How's that? Name change

Q. Is it true that Howard College changed its name?

A. No. Earlier this year, there was some confusion regarding the official name of the college district. The board of trustees therefore voted to make its official name the Howard County Junior College District, which it had been called for some time.

Deaf athlete can really play a series of Herald articles in conjunction with national Deaf Awareness Week. "Deaf in a hearing world" continues with a report on the efforts of a deaf college student striving to make the Howard College basketball team.

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

Being deaf may pose more problems in the everyday routine of life than it does in the fast-paced competition of a basketball player. Communication in basketball relies more on subtle physical hints, such as eye contact and team he's probably not a top player. Although most coaches preach talking on defense, to give warnings against set plays or a pick (basketball's version of the football block), it's not hard to envision a silent game. In many pickup games, the only sounds are those of the ball bouncing, sneakers squeaking, and an occasional 'darnit''

Of course, playing good basketball without the ability to hear is easier to say than do. One local athlete, however, has made it easier to imagine.

Calvin Gousby, a 20-year-old freshman at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, was among more than 30 athletes who sought a spot on this year's Howard College men's basketball team. Head Coach Larry Brown gradually reduced that number, cutting several at a time until he selected 16 players. Gousby was one of

Editor's note: This is the third in leave the team this year for personal reasons. Meanwhile, Gousby is maintaining a 19-hour course load at SCWID while he's a long way from his native Boston and some problems at home.

"He gave it a good shot and worked hard and really made the team. I'll give him a shot next year," Brown said Wednesday after a meeting at which Gousby reported his decision.

In Boston last year, the 6-foot-3 forward was captain of his team at Horace Mann School for the Deaf, where for two years he led the team in scoring.

"When I was in high school, it was very easy for me to play with the other deaf kids. But now it's a lot tougher. It's harder for me to follow the plays and box out and rebound, and I need to improve a lot," Gousby said through an interpreter. While he said it was more difficult in college than in high school, he pointed out that the tougher competition was the reason, not his

Brown added that Gousby hadn't been performing as well since tryouts, partly as a result of a bad ankle and a bout with the flu.

Seniors' session adjourns

AUSTIN - Delbert Downing of Snyder sees the pragmatic side of the first Texas Silver Haired Legislature and what, if any, impact it will have on state lawmakers returning to the capital during the regular session in

In the 22 other states that have similar programs, most of their recommendations are adopted by the state, said Downing. He served on the employment committee.

Downing, who owns a livestock feed manufacturing company, said the state should protect nutrition programs for the elderly, especially the meals on wheels program.

He also said he favored a resolution which would allow employees to not have to pay into Social Security for elderly employees already receiving Social Security benefits or pensions.

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Silver Haired Legislature adjourned Thursday after agreeing on six priority issues to take to the Texas Legislature in January, including one calling for maintaining or increasing state funding for senior citizen programs.

'We have come out with some outstanding resolutions across the board, and I believe they will be worth fighting for in the Legislature," said J. Raleigh Jackson of La Grange, the speaker for the senior legislature.

"The major concern is that current levels of funding be maintained for older Texans and also community-based supportive programs," he said.

Considering that Texas still ranks 49th in financial support for programs for the elderly, the members gave top priority to "reasonable consideration" for increasing funding for senior citizens, especially those programs providing in-home care. Several members noted after a series of votes leading to the priority listing that in-home care would be a cost-effective alternative to nursing home care.

C-City board sets tax rate at special Friday session

COLORADO CITY - The Colorado Independant School District Board of Trustees, meeting in special session this morning, adopted a tax rate for 1986 of 89 cents per $100 valuation, 12 percent above the 1985 rate.

Board President Dr. Billy Bridgford said even with the 12 percent increase, the new rate will bring in $222,000 less in tax dollars because of the slump in the oil industry. This year's tax roll decreased by $55 million because of the drop in oil prices.

During tryouts, Gousby was something of a celebrity at the SCWID dorms. The TVs at SCWID provide a nightly report of the students' activities. Gousby's progress was monitored daily.

"They had cuts at the end of practice, and we always asked Calvin when he got back if he'd been cut, and he'd say 'No', and word kind've spread. When we heard that he'd made it, we put it on the TV that Calvin was the first deaf player to make it on the Howard College basetball team." said Diane Lindhart, dean of

"It made me feel good seeing it on TV." Gousby said, obviously proud of himself and happy with the recognition.

After making the team, Gousby's teammates treated him like any other, with just a few concessions to his deafness. He can hear a little, and reads lips well, so he asked his teammates to talk slowly.

'Calvin's not any different, really, but you have to get his attention. There's no problem communicating with.him once you get his attention. He's very bright, and it shouldn't be a problem," said sophomore Billy Giggins.

Teammate Chris Miller explained it well: "He knows the game. It's like, once you know the game of basketball, you know it. If he knows something's happening, then I know something's happening. And if I know it, he knows it.

The only thing is, if he happens to look down when the coach is talking, he misses it. But if he sees us go through a drill, it's no problem. He just goes right through it,' Miller said.

Gousby's deafness, however, was not a major factor in the combination of reasons that prompted him to decide against playing this

For one, Texas is quite a cultural shock for someone from Boston. In addition, 19 hours is a tough course load. Add personal problems and deafness, and he just wasn't able at to give what is needed to be successful in basketball this season, the coach and Dean Lindhart observed.

Perhaps most importantly, Gousby showed that it can be done. And with a little luck, he may yet play college ball. Coach Brown thinks it's possible.

"It's kind of funny - I had 10 deaf kids at my (basketball) camp this summer, and it was pretty easy to communicate. Kids like Calvin just have to work harder. but they can do it; they really

When Richards took office, 1,406 state bank accounts worth $7 million were drawing no interest. These funds were switched to interest-bearing accounts.

As a result of Richards' work, the Treasury now invests short-term idle funds, high interest repurchase agreements and U.S. Treasury Bills. The interest earned on the money was about $200 million in 1984, her office reports.

Richards discovered when she took office that checks often re- merce's Blue Blazers, seminar mained in the Treasury for several days before being deposited in banks to earn interest. Now checks of $1 million or more are "fast tracked" through the Treasury in less than 30 minutes.

Reagan pledges to enforce sanctions

WASHINGTON — President Reagan is pledging to enforce tough new sanctions approved by the Senate over his veto, while saying he hopes the measures will not intensify the violence and repression at which they're aimed. Reagan said Thursday's 78-21 override vote, in which 31 members of the Senate's 53-member Republican majority voted against him, "should not be viewed as the final chapter in America's efforts, along with our allies, to address the plight of the people of

He did not say what other efforts would be made, but an aide speaking on condition he not be identified said an aid package for South Africa's neighboring countries would be likely. The aide said Secretary of State George Shultz is expected to visit the region this fall.

Despite intense lobbying by Reagan and his aides, the White House fell 13 votes short of the 34 needed to sustain his veto of the legislation that its Senate sponsors said would force Pretoria's white-minority government to abandon apartheid.

American civil rights leaders welcomed the Senate action, with Coretta Scott King, widow of assassinated leader Martin Luther King Jr., declaring that her husband's "dream has been advanced." Reagan, suffering the sixth veto override since he took office, expressed "deep regret."

"My hope is that these punitive sanctions do not lead to more violence and more repression," he said in a statement. "Our administration will, nevertheless, implement the law. It must be recognized, however, that this will not solve the serious problems that plague that country."

The House, controlled by the Democrats, voted 313-83 on Monday to override Reagan's veto, rejecting his argument that the sanctions would prove most harmful to the blacks they are intended to benefit.

The new sanctions stop short of ordering outright American disinvestment or a complete trade embargo, but embrace steps designed to convince the Pretoria government to dismantle its apartheid system of racial separation.

The legislation bans new investment and new bank loans. It bars the importation into the United States of South African steel, iron, coal, uranium, agricultural products, food, arms, ammunition and military vehicles. It transfers the South African sugar quota to

South Africans react

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - South Africans will not be swayed by Congress' decision to impose anti-apartheid sanctions over President Reagan's veto, and will "map out their future" themselves, governmentcontrolled radio said today.

"This morning, more than ever, sanctions are a reality," the South African Broadcasting Corp. said in a commentary on Thursday's 78-21 Senate vote:

The Senate's decision to override Reagan's veto, which followed the House of Representatives' 313-83 vote Monday, enacts the legislation designed to force an end to South Africa's apartheid racial segregation system.

Gunmen free diplomat

DAMASCUS, Syria — Gunmen kidnapped a Syrian diplomat as he drove home from work in the Iranian capital, and a top aide to Syria's president said the envoy was freed today, a day after his abduction.

Syrian officials here identifed the diplomat abducted Thursday night as consul Iyad Mahmoud, the No. 2 man at the Syrian Embassy in Tehran. An embassy official earlier said Mahmoud was charge d'affaires.

Official Tehran radio, monitored in London, said the armed men in a BMW car and an ambulance stopped Mahmoud's vehicle at 10 p.m. It quoted witnesses as saying the kidnappers fired six shots and hustled the diplomat into the ambulance, which then left for an unknown destination.

Sculpture found

LONDON AP) — A valuable sculpture by the late Henry Moore that was stolen from an art gallery two years ago has been found in a baggage locker at a London train station.

Scotland Yard said in a statement Thursday that officers searching for narcotics had gone to the station to search lockers after receiving a tip in connection with their drug investigation.

Inside one, they found the 18-inch-high sculpture stolen from the Mayor Gallery in west London in 1984.

The British domestic news agency Press Association said the concrete likeness of a seated figure was worth $357,500.

Sikh militants attack

NEW DELHI, India — Sikh militants today attacked Punjab's police chief with machine guns, killing a guard. A gunman who tried to kill Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi the day before was identified as having a surname used by nearly all male Sikhs.

Gandhi has been threatened by Sikh separatist groups, but police said after Thursday's assassination attempt that the gunman was not a Sikh. However, he was identified in court papers today as Karamjit Singh of Punjab state.

Aptitude testing not the end goal

U.S. Education Secretary William Bennett says the standstill in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores for the Class of 1986 should prompt public schools to redouble their efforts to implement classroom reforms.

Although we agree with Mr. Bennett in principle, it would be a mistake-for educators to become so caught up in the numbers game that they lose sight of the main objective, namely teaching students to think.

College-admission test scores have been a major issue after their decline during the early 1960s became a barometer of deteriorating academic standards in primary and secondary schools. Indeed, from 1963 to 1980, average SAT scores plummeted from 478 to 424 on the verbal section and from 502 to 471 on the math section.

Beginning in 1981, however, scores began to improve steadily, even though more students were taking the test.

The turnaround stems in part from the fact that students are taking more rigorous courses, which, of course, is a positive sign

We are less sanguine, however, about those school districts that spend an inordinate amount of time teaching students how to take standardized tests. Such preoccupation on results undermines the learning process by pressuring students to become performers instead of thinkers.

The greatest impetus to teach the test is frequently found in low-income, minority districts where standardized test scores are particularly low. Unfortunately, the moral victory of raising the average test scores in such districts often is achieved at the expense of students who are denied the opportunity to

To be sure, testing is an integral part of the learning process. But it must not be viewed as an end in itself. Otherwise, students cannot help but learn the cynical lesson tht knowing how to take a test takes precedence over intellectual discipline and problem solving.

Electric company charge disliked

To the editor:

I am writing you about a matter that has been recently called to my attention. For several years I have been having the utilities of Big Spring draw drafts on my bank account at the State National Bank for their convenience, as well as mine. I did so as we are sometimes out of town when the utility bills come due.

This morning it was brought to my attention by a friend that Texas Electric Service Co. drafts handled by my bank were subjected to a $2 service charge against my account. My understanding of this matter is that the bank is charged this amount, but that TESCO does not receive the $2 either.

It is my understanding that bookkeeping charges are included in the charge made for our electricity; therefore, there should be no additional charges against the consumer for a utility bill other than the normal charges. I can only assume that draft accounts for TESCO are contracted out to another company by TESCO, and the additional company charges the bank for this service.

While I can understand the bank charging the customer for what is charged to them, I cannot understand why the bank did not notify its customers of the additional $2 per month to be taken from their accounts. This is an unauthorized draft charge. TESCO did not inform its-eustomers that if it was guaranteed payment on time it would cost the customer an additional $2 per month. Therefore, I consider this a hidden charge by a utility company.

In Washington:

Two dollars per month perhaps does not seem much and $24 per year today may be peanuts to many people, but to retired people, $24 a year could make a great deal of difference.

If you figure it out on 4,000 draft accounts, I believe people like me are paying for $96,000 a year of TESCO accounting costs, which already are figured into the high utility (electric) charges allowed through rate increases by our State government.

This morning I notified Texas Electric to cancel my draft. If I am out of town when the bill comes due, I will either have my daughter pay it with a 22¢ stamp, or the company can wait until I return home and receive it with a late payment. Maybe this letter will draw the attention of someone like myself that we are paying a premium for prompt payment. TESCO is the only utility company in Big Spring doing

I do not have knowledge of which other banks in town are passing on this "hidden" charge, and I cannot fault my bank for charging for a service it is charged.

BUT I do blame TESCO and the State National Bank for not notifying me that this practice has been in effect since March of 1986. It already has cost me $12 to learn the hard way. Don't you want to check your bank statement, too?

A copy of this letter is being forwarded to State National Bank, TESCO and the State Utilities Commission.

Vietnam hero describes attempt to rescue POWs

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON -American POWs were on their way to freedom from Laos in December 1984 when machine-gun fire from a Mekong River patrol boat forced them back, according to an affidavit given to us by a highly decorated American hero of the Vietnam War.

The sworn statement by retired Army Lt. Col. James (Bo) Gritz is a gripping account of his efforts futile so far - to rescue prisoners of war he is convinced are still alive in communist-held Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

Gritz has won more than 60 medals for valor and achievement, including three Silver Stars, eight Bronze Stars, two Legions of Merit and 26 Air Medals. He is a licensed still loyal to him," Gritz said, pilot, a sixth-degree black belt in adding: karate, an underwater demolition expert and a master parachutist.

In his affidavit, Gritz "swears and affirms under penalty of perjury" that he has conducted crossborder operations in Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam to rescue American POWs. "I have crossed these borders on six different occasions as a part of intelligencereconnaisance and guerrilla force operations designed to bring these Americans safely home who are without a doubt waiting for liberation," he declared.

The closest Gritz came to success, he said, was in December 1984. He began planning Operation Brokenwing in Thailand in the summer of 1983. His statement continued:

"This effort was designed to release three U.S. POWs being held at a prison location approximately 250 kilometers north of Vientiane, Laos. Through contacts within the Lao government we were successful in convincing the commander of the prison guard force to defect with the three POWs and a part of his force.'

Gritz flew to Paris in February

Jack Anderson

"I was told the guard force would be changed the second week in January 1985, and that just prior to that the Pathet Lao captain in charge of the guard would, with cooperation of a communist police official who had a truck which frequented the compound, bring the Americans to a prearranged loca-with a former Laotian military commander, Gen. Kong Le, who had played a key role "in arrangtion on the Mekong River separating Laos from Thailand." Near Christmas 1984, Gritz and his men were on the Thai side of the river as arranged. The affidavit

'As we waited on the Thai border two of the POWs were put into dugouts and started across the mile-wide river with several of my indigenous agents and the (Pathet Lao) guards. A patrol boat caught the first dugout halfway across the river and cut it in half with heavy machine-gun fire. The motorized craft then ran down the small boat. The second boat containing the two POWs turned around and safely made the Lao shore.

Gritz said he tried to rescue the two later, but word had been passed to Thai newspapers by the U.S. embassy in Bangkok that Gritz was 1984 to confirm details of the plan active along the northern' Thai border. "We had to withdraw," said Gritz, explaining that a previous disclosure had led to his temporary arrest in Thailand.

Gritz added in his statement: "I am positive there remain today in Laos 50 U.S. servicemen who put on the uniform of the United States and did what others feared to do and fled from doing.'

Finally, he swore that a highlevel Defense Intelligence Agency official "told me that he had briefed the President-elect (Ronald Reagan) and several members of his staff in the 'West Room of the White House' in January 1981, on 'a minimum of 100 POWs in Vietnam. DIPLOMATIC DIGEST: The has actually been arguing for deeper budget cuts than the Reagan administration wanted.

For example, at a recent meeting of an 18-nation committee assigned to study economy measures, the United States proposed a one-third cut in the number of top U.N. brass; the Soviets proposed a 75 percent cut. The U.S. suggestion carried.

SAUDI SYBARITES: The Saudi Arabian government has been firing foreign workers wholesale as the collapse of world oil prices forces a certain austerity on the desert kingdom.

But now they have a new problem: trying to replace the foreigners with native workers to do everything from menial jobs in the oil fields to white-collar work in banks, offices and shops

It seems that years of living in the lap of luxury have made Saudi citizens unwilling to do an honest day's work. They demand top salaries for as little effort on the job as they can manage.

I am sure my husband didn't lust after her; it was more like an act of charity. He told her that he had never broken his marriage vows before and he didn't intend to break them again, so she shouldn't expect it to become a habit.

Lifestyle Editor James Robison is one of the most respected and influential evangelists of our time, says Perry Kallevig, director of crusades for the James Robison Evangelistic Association.

"He believes the Bible has a lot of good news and that it would be good for the people to hear the good news. That's why James has decided to come to Big Spring. He made special arrangements to come out here," Kallevig savs.

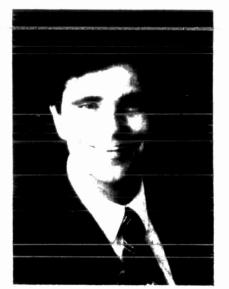

Robison will address a crusade at the Big Spring High School Auditorium on Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist has not been to Big Spring since 1980 or '81, Kallevig says, although he has been ministering in the area for 24 years.

"He's a homegrown Texan and loves the people here. He's a very real person who shares a real gospel for the everyday working man.

"A lot of people are hurting and James believes that knowing Christ and giving your life to Christ will help you face the challenges of every day living."

The James Robison Evangelistic Association, headquartered in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex, was organized in 1965 to extend his evangelistic outreach throughout the world.

JAMES ROBISON ...to speak Oct. 14

He believes that God is calling him to help restore the church to New Testament life and to prepare disciples who will perform the ministry of Jesus Christ, Kallevig says.

Robison annually conducts as many as 100 ministry events, including crusades, conferences and evangelistic rallies. His daily televsion program, "Daily Restoration," is carried by the Christian networkds TBN and PTL, and local TV stations, with a potential national audience of 53 million viewers, according to a release from the James Robison Evangelistic Association.

His weekly television program, "Day of Restoration," airs on the same networks as his daily show, 110 stations and the Christian network CBN. It has a potential audience of 129 million, the release states.

The story of Robison's success began at the age of 18 when he received God's calling to preach. He loved Jesus so much that he had difficulty walking down a street without stopping people and asking if they knew the Lord. He spent many hours praying alone in the piney woods of East Texas where he attended college, Kallevig says.

Within months after his call, Robison was preaching in the largest churches in Texas and conducting city-wide crusades. By the age of 20, he was launching an evangelistic ministry within the Southern Baptist denomination. During the next 22 years, he preached in more than 600 city-wide crusades, attended by more than 12 million people, the release states.

In 1982, he had a "dramatic spiritual encounter with God that redirected his ministry into helping restore the church and believers and to disciple them to fulfill the ministry of Jesus," he has been quoted as saying.

With deep conviction and with God's leading, Robison is taking the message of restoration across denominational lines. God's word must be shared with everyone, he says, and religious prejudice must be overcome.

Robison believes that in addition to being an instrument for spreading the message of repentance and restoration today, his ministry is being set apart in a very special role: as a ministry to ministers and other ministries.

The result, he says, will be "a church truly functioning as the body of Christ. God's people are going to come together in His presence, not in dissension, division and hostility, but in love established by the word."

In pursuit of his redirected ministry emphasis, he is establishing a Restoration Ministry Center in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. It will include a counseling center, television center for videotaping during ministry sessions and administrative offices.

Robison is leaving his future to the holy Spirit, which guides him. However, he believes that a restored church will be worshipping in spirit and truth; it will be free in its expressions of praise and worship — and it will receive and exercise all spiritual gifts while "doing the works of Jesus.

Sister Mary Catherine: A Rebel Nun determined to help Dallas' poorest

DALLAS (AP) — The urban still life — an empty brown bottle, a book and a cheap pair of folded black pants neatly arranged in the hard cement slab doorway of an abandoned grocery store outlet catches Sister Mary Catherine Dunn's attention midway through the tour she is giving of the neighborhood she calls the deep

"Look, someone makes his home here," she says, pausing in the dusty alley behind the John Brady Center, a 3-year-old agency designed to aid the poor and the elderly. "The transients all sleep out here at night. He'll be back.

The transients are Sister Dunn's people, as are the elderly and handicapped residents of a new, mixed-brick housing project around the corner, and the Hispanic and black residents of another nearby apartment complex, and anyone else who walks in the front door of the Brady Center seeking help.

As administrator of the Brady Center, which is financed by the Archdiocese of Da"as and the United Way, Sister Dunn is their ally, their staunch defender: the Rebel Nun.

"The fact that we accept Hispanics and blacks, bring them into our building and treat them as friends - some people don't even want to admit they're in our city,' says Dunn, 43. "We defend these people. Our people. We feed them here. We're here to help them. So we go against the grain.

"I know I go places and say what I think. I'm independent and outspoken. I'm a traditionalist to a degree, but I'd rather do things my own way. So I guess for a nun I'm a rebel. But I know some nuns who

"Other people warn us that the people we help could try to steal from us. We say if they steal, it's a sign they are needy. And the more we treat them like human beings, the more our kindness will with them. Quite a lot of meet tell me we should make sure we check out our clients' stories, make sure they're deserving of our help. But that's something you can never know. We give because they seem poor. And that's what we're supposed to be doing.'

Sister Mary Catherine Dunn stands in front of 5t. Edward's Catholic Church in Dallas where she attends Mass every morning. Sister Dunn is determined to help the poor in the Deep Ellum area through the Brady Center created to meet the needs of the poor

Here in the deep end of Deep Ellum, there are no trendy shops, no smart cafes, no galleries. In this corner of the city, a few blocks northwest of Fair Park, the sidewalks are cracked, with broken slabs of cement veering up at the sky, and empty, overgrown lots glint with jagged glass.

There are warehouses and small industrial outlets just down the street. And there are the lowincome apartments. And the

"The gentrification nearby is for in more people — maybe some of them have seen our building: maybe they can send us clients. Or maybe they're potential benefactors.

On one corner of Sister Dunn's block rises St. Edward's Catholic Church - built 80 years ago, a redbrick relic of more prosperous times and nicer neighborhoods. Now, protective screens shield the stained glass windows and heavy black grilles bar the doors. Sister Dunn and the sisters at the Brady Center attend Mass at St. Edward's every morning. Then they the better," she says. "It's brought open the doors of the Brady Center, lose touch with their problems.

two doors down, and attend to the needs of the people who fill the six wooden pews lining the center's front hallway. On the wall above the pews hangs a picture of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the patron saint of Hispanics, ascending to

Sister Dunn can tell the history of the center, built 75 years agoas St. Edward's School, renovated and reopened two years ago, named for a deceased parish priest who devoted 30 years to nelping the neighborhood. She can tell you about the center's work: senior citizens' social programs, nutrition, English and high school equivalency diploma classes, emergency assistance for those who need food, clothing and rent

Then -- tour completed - she sits in her tiny office with coleus plants and African violets and tells you about herself.

Born in St. Louis, one of three daughters of an Irish shipping clerk and a part-time saleswoman, she's been a member of the Daughters of Charity for 24 years, she says, as if that sums everything up.

"I had an aunt who worked a lot with the poor. I'd go with her and work at the big settlement houses, she said. "I was just a little girl then, but it impressed me to help other people. When I got older, I thought about going to other countries because I didn't realize there was real poverty here. I even thought about joining the Peace

'The thought always occurred to me that there had to be more to my life than being married to one man and having a few kids. That seemed so limiting. My senior year in high school, we had a vocation day, and one of the sisters came to speak. And that was it.'

She speaks in soft, slightly Midwestern tones, and as she talks, she smiles frequently and looks directly at you. Wavy wisps of red hair, tinged with streaks of gray, have slipped over her forehead beneath her navy coiffe.

"I have a deep faith, and I live by that faith and share that faith with other people. I have a great concern for the poor — I don't like to be removed from the poor because I

Oil prices may go up

SAN ANTONIO — The end of a war in the Persian Gulf could signal higher oil prices, a former Middle East ambassador says.

James E. Akins, who served as U.S. ambassador to Saudia Arabia from 1973-76, also proposed a $1 gasoline tax and an oil import fee to help the domestic industry and the country's defense.

Akins, speaking Thursday at the 67th annual Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association meeting, said Iran'seems to be winning the war with Iraq.

"If the war ends, prices are going to go up, no matter how the war ends," Akins said.

He said both countries have suffered during the border conflict but still are much stronger militarily than any other oil-producing nation in the area.

Drug ring arrests made

LONGVIEW - A five-month investigation which officials say will break up an organized crime ring dealing cocaine in East and North Texas brought warrants for the arrests of 33 suspects.

By Thursday night, officers had arrested about one-third of the suspects named in sealed indictments returned by a Gregg County grand jury earlier Thursday, officials said.

The indictments include 162 counts against the defendants, and all are charged with organized criminal conspiracy, said Longview Police Chief James McLaughlin.

'The number of arrests and the seizures involved in this case make it the largest narcotics investigation in Gregg County history," McLaughlin said.

Lucas trial continues

EL PASO — A defense attorney apologized for implying in court that Gov. Mark White promised a judgeship to a prosecutor if Henry Lee Lucas receives another death sentence.

"We all say things in haste and anger that we later regret," said Rod Ponton, who represents Lucas. "I withdraw those statements. I want them to be formally retracted."

Ponton was questioning Lemons in a pretrial hearing Thursday in connection with a 1983 slaying. Assistant district attorney Bill Moody of El Paso is prosecuting the case.

Ax victim identified

GOLDEN GATE, Fla. — One of the victims of a triple ax murder in a Dallas suburb has been identified as a young Florida woman searching for the mother she had not seen since she was a toddler.

Laura Lee Owen, 20, was killed in Lancaster, Texas, after a fellow hitchhiker bludgeoned her and two other woman with a hatchet.

Their bodies were discovered Monday. A positive identification of Ms. Owen was made Thursday when Lancaster police received a picture of her from her father, police Lt. C.E. Pinson said.

Jim Owen, who lives here on the edge of Everglades in Southwest Florida, said he hadn't heard from his daughter in about a year.

Ms. Owen met her violent death in a house she lived in for about a month. For years, she had hitchhiked, ran away from home, and basically did what she wanted to do, Owen said Thursday.

Wife killed accidentally

DEVINE - A chiropractor in this community near San Antonio told police he accidentally shot his wife while cleaning his shotgun.

Police found the body of Sharon English, 47, Thursday afternoon on the couple's bed.

Investigators found the shotgun near the woman's

She had been shot once in the head, officials said. Police also found gun-cleaning equipment in the bedroom, said Devine Police Chief John De La Cruz. Dr. Jolyn English is a local chiropractor with offices in San Antonio and Devine. An autopsy is sheduled for today.

Robber holds up church

HOUSTON — Houston police today were looking for a man who used a machine gun as a weapon to force members of a church choir to surrender their money and jewelry. "You don't expect to come out of your office and find something like this happening," the Rev. Timothy Quill, pastor of the Lord of Joy Luthern

Church, said after the holdup Thursday night. Eleven members of the choir were practicing in the church at the time of the 8:30 p.m. robbery. The gunman made his getaway in a car taken from one of the church members. The gunman, wearing a bandanna over his face. ordered the pastor and choir members into a bathroom and fled. Quill said he called police about five minutes later. No one was hurt.

Police said the exact amount of money and jewelry taken was not immediately known although they termed it substantial.

Resignation submitted

AUSTIN - Peggy Rosson, head of the state Public Utility Commission, is considering resigning from the chairman's post.

"I submitted my resignation as chair of the Public Utility Commission to Commissioners Dennis Thomas and Jo Campbell on Sept. 25," Ms. Rosson said in a statement issued Thursday.

"Gov. Mark White was advised of my decision the same day. Commissioner Thomas and Gov. White have both asked that I reconsider my decision and remain in office. At the present time, I am still chair of the commission," she added.

Ms. Rosson, of El Paso, said there is "a possibility" that the commissioners can agree on policy and staffing questions "which will allow me to continue

C-City (0-3-1) at Coahoma (0-4)

This promises to be perhaps the best game on the circuit tonight. What we have here is two teams fighting for survival. It will be a long season for the loser. For the winner, it will be a chance to get back into the District 5-3A race.

Both coach Tom Ramsey of Colorado City and Coahoma's Billy Kidd will pull out all stops in this one. Usually this game is a defensive struggle, but this year it will be different.

It will feature two offenses that will mix it up to keep the opposing defense off balance. There's going to be some offensive fireworks in

The Colorado City quarterback combo of Ismel Silva and Carv Ritchey will find receiver Michael Swann and tight end Reggie Gardner. Running backs Terry Jackson, Beau Rees and Jerry Hulume will run hard all night long.

Led by hard running fullback Dee Jon Douglass, the Coahoma running attack will be better than usual. Tailback Craig Wallace will also have one of his better outings.

Then there's Coahoma's one-two passing punch of quarterback James White to tight end Jimmy King. Last week Wylie shut them out. This week they'll make up for it.

This is going to be a doozy. Maybe flipping a coin would serve just as well for picking this one.

It'll by the Wolves by a claw mark. Colorado City 31, Coahoma 29

Forsan (4-0) at Iraan (3-1)

This one will be a barn-burner also. It will be the first time all season the mighty Forsan Buffaloes will go into a games as the underdog. Yes, that's right. The Iraan Braves are a one-point

But the Buffaloes are on a roll now. The class AA school's last two games have resulted in impressive wins over AAA schools Coahoma Forsan's balanced running and passing attack is alive and kicking. Brant Nichols will hook up with his stable of fine receivers, and Wayne Wright and John Roman will find daylight to run.

The defense will get a stern test. Iraan's super running back Chewy Ulate will score twice, but will find the yards hard to come by Led by linebacker Shane Clanton, the Buffalo defense will pass the test.

Forsan 20, Iraan 14

Crane (1-3) at Stanton (4-0)

Judging by the records this one shouldn't be close, but it will be. The undefeated Stanton Buffaloes will have to play hard to win. It is perhaps their toughest test. The Buffaloes' defense will have to be on its toes in order to stop the Crane running attack of Gerald Mitchell and Cliff Wilson:

Derek Sorley and Company will go against an offense just as quick as they are. The Buffaloes will give up a couple of big plays, but that's

Meanwhile, Stanton's potent Wishbone will keep it in the game. Skip Hopkins, Greg Barnhill and Sorley will have the Crane defense

The home crowd will play a big factor in this one. Stanton will pull it out with a final quarter scoring drive.

Stanton 22, Crane 20

Borden County (2-1) at Sands (3-1)

Sands beat Borden County 41-26 earlier in the season in a nondistrict clash at Gail. However, Sands passed for a long touchdown with four seconds remaining in the game, so 35-26 might be more like

Coyote coach Joe Bond felt like Sands' mentor John Blair was playing dirty pool when he threw the ball at the end of the game, and Bond has been reminding his players this week about the indignity of the Blair should have realized he would just be putting fuel in the Covotes tank by running up the score. This meeting, by the way, will count in the district standings.

The Coyotes will be mad and fired up, but will they be able to stop Sands' superman, Jay Fryar? Fryar averages 203 rushing yards, almost two touchdowns, and 100 passing yards and almost two touchdown passes a game. Whew!

The Coyotes have their hands full. But Blair pulled a no-no earlier. and he'll regret it. It'll be Borden County, with room to spare, on a last second touchdown pass.

Borden County 41, Sands 26

Midland Christian (1-3) at Grady (0-4)

Midland Christian whipped the young Wildcats 7-1 in an August scrimmage, so they have to be the clear pick. Coach Mike Mathis' squad really is, for all practical purposes, a junior varsity or

They're little and young, but they're also growing and improving. A few years down the road and these Wildcats will be grizzly veterans pouncing on their just due. But not this year, as the improving Grady Wildcats surely realize themselves. They march on to the field Friday night after Friday night, each time knowing they don't have a chance; the point is, they play their hearts out and never say die.

Tonight, they'll get beat again. In a year or two, if they don't get discouraged, they could well become the most feared beast in West Texas six-man football.

Midland Christian 49, Grady 33

Menard (3-1) at Garden City (0-4)

The young Bearkats are winless so far and things don't look to get better this week. Coach Tony Stricklin will be doing some experimenting to try and find the right combinations, but it may take some time. Menard looks to be one of the strongest teams in District 6-A this year, and they get the nod.

Menard 18, Garden City 12

Wellman (4-0) at Klondike (2-2)

The Cougars have been beset with injuries and a virus of late, but should be in full force against Wellman tonight.

Unfortunately, that won't be enough against a Wellman team that has looked awesome in the early going. Wellman stomped Patton Springs 55-7 last week in a game stopped by the 45-point rule. Overall, Wellman has outscored their opponents 207 to 65. The Klondike Cougars will need more than a good night's sleep and a balanced lunch to get ready for Wellman. It may be a long night for the Cougars. Still, that's better than a short night in six-man.

Astros set win record

By The Associated Press Mets made some major league

Houston Astros came pretty close. In fact the Astros set a team record for wins in a single season. The win was their 93rd of the season.

Both pitchers had memorable days Thursday. Gooden beat the Montreal Expos 8-2 and became the first pitcher in history to record 200 strikeouts in each of his first three seasons. Scott, meanwhile, zeroed in on his second straight nohitter, but lost it in the seventh inning of a 2-1, 10-inning win over the San Francisco Giants.

"It could have been worse — we could have lost," Scott said after a leadoff double by Will Clark in the seventh inning spoiled his no-

Scott had pitched a no-hitter against the Giants on Sept. 25 in a National League West-clinching victory in Houston.

Scott had a perfect game going against the Giants for 5 1-3 innings Thursday before walking Jose Uribe. After Clark ended Scott's no-hit bid with a leadoff double in the seventh inning, he scored on Candy Maldonado's double to give the Giants a 1-0 lead.

Scott left after seven innings, but finished with eight strikeouts and a season total of 306, making him only the fourth National League pitcher to surpass 300 strikeouts in a

The Astros entered the ninth trailing 1-0 and had just two hits, but tied the game on a two-out wild pitch by the Giants' Scott Garrelts. Doran then connected for sixth homer off reliever Jeff Robinson, 6-3, in the 10th.

Matt Keough, 5-4, who worked out of a ninth-inning jam, was the winner and Dave Smith worked the 10th for his 33rd save.

Scott was attempting to become only the second pitcher in major-league history to throw consecutive Dwight Gooden of the New York no-hitters. Cincinnati's Johnny Vander Meer threw consecutive history, while Mike Scott of the no-hitters against the Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers June 11 and June 15, 1939

Mets 8, Expos 2 Gooden pitched a four-hitter over eight innings as the Mets, with Gary Carter and Darryl Strawberry hitting homers, beat Montreal for their record-tying 53rd road victory.

Before giving way to Rick Anderson in the ninth, Gooden, 17-6, struck out seven Expos and finished the night with exactly 200 strikeouts for the season.

With the victory, the Mets tied the National League record for most road wins, 53, set twice by the Cincinnati Reds, in 1972 and 1976.

Bob Kipper, 6-8, pitched a fourhitter over eight innings to spoil St. Louis' home finale. The Cardinals, who started the year as defending National League champions, finished with a 42-39 home record.

Loser Tim Conroy, 5-11, surrendered Tony Pena's one-out single before Bream hit his 16th homer of the year in Pittsburgh's second inning. Morrison had a sacrifice fly in the third inning and a two-run homer in the fifth, his 23rd of the year.

Reds 6. Braves 4 A two-run homer by Kal Daniels in the 13th inning lifted Cincinnati over Atlanta in the Braves' home

After the Reds rallied for four runs that tied the score in the ninth, and failed to cash in on a basesloaded opportunity in the 12th, Sal Butera got them started in the 13th with a one-out walk. One out later, Daniels connected for his sixth pitcher, gained the victory.

ATLANTA (AP) — Former National Basketball Association star John Drew was arrested at his Atlanta home and charged with selling cocaine to an undercover Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent.

Drew, who played for the Atlanta Hawks and the Utah Jazz before being banned from the NBA for violating the league's drug policy, was being held without bond at the Fulton County Jail. COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Jim Thorpe and Lon Hinkle each shot 5-under-par 65s to share the firstround lead by one stroke in the $350,000 Southern Open golf tournament, in which almost half the field matched or bettered par.

The 37-year-old Thorpe, winless this season after capturing the only two tournaments of his 8-year career in 1985, played near-flawless golf over the par-70, 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club course until his last hole when he made his only bogey.

Hinkle, who hasn't won a tournament since 1979, also had six birdies and one bogey.

White injured in practice

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White was injured during practice Thursday and is questionable for Sunday's game against the Denver Broncos, the Cowboys said

White suffered a strained right hip flexor — an injury in the area of the hip muscles, said spokesman Doug Todd. "He's listed as questionable for Sunday's game, which means he has a 50-50 chance of playing," Todd said. "He'll rest, then we'll re-evaluate Saturday." Todd said it is unclear how the 6-foot-3, 196-pound White was hurt. "Nobody tackled him or anything. Either he tripped or somebody bumped into him, Todd said. Running back Tony Dorsett did not practice Thursday, except in functional running drills, Todd said. He is improved, and a sprained knee would be reevaluated Friday, Todd said.

Running back Robert Lavette, listed as questionable with a sprained ankle, practiced and was upgraded to probable for Sunday in Denver.

Nets sign Woolridge

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Nets have picked up a high-scoring small forward, and a hefty payroll increase, in acquiring Orlando Woolridge from the Chicago Bulls.

The Bulls on Thursday sent the free agent forward, Chicago's leading scorer last season, to the Nets for several high draft choices.

The Nets signed the fiveyear NBA veteran to an offer sheet after the Bulls gave up the right to first refusal in exchange for a first-round draft choice in 1987 and secondround picks in 1988 and 1990.

Woolridge's five-year contract is worth a reported $4.5 million. That would make his annual pay the same as what the Nets' highest-paid player, power forward Buck Williams, received last year - $900,000. The 26-year-old Woolridge, who earned about $300,000 last ference that he was pleased to be joining the Nets for two reasons. He said Chicago was not paying him what he was worth and that he felt he could add a needed "spark" to a year as a Bull, told a news con-contender. "My No. 1 concern was a winning cause,'' said Woolridge. "I always thought this team had a lot of talent, but felt they were one or two players away. My goal is to fit in one of the spots missing." Woolridge said he does not leave Chicago with any animosity, although he was disturbed at troubles he had with the management there last season when he said he injured his wrist and team doctors disagreed. Over management objections. Woolridge sat out two mid-season games. The 6-foot-9 player said, 'For five years, we had had talented ball clubs but we didn't get the wins we wanted

Then there was the money. "In looking at what the other guys (playing small forward) were making, I felt I wasn't paid what I should have been paid. When you're scoring 20, 30 points night in night out, I felt I should be getting paid what they were," he

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCT. 4, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is the best time to accomplish whatever is of importance to you. Put your best efforts into your creative ideas and maintain your poise. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you change your ways with outside partners early, they can be of real help to you, but don't argue.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to have more harmony at your job. Avoid a newcomer who likes to argue too much GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) There could suddenly be some strange situation this morning, so be on the alert. Don't lose your temper. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Handle vital affairs. Not the right time to invite fastidious friends in. Postpone this for later. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug 21) Do that shopping you have in mind, especially for wnatever is artistic or very fine. Be wise and drive carefully. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do not make any repairs to your property or later you may have to do them again. Plan them more carefully. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to change old friends for the new, but reconsider this carefully. At least SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan what to do to rid yourself of some restriction. Your mate may be upset but don't let this bother you. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you made plans to do something today, get an early start on it or later it could be negated. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take care not to do anything that spoils the fine reputation you have been carefully building. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get some new plan to work that is appealing to you and then decide what revisions have to be made. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Rid yourself of obligations that are pressing and later you can do what appeals IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be most happy and successful, so give a fine education and allow many advantages. Test the ability to handle the challenges and be successful with them. An interesting life here with many experiences encountered during the lifetime.
