Tax bill to pass, despite protests

By PHILLIP SWANN
Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The House Thursday is expected to easily pass an historic tax overhaul bill despite overwhelming opposition from the Texas congressional delegation.

Several Texas congressmen Wednesday expressed concern that the bill, which would close many tax loopholes and sharply lower individual rates, would spark an economic recession because it could discourage business investment. The legislation would raise corporate taxes by $120 million over five years.

Lawmakers also criticized two provisions that would adversely affect Texas — the elimination of the individual deduction for sales taxes and a reduction in tax benefits for oil and gas producers.

"I don't see how I can vote for it," said Rep. Ralph Hall, D-Rockwall. "There are too many minuses. They say it's historic, but I don't know why we can't wait until next year and get a better bill."

The House is expected to vote Thursday on the package which is strongly supported by President Reagan and House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass. The Senate is scheduled to consider the bill next week.

Supporters of the legislation indicated Wednesday that it could pass by more than 100 votes in the House, though concern over its impact on the economy continues to grow.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, last week told a meeting of House Democrats that the bill is "like a swig of bad whiskey. It may make you feel good right now, but it'll give you a heck of a hangover tomorrow."

Only a handful of the state's 27-member delegation are expected to vote for the bill. In a private meeting of Texas Democrats last week, only Reps. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, and Mike Andrews, D-Houston, said they might support it, according to sources.

"The impact on Texas is great," said Rep. Albert Bustamante, a San Antonio Democrat who plans to vote against the bill.

How's that?

Time change

Q. When does the time change?

A. Set your clock back one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 26. Time changes from Daylight Savings to Central Standard each year on the last Sunday in October.

Lighter side

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Fred indeed is a Fred in need, says Fred Society founder Fred Daniel.

In an ocean of Roberts, Michaels and Jeffreys, the name Fred stands out like the Creature from the Black Lagoon at the manicurist.

And television hasn't helped the problem. On the tube, Fred has been a cartoon caveman, a detective's parrot, a bumbling shipping clerk, a fast-talking stereo salesman, a frog and a chimp.

William Shakespeare, though no stranger to the name, was not best friends with it either. He used Fred only five times in his complete works.

In schoolyards across the country, Freds are teasingly called Derf, Freddy the Freeloader and Fred Flintstone.

But few remember the first names of composer Chopin, the husband of scientist Madam Curie or political philosopher Engels. Or that guitarist Freddie King wrote the blues classic "Hide Away."

So Daniel, 34, at war with a negative public image, formed an organization devoted to Fred, the whole Fred and nothing but the Fred. Mission: To make Fred a name to be proud of.

$50,000 grant helps pay mortgage

A $50,000 grant from the Dora Roberts Foundation has enabled the Big Spring Humane Society to pay the mortgage on its new Adoption Center on Wasson Drive at Granada.

President Margaret Lloyd said $35,000 of the grant went to pay the mortgage and the rest of the money will go toward materials for the property.

In addition, several local businesses have donated tools and materials for the center, including Feagan Implement Co., Southwest Tool Co., Cosden refinery and McMahon Concrete, she said.

The Big Spring Federal Prison Camp is erecting the fencing that surrounds the property and divides spaces for keeping animals. Much of the fencing was donated by Keith Bristow, she said.

The society is working to construct a temporary holding facility for cats, Lloyd said, because it has been "swamped" with cats and kittens lately.

About 35 dogs and 20 cats are at the unfinished center now, she said, and "I have more (cats) than that at my house."

Society members had previously kept animals for adoption in their back yards and houses.

The society needs volunteer help with renovation of the center, and donations of blankets, towels, bathmats and dog houses, Lloyd said.

It will meet at 7 p.m. tonight at the Howard County Library to discuss the Adoption Center.

College board

Tax rate up, funding uncertain

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Although the Howard County Junior College District tax rate was raised by board action Wednesday, college officials do not expect to collect as much in local taxes during the fiscal year.

The district board of trustees increased the tax rate by 1.95 cents, to 17.95 cents per $100 value at its regular meeting. Rate action by the board was delayed awaiting the end of the special legislative session.

Terry Hansen, vice president for fiscal affairs, explained that a decrease in the county's tax base prompted the change in the local tax rate.

A decrease in the value of county property of approximately $200 million from last year poses a threat of a substantial reduction in the amount the district would receive, he said.

The tax levy this year will be $2,396,733, a reduction of $73,720 from last year's levy.

In addition, officials do not expect to collect as great a percentage of taxes this year as compared to last, "because of the hard times," Hansen said.

A drop in oil and other property values may mean lower taxes for those Howard County property owners, despite the tax rate increase, Hansen said. Those property owners whose valuation remains the same face an increased tax bill, he concluded.

For the district to receive as much money in local taxes this year as last year, the tax rate would have to be 18.8 cents per $100 valuation, Dr. Bob Riley, president of Howard College, said he was advised by tax assessor/collector Dorothy Moore.

Of the 17.95 cent figure, 16.55 cents will go to maintenance and operation of the district, and 1.4 cents toward interest and sinking fund payments, Riley said.

He said he believes the college could function satisfactorily on the new rate.

"We'd like to hold the rate down as much as we can," he said. "We're going to work hard to run an efficient organization."

In other business, the board:

• Announced the Legislature has approved a 9 percent funds reduction for junior colleges, including Howard College. Riley said that would mean $195,000 less for the college during the coming year.

However, the reduction had been anticipated and planned for in the budget approved at the August board meeting.

• Announced the actual funds reduction for the SouthWest College Institute for the Deaf will be 1.6 percent, or about $21,000.

While the Legislature actually approved a 9 percent reduction in SWCID's funds, a $100,000 federal grant makes up the difference, Riley said. With the federal grant and state funds, SWCID will COLLEGE page 2A

Lot will be park, perhaps

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A civic committee has jumped ahead of the county in vying for use of a vacant lot next to the Howard County Courthouse Annex, but lot owner Horace Tubb remains open for bids.

"I told them I would negotiate with them (county) before I sold it to anyone else," Tubb said.

He and officers of the Downtown Steering Committee steering committee entered into a lease agreement Wednesday, said Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones. She said the steering committee presented the contract to Tubb on Sept. 12.

The steering committee will begin leasing the park March 1987 from Tubb at $1 per year.

Quinones said the committee seeks to develop the lot into a park that could serve as a playground for children and a place for county employees to eat lunch.

"Generally we want those things. We'll have to see what kind of donations we can raise before implementing our ideas," Quinones said.

On the other hand, county officials remain interested in purchasing the property from Tubb.

"We may need it for a parking lot. We'll just have to wait and see," said Commissioner Paul Allen.

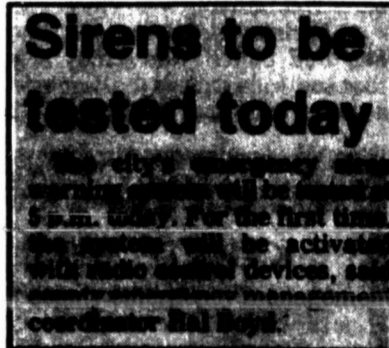

Tubb said the lease agreement with the Downtown Steering Committee contains provisions to ensure that he retains ownership of the property.

The agreement with the county giving them first shot at purchasing the lot is a "gentleman's agreement," Tubb said.

Tubb said county commissioners had spoken with him numerous times about purchasing the lot, but the parties never reached a final agreement.

The county made several offers to Tubb for the property, but "he wasn't too interested," said County Judge Milton Kirby.

The property owner said he initially had ideas of turning the lot into an office building that could house attorneys and title abstract companies.

Tax plan gets negative reactions

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans would face one of the nation's highest tax burdens if a plan making the rounds at the Capitol becomes law, says Comptroller Bob Bullock.

He reacted quickly Wednesday to Rep. Stan Schlueter's talk of a possible 5½ percent state sales tax and 15-cent per gallon gasoline tax.

"The size and scope of the bill will have a profound impact on all Texans," Bullock said in a letter to Schlueter.

The state sales tax now is 4½ percent. The gasoline tax is 10 cents per gallon. Increases in those taxes are among the plans being considered by lawmakers now working on a solution to the projected $2.8 billion state deficit.

Schlueter, D-Killeen and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, denied pushing any specific plan. But some House members said Schlueter laid out a plan during a Tuesday meeting in Speaker Gib Lewis' office.

Bullock called it the "Schlueter Tax Proposal," and said it includes the 5½ percent sales tax and 15-cent gasoline tax, with the taxes rolling back to current levels in three years.

"We estimate that this boost will fall unevenly on Texas wage-earners since low-income persons spend a higher proportion of their income on taxable purchases," Bullock said.

The increase in sales tax would give Texas the nation's eighth-highest tax rate, and "Texas will climb near the top of the high-taxing states," the comptroller said in the letter to Schlueter.

Schlueter told reporters, "I'm not pushing anything. I told you, whatever it takes to get 76 votes."

Bullock said he had not yet calculated how much money the increases would raise for the state.

"There is little doubt that the bill will greatly help the Texas cash flow and deficit problems, but in doing so will make significant changes to the Texas tax burden," he told Schlueter.

Schlueter said he is merely trying to piece together a tax bill that can win House approval.

"I'm still trying to find the right combination. I think the combination can be found, but it's not going to be that easy," Schlueter said.

Gov. Mark White is pushing a 1½-cent increase in the state sales tax, with the increase expiring next September.

Speaker Gib Lewis, who opposed a tax hike until it became obvious that lawmakers would not approve sufficient spending cuts, said Wednesday he likes the one-year tax increase plan.

The speaker predicted the House would back a sales tax increase of 1½ to 1¾ percent and a 5-cent hike in the gasoline tax, with the increases expiring next September.

"I think there's a lot of support for a temporary" tax increase, Lewis said.

But Schlueter said majority support is not there, and that there is no such thing as a temporary tax hike.

Claiborne could be disbarred

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Harry Claiborne, fighting impeachment proceedings before the U.S. Senate, has been asked to surrender his law license in his native Arkansas.

The judge will face disbarment proceedings if he doesn't give up the license in 30 days, according to a letter from the state attorney general's office mailed to Claiborne at the federal prison camp at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala.

Claiborne was convicted of income tax evasion in 1964. He never practiced law in Arkansas, but maintained his law license in the state.

He was appointed to the federal bench in Nevada by former President Jimmy Carter.

Disbarment proceedings would be based on the judge's conviction and his failure to pay state Bar Association dues since 1981, said R.B. Friedlander, counsel to the state attorney general.

Russel Earl Strong, 1104 Bell St., was arrested early this morning on suspicion of driving with a suspended license.

Many events slated for chamber Art Fest

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Arts Council is sponsoring a poster contest to promote Art Fest 86, according to a chamber news release.

Art Fest 86 is a month-long festival of fine art in October. The black and white poster design should include the words "Art Fest 86" and a design or words to advertise the "costume ball on Oct. 25." The poster's size should be 11 by 12 inches.

Entries are due at the chamber office no later than Sept. 30.

The winning poster will be selected on Oct. 1 and will be used to promote the festival. For more information call 263-3224.

The Art Fest 86 schedule of events is as follows:

- Sept. 27 — Art Fest beginning at 9 a.m. in the vacant lot next to the Courthouse annex at West Fourth and Main streets. Children are encouraged to help draft a mural for a downtown park. Officials will speak.
- Sept. 28 — Oct. 4. — Deaf Awareness Week, events to be announced.
- Oct. 2 — Symphony.
- Oct. 4-5 — Big Spring Art Association Membership Art Show at Highland Mall.
- Oct. 5-11 — Wood Carvers and Sculpture Show at the Heritage Museum.
- Oct. 17-19 — Arts & Crafts Festival at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.
- Oct. 17-19 — Crossroads Fine Arts Association Open Area Art Show at the Big Spring Mall.
- Oct. 19 — Navy Jazz Concert at the Municipal Auditorium.

Voters will decide pari-mutuel's fate

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas voters will decide next year whether the state should legalize gambling on horse and dog racing for the first time in half a century.

Gov. Mark White on Wednesday allowed the bill, which could OK pari-mutuel wagering, to become law without his signature. The measure puts the question on the November 1987 election ballot.

White said the issue has been too hotly debated for a single public official to decide it.

"I believe other Texans should have the right to make up their own minds just as I have, because we are all equally entitled to our own beliefs," White said.

"I will vote against pari-mutuel wagering, but each one of us will have one vote to cast — a very important vote — as equal citizens of Texas," he said.

Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, said White's decision was a good one.

three requirements White insisted on in any gambling bill.

The other two, which White noted were included in the bill, were local elections in areas where race tracks would be located and protections against infiltration by organized crime.

Gambling on horse races hasn't been legal in Texas since a four-year period during the 1930s.

White issued a one-page statement explaining why he chose to neither sign nor veto the bill. He said his was an action taken as a public official, not as an individual.

"I'd like to see a referendum and let the people decide on the issue once and for all," said Berlanga, who sponsored the gambling bill in the House.

Berlanga said an earlier announcement that White was thinking of vetoing the bill rallied supporters and helped persuade the governor to allow the referendum.

As approved by the Legislature, the bill calls for a statewide referendum next year on whether to legalize pari-mutuel wagering for the first time in half a century. That referendum was one of "All of my personal and religious values are against it, there is no place for it among what I believe is good and right and best. My opposition stems from individual conscience, from my Baptist convictions and from my belief in the traditional values of Texas," White said.

"However," he noted, "Legislatures have been grappling with the question for years, and he acknowledged that there are arguments on both sides."

"I am convinced that unless the will of the majority is allowed to be expressed, this divisive issue will come back again to tie up — and even plague — future sessions of the Legislature," White said.

Under the bill, if voters next year approve the statewide question, local option elections would be held to determine if pari-mutuel wagering could take place within particular areas.

Richardson family relocated

The Dennis and Donna Richardson family, whose 13-month-old child, Nicholas, was killed in a Sept. 17 house fire, have moved into a home at 3619 Connolly St., said Red Cross volunteer Sue Hickman.

Hickman said the family's needs are being met through the support of the community, friends and relatives.

The family lost a vast amount of household and personal items during the fire. Hickman suggested that people who want to help the family can bring household items to the family's new home.

Also, a fund has been established for the Richardsons at the State National Bank. To make a donation, ask any teller.

Hwy. 87 vote within 90 days

By DANA PALMER
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — State highway commission officials said Thursday commissioners should be voting within the next 60 to 90 days on a request to speed up completion of U.S. 87 as a four-lane, divided highway.

"That gives our staff time to review the presentation and make a recommendation," said commission spokeswoman Rosemary Neff.

On Wednesday, commission Chairman Robert C. Lanier praised the relative reasonableness of cost estimates on completing the upgrade but made no promises about funding the project.

Noting that the "cost figures are good," Lanier added that the commissioners would look at the group's request at a later date.

A more exact date for a final decision, Neff said, should be available within the next few days because the commission usually sends a letter telling the delegation when the matter is likely to be on its agenda.

Making the upgrade request were Big Spring and San Angelo Chamber of Commerce officials, as well as state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring and state Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

They all urged that the narrow, two-lane stretches between Big Spring and Sterling City, and between San Angelo and Eden be upgraded in the near future for safety and economic reasons.

Bill Willig, chairman of the San Angelo chamber's transportation committee, urged completion of both sections, saying all the cities along that highway need the tourism dollars and the safety a four-lane U.S. 87 will bring.

Before the meeting, Willig said the commission is well aware that U.S. 87 in the Big Spring and San Angelo areas is one of the worst stretches of highway in the state.

Arnold Marshall, chairman of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's transportation committee, noted that the four-lane stretch of U.S. 87 north of Big Spring was completed in 1964, and much of the four-lane section between Sterling City and San Angelo, by late 1974.

He also said agriculture-related traffic going from the High Plains to the San Angelo area or from the Rio Grande Valley to the High Plains is quite heavy.

John Arrick, president of the Big Spring chamber, said the two-lane stretch is definitely "dangerous and well-traveled" and upgrading it to a four-lane highway would help the economy by putting people back to work and helping boost tourism.

He added that the county commissioners have agreed to come up with the right of way, which could cost close to $1 million.

Doctors use drugs

BOSTON — A small but appreciable share of the young doctors setting up medical practice in the United States have used drugs extensively or are addicted, a study published today concludes.

The research, based on a survey, found that more than a third of the physicians under age 40 continue to use drugs, mostly marijuana and cocaine, after they finish their medical training.

The researchers said their work and other studies have found that "recreational drug use has become an important cause of drug-related impairment" for young physicians.

Overall, however, the study found that drug use by doctors and medical students is generally moderate, and few take drugs more than once a month.

CIA discusses leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Central Intelligence Agency Director William J. Casey says the U.S. news media is handing vital information to the Soviets "on a silver platter" when it publishes leaked secrets, and he wants tougher laws to punish the press for such disclosures.

But Sen. Dave Durenberger, the chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, said the Reagan administration is itself to blame for news leaks that have damaged U.S. spying efforts.

AIDS criteria drug use

WASHINGTON — Patients with AIDS should find out next week if they are eligible for a large-scale test of the first drug that appears to prolong life and reduce symptoms in some victims of the incurable disease.

A panel of AIDS specialists on Wednesday completed criteria detailing those who will be eligible for an expanded trial of the promising drug zidovudine, or AZT.

However, the group said details would not be disclosed until the plan is reviewed and approved by the Food and Drug Administration, probably by next week.

Mother pleas with son

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (AP) — The mother of a former mental patient suspected of killing three people during a three-state crime spree pleaded for him to surrender, and police say they hope they are closing in on him.

The FBI, meanwhile, has issued a nationwide alert for Michael W. Jackson, who has not been seen since a Monday night shootout with a police officer that may have left him wounded.

About 100 law officers have scoured the area for three nights and two days, as residents of this farming community about 45 miles west of St. Louis locked their doors, kept their children home and bought ammunition for their guns.

A miner is held up shoulder high with a tire around his neck, representing the "necklace" used by militants in the black townships to burn victims at a memorial service Wednesday. Several thousand black miners sang songs and chanted power slogans and heard mine owners described as "bloodsuckers" at the emotional union-sponsored service for 177 men killed in last week's mining accident.

South Africa Denounces U.S. foreign policy

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Government-controlled radio today attacked the U.S. human rights program on South Africa, saying it encourages radical unions and politicized education while ignoring major advances for blacks.

The South African Broadcasting Corp. radio editorial said the largest and most costly American human rights program was devoted to South Africa, with 160 projects at a cost of $20 million to $25 million.

"No matter that in the Soviet Union, 270 million people live under a dictatorship of brutal repression that scorns human rights; that 1,000 million Chinese have no human rights; that thousands of millions of people in other captive nations and in military and civilian dictatorships throughout Africa and the Third World are denied the most basic of human rights," the editorial said.

While noting that some U.S. projects in South Africa such as scholarships and relief aid are to be commended, it said much of the aid went to "the more radical trade unions" so that "they have more cash than they can spend."

Such aid "has contributed to a distortion of political power and influence" of the unions, the national radio broadcast said, and ignores major reforms in labor legislation.

The broadcast said U.S. publications say the American-funded school programs are "designed to counter obstacles to the upgrading of black education."

Yet the South African government has increased annual spending on black education from $187 million to $792 million in the past five years, and raised annual per-pupil spending for blacks from $38 to $132, the radio said.

The South African Institute for Race Relations estimates the government spends about seven times as much on a white child's education as on a black child's. "In education, in manpower, and in many other spheres, the commitment within South Africa, by South Africans, has seen substantial advances toward dismantling obstacles to the genuine exercising of human rights," the radio said.

VOA reporter fired

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The unexplained firing of a part-time correspondent in politically sensitive Honduras has shaken the news staff of the Voice of America, the overseas broadcasting arm of the U.S. government.

The decision to dismiss the relatively obscure reporter was made at the highest levels of the VOA without prior consultation with the correspondent's newsroom or field supervisors and without subsequent explanation.

Terrorism discussed

LONDON (AP) — Interior ministers from 12 Western European nations are gathering in emergency session today in an effort to tighten the noose on terrorism with joint measures including tougher border controls.

The British organizers of the one-day meeting said the group will also propose a more selective granting of visas to citizens of some countries and a greater sharing of intelligence among the 12 member-nations of the Common Market.

France requested the closed-door session following five bomb attacks in Paris since Sept. 8 in which nine people were killed, including two policemen, and more than 160 injured.

Mexico accuses CBS

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The attorney general accused CBS of showing disrespect toward Mexico in a broadcast interview with a bodyguard who accused a cousin of President Miguel de la Madrid of smuggling cocaine.

Attorney General Sergio Garcia Ramirez said Wednesday the investigation of businessman Edmundo de la Madrid had been under way for about six months and was continuing.

During his visit to the United States last month, President de la Madrid commented on the investigation, saying that his cousin had not been incriminated.

Daniloff door left open

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Soviet officials on Wednesday considered a two-stage U.S. proposal to let American newsman Nicholas S. Daniloff leave Moscow, and Secretary of State George P. Shultz left the door open for another meeting with the Soviet foreign minister.

"We're working on it," Shultz said in between meetings with foreign ministers attending a special U.N. General Assembly session.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze held his own series of talks and told reporters while posing for photographs with French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac: "The less noise the better. We continue to work in a calm atmosphere."

Phrases coined as convenient

Geoffrey Chaucer and William Shakespeare would not recognize the English language today. It has changed greatly since the time when they wrote their monumental works.

Much of the change has come about because people have required new words to describe products or ways of behaving that were unknown in earlier days. Many new words have been adopted from other languages.

Sometimes, perfectly good words have been abandoned, and often complicated professional jargon has crept into common use.

While many linguistic changes have been made for practical and sensible reasons, other changes verge on the absurd. The worst of these usually come from government bureaucrats.

The agency that wins the award for the silliest perversion of the English language this year is the National Park Service. Recently, it declared that the word "threats" should not be included in the agency's vocabulary.

Henceforth, employees of the Park Service are to use the words "adverse actions" instead of "threats." Thus, budget cuts or increased vandalism would be described as "adverse actions" rather than "threats" to our national parks.

Candidate's politics contradictory

To the editor:
In the Sept. 5 edition of the Big Spring Herald, a front page story reports Candidate Anderson's attempts to refute Shaw's charge that he supported Lyndon La Rouché.

I support the charges that Rich Anderson, who is Candidate John R. Anderson for Texas Legislature, was a supporter of La Rouché.

I was asked by Frank Parker to meet Rich Anderson at Howard College and debate or discuss politics and government and I accepted.

tions, a group of us got up and left the meeting.

Further, in regard to "Rich," now candidate "John R. Anderson," and his relations to the La Rouché crowd, just a few weeks ago he displayed his affinity for the La Rouché crowd at the Howard County Democratic Club chili supper at the Big Spring High School Cafeteria.

The opponent of Gary Mauro, candidate for Texas Land Commissioner, spoke on his own behalf for the office of Land Commissioner. He began ranting and raving as only the La Rouché can, condemning everybody and everything, saying the Queen of England was part of a ring of dope peddlers and that Henry Kissinger was a Russian KGB spy.

I finally stopped it by asking the master of ceremonies, our district attorney Rick Hamby, to get that guy off the speaker's platform as he had already exceeded his allotted time. Hamby did that and the meeting adjourned.

John R. Anderson, known to people as "Rich" Anderson, hurried to the speaker's platform and embraced the acknowledged La Rouché candidate and was still talking with him when I went home. Gary Mauro did defeat that La Rouché candidate on the Democratic ticket in the primary.

At the recent state Democratic Convention in Austin, La Rouché supporters had a table in the foyer outside the Convention Hall where they were dispensing La Rouché propaganda and they all knew "Rich Anderson" and said he was a strong influence among them.

I know Rich Anderson as a good man and a friendly person. He has a right to choose his own political associates, La Rouché included, but he cannot bury his past political ventures, especially when he fails to run as "Rich Anderson" and files as "John R. Anderson."

That Anderson name seems to be one used by another candidate other Republican ticket for land commissioner; he is Darrel Anderson, the Republican opponent of Gary Mauro. He is running as M.D. Anderson. Actually, he operates a bar in South Texas and is known as Darrel.

Why are so many Andersons trying to confuse voters as to their identity?

Senator's European junket reflects small state of mind

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Any collection of gasbags, poseurs and egotists that cherishes the self-imposed title of "The World's Greatest Deliberative Body" probably has earned all the guffaws that come its way. But does the U.S. Senate really deserve Larry Pressler, the Dapper Dan of Dakota?

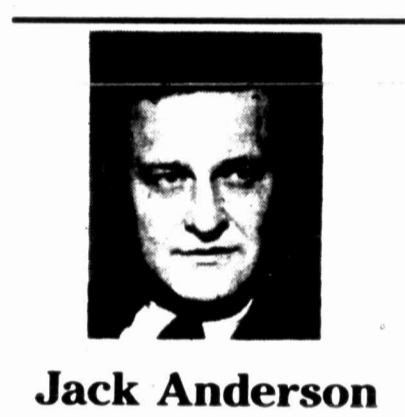

We've already awarded the South Dakota Republican the Allen Ellender Memorial Trophy in recognition of his pointless peregrinations around the "mini-states" of Europe last Easter.

But the full flavor of this exercise in lightweight senatorial diplomacy can be savored only by sampling Pressler's own report on his 10-day junket, which cost $4,642 in transportation and miscellaneous expenses alone. (Who said there are bargain airfares to Europe?)

The senator's debt to his Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford and his days as an honors student at Harvard is clear at the very outset. Under the provocative heading, "What Is a Small State?," Pressler quotes a little-known British historian who expressed doubt "whether, however viable the small state might be in international politics, it really is a viable subject of study." Pressler offers no enlightenment on this crucial point. After all, he's already made the trip.

"Life in these smallest states offers major compensations for a lack of major world political impact," Pressler writes. "Andorra, for example, has no prisons." Liechtenstein, he informs us, has neither an army nor any unemployed.

Pressler's debt to the encyclopedia is also clear. San Marino, he writes, is "the world's smallest and oldest independent republic; it had its own constitution by the 10th century." Monaco is "one of the safest places on Earth," while Malta's residents have "a life expectancy of 73

But the senator is surely on his own when he writes that the United States and the Soviet Union "have risen like Popocatepetl and Ixtacihuatl above their surroundings."

Actually, a check of Capitol Hill sources and our own files by our associate Lucette Lagnado revealed that Pressler's mini-state meanderings were pretty much par for the course he has followed since he came to the Senate nearly eight years ago. For example:

• Senate staffers gleefully recall the day Pressler was in the Senate gym when a roll-call vote was announced. He had to place a frantic call to the cloakroom and ask that the vote be delayed — while he tried to figure out which locker he had put his clothes in.

• Pressler watchers have been fascinated by his constantly changing hair. The dashing young solon "has changed hair color more often than George Bush changes watchbands," remarked one awed observer. Sometimes the Pressler topknot sports a reddish tint; at other times, it is a dignified brown; most intriguing is what one staffer called "the wet look, as if he put on a lot of gel."

• Recently Pressler ordered Senate Republican staffers not to smoke while he was presiding on the dais, because the smoke bothered him. Then he appeared smoking a long cigar.

• In 1981, Pressler led our list of "least effective senators." That was also the year we caught him plagiarizing a Washington Post article under his name in a tabloid published by the Rural Electric Association in South Dakota. He claimed a staffer was responsible.

• In 1982, despite earnest warnings from then-Secretary of State Alexander Haig urging him not to visit Poland, Pressler did — and made headlines by getting himself collared by a cop briefly for taking pictures of a food line in Warsaw. He insisted that the trip "was beneficial to the (State) Department, and it was very beneficial to me."

Footnote: Pressler did not respond to repeated requests for comment.

UNDER THE DOME: The Senate Budget Committee recently advertised for bids on 60 IBM-compatible computers, insisting that the machines be able to handle a video game called Flight Simulator. But it's not what you might think.

The Budget Committee staff won't be whiling away the hours playing video games. It's just that Flight Simulator, which uses bright colors and three-dimensional imagery, is a proven benchmark for the industry: If a computer looks good with Flight Simulator games, it will be able to match IBM's graphic capabilities on the serious business the Budget Committee intends to use its new computers for.

DIPLOMATIC DOGGEREL: There are troches among the teacups in Foggy Bottom, spondees in striped pants and iambs in international affairs.

In short, some State Department officials are relieving the tedium by composing rymed demarches.

Constitution blamed for drug war

The United States is celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Constitution. As part of the ceremonies, the House of Representatives just passed a bill which would require the armed forces to become involved in battling drugs in this country.

It's been a long time since the military has been assigned a role in keeping domestic order, and I for one am glad we finally are going to use them for what they are trained to do — maintain law and order at home.

Selwyn Barnaby is not as sanguine about the provision as I am.

"Who wants tanks in our streets?" he complained.

"There won't be tanks in the streets," I assured him, "and if there are, their guns will only be pointed at the windows of the drug dealers."

"How will they know who the drug dealers are?" Barnaby asked.

"The Pentagon will set up a special branch of military intelligence. If the services are responsible for getting the dealers and pushers, they must gather an awful lot of information about our citizens."

"That's what I'm worried about. As soon as the military is given a police role in this country, it will open files on all of us, and then they will use them for other things besides finding dope."

"May I remind you," I said, "that this isn't Chile. Our military will not spy on innocent people — only those who are guilty."

"By whose reckoning?"

"Barnaby, this is an emergency, and we have to use every weapon in our arsenal to beat the drug dealers. If this means giving the military new powers, so be it."

"But once you use the armed forces for anti-drugs enforcement, what is to prevent them from being assigned to other police duties? One of the things I have always enjoyed about this country is that we have never seen any troops in the street."

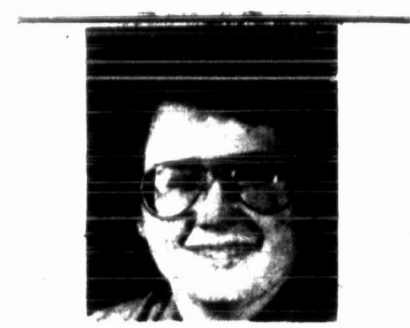

"You're overreacting. It is my impression that the services will be expected to halt penetration of illegal aircraft into the United States and monitor the U.S.-Mexican border. So it isn't as if the Marines are going to knock down your door at 4 o'clock in the morning."

"Speaking of knocking down your door," Barnaby said, "Did you know the House also passed a law making it all right to introduce evidence obtained illegally and without a search warrant, as long as the officer was acting 'in good faith'?"

"What's unreasonable about that?" I demanded.

"Who knows when a cop is acting 'in good faith'?"

"Cops always act in good faith. They had their hands tied for years because they couldn't do what they

Home decay promotes insecurity

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Did you ever get the feeling your house was falling down around you? I've had that feeling a lot lately as a result of several incidents.

The week before last, I was stuck inside the house.

The door wouldn't budge — apparently as a result of swelling caused by the humidity.

I pulled, twisted and turned the knob, then yelled a bit — to no avail. I had to call some friends to open it from the outside.

"I can't come to work. I can't get the door open," I said into the phone. The response was mostly laughter.

Steve Belvin, sports editor, appeared a few minutes later to push from the outside. With a creaking protest, the door opened and I was freed.

The next incident involved a small eight-footed guest I discovered in the bathroom.

Small is relative. Actually, the spider was little compared to my five-foot, two-inch frame, but a monster compared to others of its kind.

The gruesome, hairy creature was half as big as my hand, with beady red eyes and long fangs. It appeared to be snarling and blood hungry as it crept relentlessly forward.

My bathroom is at the back of the house, meaning it couldn't have gone there without first touring the entire length of my living room and bedroom — evidently while I slept.

I smushed it with a shoe and threw it in the trash can after picking it up with a paper towel.

Then appliances began to break. The hairdryer plug began to melt, causing the prongs to bend upward through the softened black plastic.

Next, a ghastly stench permeated the air each time I turned on my clothes iron.

The iron is one of several appliances I acquired after Grandmother died. She had used them for many years.

If it works, no need to buy a new one, I reasoned.

The vacuum was the first to go — about two years ago. It died with a crackle, blowing a fuse.

It was so old, it was called "the old one" when my parents got married — 24 years ago.

I suppose it's too much to ask that the rest of my household items last that long.

Cadet sues A&M for leg injuries

COLLEGE STATION — A member of the Corps of Cadets is suing Texas A&M University over injuries he allegedly received while cutting wood for the 1986 Aggie Bonfire.

The suit was filed in Brazos County district court Monday on behalf of Keith Vanboskirk, a 20-year-old junior in Squadron 15, an Air Force unit.

The suit alleges that Vanboskirk was injured on Oct. 20. Vanboskirk's attorney, James Mehaffy Jr. of Beaumont, said the injury occurred when a tree, which a tree-cutting squad had begun to cut down but left standing, collapsed and fell against a second tree.

The second tree fell on Vanboskirk, breaking his right leg and hip, according to Mehaffy. Mehaffy said Vanboskirk will have a permanent limp from the accident.

Mehaffy said Vanboskirk's medical expenses from the accident have already amounted to about $6,000, but he added, "It's still too early to evaluate the injury."

Toll-free hotline for drug tips set up

AUSTIN — U.S. Commissioner of Customs William von Raab announced Wednesday three more efforts to step-up the nation's fight against drug smuggling, including expansion to Texas of a toll-free hotline for receiving tips on possible smuggling operations.

"This hotline, 1-800-BE ALERT, is a safe and easy way for people to help keep illegal drugs out of our country, out of our schools and off of our streets," he told reporters during a news conference at the Department of Public Safety.

Callers who wish to remain anonymous can do so, he said, and they still will be eligible for cash rewards of up to $2,500. Those who agree to come forward to meet with Customs agents are eligible for up to $250,000 in rewards, Von Raab said.

Army contract could give 400 work

BEAUMONT — The manager of a ship yard that could win a government contract to refurbish a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers vessel said the job would boost the depressed Southeast Texas economy.

A local port official says Bethlehem Steel Corp., which has ship yards in Beaumont and Port Arthur, is low bidder in a contract to overhaul the "Wheeler."

"We don't actually have the official award yet," said Richard

Blackinton, Beaumont Yard general manager. "But we've had some discussions and I'm absolutely positive we're going to get it."

Blackinton said if the firm is awarded the $5 million contract, as many as 400 workers would be employed through October and November at the Beaumont Yard and Pleasure Island drydock. The contract would also bring $20 million to the coastal economy through payroll, supplies and subcontracts.

Courthouse to serve as extra jail

TYLER — Smith County has won permission to proceed with plans to house minimum security prisoners at an alternate site to alleviate overcrowding in the downtown jail.

The Texas Commission of Jail Standards, on the recommendation of executive director Bob Vierna, unanimously approved a resolution Wednesday that was adopted by the commissioner's court last Friday.

The resolution says the fifth floor of the courthouse will be used as an interim minimum security site and that a permanent structure will be built on the top floor of the parking garage of Smith County office building.

Family of six found dead in home

HOUSTON (AP) — A couple and their four small children apparently were dead for two days before authorities found their bodies in a home still filled with traces of carbon monoxide, police said.

"There has been no note found to indicate to us that this was a suicide," police spokesman Danny Turner said. "There is no visible sign of force to say it was a murder either."

The family appeared to have died from carbon monoxide poisoning, homicide detective Chris Andersen said.

Police found the bodies Wednesday afternoon after co-workers of Joann Robbins went to the house and smelled foul odors, authorities said.

In front of the cafe are a few gas pumps and nearby are the rock-walled ruins of an old Butterfield stage line stop.

Historic cafe given federal reprieve

PINE SPRINGS — A 71-year-old woman has won a federal reprieve for her Pine Springs Cafe, a nine-stool campers' oasis that her parents opened in the West Texas wilderness nearly 60 years ago.

Mary Glover Hinson's cafe, which is on Guadalupe Mountains National Park land, was to be closed Nov. 1 because park officials said it and other aging structures once used to link New Mexico-Texas oil operations no longer fit in with the park.

On Wednesday, Interior Secretary Donald Hodel ordered the National Park Service to let Mrs. Hinson keep her 58-year-old cafe for another five years, Hodel

SWBT supports program that addresses school dropout problem

Texas' most precious resource is not oil or gas, but rather the young men and women of the state. Unfortunately, a large proportion of these youths will never reach their fullest potential because of their decision to drop out of school. They end up cheating themselves, and society, out of the contributions that only they and their unique talents can make.

Recently published statistics reinforce the severity of this problem: The dropout rate in Texas hovers around 30 percent. Last spring alone, one out of every three potential high school seniors in the state — about 80,000 — failed to graduate.

This problem affects all of us, since young people with little education often turn to crime when they are unable to find a job. In 1985, more than 100,000 people under the age of 17 were arrested in Texas. And, this is not a new phenomenon — 85 percent of the 30,000 inmates in Texas prisons are high school dropouts.

Although these numbers paint a grim picture, a group of concerned citizens have approached this age-old problem with a new and promising solution — it's called Communities in Schools (CIS). We, at Southwestern Bell Telephone, feel that CIS will pay future dividends to the people of Texas because it addresses the individual needs of our state's troubled youths.

A highly focused program, CIS coordinates efforts of many social service organizations into a centralized, efficient, yet humanized, unit. It works closely with public education personnel to encourage students — who run a risk of dropping out — to complete their education.

CIS treats students as individuals

CIS counselors work one-on-one with these students to solve problems that often cause them to drop out. It takes a "whole child" approach, recognizing that many factors — including family, financial and psychological concerns — affect a youngster's decision to leave school.

Southwestern Bell Telephone has been an enthusiastic supporter of CIS since it began as a pilot program in 1979. Through the past seven years, we have provided direction, money, equipment and manpower to give floundering students in Texas another chance at a good education.

SWBT believes in the program because it works: Since its inception, CIS has helped more than 5,000 students. Even more impressive, over the last two years, 87 percent of the youngsters in the CIS summer program are still in public school, or have gone on to college, additional training or unsubsidized jobs.

We are happy to report that under the leadership of SWBT's Texas Division President Jim Adams, the program is spreading into additional school districts across the state.

Although CIS is not available in all Texas communities, SWBT is committed to building a better state, through its participation in organizations like CIS. We feel it's our obligation — and privilege — to enhance the quality of life for all Texans, through state-of-the-art telephone service, as well as worthwhile community programs.

Be sure to check your local television schedule for the airing of "Hispanic Dropouts: America's Time Bomb," a documentary that explores why so many Hispanics are leaving school and what can be done to prevent it. Written and produced by Southwestern Bell Telephone, it features Miami Vice's Edward James Olmos.

MARRIAGE is the giving of yourself totally to another person, the more two people mutually give themselves to each other the better the relationship. Love is based upon respect, the more you respect a person the more you can give yourself to them. Each person must then conscientiously strive to keep respect in your heart for your spouse. Marriage is an accepting commitment, an exclusive commitment and a continuing commitment between two people. There are things to avoid that kill respect, they are: unfair and harsh criticism, nagging, saying things to deliberately hurt the spouse just to win a future battle, disregarding personal hygiene, undisciplined language and disregard for what is decent and right. Some good rules to follow are: do not try to make your partner over into what you want, never criticize, express honest sincere appreciation to each other regularly, pay attention to little things about each other that is important to you, always be courteous, and buy the Lady a flower for no reason except that you love and appreciate her. Make Christ the head of your home, the unseen guest at every meal.

Coming home queen

Colleen Langley Holloway of Tarzan, Stanton High School's Homecoming Queen of 1950, was escorted by her husband, Glenn Holloway at the football game Friday night when Stanton played Greenwood. Homecoming Queen for 1986 was Pam Tom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Tom.

Club notes

Homemakers present new officers

The Center Point Extension Homemaker's Club presented the 1987 club officers at their meeting on Sept. 23. New officers are: Hazel McCrary, president; Bettie Cordes, vice president; Lucille Petty, secretary/treasurer; Lennis Couch, council delegate; and Jen Davidson, reporter. Next meeting will be Oct. 14 at the K.O.A. Center. Hostesses will be Irela Griffith and Bettie Cordes.

Guild schedules concert for Oct. 2

The Big Spring Symphony Guild met Sunday at the home of Lisa Nichols to discuss the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra concert to be Oct. 2 in the Big Spring High School auditorium. Members discussed the Christmas fund raiser — the annual tour of homes. It is tentatively set for Dec. 7. Further announcements will be made. Next meeting will be in October at the home of Suncha Christenson.

Son's year in jail is life of agony for parents

DEAR READERS: From a Florida reader came the enclosed item, originally published in my column in 1972. Please read it and pay special attention to the last paragraphs.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He had also been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the county stockade and four years' probation. The comments of the judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the court reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so widely read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of the grieving parents. I hope you will publish it and give it the national forum I think it deserves.

MRS. A.A. CATES, MIAMI

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it. Here it is:

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said: "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year. That is what's wrong. They get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime. You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why."

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent 5 cents raising you. I don't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail."

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators — products of the new drug-oriented generation — may well be high as kites. You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file. "Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

Well, readers, did Judge Sepe have a crystal ball? Because recreational drugs are illegal, there are not accurate statistics. But it would appear that this country is facing a major drug problem of unprecedented proportions and that the judge's worst prophecies have been fulfilled.

The solution: If everyone swept his own doorstep, the whole world would be clean.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOMMY IN TAMPA, FLA.: Congratulations. But money isn't everything. Sometimes it's not even enough.

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

water and our air, you have polluted this and that," and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths. Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you.

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it: If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs, and your president is not. And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive through are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not. Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs. None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like you and your father."

"But in the world of the future

Type A Hepatitis is the less serious kind

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: We had some outbreaks of hepatitis in our area recently. It was type A infection from contaminated food. I have some lingering questions that weren't answered in the reports I saw. Is a person who got this disease a carrier afterward? Is that person subject to another case of it later? Can a person pick up the virus from the infected person while he is sick with it? — Mrs. L.B.

Dr. Donohue

Hepatitis is an infection of the liver. The cause is a virus or a group of viruses. The A type, to which you refer, is picked up through food or drink contaminated with the A virus. The hepatitis B virus, on the other hand, causes infection through exposure to the virus-laden blood or body secretions of the person who has it. A common mode of transmission in our society is via contaminated hypodermic needles.

The A virus infection is the less serious of the two. Unlike the B organism, the A virus does not continue to live in liver cells after the initial infection. When the classic symptoms (such as jaundice) disappear, the A virus-infected person is no longer a carrier. In fact, after a little more than two weeks the virus is no longer present in his stool. Hepatitis A infection is usually a one-time affair.

Hepatitis A infection is probably more widespread than our statistics show. The reason we say this is that often the infection is so mild that the person with it doesn't even realize it.

I hope I've gotten to all your questions. You can pick up the A virus from someone who has an in-Anatomically, this is the carpal area. And the area through which the nerve passes is the carpal tunnel.

When the tunnel narrows, pressure on that nerve causes various symptoms, chiefly numbness and tingling. It's usually worse at night.

The idea is to try relieving pressure somehow, to avoid loss of muscle strength in the area. Sometimes just resting the wrist with splints helps. And sometimes injections of steroids into the area around the tunnel brings relief. But for most, surgery to enlarge the tunnel is the permanent answer.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: After a vasectomy, what happens to the sperm that is produced by the testes? — W.M.V.

The sperm continues to be produced. With no source of nourishment and with no exit from the body the sperm cells die and are absorbed. The same thing happens to many other dead body cells. No harm results from this.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What causes jaundice? I had hepatitis, but no jaundice. — H.H.

Jaundice is skin or eye yellowing. It reflects the liver damage of hepatitis. One of the liver's many roles is conversion of the pigment in old red blood cells into a form that can be eliminated by the body. When there is liver inflammation that function is set back. The unprocessed pigment returns to the blood to cause the yellow tinge. Perhaps your hepatitis was so mild that it didn't interfere greatly with liver function.

fection in progress. Otherwise, the chief source of spread is from shellfish, oysters, etc. contaminated with sewage. Contaminated drinking water is another source of spread.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My right hand goes numb while I am sleeping. X-rays show no abnormalities in the bones, but my doctor thinks it is a "thickening" of cartilage that is pressing against the nerve in the wrist. He says the only answer, if it becomes painful, is to operate. Please tell me about this problem. The doctor calls it "carpal tunnel syndrome." — A.G.

Regular readers can skip this one. You've got a good understanding of the problem. Most often the case of carpal tunnel syndrome cannot be pinpointed. However, the symptoms are sufficient to diagnose it. It is, as you have said, pressure on a nerve.

The nerve involved is the large one that passes through the wrist to serve the palm and fingers.

Victim of Korean prostitution network tells her story

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) — She was a naive GI bride, building a new life in a new land. But the lure of easy money drew her into a world that tore apart her family and her future.

Susie became a prostitute. She lost her husband and her children. Today, she is alone and afraid.

"I can't really think about my future now," the 31-year-old Korean woman said softly, staring at the floor. "I have nothing at all."

Susie is one of what authorities believe are hundreds of women who've become ensnared in a loosely linked Korean prostitution network operating in dozens of U.S.

cities.

Her story is not unique, said police Detective A.B. Farrow. But it is tragic.

Susie — she asked that her real name not be used — came to the United States in 1977 after marrying a soldier she had met in Korea. She was pregnant with their daughter at the time. Susie bore a son 15 months later.

American life bewildered Susie. She spoke little English and didn't know how to drive a car. "It was very hard," she recalled.

For a time, Susie worked in a commissary. The family moved about, arriving in Junction City in 1984, where she began working as a waitress in a Korean restaurant. Her husband was stationed at Fort Riley.

The couple had money problems, something Susie hadn't anticipated. "I thought American guys, they have money," she said. "Military pay isn't enough."

Through contacts at the restaurant, Susie heard she could earn big money as a waitress in a "special" club.

She said she was put in touch with a Korean woman, who gave her $1,000 to pay her debts and buy a plane ticket to Houston. Susie insists she didn't know she was being recruited for prostitution.

In Houston, in a brick building where about 20 women lived, Susie was told the truth. She stayed. "I needed money," she explained.

Men paid $60 for a half-hour date; Susie said she sometimes had 15 customers a day.

It took just two weeks to pay off her loan. She called her husband. "I told him the truth," she said, hunching over in her chair, rocking back and forth, wiping her eyes.

Her husband told her to come home. "I came back crying," she said. "He wants a divorce. He's going to keep the kids. The reason he wants me to come back is to pick up my things."

The story, Farrow said, is "typical — the loss of marriage, the children, big money at first, nothing in the end. They keep coming back (to prostitution) until they're old or dead."

Susie went back. She began working — sometimes 20-hour days — at a two-woman massage parlor in Bay City, Mich. In one month, she claims, she earned $16,000.

Farrow said he had verified Susie's story by checking police records.

"I got to live someplace," she said. "The money is good, but it's not the future, you know."

Red Sox complete championship season

The Big Spring Red Sox completed a dream season by beating the San Angelo Brewers two out of three games to win the Central Texas League Championship last weekend.

The Sox lost the opening game of the series 11-3 in San Angelo, and traveled back to Big Spring knowing they had to win two of two. In game two, Adam Yanez forced the third game when he broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning with a homer.

The Brewers scored first in the championship game with four runs in the top of the third inning, but the Sox came right back with a five run rally in the bottom of the inning. Fernie Paredes had a two-run homer in the inning.

The Sox sealed the championship with five more runs in the sixth. Luis Rodriguez (9-0), got the win. Yanez was named the series MVP, and Ron Finnell the Best Hitter.

The team finished the season 38-6. I'll bet the Big Spring Red Sox won't soon forget the summer of '86.

The Big Spring All-Sports Booster Club will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at the High School cafeteria. The Booster Club supports both men's and women's athletic programs — varsity, junior varsity and freshmen teams.

The business meeting will conclude at 8 p.m., after which Coach Quinn Eudy will show films of the previous Friday night's football game.

Everyone is invited to come and support Steer athletics.

*****

A Women's Bowler of the Month Tournament will be held one Sunday a month at 2 p.m. at Bowl-A-Rama during the season. The top 10% of ladies in each league will compete for that month's championship, with a year end tournament for the overall champion. This Sunday, by the way, is this month's tourney.

*****

Both Runnels volleyball teams fell to 2-3 Tuesday night when the Snyder A and B teams defeated the Runnels squads.

The B team lost 15-10, 15-11, despite top server Jamie Mireles' eight points.

The A team lost 13-15, 16-14, 15-9 in a tough loss. Top scorer for Runnels was Mart Mathews with 15 points, followed by Ananda Ybarra with ten points.

Both teams' next game is Oct. 2 against Andrews.

The NBA Shootout in Big Spring Tuesday night was a joy and a privilege to watch. Behind the scenes, however, it was a lot of work, and many Big Spring merchants contributed to the effort.

Dick Helms at Big Spring Athletics provided the players jerseys on game day, and also took his customary position at the scoreboard controls during the game; Bob Brock Ford, Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home, and Bob's Bail Bonds all contributed cars, limos, etc. to transport the players and cheerleaders to and from various engagements;

The Golden Corral provided some free lunches, and will continue throughout the year to feed Howard College Hawk players on certain occasions; Jack Caffey, who provided the helicopter that brought the L.A. Raiders to the autograph session at the Park Inn in spectacular fashion (reminded me of 'Apocalypse Now', the movie).

The Big Spring Police Department, which at the last minute convoyed the players to the game; and the Park Inn, for providing hospitality throughout the weekend.

All these people and organizations rose to the occasion when asked to help. From everyone who enjoyed the game, thanks.

*****

Raul Marquez finished second in the B division at the Diez y seis handball tournament in San Antonio.

Marquez won four matches to reach the final, where he lost two of three games to champion John Landy. Marquez fell 21-20, 2-21, 11-9 in a heartbreaker.

*****

Local runners should start getting in shape for the San Angelo YMCA Halloween Run & Biathlon scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 1 at 9:30 a.m.

There will be one and five mile fun runs, and a five mile run and 18 mile bike biathlon. Entry fee is $8 for the runs, and $12 for the biathlon. T-shirts will be given to all finishers, and the top three finishers in each group will receive a trophy.

There will be age divisions from 15-and under to 41-and over.

*****

Congratulations are due to Big Spring's James Doss, who won the calf roping and steer roping competitions at the Howard County Fair last weekend.

Doss, who roped last year Southwest Texas University last year and competed in the National Rodeo Finals, won a saddle for his efforts at the fair.

*****

The Goliad volleyball teams whipped up on Snyder's A and B teams Monday.

The B team won 15-6, 11-15, 15-9 behind the play of leading scorers Kayla Roberts and Valorie Akins.

The A team beat the Snyder A team 14-16, 15-13, 15-12, as Gloria Munoz, Belinda Banks and Karma Morrow led the way. The B team is now 2-3, while the A team has a 3-3 record. The Goliad girls thanked the Golden Girls for their support at the games.

*****

The Coahoma Booster Club will show game films Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Elementary School teachers' lounge. After the movies, the Coahoma boosters will have a bonfire at 8 p.m.

Steers to face No. 5 team

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers will face their fourth playoff team in as many weeks when they tackle the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night at 8 at Memorial Stadium.

The Mustangs are perhaps the best known of the previous three playoff teams because they are the defending Class AAAA state champs.

Playing Sweetwater is nothing new to Big Spring. The Steers have scrimmaged the Mustangs over the past two seasons. Last year Sweetwater outscored the Steers six touchdowns to one. Steers coach Quinn Eudy says his team hasn't completely forgotten the whipping.

"I still think there might be some feelings left over from last year," Eudy said. "But the main thing is that it's a district game and a good chance to knock off a ranked opponent." The Mustangs are ranked number five in the state by the Harris Poll, and number six in the Associated Press Poll.

Sweetwater is under the direction of new coach Tom Ritchey, who comes from Idalou. Last year's coach W.T. Stapler, is head coach at Boswell.

Ritchey has the highest respect for Big Spring. "I think Big Spring has an excellent football team. They are well coached, have lots of depth and good skill people."

PHILLIP MATHEWS
...great game against Lake View

...big play receiver

The Mustangs aren't so bad themselves. After an open date last week, they bring a 2-0 record into the game. They own wins over Merkel (20-0) and Abilene High School (40-14).

"We enjoyed the week off," said Ritchey. It gave us time to heal up some injuries."

Heading the Mustangs new I-Formation attack will be quarterback Chris Davis, who started a few games last year. Davis has done a fine job so far this season.

The Mustangs offense is averaging 411 yards per contest, 254 on the ground and 156 in the air. Davis has passed for five touchdowns.

His favorite receiver is Kenneth Norman who's averaging 27 yards per catch. Last year as a freshman, Norman started in the secondary.

The Mustangs ground attack is led by another pair of returning lettermen. Fullback Mark Redden has 191 yards rushing and tailback Rufus Smith has 168 yards.

Tight end Lee Morris, who has five catches, is another returning letterman.

"They throw the ball well and their tailback and fullback gives them a great running combination," said Eudy. "They have a well-rounded attack."

The Steers defense got untracked itself last week, churning up 447 yards. Quarterback Paul Decker and running back Phillip Mathews led the way in Big Spring's 33-13 thumping of San Angelo Lake View. Decker ran and passed for over 200 yards and Mathews rushed for 157 yards in 17 carries.

Wide receiver Cedrick Banks is quickly becoming the Steers long threat. Last week he hauled in a 40-yard pass from Decker.

The Mustangs have the top rated defense in the district, allowing a stingy 121 yards per game. Eudy says their defensive line is very tough. "Their front seven is very aggressive, they don't stunt that much, they just line up and come get you."

"I don't know what kind of game plan we'll have. We'll just take what the defense gives us. We never go into a game saying we're going to pass more or run more. It all depends on the defense."

After knocking off district favorite Lake View, Eudy still mixes any talk about the playoffs.

Astros clinch tie

By The Associated Press
The Houston Astros have been limiting the number of pitches Nolan Ryan throws ever since he returned from the disabled because of a sore elbow.

But there are times for exceptions — like during no-hitters and the National League playoffs.

Ryan, who has been held to 100 pitches by Manager Hal Lanier since June 24, pitched no-hit ball for 6 1/3 innings Wednesday night as the Astros clinched a tie for the NL West championship by beating the San Francisco Giants 6-0.

One more Houston victory or one more loss by runnerup Cincinnati will give the Astros their second division title, the first since 1980.

Ryan, who holds the major-league record of five no-hitters, had another one going until

Grady facing uphill struggle

Freshman dominated team learning the hard way

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

At Grady High School this year, there are two boys in the senior class. One of them, or fifty percent of the boys, which ever you prefer, plays football. In the junior class, three or four boys are capable of playing football, but...

"They aren't that big of competitors. They wanted to win but they didn't want to sacrifice a year of losing," said first year Grady head football coach Mike Mathis.

With such a void in the upper ranks, Mathis has been forced to go with his youngsters — three sophomores and 10 freshmen. Consequently, Grady is taking a beating this year. It has lost 52-6 to Trent, 74-32 to Blackwell, and 51-0 to Highland.

"They realize they don't have much of a chance this year. They realize it's going to be tough, playing against older, more experienced people," said Mathis, who is coaching six-man football for the first time this year.

The coach said at least four freshman are playing at all times. In 11-man football, that would be nearly debilitating. In six-man, where four is two-thirds, it makes winning just about impossible.

"One thing we lack is strength. The other teams are much bigger, and they can manhandle us pretty easy. Speedwise, we're finding we're not that much slower."

"The only thing is, our kids who are just as fast are 50 pounds lighter. They may be able to catch up with them, but it's tough to bring them down," Mathis explained.

MIKE MATHIS
...new Grady coach

Friday night, when Grady hosts the Loop Longhorns, size should again be a problem. Though Mathis said Loop doesn't appear as fast as the other teams Grady has played, they are, he said, much bigger.

Longhorns head coach Bobby Avery confirmed Mathis observation that Grady will be physically overmatched for the fourth time in four games.

"We're big, we're strong, but we're slow. That's why we've changed our offense this year. We run straight up the middle — try to run over people. When I pass, it's only because of necessity," Avery said.

In three games this season, his Longhorns have beaten Whitharal 30-20, Hermleigh 37-14, and lost 75-34 to El Paso powerhouse, Jesus Chapel.

Avery said he would open with his starters, but he plans to play his sophomores and freshmen extensively. If he does, the Grady fans can hope for a game within a game — Grady almost surely won't win the entire contest, but the youngsters will have a chance to matchup with their peers for a few quarters.

In that game, Grady may fare well. Last year, when the ten freshmen played junior high ball, their team was undefeated. This year, by the way, Grady's junior high team is so far undefeated, so the picture looks good for the 1988 season.

"They're trying hard — trying to overcome bad habits. We're trying to keep them from loafing and not hitting. To hit is mind over matter, and they're turning out to be improved hitters every game. If we can overcome those hurdles, we'll be well on our way to having a good team down the road," Mathis said about his varsity.

"Winning's not the whole game. We're going to have a good time, even though we may go 0-10."

A win Friday night, however improbable it may seem, is possible. Everybody knows what happened when David faced Goliath on that hot, windy Friday night so many years ago.

Andrews nips netters

ANDREWS — The Big Spring High School tennis team was defeated 11-7 Tuesday by Andrews in team tennis play at the Andrews tennis court.

The girls carried the squad this time, winning seven of nine matches. But the boys had a miserable afternoon, losing every match to Andrews.

Big Spring is now 1-2 in district team tennis play.

Big Spring will be at home Saturday at Figure 7 Tennis Center when it hosts Monahan and Snyder in a triangular match. Action starts at 8:15 a.m.

Mattingly keeps hit streak alive; reclaims batting lead from Boggs

By The Associated Press
Don Mattingly, locked in a torrid race for the American League batting title, says he isn't losing any sleep over the nightly news on Boston's Wade Boggs.
"I just have to keep getting hits," Mattingly said Wednesday night after going 2-for-4 to reclaim the lead as he led the New York Yankees to a 4-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.
Mattingly, the 1984 batting champion, started the game in a tie with Boggs at .350, and finished at .351. He singled in the first inning to extend his hitting streak to 23 games, the longest in the major leagues this season and longest of his career.

AL

Boston's game at Milwaukee was rained out and won't be made up unless it has a bearing on the pennant race.
Mattingly said he wasn't concerned when he learned that Boggs had gone 4-for-5 Tuesday night to move into the lead.
"You know Boggs is going to get his," Mattingly said. "I can't worry about what he does every day... that's crazy. It's fun anytime you go out and try to get two hits a day, knowing you've got to keep pace, or whatever."
Elsewhere, it was Toronto 8, Detroit 2; Kansas City 2, Minnesota 1; Seattle 5, Texas 4; and Oakland 4, Chicago 2. Cleveland at California also was rained out, and rescheduled for tonight.
Mattingly drove in two runs by reaching across the plate for a low outside pitch, slapping it into left field for a fifth-inning single that had Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver shaking his head.
"Mike (Flanagan) made him stand on his left ear to get a hit," Weaver said of Mattingly. "Unfortunately, he's probably the only one in the game who can stand on his left ear and get a hit."
Left-hander Dennis Rasmussen, 16-6, scattered six hits over 8 2/3 innings. The only run he gave up came a third-inning homer by Floyd Rayford. Dave Righetti, the major league leader in saves, got the final out for his 42nd.

The Orioles, who have lost four in a row and 12 of 16, suffered their sixth series sweep of the season while the Yankees won for the 26th time in their last 34 games at Memorial Stadium. New York has won three straight games and eight of its last 11.
The loss was Baltimore's 81st of the season, meaning the Orioles will not have a winning season for the first time in 19 years. The Yankees hold the record with 39 straight winning seasons from 1926 to 1964.
Royals 2, Twins 1
Minnesota's Bert Blyleven didn't have a word to say afterward. That in itself gave mute testimony to the frustration he must be feeling.
Blyleven, 15-14, struck out 14 batters and walked none. But he came out a loser because Kansas City's Frank White hit a solo homer in the top of the ninth inning — the 46th surrendered this season by Blyleven, tying a record set in 1956 by Hall-of-Famer Robin Roberts.
White's homer, his 20th, gave him three of the nine hits allowed by Blyleven.
"I have a lot of respect for him (Blyleven), so the record is something I'm not very proud of," said White. "If he had been on a good team most of his career, he'd probably be approaching 300 wins by now."
The 35-year-old Blyleven is 227-197 for his career.
Royals starter Mark Gubicza allowed only one run on four hits in 6 1/3 innings before giving way to Dan Quisenberry, 3-7, who used two double plays to hold off the Twins.

Blue Jays 8, Tigers 2
Toronto's Cecil Fielder was filling in for first baseman, Willie Upshaw, who has a sore right knee. But, despite hitting a three-run homer, Fielder wasn't thinking about anything permanent.
"This ain't no Wally Pipp story," he said.
Pipp had a headache one day, so the New York Yankees started Lou Gehrig. They kept him there for the next 2,130 games.
Fielder's home run, his fourth, and one by Tony Fernandez to open the game, highlighted a six-run Toronto first inning against Dan Petry, 5-9. Dave Stieb, 7-11, scattered seven hits over seven innings, struck out six and walked one.

"All I can do is what they want," Fielder said. "Over the course of the season, I think I could put some numbers up."
A's 4, White Sox 2
The wind was blowing out in Oakland, and Joe Cowley, coming off a no-hitter against California in his last start, was the victim because all three hits he allowed left the park.
"On a normal day, all of those are routine outs," said Cowley, who pitched 6 2/3 innings as Oakland completed a three-game sweep of Chicago. "But but other than that, I have no excuses. I pitched well."
The A's went ahead in the seventh when Alfredo Griffin hit the right field foul pole with his fourth homer, a two-run shot. Consecutive home runs by Carney Lansford and Dave Kingman pulled the A's into a 2-2 tie in the fourth. Kingman's was his 34th, tying him with Toronto's Jesse Barfield for the league lead.

Mariners 5, Rangers 4
Pete Ladd understands the nature of the beast even though there are times he'd rather not be one — a relief pitcher that is.
With the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Ladd induced pinch hitter Pete Incaviglia to pop up and then struck out Scott Fletcher to end a Texas threat. "No one really wants to come into a bases-loaded situation, but someone has to," Ladd said.
Ken Phelps drove in two runs with 24th homer and a sacrifice fly as Seattle halted a three-game winning streak by Texas.
The Mariner victory reduced rained-out California's magic number to three. Texas begins a three-game series with Angels on Friday and also plays the final three games of the season at home against California.
Mike Moore, 11-12, struggled with his control through 6 1/3 innings, walking six while striking out three and allowing five hits. Ladd, who relieved Matt Young in the eighth, got his sixth save.

Big Spring winner

Gaylord won't buy Rangers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Edward L. Gaylord, whose attempt to acquire a majority interest in the Texas Rangers was rebuffed this week, says he planned to turn his Gaylord Broadcasting Co. into a "superstation" for the Southwest.
But Gaylord, who already owns 35 percent interest and the television rights to the Rangers, said he had no intention of using the deal to broadcast the Rangers' games to all parts of the country.
"We had no intention of going national. We just wanted to be a so-called superstation in the Southwestern part of the country," he said Wednesday.
Gaylord was quoted in The Daily Oklahoman, a newspaper published by his Oklahoma Publishing Co.
American League owners voted Tuesday against the proposed sale to Gaylord by Texas businessman Eddie Chiles, who owns 55 percent interest in the Rangers.
The owners also adopted a policy that would bar any television company from owning a major league team.
In rejecting the deal, the American League owners made it clear they are opposed to any further team ownership by television companies.
Gaylord said he told the owners that he would not sell his television station, KTVT in Dallas-Fort Worth, in order to buy a baseball team.

Ted Turner, owner of the Atlanta Braves, also owns superstation WTBS in Atlanta; and the Chicago Tribune Co. owns the Cubs and television station WGN. Both stations telecast their teams games into many areas of the country.
Gaylord said the American League decision strengthens the positions of Turner and The Tribune. "They're grandfathered in, and nobody else can compete against them nationally," he said. "Mr. Turner was smiling all over the place."
Chiles said he was disappointed by the decision, and he hasn't decided if he'll look for another buyer. "All those matters will have to be decided later," he said.
Chiles decided earlier this year to sell his interest in the team because profits from his oil implement and drilling business, The Western Company of North America, are falling due to the decline in oil prices.
"I feel sorry for Mr. Chiles. He's in a financial bind," Gaylord said. "I hope he can figure out a way to stay in there and remain as majority stockholder."
Gaylord said he is relieved that he won't have the responsibility of running the Rangers. He had agreed to serve as chairman of the board of the Rangers if the sale was approved.

rookie Mike Aldrete grounded a clean single to left in the seventh inning. That was the only hit Ryan allowed in his eight innings.
Ryan, 11-8, struck out 12 and finished his night by striking out the side in the eighth. He walked three.
"He threw 108 pitches tonight and we wanted to see him stretch it out a little," Lanier said. "When you get into the playoffs, you can throw that 100 pitch figure out the window, unless he's tired."
Said Ryan: "I was ready for tonight. I wasn't planning on having an off night. This is probably the best I've had since I came off the disabled list."
In other games, Chicago beat New York 8-2. Pittsburgh defeated Montreal 2-1 and St. Louis downed Philadelphia 7-1. The San Diego at Los Angeles game was rained out, the first postponement at Dodger Stadium since Aug. 18, 1983.
Ryan, who has nine career one-hitters, said he has learned to overcome the discomfort in his elbow.
"I've dealt with it so long that I almost forget the pain," he said.
Reliever Charlie Kerfeld gave up one hit in the ninth.
Billy Hatcher and Kevin Bass each drove in two Houston runs and Glenn Davis hit his 30th homer of the season.

Bass had an RBI single in the first off Mike LaCoss, 10-13, and a run-scoring double in the fifth. Hatcher hit a two-run single in the fourth. Davis connected in the seventh.
Reds 4, Braves 1
Max Venable connected for his first home run in two seasons, a three-run shot, and Ted Power shut out Atlanta on four hits for 7 2/3 innings as Cincinnati beat the Braves.
Power, 8-6, won his fourth straight game and is 4-1 in eight starts after 229 consecutive relief appearances since 1983. John Franco allowed a run in the ninth, but still got his 25th save.
Venable homered in the third inning against Rick Mahler, 13-17. It was Venable's first home run since Aug. 16, 1984, while with Montreal, and his first in 264 at-bats for Cincinnati.
Cubs 8, Mets 2
Drew Hall pitched a six-hitter and won his first major-league game and Ryne Sandberg drove in three runs, leading Chicago over New York.
Hall struck out eight and walked two. He is 1-1 since being promoted from Class AA. Hall also got his first major-league hit in the seventh and Chico Walker followed with a two-run single.
Sandberg had an RBI single in the fifth and a two-run single in the seventh. Rick Aguilera, 8-7, took the loss.

Shawon Dunston hit his 17th homer for the host Cubs, and Gary Carter hit a two-run homer, his 22nd, for the Mets. It was the Mets' 139th homer this season, tying the team mark set in 1962, when they went 40-120.
Cardinals 7, Phillies 1
Danny Cox scattered seven hits and John Morris and Andy Van Slyke homered as St. Louis beat visiting Philadelphia.
Cox, 11-12 struck out five and walked one in his seventh complete game of the season.
Morris led off the second inning with his first major-league homer, off Kevin Gross, 11-12.

Van Slyke opened the third with his 11th home run.
Pirates 2, Expos 1
U.L. Washington's RBI single with two outs broke an eighth-inning tie and gave Pittsburgh its victory over Montreal.
Barry Bonds drew a walk from Bob McClure, 2-4, and reliever Jeff Reardon got Tony Pena on a force play. Jim Morrison and Washington followed with singles.
Don Robinson, 3-4, got the win with two innings of scoreless relief.
The start of the game in Pittsburgh was delayed 43 minutes by rain, and most of the game was played in a drizzle.

"This district is comparable to the one we left. It's so competitive. There are so many good teams left that we still must play."
Ritchey agrees, but says Big Spring made a big step last week. "No, I don't necessarily think whoever wins this game will win the playoffs. But if Big Spring wins, they are in better shape, because they've already beaten Lake View. We don't play them until the last game of the season."
Ritchey said he doesn't know if the contest will be an offensive or defensive one. "I really couldn't tell you. But I think it will be close."
Eudy says the game won't turn into a track meet, but there will be some points put on the board. "Both teams have pretty good defenses. I think the team that scores three touchdowns can win it."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 26, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Morning confusion soon turns into a wonderful opportunity for being able to accomplish matters of importance where your home or family affairs are concerned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your home and do whatever can improve things there. Invite persons in for the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle routines wisely. Pay more compliments to your associates and get them eating out of your hand.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to rid yourself of some annoying situation and study better ways of improving financial matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't let complaints of associates bother you and go after personal aims and gain them.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Everything seems to go wrong with your work so turn your attention to some personal matter of importance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact good friends you have not seen in some time and don't make plans with your mate in the morning.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get in touch with superiors and gain their support. Show off your finest talents.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't let a message you receive disturb you. Plan a trip that can help your business or personal life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Leave your mate in a fine humor and then you can handle business affairs efficiently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Controlling a habit in the morning will make it possible later to come to a better understanding with partners.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't let a private anxiety bother you and busy yourself at activities that are profitable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A pal may be disappointing this morning, but be devoted to the one you really love and make romance richer.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she is apt to have a slow beginning so expect nothing important early. Your progeny will get fine ideas and put them across to others easily and be especially good at business. Teach early to be more objective so that fine progress is possible.
