Slayer prefers lifetime in prison

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A young man opted to spend the rest of his life in the state penitentiary rather than risking his life contending on a jury or a judge's decision regarding the May capital murder of Ara Erline Bohannon.

Andy Guzman, 20, 1501 Stadium Ave., pleaded guilty Monday afternoon in 118th District Court to capital murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment by District Judge James Gregg.

According to the present state penal code, Guzman is not afforded the right to appeal his case.

A capital murder charge carries the penalties of either death by injection or life imprisonment, according to the code.

Assistant District Attorney Robert Morris said Monday afternoon last week's jury trial concerning Ricky Ornelas, who was sentenced to 37 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of Disidoro Canales, may have been a determining factor in Guzman's decision. "I think the verdict in the Ornelas trial may have influenced him to believe that people here are not going to tolerate murder and will impose substantial penalties," Morris said.

Guzman signed a sworn statement saying he committed the offense with which he had been charged, Morris said.

A suspected accomplice in the 60-year-old Bohannon's death is also charged with capital murder and is presently detained in county jail.

Police arrested Joseph Gilbert Garcia, 18, 510 Donley St., on May 24 in connection with the slaying.

Garcia testified during Ornelas' trial that he sniffed acrylic paint fumes and drank beer with Ornelas and Canales on April 10 hours before a party at 408 S. Benton St. He was also present at the party when Ornelas fatally shot Garcia's uncle.

Garcia was arrested by Big Spring police on May 24 and charged with capital murder, burglary of a habitation and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Morris declined to elaborate on Garcia's charge because the case is still pending. Should Garcia stand trial, he said, Guzman would likely be subpoenaed to testify.

Police were notified on May 23 by concerned neighbors of Bohannon.

They found her bound and gagged in her ransacked home and determined that she had been strangled to death with a piece of clothing.

Her car was also stolen after the assault.

Morris said both Garcia and Guzman were charged with capital murder because law enforcement officials determined after examining the evidence that Bohannon's murder was "intentionally committed" and she "was sexually assaulted."

"He (Guzman) admitted it," Morris said about the sexual assault.

Budget crisis in Forsan

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

FORSAN — Several 1986-87 budget items will be reconsidered as a result of Superintendent J.F. Poyner's Monday warning that Forsan ISD will collect from 42 to 58% less in oil revenues in 1987 than in 1986.

"That translates real easy into one figure — if you have the same program next year, you would have to double the tax rate. We should start looking at it I think now, to save dollars in this budget for next year," Poyner said.

He also suggested there may be changes from the state on mandated education programs as a result of the finance difficulties.

Poyner referred the Board to a letter from Capitol Appraisal Group, Inc., projecting Forsan ISD 1987 values would range from $140 to $190 million, based on oil prices ranging from $15 to $18 per barrel. Poyner said the 1986 value was $341 million.

He believes the Board will have to cut the budget, raise taxes and use some of the district's $1.7 million reserve fund in the next two years. He said the Board had a reserve fund "for exactly this scenario."

Among the list of possibilities for cuts Poyner presented were: refinancing of bonds; delay purchase of a bus; elimination of some vehicles, the gifted program, cheerleader and twirler camps, the non-toll telephone line between Forsan and Big Spring, and fees and travel for teacher workshops.

Poyner stressed the cuts were only for consideration — adding, however, that the list would be longer next year.

Board Chairman Jim Alexander suggested the Board have workshops to make further cuts in the budget. Poyner said Board meetings would be short for the next several months, and he recommended working on the budget during the meetings.

Alexander said that any dollars saved this year could be used next year.

"I would rather trim where we can because next year, if this thing becomes a reality, we'll have to do

Jones Valley flood water still rising

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

After barely drying out from September's soaking, many Jones Valley businesses and residents again face a slow drenching as cold water continued to rise this morning.

Red Cross volunteer Louise Nuckolls said this morning the agency has again stationed itself at the Westside Community Center to provide relief for people who must abandon their homes. Nuckolls said the community center has been extremely helpful to the Red Cross. The relief station can be reached by calling 267-6680.

She said two people have asked for assistance this morning. So far, five or six homes seem flooded by Beals Creek, which has swelled with water coming from the spillway at Natural Dam Lake.

Colorado River Municipal Water District officials who have been monitoring the spillway were unavailable for comment this morning.

Howard Walker, operator of the Harley Davidson Shop, 908 W.

Third St., said water has entered his maintenance area and has spilled into his home, located behind the shop.

Walker, whose business was inundated with flood waters in September, said West Third Street from San Jacinto to San Antonio streets is under water with flooding creeping towards Fourth Street.

Large portions of Second and First streets, which run parallel to the creek also are swamped, as are San Jacinto, San Antonio and Galveston streets north of Third Street. Water had not closed the intersection of Second and Birdwell streets this morning, but portions of the Union-Pacific Railroad yard were under water.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton confirmed this morning that water was still rising, although at a somewhat slower rate from this weekend. Dorton could not say, however, when the flooding would peak.

People who want more information about the flooding can call City Hall at 263-8311, or 263-7311 after 5 p.m.

LARRY DON SHAW
... spent more money

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Republican John R. "Rich" Anderson has received more campaign contributions than state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, during the past three months of their battle for the Texas House District 69 seat.

But Shaw has managed to spend more than his opponent. Anderson has received $24,271 and spent $17,801 from May 28 through Sept. 25, according to campaign finance reports filed with the Secretary of State's office.

During the same period, Shaw received $19,469 and spent $21,320. Much of Anderson's recent campaign has been bankrolled through loans to himself, and Republican Party committee contributions. He received $2,500 from the Texas Republican Campaign Committee and $1,500 from the Associated Republicans of Texas.

Anderson, of Gail, took out loans totaling $2,126 for the campaign. Shaw's list of contributors in his latest report include $13,350 worth of political action committee contributions. These committees (PACs) represent special interest groups.

He received $3,000 from trial lawyers, $1,500 from auto dealers, $1,000 from the AFL-CIO, and $1,000 from dentists. He also received $1,000 from the House and Senate Democratic Executive Committee.

In addition, Shaw received $750 from bankers, $500 from beer wholesalers and $500 each from the Houston law firm of Vinson and Elkins, the University of Texas at the Permian Basin PAC and communications workers.

Shaw received $400 from rural electric cooperatives and $300 each from independent bankers and restaurant owners. He received $250 each from retailers, builders, firefighters and chiropractors.

Anderson's PAC money includes: Texas Power & Light, $500; oilman Perry Bass, $300; engineers, $250; Dow Chemical, $200; and farmers, $150.

Anderson has received $2,500 from F. Marie Hall, and $1,000 each from Mrs. Horace Garrett and G.C. Broughton Jr., all of Big Spring. He also received $1,000 contributions from W. Bert Dennis of Gail and Murphy H. Baxter of Houston.

Arms control remains within reach

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says an unprecedented arms control breakthrough with the Soviet Union is still within reach following the Iceland summit, despite Moscow's demand that he abandon his "Star Wars" program as the price for an agreement.

In a nationally broadcast speech Monday night, Reagan said, "We are closer than ever before to agreements that could lead to a safer world without nuclear weapons."

Reagan defiantly rejected suggestions that the weekend summit in Reykjavik was a failure because a potential arms agreement evaporated in the face of Soviet demands that he drop plans to test space weapons outside the laboratory.

He also held out hope that a formal summit meeting in the United States with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev will still be held even though the two leaders were unable to set a date during the Reykjavik meeting.

While saying that Gorbachev gave no indication on whether or when he plans such a visit, Reagan said "our invitation still stands and we continue to believe additional meetings will be useful."

His tone contrasted with that of White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan, who said Sunday after the Reykjavik meeting ended: "There will not be another summit in the near future that I can see at this time."

In Brussels on Monday, Secretary of State George Shultz told the NATO allies he would try to take up missile reduction proposals where they stood at the end of the summit in Reykjavik.

Whether the Soviets will negotiate on that basis remains to be seen, Shultz said.

Shultz will travel to Vienna next month to an international conference that Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze may attend, and a U.S. official said Monday night the two might resume their discussions there.

In his address from the Oval Office, Reagan seemed eager to rebut suggestions by his critics that he had squandered a rare opportunity for genuine arms control by refusing to scuttle his Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as "Star Wars."

"Unlike the past," Reagan said, "we are dealing now from a position of strength, and for that reason we have it within our grasp to move speedily with the Soviets toward even more breakthroughs."

"Our ideas are out there on the table," he said. "They won't go away. We are ready to pick up where we left off. ... There is reason, good reason, for hope."

Doctor reports break-in

Dr. Bruce Cox, 549 Hillside Drive, told police Monday morning that someone broke into his office at 205 W. 15th St. between 12 a.m. and 6:44 a.m. Monday. Cox reported $100 damage to a window. It was unknown at the time of the complaint if anything was stolen.

Kathrine McDaniel, 113 E. 16th St., told police Monday morning that someone stole a .52 pistol and a $12 box of bullets from her residence between 7:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Monday.

Ernie Morgan, owner of Ernie's Fina, 2005 S. Gregg St., told police Monday morning that someone stole a $100 hydraulic jack from the business between 7 p.m. Saturday and 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Marcelino Rangel Jr., 29, 1309 Robin St., was arrested on a DPS traffic warrant Monday.

Rafael Hernandez, 30, of Wichita Falls was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication, disorderly conduct and failure to appear warrants early this morning.

Rear pickup tires stolen

Donald Conway of P.O. Box 1225 told Howard County sheriff's deputies Monday night someone entered the yard of Tri-Texas Construction Company sometime between Friday and Monday and stole the rear tires from a Chevrolet pickup.

Midland County sheriff's deputies arrested Orlando Manuel Jackson, 22, of Midland, Monday morning on a Howard County driving while intoxicated revocation of probation warrant.

He was released on $1,000 bond.

Police transferred Michael Warren Lockhart, 30, of Gail Route Box 385, to county jail Monday morning after he was arrested for a DWI revocation of probation warrant and outstanding fines he owes the county. He remained in county jail this morning.

Texas Tech to laud Lamesa economist

LAMESA — Carson Donnell Echols of Lamesa, Robert L. Pflugger of San Angelo and Levon L. Ray of Lubbock have been named Distinguished Agriculture Alumni of the Texas Tech University College of Agricultural Sciences.

The three will be honored during a luncheon Oct. 17 in the University Center, the University announced in a release. Tickets must be reserved by Oct. 14.

The Distinguished Agriculture Alumni award recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions to society and whose accomplishments and careers have brought distinctive credit to the College of Agricultural Sciences and to the agricultural profession as a whole, according to agricultural sciences Dean Sam E. Curl.

Echols is a 1959 graduate with a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics. He is president and owner of Patricia E-Bar Gin Inc., E-Bar Cattle Co. Inc. and E&E Farm Inc.

Echols received the Gerald Thomas Outstanding Agriculturalist Award from the College of Agricultural Sciences in 1971. He was named Dawson County Cotton Growers "Mr. Cotton" in 1975 and Texas County Agricultural Agents' Association Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture in 1981.

something drastic," Alexander said. He added that the Board had already made extensive cuts to arrive at the present budget, and said the Board wouldn't cut much more this year.

Alexander asked Poyner if he thought the state would "reconsider everything they've put on everybody," referring to boosted education programs. Alexander also asked Poyner for an assessment of the cost of the extracurricular athletics program.

Poyner said he expected the state to relax restrictions. Noting that it is difficult to determine the cost of extracurricular sports because coaches also teach classes, he said he would try to provide a figure.

Board member Rip Patterson stressed the need to "cut things, before cutting people," conceding, however, that in the future the Board may have to cut people. In other business, the Board voted unanimously:
• Not to order a new school bus.
• To pay $100 to join the Texas Association of School Board Legal Defense Fund and Personnel Services. The TASB selects several issues each year which affect school boards and uses the money for legal expenses.

Commissioners contract with Taylor county

The county will continue to house its juvenile detainees in the Taylor County Juvenile Justice Center in Abilene, commissioners decided Monday afternoon.

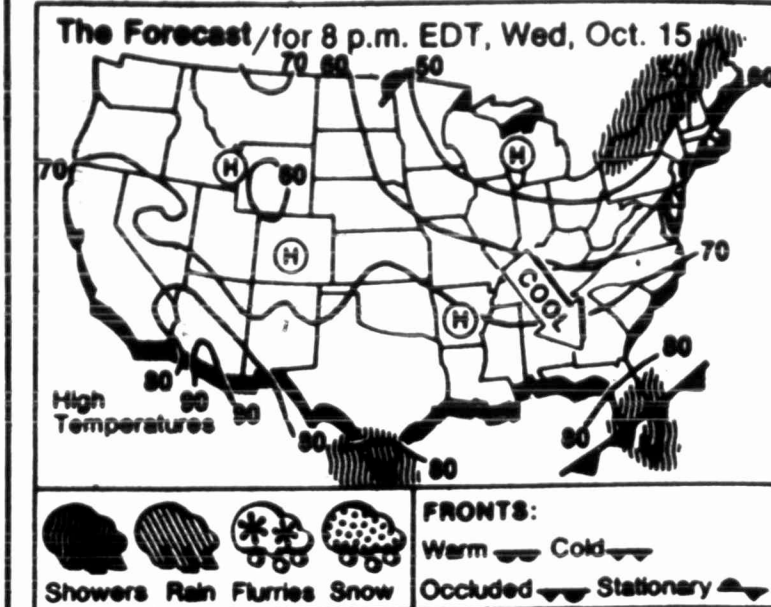

They unanimously approved a motion to contract with the justice center through 1987. The county will pay $60 per day for each of its inmates — an increase of $10.

Commissioners were also informed by county treasurer Bonnie Franklin that the county had a total balance of $3,354,409.92 at the end of September.

SSC project task force to be named

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — A task force to look for a site for the multi-million dollar super conductor that Texas hopes to get will be named soon, says a spokesman for Gov. Mark White.

Amarillo attorney Jerome Johnson was named to the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission on June 25.

Dwayne Holman, White's appointments secretary, said Monday the other eight will be named within the next 10 days.

"The governor has information on about 14 people on his desk, and he will pick the eight from them," Holman said Monday.

On Monday, former Gov. Bill Clements, Republican candidate for governor, said White's handling of appointments to the commission was one of several "wrong signals" White has sent to the Texas business community.

Guilty plea leads to 10-year term

A 29-year-old man was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary after he pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to burglarizing Johnny Green's Barbecue, 710 N. Lamesa Hwy., on Sept. 6.

Daniel Marquez of 610 N.W. Eighth St., was indicted with the charge by a Howard County grand jury and entered his plea before Judge James Gregg in 118th District Court.

Presenting application Wednesday

Pre-application for a new airport runway will be presented by Airport Superintendent Hal Boyd and Councilman Harold Hall to the Permain Regional Planning Commission in Midland Wednesday.

Boyd said Monday the city is seeking a $2.07 million federal grant for building proposed runway 6-24, which would be 100 feet wide and 4,800 feet long, he said.

Under terms of the grant request, the city would be required to contribute 10 percent of the total, or almost $207,000. The federal government would chip in a little more than $1.86 million, he said.

The airport recently began work on renovating a former taxiway to serve as cross-wind runway 7-25. Should the grant proposal be approved, runway 7-25 would revert to taxiway status, Boyd said earlier this year.

When used as Webb Airforce Base, a cross-wind runway was not needed for huge military aircraft. As a result, McMahon-Wrinkle Airport had been without such a runway needed for smaller, lighter craft, Boyd said.

John T. Wilson of Gail, Roger Hall of Jasper, Joe D. Copeland of

Gail, Joel S. Dennis of Gail and R.T. McDaniel of Monahans each gave $100.

Shaw received $100 each from P.W. Malone, Clint and Mary Holloman, and W.H. Smith, all of Big Spring, and $500 from Russell T. Kelley of Austin.

He also received $500 from the Austin law firm of Calame, Linebarger and Graham.

Shaw spent about $8,200 on contracts and about $500 on advertising.

Anderson spent about $10,600 on consultant's fees and $2,389 on political ads and $929 in travel.

Overall, both candidates are matching each other dollar for dollar in contributions, while Shaw has maintained the lead in expenses. Since Jan. 16, Anderson has reported collecting $41,222, while spending $23,715. Collecting funds since July, 1985, Shaw has reported receiving $40,275, while spending $36,624.

The candidates must submit another campaign financial statement seven days before the Nov. 4 election.

District 69 includes Borden, Crane, Culberson, Glasscock, Howard, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Reagan, Reeves, Upton, Ward and Winkler Counties.

Burkhart injured in I-20 wreck

A 41-year-old Big Spring man was injured Monday afternoon in a two-vehicle collision on the south service road of Interstate-20.

Kenneth Ray Burkhart, 402 Hillside Drive, was treated for injuries at Scenic Mountain Medical Center and released, after his pickup collided with a car driven by Vernon Matthew Webb, 78, Route 1 Box 769.

According to the police accident report, Webb was traveling east and leaving I-20 at the 181A exit. Meanwhile, Burkhart was approaching the junction of the I-20 exit and the south service road from the west.

The report indicated that Burkhart disregarded the yield sign where the exit and service road meet and his truck slammed into the car driven by Webb.

Burkhart was issued a citation for failing to yield the right-of-way, according to the report.

Webb, who was uninjured, was wearing a seatbelt and Burkhart was not, the report stated.

"People don't know when they're gone, when they used water, when their meter was read..." Hall said. "I think they used that water, personally."

On adjusting bills, he said: "If you ever do it once, they're going to be on us from now on." McEwen, Rutherford and Coun-

On the Homestead Inn tax question, Council consented to hire an attorney to advise the best way to collect more than $15,000 in hotel/motel occupancy taxes owed by former motel owner Vern Johnson, who's now in Florida. A new corporation called People Loving People recently took possession of the building and a tax dispute over who's liable for the taxes has unfolded.

On the matter of ambulance service, Council decided to meet with County Commissioners to reach agreement on whether to seek bids or negotiate with Lee Ambulance, which now serves the city and county.

Two transients killed

LOS ANGELES — Detectives investigating nine street killings were called in Monday after the bodies of two men, possibly transients, were found in different areas of the city.

It was not immediately clear whether the latest victims would be listed as the 10th and 11th victims of a serial killer who shoots his male victims on Los Angeles area streets in early-morning hours.

Morton said detectives probing the series of transient gunshot murders were summoned, but they won't know whether this man was shot to death until after the autopsy.

"We've asked them to review the scene," Morton said, and they will decide later whether to take the case.

Radioactive wreck OK

TWIN FALLS, Idaho — Twenty wooden boxes carrying slightly radioactive uranium rods were removed from the Snake River after a truck plunged off a bridge en route to the federal government's Hanford nuclear reservation.

No radiation was released, said federal Department of Energy spokesman Peter Mygatt.

A radiation team from the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory helped a local wrecking company recover the cargo from the river Monday. Early reports that the cargo included highly radioactive fuel rods or waste were erroneous, officials said.

B&O to be eliminated

BALTIMORE — The historic Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the nation's oldest, is being eliminated as a separate business and consolidated into its parent company's transportation division, the company announced.

CSX Corp. said Monday it will also consolidate the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway into the division, CSX Transportation, as part of an overall restructuring of the company.

The consolidation means the company will surrender the B&O Railroad charter, which has been in existence since 1827. The decision will cost CSX an estimated $3 million a year through loss of partial state and city tax exemptions, the company said, but it will save operating costs.

Entertainers awarded

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Reba McEntire, who gave up rodeo work to become a singer, capped her career by winning two top honors at the 20th annual Country Music Association awards show.

The 31-year-old performer, a former barrel racer, was voted entertainer of the year and top female vocalist Monday night at the nationally televised ceremony.

Her honor as top vocalist was her third straight, matching the record set by Tammy Wynette in the late 1960s.

Balladeer George Strait, a former foreman of a 1,000-head cattle ranch, was voted male vocalist of the year for the second straight year.

Holocaust survivor given award

NEW YORK (AP) — Writer Elie Wiesel, named today as winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, said the award will give him a greater forum for his life's work — "the cause of memory, the cause of remembrance" of the Holocaust.

Wiesel, a 58-year-old death camp survivor who has written extensively about his experiences during World War II, the condition of Soviet Jews and other human rights issues, said he felt "overwhelming gratitude, gratitude to the committee chairman and the Norwegian people."

"After all, I have devoted my life to a certain cause, the cause of memory, the cause of remembrance and now I feel that maybe I will have a better opportunity to say the same words — I'm not going to change now — for more people."

"If cruelties do not change me, I do not think honors will," he later said on the "CBS Morning News."

Wiesel, born Sept. 30, 1928, in Romania, has been called the spiritual archivist of the Holocaust. He is a professor at Boston University and the author of some 20 novels and books of essays, many on the Holocaust.

The citation from the Norwegian Nobel Committee described him as "one of the most important spiritual leaders and guides in an age when violence, repression and racism continue to characterize the world." The announcement came the day after Yom Kippur, the solemn Jewish day of atonement.

In an interview in his Manhattan apartment, Wiesel said the honor made him think about the young and the legacy he leaves them in his research.

"I feel very strange toward young people because I almost feel responsible for them, responsible because we have given them a world which they have not created, a world that we have destroyed. And now we ask them to build it again."

What the world must do now "is give them (the young) the tools, and the tools are words, written or spoken; the tools are examples, found here and there, among so many nations and so many peoples."

"Those who saved Jews during the war, for instance, are great examples, those who fight today against apartheid in South Africa are great examples. And we must remember those examples," he said.

Wiesel said he hoped his award would improve awareness of the plight of Soviet Jews.

"I hope that now more people will know that there are thousands and thousands and thousands of Jews in Russia who want to leave and join their families, and I hope that as a result of that, the Soviet government will prove that it can adopt a human attitude, a humanitarian attitude toward these people and allow them to go," Wiesel said.

Wiesel said he planned to go to the Soviet Union next week, and he hoped the Nobel would be his ticket for a meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. At that meeting, he said, he would seek freedom for Soviet Jews and others, including dissident Andrei Sakharov, also a Nobel Peace Prize winner.

"I want Sakharov to be relieved of his tragedy. He is not Jewish, but he is my brother," Wiesel told CBS.

Wiesel achieved one of the greatest honors the United States can bestow upon a civilian when on April 19, 1985, President Reagan presented him with the Congressional Gold Medal of Achievement in recognition of his leadership as chairman of the United States Holocaust Memorial Council, his work in advancing human rights and his contributions to literature.

OPEC far from accord

GENEVA — Saudi Arabia, OPEC's biggest power broker, has demanded the cartel work out a long-term agreement on sharing its oil production.

Cartel officials said after Monday's deliberations, the eighth day of meetings in the current conference, that they were far from final agreement on a new oil production policy aimed at re-establishing OPEC's oil market clout.

The Saudis joined their Arabian Peninsula ally Kuwait in rejecting a proposed stopgap accord, saying they deserved a bigger share of OPEC's total output.

976 killed in quake

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — President Jose Napoleon Duarte announced Monday that 976 people had been killed in Friday's strong earthquake, and a sharp aftershock, one of more than 1,000, rocked the Salvadoran capital.

Duarte gave the new death toll on nationwide television. He said 8,176 people had been injured in the quake, and that almost 31,000 families were homeless.

The president spoke hours after a strong aftershock hit San Salvador. It rattled the city for three seconds at 4:29 p.m. (6:29 p.m. EDT), but there were no reports of additional damage.

Job swap threatened

JERUSALEM — Caretaker Prime Minister Shimon Peres and Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir today arranged to meet in an attempt to defuse a dispute over political appointees that threatens their planned job swap.

The transfer of power from Peres to Shamir was planned for today, but was delayed by squabbling between their two rival political parties, Peres' left-leaning Labor Party and Shamir's right-wing Likud bloc. A secretary in Shamir's office announced this evening's meeting between the two men.

Under a power-sharing pact, Shamir is to become head of government and Peres the foreign minister.

Queen visits China

PEKING — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II today met Deng Xiaoping, China's most powerful man. The 82-year-old Deng told her and her husband, Prince Philip, "Thank you for coming to see an old man such as me."

Later, Elizabeth stood on the Great Wall, China's 3,700-mile-long, 2,000-year-old landmark, on the second full day of her historic visit to this nation. It is the first visit by a reigning British monarch to China.

The queen talked earlier in the day with Communist Party General Secretary Hu Yaobang and arranged to meet Premier Zhao Ziyang. Deng, Hu and Zhao are the main architects of China's pragmatic, open-door policy which has substantially raised the living standards of this still-poor country in the past seven years.

Columbus event causes turmoil

When Christopher Columbus made his first voyage to America, the world was forever changed. Fortunately for us, nobody asked the world beforehand whether it thought the trip was a good idea.

Spain is preparing a world's fair to commemorate the 500th anniversary of its sponsorship of Columbus's explorations, and in that connection asked the United Nations for a resolution memorializing the event.

That was four years ago and the debate has been raging on ever since.

Iceland complained that any recognition of Columbus would be a slap in Leif Ericson's face.

Ireland claimed that a few of its native saints got here first.

African delegations denounced the whole idea as a glorification of colonialism.

With the start of a new session, the incoming president of the General Assembly, Humayun Rasheed Choudhury of Bangladesh, has finally gavelled the controversy to a close. With a fine sense of the language of diplomacy and the sweet ambiguity of the passive voice, he declared, "America has been discovered." Thank goodness it wasn't put to a vote.

Of most importance is who blinked first?

By ART BUCHWALD

The most important question to be answered about the Daniloff affair is: which side blinked first?

This was what the press asked President Reagan when he announced that the reporter was being released by the Soviets.

The President replied with a stiff upper lip, "They blinked. We didn't give in."

I believe President Reagan. What is distressing is that the President's right-wing supporters do not. They have been trumpeting charges that the United States caved in and gave Moscow a victory.

The question of who blinks first has become more important than arms control as far as the superpowers are concerned. Some people even say that the survival of the human race hangs on it.

Even amongst the country's foremost blinking experts there is disagreement about the eye movement of the leading players.

The White House Blinkmanship expert told me, "Daniloff was not swapped for Zakharov. There is no link between the two men. The Soviets gave up Daniloff because they knew they were wrong, and we gave up Zakharov because he was getting to be a pain in the ear."

I pursued this. "The President says he didn't blink. Is it possible Secretary of State George Shultz blinked in his place?"

"George Shultz doesn't blink without Reagan's approval," the blinkmanship expert said.

"I've seen him blink on television coming out of negotiations with the Soviet foreign minister."

"He was blinking because of the TV lights — not because of his meeting with Shevardnadze. The reason why people think that Shultz blinks is because he always looks as if he's dozing off at his own press briefings."

"Nevertheless, the right wing says because the United States blinked, the Soviets no longer believe we'll use the bomb."

"Well, the right wing is wrong." I decided to find out how the Daniloff release was playing in Moscow. I called the Kremlin collect.

Art Buchwald

"I understand you people blinked in order to get your spy back," I said.

"U.S.S.R. never blinks," the Red expert said. "Is U.S.A. that blinked. We could have held Daniloff for 30 years."

"Yes," I said, "and we could have held Zakharov just as long."

"Who cares? Do you think we would blink with the U.S. over inept Soviet spy?"

"When the deal was made by the Kremlin big shots, were you in the room?"

"Yes, I was there."

"And can you swear to me on your honor as a Communist government flunky that Gorbachev did not blink?"

"He did not blink. He scratched his head, but he did not blink."

The line was cut. The last call I made was to Professor Walter Lowen who holds the chair of Regis Blinkmanship at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

"Professor, you've been studying the swap. Who do you think blinked first?"

"I'm looking at the films now," he said. "They blinked at exactly the same time."

"Why would they do that?"

"So they could both get a free trip to Iceland."

Time for U.N. bureaucracy to bite the spending bullet

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — In a bizarre twist of policy that has outraged Ronald Reagan's most conservative fans, the White House is fighting to persuade Congress to give more money to the United Nations than it wants to.

The Reagan administration has long been at least a rhetorical repository of criticism aimed at the United Nations for its frequent anti-Americanism and its extravagant spending.

So it is particularly discomfiting to hard-line Reagan supporters that the United States actually has been defending the U.N. wastrels against drastic budget cuts proposed by the Soviet Union. The main reason U.S. conservatives detest the United Nations is they believe that it is a Kremlin puppet.

All the partisan budgetary bickering has tended to obscure the incontestable fact that the United Nations is as irresponsible in its spending as in some of its political policies.

The U.N. bureaucracy is dominated by representatives of small nations that contribute only a tiny share of the U.N. budget, the biggest chunk is provided by the United States, so the U.N. bureaucracy has little incentive to trim its costs.

Our associate Lucette Lagnado has interviewed current and former officials of the U.S. mission at the United Nations, and compiled a long list of the organization's most outrageous extravaganzas. Here are a few of them:

- The U.N. Secretariat began life in 1946 with 1,546 employees; today, the total is nearly 13,000, parceled out among a dizzying array of departments, offices and divisions.
- The number of member nations has grown in 40 years, of course. But no part of the U.N. bureaucracy ever seems to die, even if its reason for living has long since vanished.

For example, an entire department is charged with overseeing "decolonization." More than half the world was under colonial rule in 1946, but the world today has only a bare handful of such dependencies. Yet the department remains.

- The United Nations is extraordinarily top-heavy, boasting 28 undersecretaries-general and 29 assistant secretaries-general.
- All of these super-diplomats are handsomely paid, even by the U.N.'s heady standards, and their pensions make retirement truly the Golden Years. An undersecretary-general, for example, gets a lump sum of $350,000 when he totters away from the U.N. trough after 30 years.
- A huge, overlapping structure of informal or ad hoc U.N. bodies has developed over the years, like some incredible bureaucratic monster. At last count, the U.N. had more than 150 committees, commissions, subcommittees, sub-commissions and "working groups" drawing salaries and expenses with new "subsidiary organs" developing almost daily.
- Just as seasoned bureaucrats anywhere, the U.N.'s time-servers are adept at creating mountains of paperwork to justify their jobs. But the United Nations has a built-in cost escalator that other bureaucracies are spared: Documents deemed worthy of printing and distribution to the general membership must be translated into the six official U.N. languages.

One knowledgeable source estimated that, by the time it has been translated and printed, a single page of U.N. wisdom costs $58.

- Bloated as it is, the U.N. bureaucracy still needs outside help to accomplish its job. The result is $8 million a year spent on consulting fees.
- In the gigantic U.N. bureaucracy, duplication is the rule, coordination the exception. Informational and public affairs operations are conducted by at least three departments and one office, with predictable overlapping. No attempt has been made to consolidate these competing mini-empires.

WATCH ON WASTE: Joseph S. Ochounek, who grew up in Blandburg, Pa., wrote in to call the bluff of Rep. Bud Shuster, R-Pa., who said a four-lane, federally financed highway in his district would improve safety in a mountainous area. Nonsense, says Ochounek, the stretch in question is about as mountainous as the gently rolling land between Washington and Baltimore.

"A four-lane highway there is needed as much as one in my backyard," he wrote, adding that if pork is the object, "a more sensible approach would be to buy it on the hoof and distribute it to the nation's needy. My deep freezer could use some, too."

CARTER-REAGAN CONNECTIONS: When ex-President Jimmy Carter needed an architect for his presidential library, he flew to Hawaii to consult hotel developer Chris Hemmeter — a friend of Ronald Reagan's. Carter named Hemmeter and his wife to the library board, and hired a Hemmeter associate, Herb Lawton, to design the library.

On the other hand, Warren M. Christopher is on the Reagan library board and is board chairman of Stanford University, where the Reagan presidential library will go. Christopher was a deputy secretary of state under Carter.

Friendliness makes a lot of difference

By EDDIE CURRAN
 Staff Writer

When John Boy Walton wanted a snack, he waltzed around the mountain to the general store. The Ingalls' kids on "Little House on the Prairie" did the same.

Back then, the man or woman behind the counter and the local farmers had a truly special relationship. The gentle country folk who manned the general stores were friends to their customers.

Conversation and change for your dollar always were part of the bargain, even if it was idle chit chat with Mr. Drucker of "Green Acres." And you just don't find better people than Cora and Isaac, who stood behind John Boy's general store counter.

The general store, however, seems a thing of the past. In their place, we have almost as many supermarkets and convenience stores as there are street corners.

At this juncture, it's time for me to either mourn the past or celebrate the present.

I choose the latter.

I can walk to my convenience store in less time than it takes John Boy to hitch his mule, and I never have to worry about Mrs. Olson or her beastly little kids.

I also can cash checks, and microwave my burrito on the site. Better still, if I'm awake at 3 a.m. for some God forsaken reason, I can cross the street and choose my poison, be it hot dog, nachos or donut.

Although the conveniences are great, my 7-Eleven is special for wholly different reasons. My 7-Eleven is special because of the sweet ladies who work there.

With sleep encrusted eyes, I stumble through the doors in the morning, and instantly Judy, the manager, greets me with an energetic "Good Morning Eddie." My return "Good Morning" are my first words of every day.

If I set something besides an orange juice and a blueberry muffin on her counter, she certainly would comment, but I never do. On the average day I'll see Judy three or four times — as much for her friendly face as for the Hershey's Almond bar.

If Judy's not there, then Doris, Ernie, Sara or Lisa is, and I can count on the same friendly treatment. All make for good company, and seem happy to see me. That's what counts more than convenience.

Granted, the prices are higher, and I wouldn't recommend my 7-Eleven for bulk shopping. But you can't beat it for convenience and cheerful people.

Oh, thank heaven for my 7-Eleven.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Today

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1986. There are 78 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: Four hundred years ago, on Oct. 14, 1586, Mary, Queen of Scots, went on trial in England, charged with conspiring against Queen Elizabeth I. Mary was convicted, and beheaded the following February.

On this date:

- In 1066, Normans under William the Conqueror defeated the English at the Battle of Hastings.
- In 1890, the 34th president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, was born in Denison, Texas.
- In 1912, Theodore Roosevelt, campaigning for the presidency on the Bull Moose ticket, was shot in the chest in Milwaukee. Despite his wound, he continued with a scheduled speech.
- In 1944, during World War II, German field marshal Erwin Rommel committed suicide rather than face trial and execution as a traitor to the Nazi regime.

Servicemen's whereabouts communicated

DEAR READERS: I asked if readers out there had used a secret code to let their loved ones know their whereabouts during World War II. Did I get letters? Read on:

DEAR ABBY: My mother showed me some of the letters she had received from my father while he was in the Marines. They had devised the following scheme to let her know where he was: In addressing each letter, he'd use a different middle initial to spell out his location. His first letter was addressed to Betty G., the second to Betty U., the third to Betty A. and the fourth to Betty M. He was in GUAM!

It took 11 letters to let her know that he had been moved to Guadalcanal.

D.L.S., CHALFANT, PA.

DEAR ABBY: You asked your readers to share their "codes" used during World War II to let their loved ones know where they were. I'm reminded of the following:

A radio personality named Maynard Spease told the following story on WCCO in Minneapolis:

A Minnesota farm boy joined the U.S. navy and left home for the first time. His first letter to his father went something like this:

"Dear Dad: I can't tell you where I am, but yesterday I shot a polar bear."

Dear Abby

A few weeks later the father received another letter from his son saying:

"Dear Dad: I can't tell you where I am, but last night I danced with a hula girl."

The farmer didn't hear from his sailor son for several weeks. Then he received this message:

"Dear Dad: I still can't tell you where I am, but the doctor says I should have danced with the polar bear and shot the hula girl."

E.B. LINDBERG, MINN.

DEAR ABBY: During World War II, I wanted my wife to know that I had moved from Iceland to England (1943), so I simply went into the city of Newquay, Cornwall, bought a postcard with a picture of Newquay, Cornwall on it, addressed it to my wife and mailed it through the British postal system. Not very original or clever, but the funniest part is this: When I asked the little gray-haired lady at the post office, "How much is the postage for a card to the United States?" she replied, "Why, just the same as to the rest of the colonies!"

K.P. CHISHOLM, SUNRIVER, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: I submit the following for your collection of how some people beat the censors during World War II:

One American G.I. was held prisoner in a German prison camp. He wrote his friend the following: "The food here is fine, the living conditions are excellent and all the prisoners are being treated very, very well. Please tell this to all your friends in the Army, your pals in the Navy, and above all, tell it to the Marines!"

His letter passed through the German censor unmarked.

C.Q. SPRINGFIELD, VT.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband (8th Air Force) was shipped out, he wrote, "I can't tell you where we are, but Nick would love it here!"

Our 11-year-old son immediately said, "Dad's in Labrador!" We had a dog — a Labrador named Nick. Incidentally, said son became a career Army officer.

BEE BURNHAM, SAN JOSE

DEAR ABBY: I was 11 years old when my oldest brother, Millard, was shipped overseas on the battleship South Dakota. I learned later that before he left home, our mother had devised a way to learn the whereabouts of her son.

When Millard's first letter arrived, my mother ran to her purse, and pulled out a small map of the world (approximately 6 inches by 6 inches) cut from a national magazine. Opening the letter, which contained several sentences cut out (censored), she placed the left-hand corner of the letter to the left-hand corner of the map, noting a small pinhole placed there by my brother, and announced, "Millard's ship is in the middle of the South Pacific!" (He had an identical map.)

So, throughout the war, we always knew his approximate location.

S.R. IN OKLAHOMA CITY

DEAR ABBY: In World War II, I was sent overseas and wanted my wife to know where I was, so I asked her to let me know the name of the song on the reverse side of Eddie Duchin's theme song. She looked it up and found it to be "April in Paris." She knew I was in France.

HOWARD E. DIEHL, MOMENCE, ILL.

'Tincture of Time' helps painful rib problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you please discuss peristernal chondritis, also called Tietze's syndrome, after, I believe, the German doctor who discovered it? Is surgery done for it? — J.C.

This is a very common cause of chest pain. For reasons that aren't clear, the cartilage (chondro) linking the rib to the breastbone (sternum) becomes inflamed. Although surgery to remove the offending cartilage has been tried, it is hardly ever done today.

The inflammation occurs in places that can make breathing painful. In fact, the pain can even mimic that of heart attack or that from an injury. The pain usually responds to anti-inflammation drugs like aspirin. For stubborn cases, steroid can be injected into the region. And for a great many, the greatest cure of all is a tincture of time, as difficult as that can be. It usually brings its effect in a few months.

Your history is impeccable. Dr. Alexander Tietze, a Breslau physician (1864-1927) first described the condition, probably after many futile searches for the cause of unexplained chest pain in hundreds of his patients over the years.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Does this sound like infected sinuses? I have a nasal discharge and pain around the head (cheekbones). I have been a user of decongestant sprays, but it isn't helping me. How can one tell if the sinuses are infected? — L.K.

Pain and nasal discharge can be symptoms of sinusitis, but I'm sure you're going to have an examination to find out for sure. An X-ray will reveal the telltale signs of infection.

The decongestant spray idea isn't a great one. If you do have an infection, the spray might actually work against normal function of the cilia, the tiny hair-like projections in the nasal cavity. They are responsible for clearing out foreign material, including germs. Also the sprays can dry out the normal nasal discharge and impede its flow.

Other indicators of sinus infection are swelling around the sinus area, and frequently a fetid breath. Get your exam and see the booklet "You can Stop Sinus Trouble" for more facts on this condition. Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I never was bothered with high blood pressure. So I wonder why my doctor seems so concerned with mine. I am six months pregnant (my first). My blood pressure has been good throughout. I wonder if he knows something he's not telling me. — Mrs. K.E.

Every obstetrician is concerned about blood pressure in a patient. Blood pressure in pregnancy initially drops a bit, then gradually rises. In a few women, the rise can get out of control, and this most often happens at about the 24th week. There is no good explanation for it, although it probably has something to do with what's going on in the placenta. It usually drops back to normal after delivery. Many times, the woman is not

'The Sagebrush Art Fest' slated

The Crossroads Fine Arts Association finalized plans for their fall art show at a recent meeting. "The Sagebrush Art Fest," will be Oct. 17-19 at the Big Spring Mall. The show is open to all artists.

Judging the event will be John G. Vinklaret, art instructor at Angelo State University.

Becky Smiley will lead a workshop on pastels each Friday from Oct. 17 through Nov. 21 from 1-3 p.m. Register at Howard College. Price for the workshop is $18.

Tim Haynes invited artists to enter the Twelve Days of Christmas Art Show, sponsored by the Gallery in Midland. He said artists should submit slides of up to twelve works by Nov. 3. Artists will be notified if their artwork is selected to hang in the Gallery and $250 in cash will be given to the winners.

Girl Scouts to have garage sale

Due to the rain last weekend, Senior Girl Scout Troup 36 postponed their garage sale until Oct. 25.

All proceeds will go toward their 1988 trip to the Girl Scout World Centers "Our Chalet" in Switzerland and "Olave House" in England.

Anyone wishing to donate items for the garage sale may bring them to 1606 E. 3rd from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. To have the items picked up, call 263-4992 or 263-8952.

Donations will be appreciated.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

Crossroads Country teams suffered through their worst week of the season Friday night, finishing with a 2-7 mark. The two teams that have been consistent all season, Forsan and Stanton, managed wins. Borden County, Klondike, Garden City, Coahoma, Grady, Sands and Colorado City all lost. Only Forsan remains undefeated going into the second half of the season.

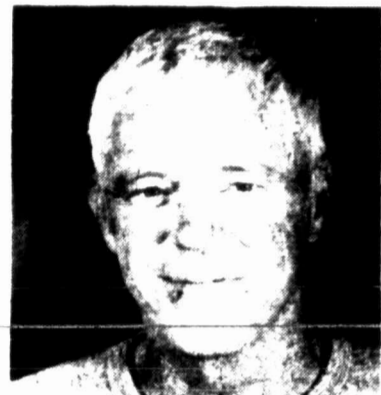

Here is what area coaches had to say Monday about last Friday's games.

Dale Ruth, Stahton, on the Buffaloes' 27-6 win over Eldorado.

"We didn't do very well in the first half — Eldorado was tough. It was 0-0 at the half and they scored in the third quarter and led 6-0. We made some adjustments and the kids finally started playing well."

"We blocked a punt close to their goal line and that's what got everything going. We only made 96 yards rushing in the first half, and we had 251 in the second half. We were just able to run the better in the second half for some reason. Eddie Jordan broke one for 56 yards down the sideline and that got the offense rolling."

"We were able to play the tough defense and kept them from breaking the long one."

JAN EAST

TOM HAM

Jan East, on Forsan's 33-6 romp over Ozona.

"It's great to start the district off with a win, even though the elements weren't real good. It rained the whole ballgame."

"The rain hurt them worse than us. When we pass, it's because we want to. We were four of 10, but Wayne Wright had 204 yards rushing so we didn't need to throw it much."

"The rain didn't slow him down any. He's a big strong boy. He made one run you just had to see to believe. He broke about six tackles."

"We probably could have had about 500 yards. They never really stopped us. We turned the ball over and stopped ourselves."

"We got the tie in the second week (at Lake). We feel like whoever wins this is going to be the driver's seat for the district."

Tom Ham, Klondike, on the Cougars' 22-18 loss to Midland Christian.

"We played well, Midland Christian just played better. We had our chances, we just blew it. We couldn't get the extra points all night and we had some crucial turnovers."

"Both teams scored three touchdowns, but they made their extra points. That was the big difference."

"We had a chance in the last minute but just couldn't do it. Part of it was Midland Christian's defense and the rain didn't help."

Sands coach John Blair, on his team's 39-38 loss to Wellman.

"We played well. In fact, we scored the last touchdown with 50 seconds to go but they blocked our extra point. We would have won by one. We had to go for two because they were ahead on penetrations (in six-man, the kick is worth two points)."

"We were ahead at the half 24-15 and they came back in the third quarter and went ahead and we came back in the fourth and had our chance."

JOHN BLAIR

TOM RAMSEY

"Give us this year of learning and we'll be tough next year. We have one senior boy, but everybody thinks that is going to be our year. We're going to be better. We have some great kids, and it's just going to take awhile to get everything together."

"Wellman has the best team in the district, but we had our chance."

Tony Stricklin, Garden City, on the Bearkats 14-6 loss to Eden.

"I was pleased with the way we played. We played a lot better and I feel like we improved."

"We had our chance on the twenty and went for it on fourth and six and they stopped us. There were five minutes left and the score was 11-6. They came back and kicked a field goal and we never mounted anything."

"We didn't give up the big play, which I was real pleased about. We forced them to run the ball."

"We've got Bronte, and their 6-0 and we're 0-6. If we could maintain where we're at we would be okay, but it was a tough physical game and we have a lot of people hurt. I'm down to 15 people on the varsity."

Colorado City coach Tom Ramsey, on the Wolves 33-12 homecoming loss to Brady.

"It was one of those games — a total downpour. I think they fumbled five times and we fumbled seven. We were ahead 12-6 at the half and we turned it over five times in our territory in the second half."

"We were up 12-0 at one point and we were driving and threw an interception, so we could have been up 18-0 at half. The ball went through our punters hand and they got in on the six, and they recovered a fumble in mid-air and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown."

"It was terrible. Passing, we were four of 18 and they were two of six, and both teams had two interceptions."

Punter dooms Steelers

61-yard fake punt gives Bengals win

CINCINNATI (AP) — After trotting onto the field to a thunderous pre-game ovation Monday night, Cincinnati Bengals punter Jeff Hayes didn't want to leave in a chorus of boos caused by kicking blunders.

Atoning for a costly blocked kick and an embarrassing safety, Hayes stunned the Pittsburgh Steelers by sprinting 61 yards for the go-ahead touchdown on a fourth-quarter fake punt to give the Bengals a 24-22 victory Monday night.

The throaty cheers that accompanied the introduction of Cincinnati's special teams before the game turned sour when the Steelers turned a first-quarter blocked punt into a touchdown and chased Hayes out of the end zone for a second-quarter safety.

But with Pittsburgh ahead 19-14 in the fourth quarter, Hayes stunned the Steelers' defense by taking a fourth-down snap, eluding a tackle, tight-roping along the sideline and racing to his first NFL touchdown with 13:47 to play.

"I was really just happy to get something back for us instead of giving them stuff," Hayes said. "It just worked out great."

Bengals Coach Sam Wyche called the decisive fake.

"It was a designed run all the way," Wyche said. "I figured our punt team had put us in the position to have to use that play, that we were going to go ahead and make it work."

The Bengals' fourth consecutive victory over the Steelers kept them tied with Cleveland for first place in the AFC Central Division at 4-2. The Steelers fell to 1-5, their worst start since Chuck Noll's team went 1-13 in 1969, his first as Pittsburgh's head coach.

Until Hayes' fourth-quarter gamble, the Steelers appeared headed for victory behind rookie quarterback Bobby Brister.

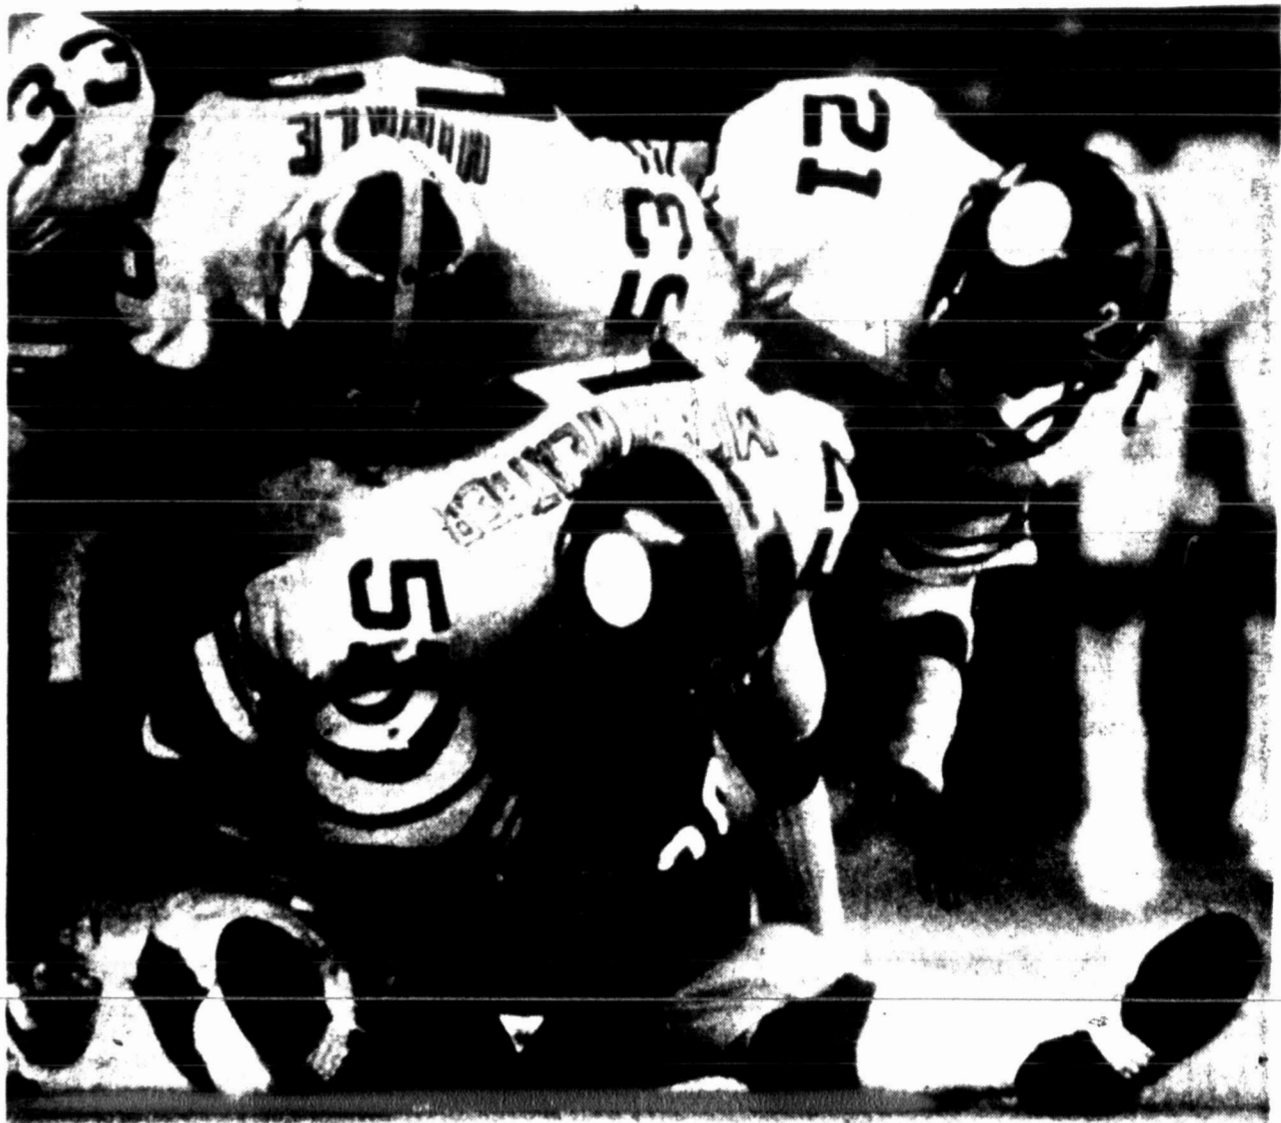

Brister, a third-round draft choice playing his first regular-season game in place of the injured Mark Malone, dove one yard for a first-quarter touchdown set up by Hayes' blocked punt. He coolly completed three of four passes for 40 yards in a third-quarter scoring drive that gave the Steelers their first lead 16-14.

Strong safety Donnie Shell's 48th career interception set up a 24-yard field goal by Gary Anderson that gave Pittsburgh a more comfortable 19-14 lead late in the third quarter.

Hayes' touchdown put Cincinnati ahead to stay, and Jim Breech kicked a 40-yard field goal to give Cincinnati a 24-19 advantage and became the Bengals' all-time scoring leader. His 550 points moved him one ahead of Horst Muhlmann.

Anderson kicked a 44-yard field goal with 2:35 to play to trim the lead to two points, and Pittsburgh had one last chance after Hayes' punt pinned them at their own 8 with 2:02 to play. But the Steelers gained just one yard in four plays to end their final threat.

Esiason's knack for improvising on the run led Cincinnati to a 14-7 lead in the second quarter. Esiason avoided a blitz by linebacker Mike Merriweather, dodged two other Steeler rushers and scrambled across field to find wide receiver Eddie Brown open on the Steelers'

12-yard line for a 45-yard completion. Two plays later, Esiason hit rookie Mike McGee with a 7-yard scoring pass, the wide receiver's first pro touchdown.

More trouble with Cincinnati's punting game gave the Steelers a safety with just under five minutes to play before halftime. Hayes, standing in his own end zone, had trouble scooping up a bad snap and was chased out of the end zone by Dave Edwards to trim the lead to 14-9.

Boston tries to even series

BOSTON (AP) — Whenever California Manager Gene Mauch listens, he hears the words. Wherever the Boston Red Sox look, they see them. Choke. Curse. Collapse.

Ugly sounding. But labels that whichever one loses the American League playoffs this week will have to live with for another winter. Is either one meant to win?

No Mauch-led team has reached the World Series in his 25 years of major league managing, the longest such streak ever. His 1964 Philadelphia Phillies blew it in the final week. His 1982 Angels fell apart in the playoffs.

California was within one strike of making the trip this October when it squandered a three-run lead in the ninth inning Sunday and eventually lost a chance to win the team's first pennant.

"Monkey, are you on my back again?" Mauch said recently when asked about the spell.

Mauch and the Angels, still leading the best-of-seven series 3-2, get another try to break the jinx Tuesday night in Game Six at Fenway Park. Kirk McCaskill, the Game Two loser, will be opposed by Boston's Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, the loser in the third game.

California rookie first baseman Wally Joyner, who hit .455 in the first three games but missed the next two when hospitalized by a bacterial infection in his lower right leg, made the trip to Boston and is expected to play.

Boston again will be trying to avoid elimination, having stayed off in Sunday's 7-6 victory in 11 innings. The Red Sox, without a World Series championship since 1918, spent the entire regular season fighting off AL East challengers and the ghost of missed opportunities past, before narrowly escaping a wipeout along the California coast.

Channel 2

8 p.m.

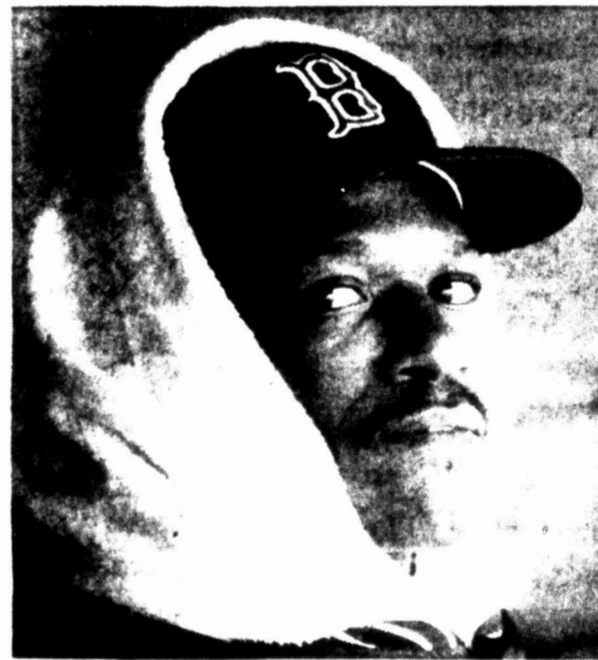

Sunday, Anaheim Stadium was adorned with more than a dozen banners recalling Boston's inability to win big games in previous seasons.

"Actually, there must have been 15 signs like that around the park," Red Sox designated hitter Don Baylor said. "I saw them, but anyone who knows this club knows we are not choking."

Yet anyone who saw the Red Sox lose Saturday night would have said differently. Boston was only three outs from tying the series 2-2 when dominating Roger Clemens let a 3-0 lead slip away in the ninth inning and the Angels won 4-3 in the 11th.

But, in the ebb and flow of playoff baseball, the tide quickly turned back against Mauch on Sunday. California's best pitcher, Mike Witt, took a 5-2 lead into the ninth inning before Baylor hit a two-run homer with one out.

Witt retired the next batter on an easy popout, then Mauch pulled his ace and brought in a left-handed Gary Lucas to pitch to lefty Rich Gedman, who was 4-for-4 with a home run against Witt. Lucas, who had struck out Gedman Saturday night, hit him with a pitch Sunday.

Dennis 'Oil Can' Boyd, pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, will be on the mound tonight in the sixth game of the American League Championship Series. The Red Sox trail the California Angels 3-2.

Mauch then summoned Donnie Moore, who gave up a home run to Dave Henderson that put Boston ahead 6-5. The Angels tied the score in the bottom of the ninth but left the bases loaded, and Henderson's sacrifice fly won it in the 11th.

"I've never had much success relieving Mike Witt. But I've also never seen Rich Gedman do anything but strike out against Gary Lucas," Mauch said.

"I can handle it this way. If I had left him (Witt) in and Gedman had another hit, I couldn't have handled that."

It has been Mauch's handling of pitchers in tense situations that has stirred criticism in the past. In 1964, he overworked pitchers Jim Bunning and Chris Short in the stretch and they wore down as Philadelphia was unable to hold a 6½-game lead with two weeks remaining in the National League race.

In 1982, California won the first two games of the then best-of-five AL playoffs against Milwaukee.

Rain forecasted for NL game

NEW YORK (AP) — With the chance of a thunderstorm predicted for today, there was a strong possibility that the fifth game of the National League playoffs between the Houston Astros and the New York Mets would be postponed for the second consecutive day.

The National Weather Service made the grim forecast, but predicted that Wednesday would be breezy and cool. If the fifth game, at Shea Stadium, is postponed again, it would be rescheduled for Wednesday, with Games 6 and 7, if necessary, to be played Thursday and Friday at Houston.

The series is tied 2-2.

Winter Games will be changed

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The International Olympic Committee decided by an overwhelming majority today to separate the years of Summer and Winter Olympic Games beginning in 1994.

The change, breaking a 70-year-old Olympic tradition, was approved by 78 of the 85 IOC members taking part in the vote. Only two members opposed the change while five abstained.

Their names were not announced, but Marc Hodler, president of the International Ski Federation, told a news conference they had no objection in principle but felt it was introduced too quickly.

IOC President Juan Antonio Samaranch was the driving force behind the change, first formally suggested less than two months ago.

The Olympic Summer Games were not affected by the decision. But the Winter Games preceding the 1998 Games were advanced by two years and will continue thereafter at four-yearly intervals.

The IOC amended article 5 of the Olympic charter which hitherto specified that the Winter Games must take place in the same year as the Summer Games. The new text of article 5 said the Winter Games "are held during the second calendar year following" the Summer Games.

Hodler said Leningrad, a Swiss city still to be designated, and the six losers in Friday's vote for the site of the 1992 Games were likely to compete for the 1994 Winter Games.

The IOC will probably decide the site of the 1994 Games during the 1988 Seoul Olympics, Hodler said.

The Winter Olympics were first organized at Chamoix, France in 1924, and have since been held in the winter preceding every Summer Olympics.

The change will require a modification of the Olympic WINTER page 2B

Miami still number 1

By The Associated Press
Miami, Alabama, Nebraska and Michigan held onto the first four spots in the Associated Press college football poll today while defending national champion Oklahoma moved up from sixth place to fifth.

Miami's 58-14 rout of West Virginia kept the Hurricanes No. 1 for the third week in a row. They received 56 of 59 first-place votes and 1,175 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Alabama received two first-place votes and 1,099 points after trouncing Memphis State 37-0. Nebraska, a 30-10 winner over Oklahoma State, totaled 1,018 points and Michigan received 986 points after defeating Michigan State 27-7.

However, Penn State had to come from behind late in the game to edge Cincinnati 23-17 and the hard-fought victory cost the Nittany Lions one place in the rankings. They received the remaining first-place ballot but slipped from fifth to sixth with 892 points while Oklahoma moved up one position with 946 points.

Auburn remained No. 7 with 861 points after whipping Vanderbilt 31-9 but Arkansas and Southern California, ranked eighth and ninth last week, suffered their first setbacks of the season and dropped into the Second Ten.

Meanwhile, Iowa beat Wisconsin 17-6 and climbed from 10th place to eighth with 753 points while Washington, a 24-14 winner over previously unbeaten Stanford, vaulted from 12th to ninth with 676 points.

Arizona State, No. 15 last week, rounded out the Top Ten with 619 points after trimming Oregon 37-17.

The Second Ten consists of Texas A&M, LSU, Mississippi State, Arkansas, Southern Cal, Arizona, Clemson, North Carolina and UCLA, with Baylor and Southern Methodist tied for 20th.

Last week, it was Arizona, Washington, Baylor, Texas A&M, Arizona State, LSU, North Carolina State, Stanford, Mississippi State and Clemson.

North Carolina State fell out of the rankings after a 59-21 shellacking at the hands of Georgia Tech and Stanford's loss to Washington cost the Cardinal its spot in the Top Twenty.

North Carolina, 4-0-1, moved into the Top Twenty for the first time this season by defeating Wake Forest 40-30, UCLA came back after a one-week absence by handing previously unbeaten Arizona its first setback 32-23, and Southern Methodist, 4-1, made it for the first time in 1986 with a 27-21 upset of Baylor.

The Lady Steers varsity game will begin at 8. The Lady Steers are 2-6 in district play and 6-14 overall. Saturday they were defeated 15-10, 15-13 by Lake View.

Basketball officials to meet

The Big Spring Basketball Officials Association will meet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Herman's Restaurant.

All members and anyone interested in officiating are urged to attend.

Raiders player gets suspended

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles Raiders defensive end Greg Townsend will be suspended for this week's NFL game against the Miami Dolphins, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced.

The suspension was reinstated for three "flagrant" fouls Townsend committed during a game against the Kansas City Chiefs. Townsend originally was given a one-game suspension last week. But the NFL reversed itself following a hearing and temporarily rescinded the suspension, allowing the defensive end to play last week against the Seattle Seahawks.

Gonzalez wins Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Ernie Gonzalez gained his first professional golf victory and became the first left-hander to win on the PGA Tour in 12 years when his second-round lead became the final results in the rain-shortened Pensacola Open.

Gonzalez, with a 36-hole score of 14-under-par 128, won by one shot over Joey Sindelar when rain that suspended competition Sunday left parts of the 7,093-yard, par-71 course submerged and unplayable.

Rain also had suspended first-round play Thursday.

Last of straight-on kickers gone

WASHINGTON (AP) — An era ended in the National Football League Monday, as the Washington Redskins released Mark Moseley, the last of the league's straight-on placekickers.

"I'm making the decision over the long haul. It was not a one game thing" said Redskins coach Joe Gibbs in announcing the decision to release the 16-year NFL veteran. Moseley had missed six of his last nine field goal attempts this season, including a 37-yard first quarter attempt in Sunday's 30-6 loss to the Dallas Cowboys.

The loss dropped the Redskins into a first-place tie with the New York Giants in the NFC Eastern Division. Both teams have 5-1 records.

Gibbs added that the decision to release Moseley was reached after careful evaluation of Moseley's past performance, including his last 27 field goal attempts.

"He'd fallen below the 50 percent success rate, and I did not feel he would turn it around," Gibbs said. Moseley made just 13 of those 27 attempts, dating back to the 1985 season.

Max Zendejas, who was drafted by the Cowboys before being released in training camp, signed a multi-year contract with the Redskins, Gibbs announced. The terms of the pact were not disclosed.

Zendejas will become the 28th starting soccer-style kicker in the NFL.

Moseley had asked to be released rather than retire, in hopes that he could catch on with another NFL team.

Winter

charter, which stipulates that Summer and Winter Games must be held in the same year. The Winter Olympics were first organized at Chamonix, France, in 1924, and have since been held in the winter preceding every Summer Olympics.

The change was initiated by IOC President Juan Antonio Samaranch and the 11-member IOC Executive Board. IOC officials said it would in future concentrate greater attention on the Winter Games, which, until now, have been widely regarded as a less-important preliminary to the Summer Games.

The change will also spread out the heavy organizational load that the IOC has borne every four years. But perhaps most important in the minds of IOC members was the probability that Winter Games held in separate years would command larger revenues from publicity and television rights.

ABC is paying a record $309 million for exclusive live U.S. television rights from the 1988 Winter Games in Calgary, Alberta, and is expected to lose money. For the Summer Games in Seoul, South Korea, NBC has paid a minimum of $250 million for U.S. television rights.

The Winter Games feature downhill and cross-country skiing, ski jumping, figure and speed skating, bobsled and luge racing, ice hockey and the biathlon, a combination of skiing and shooting.

The modern Olympic Games began in Athens in 1896, but it was 28 years before a winter sports competition was introduced. Initially, the country staging the Summer Games had a priority right to organize the Winter Games.

Thus, the 1924 Paris Olympics were preceded by the Chamonix Winter Games and the 1932 Los Angeles Olympics by the first Lake Placid, N.Y., Winter Games.

The 1928 Games took place in Amsterdam, and the Dutch, having no mountains, relinquished their right to hold the Winter Games in favor of the Swiss resort of St. Moritz.

Since World War II, the Winter Games, though always held in Olympic years, have not been in the same country as the Summer Games.

Chalk Talk

Grady coach Mike Mathis, on the Wildcats 44-0 loss at Dawson.

"Dawson had probably the best defense we've played against. They were well coached.

"They didn't complete that many passes, they just ran over us, like normal. They weren't that much bigger, they just had more overall speed. Their speed and probably their experience took them through us on offense.

"They're (the players) understanding that we're not going to win any games. We're trying to play more people as we get to the end of the season. David White had probably his best game on defense. He played more this time and he'll probably play more next time.

"We lost a sophomore, so sometimes we have as many as six freshmen. In two years we should be a competitor. They know that, and that keeps them going."

Coahoma coach Billy Kidd on the Bulldogs' 31-0 loss to Clyde.

"Clyde was a real tough football team, but we feel like we played our poorest game of the year. Coming off the Colorado City game our kids were still a little down and we didn't have a good effort at all.

"It was a terrible game with the mud. It was one of the worst mud games I've ever seen, but that's not the reason. We didn't block them. And defensively I really felt like we could stop them. I was real disappointed in the defense.

"We lost James White (quarterback) in the second quarter, and that killed us. That limits us offensively — we can't throw and they know it and run a nine-man front. James and Jimmy King (tight end) are worrying me. Jimmy (has bruised ribs) doesn't look real good at this stage. If James is in there, he can make things happen.

"We had a real good workout today and it's a home game and I think we'll play pretty good. We'll have to play much better than we did last week."

Borden County coach Joe Bond on the Coyotes 36-15 loss to Loop.

"I really felt like it was one of our poorest games all year. We didn't handle the ball well because it was raining but I just felt like we did a poor job.

"We had seven penetrations inside their 20 and scored twice. Against Grady (this week), things will have to go better than they did Friday night."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE
FORECAST FOR WED., OCTOBER 15, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when there can be much confusion and muddled thinking in almost anything of a practical nature. Be sure you are aware of the facts in any project today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Rid yourself of annoyances that make you unhappy. Steer clear of an influential person.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be with friends who are conventional and avoid the unpredictable kind. Make headway toward a cherished wish.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be sure to follow through on directives of higher-ups exactly without getting into any arguments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Plan how to grow by adopting a new attitude and you can gain your purposes easily.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to keep promises you have made. Try to please your mate in the evening. Control your temper, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to the ideas of an associate quietly and avoid trouble. Plan time for handling public affairs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to make your surroundings more as you wish them to be. Be more explicit in stating your plans to co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may find it difficult to get your ideas across to others, but be persistent and succeed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to have more harmony at home. Act wisely to get good results. Avoid big changes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Know how to soothe an irate associate since a thoughtless word could start a big quarrel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Set up a better budget for yourself. Handle other practical affairs. Enjoy your home tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can be out with your mate at some social affair during the daytime. Take it easy tonight and relax.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be apt to be worrying all the time about everything and be overly conscientious early in life so try to lift the spirits before this becomes a chronic malady. One who will want to be doing something practical at all times and should be encouraged here.

Murderer awaits stay of execution

HUNTSVILLE — The Texas Department of Corrections was preparing to execute convicted killer Carlos DeLuna as a defense lawyer made a last-minute attempt to save his life.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals refused Monday to grant a stay for the 24-year-old death row inmate who is scheduled to die by injection before dawn Wednesday for the 1983 robbery-slaying of a Corpus Christi convenience store clerk.

Attorney Richard Anderson of Dallas said he would appeal the case today to U.S. District Judge Hayden W. Head Jr. in Corpus Christi. The attorney said he could not file the appeal Monday because federal offices were closed for the Columbus Day holiday.

On Friday, The U.S. Supreme Court denied an application for a stay of execution.

A&M scientist says water wasted

COLLEGE STATION — As much as one-third of all water treated and distributed annually by Texas cities is used to water lawns and gardens, according to a Texas A&M scientist who has come out with some conservation tips.

Not only can the amount of drinking water be reduced by more efficient water use in urban landscapes, but also by using lower quality water such as that from runoff, household graywater, or treated effluent for landscape maintenance, says Dr. Wayne Jordan, director of the Texas Water Resource Institute.

Jordan believes that more than a fourth of all water currently being applied to urban landscapes may be wasted.

"The landscape areas around homes, businesses and institutions are good places to begin curtailing water uses," said Jordan, whose institute has released a new publication, entitled, "Water Conservation in Urban Landscapes" offering advice on reducing the waste.

"Most turfgrasses and ornamentals are not native to Texas and many are not well adapted to the hot, dry summers, and cold, damp winters of the Southwest. Survival for them requires supplemental irrigation and relatively high rates of fertilization, both of which work against effective conservation," the study reports.

Lower tax may prevent gas shortage

AUSTIN — A lower natural gas tax would help prevent an expected gas shortage this winter, says Railroad Commission candidate John Sharp.

The industry needs all the incentives that state and federal government can give them to keep gas flowing to homes and businesses during a bitter cold spell, the Democrat from Victoria said Monday.

"If we have a bitter cold winter, the possibility of human suffering and death is certain. And if we have to close businesses because of gas curtailments, it will mean the loss of tax dollars, salaries and less money for Texans to spend," he said.

Third Lucas-related burglary occurs

EL PASO — Three burglaries, a fire and the beating death of a suspect are among a series of odd incidents linked with Henry Lee Lucas, who confessed to hundreds of murders and recanted after earning notoriety.

At a hearing that started Sept. 8 and which attorneys say could last through November, Lucas' lawyers are trying to have his confession to the Apodaca killing ruled inadmissible.

In the latest incident, burglars took several items from the office of Vic Fezell, McLennan County district attorney and among the first people to suspect a hoax behind Lucas' tales of some 600 slayings.

Fezell, who said Monday the burglary took place over the weekend, is under federal indictment for allegedly taking bribes from defense lawyers to settle criminal cases. "Nothing of value was taken other than the elements to the (secretaries') typewriters," he said.

But the burglars took a list of license plate numbers of cars he believes have been following him, and telephone conversations he recorded, Fezell said.

He is also missing notes he made on the case against him, notes on his grand jury investigation of the Lucas case and notes of one of his employees' testimony before the grand jury that indicted him.

"I think it's awfully suspicious," he said.

Fezell predicted last year he would be indicted because the Texas Rangers and their Lucas task force were embarrassed by the recantations. He is expected to continue testifying at the hearing Tuesday.

Other strange incidents in the Lucas case include:

- The burning of Bob Lemons' home in Ringgold, Texas. Lemons and his wife, Joyce, have spent $130,000 to prove Lucas did not kill their daughter and have criticized the Texas Rangers' investigation. Lemons said he suspects arson.

- The burglaries of Hugh Aynesworth's Dallas home. Aynesworth, an investigative reporter with the Dallas Times Herald, wrote several stories challenging the Lucas confessions and berating the Rangers' investigation. Aynesworth testified at the hearing that each time the burglar passed up television sets and other valuables and instead took tapes marked as Lucas interviews.

- The slaying of Yovani Valenzuela Chavez in Juarez, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso. Valenzuela died of a severe beating in August just after he was identified as a suspect in the Apodaca killing.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Miller's helps you remodel

Miller's Crown Decorating can help you with your home or commercial decorating needs, says Darrell, E.G. and Virginia Miller. The family-owned business offers residential and commercial floor coverings, window coverings and wall coverings, as well as installation and equipment and products to service them.

Miller's is Big Spring's only authorized Cook Paint dealer. The store shops around for reputable installers for everything it sells if the customer wants professional installation.

The owners take pride in not being wasteful with materials purchased by their customers. For example, when laying carpet, Miller's will figure how to install the 12-foot wide carpet in the house with as little waste as possible.

When quoting prices to customers, Miller's will give both the cost of materials for those who wish to do it themselves and the cost of materials plus labor for those who want professional installation. Often, the companies Miller's represents put products on sale. "We pass the sale on to the customer with the standard markup. The customer will realize more out of the sale than we do," E.G. says.

Miller's also sells and installs commercial wall vinyl, commercial and residential ceramic tile, and custom-fitted mini-blinds. An example of their work can be seen on the second floor of Malone-

Hogan Hospital, which was recently remodeled. The store installed the wall vinyl and carpet there in January.

"We are a family store," says Virginia, wife of E.G. and mother of Darrell. The three Millers have owned and operated Miller's Crown Decorating six years.

E.G. has more than 35 years experience in painting and installing tile and carpet. He also has worked in every phase of construction. He taught his son the business of carpet laying, and it was Darrell's idea to open up the home improvement business. Darrell asked his parents to join him with his father as partner and his mother as bookkeeper. Virginia already had a part-time job, so at first she handled the books before going to work each day. "As it turned out, Darrell does the carpet laying, and his Dad and I run the store," Virginia says. E.G. also is a fireman and away from the store while on duty, leaving Virginia to run the store fulltime now.

"We try to have a store where the customer can come in and discuss his problem," says E.G. The Millers and their customers will often work problems out over a cup of coffee.

"Come by and talk to us," Virginia says. "We can help you in all your decorating needs; from paint brushes to matching that special color you need." Miller's Crown Decorating is located at 1510 S. Gregg.

Cut utility bills with high-efficiency heating systems

With emphasis today on conserving utility costs, Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors can improve homeowner's heating bills by replacing furnaces with high-efficiency gas-fired heating systems.

According to Office Manager Carol Hollingsworth, standard gas-fired heaters are 60% to 65% efficient in the use of natural gas. Now manufacturers are making furnaces that are 85% to 97% efficient. These units offer more heat and less waste, and they are available at Hester and Robertson.

Since gas furnaces require venting of combustion gases, none can be 100% efficient. However, if your furnace is 10 years old, it's probably in the range of 55% to 60% efficient. This figure is based on a rating determined by the Department of Energy testing standards. At that percentage, as much as 45% of the heat is vented outdoors (and 45 cents of every heat dollar you spend is wasted).

With the new high-efficiency heating systems, only a small percent of heat loss occurs due to combustion venting. If the heating system is 96% efficient, only 4% heat is lost. Why continue to lose 45% when you can cut it to 4%, she asks.

The high-efficiency heating systems can reduce your heating bills enough to justify replacing your present unit today, even though it still operates.

Hester and Robertson carries Lennox furnaces that offer this type of heating system. The company also carries Trane, Comfortmaker, Carrier and Payne equipment and a full stock of heating parts. With its mobile-dispatched service vehicles, the firm believes it can handle service needs promptly with one-day service most of the time. Service trucks also are well stocked with parts and usually do not have to make more than one trip to get the job done.

Since the heating season is not as busy as the air conditioning season, Carol also suggests calling on Hester and Robertson to install residential air conditioning equipment at this time of the year. It can save the cost of price increases that all air conditioner manufacturers will hit dealers and customers with before next summer's cooling season.
