture and teach at the clinic. They are Jan Lahodny, who has twice coached the Victoria High girls to the state championship, and Leta Andrews, coach of the always powerful Calallen girls.

The cost of the clinic includes all lectures, fees for Saturday morning's golf tournament, refreshments, door prizes, and a dinner Saturday night sponsored by Big Spring Athletics. Tee off time for the golf tournament will be 8 a.m. at the Big Spring Country Club.

Brown said in addition to lectures, the coaches will have the Hawks and Hawk-Queens to demonstrate techniques and defenses and defenses.

The clinic will conclude with an all-panel discussion at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Shigellosis spreads to New Mexico

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Harry Hull, state epidemiologist, says 17 cases of a bacterial infection, shigellosis, that have been confirmed in Lea County are believed to be related to an outbreak of the disease in West Texas.

Texas health officials reported more than 160 people were affected by the disease in the Permian Basin.

Hull said the Lea County cases appear to be related to the Texas outbreak, which he said would be normal because the disease is spread fairly easily from one person to another and among family members.

Hull said New Mexico health officials are working with Texas authorities to identify the cause of the disease.

Salvation Army facilities available

DALLAS (AP) — State prison officials are negotiating for the possible transfer of low-risk inmates to Salvation Army facilities after the state lost in its bid to transfer them to a National Guard armory.

"There is great need for an organization to help the state take these people who are on furloughs or might be released early. The Salvation Army is well-equipped to do that all across the state," Lt. Col. John Mikles, Salvation Army commander for Texas, told the Dallas Morning News in today's editions.

"The question is whether the state can afford what it would cost to do that. We have no money to do it ourselves," Mikles said.

New threat used for over-due ticket

SAN ANTONIO — City officials have found that threatening to seize people's cars for past-due parking tickets is far more effective than picking violators up personally.

"Now that we're going to pick up their cars, my God, we're getting more response than when we were picking them up personally," said Luis Garcia, chief municipal court prosecutor. "People are coming in like mad. The response is way over what we expected."

13 women honored by Hall of Fame

AUSTIN (AP) — Thirteen inductees, honored for contributions to the state's heritage, have been added to the Texas Women's Hall of Fame.

"I am proud of their accomplishments and am pleased to join other Texans in honoring these women for providing our young people with role models for excellence," Gov. Mark White said during a Thursday night ceremony.

An 11-member panel, including White and members of the Governor's Commission for Women selected the finalists for the Hall of Fame.

White also announced the selection of 150 distinguished women in Texas history who were recognized Thursday by the Hall of Fame.

"It is only fitting in this Sesquicentennial year that we reflect upon and pay tribute to the great women leaders of our past," White said.

The 13 women honored Thursday night were:

Mary Lavinia Griffith, rancher from Paige; Jody Conradt, University of Texas women's basketball coach; Mary Kay Ash, Dallas, chairman of the board of Mary Kay Cosmetics; Ada Simond, Austin writer and educator; Caro Crawford Brown, Corpus Christi journalist; Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin; Mary Owen, Fort Worth pathologist; Hermine Tobolowsky, Dallas attorney; Margaret Cousins, San Antonio writer and editor; Anne Armstrong, former ambassador to Great Britain; Sally Ride, astronaut and first woman to fly on a space mission; Alicia Chacon, El Paso city council; and Frances E. Goff, special assistant to the president of the University of Texas System Cancer Center.
